Tradition continues

MASC honors graduates with ceremony

By BARBARA MORRISON
Staff Writer

For many, the tradition which accompanies high school graduation is one of after-school parties, friends honking car horns, lots of noise and decided relief - both for parents and the graduate.

Saturday evening, in the Big Spring fair barn, the graduation tradition continues, but with a slightly different flair.

The Mexican American Senior Class (MASC) will stage their annual event complete with ceremony, emotion and fun. The evening will provide a program designed to enrich and congratulate all seniors for their accomplishments followed by a dance.

According to organizer, Pat DeAnda, the program will begin promptly at 7 p.m. "We'll lock the doors so that the ceremony will be uninterrupted," DeAnda said. "This is a debutante, an experience, and has been a tradition for us for as long as I can remember."

DeAnda says the program's purpose is to applaud a benchmark for the seniors. "We do it so they can take pride, to mark the end of a chapter in their lives. They are now moving from one realm to another and we want to celebrate that."

The program is open to all graduating seniors. "We don't close it to anybody," said DeAnda. "The high school years are the fun years and we invite all cultures to celebrate with us."

The children will enter the hall in a grand manner, dressed finely and escorted by their parents. "It's unlike anything you'll ever behold," says DeAnda. "It's absolutely beautiful."

During the ceremony, Rudy Gutierrez, Parental Involvement coordinator for Big Spring Independent School District, will offer words of encouragement to the graduates. He will acknowledge student accomplishments, ideas, and proven capabilities.

Once the doors are locked, they will not open again until after the ceremony. "Unfortunately Big Spring doesn't have a facility large enough that is affordable to hold a large amount of people," DeAnda said. "That is why we will have to allow visitors by invitation only."

According to DeAnda, the program is unique in many ways. "We are so proud of our children's accomplishments," she said. "But we also know as parents that it is time for us to begin to let them go. The program is for the parent, too, and is a mixture of the happy and the sad."

College board previews facilities plan

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Howard College may be getting a face lift over the next several years if all goes according to plan.

During Monday's meeting of the Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees, members were presented with a facilities master plan that outlines some major changes for the campus.

In 1991, senior architecture students at Texas Tech did the master plan study as a class project and after several delays, it was presented to the trustees yesterday.

The plan outlined numerous changes that could be made to the campus to make it more inviting and student oriented as well as develop a central focal point for the campus.

Several new buildings were proposed to be built including an administration wing, arts classroom, computer center, indoor athletics complex, coliseum lobby, student union addition, child care center, two new classroom buildings, men's dorm, maintenance facility and a baseball stadium.

Some new features suggested to trustees were to build a campus tower, fountain pool, entry gate to the campus, outdoor amphitheater, outdoor sculptures, boiler room terrace, swimming pool and a recreation field.

The master plan was divided into three phases to better facilitate the changes.

During phase one, it was suggested there be the removal of streets and parking in the central part of campus, realign perimeter roads to form a new curving campus drive, upgrade and realign main campus parking lot, add new walkways and new pavers on existing walkways, add circle drive at north coliseum entrance, add new parking lot off 11th Place, build an entrance gate and campus tower, add lighting around central plaza and install campus wide pedestrian lighting and signs and to relocate the maintenance facility.

During phase two, remove the temporary art building, renovate the green house for use as a day care center, relocate the baseball field to where the existing Little League field is now, create new recreation field and courts where the baseball field is COAHOMA - A bicycle rodeo? What, visions of kids on bicycles roping each other? Not quite - but close.

The bicycle rodeo is sponsored by the Coahoma Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association and is a safety event with a West Texas flair, offered annually to kids of all ages. Sheriff's deputy Woodie Howell volunteers to teach the event, while several children volunteer to "have fun."

But, Howell is deadly serious. "We teach bicycle safety because it just might save a life," says Howell. "If a child enters the road without first learning to maneuver his bicycle, before he or she has practiced on it first, then accidents happen."

Howell led the group of youngsters through several lessons. "How many of you know your hand signals?" he asked the four, five- and six-year-olds. Each child exuberantly claimed

Court approves seal coat request

By JANET AUSBURY
Features Editor

Howard County Commissioners Court approved a request from City Manager Lanny Lambert to seal coat 25 miles of city streets this year.

At Monday's meeting, Commissioner Bobby Cathey voted against the motion, explaining, "I will not approve 25 miles of seal coat in the city and let my precinct go."

Lambert told County Judge Ben Lockhart he would supplement the county effort with city workers and equipment.

The court also approved the firing of Diana Nichols as county nurse. Nichols currently works for Dr. Bruce Cox.

The approved arrangement calls for the county to pay Nichols $800 per month to be on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to provide medical assistance to county jail inmates. The arrangement will initially be for a three-month trial period, starting immediately.

Nichols told the court most medical assistance could be provided at the jail, reducing transportation and emergency room costs. She added Cox had said he would be on call for her if she had to go out of town or be unavailable.

At-A-Glance

- The court approved the following:
 - Two summer workers for the Road and Bridge Department
 - A bid for one low grader for the Road and Bridge Department
 - A bond for commissioner Emma Puga Brown, who replaced her late husband, O. L. Brown, on the court.
 - Amendments to the 1993-94 budget and homestead refunds.
 - Minutes of the May 9 meeting.
 - The court briefly discussed a budget workshop to take place today and Wednesday with Lockhart and County Auditor Jackie Olson. The workshop will focus on the 1994-95 budget.

Rick Hamby play takes McLaren award - again

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

For the second year in a row, District Attorney Rick Hamby has been honored for his play-writing skills.

HAMBY

volunteer Mike McLaren, who died in 1989.

"This is an annual competition and contestants are literary from all over the world. I won last year with my play 'Gargoyles and Scarecrow Sins,'" said Hamby.

That play will be presented at the Midland Community Theatre June 3 through 18. The box office number is 682-4111.

The play Hamby wrote for this year's competition is called "Maggie's Dance." Hamby says the characters in his plays are based on the people he meets "right here in West Texas."

His newest winning play is the story of a woman and her daughter who own an all-purpose service station, restaurant and motel on a desolate country highway. "The highway department has condemned her property for an interstate to built where her business is. The play focuses on her struggle to save it. The only way to save it is for her to show that there would be some sort of environmental impact or if there was an endangered species living on the property. An archeologist begins looking for an endangered species and finds 24 giant Honduran pack roaches living in her hotel," Hamby explained.

These particular type of roaches will steal things from the hotel but put something else in its place. Hamby said that the roaches are all given first names and talked about during the play although they never make a personal appearance.

"The roaches ultimately end up saving her life. It's a comedy but also kind of a love story as well," Hamby said.

"My true love is to write novels and writing plays was done as an exercise to learn how to write dialogue. I've had more success with my plays than novels. I've been writing forever it seems. I know at least since high school and I was the editor of the school paper in Las Cruces, N.M.

"I have to give credit to my mom who encouraged all of us to read. My brothers write as well and have been successful," Hamby concluded.

"Maggie's Dance" will be performed in reader's style by the Midland Community Theatre Aug. 19 and 20.

Doris Vieregge, executive director of the West Texas Center for the Arts, said the West Tex Players will produce the award winning play Sept. 29 and 30 as well as Oct. 1 at a dinner theatre at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Homer Rickabaugh

RICKABAUGH

Funeral services for Homer Maxon (Rick) Rickabaugh, 74, Big Spring, will be 2 p.m. Wednesday, May 25, 1994, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel with Rev. Gary Smith, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, officiating. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Rickabaugh died Saturday May 21 in San Angelo.

He was born Aug. 20, 1919, in Napa Valley, Calif., to his parents Homer and Willeta Rickabaugh. His early childhood was spent in Southern California. He had been a resident of Big Spring since 1964 and was a member of the First Baptist Church. He had served in the U.S. Navy Reserves. His devotion to flying was evidenced by his career in aviation that began at the age of 11 years. Mr. Rickabaugh received his license at the age of 16 and his inspector license at the age of 19. He was self employed as a Flight Instructor, Aircraft Mechanic, and Aircraft Inspector. He had owned and operated Rick's Aviation which was formerly Trans Regional Air here in Big Spring. He had served as an Aircraft Inspector at Edwards Air Force Base and had worked in the USAF Pilot Training Program at Webb Air Force Base. Mr. Rickabaugh had also served in Alaska as a bush pilot and had been an agriculture pilot. He had also been involved in the Missile Program associated with the Lockheed Corporation. His dedication and devotion to aviation was second only to his role as a loving father.

He is survived by his Dear Friend: Dorothy Thomas, Big Spring; two sons: Tom Rickabaugh, Sand Springs, and Jim Rickabaugh: Appleton, Wash.; two sisters: May Frazee, Wildwood, Ga.; and Betty Harmer, Witt Springs, Ark.; two brothers: Albert Rickabaugh, Lancaster, Calif., and Donald Rickabaugh, M.D., Laguna Hills, Calif.; five grandchildren; several nieces, nephews, and also by a host of friends and business associates.

currently, make additions to the student union building, build an outdoor dining terrace, add new south entrance and lobby to the coliseum as well as build an indoor athletic building.

The final phase would include the construction of new buildings such as a new computer center, a new dorm, a new classroom building with an adjacent amphitheater and another classroom building to be built next to the applied science building.

Also, there are plans to expand the administration building and to build a swimming pool for students to use.

This master plan is designed to be done a little at a time as the money becomes available and there is no set time table for the phases to be completed.

they did but, on closer examination, were not quite able to demonstrate proper technique.

"Maybe we should review some," Howell added kindly. "Here, everyone watch Woodie now," he said. "We'll all do this together." They lined up behind Howell, twisting and bending their right arms.

The little group of mopey eyes and willing behaviors practiced until Howell said they had it right. "Now, who do you think would win if you were using your hand signals and a car ignored you anyway?"

"I know!" shouted one little boy. "You would! The other guy would get the ticket!"

"Well," said Howell thoughtfully, "That might be right about the ticket

At-A-Glance

Monday, Howard County Junior College District Board of Trustees discussed:

•Newly re-elected trustee Harold Davis was sworn in. Donald McKinney was absent.

•McKinney was named as the chairman of the board for the next four year term. Dr. Charles Warren remains as vice-chairman and Charlie Gonzales was elected as secretary.

•Board members accepted a bid from Webco of Big Spring for $2,250 to print a magazine style yearbook for students and faculty.

•A presentation on changes in the health insurance program was made to board members. The state has mandated these changes which will allow employees to select one of two types of coverage. The first one is for employees to select a primary care physician who will set up predetermined rates. This provides better benefits and is less expensive for the employee. Doctors in the area are being encouraged to sign up for this program so that employees can choose a physician that is enrolled in the program. Employees can also choose the non-network benefits and stay with the doctor they are currently seeing if they chose not to enroll in the program. It will be at a higher cost and there are deductibles that the employee must pay.

•A report of the off-campus nursing programs was presented by Cindy Stokes. Among the figures presented, it was announced that the nursing program at Lamesa would no longer exist and the Big Spring campus will take in the additional students from there.

•The employment of Chuck Lackey at SWCID was announced. He earned his associate's degree of applied science from Howard College. He will be employed as an interpreter.

... but what about you? You'd be in the hospital, so I don't think you really came out the winner. You must learn to be careful no matter what the other guy does."

The entire group agreed and in the moment, a lesson was learned. "We'll all do this together." They lined up behind Howell, twisting and bending their right arms.

The group then advanced to the "rodeo" course - a simple track with several orange pylons placed in various positions. "All right now, weave through these, then circle around at the end," Howell directed. Each student practiced the course several times.

"Great," Howell explained. "Now this is a pretty simply laid-out course. If you are having trouble maneuvering around on this one, make a practice course at your house.

"Don't ever go out on the street until you are ready," Howell added. "If you don't have it down, and you start to wobble out on the street with cars around, you could have a very serious accident."

"Practice before you go out. Keep from being hurt," he said firmly. "And always remember to wear your helmet." Several very serious faces nodded their agreement.

Then the serious faces turned to bright smiles. Howell passed out free ice-cream certificates to everyone in attendance.

Losing Ground

Coral reefs are becoming one of nature's biggest disappearing acts, according to the Florida Institute of Oceanography.

The brightly colored coral reefs are formed by millions of tiny coral animals that have tentacles. They live in large, tightly knit colonies. (The critters are permanently attached to a limestone skeleton that the colony builds as it grows.)

Collecting coral for home aquariums, coral-eating starfish, pollution and rising water temperatures have wiped out many types of coral. But scientists say ships that run aground on reefs cause the most long-term damage. Ships have leveled miles of coral, which take anywhere from 50 to 400 years to grow back.

Scientists are urging countries to pass international laws to protect coral reefs off their coastlines.

Glow in the Dark?

Today, lots of products are made to glow in the dark — from watch dials to plastic keys to paints. They all get that special glow from something called a phosphor (FOSS-four).

Phosphors are special substances. When you hold a phosphor in light, its molecules absorb some of the energy. That means they gain the energy of the light. Later, when they get rid of the energy, they give off light.

In order to make a toy glow in the dark, toymakers coat it with paint that has a phosphor in it. If you shine a light on the toy, then place it in a dark room, the paint glows.

The glow may last only a fraction of a second after it is taken away from a light source. But some phosphors last longer.

In fact, some types of phosphors can last for a few days. Outdoor signs painted with phosphors absorb light during the day and then glow for hours at night.

YOUTH EXPLOSION

Bauer students send television SIGNAL

also discussed. Elvis was brought back for one last sighting.

One enlightened youth said:

*Pythons live in Asia,
 Also in Malaysia...
 They have no legs,
 But do lay eggs.*

Another student attacked social inequality by inquiring:

*Caddoe Indians
 Live on Reservations;
 I wonder if they feel
 Like slaves on plantations?*

Yet another G/T pupil pursued government injustice with:

*Then Andrew Jackson got mad
 Because he couldn't get what the Seminoles had.
 He forced them along the "Trail of Tears."*

Which soon became one of their worst fears.

"The project was difficult," Jeffcoat explained. "Each one of these students have special and unique gifts and abilities, but they are not used to struggling in the classroom. Many of them have never heard, 'Go back, you can do more.' Some are experiencing frustration for the very first time."

Perhaps one young fifth grader said it best. "We've experienced a month of cruelty from a teacher, but I'll bet all the colleges will want us in their schools now!"

Local television stations might want to be careful. Bauer Elementary students may put them out of business.

Bauer fourth- and fifth-grade SIGNAL students, led by teacher Beverly Jeffcoat, produced their own newscast last Thursday.

SIGNAL is Big Spring's program for gifted and talented students from every elementary school in the Big Spring Independent School District.

The newscast was entitled "Survival Threats" and was the innovative method chosen for students to present their year-end research projects. Students have been preparing their topics and the presentation for the past several weeks.

According to Jeffcoat, the theme was general and each student then was required to select a topic of interest to fit the theme.

The pupil was required to provide a professional, type-written research paper complete with title page, outline, several instructional pages, footnotes, endnotes and a bibliography. Students were encouraged to submit a visual display in conjunction with their research paper.

"These students have been working for the past 13 weeks, researching, writing, rewriting, notetaking and moaning," said Jeffcoat.

"But each one brought in a very professional product. They went through the entire research process and then turned in projects that would meet teachers' expectations for much higher levels."

Each student was also required to present an individual and creative poem briefly detailing their selected subjects. The range of topics was extensive, from sea mammals to cats. Rain forests, bald eagles, civil war battles and medieval times were

Around the world in one day

By KELLIE JONES
 Staff Writer

Imagine visiting Mexico, Scotland, India and Africa all in one day. That is what students at Bauer Elementary School got to do last week during their "Around the World in 80 Days" program.

The event was kicked off by a Mexican luncheon and puppet show. Fourth grader Daniel Mata sang Spanish music as well.

Ann Graumann, a native of Scotland and teacher at Bauer, gave a presentation about her homeland. Pictures of the country and a story about the Loch Ness monster entertained students.

Fourth grade teacher Estella Aguirre had a program about Mexico which was followed by presentations of India and Africa.

Bauer students also performed a Mexican hat dance for the crowd.

which was sponsored by Velma Flores and Alma Yanez.

The luncheon was held for third graders to cap off their social studies lessons for the year. The third graders learned about several countries in the world. Food, clothing and shelter were emphasized.

"We have been doing this for about six years, and in the past we had food sampling from each country we learned about. However, that got to be too big and we decided to just have food from our closest neighbor Mexico," said Betty Cain, third grade teacher at Bauer.

Tabatha Green and Rhonda Gibbs helped Cain organize the program as well.

"All students from Bauer got to participate in the rest of the day's program. It just gets bigger every year. Parent participation is great and the students really enjoy this," Cain added.

Zap aliens in 'Star Trek' game

The Associated Press

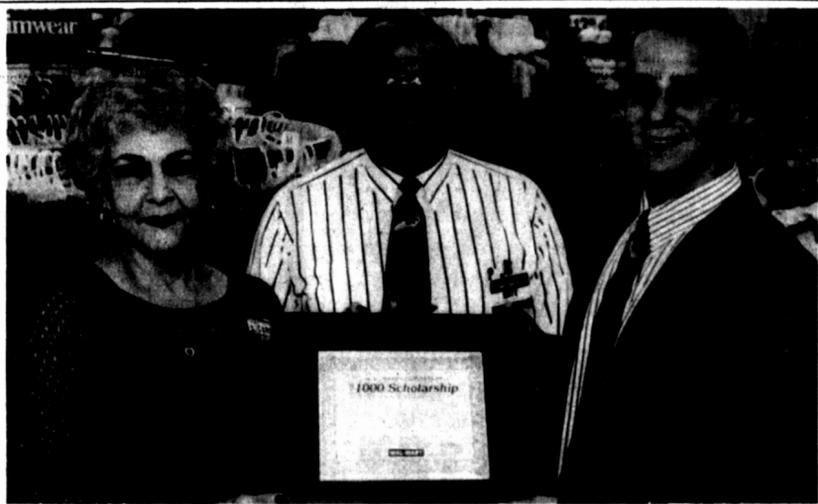

Have you always pictured yourself in one of those cool Star Trek uniforms? Have you always wanted to flip your phaser to "stun" and zap a Klingon? Do you dream of the day you'll be "transported" to another world?

If you answered "yes" to any of the above, you're ready to take the helm of the starship Enterprise and zoom into space, courtesy of Star Trek: The Next Generation — "Future's Past" (around $70 from Spectrum Holobyte for Super Nintendo).

This 16-meg, one-player overhead epic is probably as close as any of us will get to intergalactic travel — and given all the problems our plucky band encounters, maybe that's not such a bad thing.

Here's the deal: While you are nominally under the command of the Federation, and Federation officials often send you off on missions, you can actually travel to any of seemingly hundreds of planets and interact with the locals.

Have a blast with UFO game

By BRITT and BRIAN WARNER
Thomson News Service

GAME: Sub-Terrainia
COMPANY: Sega of America
SYSTEM: Sega Genesis
PLAYER LEVEL: Difficult
PLOT SUMMARY: Humans have now had their first glimpse of real UFOs, but unfortunately it was just a brief second before the invaders obliterated a U.S. mining colony on the moon. The only survivors are the helpless miners trapped far below the surface of the moon.

Having to react quickly (before the aliens regroup and take over the world) you are now being sent out in an experimental space ship designed to combat these nasty beasts underground. You are the only hope for all of the innocent, trapped lives beneath the lunar surface.

If the aliens aren't stopped now, they're not going to settle for just conquering the moon, they'll try and take over the world!

Act fast, hero. You've got to save the miners — and the world.

STRUCTURE: Sub-Terrainia is an underground video battle in a most realistic form. In this game, even gravity is your enemy. You must fight off the alien attackers and keep yourself from being pulled into the rocky cave floor by the forces of gravity.

As you progress and get to higher levels, the intensity of gravity also gets higher. So it's very important to master the controls on the first few levels. To help strip the caverns of their metals, the miners used high pressure water hoses.

And as such, some portions of the caves have become totally flooded with water. In these underwater levels, your ship becomes even more difficult to maneuver. You have to fight hard against the water because your ship is very buoyant (because it's filled with air).

While struggling against this and the forces of gravity, you have to be careful that you don't run out of fuel. You have a very limited supply, so conservation is a must. In Sub-Terrainia, you have to use brains as much as your trigger finger.

Each level has multiple objectives that you must accomplish before you can travel on to the next level. Most levels have puzzles that you must solve in order to stay alive. You also have to refuel at just the right times so you can stretch your fuel supply throughout each mission.

BRIAN'S COMMENTS: I really had a blast playing Sub-Terrainia! While this game is difficult, it's also extremely fun to play. There wasn't anything I didn't like about this game. The graphics were superb and the sound was excellent.

What more could you ask for in an action game. It's got bad guys, it's got puzzles to solve, and most importantly, it's got guns! Buy, rent, or borrow this game. You won't be disappointed!

BRITT'S COMMENTS: Sub-Terrainia is awesome! It's like no other game I've ever played.

The graphics are excellent, and the sound is amazing, but the absolute best feature is the gravity effect. The gravity is the one feature of this game that sets it apart and way ahead of all other games like it (shooters). This feature takes a little while to master, but it makes the game more realistic, challenging, and a lot more fun.

This is by far the best new release for the Sega Genesis. It's the kind of game that everyone can really enjoy. Excellent game!!

Tips for Park Visits

WILDLIFE MANNERS

Our nation's park system is run by the National Park Service.

The service's job is to "conserve scenery and natural and historic objects and wildlife."

Some parks are set aside to preserve our nation's history.

Other national parks cover large areas and offer many activities, points of interest and chances to see wildlife.

Here are some wildlife manners for national parks, or for anywhere where wildlife lives.

The week of May 22-29 is National Park Week. Each of the 367 sites will be holding special events. The purpose of this week is to let folks know how valuable these parks can be — especially for wildlife watching!

• Watch from a distance. Don't approach or touch wild animals.

Small animals that don't run away from you could be sick. Bigger animals can gore or butt you and cause serious injury.

• Don't feed the animals, because they can become: — sick from eating human food. — so used to eating human food that they forget how to find food in nature. — too friendly with humans and even a dangerous nuisance.

• Don't become so busy watching wildlife that you forget to watch the traffic.

• Keep your food out of reach of animals. Keep it in a container like an ice chest.

• Don't litter. Eating or getting tangled in litter can be dangerous to animals.

• Don't pick up baby animals. Their mothers are usually nearby. Don't take them to a park ranger's station. It's almost impossible to get them back with their mothers.

• Don't pick any plants. Animals might depend on them for a place to live or for food to eat.

Rookie Cookie's Recipe

Campfire Fruit Treat

You will need an adult's help with this recipe.

- You'll need:
- 2 ripe nectarines or peaches
 - 8 marshmallows
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon

- What to do:
1. Cut fruit in half. Remove pit.
 2. Place 2 marshmallows in the hollow place where the pit was.
 3. Sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon on top.
 4. Wrap each nectarine or peach half in aluminum foil.
 5. Place on campfire grill. Cook 5 to 10 minutes or until soft. Serves 2.

Sport switch doesn't slow coach's success

By DAVE HARGRAVE
Sports Editor

COAHOMA - For Coahoma baseball coach Doc Rowell, the towns have changed, the names have changed and the sport has changed.

The results haven't. Rowell, 50, has been coaching for 29 years. He's been a football coach all of that time, and he's been on the diamond for three years. He's helped take Coahoma baseball to new heights - the Bulldogs earned their first playoff win in the four-year history of the program Thursday - but considering Rowell's track record, such success was just a matter of time.

Rowell said he came to Coahoma in 1987 as a line coach for the football team and head coach for the track team. The Coahoma baseball program debuted in 1991 under coach Phil Ritchey, but after Ritchey took Coahoma to the playoffs that first year, Rowell became baseball coach and Ritchey switched to coaching girls' track. Rowell has kept a streak alive - Coahoma has reached the playoffs in each of its four baseball seasons.

"I hadn't been a baseball coach, but I'd been around good baseball people, good high school programs," Rowell said. "I jumped at it, cause I knew I knew baseball. I knew our kids would respond and we'd be successful at it. I just felt like I could teach them the right aspects of the game."

Rowell had football and baseball scholarships offered him upon his graduation from Odessa Ector High School in 1961, and he chose to play football at West Texas State. He was part of the 1962 West Texas State team that won the Sun Bowl 15-14 over Ohio University.

He graduated in 1965 and went to White Deer, a Panhandle school, as a line coach. Ironically, that first year White Deer beat Coahoma 27-

23 in the quarterfinals and finished as the state Class A runner-up. White Deer was 36-3-1 during his three years there, Rowell said.

Rowell moved to Class 3A Dalhart in 1968 as a line coach, but after one season he moved up in a big way, becoming head football coach and athletic director. He was just 25 at the time.

Rowell was Dalhart's head coach and athletic director for six years, during which time Dalhart had a 40-20-3 record. Rowell left Dalhart in 1975 for Goliad, another 3A school near Victoria. In five years as head football coach and athletic director, Rowell led a former dormat - Goliad had won four games total in the previous six years - to a 29-22-1 record.

After Goliad, Rowell held the same positions for four years at Alpine (24-15-1) and three years at Devine (20-11-1). Then, citing a need to take a break for the pressures of being an athletic director, Rowell came to Coahoma.

"I'd been a head coach and an athletic director for 18 years, and I got fed up with the little-bitty fires you have to put out every day," Rowell said. "On Friday night, it got to where it wasn't enjoyable. If you won, it wasn't, because this is Texas, and football's that way. It wasn't, 'Hey, we won!' It was, 'Thank God we didn't get beat.'"

Rowell has a lot of great seasons when he looks back, but this season could be one of his best coaching jobs. The Bulldogs (11-6) play Lockney in an area playoff game Friday in Lubbock, and they've made it that far with a painfully young team. The 'Dogs have just one senior - reserve Murphy Henry - and four juniors. The rest are freshmen or sophomores.

The young players don't have to wonder what Rowell wants from them - Rowell lets them know. From the third-base coaching box, Rowell shouts encouragement or advice to his hitters between every pitch, and he's one of the most deliberate, forceful signal-givers you'll ever see.

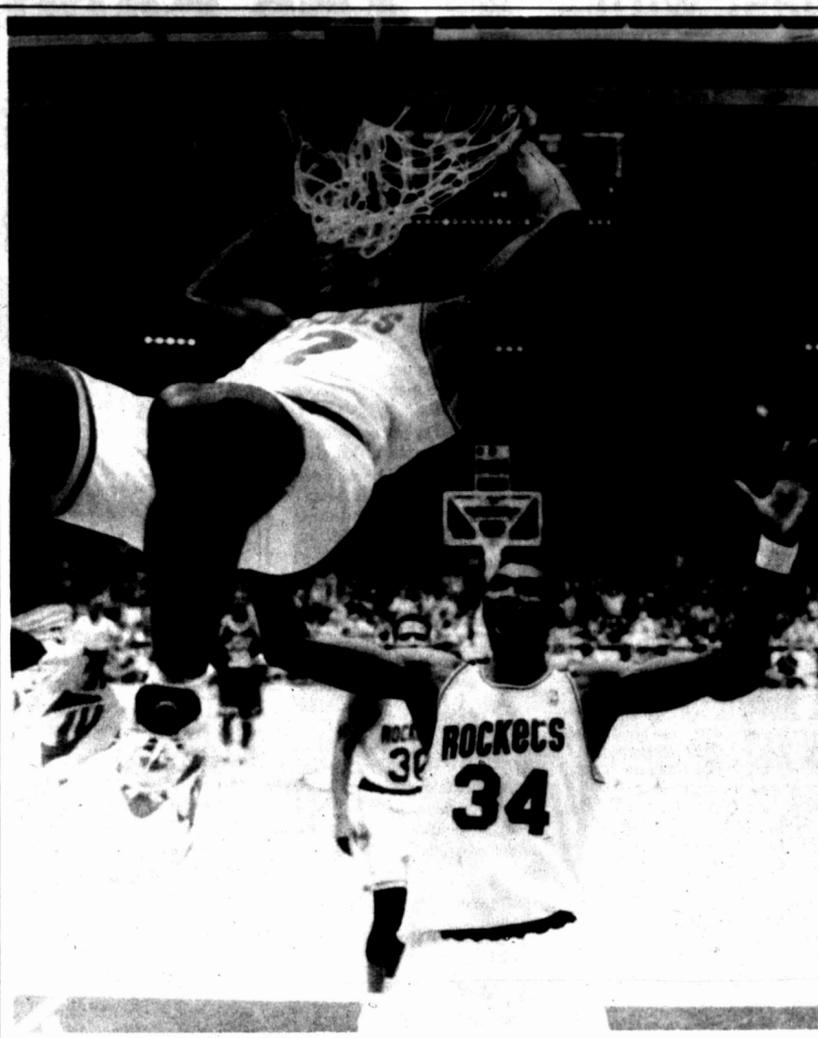

"In football, he might be a little bit louder, but in both sports he's always trying to get you to do better," said Coahoma junior outfielder Jeff Phernetton. "When he's talking to you when you're batting, it keeps you, well, it keeps me focused on what I'm doing. He's always talking to you, but I think that's good. If he wasn't talking to you, then you'd really worry."

Rowell's constant shouting from the coaching box doesn't mean he doesn't trust his players. In fact, he has sophomore catcher Brian Ruiz calling the pitches, and Ruiz just started catching this year.

"I call the pitches, but if Coach wants a play, he'll call my name and let me know," Ruiz said. "I was kind of stunned that he gave me the opportunity to call them."

Rowell said he might try being a head football coach again someday, if the right job comes along, but he's happy in Coahoma. He's close to his parents, who live in Odessa, and he likes the small-town atmosphere.

If Coahoma baseball keeps rising the way it is now, Bulldog fans might not let Rowell leave anyway.

Houston's Mario Elie (17) hangs on the rim after dunking the ball as his teammate, Hakeem Olajuwon (34), celebrates during the fourth quarter Monday. Houston beat Utah 100-88 in the first game of the NBA Western Conference finals.

Rockets romp vs. Jazz in conference finals

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON (AP) — Utah expected Hakeem Olajuwon to get his points but the Jazz didn't anticipate being shelled from the outside by Houston's guard corps.

Olajuwon got 31 points and the Houston guards, led by Kenny Smith's 27 points, left the Jazz trying to defend inside and outside as the Rockets rolled to a 100-88 victory on Monday night in Game 1 of the Western Conference final.

"When they're shooting like that from outside, it opens up the inside," Jazz forward Karl Malone said. "What killed us was that second quarter. I missed a lot of open shots. But this is just the first game. It's not over."

Smith hit 6-of-9 3-point baskets and 9-of-14 overall. For the second consecutive game, rookie Sam Cassell came into the game and created a spark with nine straight Rockets points to start the second quarter.

Cassell's run ignited the Rockets to a 54-34 halftime lead and they never looked back. He had 22 points against Phoenix in Game 7 of the semifinals.

"In the playoffs, you have to have a guy step up. Kenny Smith was the guy tonight," Rockets coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "He was phenomenal. You've got to do it against Utah because (John) Stockton is such a great guy at moving the ball around."

The Jazz got a 14-9 lead to start the game but it didn't last. The Rockets 11-0 run over the next 4:03 gave them the lead for good. It was 20-18 to start the second period when Cassell broke it open.

"Sam came out and really changed the tempo of the game," Tomjanovich said. "The kid has something special. He seems to rise to special occasions. He was a very positive factor in this game."

Felton Spencer, who guarded San Antonio's David Robinson and Denver's Dikembe Mutombo in the first two rounds, found Olajuwon a stiffer challenge. He had double team help but it didn't work.

"Maybe we'll rotate someone else in on him, maybe Hakeem won't hit 31 again and maybe Kenny won't hit 27 but they're a very athletic team," Spencer said.

Utah's slow start was its undoing. "This game was decided in the first half," Jazz coach Jerry Sloan said.

"We turned the ball over 12 times in the first half and that's not characteristic of us. You don't give yourself much of a chance when you do that.

"When they shoot the ball like they did tonight from the perimeter and Olajuwon is inside, they're hard to deal with."

Robert Horry held Malone to four points in the first half before Malone scored a bunch late to finish with 20. Jeff Hornacek had 19 points — all in the second half — Spencer had 15 and Malone had 16 rebounds.

"Just because something doesn't work one game, you don't change your whole defense scheme," Malone said. "We did a lot of good things tonight too. Hopefully, it will work out in the end."

The Rockets faltered at the start of the third quarter and it was Hornacek who helped the Jazz back into the game. He was 0-for-5 in the first half but had 13 points in the third quarter.

Still, the Jazz could get no closer than nine points, the last time at 61-52.

"Tonight, they really gambled on our perimeter people," Smith said. "This is the most good looks I've had. I've been shooting the ball well the whole playoff series. When you have a 15-point lead it is important to stay aggressive. Sometimes that's easier said than done."

Hawks hog spots on WJCAC's All-Conference, Region V teams

By DAVE HARGRAVE

Howard College wishes the All-Conference baseball team was still under embargo, but at least Howard players dominate the list.

The Western Junior College Athletic Conference's All-Conference team had been decided in advance of the state tournament in College Station last week, but the WJCAC doesn't allow the team to be made public until all WJCAC teams are through with their seasons. Howard, the WJCAC champion, and Odessa College, the runner-up, saw their seasons end in College Station.

Howard and Odessa have something else in common - both have a claim to the WJCAC's Most Valuable Player award.

John Major, Howard's ace pitcher, and Odessa first baseman George Kellert were named co-MVPs. In terms of players on the team, however, Howard won hands down.

The Hawks (45-11) have seven players on the team and three honorable mentions. Included on the All-Conference team are Major, catcher Chad Morford, infielders Sergio Martinez and Kevin Thompson, outfielders Jeff Orth and Troy May and designated hitter Jason Long. All are sophomores except Long.

Honorable mentions went to shortstop Freddy Rodriguez and pitchers Brian Thompson and Kelly Jones.

The strong Howard flavor to the All-Conference team underlines what Howard coach Brian Roper has been saying about his sophomores since the season began.

"The whole bottom line to all of this is that it just says a whole lot about the Chad Morfords, the John Majors, the Kevin Thompsons, the Troy Mays - all of them," said the second-year coach. "All of those guys are overachievers, and their great work habits, and their strong desire to succeed in life, all shows right there."

Roper was the WJCAC's Coach of the Year last season, but the award went to Odessa's Rick Zimmerman this season.

Howard also dominated the All-Region V team. Of the 11 players named to that team, five were Hawks - Major, Kevin Thompson, Martinez, Orth and Morford. Once again, the sophomores scored big.

Howard's assistant coach, Steve Ramharter, said most of the All-Conference players started as freshman, thus they had plenty of experience coming into this year. In fact, Major, Morford, May and Martinez were All-Conference in 1993. Orth received an honorable mention last season.

The statistics speak for themselves.

Major, a left-hander, finished 11-2 with a 2.98 ERA, striking out 77 and walking 35 in 99 2/3 innings. He allowed 93 hits, and opponents hit .245 against him. He's fourth on Howard's all-time wins list with 19.

Morford batted .363 with 15 RBIs, but his defense is what stood out the most. Morford committed just three errors for the season and handled the pitching staff impeccably.

Martinez, fifth on Howard's career doubles list with 31, dropped from .463 to .345 this season, but his power numbers increased. Martinez blasted nine home runs and drove in 62 runs. He had nine homers and 53 RBIs in 1993.

Kevin Thompson hit .376 with eight homers and 44 RBIs. Roper said Thompson may have been Howard's most improved player. "Kevin came in here as a marginal high school player with a lot of potential. He had a cannon for an arm, and he had power, but he struggled defensively all of last year, and he struggled at the plate at times. But what an improvement he made defensively this year. He made some errors, but he made some great plays for us. He may have been the steadiest infielder we had."

Thompson committed 19 errors, down four from 1993 when he hit .316 with seven homers and 48 RBIs.

Orth had team highs in hitting (.428) and RBIs (66). Orth hit eight homers, and his two-year batting average of .435 is the highest in Howard history.

"Jeff Orth is quite a story," Ramharter said. "He really didn't have a lot of baseball options when he came here, and we didn't really know where he'd play for us. Last spring, we wasn't even a full-time starter at first, and he ended up hitting .444."

May leaves Howard as the school's all-time stolen bases leader. May stole 40 this year, 84 for his career. He batted .320 from the leadoff spot with three homers and 34 RBIs.

Long led the team with 10 homers. Since he was a pitcher as well, he batted just 119 times and played in 39 of Howard's 56 games. He hit .294 with 30 RBIs.

Martinez, a Houston native, has signed with Texas Tech, and Major has signed with San Bernardo College, which takes him near his

Unknown floors Navratilova in French Open's first round

By The Associated Press

PARIS — Playing in the French Open for the first time since 1988, Martina Navratilova made a quick exit, suffering a shocking first-round upset by Miriam Oremans of the Netherlands today.

Oremans, a 21-year-old with only one victory in eight events this year, had more energy and fewer errors in winning 6-4, 6-4. The fourth-seeded Navratilova, 37, hadn't lost in the first round of a Grand Slam since the U.S. Open in 1976.

After match point, she slammed her racket into a chair on the sideline, smashing the frame.

"At that point I was too disappointed to care about anything," Navratilova said. "I've never done that before. I hope I never do it again. I was too sad to care at the moment."

In contrast to Navratilova, top seeds Steffi Graf and Pete Sampras were easy winners.

Sampras, seeking to become the first man since Rod Laver in 1969 to win four consecutive Grand Slam events, overpowered 109th-ranked Alberto Costa of Spain 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Graf took the first step toward a fifth straight Grand Slam title with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Katarina Studenikova.

Navratilova, who said this was her last French Open, had reached at least the fourth round in her 11 previous appearances. She won the event twice, was runner-up four times and before Monday had a 52-9 record in the event.

"Seeing that this was my last year ... I wish I had played better," she said.

Graf's triumph was never in doubt on a bright, breezy morning. But Studenikova, a 21-year-old Slovak ranked only 100th, broke service twice in the first set and kept the defending champion on court for 57 minutes — longer than usual for a Graf first-round match.

Graf, who has won the French Open three times, is seeking to match the five consecutive Grand Slams she won in 1988-89. Margaret Court won six in a row in 1969-71 and Navratilova did the same in 1983-84.

To match Court and Navratilova, Graf would have to stay at peak level from now through the end of Wimbledon in July.

"It's a long stretch," she said. "Sometimes I'm excited, sometimes I'm not excited. For me, this is the most difficult part of the year."

Sampras never reached the semifinals in four previous appearances at Roland Garros stadium.

NCAA snubs Texas Tech baseball squad

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech baseball coach Larry Hays was left wondering. How? Why? For the second straight year, his Red Raiders won 40 games and finished in the Top 25. And for the second straight year, his team was left out of the 48-team NCAA tournament field when invitations were announced Monday. "I'm naive. I thought we had done everything we could do to get in," said Hays, whose Red Raiders finished 40-17 and ranked No. 18 by Baseball America. "I am disappointed for our players, who felt they had a real good year. I'm sure this will taint it for them." Only two Southwest Conference teams were invited to the NCAA's SWC tournament champion Texas (40-19) will host a record 16th consecutive Central Regional, opening against Stanford (36-22) on Friday. Texas Christian (37-20), the SWC regular season champion, was placed in the Midwest Regional, where it will take on Memphis State (50-9) in Stillwater, Okla., on Friday. Rice (34-21), which finished ahead of Texas in the regular season SWC standings, also failed to receive a bid. Texas had to come from behind on its last at-bat to beat Texas Tech twice in the SWC post-season tournament. "Obviously we don't have much representation on the NCAA selection committee," Hays said. "I don't have an explanation." Oklahoma, the top seed in the Central Regional, will face sixth-seeded Arkansas State, while second-seeded Nevada (40-13) will take on Texas-San Antonio (39-16). The regionals will be a double-elimination format.

"It looks like a difficult field to me," said Cliff Gustafson, coach at Texas for the past 27 years. If the Longhorns hope to secure a spot in the College World Series for the third straight year, they will need continued success from a rejuvenated pitching staff. Pitching typically hasn't been a problem for Texas, which gave the big leagues slingers like Roger Clemens and Greg Swindell. But early in 1994, UT's curves weren't curving. The sliders were sliding past the catcher and the fast balls were leaving the park faster than they were coming at the plate. Longhorn opponents frequently reached double-digit scoring and Texas ended the regular season with 19 losses, the most in Gustafson's career in Austin. Texas stumbled to a fourth-place finish in the Southwest Conference.

College hoops standout leaves accident scene

By The Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — Basketball star Jason Kidd says he left the scene of a traffic accident because he was "really just scared." Kidd, 21, expected to be one of the top players picked in next month's NBA draft, was involved in an accident Sunday night while driving his Toyota Landcruiser. No one was injured in the wreck on Interstate 80. The California Highway Patrol is investigating the accident and whether Kidd wrongly left the scene. Depending on the outcome of a CHP investigation, Kidd could face misdemeanor hit-and-run and reckless driving charges. In an interview with KTVU-TV, Kidd did not deny that he had fled. "I didn't know what to do," he said. "Being young — I'm not using that as an excuse — I felt that I didn't know how to handle the situation." Kidd, an All-America point guard who led California to consecutive NCAA tournament appearances, allegedly sideswiped a Volkswagen Rabbit near the connector ramp to eastbound I-580. Kidd's v-hicle skidded, went out of control and overturned. The VW sustained moderate damage to its left side, said CHP Lt. Rich Garcia. Another car stopped and Kidd left the scene, leaving behind two passengers who were riding with him. One of those passengers became belligerent and kicked out the window of a patrol car, Garcia said. Kidd, accompanied by a lawyer, was interviewed about the accident

Monday by CHP investigators. Sgt. Fred Bowe said. Garcia said witnesses told the CHP that Kidd's car was weaving in and out of traffic and speeding before hitting the other vehicle. "I wasn't intoxicated," Kidd emphatically stated in the KTVU interview aired Monday night. Kidd claimed he had been rear-ended and lost control of his truck. "As I got out I was in shock of the accident and really just scared and didn't know what to do," he said. Riding with Kidd were Joe Davis, 25, of Hayward, and Milton Jackson, 27, of Bellevue, Wash. Jackson, who damaged a patrol car when he tried to kick a window, was booked on suspicion of vandalism, resisting arrest and public drunkenness. The driver of the VW Rabbit was identified as Donald Peck, 33, of San Ramon, Bowe said. Kidd, 21, the nation's assist leader, announced in March he was leaving Cal after two seasons to enter the NBA draft. Many observers expect him to go to the Dallas Mavericks, who have the second pick. Mavericks spokesman Kevin Sullivan said Monday that team officials had heard the report about Kidd, but had no comment. "There's really nothing for us to comment on. We haven't drafted Jason Kidd. We don't have his rights," Sullivan said.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Texas Utilities Electric Company (TU Electric), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA), publishes NOTICE of its Statement of Intent to implement proposed Rate WPCI - Wholesale Power Service - Cap Rock. The only customer that will be affected by the proposed tariff will be Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc. This is not a "major change" in rates within the meaning of the PURA since the charges under the proposed tariff are less than the charges that would otherwise be applicable under TU Electric's existing Rate WP - Wholesale Power Service, the tariff under which Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Inc., presently receives service from TU Electric. The proposed effective date of the proposed tariff is June 10, 1994, or as soon thereafter as permitted by law. A complete copy of the proposed tariff and TU Electric's application is on file with the Commission and at each of TU Electric's business offices. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is 45 days after the date the application was filed with the Commission. The application was filed with the Commission on May 6, 1994.

Jacqueline Bigar - Horoscope

FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1994
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Work with your creative side. News from a distance could be intriguing. It is also likely to change. Minding words does not help another get a clear point of view. Be ready to really tell it as it is. Tonight: Escape to the movies.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): One-to-one relating goes well. Maintain eye contact. Seek what you really want in the financial arena. Another appreciates your sincerity and clarity. Let another know you are not a lightweight. Tonight: Discussions center on your needs.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Listen to others more carefully. A boss might be cranky, but don't close out his commentary; you might need to listen to his perspective. A partner is there for you and gives you needed support. Tonight: Make time for those who count in your life.
CANCER (June 21-July 22): Focus on the area where you are most effective. News could have you in a foul mood. Lighten up about your potential and possibilities. Ease up in the way you deal with a situation. Carefully review a change in plans. Tonight: Burn the midnight oil.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Risk-taking seems natural to you today. Be careful about how far you push another. You have information that is important. Walk a conservative path with finances. A loved one could be rather testy. Tonight: Think of creative ways to have fun.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Creativity and management help you understand a situation differently. A partner isn't there for you today. You can choose to mope, carry on or sing the blues. It's up to you. Being honest with yourself is important. Tonight: Look at the bottom lines.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Conversations are active today. You might be overwhelmed by a work situation. Don't hide this from another. Get to the core of a problem at work. Eliminate the red tape. Be precise in your communications. Tonight: Swap jokes with your buddies.

Dear Abby - Letters... Friendly divorce making family enemies

DEAR ABBY: After 25 years of marriage, my husband and I are getting a divorce. This decision was not made lightly. We both gave it plenty of thought.
We have raised two lovely daughters of whom we are very proud, and while this is a sad time for them, they realized long ago that ours was not the perfect marriage outsiders thought it was.
We have spent hours with marriage counselors and lived in separate dwellings on more than one occasion. It hasn't all been bad or we wouldn't have stayed together for 25 years. In fact, we have enjoyed many good times, which will be locked in our hearts forever. It's just time to move on.
Unfortunately, the extended family seems to think divorce has to be all the ugly things they've heard it to be, and they are already saying their "goodbyes" — as if the funeral were tomorrow!
Through all of this, my husband and I have remained friends, and we intend to keep it that way if we can. We are still sleeping in the same bed, and we will until our house sells.
Abby, please let your readers know that if the separating parties can make the best of it, everybody else should butt out. It's hard enough being treated like outcasts from the family before the papers are even signed. — NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: All the intimacies of one's marriage are known only to the couple, and while well-intentioned friends and relatives may want to try to "save" the marriage, I agree with you — they should butt out.
DEAR ABBY: I just read your response to "Your Friend in the Bay Area." She had asked for suggestions on where to go for affordable birth control pills. You told her to

"I WASN'T PICKING MY NOSE. MY FINGER WAS COLD."

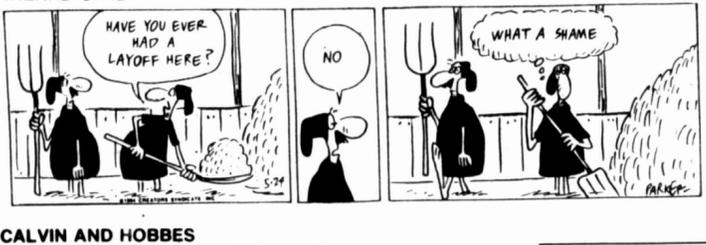

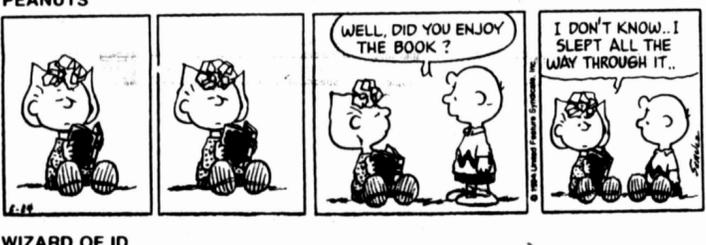

"I had dolls called Raggedy Ann and Betsy Wetsy." "I named mine Regis and Kathie Lee."

"SOUP STAINS... GREASE... SPAGHETTI SAUCE... LISTEN! AN ARMY TRAVELS ON ITS STOMACH! YOU EVER HEAR OF A NAPKIN?"

"I GUESS THAT EXPLAINS THE MUD AND GRASS STAINS, TOO"

Today is Tuesday, May 24th, the 144th day of 1994. There are 221 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: One hundred and fifty years ago, on May 24th, 1844, Samuel F.B. Morse transmitted the message, "What hath God wrought!" from Washington to Baltimore as he formally opened America's first telegraph line.

On this date: In 1819, Queen Victoria was born in London.

In 1830, the first passenger railroad in the United States began service between Baltimore and Elliott's Mills, Md.

In 1881, some 200 people died when the Canadian ferry "Princess Victoria" sank near London, Ontario.

In 1883, the Brooklyn Bridge, linking Brooklyn and Manhattan, was opened to traffic.

In 1935, the first major league baseball game played at night took place in Cincinnati as the Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-to-1.

In 1941, the German battleship "Bismarck" sank the British dreadnought "Hood" in the North Atlantic.

In 1958, United Press International was formed through a merger of the United Press and the International News Service.

In 1962, astronaut Scott Carpenter became the second American to orbit the Earth as he flew aboard "Aurora Seven."

In 1976, Britain and France opened transatlantic Concorde service to Washington, D.C.

In 1977, in a surprise move, the Kremlin ousted Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny from the Communist Party's ruling Politburo.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR FLUID INJECTION WELL PERMIT
 CHEVRON U.S.A., INC., P.O. BOX 1150, MIDLAND, TEXAS 79702, has applied to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to inject fluid into a formation which is productive of oil or gas.
 The applicant proposes to inject fluid into the GLORIETA-CLEARFORK formation, A.M. Bell lease, well number 26R, and the W.L. Foster #1 lease, well numbers, 1A, 14, 72, 85, and 89. The proposed injection wells are seven miles east from Coahoma in the later, East Howard Field, in Howard and Mitchell Counties. Fluid will be injected into strata in the subsurface depth interval from approximately 2400 to 3000 feet. The applicant proposes to convert the six wells listed above from producing wells to injection wells.
 LEGAL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statewide Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.
 Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show that they are adversely affected, or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Environmental Services Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, P.O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711-2967 (telephone 512/463-6790).
