Fireworks to go off as usual

Fireworks light up the sky and bring enjoyment to all on the Fourth of July. But, with the dry, hot conditions experienced for the past several weeks, officials are asking people to watch the community fireworks display rather than buy their own in order to prevent as many fires as possible.

■ Dry conditions of concern to local officials

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

With recent grass fires, high winds and severe lightning, not to mention several days of 100-degree-plus temperatures, city and county officials will be keeping a close watch on fireworks this Fourth of July weekend.

In light of recent fires and dry conditions, Terry Burns, executive vice president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, said the Chamber-sponsored display was almost canceled.

However, fire officials were more concerned with the fires that may start from individuals using fireworks.

The display will go on as scheduled (at dark on Monday), but sustained winds of 20 miles per hour or gusts of 30 miles per hour will cancel the display, according to Burns.

He said, "We would like to encourage people not to purchase individual fireworks, but watch the display from a safe place."

Tips to follow to keep the Fourth of July safe

Here are some tips from the Texas Commission on Fire Protection to ensure a safe Fourth of July celebration:

- Buy fireworks only from a licensed vendor—they must obtain a license or permit from the State Fire Marshal's Office.
- Know the law in your community - it is against city ordinance to have fireworks within the city limits of Big Spring.

- Read and follow the directions exactly as written - if you don't understand the instructions on the fireworks, don't take a chance by lighting it.
- Use fireworks outdoors only - make sure you are in a clear area away from houses and other flammable materials. Stay away from areas with grass, tress, gasoline cars, wooden decks and anything else that can catch on fire.

- Keep a bucket of water nearby - pour the water on any malfunctioning fireworks ("duds") or accidental fires. Immerse minor burns in cool water.
- NEVER let children use fireworks - always designate a responsible, sober adult to ignite the fireworks.

- Keep a safe distance away from the area where the fireworks are ignited - watch children under 15 years old very closely.

- Be sure fireworks will not contact or land on any potentially dangerous objects - be sure that aerial fireworks, such as rockets and Roman candles, won't strike power lines or automobiles.
- Never touch a firework after it has been lit - if it malfunctions, do not try to relight it or pick it up. Carefully cover all used fireworks with water.
- Never experiment with fireworks - don't take them apart or mix anything with the contents. Never make fireworks at home and don't set them off in metal, glass or other types of containers.

One car accident claims Vincent man

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

A one car accident has claimed the life of a Vincent man.

According to the Texas Department of Public Safety, Laroy Kenneth Shafer, 65, was traveling westbound on Highway 350 around 3 p.m. Thursday.

"The accident happened about 10.6 miles east of Big Spring and was reported to us at 3:27 but we feel like the accident occurred closer to three," explained DPS Sgt. Larry Meadors.

"Mr. Shafer was driving a 1993 Ford Ranger pickup west towards Big Spring when, for some unknown reason, his vehicle veered off to the north side of the road and hit a livestock property fence. The truck then coasted to a stop after striking some mesquite trees," said Meadors.

Meadors said they are still investigating the accident and "we looked at the pickup and there was no mechanical problems like blown tires. There was no evasive action by Mr. Shafer and no skid marks. There was also no severe damage to the truck."

Shafer was transported to Scenic Mountain Medical Center where he was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Bill Shankles. Judge Shankles has ordered an autopsy to be performed today to determine the exact cause of death.

Moore Board begins search for new executive director

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

An application requesting funds for an aircraft service and replacement of its executive director was discussed by Moore Board directors Wednesday.

The resignation of current Executive Director Ted R. St. Clair is effective today.

Pamela Welch, with Moore Board, said details on the aircraft service are not clear at this point, but the board would be helping the service that wants to move in at McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark with rent for a year.

The board is also announcing, said Welch, in its efforts to replace St. Clair, who is remaining as a consultant on many of the projects he was involved with, it is seeking the help of the Big Spring community.

Welch said, "We are asking Big Spring citizens to write us with their suggestions of what type of person they would like to see in this position."

Board members will also submit suggestions. From all information and suggestions received, Moore Board will put together criteria for the position of executive director.

Welch also said a search committee of about five or six people from all over the city will be formed to handle this task.

Big Spring residents are encouraged to send suggestions to: Moore Board, P.O. Box 3359, Big Spring, Texas 79721. Welch said any and all suggestion will be accepted.

Gutierrez pleads guilty in baby's strangulation

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Jesse Gutierrez, 31, pled guilty in 118th District Court to capital murder and admitted to strangling his 1-year-old niece to death.

Ricky Scott Fields, 22, of Seagraves, was also in district court for a civil commitment hearing. Fields was recently found not guilty of murder by reason of insanity.

Gutierrez was in court Wednesday afternoon and entered his plea to Judge Robert Moore, who sentenced him to 99 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. Gutierrez will have to serve 30 calendar years in prison before he is eligible for parole and will not receive any good time credit while in jail.

He was indicted by a grand jury on June 16 on the capital murder charge and has remained in the county jail since his arrest in April.

Autopsy results showed that his niece, Daphne Nicole Gutierrez, was sexually assaulted and then strangled during the early morning hours of April 30.

Sheriff's deputies had responded to Gutierrez' home after receiving a 911 call stating that Gutierrez had molested the toddler and was still in the house.

When deputies arrived, Gutierrez fled out a back bedroom window and sent officers on a four-hour land and air search before he was arrested. A helicopter from the Midland DPS office had been called in to assist in the search.

Daphne and her family had been visiting her uncle that weekend when the incident occurred.

Meanwhile, Fields has been ordered to be sent back to Vernon State Hospital on a 90-day civil commitment. Judge Moore heard testimony from one of the doctors on a team responsible for evaluating Fields.

Fields was found not guilty by reason of insanity on May 25 in the death of 49-year-old Benancio Gonzales. Fields strangled Gonzales while both men were patients at the Big Spring State Hospital last September.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ruling should help pro-abortion activists

HOUSTON (AP) — A U.S. Supreme Court ruling supporting buffer zones around abortion clinics was praised by abortion rights activists fighting to restrict clinic protests.

A divided court said a judge didn't violate abortion protesters' right to free speech when he ordered them to stay 36 feet away from a Melbourne, Fla., clinic. But the justices did say a 300-foot limit was too restrictive.

Although the case has generated national interest, it had been watched especially close in Houston, where abortion rights supporters are seeking similar restraints against demonstrators.

Texas group sees ruling as helpful

AUSTIN (AP) — A group that works on behalf of Texas death row inmates is applauding a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that said federal judges have the power to postpone a death row inmate's execution until a lawyer can be appointed to help prepare an appeal.

"This ruling is an important victory in seeing that death penalty cases get an informed, meaningful review by the courts," said Mandy Welch, executive director of the Texas Resource Center, who argued the case before the Supreme Court.

But Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said the ruling gives death row inmates another way to stall.

Family takes Cold War test case to court

DALLAS (AP) — A case of a Texas man who was a victim of the Cold War is going to court.

The family of Elmer Allen have filed a federal civil-rights lawsuit, accusing three universities and six medical researchers of using him for radiation experiments without his knowledge.

The Department of Energy is responsible for federal plutonium-related projects once conducted by the former U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

E-Systems under investigation

DALLAS (AP) — The House Oversight and Investigations subcommittee is investigating allegations that E-Systems Inc. has cheated the government and obstructed a criminal investigation, three sources told The Dallas Morning News.

Public paddling considered for graffiti-spraying

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Work has started on the drafting of an ordinance that would require parents to approve public paddling of graffiti-spraying juveniles or to perform community service by working with their errant children to clean up the graffiti.

The work began Thursday following a meeting attended by City Attorney Lloyd Garza, Presiding Municipal Judge Stella Ortiz Kyle and Councilman Lyle Larson, the chief advocate of a public-paddling ordinance for juvenile offenders.

The ordinance will feature what Larson described as a "fallback position" requiring parents who do not want their offspring paddled to be assigned by a Municipal Court judge the same number of community service hours as the youngster.

Larson said that would place parents and children in the position of working together to clean graffiti from walls and buildings.

"That way, the parents can impress upon their kids the importance of staying out of trouble," Larson said.

Larson said he has been contacted by radio talk shows in California, Florida and Washington to discuss his proposal.

"I don't understand why there's so much interest,"

Larson said. "This is nothing new. Most of us were spanked as children."

The councilman said that of the about 100 telephone calls he received after he unveiled his idea, only three callers voiced opposition.

He first spoke of the proposed ordinance at Monday meeting of the Greater San Antonio Crime Prevention Commission, which he chairs.

At least six of 11 council members have told the San Antonio Express-News they cannot support a paddling ordinance as a matter of public policy.

Theresa Carmody, a board member of the Police Athletic League and the Gang Alternative Program, who said she supported spanking or some other restriction to keep children out of trouble, said she favors the spanking ordinance.

Stifling heat wave turns killer

The Texas heat wave has been blamed for the death of an El Paso construction worker, while state officials issued pleas of caution as the Fourth of July holiday nears and firefighters are battling wildfires.

"We're asking everyone, especially people who live in rural areas, to be aware of the fire danger and to work closely with their local fire department to reduce fire hazards in and around their homes," Governor Ann Richards said in a statement from emergency management officials.

Temperatures of 110-plus claimed the life of the El Paso man who suffered heat stroke on Monday. He was the first heat-related death in El Paso due to June's record-breaking temperatures.

The man, whose family asked that his name not be released, died Tuesday at Thomason Hospital, officials said.

Thomason also treated a second heat-stroke victim within an hour of the construction worker's admission — an 83-year-old man, who was listed in stable condition on Thursday.

Heat alerts have been in effect across much of Texas since last weekend. In El Paso and West Texas, temperatures have been above 110 much of the week.

Thursday was the first day since Sunday that heat advisories were eased across much of North Texas.

Muralists Gaspar Enriquez paint a mural of a local early Spanish mission on the side of a grain silo as he braves record-breaking 114 degree heat Thursday in El Paso. While he worked, the hottest temperature ever recorded sent others seeking shade.

Jury refuses death for Koslow; give her life

FORT WORTH (AP) — Pleading with jurors to spare teen-ager Kristi Koslow's life, a defense lawyer abruptly turned and pointed a finger at the prosecution table.

"He's probably the only lawyer in this state who could talk a jury into killing this girl," declared Mark Daniel.

Right or wrong, Alan Levy ran of courtroom magic Thursday.

Jurors spurned a chillingly eloquent argument for the death penalty by Tarrant County's chief prosecutor and instead assessed Miss Koslow life in prison.

At Levy's urging, the panel convicted the 19-year-old defendant of capital murder in the 1992 slaying of her stepmother, oil heiress Caren Koslow, 40.

But it did not buy the state argument that Miss Koslow is a continuing threat to society, one of two mandatory "special issues" for a death penalty under Texas law.

Thus ended the final chapter in a bizarre and bungled murder-for-hire case dating back to the early morning hours of March 12, 1992.

That's when Miss Koslow's boyfriend, Brian Salter, and another teen-ager named Jeff Dillingham kicked in the bedroom door of an elegant Rivercrest home and attacked Jack and Caren Koslow.

His skull crushed and his throat cut, Koslow, 51, an ex-banker survived, but his wife did not.

Incredibly, Koslow emerged as the prime suspect, and remained so for nearly two weeks. Then a phone tip from an informant led police to Miss Koslow and her co-conspirators.

From their confessions, police learned that Miss Koslow wanted her parents killed for what she perceived to be a multimillion-dollar inheritance.

Smuggled animals captured at border

DEL RIO (AP) — U.S. Customs officials who stopped a pickup truck at a border crossing into Mexico found endangered bears, jaguars and a leopard crammed into a trailer that the truck was hauling.

Customs said they thought the animals, which were in a stock trailer with plywood covering the sides, were being taken into Mexico from an exotic game park in Texas.

Officials stopped the truck late Wednesday night at Amistad Dam, then found three brown bears, two jaguars and the leopard. The driver didn't have any paperwork for the animals. The Bears were taken to the San Antonio Zoo.

"I suspect they may have been going to a hunting ranch or to be killed for taxidermy," zoo veterinarian Mel Richardson said Thursday. "In the worst case scenario, it's possible we saved them from becoming rugs."

The bears, quickly named Stephanie, Oscar and George by zoo workers, were still groggy Thursday from being tranquilized for the trip to San Antonio.

The male bears each weigh about 400 pounds. Stephanie tips the scales at about 220.

not doing as good a job as we should? Does it mean that we must learn how to deliver the news more conveniently?
Those are the kinds of conclusions that news media executives will undoubtedly draw from the study. But the apparent lack of interest in news may have to do with something a little less obvious, a little more potentially complicated.
When Jacqueline Onassis died last month, a fascinating quote was attributed to her. A friend of Mrs. Onassis said that he once asked her how she managed to deal with all the tabloid stories constantly written about her. She reportedly replied: "The river of sludge will go on and on. It isn't about me."
Mrs. Onassis' comment was about sensationalistic stories that invaded the lives of her and her family. And when she said that "the river of sludge" "isn't about me," she likely meant that she found herself unrecognizable in the stories that exploited her.
Yet it's tempting to wonder whether the American public is not, in some way, reaching the same conclusion about news in general. "The river of sludge will go on and on. It isn't about me." It's certainly possible that this is the attitude the Times Mirror survey reflects. Are people beginning to regard the unending cycles of news as a continuous river of sludge? Are they, one by one, deciding that the non-stop news has nothing to do with their lives?

Arafat's return caps long odyssey

RAFAH, Gaza Strip (AP) — Yasser Arafat, on a historic "journey of return," made a triumphant entry into the newly autonomous Gaza Strip today to cap a 27-year odyssey from guerrilla fighter to government leader.
Flanked by armored vehicles and cars carrying PLO military officers, Arafat was driven to the border. He then walked through the border gate and toward a crowd of thousands of frenzied supporters waving green, red and black Palestinian flags.

About 30 drown in after boat shot at PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Police fired warning shots at a sailboat loaded with refugees, setting off a panic in which 200 people were knocked overboard and at least 30 drowned, journalists said today.

The incident, as well as intimidation tactics directed toward other Haitian boat people, has not stopped the flood of refugees trying to escape military repression and economic misery in Haiti.
In the past week, the Coast Guard, in its biggest mission since Vietnam, has intercepted about 200 rickety boats carrying more than 4,700 Haitians toward the United States.

Commandos rescue Tutsis

GOMA, Zaire (AP) — In a daring night mission, French commandos rescued 74 Tutsis who had been hiding for days from marauding Hutu militiamen in Rwanda.
The helicopter operation was the biggest rescue in France's week-old effort to save refugees from nearly three months of ethnic slaughter in Rwanda.
The Tutsis rescued Thursday had bullet and machete wounds, some of which had gone untreated for many days. They were flown to Goma, the Zairean border town that is the base for the U.N.-authorized French mission in western Rwanda.

Storage tanks set ablaze in Yemen

SAN'A, Yemen (AP) — Southern warplanes set storage tanks ablaze at an oil field in north Yemen on Thursday and northern forces were reported in a fierce push on Aden, wrecking one more truce hours after it went into effect.
The air raid by the secessionist south shut down production at the Yemen Hunt Oil Co. facility at Marib, about 60 miles east of the northern capital of San'a, diplomats reported.

Free: death camps should be a reminder

KRAKOW, Poland (AP) — The Nazi death camps at Auschwitz and Birkenau should warn policemen everywhere of their obligation to protect "minorities and those most easily victimized by prejudice, hate groups and oppression," FBI Director Louis J. Freeh says.
Freeh laid wreaths at the two Nazi death camps Thursday and then spoke at Jagiellonian University in Krakow about their meaning for him and his profession.
Of four speeches he is giving on his 10-day tour of Eastern Europe, this was the only one he wrote himself. To give it here, he had to overcome objections by the U.S. ambassador to Poland, Nicholas Rei, according to two U.S. officials, who declined to be identified.

Crime comes of age on Information Superhighway

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Securities Commission has a word for Texans tempted by an investment offer they find on a computer billboard: careful.
A variety of illegal and abusive schemes — including stock manipulation and pyramid scams — thrive on the computer networks and bulletin board services to which 252,000 Texans already subscribe, Securities Commissioner Denise Voigt Crawford said Thursday.
"Unwary Texas residents who take this wrong turn off the information superhighway will end up getting cleaned out by high-tech schemers," she said.
"It is vitally important that the many potential victims here become aware of this new problem, arm themselves with self-defense tactics and know that they can turn to this office for help if they need it," the commissioner said.
Ms. Crawford joined regulators in other states in issuing warnings due to the growing number of scams perpetrated via connected computer networks, such as the Internet, and the commercial computer bulletin board services.
People use these services and the Internet to conduct conversations via personal computers. Many of the talks are accessible for all to read, and con artists have staged "private" conversations that they intend to be read by others.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lifting the ban on exporting oil from Alaska's North Slope would create jobs and bolster the price of California crude, the Department of Energy said.
A report issued Thursday by Energy Secretary Hazel O'Leary said that scrapping the export prohibition would divert Alaskan oil from California markets and help boost the sagging oil industry there.

Harding gets the bum's rush

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The U.S. Figure Skating Association didn't just say goodbye to Tonya Harding. It said good riddance.

In blunt words, the association's disciplinary panel finally passed judgment on Harding's role in the Nancy Kerrigan attack and leveled the harshest penalties in the history of U.S. figure skating.

Harding had shown "a clear disregard for fairness, good sportsmanship and ethical behavior," the panel concluded Thursday after two days of closed-door hearings.

The panel, in a unanimous vote, took away the national championship Harding won in Detroit Jan. 8 and banned her from membership in the association for life.

It punctuated its long-delayed action by concluding Harding was in on the scheme to injure her biggest rival, despite her protests to the contrary.

"By a preponderance of the evidence, the panel did conclude that she had prior knowledge and was involved prior to the incident," said William Hybl, the former U.S. Olympic Committee president who chaired the panel.

Bill Hybl, chairman of the U.S. Figure Skating Association hearing panel, talks to reporters Thursday about the panel's decision concerning Tonya Harding.

He said the panel based its conclusion on testimony as well as evidence, much of which was collected by Portland, Ore., attorney John Bennett, who has been working for the association.

"I will tell you that various records — bank records, phone records — and the way they came together to establish a case really were important to this panel," Hybl said.

"We all care a great deal about sports in this country. We care about young people participating and we want them to understand that we're supporting them with a level playing field," Hybl said.

All-stars prep for tournament

By STEVE REAGAN
Sportswriter

If you're going by sheer numbers, Howard County teams don't stand much of a chance at next week's District 3 Little League Tournament.

All-star teams from Coahoma and the three Big Spring leagues begin play at the tournament Tuesday and Wednesday.

Big Spring National faces Lamesa at 6 p.m. Tuesday, while Big Spring American faces Midland Mid-City and Coahoma takes on Odessa Jim Parker at 8 that night.

Big Spring International opens play at 6 p.m. Wednesday against the winner of the Midland Western-Odessa Sherwood contest.

Teams from Lamesa, El Paso, Midland, Greenwood and Odessa will join the Howard County contingent at the tournament, which runs through July 16 at Bluebird Park in Midland.

Area teams have always faced an uphill battle at the tournament. All-star teams from Midland, Odessa and El Paso have a larger talent base to choose from, giving those squads a built-in advantage, at least in numbers.

American League coach Phil Grawunder concedes that his group will be out-manned, but says they have a chance to make a good showing this year.

"You've got to have the hitting," he said. "If we hit the ball, I think we'll do well, because of our defense. I think our defense will take care of us if we put a few runs up on the board."

Conventional baseball wisdom says that good pitching is the main ingredient for success, but both Grawunder and National League coach Kyle Ditto said hitting will be the key to their team's fortunes.

"I feel like we've got as good a team as we had three years ago, when we came in fifth," Ditto said. "I feel like we've got better hitting than that team, but our pitching's not quite as good... If we can hit better than the other team's pitching, we'll win ball games. If they're pitching's better than our hitting, it'll be the other way around."

"If we go, it'll be with our hitting," Ditto added. "We've worked harder on that than anything else the past two weeks. Our defense will be strong, but our pitching might be a little weak."

Maradona fails drug test, kicked off World Cup team

Hours after Diego Maradona was kicked out of the World Cup, Nigeria and Bulgaria booted his Argentine teammates out of first place in Group D.

MARADONA

Maradona tested positive for five banned substances, ranging from stimulants to diet pills, and was sent home Thursday by the Argentine Football Association. His teammates then went out and lost to Bulgaria 2-0.

"Of course we miss Maradona very much," Argentina coach Alfio Basile said. "He is our leader on the field."

Maradona was trying to return to form after serving a 15-month suspension in 1991 and 1992 for cocaine use. His urine sample from Saturday's win over Nigeria contained traces of five banned drugs: ephedrine, norephedrine, pseudoephedrine, norpseudoephedrine and methamphetamine.

All are stimulants and somewhat related. Their intended uses range from cold and asthma medication to weight-loss treatment.

"I don't know, maybe we were careless," Maradona said, "but I swear I did not drug myself to play. With my abilities, I don't need to drug myself."

I thought the rancor against Maradona had ceased, but I now see it has not and it makes my soul ache. They have retired me from soccer, I don't think I want another revenge, my soul is broken. ... It hurts. They cut my legs off when I had a chance to recover.

Diego Maradona

Maradona, 33, lost 26 pounds in recent months. He directed his anger at FIFA, soccer's governing body, which administers tests to two players from each team selected randomly after each game. FIFA suspended him worldwide and said it will decide his exact penalty after the tournament.

"I thought the rancor against Maradona had ceased, but I now see it has not and it makes my soul ache," he said. "They have retired me from soccer, I don't think I want another revenge, my soul is broken. ... It hurts. They cut my legs off when I had a chance to recover."

Argentina had been leading Group D and would have played at Foxboro, Mass., if it had won. Instead, the Argentines play Romania in Pasadena, Calif.

"After this defeat, it is very difficult for the team to recognize what really happened," midfielder Fernando Redondo said. "There is nothing to say about it."

The result combined with Nigeria's 2-0 victory over Greece to force out Russia, which had been hoping its three points would be enough to qualify for the second round as a third-place team. Nigeria, Bulgaria and Argentina all qualified from Group D.

The second round is now set: On Saturday, Germany plays Belgium in Chicago and Switzerland plays Spain in Washington. Sunday's matchups have Saudi Arabia against Sweden at Dallas and Romania-Argentina.

The Fourth of July features the United States against Brazil at Stanford, Calif., and the Netherlands against Ireland at Orlando, Fla. The round concludes Tuesday when Italy plays Nigeria at Foxboro and Mexico plays Bulgaria at East Rutherford, N.J.

At U.S. camp in Mission Viejo, Calif., goalkeeper Tony Meola said he intends this to be his final World Cup, even though he's just 25 years old.

Dallas Mavericks first-round draft pick, Jason Kidd, displays his new jersey Thursday at Reunion Arena in Dallas.

Kidd sued for child support

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A woman who claims Jason Kidd fathered her child has filed suit against the basketball star, asking for $10,000 a month in child support payments.

The suit was filed in Alameda County Superior Court on Wednesday, the same day the All-America point guard from California was the No. 2-overall pick in the NBA draft by the Dallas Mavericks.

Alexandria Brown, 21, mother of 7-month-old Jason Kidd Jr., also is seeking a house with a backyard in Hayward or Vallejo, a $25,000 car, medical insurance and $10,000 for furnishings.

Currently, Brown and the child live in a one-bedroom apartment.

Houston's Luis Gonzales (26) is congratulated by teammates after hitting a three-run home run in the sixth inning against Chicago Thursday.

Astros win, Rangers don't

HOUSTON (AP) — Pete Harnisch didn't plan on carrying the Houston Astros to a victory in his first outing in more than a month.

"Good things are going on here and I didn't want to come back and stink the place up. I just wanted to keep the team in the game," Harnisch said after allowing three hits in six innings as the Astros beat the Chicago Cubs 5-3 Thursday.

Harnisch (3-4) went on the disabled list May 23 with a partial tear in his right shoulder. He struck out seven and didn't walk any in his return.

"Pete was outstanding," Houston manager Terry Collins said. "Very impressive. My concern was not his velocity, but his command. I liked what I saw."

Harnisch's shoulder had bothered him almost from the beginning of the season. He was the Astros' opening day starter and took a no-decision against the Mets that game. He lost the next two starts and when he went on the DL was only 2-4 with a 7.15 ERA.

"I hope this gets him back to the Pete Harnisch everybody knows," Collins said.

Todd Jones pitched two hitless innings for his second save.

Kevin Foster (2-2) gave up four runs and six hits in 5 2-3 innings. He struck out six and walked three.

Luis Gonzalez led the Houston offense, with a three-run home run in the sixth inning that put the Astros ahead and helped them pull within 1 of the Cincinnati Reds in the NL Central Division.

His fifth homer of the season gave the Astros a 4-2 lead.

Trailing 2-1, Jeff Bagwell doubled and Kevin Bass walked before Gonzalez hit his first homer since May 14 over the right field wall.

"I had two opportunities early in the game to move guys over, and I didn't come through," said Gonzalez. "So, it was a big lift for me to drive in some runs."

Glenn Hill homered for the third straight game for the Cubs.

Gonzalez had been hitting .156 over the past two weeks, so Cubs Manager Tom Trebelhorn's decision to leave Foster in against Gonzalez was pretty safe.

"We had a couple of people up in the bullpen," Trebelhorn said. "But I still felt Kevin was the best guy for that spot."

Twins 6, Rangers 4
MINNEAPOLIS — Kirby Puckett's double broke a tie and capped a three-run seventh inning as Minnesota beat Texas 6-4 Thursday.

The rally offset Jose Canseco's 22nd homer, a two-run shot in the top of the inning that gave Texas a 4-2 lead. Kevin Campbell (1-0) relieved Twins' starter Pat Mahomes.

Martina makes one last run at glory

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — One more match. One more final. One more chance at the title. Martina Navratilova's Wimbledon dream is now reality.

Two weeks ago, the prospects of the 37-year-old Navratilova winning her 10th title in her 22nd and final appearance at the All England Club seemed remote. But here she is, back in the final for the 12th time and playing like the Martina of old.

"What a way to go!" she said after beating Gigi Fernandez 6-4, 7-6 (8-6) in Thursday's semifinals. "This is what I dreamed about. This is what I wanted, to go out in style, and either way I'm going out in style."

"I'm going to absolutely enjoy every moment," she said. "I think it's going to be a happy goodbye either way. I'll have the chance to win one more Wimbledon. What more can I ask for?"

The men's finalists will be determined when defending champion Pete Sampras plays fellow American Todd Martin and three-time champ Boris Becker plays Goran Ivanisevic.

Last year, after losing to Jana Novotna in the semifinals, Navratilova held up a finger to the crowd as she walked off Centre Court.

"I'll be back one more time," she said. "This is my revenge."

British oddsmakers made Navratilova a 4-5 favorite in Saturday's championship match against Conchita Martinez, who outlasted Lori McNeil 3-6, 6-2, 10-8 to reach her first Grand Slam final.

The third-seeded Martinez, the first Spanish woman in the final since Lili de Alvarez in 1928, is better known as a clay-court player. She has beaten Navratilova in three of their four matches.

How to get us hooked on soccer

Random thoughts while making vacation plans:

Newspaper types can be among the most sarcastic people you ever want to meet (Us? Sarcastic? Naaaaah!) and that trait has been very evident during this year's World Cup soccer matches.

You'll have to excuse us as we have seemed just the bit impudent lately. Oh, sure, the Cup is the world's largest sporting event and all, but the thought of a rivaling, say, football for the hearts of American fans is sure to bring a "When pigs fly" from the nearest sportswriter.

Actually, I don't know many sportswriters who say, "When pigs fly." Then again, I don't know many sportswriters whose comments can be repeated in a family newspaper.

A surly lot, they are.

Steve Reagan
Sports Writer

Anyway, the subject was soccer, and some writers' hesitance to embrace it for the great sport that it is.

You will have to forgive us if we seem a bit reluctant to hop on the Cup bandwagon. You see, we've been raised on true-blue American sports, like baseball and basketball, since we were mere pups, so the thought of a sport mostly played by guys with funny-sounding names sounds, well, alien.

So now that we've established that sportswriters are surly, foul-mouthed xenophobes, how do we get them to see the light? How do we show them the error of their ways?

A simple solution would be to provide free food at all soccer matches. Then, you'd have a hard time seeing the game for all the guys with notepads and bad ties crowding the buffet.

We may be surly, but we can be bought.

Education is always a good idea, but that has dangers as well. Try to lecture a sportswriter about the sport, or shame him for his ignorance, and he's liable to fire off a sarcastic column on the subject.

And we can't have that, can we?

Seriously, soccer is gaining a slow-but-steady foothold (no pun intended) in the American sportswriter's psyche. Why, I'm almost willing to bet that the average writer dude can tell the difference between a header and a corner kick.

Just don't ask us to explain an offside penalty - that is, unless you enjoy seeing people looking absolutely lost.

I'll tell you when sportswriters will start taking soccer seriously: When the sport is as prevalent in U.S. high schools as American football. Then, you'll see some big-time soccer fanatics in the newsroom.

For now, though, perhaps it's best if we sports types stay a little ignorant about soccer. I was reading a story the other day on Brazil's tie with Sweden, and I noticed a headline that was featured in Brazilian newspapers the next day.

"Show of incompetence," it blared.

Gee, and you think we're tough on the Steers...

Study: Prop 48 athletes improving

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — At the head of the class are Marist and Providence, the only NCAA Division I schools that graduated 100 percent of their 1987-88 freshmen.

At the other end stands Tennessee State, whose 13 percent graduation rate was the lowest.

Overall, an NCAA survey released Thursday indicated, athletes in the second year of Proposition 48 maintained the gains of the first year, with black athletes making the biggest improvement and women doing better than men.

Fifty-seven percent of all athletes graduated who enrolled in NCAA Division I schools in the 1987-88 academic year, compared with 56 percent of the general student body.

The data cover nearly 300 Division I schools and count only students who received athletic scholarship aid.

Athletes in the first year of Proposition 48, the controversial freshman eligibility requirements, also graduated at 57 percent — a jump of five percentage points over the previous year.

"I am more confident now that the significant increase in freshman graduation rates was due to the imposition of Proposition 48," said Jerry Kingston, chairman of the NCAA's Academic Requirements Committee.

In virtually every major group, athletes held gains they had made in the first year of the new standards, which included minimum scores on college entrance exams and a "C" average in certain core subjects.

Three place at Junior Olympics

Three local athletes qualified for regional Junior Olympics competition recently.

Jaclyn Owusu, Joe Franklin and Randy Farr qualified for the regional meet with their performances at last weekend's Junior Olympic meet in Levelland.

Owusu qualified with a first-place finish in both the 100 meter dash (12.95 seconds) and 200 meter dash (27.3).

Franklin won the 800 run in 2:01 and placed third in the 1,500 run (4:10).

Farr placed second in both of his events, the 100 dash (11.3 seconds) and 200 dash (22.1).

The three will compete at the regional meet July 8-9 in San Antonio. The top three finishers in each event qualify for the national Junior Olympic meet.

Baptist church welcomes Brown

By JANET AUSBURY
Features Editor

Philadelphia Primitive Baptist Church has ended nearly a year of searching for a new pastor.

Barry Brown, who has commuted several times from Weatherford, Texas, to Big Spring to perform services, accepted a permanent position with the church May 11.

BROWN

Brown and his family moved here in June and were immediately greeted by an enthusiastic, helpful congregation. "With their help, what took us a day to put on the truck was unloaded in 3 1/2 hours," he said.

He had been pastor of Gorman Primitive Baptist Church in Gorman, Texas, since 1988. Originally from Tennessee, Brown has lived in Texas for 10 years and considers it home. His wife may feel even more at home here—she is originally from Abilene.

Although Weatherford is on the other side of the state, about 30 minutes west of Fort a radio ministry and leading services three times a week at the church.

"I'd like to do this for the sake of the church and the community, to do whatever we can spiritually. The main priority is that the Lord's name be praised," said Brown.

He believes the friendliness of the congregation and townspeople in general will help him accomplish these goals. "Everyone I've been in contact with is friendly and warm," he said. "It makes you feel welcome, whether you're a newcomer or a long-time resident."

The congregation even treated Brown, his wife and 2-year-old daughter to an old-fashioned "pounding." The term, he explained, comes from the days when preachers were not paid for their work except in pounds of butter, flour, eggs and other staples given by churchgoers.

Although times have changed, the generosity of small-town churchgoers seems to remain the same. "They filled our pantry," said Brown. "We were grateful for that."

Smith ordained as minister

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Kenny Smith has recently been ordained as the new minister of College Heights Christian Church located at 21st and Goliad Streets.

"I was ordained on May 29 and began as the minister on June 1. I felt the call to ministry back in high school but at that time, I decided not to do anything. Things happened here to lead me back to the ministry now.

"I've spoken at several different churches and have filled in for the former minister, Keith Gibbons, while he was on vacation or ill," explained Smith.

Smith joined the church six years ago when his family moved from Odessa in 1988. He grew up in Imperial and lived in Odessa for 13 years before moving here.

Gibbons moved to another church and the 40-member congregation asked Smith to become their minister. He accepted.

"The church is going through

a time of change right now and I want to keep things going. I would like to see the church grow in numbers and in the Lord—to draw closer to Him. I refer to Psalms 127 for inspiration.

"It says, 'Unless the Lord builds the house, its builders labor in vain. Unless the Lord watches over the city, the watchman stands guard in vain.' People think they can take care of things by themselves without God but it's important to include Him in

He is not only a minister but also a full-time student at Howard College and is employed at A-1 Lock and Key. His wife, Nadine, and 19-year-old son, Derrick, also attend the college.

"We are all taking our basics right now. I am looking into correspondence courses to obtain a ministry degree," he said.

Smith and his wife Nadine also have a daughter, Kacy, who is 6 years old.

Smith added, "I look forward to working in the community and with other churches to help them in anyway I can."

College Heights Christian Church is non-denominational and offers Bible class at 9:45 and church services at 10:45 Sunday mornings. During the summer, Wednesday night services have been canceled because members are on vacation and attending church camps throughout the next two months.

Pastor Melvin Thompson, left, and Associate Minister Greg Stanley baptize Christine Murphy in Johns Creek Sunday, June 19, in Meta, Ky. But if cleanliness is truly next to godliness, a lot of pastors say the creek's not the place to go anymore. Many area pastors have gone away from outdoor baptisms because open dumping and raw sewage from remote households have made them unfit.

Sewage sours creek baptisms

META, Ky. (AP) — When it came time for Christine Murphy to be baptized, the eastern Kentucky woman went to the creek like her ancestors did.

"You just feel like you're more closer to God in the creek than you would inside" a church, said the 21-year-old Pike County woman, who was dunked last month in the waters of Johns Creek. "It's just like being in a bathtub in the other place."

But if cleanliness is truly next to godliness, a lot of pastors say the creek's not the place to go anymore.

"There's none of them fit to baptize a dog in, to be honest with you," said the Rev. James Kelly Caudill, pastor of the Tom's Creek Free Will Baptist Church at Nippa in nearby Johnson County. "It's sad to say, but it's true."

Evangelical churches have been slowly switching from outdoor baptisms to indoor ceremonies during the last few decades, mostly for convenience sake. But open dumping and raw sewage from remote households seem to have speeded up the changeover in some areas, pastors say.

About 29 percent of the nation's stream miles are at least partially unfit for swimming because of pollution, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's National Water Quality Inventory, released in March. The report said another 3 percent are threatened if no pollution-control actions were taken.

In Kentucky, 52 percent of the stream miles assessed in 1992-93 are at least somewhat impaired, said spokeswoman Maleva Chamberlain of the state Division of Water. Most of that was because of fecal-matter contamination, she said.

"So, you've got a 50-50 chance of being exposed to something that could make you sick," she said.

But the Bible says Jesus Christ was baptized in the flowing waters of the Jordan River. And there are some denominations for whom water quality isn't a real issue.

"Don't mind the stuff that's in it," said Elder Joe Evans at the Church of Jesus Christ of Old Regular Baptists Called Sardis in Delbarton, W. Va. "It's not what baptism is all about — to clean your body... Jesus has

The act of baptism is so quick that there's not much exposure to it whatever you do. You lay them back into the water and lift them up. It's not as though you're immersed for a long period of time and can soak in whatever is there.

Mark Coppenger

nothing to do with pollution." "I believe God makes it pure when one of his goes in," said Elder John Thacker of the Philadelphia, Old Regular Baptist Church at Pompey in Pike County, near the Kentucky-Virginia border.

Evans said stream pollution is "a part of life" in Appalachia.

"You've got everybody up and down this creek running their sewers in it," he said. "What are you going to do? They've got no place else to put it. It's a vast problem."

But the problem is not so widespread that it has caught the attention of national church leaders.

"That's the first I've heard of it," said Jack Williams, convention coordinator of the National Association of Free Will Baptists in Antioch, Tenn.

Others question whether it is a problem at all.

"The act of baptism is so quick that there's not much exposure to it whatever you do," said Mark Coppenger, vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention in Nashville, which has 15 million members nationwide.

"You lay them back into the water and lift them up," he said. "It's not as though you're immersed for a long period of time and can soak in whatever is there."

Even if the situation were recognized as a problem by the church hierarchy, ordering congregations to cease creek baptisms would have no effect, Williams said.

The Rev. Mike Baker, spokesman for the Church of God in Cleveland, Tenn., said the move away from the creek banks is more a natural progression than a public health matter.

"I would like it with air conditioning," said Baker, who himself was baptized in flowing waters. "It just is much more convenient for year-round climate, of course for sanitary reasons. And it's also in a worship environment."

Caudill, of the Tom's Creek church, is more blunt.

"They say they want to be baptized like the Lord was," he said of some parishioners. "And I say, 'Get you a plane ticket and go to the Jordan River.'"

Prospector's Club

The regular meeting of the Big Spring Prospector's Club was 7:30 p.m. June 9, at 606 E. Third, with Charles Leek presiding.

After routine business an open discussion was held concerning the construction of a Texas map made from rock found within Texas borders. The map would be the property of the club and would be displayed at the annual gem and mineral show as well as other shows within reasonable distance.

The motion to proceed with the Texas map passed and Charles called for volunteers to cut the various shaped pieces. Seven members volunteered to participate and absent members will be contacted. Lola Lamb and Myrtle Griffith had drawn the map and had copies of the patterns to distribute to interested members.

The annual ice-cream social will be July 14, location tentatively set in the back yard of the Leeks. Should the weather be unfavorable there is always the clubhouse.

All members are urged to attend; bring guests and goodies.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN ZEHT

FAVORITE BIBLE QUOTATIONS OF OUR PRESIDENTS

WHEN A NEWLY-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IS SWORN INTO OFFICE, HE TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE WITH HIS HAND ON THE BIBLE. IT IS CUSTOMARY FOR THE BIBLE TO BE OPEN AT A PAGE OF THE NEW PRESIDENT'S CHOOSING WHERE HE HAS SELECTED A VERSE OR QUOTATION - IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE HOW FITTING THESE QUOTATIONS ARE! FOR INSTANCE, RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, 19TH PRESIDENT (1877-1881) WAS ALMOST DEFEATED IN A HARD-FOUGHT AND VERY BITTER ELECTION, WINNING BY ONE ELECTORAL VOTE ONLY! HIS OPPONENTS CLAIMED FRAUD BUT THE ELECTORAL COMMISSION DECIDED IN HAYES FAVOR - LITTLE WONDER THAT HE PICKED THE FOLLOWING QUOTATION FROM THE BIBLE... "THOU HAST THRUST SORE AT ME THAT I MIGHT FALL - BUT THE LORD HELPED ME"

PSALM 118:13

THEODORE (TEDDY) ROOSEVELT, OUR 26TH PRESIDENT (1901-1909) STARTED LIFE AS A SICKLY CHILD BUT EXERCISED VIGOROUSLY AS A BOY TO GAIN GREATER HEALTH AND, AS A YOUNG MAN, WENT OUT WEST TO BECOME A CATTLE RANCHER. THE ROBUST LIFE HE CHOSE WAS EXEMPLIFIED IN HIS MANNER OF SPEECH, AND CERTAINLY IN THE WAY HE LED HIS FAMOUS "ROUGH RIDERS" REGIMENT DURING THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR! AS A PRESIDENT, HE FOUGHT HARD AND BOISTEROUSLY AGAINST THE VESTED INTERESTS AND HUGE TRUSTS OF "WALL STREET". HIS ENTIRE LIFE-STYLE IS ECHOED IN HIS FAVORITE BIBLE QUOTATION... "BUT BE YE DOERS OF THE WORD AND NOT HEARERS ONLY DECEIVING YOUR OWN SELVES." JAMES 1:22

NEWS IN BRIEF

New York Republicans
kill discrimination bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Republicans who control the state Senate killed a bill that would have protected homosexuals from discrimination in jobs, housing, public accommodations and education. The GOP decided during a private party conference Thursday not to put the measure to a full Senate vote because gays and lesbians don't need any special protection, said Majority Leader Ralph Marino. Republican senators don't allow a bill to come to the floor of the Senate unless a majority of them support it.

It's just another
Three Stooges moment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Even in death, Moe has apparently been getting the best of Larry and Curly. Heirs of two of the Three Stooges sued MGM Grand for $1 million on Thursday, claiming the stooges' likenesses were used in performances at the hotel and theme park without compensation. Grandchildren of the late Larry Fine and the widow of "Curly Joe" DeRita claim they were excluded from a licensing agreement between the hotel and descendants of head stooge Moe Howard.

Revenge part of woman's assault

NEW YORK (AP) — A karate instructor sexually assaulted a woman at knifepoint because she was wearing a T-shirt that bore the name of a rival teacher who humiliated him 40 years ago, prosecutors said. Teruyuki Higa, 50, was charged with rape and released on $25,000 bail. He is scheduled to be arraigned July 15. Higa didn't know the victim when he encountered her on the street in August 1993, District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said Thursday.

Republicans plan strategy for first
Whitewater hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are sounding their strategy for early congressional hearings on Whitewater after special prosecutor Robert Fiske issued his first public report without filing any criminal charges.

Congressional hearings late this month will focus on the Washington phase of the Whitewater inquiry and questions of whether the White House tried to meddle in a politically sensitive investigation.

Fiske reported Thursday that his review of evidence reaffirmed police conclusions that White House lawyer Vincent Foster's death last year was a suicide.

Fiske also concluded there was no basis for filing any criminal charges against White House or Treasury Department officials for their contacts concerning regulators' investigation of a failed Arkansas savings and loan owned by President and Mrs. Clinton's partner in the Whitewater land venture.

However, the report also disclosed that the number of contacts — once believed to be just three — actually numbered more than 20.

Republicans seized on that disclosure, insisting that the contacts were still inappropriate and unethical even if no laws were broken.

"If the purpose was not to obstruct justice or influence an ongoing investigation, then what was the purpose?" asked Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y. "They were clearly improper. They shouldn't have taken place."

And Rep. Jim Leach of Iowa, ranking Republican on the House Banking Committee, which will hold the first Whitewater hearing July 26, said:

"It is noteworthy that the independent counsel refused to express judgment on the propriety of these meetings and whether certain actions undertaken breached federal ethics guidelines."

Republicans are also insisting that the Arkansas phase of Fiske's investigation involves more serious questions.

Democrats, meanwhile, continued to portray GOP attacks as rooted more in political motive than in fact.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, chairman of the House Banking Committee, said Fiske's report "may go a long way toward revealing how much of the Whitewater furor is simply partisan hysteria."

Bit of knife found in Chicago;
attorneys move to suppress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Part of a knife surfaced in a Chicago airplane waste collection tank, hours after merchants testified that O.J. Simpson bought a knife five weeks before his ex-wife and her friend were stabbed and slashed to death.

As a preliminary hearing to see if Simpson will go on trial began Thursday, prosecutors unveiled their evidence for the first time: blood inside Simpson's white Ford Bronco, on his driveway and in two of his bathrooms, and a bloody glove containing bleached blond hairs that matched a glove found at the crime scene. Robert Shapiro, Simpson's lawyer, moved to suppress all evidence seized from the estate, claiming detectives obtained it before they got a search warrant.

Merchants testified at the hearing that Simpson bought a folding knife with a 6-inch blade five weeks before the killings.

On Thursday night, cleaning workers found a carving knife handle and a small part of the blade at O'Hare International Airport in a tank that holds bathroom waste pumped from American Airlines planes.
