Supercenter opens

By CARLTON JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Store Director Nate Catron was told by his bosses the grandopening of the new Wal-Mart Supercenter was his show and a show it was as Wal-Mart executives, store associates, and local dignitaries opened the Supercenter with a ribbon-cutting ceremony this morning.

Catron said, "I want to say a hardy thank you to Big Spring. I'm new in town and excited about being here. For the last six or eight months, people have been driving by asking when (we're going to open). This is exciting and we can all feel proud."

Local resident and County Commissioner candidate Homer Wilkerson helped kick off the festivities by singing the national anthem, followed by Catron introducing the two people who will serve as his co-directors of the Supercenter, Houston Campbell and Steve Meredith.

According to Catron, the Supercenter will also have about eight area (assistant) managers.

Catron said, "Our Supercenter associates are excited about the opening of this store and are eager to offer area residents a larger selection of merchandise. We look forward to continuing as active members of the Big Spring community." The Big Spring Supercenter is the newest prototype developed by Wal-Mart and offers customers a full-line grocery store complete with meat counter, bakery, produce and frozen foods, as well as a wide variety of general merchandise.

The Supercenter's variety of general merchandise is offered in 36 departments, including: housewares, recreational supplies, household supplies, family clothing and shoes, electronic and stereo supplies, pet care supplies, and health and beauty aids. Also offered is a garden department, pharmacy, one-hour photo lab, hair salon, SMART cleaners, vision center, portrait studio, McDonald's, and a tire lube express center.

Catron said, "Not enough can be said for everyone who helped us get here."

Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce president Jeff Morris said, "Some of you here today are Wal-Mart associates and some are future customers, but most all of us are taxpayers and the chamber would like to thank Wal-Mart for their investment in Big Spring and Howard County."

Major League Baseball umpire Larry Barnett, left, talks to a group of veterans during his visit to the Big Spring VA Medical Center Tuesday afternoon. Barnett's visit was sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans service organization.

Baseball umpires might not be in the profession of pleasing people, but that's just what Larry Barnett likes to do away from the ball park.

Barnett, the dean of American League umpires with 26 years service in the major leagues, was at the Big Spring VA Medical Center Tuesday, passing out autographs and anecdotes to many of the patients at the facility.

In conjunction with the Disabled American Veterans service organization, Barnett has been visiting VA hospitals since 1976. In that time, he has made trips to all 172 VAMCs in the country.

Coahoma ISD passes tax increase to make up for decline in value

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Coahoma Independent School District Board of Trustees recently passed a tax rate increase to make up for a decline in property values.

Superintendent L.D. Monroe says the board passed the $1.48 per $100 valuation tax rate during their regular meeting in September. Last year's rate was $1.41 per $100 valuation.

Several residents were unaware of the proposed tax increase and Monroe says the school district did not post a public notice in the newspaper. "We didn't have to post an official notice that we were considering the tax increase because it was less than a three percent increase. However, we did post a school board agenda for our Sept. 19 meeting," Monroe explained.

Monroe adds although there is a tax increase for the 1994-95 school year, it will not generate as much money as the $1.41 rate did last year because of the declining property values.

This year's budget has been set at $6,360,687 compared to last year's of $6,260,565. The slight increase is for teacher pay raises and Monroe says board members voted to cut other parts of the budget to allow for the salary increases.

The effective tax rate for this school year is $1.5566 and Monroe says that is what the tax rate really needs to be set at to generate the same amount of money as they did from last year's rate.

"Our maintenance and operation rate for this year could have been $1.4529 and our debt rate at $4632 for a total of $1.9161. We decided not to use the taxpayer's money to pay off a bond for the new elementary school and all of the money generated from taxes will be used for maintenance and operations," Monroe continued.

The school district will pay off the bond with a portion of a $2 million fund balance.

If a home is appraised at $35,542, the taxable value is $23,432. In 1993, the owner paid $330.39 in school taxes at the $1.41 rate. In 1994, the owner will pay $346.79 at the $1.48 rate with a difference of $16.40.

If land use for agriculture purposes is appraised at $43,188 for a 475-acre ranch, the taxable value is $7,988. The owner paid

At least 10,000 people have been driven from their homes and at least eight have been killed including a 2-month-old baby.

HOUSTON (AP) — The decision to flee her flooded home came easy for Edna Mae Montgomery.

"When it starts getting in my bed, you know it's time to leave," the 65-year-old grandmother said Tuesday night as she sat on a cot at a southeast Houston shelter.

There, among the glass trophy cases and blue lockers at Madison High School, at least 200 people sought shelter for the night after rising floodwaters invaded their homes. Across Southeast Texas, thousands of people were forced out of their neighborhoods by three days of downpours that brought everyday life to a virtual standstill.

Many, including Mrs. Montgomery, escaped with little but the clothes they had on.

"I just brought a change of clothes and a few snacks," said

Mrs. Montgomery, wrapped in white sheets and wearing a white-knit cap to stay warm.

She also brought her two grandsons, Joshua, 10, and Erico, 12, Montgomery, who live with her. But they had to leave behind the two family dogs, Coco and Spike.

Four local people face drug charges

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Four Big Spring residents are facing drug charges after being arrested by the Permian Basin Drug Task Force and the Big Spring Police Department.

Reports say Doloris Viera, 38 of 710 Willia, and Paul A. Viera, 44 of 710 Willia, were arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Around 12:15 Wednesday morning, law enforcement officials seized approximately two grams of suspected cocaine at the Vieras home. The illegal drug has an estimated street value of $200.

According to reports, at approximately 8:45 Tuesday night, officials acted on information they received and seized about half a pound of suspected marijuana at 1408 East Sixth. The resident, Larry Ray Froman, is facing charges of possession of marijuana over four ounces. The marijuana was packaged for distribution in quarter ounce baggies with an estimated value of $600.

A short while later, the task force and police officers seized

Martha Baeza, 67, died Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1994, at Scenic Mountain Medical Center. Services are pending with Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

Pedro Baltazar

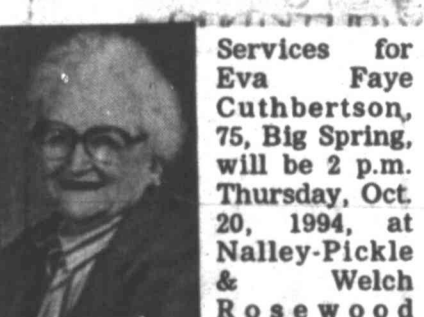

Rosary for Pedro Baltazar, 75, Odessa, formerly of Big Spring, will be 7 p.m. tonight at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel. Funeral services will be 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 20, 1994, at St. Thomas Catholic Church with Rev. Robert Vreteau, pastor, officiating. Interment will follow at Mt. Olive Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Baltazar died Tuesday, Oct. 18, in Odessa. He was born on Feb. 10, 1919, in San Antonio del Bravo, Chihuahua, Mexico, and married Manuela Porras on July 31, 1943, in San Antonio del Bravo, Chihuahua, Mexico. She preceded him in death on April 7, 1985. He came to Big Spring in 1969 from Ojinaga, Mexico. He worked at Malone-Hogan Hospital as a janitor and then was caretaker for St. Thomas Catholic Church for a number of years before retiring. He moved to Odessa in 1992. Mr. Baltazar was a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church and also a member of the Crucillista Movement at the church.

Survivors include two daughters: Socorro Escanuelas, Big Spring, and Daria Medrano, Odessa; four brothers: Santiago Baltazar, Midland, Gavino Baltazar, Monahans, Martin Baltazar, Portales, N.M., and Epimeno Baltazar; three sisters: Cruz Lozano and Juana Tarango, both of Ojinaga, Mexico, and Tomasa Sigala, Portales, N.M.; five grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Eva Faye Cuthbertson

Services for Eva Faye Cuthbertson, 75, Big Spring, will be 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 20, 1994, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel with Royce Clay, minister of 14th & Main Church of Christ, officiating. Interment will follow at Westbrook Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cuthbertson died Tuesday, Oct. 18, at a local hospital.

She was born on Jan. 23, 1919, in Shive and married Jesse H. Cuthbertson on Jan. 14, 1942, in Big Spring. She graduated from Frisan High School. She worked as a Registered Tuberculosis Nurse (RTN). She had worked for Dr. Cowper and for Malone-Hogan Hospital until 1962. She was also a homemaker and a member of the 14th & Main Church of Christ. Survivors include her husband: Jesse H. Cuthbertson, Big Spring; one daughter: Dena Marie Deck, of Natalia; one sister: Jerri May, Pasadena; two granddaughters; one grandson; and several nieces and nephews. As part of grandopening activities, two Wal-Mart associates, Hank Ramirez and Leticia Reyna, received 25-inch color televisions for their efforts in setting up the new Supercenter, and Wal-Mart presented a $500 check to United Way campaign chairman Rey Villareal for this year's campaign.

Wal-Mart Regional Manager Leroy Chutes said, "We wouldn't be standing here at this state-of-the-art facility if the Big Spring community had not supported us at our old location."

Wal-Mart is continuing to expand and is also opening 11 other stores today as well, said Chutes.

In January, Wal-Mart will attempt to open 24 Supercenters in one day, something that has never been done.

Chutes concluded by saying, "Thank you to all of the associates and department managers here. You have a great store."

visit some of the hospitals. I asked him, "How much fun is that?" Barnett recalled. Obviously, it must have been enjoyable, because he has made more than 900 visits in the past 18 years.

"I'll visit about 50 hospitals during baseball season. Whether I'm in Dallas or New York or Chicago, I'll go to the VA there," he said. "The director of the VA once told me our program is the only one nobody's ever written a complaint about. That's not bad for an umpire."

The purpose behind his visits are simple: to put a smile on veterans' faces.

"If I make a vet happy today, it was worth the trip," he said. "I have a lot of fun with these guys. Veterans are the forgotten lot... We're just trying to come out and brighten their day a bit."

During his visit, Barnett was a kinetic bundle of energy, hustling from room to room, starting each conversation with, "Hi, I'm Larry Barnett." In the couple of minutes he spent with each veteran, he traded quips, anecdotes of favorite ballplayers or just a simple "How ya doin'?" before moving on down the hall.

Of course, baseball was the number-one topic of conversation, and Barnett fielded questions ranging from what kind of salary major league umpires make (about $100,000 starting out) to requests for tickets ("Next time I see you at the ball park, you bet.")

Although Barnett was the center of attraction Tuesday, he was quick to deflect praise.

"The DAV does all the work," he said. "They're out here every day helping these guys. I just come in here and go off, and (the media) shows up."

"You have to laugh or you'll cry. You can replace things, though at my age it's not going to be easy," she said. "I'll hate to go back there, but I have to. It's ruined. It'll never be the same."

At the shelter Tuesday night, families staked out lunch tables in the school's cafeteria as temporary homes. The few belongings they brought were packed in trash bags and cardboard boxes that lined the brick walls. Children ran up and down the halls laughing and playing, while elderly adults rested on cots.

Some stayed for a while until they found lodging elsewhere, but others spent the night. The overnight residents included a dozen people rescued from a home for the elderly and disabled.

The southeast Houston area devastated Tuesday mostly consisted of low-income neighborhoods. Residents fled when floodwaters from the swollen Sims Bayou gushed into their homes.

"I really don't have a choice. I'll be here all night," said Janet Francois, who came to the shelter as a victim and ended up being a volunteer too.

DALLAS (AP) — A daring escape attempt by a capital murder suspect, whose wife died in an exchange of gunfire, shows how dangerous criminals have become, a sheriff's department official said.

"I think this is something that we have to recognize that we deal with every day. We're getting a more desperate, dangerous criminal that our officers have to deal with," assistant chief deputy Bob Knowles of the Dallas County sheriff's department said.

Ruth Rodriguez, 20, was killed Tuesday after she initiated a gunfight in a courthouse garage with the sheriff's deputy guarding her husband, Michael James Jackson, and 18 other prisoners.

Jackson, another inmate and the sheriff's deputy were wounded.

The gun battle broke out about 8 a.m. as the prisoners were being escorted from a holding area into a van in the underground garage of the George Allen Sr. Courts Building.

Ms. Rodriguez confronted sheriff's deputy Bradley Maddox with a .38-caliber revolver, tried to disarm him and fired at least one shot at the deputy, Knowles said.

Maddox then returned fire and Ms. Rodriguez jumped into the van to give the weapon to her husband, he said.

Jackson, 20, apparently shot off his handcuffs, then fired another shot at Maddox as he made his break from the van, Knowles said. He briefly escaped but was captured a block away.

Authorities said it was unclear who shot Ms. Rodriguez or wounded Maddox.

Jackson was being held in a Dallas County jail without bond after being released from a hospital where he was treated for a wound to the hand.

Maddox, 32, was wounded in the hip, but was back at work by afternoon. Another inmate, Clarence Davis Jr., 38, was in fair condition with a wound to the back that may have been from a bullet fragment or ricochet.

The escape attempt occurred as Jackson was being escorted to another courthouse, where a jury was to be selected for his capital murder trial.

"He was looking at either the death penalty or a mandatory 40 years, so he literally had nothing to lose," Knowles said.

Maddox was the only deputy assigned to the transfer.

Flooding kills eight in southeast

HOUSTON (AP) — Gene Kirsch braved the swirling fire ant- and snake-infested waters of the San Jacinto River to climb into his flood-ravaged home and claim a treasured memory.

"It's my wedding dress," said Diane Kirsch, clutching the box and embracing her husband of 34 years. "It's important and I'm glad to get it back. We've had so many years together, our kids, our nice life. Those are the only valuable things we went back for."

The Kirsch's were among thousands forced from their residences Tuesday by flooding with more than 2 feet of rain in some areas.

At least eight people were dead and two were missing and presumed drowned from floods that began Sunday. More than 10,000 people were estimated to have fled their homes and 42 evacuation centers were opened around southeast Texas for those left homeless.

"I've seen this city respond in a very orderly fashion," Houston Mayor Bob Lanier said after touring flooded areas in a fire truck. "People may get hurt and some property damaged or destroyed. We'll try to temporarily house them, try to protect them as best we can and get them some financial relief."

Among the shelters was the Houston Astrodome, adjacent to the Astrodome, and near a southeast Houston area where more than 450 people were ferried out of fast-rising waters of Sims Bayou by fire department airboats and fire trucks.

"It's just a matter of pulling up, letting them climb in and taking them to safe ground," Fire Capt. Robert Small said, piloting an airboat in and out of the neighborhood.

"I've been here since '75 and we've never had a problem like that," said Dante Thomas, 25, pointing to the swollen streets of waist-deep water.

"My momma just got her home remodeled and got a new car, not even four months old.

"It's pretty devastating, pretty awesome," said Gov. Ann Richards, who designated 48 counties as state disaster areas and summoned some 330 National Guard troops to help with evacuations and security. President Clinton declared 26 counties federal disaster areas.

"We're going to try to prevent any looting that might take place where those people had to abandon their homes," Richards said.

The Coast Guard also sent helicopters from as far away as New Orleans to pluck frightened residents from the roofs of their homes. Four more National Guard choppers were headed today into hard-hit Montgomery County, just north of Houston.

"There's very little hope it's going to stop for awhile," Richards said, noting that the forecasts continued to call for rain. "What we're seeing now is just a part of it."

Late Tuesday the level of Lake Houston hit 51.3 feet, 7-feet-over flood stage. The San Jacinto River was at 63.3 feet, 13-feet-above flood stage.

"Your biggest problems are the snakes and fire ants and the fences you can't see," Caroline Tragliano, helping evacuate people from the Cypress Creek area of northwest Harris County, said.

Problems also were spreading beyond immediate Houston to spots southwest of the city.

Early today, nearly the entire eastern half of Texas, all the area east of Interstate 35, was under at least a flood watch. Nearly a dozen counties in southeast Texas in the Houston area were under a flood warning.

DEATH TOLL

Those killed and reported missing amid torrential rains and flooding in Southeast Texas:

— Montgomery County authorities said a 43-year-old man drowned Monday when a car carrying him and his wife was swept away by water rising from Weirs Creek. The man's body was found and his wife was still missing Tuesday. Their names were not immediately released.

— George Monroe Matlock, 62, of Conroe died Monday after trying to cross a flooded highway. His van got stuck in high water and authorities believe he died of a heart attack.

— Harold Benkoski, 67, drowned Monday when flood waters swept his pickup off a Grimes County road.

— Half-siblings Chandrell Calhoun, 5, and Anthony McIntosh, 8, drowned late Sunday when the car carrying them, their mother and two other children was swept off a Grimes County road.

— The body of an unidentified man was found floating in a rain-swollen ditch just east of Houston.

— L.C. Walker, believed to be in his late 70s, was found dead near his truck in a flooded area near U.S. Highway 59 in Polk County.

— In LaPorte, east of Houston, police searched Tuesday for 14-year-old Larry Joe Lackey Jr., who was seen falling into a storm drain that empties into Little Cedar Bayou.

— Just south of the Lake Livingston Dam, a man vanished beneath flood waters Monday while attempting to rescue a woman from her home. Polk County Sheriff Billy Nelson said the victim, who was on horseback, disappeared when the horse stumbled. His body had not been located Tuesday.

Quote of the Day

"I think that in the press' efforts to be even-handed, what you get is an impression both sides are lying."
Adam Clayton Powell III, producer, 1992

Silence was the true killer

The story is perverse enough. A 16-year-old kidnapped from her home while on the phone to 911, sexually assaulted on a cross-country trip to Arkansas, shown her grave and then beaten to death.

On the face of it, it seems a "typical" story of kidnapping and assault. So, where's the perversion?

It is in the fact the teen's brothers knew who had taken her and did nothing to help police try and get her back, preferably alive.

Even though it's old news, the baseness of the brothers, bent only on protecting themselves, still manages to shock as new revelations of what that young woman endured unfold!

Although the Tarrant County district attorney is trying to get the brothers charged along the lines of hindering the investigation, he is having a hard time. There are laws - accessory after the fact, accessory to murder - it shouldn't be made this hard to get the brothers charged with something other than possession.

After all, they had a good idea of who kidnapped their sister. They let the investigation drag on without revealing, until forced to, what they knew.

When the Texas Legislature meets to revamp the stalking law next term, consideration should be given to stiffening the accessory laws.

Solving the wrong problems

JACKSON, Miss. -- The technical things -- the things that would seem to be the most difficult -- we do fine.

Bob Greene
Columnist

It's the things that should be so easy that seem to totally elude us.

The technical things, a century ago, would have seemed impossible. I was supposed to meet some friends from California here at 9:30 on a weeknight. They were flying from Los Angeles to Memphis, switching to another flight, then coming into Jackson; I was starting off in Chicago, touching down in Cincinnati, then flying the final leg into Jackson. My plane was supposed to touch down five minutes before theirs.

The crossing of this continent, back when the continent was new, was such a daunting task that attempting it was the defining experience of a family's lifetime. So many unknowns during the perilous journey, so little certainty. Nothing could be counted on. The technical matters we now have down to a science. You can call someone in California, say you'll meet them in Mississippi at 9:30, and there they are, there both of you are, right on time, with that five-minute buffer built in just the way it was supposed to be. So unremarkable that you don't even comment on it after you've met at the gate.

The things that should be easy are haunting us.

Here in Jackson, the news of the day was about a 12-year-old boy named Gary Wells, whom schoolmates and neighbors had believed to be living a worry-free life. Jackson police found his body in a shallow grave in the back yard of his mother's home; they said the boy had been stabbed at least twice in the neck and chest, and had been dead for a month. A truant officer had gone to his home, asking where the boy was; the mother had said that he was out of state. The mother was subsequently charged with being an accessory to murder; her former husband was charged with murder.

The easy things -- the things people in a civilized country should take for granted -- are seemingly beyond our control. Providing a society where children can grow up in peace, providing streets that people can actually walk down without worrying who might be behind them, providing a nation where violence is a shocking exception rather than a numbing presence -- those are things we once had, and somehow managed to lose.

"In the interest of Reginald Anderson, a Minor ... Notice by Publication ... Notice is Given You, Charles Anderson, Respondents, and To All Whom It May Concern ... on Nov. 1, 1994, or as soon thereafter as this case may be heard, an adjudicatory hearing will be held upon the petition to have the minor declared to be a ward of the court ..."

That was in the small type in a newspaper I brought down here with me; check the classified sections in any paper in any city of any size in this country, look in the legal notices day after day, read about all the children who, failed by their parents, are being turned over to the state. It's not big news, it appears in agate type, it never stops, and it is beginning to define us. The easy things -- providing a decent place for a child to grow -- have defeated us.

The technical things have become simple. If you need to talk right away to your office back home, all you need do is punch in the phone number, punch in the billing information, and your party is there. No delay, no static. It was even announced last week that incoming calls will soon be available on airline flights -- not only can you call from the air to the ground, but people on the ground can call you while you're en route. Once unheard of, how elementary.

Up in Chicago -- it made the news in Mississippi -- the City Council was debating whether to ban outdoor pay phones from private property because drug dealers and street gangs were using the phones as offices. The technology of communication we have perfected; the technical task turned out to be the easy part. Business travelers being phoned in the air we can arrange for; it's the people who use the outdoor phones in our cities we can't begin to deal with. So maybe we abolish the phones.

The easy things are going to do us in. Here in Jackson, a gunman burst into a home last week and shot three people dead, including a 2-week-old baby and his mother. The mother and child were found in a bedroom closet. Police were looking for the killer. Finding him will be the easy part.

Letters to the Editor

Pro-Life needs dose of reality

Editor, Well our pro-life forces lined the streets two weeks ago. I understand their ideology, but feel these people need a strong dose of reality.

What about our fellow human beings in Rwanda, Ethiopia. These people are dying by the thousands. They are dying from starvation and preventable diseases. Don't they have a right to life? Maybe the color of their skin and the fact that they are a half a world away makes them different. Whatever the reason, if you believe in life this is a disgrace.

It does not take a genius to figure out there are too many people on this planet. The poisoning of our air, land and water, deforestation and the disappearance of our tropical forest are all due to over population and greed.

The "Pro-Life Party" are the first to scream about raising taxes and cutting entitlements and welfare. They want to force women to bare children no one wants or can afford to take care of. I vote to improve our quality of life and environment for current and future generations of all people.

Nov. 8 a very important date

Howdy: Are you aware that on Nov. 8, 1994, one of the most important decisions affecting you for the remainder of your life will be made at the polls?

"No person shall be...deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation." U.S. Constitution, Amendment V.

Basically, that is what our State and Federal government are doing. Taking our private property-a bite at the time.

Our "esteemed servants" in Austin and Washington have given themselves raises, and raised our taxes. The national debt is over $10,000.00 (ten thousand dollars) for each man, woman and child in the United States of America.

Will your vote cure the situation? Maybe not. Has the situation gone too far to be corrected? Maybe not. We keep hearing about "they" are responsible for this. "They" are responsible for that.

Just who are "they?" "They" are the ones who can, with your help, start the movement that will take back our country for us. "They" are friends and loved ones who gave their lives that we might enjoy freedom in a democracy OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, AND FOR THE PEOPLE. "They" are the teachers of our children, "they" are farmers who till the soil, "they" are bankers who lend us money, "they" are the sack person who carries out your groceries to your car on grocery day. "They" are the newscasters who bring us news. "They" are the doctors, the dentists, the nurses, the baker, the tailor, the candlestick maker. "THEY" ARE US! YOU AND I!

Who should you vote for? That is up to you. If you think Mr. or Mrs. So and So is the person for the office, then by all means give him/her your support. "They" gave their life for that freedom.

"THEY" had a hand in running our country?

Thank you for your time.

Judge resigns amid controversy over sovereignty orders

KERRVILLE (AP) — Kerr County Judge William Stacy, the subject of a reprimand and lawsuit after his controversial orders declaring several people free of state and federal laws, has resigned from office.

Following an hourlong closed session Tuesday morning, the Kerr County commissioners court voted 3-1 to accept Stacy's resignation under an agreement in a lawsuit that sought to have him removed from office.

Stacy, 68, will be permitted to remain in office until the end of the business day Friday, after which he will be temporarily suspended with pay until the his term ends Dec. 31.

"This is my request to Kerr County Commissioner's Court, to be suspended of my constitutional duties as Kerr County Judge," Stacy wrote in a letter to the commissioners that was quoted in Tuesday's Kerrville Daily Times.

"The nightmare that the Kerr County Attorney's Office has put me and my family through forces me to make this request," Stacy said.

Kerr County Attorney David Motley is representing Kerrville City Councilman Ashley Bracken in a lawsuit filed last month seeking Stacy's removal from office.

The lawsuit came on the heels of a reprimand by the State Commission on Judicial Conduct over eight "sovereignty" orders Stacy signed exempting several people from certain state and federal laws that they claimed were unconstitutional. Judicial officials declared the orders invalid.

First woman teacher hired at Baptist seminary

IRVING (AP) — Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary officials have hired the first woman as a full-time teacher in the school's history.

Trustees voted Tuesday to hire Karen O'Dell Bullock, 41, to teach church history.

Ken Hemphill, president of the 3,200-student seminary in Fort Worth, says Mrs. Bullock does not see herself as a trail-blazer.

Protestors seek property rights

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic Gov. Ann Richards and GOP challenger George W. Bush are being asked for support by the latest group hoping to hop on the property rights bandwagon: Texans who say their homes and lives are threatened by pollution.

"They've been defending property rights when they were threatened by the golden-cheeked warbler. We are asking them to defend property rights when they are threatened by corporate polluters and state agency neglect," said Jim Baldauf of Texans United, which works on environmental and consumer issues.

The federal government abandoned the idea of designating parts of 33 Central Texas counties as critical habitat for the endangered songbird after opposition by landowners, whose cause was embraced by Richards and Bush. The landowners contended that federal environmental rules were robbing them of their land's use and value.

Poll puts Richards, Bush neck-and-neck

With early voting starting today, the race for governor remains a virtual dead heat.

The Texas Poll, published Tuesday in several newspapers, gave Republican George W. Bush 45 percent support, Democratic Gov. Ann Richards 44 percent and Libertarian Keary Ehlers 1 percent. Ten percent were undecided.

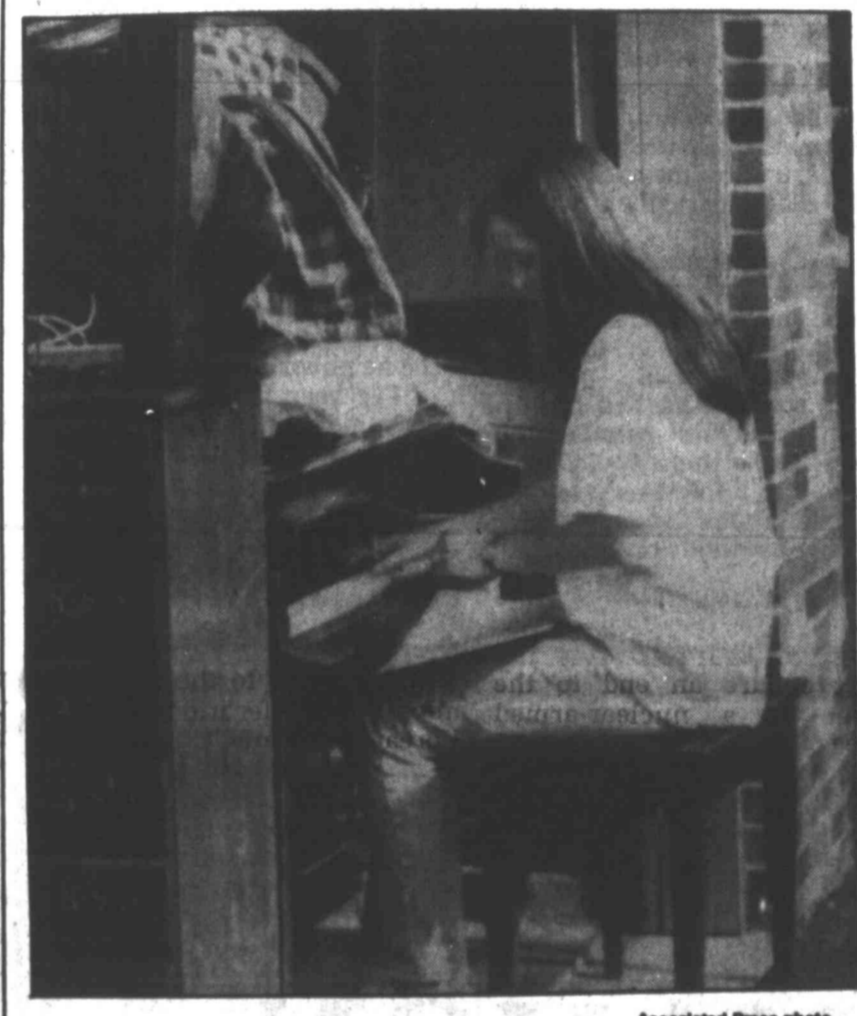

"If ever there was a race too close to call, the 1994 Texas governor's race is it," said Candace Windel, the poll's director.

"Given the four percentage point margin of error inherent in a survey sample of this size, a rainstorm or a traffic jam could decide it. The outcome all depends on who turns out to vote and how mad they are when they do," she said.

The Texas Poll was conducted Oct. 6-15 for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. by the Office of Survey Research of the University of Texas College of Communications. The telephone survey of 675 likely voters had a margin of error of plus or minus four percentage points.

TEA denies drill team appeal

AUSTIN (AP) — A teenager who was denied an officer's spot on a Tyler high school drill team has lost her appeal at the Texas Education Agency.

Leigh Toney, a senior who tried out to be a Southern Belles officer at Robert E. Lee High School, contended that she was rejected after the drill team director gave her an unfair score.

But Michelle Wilhelm, TEA's

chief of operations and special projects, ruled there was no evidence that the instructor illegally manipulated the scoring.

Ms. Wilhelm also rescinded an earlier protective order granted by an agency hearings examiner allowing Ms. Toney to be an officer this school year. The hearings examiner had said she issued the protective order because a final decision wasn't expected before January.

Dallas County Commissioner John Wiley Price said a security company was hired at an annual cost of $400,000 to patrol the Allen building and another courthouse after a 1993 shooting, but the patrols don't include the garage.

In the 1993 shooting, Hai Van Huynh killed his wife, wounded a bystander, then took his own life. His wife, Ly Thi Dang, was seeking a protective order and had threatened to divorce him.

"When Mother Nature throws us a curve like this, there's only

NEWS IN BRIEF

Gingrich doing what he does best

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newt Gingrich, the soon-to-be leader of House Republicans, has been crisscrossing America this election season doing what he does best: bashing Democrats and raising money.

But the Democrats are starting to bash back, and some are finding the stocky, white-maned Georgia congressman a pretty good foil for their own counterattacks.

When Gingrich showed up at a country club in Linden, Mich., on Tuesday to support local GOP House candidate Dick Chrysler, he was greeted by a band of protesters — one wearing a lizard's head. "A Newt is driving this Chrysler," shouted one. The protesters had tossed a couple of bulging "money bags" under a Chrysler campaign sign in front of the club.

The protest theme has become a familiar one, that local candidates who signed Gingrich's "Contract With America" in Washington last month put their allegiance to Washington political leaders before fealty to local voters. It's the flip side of Republican attempts to link Democrats with an unpopular President Clinton.

Low-fat, seafood go hand-in-hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diners trolling for a low-fat meal can weigh anchor safely at their favorite seafood restaurant, as long as they steer clear of the calorie-packed fried fish combo, a food watchdog group says.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest, which made waves with studies lambasting Chinese, Italian and Mexican fare and movie theater popcorn, says seafood restaurants offer a greater variety of healthy meals than other establishments.

"Bake it, broil it, broil it, broil it — as long as you don't fry it — seafood is a great catch," said senior nutritionist Jayne Hurley.

The report, titled "Seafood: What a Catch," was released today.

Rare violin found after three decades

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nearly three decades after a 262-year-old Stradivarius violin disappeared during a car ride between a liquor store and a restaurant, it sits unplayed in a climate-controlled vault.

The University of California, Los Angeles wants to finally reclaim the rare instrument that had been donated to the school. But amateur violinist Teresa Salvato is fighting for the $800,000 violin, which she says was found by a family member and passed on to her.

"I'm just glad it's still alive," said David Margetts, who has every reason to be relieved.

Margetts was a young second violinist in a UCLA quartet when he borrowed the violin — named the Duke of Alcantara after an obscure Spanish nobleman — for a rehearsal on Aug. 2, 1967. He carried the Stradivarius in a double-violin case with a 1950s-era Italian violin valued at $30,000.

NICE KILLER BEES

Questions abound despite agreement with N. Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States says North Korea has agreed to do away with its disputed nuclear facilities within 10 years, but some fear that won't ensure an end to the threat of a nuclear-armed Korea.

If anything is sure, it is that Washington will be grappling with the Korean nuclear issue for many months — probably years — to come, David Albright, president of the Institute for Science and International Security in Washington, said Tuesday.

One unanswered question is: Does North Korea already have a bomb or two secreted away?

Even though North Korea apparently has agreed to dismantle the one nuclear reactor it has now, plus the two it has under construction, it still would be accumulating relatively large amounts of plutonium that could be used to make bombs.

That is because the United States and its allies plan to give North Korea two new reactors worth $4 billion to replace the old ones. The new reactors would produce plutonium at a less efficient rate and in a condition that is less suitable for making nuclear bombs, but a bomb-making potential would still exist, Albright said.

Robert Gallucci, the chief U.S. negotiator in the North Korea talks, said it probably would be 10 years before the two more modern reactors are fully operational. In the meantime, the United States would provide oil to tide North Korea over until the new reactors are able to produce sufficient amounts of electricity.

President Clinton said Tuesday he was sending Gallucci back to Geneva to sign the agreement, reached Monday. Clinton said it would bring an end to the threat of nuclear proliferation on the Korean Peninsula.

North Korea denies that its nuclear program has any military application.

The president said the important thing was that North Korea would not make more weapons, and that the United Nations' nuclear watchdog agency would be allowed to verify the ban.

Some have argued that the hardline communist North's political and economic isolation are what led it to pursue a nuclear program. The administration hopes that by easing the nuclear tension and making a new economic opening to it, the Pyongyang government will become more willing to cooperate with U.S.-backed South Korea.

Clinton said the United States and North Korea would move toward establishing liaison offices in each other's capital.

Weedkiller found in water supply

Lax monitoring, permissive standards cited as reasons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Permissive standards and lax monitoring allow dangerously high levels of the most widely used weedkillers in the tap water of millions of Americans, an environmental group contended Tuesday.

The Environmental Working Group said its analysis of data on Midwestern water supplies found that more than 3.5 million people were exposed to atrazine, metolachlor and alachlor, the most used weedkillers on corn; and two other chemicals.

The group made its own determination of what constitutes safe, arguing that federal standards lag behind. The group used the most conservative possible benchmark of cancer risk in arguing that some supplies were dangerously contaminated.

"The drinking water in every Midwestern city south of Chicago is contaminated with agricultural weedkillers," said Richard Wiles, lead author of the study. "Throughout the late spring and summer months mil-ions of Americans routinely drink water with unsafe levels of these herbicides."

Late spring and summer is the growing season, when the chemicals are used.

Some water systems routinely monitor rivers and reservoirs for those chemicals, and some use advanced carbon filtering techniques to lower the residue levels.

An estimated 14.1 million people in the Midwest, Louisiana and the Chesapeake Bay area get some of the pesticides in their drinking water from rivers and reservoirs, the group said.

The report said the dangerous levels were in water supplies to 98 small communities and 23 larger cities, including Springfield, Ill., Indianapolis; Columbus, Ohio; Kansas City, Mo.; and Omaha, Neb.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency said the report should be viewed with concern but not alarm.

"This study is another in a series of wake-up calls that tells us we can no longer take for granted that our drinking water is safe all the time," said EPA Administrator Carol M. Browner.

The administration tried unsuccessfully this year to overhaul the Safe Drinking Water Act and insert several provisions to attack pesticides in water.

The pesticide industry questioned the methods used in the study, which was released to the media before any outside scientists or industry groups could review it.

"They're trying to manufacture fear out of a situation that has a lot of data which is easily taken out of context and poured like gasoline on the fire of public opinion," said Jay J. Vroom, president of the American Crop Protection Association.

Vroom said each compound undergoes more than 120 different health and environmental studies, that includes laboratory testing on immature and mature animals.

Suicide attempt takes down neighborhood

JENNINGS, Mo. (AP) — A man who apparently tried to kill himself by turning on the gas and blowing up his home survived the explosion that demolished at least five houses and damaged dozens of others.

James Kimble, 32, was in critical condition at St. John's Mercy Medical Center on Tuesday with second- and third-degree burns over nearly half of his body. He also suffered a deep skull wound and a broken leg and ankle.

Police Chief James Trentham said Kimble hadn't regained consciousness since shortly after his house blew up Sunday afternoon.

He was wearing only a pair of white briefs when emergency workers found him dazed and nearly buried in the rubble of the one-story home he rented. Rescuers said he was waving an arm for help when they arrived.

No one else was home at the time and no one else in the neighborhood was seriously hurt, although the blast damaged about 40 homes and businesses.

On Monday, a television reporter found a sheet of paper that appeared to be part of a suicide letter about 100 yards from the blast. Two other pages of the letter, dated Oct. 13 and signed by Kimble, were later recovered.

"It says he was despondent over family problems and evidently he was using some type of drugs," Trentham said.

Investigators found a line to the home's natural gas furnace had been disconnected.

Suicides prompt stress team mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is sending a stress team with three psychiatrists to Haiti after the third reported suicide among U.S. forces.

"We are concerned. ... We're taking it very seriously and we are pursuing it," Defense Department spokesman Dennis Boxx told reporters on Tuesday.

He said the psychiatrists and other members of the team will help train commanders to look for possible stress among their troops that could lead to suicides, and also counsel any who want assistance.

The move was announced after the Pentagon reported that Army Pvt. Gerardo D. Luciano, 22, of the 10th Mountain Division, died Sunday of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound in Haiti.

The suicide was the third by members of the American force involved in the Haiti operation and the second among members of the Army's 10th Mountain Division, the light infantry force based in Fort Drum, N.Y.

Looking for guns, not blessings

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — When U.S. troops dropped in uninvited at the bishop's house in Cap-Haitien, they weren't looking for a blessing. They were looking for the guns they'd been tipped were there.

Short of cash though it is, poor in resources, Haiti does sit on a vast arsenal — much of it supplied by the U.S. government.

Many of Haiti's guns were sold to various repressive regimes by the United States before 1991. Others were smuggled in from Florida. Demand ran strong in a land with a government that depended on arms to control its people and with a small elite determined to protect its possessions from the poor masses.

Now the U.S. Army, trying to establish security as President Jean-Bertrand Aristide moves Haiti from repression to democracy, is concerned about all the weapons that remain out there uncounted and unaccounted for.

U.N. fuming over medical supply theft

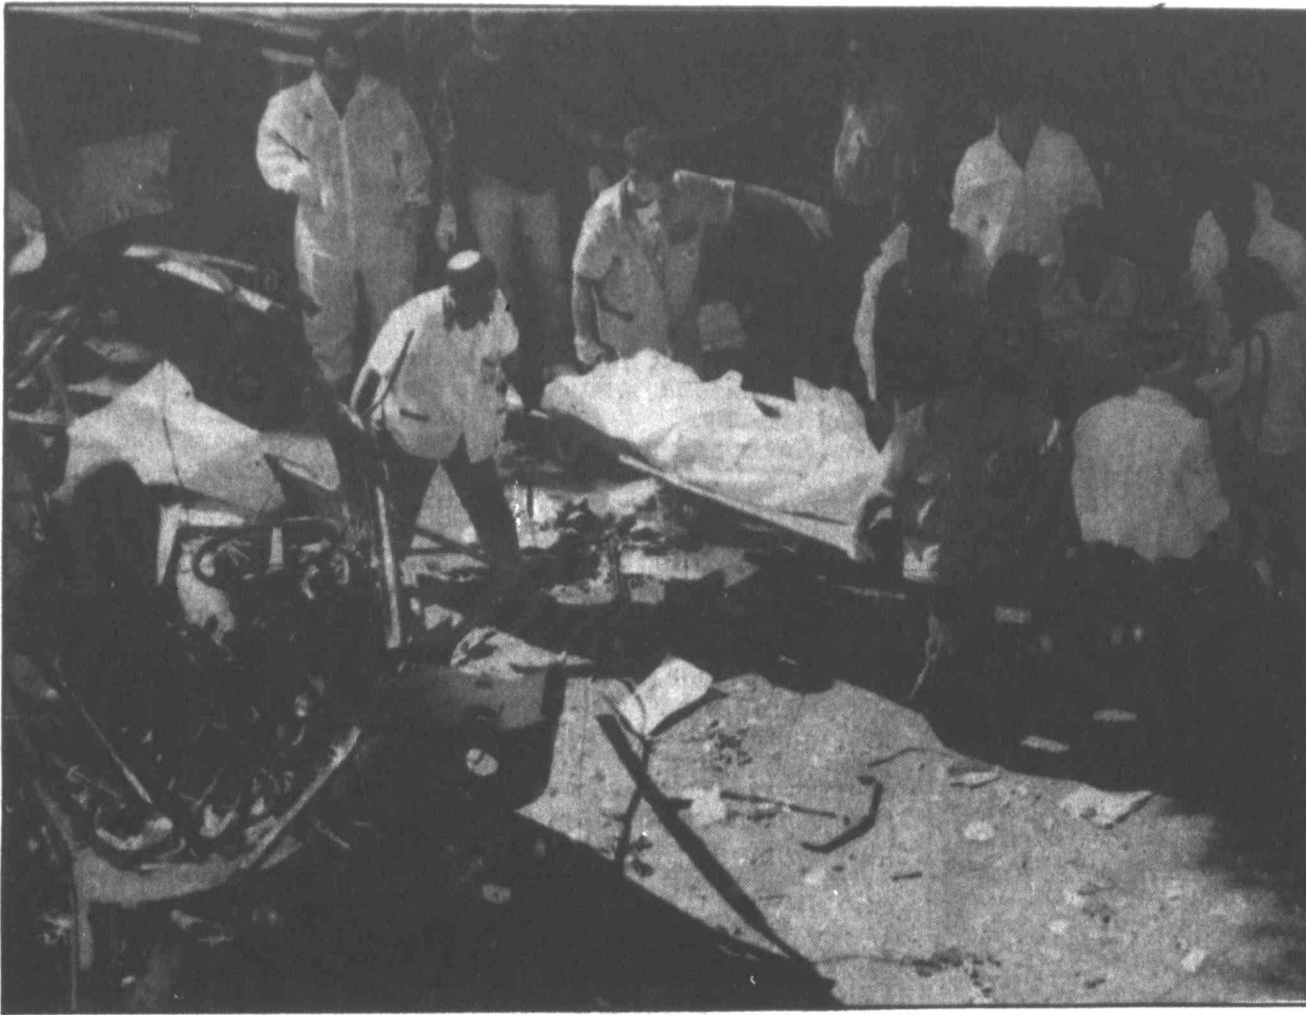

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Serb soldiers shot to death a food convoy driver Tuesday, a day after comrades hijacked a medical supply convoy in some of the worst back-to-back blows to this year's U.N. relief effort.

The two actions underscore the Bosnian Serbs' determination to make their Muslim foes on government-held territory share their suffering.

Bosnian Serbs are increasingly short of supplies since being cut off by their former patrons in Serb-led Yugoslavia for rejecting a peace plan that would reduce their war-won holdings in Bosnia by one-third.

The Muslim-led government refused to give in to U.N. and Serb demands to withdraw its soldiers from a demilitarized zone on Mount Igman, overlooking Sarajevo.

U.N. officials still were fuming about the theft of medical supplies Monday when they learned of the attack that killed a driver in Gorazde. The commander of British peacekeepers in the Muslim enclave requested close air support, but senior U.N. officials decided against calling in NATO air strikes.

Bomb blast kills 20, wounds 48

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — A terrorist bomb shattered two buses today in the heart of Tel Aviv's shopping and cafe district. Twenty people were killed and 48 wounded in the attack claimed by Islamic militants, police said.

The attack was the third by Islamic militants in the past 11 days and came as Israel was cementing peace with its Arab neighbors.

On Oct. 9, two bystanders were killed when Islamic radicals sprayed a busy Jerusalem cafe district with gunfire and a week later an Israeli soldier was kidnapped, then shot to death by his Hamas captors in a failed Israeli rescue attempt.

Today's blast ripped apart one commuter bus heading north on Dizengoff Street during rush hour about 9 a.m. (3 a.m. EDT) and shattered a second bus passing in the other direction. "People flew from the sidewalk, the head of the driver was completely cut off," said Eitan Yamini, who witnessed the explosion.

Israel radio said an anonymous phone caller claimed responsibility in the name of the fundamentalist Hamas movement. A spokesman for Hamas in Jordan, however, denied the group was involved.

Police Minister Moshe Shahal said today's bombing was one of the worst acts of terror ever experienced in Israel and warned that the Jewish state would respond "with appropriate action."

Islamic militants have committed two other major terrorist acts in the past ten days, shaking the already fragile peace between Israelis and Palestinians.

In London, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said he would return early from his trip abroad and described today's bombing as "very bad news."

"It is a continuation of the attempt by those who are the enemies of peace, the extreme Islamic terror groups," he said.

Liberal members of the Cabinet called for the peace talks with the Palestinians to continue, and the PLO denounced the attack.

President Ezer Weizman appealed for calm.

"I appeal to the citizens of Israel to take a deep breath, a lot of patience and forbearance... These are enemies of peace who try to torpedo things," Weizman said.

The force of the blast completely gutted the bus, leaving the vehicle a skeleton of burned and twisted metal.

Iraq opens military sites to U.N. inspections

MUSAYYIB, Iraq (AP) — Desperate to have international sanctions lifted, Iraq opened a missile test site and an explosives factory for a limited tour by the press Tuesday.

The tour of two munitions plants run by the secretive Military Industrialization Corp. is part of Iraq's campaign to press the U.N. Security Council to begin testing the U.N. surveillance system in Baghdad and other Iraqi sites.

Once the Security Council determines that the weapons-monitoring system works, Baghdad wants the United Nations to rescind the debilitating economic sanctions it imposed on Iraq for invading Kuwait in August 1990.

"We have an important objective: to lift the sanctions to end the suffering of our people," said Hussam Amin, a missile engineer who directs the liaison office with U.N. monitoring teams.

The tour occurred during the latest crisis over Saddam Hussein's military actions — Iraqi soldiers flooded southward toward the Kuwaiti border last week before U.S. forces were sent to Kuwait and the Gulf region.

Saddam's weapons of mass destruction have been dismantled since the Gulf War but many in the West believe Iraq provoked the confrontation mostly in hopes of getting the sanctions dropped.

Power Rangers to blame in death of Norwegian youngster

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The No. 1-rated children's TV show in the United States has been taken off the air in Norway, Sweden and Denmark after a young girl's brutal killing renewed debate on the causes of violence.

The "Mighty Morphin Power Rangers" has not been directly linked to the death of 5-year-old Silje Marie Redergard, who froze to death Saturday on a playground in Trondheim after a game with three boys her age turned ugly.

But the Scandinavian network TV-3 moved quickly Tuesday to drop the popular show. And the prime minister, Gro Harlem Brundtland, said Norwegians should think twice before allowing such "free market" violence to be broadcast by commercial networks.

Nobody — not even Silje's mother — seems to put the blame on the three boys who reportedly stoned and kicked their playmate then left her to freeze in the first snow of the season. The children — two age 6 and one 5 — are too young to be charged with any crime under Norwegian law.

"I forgive the ones who killed my daughter," Beathe Redergard told the Oslo newspaper Dagbladet. "It is not possible to hate small children. They can't understand the consequences of what they have done."

On Tuesday, the site where Silje died was littered with flowers and candles left by stunned Norwegians.

At first, the boys blamed three older youths seen near the area. According to the Oslo newspaper Verdens Gang, one boy claimed he chased away the teen-agers after he "kicked one of them in the leg until he bled, just like the Ninja Turtles."

All four children reportedly were fans of the U.S. cartoon, "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles." Like the "Power Rangers," the show centers on likeable characters who pummel their opponents with fists and weapons.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED GAS RATE CHANGE
On September 20, 1994 Energas Company filed Statements of Intent to change its gas rates and service charges with the Texas Railroad Commission and each incorporated city listed below. The proposed changes will take effect no sooner than 35 days after filing.
The Company proposes to increase its customer charge by 89 cents per month with no other changes to its gas rate schedules. The change would apply to General Service (residential and commercial) and Small Industrial Service. The Company also proposes the following increased service charges:
During Business Hours After Hours
Turn on new service with meter set $23.50 $35.25
Turn on service (shut-in test required) 19.00 28.50
Turn on service (meter read only required) and miscellaneous service calls 10.50 15.75
Reconnect delinquent service or service temporarily off at customer's request 29.50 39.00
Dishonored check charge 25.00
The proposed changes are expected to increase the Company's annual revenues by approximately 1.9% and therefore do not constitute a "major change." The proposed changes could affect approximately 217,000 gas consumers in the following communities and surrounding rural areas:

Visiting ump talks baseball - lots of it

Asking Larry Barnett his favorite baseball memory is like trying to count sand grains on a beach - there's just too many to make for an accurate accounting.

Steve Reagan
Sports Writer

LARRY BARNETT ON ...

Major league umpire Larry Barnett spoke on a variety of baseball topics during his visit to the Big Spring VA Medical Center Tuesday. Among his observations:

His first day as a major league umpire - "It was opening day 1969. The Chicago White Sox were at Oakland. Al Lopez was managing the White Sox, Hank Bauer was managing the A's, Mehaliah Jackson sang the national anthem, and my knees were shaking so bad I could hardly stand it."

Being a major league umpire - "It's the best seat in the house, but you have to stand up. It's the greatest job in the world. I can't think of anything else I'd rather do than be a major league umpire."

Arguing with managers - "The two worst were Billy Martin and Earl Weaver. They were probably the two toughest as far as dealing with umpires go. Billy always wanted you to cheat for him, and Earl just didn't like anyone."

The baseball strike - "The only thing that's ever stopped the World Series is, what I think, stupidity. There's got to be some common ground between owners and players ... I think they're going to play next year - with or without the players. Hopefully, they'll work things out."

Rekindling fan interest - "When the strike is over - and it will be over - owners and players are going to have to stand up and apologize to the fans for what they've put the game through. If they do that, the fans will forgive them. American fans are the most forgiving in the world."

- Steve Reagan

In 26 years as an American League umpire, Barnett has rubbed shoulders with some of the game's great - and not-so-great - players and managers. All of his experiences has led him to conclude he has the best job in the world, even taking into account surly managers, millionaire ballplayers and labor problems that show no end.

"It's the best seat in the house, but you have to stand up," Barnett said. "It's the greatest job in the world. I can't think of anything else I'd rather do than be a major league umpire."

Barnett, who was in Big Spring Tuesday visiting veterans at the Big Spring VA Medical Center, began umpiring in the minor leagues at age 18. Five years later, on opening day 1969, he made his big-league debut.

"The Chicago White Sox were at Oakland," he said, recalling the day. "Al Lopez was managing the White Sox, Hank Bauer was managing the A's, Mehaliah Jackson was singing the national anthem, and my knees were shaking so bad I could hardly stand it."

Picking a particularly memorable game also is difficult for Barnett, but that's forgivable, since he's umpired in so many of them. During his career, he has umpired in five World Series, four All-Star games and eight American League Championship Series.

And if pressed, he'll say that the 1975 World Series between Boston and Cincinnati ranks among the most memorable experiences of his career - and Barnett had at least a supporting role in what Ken Burns' documentary on the sport called the greatest Series of all time.

It was Barnett's call of no interference on Cincinnati's Ed Armbrister in Game 3 that allowed the eventual go-ahead run to reach second base, and touched off a stormy protest by Boston catcher Carlton Fisk and manager Darrell Johnson.

A few days later, in what was the greatest game of the great-

Newly named Boston Red Sox manager Kevin Kennedy takes a look around Fenway Park following a news conference in Boston Tuesday.

Kennedy lands back on feet, gets nod as Bosox manager

BOSTON (AP) - Kevin Kennedy doesn't have the reputation as a players' manager that Butch Hobson had. More importantly, Kennedy is the general manager's manager.

Red Sox general manager Dan Duquette brought in his own man Tuesday when he hired Kennedy to succeed Hobson, who was fired Sept. 20 as Boston's manager.

Less than two months after Duquette became Montreal's general manager Sept. 19, 1991, he hired Kennedy as director of minor league field operations. Seven months later, Kennedy was named major-league dugout coach.

"We worked very well together," he said. "I know what Dan's all about, so this is really the first and only place, at this time, I'd want to be."

Duquette, who joined the Red Sox last January, inherited Hobson as manager. There was speculation all season that Duquette would prefer to make his own choice for that job.

Kennedy, who had one year left on his contract with the Texas Rangers, faced the same job security problem when Doug Melvin became general manager after the strike-shortened season.

Last Wednesday, Kennedy was dismissed. Melvin said he wanted to start with a "clean slate."

Kennedy understood. "I don't think there's any secret that when there's change, a lot of times a general manager has that right to bring his own people in," he said. "I pretty much knew my situation."

"We had an inkling he would be available a couple of weeks ago," Duquette said.

Kennedy, 40, is the only one of four managers fired after the season to get another managing job. He might still be waiting had Tony La Russa not agreed Tuesday to a 3-year contract extension as manager of the Oakland A's.

In his three seasons with the Red Sox, Hobson almost never criticized a player publicly. In Texas, there reportedly were grumblings in the clubhouse.

Missing Cowboys have coach worried

IRVING (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys are missing two of the best players in their offensive line and coach Barry Switzer is concerned quarterback Troy Aikman might take a beating against the Arizona Cardinals on Sunday because of the injuries.

Pro Bowl center Mark Stepnoski has a sprained ankle and left offensive tackle Mark Tuinei has a sprained right big toe which hinders his mobility.

In a 38-3 victory over Arizona two weeks ago, Aikman threw two touchdowns passes against the blitzing Cardinals but took some big hits doing it. He had a sore back for several days after the game.

"I don't think Step is going to play," Switzer said. "Tuinei is a big question mark. It's hard to come back from the kind of sprained ankle step has and Mark can't get around."

The required juggling in the offensive line has Switzer nervous.

"We can't play Dale Hellestrae at center like we did when Step went out against Philadelphia because you need a big center with (Arizona's) Eric Swann on the line," Switzer said. "It would be a mismatch. Dale isn't as physical or as strong as Eric."

Switzer said the Cowboys could move Derek Kennard from guard to center and put rookie Larry Allen, who played well two weeks ago against the Cardinals, at either tackle or guard. Seldom used Ron Stone could fit into the equation at guard.

"It's a big concern because of the philosophy of their defense," Switzer said. "It's so important to make the right blocking decisions. Troy took some hits last time. We know they'll be coming after him again."

Then Switzer joked "the Cardinals are running 40 plays a game and we might, too. It might be a game where you see 80 running plays."

This is the first time rookie coach Switzer has had to deal with playing an opponent a second time in a season.

BSHS KO's Andrews; tennis team rumbles

ANDREWS - The Big Spring Lady Steers continued their mastery of Andrews with a 15-9, 15-6 win over the Lady Mustangs in District 4-A volleyball action Tuesday night.

The game was close at the beginning, with several side outs forcing both coaches to extensively use their benches. In the end, however, Big Spring's substitutes proved superior.

"We played real well," BSHS coach Lois Ann McKenzie said of the Lady Steers (9-15 overall, 2-6 in district). "We started off slowly, but once we got started, we didn't stop."

The win marked the second one over the Lady Mustangs for Big Spring.

"Andrews had some injuries, but my kids somehow just got fired up for Andrews," McKenzie said.

The match wasn't a perfect one for the Lady Steers - McKenzie said the team committed six service errors - but overall, she was very pleased with the team's play.

"I think it was a case of my subs playing better than her subs," McKenzie said. "Natalie Newsom got more sets than she usually does, and she really came through for us ... and LaToshia Wilbert ended the match on a really hard kill ... which is what you like to see a match end on."

Big Spring won all four matches it played Tuesday. The junior varsity came through with its third win of the year, 16-14, 3-15, 15-11.

Playing well for the JV were Dee Hill, Krissi McWherter, Crystal Flynn, Amanda Hensley and Stephanie Jones.

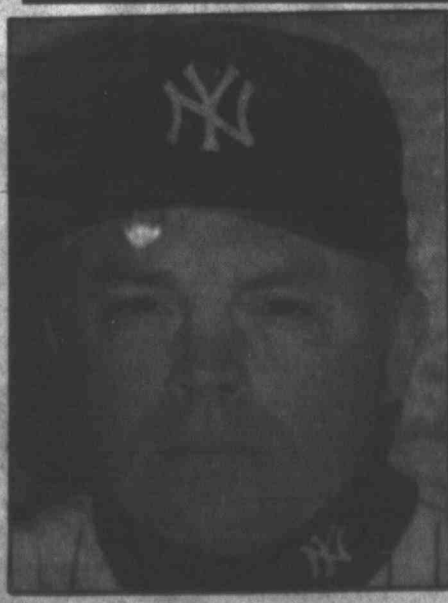

The Big Spring freshman "Black" team also was victorious by a 14-16, 16-14, 15-7. Playing well were Gina Valdez, Tatum Weeks and Jody Lelek.

Completing the sweep was the Big Spring freshman "Gold" team, which registered a 15-12, 15-7 win over Andrews. Playing well were Jessica Cobos, Honey Belew, Melanie Flenniken, Melissa Martinez, Shakeesha Lott and Angela Sturm.

New York Yankees manager Buck Showalter was a near-unanimous choice Tuesday as American League Manager of the Year.

TEXAS SPORTS

Tarpley out for awhile

DALLAS (AP) - Newly reinstated Dallas Maverick Roy Tarpley will miss two preseason games because of a bruised knee, which coach Dick Motta said could set him back since he's out of shape and has lost too much weight.

Tarpley bruised his knee during Monday night practice, but the injury isn't the only problem. Motta said Tarpley's lack of conditioning has worried him since the start of training camp. He attributed the problem to a case of pancreatitis that put Tarpley in the hospital for five days this summer.

"He's not in as good of shape as I expected him to be," Motta said. "The doctor said that he lost 30 pounds. I wasn't aware that he was sick. In fact, I didn't even know he'd been in the hospital until after he got out."

AROUND THE WORLD

Baseball talks resume

WASHINGTON (AP) - Baseball players and owners finally resume negotiations today after a 5 1/2-week break, this time with new mediator W.J. Utery.

Union head Donald Fehr said several players planned to attend the meeting, just the fourth since the strike began Aug. 12.

NHL rejects mediator

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - The NHL rejected using a mediator to end its lockout and all but abandoned playing an 84-game season.

NHL commissioner Gary Bettman said games will not be made up past June. A policy regarding ticket refunds could be announced as soon as today.

ALAS (AP) — A thumbnail sketch of football match-ups this week in the Southwest Conference.

SMU (1-6, 0-3 SWC) at Texas (4-7, 1-1 SWC), Noon, Raycom regional broadcast — Texas has beaten the Mustangs six straight times. SMU's last victory was 44-14 at Texas Stadium in 1985. The coaches: SMU's Tom Rossley is 9-29-2 (fourth season, all with the Mustangs) overall, 3-21-1 in SWC meets. UT's John Mackovic is 59-48-2 (10th year) overall, 15-12-1 (third campaign) with the Longhorns, 10-6 in SWC encounters. Multiple offenses by both teams cause headaches for the other crew's defenders. ... QB Shea Morenz (94-of-178 passing, 1,028 yards, 10 TDs) is closing in on several Texas career passing marks with 282-of-522 aeri- for 54 percent. Soph C Dan Neal makes the offensive line go while WR Matt Davis (15 catches, 170 yards) and DT Chris Akins are oncoming. Mustangs' IR Mick Rossley (156 career catches, 13th in SWC annals) is a surehanded catcher while LB B.J.

Stankovich (five fumble recoveries) is an alert stopper. LB Chris Bordano (104 tackles) is a standout as well as OG Keith Chiles. ... RICE (3-2, 2-0 SWC) at TEXAS A&M (6-0, 3-0 SWC), 1 p.m. — A&M holds its second-longest series streak of consecutive wins in a SWC embat- tlement (they have won 21 in a row against TCU) in the Rice rivalry. The Aggies are 13-0 vs. Rice since 1981. Rice's most recent victory came 10-6 at College Station on Oct. 25, 1990. ... The coaches: Rice's Ken Hatfield is 117-63-3 (16th year) overall, 3-2 (first season) with the Owls, 38-10 in SWC activity. A&M's R.C. Slocum is 55-12-1 (sixth season, all with the Aggies) overall, 36-4-1 in SWC battles. Both clubs are very conscious of stopping the run. The Owls have been ranked among the Top 25 nationally most of the year and surrender 96 yards per TB. The Aggies have allowed just one rushing performance by an opponent of over 100 yards (176 by Baylor last week). ... LB Jeff Mercer (42 tackles, three fumbles forced) joins RB Jimmy Lee (74 career catches, 966 receiving yards, six TDs) and senior OG Bobby Gray as team leaders. Aggies' FB Cliff Groce (13 carries, 90 yards, seven catches, 116 yards) and OG Calvin Collins are unsung offensive heroes. ... BAYLOR (5-2, 2-1 SWC) at TEXAS TECH (2-4, 1-2 SWC), 1 p.m.

— The Bears have a two-game edge at 18-16 since the Raiders joined the loop in 1990, but Tech bucked the home field trend with a 31-24 triumph in 1991 behind a 99-yard fumble return by CB Donny Brooks. Baylor won 28-26 in a thriller at Waco last autumn. ... Baylor's Chuck Reedy is 10-8 (second year, both with the Bears) overall, 5-5 in SWC action. Tech's Spike Fikes is 43-42-1 (ninth year) overall, 30-24-1 in the SWC. ... It's a crossroads' contest for each team since six victories are required to play in a bowl. Tennis team claims second district crown

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring High School tennis team finished its rampage through District 4-4A, throwing an 18-0 shutout at San Angelo Lake View Tuesday.

Aside from finishing their district schedule with a perfect 5-0 record, the Steers also compiled a staggering 106-2 record in matches played this season.

This marks the second straight year Big Spring has won the district with a perfect record.

Complete results from Tuesday's match will be published in Thursday's Herald.

est Series ever, Barnett was umpiring third base when he watched Fisk hit the winning homer in the bottom of the 12th inning to allow the Red Sox to take Game 6.

"That '75 Series was probably the most classic World Series ever played," Barnett said. "I don't think there's ever been one like that since."

If 1975 was a classic year, 1994 had to register as one of the worst. The strike wiped out the last half of the season and forced the cancellation of the World Series for the first time since 1904.

Barnett is sure baseball will return next year, but doesn't know what form it will take.

"I think they're going to play next year — with or without the (current) players," he said. "When this is over — and it will be over — the owners and players are going to have to stand up and apologize to the fans for what they've put the game through. If they do that, the fans will forgive them. American fans are the most forgiving in the world."

Of course, being an umpire means that you'll get in some, shall we say, disagreements with folks now and then, and Barnett has been no exception. Barnett said the two worst managers, in terms of dealing with umpires, were the late Billy Martin of the Yankees and Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles.

"Billy always wanted you to cheat for him, and Earl just didn't like anybody," he said.

He also recalled one discussion with Thurman Munson, the late Yankee catcher, in which he told Munson that if he didn't stop what he was doing, Barnett was "going to bite your head right off."

Munson looked at Barnett and replied, "Larry, if you do that, you'll have more brains in your stomach than you do in your head."

Give goat meat a chance

Spanish goats have roamed Texas range land since Spanish settlements were introduced early in the 1700s.

Dana Tarter
Extension Agent

Goat meat and other products, including tallow and milk, were a staple on many early Texas ranches. Although goat meat cookery has a long history in Texas, it has not been well documented.

Today goat meat is considered the meat of choice used in many dishes of Spanish, Middle East or Greek origin. In some countries goat meat is considered the equal to mutton, but in the United States, consumption is quite low.

Southwest Texas is where much of the goat meat in the United States is consumed. Taste tests indicate that goat meat is not interchangeable with meats from other sources such as beef, chicken or pork.

Goat meat is similar in most nutrients to other meats and contains adequate amounts of all amino acids. It has fewer calories per three-ounce serving than beef and the caloric content is equivalent to the same size serving of chicken.

Fat and saturated fat levels are considerably less than that of beef and pork while controversially the cholesterol level is equivalent to that of beef.

The amount of protein found in a three-ounce serving of goat meat is comparable to that of other meats, while research indicates that goat meat has a higher level of protein, potassium and thiamine while providing a healthy fat intake with a low caloric serving.

Storage of goat meat is similar to that of any other type meat. Fresh meat should be kept in the meat compartment or the coldest part of the refrigerator. If it is to be kept longer than three days before cooking, it should be frozen.

Meat to be frozen should be well wrapped in freezer paper and promptly frozen at zero degrees F. Meat properly wrapped and frozen will keep six to nine months. Cooked meat should also be stored in the same manner.

Preparation of the meat product takes care because of the low fat content. Goat meat will lose moisture quickly and toughen if care in preparation is not taken. Two rules to remember are to cook slowly and to cook with moisture.

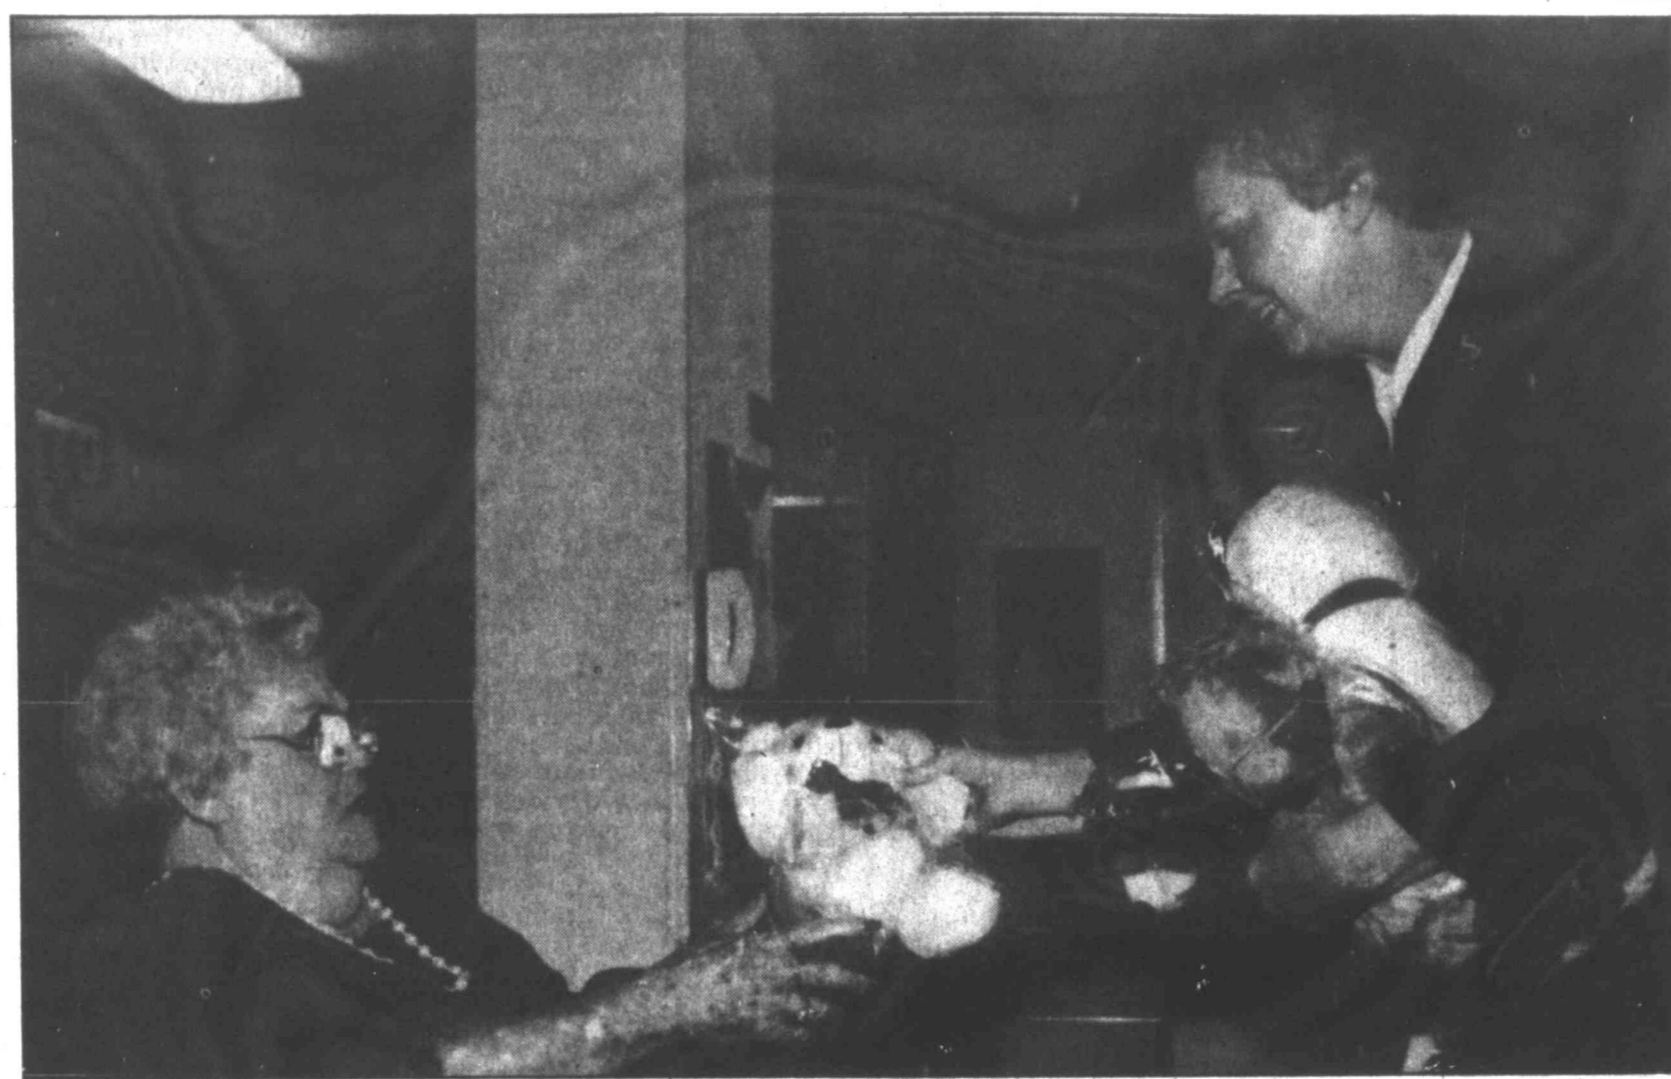

Tender cuts of goat meat are the legs, ribs, portions of the shoulder, loin roast and the breast. These cuts are usually best when cooked with dry heat methods such as roasting, broiling or frying.

Holidays are doll dressing time

By JANET AUSBURY
Features Editor

One of the Salvation Army's Christmas traditions, the Doll Dressing Extravaganza, is already in full swing for the upcoming holiday season.

Most of the dolls have been passed out already, according to Danelle Castillo, Salvation Army social worker. The doll dressing has grown in popularity; even with more dolls than last year, the organization had no problem finding people to dress them.

Some teddy bears may still be available to those who would like to dress a doll. Deadline to turn in the dressed dolls is Nov. 7. The dressed dolls will be on display at area banks and will be judged Nov. 10. The Doll Tea and Show will be 11 a.m. Nov. 18 at First National Bank, preceded by the annual Kettle Kickoff at the Post Office.

Prize-winning dolls are auctioned off at the annual Salvation Army spring meeting, and proceeds, which usually range from $50-$200, are used to buy more dolls for the following holiday season. Non-prize winners are donated to needy children at Christmas.

Organizations that traditionally participate in the doll dressing include Big Spring High School and Coahoma High School. This year, with the help of Assistant Director Pat Johnston, Canterbury Homes joined the list of doll dressers.

Salvation Army members made a trip to Canterbury last week to give dolls to residents for them to dress. Participants dress dolls in one of six categories, such as clowns, formal or pajama party. All clothing must be removable and hand made, and dolls' hair cannot be cut.

Along with the Doll Dressing Extravaganza, the Salvation Army will also help area families by taking Thanksgiving and Christmas applications from Oct. 24 to Nov. 11, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 811 W. Fifth.

Humane Society picks Kaz as new coordinator

Special to the Herald

Ken Kaz, superintendent of industries for the Federal Correctional Institution in Big Spring, has been selected as the new overall coordinator for the Big Spring Humane Society.

Kaz, a 19-year federal prison employee, has lived here two and a half years. He and wife Sandy have been volunteers for the Humane Society.

According to Margaret Lloyd, Humane Society board member, Kaz' expertise has already paid off in areas of care and maintenance of the Humane Society's adoption center located on West Interstate 20.

His responsibilities will include overseeing maintenance of the shelter, which houses approximately 250 dogs and 60 cats. He will chair a Humane Society meeting for members and interested guests 7:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

He is also affiliated with the American Society of Quality Control and is chairman of the Government Speakers' Bureau

KAZ of Howard County. Clubs or organizations interested in a program on the Humane Society should contact Kaz at 264-7131 or Lloyd at 267-5646.

Better Breathing Club meets

Special to the Herald

The American Lung Association of Texas, Family Home Health Equipment, and Leonard's Pharmacy, 308 Scurry, are co-sponsoring monthly Better Breathing Clubs. The Clubs are free monthly educational and support groups for individuals with lung disease, their families and friends.

The Oct. 25 meeting will be held at Family Home Health Equipment located in the College Park Shopping Center. To register for the support group, call Jana Cordes at 394-4929. The guest speaker will be a physical therapist from Nurses Unlimited.

Sponsorship of the Better Breathing Clubs coincides with the mission of the American Lung Association: the conquest of lung disease and the promotion of lung health. The program is an invaluable method for helping people cope with lung problems or facilitate a change in behavior.

For additional information about lung disease call the American Lung Association of Texas at 1-800-LUNG USA.

New drug for cystic fibrosis

By DON KIRKMAN
Scripps Howard News Service

A recently licensed drug improves the lives of cystic fibrosis patients, a study by researchers at 50 medical centers shows.

The drug is Pulmozyme, a substance developed by Genentech Inc. and approved by the Food and Drug Administration last year.

"Pulmozyme appears to help patients breathe easier and have fewer respiratory symptoms," said Dr. Bonnie Ramsey of the University of Washington's Children's Hospital & Medical Center in Seattle.

During the study, the drug was given to nearly 500 cystic fibrosis patients while another 500 received placebos. Thirty-seven percent of those who received the drug twice per day had fewer respiratory infections and 5.6 percent had improved lung function.

Many of those who received Pulmozyme had fewer episodes of breathlessness and generally felt better, Ramsey said.

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited disease that clogs the airways of the lungs with thick secretions. It also causes recurrent lung infections and progressive lung destruction.

On average, cystic fibrosis patients live only 29 years. Approximately 30,000 Americans have the illness.

Researchers are encouraged by an experimental drug used to treat nerve damage that leads to diabetic leg ulcers and amputations.

Currently, physicians don't know what causes peripheral neuropathy, a condition that will cause nerve damage in half of the nation's 6 million diabetics.

Tests on laboratory animals indicate the drug Alcar, a substance developed by Hoffman-LaRoche, prevents progression of the nerve disease, said Dr. Yadollah Harati, a neurologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

An 18-month test of Alcar is being conducted on 600 diabetics by physicians in medical centers in the United States and overseas, Harati reported.

The National Cancer Institute is seeking thousands of black men to participate in its Prostate Cancer Prevention Trial. To volunteer, call NCI's toll free number 1-800-4-CANCER.

Last year's flu sends stronger relative

ATLANTA (AP) — The harsh Beijing flu that swept the United States last season is sending a relative to visit this season. Unfortunately, these strains are among the deadlier forms of the disease.

Shandong joined its Chinese cousin, Beijing, this summer in a world tour, as strains of type A flu hit South Africa, the United States, Panama, Chile and Australia, the national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported recently.

In China, the source of the strains, Shandong was overtaking Beijing as the dominant strain.

Flu contributes to the deaths of about 20,000 people a year in the United States. The flu season lasts from November to April. Among the samples of flu gathered by a worldwide surveillance center at the CDC from October 1993 through August 1994, 80 percent were type A and 20 percent were type B. Almost all of the type A samples were related to the Beijing strain, but a quarter were more closely related to Shandong.

Those who escaped Shandong this summer may still suffer during the flu season. Strains from Panama and Texas are expected to appear with their baggage of chills, fever, headaches, fatigue and muscle aches.

Nancy Arden, the CDC's chief of influenza epidemiology, said the CDC could not predict which strain would dominate this flu season.

Where the stars go to ski

By MINTY CLINCH
London Observer Service

PARK CITY, Utah — Early on a bright morning, two short men crunch across the snow to the ticket booth in Park City.

"We've come to collect our lift passes," says the one with the strawberry blond hair.

The other smiles and the woman is lost for words. She's been told to hand over the complimentary tickets without comment, but the reality of Paul Newman and Robert Redford on her mountain makes her take her instructions too literally.

After 30 years of being in the spotlight, they're used to paying the price of fame. Not that Redford appears to pay it willingly. When he travels on a commercial plane, he buys adjacent seats to avoid people, and if he makes the mistake of riding a ski chair lift with a stranger, he clams up.

As in all branches of celebrity, the ski pack divides into those who want to be recognized and those who crave anonymity. To a degree, skiing caters for both.

On the one hand, all skiers use the same lifts and slopes, which means that royals and other icons rub shoulders with the public to a degree that would be unthinkable in a Welsh motorcade or a Hollywood awards ceremony.

On the other, the wary star can be hard to identify in bulky ski clothes.

There's nothing understated about Arnold Schwarzenegger as he disports himself in star-spangled Sun Valley, Idaho, in a shiny mauve and yellow ski suit. Lunching expensively on oysters and California Chardonnay, he's a larger presence than his Kennedy clan wife, two noisy daughters, toddler and bodyguard.

On the slopes he powers down the steepest black runs; one advantage of being one of the highest paid actors in the world is that you can buy priority by the simple expedient of hiring a guide.

In contrast, Clint Eastwood, his neighbor on Prospector Road, might well be overlooked as he sits by himself at his favorite corner table in the Pioneer Saloon.

"Idaho men leave folks alone," my fellow pool player in Grumpy's informed me, adding that this attitude allows the elusive Eastwood to wheel his cart round the supermarket without being hassled.

When it comes to putting on the glitz, even Aspen finds it hard to match Sun Valley, the pioneer ski resort founded by Averell Harriman, chairman of the Union Pacific Railway, as a means of filling his first-class carriages in the mid-1930s.

Nowadays the residential roll call on Prospector Road includes Bruce Willis and Demi Moore, Jamie Lee Curtis and Brooke Shields, and the resort has upgraded its facilities to profit from their bank balances. This means it has gourmet dining opportunities of a quality rare in the Rockies, plus "the largest automated snow-making system in the world."

Sylvester Stallone recently bought a ranch outside Telluride, an alternative poser's town in western Colorado. Like Arnie, Sly favors a high-profile presence which is enforced by aggressively protective bodyguards and enrages the locals.

'Java junkies' hooked for real

CHICAGO (AP) — They're not called java junkies for nothing.

Medical research now confirms what coffee drinkers long have suspected: Some people get so hooked on caffeine that they have many of the same dependency traits of alcoholics or drug addicts.

But caffeine-aholics can rest easy — if their jittery, jangly nerves will let them.

"In general, caffeine use has not been associated with serious health risks," said lead researcher Roland Griffiths, a professor of psychiatry and neuroscience at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine in Baltimore.

"Our findings in and of themselves should not be used as a reason to quit caffeine use."

Psychiatrists identify addiction by a cluster of traits. The study found that some people who drank as little as one or two cups of coffee a day had enough of the traits to qualify as chemically dependent.

Those traits include developing a tolerance for a substance, or getting less of a kick from the same amount of caffeine; trying unsuccessfully to quit or cut down; and inability to give up the habit even when ordered to by a doctor.

Previously only one addictive trait, physical dependency, was well documented in caffeine users, researchers said in Wednesday's Journal of the American Medical Association. Coffee drinkers can suffer withdrawal symptoms such as headaches and sluggishness when they give up caffeine.

The study involved 27 people recruited because they believed themselves to be psychologically or physically dependent on caffeine. Sixteen met the formal definition of addiction. They consumed anywhere from one to 25 cups of coffee a day

Land O'Lakes is bringing margarine back. Last February the company converted its margarine to a lower-fat spread, as did a lot of other margarine companies.

This confused a lot of cooks when their "new margarine" gave different baking results, not to mention causing soggy toast. Consumers told Land O'Lakes they'd prefer the taste and baking performance that only an 80 percent fat product like regular margarine can offer.

The company has complied, saying the difference in levels of potentially harmful trans-fatty acids between spread and margarine is negligible.

Tropicana has added a new juice to its line: Ruby Red Orange Juice in an easy-pour carton. The first to be made from 100 percent juice, not from concentrate juice blend, Ruby Red's "secret" ingredients are a hint of exotic red orange juice from Italy and a splash of grapefruit juice.

In a taste-test, the new juice seemed to be thicker-bodied, more red-orange in color and less sweet than regular orange juice. Despite the lack of orange concentrate, it doesn't have a delicate fresh-squeezed flavor.

Frieda's Inc., a California wholesale distributor of exotic fresh fruits and vegetables, is a company known for marketing innovations; company founder Frieda Caplan was the first to import Chinese gooseberries from New Zealand, renaming them kiwifruit (it worked).

The company was among the first to sell partially cooked fresh black-eyed peas in plastic bags, and to put those purple stickers with cooking instructions directly on hard-shelled squash.

But you won't need a purple sticker for Frieda's new form of spaghetti squash — Frieda's is now marketing the vegetable spaghetti pre-cooked, the yellow strings mounded in trays. The company touts it as "nature's pasta."

To cook your own vegetable spaghetti, punch slits in the whole spaghetti squash with a broad-bladed knife. Place whole squash on a paper towel on the floor or tray of a microwave oven. Cook on full power until the hard shell yields to pressure. Cool squash under running water. Slice open lengthwise and scoop out center seeds. Rake out spaghetti strands with a fork and serve them with herb butter, pesto or a Swiss-cheese sauce with a sprinkle of bacon bits.

Tomato or spaghetti sauces are too harsh for vegetable spaghetti, hiding its mellow flavor.

More minority teachers needed in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Suburban school districts in the Dallas-Fort Worth area have added minority students to their rolls, but black and Hispanic teachers haven't followed, The Dallas Morning News reported last week.

State education officials say finding minority educators has been a problem statewide, not just in the suburbs.

A survey by The News of school systems in its area shows that black and Hispanic enrollment in suburban classrooms has outpaced minority hiring.

Shannon Reeves, director of the NAACP's Dallas-based Southwest region, said no one is holding the suburban schools accountable.

"They don't get as much attention," he said.

Last month, Reeves joined a group of Mesquite parents in demanding that the school district improve its hiring record. About 9 percent of Mesquite's students are black, while 1.3 percent of the teaching force is black. Hispanic teachers account for 1 percent of the faculty, while Hispanic students number 11 percent.

Ron Cagle, executive director of personnel for the DeSoto school district, said hiring more minority teachers is "something that all of us now are very much aware of."

"We are doing a lot of recruiting," he said. "We're going to as many of the universities as possible."

The problem is finding the teachers, Cagle and others say.

Demand, both nationally and regionally, far outstrips the supply. Part of the problem is that many black and Hispanic college students are pursuing higher paying jobs.

According to the Texas Education Agency, of the 25,000 teachers certified during the last school year in Texas, 5 percent were black and 13 percent were Hispanic.

Racist e-mail floods college computers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A Texas college professor says someone broke into his electronic mail account and scattered white supremacist messages to about 20,000 computer users across the country.

The messages, similar to a flyer produced by the white supremacist National Alliance in Mill Point, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, urges readers to send "minority parasites packing to fend for themselves" and condemns community development funding as support for black "breeding colonies."

It was received Monday by computer users, including those at college campuses in Mississippi, Wisconsin, Colorado and Texas, said Grady Blount, a professor of environmental science at Texas A&M University in Corpus Christi, Texas.

"It's kind of a digital equivalent of a drive-by shooting," Blount said Tuesday.

Blount's computer password was used to send the messages on the Internet computer network, which links universities, research facilities and individuals worldwide.

The electronic mailing brought harsh responses, including death threats, from nearly 500 users who thought Blount was the sender.

"My door is locked. We canceled a class last night and one today will be moved to another location," Blount said. He also changed his account's password.

"As far as I'm concerned, my reputation aside, whoever did this has slandered the name of Texas A&M University all across the country," he said.

A flood of several thousand messages shorted out a computer at the University of Colorado in Boulder, a spokeswoman said.

The message copies a paper flyer advertising a weekly radio program prepared by the National Alliance, said its founder, Franklin Pierce.

Pierce said his group did not send the electronic message and he said he was unaware of it. But he acknowledged a group member could be responsible.

"There are an awful lot of users on the Internet," Pierce said. "Some of those users are members of the National Alliance."

The message, signed "Crusader," said the federal government funds "80 IQ welfare mothers" and "Jewish organized crime gangs."

"And if you burn down your own neighborhood when a court decision doesn't go your way, don't worry: Truckloads of money will soon arrive to build you new breeding colonies — er, I mean houses, apartments, community centers, swimming pools, etc.," the message said.

It was apparently referring to the 1992 riots that followed the acquittal of police officers accused of beating Los Angeles motorist Rodney King.

University officials said it would be easy for someone to steal an Internet password and send large numbers of messages.

"Not only is that possible, but I can send you a message and it can look like it came from Hillary Clinton," said Texas A&M spokeswoman Mary McQueen.

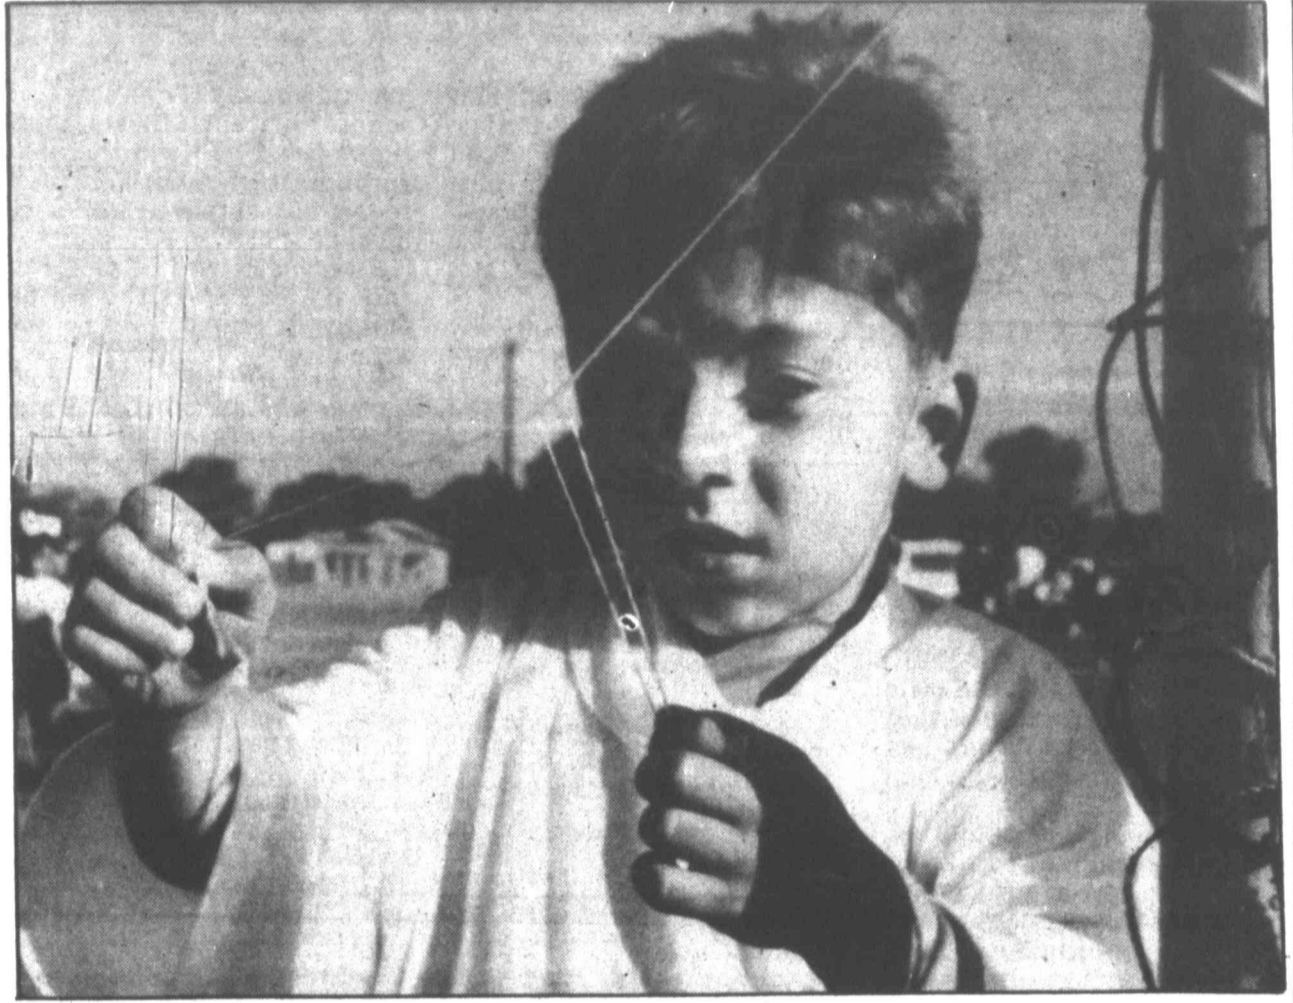

Incidents involving the use of computers to spread the white supremacist message are new, but increasingly common, said Rabbi Abraham Cooper, associate dean of the Simon Wiesenthal Center in Los Angeles.

"People have now found a cheap way of communicating their thoughts and ideas and their values where there is little or no supervision and no price to pay for their bigotry," Cooper said.

Pierce said his group distributes information on computer networks and operates its own computer bulletin board from Mill Point.

Pierce wrote "The Turner Diaries," a novel depicting a neo-Nazi takeover of the United States. Federal prosecutors have said The Order adopted the book as its manual.

Army food that tastes good? Maybe

By KIM MARGOLIS
Thomson News Service

Professor Cameron Faustman wants to make U.S. Army food taste like Mom's home cooking.

Where did this guy get his degree? From the University of Wishful Thinking?

Faustman's credentials are real, and so is the three-year study he is doing for the Army. The University of Connecticut assistant professor of animal sciences has received a $600,000 grant to find ways to improve military food.

After all, they say an army runs on its stomach. "They are always looking for ways to improve (food)," said Faustman, 34. "Food is one of the morale boosters, one of the few things (troops) look forward to. You want it to taste as good as possible, have a fresh flavor and normal appearance."

Faustman will be working to enhance the staying power of beef, chicken and fish entrees in the sealed, TV dinner-like Meals Ready to Eat, or MREs. His task is to make it taste better by keeping it from spoiling.

The goal: to create MREs with shelf lives of three years. He said that because American troops are occasionally deployed on short notice — as they are now in Haiti and the Middle East — a large amount of food has to be in storage at all times.

"You never know how long they'll be involved in a conflict," he said. "The Army doesn't exactly have food factories they can start up if there is a conflict. They have to stockpile things."

A rather shocked Capt. John Wiltse was almost speechless when he heard about a three-year MRE life. "Wow!" said Wiltse, before adding cautiously, "That's interesting. That would be something."

"I remember one that I avoided and that was the infamous pork patty, which, I recall, if thrown at another soldier, could cause a wound," he said.

Stop Answering The Phone With Your Feet.

Get Call Return.

The phone rings and you run to answer it. Up stairs, down halls, around corners and over furniture you go, as fast as your feet will take you. At last you pick up the receiver and utter a breathless "hello" only to hear the anonymous "hum" of a dial tone. The sound of someone you just missed. Sound familiar?

Then get Call Return and answer your calls without running to the phone. Simply press *69 on your phone and this unique calling service automatically calls back the number of your last local call — the one you didn't have to rush to answer. The call is completed at your convenience and you don't miss a thing.

Call 1-800-234-BELL.

Do something with your feet right now. Walk, don't run, to the phone and call to order Call Return or receive your free brochure. We'll be quick to answer.

FOR THURSDAY, OCT. 20, 1994
ARIES (March 21-April 19): You may be going overboard dealing with another. You are looking for difficult solutions. Let your creativity flow. Brainstorm and find new solutions. Opportunities to get ahead come naturally if you just relax and worry less. Tonight: Do some fall shopping. ***

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Watch your temper. You are going overboard. Be clearer about your choices. A family member who lacks self-awareness means business. Be careful with temper, be clear how you state your issues and go for your bottom line. Tonight: Make yourself happy. ****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Say little, remain secure and know what's important. Communications are active and you may need to make an unwelcome adjustment. Think creatively. Another cares for you. Consider your choices with care. Tonight: Vanish with your favorite person. **

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Go for bottom lines, knowing what's important to you. Another is attracted to you and expresses it in an interesting way. Do not take unnecessary money risks. A loved one expresses care, also uniquely. Focus in on the long term. Tonight: Hang with friends. ****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are spirited today. Be ready to establish boundaries. Another cares about you enormously but has an odd way of showing it. Prepare to discuss a problem more openly. Bring others together and work to resolve a problem. Tonight: Make merry. ****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your spirits soar. Because you are in sync with another, you are able to understand what's going on. Relax. Don't lose your temper. Remain upbeat. Brainstorm. News from a distance is provocative. Tonight: Plan a mini-trip for the weekend. ****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You feel a need to discuss a loss with a loved one. Be less uptight, remain secure and know what's important to you. Bottom lines are emphasized and you need to get in contact with your feelings. Be aware of your choices. Tonight: Be with the one you love. ****

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A boss may yell and carry on. Sort through what's reality and what isn't. The clearer you are in your choices here, the better off you will be. You are going to see recent work events in a new light. Be clear and do not push too hard. Tonight: Say yes to an offer. ***

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Relax, mellow out and consider your opportunities. Another thinks highly of you but has a strange way of showing it. News from a distance may throw you topsy turvy. Consider your options before changing work decisions. Tonight: Soak in a hot tub. **

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Problem-solving is important to your well-being. Ask for more of what you want and need. A loved one cares and lets you know it. A relationship soars, especially if you are not lured by a partner into arguing. Be happy. Tonight: Be naughty and nice. ****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Stay centered. Today brings on a lot of changes with a partner who needs you, but needs to understand your thinking. You are able to make the best out of a bad situation. A partner's temper blows, but you know how to handle it. Tonight: Entertain at home. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your energy is high and needs to be directed or there could be a problem. Stay centered, know your priorities and be clear what you are asking. Another has an odd way of caring. Start up a conversation with an ailing co-worker. Tonight: Talk up a storm. ****

IF OCT. 20 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: One-to-one relating and partnership matters dominate your year. You gain financially as long as you know how to say no. A friendship may be extraordinarily demanding. Stay centered, be clear about your choices and ready for some fast changes. Opportunities knock, but don't take unneeded risks. If single, you meet people easily through friends and group involvement. Do not push too hard to have it your way. If you are attached, this is an interesting year in which you look at your partnership, goals and options. TAURUS anchors you.

Leave electric work to electricians

DEAR ABBY: I recently experienced a tragic loss. My husband was electrocuted in our swimming pool. I feel an obligation to warn others who are planning to put a swimming pool on their property. My husband was in our swimming pool, and for some reason, he reached over to plug in the pump. The long prong on the 110-volt plug had broken off in the receptacle, and the second prong touched the box, causing an electrical shock that killed my husband instantly! The coroner said he had a massive heart attack. This could have been prevented. My husband and a friend of his did the electrical work themselves, which seemed like a good way to save some money. Now I realize that one should always get a qualified electrician to do all electrical work. It is too late for my husband, but I am writing so others can be warned not to make the terrible mistake my late husband made. Sign me ... A YOUNG WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Thank you for writing to warn others. Your message will reach millions of people, and let's hope they'll realize the importance of hiring a qualified electrician to do all their electrical work. DEAR ABBY: Today I read something in your column that makes me want to blow my top. Anyone who knows anything about radio knows that you NEVER say "over and out." "Over" means that I'm going to let you talk now, while "out" means I'm hanging up, I'm outta here. Talk about a slap in the face; "over and out" really is one.

If you have to say something, say "over" or say "out," whichever one is appropriate. Never, never both. — JIM BARNHART, EDGEWOOD, TEXAS

DEAR JIM BARNHART: Thanks for the lesson in radio jargon. It is very much appreciated. DEAR ABBY: I think you and Letitia Baldrige, your etiquette expert, should update your rules on writing thank-you notes. You both are entirely out of line to expect a written thank-you note for a card expressing sympathy. When my father died, my mother received 150 sympathy cards. People who sent flowers or food — and there were close to 50 — were thanked with individual notes, which we purchased in a card shop. We signed our names and wrote a line or two to very special friends. I think it is entirely out of line to expect the bereaved (especially those on a fixed income) to spend $50 for stamps alone, plus another $10 to $20 for cards. If I thought that every sympathy card I sent required a thank-you card, I would stop sending them out of consideration for the bereaved. I would either telephone or call on them personally. I wonder how many others feel the same way? — MARY ELLEN HALL, TUPPER LAKE, N.Y.

DEAR MARY ELLEN HALL: According to the mail I've already received, I would venture to guess that several thousand readers agree with you. Good advice for everyone — teens to seniors — is in "The Anger in All of Us and How to Deal With It." To order, send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Mount Morris, Ill., P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

DEAR ABBY: Today I read something in your column that makes me want to blow my top. Anyone who knows anything about radio knows that you NEVER say "over and out." "Over" means that I'm going to let you talk now, while "out" means I'm hanging up, I'm outta here. Talk about a slap in the face; "over and out" really is one.

Athlete's Foot? No Sweat!

Your feet have approximately 2,600 sweat glands per square inch, and they can produce more than half a pint of moisture a day. While the sweat serves to keep the skin from drying out, it can also cause problems.

"Sweating feet in shoes produce a warm, moist atmosphere ideal for breeding the abundant fungi or bacteria already found on feet," explains Dr. Nicholas Popovich, registered pharmacist and member of Dr. Scholl's Foot Health Council. "Athlete's foot, the most common fungal infection of the skin, may be acquired by walking barefoot on infected surfaces," says Dr. Popovich. "And, because athlete's foot is a contagious disease, it can spread to other parts of the body or to other people."

Athlete's foot appears in the form of small blisters or irritated patches; red, cracked or scaly, itchy skin (especially between toes); and foot odor.

To treat and prevent athlete's foot, Dr. Popovich recommends keeping feet clean and dry every day while using an antifungal product such as Dr. Scholl's® Trittin® Antifungal Spray Powder for men or Smooth Touch® Antifungal Spray Powder for women. And, to help prevent the spread of the disease to others, always wear thongs or slippers in the gym or shower areas.

Braces Aren't Just For Kids

Research has shown that adults who believe their teeth are unattractive may suffer from a lack of self-esteem and self-confidence. While many children with crooked teeth see an orthodontist, today many adults are learning that orthodontics can help people of any age.

Orthodontists report that healthy bone tissue will allow for tooth movement, whether a person is 6 or 60. Braces move teeth by producing gentle pressure on the teeth and supporting bone. Eventually this steady pressure dissolves causes microscopic changes in the bone, making space for the teeth to move. New bone grows into the empty space and helps stabilize the tooth in its new position.

Smiles are important, but health concerns are often the primary consideration for adults seeking treatment. Crooked teeth and bad bites can affect oral health. Orthodontic treatment may improve your smile and help prevent many serious potential problems such as tooth decay, gum disease, and eventual tooth loss.

The good news about adult treatment options is beginning to spread: the number of adults seeking treatment has doubled in the past 10 years, according to the American Association of Orthodontists (AAO). For a free brochure on adult orthodontics, call the American Association of Orthodontists at 1-800-222-9969.

Tips For Staying Trim

This year, nearly 65 million Americans will attempt to fight the "battle of the bulge" but some may find it difficult to lose those extra pounds and keep the weight off.

According to Dr. Tom Ritchey, Director of DynaTrim™ Research, a number of factors predict dieting success. "The keys to long-term success are proper motivation and changing one's habits for the better," he says. "Dieting does not mean giving up the things you love. It is possible to lose weight without sacrificing taste, good nutrition or between-meals snacks. Contrary to popular belief, many people can lose weight and keep it off successfully."

Here are some "stay trim" tips developed by Dr. Ritchey and the nutrition experts at Lederle, makers of DynaTrim and Centrum® multi-vitamins:

• Do it for the right reasons — lose weight for yourself and your health — not for a loved one or a class reunion. Internal motivation is essential for long-term success.

• Add variety to a diet — serve food in new ways. If you're preparing a meal replacement such as DynaTrim, serve it as a mousse with fresh fruit or as a shake with flavorful spices. Variety helps prevent diet boredom and relapse.

• Use smaller plates — a full plate helps you feel as though you're eating more although you may actually be consuming smaller portions.

• Control your surroundings — make lifestyle adjustments to change habits. Avoid shopping when hungry or snacking while watching television.

• Regulate eating patterns — avoid fatty snacks. If you feel like cheating, take a short walk. If cravings persist, have a nutritious snack such as an apple or enjoy low-fat frozen DynaTrim instead of ice cream.

Variety helps prevent diet boredom and relapse.

• Reward yourself — positive thinking and self-esteem are essential to a successful diet. A movie, warm bath, compact disc or manicure are good rewards.

• Pick a diet you can live with — are you likely to attend a support group? Do you spend a lot of time preparing meals or do you prefer the convenience of a nutritious meal to eat on-the-go? Remember, you are more likely to stick with a diet that suits your lifestyle.

"Above all," says Dr. Ritchey, "be sure any weight loss plan focuses on nutrition and fitness." Healthy weight loss can be achieved as long as daily dietary requirements are met. A healthy weight loss plan such as DynaTrim provides 1200-1500 calories per day with 100 percent of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances for essential vitamins and minerals. Finally, always consult a doctor or dietitian if you have questions about healthy dieting.

HOME REALTORS
MAKE SELLING OR BUYING A HOME A PLEASANT EXPERIENCE
THE SELLING TEAM Linda Leonard, Joan Tate, Kay Moore, Doris Huitbregetz, Shirley Burgess and Joe Hughes.

"There's no time like the present to own your own home," says Kay Moore, owner of Home Realtors. "Interest rates are low and there is a nice selection of homes for sale in Big Spring." "There are many practical reasons for owning your own home in addition to the personal satisfaction." Home mortgage interest is one of the few interest deductions we still have, Kay reminds. Another tax break is real estate taxes on personal residences. A significant portion of a homeowner's payment goes toward payment of these taxes (which incidentally support our local government.) If you use your home as an office there may be other tax deductions. "By taking into account the tax breaks and other considerations," Kay says, "a family can often own their own home for less than they are now paying for rent."
Let Kay and her staff help you decide if this is the year for you to buy a home. HOME REALTORS have been serving the people of Big Spring since 1962 and pride themselves on giving Sellers and Buyers the little extras they deserve. HOME REALTORS is a member of INDEPENDENT BROKERS ASSOCIATION. Through IBA, they offer home warranties to its Sellers and Buyers which will eliminate the worries of major repairs during the time the home is on the market and for the first year of occupancy for the Buyer. IBA also have a nation wide referral network and can take the hassle out of locating a Realtor if you are moving to another city. Just call HOME, there is no extra charge for their services.

Cap Rock Electric serves 20 counties

Cap Rock Electric's company headquarters are in Midland with division headquarters in Stanton, Colorado City and Celeste.

Nearly 25,000 electric meters serve 20 Texas counties. As an electric cooperative, there are no shareholders to please and the customers served by the company are the same ones who own the business.

For industry, homes, schools, churches, farms and the oil patch, Cap Rock Electric has learned to differentiate its product. They sell electric power but are in the service business. There are over 100 dedicated employees who want to offer customers a Golden Rule business philosophy and customer service customized to fit your

Find best air time rates at WesTex Cellular

WesTex Cellular started in October 1990 and claim they offer the cheapest air time rates in the area.

The company is owned by WesTex Telephone and managed by C.E. Butler in Stanton.

Butler says there are no long distance charges on your cellular phone to anywhere in Texas if you are calling from the home system.

"The home system is if you are working off WesTex Cellular. That means if you are calling anywhere in Texas from Howard, Glasscock or Sterling counties and portions of Mitchell and Martin counties, there is no long distance charge," Butler explained.

The company also offers automatic call delivery. "If someone calls your 270 cellular telephone number from Big Spring and you are anywhere from Guyman, Okla. to Sterling City and from Cisco to Odessa, you will automatically receive that call," Butler adds.

WesTex Cellular offers five plans with three of them being the most popular:

- $10 a month charge for 16 minutes of air time.

- $25 a month charge for 100 minutes of air time.

- $20 a month charge and a charge of 20 cents per minute of air time.

WesTex Cellular officials say they are dedicated to providing the highest quality of service at the most affordable price.

For more information, you can contact them in Stanton at 756-3826.

Beth Ann's provides 'homey' shopping

Beth Ann's has been in business in Big Spring for two years and is an expansion of a store in Coahoma that was opened in July 1989 by Ann Bingham and her daughter, Rhonda Beth DeHoyos.

The store provides the latest in casual fashion for ladies and juniors in a comfortable atmosphere for their customers. In fact, the store is actually located in a house to provide a more "homey" shopping experience.

In the last two years, Beth Ann's business has more than doubled since they opened and will soon be moving to a bigger store two blocks south of their present location at 20th and Scurry. The new location will be at 22nd and Scurry.

According to the owners, when a customer comes into the shop, they will find good name brand clothing at reasonable prices as well as original jewelry made by Beth Ann's to compliment the clothes.

Some of the brand names include Rafaell, Gotcha Covered, Chaus, On the Verge, Rocky Mountain jeans, Zena jeans and several others.

As often as possible, Bingham and DeHoyos will order items for the customers if they are out of a particular size. They are constantly searching for the latest trends in clothing as well as being aware of holding the line on prices.

The store hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Phillip's agency - new concept in real estate

"We go to bat for the buyers" is the motto of Big Spring's newest real estate company, Ellen Phillips Real Estate.

Phillips opened the store Sept. 1 and is currently the only real estate agency in town which is an exclusive buyer agency firm.

Phillips says this concept is new and growing across the country. She does not take listings and her customers are buyers only. She can even show houses listed for sale by owners and prequalify someone so they will know what they can afford before going to look.

"Buyers of real estate (in this area) have had no representation in real estate purchase contracts until now. Since we don't have inventory to sell, we will find properties suited to buyers, not properties we are trying to move," explains Phillips.

Phillips adds, "Isn't it time buyers were represented when they purchase real property? Remember, the traditional real estate agents work for the seller, not the buyer."

"My philosophy has always been the fear is created by ignorance and only education can ease our troubles and propel us forward. Just because Big Spring is a "small town" doesn't mean Big Spring folks can't learn new things or accept new concepts or unique approaches. I think Big Spring is ready for exclusive buyer agency."

Phillips' office is at 1602 Scurry and is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Customers can call 263-8034 for more information or to arrange appointments after hours or on the weekends.

Check out the variety at Joy's Hallmark

Joy's Hallmark Shop was purchased by Joy and Hal Boyd in March 1984 and originally located at Highland Mall. The couple moved to their new store at 1900 Gregg Street in 1991.

The store is considered a top of the line Hallmark store with the distinction of being a Gold Crown store. They have grown over the past 10 years and offer a variety of cards, gifts and accessories from around the country.

Joy's has over 173 types of gifts from $1 to $100 for every occasion from wedding, anniversary, birthday or for that special someone. Joy has strived to offer gifts for secret pals, prayer sisters, teachers and friends.

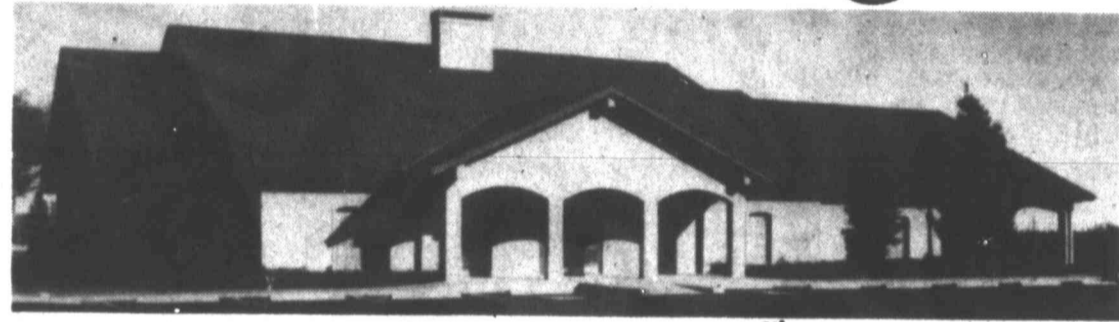

They offer wedding services by selling invitations, napkins and albums for the brides. Joy's will also wrap and deliver wedding gifts. The employees invite you to

Quality fashions found at Tom Boy Shop

The Tom Boy Shop has been in business 25 years and continues to provide quality women's fashions and accessories.

They offer name brand clothing such as Santoria by IB Diffusion, Bonnie Bowington, Russ by Liz Claiborne, Schrader, Jo Harden and Sunny South.

The owner, Beth Roman, bought the store three years ago. Marie Eason started the dress shop and owned it for the first 20 years of business. Eason was dedicated to providing women of this area with quality fashions at reasonable prices and personal service. This dedication continues today for every customer by Roman and her staff.

"Our accessories include jewelry, purses, hats, belts, scarves and bows. We offer name brands in a large assortment of sizes for our customers," said Roman.

Roman employs two people, Sue Lamb and Vera Robertson. Lamb has been with the shop for two years and works full-time and Robertson works part-time.

Roman, Lamb and Robertson can help you coordinate your wardrobe with mix and match separates and top it all off with just the right accessories.

A unique aspect of the Tom Boy Shop is the wide selection Roman carries. They have everything from denim, shorts and sportswear to liquid leather and holiday dress wear. The shop carries shifts, robes and dusters. The sizes range four to 20, extra small to extra large.

The Tom Boy Shop is located in downtown Big Spring at 220 Main. The store hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Good food, conversation at Big John's

Big John's Feedlot is known for its great barbecue and free conversation.

The restaurant at 803 West Third has been in business since 1970 with most of the employees that started back then still there.

They are famous for the pecan pies that are shipped all around the world. The atmosphere is very laid back with antiques and memorabilia decorating the restaurant.

John Price says the reason he has stayed in business so long is because they "serve good barbecue, good service and those things just don't change. We keep it small and friendly. There is not a turnover of employees."

"The water bill is still in Jimmy Underwood's name and he had been there six years. I bought it from Travis O'Dell in June 1970. All together, the place has been around for 50 years."

Big John's is open 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday and closed on Sundays.

REAL ESTATE ROUNDUP

Mandatory Property Disclosure Forms: What's Your Opinion?

By Harley E. Rouda
President, National Association of Realtors (NAR)

If you go shopping for a home, should the seller be required to tell you what they know about the property's known defects? People who think they have the right to know exactly what they're spending money on are writing their legislators to ask for buyers' protection through mandatory property condition disclosure forms. Such forms also offer important safeguards for sellers and real estate agents says NAR, which is urging state laws mandating that these forms be filled out for each residential sales transaction:

- They save the buyer a lot of grief and money by letting him or her know about such problems as environmental hazards—formaldehyde, radon, asbestos; structural additions, repairs or changes that may not comply with building codes or were done without the proper permits; neighborhood noise problems or other nuisances in the area; zoning violations; significant defects or malfunctions in the property's interior walls, ceilings, floors, insulation, roof, electrical systems, plumbing, etc. The disclosure forms are a handy checklist for buyers, so their concerns about the property's condition are addressed on the spot.

- They give the seller of a well-maintained house a market advantage over the competition. Buyers know you've had to make fairly detailed disclosures about the house and have pledged that you're telling everything, so you may be more likely to sell your home faster.

Rouda

- They may also lessen costly liability suits by purchasers against brokers charging they either knew of, or should have known about, defects in the home. Liability for failing to disclose a known defect is placed more squarely on the seller's shoulders, where it logically belongs.

Should filling out property disclosure forms be made mandatory for all property sellers? You can let your legislators know your views on this issue by writing your state legislature. For information on property condition disclosure forms and pending state legislation, as well as questions or comments, call or write State and Municipal Legislation Division, NAR, 777-14th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005; (202) 383-1007, or the Office of the General Counsel, 430 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL, 60611; (312) 329-8374.

QUICK QUIZ

Are you full of facts about food and our great growers? Taking this little test can help you tell.

1. If American farmers stopped using crop protection chemicals, studies show, food production would (a) rise sharply (b) stay the same (c) fall dramatically?

2. Consumer prices would likely (a) rise rapidly (b) stay the same (c) fall slightly if farmers stopped using crop protection chemicals?

3. Even without the food grown with the help of crop protection chemicals, the U.S. would still be a leader in the global agricultural market. (a) True (b) False?

4. The health of all Americans would improve if farmers stopped using crop protection chemicals. (a) True (b) False?

ANSWERS

1. (c) A recent study by an independent economics firm found there would be dramatic losses in food production if crop protection chemicals use was suspended. 2. (a) The study also predicted rapid increases in consumer prices. 3. (b) The U.S. could be eliminated as a global competitor in agriculture markets but for crop protection chemicals. 4. (b) Because diets might tend to be poorer, health risks would increase, and agriculture would put greater pressure on the environment, risking our health and safety far into the future. You can learn more about it from a free booklet: "Doing Without." For a copy, write National Agricultural Chemicals Association, The Madison Building, 1155 Fifteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.
