NO! NO! We just say NO to drugs

■ Drug task force shows power of word 'No'

Members of the Permian Basin Drug Task Force recently participated in a "Just Say No" rally at Washington Elementary as part of Red Ribbon Week.

Joe Commander and Jack Howard talked to the students about the dangers of using drugs and how they stop drugs from making it onto the streets.

One of two Waco escapees reportedly in Big Spring Friday

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

Two men charged with robbery have escaped from the McLennan county jail in Waco and one of them was reported to be in Big Spring Friday morning.

William E. Mills, 24 of San Marcos, and Tommy Rivera, 16, escaped from the jail on Oct. 19 and are still at large. On Friday morning, the Howard County Sheriff's Department received a telephone call from a Robert Lee resident stating one of her relatives had hitchhiked with Mills from San Marcos and was staying at the Best Western in Big Spring.

"The two witnesses knew Mills but didn't know he had escaped from jail. They rode with him from San Marcos to visit relatives in Robert Lee. They called their aunt and told them they had stopped at a convenience store in Sterling City and were now at the Best Western.

She advised them to get away from Mills and then she called me at the sheriff's department. By the time I got there, which was within minutes after she called, Mills had already left and we questioned the two men. We believe he may be headed back to San Marcos. Rivera was not with them and his truck was found in Waco," said Deputy Barney Edens.

Mills is described as a white male, six foot one inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. He has

Rise in violent crime makes good ol' U.S.A a dangerous place

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government survey says America became a more dangerous place last year, with the incidence of violent crime rising 5.6 percent to 10.9 million.

Overall, personal and household crimes edged up 1.7 percent to 43.6 million, the Justice Department's Bureau of Justice Statistics says in its latest annual National Crime Victimization Survey.

"We live in a violent age, and it's not going to get any nicer," said Richard Bennett, an American University professor of justice.

But the news released Sunday was not all bad: Sexual assaults declined a dramatic 20.1 percent, from 607,000 to 485,000, despite a change in the survey designed to bring forth more responses from victims. And at a steady figure of 32.2 million, there were no more property crimes in 1993 than in 1992.

Criminologists consider the victimization survey to be the most reliable indicator of crime in America. This year's report reflects a redesign that for the first time tabulated non-rape sexual attacks.

But the news released Sunday was not all bad: Sexual assaults declined a dramatic 20.1 percent, from 607,000 to 485,000, despite a change in the survey designed to bring forth more responses from victims. And at a steady figure of 32.2 million, there were no more property crimes in 1993 than in 1992.

Unlike the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, which count only crimes reported to police, the survey of 100,000 Americans age 12 and older includes many incidents police never hear about. The survey found victims reported only 42.9 percent of violent crimes to police, including 32.2 percent of sex attacks and 33.8 percent of property crimes.

Also unlike actual crime reports, the victimization survey omits homicides, as the victims cannot be interviewed.

Accident results in DWI charge

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

A Midland man has been arrested for driving while intoxicated after being involved in an accident early Sunday morning.

According to reports, officers were called to the scene of an accident at the intersection of Highway 176 and the north service road of Interstate 20 around 1 a.m. Sunday.

Ernie Albert Laforge, 25 of Midland, was south on 176 and approaching the intersection when he failed to control his speed and maintain a single lane.

Once Laforge was in the intersection, his vehicle skidded 180 feet and struck a curb and the edge of the bridge, sending his car airborne. The car traveled 120 feet in the air down to the shoulder of the interstate and landed on top of the guardrail. No injuries were reported.

Left, Harry Rakosky, 34 of San Antonio, and Ken Davis, right, 24 of Hagerstown, Md., worked together to bring down a gunman spraying the White House Saturday.

By chance, tag team heroes take down White House gunman

WASHINGTON (AP) — One was snapping photos; the other "just walking around." Two tourists, indistinguishable from the dozens to be found any day outside the White House. But confronted with a bullet-spraying assailant, Harry Rakosky and Ken Davis proved their mettle: Rakosky hit him high and Davis hit him low.

Hunkered behind separate concrete barriers and not even aware of each other's presence, the two men — by coincidence both with security experience — acted on the same impulse Saturday to subdue a gunman firing on the White House. They sprang and tackled him to the ground.

But relating his story to The Associated Press the next day, Rakosky, 34, of San Antonio, said he didn't regard himself as a hero. "I'm not one on tootin' my own horn," he said. "I was just walking around," Rakosky said. "I wasn't even trying to find the White House. I just happened on it."

"I think the Lord had me at the right place at the right time. I'm real thankful to him that nobody got hurt."

Rakosky said that as he was walking by the White House, he heard what he thought were firecrackers and saw "a whole mass of kids" coming toward him.

He crouched behind a concrete post while the gunman — identified by the authorities as Francisco Martin Duran, 26, of Colorado Springs, Colo. — emptied a Chinese SKS semiautomatic rifle. Rakosky then saw the assailant walking in front of him, fumbling with his weapon, and thought he was trying either to unjam it or reload it.

"I thought that would be a good time to take him out," Rakosky said. "I thought, it's now or never. Then I ran as fast as I could and I tackled the guy."

He hit Duran shoulder-high, knocked him to the ground, "and then held him as tight as I could."

Davis, 24, of Hagerstown, Md., the other hero of Saturday's attack, said he was momentarily transfixed by the unexpected gunfire.

"A man was pulling a rifle out of his trench coat," he told the AP. "I thought it was an AK-47. I stood there facing him. I was dumbfounded. I thought, What could be done about this?"

"He pointed the gun at me, holding it at waist level. I just kind of froze. I backed up into Pennsylvania Avenue. He turned back toward the White House and resumed firing. Then he kept firing as he was walking."

Davis came behind Rakosky. "It was spontaneous. We just both took off," Davis said. "He was maybe 50 feet to 100 feet away. I ran right toward him. Harry hit him high, in the back. I grabbed his legs as he went down. He kicked a tiny bit and stopped. ... The barrel was against his side, pointing up."

The gunman didn't say a word, Rakosky said. "His look

Salvation Army still in need of donations

By KELLIE JONES
Staff Writer

The local Salvation Army is asking for donations to help out the flood victims in Southeast Texas.

They are in desperate need of baby formula, diapers, baby items, personal hygiene items, blankets and bedding. Monetary donations are also needed for prescriptions and other items that cannot be acquired through regular gift-in-kind donations.

"Donations have not been coming in as fast as we hoped. Texas has been very generous, but I'm concerned people do not realize the desperate plight of the victims in Southeast Texas."

"The recent number of disasters such as Hurricane Andrew, Midwest floods, California earthquakes, even the Lancaster tornado may have numbed people into feeling they have given all they can. At times we sound like a broken record, but the need is so great and Christmas is just around the corner," said Lt. Col. Jack T. Waters, Texas Divisional Commander for the Salvation Army.

Although the Salvation Army is extremely grateful for the donations it has already received, the need for assistance has continued to grow.

Anyone wishing to donate can call the local Salvation Army at 267-8239 or send monetary donations to 811 West Fifth, Big Spring, Texas; 79720.

A distribution center was opened Thursday in Freeport and workers continue to serve flood victims in Livingston, Liberty, Dayton, Beaumont, Pasadena and Conroe.

was more bewildered, like, 'Why did you do that? Why did you stop me?'

At that point, Robert Haines, a self-styled presidential candidate, jumped in and tried to grab the gun, Davis said. "We held him (the gunman) down until the Secret Service took him into custody," Haines said.

Rakosky and Davis saw a Secret Service officer jump over the tall Iron White House fence, while other officers came down the sidewalk and took over.

Rakosky and Davis both have security backgrounds. Rakosky, a gun owner, is director of human resources for Ranger American of Texas, a security company in San Antonio, and has worked on security in U.S. embassies being constructed in Cyprus and Jordan. He was in Washington for a seminar on workplace violence.

Davis, a former private investigator and military policeman, is in a training course to become a Maryland correctional officer at a maximum security facility.

President Clinton, who was in the White House at the time of the shooting but wasn't hurt, praised the heroes during a speech Saturday night.

"The man was captured in part because ordinary citizens who were standing there did their duty, and I hope that is an example for others around the country," the president said.

A video of several drug busts in Big Spring, Odessa, Crane, Lamesa and Seminole was shown to the children including a bust that netted 100 pounds of marijuana in Seminole.

Some of the arrests shown on the video included a child molester, a disc jockey, bartender, business owner and police officer who were selling drugs at their workplace.

Another part of the video showed parents who were arrested for dealing drugs around their children. "Kids are the ones who suffer so don't get involved in drugs. We could be your worst nightmare. You never know when an undercover officer is buying or selling the drugs and drug dealers are not nice people," Howard commented.

Commander then gave a demonstration by its K-9 unit, Reno, a German shepherd. Some drugs were hidden in the cafeteria and Reno was brought in to search for the illegal substance. Once he found it, Reno was rewarded by getting to play with a toy.

Cheerleaders from Howard College also helped out with the pep rally by putting on a skit. One of the cheerleaders pretended to be a drug dealer and the students were asked what they should do if approached by someone trying to get them to use drugs or alcohol. All of the students yelled "just say no!"

NEWS BRIEF

Students try to get rid of gay

DALLAS (AP) - Government members of the Texas university cancel funding of a gay student association that its members are breaking the state's anti-gay law.

Stephen F. Austin University's Student Association is scheduled to meet Tuesday on whether to support the organization, Gay and Lesbian Coalition.

"The majority of members ... are gay and likely you have violated the Texas perjury law," said attorney Bryan Simms, who led the effort to get the group.

Simmons is co-chair of an organization reviewing this month's vote on revoking the group's status. That recommendation is expected before the 65-member government Tuesday.

Bush campaign at Houston

HOUSTON (AP) - Governor W. Bush says he will visit Houston to help Texas mirror the state's continuing economic growth.

Bush took his first campaign day, stumping in front of a predominantly black church.

He asked churchgoers to consider his voluntary income tax cut in the 1990s and in recruiting more people who are black, as well as the Texas Republican team.

Bush is the first general purpose candidate to own about 20 churches, which he has for ignoring his record.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Students try to get rid of gay group

DALLAS (AP) — Student government members at an East Texas university are trying to cancel funding of the school's gay student association, charging that its members could be breaking the state sodomy law.

Stephen F. Austin State University's Student Government Association is scheduled to vote Tuesday on whether to revoke the organizational status of the Gay and Lesbian Student Association.

"The majority of GLSA members ... are gay and in order to be a homosexual, more than likely you have violated 21.06 of the Texas penal code (the sodomy law)," said student senator Bryan Simmons, who has led the effort against the gay group.

Simmons is chairman of an organization review board that this month voted 4-2 in favor of revoking the group's charter. That recommendation goes before the 65-member student government Tuesday.

Bush campaigns at Houston churches

HOUSTON (AP) — GOP gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush says he has shown dedication and heart in efforts to help Texas minorities, despite continuing criticism from Democratic Gov. Ann Richards.

Bush took his campaign to solid Democratic territory Sunday, stumping at two predominantly black churches.

He asked churchgoers to consider his volunteer work in low-income Houston neighborhoods in the 1960s and touted his role in recruiting Comer Cottrell, who is black, as a part-owner in the Texas Rangers baseball team.

Bush is the Rangers' managing general partner. Cottrell owns about 2 percent of the team.

Richards, who spent Sunday campaigning in Dallas black churches, has criticized Bush for ignoring minority issues and over his minority hiring record.

Richards calls Bush a whiner

DALLAS (AP) — Democratic Gov. Ann Richards is taking shots at Republican challenger George W. Bush and exhorting supporters to "get angry" and get to the polls.

On a visit to black churches Sunday, Richards called Bush "hypocritical" for asking for blacks' support. Later, she called him a "whiner" for criticizing her when she's worked to move the state ahead.

She called him a negative campaigner, saying, "That good ol' Texas value system he lives under, it doesn't matter if it's the truth, as long as you can put it in 30 seconds on television."

"I need y'all to get hot. I need y'all to get angry," Richards told a rally at the Martin Luther King Jr. Community Center.

Bush campaign spokesman Reggie Bashur criticized Richards for name-calling and said she's the one who is being negative.

Mark Thatcher denies arms deal

LONDON (AP) — Mark Thatcher says he's worth no more than $8 million, less than half what media reports claim, and he denies that he made an arms deal while his mother was prime minister.

Margaret Thatcher's son, who lives in Dallas, told the Financial Times in an interview published Monday that the idea he has enjoyed tremendous success in business is a myth. He also denied media reports that he and his American wife, Diane, are about to divorce.

Britain's leading business daily printed the interview together with details of its examination of company filings and court documents in the United States and Britain. It said it also interviewed Thatcher's business associates.

It said the picture that emerged differed sharply from Thatcher's image as an arms industry fixer with a reputed fortune of $64 million, although there could be little doubt he had exploited his mother's connections.

Refineries in Houston to get OSHA visits

HOUSTON (AP) — Eight Houston-area refineries and chemical plants will get surprise visits from the federal safety inspectors over the next year, according to a published report.

Occupational Safety and Health Administration area director Ray Skinner said he has received permission to conduct a "local emphasis" program for the region's sprawling petrochemical industry.

Teams of specially trained regulators are preparing to enter two plants simultaneously in each of the next four quarters, Skinner told the Houston Chronicle in Sunday editions.

"We have a large segment of this industry in our territory and we have a fairly new Process Safety Management standard," Skinner said.

"We are going to make sure these plants are aware that OSHA is enforcing the standard and make sure these plants are developing safety programs that are actually in effect and aren't just 'paper' programs."

The inspection sites will be chosen from a master list randomly by computer — with no advance notice — to look for hazards that can cause everything from explosions to asphyxia, he said.

Texas Baptists loosening ties with convention

AMARILLO (AP) — More than 5,000 Southern Baptists from across Texas may decide to loosen ties with the national Southern Baptist Convention.

Baptist moderates will propose a new way of dividing money from state churches today at the two-day Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The moderates control the largest and richest state group in the 15.5 million-member Southern Baptist Convention, the country's largest Protestant group.

Police shoot student on dam firing at motorists

KERRVILLE (AP) — A high school student who reportedly climbed the Upper Guadalupe River dam with a gun and fired shots at passing motorists and police officers died after he was shot by police.

Eddie Gonzales, 18, was shooting from the dam at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday when police arrived to try to talk him down, officials said.

"One of our officers shot the man as he was walking toward the officers and shooting at them, but I can't comment on anything other than that," Kerrville police officer Bob Nicklin said Sunday night.

Gonzales was taken to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville, where he was pronounced dead Saturday night, a hospital spokeswoman said.

No officers or motorists were injured.

Border control efforts supported

EL PASO (AP) — Most of the city's residents support Border Patrol efforts to stop illegal immigration, an El Paso Times survey has found.

Of the 307 registered voters surveyed, 85 percent favored Operation Hold the Line.

Results of the telephone survey were reported in a copy-right story in the newspaper's Sunday editions. The poll has a margin of error of 6 percentage points.

The Border Patrol began the operation about a year ago, lining the Rio Grande with agents and vehicles. Previously, agents tried to apprehend undocumented immigrants after they crossed into the country.

The poll shows that support for the operation cuts across ethnic lines, with 78 percent of Hispanics saying they approve of it. The operation was supported by 91 percent of people of other ethnic groups.

Those surveyed also said they backed a proposed steel-mesh wall to deter illegal immigration and a worker identification system designed to keep illegals from working in the United States.

Silvestre Reyes, the El Paso Border Patrol chief who designed the strategy, said the poll reflects what he's been hearing from city residents.

"People who live close to the border ... feel they no longer have to contend with people jumping in their yards, taking little things, like sprinklers, hoses and pots," Reyes said. "Downtown merchants and others are glad people are no longer being hassled by beggars and vendors."

Reyes has requested 250 new agents to supplement the 668 assigned to his sector. Scott Sutherland, a spokesman for Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said Attorney General Janet Reno promised Friday to consider El Paso's needs.

Play it safe this Halloween

Ready for one last reminder about Halloween safety?

It may seem like a tired subject after a month's worth of cautionary tips about costumes, crossing the street and checking candy.

However, where our children's welfare is concerned, we can't be too careful. Halloween should be no scarier than the costumes little ones will wear tonight while trick-or-treating or visiting spook houses.

Let's review some of the most basic safety tips. Children going trick-or-treating should wear light or reflective clothing, watch constantly for traffic, never trick-or-treat alone and stay in familiar neighborhoods.

Should trouble occur, children are advised to yell "Fire!" rather than "Help!" to get immediate assistance from nearby people.

Speaking of fire, avoid putting candles in jack-o-lanterns. A flowing cas-tume could become a fire trap if a lit candle touches a long sleeve or hem.

Whether children collect candy from trick-or-treating, spook houses or neighborhood parties, parents should check all goodies before allowing children to eat them. Anything improperly wrapped should be tossed.

Parents are usually advised to throw out anything homemade, so well-meaning cooks should save the baked treats for family and stick to prewrapped candy or toys for trick-or-treaters.

Most of all, use common sense. Parents and most kids can sense if a street is unsafe to cross or a house unsafe to trick-or-treat at.

Let's keep the Halloween scares in the spook houses where they belong, and have a safe evening.

Legacy of Indira is fading

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The bloodstains on the garden path are chemically preserved, covered by a sheet of plastic. Still, however, they are fading.

Ten years after Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was assassinated by her own bodyguards, the legacy of the woman who embodied India to its people and to the world also is fading. India without Indira? It seemed unthinkable at the time.

On Oct. 31, 1984, two Sikh guards angered by an army raid on Sikhdom's holiest shrine fired 24 bullets into her in the garden of her home. One of the killers was shot dead on the spot by other guards; the other was hanged four years later with a conspirator.

She was 66 at the time and had governed India for 17 years. Before that, she had been a familiar figure as the hostess of her widowed father, India's first prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru.

After her came her son Rajiv, an airline pilot who had shunned politics for most of his life. He, too, was assassinated — by a Tamil suicide bomber in 1991 — ending the Gandhi era of Indian politics.

Though her Congress Party remains in power and her unsmiling image graces cam-

In Mrs. Gandhi's world, the United States was feared and despised as the friend of India's enemy, Pakistan.

Despite her professed non-alignment, Mrs. Gandhi created a strong political and military alliance with the former Soviet Union that she used to build one of the most formidable armies in Asia.

She favored a contrived, socialist economy and hated multinational corporations. She ruthlessly crushed political dissent.

She championed the poor and was idolized by them, but today she is criticized for failing to bring them education or other tools to lift themselves up from poverty.

Old enemies looking for trade links

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — It was time to make swords into plowshares — or at least find out how former enemies could benefit from new trade links.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and PLO chairman Yasser Arafat found common ground Sunday at the opening of the Middle East-North Africa Economic Summit. Both called for international aid and investment to enhance peace.

Today, more than 2,500 government and business leaders explored the bread-and-butter issues of peace at the summit, which aims to unite the fractious region by creating interdependent economies. It also hopes to find ways to raise the standard of living in some of the world's poorest countries.

Topics under discussion included foreign investment, information technology, tourism, regional cooperation, water resources, banking, the environment and the Palestinian economy.

The summit marks the first time Israeli and Arab officials and investors have met to formulate specific investment and cooperation projects.

"Why is the international community not coming to encourage jobs, encourage projects in Gaza and Jericho?" Rabin said.

Take time to check out voting records

Big Spring is very fortunate to have all of the federal and state agencies which help generate and provide for the economy.

These agencies play an important role in the buying power of the community which is right at $500 million. I believe that almost everyone would agree with me that our community of Big Spring is very fortunate on these agencies begin located here. I know that many people are employed through these federal and state agencies.

We live in a democracy and politics is a way of life for some of us, but it affects all of us, the American people. My concern is when a U.S. representative or senator votes against a bill which he/she claims has 7 to 10 percent "pork" or is too heavy on prevention. Can you imagine where our community, state or nation would be if we waited for a perfect bill? Many of these agencies would be cut back or closed. I am in no way insinuating that any of these are pork, but have come about through legislation that was not perfect at the time of its passage into law.

During the last 30 years I have noticed that every piece of legislation that has become great has had some pork attached to it. Some people are always too quick to notice this until it hits home or our community. I will not support any one in Washington, D.C. who votes against bills because of their 7 to 10 percent pork or emphasis on prevention. I have to look at it from the standpoint of the 85 or 90 percent good. We must stay focused on how it will help Texas and our local community. Prevention is less painful and less expensive than remediation.

Before you go to the polls to vote, perhaps it would be a good idea to take a look at how our representatives in Washington, both in the House and Senate, voted on certain issues that affect our community. When they vote for legislation that helps Texas, they are helping our community.

Because we do live in a democracy, all of us are guaranteed to exercise our right and privilege to work diligently for the candidates of our choice. Then after the elections are over, in my opinion, the American way of life is to shake hands and congratulate one another and work together to support the elected officials. We want the best for the agencies and citizens of Big Spring, Howard County, and its surroundings.

City crews a hard working lot

....And so regardless of what is being said by those who are not directly involved with city works your employees are the hardest working, lowest paid, least appreciated workers in our local taxing entity.

From October 1993 to September 1994 our city workers have cleaned 398 weedy lots while 174 property owners have complied. Up to date 315 property owners have been filed on for non-compliance. Not too bad for a bunch that is always under the looking glass, scrutinized by those who are still trying to prove that YOU CAN GET BLOOD OUT OF A TURNIP.

Cold weather is almost upon us and no doubt there will be breakage of lines that have been in place for too long. While we are driving by in our toasty warm cars and we see a few men who appear to be standing around, looking down into a hole "doing nothing," stop your car, get out look into the hole and watch these men up to their knees and even waist in freezing water.

Try to understand that these men have probably just been relieved in order to try to avoid frost bite, which by the way did actually happen to one of our employees one year. Then jump back in your car, drive as fast as you can to your house and make them some hot coffee or chocolate and take it to them to show your compassion. They will remember you always.

Big Spring is looking pretty busy of late. Everyone is anticipating the opening of the Supercenter.

As predicted earlier competition has spurred sprucing up and some changes in the mentalities of some businesses that I have noted. It was very interesting to read Mr. Gutierrez' article in the newspaper where he noted that service is one of the reasons that people shop out of town. I might add that selection and price are also big factors. I will tell you though, that if I am treated as if my business is important than I will pay somewhat higher prices and remain faithful to that business.

We all know that not all businesses are hard nosed and still believe that the best way to do business is by treating customers as if they are always right. After all we are your mainstay. I would make one small suggestion to businesses hiring young people—take more time to train them to be courteous and make smiling MANDATORY.

In these hard economic times there is nothing worse than having to spend money that you really wanted to hold on to and be serviced by someone who acts as if they are being put out by you being there. Sometimes I personally wonder if we are not vying with Stanton for the title of, "a few old soreheads."

The business community is supposed to be smart and should realize that the only business people who get upset at what they consider to be disparaging remarks are the very few who are guilty of such unprofessional practices.

While it is true that business is important to any community a fact these few businesses don't understand is that they are funded by citizens that live in that community. What came first the market for the business or the business? Something to think about.

As we get ready to launch the Long Range Planning committee we need to consider filling in the gaps instead of growing outward.

There are so many what I consider dead zones in our city that can be redeveloped. We need to live up these areas and make the progressive move an all inclusive venture.

Drive around and look at areas like the Monticello Adtion that can be spruced by new building in that area.

Look at the Northside, that few think of unless we want to eat Mexican food, there is a lot o possibilities for new businesses. In the very near future I plan to start exchanging ideas with the Moore Board concerning location of prospective businesses on the Northside.

Big Spring has the same square mileage that Lubbock does for development and we should start from the inside to the outside fringes. I believe that it can be done all it takes is a willingness to change a way of thinking.

On the question of alley clean up. Mrs. Hernandez wanted to know why the city was not taking better care of alleys. It is the responsibility of every property owner to maintain from their back fence to the center of the alley way.

I understand her concern because she is probably tired of doing her share and others. Unfortunately we cannot make people take pride; it is something that one must feel and until more people start taking pride in our city, and its alleys are destined to look trashy.

Finally, Affirmative Action should always be on the forefront of our city when hiring or appointing. Ladies, I wonder if you've taken notice of the fact that the majority of council required majority appointments are males. Ladies, ladies, pick up your phones and demand equal representation on boards. We do have many females who want to serve or work.

Overall, most areas are in city government are looking good. Those few areas that need improvement are being addressed on a daily basis by a council who really seems to work well together.

Serbian leader promises retaliatory attack

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — The leader of Bosnia's Serbs, his troops reeling from their worst setback of the war, has vowed to launch a counteroffensive within days.

"Our enemy wants war, and he shall have it," Radovan Karadzic said at a front-line rally Sunday night in the north-west town of Bosanski Petrovac. The town is clogged with at least 5,000 Serb refugees fleeing the Muslim-led government army's strongest offensive in the 31-month conflict.

"This is our land and will remain so," Karadzic said. He said the Serbs, under international pressure to reduce their share of Bosnian territory from 70 percent to 49 percent, will be less willing to compromise now.

"If the Muslims want war, then we cannot go under 64 percent," he said.

About 21 miles north of Bosanski Petrovac, Serb soldiers battled Sunday to hold off government troops who have encircled the town. Government forces also captured Serb positions for a second straight day in the mountains near Sarajevo.

In the besieged capital, civil defense officials went door-to-door advising residents to stay inside because of fears that Serbs — after a nine-month lull — would renew bombardment in retaliation.

Hospital officials said one civilian was killed and about 10 wounded late Sunday by shelling in the government-held Sarajevo suburb of Hrasnica, which also had been hit Saturday.

In the northwest, at least 10,000 Serb civilians have fled their homes as government forces captured about 100 square miles over the past week. The civilians fled despite government assurances they would be safe.

POLITICS

Demos, GOP fight for control of powerful governor's races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are trying to fend off a storm of aggressive Republicans in governors races that will determine which party controls the country's largest, most politically powerful states.

The stakes on Nov. 8 include domination of the 1996 electoral map and the political survival of Democrats Mario Cuomo of New York and Ann Richards of Texas — two governors who grew to become national symbols of their party.

Slightly more than a week before the election, an Associated Press survey found almost a dozen of the 36 contests too close to call. But the season holds rare opportunity for Republicans.

The GOP has at least even chances of taking over Texas, Florida, New York and Pennsylvania. Republican governors are safe in Michigan, Illinois and Ohio, and Gov. Pete Wilson continues to lead Democrat Kathleen Brown in a volatile California race.

There's also the prospect of a new Republican dynasty.

George W. Bush, oldest son of the former president, is locked in a death struggle with Richards, famous for her folksy put-downs of his father. Jeb Bush, another son, may manage to oust Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles, a former three-term senator who has never lost an election.

Analysts are predicting a net GOP gain in the range of six to 10 governorships based on anticipated high Republican turnout in key states. But there were belated signs of life late last week among Democrats who had been given up as gone.

Multiple polls showed Cuomo, the three-term New York governor, pulling even with Republican legislator George Pataki. And Wilson's lead in California was eroding in conjunction with fading support for an anti-immigration ballot initiative closely identified with him.

"They've all turned into horse races," said a relieved Don Sweitzer, political director of the Democratic National Committee. "We're feeling better about all of them."

The current gubernatorial breakdown is 29 Democrats, 20 Republicans and one independent. Up this year are 21 Democratic seats, 14 Republican and the single independent seat, in Connecticut.

The AP review shows 11 are safe or leaning Democratic; 14 are safe or leaning Republican; and 11 are too close to call. The tossup states are Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Iowa, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas and Wyoming.

Republicans can expect gains in Connecticut and Democratic-held Kansas and New Mexico. Democrats are poised to take over three states now held by Republicans — Alaska, Arizona and Maine.

Among the safest of 13 safe incumbents are Midwestern Republicans such as George Voinovich in Ohio, Jim Edgar in Illinois and John Engler in Michigan. Their popularity ensures the GOP control of three of the nation's eight largest states — probably four given Wilson's tenacity in California. But analysts say the final tally is likely to be higher.

While grassroots Republicans are expected to rush out to vote on term limits and other ballot initiatives, Democrats are having trouble rousing their traditional labor and minority bases. They are hampered not only by President Clinton's relatively low popularity but also by vaguely defined public anger toward incumbents — most of whom are Democrats.

"Our problem starts with the fact that we've got more seats to protect," says Sweitzer. "The climate around the country is hurting a lot of incumbents. There's an apathy and a cynicism that's out there."

Republicans maintain the big tossup states are not as deadlocked as they appear to be in public surveys, due to the heavy GOP turnout anticipated by most experts.

"If you look further into the polling, it shows Republicans hold a strong advantage among likely voters at this point," said Chris Henick, executive director of the Republican Governors Association. "The base is solidly there, and the undecideds are trending toward Republican candidates."

Clinton's missions as president and as a 1996 candidate would be considerably complicated by GOP victories in the most populous states. Republicans would have a whole new generation of rising stars and a raft of potential presidential fodder, and the White House would have a chorus of well-placed critics greeting its policy initiatives.

Even if Democrats end up holding more than half the states, victory may be hard to claim.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Butcher's family allows him to die

WHITE BEAR LAKE, Minn. (AP) — Patti and Jim Butcher are confident they did the right thing in denying food and water to their severely brain-damaged son.

On Saturday, 11 days after they stopped nourishing him through a tube in his stomach, and 17 years after a car accident left him in a vegetative state, Jamie Butcher died in his mother's arms.

The Butchers' plans had been postponed after several groups representing disabled people tried to have a guardian named for Jamie. A court referee said the groups had no right to be involved.

"We really wished this decision had been taken from our hands," Mrs. Butcher said Sunday.

The Butchers said their 34-year-old son wouldn't want to be in a vegetative state longer than he'd lived a normal life.

The family's attorney said doctors planned to list the accident as the underlying cause of death, with dehydration and a sudden infection as the immediate cause.

Historic Sears building comes down

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — At the end of a 10-second countdown by a tuxedo-clad disc jockey, the 74-year-old Sears, Roebuck & Co. landmark was reduced to rubble Sunday in a record implosion that sent dust sky-high.

The crowd of an estimated 50,000 people clapped and cheered as the nine-story, red brick warehouse and its 14-story clock tower wobbled and fell.

"It's a nice, small pile of rubble and that's what we look for," said Ed Lizak, chief engineer for the project leader, Mercer Wrecking Recycling Corp. of Trenton, N.J.

The implosion of the 25-million-cubic-foot building was the largest ever, said Thomas Mazza, vice president of Mercer Wrecking.

The previous record listed in the Guinness Book of Records was the 21-story, 6.5-million-cubic-foot Traymore Hotel in Atlantic City, N.J., which went down on May 26, 1972.

Many in the crowd Sunday had fond memories of the Sears complex. "When I was a kid, you set your watch by the clock tower," said Margaret Schwarz.

Disaster movie a tad to realistic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — On the anniversary of Orson Welles' legendary "War of the Worlds" broadcast, another all-too-realistic entertainment program provoked nationwide confusion — but not panic.

The CBS movie "Without Warning," about an asteroid shower striking Earth, triggered hundreds of phone calls nationwide Sunday night from confused viewers concerned the depicted disaster might be true.

The fictional "Evening World News" reported the first asteroids hitting sites in Wyoming, France and China, supposedly bringing information to viewers as it was occurring. The end of the show brings more meteors — and, as screens go blank, supposedly, the end of the world.

The news "reports" had a realistic ring, since the word "live" appeared on the screen and some of the actors were experienced local and national TV reporters, anchored by Sander Vanocur, an ABC newsmen for 16 years.

A Detroit firefighter runs with a youngster to an ambulance after responding to a three-story apartment fire in Highland Park, Mich., on Devil's Night Sunday. A Detroit fire chief said four children were transported to a hospital. Officials also reported an increase in Devil's Night fires, after two years of relative calm.

No clear motive found yet shooting at the White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — An ex-convict accused of spraying the White House with bullets is not talking to police, but Clinton administration officials say a handwritten note suggests he thought he might be killed in the assault.

Francisco Martin Duran, 26, of Colorado Springs, Colo., was scheduled to be arraigned this afternoon before a federal magistrate in Washington. He was charged Sunday with willfully damaging federal property and possessing a firearm as a convicted felon. The felony charges carry a maximum combined penalty of 20 years in jail and $15,000 in fines.

The Secret Service held out the possibility that additional charges could be filed, including attempted assassination, President Clinton, who was inside the White House watching a televised football game when the shots were fired, was not in danger, the service said.

Administration and law enforcement officials said the investigation had so far uncovered no clear motive or direct threat against Clinton.

Two officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said a handwritten note was recovered from Duran's truck after his arrest Saturday. A senior administration official said the note outlined how Duran would want his affairs handled if he died, a document the official called "closer to a will than a suicide note."

Officials believe Duran expected a confrontation. Described by his neighbors as a quiet man who regularly wore camouflage fatigues, Duran spent 2 years imprisoned at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., after he was convicted in March 1991 on charges of aggravated assault with a vehicle, drunk and disorderly conduct, drunk driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He was dishonorably discharged and released in September 1993.

The shooting left eight pocket marks scattered across the White House facade.

Murder starts Halloween off bad

Halloween celebrations got off to an ominous start when a man hit by an egg stabbed a 12-year-old boy to death in New York City and about 2,000 people stampeded in an Illinois college town.

Later Sunday, Detroit firefighters struggled to respond to arsonists starting fires in a criminal tradition known as "Devil's Night," and volunteers kept watch against similar arsons in Camden, N.J.

Six youths were playing a Halloween egg-throwing game Saturday night when two passers-by were inadvertently hit, police said. They beat and stabbed Pedro Ramos to death.

Robert Delgado, 20, was arrested on an assault charge. Police sought a second man for the stabbing.

In Carbondale, Ill., a crowd was trying to make its way to the Southern Illinois University football stadium during a street party late Saturday and when police blocked the way and threatened to use tear gas unless revelers dispersed.

After a five-minute standoff, the crowd ran downtown and divided into smaller mobs that ran through alleys as police officers chased them, spraying tear gas and swinging billy clubs.

Nearly 60 people were arrested, most on charges of illegal possession or consumption of alcohol, and two cars were overturned.

Crowds have gathered in the city's streets to celebrate Halloween for years. The city has responded by closing bars early and the university has banned

Detroit's Devil's Night blaze of arson

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer rushed from fire to fire trying to figure out why the city's two-year trend of stemming Devil's Night arsons was going up in smoke.

In abandoned buildings, vacant lots, and trash bins across the city's east side, scores of fires vexed police and firefighters Sunday night. One small child died of smoke inhalation, and at least four other people were injured.

Detroit's fire chief said the number of arsons was significantly higher than normal. An official count was expected later today.

Many residents claimed a lower number of volunteer patrols contributed to the resurgence of the dangerous Halloween Eve tradition. In Camden, N.J., which also has a history of Oct. 30 arsons, hundreds of volunteers joined police patrols and were credited with keeping arsons down.

"I don't see nearly the number of volunteers out here as I did last year. It don't make no sense," said Emma Carty, 70, watching in disgust from her porch as flames took over an abandoned house nearby.

About 40,000 volunteers patrolled throughout Detroit last year to keep the number of fires down. An estimated 8,000 volunteers patrolled the streets Sunday night.

Archer had asked students to obey a 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew on Halloween weekend, and said the night should be called Pre-Halloween instead of Devil's Night, which he found too negative. Police reported 176 curfew violators as of midnight Sunday.

"The new administration thought they could ignore or downplay Devil's Night," Ernestine Gordon, founder of the City Airport Renaissance Association, told the Detroit Free Press.

campus parties.

"What's the fun?" university President John Guyon said. "I've been looking at this for 20 years, and there is nothing positive about this event."

Some students said they were left with nothing else to do but hit the streets.

"It started because of all the restrictions," said Mac Middleton, a junior. "If you keep telling people, 'No, no no,' they're going to do it."

At Halloween street celebrations in Mans, Ohio, police issued 10 tickets for underage drinking and made 210 arrests, many for disorderly conduct late Saturday and early Sunday. The city closed off three blocks downtown. Nice weather contributed to a crowd exceeding 30,000, police said.

Detroit, the site of some of the worst Devil's Night fires in the early 1980s, has been relatively calm in recent years.

Carjacking victims still missing; police appeal for clues

UNION, S.C. (AP) — Volunteers on horseback searched through woods, divers plumbed a lake and thousands of deer hunters kept an eye out for clues to the disappearance of two young boys, but found nothing so far.

No clues have appeared since Tuesday night, when an hysterical Susan Smith told police a man jumped into her car at a stoplight and drove off with her children.

"We're looking for a needle in a haystack, really. Only this needle is two little kids," said Jeff Lillard, a volunteer who led his tracking dog Sam along lake and river banks Sunday.

Mrs. Smith told police that a man had commandeered her car and ordered her out at gunpoint after several miles, driving off with 3-year-old Michael Smith and his 14-month-old brother, Alex, still strapped in safety seats in the back.

She said she begged the man to let her take the boys, but he was in too much of a hurry.

Union County Sheriff Howard

Wells estimated 100 local, state and federal officers were working on the case. "Cost has not been a consideration with two children's lives at stake," he said.

The lack of an apparent motive has led to some speculation that someone within the family, namely Mrs. Smith, might be suspect.

However, Wells has denied that Mrs. Smith, or any other family member, is under suspicion. She had filed for divorce from the boys' father, 24-year-old David Smith, last month.

Wells refused to confirm or deny reports Mrs. Smith had failed a police lie-detector test.

Hawks fly with dynamic duo

By DAVE HARGRAVE
Sports Editor

Last season, Howard College's men's basketball team had no clear leader on the court.

FRANKLIN

This season, they have two of the clearest leaders you're going to find.

The Hawks (19-11 in '93-94) had a stormy season last year.

Player departures and dismissals left Howard with just eight players - all freshmen - in the closing weeks. The departures continued, and just two of those freshmen are back for their sophomore seasons:

Kavossy Franklin and Tony Brown.

Franklin, a 6-foot-2, 175-pound shooting guard from Houston, scored 19 points per game to lead the Western Junior College Athletic Conference in scoring, and he earned all-WJCAC and all-Region V selections.

Brown isn't the explosive scorer Franklin is, but he doesn't have to be. The 5-9, 170-pound sophomore from Oxford, Ohio, scored 6.8 points per game last season but led the team in free-throw percentage (76.1), assists (136) and steals (70).

Howard coach Tommy Collins has called Franklin and Brown "instant leadership," and the pair started leading by example this summer by staying in Big Spring to work on their game and their academics.

"We're going to be different from last year, cause we made a big sacrifice," Franklin said. "This summer, I could have stayed home, and my game would probably be the same as last year, but we decided to stay here and get our books right, and also work on our game."

The summer brought Franklin and Brown closer together.

"We've been through a lot together," Brown said. "Any problems I've had in the past, and some of the current problems - he's always been there for me if I need anything. I hope I can move on with him, but if I don't, at least I hope to see him, or play against him."

Goals are simple for the Hawks - win the WJCAC and reach the national JUCO tournament - but Franklin and Brown have a simpler goal some might forget.

"We want to bring more people into the stands," Brown said. "That's what we plan to do. I think if we fulfill their expectations and win, they'll fulfill our expectations by coming. That's what we want."

Dallas Cowboy receiver Alvin Harper (80) catches a 27-yard touchdown pass against Cincinnati Bengal defender Rod Jones (25) Sunday. Dallas beat Cincinnati 23-20.

'Boys survive, beat Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Everyone expected Jeff Blake to throw a few interceptions, take a few nasty hits, then fade back into obscurity after his first NFL start.

Blake isn't going to fade — not in the Dallas Cowboys' minds, anyway.

The unheralded third-year pro gave the two-time Super Bowl champions a tough time Sunday while nearly pulling off the biggest upset of the NFL season. They were still talking about him after the Cowboys rallied for a 23-20 victory over the winless Cincinnati Bengals.

"I know how hard it is for a young quarterback," said Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman. "Nobody expects this from a young guy. He was a very poised quarterback today."

Of course, nobody expected the Cowboys (7-1) to let a quarterback with virtually no NFL game experience work them over like that. They had the NFL's top-ranked defense and its best passing defense heading into the game.

Blake caught them flat-footed on his third pass of the game, hitting Darnay Scott down the middle for a 67-yard touchdown. Then he found Scott uncovered behind the secondary for a 55-yard touchdown and a 14-0 lead on the first play of the second quarter.

The Bengals (0-8) were thinking they'd finally found some magic.

All the Cowboys were looking for in this best-vs.-worst matchup was a win, and they got that behind an efficient game from Aikman and three field goals by Chris Boniol.

Aikman threw touchdowns of 27 yards to Alvin Harper and 10 yards to Michael Irvin to cut it to 17-14 at halftime. He also took a hit to the chin on the second touchdown drive, but wasn't affected. Linebacker James Francis hit Aikman with his forearm just as he released a fourth-down incompletion. The penalty kept the drive alive.

Aikman was hit in the chin last week in a win over Arizona and left the game with a gash and a concussion. Francis said he wasn't going after Aikman's head.

Aikman finished 20-of-33 for 272 yards with one interception. Emmitt Smith rushed for 92 yards behind a beat-up line, and Boniol hit from 37, 43 and 38 yards in the second half — the last kick with 5 minutes remaining — to avoid embarrassment.

Rookie coach leading Lady Hawks

By STEVE REAGAN
Sports Editor

Howard College women's basketball coach Terry Gray doesn't have to look far to find the legacy he's inherited — it's literally all around him.

Walk into Gray's office at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and you'll find the walls cluttered with trophies and photos commemorating past Lady Hawk glories:

Three straight Western Junior College Athletic Conference titles.

Two straight Region V championships.

Two straight appearances at the national junior college basketball tournament.

All those honors displayed so proudly on Gray's walls were collected while Royce Chadwick coached the Lady Hawks, and were won by players who, for the most part, have gone on to greener pastures.

Past honors. Past coach. Past players.

If you're looking for a true haunted house tonight, try Gray's office.

Gray, who spent the last two seasons as Chadwick's assistant, understands full well just what he was getting into when he took over for Chadwick last spring, but if he's intimidated by all the ghosts on his wall, he's doing a darned good job hiding it.

Asked the biggest difference between the assistant's and head coach's job, Gray thinks for a second, then says, "Well, my desk's a lot messier than it used to be."

Downshifting into a more serious mode, Gray admits to a world of difference between the two jobs.

"The biggest difference is being ultimately responsible for the overall program," he said. "Until now, I concentrated on just one area of the program. Now, I have to concentrate on all areas of the program."

The players have noticed a subtle difference as well.

"There's not really a whole lot of difference from last year, except we're working a lot harder than last year," post player Amber Lacey said.

Gray realizes taking over from Chadwick, who crafted the closest thing to a sports dynasty that Big Spring's seen in years, means that people are going to be looking very closely at how he and the Lady Hawks do this year.

Gray said: "But there's as much pressure you put on yourself as there is pressure (from outside) to keep things going. For that matter, the sophomores here feel pressure to keep things going as well."

The new coach — and his players, too — know that the bottom line this season will be wins and losses.

"This is a team that can take it all," Johnson said. "I really feel like we have every piece of the puzzle, everything we need to win a national championship."

And if the Lady Hawks accomplish that feat, you'll be hearing a lot of "Royce Who?" next March.

Flag football teaches both players and coaches

It's supposed to be a game for kids to enjoy, and an opportunity for them to learn the basics of sportsmanship, teamwork and fair play, and the rules of the game.

It's flag football.

I am a flag football coach in Midland, a position I never thought I'd be in. Then again, I never thought I could learn anything from flag football.

I have always played with small children and had fun showing them how to play games by the rules. I'm one who believes in teaching a youngster to do his or her very best and try to win, but it's all right to lose.

I don't teach kids to accept losing without asking why, I want them to understand that no one wins everything.

What disturbs me is when I'm trying to teach kids a play or a formation and you have someone who takes off down the sideline with the ball trying to imitate Deion Sanders.

Kids have their heroes, which is fine to a point, but the best thing that can happen to a kid is a coach who will spend a little extra time with him or her, building self-esteem and promoting effort over success.

Effort breeds success, but success doesn't guarantee anything if it's not tendered with a bit of gentle reality from an adult role model.

I'm one of three coaches of a group of 12 second- and third-graders who all want to score and be like Emmitt Smith, and the thing I enjoy most is having a kid look me in the eye when something isn't going the way it was planned. Sometimes, the best thing to do is say, "Let's do it again."

A kid loves nothing more than getting a second chance to get it right. If a kid tries, half the job is done.

Recently, I did something that I've never done before. I blew up in the middle of a game — not at my boys, but at a referee and an opposing coach. Why?

Because the idea is to teach the game of football. The YMCA doesn't keep season records, but the kids do keep score on the field.

What set me off was a call the referee made. Two players from the other team's offense jumped offside, and the ball was snapped. It was fourth-and-6 — a good time to teach the boys how well a blitz works.

The referee didn't make the call and the other team managed to make the first down.

The referee saw me coming and before I could say a word, he said he saw the two guys jump but it was too technical a call and he didn't make it. He added that the game was for the kids and not for the grownups.

What happened to teaching the kids the rules?

Contrary to popular belief, it doesn't take Einstein to teach kids the rules of football. It takes dedicated fair-minded individuals who are interested in refereeing for the kids and not $5 per game.

It's a lot harder to explain why the referee missed a call than it is to explain off-sides.

Thanks to a last-second kick that bounced off the crossbar and missed, the Raiders beat the Houston Oilers 17-14 on Sunday to reach .500 (4-4) for the first time this season.

Houston fell to 1-7.

Raiders quarterback Jeff Hostetler, who had been having a poor game, regrouped in the closing minutes. He orchestrated a 67-yard, seven-play drive that ended with an 11-yard touchdown pass to Brown with 1:50 remaining.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 1, 1994
ARIES (March 21-April 19): Partners are full of ideas and want to share with you. Good communications come your way. Tune in to your interests and desires. Opportunities to get ahead present themselves. High energy, creativity and personality mix well. Tonight: Have fun. *****

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Focus on getting the job done. Consider bringing work home or attempting to fulfill an obligation differently. It is a time of creativity and understanding. Another will respond positively to your energy. Listen to what's offered. Tonight: Get plenty of rest. *****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Communications are active. Creativity soars. Opportunities to move ahead help you and make you optimistic. Your naturally benevolent and fun loving personality brings positive results. Clear your desk and catch up. Tonight: Play time. *****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Settle down and realize what's important. Prioritize one item at a time and know what you want. Creativity is high. Trust your intuition. Be sure what another is offering. You will feel good because of how you handle a situation. Tonight: Play it low key. *****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are talkative. A careful investment could enhance security. Much is going on and you are intent upon changing your direction. Reach out for another. Listen more carefully and know what you are seeking. Tonight: Communicate on a bottom-line level. *****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A friendly attitude draws others. Creativity is high. Understanding permits you to visualize more of what you want. Finances are enhanced. Your keen instincts and understanding of what is important to you help you do well. Tonight: Watch spending. *****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): If you are looking at a positive change, now is the time. Focus on friendship, broadening your horizons and getting what you need. Be aware of what you desire and expect from another. Creativity is unusually high. Tonight: You call the shots. *****

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Kick back and analyze what's going on. Discuss a situation in a new light. You are tuned in to your potential, and your ability to communicate gets you ahead. Others care but show it strangely. Use intuition with bosses. Tonight: Go for bottom lines. *****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Aim for the bull's eye. Your instincts are rights and you make what you want happen. Listen carefully to another's opinions. Touch base with a friend before you make a decision. Seek out information from new sources. Tonight: Take a country drive. *****

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Remain confident. You know what's motivating you and what you want. Your desirability is high. Others enjoy you and want to be close. Take responsibility. Go for basic financial needs. Touch base with partner. Consider options. Tonight: Out and about. *****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You are hot stuff today. Be sensitive to alternatives. Verify news before you get excited about an offer. Find solutions, don't focus on problems. Partners seek you out and want to be close to you. Make the most of an opportunity. Tonight: Rent a movie. *****

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Get in close. Be sure about what you want and seek. Others are very clear about their feelings. You need to share ideas, talk on a one-to-one level and negotiate. A co-worker supports you in your personal goals. Tonight: Be with your best friend. *****

IF NOV. 1, 1994 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Expect positive changes this year. Trust your instincts. Emphasis is on community image, career and attainment. Relate intuitively with people involved with your career and community. If you are single: Be careful of those you meet; you could encounter someone who is emotionally unavailable. *****

If you are attached: This year's focus is on caring and a more amorous relationship; you need down time together to develop your relationship. Trust yourself and you get ahead. *****

Bad wedding doesn't mean bad marriage

DEAR ABBY: I think our son's worst-wedding scenario can top the one you printed.

It was 1970, when long, flowing chiffon gowns were in style. Two days before the big day, the manager of the country club where the reception was to be held telephoned the bride's mother to tell her the plumbing had gone bad, and she couldn't use the hall!

The bride's mother was frantic. She called several halls, but could find none available. She threatened to sue the country club, so they OK'd the use of the hall, and set portable potties outside the building!

There was a July wedding, and it turned out to be the hottest day of the season - 100 degrees. At the reception, the air conditioner broke down, and a small electric fan was the only source of circulation.

The band played with towels around their heads, and it was too hot to dance. Guests congregated at the picnic tables outdoors. In our long, flowing gowns, we backed gingerly into the portable potties. Yet everyone had a wonderful time. This was to be a never-to-be-forgotten wedding! - J.J. SCHWARTZ, GERMANTOWN, WIS.

DEAR J.J. SCHWARTZ: Thank you for a picturesque recollection that brought tears (of laughter) to my eyes. Read on for another one:

DEAR ABBY: "Wedding Ruined" got off easy compared to my wedding. The saga began four days prior to the event. I was living in Texas, and my husband-to-be was stationed in Germany. This is how it went:

Four days prior to wedding: Bride's car breaks down, and it takes two days to repair it.

Three days prior: Groom arrives East Coast on a military flight; he's unable to continue to Texas due to mechanical problems. No outgoing flights available. Groom loses wallet en route to local base. (The wedding rings - his and hers - were in his wallet for safekeeping.)

Two days prior: Groom scheduled to arrive in Texas by noon. Severe thunderstorms close down airport; the flight is diverted.

One day prior: Groom arrives at 6:30 - without luggage - 18 hours before the wedding.

THE WEDDING DAY: Bride and groom go to local post to get groom ID card. Bride and groom get marriage certificate. Bride and groom attend wedding rehearsal. (This is the first time groom meets chaplain.)

Groom and father of the bride buy new wedding rings, and go to check on luggage. Groom must rent a tuxedo because his dress uniform (which he had planned to wear) was in his luggage, which was lost.

A Texas flash flood begins. Wedding starts, but most guests are unable to attend due to the flash flood.

Bride and groom are married and are living happily ever after.

Please do not include our names because it was bad enough to live through it once. - MR. AND MRS. JOHN DOE DEAR READERS: Tomorrow - more on wedding mishaps.

For everything you need to know about wedding planning, order "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send a business-sized, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

How do you write a Classified Ad that gets Results?
Be Thorough: Sure you want your ad to stand out from the rest, but don't skip on the sort of information that sells. The item's condition, size, age, brand name, and color are some of the basics readers want to know. Without them, your ad may be passed by.
Steer Clear of Abbreviations: Ok, so you want to include all the important basics, now don't confuse your reader by using strange abbreviations. What is perfectly clear to you might be unrecognizable to someone else!
Be Honest: Exaggerating your item's finer points may bring in a lot of responses, but a buyer who's misled won't appreciate it - and will take his business somewhere else.
Be Accessible: Including a telephone number or address puts you in touch with potential buyers. Be sure to state the hours you can be reached: a caller who can't get through the first time often won't call again.
Don't hesitate to call us with any questions or problems you may have. Our professionally trained sales staff know the ropes, and would be happy to pass their knowledge on to you. That's why we're here: to help you get the results you deserve.
