Fallen powerlines force closure of Highway 87; keeps utility crews out all night

ACKERLY - Residents in the Knott/Ackerly areas of Northern Howard County are happy they could wake up to another Monday morning following Saturday's storm that swept through their area.

The storm passed through at about 9:15 p.m. Saturday, about 20 miles north of Big Spring, causing Highway 87 North to be closed down due to fallen power lines.

According to the National Weather Service in Midland, there was no confirmation of a tornado, but the storms were very strong and were moving through the area at about 35 to 40 miles per hour.

With storm winds reaching speeds in excess of 40 miles per hour at times, the storms could produce winds of that magnitude. Wind gusts were much stronger in certain areas, according to the NWS.

The NWS described the winds that blew through much of the Permian Basin as straight-line winds.

Crewmen from Caprock Electric were working until late Sunday night to repair 30 transmission poles and 70 distribution poles knocked down in Martin and Howard counties during the storm.

"We lost power in Martin County and tried to switch from Ackerly," said Ulen North, chief operating officer of Caprock Electric. "Just as we were trying to switch from Ackerly, we lost power there, right about the time the tornado hit."

He said as of 7 a.m. today, nearly all people left without power by the storm should have had power restored.

According to sources in the Knott area there was one house south of Ackerly that had its roof completely blown off and several power lines are still down and in need of repair.

North added that Caprock workers in Ackerly after the storm saw a house that had been "destroyed" by the storm. Caprock knew of no storm-related injuries.

"We had a couple of cars hit poles that were down, but nobody was injured, thank God," said North.

And despite the NWS in Midland not being able to confirm a tornado, at least two residents in the Knott area say they did see a tornado on the ground.

There was a lot of minor damage to the areas, but no major injuries were reported in either Ackerly or Knott.

According to Jim Clements of TU Electric, TU had five distribution poles blown down in the Stanton area, but there was

County coming through for UW

Earlier this year, as the United Way's 1994-95 campaign was getting started, Campaign Chairman Rey Villereal said this year's theme is "Serving The Need in Howard County the United Way," and the goal is to raise $225,000.

And Howard County seems to be coming through.

At its recent campaign breakfast, the first of two during the campaign, the United Way, in the company of several volunteers and company representatives, gave a status report on the progress of fundraising efforts.

According to United Way Executive Director Carol Jennings $133,995 have been raised so far, which puts the United Way at 60 percent of its goal of $225,000.

Jennings said, "We're about $90,000 away from our goal, but we're very confident that we'll get there."

The United Way campaign drive is divided into several groupings, according to Villereal, in order to blanket the county, giving everyone an opportunity to help support United Way.

Pacesetters are one-time individual donors of $500 and then there are the Commercial donors, small businesses; Golden Age, retired people; Combined Federal, federal agencies; Professionals, doctors, lawyers, etc.; Loaned Executive, large businesses; Residential and Rural; and Out of Town donors.

Jennings said the workplace division is leading the way as far as contributions, but FINA Refinery is still the largest contributor.

The 1994-95 campaign will conclude on Jan. 10, at which time the United Way will announce the final results of the campaign.

Swish, swish, swish went the jump ropes in the Coahoma Elementary School gymnasium Friday morning as more than 200 students participated in the American Heart Association's Jump Rope for Heart.

The event is the largest fundraiser for the association in Howard County. AHA Board of Director Diane Linhart was on hand during the event to present the school with a certificate of appreciation and a five year plaque.

"The five year plaque is given to Coahoma Elementary because they raised the most money last year and they also raised the most money during the last five years than any other school in Howard County. They raised an average of $3,900 a year."

Heat forces harvest on a dry, expensive cotton season

COTTON CENTER, Texas (AP) — Stout winds were churning up rosy puffs of dust that brought stripping gear to a standstill amid rows of cotton stalks this November morning.

Glenn Kirkland, who already harvested his fields, paused for a cigarette and game of dominoes at Midcot Gin Inc. He and others at the gin chalked up this growing season as dry and expensive.

"Everybody knew going in it was going to be tough," Kirkland said. "Dryland cotton didn't make anything. You had to irrigate to get a yield."

Even so, crop quality and quantity held up better than expected around Cotton Center and other parts of Texas that got little rain, agriculture experts say.

And they predict the nation's top cotton state will yield 5 million bales during a record, 19.45 million-bale year for U.S. growers.

This year's early harvest — 75 percent complete, by some estimates — has been accompanied by a favorable market.

Harvin Smith, assistant director of the International Textile Center at Texas Tech University, said farmers are receiving about 60 cents per pound. Last year, prices varied from 50 cents to 55 cents, Smith said.

"Not only are they making more cotton, but they're getting a better price for it," said Carl Anderson, an economist and cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in College Station. "There's a strong demand and potential for increasing exports."

The 25 counties around Lubbock — a region known as the world's largest cotton patch — look poised to yield from 2.7 million to 2.9 million bales, down from 3.45 million bales on the same acreage last year.

Kater Hake, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Lubbock, said irrigated cotton fared much better than fields that weren't watered during the summer's long dry spell.

But that irrigation came at a price: Hake quoted estimates that dryland cotton cost $172 an acre to produce, versus $270 an acre for irrigated.

very supportive of this event because they pretty much shut down in the morning so the students can participate," explained Linhart.

The fund raiser ties in with the students physical education unit on how to stay healthy and prevent heart disease. About 80 third graders jumped rope during their physical education classes for five days as part of their efforts to raise money.

Fourth, fifth and sixth graders participated in the three hour program on Friday. There are teams made up of six students and each student takes turns jumping for a period of three minutes.

"Students had to take home permission slips to their parents. If the parent signed the slip, they were allowing their child to solicit donations. Most everyone gave a flat donation to the students for jumping for three hours. All of the money raised stays in the local area," said Debbie Churchwell, the elementary school physical education teacher.

The students are also competing with each other to see what group, grade and student raise the most money. The overall winner will receive a medal from the AHA and others receive gifts such as jump ropes and t-shirts.

County Courthouse.

Susan Bewley, STL co-chairperson, said there will be more than a half million sparkling holiday lights throughout Sweetwater's business districts and neighborhoods.

The festival will also include lighted horse-drawn carriages, Christmas carols and church bells ringing as well as Santa receiving children in his headquarters downtown.

Bewley added that specially created lighted displays and a huge sign spelling "Sweetwater" (welcoming people to town for the holidays) will be part of the festivities as well as gingerbread houses, seasonal decor, a lighted night parade and spectacular homes brightly decorated for the festival.

The description of the STL paints a very colorful and festive atmosphere.

Bewley said, "This picture is a reality that began in 1993 when All-America Sweetwater began Sweetwater's Trail of Lights Holiday Lighting Festival, which runs from Thanksgiving until New Year's Day. This event has grown by leaps and bounds in its first two years."

The schedule of events and performances beginning at 5:30 p.m., leading up to the lighting ceremony, will include a live broadcast by radio station KXOX; the Sweetwater Municipal Band; awards for children's decorations; Miss Sweetwater, Aubrey Johnston; the Greater Zion Baptist Choir; Gingerbread/Graham Cracker house awards, sponsored by the American Businesswomen's Association; City Wide Children's Choir led by Amy Prather of First Presbyterian Church; Introductions; the countdown to the lighting ceremony by Nolan County Judge Jack Aycock; and a guest appearance by "Elvis."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Senators want districts to choose own books

AUSTIN (AP) — A Republican state senator says it's time for local school boards to be allowed to select their own textbooks, a sometimes controversial process currently assigned to the State Board of Education. Sen. Bill Ratliff of Mount Pleasant said he will introduce a bill that would give local boards the freedom to use state money to buy whatever books they choose.

For the past 10 years, the elected state board has made the selections.

And they predict the nation's top cotton state will yield 5 million bales during a record, 19.45 million-bale year for U.S. growers.

In Texas, the increase is driven largely by the Legislature's 1988 imposition of the Texas Academic Skills Program, a mandatory placement test that identifies incoming college students in need of remedial help. Roughly a third of college freshmen fail the test annually.

Unions alleging lax plant maintenance

HOUSTON (AP) — Workers at the Exxon refinery in Baytown say the company has slashed maintenance at the plant and is risking a catastrophe by neglecting routine repairs.

Four workers' unions that represent all 1,850 refinery employees made their complaint in an Oct. 6 letter to refinery manager Sherri Stuewer and in interviews with the Houston Chronicle last week. Union leaders claim that inspection and maintenance of pumps and other important equipment have slipped noticeably over the past year.

"Each undone project, patch job and purposely neglected maintenance project puts another nail in the coffin of certainty which brings us closer to a major incident," the unions said in their letter.

Exxon spokesman Bruce Tackett denied the company is cutting corners on safety.

New baby whale born at Sea World

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The killer whale population at Sea World of Texas increased by one Sunday.

Haida, a 16-year-old killer whale, gave birth to a 7-foot, 400-pound calf after one hour and 41 minutes of labor and delivery. The calf is the third born at the Texas park and the 10th born at Sea World parks across America.

The baby brings the Texas park's killer whale population to six.

Animal care specialists said they were cautiously optimistic about the progress of the baby whale, whose sex had not been determined Sunday.

In the wild, first-year mortality rates for killer whales run as high as 50 percent, according to studies by researchers in British Columbia, Canada.

They are the brain trust for Newt Gingrich, a cadre of House lawmakers who stand at the speaker-to-be's right hand as the Republicans prepare to take control.

Poll: Texans split on concealed weapons

HOUSTON (AP) — Texans are about evenly split on a legislative proposal that would grant the right to carry concealed weapons, according to a poll published Sunday in The Houston Post.

In the survey of 501 people across Texas, 51 percent said they oppose legislation that would allow residents with no felony convictions and no history of mental illness to carry concealed weapons. Forty-eight percent said they supported the proposal. One percent was undecided.

Women oppose the measure more than men, and minorities oppose it more than whites, according to the poll.

Fifty-eight percent of women were against allowing concealed weapons, while 41 percent supported it. Among men, 55 percent expressed support while 45 percent opposed it.

Whites endorsed the proposal by 53 percent to 46 percent, but about 60 percent of the black and Hispanic populations opposed the legislation.

The poll, conducted for The Houston Post by Houston television station KHOU and the New Jersey surveying firm Bullet Poll, has a 4.5 percent margin of error, making the results a virtual even split.

State Rep. Ron Wilson, the Houston Democrat who has twice sponsored unsuccessful concealed weapons bills and has filed a similar bill for the next legislative session, said he wasn't surprised by the poll's overall results.

Colleges spending more to teach basics

HOUSTON (AP) — Teaching Texas college students the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic — skills normally covered in high school — will cost more than $127 million during the 1994-95 school year.

That's nearly four times the $35 million Texas paid for remedial college classes six years ago, according to a new report by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

"This shows taxpayers are having to pay twice to teach kids basic skills," board chairwoman Nancy Atlas told the Houston Chronicle for Sunday editions. "And underfunded colleges are being stretched even thinner."

The skyrocketing remedial course work isn't unique to Texas. Experts say spending has increased dramatically nationwide since the 1980s, though no national statistics are available.

In Texas, the increase is driven largely by the Legislature's 1988 imposition of the Texas Academic Skills Program, a mandatory placement test that identifies incoming college students in need of remedial help. Roughly a third of college freshmen fail the test annually.

Educating students who fall short is shared by large state universities, but about 85 percent of all remedial instruction is taken on by community colleges. The smaller schools now devote about 20 percent of their academic instruction to the cause, up from 5 percent in 1987.

"This isn't a development we've cheered," said Stan Calvert, executive director of the Texas Association of Community Colleges. "Community colleges would like nothing better than to get out of remedial education and teach college-level work."

Remedial courses are considered "developmental" and don't count toward a degree. They can range from math classes on fractions and percentages to basic reading courses and instruction in grammar and punctuation.

Nearly $60 million, or 46.2 percent of the total spent on remedial courses in 1994-95, was spent teaching basic math skills. Writing classes took 32.9 percent of the total, while reading courses took 20.9 percent.

"Those numbers are a great indication of public schools' failed curriculum," said George Scott, president of the Tax Research Association of Houston. "They show we're spending money the wrong way."

Some public school leaders acknowledge the problem but say progress is being made by phasing out less rigorous courses and implementing college-preparatory classes.

Prisoner program a positive

Has the city's participation in the prison work program been successful? About $850,000 worth of success and a cleaner town have resulted.

The impact of this work will be felt in several ways: savings in the city budget, a new atmosphere permeating the cleaned areas and, hopefully, a new pride in the town as it takes on a tidier look.

This program has been extremely beneficial to the city. It has provided nearly $1 million of work the city did not have the funds for.

But, the city isn't the only one benefiting from this program - so are the prisoners. They are being reintroduced into society, put into a program that fosters trust and are working instead of rotting in prison.

City officials are hoping to be able to continue this program for another six months.

It will be well worth the city's effort to try and extend the prison force here. The program has proven its worth.

Republicans ready for the next 100 days

American voters exclaimed with a shout: "You Democrats had a chance and blew it!" Republicans are celebrating, but two years from now, they could be shouted out of office if they don't deliver.

It's easiest for an elected crusader in the crosscurrents of Washington, D.C., to turn into a jellyfish. Two years ago, we sent a lot of people to Washington who promised to do good, and they didn't.

Before this election, 300 members of Congress promised to do better. They assembled on the Capitol steps to pledge themselves publicly to a balanced budget, tax cuts, welfare reform and anti-crime measures.

They promised, if elected, to accomplish those objectives within 100 days. President Clinton scoffed at them then. He can't now. Even his veto may now be impotent if they have the numbers to override him.

Republicans, having tasted blood, are licking their lips. Senator D'Amato, who will head the Senate Banking Committee, wants to privatize the Federal Aviation Administration. He says government has spent billions of your dollars seeking to discipline the aviation industry and has done "a poor job of it."

"Inefficient, ineffective," he says. "Government should get out of the business."

And that's not all: Bill Archer will inherit the chairmanship of Ways and Means. He promises to re-write tax laws to encourage savings and investment.

"Cut the capital gains tax on stock and bonds and such."

"Raise earnings limits on outside income for Social Security recipients."

"Restore tax-sheltered IRAs. Establish tax-favored medical savings accounts."

"Phase out any marriage penalties in the tax code."

Unless all the steam blows off in the whistle, it's going to be a stimulating next 100 days. And that's not all!

Americans who have viewed the videotape and/or read the book called "The Clinton Chronicles" have wondered why these allegations of lying, stealing, dope-dealing and murder have not been publicly investigated.

Now they will be. Both the House and the Senate have scheduled hearings on "White water."

Newer members of the next Congress will go to Washington, D.C., totally unprepared for the temptations, the pressures and the coercion of big league politics.

They will continue to need encouragement from home.

In the United States, we don't fight revolutions with guns anymore.

We have a constitutional safety valve that allows us to overthrow our government every two years if we want to.

Indeed, when we, the people, demand eye-for-an-eye justice for killers, when we protest "don't meddle in quarrels not your own," when we decree, "he who does not work, let him not eat," we can cite for precedent and authority both the Constitution and the scripture.

Lobbyists see good times ahead with the GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — At the venerable lobbying firm of Timmons & Co., the telephones are ringing more than usual these days.

"I have a terminal smile on my face," says Tom Korologos, one of the firm's principals and a lobbyist with an impeccable Republican pedigree. "Suddenly, there's a new way to do business. ... All bets are off."

These are boom times for Republicans in the lobbying trade as clients rush to buy representation from those who are connected to Washington's new power elite: the GOP leaders of the House and Senate.

Within a 10-minute span standing outside the Senate wing of the Capitol, Korologos was buttonholed in succession by Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., and several senior congressional aides.

The role reversal — Congress beseeching a lobbyist — is a sign of the dramatic shift on Capitol Hill resulting from this month's elections, which left

WASHINGTON TODAY

Republicans in control of both the House and Senate for the first time in more than a generation.

The change, those in the profession say, will do more than simply elevate Republicans in the influence business and diminish those with Democratic connections. It means Republicans, on the defensive for decades, are now in a position to move some of their long-stalled favorite issues forward.

"It breaks up the iron triangle between constituencies and various members of Congress with powerful committees," said Bryce L. Harlow, one of Korologos' partners. "These power grids that have been built up over a period of 40 years, the Republicans are going to short-circuit them in a couple of months."

Some likely targets: regulatory relief in the areas of workplace health and safety, environmental controls, communications, banking and finance; an easing of government pressure on the tobacco industry; tax breaks for investors and small businesses; and new limits on product liability and other damage awards.

Also likely is a rejiggering of committee jurisdictions. The powerful Energy and Commerce Committee, for years the fiefdom of Democratic Chairman John Dingell of Michigan, may be slimmed down by giving some of its turf to other committees.

"The changes are going to probably blow away a lot of the old relationships," said William Oldaker, whose Democratic lobbying firm will be bringing a couple of Republicans on board by year's end. The expansion was in the works even before the elections, he said, but now takes on even greater importance.

NATO bombs Serb bases

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — NATO warplanes today bombed an airbase in Serb-held Croatia where Serb planes have attacked the Bosnian "safe-area" of Bihac.

A statement from the Brussels headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said the air raid was conducted at the request of the U.N. peacekeeping force in Bosnia.

The attack came the same day as Serbs, backed by renegade Muslim forces, attacked government troops across northwestern Bosnia and U.N. peacekeepers were targeted in three separate assaults, officials said.

The NATO statement gave no details of the number or type of planes involved in the raid on Udbina airfield. It did not mention any casualties or give a damage report.

In Sarajevo, one projectile hit the roof of the Bosnian presidency and another landed near the city government building nearby. Hospital officials said one man was wounded in the attacks, caused by either rocket-propelled grenades or wire-guided missiles. Sniper fire also increased, shutting down the city's tram service.

The spiraling tension came amid a pending threat by U.N. and NATO officials to bomb Serb positions if the fighting around Bihac, a government-held town in the northwest, did not end. The U.N. also demanded an end to a blockade of U.N. troops around Bihac, saying their food would last only until Thursday.

NATO Secretary-General Willy Claes said NATO had already selected Serb targets to bomb.

"We are ready, so that means that at this moment it is up to the military authorities ... to say when and how the actions will be organized," he told the British Broadcasting Corp. in an interview today.

The U.N. Security Council on Saturday extended NATO air authority over neighboring Croatia after warplanes flying from a base in Serb-held Croatia, just southwest of Bihac, bombed the area twice last week. U.N. officials said there were traces of napalm in some of the bomb fragments found in Bihac, a U.N.-declared safe area, after Friday's attack.

U.N. troops throughout Bosnia went back on high alert today for the second time in 24 hours. All non-essential U.N. personnel were evacuated from U.N. bases in two sections of Serb-held Croatia on Sunday, as a precaution against retaliatory strikes by the Serbs.

A U.N. spokesman said troops loyal to the Muslim-led government near Velika Kladusa, north of Bihac, were under attack today by Serbs from neighboring Croatia and Muslims loyal to renegade leader Fikret Abdic.

Vandalism believed cause of derailment

BRIGHTON, Ont. (AP) — An express train carrying over 400 passengers turned into a fiery arrow after its diesel tank was ruptured and two cars exploded in flames.

Dozens of passengers were injured Sunday night in what police suspect was a possible case of vandalism along the most heavily travelled train route in Canada.

Terrified passengers smashed windows and jumped from the burning Via Rail train after it hit an object on the tracks and caught fire. At least 46 people were treated at local hospitals, mostly for cuts, bruises and burns.

None of the injuries appeared life-threatening, Via spokeswoman Dianne Graham said. The train was bound for Montreal from Toronto.

The first-class car, directly behind the engine, was sprayed with burning fuel after the train hit an object at about 6:20 p.m., puncturing the diesel tank. Fire also spread through Officials inspect the burned-out hulk of a VIA Rail train which crashed into an object on the tracks and caught fire near Brighton, Ontario, 78 miles east of Toronto Sunday. Vandalism is suspected in the fire which sent 60 people out of the 407 passengers and 10 crew to the hospital.

Passengers as far back as the sixth car — carrying a wheelchair basketball team — saw flames racing by their windows.

"You couldn't recognize it as a train because it was all on fire. It was going very fast. It kinda looked like a comet, just like on TV with a lot of sparks and flame," said Richard Cook, 19, who lives near the train tracks.

Police seized a section of track and police dogs were scouring the scene around the burned and twisted skeleton of the train.

"We're probably looking at mischief," said a Canadian Rail official who requested anonymity. Canadian Rail, a government entity, owns the track.

"Vandalism is something we have to deal with from time to time, though we're still speculating," Graham said.

Passengers described the terrifying ride as the train was suddenly engulfed by flames and smoke.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Wrecking crews clear area for public park

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Hundreds cheered as wrecking crews clearing the way for a public park blew up two apartment buildings that once housed foreign embassies and missions.

Some opponents of the 16- and 17-story buildings said they spoiled the view of Mount Nam in the city center. Others objected to foreigners having exclusive use of the prime real estate.

The buildings, sitting midway up the 869-foot mountain, crumbled in 15 seconds on Sunday. The demolition was part of Seoul's efforts to reclaim the mountain from overdevelopment.

Destruction of the buildings "signals the recovery of the pride of our people," the national newspaper Joong-Ang Ilbo said.

The two buildings were built in 1971 for the exclusive use of the foreign community, and were home to some 400 households.

IRA admits member is behind the killings

LONDON (AP) — The Irish Republican Army admitted on Sunday its men were behind a killing that violated a cease-fire, but it said the murder wasn't sanctioned by the IRA leadership.

Three gunmen shot and killed postal worker Frank Kerr when he resisted a robbery in the Northern Ireland town of Newry on Nov. 10.

The shooting was the first violation of a cease-fire observed by the IRA since Sept. 1 and Protestant paramilitary groups since Oct. 13.

PLO, Islamic militants agree on formula to end violence in Gaza

GAZA CITY, Gaza Strip (AP) — PLO leader Yasser Arafat and Islamic militants agreed on a formula to end violence that erupted after clashes between Palestinian police and rioters last week, mediators said today.

However, the fundamentalist Hamas group did not sign the agreement and its leader said they still wanted Arafat to publicly accept responsibility for the bloodshed until an investigation determines who was to blame.

"We are insisting that Arafat admit that he is responsible for the massacre, and if he refuses then all agreements are considered off," said Emad Faluji, a leader of the Hamas, told The Associated Press.

Thirteen people were killed and more than 150 wounded in unrest that began when PLO police opened fire on stone-throwers last Friday outside the Palestine Mosque, an Islamic militant center.

Mohammed Barake, an Israeli-Arab mediating talks between the PLO and Hamas, told Israel radio that an agreement on ending violence was reached and would be announced later today. He said the two sides would set up a joint committee to calm tensions.

Another mediator, Taleb al-Sana, told The Associated Press a nine-point agreement would be announced today or Tuesday. It will call for an investigative panel to determine who was responsible for the bloodshed at the mosque and subsequent riots. "Both sides have agreed, but there's no signature yet," he said.

ing into Israeli pressure to crack down on militants and planning Friday's confrontation. The PLO, for its part, blamed Islamic militants for provoking the violence and said Hamas activists had come to the mosque armed with knives, firebombs and guns.

Under the reported formula, the PLO reportedly agreed to free all the 300 prisoners detained during the rioting. Israel Radio said extremist factions — such as Islamic Jihad and the Popular Front — agreed to abide by the accord.

In a bid to ease tensions, Arafat released 31 Islamic militants from jail Sunday.

On the ground today, a shaky truce held with both sides planning street marches and rallies to win over public opinion in the Gaza Strip, where 750,000 Palestinians have lived under PLO rule since May.

But Izzeddin al-Qassam, Hamas' military wing, said it would attack officials of Arafat's autonomy government and start a civil war unless Arafat removed top police officials.

Governors demanding more leeway from feds

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Emboldened by their swollen ranks, GOP governors are demanding more leeway from the federal government and warning House Republicans that "one size does not fit all" states when it comes to welfare reform.

Crowding a stage at their first post-election meeting, GOP governors and governors-elect vowed to serve as role models for the party as it takes control of Congress for the first time in 40 years, demonstrating how to govern compassionately while cutting taxes, spending and bureaucracy.

"People believe government spends too much, costs too much and is too intrusive," said George Pataki, who defeated Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo of New York.

In all, Republicans gained 11 governorships in the midterm elections, meaning they will have 30 come January, the GOP's highest number since 1970.

More remodeling going on as interest rates rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — American families wanting new kitchens or needing roof repairs are taking up some of the slack in the housing industry created by rising mortgage rates.

The National Association of Home Builders estimates homeowners will spend $116 billion on remodeling projects this year, up from $108 billion in 1993. And it predicts spending will climb to $122 billion in 1995.

In fact, the association forecasts spending on residential remodeling will total $175 billion by the year 2000 and surpass the amount spent on new home construction.

To some extent, robust remodeling has offset the effect of higher mortgage rates, which have dampened consumer demand for new housing and caused builders to cut back on construction.

Kids-only counters part of innovations

NEW YORK (AP) — Kids-only counters and personal assistance at Toys "R" Us and other big chains are among the innovations this Christmas shopping season.

At many stores, customers will find what they really want — good prices.

Markdowns on women's apparel will be common, since stubbornly warm weather in many areas has left retailers with much of their winter inventory.

"A great assortment's available at good prices, in some cases lower than last year," said Janet Mangano, a retail industry analyst with Burnham Securities Inc.

Fewer blacks going on to college

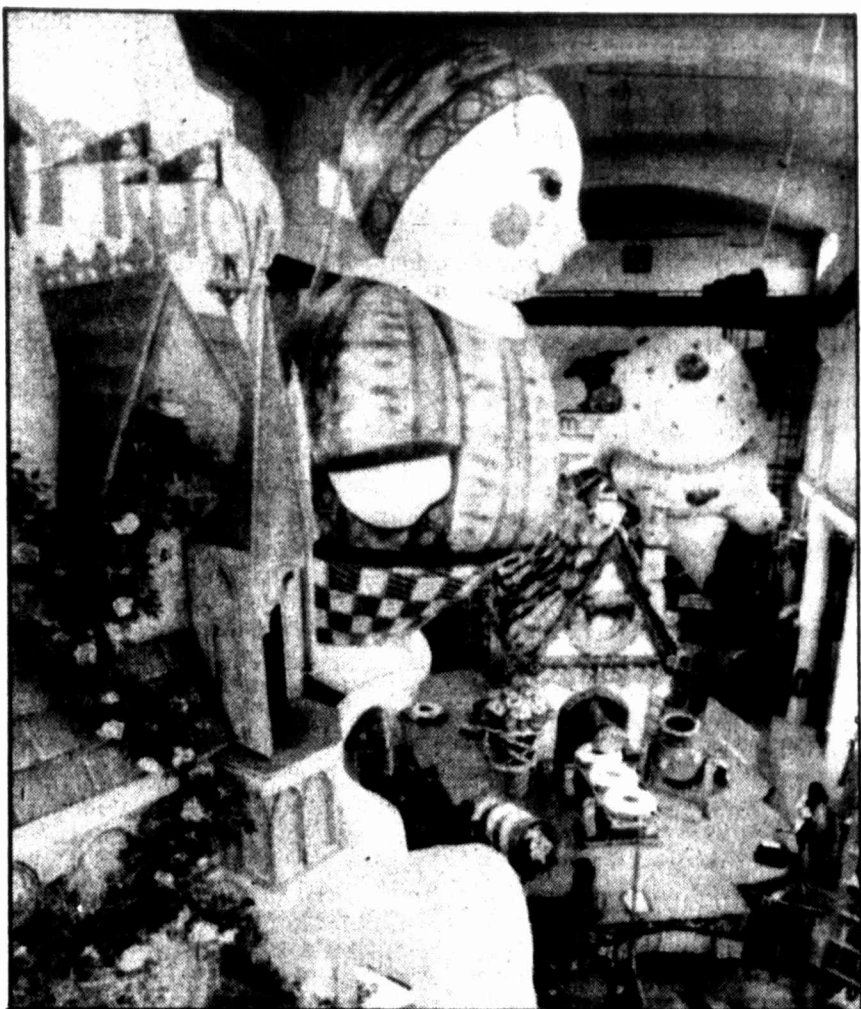

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three-fourths of black youngsters are finishing high school, but about a third of them are going on to college, the Census Bureau reports.

Some 75 percent of black students completed high school in 1993, the bureau said in a report. That was up from 67 percent two decades earlier.

During the same period, graduation rates remained unchanged for whites, at 83 percent, and Hispanics, 61 percent.

"Although the difference in the high school completion rates is narrowing between African-Americans and whites, and college enrollments are improving for both groups, the gap in college enrollment has not decreased," said census statistician Rosalind Bruno.

In fact, it seems to have grown.

This is an overhead view of the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade studio in an old warehouse in Hoboken, N.J., Thursday. Several new floats, including the Swan Princess Castle float, left, and the Holiday Sweets float, center, are stored in the warehouse until the trip to New York City.

New floats, balloons creating new look for Macy parade

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — Barney the Dinosaur and The Cat in The Hat are ready for the parade, but take it from 5-year-old Joseph Rovito — Spiderman will be the coolest balloon by far in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

"You should see it; it's 2,000 feet tall," said Joseph, whose stepfather, Joe Rovito, works at Macy's Parade Studio.

Actually, the Spiderman balloon is 78 feet tall with a 40-by-36-foot web. But don't tell that to Joseph, who says he's visited the studio where the floats are built "a billion hundred times."

Twenty-five workers have toiled all year in a rundown warehouse near the Lincoln Tunnel, preparing new floats and balloons and retouching older models. In the eyes of the kindergartners who toured the studio across the river from the parade route in Manhattan, it's Santa's workshop. Toys "R" Us and a Disney movie rolled into one.

The kids stood on the newly completed Swan Princess Castle float, visiting with Princess Odette, Prince Derek, Jean-Bob the Frog, Speed the Tortoise and Puffin the Bird.

In all, 17 floats, 10 mini-floats, 37 balloons and three "falcons," a combination float and balloon, will be making the 2-mile trek down Broadway, past thousands of spectators and before 50 million television viewers.

"We are all just dreamers, making our dreams into reality," said Manfred Bass, leaning against a giant doughnut on the Holiday Sweets float. The former storyboard illustrator has been the studio's designer and manager since 1960.

New floats include the Star-makers, with hip-hop dancers paying a tribute to Elvis Presley; the Holiday Sweets; the Sesame Street 25th anniversary float; and the Flights of Fancy, celebrating the spirit of flight.

Preparing these creations is only a part of the job. The night before Thanksgiving, there's the task of getting the 17-block convoy of floats across the Hudson River to New York City.

One tube of the tunnel is closed for the journey to a staging area along Central Park. The balloons have already made the trip, and will swell to heights of up to 80 feet in a tradition called "Inflation Eve."

Constitutional amendment clouds fact voluntary prayer is in schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — As with previous generations of Americans, many of today's students pray silently before tests, say grace before lunch and read the Bible in after-school clubs. And there's no law to stop them.

With all the talk about a constitutional amendment to bring prayer back to the nation's public schools, it's easy to lose sight of the fact that some children already pray in school.

"Children have the absolute right to pray in school today," said Perry Sansing, an attorney for the Jackson, Miss., school district.

What is not allowed is organized, state-sponsored prayer in public schools, even if students are allowed to leave the room or refrain from participating. The Supreme Court ruled in 1962 that such prayer violates the First Amendment.

Rep. Newt Gingrich, expected to become House speaker when the new Congress convenes in January, has promised a vote by July 4 on a constitutional amendment allowing voluntary prayer in public schools. President Clinton has said he would n't rule out supporting such an amendment, depending on the language.

Congress grappled with the question of school prayer during debate on two education bills over the past year. The issue was resolved with language affirming the right of students to participate in voluntary, constitutionally protected school prayer.

Georgia public schools observe a moment of reflection at the start of each day. If students want to pray during that time, they are allowed to do so, silently.

"That's entirely their right and was their right before this law was passed," said Berny Kirkland, director of community relations for the public schools in Gwinnett County, Ga. At South Gwinnett High School, the day begins with the principal on the intercom announcing the moment of reflection.

Marlene Melvin, a world history and American law teacher, said it is a wonderful way to get started. "It settles the students down. It gets them focused," she said. "You move right into the lesson."

All teachers were not as receptive. Brian Bown, a South Gwinnett High School teacher who refused to comply with the moment of reflection, was fired, Kirkland said. He is challenging the state law in federal court.

In 1985, the Supreme Court struck down an Alabama law calling for a moment of meditation or silent prayer, but left open the door to other moment-of-silence laws.

Also enmeshed in a legal challenge is a Mississippi law that would allow students to pray at school activities if they initiate the prayer. A federal judge has ruled the law unconstitutional and appeals are being readied.

In a case from Idaho, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled 2-1 last week that school graduation prayers are unconstitutional even if a majority of students vote to pray.

"Elected officials cannot avoid constitutional mandates by putting them to a majority vote," said the opinion written by Judge Carl Wiggins, a former Republican congressman.

Exhaust fumes kill three, injure two others

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A garaged van being warmed up for a trip to church Sunday filled a house with exhaust fumes, killing three family members and critically injuring two others.

Firefighters found the victims near dawn, when they responded to an alarm set off by the garage's sprinkler system, which was triggered by the heat buildup. Fire Department spokesman Brian Humphrey said.

Armando Berumen was preparing to take his family to church when he started the van about 5:30 a.m. in the home's attached garage, said Lt. Sergio Robledo.

"He hadn't started the van for a week and he wanted to make sure it would run when he was ready to go to church," Robledo said.

Berumen, 44, and sons Armando Jr., 12, and Noel, 9, were killed by the carbon monoxide fumes. Irma Berumen, 38, and daughter Caroline, 16, were put on life-support at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center and later transferred to Long Beach Memorial Medical Center.

Overnight temperatures fell into low 40s and upper 30s in the Los Angeles area.

Republicans telling how will keep promises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans who will control the next Congress are providing more details of their oft-repeated pledge to cut spending and the size of the federal government.

Appearing Sunday on television talk shows and before a conference of rate taxpayers, GOP congressional leaders said dramatic changes are needed in the tax system and the federal bureaucracy.

Incoming Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole of Kansas said that a number of departments and agencies ought to be eliminated, including the Energy Department, the Education Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"If we're going to limit or re-limit government, we have to do it. We can't talk about it, we have to do it," said Dole on ABC's "This Week With David Brinkley." He said, for example, he didn't "see any useful purpose" in keeping the Energy Department.

And in remarks to the National Taxpayers Union, Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, also singled out the Education Department.

Humble.

It's hard to be humble when propane propels a winning dragster down the quarter mile at 160 mph. But we try. And so we humbly ask you to consider propane to fuel your private, government or school district fleet vehicles. Propane is a low-cost, high-octane alternative fuel. It will keep your fleet running economically and help you meet state and federal clean-air mandates. Propane. The clean choice. The clear choice. There's no way you can lose.

'Boys win game, lose two QBs

IRVING (AP) — There are reasons no team has ever won three consecutive Super Bowls. The Dallas Cowboys just got hit with two of them.

The NFL champions lost two quarterbacks in one game Sunday in a damaging 31-7 victory over the Washington Redskins.

Quarterbacks Troy Aikman and Rodney Peete were sidelined with injuries that could keep them from playing against Green Bay on Thanksgiving for the short term and, perhaps, weeks in the long term.

"We've been through all this before," said running back Emmitt Smith. "But as long as we execute well, it doesn't matter who our quarterback is. Obviously, we'll miss Troy. We'll just have to play our best game."

Aikman, playing with a sore passing thumb and a broken nose, went down with a medial collateral ligament sprain of the left knee.

Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said orthopedic surgeon Dr. Robert Vandermeer told him it could take up to four weeks for Aikman to recover.

"It's real hard for me to say just how much time I'll miss, but it certainly looks like it will be tough for me to play on Thursday. Right now I'm targeting Philadelphia (on Dec. 4) for a possible return, but we're going to have to wait and see how things progress," Aikman said.

Peete sprained the thumb on his passing hand and was replaced by third-stringer Jason Garrett. He was scheduled to see a hand specialist today.

Peete threw a touchdown pass and Smith ran for two TDs as Dallas, smarting from a 21-14 loss to San Francisco last week, notched its 13th consecutive NFC East victory. Smith rushed for 85 yards and went over 1,000 for the fourth consecutive season. He has 1,074.

Aikman was hurt in the second quarter when he was tackled around the knees by linebacker Ken Harvey. He hit 8 of 13 passes for 87 yards before he was hurt.

After the injury, Peete threw a 15-yard touchdown pass to Alvin Harper to give Dallas a 24-7 halftime lead. Kevin Dallas Cowboy quarterback Troy Aikman (8) takes a hit from Washington Redskin Ken Harvey (57) Sunday. The hit sent Aikman to the hospital, where an MRI showed a medial collateral sprain of the left knee. The 'Boys won 31-7, but Aikman may not be able to play for three weeks.

Williams then dashed 83 yards on a punt return for a touchdown as Washington's record dipped to 2-9.

Peete jammed his thumb in the third period when hit by defensive end Dexter Nottage. Peete could barely grip the ball after the injury, but X-rays of the thumb were negative.

The Cowboys (9-2) also lost guard Derek Kennard with a toe injury and linebacker Godfrey Myles with a knee injury during the game.

It was the first time Dallas swept Washington in their annual two-game series in 10 years. The Cowboys beat Washington 34-7 earlier in the year. Jones said the Cowboys will launch a search for potential backup quarterbacks.

"We'll look for quarterbacks throughout the league but for Thanksgiving will go with what we got," Jones said.

Dallas is only $40,000 under the salary cap, and this hamstringing their efforts.

4-4A all-district list shows Steers' prowess

By DAVE HARGRAVE
Sports Editor

Placing 11 players on the all-District 4-4A team doesn't erase the disappointment of an area playoff loss for the Big Spring Steers.

Doesn't hurt any, though.

Big Spring, which finished the season 7-5 with a bi-district championship, put 11 players on the first team - seven on offense and four on defense. The Steers have more First Team players than any other team - district champion Lake View has nine, though the Chiefs do have two Most Valuable Players in offensive co-MVP David Taylor and defensive MVP Chad Turner.

Jason Roberts, Norman Timmerman, Mario Cavazos, Daniel Franks, Marc Baker, Dustin Waters and Quentin Dickson made the First Team offense. The four Steers on First Team defense are Tony Rodriguez, Leslie Adkins, Robert Valencia and David Foresyth.

For Foresyth, the season means more than any postseason list. The senior and two-time all-district defensive end has plenty of great moments to point to, including one in particular.

"The run I had last week, I'll always remember that," Foresyth said, referring to the crucial tackle he made following a length-of-the-field run against El Paso Parkland in bi-district Nov. 12. The tackle cut short Parkland's Tony Decquir's 90-yard run at the Big Spring 4 and kept the Matadors from scoring what could have been a momentum-building touchdown.

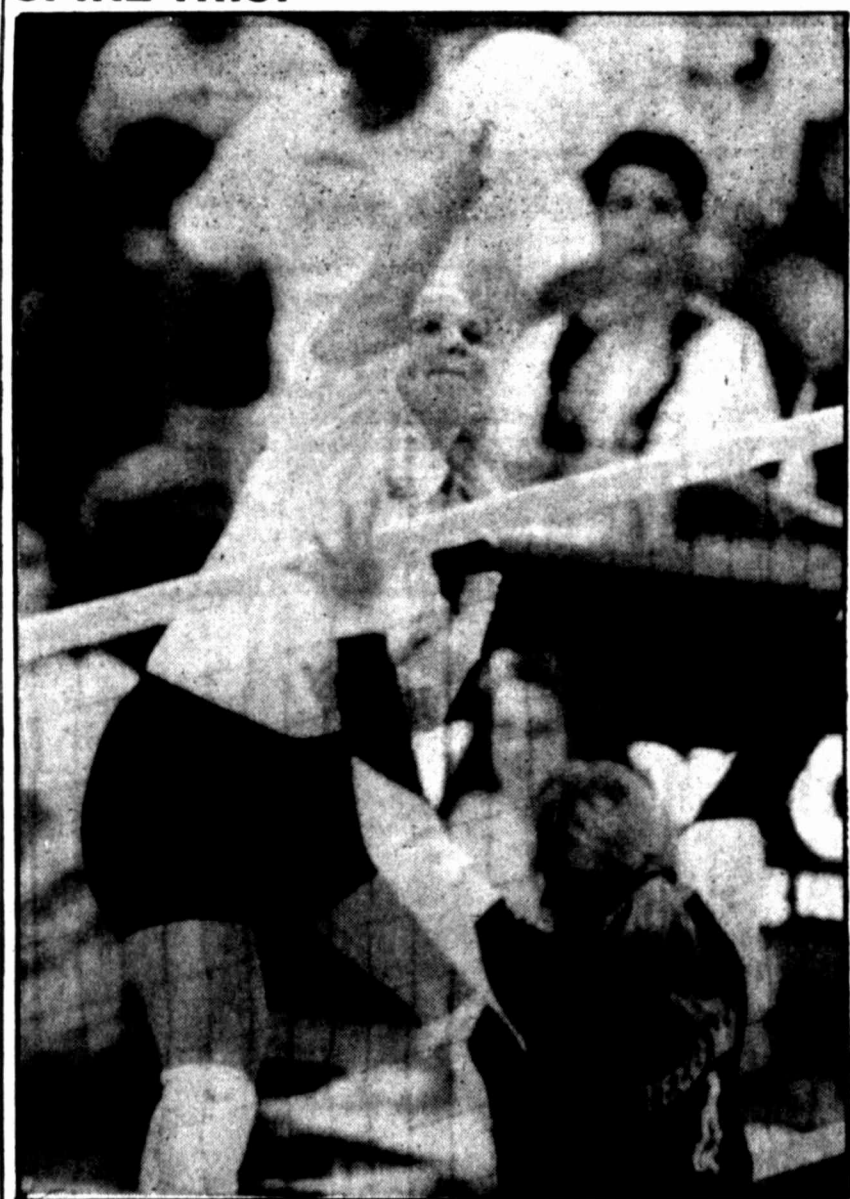

Adkins had one of those unforgettable plays, too. The senior linebacker recovered a fumble against Monahans Oct. 28 and returned it 73 yards for a Big Spring touchdown. The win over Monahans put the Steers in playoff position, and they delivered the knockout punch with another big play involving all-district First Teamers.

This time it was Waters and Franks, Nov. 4 in Andrews. Facing fourth-and-7 at the Andrews 18, split end Waters took a handoff from quarterback Bucky Crenshaw and looked to pass. Waters found Franks in the end zone - the pass was a bit behind Franks, but the tight end hauled it in for the touchdown that killed Andrews and sent the Steers into the playoffs.

Big Spring beat Andrews 24-0, then beat Parkland 47-21 before falling 21-12 to Canyon Randall in the area playoffs Friday.

"I'd just like to thank our fans for all the support they gave us," said senior defensive end Arthur Barrera. "Thanks to everybody - all the fans, the pep rally, to the whole community. And there's going to be a lot more to come with the players coming back next year."

Wilma Rudolph won gold medals but beat greater odds as a child

It's not difficult at all to talk about track and field, especially when it involves remembering one of the best there ever was.

Wilma Rudolph.

Rudolph died at her Nashville, Tenn., home Nov. 12 after a short battle with brain cancer.

As a child, I always enjoyed reading when I was in school because I could choose my own subject to read about - sports.

As a third-grader, I became fascinated with biographies of sports figures and interesting people, and some of the stories I enjoyed most were of Ray Charles, Joe Namath, Cassius Clay (Muhammad Ali), Lew Alcindor (Kareem Abdul-Jabbar), Evli Kenevli and Wilma Rudolph.

It's a real tribute to Rudolph's spirit that she was able to leave the world she was entered into - fighting. The tribute is that while she was alive she made a tremendous difference by showing people that a negative plus a negative can equal a positive.

It's hard for the average person to imagine a child suffering, but Rudolph experienced her share by surviving double pneumonia, scarlet fever and then polio, all before she was 10. It's been said that nothing draws a family closer together than the suffering of a child, and no one knew this better than Blanche Rudolph, the mother of 22 children (Wilma being number 20).

Hard work is an understatement if you're trying to describe Rudolph, who wore braces for almost five years and an orthopedic shoe after that. She didn't get a chance to run until she was almost a teenager.

Think about this! Rudolph couldn't walk or run with any regularity until she was about 12, but at age 16 she had worked to the point that she was able to win a bronze medal (relay) at the 1956 Olympics.

Winning a medal in 1956 was an achievement, but her history-making moment came in Rome at the 1960 Olympics when she won three gold medals, setting world or Olympic records at 100 meters, 200 meters, and in the 400-meter relay.

In 1993 Rudolph was among a handful of the nation's best athletes to receive the National Sports Award from the President of the United States.

In her acceptance, Rudolph said she never saw herself as a role model. That's the way it should be. She performed because she loved to run.

Not bad for someone doctors said might never walk.

The thing that impressed me most about Rudolph is what she did when she was through running. She established the Wilma Rudolph Foundation to work with underprivileged kids.

What better way could there be to help kids overcome their own obstacles?

Like any child she was mocked and picked on by other children because of the leg braces she had to wear, but there's no better motivation to achieve something than to have someone laugh at you or tell you can't do it.

She overcame those circumstances and moved ahead. By Olympic standards those who win deserve the right to hear their country's national anthem and see their country's flag fly.

Rudolph earned that right long before she ever set world and Olympic records because she was a hero not by choice, but by the standard she set.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Partners are dominant; be direct dealing with them despite their flaky behavior. A sense of humor helps a difficult situation. Others gain perspective because of your lightness. News is positive. Keep your focus. Tonight: You can go ahead, say yes. *****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Focus on long-term goals for the next month. It may take hard work to get ahead. Creativity and understanding are high. Show your remarkable ability to understand and redirect a situation. Touch base with another. Examine alternatives. Tonight: Work late. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Plans change quickly. You can see another in a new light. Be upbeat about what you want. Don't let a friend who disappoints you get to you. Be creative about alternatives. Take time for a loved one or child. Be more easygoing. Tonight: Hang out. *****

IF NOV. 22 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: This could be a very interesting year. December is an important month in which you will feel much better. Finances can be unstable. One-to-one relating flourishes. Let go of fears. Finances will ease up because of your ability. Get past limitations. If you are single: You meet others easily during the holiday season and throughout the year; in fact, you reach an 11-year peak; this is a lucky time for you emotionally. If attached, your relationship improves once you get past a money issue. You relate on a new level of understanding. Intuition plays a big role. Cancer anchors you.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS.

On or about December 7, 1994, the City of Coahoma, Texas will request the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended, to be used for the following project:

ICDP Funds City Funds
 Sanitary Sewer Improvements $195,400.00
 Engineering Services $59,600.00
 General Administration $25,500.00

The above-referenced project activities will be carried out as part of the 1993 Texas Community Development Program (TCDP) project. The project will be carried out in a designated project area within the City of Coahoma, Texas. A map showing the location of the proposed sanitary sewer improvements is available for inspection in the City Hall, 122 N. 1st St., Coahoma, Texas.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT
 It has been determined that such a release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the above-named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

The reasons for such a decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:
 TCDP project would eliminate identification of groundwater into the main sanitary sewer outfall line and the lift station well. These improvements should decrease the amount of sanitary sewer flow to the wastewater treatment plant. The improvements would serve approximately 677 persons, of which approximately 52 percent are classified as "low to moderate income". The proposed project should eliminate infiltration of groundwater into the sanitary sewer lift station well and the main sanitary sewer outfall line. The City of Coahoma lacks adequate financial resources to undertake this important sanitary sewer improvements project without assistance from TCDP. The proposed project will allow the City to construct these much needed sanitary sewer improvements. Construction will involve limited clearing and excavation in existing streets, but no major changes in topographic features are anticipated. No major changes in population density, land use, or demand for community facilities are expected over the course of this project. Existing support systems and infrastructure should not be affected by this project. There will be no adverse impacts on the environment as a result of any activity or project undertaken with TCDP funds. Some increase in noise, dust or other nuisance levels may occur during construction, rehabilitation, reconstruction and/or demolition; however, such disturbances will be temporary and should return to current levels once construction is complete. None of the activities or projects to be undertaken will affect any known local, state or national historic, architectural or archaeological resources.

An Environmental Review Record with respect to the within project has been made by the above-named City that documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request in the City Secretary's office between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

PUBLIC COMMENTS CONCERNING
 All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City to the City Secretary's office on or before December 6, 1994. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

RELEASE OF FUNDS
 The City of Coahoma will undertake the project described above with Community Development Block Grant funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, as amended. The City of Coahoma is certifying to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs that the City and the Honorable Bill Read in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental assessments, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Coahoma may use the Block Grant funds, and the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and 24 CFR Part 58.

OBJECTIONS TO STATE RELEASE OF FUNDS
 The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer or other certifying officer of the Contractor approved by the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs; or (b) that the Contractor's environmental review record for the project indicated omission of a required decision, finding, or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR 58), and may be addressed to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs, 811 Barton Springs Road, Suite 300, Austin, Texas 78711-3841.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs, 811 Barton Springs Road, Suite 300, Austin, Texas 78711-3841. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs, 811 Barton Springs Road, Suite 300, Austin, Texas 78711-3841. DEAR ABBY: Last May 27, I received a call telling me that my father was finally getting his lung transplant.

As the doctor came out afterward to tell us the procedure had been successful, and my father had received a healthy lung, we applauded for each other's loved ones and shed tears of relief.

Dad's birthday was the following Friday — and the heart recipient's birthday was that Tuesday. What a wonderful birthday gift our father received. — K.C. IN MICHIGAN

DEAR K.C.: I appreciate being able to share your family's joy. Not all families are so fortunate.
