Moore Board, BDC partner to bring in the business

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Staff Writer

Economic development, through business retention and expansion, will now become a key component in the future of Big Spring's business industry.

As a result of a newly formed partnership between Moore Development For Big Spring Inc., and the Business Development Center at Howard College, more focus will now be placed on taking care of the businesses that are already in place here in Big Spring.

Mayor Tim Blackshear attended the Texas Municipal League Annual Conference in Austin on Oct. 28, at which time Big Spring was recognized for its unique approach in the use of sales tax funds for economic development.

The recognition was given by Camille Berry, CED, director of national business with the Texas Department of Commerce, who was referring to the Business Development Center funded by Moore Board, and supported by Howard College.

According to Blackshear and Moore Board Executive Director Carole Taylor, Big Spring is the only city in Texas to have a BDC funded by an economic sales tax. Moore Board President Glenn Fillingim said, "During the last three years Moore Board has funded the BDC to the tune of about $69,000 a year."

Howard College President Dr. Cheri Sparks said the purpose of any community college is to assist in economic development.

She added because the BDC is located on the Howard College campus it provides an opportunity for instructional programs which benefits both the college and the community.

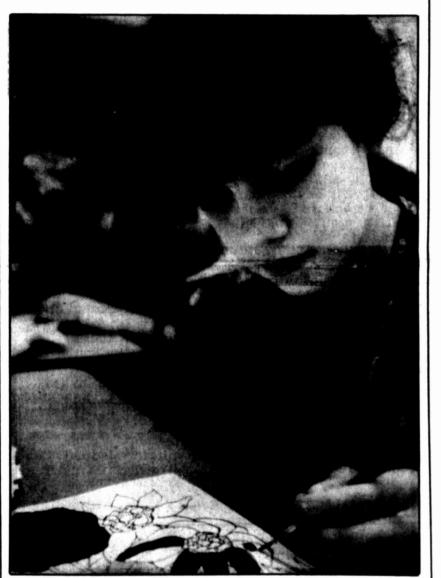

Taylor said, "There has not been a comprehensive plan for retention and expansion of local industry. Now the BDC will take an active role in this area."

Moore Board and the BDC have developed the Big Spring Business resource Guide, according to Taylor, to serve as sort of a wish list for the BDC in the area of business retention and expansion.

Danette Toone, director of the BDC, said, "We're going to be pro-active instead of waiting for people to come to us, which is one advantage of having the BDC at Howard Col-

Jury finds for hospital in negligence case

By KELLIE JONES

Staff Writer

A Howard County jury recently ruled in favor of Scenic Mountain Medical Center, stating the hospital was not negligent when a patient's bed collapsed.

In May 1993, William Coleman was admitted to the hospital to be treated for pneumonia. When he was moving in his bed, it broke and Coleman fell. He contended he suffered severe and disabling injuries to his back, neck and spine.

The Salurion Army is officially kicking off its bell ringing program to raise money of use in purchasing toys, food and other winter relief for the less fortunate in Howard County. From left are Susan Akin, Maj. Mary Dell Tolcher and Zechariah Akin. Bell ringers will be set up at the post office, Big Spring Mall, Wal-Mart Supercenter and Don's IGA on Birdwell.

Amanda Sheedy paints her flower in the foreground as Aline Legg works on her art project in the background during the extended day program at Bauer Magnet School recently. Coleman's attorney, Mike Thomas, says they were seeking $1 million from the hospital. The trial took place earlier this month in 118th District Court and the jury deliberated one hour before returning their verdict.

The hospital's attorney, Bob Craig, brought in an expert witness who testified how the bed functioned and also introduced testimony from doctors and Coleman's medical records.

"I am very pleased with the verdict. The evidence showed the hospital was not negligent," Craig commented.

Thomas said, "I was very disappointed with the outcome. I believe he was hurt due to the bed breaking and there was negligent repair of the bed. The bed frame had broken before where it had been welded. Bolts were then used to repair it. Our expert witness testified it was the bolts that weakened the bed and it broke (the second time) due to that repair."

Because no negligence was found, Coleman can not recover any money and all court costs will have to be paid by him.

New loop system speeds Cap Rock repairs

By CARLTON JOHNSON

Although the storm that swept through the area Saturday night was not classified as a tornado by the National Weather Service, and no major injuries were reported, utility companies were still working Monday to repair damages to utility poles.

A newly-designed integrated loop transmission system helped Cap Rock Electric restore power following the storm.

High winds knocked out a number of poles west of Stanton Saturday night and a tornado, according to Cap Rock Electric and several residents in the Ackerly/Knott area, simultaneously caused the loss of another stretch of line. According to the utility company a total of 38 wooden transmission poles and more than 70 distribution poles were lost.

Cap Rock's Chief Operating Officer Ulen North, said, "We lost power in Martin County and tried to switch from Ackerly. Just as we were trying to switch from Ackerly, we lost power there, right about the time the tornado hit.

'Ordinarily, either of these line sections could have sustained such damage, being dual-fed, and the outage would have been of short duration, but when they occurred at the same time, our dual-

Loss of $33 million has little impact on drug cartel

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Authorities say Juan Garcia Abrego, the reputed head of one of the biggest drug smuggling gangs in North America, has long since absorbed the $33 million seized by the U.S. government.

"His organization remains active," said A. Wayne Smith, special agent in charge of the FBI's Brownsville office. "We feel that his organization is continuing to import and distribute cocaine."

The U.S. and Mexican governments identify Garcia Abrego as the head of the so-called Gulf cartel, accused of distributing hundreds of tons of Colombian cocaine each year into U.S. markets such as Houston, Dallas and New York.

The Mexican government offers a $1 million reward for his arrest. The FBI offers $300,000. The U.S. Justice Department announced Monday that American Express Bank International, a subsidiary of American Express Co., has agreed to forfeit its claims to $19 million of the $33 million in assets seized by U.S. Customs in 1992 and traced to the 50-year-old fugitive.

The bank also agreed to forfeit another $7 million for moneylaundering transactions, pay $7 million in fines, and spend $3 million on employee training to avoid future money-laundering problems. The case stems from the money-laundering convictions of former American Express bank officers Antonio Giraldi and Lourdes Reategui in June.

The seizure of $33 million might topple smaller gangs. But Garcia Abrego's organization does more than $20 billion in sales a year, according to conservative estimates by the U.S. Customs Service.

"They are the most significant and most powerful transshipment arm of the Cali cartel," says FBI spokesman James Conway. The Cali cartel, based in Colombia, is the world's biggest cocaine trafficking organization.

Testimony and court documents allege that Garcia Abrego — the nephew of a reputed crime boss in Matamoros, Mexico — has used bribery and murder to grow from a small dealer in the Matamoros-Brownsville area into one of Mexico's most notorious fugitives.

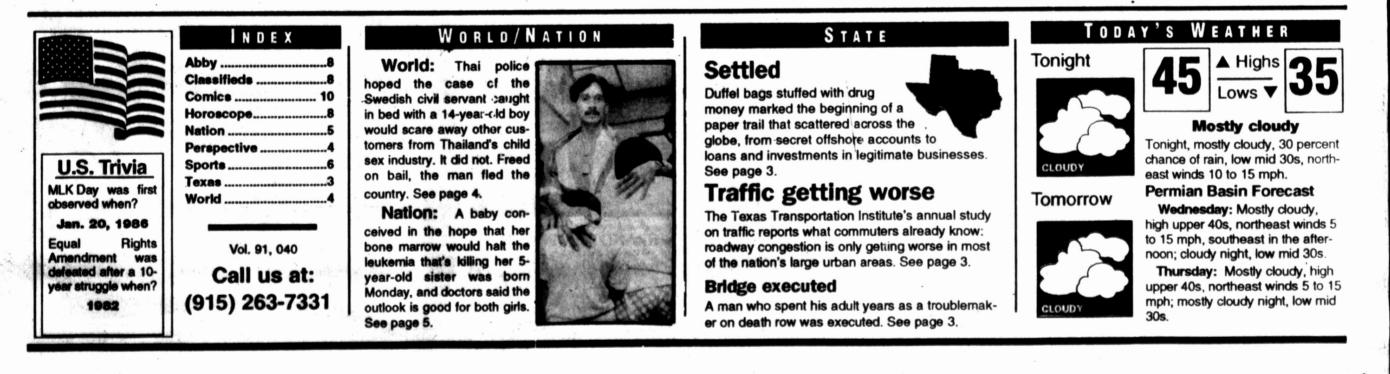

During the bankers' trial before a federal jury in Brownsville, a cousin who said he worked as Garcia Abrego's errand boy for 13 years testified that the cartel leader handed out millions of dollars a month in bribes to Mexican officials.

The cousin, Francisco Perez Monroy, portrayed Garcia Abrego as a shrewd but hot-tempered boss who has children by several women, bets thousands of dollars on race horses, hires witch doctors out of superstition and doesn't hesitate to order the death of an associate who crosses him.

Mexican authorities say the organization is responsible for Forsan Independent School District has adopted smoke-free and gun-free policies. Earlier this school year, board members adopted the gun-free policy required by federal law.

During their regular meeting Nov. 14, board members approved a recommendation to send a certificate to the state to show the district adopted the policy. According to federal law, if a student brings a weapon to school, he or she will be expelled for one year and must be removed from the regular school setting.

Taylor said, "As a new executive director in town, I'm glad to see the progress that the BDC has made. A company can't expand unless they have competiveness and marketing. We want to be able to expand their capability to expand.

"What this says to industry (in the Big Spring area) is that we know you're there, we care, and we plan to do something to help."

Taylor added it does no good to bring in new businesses if the businesses already in town can't survive.

Forming this partnership with the BDC will utilize staff personnel more effectively and allow everyone to be more productive.

She said, "Our community will have a complete economic procedures, transfer of land, development program." The Business Resource Guide and training grants.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mayor's wife following Dow Chemical trial

HOUSTON (AP) - The women approach Elyse Lanier carefully and quietly everywhere she goes: at luncheons, parties and public appearances with her husband, Houston Mayor Bob Lainer.

They touch her arm, shake her hand, and whisper "Thank You," to the most visible of breast implant litigants in Houston.

"There's always a woman in the crowd that comes up and says 'Thank you, it's helped me so much,' " says Mrs. Lanier, who this past summer made public her own trials with implants, following two bouts of breast cancer.

On Monday, Mrs. Lanier, was one of several women who attended the opening statements of the first trial featuring defendant Dow Chemical, the wealthy co-owner of breast manufacturer Dow Corning Corp.

Both companies are being sued. But it is the inclusion of Dow Chemical that could make a difference in thousands of other women's cases if the jury decides in favor of the two plaintiffs being heard at the Harris County Courthouse. That case could last through January.

American, pilots at a standoff

DALLAS (AP) - American Airlines Inc. and its pilots' union will enter their fifth month of contract negotiations at the end of November.

The Fort Worth-based airline says $300 million in cuts are needed to compete with low-cost airlines. American Pilots Association president Jim Sovich says that's not the case.

"American Airlines is not a company in financial distress," Sovich says.

Sovich says he's willing to agree to increase productivity under coertain circumstances. One of them isn't the full labor savings package sought by American president Robert Crandall.

Paper trail of money laundering ends with settlement

BROWNSVILLE (AP) - Duffel bags stuffed with drug money marked the beginning of a paper trail that scattered across the globe, from secret offshore accounts to loans and investments in legitimate businesses.

The trail ended Monday when federal prosecutors announced a $50 million settlement with an American Express Co. subsidiary that included the largest penalty ever assessed against a U.S. bank in a money-laundering case.

As part of the deal, federal prosecutors agreed not to pursue a criminal case against American Express Bank International for the role of two of its officers in cleansing more than $30 million.

Prosecutors said the money belonged to Juan Garcia Abrego of Mexico, the reputed kingpin of one of the largest drug-trafficking organizations in North America.

Agents said Garcia Abrego's smugglers, working as distributors for the Cali drug cartel in Colombia, moved hundreds of tons of cocaine through such U.S. markets as Houston, Chicago and New York, then delivered cash on the return trip.

In June 1989, U.S. Customs agents in McAllen detected couriers depositing duffel bags stuffed with $100 bills into Texas banks.

In June, a federal jury in Brownsville convicted the former American Express Bank International officer Antonio Giraldi and his assistant, Lourdes Reategui, of moving that money in an elaborate series of transactions designed to hide its origins as drug money.

Giraldi's lawyer suggested that the bank's settlement was a bottom-line decision, reached as the federal probe continued beyond the two convictions.

"What was Amex to do?" Dallas attorney Christopher Lee Milner said. "It had just watched a jury return a guilty verdict on clearly insufficient evidence against Mr. Giraldi ... I understand the business deci-

The settlement means the government can permanently seize $33 million in assets that were frozen in 1992 from the accounts of Giraldi's biggest client, Ricardo Aguirre Villagomez, allegedly a top money launderer for Garcia Abrego.

Prosecutors contended the two bank officers "cleansed" Aguirre's assets, mostly in unregulated holding companies in the Cayman Islands, then lied in bank records to cover it up. Some of the money was reinvested in real estate and busi-

The bankers said they believed the flamboyant Aguirre was a legitimate businessman and rancher.

The bankers made $19 million in loans to Aguirre, using his Cayman Islands assets as collateral.

Aguirre has disappeared, along with the $19 million. His family claims he died in a car wreck, but prosecutors say he went into hiding.

In the settlement, the bank drops its claim to Aguirre's accounts, resulting in a $19 million loss that already has been written off in past few quarters.

Surprise! City traffic getting worse

COLLEGE STATION (AP) - The Texas Transportation Institute's annual study on traffic reports what commuters already know: roadway congestion is only getting worse in most of the nation's large urban areas.

In the 86-page study released Monday, Texas A&M University transportation engineer Tim Lomax puts together traffic data from 50 urban areas around the country. The data were from 1991, the most recent year available.

For the sixth consecutive year, Lomax determined Los Angeles is the most backedup urban area in America with a roadway congestion index of 1.56.

An index of 1.00 indicates a desired amount of traffic. Anything over that indicates what Lomax calls "undesirable congestion" and is measured by percentages. Los Angeles' index, for example, indicates traffic is 56 percent more congested than engineers think should be on the roads.

New York was tied with Atlanta for ninth on the list with a traffic index of 1.14.

When Windham suspended Smith, he said Smith should have been on the scene and leading the raid, rather than a block away and sitting in a patrol car with his children.

But Smith, who is divorced, said it was his week to have the children and he was forced to take them to work after his baby sitter became ill. He also said the bust would teach the youths to stay away from drugs.

Under state civil service laws, Windham was forced to indefinitely suspend Smith after the sergeant refused to agree to a 16day suspension and a demotion in rank, according to appeal records and interviews.

rying to find something to fill the hours during the Thanksgiving Holiday?

One way to fill the hours is by donating your time to those who are not as well off as we are.

The Salvation Army and the Sacred Heart Youth Center, among others, will offer Thanksgiving dinners that day to those less fortunate. What better way to spend your time, helping ease someone else's pain, even for a brief moment.

Spring Tabernacle will hand out food also, and volunteers are welcomed there all year long.

This will not be the only time during this holiday season that volunteers will be needed. During Christmas, volun-

What we can't forget is, that while we are helping during this busy season, there is always a need for volunteers at these organizations and all the other organizations around the community, trying to help others.

The need doesn't stop just because Christmas has passed and a new year has begun.

conservative in Congress. Gingrich worries about Americans praying, especially schoolchildren. Which is fine. If schoolchildren feel the need to pray, they should. So should congressmen like Gingrich, and maybe they do, although I haven't detected any heavenly influence in their behavior.

But I don't know why Gingrich and his ilk (he currently has lots of ilks) are so concerned about prayer. My informal survey, beginning with that cab ride, tells me that Americans can pray just about anywhere and any time.

After the cab ride, I dropped in at a tavern, pulled up a stool, and said to the barkeep: "I hope you have no objections to my praying while I sit here.'

He gave me a slightly suspi-cious look, then said: "You'll

But just think about it: If I can pray in a tavern, what is to stop a student from praying in school? After all, bartenders are no less demanding than teachers.

Later, I went to a restaurant. The hostess said: "Smoking or non-smoking?"

Friendly fire charges could be dropped

BONN, Germany (AP) - A U.S. Air Force investigator has recommended dropping charges against an F-15 pilot facing court-martial for shooting down a U.S. helicopter over Iraq, the military announced today. Air Force sources said they expected the recommendation by Col. Edward M. Starr would be followed by Lt. Col. Randy W. May's commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Eugene D. Santarelli.

May, 41, was the subject this month of an Article 32 proceeding, the equivalent of a grand jury hearing, for his role in the April 14 downing of two Black Hawk helicopters in northern Iraq. He faced 26 charges of negligent homicide and two of dereliction of duty.

Twenty-six people - 15 Americans, military officers from Britain, France and Turkey, and five Kurdish workers were killed in one of the U.S. military's deadliest friendly fire episodes. A military judge in Oklahoma has recommended that an Air Force radar plane officer be court-martialed in the downing of the two helicopters. The judge recommended that another crewman aboard the AWACS plane receive administrative punishment, and that charges be dismissed against three others.

The AWACS officers are accused of failing to warn May and another jet pilot that U.S. helicopters were in the area. The military was patrolling the air space above Iraqi Kurdistan to enforce a U.N.-ordered ban on Iraqi military flights.

"Good. There's nothing worse than someone singing depressing songs or having a crying jag about his dearly departed mother. I cut people off when they start doing that kind of stuff. It's a downer for the other customers and bad for business."

"I understand and will restrain myself. You won't even hear one hallelujah from me." "OK. But I'll turn on the jukebox just in case." See? Here we have a tavern, the sort of place sometimes thought of as wicked or sinful. Yet, I had no difficulty using it as a place of worship.

Indeed, I could have done so

"Do you have sections where people can say grace or not say grace? That sort of thing."

"Not that I know of. It's never come up before. But I guess it's all right anywhere, you know?"

The potential appears to be unlimited. If we can pray in public restaurants. I'm sure students can do the same in the school cafeteria. What, would an atheistic server withhold a worshiper's meat loaf?

And this morning, when I arrived at work, I asked a lobby security guard: "Do you know if we have a company policy forbidding prayer at one's desk?"

He looked at me for several seconds, shook his head, and said: "If we do, nobody told me about it."

"Great," I said. "I'll put in a good word for you, my lad." He nodded and said: "Uh-huh." He was clearly moved. So I think Gingrich, and his politically flexible new ally, President Clinton, can relax. Our right to pray is secure. They can get back to the business of spending less of our money. We can all pray for that. Anywhere.

Cease-fire set to start but factions keep fighting

LUANDA, Angola (AP) - A formal cease-fire to end Angola's 19-year war was to start today, but the government claimed UNITA rebels were still launching attacks across the country.

The truce between government troops and rebels of the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola was to take effect at 1 p.m., military officials said.

The truce, which followed the U.N.-brokered treaty signed Sunday, foresees disengagement of the two armies and a powersharing deal for Angola, rent by civil war since gaining independence from Portugal in 1975. Still, tensions across the country's frontlines remained high.

A statement by government Chief of Staff Gen. Joao de Matos claimed seven rebel battalions had attacked the northern city of Uige on Monday and that fighting raged until nightfall.

UNITA, however, said Uige remained in rebel hands and that government troops had violated the peace deal by attacking. Aid workers in Uige said Monday that UNITA soldiers were patroling tense streets but there was no fighting.

De Matos' statement also said four government soldiers died and eight were wounded when their vehicle hit land mines in the diamond-rich eastern Lunda provinces.

It claimed UNITA also bombarded the outskirts of the cities of Luena and Malanje, key government garrisons in the north and east.

Government claims could not be verified. Both sides have used propaganda to try to attract international sympathy in the war that has killed 500,000 Angolans and left millions more threatened with starvation and disease.

FTC settles with Haagen-Dazs

WASHINGTON (AP) - Haagen-Dazs says it wasn't trying to fool anybody by claiming its frozen yogurt "is still 98 percent fat free." But federal regulators are warning they won't swallow any future claim like that unless the company can back it up.

The Federal Trade Commission announced Monday that Haagen-Dazs Co. Inc. had agreed to settle charges of false and misleading advertising, which the government said implied that the company's entire frozen yogurt line - not just certain flavors — was low fat. The company, while agreeing to the settlement, insisted the ads were not misleading.

Under the proposed settlement, which will be open to public comment for 60 days, Haagen-Dazs would be barred from misrepresenting the fat, saturated fat, cholesterol, or calorie content of any of its frozen yogurt or ice cream.

In addition, Haagen-Dazs would be required to meet fed-eral Food and Drug Administra-

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) - NATO summoned its greatest force yet to bomb a Serb airfield, but left unscathed the main threat to U.N. safe areas in northern Bosnia: Croatian Serb tanks, artillery and troops making forays across the border.

U.N. officials called the strike necessary, President Clinton said it was appropriate, and even Russia voiced lukewarm support. But the strike could, ironically, give the Bosnian and Croatian Serbs ammunition to persuade Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic to renew his backing for their cause.

On Monday, about 30 NATO fighter jets bombed an airfield in a Serb-controlled section of Croatia where three Serb air attacks originated - including one in which planes dropped napalm bombs on the U.N. haven of Bihac.

Financing welfare through restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) Republicans intent on overhauling the nation's welfare system want to finance expensive new work programs for single mothers by denying public aid to thousands of legal immigrants.

The restrictions on government services and benefits to legal immigrants, with exceptions for refugees and the very elderly, are supposed to save $22 billion over five years and are part of the GOP's "Contract With America.

House Republicans have promised votes on welfare reform and nine other bills in the contract early next year.

Under their plan, legal immigrants would be barred from 60 different health, education, job training, nutrition, housing, cash and social service programs — from school lunches and foster care to rental and energy assistance.

GOP governors

are optimistic

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) -After years of disappointment, Republican governors are suddenly optimistic that their demands for less federal interference will be embraced by the new GOP Congress and a Democratic president looking to revive his political fortunes.

Getting their wishes could mean less federal money flowing to the states. But the GOP governors say they are willing to pay that price if Washington gives them more leeway in implementing welfare, health care, education and other programs.

"Give us the flexibility," was New Jersey Gov. Christine Todd Whitman's summary of what governors expect from the new Republican Congress.

The state GOP leaders were getting a chance to press their case today, when Senate GOP leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., and incoming House Speaker Newt Gingrich, RIGa., appear before

Lobbyist battle to retain turf

WASHINGTON (AP) - The securities industry is battling to protect its own long-term investment in a House committee that oversees its business, turning to lobbyists with Republican credentials for help.

The House's GOP leaders, including incoming Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., are considering shifting jurisdiction over the industry from the Energy and Commerce Committee, which has overseen it for decades, to the Banking Committee.

That may sound like an arcane, inside issue. But at stake is billions of dollars worth of business.

The fight, which has raged out of public view, illustrates a central Washington^{*} truth: For interest groups, it's more important which committee oversees your issues than which party controls Congress.

"You make an investment in certain members over time, and obviously there's going to be resistance to change," said one GOP official close to the battle.

Political action committees for the securities industry have given nearly $2 million in campaign funds to members of the Energy and Commerce panel over the past 12 years, according to an analysis by the National Library on Money and Politics. About one-third of that has gone to Republicans.

For years, securities giants like Morgan Stanley and Goldman Sachs have fought to protect their investment market from encroachment by banks, which would like to branch out into the brokerage business.

But legislative proposals to let banks do so have been killed because they are routinely referred to Energy and Commerce and its powerful chairman, Michigan Democratic Rep. John Dingell, who is on friendly terms with the securities indus-

Doctors think prognosis good for leukemia patient, new-born donor

CLEVELAND (AP) - A baby conceived in the hope that her bone marrow would halt the leukemia that's killing her 5year-old sister was born Monday, and doctors said the outlook is good for both girls.

Angelina Schwartz, at 19 inches, 7 pounds and 9.2 ounces, is the only member of her family whose bone marrow matches that of her sister, Christy.

Christy was diagnosed with leukemia when she was 11 months old. There's a 20 percent to 30 percent chance a transplant will cure her, said Dr. Susan B. Shurin.

Ordinarily, the donor gives actual bone marrow. But in this case, doctors will use blood and the cells will be transplanted early next year, probably by February, Shurin said.

"We wouldn't want to wait indefinitely, but we don't see any reason why the baby can't get to the point where she sleeps through the night and the family has a little less chaos in the home," Shurin said.

Physicans trying to head off Medicare cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) - Worried physicians are seeking to head off a new round of cuts in Medicare, asserting that many doctors already lose money treating elderly patients.

of Leaders organized medicine, testifying Monday before a panel that advises Congress on physician pay, bemoaned the fact that Medicare is such a tempting target for budget-cutters from both parties.

Every health reform bill on the table this year called for tens of billions of dollars in savings each year from the $160 billion government insurance program for 36 million elderly people or disabled workers.

President C'int wanted to add new benefits i the elderly while squeezing Medicare to help bring the deficit down. Next year Co gress, under Republican contra may be looking to Medicare anew to help pare e deficit or pay for tax cuts Whet 'or health reform or deficit led lion, "the result in either case would be the destruction of Medicare as we and our patients know it," Dr. James S. Todd, executive vice president of the American Medical Association, told the Physician Payment Review Commission.

Medicare now pays physicians only 59 cent for services that private insurers pay $1 for, according to the commission's figures.

Congress already has shaved billions of dollars from future Medicare payments to doctors and hospitals. Todd said a new round of cuts could leave Medicare paying just 34 percent of private payments by 2004.

The meeting was called by Police Chief Christopher Casey, who said he received hundreds of complaints since residents learned last week that Carroll had moved into their upscale suburb of 29,000.

Carroll, 51, was convicted in 1990 of raping his daughter. He served one year of a 10-year sentence. Under terms of his parole, he can have no contact with children or his daughter and must attend weekly group therapy sessions.

"I feel my past is truly my past," he said. "I will do no one any harm.

Sports Editor

With the losses Friday of the three playoff teams the Herald covered this season - the Big Spring Steers, the Sands Mustangs and the Greenwood Rangers - the high school season is finished in this newsroom. It's a relief to finally be able to concentrate on the new season - basketball - but it's hard not to miss Friday Night Fever. Picking football games was a blast. Notice that yours truly has waited until now, nearly two weeks after the fact, to brag about beating Herald sportswriter Steve Reagan in the Friday Football Forecast contest. Sorry, Steve - just couldn't hold it in any longer. After picking 80 of 102 games correctly - smells like 80 percent here's five words for you: Can't wait until next year!

It took the Lady Hawks (8-0) a few minutes to get going, but once they did, the Lady Wildcats could do little but watch.

It was Freshmen's Night Out at Garrett Coliseum Monday, with three of Howard's four leading scorers being underclassmen. Nakia Black from Tyler led the way with 17 points, with Kyna Cosby adding Angie Ricci was the only ACU player in double figures with 15 points.

Howard coach Terry Gray said the game was a good chance for some of the team's freshmen to make a contribution.

The game was good for the freshmen," he said. "It gave them the opportunity to get into the flow of things and get a lot of minutes. We had some nice surprises from our freshmen tonight. Kee-Kee (Nakia) Black came through with a big night, as well as Amy Earnst, stepping up and getting double figures for the first time in her young career." With Howard leading 8-4, Black scored nine consecutive points to launch a 23-4 run that ended with the Lady Hawks holding a more-than-comfortable 31-8 lead with four minutes left until the half.

Another run to start the second half - this one a 20-6 spurt that included eight points from Lacey - put a figurative fork in the Lady Wildcats. The Lady Hawks held a 61-22 lead with 11:52 remaining, and chants of "Go, Clock, Go," began being heard from the crowd.

Lady Hawk fans better have gotten their fill Monday, because the team begins the a mismatch.

Despite Lorenzo White's career-best 156 yards rushing, the Oilers lost their seventh straight game Monday night when David Treadwell hit a 37-yard field goal with 2 seconds remaining, lifting the New York Giants to a 13-10 victory. The outcome snapped the Giants' seven-game losing streak.

"It's not the way I wanted to start off," said new Houston head coach Jeff Fisher, who abandoned the Oilers' fourwideout passing scheme for a plodding ground attack. "But we'll take tomorrow off and then come back and start getting ready for the next game."

The victory was sweet redemption for Giants' quarterback Kent Graham, benched by coach Dan Reeves after last week's 10-9 loss to Arizona. Graham got another chance Monday when Dave Brown left the game in the second quarter with a concus sion.

Graham rallied the Giants after a scoreless first half. helping New York end its longest losing streak since 1980. He completed just six of 13 passes for 105 yards, but one was a 40-yard touchdown to Mike Sherrard and another a 55-yard pass to Sherrard that set up Treadwell's 26-year field goal early in the fourth quarter.

"This week's been a real tough week for me emotionally," Graham said. "I've been going back and forth, up and down all week. I just tried to hang in there and prepare myself for this game as best I could even though it was tough.'

"Kent laid the ball out for me, and it was a great pickup for us," said Sherrard, who had six catches for 109 yards. "It put us in great position."

Speaking of next year, that's what a lot of football teams are thinking about. Big Spring and Greenwood simply ran into better teams Friday, and there was little they could do, but what happened to Sands? The Mustangs were loaded this season - heck, six-man District 5 tailback. Other return sive starters besides Hill would Bucky quarterback be Crenshaw, tight end Daniel Franks and linemen Tim Rios and James Escobar.

Returners on defense would include all-district linebacker Robert Valencia - only a sophomore - and linemen Kinney Dupree and Jon Green.

The Steers will need new players to step up and fill some key spots, again as usual, but they have a good corps of returners to build on.

But hey - forget about this! It's basketball season now. Pass the pigskin to the left and spoon yourself some hoops.

33-14 victory over Oklahoma State, the top story in the Oklahoma City sports page the next day was not about the five touchdowns Jerald Moore scored. It was a report that said Gibbs would be resigning in the next day or so.

"The question I had to face was, 'Am I being fair to my family and to the team to continue as head football coach?" " The answer turned out to be no, so Gibbs announced Monday that he was stepping down effective at the end of the season. He said he was not forced out, and that he planned to coach the team through whatever bowl game the Sooners attend.

Oklahoma (6-4) concludes the regular season Friday at home against No. 1 Nebraska.

"Hopefully the focus can get off of me and the focus can get back on this football team," said Gibbs, who has four years remaining on his contract. Just last week, Gibbs denied newspaper reports that he would resign or that efforts to work out a resignation were under way.

But those reports resulted in a "media frenzy" that Gibbs said took a toll on his wife and two young daughters, and expedited a decision he had planned to make at season's end. "The focus was off our football team," he said. "Instead of talking about all the things we accomplished in the game, we were talking about me because of some inaccurate reporting. That's not fair to our football team, and it certainly became unfair to my family during the next couple days.

Gibbs has a record of 44-21-2, a .671 winning percentage, heading into Friday's game. He has guided Oklahoma back from probation and a national scandal, but has often been criticized for his cool demeanor and his record in big games.

The Sooners have finished no better than third in the Big Eight under Gibbs, and are only 2-14-1 in games against the Sooners' biggest rivals -Texas, Colorado and Nebraska.

IRVING (AP) - Dallas coach Williams on the injured reserve Barry Switzer believes Jason and cut defensive lineman Garrett can pull off a victory on Thanksgiving Day against Coleman Bell.

Aikman, who suffered a left knee ligament sprain in Sunday's 31-7 victory over Washington, walked with a limp around Valley Ranch on his 28th birthday.

"I'm still stiff and sore but it feels better than it did last night. I'll just have to see what my body tells me on this one,' Aikman said

"I'm going day to day and see how it goes," he said. "It could be two weeks or it could be five weeks from now. I'd be shocked if I felt good enough to play on Thursday. I don't see that as a possibility but I'm not going to rule it out.

Aikman had a sprained knee ligament in 1991 and missed five games.

"I was suited up for the second game (after that injury) and could have played," said Aikman, still miffed that former coach Jimmy Johnson went with Steve Beuerlein into the playoffs. "It wasn't my choice but I could have played."

Peete's ligament damage in his right thumb wasn't as severe as first feared.

"It won't have to be operated on." Switzer said. "He might be back for the Philadelphia game on Dec. 4.'

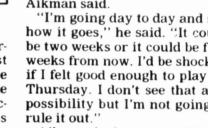

Switzer said the team has confidence in Garrett, who has been on the active roster for two years and has completed 10-of-23 passes for 65 yards.

"He's an extremely intelligent player like most Princeton kids are, and he knows our offense as well as any quarterback, Switzer said.

BIG SPRING HERALD Tuesday, November 22, 1994

HOROSCOPE

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 23, 1994

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Loosen up and have fun. Creativity surges. You feel naturally good. Partners are there for you. A financial problem eases up. Listen to your instincts, remain upbeat and don't overdo it. A partner may reverse a stand. Tonight: Start Thanksgiving celebrations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Focus on home and family. You feel clearer than in a long time and are willing to go to the next step. Understanding others' perspective is important. Listen carefully to what is imposed upon you. Be clear about what you want. Tonight: Your home is your castle. ****

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Communications are active. A loved one speaks up, making you want to be more open about your feelings. Be vulnerable and clear about your desires. Another cares. Good communications and happy times surround you. Tonight: Celebrate an early weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Expenses could be overwhelming, but you feel clear and willing to spend for the family. Listen to your instincts regarding others. Be positive about your communications, and be aware of priorities. Confusion about a friend resolves itself. Tonight: Indulge another. ****

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You are happy and feel better than you have. You ease up and are personality-plus. Be clear in your communications and others respond. Someone wants to be close. Family members play a role. Be considerate with a family member. Tonight: As you like it. *****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Gain information and say little. Communications are active, and financial matters open up. You do well. Listen to your instincts, and follow through on priorities. Be aware of events. A loving approach gets you far. Tonight: Vanish with a favorite person. *****

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Focusing helps you attain banner year with the two of goals and handle issues better.

Your act responsibly You consider previously rejected alternatives and focus on change. Be aware of what you want. Listen carefully to what's happening, and be positive. You are in the limelight. Partners prove to be most adoring. Tonight: Out and about. ****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your spirit soars. Surprising opportunities pop up from out of the blue. You can communicate important matters. Others respond to your energy. Be considerate. Reach out for a relative or another who is at a distance and needs attention. Tonight: Take a drive. *****

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): One-to-one relating is highlighted. Creativity and understanding are high. Listen to your instincts with others. Know your goals and direction. Change your approach and you will feel better. Be aware of what you need to be happy. Tonight: Go for togetherness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Great news surrounds you. You are willing to handle a problem in a new way. Listen to your instincts. Follow-through counts. You own availability is high. Partners seek you out. Good news surrounds you, and you finally clear a problem. Tonight: Be happy. *****

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Discuss a situation and get to the bottom of it. Your creativity is high. Your understanding is important to another. One-toone relating flourishes. News from a distance causes celebration. Get ready for an important visit or trip. Tonight: Lastminute details. ****

IF NOV. 23 IS YOUR BIRTH-DAY: Travel opportunities and expansion are highlighted. This is an unusually successful year. You start a new luck cycle next month. Opportunities come from your ability to detach and learn more. Someone from a different culture could play a key role. If you are single: You could meet someone very unusual; prospects for success are strong. If attached, this is a you taking an important trip that you have long considered.

DEAR ABBY: I was very much amused to read all those letters about zippers. Here's my contribution:

During World War II, we folks in the U.S. were sending 'Bundles for Britain," and in one of my bundles, I enclosed a pair of men's slacks. It had a zipper on the fly, and zippers had not yet been introduced in London.

I received a very nice thankyou from the recipient of the slacks saying he had spent an entire evening demonstrating the zipper, and he was the life of the party. - A.E. KAEPPEL, HOUSTON
