County Engineer S. M. Snoddy, who has been spending the Christmas holidays with relatives in the state of Kentucky, surprised his many friends in this city today, by returning here with a bride. The wedding took place on January 3rd, at the home of the bride's parents, in Bowling Green, and was a quiet affair. Mr. Snoddy says that as soon as a suitable location can be secured, that he and his wife will be at home to friends in a house of their own in this city.

The following which was taken from

be held at Baltimore on June 25, just one week after the Republican National convention, which convenes at Chicago on June 18.

At first it appeared that money alone would determine which city should get the National convention, and on this score it seemed as though Baltimore would win. Then it was discovered, according to Wilson men, that the Harmon-Underwood-Clark influence was pulling to place the convention in St. Louis, whereupon the Wilson men on the National commitby a vote of 29 to 22. Nothing was heard of the rumored resolution abrograte the two-thirds rule, but the ler. Presidential primary resolution went

If it had been necessary to get an expression of the National committee in favor of the abrogation of the rule, it would have been an easy matter to obtain it, because can state with certainty, after a canvass of the Democratic National Com mittee, that thirty out of the fiftytwo members have assured me that they are for Wilson for President."

It is significant that besides adopting the Chamberlain resolution authorizing the selection at primary elections of delegates to the National convention, when State, Territory or district committees so desire, the National committee also named Noras chairman of the arrangement committee which has the selection of the temporary chairman of the conven-

In the executive session this afternoon Senator Owen of Okalhoma is said to have introduced a resolution proposing that the National Demoratic organization recognize the Hearst Progressive League. Mr. Owen explained that his idea was to make the league an auxiliary to the party and that the Democratic party should assist the league in its precincts organization.

The adoption of the Chamberlain esolution, authorizing the holding of primary elections for the delegation o the National convention whenever o desired by State. Territory or dis trict communities, has given the prinary movement a strong impetus and t is regarded as probable that not only will a large number of delegates to the National convention be named by primary elections, but a number of States will probably pass laws requiring the election of these delegates by direct vote.

"Now that the Democratic National Committee has spoken," said Representative Burleson last night, "I hope he State Democratic Committee will respond to the recommendations and resolutions that the two houses of the Teas Legislature adopted so over whelmingly and order the State primary to determine the Presidential preference of the Texas Democrati and elect the delegates to the Na tional convention. I want to see this primary because I am for Woodrow Wilson for President, and I feel that if the Democratic voters are permitted by the State committee to express their sentiments in a direct vote the state of Texas will be overwhelmingy for Gov. Wilson for President," The primary resolution adopted was modification of one proposed by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. It was framed by a subcommittee headed by Clark Howell and was as fol-

"That in the choice of delegates and alternates to the National Demoratic convention of 1912 the Demo ratic State or Territorial committees may, if not otherwise directed by law of such States or Territories, provide for the direct election of such delegates or alternates if, in the opinion of the respective committees, it is deemed desirable and possible to do so with proper and sufficient safe-guards. Where such provision is not made by the respective committees for the choice of delegates and alternates and where the State laws do not provide specifically the manner of such choice, then the delegates and alternates to the said National con-vention shall be chosen in the manner that governed the choice of delegates from the respective States and Ter-ritories to the last National Demo-

GOOD RESULTS WERE OBTAINED

COLLECTED BY J. W CAMPBELL SHOWS KAFFIR CORN PROFITABLE

Much Interest Taken In Girl's Tomato Club and Boy's Corn Club

Surprisingly good results in the growing of kaffir corn planted after the destructive hall storm last July are shown in the reports being collected by J. W. Campbell in charge $22,000,000. The institution has a of the agricultural demonstration total of 2500 customers, and made work in this section. After the hall storm a number of farmers planted their devastated fields in kaffir corn. Reports collected by Mr. Campbell for the government shows a yield of from twenty-five to fifty busehis an acre. The reports of J. D. Cooper who lives on Red River, north of town shows an average yield of fifty ushels per acre grown at a cost of fraction over fourteen cents a bush d. Another man reported a yield of forty bushels at an average cost of seventeen cents. A number of demonstration tracts will be planted in kaffir corn by farmers this season and cultivated according to the instructions of the povernment experts. For results obained under the most discouraging conditions last year it is believed that caffir corn will become a very proitable side crop here.

Mr. Campbell is now very busy in getting things lined up for the coming season. He is organizing a boy's cotton club. Already over 100 memers have been enrolled and others are joining daily. A girls tomato club has been organized with over sixty members and greater interest than ever is being manifested among the farmers in this work this year

Mr. Campbell says that the boy's corn club is still open for members and any boy wishing to enroll should send in his name and address. Boys from 10 to 18 years of age are eligi both Dallas and Galveston. It is not thought here that Murchison will play professional baseball, having a tucrative insurance business, although his admirers believe he would experience no difficulty in making good with a Texas League club.

rich and becoming costumes. Fur

If one can afford to be extravagant, a coat suit of fur would not be con-spicuous. Moleskin or baby lamb will be the fur chosen for this cos-tume, but if grace is desired other material must be selected. There, however, models in which the supple furs are used in considerable. quantity and with very good effect. These are combined with velvet, satir or chiffon of the same tone in color, which offsets the contrast in mi

Sometimes a soft dull blue, rose violet is introduced to relieve the neutral tone. Any of these color-armonizes exquisitely with the taupe. A handsome suit of this class and a short-waisted coat, buttoned traited to the front to the three straight up the front to the throa a close fitting peplum was slashe up to the girdle on the left side where a large buckle of dull blue clot embroidered in silver finished th girdle. The same coloring and ma erial appeared upon the collar, cuffs and buttons. This coat was worn over dress of taupe velvet and chiffon with touches of blue and silver abou the bodice. A deep band of moleskin inished the bottom of the skirt.

There are delightful models tupe satin trimmed with black velvet or black and white combinations of any material. Usually this is applied in bands, being far too expensive to be used lavishly. A frock of black relvet and satin had a real lace collar edged with ermine. This was an exceptionally successful dress. Band. of ermine are often used on evening rocks, but a dark fur usually prove. more effetcive. On the deep purple and mulberry velvets skunk is used n great profusion. Moleskin also combines well with these velvets.

Furs are not only used for entire tollettes, coats, capes, neck pieces and for trimming frocks and bodices. wraps and coats but are equally popular as trimming in milinery. Both the long and the short haired varieties are in use. Skunk is perhaps the most popular. Imitation seal is frequently seen, and ermine and mole are much used, in addition to real seal on high class models. Skunk and opossum are employed in wide and narrow bands, the narrower bands being used like a fringe on the edge of the brim and to outline the edges of loops or donkey ears of velvet, lace, maline, etc. Frequent use is made of a narrow roll of use is made of a narrow roll of Within the next few weeks the skunk, opossum, mole or ermine loop on the Long Island City plaza crown, with a flat box

In the every large picture shapes are crown and upper brim are covered with seal, moleskin or ermine, while the under brim is into operation. This will be the first faced with velvet, silk maline, lace or some such material. A French model with broad brim and low, round crown had the crown and upper side of the brim covered with imitation seal, while the under brim was faced with cerise colored velvet. Gold roses with cerise velvet hearts formed the only trimming. Many models are shown with crown furs as seal, mole, beaver, ermine, more novel furs like raccoon, leopard skin and civet cat are also being em ployed. Fur, combined with gold or sliver lace, is an attractive combination. Velvet hats show the crown covered with gold lace, or an edge of lace will be applied on either the upper or the under side of the brim, while a band of fur may be passed around the grown and edge loops of velvet ribbon or ears of heavy lace, velvet, satin or other material.

The white or ecru lace which is used for hats is usually of the heaviest variety, such as Macrame. Venice, Irish, etc., while the black laces are favored in the lightest rarieties, such as Chantilly and the shadow laces. A large French model in black velvet had a flounce of black shadow lace gathered around the base of the crown, permitting the edge to fall over the brim. Around the base of the crown was a narrow strip of skunk while a second strip encircled the upper side of the brim midway between the crown and the edge. At the side was a bunch of black paradise aigrettes.

There is a return to favor of the dressy walst of lace or net and its variations: Cream and ecru shades prevail, and about an equal propor-tion of light and heavy laces are seen in the combination. Lace will be used for the best evening dresses Several tones will be used togethe as well as several kinds of lace. Blond lace in half heavy meshes will be worn. A most lovely eyening Princess g own recently seem was made with the top of cream malino lace. The tunic was an extension of the same, and this was over a flesh pink Chan-tilly lace, which in turn was put over a black chiffon skirt. Everything was in points. The tunic was cut in points finished with tassels, and the train fell in two points at the side and had black tassels. Imitation Imitation

Stray Topics From Little Old New York

New York, Jan. 8 .- During the week after Christmas three men vanted by the authorities for various disdeeds surrendered to the police f this city. Whether it was the oftening effect of Christmas thoughts hich awakened their conscience or ome other erason which prompted hem, is not known, but it is a strange coincidence that the three nalefactors surrendered, for the peace of their minds, within a few lays from Christmas. The first to rive himself up was Andrew McCon nell, founder of the "Universal Science," who had shot his wife at ore. The man, who is evidently inane, was divorced from his wife in uly and shot her because he believd she was conspiring to have him disced in an insane asylum.

vife was not dangerously wounded. The next one to surrender was John Felding, former cashier of the vorthwestern Gas, Light & Coke Co., of that city; who walked into police neadquarters the other day and conessed that he had stolen $4000 of he company's money in August of 1910. He said that his consience roubled him so much that he could not sleep and was unable to find any peace of mind at any time.

The third to surrender was a young man who had been implicated in a murder in this city in February, 1908, had been arrested at the time and placed under bond, but had jumped his bail and left the city. Troubled by his conscience, he telephoned to the nearest police station and asked that an officer be sent to the saloon where he was at the time to arrest ed.

of the Queensbore Bridge is likely to the be completed, and the Third Avenue surface cars will then run from Man hattan across the new bridge into Long Island City and return by way of the new loop. Bridge Commissio er O'Keeffe has set January 15 as the probable date for the completion of his work, and officials of the Third Avenue line say, they are ready, and direct transit between Manhattan and Queens ever put in operation.

The recent identification of several burglars in this city by means of finger-prints which they weer incautious nough to have behind them has evidently taught a lesson to other members of their profession. There have been several burglaries here of fur and a flange of the same edg- lately, the perpetrators of which were ing the brim.
