SNEED'S LETTERS ARE OFFERED

STATE OBJECTED TO INTRODUCTION OF LETTERS WRITTEN BY DEFENDANT WHILE SEARCHING FOR WIFE.

BELIEVED WIFE INSANE

W. H. Fuqua, Prominent Amarillo Banker On Stand for Defense.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 9.—Testimony to show that Sneed believed his wife insane when she eloped with Al Boyce, Jr., was introduced by the defense this morning. W. H. Fuqua, an Amarillo banker, took the stand and told of talk with Sneed before the killing of A. G. Boyce. The defense this morning tried to introduce a letter written by Sneed while in New York searching for his wife. The state objected and Judge Swayne gave the state until 2 o'clock to present rulings why the letter should be barred. Among passages cited from the letter is: "Why, God should permit me to suffer and yet let me live." Another is: "If Lena were here—and was herself I know she would sympathize with me instead of killing me by degrees and would want me to live for the children no matter how hard it would be."

Sidelights of the Trial.

Though the testimony introduced at the morning session of court doubtless was of prime importance, it was of little interest to the curious crowd and the court room, which early in the day was full almost to its capacity was partly empty during the morning until practically everyone could obtain a seat.

Women were distinctly in the minority during the morning session and those who stayed throughout the hearing busied themselves by watching Sneed and his two children, except during the time that Farwell was giving testimony relative to the early stages of the elopement of Mrs. Sneed and Al G. Boyce, Jr. This testimony, given by the man who bought tickets for young Boyce on the day of the elopement, was heard eagerly not only by those directly interested, but by those whose only object in attending the hearing was to satisfy curiosity. The two least interested listeners, apparently, were Lenora and Georgia Sneed, 9 and 6 years old respectively, who twisted and squirmed in their seats with all the unconcern proper to their ages.

Lenora, the oldest of the two children, was sitting beside her father, while Georgia Beal twisted and wriggled and squirmed in his lap. Lenora was interested. She liked the crowd—and the crowd seemed to like her. Every three or four minutes Lenora would rise from her chair and crane her little neck to see what the man who was doing so much talking looked like. Then the corners of her mouth would curl up a little and she'd coolly survey the roomful of people. And almost every time she'd swap a smile with someone. It always was a trade, too, for seemingly there wasn't a chance of resisting the appealing little way she had of "sorter" wrinkling up her eyes and laughing with them, meanwhile letting her mouth relax in a half smile, ever so prim and proper.

Chances are Lenora would have stood up all the time if it hadn't been for her father. Now and then he'd reach out and catch the sleeve of her long black coat, pulling her back to the seat beside him. The movement was always gentle, however, and every time he brought her back he smiled at her—with his eyes—just as she smiled back at him and everyone else who looked to her like they needed a smile.

Toward the close of the morning session she took off her coat. Then her father was forced to clutch the sleeve of her white shirtwaist.

Georgia Beal was more restive than Lenora. She didn't seem to understand exactly what was going on and

PROPERTY OWNERS' HEARING FEB. 22

By a resolution adopted at the meeting last night, the night of Feb. 22 was set for a hearing for property owners before the city council to show cause why liens should not be foreclosed against certain property to satisfy debts alleged to be due the city on account of paving work. The property owners and the amounts are as follows: Mrs. C. E. Brown, $318.57; E. U. Avery, $159.26; and Mrs. Sarah E. Boyd $135.

WEATHER FORECAST.

CHIEF OF PLANT INDUSTRY BUREAU

Dr. B. T. Galloway is chief of the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture, and is devoting a great deal of attention just now to a new system of grading cotton that is expected to revolutionize the buying and selling of cotton throughout the world.

IMPORTANT ISSUE IS INVOLVED

Right of Incorporated Towns to Proscribe Closing Hours for Pool Halls and Saloons.

Mathis and Kay of this city are attorneys for the relator in an important suit that has been taken to the court of criminal appeals. It is the case of ex parte Jesse Farley to test the authority of the town of Memphis in Hall county to enact an ordinance closing all pool halls in that town at nine o'clock every night.

The Austin Statesman says that a perusal of the record shows that attorney for the relator indirectly brings into the case the right of any city to close its saloons at 9 o'clock or any other hour if they so desire, by a city ordinance, and make the point that a city has as much authority to close saloons before 12 o'clock as required by the Robertson-Fitzhugh law as they have to close pool halls at any certain hour.

Whether or not the Court of Criminal Appeals will take up this last matter remains to be seen. It is to be noted that this is an appealed habeas corpus proceeding in which the relator is not under arrest. Since he is not under arrest and did not secure release from the court, it is possible that the appeal may be dismissed because of an imperfect record.

In the case it is shown that the city of Memphis passed an ordinance requiring pool rooms to close at 9:00 o'clock. No penalty is found in this ordinance, but another ordinance is found authorizing the Mayor to impose a fine of not more than $20 wherever it is found that no penalty is provided for violation of a specific ordinance. The city of Memphis seeks to justify the ordinance under article 431 of the statutes, giving cities authority "to license, tax and regulate billiard tables, etc." The contention is made by attorneys for the relator that pool and billiard tables are licensed and regulated by the general State law and therefore any city ordinance to the same effect can not be enacted. Previous opinions of the court to sustain this position are quoted. It is denied that the word "regulate" gives any city any more authority to provide a specific closing time for closing pool halls, in view of the general statute regulating them, than it does to provide early closing hours for the saloons, which are also regulated by the general law.

Box of Dynamite Exploded

By Associated Press. Waxahachie, Feb. 9.—Fire hit near a box of dynamite in a gravel pit this morning caused injury to three men. Sparks from the fire fell in the dynamite, and the men were hit by the flying splinters and stones.

GOMPERS HAD NO IDEA OF CONTEMPT

Labor Leader Testifies That Speeches and Editorials Were Made Solely in Behalf of Workers.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—"The speeches I made during 1908 were in support of the candidate and party which promised the labor movement relief from the system of federal injunction which has grown up."

"I made those speeches because I believed I had the right of free speech. If I exercised that right I must go to jail and I would feel the loss of my liberty keenly. I will face that jail sentence and will not flinch."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made this statement today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, where he is on trial for contempt. He admitted that he made such charges in Indianapolis and Baltimore which, attorneys prosecuting him insist were in contempt. Mr. Gompers today disregarded the instructions of his counsel, Alton B. Parker, and answered questions which he could have avoided by strict court procedure.

President Gompers was excused from the witness stand to permit John Mitchell to testify. Mr. Mitchell stated under oath that he had not signed editorials and circulars from the American Federationist, in the boycott case from which his sentence for contempt developed, but he did not disclaim co-responsibility for them. He was asked about his speeches at Toronto and Indianapolis in which he scored the injunction issued by Justice Gould, and the contempt sentences imposed by Justice Wright.

Mr. Mitchell looked intently into the face of Justice Wright as he began. He spoke quietly but feelingly. "When I was sentenced to nine months in prison," he said, "I felt it keenly. It was under peculiarly trying circumstances that I discussed it afterward. I felt then and feel now that this court had no right and should not have the right to sentence men to prison for contempt."

"It was for the rights of the American working men that I spoke. I wanted to arouse my fellow workmen to the crisis which is developing in this country because of the abuse of the injunction power, which, in my opinion, has done more to lessen the confidence of the people in the integrity of the courts."

A few drops of fluid taken from the spine of Frederick Gates the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gates, who died yesterday morning, have been sent to the state bacteriologist at Austin for examination. It is probable a report will be received by Monday when it will be definitely known whether or not the child has been afflicted with meningitis.

NEW ORDINANCE IS PROPOSED

REGULATION OF WATER, GAS AND LIGHT SERVICE IS THE OBJECT.

UP AT NEXT MEETING

Council Already Agreed On Most of Its Provisions.

The city council last night discussed in an informal way the draft of an ordinance for the regulation of water, gas and light service submitted several months ago by City Attorney Householder and the proposed ordinance was made an order of business at the meeting of the council on the night of February 22. In the meantime copies of the proposed ordinance will be placed in the hands of the councilmen and the given the corporations affected and it is expected that some decisive action will be taken. The ordinance sets forth that it does not repeal in its entirety any franchise ordinance now in existence and when it conflicts with parts of any such ordinance such parts in conflict will be repealed.

It provides that the maximum charge to consumers of water who use not to exceed 4000 gallons per month shall be one dollar per month or twelve dollars a year payable in advance in installments of six months. The purpose of the yearly minimum payable in advance is to permit the shortage in the winter months to be equalized as far as it will the excess in the summer months. The twelve dollar a year minimum to be paid in advance is to be at the option of the consumer.

The rate for current for lights is fixed at 11 cents per kilowatt hour for the first fifty kilowatt hours and 7 cents per kilowatt hour above fifty.

The charge for gas is fixed at 25 cents per thousand feet. The ordinance provides that on or before the first of each month the consumer shall be sent an itemized statement of water, gas or electric current used, meter readings, etc.

Another section reads: "No company or corporation nor person engaged in furnishing either water, light or gas... shall cut off from any consumer his supplies because of failure to make payment of bill rendered... unless actual notice has been given consumer at least 48 hours before same is cut off, naming the day and hour when such water, gas or light would be turned off."

It is provided that service shall be resumed promptly upon the payment of such bill and that no charge over $1 shall be made for re-making connection.

Where the payment of bills is required in advance a discount of five per cent shall be given and where a deposit is required the company requiring the deposit shall pay the consumer interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum.

Charges for the moving or setting of meters are forbidden. Upon written complaint of the consumer a test of meters shall be made under the supervision of the city engineer. If the meter is found too fast the company shall pay the fee for the test and if found too slow the consumer shall pay the same.

The ordinance further provides that extensions must be made to any block when the consumers on such blocks will consume enough of water, gas or light to pay an amount equal to twenty-five per cent of the cost of such extension within one year. The ordinance also provides where consumers are on a line privately constructed and an extension is made under the conditions above named they shall be connected with such extension without charge.

Most of the provisions of the ordinance have been agreed upon by the members of the council.

HALF MILLION WAS PRICE PAID

RED RIVER CO. SELLS HOLDINGS AT ELECTRA TO CORSIANA PETROLEUM CO.

TWELVE HUNDRED PER CT.

Stockholders of Company Making Sale Cleared Up Big Profits in Few Months.

Waxahachie, Texas, Feb. 9.—Half a million dollars was the consideration of an oil deal here last night whereby the Red River Oil Company sold its holdings in the Electra field to the Corsicana Petroleum Company. It is estimated that the sale and dividends that have been in the six months that the company has been in operation have netted the stockholders of the company over twelve hundred per cent. Only a few weeks ago the company declared a cash dividend of 100 per cent.

The foregoing Associated Press dispatch was received by The Times this afternoon and while none of the officers either of the two companies concerned in the deal here have authority to confirm or deny the report it is generally accepted as true. Such a sale has been rumored for a week or more and high officials of the two companies have been in close conference here.

The dispatch does not state and it could not be learned this afternoon whether all of the holdings of the Red River Company were included in the deal. If all is included it is the general opinion that the property was sold cheap at the price. The Red River Company owned about 160 acres in fee simple and its daily production amounted to something over 3000 barrels daily. In addition to its land held in fee in the heart of the field the company had other valuable leases which have not yet been developed.

It had been reported that the Pierce-Fordyce Company had been negotiating with the Red River Company for its holdings and oil men are puzzled to know why that company would permit such valuable producing property get away from them at the price. It is believed that the Pierce-Fordyce Company will be the buyer of the next good piece of property sold. The principal stockholders of the Red River Company are Waxahachie people, who before beginning operations at Electra, had cleaned up handsome profits in the Tulsa territory.

TEXAS DELEGATION MAY BE UNINSTRUCTED

Republicans Apparently Opposed to Roosevelt Plan—Compromise May Arise.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 9.—If Col. Cecil Lyon, State chairman of the Republican Executive Committee and National committeeman, attempts to send a Roosevelt delegation to the Republican National convention from Texas he may find considerable opposition from the Federal officers of this State who have always worked with him on previous occasions, say Republicans here.

Gen. Webster Planagan of Austin, Collector of Internal Revenue, is the first one to openly declare he is for Taft and will oppose Col. Lyon if any efforts are made to send an anti-Taft delegation.

In view of this contingency it is probable that a compromise will be effected and an uninstructed delegation sent. This, it is asserted, will be a victory for Col. Lyon for he will be able to control this delegation. Some of the well-informed say it is probable that the four delegates-at-large from the State will be Col. Cecil A. Lyon of Sherman, Judge J. O. Terrell of San Antonio, Col. John N. Simpson, of Dallas and Hon. Ed C. Lasater of Falfurrias.

The funeral of Frederick Gates, Jr., the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gates, who died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, took place from the family residence at 1106 Broad street this morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. J. L. McKee conducting a short funeral service at the grave. There were many friends of the family to attend the funeral, and the floral offerings were beautiful. Out of respect to the parents of the dead child, the doors of the First National Bank, of which Mr. Gates is a director, and the wholesale house of Carroll-Brough-Robinson-Gates were closed until 1 p. m.

WILL LET NEW LIGHT CONTRACT

COUNCIL WILL RECEIVE BIDS FOR STREET LIGHTS ON FEBRUARY 22.

THREE YEARS CONTRACT

Proposals Asked On Fifteen, Twenty and Twenty-Five Lights.

The city council will receive bids on the night of February 22 for street lights. The bids are to be made for lights of the same lighting power as the same light installed at the corner of Ninth and Indiana avenue and proposals for fifteen, twenty and twenty-five lights will be received for a period of three years. Heretofore the city has been paying for only twelve lights and the contract with the Wichita Falls Water and Light Co., expired several months ago. Members of the council last night discussed informally the advisability of the city owning its own light plant and while all agreed that this should be done there was the same unanimity of belief that now was not an expedient time.

The reports of the city officials were received and checked at last night's meeting and several other matters were taken up. Walter Priddy appeared to ask that the city take over a fire hydrant installed on the north side of the river by the Wichita Mill and Elevator Co., but no action was taken. Mr. Reichert of the street committee reported that he had conferred with Engineer Gowdy of the Fort Worth and Denver and that the latter had promised the immediate repair of Mill street. The city was authorized to enter an appearance in the suit of W. H. Downing vs. the Wichita Falls Independent School District to clear the title to lots 8 and 9 in block 214. Mr. Dobson was granted a permit to erect two electric signs advertising Hill and Hill whiskey.

HEARST ACCUSES MRS. HETTY GREEN

New York, Feb. 9.—Mrs. Hetty Green, known as the richest woman in the world, "attempted to extort money" from William Randolph Hearst, according to C. M. Bovee, attorney for the editor, who obtained an order in court directing Mrs. Green to appear and show cause why she should not be compelled to accept $275,000, with interest up till last Monday, in payment of a mortgage she held on Hearst properties.

Mrs. Green, Bovee stated, refused to cancel the mortgage unless paid $145,000 additional interest, which he said, "the richest woman" claimed when Mr. Hearst's representatives called on her last Monday.

Today Mr. Bovee withdrew the order, saying Mrs. Green had "captivated and turned over the mortgage for the amount named by Mr. Hearst." Mrs. Green is quoted as saying: "The charge that I tried to extort money is absurd. I simply asked Mr. Hearst's representatives to wait until the return of my son, who was handling the business, and when they refused I added thirty days' interest, to which I believed I was entitled under the law."

MEXICAN SOLDIERS TO CROSS TEXAS

Will Go From Eagle Pass to El Paso On Account of Burned Bridges on Mexican Central.

By Associated Press. Eagle Pass, Tex., Feb. 9.—A detachment of United States cavalry left Ft. Clark at 1 o'clock this morning on a forced march to Eagle Pass to meet the troop train of Mexican soldiers and escort them across Texas to El Paso. They are expected to arrive this afternoon. This is necessary because of burned bridges on the Mexican Central to Juarez. Everything is quiet in the State of Coahuila.

Texas Hasn't Yet Granted Permission. Austin, Feb. 9.—Governor Colquitt has not yet granted permission to the Mexican troops to pass over Texas territory. The State department at Washington is reported to have given the Mexican government permission to do so, but the state department advised the Governor to ask if he had objections, and Colquitt is considering the matter. In the event permission is not granted, the Mexican troops would be stopped by the Texas Rangers.

CHILD RESCUED FROM BOTTOM OF 60 FOOT WELL BY NEGRO LAD

(Wills Point Chronicle)

Imagine a three-year-old child at the bottom of a sixty-foot bored well and calling for someone to come and get it and you have something of the feeling that spread over the large crowd at Canton Monday when the news passed from lip to lip early afternoon that the little child of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stepp, residing about two and a half miles north of Canton on the Canton and Edgewood road, had fallen feet foremost into an abandoned bored well which was some 60 feet deep.

There is nothing that so touches the hearts of all classes, all ages, all conditions, as a child in trouble and it can well be imagined that a shout almost went up from the crowd when the glad news came that the child had been rescued alive and without serious injury.

The hero of the hour was Elbert Gray, a negro boy fifteen years of age and the son of Bud Gray. The boy is small for his age and was thus enabled to go head downward into the small hole and fasten a rope around the child's body by which means it was drawn from its perilous position, a feat requiring nerve, courage and worthiness of a Carnegie medal.

The well was at the home of Vernon Stepp, in drilling it a rock had been struck some 60 feet down and the well had been abandoned for a new location. Unfortunately it had not been covered over and had not been curbed. It was of the ordinary bored well type making a hole some 13 or 14 inches in diameter. The baby's grandmother Stepp saw the little toddler just as its unsteady and unknowing footsteps went into the well and the little body shot downward to the bottom. The alarm was spread rapidly and soon neighbors and men from town began to assemble, all intent on devising some means by which the child might be rescued, and stout hearts quaked as the baby's piteous voice pleaded out from its narrow prison, "Mama, come lit me out."

"Dranna, come dit me out." This brought the assurance, however, that the child was still alive and this assurance gave strength to men and women—some frantic, some cool and deliberate—in their efforts to devise some means of rescue. With the aid of a reflected light the child could be plainly seen and an effort was made to loop a rope about its body, but the little mind could not understand and the little arms fought off the life-saving rope. The frantic mother begged to be lowered into the well to rescue her child and clad in her own attire, with ropes attached to her feet she made the attempt but her shoulders were too broad to allow her entrance in the well.

It was apparent that the only hope was to secure some person whose body was small enough and who was not brave enough to go into the well, and a messenger had been dispatched to town for this purpose. It was the result of this trip that brought the negro boy to the scene.

He expressed his readiness to undertake the task and was first lowered into the well feet first. In this way he managed to catch the arm of the child, but when about half way up the wristband of the child's clothing gave way and the little fellow for the second time dropped to the bottom of the well. Hearts turned sick when the ailing child told listening ears what had happened. The boy was drawn out and though his head was bleeding from scratches on the walls of the well, he was ready to try again and this time his body was carried in the well head foremost. He overcame the end of an extra rope which he fastened securely about the child's body. "All rights, pull me out," he called and there was deathly silence as willing hands drew him out, closely followed by the baby and there were few dry eyes as the little tot, spattered with mud but still alive, was placed in the arms of its shouting mother. Although it had been in the well for nearly four hours, Dr. M. L. Cox, who had been called soon after the accident and whose wise counsel had much to do with the final rescue, pronounced its injuries apparently confined to a few bruises of no serious consequence.

The negro boy whose courage and heroism made the rescue possible was not forgotten; those present at the well at the time making up a purse of $25, which was sweetly considered by the crowd in town when he reached there, and one negro boy had reflected undying credit on his race. On all sides he was given unstinted praise for his heroic act.

And while men and women told and retold the story of the little child in the well and its rescue, father and mother were almost overcome with joy and the mother pressed her precious babe to her bosom and lavished the mother love upon it even as she had never done before, and thanked God for its delivery.

Fortunately there was no "damp" in the well, and that the child was not seriously hurt by the two falls was marvelous. It can be accounted for only by the narrowness of the walls which possibly impeded the downward progress and the further possibility of the air pressure underneath the child breaking in some degree the force of the fall—or was it Angels?

News From Oil Fields

Work was interrupted at the Big Pasture company's well at Loveland Saturday and Sunday, owing to the storm and cold weather, but was resumed Monday. The drill is down several hundred feet and indications continue to be of the best, and to point almost surely to a paying strike at a reasonable depth.—Frederick Leader.

Farmers in the neighborhood of Thacker schoolhouse are preparing to organize a company to bore for oil and gas. It is proposed to organize a company which shall include the owners and within an area of three miles square, for all the owners to be stockholders and to lease their farms to the company. If this is done the company will hire some man or company to sink a prospect hole. A meeting is to be held at Thacker schoolhouse one night this week to take the preliminary organization steps.—Frederick Leader.

The bit which was lost in the Campbell well, ten miles southeast of Frederick, was recovered Friday and work at boring was resumed. No work was done Saturday, owing to the high wind later in the day it was announced that the boiler was in need of repairs and that these would have to be brought from Electra or Wichita Falls, Texas.

Boiler repairs were made Wednesday and a report from the well yesterday morning said that drilling had been resumed. Various reports were circulated concerning this well and the men interested in it during the week. One report was to the effect that operations had been stopped because the farmers in that locality had failed to give the prospectors enough cases to satisfy them. This trouble was reported to have been adjusted yesterday. Residents of the country about the well are confident that oil exists there and that the big drill is very near it.—Frederick Leader.

The Hivick and Flanigan well on the northwest corner of section ten, just one mile east of the Electra townsite, found thousand foot sand last Friday and shows up for a good well, they were in a clay formation just above the sand and before they could set their packer and case off, their hole filled up and since then they have been drilling the cave and have not yet reached the bottom of the hole. The oil is showing up and the best of talent is confident that the well will be a good one. This well means an extension of a mile to the east.—Electra News.

The well on the Mrs. Grace Jennings and section 11 is looking good in the 900 foot sand and promises to be a good producer. The bringing in of his well will extend the field one mile to the southwest. The Pierce-Polyce Association are putting down this well and will be in the field of production as well as strong competitors in the oil market against the Magnolia and Texas companies. The oil sand was found Tuesday afternoon and the drill was allowed to pass through the cap rock only a few inches, yet enough oil was hauled out to cover the slush pit. It will probably be drilled in this week.—Electra News.

Several new locations have been made the past week. There are 5 new ones on the R. S. Allen lease, we are informed.—Electra News.

The Showers well, 1 mile south of farrow was shut down this week, waiting the arrival of Wm. Morris who has been wired to come immediately as they were on a sand. It looks favorable for the western developments to make good in some of the tests as the Board of Trade well north of Vernon has had a very encouraging show.—Electra News.

ELECTRA MAY SECURE ANOTHER RAILROAD

E. Head of Wichita Falls Submits Proposition That is Favorably Considered.

(Electra News)

It seems now almost certain that Electra will have another railroad within the next twelve months. At a meeting held last week, Mr. J. E. Head, of Wichita Falls, met with a number of our business men and capitalists and negotiations were started whereby Electra has a good chance to get a new railroad. It is proposed to build a railroad running northeast from Electra and crossing the Red River north and east of Electra and north of the Wichita Falls & Northwestern Railway. Grading is to begin within 90 days from February 1, 1913. There is now in circulation a paper to raise a bonus to be given the railroad upon its completion and is headed with a subscription of $30,000 by one of Electra's leading citizens. This is certainly a fine starter and should prompt some of our wealthy and influential citizens who have the growth of Electra at heart, to open up their purse strings and do likewise.

Fads and Fashions

New York, Feb. 9.—Indications point to a spring season of tailored costumes less sombre in tone than those of last year. The buyers, on the strength of Paris advices, are investing heavily in the light shades of fawn and sand and brown and gray and charming suitings in all the soft light tones are shown. There are many attractive possibilities among the light toned suitings. Rough and loosely woven fabrics are still popular, but there is a noticeable revival of interest in the smoother, more closely woven stuffs.

A very light-weight covert cloth is finding acceptance in Paris and is quite practical as well as attractive. The light weight stuffs of the whipcord class are liked too, as are the Bedford cords; and soft toned fawns and light grays in these cloths make admirable coat and skirt costumes for spring wear. There are most attractive loosely woven diagonals and basket weaves in these light mixtures and of serges fine and coarse; hard and soft finish, there is no end.

While white is considered likely to take the lead, colored effects will also be used. A good deal of embroidery has already been seen in ecru and other light shades, in conjunction with white. Corded embroidery is also being used to bring out the effects more prominently. This object is likewise attained by a foundation of black tulle which brings out the white embroidery.

The hats which have just made their appearance follow very closely the outlines of the last of the winter's models. There is the draped taffeta hat, combined with leghorn, to take the place of the draped velvet hat. Now it is taffetas, generally changeable taffetas, which form the drapery that extends in a shirred band over the brim. This material does not have the softening influence of velvet, therefore, it is a trifle more trying to wear, yet it is light and airy looking and furnishes a pleasing contrast against the background of furs, which must still be worn about the throat during the variable weather.

Many hats are made so that only a modest amount of straw braid shows and sometimes this braid is of the pliable yedda, so soft as to look like silk.

Jesse J. Dolman, licensed undertaker and embalmer, with Fraser-Brin Furniture Co. Day phone 136, night phone 132.

Big revers or collars figure upon many of the best looking summer winter models of the tailored type, some original detail in this collar often constituting the costume's chief claim to novelty; but on the other striking smartness which is collar-hand one finds an occasional suit of less, these latter models usually crossing in front to fasten down the left side and having more or less of a Russian suggestion.

The white ratine collars and cuffs of the winter tailored suit, a mode soon commemorated by overpopularity, is likely to have a successor in the collars and cuffs of white linen or cotton ratine, which in various degrees of weight and roughness goes under the names of terry, ratine, eponge and towelling. At its heaviest it is blood brother to Turkish towelling. At its lightest it makes one think of certain raw silks and pongees, though of course in terms of cotton and linen.

There is also a reversible woolen fabric, of which nobody seems to know the exact name. On the right side it resembles the lighter and the looser varieties of sponge in weave. This is shown chiefly in a deep cream, ecru and pale biscuit, with smooth reverse surface of warmer color, soft old blue or rose or violet or green and it makes particularly good looking long coats for warm weather wear.

The ecru, cream and kindred tones of white are increasingly in demand, and it would seem that we are to have the greatest white season of recent years, though the dominating whites are not really white at all, and even the sheer muslins are prone to take on a yellowish tone. There are lovely fine cotton crepes or crepons in these ecru and yellowed tones, and this material promises to be more modish than it was last season.

Many pretty little cotton crepe models of simple character are appearing and these often show the touch of black tulle, which is one of the most pronounced Parisian fads in connection with white. A note of black in one form or another enters into almost every French frock, but the craze for black tulle is the latest phase of this tendency and affects every type of frock.

While overskirts pure and simple have not yet arrived in such numbers as to attract attention, the trend in that direction is very evident. They are sure to arrive before long. The tunic is becoming more of a drapery every day, and it is very probable that by spring the looped-overskirt, though called tunic, will have arrived. This year the tunic is in many instances the most important part of the costume. It is made all in one piece, cut to swathe the figure, and is a kind of princess made short enough to be fastened up on one side and show the skirt beneath. Skirts may continue to be as tight as they will, but the drapery will cover them and make the ensemble graceful. These tunics for the most part fasten at one side in the front, one part lapping over the other.

For little afternoon affairs the taffeta suit is popular. Its newest phase is with a dainty fur collar and cuffs, preferably white. The taffeta suit easily slips under a long fur coat for street or automobile wear, and is ready for any affair where a street look is wanted.

Embroideries for early spring will be more popular than ever. The tendency to a return to trimmed skirts in all fabrics, and especially to foot trimmings and three-tier effects, is one reason for this popularity. In these days of panel effects, band trimmings, fichu and surplice outlines and galleons, bands and insertions of various widths are absolute essentials in making of gowns. Widths of embroideries range from one inch to eighteen inches, but the four to nine widths are those most used by designers of gowns.

Colbert embroideries bands and all-overs are expected to reach a great vogue. It is of the cut-work order, resembling in an enlarged way, Carriemacross lace, and also giving an effect similar to that of Venise lace. It will be much used for lapels or revers on coats, as well as for hat trimmings or gown garnitures.

All-over embroideries have been very popular for several seasons, but new uses for them have been evolved from fashions in garments made of other fabrics. As the season advances little coatees, overblouses, jackets, boleros, and Etons will be created, to be worn over simple muslin gowns, thus making them dressy at a moment's notice. There will be a larger use than ever of all-overs in whole gowns, parasols, hats tunics and underwear.

Beginning Monday, July 15, an entire week of the Summer School of the University of Texas will be devoted to the entertainment and instruction of the county superintendents and other workers in the rural schools of the State. During that week Supt. O. J. Kern of Winnebago county, Illinois, will be the principal speaker. Prof. Kern is a noted figure among the educators of the United States, because of his great work in promoting rural school education.

He will be assisted by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in Texas, Mr. F. M. Bralley; Supt. P. W. Horn of Houston; Mr. Chas. W. Holman of the Farm and Ranch, Dallas; Supt. R. B. Cousins of the West Texas Normal and Dean W. S. Sutton of the University of Texas. It is expected, further, that a representative from the United States Department of Agriculture, and also a representative from the United States Bureau of Education will be present and take part in the exercises.

The entire week, which should be a notable one for rural school education in Texas, will be devoted to the discussion of the various practical phases of rural school problems.

Prof. Kern's lectures are as follows:

1. The Call of the Open Country.
2. Outdoor Improvement of the Country School, illustrated with the stereopticon.
3. The Three L's in the Country School.
4. Indoor Improvement of the Country School, illustrated with the stereopticon.
5. Agricultural Education.
6. Nature-Study Agriculture, illustrated with the stereopticon.
7. Some Social Problems of the Country School.
8. Consolidation and the Country High School, illustrated with the stereopticon.

 Nathan Goff.

Nathan Goff, Federal court jurist and for many years a Republican leader of national prominence, was born in Clarksburg, Va., February 9, 1843. In 1861 he quit his studies at Georgetown College to enlist as a private in the Union army. He was a prisoner for some months in Libby Prison and at the close of the war was mustered out as a brigadier general of volunteers. After the war he began the practice of law at Clarksburg, W. Va. He served as a member of the State legislature in 1867, as United States attorney for West Virginia from 1868 to 1881, as Secretary of the Navy in the cabinet of President Hayes for a short time in 1881, as a member of Congress from 1882 to 1889, and since 1892 as judge of the United States district court. In 1876 and again in 1888 Judge Goff was the Republican candidate for governor of West Virginia.

February 9
 1773—William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the U. S., born in Berkeley, Va. Died in Washington, D. C., April 4, 1841.
 1841—Union of Upper and Lower Canada.
 1865—Gen. Robert E. Lee made commander in chief of the Confederate forces.
 1911—Rt. Rev. Ozil W. Whitaker, P. E., bishop of Pennsylvania, died in Philadelphia. Born in New Salem, Mass., on March 10, 1830.

Judge Ramsey has announced that he would open his campaign for the governorship at Gonzales

The actual number of poll tax receipts issued in Clay county for the year 1911 up to Feb. 1st, as given by the People's Review of Henrietta, was 2427, as against 2487 for the previous year, showing a decrease of 60.

There are so many candidates for Congressman at large, that it is rather a difficult matter to get all their names. When the Times can succeed in securing the list it will publish them, even if it requires half a column. Only two are to be elected.

By keeping up the fuss down in Mexico it looks like the Mexicans are doing all in their power to annex that country to the United States. It would perhaps be just as well to do that as to maintain a standing army along the border.

Two men charged with assaulting a strike-breaker at Houston, have received long jail sentences, not as a punishment for the offense itself, but for contempt of court. A person may commit murder and escape the penalty, but has got to be a good one to escape the penalty for contempt of court.

Morris Sheppard has tentatively accepted Colonel J. F. Work's challenge for a series of debates in their race for the United States senate. Congressman Sheppard has the reputation of being a brilliant orator, but when Colonel Jake gets through with him he will wonder "where he is at." League City News.

It's not to be a pugilistic encounter, is it?

From the way things look now, ex-President Roosevelt is willing to accept the Republican nomination, providing he can be reasonably assured that he can get it. He has never yet said he was a candidate, but from all indications is doing his utmost to convince the party that unless he is the nominee the chances for a victory are small. This attitude of the ex-president has had the effect of causing his friends to get to work, and to do more effective work than if he had come out boldly and announced that he was a candidate. His friends contend that he is the only Republican who can win, and in this contention they are perhaps more correct than they will be willing to acknowledge, should their efforts in the ex-president's behalf fail. The friends of President Taft are using as their principal weapon against the nomination of Roosevelt the "third term" idea, and this may succeed in bringing back to Taft many who have deserted him in the past few weeks.

WOULD HELP SOME.
 Bryan's Commoner.
 Below will be found a bill recently introduced in the House by Congressman Oldfield of Arkansas. Read it and see if you can find any fault with it. It is intended to prevent the issue of Federal licenses in dry territory, except on conditions that will give local authorities notice of applicant's intention to violate the law. It ought to have the support of all believers in law and order. No one can well oppose it unless he favors putting (or keeping) the government in league with law breakers.

"H. R. 17673.—A bill regulating the issuance of Federal license for sale of intoxicating liquors in communities where State and local laws prohibit the sale thereof.
 "Be it enacted by the senate and House of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled that all applications for Federal license for the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be accompanied by a duly certified copy of the license issued to the applicant for Federal license by the proper authority of the city, town or community of the locality at which the sale of the said intoxicating liquors is to be conducted.
 "Sec. 2. That all applications for Federal license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in communities where local license is not issued by requirement of law shall be accompanied by legal proof that notice of such application for Federal license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in such community has been published in a local newspaper, published in said community, having a circulation therein among bona fide subscribers, if there be such paper so published, and, if not, legal proof of the publication of such notice of application shall be filed with the application showing that due notice of same was published in some newspaper having a circulation among bona fide subscribers living within the community to be affected by the license applied for. Said notice of application shall be published for a period of thirty days prior to the day of application for license, which day of application for license shall be specified in said published notice; and all applications under section two hereof, in addition shall be accompanied by legal proof that notice of said application for license for sale of intoxicating liquors in such community has been legally served on the executive authority of the said community at least fifteen days before the published day of application, citing the fact of the publication of the said notice of application for license of the sale of intoxicating liquors, giving the name and location of the newspaper containing such published notice of application, and designating by sufficient description, the exact location in the locality affected where the said sale of said intoxicating liquors is to be conducted under the license applied for.
 "Sec. 3. That it shall be the duty of the commissioner of internal revenue to have a copy of every Federal license issued for the sale of intoxicating liquors in communities where local or state laws forbid the sale thereof posted in conspicuous place in the post office at the locality where such license gives federal authority for the sale thereof."

GENTENARY OF NOTED SOUTHERNER

Georgians Will Celebrate Anniversary of Noted Southerner—Was Vice President of Confederacy.
 Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 9.—Preparations have been completed for the appropriate observance of the Centenary of Alexander Hamilton Stephens, one of the most distinguished sons of this State and at one time Vice President of the Confederate States of America. The life history of Alexander Hamilton Stephens reads like a romance. One of the most remarkable features of his life was the fact that Stephens from boyhood was extremely weak and delicate and in his later years was practically a confirmed invalid, but in spite of this tremendous handicap led an extremely active life, achieved fame as an orator, politician, statesman, author and educator and maintained his high-pressure energy almost to the day of his death, at the age of seventy-one.

Alexander Hamilton Stephens was born near Crawfordsville, Ga., February 11, 1812. His grandfather, Alexander Stephens, who settled in Pennsylvania in 1746, was in England an adherent of Prince Charles Edward. In this country he fought in the Indian war and under Washington in the French war and also distinguished himself by his bravery as a captain in the revolutionary army. After peace was declared he removed to Georgia.

Young Alexander, who was left an orphan at the age of fifteen, was placed by his uncle, Chas. C. Mills, in the school of the Rev. Alexander Hamilton Webster at Washington, Wilkes county, from whom he took the middle name of Hamilton. In 1828 he was sent to Franklin College, at Athens, Ga., now the State University by the Presbyterian Educational Society, repaying the money thus loaned him by teaching school after his graduation in 1832, on which occasion he took first honor. Even at that time his health was feeble and his spirit melancholy. On July 22, 1834, he was admitted to the bar after only two months' study, passing a perfect examination.

During the first year of his practice he earned $400 and he frugally lived on $6 a month. But soon his practice increased and with it his income so that after a few years he was able to buy the old family homestead and his later famous Liberty Hall. He became active in politics and was elected State representative on a platform opposing nullification in 1836, 1837, 1838, 1839 and 1840, but declined further election in 1841.

He was a delegate to the Southern commercial convention at Charleston in 1839, was elected State Senator in 1842, and in 1843 representative to the 29th Congress by 3000 majority. There were then no congressional districts, the members being elected under the "general ticket" method. He was re-elected in 1845, 1847, 1849, 1851, 1852, 1855 and 1857 and in 1859 retired from public life, making an eloquent farewell speech at Augusta, Ga., in which he declared the country at rest and slavery secure.

In 1860 his name was discussed for the presidency of the United States, and he was an elector-at-large on the Douglas and Johnson ticket. In 1861, as delegate to the Georgia secession convention, he voted against secession. He was chosen a member of the Confederate convention at Montgomery to organize a provisional Confederate government, and was successively elected provisional and permanent vice president of the Confederacy, serving later as Confederate commissioner at the celebrated Hampton roads conference of February, 1865, to negotiate an armistice with Lincoln and Seward.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.
 What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.
 He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.
 I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs. I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.
 I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Theodore's Black-Draught, I did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.
 I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron. This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's Theodore's."

A BALD-HEADED WOMAN.

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses In Love and Marriage.
 Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disadvantage?
 A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Wichita Falls, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.
 Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.
 As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.
 Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and it will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.
 That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.
 We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. Fooshee & Lynch Drug Store.

 Lee Webb who has been in the city several days on business returned to Dallas last night. Mr. Webb is a son of the revered Dr. Webb, who was head of the Mississippi College at Clinton, Miss., for many years. Dr. Webb was one of the foremost educators in the South and his memory is dear to the hearts of all Mississippians. Several here who knew the father were delighted to meet the son.

Build a Home in 1912 and Rejoice
 every anniversary thereafter like a lot of your friends do who gave up the chase for elusive riches long ago and started to build their fortunes in the good old substantial way of our Pilgrim Fathers. Remember, "A rolling stone gathers no moss," and nothing will stop a family from rolling quicker than a comfortable home. It gives husband, wife and children something to work for and once you get such a work-sen of action from the whole family, success is bound to crown your efforts. We've been preparing for a lot of home building here this year and have a stock of lumber that outclasses in quality even that which your grandfather used when he built his home sixty years ago, and you know that's "going some." Come in and see it.

DR. BELL'S MOTHER DIED THIS MORNING

Body Will Be Taken Back to Old Home in Mississippi for Burial.

Mrs. M. C. Bell, mother of Dr. J. M. Bell, died at 11 o'clock this morning at the home of her son, 1414 11th street, at the age of 73 years.

Mrs. Bell was a native of Mississippi, but of late years has been making her home with Dr. Bell in this city and at Iowa Park, where the Bell family resided before coming here.

Deceased had been an invalid for some time, and her death was not unexpected.

Dr. Bell will leave to night to accompany the remains of his mother to the old homestead in Mississippi, where they will be interred in the family burying grounds.

Young ladies of the Epworth League of the M. E. Church will give a market, consisting of bread, cakes, doughnuts, etc., Feb. 19, 1912 at Miller's Drug Store. 231-16c

T. B. Taylor, a prosperous farmer from near Bowman, was in the city this morning, and reports that the farmers in his neighborhood are busy sowing and preparing the ground for spring oats and other crops, and that they are looking forward to one of the most prosperous seasons in many years. Mr. Taylor says that a strong petition is being circulated among the farmers of Archer county requesting that the county be redistricted so that the court house will stand exactly in the center for the four commissioners districts which at present exist.

Harry ten Brink arrived here last night from Amsterdamm, Holland, and will spend several days in the city as the guest of his brother, who is employed at the Wichita Foundry and Machine Works. Mr. ten Brink while in Holland, was employed by the Equitable Life Insurance Company, as agent but since the burning of the building occupied by the company in New York, he has been without a job, and says that he may decide to locate in this city.

ALL NOT WISE WHO JOINED THE OWLS

Apparently it is more dangerous than contagious to join the Owls. At least that is the way a number of Wichita Falls men have found it, who were induced by a couple of slick confidence men to part with their good money for membership in the order.

Something like a couple of weeks ago, two good looking young men came here and started out to organize the lodge, claiming to have credentials from the grand lodge. They secured about fifteen applications, collecting $5.00 from each applicant as initiation fee. Tuesday night was set as the time for the formal organization, and when the members gathered in the hall, they were given the obligation, and the other business of organization was continued till a future date.

That same night the two organizers, idently and without ostentation had themselves off to some other city that might be pining for fraternity, and up to the present moment, haven't been heard from. Before going one of them left an order to have his mail forwarded to Fort Worth, but the other did not even leave that much as a memo to his going.

A telegram to the head office of the lodge at South Bend, Ind., brought an answer signed by John H. Talbot, president, that the two men were not authorized to organize for the Owls, and that the lodge would pay $100 reward for their arrest and conviction. In the meantime the Pickett detective agency and the county officers are looking for them and think they have been located.

Deputy Sheriff Evans and Constable Lyons of Vernon came down on the noon train today with warrants for the arrest of two young girls, wanted there on a charge of theft, of over $50. The names in the warrants were Nellie Bennett, and Bertha Jackson, and the officers had hardly sighted them, with the train before they spotted them, with the assistance of Will Allen sitting in the union station waiting for a North-western train. They were arrested and taken to the city hall, where they admitted their guilt, and seemed careless of the outcome, rather taking the matter as a joke. One of the girls gave her age as 20 and the other as 17, and both were of good appearance.

EXHIBITION GAMES INDOOR BASEBALL

Many Candidates Out for Practice Games at Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

A large number of candidates for the indoor baseball teams which are to be organized at the Y.M.C.A. in the near future were present at the association quarters last night, and judging from the interest manifested in the sport the newly introduced game will prove to be very popular with lovers of sport here.

Two games were played last night, the first being between the Y.M.C.A. and the Business Men's team, and resulting in a victory by a small margin for the Y.M.C.A. The winners of this game challenged all comers, and in the game which followed, both sides claimed the victory, and the game was warmly contested from beginning to end. Seats were placed at points of advantage in the gymnasium and a number of interested spectators witnessed both games.

An indoor baseball league is being organized, and other games will be played as soon as the organization is perfected.

As each candidate for a team appeared in the Y.M.C.A. rooms last night, he was asked to sign the following: "I would like to become a member of the Y.M.C.A. indoor baseball teams and to play with the league."

Here are the names of those who signed: Frank Collier, T. C. Thatcher, J. M. Blankenship, Carl Yeager, J. C. Hunt, Lester Jones, Jerome Stone, Wasco Yeager, J. R. Newland, J. T. Gibson, W. M. Murphy, Homer H. Scott, W. R. Anderson, J. R. Bradshaw, L. F. McCoy, Floyd Billingsley, J. O. Smith, L. W. Cole, Phil Kerr, Thoe. Dysart, Welsh Morgan, M. J.
