THE MARKETS

GRAIN COTTON STOCKS

WEAKNESS IN THE GRAIN PIT

SLUMP IN WHEAT COMMUNICATED TO WHEAT AND OATS FUTURES.

RUSH TO THE BEAR SIDE

Speculative Interests Deserted Bulls When Outside Buying Stopped.

By United Press. Chicago, Ill., Feb. 17.—Grain weakness developed in the wheat trade during the week and was communicated to the corn and oats pit. The bear movement in wheat is attributed largely to cables from Liverpool indicating heavy increases in shipments from the Argentine wheat fields and a consequent lessened demand on this country from European markets. A heavy run of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth was also a factor in changing sentiment from the bull side. The movement reached a climax today when heavy losses in wheat futures were registered. Speculative interests all went to the bear side when it was seen outside buying was at a standstill. The week decline in May was 2 7/8 and in July 1 1/2 cents. An easier tone in corn developed on a heavier movement of the cereal to a cumulative center, lessening cash demand from the East became a decided weakness when the slump in wheat prices developed. The bull interests generally got out of the market and lower prices seemed to be expected. The declines in corn for the week were May 1 1/8 cents and July 1 cent. Oats held better than other grains because of the small receipts. There was a heavy demand for oats for immediate delivery from the East and local supplies are being gradually exhausted. Oats decline for the week were May half cent and July 3/4 cent. The tone in the provision trade was very weak on the reports that heavy stocks here and in the West were ready for the market. Material declines in all lines were registered.

PUBLIC IS OUT OF THE MARKET

WEEK PASSED WITHOUT ANY IMPROVEMENT IN STOCK MARKET CONDITIONS.

NOBODY IS SELLING

Current Quotations Have Not Tempered Holders of Stock—Political Situation Partly Blamed.

By United Press. New York, Feb. 17.—Financial America, in its issued Monday will say: The week passed without any indication of improvement in the stock market conditions, and the lack of outside business which steadily became more pronounced, was a source of continual comment on the part of business interests who depend on public speculation for their maintenance. In the spite of the continued absence of outside demonstration there is no evidence of outside holders of stock who have any disposition to sell their holdings around current quotations. The situation has become more of a factor in deterring outside interests and in some quarters it is believed that uncertainty over the political outlook will continue to assert a repressive influence on speculation until after the conventions are held and the issues of the campaign clearly determined.

Another Election Ordered.

By United Press. Temple, Texas, Feb. 17.—The holding of a prohibition election in the Santa Fe school district was ordered by the commissioners' court today. This is a new election on the one which was recently contested in the courts from that district. Due to the closing of the polls in the previous election one hour before the legal hour of closing, the new election was ordered granted by District Judge Robinson.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to E. L. Moore and Russell Haynes of Petrolia. Both gave Petrolia as their residence.

FUTURES CLOSE BARLEY STEADY

AT OPENING THE MARKET WAS HIGHER, BUT REACTED BEFORE CLOSE.

EARLY TRADING IS LIVELY

Opening Was from 3 to 7 Points Higher Than Friday's Close—Saturday's Close 1 to 2 Points Higher.

By United Press. New York, Feb. 17.—Cotton futures took a turn for the better over night opening today at gains of 3 to 7 points over the previous close. March and May each had advance of 2 points, to 4.99 cents, and 10.14 cents respectively. July was up 7 points to 10.26; October at 10.27 was 7 points higher and December improvement was six points at 10.84 cents. At the end of 15 minutes of trading, March had made a further gain of 3 points, May five and July and October one point each while December had reacted a point. Subsequently the market weakened and at the close was barely steady at 1 to 2 points net higher.

BASEBALL TEAMS TROUBLE WILL BE ADJUSTED.

By United Press. Austin, Texas, Feb. 17.—President Allen of the Texas League, who returned today from Southwest Texas, said regarding the protest of the Austin Field Club, owners of the Austin team, that an effort is now being made which will obviate any drastic steps being taken against the schedule as adopted. He said he had some unofficial advices from several of the club owners that they would be willing to concede a number of games to Austin during the early part of the season. President Allen believes that the matter can be adjusted without the Austin Club having to go to court about it.

AMUSEMENTS.

At The Gem.

"The Politician's Dream"—at the Gem Theatre proved so popular last night that Manager Tritch has decided to show it again Monday, making it a feature of the program. The leading role in the "Politician's Dream" is taken by John Bunney, the fat man and the part is just suited to him, which makes the film one of the funniest ever shown here. With it will be three new films and a new song.

At The Ruby.

Managers Anding and Berger announce that beginning next week the Ruby Theatre program will consist of two vaudeville acts and four reels of pictures, two good numbers having already been booked in for the performance for the week from tomorrow night.

For this week the offering will consist of Jack and Nellie Ripple, in singing, dancing and novelty piano playing. The teams comes very highly recommended and the management looks forward to a very successful week. There will also be four pictures on the program each night.

At The Lydia Margaret.

Fatty Felix and His Ma heads the list at the Lydia Margaret this week in an all comedy bunch of nonsense, which keeps the house in a roar of laughter all the time. Following them is Miss Margel Shrewsbury, who comes as a singing comedienne and who is said to be exceptionally good, both in music and comedy work. Le Clair and West are a singing, talking and dancing team, all of which, with three good pictures and the splendid orchestra music make up a diversified program that should meet with approval.

Miss Virginia Burnette closed her four weeks' engagement at the Lydia Margaret last night and leaves the city after having sung her way into the hearts of all the patrons of the house. She is one of the best vaudeville singers ever heard here and her music will certainly be missed.

MAY BRING SUIT TO FORCE REDUCTION IN RATES.

By United Press. Austin, Texas, Feb. 17.—The State Insurance Board today advised a delegation of Austin citizens, headed by Mayor Woodliffe and two city commissioners, that there would be no reduction in fire insurance rates here until the city complied with the requirements of the general basis schedule, that no reduction can be made based on losses for one year. The city of Austin has under consideration the filing of a suit against the board to enforce reductions but the board is firm in its position.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM

AND HIS "THE FAUN"

Company in the most unique, original, mirth-provoking of modern comedies

"THE FAUN"

By EDWARD KNOBLAUCH

Editorial in Collier's Weekly: "The Faun" is filled with delicately turned lines, with humor finely shaded, and with the instinct for literature everywhere, and yet it pleases large numbers of the intellectually untrained as well as of the trained. This, of course, is because dramatic elements are combined with fancy and style."

Matthew White in Munsey's Magazine: "Refreshing is just the right adjective with which to describe 'The Faun.'" One could tell from the kind of laughter in the theatre that people were letting themselves go in mirth of sort that is rare nowadays."

"A rare treat. Faversham is admirable"—Chicago Tribune.

Texas Annual Balance Sheet, Thirteenth Federal Census (1910)

Table showing production, consumption, profit, and loss for various industries in Texas, including wearing apparel, cereals, and livestock.

The statistical bureau of the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association has just completed an annual balance sheet of Texas industries which shows the yearly value of production and consumption on all lines of industry. The organization announces that the information is compiled for use of the Welfare Commission which meets in Houston on March 7th, and the tables present an industrial ledger which will enable the commission to review our agricultural, commercial and industrial at a single survey. The report follows: The object sought in compiling the report on production and consumption of Texas industries was to balance the books of state as a whole, developing the profit and loss accounts just as a progressive business concern subjects its affairs to statistical analysis and comparisons. The prices used in the production column represent the farm, mine and factory value as fixed by the Federal census bureau and the prices used in the consumption column are of course on the same basis as production. A single standard of prices, however, creates no general confusion as the price the producer received for his product and the price the consumer pays for it will in most instances remain the same, taking corn which is a large item in both production and consumption and the buying and selling price are of course always identical. The commissions or profits of the middlemen are not a part of the actual cost of either production or consumption but rather a price paid by the consumer for a service rendered which the consumer does not care to personally perform. The figures in both production and consumption can be reduced to quantities and their comparative relation will remain the same. On no other basis could we make an intelligent comparison of production and consumption. The statistics used in the production columns of the accompanying table are taken in the main from the 13 Federal Census Reports (1910) and the information is not available for any other year or from any other authoritative source. The figures used in the consumption column are in the main actual, but in some instances it has been necessary to use estimates based on proven averages developed from the Federal Census Reports. A detailed statement showing the origin of the figures used and the method of calculation, where calculations were necessary, is given in a booklet entitled "Industrial Texas-1912" issued by the Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association and will be sent free to any address on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to cover mailing expenses and no further explanation will, therefore, be made of the genesis of the figures in this article.

re reports that 69.4 per cent of our population is engaged in farming and on this basis $353,706,098 is consumed per annum by the farmers. The Texas farmer during the year cultivated and harvested 27,120,000 acres of land and the cost of cultivation was therefore $13.04 per acre. All items of expense are included in the calculation except the use of the land or the interest on the land investment. By dividing the number of pounds produced per acre each individual farmer can determine the cost per pound, which will of course vary according to quantity produced. It costing no more as a rule to cultivate an acre of good land that will yield one-half bale per acre than an acre of poorer land yielding only a quarter of a bale per acre. The average cost per pound of producing cotton in 1909 the year on which the Census Bureau reports was 8.6 cents and cotton sold at an average of 13.1 cents making a net profit of 4.7 cents per pound to the farmer who owned his farm. Inasmuch as the prices in the consumption column are based on Texas farm production prices and does not include the profit of the middleman it may be suggested that the cost of producing an acre of products is too low, and indeed the figures do not contemplate that a farmer should live on bacon raised in Iowa, slaughtered in Chicago, and shipped to Texas, but that he will raise his own hogs, and the farmer who follows farm methods will find the cost of producing an acre of products much higher but a study of the column will reveal very few items which the farmer cannot raise on the farm. The wearing apparel item which is one among the heaviest, contemplates that all clothing be bought ready made at wholesale prices while the farmer's wife as a rule makes most of the family clothing, which would offset this apparent discrepancy and there are many items, shown in the column of which the farmer does not use his full proportion, among them we mention ice, automobiles, etc., and again in many items the farmer consumes more than his pro rata and especially is this the case with feed stuff for live stock. An attempt was made to separate these items but the effort was lost in malice of uncertain calculations and a close survey of all items lead to the conclusion that the basis of calculation used was as near correct as it is possible to get it. Cost of Producing Cotton 1911. The cost per pound of producing cotton during 1911, is of course an unknown quantity until the crop reports are all compiled but the estimates furnished by the Federal agricultural Department to date, indicate the yield will be 214 pound an acre, which will make the cost of production 6 cents per pound plus the use of rental basis of one-third, makes production cost 9
