

DEFENSE ATTEMPTS TO QUASH INDICTMENT

NORRIS TRIAL DELAYED UNTIL TWO O'CLOCK THIS AFTER-NOON.

REASONS GIVEN

Norris' Attorneys Cite 22 Reasons Why Indictment Should Be Dismissed.

No Ruling Up to 3 O'clock

Special to The Times. Fort Worth, Texas, April 1.—Arguments are still being heard at three o'clock this afternoon on the motion of the defense to quash the perjury indictment against Rev. J. Frank Norris. No ruling had been made on the motion up to that hour.

Special to The Times. Fort Worth, Texas, April 1.—An attack on the indictment is the first step of the defense in the Norris case. This was made known immediately after the case was called shortly after 9 o'clock in the Sixty-Seventh District Court this morning. Assistant County Attorney Ben Baldwin announced that the State was ready for trial. Hon. O. W. Gillespie, of the counsel for Dr. Norris, then asked Judge Simmons for a delay until 2 o'clock. "That request is unreasonable, gentlemen," declared Judge Simmons. Mr. Gillespie said it was made for the reason that Senator Odell of Cleburne, had been added to the attorneys for defense and that he had just reached Mr. Gillespie's office at 9 o'clock and they desired a conference with him. He announced they had some motions and wished Senator Odell to see them. "You have those motions prepared, have you not?" asked Judge Simmons. Mr. Gillespie replied that they had. Assistant County Attorney Baldwin then suggested that if the attorneys for Dr. Norris would furnish the State the motion, the State would agree to a delay. Mr. Gillespie said they would do so and Judge Simmons announced a continuance until 2 o'clock.

The motion is one to quash the indictment on 22 grounds. Among them are the usual ones that the indictment is vague and does not express the charge in intelligible language.

Next comes the declaration that no offense against the State is charged and that the false statements alleged, if false, are not in regard to a matter material in the inquiry being made by the grand jury, the law providing that to constitute perjury the false statements must be as to a material point. The complaint is further made that the indictment is not specific and not complete in the allegations as to the ownership of the church and house. The defense is expected to also attack the indictment in a subsequent motion on the ground that the grand jury was illegal, prejudiced and that Dr. Norris was compelled to testify before it. The attack as to the legality of the grand jury is expected to be based on the calling of it as a special grand jury after the term of the Sixty-Seventh District grand jury had expired. The same men were called on the special grand jury that comprised the grand jury returning the first indictment.

This same question was raised in the trial of the recent disorderly house investigation under similar circumstances.

It is understood that the motion presented to the State for examination is to be followed by others in case the court sustains the indictment. Both Dr. Norris and Mrs. Norris were in court at the opening of the trial.

Witnesses in the Case. The witness subpoenaed by the defense are as follows: J. T. Frank, Jr., wife and son; Bruce Robbins, Rev. Fulkerson, John Baskin, Rev. Alonzo Monk, L. James, barber in Western National Bank building; Sidney Wells, Bellevue, Texas; John Cooper (negro), T. J. Snow, W. W. Whitson, Crowley; Joel East, Everman; J. K. Shearer, Star-Telegram; Rev. ### CITY ELECTION WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Polls Will Open at 8 a. m. and Will Close at 7 p. m.—City Hall, Polling Place.

Candidates for the various city offices are making their last rounds among the voters this afternoon before the election tomorrow. Candidates for three of the offices, city marshal, city attorney and city secretary are making a spirited fight and the results are not altogether as certain as some of the candidates are saying. There are four independent candidates for city marshal and the socialists are hoping that these candidates will so divide the vote that their man will go in. However, those who are interested do not believe that the socialist vote will be large enough to cut any figure. All the votes will be polled at the city hall. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m.

NEW SECRETARY HAS ARRIVED

J. C. Forrester Here From Fort Scott, Kansas, to Take Up Work With Chamber of Commerce

J. C. Forrester, the new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reached Wichita Falls late Sunday night and Monday morning entered upon his duties with the local organization. While not yet sufficiently familiar with his new position to formulate definite plans for the work, Mr. Forrester is well pleased with what he has seen of Wichita Falls and quite enthusiastic over the outlook.

The new secretary has just reached the half-century mark of his life, being considerably older than any of the others who have been secretary here in recent years.

A meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will probably be held Tuesday morning at which the members of the board will have an opportunity to get better acquainted with the new secretary.

Mr. Forrester comes to Wichita Falls from Fort Scott, Kansas, where he was secretary of the Commercial Club for about 15 months previous to his coming here. Before entering the commercial field, Mr. Forrester was engaged in railroad work, being with the Missouri Pacific for a number of years.

Mrs. Forrester accompanied her husband here. The Texas Press Association will meet in Temple, May 19th to 18th.

ONLY SEVEN CLEAR DAYS IN MARCH

Precipitation Totalled 3.19 Inches Last Month—April Showered in With Heavy Shower

With a total of 3.19 inches of rain during March and a starter of over half an inch for April, this spring's wetness in Wichita county is pronounced. April was ushered in with a heavy shower totalling .60 of an inch, which began falling shortly after midnight.

The records of E. F. Mittman, government observer, show that there were only seven clear days during March, cloudy conditions prevailing practically throughout the month. Some idea of the marked plenty of precipitation during March may be obtained from a comparison with that of March, 1911, when only a quarter of an inch fell.

Last night's rain was accompanied by a brilliant electrical display and by considerable wind, but there was little damage. Lake Wichita rose several inches during the night and is now at a much higher point than for many months past.

CONFUSION OVER TRUSTEES ELECTION

Much confusion exists over the election of the five county school trustees to be held next Saturday throughout the county. This is the first election of these officers to be held and the people do not understand the law and so far no candidates have offered themselves and the people do not seem to know who are eligible.

The law provides that there shall be one trustee elected from each commissioner's precinct and that at least two of the five trustees must be elected from independent school districts. At the same time the common school districts will elect trustees.

WICHITA COUNTY WITHOUT CHAIRMAN

Dr. Bell Says C. C. Huff is Chairman But Mr. Huff Says It's Dr. Bell.

Wichita county is now without a Democratic chairman, at least no one can be found to admit that he occupies that position. Several days ago Dr. J. M. Bell, who has served as chairman for some time, resigned on account of being a candidate for mayor. A meeting of the executive committee was held, without a quorum, Dr. Bell's resignation was accepted and C. C. Huff elected to fill his place. Now Dr. Bell contends that he is no longer chairman because he resigned and his resignation was accepted. Mr. Huff, on the other hand, states that Dr. Bell is still chairman.

Dr. Bell will be unable to serve as chairman after he is elected mayor and it is probable that some action will be taken looking to a full meeting of the committee, at which a chairman may be regularly elected. One question which will come before the committee shortly is that of holding a presidential preference primary. The State executive committee put this matter up to the county chairman. Dr. Bell stated today that so far as he was concerned, he did not favor holding such a primary unless it was asked for by both sides and unless there were arrangements made to foot the bill.

GOVERNORS VOICE PROTEST WITH SUPREME COURT AGAINST PROPOSITION TO STRIKE DOWN R. R. RATES.

A BRIEF IS FILED

Decision Will Affect Telephone, Telegraph, Gas, Oil and Many Other Enterprises.

By Associated Press. Washington, April 1.—The governors of the states as a body today filed their solemn protest with the Supreme Court of the United States against the proposition to strike down state railroad rates as interfering with interstate commerce. They respectfully called upon the bench, having it "special charge the Covenant of the Union" to see that the boundaries of the states remain. It was the first time in the history of the nation that such a protest had been made.

The protest took the nature of a brief, filed as "friends of the court" by a committee of governors, Judges Harmon of Ohio, Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, and Charles H. Aldrich of Nebraska. This committee was selected at a conference of governors last September. The brief was submitted in connection with the "state rate cases," set for oral argument today.

The brief was of peculiar interest coming so soon after the most recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission that railroads submitting to low rates, must give similar rate on interstate business.

Because the federal circuit court in the Minnesota freight and passenger rate cases held the rates invalid not only as confiscatory but by reason of their effect on interstate commerce that case was taken as the text for the governors' protest. It was declared that what was said went directly to the right of every state to regulate state commerce, and was designed particularly to be applicable to the Minnesota, Missouri, Oregon, Kentucky, Ohio, Arkansas and West Virginia rate cases before the court. The governors had nothing to say about the confiscatory nature of the rates, but confined themselves to the interstate phase of the question.

The committee of governors set forth the claim that because Minnesota had required the railroads to reduce their rates from such cities as St. Paul, Minn., to Duluth, Minn., on the state boundary the interstate business of the railroads from St. Paul to Superior, Wis., just across the line from Duluth, had been affected. Similar conditions, it was stated, were to be found in Kansas City, Kan., and Anas City, Mo.; East St. Louis, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo.; Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Iowa; Cincinnati, Ohio, and Covington and Newport Ky. The vice of the Minnesota decision, it was urged, was not in an incorrect statement of Minnesota geography, but in the plain disregard of the provisions of the federal constitution, which established the relation of the nation and the states by giving one control over interstate matters and the other over inter-state affairs. It was admitted that there might be some effect on interstate commerce when state regulate state rates, but it was asserted time and again in the brief that a railroad enjoys a reasonable return under state rates. It enjoys every right to which it is entitled.

"The test cannot be," declared the governors, "whether the effect of fixing the local rates may or will be to lead the railroads to lower their interstate rates, but whether the local rates are fair and reasonable, for they are so and the sum of them is much lower than the interstate rates as to lead shippers to take the trouble and risk of rebilling or re-shipping a State line, this is a perfectly lawful condition the advantage of which the public is entitled to enjoy. And as the cost and convenience of carriage in that way can be no less, but, as is well known, would rather be greater, the advantage would remain with the through rates even if it were reduced so as to equal the sum of the local rates. The railroads cannot invoke the commerce clause of the federal constitution to shield themselves against fair and reasonable rates fixed by a state for its own internal business. The effect of these on interstate rates is not only incidental and indirect but also legitimate under the dual form of government through which we enjoy happiness and prosperity beyond compare.

Baseball Managers For 1912

Many baseball clubs in the major and minor leagues have engaged new managers for the coming season. ### MURDER CASE TO HIGHEST COURT

Boston, Mass., April 1.—District Attorney John J. Higgins will go to Washington this week to represent the State of Massachusetts at the hearing before the Supreme Court of the United States on the appeal in the Chester S. Jordan murder case. Jordan was convicted of the murder of his wife in Somerville in September, 1908, and for nearly four years he has been confined in the Cambridge jail awaiting the disposition of his case by the higher courts. The murder was one of the most gruesome crimes with which the Boston police ever had to deal. Jordan's victim was his wife, Honorah Jordan, a vaudeville actress. In a jealous quarrel Jordan killed the woman in their home. Then he went out and bought a butcher's knife and a hack saw, with which he dismembered the body. He severed his wife's head, also the legs. Then he tried to destroy all trace of them by burning them in the furnace of his home. He put the rest of the body and came to Boston with the ghastly burden, stopping at a boarding house preliminary to taking a steamer for New York. A suspicious "cabman" "tipped" off the police, who arrested Jordan and secured a confession from him. His trial and conviction followed. The principal question before the Supreme Court is whether the trial court judges erred in denying a motion for a new trial on the ground of the insanity of one of the jurors. Jordan is a brother-in-law of Jesse Livermore, the Wall street plunger, who is understood to be financing the legal battle to save the convicted man from the electric chair.

A brewer died the other day leaving an estate valued at $3,600,000. Chronic consumers of brewery products, however, can gain but little comfort from the fact that brewers accumulate large estates. Thirty cents is about the average value of an estate left by the fellow who cultivates a taste or appetite for distillery or brewery products.

The Times wants to congratulate Col. Bill Edwards of the Henrietta Review on the result of the local option election held in Clay county on last Saturday. With five small boxes to hear from the pros had a safe lead of 42, and when the other five boxes report this majority will be increased slightly. So it would seem the more Edwards protests against local option in Clay county, the greater the majority grows. In the 1909 election the pros won by a majority of 165. In the statewide election in July of last year this was increased to 285. The Times is going to make the prediction that if another election on that vexatious question is pulled off two years hence in Clay county the result in favor of local option will be unanimous, with the possible exception of one vote. Col. Edwards will then have the distinction of being the whole anti local option party in Clay county.

The presidential campaign in Texas should be fought along the lines of principle and not personalities, and when Judge Rice Maxey, in behalf of the Harmon forces in his address to the Democrats of Texas, says that should the Democrats of Texas endorse Gov. Woodrow Wilson for the presidency it will be a repudiation of Senator Bailey, he admits the weakness of his position and the principles for which he stands. During the present statewide prohibition campaign, Judge Maxey, in an address delivered at Fort Worth said in effect that the first man to raise or inject into the campaign the Bailey question should be suppressed. He was applauded and approved for making that timely remark. If the Bailey question had no place in that campaign, it has no place in this presidential affair. Gov. Wilson wants to bring the common people nearer in touch with the National government. The common people maintain and support the government, and it is they who should have more than all others to say as to who shall shape its course. Senator Bailey is no longer an issue. As an individual, he has the right to support whom he chooses, but because he has decided to favor Gov. Harmon for the Democratic presidential nomination is no reason why those of his friends and admirers should follow his lead. The presidential campaign should be pitched on a higher plane than that of the Bailey question.

Congregation Refuses to Accept Resignation

The congregation of the First Baptist Church, by a unanimous vote last night refused the resignation of the pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris, which last Wednesday was tendered for the second time since Feb. 1. The meeting of the congregation, which was held after a sermon by Rev. Mr. Norris Sunday night, was attended by the largest crowd that ever attended a meeting.

The resolution which was adopted refusing to accept the minister's resignation, was presented after Mr. Norris had left the room by Julian H. Oppenheimer. As soon as it was read and a vote had been called for, every one in the room voted for its adoption. Cheering undoubtedly would have followed if the chairman had not risen hurriedly and prevented it.

The resolution in full was as follows: Whereas, Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, Texas, has seen fit to present his resignation to the officers and members of said church, and

Whereas, We, the officers and members of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, Texas, in conference assembled, do refuse to accept the said resignation of our beloved pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the officers and members of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, do hereby reiterate our expressions of love, esteem, confidence and indorsement of our beloved pastor, Rev. J. Frank Norris, and say to the world at large we believe and know him to be all that our pastor should be, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the daily press in Fort Worth and to the Dallas News, and that a copy be sent to our pastor and the same be spread up on the records of our church.

Recommended by Deacons. The action of the congregation in adopting these resolutions was in line with action taken before the meeting by the deacons of the church who recommended unanimously that the resignation of Mr. Norris be refused. As soon as the resolutions were adopted by the congregation, Mr. Norris was called back into the room and apprised of the action that had been taken. He was accompanied by his wife and both seemed deeply affected.

Mrs. Norris asked permission to make a short statement before the congregation, and when the permission was granted, arose and asked that the members of the congregation pray for strength for her during the coming week—her week of trial. She expressed her own appreciation and the appreciation of her husband, of the unswerving loyalty of the congregation.

Among the announcements read by Mr. Norris before he started preaching Sunday night was an announcement that a prayer service will be held by the women of the congregation each afternoon of this week. The prayer service will be held at a different home each day, and will start at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Preaches on Final Reckoning.

Judgment day, the time of final reckoning, was the theme of the sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at Byers Opera House last night. Despite the fact that it was raining, an unusually large crowd heard the minister. All of the seats were taken and the aisles in the back part of the house were jammed.

"The absolute certainty of judgment day," said Rev. Mr. Norris. "It is the supreme court of the universe from which there will be no appeal. It is the final day of reckoning, when all things shall be evened up. The excavations that are now being made in the cities that existed hundreds of years ago are as nothing compared to the final great excavation, when all things, secret and unknown, shall be brought to light."

"There is another thing about this judgment, too. If the scripture means anything, and it most certainly does, this will be a correct judgment. Nothing will be made known. I love to think that the dark halls of the wicked ones, which have been kept from the view of the just, shall be brought to light."

"In the last reckoning there will also be a giving of rewards. The mighty ones in this world will not get the rewards for what they have done here either. To those who love the Lord will go the rewards, and he knows all those who love Him. 'What are we going to do when that day of reckoning comes? We will need a lawyer and need one mighty badly. The scriptures tell us of a lawyer who never charged a cent for fees. He is Jesus Christ, the righteous. When we stand before that bar the verdict will already be rendered. 'What is it? Not guilty! Jesus Himself paid the penalty on the cross. Can we not say with new confidence and we know that all things work together for good to them who love the Lord.'"

WITHOUT REGARD TO THE DIRECTNESS OF extent of real or fancied interference with their full operation and effect?"

In concluding the governors declared that the rate cases involved no conflict between state and federal authority, but a controversy between the states and the railroads.
"No-one contends that Congress could exercise any control over the purely internal commerce of the States," it was asserted. "The effect of the decision is not to take power from the States and leave it to the States, but to take power from the States and leave the railroads free to charge whatever rates they please in their traffic within the States, for if the States cannot regulate these rates nobody can.
"The Fourteenth Amendment protects the rights of carriers from invasion under the guise of regulation by either State or Nation. It is not always easy to find the line which separates the domain of public authority from that of private right. But this is not so hard as it would be to trace the indirect effects of regulation by the States and by Congress back and forth across the boundary of their respective jurisdictions. The boundary itself is marked plainly. We who have to do with administering the judicial power have in especial charge the Covenant of the Union and our plain duty is to see that this boundary is respected, leaving further responsibility to the people of the country and the agencies they have created for the regulation of commerce, state and interstate."

THE RIGHT OF A STATE TO REGULATE BUSINESS

Minnesota are still fair and the reduction leads the railroads to lower through rates correspondingly, then interstate commerce will have been relieved of a burden instead of having one imposed on it; and this would be accomplished not directly by the State's regulation of its own commerce but indirectly by the action of the railroads themselves which would be only just and right.
Testing the Minnesota decision by its consequences, the governors declared that it was plain that the inevitable effect of the idea that business necessities, peculiar location of lines of transportation and of commercial centers can be made an act of state regulating its local rates a regulation of interstate rates and therefore invalid, would be the destruction of the state control over its own affairs.
"The right of State regulation extends to every business conducted within its borders, though such business may also extend into interstate commerce. Any act regulating or affecting an enterprise having an interstate character necessarily affects the conditions under which it competes with like enterprises carried on in other States. This will apply to telephones, telegraph, natural gas and oil companies and many other enterprises. And the passage of a law regulating the hours of labor within one state might make it difficult or impossible for its corporations of citizens to compete successfully with those engaged in the same business in other states where no such regulation exists. The same condition would arise from the passage of a workman's compensation law, or a law changing the liability of employers in one state, when other states have no such laws or different ones.
"If the doctrine is to be that the laws of trade may make the performance of a lawful duty by a State in the regulation of corporations doing business therein a regulation of interstate commerce, who is to prescribe the test or rule for applying it? On shall we go to the logical conclusion that the laws of trade are higher than the Constitution and must prevail

ROARK STATES HIS POSITION

To the Voters of the City of Wichita Falls, Texas:
Gentlemen:
In submitting to you my candidacy for the office of city marshal of Wichita Falls, and requesting your consideration and support for that position, I feel that it is your right to know and my privilege to tell you my position on certain matters relative to that office.
I believe the laws of the State and the ordinances of the city should be enforced without favor to any man or person on account of personal friendship, wealth or influence. That all should stand equally before the law is a principle with which none but the selfish in vain can find fault.
From experience I believe the most efficient policing of a city of this size can best be secured by assigning to each officer a certain district or "beat" in which it will be his duty to stay at all times, except in cases of emergency. By such arrangement each such district would be regularly patrolled and in case of need of a fiercer could be quickly found. Further there would not then exist quite the necessity for the employment of a nightwatchman as at present.
In the selection of a force of subordinate officers, it would be my purpose to secure in the main an entirely new force, men known to be who would have the SUPPORT and APPROVAL of the public. A change in peace officers is, to say the last, of ten desirable.
I believe the city should have at least one mounted officer whose duty would be to patrol the residence sections. If elected I shall undertake this duty myself, keeping, however, in touch with conditions within the city proper.
I am sure the standard of our citizenship is as high as of any town in Texas, but it is quite probable we, like the rest, have criminal classes. Of these I would call attention to the special evil, professional gamblers, keepers of questionable rooming houses and those individuals who divide the wages of shame. Of all these last two are the most loathsome and unspeakable. Closely related, the one provides the temptations of a refuge for vice, the other attends and beggars it. If elected I shall give especial effort to bring such persons to justice and public infamy.

Miller Well Center of Interest

Fuel Oil Journal.
The first, real excitement in the North Texas wild-cat campaign started when the news reached Wichita Falls on March 14 that an oil saver had been shipped from Electra to the R. W. Miller well at Westfork, in Archer county. There was an immediate exodus of automobiles from Wichita and almost by the time the sand was drilled through, an advance guard of scouts arrived on the scene.

No definite information has yet been given out by the owners, but it is generally accepted that the pay sand which was 14 feet thick, was passed through at about 950 feet. Below the sand the drill passed again into shale and drilling was suspended soon after the formation changed. The well was bailed dry and allowed to stand overnight, and on the following morning the fluid stood about 300 feet up in the hole. The sand is compact and without water, and equally as good in quality as anything found at Electra.

On March 16 about 25 barrels of oil was bailed out, since which the well has been shut down, awaiting the arrival of pumping machinery. It would be guess work to estimate the probable production until the well has been put on the beam, which may be about the last part of the present week. The oil is said to have come in as fast as it was bailed out, but as the bailer was run only for a short while, this can not be considered as a safe test.

It was reported that the Corsicana Petroleum Company has made a deal on the Miller well and lease, but up to March 26 the details had not become public.

Well Shows No Gas.
The oil entirely lacks gas. According to reports the well has never shown any gas, though it is claimed that an odor was noticed on one or two occasions. The oil is black, with a brown cast, and has a sparkling, lively appearance. No reliable gravity tests have yet been made with fresh oil, but several tests taken out of the pit after the oil had been exposed for some time, showed 37 degrees Beaume.

Regarded at Another Electra Pool.
Everybody takes it for granted that a new pool similar to Electra has been opened up. The Miller well is being played as an edge well, as it very closely resembles Bickley No. 1 and Bell & Bonson No. 1 Douglas. The wildcaters who have been playing North Texas as a winner have taken new hope from the present discovery. For more than a month preceding this strike the outlook had been very gloomy, and very few new wildcats would likely have been drilled in the territory had not encouragement come from some quarter. Enthusiasm has steadily been waning since it was demonstrated that Electra had about been defined.

Location of the Well.
Westfork is more of a name than a reality, consisting of one store, a post office, a church and a school house, and if a field is developed the towns are to be immediately benefited will be Archer City and Olney. The well is about 40 miles due south of Wichita Falls, 12 miles from Archer City and 6 miles east of Olney, all on the Wichita Falls and Southern. The country is broken and hilly and is wooded with scrub post oak, which makes it more nearly resemble the Oklahoma fields, than either Electra or Petrolia, both of which are in the midst of a rolling prairie.

Formations Resemble Electra.
The formation is much the same as at Electra, showing "red rock," red and blue shale and gray sandstone mesquite prairie, with possibly more lime than is found in the two fields farther north. Drilling was started in November, but slow time was made on account of caving. Heavy salt water sands had to be cased off below 500 feet.

Leased in Large Tracts.
Archer county has always been more of a ranching and stock raising county than a farming community, and the land is generally owned in large tracts, a block of 20,000 acres being considered of ordinary size. Leases had been taken for four or five miles in every direction from the well before oil was found. The Southern Oil Company, headed by J. J. Perkins, a coal operator at Newcastle, leased up about 20,000 acres during the fall of 1911, out of which they gave Dr. R. D. Miller of Santa Barbara, Calif., and his associates, Paffenberg and Snyder, a block of 500 acres for drilling a well. The location was made practically on the west line of the leases retained by the Southern Oil Company.

Notes.
The well is located in the Andrews farm in the northeast corner of survey No. 1825, Texas Emigration and Land Company.
Dr. Miller expects to make four or five new locations at once. It is likely that the present well will not be deepened but will be pumped to furnish fuel for new development.
The news that oil had been found was circulated locally at least a day earlier than it reached the outside and the first oil men to arrive found the woods filled with horses and vehicles which had brought in the farmers and ranchmen from all directions.

Dr. Miller and his associates all came to Texas from the California oil fields, though Mr. Paffenberg is an "old line" driller from Pennsylvania and has been renewing acquaintances with a number of the oil men from that quarter who have recently visited the well.

A special train has been promised the oil men by the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad, leaving Wichita Falls at 7 a. m. and reaching Olney about two hours later, returning at 2 p. m. Automobile service has already been established to the well from Anarene.

The second afternoon after the news reached Wichita Falls, an automobile trail was beaten out between that place and Westfork, until a stranger who had never seen the country could have unerringly followed it 40 miles to the location. The influx of oil men swarmed the hotels at Archer City and furnished more life and excitement for that quiet, peaceful little city than it had ever before seen.

Fifteen Producers at Electra in March

Puel Oil Journal.

Little out of the ordinary has happened at Electra during the month. There were twenty completions of which five were dry holes. The 15 producing wells added about 1750 barrels of new production, but in spite of this, the field's daily production declined. There have been no extensions and none of the outlying wells are showing up to advantage. Skinner No. 4, of the Producers Oil Company, just east across the line from the Corsicana Petroleum Company's Red River Allen property, was finished in the 1000-foot sand, flowing about 250 barrels, while 400 feet due west and offsetting it, Allen No. 4 went to 1080 feet with no sand at all. Such freaks are continually upsetting hope and make one reluctant to venture a prediction. Another instance of the same sort may be mentioned on the north-west side of the pool. One well on the Stringer, and two on the Corsicana Cross & Brown leases, only a few hundred feet from the Producers McBurney No. 1, entirely missed the sand in which the latter well is such a good producer (200 barrels). The second McBurney well is just in, flowing about the same amount.

Outside Tests Abandoned.

The Flusche well has at last been abandoned at 2250 feet, after many and various attempts to induce it to produce even a showing. It was thought that oil had been passed through at the final depth, but bailing failed to get more than a rainbow. Whitehill & Woods have also abandoned their No. 1 Woodruff on block 226 at 2230 feet. They kept on drilling, hoping to find a sand corresponding to the 1900-foot sand on the south side of the pool, but failing in this they have shut down and will pull casing. The Beerbaum well, on the southeast side of the field, has been given up at 2250 feet, and the Corsicana No. 2 Woodruff, block 223 is 2325 feet deep without having encountered any deep sands. The Ninety-Nine well on the Dale, which was reported last month as being put on the pump, started off at 70 barrels with plenty of salt water and is now making less than the initial production. Curbertson in this same quarter has been shut down for some time at 1950 feet. The hole on the Fisher land is below 1400 feet but does not look promising. This development gives a black eye to the southeast extension idea, and it is doubtful if much new work will be attempted in that direction.

Southwest of the railroad, the Producers Rogers well is about 2600 feet deep and has lately passed through a great deal of lime rock. No. 13 Waggoner, also southwest, is dry at 2000 feet. The Tate well, west of production, is 1660 feet deep and is so far a failure. The Producers Company has finished its first dry hole on the Woods lease, block 224, in the 1000-foot sand, the hole being about 100 feet below that depth. The last of the five dry holes was Corsicana No. 16 Putnam, depth 1600 feet.

Production of the Field.

Electra's daily output is averaging less than in the first two months of the year. It reached its highest level in November, 1911, when the pipe line runs averaged 8500 barrels a day for the month. March runs probably will be nearer 7500 barrels a day. An estimate of the gross production of the various leases on March 15 credits the Corsicana Petroleum Company with 4535 barrels from 46 wells, the Producers Oil Company with 3778 barrels from 39 wells, and the six wells outside of these companies with 128 barrels, indicating a total output of 8441 barrels from 91 wells, or an average of 92.7 barrels to the well. Pierce Fordyce Buying Oil From Producers Company.

About March 5 it was reported that the Texas Company had again resumed taking all the production of the Producers Company. Prior to that time, the Pierce Fordyce Oil Association had been handling the larger part of the Producers Company's oil. The Pierce Fordyce people have recently unloaded material for more steel tankage, and the report is circulated that they will erect three more 55,000-barrel tanks. Along with this goes the rumor that they have closed another contract with the Producers Company, although no details as to the amount of the contract or the price can be proven. The quantity mentioned runs all the way from 30,000 to 100,000 barrels. It is stated also that the Texas Company will supply the Pierce Fordyce people with oil at their Fort Worth refinery, now being built.

Windstorm Sweeps Electra Field.

A windstorm, resembling a young cyclone, did thousands of dollars of damage to the Electra field on March 20. The storm came at 6 o'clock in the evening, after an unusually warm day, sweeping down across Red river from the northwest. The exact damage has not been ascertained, but it is estimated that about 100 derricks were demolished, besides practically all the scattered houses and tents in the field. The town proper escaped without much damage, but the oil field is nothing more than a mass out of which there will be very little salvage. The total damage will perhaps run as high as $100,000. The force of the storm was spent before it reached Wichita Falls. Petrolia also escaped damage.

A severe hailstorm at midnight, followed by a temperature which fell to 26 degrees above zero, ushered in a disagreeable, although busy day, for the rig builders.

Every rig on the Red River Fee land was blown down, as well as but four on the Producer's Stringer lease. The wind did not make a clean sweep of everything, but left an occasional derrick standing uninjured in the midst of a mass of wreckage, very much after the fashion of a genuine twister. The railroad station at Harrold, just west of Electra, was bodily lifted off the ground and set down on the opposite side of the track. Curiously enough, not a person in the field was killed and only two minor injuries are reported.

Seventeen Wells Completed.

Seventeen wells were completed in the Electra district in the period from February 15 to March 15. Fourteen were producers with initial output estimated at 1895 barrels, or an average of 135 barrels to the well, and three were dry. The list of completions follows:

AERIAL CRAFT EXHIBITION

GERMANY MAKING TREMENDOUS STRIDES IN CONQUERING THE AIR.

FOR MILITARY SUPREMACY

In the Air As She Has On Land is Germany's Ambition—Whole Fleet of Airships.

(By Karl H. Von Wiegand, Berlin correspondent of the United Press).

Berlin, March 30.—The tremendous strides made by Germany in conquering the air are forcefully shown by the National General Exhibition of Aerial Crafts, which is being held at the Berlin Zoological Gardens. Prince Henry, of Prussia, who has qualified as an aeroplane pilot, formally opened the exhibition which will continue until April 17.

Full sized aeroplanes and models of dirigible balloons of every description are on exhibition. There is an amazing variety of aeroplanes and airship motors, propellers, gas generators, models of hangars, tents and balloon-sheds. From the wicker-basket of the old time spherical balloon to the handsome mahogany and rosewood finished passenger cabin of one of the big Zeppelins, with the elegantly upholstered seats, seems almost as far a cry in a few short years as from the first train to the present Pullman.

Comfort and artistic design is beginning to enter into the construction of the aerial crafts. This particularly is the case of the monoplanes on exhibition. The pilot and passenger or passengers, for some of them are built for three, no longer ride astride of what had the appearance of a "rail." The up to date "plane" of the "mono" type has a beautifully finished body which is as comfortable as an automobile.

A glance into the car shows that the development of scientific accessories for aerial navigation has kept step with the progress and improvements in motors, propellers and thermometers, wind gauges and altimeter instruments. Aside from these, aerial map routes, signalling devices, special photographic apparatus, and every conceivable contrivance in connection with traveling in the air, are on exhibition. To add to the exhibition one of the huge aerial cruisers of the Zeppelin fleet, and semi-rigid Parseval, have been cruising over the city daily for several days, carrying full passenger lists, between Berlin and Johannisthal.

A development of the Zeppelin cruisers for military purposes, has been an attempt to place light armor plate around the motor cabins and most vulnerable parts. The two last aerial-cruisers accepted by the government, also are being fitted with light automatic machine guns. As to the number of aeroplanes possessed by the army for military purposes, no exact information can be obtained.

Following the exhibition in Berlin, twenty other shows will be held in various cities in Germany during the year to stimulate interest in aviation and aeronautics. As a result of the Emperor's offer of a prize of $25,000 for the construction of the best motor for aerial crafts during the year, scores of inventors are at work and there is keen competition between the motor-manufacturers.

Instead of going to the theatre make the theatre come to you

That's better than going out on a stormy night, or not getting good seats, or sitting out a show that is tiresome in parts—it's better no matter how you look at it.

A QUESTION TO FATHERS AND MOTHERS

What is your son or daughter going to do when school closes? You will admit they have no time to lose, no time to spend in idleness. Had you thought of what a great advantage it would be to them to place them in a school where they could receive a practical training to be used in everyday life, and where they could be surrounded by hundreds of bright, energetic grown young men and women, young men and women who are working earnestly and faithfully, in order that they may qualify themselves in the shortest possible time to go out and succeed in the business world? We have now over 600 enrolled in daily attendance. New students are enrolling daily; others are graduating daily and are being placed in good positions through our Employment Department.

A thorough course of bookkeeping, business training, shorthand and type-writing or telegraphy in our institution is one of the best estates you can give your child; it is a practical knowledge for which the business world pays cash.

If you haven't cash to pay for course in full, write for our credit plan, which enables you to pay out of salary earned after course is completed. Write for our large illustrated catalog containing endorsements from hundreds of former students and their employers. Address Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas.
