

CONVENTION OF SOCIALISTS ENDS

MANY REFORMS ADVOCATED BY PARTY IN ITS PLATFORM THIS YEAR

OPPOSITION TO VIOLENCE

Party is Pledged to Using Peaceful means to Secure What it Wants - Adjourns Saturday

By United Press. Indianapolis, Ind., May 18. - What the Socialist National Convention accomplished.

Nominated: For President, Eugene V. Debs of Indiana; Vice president, Emil Seidel, Wisconsin. Denounced all forms of violence in labor troubles including the recently imported sabotage and agreed to expel all party members who advocated direct action in other than the political field.

With a record of turbulence unsurpassed in the entire history of a political organization, the National Convention of the Socialists of the United States adjourned sine die late this evening with the members entirely satisfied with the outcome.

The radicals and conservativists and radicals fought it out all the week and the adjournment found both factions claiming victory.

All other forms of unionism, this included the Industrial Workers of the World, who the conservativists claimed are an archaic body, the radicals gained a sweeping advantage through the recognition of the above.

J. Mahlen Barnes of Philadelphia was elected to manage the coming campaign.

FIRST ALFALFA APPEARS HERE

COMES FROM FARM OF ED PRAY NINE MILES DOWN WICHITA RIVER.

IS SOLD AT $20 PER TON

Other Farmers Following Example Said to be First Ever Raised in This County.

A wagon load of alfalfa, said to be the first ever brought to this city, appeared on the streets of Wichita Falls yesterday afternoon and attracted much attention. Although Wichita Falls is but a few miles from the expansive alfalfa fields of Western Oklahoma, the soil on this side of Red River has always been said to be unsuited for the raising of alfalfa.

The wagon load which was brought yesterday was from the farm of Ed Pray, nine miles down the Wichita river from this city. Mr. Pray has only cut one acre so far, although he has thirty-five acres in alfalfa. He secured sixty-five bales, or two tons off the one acre. The load was purchased by Maricle Brothers for $20 a ton.

"This alfalfa was planted in the spring of last year," said Mr. Pray, "I did not use any fertilizer. Last year I used the harrow three times and the disc once. I've got some alfalfa that was planted three years ago, but I've never cut any of it, as I'd rather pasture it. I think I will get about sixty bales to the acre from my thirty-five acres and I hope to get four more cuttings. They get four cuttings a season in Northern Oklahoma and Kansas; and I think we ought to get five down here."

Mr. Pray is not the only farmer down the river who has planted alfalfa. Several of his neighbors set off for seed last year and may get some cuttings before the season is over.

About five years ago a few loads of alfalfa were brought to this city, but Mr. Pray is believed to be the first farmer in this section to market any extensive amount of it. The soil in this county has long been supposed to contain elements that render it unfit for alfalfa growing and few farmers have cared to make the experiment. Mr. Pray, however, appears to have set the example.

It requires from twenty-five to thirty bales to make a ton of alfalfa and at sixty-five bales to the acre, Mr. Pray will have something over two tons to the acre, or $40 to $50 worth from one cutting. Multiplying this by four, which is an average number of cuttings per season, and it will be seen that there is no small profit in alfalfa raising.

JUDGE RAMSEY SPEAKS TO CROWD AT MARLIN

Says 'He Feels it His Duty to Rescue People of Texas From Liquor Damnation'

By United Press. Marlin, Texas, May 18. - Judge Ramsey, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spoke to a large and enthusiastic crowd in the court house this afternoon. Judge Ramsey in opening his remarks, judged the indulgence of the audience on account of the condition of his voice, speaking, he said that he became a candidate for governor when he became convinced that it was a duty that he owed the people to rescue the country from the "infernal liquor machine."

Prohibitionists and many anti-prohibitionists, he said believed that the state should be divorced from the liquor traffic and thought he was the proper man to lead them in the fight against Governor Colquitt and redeem Texas from law violators. The speaker laid stress on having a legislature in sympathy with him if elected governor and if the people elected such a legislature, he promised the reforms he advocated would become a reality. He said that he was sure he was competent to effect reforms by reason of his long practice at the bar, and judicial experience.

ROOSEVELT AIRS BALLINGER CASE

SPEAKS AT COLUMBUS AND TELLS OF PRESIDENT'S COURSE IN INTERIOR MATTER

NAMES TAFT'S BACKERS

Says President Did Not Read Evidence in Alaska Case and Permitted Ballinger to Dictate

By United Press. Cleveland, O., May 18. - Col. Roosevelt renewed his attack on President Taft here tonight. Before 10,000 persons who jammed the central armory where the president earlier in the week attacked him, the ex-president replied to the President. Roosevelt vigorously attacked Taft for his participation in the Ballinger "Whitewash," this being his first extended reference to Ballinger during the present campaign.

Mr. Taft supported Mr. Ballinger against every honest official in the interior department and especially against Gifford Pinchot and Louis Glavis, Roosevelt said.

Roosevelt declared Glavis put into the hands of the president a detailed report showing that the Cunningham claims were fraudulent as every one now admits they were.

"Taft did not read the evidence in the case and he actually placed the decision in the hands of Ballinger's friends and attorney Oscar Lawler and signed the letter proposed by Lawler in Ballinger's office which white washed Ballinger and directed the expulsion of Glavis from office," Roosevelt continued.

In this letter Taft stated his decision was the result of his own personal reading of the whole record, a statement which was contrary to fact. Mr. Taft in other words, put the decisions of the case and the official lives of Ballinger and of the young public servants who had accused Ballinger, wholly in the hands of Ballinger himself.

"He deliberately supported the Lawler memorial upon which his opinion was based and sent to the Senate in its place a brief signed by Attorney General Wickersham dated two days prior to the President's decision in the case in September which was about three months before it was actually prepared. It was afterwards discovered and proved before the investigating committee by Louis J. Brandeis that this brief put in evidence by the President before the Senate of the United States as the basis of the decision rendered by the executive as Judge in the Glavis-Ballinger case was not in existence at the time Mr. Taft rendered his decision, that at that time Mr. Wickersham had not even read the evidence, that the brief had been written after Glavis had been retired to private life, to bolster up Mr. Taft's unjust decision."

"If instead of being a President of the people who was betraying the interest of the people and who then covered his betrayal by suppressing and altering the facts, Mr. Taft had been president of a bank and had acted toward the stock holders and depositors as he actually did act towards the people he would have been in imminent danger of having the matter laid before the district attorney."

Replying to Taft's statement that "the friends of constitutional government" would censure the Chicago convention Roosevelt said:

"The friends of constitutional government to whom he refers are Messrs. Penrose, Lorimer, Guggenheim, Barnes-Ballinger and their associates. I serve notice on behalf of the people that there will be no toleration by the Republican party of such action. We don't agree with Mr. Taft that Messrs. Lorimer, Penrose, Barnes, etc., are better custodians of our liberties than we are ourselves. We did not intend to surrender to them the control of the convention - the control of our government and our liberties."

Roosevelt also replied to an attack made by the president against Dan R. Hannah, wealthy supporter of Roosevelt, whom Taft declared was under federal indictment.

"What shall we think of a President who in a public speech accuses another man of having been indicted and omits to mention the fact that the indictment was dismissed on the recommendation of that president's own attorney general," asked the Colonel.

EXCITED BY BALL GAME OHIO FAN DROPS DEAD.

By United Press. Cincinnati, May 18. - Frank H. Barnett, 43, of Middleton, Ohio, dropped dead at League Park just following the Red and Giants baseball game, today. Heart failure brought on by excitement over the game was given as the cause for Barnett's death.

Nothing to that story that Manager Johnny Kling of the Boston Braves is to get the gate. It would cost the Braves a bunch of money to flag John as she has a three years contract.

RANDELL DISCUSSES BAILEY'S ATTITUDE

In Speech at Mt. Pleasant Refers at Length to Record of Junior Senator

By United Press. Mount Pleasant, Tex., May 18. - C. B. Randell addressed a crowd of 300 in the court house today. S. R. Crabtree introduced Randell in appropriate terms saying he desired to discuss real issues of this campaign not politics generally. Randell said:

"I felt more concerned in getting the rank and file of Democracy straight than anything else. Party platform demands are sacred and should not be obeyed; to violate same is treachery and embezzlement of power. The Democratic party is in the grip of an organization with bosses at the head who stand hand in hand with corporate interests and our politics is dominated and managed by them. Texas is being inflicted with more of the bossisms than any other Southern state."

Bailey was freely discussed and arraigned for his attitude on the Randell measure before congress. He scored him for preventing this measure being made a part of state Democratic platform when Bailey was a member of the committee saying same was demagoguery of the vilest kind. He referred to Bailey's knowledge of the constitution and placed him at the head of Texas political machine. He went at Senator Sheppard and Wolters saying they were against him posing as anti-and pro candidates and gave the idea that both were brought out by the Bailey force against him.

SHEPPARD ADDRESSES AUDIENCE AT GRANBURY

Denounces Wolters for Failure to Make Public Antis' Expense Account in Campaign

By United Press. Granbury, Tex., May 18. - Congressman Morris Sheppard of Texarkana, candidate for the United States Senate, succeeded J. W. Bailey, spoke here this afternoon for an hour and a half to a large and enthusiastic audience. The address was delivered in the Hood county court house.

Jesse Baker, representative in the State Legislature from Hood county, introduced the candidate who immediately launched forth into an emphatic discussion of the issues. The speaker strongly urged publicity of campaign funds, saying that he managed large expenditures in an effort to obtain his office. Sheppard scored Jake Wolters, his rival in the race, for making public the expenses of the anti in the recent state-wide prohibition fight. The speaker also denounced the Republican tariff system, declaring it is the father of the trusts. Sheppard said he wants to go on record as a prohibitionist, favors good roads, individual developments, agricultural encouragement, and protection of the laboring man. He left here late this afternoon for Fort Worth.

BATTLE SAID TO BE IN PROGRESS IN MEXICO

Federal and Insurrecto Forces Believed to be Very Near Each Other at Relano

By United Press. El Paso, Texas, May 18. - Today according to unofficial but well authenticated news reaching Juarez from Jimenez, the crucial battle for supremacy in Mexico was begun in the vicinity of Relano. General Orozco ordered the rebel forces to begin an advance upon the Federals under Huerta and a general movement was inaugurated from Relano southward. The advance had in the mean time brought Huerta's army to within a few miles of the Rebel camps. In position, numbers and ammunition also supplies the Federals have the advantage. Huerta has more than five thousand men well armed and with an abundance of ammunition. He controls the railroad to the south and can add to his stores at will. But he must haul for admittedly long distance the water used by his men and horses. Orozco is admitted by short of food and "his" men's ammunition. His army has also been weakened by the withdrawal of the commands of General Campa and Campos to the region about Torreon and by the cutting off of his communication with the north by Federal cooperating around Chihuahua. Campa and Campos are said to have about 1200 men each taken from the main rebel army after the retreat to Relano last week.

About Torreon the situation is reported as critical for the federals. The garrison at Teron has been reduced to normal strength by the withdrawal of troops to reinforce Huerta. It is believed by the rebels that a determined assault will result in surrender.

RICHESON TO CHAIR TONIGHT

WILL BE ELECTROCUTED AT EARLIEST POSSIBLE MOMENT AFTER MIDNIGHT

SAYS "I CANNOT STAND IT"

Is Not Meeting Fate With Fortitude - Tosses and Moans on His Cot in Prison

By United Press. Boston, Mass., May 18. - Cowering on his cot in the death cell at Charlestown prison, Clarence V. T. Richeson, former minister, spent what probably will be his last full night on earth, in fearful anticipation of the grim punishment he must make to the commonwealth for murdering his former sweetheart, the girl he baptised and afterwards dishonored, pretty Avis Linnell of Hyannis.

Richeson, in his every act, shows that he knows his case is unique - that because of the notoriety his case has gained for him, few precedents laid down in previous executions will be followed. He is said to know - to sense with a heightened perceptiveness - that rightly interprets every act of his two guards and his visitors, that his situation is not similar to the situation of any of the other eleven doomed men who have occupied the cell he now occupies and who have preceded him to the chair of dishonored dead.

In a conversation between Dr. Johnson, Chaplain Stebbins and Warden Bridges, this afternoon it was agreed that it will be best for Richeson to "go" as early as possible. And during the conversation wonder was expressed by all three at Richeson's almost unchanging sixth sense which has made him realize the authorities will not take the chance of his control breaking down by putting off his execution any longer than necessary.

The condemned man was convinced that tonight was his last unless present plans unexpectedly go astray, for during the early evening the words he spoke to his callers he made it plain, although he did not say outright that tonight was his last on earth.

A peculiar feature that Warden Bridges mentioned was the fact that not once has Richeson asked the time of day. His watch has been taken away from him. The cell he now occupies is so closed that no sound of striking clock or engine comes that arouse the time of day could be heard by him. Only when he listened could he hear the movement of prisoners in the prison yards or in the shops at certain hours during the day.

Warden Bridges practically admitted tonight to a representative of the United States Press that Richeson will go to "the chair shortly after 12 o'clock Sunday. If this plan is carried out, Richeson will be the first murderer to pay the penalty of death in Massachusetts before Monday night after the date set by the court. In sentencing to death, Massachusetts courts have always condemned murderers to die "some time during the week or beginning on a certain date." It is then entirely within the power of the warden of the Charlestown prison to order the execution any time between 12.01 a. m. of the date set, which would be Sunday morning and middle of the following Saturday night. Every execution for the past twenty years has been between midnight and 12.15 a. m. of the Tuesday morning after the date set, excepting two which were delayed by special request of the Governor until later in the week in order that the Governor's council might consider new evidence. Richeson's case will not be referred to the council.

Tonight he was in a pitiable condition. He tossed and moaned on his cot as close to the wall as he could get, muttering "I cannot die; I cannot stand it." It was because his condition seems to prison physician McLaughlin and Lyons to grow hourly worse, through terrible fears of the man for the death he will suffer, that Warden Bridges and the physicians decided to prolong the prisoners agony of mind no longer.

All believe it will serve the best interests of the state and public if Richeson is sent to the electric chair as soon as possible.

Up to 6 o'clock this evening Richeson had eaten only two mouthfuls of food since Friday. This was when he barely tasted this morning's breakfast. This evening he aroused himself from the stupor in which he has lain since last night's hysterical attack. He ate heartily of dinner of steak, eggs and black coffee, then he called for a cigar, the first he has smoked today. Throughout the evening the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson sat with Richeson reading passages from the scriptures. At 2 a. m. Sunday Dr. Johnson was relieved by Prison Chaplain Stebbins who will remain on watch until 3 o'clock tomorrow morning. They alternate tomorrow and both will walk with Richeson to the death chair.

HARD HITTING AND GOOD BASE RUNNING ENABLE DRILLERS TO WIN

USE SQUEEZE PLAY TWICE

Angel Pitches and Holds Highlanders Safe—Today's Game to Start at 3:30

The return of that Wichita Falls team to the home diamond was celebrated yesterday afternoon by a victory over Greenville, 8 to 3. It was not hard to see where all those victories came from on the road, for the Drillers played ball. They clouted Mr. Shoup for a total of thirteen safeties and ran bases some.

Angel worked on the slab for the Oilers and not away in good shape with only one of Greenville's three runs earned. They would have had another, however, if Walden of the visitors hadn't thoughtfully cut third base on what would have been a home run. There being a rule in the rule book which provides that a base runner shall touch third base, and not pass it disdainfully by, Walden was given only a two-bagger.

The squeeze play was tried by the locals with glorious success, being

DETROIT TEAM STANDING PAT

MAKESHIFT LINE-UP OF HASSEENS AND OTHERS PLAYS AT PHILADELPHIA

FINAL SCORE IS 24 TO 2

"No Ty, No Game" Is Players Ultimatum as they march off Diamond Before Game

By United Press. Philadelphia, Pa., May 18.—In the presence of 20,000 jeering, nooting fans, the Philadelphia Athletics won a notable victory today over the nine sorry sheep who masqueraded in borrowed tiger skins. The score was 24 to 2.

At 2 o'clock Hugh Jennings marched his veterans on the field, at 3:07 those same veterans marched off again. They had been informed that Ban Johnson's suspension of Ty Cobb stood and no Ty no game was ultimatum. Ty Cobb of the fiery head got busy. First he got the long distance phone and passed a few remarks to President Johnson.

The telephone girl should have cut him off, but she was too much interested in the reply so she kept the wire open until Ban commenced open until Ban commenced to explain what ought to be done to the Detroit team and where their ultimate destination was at this point connection was lost.

Hughie next marched out his reserves. Some of them had played baseball during the time of Pop Anson, some of them were champions of their schools, and others were just curies. The Athletics smiled a grim smile, and the fun began.

At the end of the third inning the fans rose in howling protest at the slaughter. They yelled for their money back, and they're back, and their derisive laughter reached Jennings, on long grass. Finally a few thousand noisy fans noisily departed; the majority however remained to express their sentiments at suitable intervals of three seconds and the language was terrible to the ears of old father Penn. Poor old Joe Sugden and Deacon Jim McGuire were there of course they hobbled around and grinned cheerfully as they numbed of the days that used to be.

The Rio Grande Valley Horticultural Society met at Kingsville May 4th. $1,500 in prizes were offered for exhibits of fruits by members of the organization.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Shortstop Owen Busch of the Tigers, is covering more ground than ever this year and hitting in fine form.

The games in the Cotton States league scheduled for New Orleans have been transferred for the present to Yazoo, Miss.

The Jersey City team is the sensation of the International league, and the L. L. Teams will have to start pretty soon if they hope to hold the Skaters back with the bunch.

The Boston Red Sox gardeners, Lewis, Speaker and Hooper, are playing up to their reputation as the star outfielders of the country.

Christy Mathewson was set back five shiners by the umpire in a recent game, for discoloring the ball. They say it was "Matty's" first time.

That $22,500 pitching is fine gravy, but it will have to have some help before the Pirates are able to split world series money.

The University of Vermont baseball team has a cracker-jack pitcher in Jake Malcolm. The chances are that Connie Mack has a scout trailing the collegian right now.

It is said that pitcher "Wild Bill" Donovan, of the Detroit Tigers, will give up active baseball after this season and become manager of some minor league team.

"Kid" Gleason is given a great share of the credit for the fine work of the White Sox. The ancient Quaker has been a great success as coach and foreman of the ginger works.

BOYS' CLUBS TO MEET IN JUNE

YOUNG COTTON AND CORN GROWERS WILL HOLD SESSION IN WICHITA FALLS

MORE THAN 200 MEMBERS

Gathering of Girls Tomato and Canning Clubs Also to be Held Soon

A big meeting of all the members of the boys' cotton and corn clubs in the county in this city some time next month is being planned by J. W. Campbell special agent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in charge of these clubs in this county.

There are about two hundred of these boys and they are about the most enthusiastic, wide-awake and progressive citizens of the county and it is probable that the chamber of commerce will provide some sort of entertainment for them while they are here.

William Ganzer, of Denton in charge of the demonstration work in this section of the state will be here and other leaders in agriculture will be invited.

A similar meeting of the Girls' tomato and canning clubs will probably be held.

WACO MAN BECOMES STATE GOLF CHAMPION.

By United Press.
Dallas, Tex., May 18.—G. V. Rotan of Waco is amateur golf champion of Texas. He won the title Saturday afternoon by defeating Geo. N. Aldredge of Dallas 7 up and 5 to play.

There was a distinct surprise in the afternoon score. Aldredge had held his own during the eighteen hole half of the morning round being defeated by one up only. It had been expected that he would have made a much better showing than he did. In the last round however, the unexpected happened and the Waco man had small difficulty in defeating his plucky opponent. E. J. McCullough of Houston won the Dallas cup over Chas. H. Leavelle of El Paso 3 up and 2 to play.

F. D. Cochran of Dallas won the consolation cup from J. S. Kendall of Dallas 3 up and 2 to play. There were the principal results in Saturday playing. In addition there were awards for the runners up of the four players who made the best scores in the qualifying round and for the one player who made the lowest score in the same round.

Chas. H. Leavelle of El Paso was awarded the medal for runner up in the Dallas cup match play. B. D. Brown, Louis Jacoby, Bryan Heard and Milby Porter all of Houston were awarded the presidents' cup for the team for the one city making the lowest score in the qualifying round. R. F. Connerly, former state champion, was awarded the gold medal for the lowest single score in the qualifying round. To champion, Rotan went the state handicap cup for his score of 76, lowest for the eighteen holes of the course during the 1912 meet.

SHRINE AT RANGOON

Edifice in Judson's Country is Over 4,000 Years Old.

Noted Shrine Has Gilded Dome That Rises 370 Feet Above Vast Platform—Picturesque People at Worship.

Rangoon.—Beyond the silt of the hydra-mouthed Irrawaddy, as you swing in from the Bay of Bengal and churn the turbid waters of the Rangoon river, rises a slender cone of gold out of the smoke of rice mills and oil refineries. There is nothing in all the temple east, from the mosque of Sultan Hassan at Cairo to the Shogun temples of Nikko, that surpasses it, for it is one of the few great shrines that stand out in memory as a thing apart long after the others have faded in confused perspective adown the vista of forgetfulness.

That this tapering dome of gilded and bejeweled handwork rises 370 feet above the vast platform of its base and that its circumference is a quarter of a mile—all this is nothing beside the wonderful life that throbs in its shaded recesses or basks in the torrid sun. Here at Rangoon, as nowhere else—not even at Benares on the Sacred river—here in Judson's country, the most Christian of eastern lands, you may best see "the heathen in his blindness" and idolatry in its grossest and most massive form. Elsewhere you see one or a few statues of Buddha; here you count them by dozens and scores—heroic size, life-size, miniatures; Buddha seated, reclining, standing; Buddha on post card and in chromo; Buddha, Buddha everywhere.

And yet it is all so resplendent in gold-leaf and so gaudy in iridescent splendors that you feel yourself to be in some stupendous playhouse or Oriental bazaar instead of in a holiest-of-all place whither the feet of the countless pilgrims have turned continuously for more than two-score centuries.

It is a long climb up the damp, dirty stone stairway that leads from the two gaudy dragons that flank the entrance of the street level. At every step as you mount, on either hand, you hear the voice of supplication—not of worshippers nor of mendicants, but of vendors of post cards and melodious gongs and of the "whacking fat cheroot" made famous by Kipling's "On the Road to Mandalay." When at last you reach the topmost stair and are confronted by the base of the golden dome—for the Shwe Dagon is an overtowering cone that utters direct from a stone-paved platform instead of from some forms of geometric walls—a surprise awaits you.

This dome that you saw hours ago—for it is one of the most conspicuous landmarks—that the hand of man has uplifted in the east—is not itself a temple to be entered with unshod feet and irreverent heart. It is but a gleaming tower that thrusts itself upward from a village of temples, each of which is itself a marvel of architectural beauty or a monument of tawdry ornamentation.

But the Shwe Dagon has a lovelier aspect when you turn from the pagoda-towers to the streams of devout visitors that empty into the square from each of its four gateways. The Burmese seem to worship in family groups and they have the pleasant habit of arraying themselves in their brightest garments before ascending to the great house of prayer. It is no uncommon sight to see a dainty little lady performing her genuflections before a shrine, with the stump of a very fat and very black cigar protruding at a nonchalant angle from her tiny mouth.

We saw much more in Rangoon—we of the "Cleveland" pilgrims to so many sacred places—but this is the one overtowering memory of Rangoon.

Most Crabbed Crank Yields to Delightful Contagion Prevalent in Switzerland.

St. Moritz, Switzerland.—There are an infinite variety of ways of spending the winter in Switzerland. You can go to a great and luxurious hotel, where you fare sumptuously every day, where the hall porter is a glittering cosmopolitan, and you drive up from the station in a motor sleigh; or you can just as well go to a tiny chalet perched on the mountain side, where you never know which floor you are on at any moment, because the slope is so great that what you took to be the ground floor at one side of the hotel turns out to be half way to the roof when you look out at the other.

Below the Mountains.

Somebody to share it with it begins after a while to produce a reaction. Almost any one will do to go with; the touchiest crank of your acquaintance will not have breathed three lungfuls of Swiss winter air or caught a first glimpse of that radiant paradise of gleaming white snow and blue-green sky before he becomes a rollicking, irrepressible playfellow, up to the stillest, jolliest schoolboy tricks.

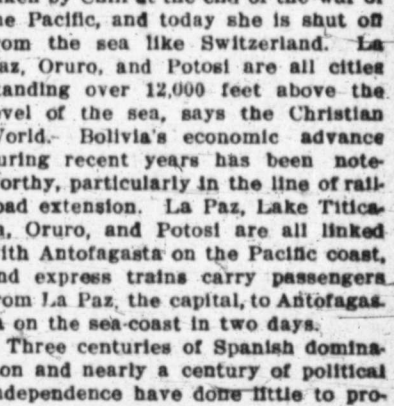

But better let it be a party, and a big one. There must some keen outdoor girls, of course. Do girls ever look prettier, I wonder, than as they scramble to their feet out of the powdered snow of a capsize toboggan—cheeks all glowing with a complexion Bond street never dreamed of, eyes sparkling—what sport it all is!

COUNTRY THAT IS SHORELESS

Bolivia the Third Republic of South America, is Without a Water Boundary.

La Paz, Bolivia.—In territorial extent, Bolivia stands third among the republics of South America and is one of the two without a seaport. Her natural outlet to the Pacific ocean was taken by Chili at the end of the war of the Pacific, and today she is shut off from the sea like Switzerland. La Paz, Oruro, and Potosi are all cities standing over 12,000 feet above the level of the sea, says the Christian World. Bolivia's economic advance during recent years has been noteworthy, particularly in the line of railroad extension. La Paz, Lake Titicaca, Oruro, and Potosi are all linked with Antofagasta on the Pacific coast, and express trains carry passengers from La Paz, the capital, to Antofagasta on the sea-coast in two days.

Primary education for the Quichua and Aymara Indian element, which forms the bulk of the population, hardly exists, and probably not one Indian in a hundred can read. What there is in the way of secondary education is largely monopolized by the aristocracy and the better classes of the country. A few have passed from these institutions to the universities, but the great bulk of the people of Bolivia today are entirely ignorant of the benefits of education.

Dispatches state that Mayor Davis of Fort Worth was recently bitten by a bulldog, but nothing was said about what became of the canine.

The Henrietta Independent wants to know how Wichita Falls expects to retain the saloons if she wants the Baptist College. We would like to refer the questioner to Col. Bill Edwards, but we have some misgivings about what would happen to us if we did.

The Vernon Record has come out for Colquitt. Now if Joe Ray will boost for Oscar as consistently and as tirelessly as he does for Vernon and Wilberger county, we know who will get the votes in that section.

The largest estimated yields of any wheat crops in this section so far made are in the neighborhood of 30 bushels per acre, but from appearances it looks as if some of them might turn out double that amount.

Both Col. Wolters and Congressman Randall have visited Wichita Falls and been given hearty receptions and respectful hearings. Now that Morris Sheppard, the third candidate to enter the race for the senatorship is looked for a speech at Wichita Falls on Saturday night, the 25th, we should treat him with as much respect as was given his two opponents. As a statesman, he measures up to the standard of either, and as for oratorical powers, he is by far their superior.

The working force of the Wichita Falls automobile plant has been doubled, whereby the factory will be able to turn out two finished auto trucks daily. Wichita Falls is one of the best examples of what a live commercial club can accomplish, for had it not been for that institution which is composed of practically all of the business men living or doing business there instead of being a city of nation-wide reputation of doing big things, it would have been a community in the moribund class.—Quannah Observer.

We do not understand why Governor Colquitt should omit Wichita Falls in his speaking tour of North West Texas, but we do believe that Wichita Falls can stand it if the governor can.—Wichita Times.

Like the very great number of anti-prohibitionists, Governor Colquitt is a total abstainer; and there being but one thing that makes the Mud Flats famous, perhaps he desires to avoid even the appearance of evil.—Henrietta Review.

If that be true, it only serves to prove that the Governor has more sense than a great majority of those who are supporting him for re-election. But as for us, we are still registering from Missouri.

According to the organs it is all wrong for Cyclone Davis to support Wilson in Texas, but it is all right for Tom Watson to oppose him in Georgia.—Waxahachie Light.

The Underwood men in Georgia are going to send Wilson to the national convention. Will the Wilson men of Texas send Cyclone?—Fort Worth Record.

As yet the Wilson men of Texas have not definitely decided upon the personnel of the delegation to be sent to Baltimore. It's a safe bet, however, that they are not considering the editor of the Record as a delegate. The Houston convention will be one political affair to be pulled off in Texas without his assistance.

Gov. Colquitt has been criticised, it seems, for pardoning boot-leggers, and in defending his acts in that respect in his address at Crowell, the Governor, among other things said: "However, only three men have been pardoned who were sent to the penitentiary for violation of the state local option laws and in each of these cases he used the pardoning power in order to save the lives of these convicts."

One of these three must have been "Parson" Bill Garrett, colored, sent from Clay county, but who insists on making Wichita Falls his place of residence. His health seems as good as it ever was, and if our memory serves us rightly, a plea of ill health was not sent up in his behalf. The truth is that no one seemed aware that he was to be pardoned until the pardon was issued and that done, "Parson" Bill lost no time in beating it back to Wichita Falls. Let's keep the record straight. There may have been good reasons why the negro should have received his pardon, but if certainly could not have been based on ill health.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE TAFT-ROOSEVELT CONTEST.

San Antonio Express.

Analysis of the Chicago convention vote based on instructions and assumed probabilities, made up at the end of last week, gave Taft a good lead over Colonel Roosevelt. How it will be at the end of this week remains to be seen.

Roosevelt has been steadily gaining as a result of recent primaries and conventions; in fact, ever since he carried Illinois and Pennsylvania—and the addition of Maryland, California and Minnesota, with scattering delegates from other States, means a big boost in the Colonel's stock.

President Taft has had the twenty-four delegates from Tennessee added to his column this week, but has lost one-half the Maryland delegation which had been practically conceded to him. The situation in Maryland was somewhat similar to that in Massachusetts. In the preference primary Roosevelt polled a majority of the votes, but the delegates chosen to the State convention were mostly for Taft and it was apparent that the Taft supporters would control the convention.

The claim made by the Roosevelt organ in Baltimore was that inasmuch as Roosevelt had received a majority of the congressional districts he should have half the delegates to the national convention. It is reported, however, that the President in a personal interview with Governor Goldsborough and others of his representatives in Maryland indicated his desire that the delegation from that State to Chicago should honorably adhere to the preference expressed in the primary. This was the conclusion of Governor Goldsborough, an ardent Taft supporter who practically controlled the State convention and was chosen a delegate for the State at large and so the convention, while selecting an equal number of Taft and Roosevelt delegates instructed them all to vote for Roosevelt.

Colonel Roosevelt has advised that similar action be taken by the Massachusetts delegates who favor his nomination, but who are obligated to vote for Taft by the majority given the President in the preference primary.

The gains made by Roosevelt in the selection of delegates this week do not bring him anywhere near the goal of his ambition, for he is still far behind the President in the number of instructed delegates, according to the computations of some of the best informed authorities, but with so many uninstructed and contested delegates no one can tell with any degree of accuracy just how matters now stand.

Perhaps the result in Ohio next Thursday will practically settle the issue, for the forty-eight votes of that State should be given solidly for one of the other contestants.

THE RECALL AN ISSUE.

Indianapolis News.

Ohio is now in the fever of its preferential primary campaign. The State is torn from the river to the lakes over what the speakers have put forward as the "issues." President Taft should not forget (and the tenor of his speeches shows that he is not forgetting) that remarkable utterance by Theodore Roosevelt at Columbus, known at first, and later repudiated in part, as "The Charter of Democracy." One of Roosevelt's most cherished

This is from the Fort Worth Record and it rings the bell:

As announced in the Record's news columns Wednesday a solid trainload of hogs arrived in Fort Worth from Oklahoma points yesterday. Truly, Oklahoma farmers are wise. They demonstrated this when they raised the hogs and demonstrated it again when they shipped them to Fort Worth, the largest and best livestock market in the Southwest.

Texas farmers will do well to profit by the example of their Oklahoma neighbors. Oklahoma is a good state and well adapted to hog raising. But every advantage that Oklahoma possesses as a hog raising state can be duplicated twice over in every part of Texas. Yet the new state is forging ahead faster than Texas in the production of pork.

The owners of yesterday's trainload of hogs will take home with them approximately $25,000. This is the equivalent of 500 bales of cotton and represents a much larger margin of profit than the farmer gets on 500 bales of cotton.

Texas farmers should wake up and take notice.

The feeling now generally prevalent that Democrats will be unable to get together on any one of the four prominent presidential candidates at Baltimore has been the cause of a rumor to the effect that Bryan was grooming himself as a dark horse probably has no foundation, but worse things could happen. If we are to believe what Bryan says, (and he has always been sincere and frank in his utterances) he is not a candidate for president, and realizes more than others, perhaps, that there are others who could be nominated and elected easier than himself. But if it should turn out that neither Wilson, Harmon, Clark or Underwood can be nominated and the nomination is tendered Bryan, he would be an ingrate not to accept. The opportunity for the election of a Democratic president this year could not be better. The Republican party is split, and it will not make a great deal of difference, whether Taft or Roosevelt should be nominated, the disgruntled faction of the Republican party will be sufficient to elect a Democrat, provided the Democrats do not divide their strength.

CLAUSES IN THIS CHARTER WAS THE RECALL OF JUDGES.

He spoke opportunistically, for at Columbus at the time Roosevelt made his first campaign tour this year the constitutional convention, an assembly of delegates called to revise the State's basic law, was sitting. The recall of judges was one of the most serious problems presented to the delegates. Many were in favor of giving this Western reform plan a trial. That their belief was not strengthened by Roosevelt's endorsement was shown by the fact that shortly after his departure the convention voted down the proposal.

A few days ago the Illinois State Bar Association considered the question. Able arguments for and against it were made before the association, sitting in this instance as a court of trial. Afterward there was a vote with the following result:

For: Against

Recall of Judges 109 546

Recall of decisions 143 515

Here by a vote of about five to one, Illinois lawyers rejected the Roosevelt plank. The reason they thus voted is given by the Chicago Inter-Ocean as a realization of the possibility of "having to go into court to establish the rights or protect the interests of a client whose cause or whose personal integrity is visibly and tangibly 'unpopular.'" The client thus situated might be innocent beyond the shadow of a doubt, "so absolutely and completely right," to quote the Inter-Ocean, "that only brute anger, sheer perversity or desire for the advantage of delay moves the other side to fight the case." The effect mob passions would have on the court in a case such as this would be prejudicial, to say the least, to the client.

Yet the lawyers constitute only one group of the many that proposed the recall. Ohio's constitutional delegates recognized the danger. All these delegates may not be for President Taft, but if the Ohio voters have any respect for the judgment of their constitutional delegates in denouncing and repudiating Roosevelt's "democratic" proposals they cannot help but rally to the support and the defense of their State's own son—the President, whose views against the recall are established.

THE SCHOOL AS A SOCIAL CENTER FOR THE FARMER.

Farm and Ranch.

It is immensely important for the farmer and for the farmer's family that the social and co-operative life of the community be the best that it is possible to have.

Our farmers are beginning to realize that the most fundamental force in any community looking to better social conditions on the farm is the school. When the school conditions in the community are good, the social life of the people is deeper and richer and better. There should be crystallized about the school the best thought, the best life in the community.

That these conditions may obtain, and in order that there may be that cooperative spirit and purpose, with-out which better school conditions can not be secured, in all matters pertaining to the common interests of the farmer and the farmer's family, there should be frequent meetings at the schoolhouse, where the different agencies of cooperation for rural betterment may be discussed and brought to the attention of the people of the community.

The dominant spirit of this day and time is that of cooperation—a unity of purpose and action in matters pertaining to the community's welfare.

Farmers' Unions, or farmers' club meetings, together with farm demonstration meetings and exhibits of farm products of the community, may very profitably be held at the schoolhouse. Boys' corn club meetings can be held here better than at any other place in the community. It is a splendid meeting place, too, for women's social and study clubs and for entertainments of all kinds, including lectures on practical and scientific subjects of general interest to the farmer and to the farmer's boys and girls.

By these means the farmer will see and know that the school as the center of the social life of the community may stand for a better, richer and happier farm life for the farmer and his family. His children come to feel and realize that life on the farm is just as attractive a life in the town or city.

It is a recognized fact that much of our teaching in the rural schools for a generation or more has been, not for living on the farm but for living away from the farm. Much of the best life of the rural communities has been drifting to the towns and cities. There should be a "recall" from the city to the farm, and this "recall" will come when the school becomes in reality the social center for the farmer. To expect this, to hope for this, our farmers desire these things, and desire them to such an extent that they will see to it that the school assumes this rightful position and place in the community, then and then only, will farm life be richer and better, and the school will indeed be the social center for the community.

THE HOUSTON PLATFORM.

Houston Post.

Former Governor T. M. Campbell is quoted as predicting that "The Democrats of Texas when they meet in Houston will write a really Democratic platform and it will not resemble much the platform that was written in Galveston two years ago."

Of course, the Houston convention cannot safely attempt to write a platform dealing with State affairs, since a convention for that very purpose—and a convention more representative of the popular will—is to convene in August. The portions of the Galveston platform that are properly subject to review are the planks declaring for Senator Bailey for President and the tariff plank which reiterated the Texas Democratic doctrine that the tariff should be laid for revenue only, and so adjusted so as not to discriminate against any class or section.

Since the conventions have already declared for Governor Wilson, the Galveston plank favoring Senator Bailey, who was not then or now an aspirant for the presidency, has already been disposed of. This will leave the tariff plank of the Galveston platform subject to revision, and our understanding is that Governor Campbell predicts a plank declaring for free raw materials, which is one of Governor Wilson's policies. The initiative, referendum and recall may also come in for indorsement, as probably the bulk of Wilson's support was due to his advocacy of that doctrine.

The Post has said heretofore, and it can reiterate now, that the majority of the convention has the right to make the platform and the minority ought to be ready to yield the privilege without debate. The suggestion that a minority of Wilson delegates are dissenting from their chieftain's views on free raw materials and recall and will desire to co-operate with the Harmon minority to defeat these two declarations finds no sympathy with The Post. We take it that the Wilson caucus will decide the question and bind the dissenters to the support of free raw materials and the initiative referendum and recall, but whether this happens or not, it is scarcely the proper thing for the Harmon minority to attempt to disturb the plans of the Wilson majority who have the right to write the platform.

We have believed all along that the Wilson victory in Texas was due more to local factional discord than to an affirmative belief in Governor Wilson's policies, but in view of the result we must assume that Governor Wilson won because his policies were approved by a majority of those who participated in the precinct and county conventions. It would be a doubtful compliment to the New Jersey governor if his friends, after winning a victory, should vote against those policies or even remain silent upon them.

A man's personality must always count for less than the principles he espouses, provided, of course, that he is an honest man, and nobody questions Governor Wilson's integrity.

So we understand Governor Campbell to mean that the Houston convention will indorse free raw materials and the initiative, referendum and recall, and under the circumstances this will be the convention's duty. And when it has done so, the Texas representatives will be clearly with in their duty if they vote for tariff bills providing for free raw materials. If the Texas democracy doesn't like the free raw material policy, it will have an opportunity to say so in July, but the Houston convention, it seems to us, has no choice but to declare for Wilson's policies clearly and courageously.

SO SWEET OF THEM.

Houston Chronicle.

The Dallas Times-Herald, which backed Harmon against Wilson, now advises that the Bailey-Harmon wing of the party to permit the Wilson men to enjoy the full fruits of their victory and send a solid Wilson delegation to Baltimore.

This generous suggestion touches us deeply.

We cannot imagine what contingency the Times-Herald had in mind whereby the Harmon-Bailey wing could embarrass the Wilson wing, unless it meant that Harmon delegates might be sent to Baltimore from the few congressional districts which Wilson failed to carry.

If the Times-Herald is agitated by that thought, it may compose its mind and be at peace.

It is true the delegates to the state convention are required to assemble in district conventions and record their choice of national delegates from the districts, but it is true also that unless these district delegates, so chosen, have the approval of the majority in the state convention, they will be displaced in favor of delegates who do have the state convention's majority indorsement.

The Fort Worth state convention to select delegates to the national convention in 1908 made the necessary precedent.

Some districts chose anti-Bailey delegates to Denver, but the state convention, dominated by the friends of Bailey, ignored these district selections and sent a Bailey delegation.

If that was good law and sound practice when the bosses prevailed, it is certainly good enough law and sound enough practice in this year when the plain people prevail.

A DECLARATION ALL SHOULD MAKE.

Houston Chronicle.

It is somewhat singular that of the three candidates for the senate from Texas, the one whose platform is, in our judgment, least democratic, should stand alone in advocating the thoroughly democratic proposition that the high man in the senatorial primary shall be the party's nominee.

Colonel Wolters flatfootedly opposes any extension of the people's control over their governmental agents; he sees no merit in the initiative, referendum and recall.

He advocates "incidental" protec-

Shrieks of siren whistles from nearby ships and from wharves in the harbor marked the appearance of the latest Federal defender afloat. A distinguished crowd was the Texas birthday party, including Miss Helen Taft, secretary of the navy Meyers and the Misses Meyer, admiral Fletcher and Watt and scores of foreign office and society leaders. FATAL REVOLVER FIGHT NEAR CORPUS CHRISTI
Three Men Are Killed and Three Others Arrested—Arose Over Local Election
By Associated Press. Corpus Christi, Tex., May 18.—In a battle with revolvers at 9 o'clock this morning at San Diego, 60 miles west of Corpus Christi three men were killed and as a result three are under arrest. The dead—all Mexicans, are Pedro Esnal, county and district clerk of Duval county; Antonio Anzuano, deputy sheriff; Candelario Sanez. The men under arrest are Dr. Roberts, Frank Robinson and Chas. Gavis, who is a ranchman at San Diego. The shooting resulted from today's election on the proposed incorporation of the town. The trouble occurred in front of the court house where the voting polls were located. The arrested men made no effort to escape. Sheriff Mike Wright and posse went from here in an auto as soon as word of the shooting was received. Sheriff Tobin of Duval county phoned that he feared a general fight might further trouble, while excitement was then at fever pitch. All was quiet at last reports. San Diego has 3500 people, 90 per cent being Mexicans.

NUMBER 5

Shower for Miss Skinner.

One of the most enjoyable affairs for Miss Bonnie Skinner, the bride of the week, was a linen shower given by Miss Hazel Gaston, Marie Tinsley, Lillian Webb, Evelyn Coffield, and Lillian White at the home of the latter, 1510 Tenth street a few afternoons ago.

Some thirty-five of the girls and younger married friends were bidden and were received at the door by the hostesses and bride-to-be, who was charmingly attired in a handsome lingerie gown and hat of Parisian crepe draped over hand painted motifs. A delightful musical preceded the shower, and as the approach of inclement weather was announced by Miss Gaston, a great basket of hand embroidered linen was showered on the honoree. Each daintily wrapped package was opened and sweetly acknowledged by her.

An ice course was served and hand painted cupid cards given as souvenirs of the occasion. The dining room had been appropriately decorated and in the center of the table was the proverbial wedding cake resting in a bed of roses. The cutting of the cake caused much merriment. Miss Hazel Gaston, the groom, and Mrs. Claud Woods had a word for the girls left behind.

Dance at the Elks' Club.

On Tuesday evening at the Elks' Club rooms, a delightfully informal dance was given in honor of Miss Bonnie Skinner and D. J. White, whose marriage was shortly to take place. Delightful music was furnished by the Katz Orchestra, and souvenir programs were distributed to those present. At a late hour the dance was brought to a close.

Those present were Misses Bonnie Skinner, Hazel Gaston, Icie White, Ester Gorsline, Vivian Mathis, Marie Tinsley, Flossie Murphy, Tressa Lee, Helen Fitzpatrick, Lillian Avis, Ruby Scarborough of Fort Worth, Mrs. Moore of Petrolia, Mrs. Lowery of Ft. Worth, and Messrs. D. J. White, R. J. Martin, Fred Gaston, Dr. Brown, Wm. Haisler, Frank Griffin, Grogan, Ernest Fain, Lamar Fain, B. Schriener, John O'Donahoe, B. L. Brooks, and O. C. White of Seymour. Also Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Frith, Mr. and Mrs. Bessey, and Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

Mrs. Culbertson Entertains.

The members of Section A of the First Presbyterian Church Aid Society were invited by Mrs. J. W. Culbertson to come to her home Wednesday at three p. m. and to bring with them a thimble.

After being cordially ushered in by our hostess, we were handed a dainty package tied with pink ribbons. Inside was a linen towel or napkin and an appropriate verse to spur us on to greater endeavor in our church work. We were told to hem the napkins.

After a happy hour chatting over our needle work, we were invited in the

WHITE-SKINNER NUPTIALS.

It was a pretty and impressive ceremony that united the hands and hearts of Miss Bonnie Skinner and Mr. D. J. White at the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. Before one o'clock, the ceremony hour, had arrived, the church which had been prettily decorated, was filled with friends gathered to honor the bride and groom and with their presence and congratulations to wish them God-speed in their journey through life together.

Rev. J. L. McKee, pastor of the bride's church was the celebrant and the Episcopal double ring ceremony was used.

Before the entrance of the bridal party Katz' orchestra played sweetly music appropriate to the event and just before the wedding march Mrs. W. H. Walker sang "Thy Dear Eyes" by Tolst with a violin obligato.

A canopy of fragrant white smilax banked with ferns and palms, had been built over the altar. The bridal party marched to the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by the orchestra. The bride and her attendants approached from the room at the rear, meeting the pastor and the groomsmen in front of the altar.

First of the bride's party came the ushers, Misses Lillian Webb, Marie Tinsley, Icie White and Evelyn Coffield. They wore dainty lingere gowns with white lace tabs and carried pink Killarneys. Next came the maid in waiting, Miss Hazel Gaston, and the maid of honor, Miss Ruby Scarborough of Fort Worth, who wore white cluny trimmed gowns hung over pink silken slips with picture hats, and carried arm bouquets of bride's roses.

The bride, stunningly gowned in a man tailored suit of Paquin blue whipcord and hat with French feathers to match followed on the arm of her mother, Mrs. Webb. The bride carried an arm bouquet of American beauty roses. Mrs. Webb wore a gown of black crepe meteor with real lace trimmings.

The party left the altar to Lohengrin's recessional. They were immediately driven to the station in automobiles where amid the customary showers of rice and with the old shoe tied to their baggage they took the train. They will spend a ten days honeymoon at San Antonio, Galveston and other points after which they will return to this city to make their home.

The bride is one of Wichita's fairest and most popular young ladies. She is the eldest daughter of Mrs. R. P. Webb.

The groom is an auditor by profession who has lately engaged in business here for himself. He is a young business man in whom integrity and ability have combined for promising career.

GIVE SURPRISE PARTY.

The neighbors of Mrs. W. P. Bolding on Brook avenue, paid her a very charming compliment on Monday afternoon when they assembled at the home of Mrs. M. J. Shivers to honor her and to bid adieu to her mother, Mrs. R. D. Hall, who left Tuesday for home in Iuka Springs, Mississippi. The affair was in the nature of a surprise to the honoree, who in response to a message from Mrs. Shivers to "come over," walked into the reception hall to find assembled there Mesdames S. Y. Ferguson, J. W. Harrison, D. J. Carithers, J. W. Bockrath, M. J. Shivers, Misses Clara Bockrath and Celeste Hall of Iuka Springs, Mississippi. The house was darkened and was artistically decorated with pot plants and pink roses. Punch was served in the dining room by Miss Clara Bockrath. After an hour spent in playing "42," a delicious ice course was served in which the color scheme of pink and white was carried out. In a graceful manner Mrs. Carithers presented to Mrs. Hall a hand-painted plate, and to Mrs. Bolding a beautiful fern, expressing to the former the regret of all present that her stay in Wichita Falls had been such a brief one, and to the latter the wish that in her new home on Floral Heights she may find neighbors as congenial as those she leaves behind.

Zola in one of his works has said, "There are tigers in India who having once tasted human blood will have no other." There are doctors in Texas who having once felt the hot heart blood of women gush through their fingers and have gazed into a mysterious gaping wound will offer only surgery in treatment for woman's ills. They become fiends, surgical maniacs. The thought of an operation is as the smell of blood to a tiger, they are maddened by it. Blood makes many doctors scientific savages. The ancient Persians were sun and blood worshippers. At sun rise, upon an altar, the high priests plugged their knife into a virgin, and her heart crimson with its own blood was offered to the morning sun, to oppose the God of Day. Today, at hospital altar, priest in long white robes, tear the heart out of our loved ones and lay them upon sacred slabs of science to satisfy the greedy, fiendish, selfish God of ignorance. Oh ye countless dead, ye martyrs, to a science, appeal ye to the God of Reason, to let the carnage cease. The ravage of war, the scourge of pestilence thou art a gentle curse in comparison to ruthless, hungry country surgeons. The greatest surgeons in the world, surrounded by all modern hygienic conditions and equipped with every modern instrument and schooled by hundreds of clinics, make grave errors and only a small percent of their operations are a success. This being the case what can you expect from our surgeons, whose hygienic environments are all, whose equipments a few play things and whose clinical experience is a few cases each year. You can only expect an appalling death rate. These would-be surgeons are the ones that are first to decry modern methods, any system that is not surgical. The big surgeons, those men who are really great, are ever ready to recognize and adopt any system that tends to alleviate human suffering without the knife. There is not a great surgeon in America that does not recognize Osteopathy and Electricity and use and recommend it before and after surgical operations. It may seem a great joke to the cross-road surgeon to operate upon every woman who can be frightened by the cry of cancer, gallstones, tumors, ovarian troubles, but it is no joke to the woman or her family. We offer instead of the knife and chloroform, methods that have more to their credit than either. We offer you Osteopathy, Mild Medicine, Electricity, Super-heated air. We are here to stay. 200 patients here in the city approve our methods. Consultation free. DR. T. H. P. DUNCAN, 605 1/2 Eighth street. Phone-673

To Segregate a Corporation Doesn't Regulate a Man

We Are Living Entirely In a New World

By GEORGE W. PERKINS

We Fail to Read Signs of the Times

Financier of New York

NO thoughtful, intelligent man can deny the fact we are living in a new world—a world almost wholly unknown to our forefathers, and we are using little of their fabric save honor and integrity. Without doubt our political representatives and many of our statesmen have utterly failed to read aright the signs of the times.

Bloodshed and riot followed the labor saving machines, but now they are accepted and protected. And now we are passing through almost a parallel experience with our corporations.

They have created FEAR AMONG THE PEOPLE just as the other machines did, but in place of being destroyed by workmen these corporate machines are being TORN ASUNDER BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT ITSELF.

The true American has no such fear. He FEARS THE METHOD OF THE BLIND POOR. He has the right to know from the government what is being done by great business enterprises in which his money is invested.

We are afraid of a dishonest, corrupt, unfair, selfish man, and we must learn to regulate and control the actions of men. We must have LAWS THAT WILL PUNISH A MAN WHO COMMITS THE CRIME, not the stockholder or the public which is being served.

TO SEGREGATE A CORPORATION DOES NOT REGULATE A MAN.

Farmers Can Learn a Lesson From the Trusts

Credit System Can Advantageously Be Adopted by Tillers of the Soil

By DAVID LUBIN, Permanent Delegate From the United States to the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome

IF the farmer is eliminated our REPUBLIC IS DOOMED. The way to conquer the trusts is to take from them their great weapon of MONOPOLY OF CREDIT. You can dissolve them or do whatever else to them you wish, but they will continue. Government regulation does not amount to a hill of beans, and nobody can stop the trusts by such methods.

IN GERMANY THEY HAVE SOLVED THE PROBLEM THROUGH THE FARMERS. THEY HAVE SEVERAL METHODS BY WHICH THE FARMERS CAN OBTAIN CREDIT WITHOUT MORTGAGING THEIR FARMS.

One is by assessing the farm land collectively and permitting the owners to issue negotiable bonds pro rata, which are guaranteed by the government.

Another way is the CO-OPERATIVE method. A number of farmers band, and when one of their number wishes credit the others secure, with their lands, the loans he may float.

TAKE AWAY FROM OUR BIG CORPORATIONS OR MERCHANTS IN THIS COUNTRY TODAY THEIR PRIVILEGE OF CREDIT AND SUBSTITUTE THE MORTGAGE SYSTEM AND EVERY ONE OF THEM WILL GO BANKRUPT IN A DAY.

Safety of the Seas a Question For The Hague Tribunal

By CHARLES VON HELMOTH, German Steamship Official

WITH the laws of every nation at variance regarding the safety of passengers on board steamships I believe the proper solution is to HAVE THE HAGUE TRIBUNAL TAKE UP THE MATTER and adopt such joint regulations as would insure as nearly absolute safety as is possible and under which all steamship-companies of every nation would be compelled to operate.

It is a matter which demands INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT, as most steamship companies must conform with maritime laws of several countries.

CERTAINLY THE SAFETY OF HUMAN LIFE IS VASTLY OF MORE IMPORTANCE THAN THE SETTLEMENT OF SEALING RIGHTS OR OF BOUNDARY DISPUTES, WHICH SUBJECTS WERE SO SKILLFULLY HANDLED AT THE DUTCH CAPITAL.

MAN, HORSE, BUGGY AND GROCERIES ARE MISSING

Officers are Asked to Look Out for Rig Taken From Farm Near This City

Officers in neighboring counties have been requested to be on the lookout for a horse and buggy stolen from F. M. McKinley last week.

The rig was stolen from Mr. McKinley's farm near the city. About ten days ago Mr. McKinley employed a man to work for him and sent him out to the farm with a supply of provisions and a week's work out for him.

Later Mr. McKinley drove out to the farm to see how his man was getting along. He failed to find the man anywhere. Also all the provisions had disappeared. The horse and buggy too were missing. Mr. McKinley associated the disappearance and came to town and notified the officers. Up to this time no trace of any of the missing articles has been found.

OLD MAIDS' CONVENTION PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

Miss Mary Orth Wins Pretty Girl Contest—Production One of Much Merit

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the Convention of Amalgamated Spinners at the Wichita Theatre Friday evening, and judging from the amount of applause which most of those identified with the convention received, the affair proved a success and pleased those who attended.

The pretty girl contest inaugurated as a novel method of arousing interest in the convention was brought to a close last night when Miss Mary Orth was announced to be the winner, she appearing on the stage to acknowledge the applause which the announcement called forth.

The performance dealt with the "making over" of a number of spinners of apparently hopeless age, into young and beautiful women, the results being both marvelous and astonishing. Only one man appeared on the stage and he was badly at a disadvantage. A very pleasing feature of the evening was the recitation by Mrs. Margaret Wright-Edwards of Dallas.

Mention of the convention would be incomplete unless something was said regarding the post laureate of the evening, Alice Brown, who recited in a manner most entertaining and original poem full of catchy rhymes and dealing with her troubles as an old maid.

NEGRO FANS COME TO RESCUE OF CATCHER

Backstop in Jail and Cash Bond is Made So He Can Play Ball Today.

There was much agitation in colored fandom Saturday afternoon. The cause was the arrest of the catcher of the crack-ding team of the city who is charged with an attempt to "lift" a necktie from a local-clothing store. He was caught with the tie in his possession and the officers were notified and came and took him to the county jail. Last night the darktown sports were busy raising a cash bond so that their star player could participate in a game today.

DREADNAUGHT "TEXAS" LAUNCHED SATURDAY
Newport News, Va., May 18—Greeted by a chorus of steam whistles and cheered on by an assemblage of 20,000 spectators the 27,000-ton battleship Texas, twin sister of the New York, building at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, glided from her ways today at the yards of the Newport News, Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

As the big vessel swept down to meet the water of the James river, Miss Claudia Lyon, daughter of Col. Cecil Lyon, a wealthy ranch owner and Republican National Committee-man for Texas, broke the traditional bottle of champagne and formally named the ship. Grouped about the sponsor on the official stand were numerous representatives of the state of Texas, together with Secretary Meyer and a number of other officials of the Navy department and high officers of the Army.

The Texas is designed to be the largest and most formidable warship afloat. Her displacements are nearly four times as great as the old battleship of the same name, her total cost will be in the neighborhood of $14,000,000. She will be the first warship of the American Navy to carry a battery of 14-inch guns. He contract calls for a speed of at least 21 knots an hour.

SKETCH OF MRS. PATTERSON WHO DIED WEDNESDAY

The following sketch of Mrs. Ella Jane Patterson, mother of H. B. and C. S. Patterson, of this city, who died last Wednesday at her home in Henrietta is reprinted from the Henrietta Independent.

Mrs. Ella Jane Patterson, age 66 years, wife of C. B. Patterson, who died at the family residence in Henrietta last Wednesday night of a complication of diseases, death being primarily due to an impoverished condition of the blood. She had been confined to her bed for several weeks.

The funeral took place at the residence at 2:30 Thursday afternoon, the services being conducted by Pastor N. R. Stone of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Patterson was born in Lafayette county, Mo., April 15th, 1846, and was married to Mr. Patterson April 6, 1866. Tomorrow the delegates will visit the San Jacinto battlefield.

News From The Oil Fields

The commissioners' court of Clay county last week passed an order requiring the assessment of oil and mineral rights where such rights are held by an owner separate from the owner of the land. The order itself is not entirely clear but it is inferred that such rights will not be assessed when held together with the land. If this is the case it is quite likely that the owners of the leases will protest that they are being discriminated against.

The order of the Clay county court follows. "It is ordered by the court that the Tax Assessor of Clay county, be and is hereby directed to assess for taxes all mineral rights, including the right to oil and gas, in and upon, and attaching to any and all land in Clay county, Texas, where it is found that such mineral and mineral rights are owned by different persons from the owner or owners of the surface estate in and to such lands, and that such mineral and mineral rights so held and owned be assessed for taxes independent of the surface estate.

The well on W. L. Andrews' place is down about 700 feet, and reports are that the same formations, exactly, are being encountered as was found in the Miller well. They expect something doing in the next week or ten days. Work in the Bear Creek pasture, 5 1/2 miles north of town is being delayed by the slow arrival of supplies.

The well on Lee Anderson's Ranch is down about 600 feet, and a well grounded rumor has it that a fair showing of oil has already been passed through. Everybody is watching this test closely, and hopes are high for a new strike real soon. The well at Newcastle is 2020 feet, and drilling in oil sand. STRONG ENGAGEMENT AT LYDIA MARGARET

Two Vaudeville Teams of Unusual Merit Secured for This Week—Opening Date for Alrdome Indefinite.

A three days program of unusual merit has been booked by managers Wren & Berry of the Lydia Margaret Theatre for the performance on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Among other attractions, the Stroud Trio, which is no-doubt one of the strongest specialties ever seen in this city, has been signed for and will appear during the performance on all three dates.

A prominent manager of a large Chicago vaudeville house where the Strouds recently closed an engagement, writes: "The Stroud Trio should give you the strongest bill that you have ever played, and unless I miss my guess, you will play to capacity business during their engagement." "Advertise them as strong as you like without any fear of their failing to make good."

As has been their usual custom, the managers of the Lydia Margaret, will present two vaudeville bills each night next week, and in addition to the Stroud Trio, they have secured O'Clare & McDonold, who will be seen in a laughable Irish Musical Comedy sketch. Three interesting motion pictures entirely different each night will also be presented.

At the present time it can not be announced with any degree of correctness exactly what might the Air Dome on Seventh street will be opened for

ENGLISH SPARROW IS NOW IN BAD

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES HAVE MARKED HIM FOR SLAUGHTER AS A PEST.

DECLARE HE IS EDIBLE

May Become Restaurant Delicacy—Is Pirate and Disturber in the Bird World.

Washington, May 18.—Mr. English Sparrow having been duly tried and found guilty of being a pest, an undesirable and general nuisance, Uncle Sam invites all good citizens of these good United States to abolish him. His crimes being many and his virtues few, he is consigned to that bourne in public opinion wherein dwell his companion malefactors, the fly and the mosquito.

All persons who are interested in swatting the fly or exterminating the mosquito are invited to give a hand and chase from this land the little brown bird, whose dynasty has extended over a period of sixty years. You can trap him, shoot him, poison him, in fact there are a lot of things you can do to him, and in the opinion of the United States department of agriculture you will be doing the country a good sized favor.

Also it is suggested that if you tire of squab or the common terrapin you will find eating Mr. Sparrow a pleasant and useful part of your gastronomic duties and thereby get chicken trust, the beef trust, and other trusts that are accused of making the cost of living high these days.

By getting the fashionable chef and restaurant cook together in a campaign to make the American public appreciate the delicacies of the sparrow meat, the Department figures that its campaign will have just so much more strategic significance.

The bill of complaint against Mr. Sparrow, by Ned Dearborn, an expert in the U. S. biological survey, sets forth that he is "cunning, destructive and filthy," in winter he feeds on waste material and in summer switches his diet to weed seeds and insects. About the only extenuating circumstance advanced in his favor is that he sometimes—but very seldom—flies out to the country where alfalfa grows and does a little good by preying on the alfalfa weevil. But most of the times he feeds on insects that do a useful part in agricultural service. Hence about 29 counts against him and only one in his favor.

Also he is guilty of destroying fruit, such as cherries, grapes, peaches and peaches. He gobbles up buds and flowers of cultivated shrubs, trees and vines. He oftentimes causes havoc in gardens by nibbling at the peas and lettuce. He is destructive to wheat and other grains.

Some idea of his depreations is given by the statement that a flock of fifty of his fellows requires daily an equivalent of a quart of grain. Hence the annual loss through out the country mounts up to a large total.

Furthermore he is a pirate and a disturber of the bird world. He preys on some of the most beautiful and attrac-

Just after a snow storm. The poison should be well scattered so that a large number of the birds may get it at the same time. If only a few are affected the remainder may get suspicious and fly away. One of the sparrow's greatest attributes is its sense of danger. The presence of a dead bird will suffice to frighten off a whole flock. If a farmer merely wants to keep the birds off his land he may do so by maintaining a supply of poisoned bait in sight all the time, but if he wishes to exterminate them he must succeed the poisoned bait with a supply of unpoisoned feed; so that the sparrows having regained confidence will return later for a portion of the poisoned food, and so on.

DR. WILEY'S BABY TO BE PURE FOOD INFANT

Former Bureau Chief Tells How Wiley Jr. is to Be Hygienically Brought Up.

Washington, May 18.—Dr. Harvey Wiley, former chief of the Federal pure food bureau, and perhaps the greatest living authority on food hygiene, to whom a nine and a half-month baby was presented Thursday by his young wife, had quite a lot of things to say today about the proper rearing of children. Mrs. Wiley was getting along in fine shape today and the doctor had a great stack of telegrams of congratulations that had poured in to him from all parts of the country.

The baby has been named "John Harvey" and although Dr. Wiley says he has wanted a girl, he admitted he was "satisfied."

Just as any ordinary father might Dr. Wiley talked with great pride today about the new baby. "The child," he declared, "is to be a pure food and fresh air baby literally. At first he will take natural food from his mother, and it surpasses any baby food that ever has been or ever will be invented."

"A child should not be weaned until he is fifteen or eighteen months, or never until he has passed his second summer. Our baby will be weaned a year from the 1st of next September. He will not be given fruit until after he is 3 years old and has all his teeth. If we can obtain tuberculosis germ proof, perfectly clean cow's milk, he will be allowed to drink all he can."

"From the very first our baby will sleep in the open air, as God intended all men to do. His little lungs will be filled with life-giving ozone taken fresh from the great out-of-doors, without being bottled in close rooms and unhealthy mansions."

"His clothes will be very few and very simple. I do not intend that our baby shall ever wear the trailing robes many miles too long that torture and retard the growth of infants."

"One of the earliest lessons a child should be taught is thrift and instead of John Harvey being allowed to squander his pennies, he is to be Advertising Men to Meet.

Dallas, Texas, May 18.—Arriving trains brought hundreds of visitors to Dallas today for the eighth annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which will open tomorrow with lay sermons at the local churches by well known advertising men. Every section of the United States and Canada will be represented at the convention, which is expected to be the largest ever held by that organization. The formal opening will take place Monday in the Dallas Opera House, when Governor Colquitt of Texas, and Mayor, Holland of Dallas will welcome the visitors. The proceedings will continue an entire week, during which time the advertising men and their friends will hear addresses on "Advertising and Distribution," by B. F. Yoakum; "Organization Needs of Retail Advertising," by Julius Schneider of Chicago; "Advertising a State," by Henry Exall of Dallas; "Class Publications," by G. D. Mekeel of Indianapolis; "Specialty Advertising," by L. E. Pratt of New York; and "Billboards and Painted Display," by C. J. Gude of New York. BARGAINS!

A bargain is that which can be bought at a lower price than it is really worth. Don't be fooled by paying $10 for an article supposed to be worth $20 but actually worth only $8.

Then again if you are looking for real bargains, don't pay $10 for an article worth only $10, or $5 for an article worth only $5—these certainly are not bargains. But just think our DIAMONDS are left with us at sacrifice prices and we are able to sell them at much less than they were originally bought from the wholesalers by the retailers—thereby proving that we can actually give you a real bargain; if you are contemplating purchasing a DIAMOND.

The county commissioners adjourned Saturday to reconvene next Wednesday when they will take up the consideration of assessments of oil leases and oil property in the Electoral field.

The last several days the court has been sitting as a board of equalization and with the exception of the oil asessments they have finished most of their equalization of the assessments of other property.

The valuations of very little property has been raised over last years figures. Among the raises has been the First and the City National Banks. Other banks in the county were not raised.
