COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF HIGH SCHOOL ARE HELD AT OPERA HOUSE.

TWENTY-NINE IN CLASS

Orations and Essays By Students and Address by Judge John C. Kay Are Delivered.

The largest class which has graduated from the Wichita Falls High School during the twenty-three years or more since the foundation of that institution in this city appeared on the stage of the Wichita Theatre last night, and at the close of the commencement exercises the young men and young ladies were presented with their diplomas by Prof. T. L. Toland, superintendent of public schools.

About 8:30 o'clock a good sized audience composed mostly of friends and relatives of the graduates, was called to order and an invocation was delivered by Rev. J. E. Coe, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The graduates were seated in a semi-circle on the stage, the girls being dressed in white and the boys in black. Bouquets of carnations and roses were carried by the former and a white carnation was worn by each of the latter. The boys in the class numbered thirteen and the girls sixteen.

Following the invocation, a number of undergraduate girls dressed in white marched on the stage and to the accompaniment of the piano by Miss Ruth Trueblood, sang, "The Owl and the Pussy Cat," by George Ingraham. They had been trained under the personal supervision of Miss Alice Gordon, supervisor of music in the public schools, and the manner in which they performed reflected credit not only on themselves but on their teacher as well.

"The United States Life Saving Service" was the subject of an essay read by Miss Goldie Moore, the salutatorian. In an interesting manner she pointed out the work that is being done by the United States Life Saving Service, and briefly sketched its history. She concluded by predicting even greater strides in the future than have been made in the past.

One of the most entertaining numbers on the evening's program was an address by Laverne Somerville, who represented the class when she spoke on "The Causes of Success and Failure," which was well delivered and showed careful preparation.

The High School Choral Club next sang a song entitled "The Bees." Although singing classes and choral clubs have existed for some time in a few of the ward schools, the fact that the high school Choral Club has only been organized since the Christmas holidays led many not to place the expectations too high regarding the performance of the club.

Following the song by the Choral Club, Brack Hawthorne, one of the graduates, discussed "Universal Peace." He believed that the day of Universal Peace is fast approaching and that modern inventions will soon have progressed to such a state that war will become almost impossible. His address was given careful attention, and he received a full share of applause.

The next number on the program the valedictory by Miss Ola Mae Hamlin, was especially good. She chose as her subject, "Domestic Science in the Public Schools," and in her discussion of the theme, she went into detail regarding the establishment and spread of the movement.

"The Swing Song" was next rendered by the "Glee" Chorus, after which the address of the evening was made by Hon. J. C. Kay, who spoke in part as follows: "What a glorious thing it is to be young. When we are young Nature holds out her hands to us and cries, 'This way, Madam; this way, my Lord.' Art adapts her jewels before you and says, 'Take these and take me.' Honor's voice is heard inviting you to earn and wear her laurels. What then is the reason for this popularity of youth? It is just this; only that you have more days work wrapped up in you. You are in favor with the world and with nature for the same reason that folk put more value on a young horse. 'I trust that you are filled with pride. Pride is about the only thing that I disagree with the ministers about. I hold it to be a virtue. Why should you not be filled with pride? The torches that have been handed down to you by your teachers were, some of them, lighted at altars that were burning before the deluge. That

MAY COAX RAIN WITH DYNAMITE

POST'S PLAN WILL POSSIBLY BE TRIED NEAR THIS CITY SOON.

HAS PROVEN SUCCESSFUL

Method Consists of Firing Large Number of Small Dynamite Charges. Many Favor Experiment.

C. W. Post's plan of exploding dynamite to make rain may be tried at Wichita Falls. Parties are now investigating to find whether the dynamite necessary for the experiments can be secured within a reasonable time. If it can be secured money will be raised by subscription for the experiment. It is estimated that from $600 to $1,000 will be necessary for the experiment.

Mr. Post claims to have produced rains at Post City at a cost of one-fourth a cent an acre. His plan to fire off several thousand pounds of dynamite. His method is to distribute the dynamite at intervals in a string several miles long a hundred pounds at a place. Each hundred pounds is divided into two pound lots which are fired one after the other. It is reported that Mr. Post has made repeated experiments at Post City covering a period of several years and that he has never yet failed to produce a good rain.

RATHER HAZY OUTLOOK IN BASEBALL CIRCLES

Three Franchises About Ready to Be Surrendered—Few Teams Receiving Proper Support.

The end of the first month of the Texas-Oklahoma league session finds it pretty wobbly as to finances, rather lopsided as to club standing and rather hazy as to future, but still doing business at the old stand, nevertheless. The recent decision to end the first part of the season on June 10 has revived the faltering hearts of some of the club owners and there is still hope.

Owners of three clubs—Greenville, McKinney and Ardmore—are understood to have expressed a willingness to sell their franchises. None are receiving much in the way of support and are understood to be losing money.

Individual club finances, for that matter, are all in the same fix. Bonham is said to be doing pretty well, and Sherman is not so bad off as some, but for the most part the clubs are losing money. In towns the size of those in this league there are not many who are able to go off on week-day afternoons, while the necessity for going outside the city limits on Sunday also tends to keep the patronage down.

The outlook would be much worse, however, if there were not several towns anxious to enter the league. Paris is said to be trying to sever her connection with the South Central organization. Gainesville would like to "come back" and Hugo, Oklahoma, has been trying to get hold of a franchise ever since the league was formed.

Locally, there has not been much improvement in the support given the team. The last stay at home with two tail-end teams, but even that fact does not excuse the miserable patronage given the game here.

FIND BABY BOY IN FRONT YARD

"FINDINGS IS KEEPINGS"

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Have Already Adopted Infant and Will Provide Home For It.

"It's a baby and we're going to keep it," answered Mrs. Luther Thompson to her husband's question this morning when she came into the house tenderly carrying a bundle after a trip out to the yard gate to investigate an object they had seen lying there for more than an hour.

It was a baby—a vigorous and healthy boy apparently about a month or six weeks old—and there has been a mighty stir in the Thompson home today in the making of a wardrobe for the youngster. Relatives in town were telephoned the news of the find early this morning and soon automobiles were hurrying out to the Thompson home about a mile and a half east of the city with infant garments. Later Mr. Thompson came to town himself and visited several dry goods stores wherefor he carried great bundles. Never a wail met with a warmer welcome or found a better home than this.

Mrs. Thompson sighted the bundle when she first got up this morning and called Mr. Thompson's attention to it but they concluded it was only a piece of paper blown there by the wind last night. An hour later after Mr. Thompson had finished some chores at the barn and was preparing for breakfast they saw that the object was still lying by the gate and Mrs. Thompson decided to investigate. A few seconds later she came running toward the house and announced the nature of the object and also declared the family's intentions in connection therewith.

The baby was clad only in a thin slip and was lying on a small blanket. It had evidently been there several hours and when picked up by Mrs. Thompson was purple from the cold. It appeared to be enjoying the situation, however, and when brought in to the kitchen fire grew very sociable and friendly.

The identity of the child's parents is a mystery but they evidently knew something about the Thompson family and that the baby would find a good home there, for there are not better folks anywhere than Mr. Thompson and his family. The Thompsons aren't going to make any search for the baby's parents for fear that if they found them they might want to get the baby back. He has already been named Luther after his foster father.

RAYNER POINTS MORAL IN TITANIC DISASTER

Calls Attention to It As Example of Speed-Madness. Draws Lesson From It.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., May 28.—Discussing the Titanic disaster in the Senate today, Senator Rayner of Maryland denounced the United States admiralty and navigation laws as "an incongruous collection of antiquated statutes, which should be repealed and re-enacted so as to meet the necessities of ocean intercourse of the present day." Senator Rayner dwelt at length on the "lesson of religious faith" that the Titanic disaster should have taught and asserted that the country needs "severe lessons that will strengthen the pillars and altars of its faith."

On this point the Senator said: "We are to a large extent today defying the ordinances of God and the sooner we awake unto a realizing sense of our responsibility the better it will be for the spiritual elevation of the country. We are running mad with the lust of wealth, and of power, and of ambition. We are separating society into castes with fabulous fortunes upon the one side and destitution and poverty on the other. It takes a terrible warning to bring us back to our moorings and our senses. We are abandoning—the devout and simple lives of our ancestors and the fabric of our civilization is weakening at the foundation. If this disaster teaches no lesson or points no moral then let us pass it by with stoical indifference, until the next disaster comes, and in the meantime let the carnival go on. May the heart-rending scenes upon this night of anguish and of woe give us faith and lead us back to the altars of our fathers. I will not rehearse the agonies of this midnight sacrifice."

STEAM ROLLER IN WORKING ORDER

WILSON FORCES TAKE COMPLETE CHARGE OF STATE CONVENTION AT HOUSTON.

FOR DELEGATES-AT-LARGE

Caucus Names State—Sheb Williams Says All Delegates Should Be Wilson Men.

Summary of Convention Called at noon. Solid Wilson delegation to Baltimore. Unit rule to apply. No second choice for Texas delegation. Platform making expected to develop fight over. Indorsement of Randall's bill to prohibit public officials accepting corporation fees. Initiative, referendum and recall. Free raw material.

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, May 28.—The Democratic State Presidential convention here today open at 12:30 with the formal admission of the Harmon forces that Woodrow Wilson would have Texas' forty delegates at Baltimore.

Sheb Williams, chairman of the executive committee, called the convention to order. He said "Governor Wilson has carried Texas and is entitled to a solid delegation, committed to his nomination. There are none, I hope, who will be sulkers or obstructionists."

He urged the Wilson men to write into the platform the specific principles on which the Wilson campaign in Texas was urged.

Richard H. Mays of Corsicana was elected temporary chairman by acclamation. The Wilson caucus nominated the following delegates-at-large:

Cone Johnson of Tyler, T. W. Gregory of Austin, Chas. Culberson of Dallas, T. H. Ball of Houston, M. M. Crane of Dallas, Marshall Hicks of San Antonio, T. M. Campbell of Palestine, R. L. Henry of Waco. Alternates-at-large—M. M. Brooks of Dallas, A. S. Burleson of Austin, J. W. Stephens of Fort Worth, T. B. Love of Dallas, M. E. Foster of Houston, W. M. Rice of Houston, T. F. Garrison of Timpan, J. C. McNeary of Dallas was elected temporary secretary.

All resolutions will be referred to the committee on resolutions without debate.

Committees were named on resolutions, platform and credentials, following which a recess was taken until 4 p. m., while the committees are at work.

The democratic state executive committee this morning recommended the selection of Richard Mays of Corsicana as temporary chairman of the convention. Two contests were disposed of and the temporary roll made up. The delegation headed by Archie Farr from Duval county and that headed by Claud Hudspeth of El Paso county were ordered on the convention's temporary roll. The Lavaca county contesting delegation failed to materialize and the other was seated.

State convention leaders predicted this morning that the convention might last two days on account of the expected platform struggle. Of the factional contests the one most discussed was the supremacy of the opponents of Senator Bailey. Although the junior senator's wonted influence was lacking it was evident today that possibly the most intense interest of the convention would hang on what platform plank should be adopted with any bearing on Mr. Bailey's political principles.

BOLT IS TAKEN BY TAFT FORCES

ALLEGED THEY WERE NOT TREATED FAIRLY BY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

TO BE RUMP CONVENTION

Roosevelt Faction Meets and Proclaims to Business As the Regular Convention.

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, May 28.—The expected bolt developed at the Republican convention today.

The first certain move toward a split between the Lyon-Roosevelt and MacGregor-Taft forces in the State Republican convention today came when the Taft crowd after meeting in a small hall and appointing a steering committee to determine the holding of a second convention, adjourned to a larger hall to await the report.

The delegates marched the streets headed by a band, past the hall where the Roosevelt men stood waiting for 11 o'clock when the convention was to open. As the Taft men passed the hall, the Roosevelt men called out "You have the band, but we've got the bandwagon."

The Taft followers say the open strife resulted from the fact that the executive committee has seated 175 delegates without saying who they are or submitting their credentials. H. F. MacGregor says Taft men were not allowed to see the list of these delegates. It was then determined, the MacGregor faction says, that a separate convention should be considered. A steering committee was then appointed.

The first action taken by the Taft forces was to adopt a minority report complaining that the executive committee seated delegates over protest and without their having an opportunity to know who they were. Unfair action in seating Bezar, Dallas and Harris county delegates was alleged. C. T. McDowell was made temporary chairman. Adjournment was to 2:30. There were about 300 men in the Taft meeting.

The Roosevelt men met, effecting temporary organization. R. E. Haney of Hempstead was elected temporary chairman. This convention was much more largely attended than the Taft convention. Cecil Lyon made a speech attacking MacGregor and his followers.

The majority report of the executive committee on roll call was adopted. A poll showed 169 counties represented by 171 1/2 votes. Seventy-nine counties responded. Perfecting of permanent organization was scheduled at 3 o'clock following the routine.

TITANIC REPORT MADE PUBLIC

SENATE COMMITTEE PLACES MUCH OF BLAME UPON DECEASED CAPTAIN.

CREW MEMBERS BLAMED

Lack of Discipline is Severely Criticized—New Maritime Regulations Are Urged.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., May 28.—The report of the special Senate committee which has been investigating the Titanic holocaust was made public today.

Blame for the Titanic disaster is chargeable directly to the failure of the dead Captain Smith to heed repeated warnings of icebergs ahead, but responsibility for unnecessary loss of life must be shared by Captain Lord of the steamship Californian, through his disregard of distress signals. This is the finding of the Senate committee which investigated the sinking of the Titanic, as prepared in a comprehensive speech delivered by William Alden Smith, of Michigan, chairman of the committee.

Senator Smith declared that responsibility also rests upon the British Board of Trade, "to whose laxity of regulation, and hasty inspection, the world is largely indebted for the awful fatality." In denouncing Captain Lord, of the Californian, the Senator said the Titanic's distress signals were plainly seen from the deck of his vessel a short distance away.

America will leave to England the chastisement of those guilty asserted the Senator, and he quoted British law to show that Captain Lord might be prosecuted for a misdemeanor.

Other conclusions presented, in brief, were as follows:

Before the Titanic departed on her maiden voyage there were no sufficient tests of boilers, bulkheads, equipment of signal devices. Officers and crew were strangers to each other and not familiar with the ship's implements or tools, and no drill or station practice took place and no helpful discipline prevailed. The speed of the Titanic was 24 1/2 miles an hour at time of the accident, although officers of the Titanic had been advised of the presence of icebergs by the steamships Baltic, Amerika and Californian.

Passengers were not advised of danger, although President Ismay of the White Star Line, who was taking the vessel's maiden voyage, was informed. No general alarm was given nor any organized system of safety undertaken.

Of the 1,224 passengers and 899 members of crew on board, there was room in lifeboats for only 1,176 persons, and because of lack of orderly discipline the boats took off only 704 persons, 12 being rescued from the water.

Officers of the White Star Line "battled with the truth" after receiving information from their Montreal office Monday morning following the accident.

Senator Smith condemned "antiquated shipping laws and obsolete administrative boards" and asked that all nations act together in shipping reforms. "New laws," he said, "will best testify our affection for the dead."

Captain Rostron, of the rescue ship Carpathia, was praised by Senator Smith and he urged that Congress recognize his valor.

At the outset, Senator Smith defended the course of his committee in holding British subjects to secure their testimony without delay, and briefly answered criticism of his lack of nautical knowledge.

"Our course was simple and plain to gather the facts relating to this disaster while they were still vivid realities," he said. "Questions of diverse citizenship gave way to the universal desire for the simple truth. It was of paramount importance that we should act quickly to avoid jurisdictional confusion and organized opposition at home or abroad. We, of course, recognized that the ship was under a foreign flag; but the lives of many of our own countrymen had been sacrificed and the safety of many had been put in grave peril, and it was vital that the entire matter should be reviewed before an American tribunal if legislative action was to be taken for future guidance.

"Without any pretension to experience or special knowledge of nautical affairs, nevertheless I am of the opinion that very few important facts which were susceptible of being known escaped our scrutiny. Energy is often more desirable than learning, and the inquiry serves a useful purpose to the State.

"In the construction of the Titanic," continued the Senator, "no limit of cost circumscribed their endeavor and

Members Who Are Unfriendly to Executive Reported to Be Plotting With General Orozco.

By Associated Press. Chihuahua, Mexico, May 28.—Gen. Orozco's promise to recognize the present National Congress in return for assistance in removing Madero from the head of the government may be made the basis for negotiations for peace in Mexico. Unofficial advice has been received at headquarters that an emissary representing a controlling part of Congress is now on his way here to confer with Orozco and his counselors.

It has long been the plan of the revolutionists to oust from power not only the president and his cabinet, but congress as well. It is no secret that a large part of the deputies and many of the senators are not in accord with Madero. According to information here this clique has agreed to propose to Orozco that if he will agree to recognize Congress they will remove Madero.

Any progressive who votes for another is merely giving aid to the reactionaries."

DEMOCRATS WOULD DEPOSE GEN. WOOD.

Washington, D. C., May 28.—The army appropriation bill was reported back to the senate by the conferees with anti-administration amendments which would legislate Major General Wood out of office as chief of staff and would leave the location and distribution of military posts to a commission of retired army officers and two members each of the senate and house committees on military affairs.

The amendment which would remove General Wood also would provide either Brigadier General Crozier or Funston from ever attaining the office of chief of staff.

No officer who has not spent ten years in the line with troops before becoming a brigadier would be eligible. Many army officers charge that the fight between the line and the staff which recently resulted in the retirement from the army of General Ainsworth is responsible for that provision.

The report was not acted upon in either house today. A sharp conflict over the amendments is anticipated.

But hear long afterwards the tender heart of Matthew Arnold in answer: 'No children, this is not Jerusalem. There are mountains and rivers and deserts and lions and tigers and battles and sorrow and death between you and Jerusalem.'"

"You stand now like Columbus, ready to discover a new world. It's civilization, it's problems, it's art must be worked out by you. And you are going to work. Society is going to demand work of you. And by society I do not mean a bunch of mable old ladies sitting around the table drinking tea. The society that I am talking to you about is a society with its sleeves rolled up. Your life is going to be measured by its usefulness. Nature's great word is 'use.' God's great word is 'use.' The great flat has gone forth that he only 's' worthy who serves and aids and tells a delpa. You are going to live in the age of social philosophy. We begin already to see the dawn of that bright morning when the brotherhood of man is to become the corner stone of the world. You are going to have plenty of material out of which to build your world. You will hear that nothing should be changed, that you must let well enough alone. That doctrine is full of danger to you. Civilization is like a great temple, being erected by man. Always building—always changing—always improving. It is never completed and the scaffolding is never taken down. The commands of the architect and the noise of the workmen go up forever and ever.

"Let us hope that there are dreamers among you. Your dreamer makes the future. Those who dream dreams and see visions are the high priest-hood of the race. That little Hebrew boy who lost the love of his brethren because he saw their shaves fall down and worship his sheaf was the same dreamer who, when the lean years of famine crept up from their Egyptian river, had saved up corn that his people might have bread. When Thomas Jefferson made the Louisiana purchase, he saw Kansas City. Through the smoke of San Jacinto, Sam Houston saw the children playing and the lights burning bright in Wichita Falls. Let us hope that you dream a far high dream and then that you work to make that dream come true.

"The fruit of education is beginning to appear on the tree. Looking beyond the mists of the present we can dimly see the banners of an army with which we could not keep step. There is coming a civilization too strong and just for us to live under. There are judges coming whose decisions all men will applaud. There are physicians coming who will heal diseases before which we stand helpless. There are newspapers coming that will bring the truth and always the truth. There is a ministry coming whose faith and eloquence, courage will lead captivity captive, and whose feet will be beautiful on the mountains.

"May you go into this life with clear heads and strong bodies and clean hearts. May your days be filled with all the great things that go to make up life, and may you come at last to where.

"Yonder brightest of the isles, Bright Eden waits, Her sapphire gates Beguiling to her bright estates." Following Mr. Kay's address, Prof. Toland, after a short, speech in which he called attention to the improvements in the local high school during the last two or three years and especially during the year just ended, presented diplomas to the members of the senior class who included Misses Lillian McGregor, Julia

The possession of a bank account is a matter that must be of interest to every man, woman and child in any prosperous community. The GREATEST PLAY I EVER SAW

AS TOLD TO
Hugh S. Fullerton

By CLYDE ENGLE.

First Baseman Boston American League Team, Who is Considered One of the Greatest All-Around Players.

Did you ever see a ball player start to make a play, change his mind while his arm was swinging to throw, and turn the play and the game upside down? Well, I did, and it resulted in the greatest play I ever saw. The play was made so quickly and so rapidly as it thought out that the two men who made it almost thought me off my feet, and I was still wondering when I finished up the play for them. I was playing third base then, Gardner was on second, and Joe Wood was pitching. We were playing the Highlanders a close game and Wood was pitching well. We were all the time just about to make runs, but we never could make them; it came down to the seventh inning with the score nothing to nothing, and it looked as if the game belonged to whichever team was lucky enough to score a run. I think it was Cree who opened the seventh inning for New York with a two-base hit. Speaker made a fine play on the ball, and got it back to second just in time to lose a close decision. I thought the runner was out and we kicked a bit, for it looked as if the decision might cost us the game. It was almost a cinch that the next batter would sacrifice, or try to, and the cinch went through. He hunted hard and fast down toward second. I forgot which one was hitting after Cree that day, but he was fast, and the bunt seemed to turn the game upside down. It didn't seem possible for Gardner to get up to it in time. Wood had been planning to cut off a bunt and make the play to third, and was moving in when the bunt went past him to his left. He turned and chased after the ball while Gardner was coming forward at top speed to reach it. Wood jumped, stuck down one hand, and grabbed the ball. By a snap throw he might have caught the runner going to first, and he actually had started to make the throw when he seemed to have a new idea. I heard his yell "Third! Third!" and like a flash he snatched the ball to Gardner, who had stopped ten feet from him and was in perfect position to make a throw to third. The ball scarcely touched Gardner's hands when I saw it winging at me like a flash. Cree—or whichever of the Highlanders it was—had rounded third and was ten feet up the line jockeying for a big lead to try for home if the bunt rolled past Gardner, and all I had to do was to grab the ball and plaster it on him as he tried to get back.

Wood had seen in a flash that he only had a desperate chance to cut off the runner at first, and he figured that the other runner would be certain to turn third and start for home. He knew he couldn't stop, turn and make the throw to third in time, so he snapped the ball to Gardner, who grabbed the ball in a tenth of a second and slammed the ball over to me just in time. New York got another hit that inning, but couldn't score, and we counted one later and beat them one to nothing.

ANOTHER HEAVY HITTING GAME

WICHITA FALLS ANNEXES SIXTH CONSECUTIVE VICTORY FROM MCKINNEY.

BECKHAM AS A PITCHER

First Baseman Performs Fairly Well in Box—McKinney Outthits Wichita Boys.

Special to The Times.
 McKinney, Texas, May 28.—First Baseman Beckham of Wichita Falls made his debut as a pitcher yesterday, relieving Myers in the fifth inning. Beckham performed fairly well in the box, allowing six hits in four innings. Wichita Falls was safely in the lead when he went in the box.

Yesterday's game was very much like the five which preceded it, both sides slapping the ball to every corner of the lot. McKinney got more hits than the Drillers, but the latter fielded much better than usual and most of their safeties were of the pinch variety. The score:

The Primal Blessing

By Wilbur D. Nesbit

"In the sweat of thy face thou shalt eat bread."
 —The Book of Genesis (iii, 19).

This first curse on the head of man,
 This first blow from the hand of fate,
 Hit from him the eternal plan
 Which works its purpose soon or late.
 With aching back and blistered hands
 Man paused, his fruitless wrath to nurse—
 But now, at last he understands
 The blessing hidden in the curse.

Fair highways leading up and down—
 Where once no foot could find a trail,
 Each city rising from a town,
 Each wire that brings a distant hail,
 Brave ships that trace the sea roads out
 And fetch us wealth of merchandise,
 And walls that shield us roundabout
 Show that man's punishment was wise.

Work puts behind the things that fret,
 The woes that goad the weary heart,
 And helps the sad ones to forget
 The bitter lot and grievous smart,
 Work leads from darkness into light,
 It changes midnight into dawn
 And thrills the sons of men with might
 That sends them ever on and on.

Without the counterpoint of pain
 No chord with vibrant pleasure rings,
 The world and man would never gain
 By lessons taught by pleasant things—
 And so this curse of Eden's day
 Concealed a blessing absolute,
 It set man on the higher way
 Above the level of the brute.

The vast difference in the quality of ham and bacon, and it only needs a trial comparison to show you this difference and prove why the best in either ham or bacon is the cheapest in the end. A great many families in Wichita Falls are using Swift's Premium brand of hams and bacon regularly and frequently. Some of these people thought when they first ordered that my price was way high, but decided to try it, and once they learned the quality, nothing else ever satisfied them again.

For real flavor, tenderness, juiciness and high food value this ham and bacon stands at the top of the list. The price is forgotten once you get the taste in your mouth. And you are pleased to think that you have such good judgment in selecting your meats.

I will sell you ham or bacon sliced or in bulk and my sliced bacon is the preference of the best families in Wichita Falls.

Uncle Sam hasn't intervened yet in either Cuba or Mexico, but he is doing some talk bluffing in both cases.

We do not see why Lorimer should object to losing his seat in the Senate. He can buy another one.

There are probably some members of that Tyler mob that will think twice before they go again on any cross-country lynching expeditions.

At last accounts from Houston the steam roller was oiled and greased for the ride, with plenty of steam in the boilers and a full passenger list.

These hot days are clinching the argument in favor of building a dam across the Big Wichita River and irrigating the Wichita Valley.

It is estimated that 200,000 acres could be irrigated. An irrigation system covering the valley of the Big Wichita has been one of the projects which has been in the mind of J. A. Kemp for years.

Without stringent corrupt-practice laws the Presidential primary is a menace to American institutions. It is the rule of barter and bribery and boodle. It makes the Presidency of the United States for sale.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT. Los Angeles Examiner.

Now that the nomination of Speaker Champ Clark to lead the National Democratic ticket seems well advanced and practically assured, the question of a Vice Presidential nominee arises to timely and national importance.

It appears certain that in any outcome of the Baltimore convention the Vice Presidential nominee must come from one of the Eastern States.

Who shall that man be? Senator James A. O'Gorman of New York presents some ideal qualifications for the second place.

Another thing generally believed is that President Taft himself cannot hope for renomination in the circumstances; that he must be fighting for but one thing—namely, to prevent the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt.

One other thing generally admitted is that in the present condition of the Republican party but one man in it has hope of success at the polls.

This is not saying that everybody by any means believes Colonel Roosevelt can be elected. There are a great many people who do not believe it.

The Republican party is in a perilous position. When it meets in Chicago and compares the vote-getting strength of Colonel Roosevelt with that of the President, when it takes stock and fully understands the desperate situation that confronts it, if the convention is composed of sensible men, what can it do but accept the sole chance of victory that remains?

Every sign of the time points the same way. The Chicago convention must take Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt, and the President is impossible.—Baltimore News.

JUSTICE TO AGRICULTURE. (Farm Co-operator)

The legislature of Kentucky appropriated $10,000 to aid the poultry interest of that state. When do you reckon the State of Texas will wake up and aid in advancing the interest of Texas? The poultry business of the State is still in its infancy and a little help from the State would develop a great industry that would pay the State four fold.

As long as the political lawyers are permitted to dominate the halls of the legislature the means of the State will be squandered in some other direction. If these were left at home and the people would send to Austin a lot of careful business men, every interest of the State would be carefully looked after, and the State of Texas would not be out-distanced by her sister states, as is the case at the present time.

Arkansas can give to its agriculture the next little sum of $400,000, while Texas can only give $50,000. The Co-operator would ask what is the matter with Texas? Is it purse proud, or is it ignorance of the great industrial resources of the State? The farmers should shake up the old ship from stem to stern and never lag in their efforts until the State does justice by its agriculture.

BUYING THE PRESIDENCY. New York World.

The Presidential primary promises to be the most effective instrument in political debauchery and corruption that this country has ever known.

It was had enough to have the nomination disposed of by corrupt bosses like Hanna and Quay. It is infinitely worse to have the nomination knocked down to the highest bidder by a corrupt electorate.

The primary laws as they now stand are an open invitation to the buying and selling of the Presidency.

The Republican Presidential primaries in Pennsylvania cost $2,000,000. In Allegheny county alone Taft managers spent $67,233 and the Roosevelt people $31,344, a total of $98,627. This sum represents nearly a dollar and a half apiece for every Republican vote in the county.

In New York county the Roosevelt people spent nearly $5 for every vote they polled. Nobody knows what they spent in Maryland, but the Taft managers have charged that the negro vote in Baltimore was purchased for Roosevelt.

What will be spent by the Taft and Roosevelt forces in Ohio there is no means of estimating. And the total corruption fund will never be known.

We know what money can do in the way of debauching an electorate. Adams county, Ohio, with 2000 voters disfranchised for taking bribes, is an eloquent testimonial, and the preferential primary threatens to turn every debatable State into an Adams county.

In the name of progressive government we are re-establishing Hannaism in its most venal and dangerous form.

Without stringent corrupt-practice laws the Presidential primary is a menace to American institutions. It is the rule of barter and bribery and boodle. It makes the Presidency of the United States for sale.

A Domestic Revolution That Just Had to Come

Blame Men For Many Divorces

Women of Old Were Too Slow

By Rev. ANNA H. SHAW
Suffragist and Lecturer

WHY THIS ERA OF DIVORCE AND DISCONTENT?

This, in a word, is one answer to a question often asked. Man and his morals or lack of morals are at the root of the trouble. That there were fewer divorces when the old fashioned woman had her day was because she was NOTHING MORE NOR LESS THAN A PAUPER.

THE CAUSE OF THE NUMEROUS DIVORCES IN THIS COUNTRY AT THE PRESENT TIME IS THE LAX MORALS OF THE MEN.

The old fashioned woman took everything. She had to. More capable and independent, the new woman doesn't. She is showing her husband that HE HAS TO MIND HIS P'S AND Q'S TO KEEP OUT OF THE DIVORCE COURT because she can get along very well without him, and he can't have everything his own way. What's more, she proves it, as the statistics will testify.

THIS IS A DOMESTIC REVOLUTION THAT JUST HAD TO COME, AND IT COULDN'T BE HELD BACK MUCH LONGER. WOMEN ARE MORE INDEPENDENT IN THEIR MODE OF THINKING. THEY NO LONGER ALLOW THEMSELVES TO BE TRAMPLED ON AND WON'T SUBMIT TO THE CARELESS OR DOMINEERING WAYS OF THEIR HUSBANDS.

The woman of today is of a higher standard than the woman of bygone days.

In America We Are Neglectful of Our Old People

By Dr. I. L. NASCHER, Lecturer, of New York

WE NEGLECT OUR OLD PEOPLE. We don't mean to do it, but we have got into the habit of thinking of them as laid on the shelf, and we do not try to take them off the shelf.

MOREOVER, PHYSICIANS IN THIS COUNTRY HAVE STUDIED EVERY PHASE OF LIFE WITH CARE EXCEPT OLD AGE. FOR THIRTY YEARS NOT A SINGLE BOOK HAS BEEN PUBLISHED IN AMERICA DEALING WITH THE AILMENTS OF OLD PEOPLE.

We have studied with all possible care the diseases peculiar to other periods, and we have devoted a great deal of attention to the subject of the prevention of disease, but NOTHING HAS BEEN DONE toward finding out just what are the processes through which the body passes as it grows older and what can be done to retard those processes, for that THEY CAN BE RETARDED I have no manner of doubt.

You can't make an old man young, but you can REJUVENATE HIM to a considerable extent. If he is seventy-five you can't make him forty-five, but you can make him feel so, and the way to do it is partly through the MIND, partly through the BODY.

Country's Live Stock Supply Is Rapidly Diminishing

By WILLIAM E. SKINNER of Denver, President of International Live Stock Exposition Association

WE have got into bad shape in this country through not having been prepared for the period through which we passed during the last five years. I mean the farming of the range. In other words, the RANGE HAS ALMOST ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED, and most of the land formerly given over to grazing has been settled by farmers. The farmer has not yet adjusted himself to live stock growing.

In the Panhandle of Texas they used to produce 300,000 to 400,000 calves a year to be taken to the northern ranges. This part of the country has been totally eliminated from the breeding business and has been taken up by farmers who are endeavoring to RAISE COTTON.

WE HAVE BEEN MARKETING FOR THE LAST SIX OR SEVEN YEARS COWS AND HEIFERS AND CALVES UNTIL WE HAVE REDUCED THE POSSIBILITY OF GROWTH IN THE INDUSTRY. IN THE MEANTIME, WHILE THIS HAS BEEN GOING ON, OUR POPULATION HAS BEEN INCREASING AT THE ENORMOUS RATE OF THREE MILLION A YEAR.

Nocona—Ground has been broken to cost $35,000. The mill is expected here for the erection of a new oil mill to be in operation by Sept. 15th.

THE COST OF LIVING

can be materially reduced by trading with us. The object of our company is not so much that of individual profit, as it is an operation between buyer and seller, and this factor is carried out in dealing with every person that comes to us, whether it is to buy goods, or to sell produce or cotton. We handle the largest stock of Groceries, Implements, Buggies, Wagons, Harness, Oils, Repairs, Salt and Feed Stuffs in Wichita County and make prices lower than any competitor can attempt.

TO GRAIN GROWERS—We have just received a car load of Plymouth Binder Twine, recognized as the best twine on the market, which we are selling at 10c per pound. If you are going to have grain to bind, it will be well to place your order at once.

DEPREDACTIONS IN CUBA BY REBELS CONTINUE

Sugar Cane and Other Property Belonging to American Interests is Destroyed.

By Associated Press. Santiago, Cuba, May 28.—A body of insurgents today burned 8000 tons of sugar cane many cars and other property on the Marcos Sanchez plantation in the vicinity of Guantanamo. The American Fidelity Company was the owner.

Generals Estenoz and Ivozet, leaders in the revolutionary rising, have declared their intention to carry on the war whether the United States intervenes or not, until the Morua law has been repealed. This law provides that there shall be no recognition of political parties on racial lines and is offensive to the negroes.

The insurgent leaders have made the further statement, in a interview with a correspondent, who has just returned from the field, that they received offers of money from the Cuban government in consideration for not taking the field, but they refused, rather than have the political aspirations of the negro race unfilled.

Estenoz and Ivozet have under them 1,500 men of whom 500 are well armed. They announce their intention of exacting war contributions from the planters and railroads; otherwise they will burn their property. They express themselves as pleased to observe that the Cuban government has been slow in attacking them, thus allowing them time for organization.

It is understood that General Estenoz has addressed an important communication to President Gomez outlining the situation as he sees it.

A coffee plantation belonging to Juan Botte, a German subject, near El Cobre, ten miles west of this city, was destroyed today by a rebel band. The buildings were burned and the horses and cattle carried off. A protest has been lodged with the German consul.

It is also reported that a sugar mill at Hatillo belonging to a German has been burned by the rebels, but no confirmation has yet come to hand.

DEFENDANT EXPLAINS ADDING MACHINE SUIT.

N. P. Blakemore principal in the suit of the City National Bank vs. R. T. Pickett et al. mentions of which was made in yesterday's Times offers the following explanation of the suit.

"The original suit was a suit for commission of N. P. Blakemore against The City National Bank, for the sale of real estate. Judgment was taken by default. Judgment was taken by the City National Bank, had been duly and legally cited. An execution was issued therefrom and was placed in the hands of R. T. Pickett, constable to make the amount of said judgment, and the said R. T. Pickett proceeded to levy upon the property of The City National Bank, and the cashier, of said bank pointed out a Burroughs adding machine, which was advertised for ten days and was bought in at sale, by said City National Bank, for the full amount of said judgment and costs of suit, which amounted to less than $400.00."

That sentiment of "even if we do lose we will make history," prevailed in a caucus of Harmon followers, held last night in the city council chamber for the purpose of determining upon the best course to be pursued by the delegates in the state convention.

There is one thing that the Harmon delegates hope to do, and that is lay claim to the representation they are entitled to, on the three convention committees by reason of Governor Harmon having carried a number of senatorial districts.

It was the consensus of opinion to-day among the Harmon delegates that Governor Wilson had won the state and was entitled to the instruction; but, on the other hand, they feel like some consideration is due them when it comes to selecting the members of the three convention committees.

The caucus was attended by at least 100 Harmon delegates, from many parts of Texas, was called to order by Jonathan Lane of Houston, who informed the delegates that the meeting was being held for the purpose of deciding upon the course to be followed by them to-day.

Upon motion of Mr. Lane, Judge James B. Wells of Brownsville was elected chairman of the meeting and C. J. Kirk of Navesota was selected to act as secretary.

For more than two hours the meeting continued under full sway behind closed doors, and during that time numerous spirited talks were made by the delegates.

The Clark supporters, following a caucus held in another part of the city hall, repaired to the council chamber and became interested spectators of the Harmon caucus.

The first important proposition that was brought to the attention of the Harmon delegates was that of ascertaining exactly how many senatorial districts were controlled by Harmon men. To ascertain that the roll of senatorial districts was called and it was suggested that each senatorial district name their members of the three committees, namely the committee on credentials, committee on organization and committee on platform and resolutions.

GRAND JURY IS TO PROBE LYNCHING AT TYLER.

Tyler, Texas, May 28.—District Judge Simpson came here and made an order convening in session a special grand jury to probe and investigate the burning of the negro, Davis, here the latter part of last week for the criminal assault upon Miss Johnson. His action is being discussed both pro and con. It is intimated that the entire constabulary of the county will be in the courthouse to keep order.

$2,100,000 AFFIRMED BY COURT.

Washington, May 28.—One of the greatest judgments against an individual ever decreed by the supreme court of the United States was announced against Albert S. Bigelow of Boston. He will be called upon to pay a judgment of $2,100,000, together with interest which probably will bring the total to $2,500,000.

The victor in the suit is the Old Dominion Copper, Mining and Smelting company. Bigelow and Leonard Lewishin of New York promoted the company, and while owning its stock sold to it certain property at an enormous profit. Then they sold their stock to the "innocent public." With the company under the control of the "innocent" stockholders, it sued Lewishin in New York for the profits. The company lost.

Then Bigelow was sued by the company in Massachusetts, and the courts of that state laid down the far-reaching principle that the company no longer controlled by its promoters, could rescind its contract to purchase the property from them, and make Bigelow's judgment to pay the company $2,100,000.

Plainview—The South Plains Tile Company is installing a new factory in this city which will be completed in a few weeks.

Many Public Tents in Floral Heights

At the time of the collision, the ship, representing an energy of more than a million foot tons, sailed to the equivalent of the combined broad of 20 of the largest guns in our fleet fired at the same time, with a blow so deadly that the passengers and crew did not know of the collision until tardily advised of the danger by anxious and even the official state were clothed in such condensed surances of safety as to arouse fear.

Senator Smith said that the force of the impact must have been so great that the ship was caustically upon the failure of ship's officers immediately to order routine. Concerning the duct of the ship's officers he said: "Haphazard, they rushed by another, on staircase and in hall while men of self control gathered here and there about the decks, helplessly staring at one another, or giving encouragement to those less courageous than themselves. Life and limb were in jeopardy, and in the confusion, the ship was wrecked."

They explain this very liberal offer of a tent in Floral Heights, which is being made and a number of lot owners have decided to build in the tented district.

Call at the office of the where by you can build a home taking into consideration the fact that if you do not own a lot of land in Floral Heights, you can build a home in the tented district.

LOUISIANA FLOOD VICTIMS SUFFER

New Orleans, May 28.—Stories of dire distress among 1,400 flood fuges in the vicinity of Jena, La., with La Salle parish, were received here by Dr. Oscar Dowling president of the Louisiana state board of health in a letter from Dr. Mayer Newer, special inspector of the board, in charge of the medical and sanitary arrangements among the refugees in the Black river section.

Dr. Newhauser said he had completed a trip of twenty-five miles up Black river and that 1,400 refugees, 950 negroes and 450 white, were clamoring for food and medical need of medicines.

No rations had been issued to some people within ten days, the doctor reported, and they only 500 half rations were issued. Some rations were expected to arrive from Monroe today.

There was not even a sack of meal in Jena when Dr. Newhauser wrote his report.

SPECTACULAR FIGHT IN NEW JERSEY ENDS

Newark, N. J., May 28.—The New Jersey State primary election today will bring practically to a close the spectacular campaign for the presidential nomination that have resulted in several states of presidential preference laws. The South Dakota primary is still in the future, but it is believed the voting in New Jersey today will mark the end of the personal appeal for primary votes that President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt have voiced in many parts of the country.

This state will choose twenty-eight delegates to each national convention, four at large and two each from the twelve congressional districts. Each district selects its own delegates, but the delegates at large are elected by the vote of the whole state. The primary law also permits voters to express a personal choice for a presidential candidate, but this preference vote has no direct bearing upon the division of delegates.

HADLEY TO PRESIDE IF ROOSEVELT WINS

Jefferson City, Mo., May 28.—In a letter received by Governor Herbert S. Hadley, Col. Roosevelt asked him to be temporary chairman of the Republican convention to be held in Chicago, if the Roosevelt forces succeed in getting control of the convention.

Mr. Hadley will accept if he believes he can best serve his faction of the party. It was announced, but he would greatly prefer that some other progressive be selected for the place. He so told the colonel in a letter in answer to his request.

Governor Hadley was one of the eight governors who wrote to Colonel Roosevelt asking him to become candidate for President before the colonel announced he would accept. He was one of the leaders of the Roosevelt faction of the state convention at St. Louis.

PRELATE BACK IN CHURCH FOLD

RETURN OF MONSIGNOR MACARIE TO THE CATHOLIC CHURCH RECALLS STORY

MESSENGER TO MEMELIK

Had Been Looked Upon as Man to Reunite Vatican and Quirinal, But Failed in Mission

(By Henry Wood, Rome correspondent of the United Press.)

Rome, May 25.—The recent announcement by Monsignor Macarie, patriarch of one of the schismatic branches of the Catholic Church in Egypt, of his return to the bosom of the Roman Catholic Church has created a deep impression in Rome not only in Vatican but in Quirinal circles as well. This interest of the Quirinal lies in the fact that at one time it seemed certain that Monsignor Macarie would be the man who would heal the breach between the church and State in Italy.

Monsignor Macarie, when only 27 years of age, but even then one of the most brilliant of the rising young prelates of the Catholic church, was appointed by Pope Leo XIII Apostolic Administrator of Alexandria. Under his jurisdiction came the schismatic branch of the Catholic church of the Coptic rite, which various Popes for a century past had sought to bring back to the Roman fold. Four years later Monsignor Macarie was made Patriarch of Alexandria and his influence throughout Egypt was made Patriarch of Alexandria and his influence throughout Egypt and Abyssinia gradually became almost as strong as that of the civil authorities themselves.

It was then this influence was at its height that Monsignor Macarie conceived the idea that for a brief period of time he would step into the shoes of the Quirinal had at last been found. At that time, following the terrible disasters of the Italian army in Erythra at the hands of Memelik, there were being held by the latter some 600 Italian soldiers. Nominally they were military prisoners, but in reality they were suffering slavery and degradation in the most heart rendering type. For them all Italy was mourning and had mourned for years.

Coming to Rome, therefore, Monsignor Macarie declared to Pope Leo XIII his confidence that if His Holiness were to intervene with Memelik that the release of these Italian soldiers could be secured. All Italy was aroused with enthusiasm over the possibility of such a restoration, and Pope Leo XIII, despite the strained relations with the state, responded to this desire of the nation. He named Monsignor Macarie his emissary to treat with Memelik and the state, unable to do anything itself to secure the release of the prisoners, gladly accepted this intervention of the Pope.

For the brief time that the negotiations were in progress, the hopes of Italy were high, not only for the return of the prisoners but for the certainty that the success of the mission would inevitably lead to a return of relations between the church and state. Monsignor Macarie, however, failed in his mission. The Italian prisoners were forced to wear of their lives in slavery, and the emissary of the Pope, possibly feeling keenly the failure, or possibly for other reasons, not only failed to return to Italy, but abandoning the Catholic Church went over to the schismatic branch of the entire sect.

TRUST NOT MOTHBALLS ONLY

Clothing and Furs Should Be Packed So That Moths Cannot Get In

Many housekeepers have the mistaken idea that camphor, mothballs or similar preparations will kill moths, or prevent their ravages, and that clothes packed away with plenty of mothballs are safe. Many housekeepers have learned that this is a mistake, after losing perhaps valuable garments.

The fact of the matter is that mothballs, camphor, cedar, etc., are not moth killers, but only moth repellents that is. Clean clothes free from moth eggs, properly packed away with moth repellents, will not attract the adult moths.

The Household editor of Farm and Home says: "The proper way to pack away woolen winter clothes is first to air and brush thoroughly, to make sure no moth eggs have found lodgment in them. They may be packed in any receptacle, as long as it is free from cracks. Line with several thicknesses of newspaper, and pack away clothes with layers of newspaper between and camphor or mothballs wrapped in paper. Tuck each layer of newspaper (or rather, the printers' ink) is another moth repellent. Have the top layer paper, put the cover on, and seal by pasting paper over the cracks.

That is all there is to it: Putting the clothes away in a clean, moth-free state, and sealing them up so no moths can possibly get in. Furs can be packed and securely sealed in heavy paper bags—using two bags, one within another, each carefully sealed—and they will be perfectly safe.

San Antonio—The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce is planning to open a freight bureau in connection with the regular work of that organization. An expert freight and traffic man will be put in charge of the new department.

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not irritate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

VERSE WORTH READING

In the Deep.
His wife adorns the chairs they own with gaudy bows and sashes,
And woe to him who touches them—be ware her angry frowns!
And all the sofas in the house you'll find with cushions weighted,
And ever the piano stool is trimmed and decorated.
He listens as she points with pride to the artistic features,
But he is full of grumbling and the saddest of all creatures.
Oh, sad the sequel to this tale of which I am the teller—
There's only ease for him upon the roof or in the cellar!

When he sits down to dine a decorative scheme he faces:
The tablecloths are all adorned with costliest of lace;
The spoons and forks are silver and the glass as fine as any,
And the dishes are of Sevres and they cost a pretty penny.
She lauds the exhibition and her chatter never ceases,
The while he'd like to smash it in a hundred thousand pieces,
Her cooking's an uncertain thing and puts him full of worries,
And when he's bent on eating to a restaurant he hurries!

Mothers of Men.
Mothers of men! The words are good indeed in the saying—
Pride in the very sound of them, strength in the sense of them; then
Why is it their faces haunt me—wistful faces, as praying
Ever some dear thing vanished and ever a hope delaying—
Mothers of men?

Mothers of men, most patient, tenderly slow to discover
The loss of the old allegiance that may not return again,
You give a man to the world, you give a woman a lover;
Where is your gallop, then, when the time of giving is over—
Mothers of men?

Mothers of men! Yet surely the title is worth the earning,
You who are brave in feeling, most I ever behold you, then,
By the door of an empty heart, with the lamp of faith still burning,
Watching the ways of life for the sight of a child returning—
Mothers of men?

—Theodore Garrison, in Munsey's Magazine.

Only Dreaming.
Golden hair and laughing eyes,
Wealth of beauty which men prize,
Ruby lips and form divine,
No, they never can be mine.
I am only dreaming, dreaming,
With the golden moonlight streaming
Through my study door.

Just a boy I seem to be,
Happy as a lark and free,
Rouping through the wooded dell
With the one I love so well.
But I'm only dreaming, dreaming,
With the golden moonlight streaming
Through my study door.

Why, oh, why, must I dream,
And my pleasant dream forsake,
Wake and find denied to me
All but grave reality?
Know I'm only dreaming, dreaming,
With the golden moonlight beaming
Through my study door.

The Unspoken Name.
I wandered by the sea, and did engrave
Marie amid the particles of sand;
The tide, alas! rose up, wavelet and wave,
With all-effacing hand.

I wandered through the forest, and with joy,
Susanne did cut on many a tree's soft skin;
But growing summer made thereof a toy,
And hid my emblem thin.

I lay in meadows, and with fancy wrote
Tyonne upon the surface of the sky;
But thundering storm clouds mercilessly smote
The vision from my eye.

I sat before the fire, and your keen face,
I suddenly beheld within the flame,
You grasp the blood-red pen, and with it
Within my heart your name.

—George Harris, in Harper's Weekly.

The Voice of Promise.
Like as the thrush in winter, when the skies
Are drear and dark and all the woods are bare,
Sings undismayed, till from his melodies
Odors of spring float through the frozen air.

So in my heart, when sorrow's wail
Is bleak and bitter and its frost is strong,
Leaps up, defiant of despair and death
A sunlit fountain of triumphant song.
Sing on, sweet singer, till the violins come
And south winds blow; sing on, prophetic bird!

Oh, if my lips, which are forever dumb,
Could sing to men what my sad heart has heard—
Life's darkest hour with songs of joy
Life's blackest frost would blossom into spring.

—Edmond Holmes.

Of the Spirit.
It is not the sunshine bright
Upon the burning sand,
It is not the tempest's might
On the unresisting strand;
But it is an action tender
As if a grace would render
Removes the veil from our mortal sight,
And then we find that we stand
In the glory of the heaven's splendor.

It is not the music heard
Outraining loud and clear,
It is not the spoken word
That we are so glad to hear;
But it is that tone of feeling
Into our own hearts stealing
From hearts that by our grief are stricken
To the trembling of a tear
Their tenderness revealing.

"Only of Thee and Me."
Only of thee and me the night wind sings,
Only of us to sailors speak the sea,
The earth is filled with wondrous whistlings,
Only of thee and me.

Only of thee and me the breaker chant,
Only of us the silt in the break and tree;
The rain and sunshine, tell the eager plant
Only of thee and me.

Only of thee and me, till all shall fade,
Only of us the whole world's thoughts can be—
For we are Love, and God himself is made
Only of thee and me.

Dog's Costly Exercise Ground.
"Well, you see, I didn't want to sell in the first place. My sister has a small dog for a pet which she values highly and she does not like to have him run in the street. There is no place for him to exercise but in that yard. He runs up and down and enjoys it."

JOHN G. WENDELL Owns More of Broadway than Any Other Man and Will Not Sell an Inch of It.

He Once Refused $500,000 for a Fifth Avenue Lot Because His Dog Needed It for a Place to Exercise.

NEW YORK.—John Wendell is the name he signs in the old-time signature New York real estate men have come to know well. He owns as much if not more of the land on which New York is built than any other man in the world.

He is, perhaps, the most picturesque character in all of this cosmopolitan city of unusual people. Little he is and old and a bachelor. "The Russell Sage of Broadway," some call him; to others he is the "Rockefeller of Real Estate," and once more, "The Sentimental Millionaire."

Sometimes, too, he has been called "The Hermit of Fifth Avenue." John G. Wendell is probably the only man alive today who can conscientiously lay claim to the title "The Man Who Has Enough Money."

A younger man with a limited amount of money wanted to rent one of the old man's stores on Broadway in which to begin a modest business. He went personally to the owner about the rental. Wendell stated his price.

"But don't you think, Mr. Wendell," demurred the young man, "that that is pretty stiff rent? I'm only starting in business and I don't want to use the biggest part of my capital for rent."

"Practical in His Business." "Young man," was the answer, "you're right. It is high rent—too high for you to pay. But I can't come down. My rents are not high, as rents go on Broadway, but such as they are I cannot change them. The price has been fixed—it's sentiment of mine not to change them."

"Then I suppose I'll have to pay it," sighed the prospective tenant. Wendell went on as if without interruption.

"It's my price, but I can't rent to you. I couldn't have it on my conscience that a young man starting his business was ruining himself to pay me rent. Hunt another store where the rent is right, is my advice. I reckon that little store of mine can stay without a tenant for a time yet."

Nor would the offer of a full year's rent in advance move him. John G. Wendell had proven again that he did not care for money, but that he did care for the sentiment with which he has surrounded his property—that that which is, is, that which has been cannot be changed.

"Again a young man coveted a certain store and went to Wendell with a proposition to rent. "But I have a tenant on that property," objected the old man. "I know," was the reply. "But I understand his lease is about up. I'll give you double the rent he is paying you."

The Sentimental Millionaire paid a visit to his tenant. "Your time's almost up," he began. "Satisfied?" The tenant declared he was. "All right," said Wendell. "The other man called again next day. "Could Not Have the Store. "I have a tenant," he was informed. "You can't have the store." "But—" "I don't want your money," broke in the owner. "What do I care for a few more dollars? My tenant's satisfied—so a— I. Good day."

The story of John G. Wendell begins many years ago—two hundred, to be exact—though he himself is a mere youth of seventy-three. Then, when New York was young, there were two pioneers who were staunch friends and business allies.

"We'll buy land," they agreed with one another, "and some day we'll have the two biggest estates in the world." They both had firm faith in the future of New York.

One of those men was John Jacob Astor (the original), the other was the grandfather of the present John G. Wendell.

"We Sell No Property." The slogan of his family has come to be "We sell no property," and a big old cloth sign in his old-fashioned office—that office's chief decoration—so informs the public.

Almost might another name be added to Mr. Wendell's collection. Without much stretch of the imagination, he might be called "The Man Who Really Owns Broadway," for he, with maiden sisters, Rebecca, Mary and Georgiana, own more of that bright particular thoroughfare than any other one man, woman, estate or corporation. Their property is scattered in many places along Broadway from far down town to above Fifth street.

Which sounds like theaters and hotels and white lights, and red—but you're wrong. He owns much of Broadway, does "The Russell Sage of Broadway," but not a single bright light. That is one of his "policies."

"Call it sentiment, if you like," perhaps it is sentiment in a way to keep the little buildings that came to use as they were when they came—but there is more to my owning no theaters and such than that. There are both moral and legal reasons. In the first place, I do not believe morally responsible for the machinations of the Evil One. I have plenty to do without being responsible for immoral souls.

And theaters, saloons, moving pictures—bab! I won't say on word about them! They're not worth it. But even if they were, I know the law. Yes, I know the law backward. I know the law that holds an owner responsible for catastrophes, and I'm not going to have any tall buildings or moving pictures or such that breed catastrophes on my land."

Find "Nothing Doing." So that is why the moving picture men with their eyes on the block and a half of Broadway, between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-eighth street, have, one after another, come from John G. Wendell's office bemoaning fate.

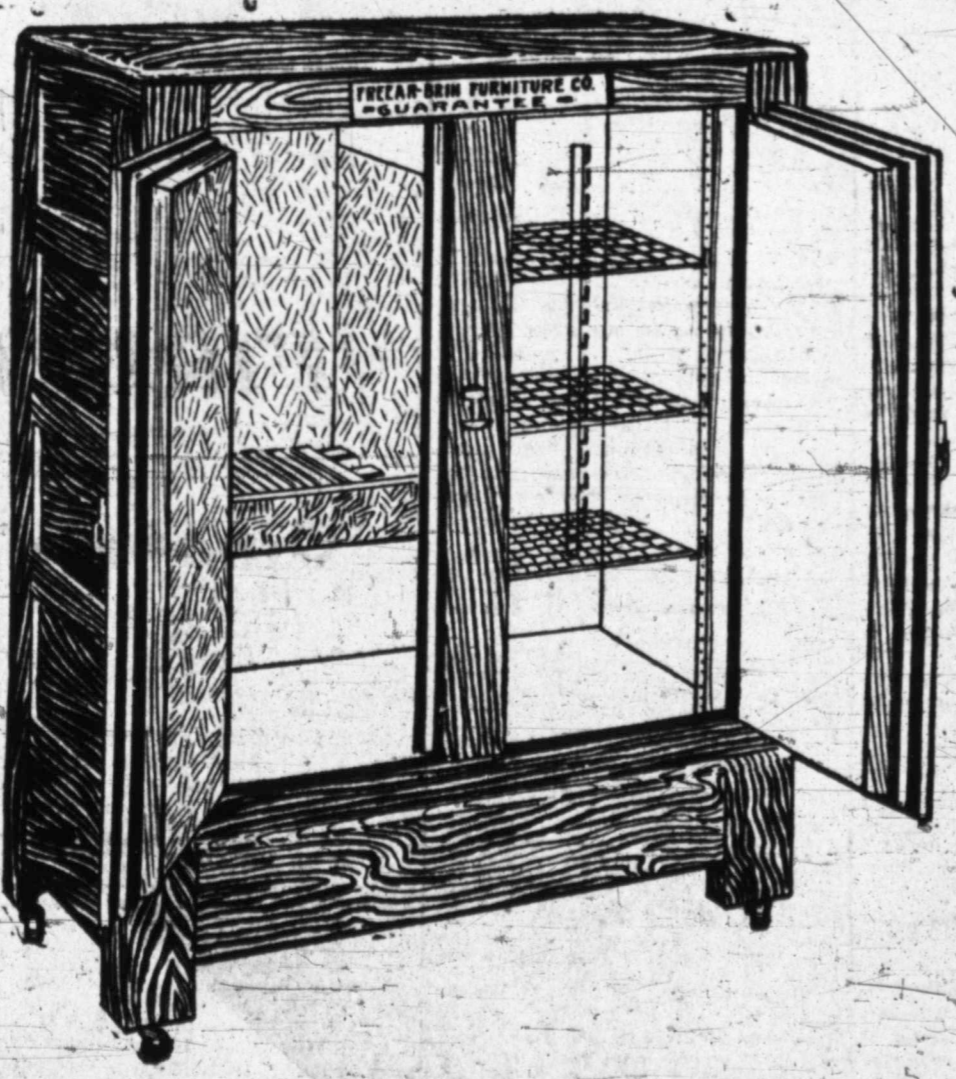

Wendell's possessions include a plot of ground surrounding two sides of his home at Thirty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, the old brown-stone house which has been a mystery to so many. Thousands daily look at its closed windows, its general air of desolation in the midst of the bustle and life of Fifth avenue, and wonder. It is where the Hermit of Fifth avenue lives—alone except for his dog.

The big vacant plot is that dog's playground. He is John G. Wendell's dog, and he must have a place. A real estate operator who coveted the very desirable Fifth avenue plot tells a story. He determined to get the plot at any price. A date was set for the final settlement of the matter, but to his surprise the operator was told that Mr. Wendell would not sell even for the $500,000 offered. Pressed for a reason, Mr. Wendell declared:

"Dog's Costly Exercise Ground. "Well, you see, I didn't want to sell in the first place. My sister has a small dog for a pet which she values highly and she does not like to have him run in the street. There is no place for him to exercise but in that yard. He runs up and down and enjoys it."

When this vessel took its place at the head of the line every modern improvement in shipbuilding was supposed to have been realized; so confident were they that both owner and builder were eager to go upon the trial trip.

"When a crisis came a state of absolute unpreparedness stupefied both passengers and crew and, in their despair, the ship went down, carrying as needless a sacrifice of noble women and brave men as ever clustered about the Judgment Seat in any single moment of passing time.

"We shall leave to the honest judgment of England its painstaking chastisement of the British Board of Trade, to whose laxity of regulation and hasty inspection the world is largely indebted for this awful fatality. Of contributing causes there were very many. In the face of warning signals, speed was increased and messages of danger seemed to stimulate her to action rather than to persuade her to fear.

"The Titanic rushed onward on her true course—one recognized as appropriate and agreed upon by mariners as the international highway for westbound vessels, yet dangerous at this season of the year, when the Labrador current may be bearing vast masses of ice across the track of ships—scores of these towering glaciers planted themselves in the very pathway of this ship and were so large and so numerous that, in the absence of fog, they should have been easily discernible by the lookout. If, as he says in his testimony, he had been supplied with glasses.

"Captain Smith knew the sea and his clear eye and steady hand had often guided his ship through dangerous paths; for 40 years storms sought in vain to vex him or menace his craft. His indifference to danger was one of the direct and contributing causes of this unnecessary tragedy. While his own willingness to die was the expiating evidence of his fitness to live; those of us who knew him well—not in anger, but in sorrow—file one specific charge against him, overconfidence and neglect to heed the oft-repeated warnings of his friends; but, in his horrible dismay, when his brain was afebrile with honest retribution, we can still see, in his many bearing and his tender solicitude for the safety of women and little children, some traces of his lofty spirit.

"The mystery of his indifference to danger, when other and less pretentious vessels doubled their lookout or stopped their engines, finds no reasonable hypothesis in conjecture or speculation; science in shipbuilding was supposed to have attained perfection, and to have spoken her last word; mastery of the ocean had at last been achieved; but overconfidence seems to have dulled the faculties usually so alert. With the atmosphere literally charged with warning signals and wireless messages registering their last appeal, the stokers in the engine room fed their fires with fresh fuel, registering in that dangerous place her fastest speed.

"Nature gave a warning of approaching peril so significant that passengers in stateroom and stateroom shut out the chill and spoke to one another of the sudden cold. Sailors off the Grand Banks know the importance of the thermometer, which is almost as necessary to their safety as is the compass. Even the quartermaster, Hichens, who regularly took the temperature of the water from the sea, said: 'It suddenly became bitter cold' and added that the first order received by him from Second Officer Lightoller at 8 o'clock Sunday evening was 'to take his compliments down to the ship's carpenter and inform him to look to his fresh water, that it was about to freeze.'

Senator Smith declared that the command of the officer of the watch to avert the disaster actually exposed the most vulnerable part of the Titanic to the ice when the shock came.

"Distracted by the sudden appearance of danger," said the speaker, "he sharply turned aside the prow, the part best prepared to resist collision, exposing the temple to the blow; at the turn of the bilge the steel encasement yielded to a glancing blow so slight that the impact was not felt in many parts of the ship, although representing an energy of more than a million foot tons, said to be the equivalent of the combined broadsides of 20 of the largest guns in our battleship fleet fired at the same moment, with a blow so deadly many of the passengers and crew did not even know of the collision until tardily advised of the danger by anxious friends and even the official statements were clothed in such confident assurances of safety as to arouse no fear.

Senator Smith said that the awful force of the impact must have indicated to master and builder that the ship was doomed. He commented caustically upon the failure of the ship's officers immediately to give general alarm or to establish some orderly routine. Concerning the conduct of the ship's officers he said:

"Haphazard, they rushed by one another, on staircase and in hallway, while men of self control gathered here and there about the decks, helplessly staring at one another, or giving encouragement to those less courageous than themselves. Lifebelts were finally adjusted to all and the lifeboats were cleared away, and although strangely insufficient in number, were only partially loaded and in all instances unprovided with compasses, and only three of them had lamps. They were manned so badly that, in the absence of prompt relief, they would have fallen easy victims to the advancing ice flow. Their danger would have been as great as if they had remained on the deck of the broken hull, and if the sea had risen these toy targets with over 700 exhausted people would have been helplessly tossed about upon the waves without food or water.

"One witness swore that two of the three stewards in her boat admitted that they had never had an oar in their hands before and did not even know what the oarlock was for. The lifeboats were filled so indifferently and lowered so quickly that, according to the uncontradicted evidence, nearly 500 people were needlessly sacrificed to want of orderly discipline in loading the few that were provided. And yet it is said by some well-meaning person that the best of discipline prevailed. If this is discipline what would have been disorder?"

"Among the passengers were many strong men who had been accustomed to command, whose lives had marked every avenue of endeavor, and whose business experience and military training especially fitted them for such an emergency. These were rudely silenced and forbidden to speak, as was the president of this company, by junior officers, a few of whom, I regret to say, availed themselves of the first opportunity to leave the ship. Some of the men, to whom had been intrusted the care of passengers, never reported to their official stations, and quickly deserted the ship with a recklessness and indifference to the responsibilities of their positions as culpable and amazing as it is impossible to believe. And some of these men say they laid by in their partially filled lifeboats and listened to the cries of distress until the noise quieted down, and surveyed from a safe distance the unselfish men and women and faithful fellow officers and seamen, whose heroism lightens up this tragedy and recalls the noblest traditions of the sea."

Tributes to the valor of Phillips and Bride, the wireless operators on the Titanic, were paid by Senator Smith. He said that the final act of the Phillips boy was "not so swift as to prevent him from pausing long enough to pass a cup of water to a fainting woman." The senate showed that had not the underpaid wireless operator on the Carpathia prepared for bed with his receiver still on his head the Titanic's distress signals never would have been received by the rescue ship.

"When the world weeps together over a common loss," said Senator Smith, "all nations should take steps wisely to regulate wireless telegraphy and see that operators are fairly paid." He condemned the reign of silence, concerning the details of the disaster. In condemning the failure of the Californian to learn all about the disaster before the Titanic sank and go to her rescue, Senator Smith said:

"The steamship Californian was within easy reach of this ship for nearly four hours after all the facts were known to Operator Cottam. The captain of the Carpathia says he gave explicit directions that all official messages should be immediately sent through other ships, and messages of passengers should be given preference. According to Binns, the inspector, the apparatus on the Californian was practically new and easily tuned to carry every detail of that calamity to the coast stations at Cape Sable and Cape Race, and should have done so."

"The course taken was singularly in accord with the reference of the officials of the White Star Company, who knew at 2:30 Monday morning," said the Senator, "what was supposed to have occurred and yet at 7:51 Monday evening a message from their own office, officially signed, containing the positive assurance of the safety of the passengers, was sent to a half-crazed fisher at Huntington, W. Va. nearly two hours after their admitted familiarity with the details of the disaster. It is little wonder that we have not been able to fix with definiteness the author of this falsehood."

Senator Smith reviewed the testimony of Captain Lord, showing that

More than you demand

THE makers of the Oldsmobile are even more critical than their patrons. They forestall competition by building a car which surpasses the actual demand of motorists.

For example; you say "that is an easy riding machine," if you are not unduly shaken in the average car on the average demonstration. The Oldsmobile, however, with its admirable springs, complete shock-absorber equipment, large wheels and tires, and deep upholstery, compels you to say:

"This is luxury indeed—two hundred miles of this kind of motoring would not tire me."

Come to our place of business in as critical a humor as you like; we want to show you the surprising, but pleasant truth contained in the foregoing claims! Will you give us this opportunity?

MARRIED WOMEN NOT ELIGIBLE FOR OFFICE.

Austin, Texas, May 25.—The attorney general's department, through First Assistant Attorney General J. D. Walthall, has held that a married woman is not eligible to hold the office of county superintendent of public instruction or any other county office which requires the execution of an official bond.

The department, however, further rules that an unmarried woman is eligible to hold the office of county superintendent or any other county office. The reason a married woman is ineligible is because she cannot execute a bond under the law. The only way a married woman may become eligible to hold such county office is by the removal of her disabilities of coverture, which may be done under an act of the Thirty-Second legislature.

This ruling was in answer to an inquiry from Mrs. A. M. Jackson of Stockdale.

PRESIDENT IS STILL BUSY IN NEW JERSEY. By Associated Press. Atlantic City, N. J., May 28.—Although he did not get to bed until long after midnight Taft was up early today to begin the last lap of his New Jersey campaign. He left here by special train shortly after 7 o'clock with speeches prepared for nearly a dozen small towns before noon.

I have made this suggestion over and over again, and I repeat it now in the most emphatic way that I can, that it is a shame and an outrage that the criminal statutes of this land permit the men who are really responsible absolutely to escape from the penalties of the law, and inflict penalties and punishments upon those who are simply acting under their superior orders.

Discussing the cause of the disaster the Senator said: "It seems to be universally conceded that this ship was not equipped with a sufficient number of lifeboats to provide for the safety of its passengers. There may have been a sufficient number in accordance with the rules of the British Board of Trade, but it is a conceded fact that the great loss of life occurred because there was an insufficient number to meet the necessities of the case and rescue the passengers and crew.

"The failure of foreign steamships to carry searchlights is utterly inexcusable, and if a proper searchlight had been upon this vessel, in my judgment, the accident could have been avoided. The failure to supply the proper officers with binoculars was unquestionably an act of negligence, especially as I gather from the testimony that a demand had been made by the proper officers for them, and the demand had been refused.

"There was not the proper attention paid to the wireless messages that the ship received. This appears to me to have been an inexcusable act of negligence.

"The speed of the vessel was not lowered, as it should have been, when notice was received that she was in a dangerous zone. My own judgment therefore is that there was negligence in this case and that the disaster was attributable to the want of due care upon the part of the company and of those in charge of the ship. The proper tribunals will determine upon this question unaffected by any conclusion that we may arrive at in the premises."

It is only natural that a powder which soothes and refreshes your skin will bring comfort and beauty. No housewife would think of paying the same price for every baking powder on the market. There is just as much difference in talcum powders, but few people know it, and all powders sell at about the same price. You owe it to yourself to be careful what you put on your face. It is just as important as what you eat. The talcum we sell is made from the purest and best materials. It costs us more than the other kind but it DOESN'T COST YOU ANY MORE. If it pays us to sell this kind on a far smaller margin of profit, it stands to reason that it pays you to buy it.
