GOOD ROADS CLUB SENDS OUT ATTRACTIVE PAMPHLET SHOWING ROADS.

ALONG "CHISHOLM TRAIL"

Desirability of Routes Through This City Across Bridge at Burk Burnett Shown.

"The Wichita Falls-Chisholm Trail" is the title of an attractive guide-book issued by the Wichita Falls Good Roads Association and the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. It gives logs and descriptions of the "Chisholm Trail" from Fort Worth to Lawton, and also complete logs of the roads from Wichita Falls to Fort Worth and Dallas, via Jacksboro and Weatherford; Wichita Falls to Lawton via Red River Wagon bridge; Wichita Falls to Fort Worth and Dallas via Henrietta and Bowie; Wichita Falls to Mineral Wells and Wichita Falls to Lake Wichita.

The book which contains 30 pages is an attractive and durable folder and contains eight full page maps or charts showing the roads logged.

Seven thousand copies of the guide book have been issued and are now being distributed. Copies may be had on application to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Emphasis is laid upon the desirability of a route through Wichita Falls from Texas and from Northwestern points on account of the bridge over Red River at Burk Burnett which is the only wagon bridge anywhere between the M. K. & T. Ry. and the Panhandle. In speaking of this bridge the book says:

"The river bottom there (about 1 3/4 miles across) has a bridge about 1.2 mile long and about 1 mile of the sand bottom is kept staved by the bridge company, which makes this the easiest crossing anywhere on Red River. Mostly good graded and some dragged roads. Wichita Falls to Red River. Crossing Wichita there is no river bottom to interfere in any way. Splendid prairie road nearly all the way Red River to Lawton, also from Lawton to Chickasha.

Tourists from Texas to Colorado points have option of two roads out of Wichita Falls one via Amarillo and Vernon and the other via Red River bridge, the "Chisholm Trail" through Lawton, El Reno, Chickasha, End and to the "Santa Fe Trail" at Dodge City. The route through Oklahoma via the "Chisholm Trail" and through Kansas via the "Santa Fe Trail" is less than a day's travel, rather than via Amarillo, but it would be found preferable in point of better road conditions, superior general accommodations, and accurate printed road directions obtaining along the route. By a longer but also a splendid route you can continue on the "Chisholm Trail" from End to Caldwell and from there to Wichita, Kan.

Tourists from the North have the option of two routes out of Wichita to Ft. Worth and Dallas, Tex., one via Jacksboro and Weatherford on the "Wichita Falls-Chisholm Trail" the other via Henrietta and Bowie. The latter route is about 18 miles the shortest, but at present many prefer the Jacksboro-Weatherford route, first because of the heavy sand, several long stretches on the other route, and second because if bound for central or south Texas points you can turn out at Weatherford via Cleburne or Grandbury if not desirous of making Fort Worth or Dallas or if bound for West Texas you can turn off at Jacksboro. Wichita Falls and Jacksboro sections have lately done considerable split-log drag work on their graded roads and there is promise of some claying of the sand roads in the Bowie section has lately been done. The good roads spirit seems to have taken hold of North Texas. Splendid hard roads most of the way from Jacksboro via Weatherford to Fort Worth and Dallas nearly all the way from Weatherford to Dallas is one of the very finest automobile roads in the West.

Enroute to Jacksboro and Weatherford, by traveling five miles farther, you can visit Lake Wichita, Wichita Falls celebrated summer resort, and have the pleasure of five miles of fine dragged, fast roads all the way from the city to the lake. Largest artificial lake in the Southwest (7 miles long and 3000 acres of water), row and motor boating, fishing, natorium, cold soft drink stand, summer hotels, ball park, race track, summer cottages, etc. The road continues from there to a connection with the Jacksboro road-good road.

Enroute from Wichita Falls to Weatherford a side trip is available to Mineral Wells, one of Texas' most celebrated health resorts. You will find road directions in another part of this book, routing from Whitt to Mineral Wells (14.4 miles) and at Mineral Wells you can secure accurate directions to Weatherford without return to Whitt. This side trip takes about 25 miles farther than the regular route.

Jesse White of Dallas, spent a short time in the city today. He arrived here this morning from points on the Wichita Valley.

ROMANCE ENCIRCLES TRAGEDY AT HOUSTON

Young Man Believed to Be Making Clandestine Call Upon Girl Is Killed By Her Father.

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, May 30.—Lloyd Jackson, a well known man of this city, died at 9 o'clock this morning from bullet wounds received early in the morning from a gun in the hands of D. M. Moody, an employe of the city tax assessor's office. The shot came through a window of Moody's home. When shot, Jackson had off his shoes and was declared to be in the act of entering the Moody home.

Moody is a well known locomotive engineer. Jackson called just before the end and made a dying statement which will not be made public at present. Substantially it is said to contain the fact that he was engaged to Moody's daughter and parental objection delayed the wedding; that he went to the Moody home by appointment with a view to planning an elopement. That he removed his shoes to insure secrecy and was in the act of entering the window when shot. Moody, who is charged with murder, declines to talk before his examining trial. Miss Moody is prostrated and declines to talk.

Later Miss Moody gave out a statement denying Jackson was at the house by appointment with her and saying she was not aware of his presence until the shooting began. She also says when her father fired Jackson was in the act of entering through the window.

WILBUR WRIGHT'S CAREER IS ENDED

CO-INVENTOR OF AEROPLANE SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS EARLY TODAY.

FEVER SEIGE IS FATAL

Brilliant Career of Young Mechanic Cut Short by Typhoid Early Thursday Morning.

By Associated Press. Dayton, Ohio, May 30.—Following a grim battle against hopeless odds, Wilbur Wright, Dayton's noted aviator died at 3:55 this morning, of typhoid fever.

Death came after the distinguished patient had lingered for days and nights in the throes of a burning fever. Taken ill several weeks ago, Wright had been lingering on the border for many days and though his condition from time to time gave some hopes to members of his family, the attending physician maintained throughout the latter part of his illness that he could not recover.

As death approached, all members of the family gathered at the bedside including his aged father, Bishop Milton Wright, Miss Catherine Wright, Orville, the co-inventor, Reuchlin and Lorin Wright. The most alarming symptoms developed yesterday before noon when his fever mounted from 104 to 106 and then quickly subsided to its former stage.

The condition of the aviator remained unchanged throughout the day and there was no material change until midnight when he began to show improvement. Shortly afterward however, he took a sudden turn for the worse and Dr. B. B. Conklin his principal physician. The doctor arrived at 3:35 and learned that Mr. Wright had breathed his last a few minutes before.

A narrative of Wilbur Wright's career is the story of a man who followed the light his dreams and contrived a machine for aerial navigation that stands out spectacularly among the wonders of invention. With his brother, Orville, he dreamed of building a craft that would dart through the air with the speed of a hawk, defy the storm, transform the art of warfare and revolutionize transportation.

In the nine years that followed their first successful flight at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, they have seen their aeroplane driven more than two miles up into space, have heard the purr of their machines as they whirled on the way across the continent and have watched great crowds stand aghast as the great biplane sailed over the giant masts of a warship which might have been sent careening to destruction by the tiny machine above.

When death came to Wilbur he and his brother were still dreaming of further achievement. They wanted a machine with greater stability and carrying power.

It was while Wilbur was in high school that the brothers began making definite plans for an aeroplane. A few years later they became bicycle sellers and repairers, finding ample opportunity for experiment in their shop. When a gasoline engine for autos was perfected they saw dawning light. In 1902 they built their first air machine and in 1903 they went to North Carolina where near Kitty Hawk they tried their machine.

With Orville in the plane, Wilbur and his mechanic witnessed the first successful flight of a heavier than air machine. The story reached the world but the brothers kept characteristic silence until two years later when Orville made the first long distance flight. The machine was patented in Europe and the brothers were forced to tour the continent hobnobbing with kings. Then the United States government bought one and in the few years since the industry has grown so that the federal government maintains a special bureau to gather statistics on manufactures and export.

Wright was born in Millville, Ind., in 1876. He was educated in local schools in that section but declined to attend college. He said he preferred "real work." He never married.

SERMON ON BEATITUDES AT METHODIST MEETING

Large Congregation Hears Rev. T. H. Preach on Meaning of Famous Verses

Another large congregation came together last night at the First M. E. Church, South, and heard Rev. T. H. Morris discuss the first ten verses of the fifth chapter of Matthew, or what are commonly known as "the beatitudes." He showed how that from a recognition of their "spiritual poverty," men were led to "mourn," and then they became meek—teachable—and then set up in their hearts a hungering and thirsting, not alone for deliverance from death and hell, but a longing for righteousness. He showed that sin was felt to be a burden; that which had caused the unrest, they recognized as their separation from God caused by sin; men were crying everywhere for rest, but many failed to realize that the true cause of their restless state was the presence and dominating power of sin. He showed that next, in the sinner's approach to God, was his mercifulness; feeling his need of mercy he became willing to extend it to others, therefore, "blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." This was the last step he said and the one which brought the seeking soul to where he could "see God;" at this point, mourning over his poor spiritual condition, willing to be taught, hungering for righteousness, merciful to others, his heart became pure of all gross desires, and he was enabled to "see God."

Then his relation being changed no longer being lined up with the world and practicing the ways of sinful men, he became a peacemaker—making peace between men and men and helping men to peace with God. This brought persecution from the world; but with it, the promise from the Savior, "blessed are the peacemakers; and the additional promise, blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness' sake for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

At the close of the sermon, the congregation, led by Mr. Kennedy, sang, "When the power falls on you," and a great many came forward, giving the minister their hands and pledging themselves to a life of consecration to God.

The morning service today was well attended and Rev. Morris preached a very strong sermon on "Seeking the Old Paths." He will preach again this evening, the service beginning at 8 o'clock. Dr. Hill and his people are greatly pleased to have these special services of the presiding elder of the district. Rev. Morris gave his unqualified endorsement to the manner in which the meeting had been conducted by the pastor, and exhorted the people to follow his lead and move out upon a higher plane of Christian life and experience. Service in the morning at 9:30 and tomorrow evening at 8:15.

Supplies Southeastern Part of Town—Work Is Done By City Force At Cost of $4000

An extension totalling about seven thousand feet has just been completed to the sewer system, the finishing touches being made today. The extension will supply the territory south of Fourteenth street and west of Bluff and will provide sewer connection for a part of the city which has been building up rapidly within the past few months.

The extension is about seven thousand feet in length, being six-inch and ten-inch pipe, with 2500 feet of the ten-inch size. It was constructed by the city, without contract, the prisoners doing a large part of the work. The total cost was about $4000.

Wichita Falls now has about eighteen miles of sanitary sewer completed, every thickly settled part of the city being supplied. No further extensions are contemplated at present.

WILL MAKE TEST FOR RAIN FRIDAY

DYNAMITE TO BE EXPLODED NORTH OF CITY ON RIDGE TOMORROW.

6000 POUNDS IS ORDERED

Fund Raised to Defray Expenses. Call Issued for Volunteers to Help in Work.

Six thousand pounds of dynamite will be exploded in two-pound charges, north of Wichita Falls tomorrow afternoon. The failure of the shipment to arrive prevented the experiment being made today, but the supply of explosive is due here late this afternoon.

If there are any in this city who are willing to risk their lives in the hope of securing a twenty or thirty bushel wheat crop for this section by compelling the elements to produce the rain in Wichita county, they may come forth in answer to roll call sent out this morning when it was announced that fifty or sixty men would be needed tomorrow afternoon beginning about 1 o'clock to assist in the firing of the dynamite.

It is expected that many times the number of men called for will present themselves tomorrow in response to the appeal sent out for volunteers. Those desiring to assist may present their names to Marlow and Stone, A. L. Huey, J. A. Kemp or Wiley Blair, all of whom are taking a leading part in the experiment.

Most of yesterday afternoon J. B. Marlow, J. W. Stone, A. L. Huey and others were out on the street soliciting subscriptions towards getting up the sum of one thousand dollars necessary to pay for the expense of the experiment, and it is expected that by 4 o'clock this afternoon the last dollar will have been secured.

The dynamite has already been ordered and Wiley Blair, who has charge of the arrangements, says that the explosive will arrive here tonight on freight train number nineteen, six thousand pounds having been ordered for the first test.

Mr. Post of Post City, has attracted a good deal of attention recently by his experiments with dynamite as a means of producing rain. He claims that no longer than last week the firing of dynamite produced rain at Post City on two different occasions and that during a protracted drought last year when it seemed that all crops were doomed for lack of rain, he exploded large quantities of dynamite with such success that three rains resulted and the crops in that section surrounding Post City were saved.

Mr. Blair talked with Mr. Post's secretary this morning, and had explained to him in detail the exact method of producing rain which was employed in the Post City experiments. The same plan will be followed tomorrow, and it is confidently expected that it will prove successful.

H. C. Chenault, a Confederate veteran who served throughout the Civil War, said this morning that a peculiar fact and one which he noticed at the time, was that after practically every large battle fought during the late war between the States, a heavy rain followed. This was, he said, of Shiloh, Perryville, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, and a number of others in which he took part.

The rain making test by means of exploding dynamite will be made tomorrow afternoon beginning probably at 1 o'clock. The large ridge between this city and Red River has been selected as a suitable location for the test, and on this ridge two tons of a space of several hours, or until the six thousand pounds has been exhausted. It is estimated that about three hours will be consumed in exploding the dynamite, and it is planned to extend operations over a distance of two and one half or three miles. A good rain is expected to result soon after the last stick has been exploded. Much interest has been manifested regarding the result of the experiment.

GOV. WILSON COMMENTS ON NEW JERSEY RESULT.

Trenton, N. J., May 30.—Gov. Wilson had the following to say on the result of the New Jersey primary: "I never doubted the result, but I am none the less delighted and grateful that the Democrats of the State have stood by me so generously and with so unmistakable a verdict. "Their approval makes me very happy, because it is their judgment of the new regime in our politics in New Jersey and means that the new order is to be sustained with steadfastness and enthusiasm. New Jersey is permanently enrolled among the progressive States."

CO-OPERATIVE CONCERN IS PLANNED BY BANKER

St. Louis Business Man Devises Way To Beat The High Cost of Living

St. Louis, May 30.—The novel and far reaching solution of the industrial situation in the United States, which has been suggested by Leonard Matthews, a banker, broker and business man at 5447 Cabanne Avenue of St. Louis, in arousing nation-wide interest. Philanthropists and the thinking men of the country generally realize the need of some plan to settle the difficulties that have arisen since the money power has reached its overpowering predominance. The fact that co-operative companies have operated in Europe on a small scale with comparative success has lead Matthews to the belief that a central co-operative concern, owned by the people and under the supervision of the government, is the solution of the trust evil. The magnitude of such a company would insure its permanency.

Matthews would have this central company operate in perpetuity under a federal charter. It should do a general banking, insurance, railroad, general utility, manufacturing and mercantile business. He would call the company the Eota Company, the name being the acronymic of the phrase. Equal opportunities to all, which the originator of the plan believes the concern will give.

The dividends of the company will be limited to six per cent and thus a large part of the profit in excess of that amount will be returned to the consumer in lower prices. Wages will be increased and the price received by the farmer for his produce will be enhanced in proportion to the amount the consumer pays for it.

The result will be to raise the standard of living and better the entire country and the people. Students of this wonderful plan have agreed that the potentiality of the Eota Company to earn money in excess of the six per cent dividend will be so great that it could pay State and National taxes; improve roads, erect bridges, museums, school houses, build canals, deepen rivers, protect land from overflow and maintain parks and zoological gardens.

Farmers and laborers are eagerly discussing the plan and are calling on their political leaders to express opinion. Pamphlets with a direct appeal for support are being mailed to delegates to the National conventions of the leading political parties. Matthews is seeking recognition for the Eota Company from the National parties and is asking the delegates at the conventions to go on record relative to the question.

As suggested by Matthews the idea is a new one and so novel that it requires a broad mind to grasp at once the magnificent opportunity offered to better the economical situation. Mature thought and discussion has proved the possibility of the merger and converts will rapidly put the demand for adoption into general appeal to the leading men of the country.

To prevent any set of men from gaining control of the company it is proposed to make subject to call at par stock owned by any stockholder in excess of $150,000. Existing corporations are to be granted Federal charters limiting their term of existence to 25 years and requiring 2-14 per cent of the capital stock of all corporations be set aside in a sinking fund from which to reimburse the stockholders at par at the end of the 25 years. Or the corporations may come into the Eota Com-

THIS TRUANT OFFICER IS ONTO HIS BUSINESS

Keeps Boys From Playing Hookey By Playing With Them Out of Hours

Phoenixville, Pa., May 30.—One of the claims made with much pride by the local school authorities is the almost complete absence of truancy, and those who know give much of the credit for this fine condition to the intelligent activity of the town's truant officer, William S. Armstrong, and the popularity he was won among pupils. There is probably not another truant officer in the State who has such a record of achievement in his line as has Officer Armstrong, and for five years he has worked with singular effectiveness.

Truancy used to be much in vogue among Phoenixville schoolboys, and the new truant officer started in to break up the growing practice. Speaking of his early experiences, and describing his methods, Officer Armstrong said: "I did not go about my work in the 'hammer and tongs' method. I went to work quietly, got acquainted with the habitual truants, visited their homes and sought out their haunts. I talked with the parents and tried to arouse in them some interest in their boys' school work, and asked them to give some sign of interest and encouragement to the boys.

"I learned the location of all the favorite swimming holes, the nut groves and the most popular resorts where boys would go to play or hide. I visited the swimming holes, not only on school days, when necessity demanded it, but on Saturdays and holidays for the purpose of joining them in a swim and getting better acquainted. I have grown to know all of the live wires among them intimately, and I think they are all my friends."

ADOPTING BABIES FAD OF CHICAGO BACHELORS

Several Have Already Done So and Number Plan To Follow Their Example

Chicago, Ill., May 29.—Adopting babies promises to become a fad with Chicago bachelors since Dr. Louisindsay-Winekoop started it three years ago by persuading three wealthy bachelors, all of them members of the University Club, each to adopt a child and try to find the pleasure in life which comes from caring for a youngster.

Since then the experiment has been tried by others and each time with pleasant results. Then men generally want boys and are particular about parentage. In most cases officers of the homes where babies await adoption do not know the history of the children in their care.

One of the three pioneer bachelors in the movement bought a house, installed an elderly relative as housekeeper and employed servants all to care for the three-year-old boy he has adopted. The others leased flats and when these three meet the talk is all about how their respective charges are progressing.

The champion adopter among Chicago bachelors is John O'Connor, a wealthy shoe merchant, who began by adopting a small boy named John Medder of Louisville, Ky. A year ago he read of a widow dying on a Montana ranch and leaving five young daughters. O'Connor adopted the five and is rearing them as his own.

BRINGS DEAD TO LIFE BY MAKING HEART BEAT

Young Woman Is Revived By Physician After Life Is Apparently Extinct

Schenectady, N. Y., May 30.—In all truth it can be said that Miss Anna Loebivisten came back out of the valley of the shadow of death. She owes her life to Dr. Charles G. McMullen, who set her heart to pumping again after it had ceased to beat.

Miss Loebivisten's sister, in care of Dr. Louis P. Faust of this city, was suffering recently for gall stones. It was necessary to operate on her and she was taken to the Ellis hospital here.

Dr. McMullen anesthetized her with nitro-oxide oxygen and ether, because her heart was not too strong. To perform the operation it was necessary to make a long incision through the muscles and wall of her abdomen.

The gallstones were removed, the operation was ended; Dr. McMullen was sewing up the abdominal incision when Miss Loebivisten's heart stopped beating. She was pulseless; her respiration ceased. All the ordinary signs of life disappeared.

She had succumbed it was declared to the shock of the operation. Instantly Dr. McMullen cut the stitches he had made in the incision and reaching up through it gently seized Miss Loebivisten's heart. Rhythmically he compressed the heart, then relaxed his hold. The pressure forced the blood into the arteries, when he loosened his hold the heart filled with blood just as a boy empties and fills with water a rubber ball with a hole in it.

One minute, two minutes passed, Dr. McMullen's assistants and nurses stood breathless, then the heart which is only a bundle of muscles, responded to Dr. McMullen's excitations of it. It fluttered gently, slowly, very slowly it took on its normal action.

A flush tinted Miss Loebivisten's face; with a long sigh she began to breathe; she lived again. She is practically out of danger today.

Do You Have a Bank Account?

The possession of a bank account is a matter that must be of interest to every man, woman and child in any prosperous community. Many people without stopping to give it consideration, are inclined to delay in making a start along this line. When you stop to think about it there is really no good reason why you shouldn't have a growing bank account. This bank is ready and willing to help you save—ONE DOLLAR is all that is needed to open an account. You have the privilege of withdrawing your funds whenever you want to. Still, with all these inducements and incentives to become a saver there are hundreds of people in our county who do not deposit their money in a bank. If YOU are among this number, do not wait any longer, bring your first deposit to this bank and get a bank book.

Love is immortal; he who has once felt its spell loves forever, but not necessarily the same girl.

All roads lead to Rome; also all lead away from it. It depends on which way you think you are going.

Plenty of people will be just as pleasant as you are if you will take pains to be just as disagreeable as they are.

Many women prefer a poodle dog above all things; others want a man, but some of those want him as near a poodle as possible, dog-gone it!

The man who climbs trees after a star is a fool; but after all he is a good sort of fool and he is nearer heaven in his tree top than if he had loved something in the mire, and won it by grovelling.

A novel should be what its name implies; a commonplace tale of commonplace things isn't a novel, it's well, in these days of an over-dow of good stories, it's a nuisance.

When it comes right down to choice between those people who are so good that they are hysterical about it, and those others who are wicked enough to know where they are at, why, give us the wicked ones, every time.

Read the story of those authors who do so many thousand words every day and can do as many thousand more when pressed, and then tell me the difference between making the present-day literature and a regulation six-day wood sawing contest—if you can.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

DON'T FORGET THAT

"John Oliver Hobbs" said: "There is only one obligation in life—courtesy."

Ralph Waldo Emerson said: "Speak as you think; be what you are; pay your debts of all kinds."

Oliver Wendell Holmes said: "The nearer you come into relation with a person, the more necessary do tact and courtesy become."

James Russell Lowell said: "Some kind of force may be got out of the veriest jade by the near prospect of oats; but the thoroughbred has the spur in its blood."

Giuseppe Mazzini said: "Preach virtue, sacrifice, and love; and be yourselves virtuous, loving, and ready for self-sacrifice. Speak your own thought boldly, and bravely name your wants; but without anger and without threats."

Henry Ward Beecher said: "Hold yourself responsible for a higher standard than anybody else expects of you. Never excuse yourself to yourself. Never pity yourself. Be a hard master to yourself—and be lenient to everybody else."

Marshall Field said: "The haste to become rich at the expense of character prevails to an alarming extent and can not be too severely denounced. What is needed today more than anything else is to instill in the minds of our young the desire above all to build up a character that will win the respect of all with whom they may come in contact—which is vastly more important than a great fortune."—The Sunday Magazine.

DRILLERS GET NEARER THE TOP

WIN EIGHTH STRAIGHT GAME FROM MCKINNEY IN PITCHER'S BATTLE.

COSTLY ERROR IN NINTH

Wichita Scores Three Runs After Duffy Had Held Them Safe for Eight Innings.

Special to The Times. McKinney, Texas, May 30.—The Drillers climbed up a little bit nearer the top of the percentage column yesterday, taking the eighth straight game from McKinney. It was the best game of the two series.

Jones and Duffy were the opponents in a sharp pitcher's battle and the McKinney slabman had slightly the better of the argument. An error at first in the ninth inning, however, proved his undoing, opening the way to three scores for the visitors. Up to that time neither side had gotten a man further than second base.

In the ninth, with Brown, out, Guthrie drew a walk and was advanced on Pep Clark's single. Phillips bunted and beat it out. Beckham laid an easy one down toward first base on an attempted squeeze and Steaky threw the ball away, letting in three scores. The score:

COLORADO AUTO ROUTES ARE SHOWN IN BOOKLET

It is published by the Clason Map Co., of Denver. The text was furnished by the Good Roads Bureau of the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

HUGH FULLERTON'S BASEBALL CAREER

Contributor to Times, Has Seen 3561 Games, Scored 178,569 Put-Outs

In the June American Magazine there is a sketch of Hugh S. Fullerton, one of the most experienced base ball reporters in the country. Fullerton is an occasional contributor to the Times and the following extract from the sketch will be of interest to the many who have read his stories:

"Any man who has seen 3561 games of baseball, who has scored 178,569 put outs, 98,562 assists, 14,442 stolen bases and 2987 double plays, must be fairly well posted upon the lore and workings of the American national game."

"Hugh S. Fullerton, Chicago 'Chooey,' has not only seen 3561 games while while scoring 178,569 put-outs 98,562 assists and the rest of it but in each game he has taken the time to figure out the why and wherefores of it—the causes and effects—as he went along with time enough and energy enough left to look about him and reflect upon whatever else life had to show along the trail that was interesting or complex or both."

"Fullerton is a vital part of baseball. The game has produced but one Wagner, one Anson, one Mathewson, one Lajoie, one Cobb—and one Hugh S. Fullerton."

"There are others who have seen as many games—who have watched these games as closely. But there have been few others with all of this who have had as keen an insight into the spirit of both play and player and who have achieved deductions with so much skill and keenness—who have excavated as deeply beneath the surface for all of importance that might lie below the obvious and who have applied the result of these excavations to the general trend of the contest."

"One of the chief causes of Fullerton's success as a baseball historian beyond his own insight and powers of deduction, is the great esteem in which he is held by most players and the faith they have in his judgment. Here is an example:

"One morning he was out completing some base running tests with Tyrus Cobb, the Detroit star. Cobb faced a hard contest that afternoon and yet continued to make play after play for home plate as the different bases. Finally Fullerton noticed that Cobb's time was lagging considerably. He looked at his watch and saw that the speed tests had extended beyond two hours and yet the fleet outfielder had made no complaint of the overwork. The answer was Fullerton—a mixture of likeable drawl, friendly manner, keen pleasant eyes and attractive personality that made even the Georgia ghost forget that his $10,000 underpinnings were getting to be a bit fagged and weary."

STOPPER WITHERSPOON NOW WITH BONHAM

Former Wichita Player Is Famed Out By Fort Worth—Frieron—Also With Bonham

"Stopper" Witherspoon has been farmed out to Bonham, Wichita Falls' dearest rival, by the Fort Worth team. The big infielder started playing with the Texas-Oklahoma leaders yesterday. It is understood that the change is only temporary and that the Panthers will bring him back into the fold at an early date. "Stopper" has been hitting consistently but his work in the field has not been up to snuff, it is said, and that is probably the reason for the change. Frieron, the Panther hitting phenom, is also with Bonham now and the Fannin county aggregation seems to be getting the pick of Fort Worth's castaways. Frieron's trouble was that he tried to "bust it" every time he came to the bat and when a young player gets that way it is usually all off.

TEXAS-OKLAHOMA LEAGUE

Durant 11, Sherman 8
Sherman, Texas, May 29.—Sherman this afternoon dropped the last game of the Durant series by a score of 11 to 8. Durant took the lead in the sixth, chasing seven runs across the rubber in that inning on five safe bingles. Sherman rallied in the seventh but was too far behind to catch up.

Score by innings:
Sherman 010 000 601—8
Durant 101 007 011—11
Batteries—Gibson and Lamonica and Townsend; Green, Deardorf and Smitzer.

Greenville 11, Denison 8
Greenville, Texas, May 29.—Denison was defeated by the Greenville Highlanders this afternoon by a score of 11 to 8. Clickinger, McCormack, Kerlin, Murphy, McCullom and Harpet, each made a home run. The two home runs made by the Highlanders came at a time when two men were on bases.

Score by innings:
Greenville 300 101 33x—11
Denison 011 000 312—8
Batteries—Adams and Hornbuckle; Await and Kerlin.

CLERKS' BASEBALL TEAM IS VICTORIOUS OVER ELKS.

The Clerks' baseball team won from the Elks' nine at the City Park yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 2, in a four-inning game. The same teams will play again this afternoon. The batteries were Weeks and Hendricks for the Elks and Smith and Willis for the Clerks.

There is a Big Difference in Bacon Quality Try Mine

YOU GET IT BY AUTO DEL. PHONES 422 & 232

The vast difference in the quality of ham and bacon, and it only needs a one trial comparison to show you this difference and prove why the best in either ham or bacon is the cheapest in the end. A great many families in Wichita Falls are using Swift's Premium brand of hams and bacon regularly and frequently. Some of these people thought when they first ordered that my price was way high, but decided to try it, and once they learned the quality, nothing else ever satisfied them again.

For real flavor, tenderness, juiciness and high food value this ham and bacon stands at the top of the list. The price is forgotten once you get the taste in your mouth. And you are pleased to think that you have such good judgment in selecting your meats.

I will sell you ham or bacon sliced or in bulk and my sliced bacon is the preference of the best families in Wichita Falls.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

LEAVING THE CLUB.

Chicago Tribune. The hasty interpreter of political events will relate Senator Crane's determination not to stand for reelection to his defeat as delegate to the National convention. Unfriendly critics will hint that discretion is the better part of valor in the case of Senator Crane. We concede no such views. We get Senator Crane's meaning fully. It is a rebuke and forewarning. Senator Crane consented to go to the senate upon the understanding that its membership was limited to gentlemen and to men who would not presume to question gentlemen. As the result of the impending change in the manner of electing senators, Senator Crane sees a serious degeneration of the membership. There will be members who speak above a whisper habitually, who wear hobnails instead of rubber heels, and lack proper respect for important citizens. Some of these persons will smell of the farm and pound their desks. Some of them will take that Fourth of July stuff seriously and even insist on applying it.

Really, with direct primaries, direct elections, campaign publicity, and strict control of expenditures neither the state nor politics is going to be what it was. Useful and respectful men like Mr. Lorimer are interfered with and men the people ought to thank for saving them the trouble of running the government and seeing to the laws are not appreciated.

HE NEVER ADVERTISED

Philadelphia Inquirer. D. W. Stockwell, who died last week had on great claim to fame, albeit a rather insidious one. He never advertised. During the Civil war he made what was considered at that time a vast fortune from his general store at Aurora, Ill. His idea was that whatever had been good at one time was good for all time. So he never had any bargain sales, never lowered the price of anything. After the war came a great fall in values, but Stockwell kept up his prices. When he bought goods they were always of the vintage of the late '50s and early '60s. He stood still.

For ten years he managed to weather the gale by such additions as he made to his stock, but the old store still remained on his shelves. Then his place became known as the Morgue and though he kept it open daily it is said that a customer never entered it in the last twenty years. Women in search of clothes never had any use for hoop-skirts, balmorel stockings and gaiters of long ago. Men would rather purchase than women wear the apparel offered. The old man had the courage of his convictions and died a conservative to the last—and in poverty.

There is a moral here—a whole bunch of morals. The man who stands still goes backward. The man who does not advertise goes into bankruptcy. The man who thinks he knows what other people want better than they do themselves, fails for his folly. The keynote of business today is quick sales on small margin. Enterprising merchants want to turn over their stock at least four times a year. This is done by advertising, and in no other way. It is noteworthy that most of the most effective advertising is done in newspapers. The best asset a newspaper has is its band of readers. The merchant knows this and profits by it.

There are a good many men in the country who are more or less like the late Stockwell, and none of them are successful. The man who succeeds is the one who lets the people know what his stocks are and stands behind his advertisements.

THE WONDERFUL WILEY BABY.

Baltimore News. According to all the laws of hygiene, the purest baby should have a model infancy. In his capacity as head of the family the proud father is already outlining the regime which is to be pursued. The young hopeful is not to be coddled too much or weaned too soon. It is to be taught self-reliance and self-denial at a time when other infants indulge in vocal cravings for the moon. It is to be a prophetic existence in a sterilized atmosphere and thereby grow strong and prosperous.

It is not venturing too much to say that there are mothers of four girls and five or six boys or so, scattered throughout the country who will hear with lofty scorn the by-laws by which baby Wiley is to be reared. Scarcely a mother will look down upon the theories borrowed from the laboratory. A congress of experts could not convince them that chewing the paint off their rattle, and later on, sneaking forbidden fruit from the green apple tree do not on the whole conduce to long life. That chartered wildling, the bare-foot boy with cheeks of tan still remains the ideal.

Of course it isn't true and the experts have allowed us now and then to look through the telescope and see that germs are the pestilence that walketh in darkness and the destruction which wasteth at noonday; and the tradition will survive. Let us hope that baby Wiley in spite of his scientific raising, will disappoint the predictions of the sanitary school, and grow up with nothing more than the normal amount of aches in his tum and the pains of teething.

THE RESULT IN OHIO.

New York Herald. To those who know the brand of subleaders who conducted the Roosevelt campaign in some sections of the Buckeye state, and who are sufficiently experienced in political matters to know what an unlimited campaign fund—such as the Roosevelt men have had wherever they have fought—can do, news that Mr. Roosevelt had swept the state would have caused no great degree of surprise.

The Roosevelt campaign managers began their campaign long before their candidate had his name in the ring.

Mr. Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, one of the most resourceful leaders in the state, had several conferences with Mr. Roosevelt while the latter was still declaring that he was not a candidate and meantime the work of organization in Ohio was begun along most practical lines. An organization was formed which had members in every township. On the other hand the "Taft" managers lacked the kind of leaders who get delegates and were badly handicapped by lack of funds.

Ohio has forty-eight delegates, forty-four district delegates and four at large to be elected at state conventions to which delegates were chosen yesterday. Mr. Taft needs roughly 50 votes to win, exclusive of those which he received in his own state yesterday. There are approximately seventy yet to be elected.

When the week of excitement is over in New Jersey and the voters of that state have decided whether they favor the president or Mr. Roosevelt for the nomination, the country can settle down for a brief period of quiet we hope.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S HABITS.

(Cleveland Leader)

Colonel Roosevelt makes public denial today of a malicious fabrication that has gone the rounds for many months. It started while he was President, and though it seldom appeared in newspapers, it traveled as if seven-league boots were on its feet. The story is that he is an intemperate man.

A supporter in New York, writing to Colonel Roosevelt, told him he thought he should take cognizance of the wrong done him. In reply the former President says he hardly knows whether to notice the rumor or not; that it is such an infamous lie he is doubtful what is best to do about it. But he does take occasion in the same letter to say that he is exceedingly temperate; that he never touches whiskey, never drank a highball (which, by the way, is always referred to as his particular daily) or a cocktail in his life, and does not consume half a dozen teaspoonfuls of brandy in a year. He adds that he drinks about as much as Dr. Lyman Abbott, a fact which Dr. Abbott, his intimate associate, verifies.

No doubt the great majority of persons, knowing the tremendous energy of the man, his great fondness for vigorous outdoor exercise, his intense mental and physical activity, dismissed the intimation for what it is—a bald lie out of the whole cloth. But in this campaign the story has taken on new vigor and has been used by word of mouth broadcast.

It is well to have thus labeled a plain, unvarnished and particularly odious falsehood. If there had been a shadow of truth in it, one might have retorted as did Lincoln when told again and again that General Grant was too fond of his tipples—namely, that he might try it on some other generals in the Union Army.

ELIMINATING TECHNICALITIES.

(Lawton Constitution)

Justice Henry Furman of the state court of criminal appeals has again established himself in the favorable opinion of the justice loving public in refusing to enforce the district court of Comanche county, on trivial technicalities, in the case of John Gonzales, Mexican sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of A. M. Mitchell, an aged school teacher near Fletcher, who was shot and killed when he found Gonzales stealing corn.

The opinion of the state court was handed down Saturday. Incidentally, Judge Furman takes occasion to commend the juries of Comanche county for their perfect willingness to assume responsibility in criminal cases and their fearless discharge of duty in the infliction of extreme penalties.

The chief objection raised was the admission of the testimony of Lorenzo Bentz, self-confessed accomplice to the crime, who was alleged to have been of unsound mind. "We are of the opinion," says the court, "that if the jury had considered the confession of Lorenzo Bentz as evidence against the defendant, that they would have assessed his punishment at death. Verdicts pronounced in the district court of Comanche county fearlessly discharge their duty without reference to petty technicalities and do not hesitate to inflict the penalty of death where it is warranted by the law and evidence. The fact that appellant was not sentenced to death shows that this jury followed the instructions of the court in considering the guilt or innocence of the appellant and excluded the confession of Lorenzo Bentz and confined themselves entirely to the testimony which was legally admitted against appellant."

An additional reason against the reversal of cases upon technical grounds is raised by Judge Furman in this opinion when he says: "The habit of reversing cases upon legal and trivial grounds is to be reprobated from every standpoint. While it is true that a price should never be placed upon the administration of justice and no man who has been unjustly convicted should ever be denied a rehearing simply upon the ground of the expense of a second trial, yet this court will take judicial notice of the fact that the people of this state are already heavily burdened with taxation and that one of the principal items of expense of the state is the enforcement of its criminal laws. It would, therefore, be unjust to the people of this state to add to this expense by reversing convictions and sending cases back for retrial and thereby greatly increasing the expenses of the government, unless a necessity for doing so really existed.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

Kansas City Journal.

If the present campaign awakens the people of this country as it seems to be doing, to the dangers which are always inherent in demagoguery, and re-temperate the people in the adoption of measures limiting by law the tenure of the presidential office, then good will come out of what is generally recognized as one of the flagrant evils of our political system. It ought to be unnecessary for protect the people from themselves, but evidently it is. Theoretically, the people are in no danger of being beguiled by political craft and demagoguery into voting themselves into the hands of bosses. Theoretically the people every four years merely hire a chief servant who shall be at the head of all the other servants employed to run the people's affairs. They either renew the contract for another four years, if the service of the preceding quadrennium has been satisfactory, or they exercise their indubitable opinion and hire somebody else. Theoretically there is no room in our political system for the servant to become the master, and, like the terms of his contract, the tenure of his position, and various other details that theoretically appertain solely to the supreme authority.

But practically the situation is not nearly so idyllic as this. In actual experience the people are misled by demagogues and bosses. The charge that they are misled is made every four years, not only by two but by two or three or four or five parties, and while all these parties cannot be right they cannot all be wrong. The people are convinced of incompetency in selecting their servants, whichever party is right. Practically the people are in the greatest danger of following their prejudices and passions into mistakes which cost them dearly; and while it would be only retributive justice to require them to endure the consequences of their errors, yet the best solution of the problem of popular government appears to be an extension of the restrictions which tend to prevent the people from making fools of themselves.

A LITERACY TEST.

San Antonio Express.

In his opposition to the measures pending in Congress, prescribing the literacy test as a requisite for the admission of aliens to this country, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagle submits a table of statistics which would seem, when properly considered, to disprove, rather than sustain his contention. In a booklet sent out recently in support of the position of Secretary Nagle occurs this extract from an address delivered by him: "I am on record as being unqualifiedly opposed to the literacy test. I care more for the sound body and the sound mind and the straight look out of the eye and the ability and the willingness to work as a test than for any other test that can be given. I have been asked whether illiteracy stands in the way of assimilation. I say unqualifiedly in my opinion, it does not."

A sound body, sound mind, the straight look in the eye and the ability and willingness to work constitute a very desirable qualification and the country, which admitted aliens who do not possess these qualifications would be acting very unwisely; but they do not constitute all the important requirements. In a country where the country is controlled by the people education must of necessity be essential, since without it there can be no intelligent exercise of suffrage as when the voters read. It may be assumed that some of the evils of which we are complaining in connection with our political conditions are due to a lack of intelligence more than to anything else. The argument that some of the best citizens of this country have been uneducated does not prove that education is unnecessary. A high education, indeed, may not be essential, but an ability to read is very desirable and certainly not an unreasonable requirement for foreign-born immigrants. But while education is important from a political standpoint, it is quite as much so when the interests of society are considered. The greatest amount of crime in the large cities is found among persons who have been brought up in ignorance. It is as important that a mother who raises a family should be educated as it is that the man who votes should be educated and society will be greatly benefited if more attention is given to education.

The bills to which Secretary objects provide for the exclusion of illiterate persons over the age of 16 years, the Dillingham bill limiting the educational qualifications, to ability to read and write and the Burnett bill only requiring ability to read in some language. Such a test as is provided by either bill would exclude a considerable number of immigrants, as is shown by the statistics shown by the secretary. These statistics show that of all the Turks over 14 years of age who came into this country last year, 69 per cent were unable to read. Of the Portuguese immigrants 58 per cent could not read, of Mexicans, 57 per cent, and of several other nationalities the percent of those unable to read ranged between 40 and 50. The situation revealed by this table is a strong argument in favor of an educational test which would undoubtedly reduce the number of immigrants, but there is no danger that we should not continue to get as many immigrants as we need.

The sentiment that this is an asylum for the unfortunates of other countries is a very pretty one, but the United States has now reached a point in its population where quantity is not so desirable as quality, and though brawn is important, intelligence should not be esteemed as unimportant.

SAYS POCKET TOO SMALL TO ACCOMMODATE BIBLE

London Pear Makes Unusual Complaint Against Tailor at Church Society Meeting

London, May 30.—Two or three members of the British peage, who are definitely associated with religious movements, always come into the limelight this month when the annual meetings of the various religious societies are held.

Lord Kinnaird, who has identified himself with the Young Men's Christian Association, is also a supporter of the "Carry Your Bible" crusade. During one of his addresses he referred regretfully to the tendency of fashionable tailors to reduce the size of the pockets.

In defiance of fashion his Lordship has roomy pockets built in his coat, pockets big enough to hold two or three Bibles, which he solemnly displayed to his audience.

Another enthusiastic aristocrat for the circulation of the Bible is the Marquis of Northampton, president of the British and Foreign Bible Society, who is never heard of except at the annual meeting of the association.

A far more picturesque and virile figure is Lord Hugh Cecil, fifth son of Lord Salisbury, and the powerful leader of the English Church Union, a body of men inside the Church of England, who stand for extreme ritualistic practices.

He has been in the forefront of the parliamentary fight against the bill for the disestablishment of the church in Wales. "He is of the stuff of the Martyrs" says one of his friends, "a crusader of Quete, charging the pagan world with spear and buckler. He has brought back the name of the Almighty to the councils of the house of Commons, and with it a certain exalted rhetoric that has no parallel in our time."

At the opposite pole of theological belief to Lord Hugh Cecil is the Earl of Tankerville, who was at one time in great request at evangelical meetings. It was while singing hymns for Mr. Moody in America that he found his wife, a daughter of the late J. G. VanMarter, of New York.

But this belted Earl has not figured in any star religious part since those days in the early nineties. His place as serious vocalist in the cause of charity and religious endeavor has been taken by Earl of Shaftsbury.

Blank denies knowledge of the wrecking.

By Associated Press. Oklahoma City, Okla., May 30.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has adopted a pension plan for members of the order. The pension system is optional with members. Engineers under 30 years of age are to pay 50 cents a month for five years and then $1 a month. Members over 30 will pay $1 a month for five years and then at the rate of 50 cents more a year. No engineer will be entitled to a pension unless he has been a member of the insurance department of the brotherhood for five years, and pensions will be allowed only for total disability or on retirement at the age of 50, the amounts being graded from $40 to $60 per month, according to service.

Fort Worth, Texas, May 30.—Eddie Nichols, a negro, who said he was a delegate to the Republican State convention, got out of jail Tuesday just in time to discharge his political duties.

If You Were an Expert, What Car Would You Buy?

The time has passed when automobiles can be sold to you on their appearances or claims. This is a day when you and every purchaser must be shown what the car for which you pay your money will actually perform; what it will do. Beware of an automobile salesman who attempts to beguile you with a pleasing story. Tell him to show the goods and prove to you that his cars are worth the money. Find out whether his car is a real car or only an assembled automobile built to sell.

You have a right to your money's worth, but it is up to you to see that you get it. Deeper than all appearances; there are a few expert tests which ought to be applied to every car.

Who makes the car? Is it an assembled car or made from top to bottom by one manufacturer? What kind of a guarantee is on it? Does the manufacturer respect his own product with a real guarantee, or does he want you to take the chance? What do parts cost you and how conveniently can you get them? How many cars of this make are in service and how many are giving satisfaction? Questions like these go deep into the heart of the case, and if you put them rigorously upon any car you will find out with a certainty whether or not that car is worth its price.

We are selling Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars because we know that, dollar for dollar, their equal is not sold in the market today. The records of many thousands of cars in all kinds of service have convinced us absolutely. Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are built to run, and because they run they sell. If we cannot prove to you under the most searching test that Studebaker cars are absolutely the best automobile values in the market, we do not want your business; but we can prove it, and your neighbors who drive these cars will tell you the same thing.

FREEMAN IS OPTIMISTIC OVER OUTLOOK IN TEXAS

Wall Street Journal Publishes Interview With Head of Railroad—Takes Favorable View

New York, May 30.—The Wall Street Journal, publishes an interview with T. J. Freeman, in which he predicts a big year for the Southwest. He says in part:

"The agricultural and commercial conditions could not be much better, Texas is already assured of a heavy forage crop, and not only does this apply to the agricultural section of the State, but also to the territory south of San Antonio, which has had fine rains and a large crop of hay, a condition that has not existed for five years. This means a heavy movement of fat beef cattle to market from that territory.

The onion crop in the Laredo section is probably the largest in the history of the State. Prices are good and the movement is heavy. The fruit crop in Texas bids fair to be first class. It was a failure last year. It is yet too early to make any positive estimate as to the cotton crop, but up to the present time the condition of the crop is the best in the history of the State. Corn is in first class condition, and taking everything into consideration the agricultural and commercial outlook is extremely favorable.

"The Texas & Pacific is not contemplating any large improvements to its property other than the acquisition of the equipment which has already been ordered. It is, however, building up its property by strengthening the roadway and thoroughly tying the track. Had it not been for the overflow in Louisiana we would have shown larger increases in gross than we have shown and these increases would have continued. Ever under the present adverse operating conditions we shall show increased earnings as compared with last year. Of course, our operating expenses are larger on account of flood conditions. The Mexican situation has affected the business of both the International and Great Northern and the Texas and Pacific, as our business to and from Mexico is practically suspended.

"Notwithstanding that each road has been operating under a handicap during the spring, the International, in the four and a half months from January 1 to May 14, increased gross revenues $444,000, or 14.4 per cent as compared with the same period of 1911, and the Texas and Pacific in the same period reported an increase of $715,000, or 13.6 per cent.

"The Texas and Pacific has approximately 180 miles of track out of commission on account of the overflow.

"Our estimate is that it will take approximately $100,000 to put the main and branch lines again in condition. We will be able to resume

AGED BANKER PARDONED BY ARKANSAS GOVERNOR

Exercises Clemency in Case of Old Man Who Was President of Bank

Little Rock, Ark., May 30.—Gov. Donaghey has granted a pardon to R. S. Morris, the aged banker of Sileam-Springs. He had been in the penitentiary since April 17 serving a sentence of three years on a charge of receiving money on deposit when he knew the bank of Sileam, of which he was president, to be in a failing condition.

The pardon was delivered to Mr. Morris at the penitentiary by Rev. R. L. Selle, his former pastor, who took him in an automobile to his home. A message was sent to his attorney, R. F. Forrest of Sileam Springs, who will come for him and take him to his home. Mr. Morris is too feeble to travel alone.

The aged man was deeply affected when the warden delivered his pardon to him. "The Lord has been good to me," he sobbed, as he exchanged his prison stripes for citizen's clothes. "I am very grateful to the governor and to all my friends for what they have done for me."

The Governor's statement in the case follows: "After giving this case careful consideration, I am led to believe that it is one in which the chief executive should exercise clemency, and release him from custody. From a legal standpoint I have no doubt but that he should have been convicted. The money belonging to the people and which they had entrusted to his bank was made away with the law was violated and his conviction was justly the result.

"In a case of this kind, however, it occurs to me that the time already served in the State Penitentiary is a sufficient vindication of the law, all things connected with the case being taken into consideration. Mr. Morris is 73 years old. He is paralyzed, very feeble and infirm and nearly blind. He is not only not able to do any work, but on account of disease he can scarcely live ninety days."

Messages announcing the pardon were also sent to Mrs. Morris, at Sileam, and Dr. Harry Crossen, a physician of St. Louis.

Letter to STAR MEAT MARKET
Wichita Falls, Texas

Dear Sirs: Two men on opposite sides of the same street sell sausages one at 10 cents per pound and the other at 5. Which sells the most sausages, you think?

The answer is: It depends on the street. There are plenty of streets in the world where 5 cent sausages go like the wind.

Devoe is an honest paint; there are eight honest paints, 200 adulterated and short measure; Devoe is the best of the eight. Devoe has more strength than the other seven. The painter adds generally a quart of oil to Devoe; he still has a stronger paint than any other one of the seven.

The seven are sold at one price, $2.25 a gallon; a common price of second rate paint is $1.50. It takes 8 gallons Devoe to paint a small house, and 12 of average paint; 8 gallons cost less than 12; the price is more than offset by less gallons.

It costs $2 to $4 a day to get paint on; a day is a gallon; $5 to $15 more to paint the more gallons paint; $8 to $16 less for painting the less gallons paint.

The difference in first cost of the two jobs is $14 to $22, and which wears best do you think? Its less gallons paint because of its strength.

There are plenty of people to buy those 5 cent sausages.

Yours truly,

Eat the Cracker that Brown makes

Superior

The Brown standard is a high standard.

The Brown idea is not to make crackers that are just as good as somebody else's, or like anybody else's, or that might be mistaken by package or contents to be somebody else's, but to make crackers that by their superior goodness will be at once recognized as "The Crackers that BROWN Makes."

If you have ever tasted Brown-made crackers of any kind you know that the Brown idea is a practical, actual, definite success.

It comes in the flour—the recipes—the artesian water—the speckless, spotless machinery that handles the products from flour to package—the clean, white tiled ovens—the perfect baking—the air, moisture and dirt-proof packages.

Try one of these—you'll be won by any one to all.

- Pan-Tan—the ginger snap with snap.
- Sodaettes—not just soda crackers, but the limit of soda cracker goodness.
- Saltines—crisp, properly salt, delicious.
- Graham Crackers—as nutritious as they are palatable-pleasing.

Grocers Recommend Them—But should yours say that he does not carry them, ask him to get them for you. If he fails you, write us and we will see that you are supplied.

RESEMBLANCE AND DIFFERENCE

St. Louis Republic.

The resemblance between Bryan and Roosevelt is a favorite theme of certain political commentators.

There are some points of striking likeness. Both are remarkable for their power to excite enthusiasm of great numbers of their fellow citizens and to hold it through the years. Both are offhand speakers of great effectiveness, although Bryan is a finished orator, while Roosevelt's style is rough and often colloquial. And both are identified in the popular mind with Western thought and life.

But there are some spacious differences. Bryan is loyal to his word. Roosevelt's utterances mean one thing today and another tomorrow. Bryan is loyal to his friends; Roosevelt does not know the meaning of the phrase. Roosevelt believes that his party's future is safe in no hands but his own. Bryan, the only American ever honored with three nominations to the presidency without an election, is sincere both in the recognition and promise of new leaders and in his endeavor to prevent that movement toward himself which some of his ill-advised admirers are just now trying to bring about.

The Nebraskan's fellow Democrats most esteem and admire him for the qualities—moral and personal—in which he least resembles the first citizen of Oyster Bay.

The sin of a moment can blight a whole life.

Treasure laid up in heaven draws interest in this world.

If you would climb, start from where you are now.

One look into the face of truth will kill a lie stone dead.

The greatest of all doing is doing the thing that God wants done.

IN BOYHOOD'S REALM

If a boy is quiet everyone wonders what he is up to now, and if he is noisy they know.

A boy's good time at picnics never begins until he manages to get lost from his mother.

A boy soon learns that his father expects him to be a man, but that his mother is content if he will always be her baby.

When a mother scolds her son and the boy's father agrees with her, this makes her so mad she forgets the boy and goes after the father.

When a boy in animated conversation holds his hands apart as if giving the length of something, that means he is talking about fish.

Until a boy is twenty-five he thinks his efforts to entertain girls are a failure unless their squealing and laughing can be heard in the next block.

It is every girl's opinion that by beginning to nag her brother by 5 in the morning he can be induced to begin a piece of work by the time he should be getting ready for bed at night.

Every boy should have a dog so that he can feel, when his mother and father find fault with him and make him say "Please" at the table, that he has at least one True Satisfied Friend.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

ODDITIES.

Even in those communities sometimes found in the North, where association of the black and white races is not frowned upon, it is a breach of the peace for a negro to become a white girl's suitor. In the case at bar, which is reported in the Docket (West Publishing Co. of St. Paul) for June, the negro and the girl belonged to the same church and met frequently while performing duties assigned to them by their pastor.

The negro wrote numerous notes to the girl, avowing his love for her, but none of them was answered. Despairing of getting a word from her, he waited at the church door one night after prayer meeting and asked if he might escort her home.

She replied that she had an escort, which was untrue. On her arrival home she spoke for the first time to her father about the negro's attentions, and he caused the arrest of the dusky suitor. The highest New York court held that, whatever the degree of association the young woman might have permitted—the negro as a fellow churchman, there is such a wide gulf between the races that it was a breach of the peace per se for the negro to presume to assume the role of suitor for her hand.

Helpers Classed As Milch Cows
Milchless helpers have been classed as milch cows by a Texas court in the case of Patterson against English. A statute exempts milch cows from forced sale and in this case the defendant asserted that helpers were entitled to be classed as cows. The opinion of the court was as follows:

"The policy of the courts of this State is, in all cases, to give a liberal construction to our exemption laws, and in doing so they have held that a dray is a 'wagon,' an automobile is a 'carriage,' a diamond is 'wearing apparel,' a piano is 'household and kitchen furniture,' that 'horse' includes a bride and saddle, as well as shoes on its feet and the rope and martingales around its neck. And this spirit of liberal construction has been indulged until they have held that an unbroken colt is a 'horse' and even that a mule, removed as he is one degree by consanguinity is nevertheless a horse. Furthermore, in their effort to extend the humane and beneficial character of our exemption statute, they have been so blind to every other consideration that they have looked upon the aid's father and pronounced him—voice, ears and all—a horse. We think a helper is nearer a milch cow than a mule is a horse, and that the spirit of the law which can convert a jackass into a horse should be made to cover a partulent helper—yes, all three of them—under its protecting wings until time can bring them safely within the letter of the law."

Slick Nickel Is Legal Car Fare
Little Howard Rosnagle had only a worn and slick nickel when he boarded a car in Cincinnati. The conductor refused to accept the battered coin as legal tender and ejected the terrified Howard. The court held the street car company in error for not accepting the nickel and intimated that Rosnagle had good grounds on which to bring civil suit for damages.

The coin was issued by authority of law to circulate as money, and was merely worn, bruised and cracked in the process of circulation. It was not appreciably diminished in weight and retained the evidence of its being of genuine coinage.

Court Recognizes Barnes as Boss.
William Barnes Jr., owner and publisher of the Albany Journal, a paper made famous by his grandfather, Thurlow Weed, has long been classed as the Republican boss of New York State. The Supreme Court of that State has officially labeled the editor-politician in a case growing out of an investigation of some very "juicy" printing contracts obtained by Barnes from the State.

Barnes was asked some direct questions about his interest in the printing company, to which was awarded the contracts. In ruling upon the relevancy of the questions the court says:

"It is a well known fact, of which judicial notice may very properly be taken, that under latter day methods of political organization the actual rulers of many political subdivisions are not those who are nominally holding office, but those whose control over the political organization to which the actual offices belong, made their election possible."

Accused of Killing Deceased Cow
Among the queer things found in current court records is a bill submitted by a United States Commissioner in an Eastern state. The bill reads:

"The United States, to T. Willie Pitcoe for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1911. The United States vs. J. Eek Puddinush, violation meat inspection law.—Charge: Killing deceased cow."

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS ON MISSISSIPPI PLANNED.

Washington, May 30.—Two bills, aggregating $74,000,000 for levee work and improvements to the Mississippi river were introduced in the house by Representative Ransdell, profiding for an immediate appropriation of $11,000,000, with continuing appropriations for three successive years of $11,000,000 each. The bill provides for construction and repair, the balance being devoted to river improvement work.

PROHIBITION PARTY'S STATE CONVENTION HELD.

Dallas, Texas, May 30.—The State executive committee of the Prohibition Party held its annual convention here but he drew building and selected delegates to the National convention at Atlantic City. Electors and a platform also were selected. The platform declares for national prohibition, woman suffrage and for the initiative, referendum and recall of all public officials. The delegates selected to represent Texas are: A. J. Houston and Thomas Brown, Beaumont; I. E. Teague, Whitehouse; W. V. Grayson, Houston; Mrs. J. E. Grayson, Streetman; Joe B. Reed, Bryan; H. E. White, Lancaster; John L. Andrews and wife, Arthur A. Everets and wife, P. E. Paige, J. B. Canfill, P. L. Russell, Clarence A. Reed, Dallas; A. W. Gehres, Ravenna; J. L. Campbell and Rev. Bond, El Paso; E. G. Cook, Wichita Falls; John White, Memphis. A motion prevailed that the Texas delegation be authorized to fill in at the convention any vacancies that might occur, substituting such Prohibitionists as might be present from Texas.

TOM WATSON UNABLE TO CONTROL IN GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., May 30.—Tom Watson lost his fight to control the Democratic State convention here, but he won a place on the Baltimore delegation. Even this victory is a doubtful one as the Georgia delegation goes to the National convention bound by the unit rule and controlled by men who are Watson's avowed enemies.

Though balked at every turn, Watson tried valiantly to break the power of the so called ring. Watson was spooling for a fight while the leaders were bent on having harmony even if they had to use a bludgeon on Watson to get it. He, however, was made delegate at large in recognition of his services in behalf of Oscar W. Underwood's candidacy, but he was denied a voice in the naming of his fellow delegates.

Watson was not treated very courteously by the convention. When he tried to speak in opposition to the election of delegates at large by acclamation, he was hissed and jeered at from pit to gallery.

"You can't hiss and hoot me down," he defied his opponents. But they did, Watson giving up the struggle after drowning his voice in the tumult for about fifteen minutes.

NEW YORK WAITERS STRIKE WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

New York, May 30.—The first serious strike New York hotels have experienced occurred last night when the waiters walked out of the Waldorf-Astoria, the Gotham, the Breslin and Rector's, in the midst of the evening dinner hour, leaving hundreds of hungry patrons in the lurch. Approximately 600 waiters and cooks from these four well known hotels simultaneously went on strike, and with those who had joined previous strikes at the Belmont, the Knickerbocker and Churchill's make a total of over 1,200 who have actively participated in the fight for higher wages and better working conditions.

The hotel managements, as represented by the Hotel Men's association, practically had surrendered to most of the demands of their employees before last night's strikes began, but without recognition of the new international hotel workers' union, which claims to have secured a membership of 12,000 hotel employees here during the last few weeks. The strikers demand recognition of their union and increased wages.

COST MORSE $100,000 TO SECURE HIS PARDON.

Atlanta, Ga., May 30.—Charles W. Morse, the former Ice King, who was reported penniless and his wife in want after he was sent to the Federal penitentiary for misuse of funds in one of his numerous banks, paid his attorneys $100,000 for procuring his release from the Atlanta Federal prison.

Felder, Anderson, Roundtree & Wilson of Atlanta represented Morse, and his contract with them called for a fee of $100,000 if they succeeded in showing him a way to freedom.

Through the efforts of these attorneys, President Taft was induced to free Morse, it being represented that the convict was at the point of death. Soon after Morse was released he paid more than half of the $100,000, and the remainder will soon be due.

This is the largest fee ever received by any Atlanta legal firm. Mr. Felder, who handled the case, said recently: "We certainly received sufficient compensation for obtaining Mr. Morse's release, but I do not think

It would be ethical to disclose the amount."

It is asserted by those who were in Morse's confidence while here that he was a wealthy man. It is said he had more than $2,000,000 when he entered the prison.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

Hell is paved with missing collar-butions. A camel wore the first Marcel wave in the back. Love laughs at locks until it is on the inside. Eve would have laughed if she had had a sleeve. Passionate love-making went out when puffs came in.

Blondes may be dying out, but they are dying like heroes. A woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a quarter. Bread and cheese and kisses make the sandwich of the gods. The Venus lost her arms trying to button herself up the back. The man with the dimple in his chin is the one to choose for the tunnel. 'Tis better to have loafed and laughed than never to have lived at all. Father Time uses a lawn mower and a speedometer now in place of a scythe and hour-glass. How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to fall asleep on a heavily embroidered monogram. The girl he didn't get and the fish that got away are the memories that haunt a chap the longest.—Harper's Weekly.

Comfort and Beauty Talcum Powder No. 91

It is only natural that a powder which soothes and refreshes your skin will bring comfort and beauty. No housewife would think of paying the same price for every baking powder on the market. There is just as much difference in talcum powders, but few people know it, and all powders sell at about the same price. You owe it to yourself to be careful what you put on your face. It is just as important as what you eat. The talcum we sell is made from the purest and best materials. It costs us more than the other kind but it DOESN'T COST YOU ANY MORE. If it pays us to sell this kind on a far smaller margin of profit, it stands to reason that it pays you to buy it.

In Superintendent Braumbaugh's statement this information is given: "The bank opened in March, 1908, and the fiscal year ended in June. The total receipts were $264.88. In the fiscal and school year of 1908-1909, which was from September to June, there were deposits of $941.66. This was made up from deposits by pupils in five schools, Grant and Lippincott public schools having entered into the enterprise. There were 2,725 separate deposits that term, averaging $349 each.

"In the year 1910-11 two more schools, Durham and Porter, entered the banking scheme, and the deposits for that term were $2,869.18. There were 26,388 separate deposits, averaging $106 each.

"Teachers in the schools which have entered the system of encouraging children to save their pennies are supplied with stamps, which are used as receipts for the pennies received. The pupil depositors have books in which the stamps are pasted. The bank employs a woman who collects the money from the teachers and makes the deposits in the name of respective depositors.
