Taft and the Tariff

By Savoyard in Houston Chronicle

The republican plan of battle is very simple, but not at all novel. It has been practiced repeatedly by the G. O. P. and several times with success. Business is to be alarmed and rallied to the rescue of the party of Rockefeller and Morgan of Jay Gould and C. P. Huntington, of Russell Sage and Kurn, Loeb & Co., of Andrew Carnegie and Henry Clay Frick, of Edward H. Harriman and H. H. Rogers—in short, the party of Wall Street, of monopoly and privilege. The speech of acceptance delivered by Mr. Taft August 1 is an appeal to capital to enter the campaign and maintain the present order of things, especially the tariff. Standing pat on the record of his administration, the president seeks to impress on business that he alone stands between it and socialism, when, in fact, socialism gets its being from the abuses that are the fruit of republican rule. Had there been no favoritism in the laws we would never have heard of socialism in politics.

There is shrewdness in the scheme of the president. In 1872 business was frightened by a declaration of Horace Greeley that "the way to resume specie payments is to resume." In August of that year Greeley had Grant beaten, but the manufacturers, the bankers, the merchant princes, were rallied, and they forced or cajoled their customers and their employes to support the republican ticket and Greeley was disastrously defeated. Four years later the democrats had for nominee the ablest business man as well as the wisest statesman in the country. Business refused to be alarmed; Tilden was successful, and the party of "great moral ideas" stole the election. In 1880 Hancock was as good as elected in September. He was indiscreet enough to felicitate the democrat-greenbacker who was elected governor of Maine. That alarmed business. Levi P. Morton convened the Union League Club and raised an enormous fund with which the electoral vote of New York was bought in open market and Garfield was "elected." That is the history which it is hoped to repeat by the party which would turn this country into a field cited in "On the Road to Mandalay," "where there ain't no Ter Commandments." But.

"Even the weariest river Winds somewhere safe to sea." And in 1912 the democrats have the election nailed down if they can keep it nailed down, and they will prove themselves the most stupendous chumps in the world if they shall fail. Mr. Taft would have the tariff question for paramount issue against Wilson and Roosevelt. There is just one way to destroy the socialist party, and that is to extricate from the laws the favoritism the republican party has incorporated in them, and Woodrow Wilson is the only candidate of the three who is willing and able to do that thing. Socialism is the offspring of the G. O. P.

The present tariff is not the work of congress, though it is named for the chairman of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives and the chairman of the finance committee of the senate of the Sixty-first congress. Neither Aldrich nor Payne knew what was in the bill when it became a law; no man who was ever a member of either branch of congress knows what is in the bill now had Taft, the day he signed it, knew less about the bill than anybody else who had anything to do with it. That bill—as was the Dingley bill of 1897, the McKinley bill of 1890, the commission bill of 1883, and every other tariff bill enacted by the republican party—was written by the manufacturers who got the swag. That is notorious. In a fit of candor the late John J. Ingalls besought the republican party to put the protected manufacturers on the fire and fry enough fat out of them to buy the election of 1884. And that is what has been going on all the time and is going on now—so much tariff for so much "fat."

Why didn't Aldrich admit that his clerk, who was the secretary of the wool manufacturers of New England, wrote schedule K, and didn't the wool manufacturers vote that clerk extra pay of some thousands of dollars for his work as soon as the bill was passed? Schedule K, which Döllinger made such heroic battle against, was not the work of Payne or Aldrich, or that clerk, but it was the work of the wool manufacturers of New England, who were thus allowed to levy tribute on every man, woman and child in the United States.

That is what makes socialism. William Howard Taft, by his approval of that bill as president of the United States, has made tens of thousands of socialists since the summer of 1909, and now he beseeches business to enlist under his banner and help him fight socialism in politics. It's infanticide.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC IMPROVEMENTS AT HOUSTON

Houston, Texas, Aug. 20.—The Southern Pacific system has announced that approximately $4,310,000 will be expended for equipment and in repairs and improvements to the shops of the Texas and New Orleans line, which is a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific. The work contemplated will mean the employment of about 800 additional hands and will give to this city the most modern railroad shops in the south.

Every Man Must Be the Savior of the State In a Modern Community

HERBERT G. WELLS

By HERBERT G. WELLS, English Author and Playwright

THE air is full of vague and dangerous demands for an aristocracy, an oligarchy or an autocracy. There is evidently a considerable number of people who would welcome a TYRANT at the present time, a strong, silent, cruel imprisoning, exacting melodramatic sort of person who would somehow manage everything so long as they went on. Being silly, we may yet see a Boulanger prancing through our streets. There never was a more foolish cry than that.

It is not a MAN we want, but just as MANY MILLION MEN as there are in the universe. It is every man who must be the savior of the state in a modern community. We cannot shift our share of the burden.

THE NEED IS NOT IMPATIENCE AND REVOLUTION, BUT SUSTAINED, PENETRATING CRITICISM AND STEADFAST, CONTINUOUS URGENCY TOWARD THE EFFORT FOR WELL PLANNED RECONSTRUCTION AND EFFICIENCY. NO VIOLENT CHANGES, NO NAPOLEONIC SAVIORS CAN CARRY ON THE TASK OF BUILDING A GREAT CIVILIZED STATE. THAT IS FOR US TO DO, ALL AND EACH OF US.

We have to THINK CLEARLY and study and consider and reconsider our ideas of public things and do all we can to stir up thinking and effort in those about us. WE ARE THE STATE.

There Is No Place For the Idler In America

By GABRIEL HANOTAUX, French Statesman and Historian

LABOR! THERE IS THE TRUE BASIS AND ESSENTIAL CHARACTERISTICS OF YOUR AMERICAN CIVILIZATION, AND IT IS FORTUNATE, INDEED, FOR YOU THAT IT IS SO. LABOR, AFTER ALL, IS THE ONLY SOLID BASIS OF SOCIETY. HERE EVERY ONE WORKS, AND THERE IS NO PLACE IN YOUR SCHEME OF THINGS FOR THE IDLER.

The reason for the incomparable greatness of this country is that rich and poor alike voluntarily obey the duty imposed upon man in the opening chapter of the Bible. You remember the words, "Thou shalt earn thy bread by the sweat of thy brow." That is what the first settlers in this country had to do, and a glance at your way of living shows that you have REMAINED FAITHFUL TO THE EXAMPLE SET BY YOUR FORBEARS.

There is one thing it is well to remember in this land of the dollar—it is not gold that counts; it is the CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT OF ALL THE FACULTIES OF MAN, THE ELIMINATION OF WASTE IN THE LIFEWORKE OF MEN.

The American republic and the French republic are the two elder daughters of Liberty. Both are powerful among the nations of the earth. America is FULL OF ENTHUSIASM. You have already accomplished a prodigious work. Your future achievements will be ever more extraordinary. France also is active. She knows no nobility but that of labor. She is enamored of beauty and brings to the realization of her ideal the most cultured civilization perhaps in the world.

Spirit of Unrest Is Sign of Progress

By the Right Rev. CHARLES S. BURCH, Suffragan Bishop of New York

THIS spirit of unrest which prevails at present is not confined to the United States. The drift toward upheaval exists in China and Mexico, in England and many great European countries, in North Africa, in India and Asia Minor and the South American republics.

But it is merely the discontent and restlessness which stands at the BASE OF ALL TRUE HUMAN DEVELOPMENT, which is based on dissatisfaction. Unrest is the DIVINE WAY TO VITAL GROWTH AND ACHIEVEMENT.

"Divine discontent" is one of the world's most meaningful phrases. Man has for good reason been given the capacity for almost UNLIMITED DISCONTENT.

These outreachings of the soul become the greatest dynamic of his life in its higher aspects. Dissatisfaction with the existing order has been the means by which wrongs have been righted and PROGRESS ATTAINED ever since the dawn of history.

Wichita Falls, Texas, August 20, 1912.

By forty thousand majority the Democrats of Texas have again elected Gov. Colquhoun. This being the case no efforts should be made by the legislature to embarrass the governor. The prohibition question should be relegated to the back ground now and the governor's plan of regulation given a trial.—Memphis Herald.

W. H. Cousins of the Palace Drug Store, returned yesterday after an absence from the city of two weeks, spent in Detroit, Mich. and Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Cousins says that the Republicans back there are discussing Roosevelt and Taft pretty thoroughly, being about equally divided, but recognizing the fact that Wilson is going to be the next president, and are therefore reconciling themselves to a political event which they think is unavoidable.

The Democrats who composed the Houston State convention are the Democrats who put it over all opposition to Woodrow Wilson in Texas. It is well enough to remember these little things as we pass along. Without the support given Wilson by that Texas delegation at the Baltimore convention, he could not have won the nomination. Among those who composed the Texas delegation were Chas. A. Culbertson, Tom Ball, Tom Campbell, Cone Johnson and Cullen Thomas. They are the true blue Democrats of the San Antonio convention who were anxious to steam-roller.

The way our officers are now enforcing the law against boot-legging is very commendable, and shows what can be done in that line when they are backed by the people. It is all a mistake that the law against boot-legging cannot be enforced. Arguments like that are heard on every hand during the progress of a local option campaign, but it is true only in cases where the people themselves have not taken the precaution to elect MEN and not mere sticks as their officers. There is nothing really the matter with the law. The fault has always been with the peopled and the officers.

"Ninety per cent of the people I came in contact with while in the East are of the opinion that Wilson will be our next president," is the way one Wichita Falls business man, a Republican, expresses himself on the presidential race. He also found that the Republican forces were about equally divided between Taft and Roosevelt, and gave it as his opinion that all the states, excepting about twelve, would give their electoral vote to Wilson. Of the twelve states that, in his opinion, will go Republican, six will be for Taft and six for Roosevelt, and three of the states which he thinks Roosevelt has the advantage are Kansas, California and Pennsylvania. This gentleman, however, is a Bull Moose, and while the Times is inclined to think he has sized the situation up tolerably correctly insofar as it favors Wilson, it leaves it up to the Republicans to pass judgment on the rest of it.

The Electra boot-legger who drew a two year term in the penitentiary yesterday in Judge Martin's court, will probably be convinced before he serves it out that "prohibition do prohibit," especially when the people who vote it stand by the officers. The law is a good one, and it will be difficult to improve. It is true that about as many escape as are convicted under it, but this is due largely to bad memory and false swearing on the part of those who patronize the boot-leggers. Our officers are doing their duty, and need the backing and encouragement of all citizens who believe in law enforcement.

The friends of Gov. Woodrow Wilson, Democratic presidential nominee, who did such faithful and effective service in his behalf in Texas prior to the National convention should not forget that in order to realize the fruits of their victory they must now bend every energy possible to elect him. To do this will require lots of money, and the only source through which money can be contributed to the Democratic campaign fund is from the people direct. The wool trust, the steel trust and other trusts are furnishing funds to both Roosevelt and Taft, but if Wilson is to be elected, the people must contribute to the expense of his campaign. It is well that it is to be that way, and then, if elected, he will be under no obligations whatever to the trusts and combines. In other words, if the Democrats win the presidency, it will be a victory for the people. If you are a Democrat and desire to help the good cause along then hand in to the Times your contribution, anything from one dollar up will be promptly acknowledged, receipted for and forwarded to the National Treasurer of the Democratic Campaign Fund.

Harper's Weekly warns the Democratic campaign managers that Taft is not the man whom Wilson has to beat, and Harper's is in a tolerably fair position to judge the strength of the three candidates. The negro vote, it may be, will control the situation in several Republican states, and the Bull Moose candidate for president is making an awful strong bid for that support. Only the other day the Associated Press dispatches are authority for the statement that Roosevelt was the guest or honor at a six o'clock dinner at which both whites and negroes, male and female, gathered around the table. If that does not entitle the president to the negro vote, then the negro must be set down as an ingrate, or it has been the one ambition of the negro race to have the color line erased, and Roosevelt has gone further toward making the negro believe that he was the equal of the white man than any other American citizen who has achieved greatness. Of course, Roosevelt could not hope to carry any one of the several states merely by getting the negro vote, but there are thousands of white men who think with him—that the negro is equal in all things to the white man, and they will also support the president.

broken or to remain forever unfulfilled, the people of this country—the solid south, the golden west, the staid and unemotional New Englander as well as the more emotional brother of the middle states are becoming aroused to the fact that in nursing and nurturing the party of republicanism they have fattened a vampire which, given a few drops of blood, has developed an appetite which must and will be satisfied even though the blood sustaining its existence has to be drawn from the breast that first nurtured it.

Tired at last of being made the goat, the people of the United States are rising in a mass against the party or promises unkept and, as the straws of the recent primaries indicate, will sweep republican misrule into the gulf of oblivion at the November election.—Ardmore (Okla.) Ardmoreite.

STRAWS INDICATE THE WIND'S DIRECTION.

As the drifting of straws across the fields indicate the direction of the winds, so do the votes of the different states in the summer's primaries indicate the trend of the political outcome in the next general election.

According to statements in republican papers, as well as news received and sent out by the Associated Press, there has been a change of over forty thousand votes in republican Kansas. News sent out from the office of the secretary of state at Topeka, states that at the August primary there was a decrease of twenty thousand republican votes and gain of twenty thousand democratic votes in the Sunflower state.

Carefully figured returns, according to the Kansas City Journal, one of the stalwart republican papers of the middle west, show that Capper and Ryan, the two candidates for the republican nomination in Kansas, received a total of 115,729 votes as against a total of 137,184 votes cast for Stubbs and Wagstaff; the republican candidates for governor two years ago. This paper says that there is really no bona fide change in the vote of the people of Kansas, that the democrats have gotten out their full vote while the republicans have remained a thorn, not going to the primary. Admitting this to be true, even the staunch republican Kansas City Journal "must acknowledge that there is a reason why twenty thousand republicans in the state where the voting the republican ticket is considered as one of the cardinal virtues, should remain away from the polls as they did on the sixth of August. And that reason is dissatisfaction and an opening of the eyes of these aforesaid republican voters.

Back in Missouri, where the "mysterious stranger" has had his innings for the past four years, where eight years ago the mighty Theodore swept the land from the Ozarks in the south to the frozen plains of Iowa in the north, the people satisfied with a short season of righteous living are willing to return to the party of "their daddies." In the old "show me" states the five candidates for the democratic nomination for governor received a total of 225,887 votes as against a total vote for the five-republican candidates of 145,234.

If the wind is proven to be blowing from a given direction by the direction of a few vagrant straws caught when drifting before it, the primary results in Kansas and Missouri would indicate that a cyclone will sweep the country in November, a cyclone not wafting a few straws hither and yon, but carrying whole straw-stacks before it. Tired of promises made to be either
