ONE MILLION CARTRIDGES

—Greeks Victorious in First
Engagements

By Associated Press.
Athens, Greece, Oct. 22.—The Turkish army is fleeing in panic from Chalkida on the way to the Turkish town of Servia in the north, according to a semi-official statement issued here today. The Greek troops are said to be pursuing vigorously.

When the Turks precipitately abandoned the town of Ellassona it is said they left behind them the staff maps and one million cartridges. They also dropped much of their clothing and most of their engineering implements.

The total losses to the Greeks during the first day's engagement are given as one captain, two sub-lieutenants and nineteen men killed and seventy-five men wounded.

The Greek troops in Epirus have occupied the heights. The Turkish artillery fire upon the heights was without material effect.

SEDALIA MO., MAN DIES FROM APPOPLEXY

Member of Prominent Missouri Family
Dies in Cell in the City Jail

Death in a city jail cell was the portion of John Moore, member of a prominent family of Sedalia, Missouri. Apoplexy was ascribed as the cause of death by the physicians. Moore was placed in jail Saturday and did not seem to be in a serious condition at that time, although he was suffering from erysipilas. Later he was found to be quite ill and death soon ensued.

A note-book found on his person said to notify a newspaper man in Sedalia in case of accident, and the newspaperman, in response to an inquiry, said to forward the body, which was done by Jesse Dolman of Freeport.

PARKER ASTOUNDED BY RYAN'S LIBERALITY.

New York, Oct. 22.—Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic presidential candidate in 1904, said he was astounded at the "colossal" contributions to the Democratic campaign fund in that year by Thomas Fortune Ryan, as revealed in the testimony before the Clapp committee in Washington today.

"I have read the testimony of Mr. Ryan," said Judge Parker, "and I am astounded. I was always under the impression that Mr. Ryan and Mr. Belmont were leading contributors to the Democratic campaign because the press said so, but that they were colossal contributors as now appears, I never knew. Mr. Belmont favored my nomination and Mr. Ryan had vigorously opposed it.

"It now appears from Mr. Ryan's testimony, that late in the campaign when my election was not even hoped for him, he paid a vast sum of money to meet the debts of the national committee, that the honor of the Democratic party might not be impugned. August Belmont is said to have joined in that undertaking. Neither they nor their friends ever gave to me a hint of this personal sacrifice—not for the candidate, but for the party to which they were attached. For eight years now they have suffered reproach, but I, for one, doff my hat to them. For the honor of the Democratic party—not in the hope of electing its candidate—for its defeat was amply assured in the closing weeks of the campaign, daily made good the obligations of the organization not out of the funds of corporations, but out of their own pockets.

"One outcome of the campaign of 1904 is the abolition of corporation contributions by federal statutes and by the statutes of this and many other states. These statutes supplemented, as they have been, by acts requiring forced publication of the contributions with the names of contributors, ultimately will do away with the practice of raising large sums of money to make merchandise of the votes of citizens, and for this, all good citizens will be thankful."

By Associated Press.
Vernon, Texas, Oct. 22.—The fourth trial of A. P. Howard, charged with the murder of Harry Burns, in the lobby of the Vernon postoffice was yesterday continued until the next term of court at Clarendon.

WILL SEND OUT EMMISSARIES

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL SEND REPRESENTATIVES IN-TO FAILING GAS FIELDS

GOING AFTER FACTORIES

Wichita County Exhibit Will be Sent to the Waco Cotton
Palace

To induce manufacturers in Kansas and other States where the supply of natural gas is being rapidly depleted, to move their plants to Wichita Falls, is among the new plans of the Chamber of Commerce, which will probably send some one to the States mentioned to meet the manufacturers at close range.

Many factories in Kansas and Indiana are now without the natural gas upon which they depended for fuel, and are looking for new locations. It is believed that a number of them would be interested in propositions to move to Wichita Falls, where there is gas in plenty.

This question came up at the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting this morning and was viewed favorably by the directors.

Among other matters given attention today were the new glass factory proposition, a wagon plant proposal, pork-raising propaganda and the plan to send the Wichita county exhibit to the Cotton Palace exposition at Waco.

A committee consisting of Messrs. G. D. Anderson, J. L. Jackson and R. E. Huff was appointed to take in charge the glass factory matter in connection with which some Indiana parties visited here not long ago. It is possible that this committee will visit Indiana to present this city's claims.

The resignation of Myles O'Reilly as director was submitted, but the directors promptly and flatly refused to accept it, declaring that Mr. O'Reilly was too valuable a man for the directorate to lose. It is believed that he can be induced to reconsider.

A proposition to establish a wagon factory here, submitted by parties in another Southern State, was read and while the terms were considered unreasonable, the matter was referred to a committee.

Upon motion it was decided to send the Wichita county exhibit, now at the Dallas Fair, to the Cotton Palace exposition at Waco next month. Assistant Secretary Thomas will remain in charge of it. It was thought that the long staple cotton from this county would be particularly valuable at Waco, it being part of the exhibit.

The directors also took steps to induce farmers to raise more hogs in this county, as set forth more fully in another column.

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR HOG RAISERS

Fort Worth Stock Yards Co. Will be Asked to Send Carload of Brood Sows Here

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce is going into the hog business; not because it has any surplus hogs to get rid of, or is a paying proposition, but with a view to inducing the farmers of this county and section to raise more pork for the market.

The proposition came up at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors this morning and it was decided to take up with the packeries at Fort Worth the matter of shipping a carload of brood sows here, to be sold to Wichita county farmers at actual cost. This, it is believed, would tend to encourage hog-raising in Wichita county, and bring to the farmers of this section much of the good money this section much of the good money the packing houses are offering for hogs.

The matter was placed in Jim Marlow's hands for action and if the necessary arrangements can be made in time, the hogs will be here in time for the farmers Saturday.

The Fort Worth packeries have been endeavoring for some time to induce farmers to raise more hogs and the fancy prices which porkers now bring make the business a profitable one, especially since the farmers of North-west Texas are well supplied with feed at the present time.

The directors this morning decided that the most effective way of bringing the matter home to the farmers was to supply them with the brood sows and this will be done. If the arrangements can be made to have them here by Saturday, further announcements will be made before that time.

BATTLE NEAR AT VERA CRUZ

FORMAL DEMAND FOR SURREN-
DER REFUSED BY REBEL
LEADER DIAZ

PREPARE FOR FIGHTING

Both Sides Join in Agreement for Safety of Foreigners and Non-Combatants

By Associated Press.
Vera Cruz, Oct. 22.—A demand for the surrender of the city was sent yesterday by Gen. Beltran, commander of the federal troops. His letter was written in the most polite terms, concluding the intimation that if the rebels did not surrender, duty would oblige the federal commander to use force.

When the federal emissary bearing this letter entered the city, he embraced the revolutionary forces, who met him. They had been school-mates. Gen. Diaz replying to the note, thanked the federal general for the polite form of the communication and said he was sorry the situation would compel him to offer a forcible defense. At the same time he asked Gen. Beltran to fix the longest possible time for the evacuation of the city by non-combatants.

Gen. Diaz then sent copies of both communications to foreign consuls, asking that foreigners in the city to make an inventory of the effects left behind, when they moved out, and promising to identify them as soon as possible for the damage that might be caused by the battle.

Gen. Diaz notified Charles S. Hughes, commander of the United States cruiser Des Moines, saying: "It is unnecessary to disembark American marines on my account." The American consul, saying: "I shall not attack the city before the last of twenty-four hours, and during that time Americans should seek safety." Gen. Diaz has since asked Gen. Beltran to name the place and time where non-combatants can pass both ways.

Commodore Azueta, federal commander, promised Capt. Hughes not to participate nor to fire in the direction of the city. Capt. Hughes then warned the commodore that any breach of his promise would be considered a hostile act toward the United States. Commodore Azueta will keep his guns trained on the island of Ulloa in order to prevent prisoners from escaping from jail.

Wharf No. 4 will be a neutral zone for the shelter of foreigners. The warehouses are to be placed under command of Captain Hughes. The Des Moines will be moved to this wharf and such measures as are considered necessary will be taken to protect foreigners' interests.

Admission to the neutral zone will be only by card from one of the foreign consuls. The city is quiet, but merchants and storekeepers barricaded their stores last night, fearing pillage. A neutral zone for Mexican non-combatants has not yet been fixed.

The revolutionary troops have made preparations for defense. High points in the suburbs have been provided with artillery and outposts have been stationed still farther away to give the alarm as soon as federal troops begin their advance. There is a strong current of opinion in the city that the federal troops will ultimately join the Diaz movement.

Believe Diaz Movement Subsiding.

By Associated Press.
Mexico City, Oct. 22.—The rebel movement under Gen. Felix Diaz is generally regarded here as dwindling in strength. There has been no general conflagration, as was expected in many quarters at the start of the rebellion. Although there is a strong supposition that many government officials and employers, as well as army men, are simply awaiting the trend of events to espouse the winning side, thus far only minor defections have been reported from the federal side.

Federal Officers Desert at Monterey.

By Associated Press.
Monterey, Mexico, Oct. 22.—Thirty officers including captains and lieutenants of several regiments stationed here, deserted the army today. They left eastward in automobiles, carrying arms and ammunition and cheering for Felix Diaz.

JACK SULLIVAN RECALLED TO STAND

Justice Goff Reopens Testimony After Defense Had Announced it
Rested

By Associated Press.
New York, Oct. 22.—The defense in the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker unexpectedly signified that it rested at noon today, but Justice Goff reopened the testimony and recalled the stand Jack Sullivan, who had previously testified for the defense.

"There were certain questions put by the defense to this witness which I excluded before; I now permit to put these questions," Goff said to Becker's chief counsel, J. F. McIntyre.

Mr. McIntyre said he declined to put the questions now, as he preferred to let his case stand.

"Then I direct the district attorney to ask the witness these questions," said Justice Goff, "in the interest of the defense."

Mr. McIntyre's objections were disregarded.

The morning session had been taken up mainly with testimony to sustain the defense's contention that the informers—Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps—had "framed up" Becker to save themselves. By the court's directions, Jack Sullivan was recalled. The district attorney asked Sullivan:

"What did Rose say to you in the council-room?"

"He said, 'Self-preservation is the first law of nature; I have to testify against Becker to save my life.'"

"What did Bridgite Webber say?"

"He said, 'I am the happiest man in the world; that — Rosethal is dead and I don't have to worry about his getting me now. Now Jack, it has all been fixed by the district attorney for you to corroborate us when we testify. We are all Jews and what do we care about that — Becker, anyhow?'"

"Did Rose say anything else to you?"

"Yes, he said that he and Webber and Vallon and Schepps were going to frame up Becker and I said, 'Why, you bald-headed —, what do you mean by this?' He said, 'Well, self-preservation is the first law of nature.'"

Justice Goff declared the case closed for both sides at 3 o'clock.

BIG DELEGATION TO THE FAIR

NEARLY HUNDRED PARTICIPAT-

TO DALLAS

WILL GIVE PARADE IN DALLAS

Wichita Falls Day at the Dallas Fair
Is Being Properly Ob-

Approximately 300 Wichitans are in Dallas today, taking in "Wichita Falls Day" at the State Fair. A large part of that number went down in special cars last night over the Denver and these, joined by a number who had gone down previously, took Dallas in charge today.

Last night's delegation went attired in special cars and armed with Wichita Falls badges, pennants and banners. The latter told everything there was to be told about Wichita Falls and set forth this city's advantages in glowing style.

The train did not leave until 2 a. m., but long before that time the members of the party were in their berths in the special sleepers, trying to glumber and get rested, preparatory to a busy day today. There were a number who patronized the chair car.

It was the intention to parade the streets at Dallas this morning, to visit the newspaper offices and then take cars for the State Fair grounds, after which the members will be free to please themselves. The boosters will not return in a body, each coming back at his own convenience; the tickets are good for three days.

A large number of Wichita Falls folks went down Saturday night and many of them promised to meet the excursionists and take part in the parade, so that a good showing was assured.

Colquitt Sends More Money.
By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 22.—A check for $2500 which he today sent to the Democratic National executive committee brought the fund which Gov. Colquitt has raised up to $6000. He is still raising money.

WICHITA COUNTY'S QUOTA RAISED FOR WILSON FUND

The paper carrier hadn't more than time to get to his store before J. L. Art, the jeweler, telephoned to The Times office saying that his check for twelve dollars was ready to complete Wichita county's quota of $300 to the Wilson fund.

Mr. Art's contribution was both timely and generous and while it completed the fund two other contributions were received, one of a dollar from J. C. Straus, the oil man, and the other two dollars from J. H. Barwise Sr.

In accounting for the total subscriptions yesterday The Times made an error of a dollar and instead of $268 the total should have been $269. The fifteen dollars contributed after the paper went to press yesterday brought the total up to $284 leaving only $16 for Mr. Reese to pay. However, to make good measure a draft was drawn on him for $17 in accordance with his instructions, making the fund total $301.

W. J. Bullock, secretary of the Wichita county Woodrow Wilson club forwarded the final remittance to the Wilson fund.

While the full quota is now made up The Times will undertake to forward any other contributions that may be received. Undoubtedly there are yet some who would like to be represented and their contributions ought to be made at once.

A few citizens are making their contributions through Governor Colquitt and still others are making remittances directly to the Treasurer, Rolla Wells of the National committee. Other loyal Democrats who have been unable to contribute money are going to help roll up a record Democratic vote in Texas.

Later—Five more dollars were contributed to the fund this afternoon. Andrew J. Betts of Burk Burnett sent in his check for a dollar and Frank Griffin, J. M. Roberts, Edgar P. Handy and J. W. Carithers contributed a dollar each. This money will be telegraphed to the National treasurer. Other contributions will be received and forwarded in this manner.

GOVERNOR WILSON A VERSATILE MAN

Nominee Not Only a Deep Thinker
But is a Practical
Worker

By Associated Press.
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—Besides acting in the role of tailor and valet to himself, upon occasions, Governor Wilson today demonstrated that he could be his own stenographer and secretary as well. He had dictated a number of letters to his stenographer and sent him away to transcribe them. Desiring to send other letters, Gov. Wilson seated himself at an idle typewriter and was soon busy pounding the keys. He is not only a good operator of the typewriter, but is able to write short hand as well. He uses a system of characters devised by himself.

ALL DEPARTMENTS ARE NOW WORKING

Flattening and Cutting Departments of Window Glass Plant Now in Operation

Work began yesterday in the flattening and cutting departments at the window glass factory and all departments of the new plant are now in full operation. Glass workers continued to arrive to begin work, and the number of workmen is slowly being increased; to full force at the plant.

Eight hour shifts are now working, the first going on at midnight, the second at 8 a. m., and the third at 4 p. m. Half an hour is allowed each for lunch. The traction company sends out a special car to accommodate those starting work at midnight.

The cutting, shipping and other departments will be in operation by the end of this week, by which time the factory will probably be running full force.

On Arrival at Sagamore Hill He Went

By Associated Press.
Sagamore Hill, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Col. Roosevelt arrived home today via Sloatsburg where he went to avoid a crowd.

"I am feeling just fine," said the Colonel, as he waved his hat to a small crowd at the Sloatsburg. To the town folks, at Oyster Bay, who were surprised at not seeing Mr. Roosevelt come in there, the following was sent by Roosevelt's physician:

"Col. Roosevelt has stood the journey well, but we believe him in no condition to stand the excitement of receiving his many friends at Oyster Bay. He deeply appreciates their interest in his welfare."

When he arrived at Sagamore Hill the Colonel went to bed immediately with instructions to remain quiet all day.

UNION MEN SAID TO HAVE FIRED FIRST SHOT

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 21.—The prosecution in the trial for murder of President A. L. Emerson and his eight fellow-members of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers, in connection with the Grabow labor riot, offered much testimony at the opening of the trial.

Paul Galloway, the 19-year-old son of Martin Galloway, president of the Galloway Lumber Company, testified that Uriah Martin, one of the union men killed in the battle, fired the first shot and denied the story of Shirley B. Buxton, state's witness, whose evidence Saturday was all in favor of the defense, that the mill employes were intoxicated the day of the riot.

W. T. Grantham, a Deputy Sheriff, also gave evidence for the State in his statement that while he was making his way toward the Galloway mill the day the battle occurred "Leather Breaches" Smith, later killed while resisting arrest, and a gang of twenty men intercepted him and, after having threatened to shoot him, disarmed him and sent him under a guard to his brother's home six miles away.

Grantham declared that he started out for the mill from a point about a mile away, where he said a crowd of 300 men passed, one of whom shouted out, "We are going to serenade Grabow as it was never serened before."

The State gave no indication as to when it would complete its examination of witnesses.

Deputy Sheriff Grantham testified that he was at Irvin Coley's, about a mile from the Galloway mill, the day of the riot. He said a crowd of about 300 men passed, going in the direction of Grabow. One of them shouted out, according to his testimony, "Come on, Irvin Coley, we are going to serenade Grabow as it was never serened before." Grantham said that he later started for the mill, after having heard shots fired, and made detours through the woods to avoid parties of men hiding there. He said he finally ran into a gang of twenty headed by "Leather Breaches" Smith. When they learned that he was an officer Grantham said they disarmed him and sent him under a guard to his brother's home, six miles away.

Grantham testified that John Helton, one of the defendants, was with Smith's crowd, and that he carried a gun.

Bryan C. Crandell, a saw filer at Carson, said he saw the union men leave that town the day of the battle and that one of them shouted out to him, "Come along to Grabow, you —, and see the fun."

Mrs. A. L. James testified that she saw Ed Hollingsworth, one of the union men on trial, hurrying along the street in Deridder the day of the battle with a gun under his arm.

James Galloway, one of the Galloway Company, said that the first shot came near Emerson's wagon, though he was not near enough to see who fired the shot. He denied that the mill employes were intoxicated, and declared that the guns used by the mill men had been kept in the office, since the strike of the union men and had not been secured in anticipation of the trouble.

Court adjourned with the conclusion of Galloway's testimony.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGNS ARE NOT FAVORED

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 22.—Evangelists and evangelism occupied the attention of the international convention of Disciples of Christ at the closing sessions of the convention here today. What started out in the afternoon to be a debate on the question whether the methods the leading evangelists of the church were "sane and scriptural," developed into a general denunciation of sensational and spectacular means of obtaining "additions" to the churches. "Whirlwind campaigns," use of "decoy converts," the "number list" and other devices or aims described as undignified, were roundly berated by numerous speakers.

OKLAHOMA WOMEN ARE CANDIDATES

Miss Maude Kimbell, of Altus, First Native Born Oklahoma Girl Aspirant

Special to The Times. Oklahoma City, Oct. 22.—Miss Maude Kimbell of Altus, who has been nominated by the Democrats of Jackson county for the office of clerk of the district court of that county, in addition to the distinction which results from the scarcity of women officeholders in Oklahoma, is undoubtedly the first woman who is a native of Oklahoma to seek office in this state.

Miss Kimbell is now just past her twenty-first birthday, having been born within a few miles of her present home at a time when the territory which is now included in Jackson county was strictly a part of the frontier, with no railroads or towns and very few settlers.

She had been employed in the office of the clerk of the district court and decided that she was well qualified to run the office as some of the other aspirants for the place. In the primary campaign she defeated "Uncle Henry" Gilliland, an old-time Confederate veteran and champion fiddler of Texas and Oklahoma, a male school teacher and another young woman candidate.

In spite of the legal question as to the eligibility of women to hold any office except that of county superintendent, the number of women candidates is greater this year than ever before. There are now only two women holding county offices in Oklahoma, outside of the county superintendents, but this year there are at least twelve women who have received nominations.

Mrs. Mary Watkins, register of deeds of Greer county, who was the pioneer in the fight for the recognition of women as candidates, and Miss Charla Critcher, register of deeds of Comanche county, have both been re-nominated by the democrats of their respective counties and are sure of reelection.

Mrs. Temple Houston, who has been nominated for register of deeds of Woodward county, is the widow of Temple Houston, a well known Oklahoma lawyer and a son of General Sam Houston, the liberator of Texas. After Texas threw off the Mexican yoke, the citizens of that state were disposed to give Houston anything he wanted, even to the extent of making him a dictator.

The only offices for which the constitution of the state specifically makes women eligible are county superintendents of schools and state commissioner of charities.

When the matter was first presented to Attorney General West for his opinion, he held that the mention of the two offices excluded all others and that those were the only ones for which women were eligible.

All through the territorial days women held office in Oklahoma with-out question. With the coming of statehood they became a little timid in regard to their rights along that line and during the first three years of statehood there were no women in county offices except the one to which their right was specifically confirmed.

CHARGES HAYES DEFENSE FRAME-UP

Fort Worth Judge Declares in Open Court that Witness Perjured Themselves

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 22.—Declaring in open court that the defense in the murder case of M. M. Hays, convicted and given five years for the killing of H. E. Boswell, Texas & Pacific terminal superintendent, was entirely made up at the eleventh hour and that the statements of the defendant at the time of the shooting and for some time afterward were entirely at variance with his statements at the trial, Judge Sawney in charging the Seventeenth district grand jury Monday morning asked that tribunal to put an end to perjury on the witness stand, and violation of their oaths by jurors.

"No man's life is worth a single cent in this country as long as such conduct as that goes unrebuked. In this case the man was shot down while sitting in his office because he had discharged an employe. He had discharged him because that man, the defendant, acknowledged he was present with two other men when a car was burglarized."

The charge was probably the strongest and most outspoken of any ever delivered in the Tarrant county courts, and was the sole topic of conversation throughout the day at the courthouse. When the jury brought in the verdict Friday giving Hays five years, Judge Swayne discharged the jury without the customary thanks. Disclosures which came to him later concerning one juror and concerning Hays' statements made to attorneys following the shooting caused Judge Swayne to make the charge to the jury, he said.

After the usual remarks about the duty of judges to instruct the grand jury, he said: "Murder seems to amount to nothing in this country. It seems that this is a fitting place for men to come to kill people. Two men came to this county for the special purpose of killing somebody. Why do they do it? I presume that they think they can get off easy here."

Touching on other cases, Judge Swayne said:

"Now, gentlemen, there is a remedy, and I am going to suggest it to you. It is the law concerning perjury. I want you to look into some perjury cases and see whether or not witnesses have been swearing falsely; I am going to ask you to find out whether or not witnesses have been bribed in several important cases we have had; whether or not there are chains of men over this county that stand in with any set of lawyers for the purpose of manufacturing evidence."

"Many things had been stolen from the T. & P. railroad," he said reverting to the Hays case. "This man was discharged and he walked into the office of the other man and shot him down like a dog with the very gun into the chest of which the detectives were then examining."

"It was my duty that this fatal shot was fired. Witnesses testified that he said, 'You deprived my wife and children of their meat, and I am going to kill you. Good-bye, and shot him down, and here five months afterwards we hear for the first time that this man insulted the defendant's daughter, a little bit of a girl who does not look to me to be more than twelve years old, not particularly attractive, and weak looking. This man who was shot down, stood as high as any other man in Texas."

"Gentlemen of the jury, no man's life is safe in Tarrant county. It means that any man can commit a crime and can prove by female relatives that the man had insulted one of them. It means that the court, sitting here deciding cases justly, as he sees them, if he decide a case against a man, that man can come and deliberately murder him and then say that the court had insulted a female relative."

"I am not blaming the lawyers in this case, either. That defense was framed up before this firm of lawyers were hired. The defendant obtained lawyers of high reputation and put up the job on them as well as on the jury and the public. They would never have taken the case had they thought it a frame-up, for I know them too well."

"This child who testified in behalf of her father said she never spoke to any living person about it except her mother until the day before the trial. Do you think of that and believe that life is safe in Tarrant county? I want you to find out whether or not the defendant himself swore falsely when he said that he told the man at the time he had killed him, 'You have not only taken the bread and meat from my wife and children, but you have also tried to ruin my family.' In the presence of seven or eight witnesses who never heard him. He says he said it. He told the officer who took him away within three or four minutes afterwards that he killed the man because he was discharged, and he made the same statement in the presence of other people."

"I want you to see who put up this job. Mind you, my opinion is that the man himself did it, because he had to get new lawyers to plead his case; he could not have got the others, because his defense was different. He not only did that, but he went out and got the very highest class lawyers he could get, men he knew were friends of the court, the very best and truest friends that I have."

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 22.—Mr. J. L. Quicksall, State Agent of the Federal Department of Agriculture, recently held a convention of the West Texas County Field Agents in this city. The adaptation of crops to soil and climatic conditions and the conservation of moisture were among the themes discussed by the demonstrators.

Mr. Quicksall announced in favor of encouraging the business men to cooperate in the development of our agricultural interests and in discussing the Farm Life Commission proposed by the Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association, said: "The commercial clubs in my territory have rendered valuable assistance to my department and have cooperated in demonstration work in a substantial manner. ### Red Sox Have Many Uses For Shares of $88,543.01 Purse

Boston, Oct. 22.—While the ordinary Boston citizen is exulting the world champions make known how they won in the greatest series America has ever seen.

The purse of $88,543.01, won by the Red Sox in conjunction with the title "world's champions," and which was divided among the twenty-two players—$4,024.63 to each man—is going to be invested in farm lands, city real estate, in bank and railway stocks and in various business enterprises and in government bonds.

A portion of it will be placed in the bank while a small part of it will go to provide college tuition, European trips, automobile and even airships, for the prize winners.

"Guess I'll use my money in buying up a few stray shares of stock in that bank in Chicago, in which I am vice president," said Manager Stahl.

"New Rochelle (N. Y.) real estate looks awfully good to me," said Capt. Heine Wagner. "I've got all the rest of my money invested that way and I guess I'll lay this up in dirt, too, although," Wagner grinned, "I hear they're planning to run me for mayor back home. Now, if that's the case, maybe I'll keep a little money out for campaign expenses."

"Haven't made any plans yet," said pitcher Joe Wood. "Guess I'll drop the check in the bank and wait around for a neat little investment to show up. However, if I can get a nice aeroplane cheap enough I might buy one. Flying fascinates me."

Catcher Cady lives in Bishop Hill, Ill. He's invested every dollar he has earned in the diamond game in farm land and his winnings in the world's series will go the same way.

"Pretty soon I hope to own that little hill from which the town gets its name," said Cady. "Then I will change its name to Cady Hill."

Outfielders Hooper and Lewis, and pitcher Hall are Californians and they will use their winnings in the purchase of fruit orchards. Outfielder Speaker has not decided what he is going to do with his money ultimately, but for the present he's going to place it in the bank.

"This nice little bundle of money will give me a chance to buy a farm near my home in Burlington, Vt. that I've had my eye on for a long time," said pitcher Ray Collins.

Harry Gardner, third sacker who hails from Enosburg Falls, Vt. is also going to invest in Vermont farm land.

"My little $4,000 is going right up to Lewiston, Me., my home town," said catcher Bill Carrigan. "I have not got any plans now as to how I'll spend it other than that every dollar will be spent in Lewiston."

Hugh Bedient, the young pitcher who was recently married, is going to buy a new home with part of his money, bank another portion and use the rest for tuition at some law college. He got $1.50 for pitching his first professional game.

Second baseman Yerkes is going to buy some railroad stock. So is Martin Krug, the utility infielder. Catcher Nunnemaker has not decided definitely how he will utilize his funds, but inclines to government bonds.

"Mine goes into real estate down home," said pitcher Page, who hails from Norwood, O. "So does mine," said Clyde Engle, utility infielder, from Dayton, O.

Hendricksen, the little substitute outfielder, whose hit tied the game will invest his money in Boston real estate, but will save out enough to buy a little runabout for himself.

Pitcher Buck O'Brien isn't sure what he's going to do with his money, but he says he thinks it will go into Brockton, Mass., real estate.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Oct. 22, 1912

The Wilson Democrats of Wichita Falls and Wichita county have come through nobly for the Wilson fund. They were asked to contribute as much as three hundred dollars toward the fund of $50,000 pledged for the state by National Committeeman Cato Sells, and the amount has been over-subscribed by a few dollars. If the entire $50,000 is not subscribed, it will not be because Mr. Sells has not kept busy on the job. He has done his duty, and more.

One of the amendments to the State Constitution to be voted on November 5th is for the increase of pensions to Confederate soldiers, and doubtless will meet with little or no opposition from the voters regardless of their political feelings. There are but few of the old soldiers left who fought in the civil war on either side. The National government is providing handsomely for the soldiers of the north and it is nothing but right that the southern states should take care of the soldiers of the south. This is not a wave of the bloody shirt, but merely a reminder that while the cause for which southern soldiers fought and lost, their sons are not willing to condemn their action by voting to withdraw from them any financial aid that is within their power to bestow. Should the amendment, for any reason, fail to carry it would be a reflection upon the people of Texas, and of the whole south.

THE NEXT DUTY OF TEXAS DEMOCRATS.

Now the next duty of Texas Democrats is to go to the polls and vote on election day. Texas is the banner Democratic State in the Union and the plurality for Governor Wilson not only ought to be the largest given him in any state in the Union, but it ought also to break all records even for Texas. Sentiment was never so nearly unanimous in this state and it is freely predicted that the combined Progressive and regular Republican vote in the state will be much less than the normal Republican vote which has declined heavily in recent presidential elections. polls this year Wilson's plurality ought Bryan in 1896. It being 202,914 that year. The following election saw the plurality fall to 105,958 and increased in 1908 to 151,636.

If every Democrat will go to the polls this year Wilson plurality ought to be close to 300,000.

SOUTHERNERS SHOULD VOTE.

Josephus Daniels, chairman of the Publicity Bureau of the Democratic National Committee, issues the following appeal directly to Southern editors, but it is an appeal to the party pride and patriotism of every Southern Democrat: "There seems to be no reasonable doubt that Wilson will be elected on the 5th of November. It is not enough that he should have a majority of the electoral vote—every good Democrat wishes him also to be president by virtue of having a majority, and not only a plurality of the popular vote. The question of whether he will have a majority depends upon the South. In your state it is certain that the electoral vote will go to Wilson. Many Democrats, therefore, in those states do not see the need of going to the polls and voting. Under this condition the danger is that Wilson's vote will be small in your state, and if small in your state and other Southern states, his popular vote will not be as large as the sentiment in favor of his election."

"As a Southern man, I know the difficulty of getting out the full vote in an election when there is no need for it to secure the election of your candidates, but in this campaign you will appreciate the importance of Wilson having cast for him in the ballot boxes every vote to which he is entitled. I am therefore writing to beg that in every issue of your paper, from now until the election, you will call upon your people to come out and vote so as to pull the full Democratic vote for Wilson and Marshall. If this is done in every Southern state Wilson and Marshall will not only have a plurality of the electoral vote, but a majority of the popular vote. You appreciate the importance of this. If he is elected only by a plurality the Republican and Roosevelt parties will say that by uniting, they can defeat us next time, whereas, if the Democrats have a majority over both, the opposition four years hence will find it difficult to give us trouble."

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT FAR FROM BEING PERFECT

Discussing the commission form of government, Senator McNeal says in his paper, the Dallas Democrat: "Houston, according to report, has been seriously afflicted with what is termed 'RING RULE.' No large city in Texas is absolutely free from ring rule. But efforts are being made, I believe, to better conditions. Commission form of government has not done as much good for the cities of Texas that have adopted it as was hoped for by its most ardent advocates. However, it would be unfair to declare that the commission form of government has been an absolute failure, or that it can not be made an ideal system. As an experiment, its early and most ardent advocates had to trust much to what EXPERIENCE would develop and teach. Experience has taught us that we went a step too far; and that is why commission government has proven a partial disappointment. The city charter of every municipality in Texas that has gone under commission government should be amended, so as to provide for a legislative council, its members to be chosen by wards and to have only LEGISLATIVE powers; no administration or executive powers, and no dispensation of political patronage. All these should be left with the Mayor and Board of Commissioners. Then LOCAL REPRESENTATION would always exist in the public affairs of the city hall. This would make commission government as near ideal as municipal government can be made. The interest of all sections of a city would be well safeguarded, everybody receive a square deal and discontent disappear."

It is practically impossible for five men to be both legislative and administrative. But a better plan than the one suggested by Senator McNeal, it seems to us, would be for the people themselves to legislate direct.

Is there a viaduct needed? Let the people call for an election and determine the matter by ballot.

Is there apparent necessity for a change in tax methods. Let the people ask for an election and say by their ballots what course they prefer. "Legislation with the people" administration with the commissioners. That will give us the ideal system of municipal government.—Waco Times-Herald.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE CITY OF SHORT BREAD.

By A. W. MACY.
Not many people of today would recognize the metropolis of Missouri by the name "Pain Court," yet that name was quite generally applied to St. Louis in its early days. Leclerc, who founded it in 1764, loyally called it after his French sovereign, Louis XV.; but the people of the other villages up and down the Mississippi and along the Ohio and the Wabash derisively nicknamed it "Pain Court." It appears that the French settlers of St. Louis neglected agriculture, and devoted nearly all their time to hunting and trapping and trading with the Indians. On this account, and because a considerable garrison was maintained at the fort, provisions were scarcer and higher priced than they were in the other villages. The people of the latter, who frequently came here to trade, took note of this, especially the high price and scarcity of bread, and dubbed the place "Pain Court," which in French signifies short or scant bread.

BRYAN'S HOME STATE IS FOR WOODROW WILSON

(By Mark W. Murray)

Grand Island, Neb., Oct. 22.—There is no man at all familiar with the political situation in Nebraska, but that concedes the electoral vote of the state to Wilson and Marshall by from 15,000 to 20,000 plurality. The Democratic factional fight prior to the spring primary is forgotten and the anti-Bryan men vie with the Bryan Democrats to see who can serve Wilson's cause the better.

As for the Republicans and Progressives, they are daily pulling farther apart and the leaders of the two factions show great bitterness of feeling as the campaign grows to a close. Not a little fuel was added to the fire by the visit of Mr. Roosevelt to the state. No sooner had he crossed the border than he opened his bitter attacks on Victor Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, the leading Republican newspaper of the state. Rosewater's chief crime was that he presided over the Chicago convention as chairman of the National committee. Whether it was addressing a half dozen railway section men at a lonely water tank or at the great auditorium meeting at Lincoln, the former president gave violent vent to his feelings toward the "Little Editor."

Added to this, the refusal of the Roosevelt electors, nominated as Republicans at the spring primary, to give way to the Taft men, has caused the President's followers to come out openly and advocate the election of Wilson electors in Nebraska. While the big end of the Republican sentiment in Nebraska leans toward the Bull Moose candidate, the leading newspapers of the party in the state are for Taft or are neutral.

Governor Aldrich who is a candidate for re-election and Congressman Norris who is the Republican nominee for the Senate, have attempted to patch up the differences between the two factions of their party in order to save themselves, but their open hostilities toward the "stand pat" faction early in the campaign, has not helped them in their efforts. Mr. Roosevelt did not become interested in this direction and knocked the scheme into a cocked hat. The Secretary of State is badly tangled as to how to get the various Republican electors on the ballot so as to be satisfactory to all factions and not injure his candidacy for re-election. Up to date he has failed and his latest effort has mixed up the situation so that a "constitutional" lawyer could not vote the ballot intelligently.

The trouble is that the primary named eight Republican electors—two are for Taft and six are for Roosevelt. The Taft men have put on six men by petition and the Roosevelt men two by petition. It is in an effort to group these various electors under certain party headings that the trouble has been caused, and it has been made impossible for Wilson to lose an elector.

Something That Means Money To Farmers

Farm and Fireside, an agricultural paper published at Springfield, Ohio, has been reporting a vital difference that exists between the condition of farmers in this country and farmers in various parts of Europe. According to the author of these articles one of the reasons that American farmers do not get as large a share of the profits of their business as they should lies in the fact that they are not organized for credit purposes, while the trusts which handle the products of the farmers are perfectly organized for credit purposes. A system of cooperative rural credits called the Raiffeisen System has grown up in Germany to such an extent that last year the peasant farmers of Germany did a co-operative banking business of over $1,600,000,000. Following is an extract:

"In the United States, so far as money is concerned, finance and commerce are organized and agriculture is unorganized, thus paving the way for the trusts in agricultural products. For the trust in agricultural products, cooperative agricultural credit is so thoroughly organized that it makes the cornering of the farmer's products, and consequently the dictating of prices, a practical impossibility.

"Why? Because the Raiffeisen System of co-operative banking enables the European farmer to convert the potential dollars represented by his assets and his character into available, mobile dollars. It is the mobile dollar which counts, which is effective. The mobility of its dollar renders the trust the active and dominant factor in the United States; the immobility of the American farmer's potential dollar renders him the passive and dependent factor.

BETTING ODDS ON THE ELECTION

Brokers Announce Odds at Which Clients are Offering Money on The Results

Odds of 4 to 1 against the election of President Taft. 3 1-2 to 1 against the election of Colonel Roosevelt, 3 to 1 that Wilson wins, 2,000 to 1 that Debs loses and 3,000 to 1 that Chafin, the prohibition candidate, hasn't a chance are offered by a well known Wood street brokerage firm in this city.

The odds offered on the general result, however, are not nearly as interesting to those concerned in the outcome in the several states, for the brokers announce that their clients are willing to take chances on 39 of the 48 states at the odds fixed by them.

Even money is available, according to the schedule contained in a printed circular, that Wilson will carry Pennsylvania. The same odds hold that Roosevelt will or will not carry a majority of the electoral votes of the state, while odds of 7 to 5 are offered that Taft won't carry it.

The same conditions apply to West Virginia, the bettors allowing the investor to take his chances between Roosevelt and Wilson, granting odds of 3 to 1 that the president cannot carry the Mountain state. In Ohio the odds are 2 to 1 that Wilson wins, 3 to 1 against Taft and similar odds against Roosevelt carrying the state. The circular announces that money is available at 2 to 1 that Wilson carries Maryland, 3 to 1 against Taft and 7 to 5 against Roosevelt.

In New York it is offered 2 to 1 that Wilson wins, 2 to 1 that Taft loses, and 4 to 1 that Roosevelt loses, Vermont is put up as 2 to 1 against Wilson, 2 to 1 against Taft and even money on Roosevelt. Maine goes on the books at even money on Wilson, 3 to 1 against Taft and 7 to 5 against Roosevelt.

No bets are made on Idaho and Minnesota, but in Missouri 2 to 1 is offered that Wilson wins, 4 to 1 that Taft loses the state and 2 to 1 that Roosevelt also loses. Oklahoma shows no choice between Roosevelt and Wilson with odds of 4 to 1 against Taft. New Hampshire is offered at even money on Wilson, 4 to 5 against Taft and 3 to 1 against Roosevelt. It is 7 to 5 against Wilson in Iowa, 1 to 1 against Taft and 8 to 5 against Roosevelt.

Illinois is offered at even money on Wilson, 4 to 1 against Taft and 3 to 5 on Roosevelt. It's even money on Wilson in Kansas, 5 to 1 against Taft and 4 to 5 against Roosevelt. Back to the New England states again the odds are 4 to 5 against Roosevelt. Indiana is offered at 7 to 5 that Wilson wins the state, 4 to 1 against Taft and 2 to 5 against Roosevelt. Rhode Island, even money that Wilson loses, 7 to 5 against Taft and 6 to 5 against Roosevelt.

Bets on New Jersey

New Jersey is 2 to 1 that Wilson wins, 4 to 1 against Taft and 2 to 1 against Roosevelt. Even money is offered on Taft and Wilson in Michigan, and odds of 2 to 1 against Roosevelt. Connecticut, even money on Taft and Wilson and 2 to 1 against Roosevelt. California, the home of Gov. Hiram Johnson, vice presidential candidate on the Roosevelt ticket, is listed 2 to 1 against Wilson, 5 to 1 against Taft and 1 to 3 against Roosevelt. The biggest odds offered against Roosevelt are offered in Arkansas, where they are fixed at 20 to 1 against his carrying the state, 10 to 1 is offered on Wilson and 10 to 1 against Taft. In Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and Mississippi, 20 to 1 is offered against Taft or Roosevelt are offered in the southern states except those noted.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Miss Anna Fredericks, a pretty beach girl, went swimming through the breakers at Venice accompanied by a half-grown cinnamon bear.

For a while it looked as if the great seal of California had come to life and had gone forth for a paddle in the ocean.

Miss Fredericks was one of the thousands of bathers along the ocean front. She was clad in an attractive silk bathing suit and was accompanied by several friends, when R. I. Pierce of Pasadena, strolled by leading two half-grown cinnamon bears which he secured in northern California when the bears were only a few weeks old.

"I dare you to take one of the bears in swimming," said a friend to Miss Fredericks.

The young woman took the dare. Her escort, after futile attempts at dissuasion, secured one of the bears. The little animal was quite tame and trotted down to the surf line with Miss Fredericks.

Thousands of beach visitors thronged the water front to watch the novel performance. At first the little bear snorted and fussed as the spray splashed over his nose, but finally with a little grunt, he ducked into the breakers and followed the leash which Miss Fredericks carried.

WROTE GIRL OF PLAN TO DIE

Young Woman Hurries to the Place and Hears Shot—Man Will Recover.

South Orange, N. J.—Writing a note to the girl he loved but could not marry because he has a wife living, and stating therein that he intended to kill himself, Julian Dillon, twenty-two years old, sent a bullet into his shoulder. The note, which was written to Miss Marie Blanchet, advised her of the place he had chosen to end his life, so she, with Miss Marie Donnelly, a companion, hurried to the place in order to prevent the act.

As the two young women approached, Dillon waved his hand from a distance and disappeared into the woods. When they heard a shot, Charles Stasiak of Voss avenue happened along and discovered Dillon lying in the bushes. He sent for the police.

The wounded man was taken to the Orange Memorial hospital, where the bullet was extracted with little trouble. He is expected to recover. He told the police it was an accident, but he will probably be placed under arrest on his recovery.

Dillon is the son of wealthy parents, both of whom are dead, but he never shared in the estate because he married, a few years ago, a chorus girl. It is reported here that his wife deserted him when she found that he would not have wealth. He has been living at the Hotel Belmont, New York, making frequent trips to South Orange and paying attention to Miss Blanchet.

NEWS FROM OIL FIELDS

There are three new locations in the country between Burkburnett and the Eeds. The Guffey has one on the J. B. Smith farm, J. W. Dyson and others have another on the Horton and Walker and a third is that of J. E. Head and others on the Borch, about a mile east of the Eeds. None have started drilling yet.

None of the wells in the vicinity of the Eeds are below 200 feet as yet, and nearly all have had more or less trouble. The well being drilled by Clint Wood and the Guffey company, about one location east of the discovery well, is down about 1106, being up with several that started ahead of it. Fishing jobs and crooked holes have delayed the others considerably, with the exception of the Hivick well, which has had practically no trouble.

The Warner well, which was dry at the depth of the Eeds sand, is now about 1650 feet and may get something when it gets as deep as the Schmocker.

Today brought no news from Burkburnett and it is not known what progress was made on the drilling in of the Embury.

James Storey of Duncan, Oklahoma, is a visitor here today. Mr. Storey has one gasser near Duncan and also got a 15-barrel showing at 500 feet in an oil he was drilling. If he may get his feet wet here if he finds anything that looks promising.

THE NEW MEANING OF GOVERNMENT.

In the November Woman's Home Companion, Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, writes an article entitled "The New Meaning of Government." Its central idea is that those whom we send to Washington to govern us, ought to "keep house" for the whole people.

The following is an extract: "Every dollar that the government spends ought to be spent as carefully as if the resources of the country were limited. Every dollar of expenditure ought to mean something done or provided for the people. Waste is also weakness. Inefficiency brings confusion."

"It is part of the new meaning of government, therefore, that its resources are not to be put at the disposal of a governing class or of any limited set of governing influences, but that those who exercise its authority must keep house for the whole people; must use the money raised by taxes as if it were expended in trust to produce the best possible results in the ordering and stimulation of our life."

"It is an interesting circumstance that government is becoming less and less a business for politicians; that minds and energies of every kind are turning towards it as part of the general enterprise of life. The reason we want our government to be free from every kind of private or narrow control is that we want to have it do more things than it would see if it served only a few. Those who conduct it ought to have the vision of the nation itself—ought to be sensitive to impulses from every quarter. The statesman should sit down with the philosopher, with the engineer, with the forest expert, with the student of soils and agricultural methods, with masters of technical and vocational education as well as with financiers and lawyers and manufacturers and merchants and those whose interests have usually been at the center of policy. Though he cannot himself keep the life of the nation as a whole in his mind, he can at least make sure that he is taking counsel with those who know, that his sympathies may be open upon every side, and that he may seek to serve civilization and humanity, not a party or any selfish group."

DEAD 17 YEARS, TURNS UP AT HOME

Supposed "Murdered" Moberly Man Removes Suspicion From Friend

Moberly, Mo., Oct. 22.—Mourning as dead seventeen years, supposed to have been murdered and his companions threatened with arrest, are phases in the career of Thomas McAtee, a former Moberly resident, who has just returned to this city.

McAtee in 1895 was a butcher in Moberly, and was prospering but became a victim of wanderlust, and left this city for Oklahoma. His sweetheart bade him a tearful farewell when he told her he meant to send for her when he had established himself in business.

In Oklahoma he settled on a claim. Later he re-engaged in the butcher business and again the wanderlust seized him and word came that he had sold his claim and meat market for $1,700 and, with five companions, started in a prairie schooner for the South.

Five months later McAtee's companions returned to Enid, and reported he had died, and that the trip had been abandoned by the other members of the party.

McAtee's relatives in Moberly and Mount Sterling, Ill., accepted their story of his death, but could not learn where he was buried.

The money McAtee received for his meat market and claim could not be accounted for by those who accompanied him on this trip. However, the matter was not pushed, and the men who were with him when he was last seen drifted out of sight and were never heard of again.

Scope of Evidence Widened.

By Associated Press. Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—Further widening of the scope of the evidence to be introduced in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial was ordered by rulings by Federal Judge Anderson today. The court permitted the testimony of foremen of jobs where explosions occurred, notwithstanding the objections of counsel for the twenty-five defendants, that the details of the explosions were not material.
