LAWRENCE MASS. LABOR LEADERS NOT GUILTY

ETTOR, GIOVANETTI AND CARUSO ACQUITTED ON A CHARGE OF MURDER

COURTROOM SCENE

Defendants Embraced and Kissed
Each Other and Feeling Thanked Court and Jury

By Associated Press.
Salem, Mass., Nov. 26.—"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the case of Joseph J. Ettore, Arthur Giovanetti and Joseph Caruso, for the murder of Anna Lopez, who was killed in the Lawrence textile strike riot last winter.

When the three men heard the words setting them free, they embraced and kissed each other. Giovanetti then sprang to his feet and cried, with his face beaming with joy,
"Gentlemen of the jury, in the name of Justice, truth and civilization, I thank you."

The court interpreter rose for Caruso and said: "Mr. Caruso desires me to say that he wants to thank you all and now that he is a free man, he says he was innocent of the crime."

Ettore, leader of the Lawrence strike which aroused world-wide attention, addressed the jury saying, "May it please the court, I thank you not only for myself but in the name of my companions. I also feel impelled to thank the court for the fair manner in which this trial has been conducted. The thanks we offer are not only ours but thanks in the name of the working class."

The jurors hastened from the building, and were cheered by the crowds of mill workers in the streets.
When the jury had left, the court announced to Caruso that there was another indictment against him charging assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to kill and that the court would release him on his own recognizance.

When the prisoner had taken oath to appear in court when summoned, he was released from the cage. His wife, waiting at the rail behind the prisoners' cage, fell into his arms and a dozen of his male companions rushed forward and kissed him. Ettore and Giovanetti were also held on another indictment charging them, together with William D. Haywood of the Industrial Workers of the World and others, with conspiracy to incite a riot in the Lawrence strike, and on their charge they were released on bonds of $500 each.

The Lawrence strike leaders were then besieged by a crowd of men and women in the court room. For several minutes they were the recipients of kisses from the men and congratulations from the women. Ettore said "I have no immediate plans, but I have a paralyzed father. He was paralyzed since my arrest."

Both Ettore and Giovanetti were very happy. Caruso and his wife who had been sitting near him outside the cage for many weeks, danced about like children. They expected to return to their home in Lawrence.

Review of the Case.
The trial of Joseph J. Ettore, member of the Executive Committee of the Industrial Workers of the World; Arturo Giovanetti, a Socialist writer of Brooklyn, New York, and Joseph Caruso, a mill worker, came about in consequence of the strike in the textile mills in Lawrence, Mass., suddenly precipitated January 12 last and continued for two months. Ettore and Giovanetti were accused as accessories before the fact to the murder of Anna Lopez, who was killed in a street riot. The Commonwealth maintained that they incited the riot in which the woman met her death by inflammatory speeches to the strikers. Caruso was accused, with Salvatore Scuito, who never has been apprehended with usual participation in the riot.

The strike, which was accompanied by much violence, enlisted organized and unorganized workers on one hand and mill owners on the other, with the police of Lawrence and militia of Massachusetts on guard to avert disastrous consequences, attracted world wide attention for many weeks. Riots were frequent;

cars in Lawrence were attacked;
men, women and children who attempted to work were assailed and in some cases injured and there were repeated clashes between strikers and the organized forces of the law until citizens of Lawrence were alarmed at the threatening struggle. Its climax came on January 29, a day begun with a parade of agitated foreign workers to demonstrate their solidarity against the mill owners and ended with a riot in which the young woman was slain and Oscar Benoit, a Lawrence policeman stabbed.

Even Congress was appealed to during the struggle following an attempt of strike leaders to take from Lawrence to Philadelphia a hundred children of strikers' families to be cared for by sympathizers. This effort preceded by successful deportation of strikers' children to New York and other cities, was frustrated by the police in a clash at the railroad station in which fathers, mothers and children clashed with the authorities. Many men and women were arrested. This occurrence, widely heralded aroused protests from all parts of the United States and prompted Victor Berger, Socialist member of the House of Representatives to plan a Congressional investigation of the strike and working conditions in the mills of the American Woolen Company and others. A resolution directing such an inquiry brought about a preliminary hearing before the rules committee of the House in which Lawrence strikers, men, women and children, representatives of the mill owners and representatives of the Lawrence authorities, participated. The hearings held in the caucus room of the House office building in Washington aroused intense interest, hundreds of persons, including Mrs. Taft, wife of the President, attending them for several days. No Congressional action, however, was recommended.

The strike began on January 12 when workers in mills of the American Woolen Company left their looms in protest against a reduction without notice of two hours' pay a week in consequence of these going into effect a new State law restricting labor to fifty-four hours a week. Rioting about the mill gates immediately followed and on the following day Ettore, a young Italian-American labor leader from Pennsylvania, went to Lawrence to take charge of the strike for the Industrial Workers of the World and to organize the dissatisfied and unorganized army of laborers.

By January 15, 30,000 persons were idle; the mills were closed; special police were sworn in to aid the regular police.

BAPTIST WORKERS IN SESSION TODAY

Good Attendance at County Meeting at First Baptist Church—Preaching Tonight

Baptist workers from all parts of the county are gathered here today for a discussion and exchange of views on matters connected with church work. The sessions are being held at the First Baptist Church and the attendance is very good.

The session was opened this morning with a devotional service led by W. L. Daniel of Elektra. M. L.
Blankenship of Iowa Park, gave very encouraging reports of the work in the field. A feature of the session was an address on "The Ordinance of Baptism in a New Testament Church" by Rev. R. E. Bell of Bowie.

An elegant lunch was served at noon by the ladies of the First Baptist Church.

A feature of the afternoon session will be an address by W. H. McKenzie of Wichita Falls on "Women in a New Testament Church."

At 7:30 this evening, Rev. J. H.
Pace of Anson, will preach. It is planned to make this meeting a very fitting close to good day's work. The public is invited to attend.

FRUIT JAR PLANT NOT A CERTAINTY

WICHITA FALLS HAS NOT YET COMPLIED WITH TERMS OF
THE OFFER

A COMMITTEE AT WORK

May Be Necessary to Raise Money for Purchase of Site—Other Details Unsettled

The committee in charge of the glass factory is still at work upon the various details of the proposition which must be complied with before the Ball Brothers plant becomes a certainty. While it was announced at Coffeyville recently that Ball Brothers would come to Wichita Falls it is presumed here that the announcement was made because the factory officials took it for granted that Wichita Falls would comply with the terms of the offer.

It is likely that the committee will raise the $10,000 needed for the site west of the city, so that in case it should be selected, there will be no necessity for delay in closing up.
It is proposed to have the money pledged, and if either of the other sites is chosen, the subscribers, of course, will have nothing to pay. If the western site is chosen, it will be distinctly up to Wichita Falls to raise the amount needed to buy the land and the plant will not be a certainty until the money is raised.

There are other contingencies which make it necessary for the Chamber of Commerce to keep busy on the matter and the committee is not proceeding on the theory that plan is an assured fact. It is known that Wichita Falls is preferred over any of the other cities that sought the plant, but there is danger of this city's losing out, if all the conditions are not met.
Among them are certain railroad rates, switching privileges and some minor concessions which, in addition to the site, must be pledged before Wichita Falls can consider the Ball plant a certain asset of this city.

Plans for the annual membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce were discussed at this morn-ing's meeting of the directors. The date has not been set, but the meeting will be held early in January, when directors for the year will be chosen and funds pledged to carry the work on during 1913.

The matter was put into the hands of the entertainment committee, which will also arrange for a "spread" of some kind at that time. If it can be arranged, this feature of the meeting will be in the hands of the Civic league or some other organization.

The directors appointed a committee of M. J. Gardner, J. L. Downing and J. W. Campbell to attend the Texas Industrial Congress meeting and represent this county at the making of awards for agricultural prizes, offered by the Congress.

A resolution calling upon the next Legislature to make adequate provisions for delinquent boys and girls by enlarging the Gatesville reformatory or by erecting a new institution, was adopted. Glass factory matters were then discussed at some length, it being decided not to raise the money for the site at this time, but to wait some decision on the part of Ball Brothers as to which site they want.

Those present at the meeting were Pres. Huff, Secretary Forester, Directors Kemp, Orth, Taylor, Henderson, Spider, Bell, Brin and Culbertson.

At the behest of Mr. Culbertson, the county authorities were asked to take some action toward the improvement of the road from the city limits to the glass and automobile factories. Mr.
Henderson suggested that the Meridian road could be routed that way, passing Lake Wichita, and this idea met with favor.

MATTHEWSON MAY BUY PHILADELPHIA TEAM

Horace Fogel Offers Resignation as President of that Team—"Matty"
Has Financial Backing

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 26.—Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, offered his resignation to the National League magnates here this afternoon. He took this action suddenly and without explanation, before the magnates had time to consider the charges against him of making statements reflecting on the integrity of National league umpires.

Fogel is alleged to have said the 1912 pennant race was "fixed."
Baseball magnates heard this afternoon that Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants has obtained sufficient financial backing to purchase the Philadelphia club.

TWO CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE

Pastor's Home Burns in North Fort Worth—Fireman in Fatal
Crash

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 26.—Two babies killed and one man seriously burned, a fireman seriously injured and five others slightly hurt, represents the toll upon human life exacted by the flames here yesterday, when the home of Rev. E. P. Swindall in Diamond Hill was burned, and Driver John N. Bevil of the auto hose truck at Central station, was hurled over an embankment on North Main street while answering a call. In the third fire is roomer on Main street narrowly escaped death in the flames, and the landlady came near losing her life.

August Swindall, 10-months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Swindall, was dead when his little body was pulled from the ruins of his home. Ward Swindall, aged 2, was rescued from the building but was so badly burned that he died late last night. W. A.
Welsh, collector for the American National Life Insurance Company of Galveston, with offices here in the Western National Bank building, received painful burns in rescuing the child.

No one except the children was at home at the time of the fire. The father, who is the pastor of Diamond Hill Methodist church, was at the meeting of Methodist ministers at the First Methodist church in Fort Worth and the mother had gone to the home of a neighbor. She went to borrow a rake with which to clean out the flue which she had noticed was choked with soot.

She was too late, however. The flue had probably set the roof on fire before she left, and the flames spread, while she happened to glance out of the window and saw one of her cows passing. Looking to see if the stable door was open she saw little wisps of smoke crawling out of the cracks between the roof and walls.

Before she could reach the house, Welsh, who was at a nearby house also saw the flames. Coot Johnson, a 14-year old boy who lives near-rushed up to him and told him that there were children in the house. Dropping his wallet on the floor, he dashed to the house and tore down the door.

A solid sheet of flame met him full in the face. Undaunted, however, he pushed into the house. Ward Swindall was lying on the floor, as yet unburned. His baby brother had crawled under the table and Welsh did not see him.

The insurance agent picked up the boy, sheltering him with both arms,
and turned to fight with both arms,
and turned to fight with both arms,
and turned to fight with both arms,

When he got into the air again, he sank to the ground, unconscious from exertion and the burns which he had sustained. His woolen clothing was probably the only thing that saved his life. Far more sheltered than he, but clad in cotton, the baby received burns that will cause his death. Welsh, however, was burned only on exposed portions of his body.

Mrs. Swindall, who had left the children playing contentedly but a few moments before, could not realize the horror of the situation at first.
She thought that her eldest boy was simply scorched and that someone had rescued her baby before it had been hurt at all. When the news was broken to her she collapsed. She was prostrated last night and alarm is felt for her condition.

Angus, the baby, was so terribly charred that his parents were not allowed to see the body. It was buried at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the North Fort Worth Undertaking Company.

The most serious injuries sustained by Ward were on the head and breast.

Welsh's face was badly burned and his eyebrows singed. His condition is not serious, however.

The house was destroyed. It was a one story, four room dwelling worth probably $1,500. The building was insured but the household goods were not.

The father did not know of the death of his child until he reached the scene. When he left the conference he was told that his house was on fire, but no intimation was made that his children were hurt. When he arrived at the place he was told that his children were in the way and that among the ashes as he was told-of the burns which his baby had sustained.

Turkey's Basis for Peace Reported to Have Been Made Public Today

By Associated Press.
London, Nov. 26.—No change for the worse in the international political situation is probable today. Great Britain, France and Germany are at counseling moderation.

There is reason to believe Great Britain has given Serbia, Russia and France to understand that she has no interests in Serbia's demand for a port on the Adriatic. She has also told them she has no intention of supporting Serbia's claim by force of arms, or of aiding any power to do so.

It is reported that Turkey has presented the following demand to the Balkans, as a basis for peace:

1. No war indemnity.
2. Retention by Turkey of the territory bounded by the Maritza river, the fort of Adrianople, to be included.
3. Maintenance of the sovereignty of the Sultan of Turkey in Albania.

Servian Premier and Austrian Minis- ter Confer.

By Associated Press.
Vienna, Nov. 26.—A rumor was spread today that the Austrian consul at Priesend had been killed by Ser-tion of this. The military journal says that the Austrian squadron in Turkish waters has been ordered home. A Belgrade dispatch reports a long conference today between the Serbian premier and Austrian ministers, but says that no formal negotiations resulted.

White May Recover

Special to the Times.
Henrietta, Texas, Nov. 26.—The Clay county grand jury is holding an adjourned session today, and it is understood that the case of Sterling White, the young man of near Petrolia, who on November 16 shot and killed Miss Beulah Lee at a party.

White is in jail here and is recovering as rapidly as could be expected from the two gunshot wounds in his chest. He has not yet made any statement regarding the affair, further than that made when he was first taken to Byers when he believed himself to be dying.

ROAD GANG AT WORK ON IOWA PARK ROAD

Work is Also Under Way on the North Approach to the River Bridge

The force of oil supply house men, which "worked" the road from Electra to Wichita Falls a few days ago, has been supplanted by the precinct road gang which is grading and otherwise improving the highway between this city and Iowa Park. A large force of men is at work on the road and it is to be gotten into much better shape.

Work is also under way on the north approach to the river bridge, which is being graded and graded.
As soon as the co-operation of the city can be secured the county commissioners expect to pave the south approach, lessening the grade and making a permanently improved roadway for about a hundred yards on this side of the bridge. These improvements have been badly needed for some time.

CHANGING CARLINE IN THE FACTORY ADDITION

Tracks Being Moved So as to Bring Cars Nearer Factory Buildings

Grading is well under way on the street car line extension which will give a new route to the lake by way of the factories west of the city.
Rapid progress has been made on the work, and the line will be completed by the middle of December.

The new track will start about fifty yards north of the station at "Coffeyville" and run southwest to within a block of the auto factory then turn south and rejoin the present track where it crosses the Wichita Falls & Southern line. It will enable the factory workmen to ride within a few yards of the plants, saving them the long walk from the station which is now necessary.

The old track will be taken up as soon as the new part of the line is in operation.

SOCIALISTS BEGIN WORLD WIDE WAR AGAINST WAR.

Basel, Switzerland, Nov. 26.—The Socialists of America and Europe were called on by a manifesto issued by the International Socialist Congress to resist any measures for war taken by their governments. The declaration was drawn up by Jean Jaures, leader of the French Socialists.

The document says that if the Balkan war should spread to other countries it would be a frightful blow to civilization. It would be one of the greatest scandals in history because of the disproportion between the immensity of the catastrophe and the unimportance of the interests on which it would be based.

Therefore the Socialists in the Balkans should hasten the end of the war; those in Austria, Hungary should oppose any contemplated attack upon Serbia; those in Italy should prevent the sacrifice of Albania to Italian ambitions and those in England, France and Germany should force their governments to refuse any help to Austria Hungary and Russia, and should guard absolute neutrality.

The gravest danger to the peace of Europe, the document points out, is the artificially supported hostility between Serbia and Italy. Socialists in both those countries should destroy this feeling by a practical and energetic propaganda.

"The time has passed when the working classes of the world should shoot down one another for the profit of capitalists, the pride of dynasties or the exigencies of secret treaties. If the governments suppress the possibility of evolution and force the proletariat to desperate measures, the responsibility for what happens will rest on the shoulders of the governments."

motor ataxia.

Fire on Forty-Seventh Street

New York, Nov. 26.—A tar kettle which boiled over on the forty-seventh floor of the new Woolworth Building provided such an unusual fire spectacle late today that Broadway, 650 feet below, was choked for an hour by a crowd watching great clouds of smoke roll from the open tower windows. A high wind made the situation seem threatening.

Several policemen who gained the scene by a series of elevators and ladders ruined their uniforms in helping the workers to beat out the flames.
The damage to the building was considerable.

Jury That Tried Burton Gibson Unable To Reach a Verdict

the jury in the case of Burton W.

his client, Mrs. Osa Menchik-Szabo, reported to Justice Tompkins shortly after 11 o'clock this morning that they could not agree on a verdict. They were accordingly discharged.

J. B. SNEED DESCRIBES SHOOTING OF BOYCE

Sneed, describing the actual shooting of Capt. Boyce, said he heard him apply an epithet as he (Sneed) passed him in the hotel lobby. "When I heard that epithet and knew it was applied to me," Sneed said, looking straight at the jury, "all that had happened went over me. I knew that he had been helping his son to take my wife away from me, to keep her away and he tried to take my children away from me, and I knew of his slanderous statements. I believed then that he would attack me."

Sneed continued, saying that some one whom he later learned was E. W. Powers of Waco, seized him and that some one else whom he later found out was his brother-in-law, Henry Bowman, took his pistol from him. He said he looked for an officer and a crowd followed him to the street corner where a policeman said: "I want you, come on."

He said they almost ran to the central police station. The prosecution announced that Sneed's testimony that he never threatened Capt. Boyce's life will be attacked through the testimony of Ernest Thompson of Amarillo, a University of Texas student.

Sneed went to the stand yesterday afternoon and had not completed his direct testimony at nightfall. His statement of the causes leading up to the killing in the Metropolitan Hotel here was similar in nearly all respects to the story related by him at the former trial. He did not tell of the actual shooting yesterday, but will reach that point today.

In one important feature his statement varied from the other. In that he related what had been told him by his wife about the blowup after she had brought her back. He said she had informed him that Albert Boyce was aided and advised by his father, Capt. Boyce, also that she (Mrs. Sneed) had arranged to return to Dallas in December, 1911, to get possession of her children and convey them to Canada. According to her story, Capt. Boyce and Henry Boyce witness said, were to meet her in Dallas. She had bought a ticket from Winnipeg to Dallas and had been furnished with a blonde wig with which to disguise herself when she was persuaded by Albert Boyce not to make the trip for fear she would be detected. Witness said he investigated and found in the railway office in Canada that she had bought the ticket and later had her money refunded.

Witness told of his meeting his wife, their courtship, marriage and happy life after marriage. His wife had often told him she feared something would happen, they were so happy. Next he described his troubles when his wife told him she wanted to go to South America with Albert Boyce and to take at least one of the children with her.

Witness was dumfounded and in desperation took up a pistol to shoot her and end his own life, when his little daughter, awakened by the noise, entered the room and prevented the tragedy. He also related how he had pulled a pistol on a nurse at the sanitarium in Fort Worth who was with Mrs. Sneed when she eloped. In an effort, he said, to secure the truth out of her, the nurse screamed and jumped out of a window.

While relating his story the defendant seemed to be much affected by portions of it and at times his voice broke and he bowed his head. Some of the jurymen wore solemn faces as they listened. He was not interrupted at any time except by an occasional question propounded to him by Will McLean of the defense, who conducted the direct examination.

received. The body of his youngest child had not yet been found and he was not located until he himself, head bowed under the weight of his affliction but trying to be brave for the sake of his wife, walked among the ruins. A little boy saw it first, however, and they called Rev. Swinall away on some pretext, that he might not look upon the little blackened bodies all that was left of his last born.

LIFE WORTH LIVING HERE

People of Australia Rejoice in Wonderful Climate and Love Their Beautiful Country.

Melbourne.—There is little to distinguish the country town in Australia from the small town in the western part of America. The streets are straight, the buildings are both of stone and of wood, but the roofs are chiefly of iron. Nothing could be more ugly than these roofs that first appear to the traveler, but as the eye becomes accustomed to them they seem to fit in with the landscape. Sometimes, in the sunlight, they appear like burnished silver, and on a moonlit night, looking down on the roofs of an Australian town, you might think that everything was covered with a light fall of snow.

Naturally life in Australia is a little more prosaic. It is a country without traditions. There are no historic associations. The centers of art and literature are far removed. Even the news of the world comes to you vaguely—in scraps. But life goes with a swing out there. The Australians look forward, not backward, and particularly they demand of the present its enjoyment. They rejoice in their wonderful climate, they love their beautiful country, and the life of each day seems very good to them. There is something infectious about this spirit. Enter into it and you may be sure of a welcome that will warm your heart. Every house is open to you; every passer-by has ready a word of welcome.

If you ride through an Australian town you will see very little evidence of poverty or misery. The little bungalows stand in their own gardens at the sides of the shaded streets. Now and then you come to a more pretentious house, belonging, perhaps, to a wealthy squatter, who has another home in the bush and a property measured by hundreds of square miles. If you hitch your horse to the rail, and go to the gate and go in you will find your host a simple, unassuming man, living in a quiet way, making no display at all with his great fortune.

He will talk to you about his sheep and the wages he has to pay to his shepherds, of his cattle, and how, at enormous expense, he is moving them about the country to escape the drought. He will tell you thrilling stories of the bush fires that often devastate the country, and he will discuss the entries for the next great race meeting at Melbourne or Sydney. If you are invited to a party in that large dining room or garden party in those well kept grounds. His wife and daughters, no doubt, pay occasional visits to the big cities to enjoy social festivities. If his wife joins you as you sit on the veranda she will talk to you of the servant problem, ever present in the minds of Australian women.

PICKS UP FIERY CIGARETTE

Bird Carries Burning Stub to Nest, and the School Hall Is Burned.

Valparaiso, Ind.—A smoldering cigarette picked up and carried by a sparrow to the belfry of Major's school, the University of Valparaiso campus, the other day, set fire to the structure and almost resulted in its destruction. It was only through strenuous efforts on the part of the fire company and the students that the building, an old landmark, was saved.

The belfry is used by a large number of sparrows as a place to build their nests. One of the students threw a lighted cigarette on the campus and an inquisitive bird searching for something with which to line her nest, picked it up and flew to the tower. A few minutes later students passing the building saw several of the nests ablaze and the birds were flying and screaming.

The fire company was summoned, but by the time it arrived the tower had caught fire from the nests, and, fanned by a west breeze, the flames ascended the entire structure. On account of the height of the tower, the fight against the flames was a hard one, but reinforced by a number of students, the fire company finally was successful.

Ford's Theater Under Ban, Washington, D. C.—Ford's Theater, the building in which President Lincoln was shot, and which now houses many of the records of the adjutant general of the army, virtually has been condemned by President Taft's economy and efficiency commission. The building is considered by the commission to be insanitary and unsafe.

PLUMS ON THE FEDERAL TREE

SOME OF PLACES FOR WHICH DEMOCRATS WILL CLAMOR NEXT YEAR

PATRONAGE OF THE PARTY

Which Can Be Distributed by the President—Civil Service in An Issue

Washington, D. C., November 26.

It is difficult to give an accurate statement of the exact money value in salaries that will be at the disposition of President Wilson after March 4 next, but it has been estimated generally by several competent authorities that the total will not fall far short of $30,000,000 a year. If President Wilson should yield to the demands that will surely be made upon him for the revocation of the executive orders putting forth class postmasters under the civil or classified service this immense sum will be increased.

When the army of Democratic office seekers swoop down upon this rich field, so long forbidden to them, President Wilson will have a mighty hard time in keeping his face set toward civil service reform and retaining the ground that has already been gained by the Taft and other administrations.

The richest haul of Federal patronage is under the postoffice department with the State Department next and then the Treasury and the Department of Justice.

There are in the entire government service an army of more than 400,000 men and women. Of these more than 300,000 are protected by the civil service, some by law and some by executive order. Of the remaining 100,000 or so only 10,552 are direct Presidential appointees. The remainder are appointed by the heads of departments, but will of course be subject to removal by the incoming administration. It is the salaries of these 100,000 office holders that amount to about $30,000,000.

Of the 10,552 direct Presidential appointments 9,549 must be confirmed by the Senate.

In addition to this large army of office holders and government employees, all under the executive branch of the government, there are more than 1000 appointments under the control of Congress. Part of these will gain more through the control of the United States Senate.

President Wilson's available patronage disbursements will be much larger than the list which Grover Cleveland had at his disposal when he entered office in 1893, after the Democrats had been out in the cold for twenty-eight long years. The number of offices since Cleveland's first administration has increased enormously.

In the sixteen years that have elapsed since Cleveland retired the Democrats who were appointed to office by him have almost entirely been eliminated, except in office and posts under the civil service, where many appointed under the Cleveland administration are still holding on. Some of these Cleveland appointees are now filling the highest places in the classified service.

Now and then a Cleveland appointee in the government service is found, even though he is not protected by the civil service. One of these is Alvey A. Adee, Second Assistant Secretary of State, who was appointed to his present post in 1886. Mr. Adee however, had been continuously in the foreign service or in the state department proper since 1870 and was third assistant secretary when Mr. Cleveland promoted him. There he has remained ever since and undoubtedly will continue to do so as the "solid rock" of this executive branch of the government.

Mr. Adee has held on because he has proved to be indispensable. He is the man who writes the Thanksgiving proclamations, the notes of congratulations and condolence to kings and emperors and other correspondence that requires an experienced and skillful hand and a good head.

The man who knows Governor Wilson best do not expect any sweeping return to the spoils system under his administration. They say the sentiment of the country if nothing else will prevent it. They expect that Mr. Wilson will appoint Democrats to the minor offices as fast as the Republican terms expire, but they do not look for any sweeping removals.

In the case of the more important offices, the big plums, such as appointments in the diplomatic service the Republicans now in office will, of course, follow their usual custom and forward their resignation to the President on March 4 next.

The opinion in Washington, says the New York Sun, is that Mr. Wilson will be only too glad to take refuge behind the civil service and in this way avoid as far as possible the disagreeable features of the job of dispensing Federal patronage.

The strongest pressure to have the new president break through the civil service or merit system will come in the case of the fourth class postmasters and the consular service. Both of these officeholders are protected under executive orders and not by statute, and they constitute one of the most desirable fields of Federal patronage on account of the great number of offices involved.

Plenty of evidence already is accumulating that the Democratic leaders intend to move upon President Wilson and demand the turning out of Republicans in the fourth class post offices and the application of the civil service later.

There are more than 65,000 fourth class postoffices, many of which are located in the south, where the cry for patronage will be loudest. Already Democrats are beginning to flood the post office department with inquiries in regard to these jobs, each of which pays $1000 or less.

President Roosevelt was the first executive to put the fourth class postmasters under the civil service. He covered all the offices of this class in fourteen northern states into the classified service shortly before his term in the White House expired. Mr. Taft completed the reform by bringing all the remaining fourth class postmasters, about 50,000 of them, into the civil service. This was in last October and the Taft executive order marked the biggest increase in the civil service list ever made at one time.

The federal civil service list first came into being by law in 1853. It was originally drawn up by President Garfield and was put into effect by President Arthur. It was only two years old when Cleveland first entered office. The Democratic president early became a convert to the merits of the system, and he practically doubled the number under it to about 100,000 in his first administration. President Harrison added greatly to the number, as did Cleveland upon his return to office in 1893. The biggest increase made at any one time prior to the action of President Taft, a few weeks ago was by Cleveland, in May, 1896, when he signed an executive order taking in 44,000 additional government employees. McKinley and Roosevelt also were strong supporters of the service.

The total number of officers and employees of the government, exclusive of course of the enlisted men and officers of the army and navy, is 411,478, distributed in the different departments or branches of the government as follows:

- State department—712.
- Treasury department—27,529.
- War department—28,102.
- Department of Justice—6,700.
- Post office department—272,813.
- Navy department—29,000.
- Interior department—14,362.
- Agriculture department—12,519.
- Commerce and labor department—14,883.
- Government printing office—5,325.
- Interstate commerce commission—617.
- Civil service commission—206.
- Smithsonian institute—424.
- Library of congress—494.
- Total—411,478.

The president has classified the 400,000 or more officers and employees by appointment as follows and the first two tables indicate the patronage that will be directly under the hand of the new president, without meddling with the present civil service orders.

Appointments made by the president by and with the advice and consent of the senate:

- State—411.
- Treasury—736.
- Justice—6.
- Postoffice—7,953.
- Navy—11.
- Interior—272.
- Agriculture—3.
- Commerce and labor (exclusive of Census)—23.
- Civil service commission—4.
- Government printing office—1.
- Interstate commerce commission—10.
- Library of congress—1.
- Total—9,949.

Appointments made by the president without confirmation by the senate:

- State—94.
 - Treasury—0.
 - War—0.
 - Justice—486.
 - Postoffice—0.
 - Navy—0.
 - Interior—44.
 - Agriculture—0.
 - Commerce and labor—5.
 - Civil service commission—1.
 - Total—523.
- Officers and employees under civil service regulations:
- State—177.
 - Treasury—27,093.
 - War—10,698.
 - Justice—625.
 - Postoffice—185,136.
 - Navy—28,000.
 - Interior—13,983.
 - Agriculture—11,428.
 - Commerce and labor—14,797.
 - Civil service commission—204.
 - Government printing office—36,610.
 - Interstate commerce commission—586.
 - Smithsonian institute—422.
 - Total—300,916.

As to just how many of these 400,000 odd officers and employees can be removed by the president without the consent of congress and are therefore subject to his personal control if he cares to exercise it opinion differs very widely. In compliance with a senate resolution passed on December 31, 1910, the head of each department of the government compiled a list of persons under his supervision

Of the seven governors who helped to bring Roosevelt out for a third term all failed of reelection except one.

We are informed that Mr. Hammer, editor of the Devoil Dispatch, left Sunday for California—in a hurry. Handlett (Okla.) Times.

What was his hurry?

Following our usual custom the Times will be sent to press several hours earlier on Thursday (Thanksgiving) afternoon. Advertisers desiring change of ads on that day are requested to send in their copy Wednesday afternoon, if possible.

According to a statement credited to Colonel Goethals, the great engineer the first vessel will pass through the Panama Canal the latter part of 1914, which is just about one year sooner than was expected or promised.

Last year the world made use of sixteen million bales of cotton. This year the crop is one million bales short of that last year. Looking at things this way, there seems no likelihood the price will be below what it now is, except temporarily, and as the farmers seem to be in fine shape financially, they can well afford to take chances on getting better price by holding their cotton.

The suggestion of Congressman Burleson of Texas that instead of penning ex-presidents as proposed by Mr. Carnegie that they be made life members of Congress at a salary of $7,500 per year, is a most excellent one. Come to think about it, it would not look exactly right for our ex-presidents to eat out of the hands of the rich, especially when about one half the people have been made to believe that they came by their great wealth at the expense and suffering of the people.

Job did have a pretty rocky time, there's no getting by that. To lose seven thousand sheep, even if the tariff was a little low, and three thousand camels and a thousand work steers, all in one lump, was tough luck. Losing his friends wasn't so bad, because they were just sticking around on account of the live stock, but on the whole job went up against the real thing in the day, but the world has progressed some. Think of waiting twenty years to get a shot at the heathen Republicans, and then when the day of victory did come to find that about half of them had joined the Democratic ranks, and every blamed one that voted the Democratic ticket will be an applicant for a post-office, or a job as river guard—and will get it, too, because they've got

A SOUTHERNER AS PRESIDENT.

Readers of this journal will recall that it has for years heartily favored the idea of nominating and electing some fit southerner to the presidency. It has held that northern people would no longer object to a fit man merely because he happened to be of southern birth and rearing, and it has felt very strongly that the country ought to be free to choose its presidents without any thought of sectional lines.

The election, it would seem, has amply justified our contention. But that it is not the reason why we mention it now. We mention it because we hope our record on this matter will be enough to win for us the privilege of voting freely, and without any risk of misconstruction, one of the reflections that now come to us.

As a result of the election the South is going to have great power in our common government—more than it has for many, many years. It is not merely that the president will be a man of southern birth, the first since Andrew Johnson, and the first to be elected to the office since Zachary Taylor. That fact is naturally gratifying to southerners, but it has not struck the country as very significant. Governor Wilson is too distinctly a national figure, with his northern education and residence and his record of high services in northern communities, for anybody to take his election as a mere sectional triumph.

The really important thing is that southern men will by virtue of long service take the lead in both houses of congress at a time when the party they belong to, and which practically the whole South belongs to, will control every department of the government. Most of the chairmen of the great committees of both houses will be southerners. Southerners, therefore, will shape our legislation.—Harper's Weekly.

CHOOSING POSTMASTERS BY POPULAR VOTE

The proposed selection of postmasters by primary election is being discussed by the congressmen. It is amusing to read in the Galveston News Washington special that those who favor the election of postmasters by the people are regarded "reactionaries." It seems that no proposition can be submitted for attention without having the hypocritical term "reactionary" introduced by the fakers and humbugs of politics. Morris Sheppard has taken decided ground in favor of the elective plan by declaring he will have an election held in Texarkana. Congressman Beall is also in favor of the plan, while the violent "progressives" like Burleson and Smith say nay.

There is no reason why either the people or the congressmen should bother about it.

The law gives the appointive power in the postoffices of the higher classes to the president, and how the postmasters shall be chosen is a matter entirely within his discretion.

If Mr. Wilson prefers to have what are known as the presidential postmasters selected by the people, it will be none of the congressmen's business, and we fancy that few of them would be bold enough to oppose the appointment of a popular choice if the selection were made at the instance of the president.

It is purely a matter of custom that gives the congressmen any say what, ever about the postmasters in his district. Where the president and the congressmen are of the same party the president has usually permitted the congressmen to recommend applicants for postoffices in his district. The president reserves the right to accept or reject such recommendations.

The amusing part of the discussion, however, is the promptness with which some of the most persistent spokesmen of the party are denouncing the postal primary as a "reactionary" scheme. If we are not entirely mistaken, the great burden of the "progressive" movement has been to increase the participation of the people in public affairs. One of the most telling arguments Governor Wilson uttered during the campaign

Attorney Fred Householder of this city, who played football on the State University team for several seasons, has received a telegram from another ex-student asking him to try to secure the consent of Pres. Mezes for a post-season game with either the Texas A. & M. or Texas A. & M. The latter team defeated the Texas Aggies and would give Texas win from them. It would give her the Southwestern championship despite the defeat administered by Oklahoma. It is not likely, however, that the consent of the authorities to a post-season game will be secured.

The sight of the eye was impaired and one of the bones of the face was fractured. Dr. M. T. Moore gave him treatment. Later in the night Dr. Moore was again called upon to attend another man who had a decorated eye, sustained, so the man said, by a fall on the sidewalk.

What's the difference between an Oklahoma deputy constable and a varmint? Mayor Bell decided in a particular case this morning that although there might be a distinction there was no difference and assessed a fine against an Ardmore officer who was found in the flats last night. The officer in question carried a six shooter and told the Mayor that he held a commission from the Oklahoma authorities but the Mayor thought this all the more reason why he should have been elsewhere than the place where he was found.

Paint of Our Forefathers. A white lead and oil paint, the finish of our forefathers, is easily and economically mixed from the raw materials as it is needed for use. With each 100 pounds of white lead mix five gallons lincased oil, one pint turpentine and one pint drier. An allowance of 50 cents for the labor of mixing gives eight gallons of white paint for about $13.15, or $1.64 a gallon. Two coats of this, or better three, these coating knots and pitchy, sappy places with orange shellac, provide a good finish either outdoors or in—County Life in America.

Conkling's Invention. Rogues Conkling, like John J. Ingalls, was a master of inventive. Conkling, it is said, once upon a time in summing up to a jury this attempted to belittle the testimony of a ruffian-faced, knob-nosed witness for the opposition: "Witness, gentlemen, I can see that witness now, his mouth stretching across the wide desolation of his face, a sepulcher of rum and a fountain of falsehood!"

Contradictory. Randall—I've written an article on "Why Men Do Not Marry" and illustrated it with photographs of dreadful looking, strong minded women. Rogers—Where did you get the pictures? Randall—They're wives of the men I know—Life.

What Makes a Strong Bank?

In judging a bank, always remember that it is Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits that give security to the depositor, because that money is what stands between you as a depositor and any possible shrinkage in the securities held by the bank.

Few banks in the country have a larger margin of safety than THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, which, with the watchful interest of a very capable and conservative board of directors and the constant inspection of the Comptroller of the Currency, has built up here one of the greatest financial institutions in the country, one whose

TO RESTORE FAMOUS CHURCH

Boston's Revolutionary Landmark is Taking an Odd Appearance.

Boston.—From the chaos of loose bricks and unplastered panels, Christ church (better known as the Old North church of the school histories) is re-emerging in something closely resembling its original guise. Restoration it at best a difficult and often thankless task, but fortunately this process at Christ church was in part simplified by certain authentic records of the building's earlier history. The first conspicuous change is in the building's exterior. During the last summer the walls have been sand-blasted, ridding them of the drab paint which has darkened them for years, and revealing the brick in a warm, rich tone, which will weather to a still more mellow red. The front doors of the church, which were with-out doubt not original, have been removed and a new pair, the lower panels of which have been given the diamond or triangular shape, has been substituted. Above them is a fanlight with leaded panes of glass. With the walls freshened to a glowing red and the steeple and window frames trimmed with white paint, the church wears probably more nearly its original look than it has within the memory of any living person.

The new plan of the church was fortunately extant, and it was possible from the paneling which remained to reconstruct the new arrangement in virtually the original form. This has been carried out, using as much of the original paneling and as many of the old doors as remained, and making the new a faithful reproduction of the old. The pews as thus rebuilt are of the long, "ship" shape, and nearly uniform size, except those set apart for the notable—the governor's pew (which has, by the way, been made the graceful occasion of a generous gift from Governor Foss), and "the Pew for the Gentlemen of the Bay of Honduras," a group of merchants who gave, in the early days, the money for the spire.

During the turmoil of restoration the bust of Washington has been removed from the marble niche, but will be replaced, not for any special merit as a work of art which it may possess, but for long association and for its unique position as being the first public monument erected to Washington in America. Its date is 1815.

The walls, which were previously blank, save for frescoes, will be diversified by an array of appropriate tablets: one in memory of the first officers of the church, bearing the date April 1724; one in memory of Major John Pitcairney, one in memory of the Rev. Timothy Cutler; one in memory of the Rev. Mather Byles, the last minister before the revolution; one in memory of Capt. Thomas James Gruchy, commander of the privateer Queen of Hungary; who gave, the cherubim which ornament the front of the organ; and one to the memory of Capt. Cyprian Southack, who gave the bellry clock in use before the revolution.

GOLF BALL KILLED A BIRD

And It Kept on Its Way Toward Hole Without Even a Swoosh at Country Club Links.

Boston.—A strange freak of golf was witnessed on the Brae Burn Country club links a few days ago, when a ball driven from a tee killed a sparrow and then continued true in its flight. The incident was witnessed by a number of golfers.

The marksman was Joseph Gould. He was driving from the seventh tee. Mr. Gould got off a good drive and the ball soared high. The bird was flying in the same direction and swooped just a trifle, apparently when it heard the buzz of the golf ball coming behind.

It is common knowledge that a golf ball is no mean projectile, and in this case the bird was instantly killed and fell, a crumpled heap of feathers, although it had received a charge of shot. The ball was hardly checked in its flight and landed on the green some far from the hole.

Callis Beer National Beverage.

Boston.—In an address here to the Brewers association Col. Jacob Rupert said that "beer is the national beverage and the mainstay of national and practical temperance."

Italy exports human hair worth from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 every year.

Notice is being given, as required by the Constitution, of intention to apply to the next legislature for a law validating the titles to the land surveyed by the Jack county surveyor involving about 700 acres of land east of Electra. This is the land which Maddox Brothers of Austin have made application to purchase as school land under the Clay district survey. W. F. Weeks of this city is to make application for the validation law, which would vest title in the present owners.

G. W. Backus, who formerly represented the Oil City Derrick and the Oil and Gas Journal in the Northwest Texas field, is now drilling a well near Crislie, Illinois, in a section where dry holes have been very numerous recently.

The Corsicana Petroleum company, which has been without an office here, has secured rooms in the postoffice building and will establish an office force here, where scouts and leasers will make their headquarters.

The Gully's No. 12 on the Miller which was dry in the 1950 foot sand has found a new and more promising sand in 1880, which will be tested this afternoon.

H. Sanders et al have a 20-barrel well on Woodruff Heights near Electra.

W. C. McBride's well on the Krohn tract near Electra was completed recently, and was dry.

The Henry Oil company's well on the Scott ranch in Archer county was abandoned, dry, at 1080 feet.

The Texas company's wild cat on the Brewster tract in Shackelford county has been abandoned. It was dry at 3030 feet.

The Gullett well, the Corsicana's latest completion near Burk Burnett, is reported good for 120 barrels. It is directly north of the Schmoeker well.

L. P. Hivick has made a location on the property of Mrs. M. Brown, two miles east of the Winfrey well near Iowa Park. Drilling is to start within the next two weeks.

One Per Cent of Cotton Manufactured in Texas.

Waxahachie, Texas, Nov. 26.—The report of O. E. Dunlap, chairman of the committee on cotton mills of the Texas Welfare Commission, gives interesting statistics on the cotton industry of the South. According to the report, Texas produced last year 4,297,000 bales of cotton and consumed less than one per cent; North Carolina 700,000 bales and consumed the whole of the crop; South Carolina, 1,000,000 bales and consumed 30 per cent. Texas stands at the head of the list in production, but out of 100 bales produced, the local mills consumed only one bale, the other ninety-nine are manufactured outside the State.

More Stringent Immigration Laws.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The national bureau of immigration and naturalization recommends more stringent laws regarding the inspection of immigrants to this country. One of the reforms urged by that bureau is that inspectors and physicians be placed on all incoming vessels carrying large numbers of immigrants and that heavier fines be imposed on steamship companies for bringing aliens afflicted with contagious diseases into the United States. It is also urged that provision be made for the continued protection of immigrants after their landing even to the extent of having receiving stations at important inland points.

A Reflection.

Cottolene Pie Crust

Cottolene makes a rich, crisp crust, without the suggestion of greasiness. Cottolene-made pie is digestible too. And—Cottolene is more economical than butter or lard, because you use one-third less. Moreover, Cottolene costs no more than lard.

Cottolene

Here is a recipe for one of the most delicious pastry dishes you ever ate—Grape Fruit Pie—made with Cottolene:

CRUST
1 cupful of sifted flour	1/4 cupful Cottolene
3 teaspoonfuls ice water	A pinch of salt
FILLING
3/4 cupful of sugar	Juice of 1/2 medium-sized grape fruit
2 rounding teaspoonfuls of corn starch	2 even teaspoonfuls Cottolene
Juice of 1/2 lemon	Grated rind of 1/2 lemon
Yolks of 2 eggs
1 cupful boiling water

LAWRENCE MASS LABOR LEADERS NOT GOILTY

lar force in preserving order; State troops were ordered to Lawrence by Governor Foss and an industrial crisis was at hand.

Ettor, assuming command of the workers' cause, announced that the strikers demanded a wage increase of fifteen per cent, abolition of the premium system and double pay for overtime. Numerous conferences were held with State bodies and mill owners and a strike committee was organized, headed by Ettor and composed of representatives of each nationality involved in the conflict, including the Italians, who were most numerous, Poles, Syrians, Lithuanians, Hebrews, Americans and others.

During the progress of the trouble Ettor frequently addressed the masses in churches, halls and on the Lawrence Common. In keeping up the enthusiasm thus he was aided by Arturo Giovannetti, who went to Lawrence from Brooklyn, William D. Haywood, the leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, and many others prominent in the work of the organization. For many days the situation in Lawrence was tense, with outbreaks of violence constantly agitating the public mind. On January 29 seven sticks of dynamite were found by the police in houses and shops in the Italian quarter. Suspicion against the strikers was directed at once, and six persons, Italians and Syrians, were arrested. Ettor was informed by Colonel E. Leroy Switzer of his grave responsibility in the matter. Ettor immediately told the strikers that none of their people had anything to do with the dynamite and charged that the mill owners had planted it to prejudice the cause of the strikers. Subsequent investigation resulted in the conviction of a Lawrence school commissioner for planting the dynamite. Later business men and William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, were indicted for conspiracy to plant dynamite in Lawrence. Trial of these causes is pending. This development served to intensify the bitterness of the conflict and Lawrence was at fever heat.

Conferences to settle the strike had failed and on the morning of January 29 an organized street parade and demonstration by the strikers occurred. It was preceded by rioting before sunrise in which the street cars were pelted with chunks of ice and other missiles and persons forcibly prevented from going to work in the mills. After the parade Ettor and Giovannetti addressed the strikers in Lawrence Common, where they are alleged to have urged the strikers to acts of violence. That evening the streets near the mills were jammed with the idle millworkers. Soldiers and police were ordered to clear the streets. The spirit of the hour was a dangerous one. The people sullenly responded to the orders of the police and hissed them. Many blocks of ice were thrown at the officers of the law. Policemen's clubs, in retaliation, were wielded over the backs of recalcitrant strikers, who suddenly shooting began and Anna Depizzo fell lifeless in the street. Other riots followed the next day and that midnight Ettor and Giovannetti were arrested, charged with being accessories before the fact to the Lottize murder. Later Caruso was arrested, charged with Salvatore Scuto, as one of the principals in the crime, as an actual participant in the fatal shooting. The arrest of Ettor and Giovannetti failed to a fury the flame of feeling among the strikers. The conditions were even more dangerous. Threats were made of general strikes and organizations throughout the country and in other lands protesting against the action of the authorities. Ettor and Giovannetti pleaded not guilty on January 31, but were held to the grand jury without bail and locked up in the Lawrence jail until February 9, when, after a hearing, they were held to the grand jury and later indicted. The strike continued under the leadership now of W. D. Haywood until March 14, when the cause of the workers was victorious and

NEGRO DIES FROM BULLET WOUND

Frank Garrison Succumbs to Shot in Neck—His Assailant Unknown

Frank Garrison, the negro who was found near the railroad tank last Wednesday with a bullet hole in his neck, succumbed to his injuries yesterday afternoon at the home of a negro woman where he had been taken for treatment. The bullet had shattered his spinal column and he was paralyzed from the neck down. The negro said that he was walking near the tank with another negro, whose name he does not know, when the other suddenly jumped in front of him and drew a pistol, ordering Garrison to throw up his hands. He complied with the command, but the other negro shot him, the ball entering his neck under the left jaw and in some strange way missing the veins and arteries. Garrison says he was then robbed of $7.50 and his watch. Garrison's appetite was good up to the last hour of his life, and he ate heartily. He was very friendly all the while, and apparently unconcerned. Relatives in Henning, Tenn., were notified. There is no clue to the identity of his assailant.

over whom the president had power of removal without action by congress. The total number given in these lists subject to such control was 399,338. This includes though the large army of officers and employees under the civil service and who are subject to removal only under formal charges. Gen. Black, head of the civil service commission, contends that the president cannot replace any employee in the classified service without the filing of charges, which must be proved, and in this he is confirmed by the opinion of Attorney General Wickcrham. The great bulk of the $30,000,000 or more which President Wilson may distribute among his faithful followers without breaking into the present civil service field comes from the salaries of postmasters in the first, second and third classes. The combined salaries of the officers in these classes amount to $26,000,000 annually. Here are some of the juiciest plums in this basket.

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Boston, $5000 each; Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Detroit, Buffalo, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Newark, New Orleans, Washington, Los Angeles and a few other cities, $6000 each. All of these are first class offices.

There are all told 424 first class offices, 1829 second class offices, paying from $3000 to $5000 a year, and 5569 third class offices, with salaries ranging from $1000 to $3000.

The best paying jobs within President Wilson's gift will be the ten foreign ambassadorships, each with a salary of $17,500, the nine cabinet posts with $12,000 each, and the seven Panama Canal commissioners, the chief engineer with a salary of $15,000, and the others $14,000 each; several other canal zone jobs with salaries ranging from $2000 to $7000 each; from one to five assistant secretaryships in each department, averaging about $4500 each; two commissioners of the District of Columbia $5000 each; the public printer, $5500; several members of the civil service and other commissions, averaging about $5000 each; the collector of the Port of New York, with $7000, and other important collectorships.

There were not destroyed. Drivers Grover Habern and Joe McClure were roasted out of their beds in the cold to make a swift run to the scene, but as soon as the auto engine was hooked on to the plug, good results were attained.

Most of the cotton belonged to local buying firms and a large part of it was insured.

TAFT DOESN'T WANT NOMINATION IN 1916

Asks Friends Not to Refer to Him as Even Possible Candidate

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—President Taft has quietly informed friends that no matter how active his participation in the reorganization of the Republican party may be, he is not to be publicly referred to in political speeches as a possible candidate of the party in 1916.

The President has made it plain that he does not wish to be considered in any way having an eye on the

Just Over the Texas Line. As a result of the hearing before the Railroad Commission of Texas on November 12, that body decided on November 13 that in the future there will be no switching charges in Texas as where the railroad gets as much as $7.50 per car for the freight service in excess of the present switching rates. In Texas where the freight rate produces as much as $7.50 per car, the carriers must take care of the switching out of the balance of the rate. In other words, in Texas the rates include the switching charges and part of Texas is only twenty miles from here, and many of the same railroads operate here as there. What makes the difference in crossing the State line? Perhaps the answer to the question might be found by taking a look at the work of the Louisiana Railroad Commission. Shreveport Journal.

A Vest Pocket Party.

Whenever the celebrated Chicago convention presents a new aspect it commands new admiration and defies calumny to withhold from Old Constitution Barnes. Dr. Pangloss Butler, Easy Murray Crane the prodigious Penrose, the precise Hillis and others of the inspired band, the just measure of praise their deeds compel.

So well did they serve and preserve the Republican party in its hour of peril that now the electoral votes of Utah and Vermont can confer upon a happy Republican the honor of unanimous nomination of the party for the vice presidency.

That Mrs. Margaret Zane Wither, one of the four Utah electors, is ambitious. If the other three Utah electors will support her and if she can win Vermont's four she is nominated unanimously, candidate for vice president. She will have all the Republican votes.

The Republican party has shrunk some in the present process, but no one will deny that it is a neat, tidy little party now. Old Constitution Barnes could put it in his vest pocket but he might not be able to find it again.—Chicago Tribune.

The Smoke Nuisance.

The city of Washington is comparatively free from smoke. Investigations by the Geological Survey made in every large city in the country were used in the application of the law that forbade the smoke nuisance at the capital.

Washington is the best governed city in the country, chiefly for the reason, perhaps, that there are no elections there, and, consequently, no municipal politics. The city's affairs are administered systematically and on scientific principles.

It has, at any rate, demonstrated that a smokeless city is a practical attainment, and progress to that end has been successfully made. The conclusion reached from the investigations of the Geological Survey is that smoke prevention is at once possible and profitable.—Nashville Banner.

Ten Thousand Texas Turkeys Tret to Town.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—A report recently compiled and given out today by the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture shows that the price per pound paid to farmers for live turkeys in continental United States on October 15, 1912 was 13.6 cents. The highest price paid was in New York State which was 17.7 cts., while the lowest prices are reported from Texas, being 10.5 cents per pound. Later reports from that state indicate that the prices that are now being paid the Texas farmers are slightly in excess of those of last month and a general increase is looked for which will last all during the holidays. Texas is fast becoming one of the leading poultry raising states and now has 13,699,450 fowls (all kinds) which have a total value of $4,896,642. During the past ten years the value of the poultry has increased $1,211,399 or 34 per cent in that state.

The largest drove of turkeys ever marketed at one time in the United States were sold recently in Texas. Under the auspices of the Cuero Commercial Club ten thousand turkeys were driven into that city in one herd and sold to local packing houses where they were slaughtered, dressed and shipped to northern and eastern markets as well as to several Texas points.

One Big Thing for the Holiday Rush

Bring the last holiday rush many people bought jewelry from us, more out of curiosity than anything else. They had read our advertisement, and, as one of them said, "I want to find out if you know what you are talking about." Today, all of these curiously seekers are steady customers of this house. We DID know what we were talking about. That's what makes our advertising effective.

Now we are not resting on our oars or on our reputation. We know there are no eggs in last year's bird's nest. But this we do know: What we did WELL last year we can do BETTER this year.

It is not the stocks Merchants carry that make them BIG. It's giving purchasers what they pay for less money. Advertising one thing and doing another is ADVERTISING WASTE and COMMERCIAL SUICIDE.

If there is anything, mind you, ANYTHING, in the line of Diamonds, Watches or Jewelry, that you want and must have in time for a Christmas Gift, Art Loan Company will get it for you ON TIME.
