Positions for the Fair Sex.

Several bank presidents in the smaller towns are women, as well as clerks, tellers and cashiers. Government experts frequently are among the fair sex, whose deftness of touch makes their fingers especially efficacious for such work as that of the dead letter office.

Saving Trays.

When a japanned tray becomes old and chipped give it two coats of white paint and one of enamel, the bottom as well as the top. Stand it on the edge to dry after each coat. It will be found as good as new, as well as very pretty. The enamel is easily renewed.

PAMPARED NEW YORK DOGS FURNISH LIVING FOR MANY. EASTERN LEGEND SUBSTITUTES IT FOR THE APPLE.

All Sorts of Attendance Called for by Their Fond Owners—Boarding Houses at Which High Prices Are Charged.

Those of us who have been reared in a different sort of society are apt to have considerable contempt for the scribbled, flattered and confined dog of New York, writes the Cincinnati Times-Star correspondent. We're used to the other sort of a dog—the dog that gets his muddy feet all over our new pants in his rainy day happiness and almost grows his head off when the minister comes visiting, and goes under the barn when a tramp knocks at the back door. Our sort of dog is mostly mutt, and completely loses his self-respect when his affection is engaged. He really lives to grovel. He'll snuggle a wet nose into a friend's hand. Whereas the New York dog, as seen on any of the residence streets before 9 o'clock in the morning and after 5 in the evening, leading an unhappy human by a leash, is a snob, blash, arrogant, horribly bored beast. He might become a regular dog if he had the chance, but fate condemns him to be snuffed over by dump-doggers and led about the streets by indignant but cowardly husbands. A first thought one holds him entirely useless, but a more careful survey discovers him to be the support of many a man and woman who might otherwise have to work. There are half a dozen boarding houses for dogs for example, in which the cost of board ranges from $2 to $7 a week, depending on the size of the dog and the quality of the accommodations. There are at least two dog cemeteries which have proved profitable investments for their stockholders. There are three or four dog hospitals which are always filled, and in which the cost of treatment runs pretty close to that of the second rate hospital for humanity. One dog doctor keeps a stable of trained nurses on hand, who will respond to calls at any hour of the day or night, and charge as much for nursing a dog as other nurses do for nursing a baby. There are half a score of dog manicurists and at least one dog miniature painter and two "coat specialists" and innumerable trainers, who teach tricks to the pet of the rich—and incidentally bestow some slight respect for their masters into them. There are two "homes," in which cast-off dogs are cared for, and one establishment in which the last days of the aged and dying dog may be made comparatively happy—at a price. Many a dollar is picked up by the photographers for portraying dog poses, and scores of men and women, boys and girls, find it easier to make a living by giving dogs their regular daily exercise than by working in shops. Altogether, the New York dog isn't completely useless, if he is a non-producer himself, he makes his indulgent mistress produce pretty regularly—and aids in speeding up the New York dollar.

That it was in a bunch of this fruit the serpent that tempted Eve hid itself, is a very widespread belief.

There exists a legend relative to the Christian inhabitants of the east, that they believed the banana to be the tree of the source of good and evil, in a bunch of whose fruit the serpent that tempted Eve hid itself, and they add that when Adam and Eve became ashamed of their nakedness they covered themselves with the leaves of this plant. Beyond all doubt this legend had some influence upon the minds of those early botanical classifiers who designated two species of the plant by the names of Musa paradisica and Musa sapientium—Fruit of Paradise, Fruit of Knowledge, says a writer in the National Geographic Magazine.

The origin of the banana is given as India, at the foot of the Himalayas, where it has been cultivated since remote antiquity. Its origin in the new world is as doubtful as the origin of the American Indian. Natural to Asia and Africa, where more than 20 distinct species of the genus are known, it is said to have been brought first to America from Spain early in the sixteenth century, and planted in the island of San Domingo, whence its spread was rapid throughout the surrounding islands and the mainland. This has never been authentically established, however, and some authorities include the banana among the articles that formed the base of the food supply of the Incas and the Aztecs before the arrival of the Spaniards. Certain it is that throughout the whole of meridional America there is a strong tradition that at least two species of the plant were cultivated long before the coming of the Europeans. Furthermore, it is singular that in all the languages indigenous to that region where the banana appears that plant has a special name, not proceeding from the conquerors, as was the case with the names of many other plants, animals, and various articles introduced into America after its discovery.

Grown over the entire extent of the meridian of the earth, the fruit of the banana today forms, in large part, the principal food of a majority of the people living under the tropical zone. Several species and numerous varieties of the plant appear throughout tropical America, but it is cultivated for commercial purposes in appreciable quantities only along the Atlantic border, from southern Mexico to Colombia, in Jamaica, Cuba, San Domingo, and the Bahamas, the far western markets of the United States being plentifully supplied from the Hawaiian Islands and Mexico's South Pacific Coast.

Japanese Opposed Census Taking. Serious results followed the taking of the first census in Japan, years ago. Observing with approval the work of western countries, the authorities thought it advisable to "take statistics of population and for that purpose sent out to all householders notices enjoining them to furnish them with full particulars of their families, age, sex, etc. This step was misconstrued in one of the villages where suspicion was expressed that Japan was about to be sold or at least some of the people were to be sold to foreigners who were desirous of ascertaining the number of males, etc., before closing the bargain, in order to find out what price to pay according to the quantity of blood that would be forthcoming. It was a Japanese belief that foreigners squeezed the blood from all who came into their power. Excited and enraged mobs soon collected and attacked the village offices and it was some time before order could be restored.

Find Ancient Documents. A number of large rolls of historical Egyptian papyri have been discovered by one of the members of the Royal Geographical Survey party. The manuscripts were unearthed by a fellow while sifting the foundations of his mud hut, near a temple of the Ptolemies, in Upper Egypt and are of the best Graeco-Egyptian period. They are well preserved so far as the writing is concerned, but discolored, and owing to their dry and fragile condition have to be handled with the utmost delicacy. It is anticipated that the contents will prove to be of real archaeological value in adding to our present knowledge of Egypt, and possibly Syria, as recorded in the days of the Ptolemies. A study already made reveals the fact that they relate to interesting historical events.

"Pinchbeck." Christopher Pinchbeck found that three parts of zinc to one of copper would polish up to look like gold, just exactly like gold, and it could be worked off like gold to boot—could be stamped, cut, chased, embossed and worked suckerswise or smartly. Part of Pinchbeck's work he kept a close trade secret and it died with him, for most of his real handwork still looks good as gold and brings a higher price than gold today. Christopher's boss trick was in putting a thin coat of gold on the imitation metal. Old parcel gilding on silver was expensive and electroplating and "rolled gold" had not been invented, so Pinchbeck's jewelry admirably answered in its day, as Mrs. Astor's jewelry did in good old Mrs. Astor's day.—New York Press.

The Armada. The armada—better known as the "Spanish armada"—consisted of 130 ships, besides a great number of caravels, 2,165 cannon, 8,550 sailors, 2,688 galley slaves, 20,000 soldiers, 150 monks, under the head of the vicar of the Inquisition, and a considerable number of grandees, who went along to see the English killed and burnt. The destruction of this mighty armament by the English admirals and the winds of heaven was well-nigh complete. Very little of it ever got back to Spain. A bronze statue of "Britannia," as a national memorial of the defeat of the armada, was unveiled at Plymouth in the year 1886.

Quarantine. It is impossible to say just how old the custom of quarantine is. We know that it was observed at Venice as early as the year 1127, whereby all merchants and others coming from the Levant were obliged to remain for some forty days in a lazaretto before they were admitted into the city. The custom is now coextensive with the civilized world, and to it is doubtless to be attributed the rapid advance that has been made within the past quarter of a century in safeguarding the people from the plagues which in the olden times were so destructive of human life.

KANSAS WOMEN AFTER ALL THE OFFICES

Politicians Wondering How Long It Will Be Until Men are Entirely Eliminated. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 27.—Now that the Kansas women have the complete right of suffrage throughout the state, the politicians are wondering just how long it will be until the men are entirely eliminated from the jobs of Kansas. If the women keep on at the rate they are going, now it will be less than ten years until they will have all the men locked out of every local office in the state, except road overseer and dog catcher without having suffrage.

American Railroads Are Trying to Do What Is Right For the Public

"question" is no longer one to be treated with indifference on the theory that any delay is hurtful only to a few rich people. Anging the Restless- the People of the United States?

By JAMES T. YOUNG, Professor of Public Administration, University of Pennsylvania

NEVER since the civil war have we had such an entire transformation of the political stage, such a complete UPSETTING OF THE DRAMA OF NATIONAL LIFE, both of men and issues, as during the last ten years. For this the PROBLEM OF GOVERNMENT REGULATION IS CHIEFLY RESPONSIBLE. Our country is undergoing such a sudden change of management as usually comes but ONCE IN A CENTURY, and the central idea in this change is the extension of the GOVERNMENT CONTROL OVER ALL FORMS OF BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

WAR is not so much a disease as it is a SYMPTOM OF DISEASE—a symptom of that general rivalry and struggle which characterizes not only human nature, but all nature. The modern doctor knows quite well, because the bitter experience of the past ages has taught him that GETTING RID OF SYMPTOMS DOES NOT CURE DISEASE. It is necessary that he should go deeper. And when I say these things they do not indicate that I and other naval people do not realize war's evils. I am merely pointing out that there has been so great an outcry against war that people have begun to THINK IT IS THE ROOT OF EVIL.

That is not what the Bible says. It says the love of money is the root of evil. And who shall say that love of money is not MORE STRIKINGLY EXEMPLIFIED IN TIMES OF PEACE than it ever has been in a camp or on a battlefield?

BUT SOLDIERS DON'T WANT WAR. SAILORS DON'T WANT WAR. THEY DO NOT MEAN WAR EITHER; THEY MEAN PEACE. YET IT IS THE FACT OF THEIR EXISTENCE WHICH IS CAUSING ALL THE OUTCRY, FOR THEIR EXISTENCE MEANS EXPENSE, AND IT IS REALLY AGAINST THEIR COST THAT THE GREAT OUTCRY HAS BEEN RAISED. REALLY THEIR MISSION IS TO FIRST LOCALIZE AND THEN PREVENT CONFLICT.

Mental Powers of Our People Need Improving

By Dr. LEWELLYN F. BARKER

Of Johns Hopkins University

ANY movement that will unify, co-ordinate or increase the efforts being made to improve the mental powers of our people should make a strong appeal to the citizens of this country. George Meredith's favorite prayer is said to have been, "More brain, O Lord, more brain!"

CERTAINLY NATIONAL ATTEMPTS TO BETTER THE BRAIN POWER OF A NATION SO THAT ITS INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS MAY THINK BETTER, FEEL BETTER AND ACT BETTER THAN THEY DO NOW SHOULD EXCITE THE SYMPATHY AND SUPPORT OF ALL WHO WISH THE NATION WELL.

It is now believed that A NATIONAL CAMPAIGN FOR MENTAL HYGIENE—that is, for "health of mind"—is not only desirable, but also really practicable.

Provision must be made for the birth of children whose brains shall, so far as possible, be innately of GOOD QUALITY. This means the denial of the privilege of parenthood to those likely to transmit bad nervous systems to their offspring and is a task of eugenics; second, society must be so organized that all individuals, whether well born or ill born, shall, so far as possible, be surrounded by those external influences which MOST FAVOR THE WELFARE OF THEIR MENTALITY.

The Only Rest the Mind Needs Is When You Go to Sleep

By Dr. EDWARD LEE THORNDIKE of Columbia University

DURING NO WAKING MOMENT IS THERE ANY LEGITIMATE EXCUSE FOR IDLENESS ON THE PART OF THE MIND. INSTEAD OF A REST THE MIND SHOULD BE GIVEN NEW WORK AND SUPPLIED WITH A NEW INTEREST AND MOTIVES. IT SHOULD NEVER BE ALLOWED TO REST SAVE IN SLEEP.

Repugnance to work is overcome by seeing results. So until the habit of work is firmly fixed upon one it is necessary to engage in work for which the brain of the worker is peculiarly fitted, in which it TAKES PLEASURE and which brings it tangible results.

It would be impossible for an inventor to continue at work for weeks and months, as Edison, for instance, has frequently done, were it not that his interest was KEPT ALIVE BY SUCCESSFUL ACHIEVEMENT.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

Purity in food, lower cost of living—these are the demands of the day. Pure food is health, and health is economy itself. We cannot have health without healthful food.

The most healthful foods are the quickly raised flour foods—biscuit, cake, muffins, crusts and other pastry, when perfectly made from wholesome ingredients.

Dr. PRICE'S baking powder makes these foods in specially attractive, appetizing and wholesome form, and for both economic and hygienic reasons, such food should be more largely substituted for meat in the daily diet.

But bear in mind that alum, or unwholesome baking powder, can never make pure, wholesome food.

An Interesting Communication On The Good Road Question

Editor Daily Times: Considering the funds available for road construction and improvement in Wichita county and the great number of square acres not under cultivation as compared with many of the older settled sections of the country, it must be admitted that credit is due our past and present county commissioners for the road work done on our county roads up to date. Let the citizens not stop here, but let us arouse such a public interest as will result in the means of securing better road in any way possible. It is reported that the public spirit of progressive oil field men in this section have proposed to furnish free to the county crude oil sufficient to oil the road from here to Burkburnett and Electric. It does seem that this opportunity should not be passed. These roads, however, should first be shaped up and dugged, then once properly oiled and traveled the up-keep will be far less than under present conditions; and therefore the oiling would actually save the county money in the end. Many advocate and I think correctly that at least one important road north and south and one west through the county seat from county line to county line should be put in first class condition and kept so. If we cannot have every side road put in condition, why not a few of those that are of most service to the greater number? Cities cannot pave all their streets, but that does not stop them from paving first those that are of most service. The Meridian road is a great international highway and means much to this county and Wichita county certainly owes it to itself to see that this road from county line to county line is put in the best condition possible. It will not only serve one of the heaviest traffic in the county and all the farms along the route, but will be of great benefit to the oil field people who have favored Wichita Falls with their headquarters. Good roads to a very great extent increase the productive capacity of the country and the business capacity of the city. They bring the comforts of the city to the door of the farmer, his schools and his education; advantages to his children. And they also bring the healthfulness and wealth of the country to the front door of the city dweller. They enrich in dollars and cents every farmer and every business man. No good road, running between two given points, through even potentially rich agricultural lands but what will pay for itself in dollars and cents within five years, if honestly built. There is a nation-wide movement for good roads, let us not trail too far behind. At no time have good roads been such an important factor in the welfare and development of communities as they are today. It is only necessary to look at the changed conditions during the past decade to see why this is so: A large portion of modern achievement consists in the elimination of distance, the facilitation of communication and the bringing of men closer together. Whether four to six miles an hour marked the speed of vehicles, good roads were desirable; when 30 to 40 miles an hour, attainable good roads are necessary. In other words, our standards have changed, especially in our standards of value as to time. This is true in respect to farming districts as well as to the city and its suburbs. As labor becomes higher priced, time becomes more valued and its economy more necessary. Today farmers cannot be three miles an hour men. So, leading aside automobiles, the man with the farm wagon or the buggy should have good roads. Consider merely the advertising value of good roads. There is no bet-

THANKSGIVING—Now comes the day when the stately American goblet places his majestic head beneath the guillotine. The Cranberry merchant gets as busy as a prairie dog with two holes and the small boy begins taking measurements of his stomachic capacity. Wondering if it will hold as much as it did last year.

The good housewife busies herself preparing all those highly palatable indigestion promoters that have tickled the palates of the Epicurean Kings since Mithuslah got out of Castoria Division. The trend of the great American nation is toward gratitude to the great artist who paints the hills with wild flowers in spring and the fields with gold in autumn. The great being at whose beck and call this system of worlds and myriads men move. This memorable day is set apart by the chief executive of Christian America. The greatest Nation that the sun in his daily rounds has ever shown upon as a day enjoy and give thanks for the fruits of the fields and for the liberty and prosperity of the great republic.

Everybody seems glad even the stray dog adds an extra wag of cheer to his caudal appendage on which has hung so many prehistoric tomato cans and the Grouch seems to so far forg of himself as to smile and admit that the sun has a perfect right to rise and set. All this occasioned by the fact that the foremost nation of earth worships at the shrine of the Prince of Peace who in Gethsamane paid the greatest debt that mankind ever owed and is about to give thanks to Him who tempers the wind to the lamb.

But there is a pain for every pleasure. A grief for every gladness and an awakening to every dream—in the cold gray dawn of the morning after—don't forget that we have what you will want. The sequel to the story is mustard plasters, dyspepsia tablets, Headache stoppers, Epsom salts and Castor oil. Our get there service is bull bearing and we're always on the job. We are profoundly thankful to you for your business. As we take a retrospective rubber back over the transactions of the past year to say we are happy and satisfied with our success is putting it mildly. We have not bought a flock of gasoline cars to hand around to our friends. We have not built any libraries and our pile is not of sufficient bigness to make John D. Rockefeller look like a slick dime rolling around among a bunch of United States Bonds but we are happy and thankful. This not a bunch of hand embroidered hot atoms there. We mean it all. One Big Thing for the Holiday Rush Bring the last holiday rush many people bought jewelry from us, more out of curiosity than anything else. They had read our advertisement, and, as one of them said, "I want to find out if you know what you are talking about." Today, all of these curiously seekers are steady customers of this house. We DID know what we were talking about. That's what makes our advertising effective. Now we are not resting on our oars or on our reputation. We know there are no eggs in last year's bird's nest. But this we do know: What we did WELL last year we can do BETTER this year. It is not the stocks Merchants carry that make them BIG. It's giving purchasers what they buy for less money. Advertising one thing and doing another is ADVERTISING WASTE and COMMERCIAL SUICIDE. If there is anything, mind you, ANYTHING, in the line of Diamonds, Watches or Jewelry, that you want and must have in time for a Christmas Gift, Art Loan Company will get it for you ON TIME. There are no "ifs" or "ands" about it. That's a bold statement. By making good, we convince you that our service means dollars in your pocket. That's what we're after. We have received direct from the orchards of Michigan a shipment of these goods, and they are "as fine as silk." Cider Jelly is entirely different than anything else in this line and Southern Michigan and Northern Ohio is the only section we know of where it is produced. There is nothing as good to serve with meats. If you know what it is, we've said enough. If you don't, you have overlooked a bet. You will want some boiled cider for your Holiday cookery.
