ASSASSIN OF GREEK KING PROVES TO BE ANARCHIST

Lies In Wait For Ruler And Fires at Close Range—King Dies Within Short Time.

By Associated Press.

Saloniki, March 19.—Aleko Schinas, murderer of King George I. of Greece appears to have lived much abroad. He returned to Saloniki only when it was occupied by the Greek army after the surrender of the Turkish garrison. The deliberate intention of the regicide appears to be established by the fact that he lurked in hiding and rushed out only when the royal victim was within sixty feet of his hiding place.

Then he fired point blank into the king's back. The shooting occurred only a few yards from police headquarters. Lieut. Col. Frangoutis, the king's aide-de-camp, immediately drew his revolver. Schinas turned and fired at him, but the shot went wild.

Two Cretan military police who were acting as an escort to the king dashed at Schinas and pinioned his arms before he could fire again.

When Frangoutis saw that the assassin had been arrested he turned to King George. Believing that the monarch had escaped unscathed the aide was horrified to see his majesty stretched on the roadway. Frangoutis raised the stricken ruler's head from the pavement, but the king already was unconscious and he never spoke again. Soldiers who had been summoned by the shots lifted the king from the ground and carried him to a hospital. He expired on the way without recovering consciousness.

When questioned by the police, Schinas replied: "You have courts. I will speak there."

Pressed to say who he was and what was the motive of his crime he replied: "Take me to the police station so that the crowd shall not maltreat me; I will speak there."

On reaching the police station he gave his name and a few particulars about himself.

Schinas Well Educated And Head of Anarchistic School

By Associated Press.

New York, March 19.—Aleko Schinas, assassin of King George of Greece, was a man of education and a confirmed anarchist, according to information obtained by Demetrius E. Botassi, Greek consul here. The man nursed a grudge against the king, Mr. Botassi was told today by Greeks in this city who knew Schinas well, because the government had closed a school of anarchism which Schinas had established.

"Schinas, I have been told by countrymen who knew him well was a much more interesting type of man than is indicated by the news dispatches," said the consul.

Queen Olga Is Prostrated By News of Husband's Death

By Associated Press.

Athens, Greece, March 19.—Queen Olga of Greece was too prostrated by news of the fate of her husband to sail for Saloniki last night, but she left today. When her sons, Prince George and Prince Andrew communicated the news of the tragedy to her, she fell fainting in their arms and only recovered to swoon again. This happened several times and physicians were called in to quiet her.

All the princes and princesses of the royal family accompanied their mother to Saloniki.

State mourning has been ordered for a period of six months, and court mourning for a year.

INJUNCTION STOPS CITY OFFICIALS IN HOUSTON

Mayor and Others are Restrained from Purchasing Water Works and Sewer Plant

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, March 19.—Judge Kitrell on petition of several of the heaviest taxpayers of the city this morning enjoined Mayor Rice and other officials from carrying out the purchase of a private water works and sewer system from the Montrose addition promoters for $47,000 which determined upon at Monday's council meeting.

Allegations are that the city is without charter authority and funds to make the deal and that efforts are

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, March 19.—Charged with defrauding banks in this country and Europe of approximately a million dollars through alleged manipulation of invoices covering hair imports, Antonio Musica and his sons, George and Philip were arrested here today. Two daughters of the elder Musica were also detained.

The party was fleeing to Colon. When searched at police headquarters

EXPOSITION WILL NOT TAKE PLACE

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS AGREE TO ABANDON PROJECT

DECISION IS UNANIMOUS

Efforts Will Now Be Centered In Entertainment of State Convention of Firemen

The proposed Merchants and Manufacturers Exposition, Prosperity Celebration and Military Tournament will not be held. It was called off at a called meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this morning upon the recommendation of the committee having the affair in charge. The vote was unanimous as was also the report of the committee.

The committee based its recommendation upon matters that had arisen making it appear inadvisable to attempt the entertainment as originally planned and it was decided best to call off the project altogether for the present at least.

The committee was given a vote of thanks for its palustaking and conscientious efforts.

The efforts of the Chamber of Commerce will now be centered in giving a royal entertainment to the visiting firemen when their State convention meets here in May.

URGES RESIGNATION OF BRITISH HOME SECRETARY

Member of Parliament Says That Suffrage Situation Calls For Strong Men

London, March 19.—Methods of the government in dealing with militant suffragettes were discussed in heated fashion in the house of commons. One of the Unionist members, Harold-Smith, declared that the passive submission of the authorities to "hunger strikes" and subterfuges had brought ridicule on administration of the law.

"The country faces mob rule," he urged, "and emergency measures are necessary. The home secretary has reduced the administration of the law to a farce. The natural consequence is that the mob is taking the law into its own hands."

"It is a disgrace to a civilized country that women are allowed openly to boast that they are criminal by conspiring to break the law and that nothing can deprive them of their liberty. The home secretary ought to proclaim unlawful the meetings of the militant suffragettes, but his only attempt to remedy the situation thus far has been a few puerile and futile efforts at forcible feeding, barbaric in their cruelty."

Mr. Smith turned upon the home secretary and dramatically demanded that he resign from the cabinet.

"You are a hopeless failure," he shouted. "This present serious state of affairs can be ended only by strong men."

New York, March 19.—The invitation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., some days ago to Lieutenant Governor O'Hara of Illinois to bring his vice and girl wage investigation to this city has been enthusiastically seconded by many persons of note in New York.

Mayor Gaynor is one of those who have been deeply stirred by the findings of the investigations in Chicago. He believes the real cause of young girls and women going wrong is the low wages paid them.

"The chief cause of the evil is to be found in our social conditions," declares the mayor. "If women and girls were paid a living wage very few of them would become immoral for pay."

"Here in New York some of these making the greatest noise on the subject are men who pay starvation wages to women who starve."

"One of the set of men who own three of the biggest department stores in this city, where girls are paid from $2.50 to $10 a week, is swaggering around saying he is going to spend millions to stop white slavery, as some people call it. My own opinion is that he ought to either raise his wages or shut up."

Rations Were Withdrawn and Convicts Mutinied—Guards Use Their Shot Guns

By Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, March 19.—News from the Clemens state convict farm near Brazoria this morning is that all is quiet after the mutiny of yesterday in which one Mexican was killed and nine or ten wounded.

It is stated that the convicts refused to work and the order was given not to feed them and when an attempt to withdraw rations was made, knives and dirks were drawn and the order was given to fire. Guards emptied their shot guns into the ranks of the convicts.

The wounded are said to be resting well, except one who had a leg shot off.

WEST TEXAS CATTLEMAN SAYS TARIFF WILL NOT HURT U. S. STOCKMEN

Will Be Raised, He Says, To Meet American Figures. Even if Tariff is Reduced.

By Associated Press.

El Paso, Texas, March 19.—"The placing of cattle on the free list by Congress will not hurt the cattlemen of the United States and will not benefit the meat eaters of the country," declared W. W. Eogel, county judge at Marfa, Texas, and a prominent Texas cattle raiser here today while attending the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association.

"Already Mexican cattlemen are stipulating in their contracts for delivery that if the United States reduces the tariff the price must be increased to them proportionately. They are not going to sell any cheaper than the American cattlemen. Free meat from South America where labor is cheaper is all that will hurt American cattlemen," Judge Eogel is a Democrat.

ALL QUIET TODAY AT NUEVO LAREDO

SHOTS HEARD TUESDAY FIRED BY BUNCH OF COWBOYS AT WORK

FEDERAL TROOPS COMING

Carrancistas Reported To Be Moving Slowly Southward, But Expecting Reinforcements

By Associated Press.

Laredo, Texas, March 19.—All is quiet here today and there are no indications of trouble.

The shots heard yesterday at Nuevo Laredo were fired by cowboys who were shooting at a steer. As far as known no Mexican soldier has appeared across the river.

American Consul Garrett and a party in an automobile reported they had been fired upon, but later stated they might have been mistaken, or an stray bullet from a cowboy's pistol caused their alarm.

The federal troops, however, continued their preparations for an attack, barricaded themselves in several strong buildings and lined the roof of the Catholic cathedral with sharpshooters.

Will P. May, a prominent stockman of this county, who owns a ranch on the Mexican side of the river, twenty miles from here, reports that Carranza and his band of rebels, who were engaged in the battle with the federals on the outskirts of Nuevo Laredo yesterday morning, spent the night encamped on his ranch. Carranza informed him that he had twenty killed and only a few wounded; that of his 350 men only seventy-five were engaged in the encounter as the remainder refused to fight, because they were in rags and without shoes and had nothing to eat for two days. Carranza stated that when he received his reinforcements he would attack Nuevo Laredo again.

This Carranza is a brother of the governor of Coahuila, who is at the head of the latest revolution. The rebel left the May ranch this morning after purchasing a few horses and proceeded southward, having with them several wounded whom they conveyed in wagons.

Col. Villareal, the commander of Nuevo Laredo, today received a telegram from Gen. Tracy Aubert at Monterey, stating that a large detachment of federals had left for Nuevo Laredo to take quarters in the Garrison there, and that from Lampazos they would make a forced march to Nuevo Laredo.

EARLY CLOSING BILL IN TROUBLE

HOUSE SUBSTITUTES MEASURE WHICH GOVERNOR WILL PROBABLY VETO

MANY BILLS ARE PASSED

Consideration of Initiative and Referendum Amendment in Progress This Afternoon

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, March 19.—The House this morning substituted for the Weimer-Reed 9:30 closing bill which has finally passed the Senate the Kennedy liquor regulation bill which Governor Colquitt is almost certain to veto if it reaches him. The governor has indicated plainly that he will approve a 9:30 closing bill only, this being in accordance with the platform.

The Senate judiciary committee No. 1 reported with an adverse majority and favorable minority report. The House bill providing for nine lynch verdicts in civil cases and the House supreme court bill which Chief Justice T. J. Brown of the supreme court favors. Adverse report was made by the committee on public health on the bill creating a state board of examiners to regulate the practice of medicine.

SENATE BILLS PASS

The House concurred in Senate amendments to the county hospital bill, thus disposing of it finally and passing it up to the governor. The House engrossed the Burgess-Harris general law which is identical with a measure which the Senate has already passed.

Final passage was given to the following Senate bills:

- Lattimore's bill requiring live stock commission merchants to make bond.
- Johnson's bill validating the incorporation of certain cities and towns.
- Townsend's wife and child amendment bill.
- Watson's bill increasing salaries of justices of the supreme court and court of criminal appeals to $5000 a year and those of judges of courts of civil appeals to $4000.
- McNealus' allowing interurban roads to build union stations and office buildings.
- McGregor's bill extending the corporation powers of municipalities to allow them to own land.
- Lattimore's bill validating certain land titles.
- Conner's bill permitting cities to sell city park property for railroad use.

CLEVELAND BIRTHPLACE DEDICATED AS MEMORIAL

House Where Late Ex-President Was Born Is Scene of Interesting Ceremony

Caldwell, N. J., March 19.—The wooden house where Grover Cleveland was born was dedicated Tuesday as a permanent memorial to the dead president. The day's formal program began with the transfer of a purse of $17,516 in payment for the house, purchased by the Groves Cleveland Birthplace Memorial Association from the trustees of the First Presbyterian church. Richard F. Cleveland, the president's son was selected to receive the key and open the front door, while his sister, Esther, was chosen as the first of the official visitors to enter the room where her father saw the light 70 years ago and decorated it with flowers. Her mother, now Mrs. T. J. Preston, was among the spectators.

The Cleveland memorial is the Presbyterian manse, which the president's family occupied when his father was pastor of the Caldwell Presbyterian church. For its purchase the memorial association raised $25,000. A movement is on foot to raise $25,000 more by popular subscription to provide for its care. Until this money is obtained the manse will continue to be occupied by the present pastor of the church.

The memorial is a two story frame structure set back from the road by two large elms. The association intends to plant it white with green trimmings and otherwise restore it to the condition it was in when occupied by the Cleverlands.

JURY IN MURFF ASSAULT CASE UNABLE TO AGREE is Divided—Hopelessly After Being Out Since Yesterday, But Is Not Discharged

Dallas, Texas, March 19.—The jury in the trial of Luther A. Murff, well known juggster man here, accused of criminally assaulting a 14 year old girl, is still divided. Judge Crawford sent for them at 10:30 this morning. The foreman told the judge that the jurors were hopelessly at variance in their opinion, and the judge again ordered them back to the jury room.

HEURY'S BILL NOT ASKING MINERAL RIGHTS TAXATION

The bill introduced in the House Saturday by Representative Henry was not a bill authorizing the taxation of mineral rights as reported in Sunday Morning's Times but was a bill entitled "An Act to grant unto guardians the right to make mineral leases for wards." This act is of vital interest to many estates in this section, as well as to oil companies desiring to take such leases. The bill has finally passed the House.

ENABLING ACT

BILL TO MAKE HOME RULE EFFECTIVE NOW GOES TO THE SENATE FOR ACTION

MINERAL RIGHTS TAX

Representative Henry Introduces Bill Authorizing Taxation of Oil Leases

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, March 15.—The House this afternoon passed finally by a vote of 87 to 9 the Kennedy enabling act which carries into effect the home rule constitutional amendment. Before passage an amendment by Leavelle, was adopted prohibiting the issuance of licenses to saloons in territory denied by the state law. The bill now goes to the Senate for action.

The Kennedy tax commission bill which had been up for consideration when the House recessed at noon was sidetracked until next Saturday.

After the House had disposed of the enabling act of the home rule constitutional amendment at the House settled down to business and with little or no debate passed finally the following House bills:

By Rowed, authorizing taxing of Texas and substituting electricity.
By Watson, of Mills, authorizing the State of Texas to cooperate with the Federal government in ascertaining the best method of the distribution and conservation of the public water for irrigation purposes.
By Gavin and Dove, authorizing the establishment of farmers public libraries.
By Henry, of Wichita, authorizing the taxing of mineral rights.

By Tarver, the supreme court jurisdiction bill which had been prepared by Chief Justice Brown and designed for the relief of that court.
By Morris, providing for teaching cotton classification in State schools.
By Parker, authorizing the sterilization of a certain class of criminals passed by a vote of 72 to 19.

By Harth, granting an extension of time to railroads, in which to complete extensions and otherwise comply with the terms of their charter by fixing the limiting the amount of stock to be authorized.
By Galt, authorizing the commission may authorize without a vote of 75 to 25.
By Oliver, making drunkenness a public offense, a misdemeanor.

By Mendell, providing for the definition of land and town lots heretofore sold for taxes.
By Watson, of Hays, providing for the condemnation of property by an incorporated city or town of property for the purpose of widening street and alleys.

By Wagstaff, providing that pure coded brands shall be evidence of ownership.
The House then adjourned until Monday morning.

The Senate this afternoon passed finally the bill by Senator Wiley perfecting the fish and game laws of the State. This is the bill which has been agreed to between game and fish Commissioner Streett and practical all of the fish and oyster interests of the coast country. The bill is designed for the protection of fish and oysters, and provides a closed season of two months.

The iron conference committee considering the congressional redistricting bill has struck a hitch somewhere and the harmony which was reported to be prevailing in the deliberation of committee has apparently vanished. The sessions of the committee are secret and no information is being given out as to what is being done but it is said that a snag has been struck in some place as to some of the North Texas districts.

The committee met during the day and this evening and tonight it was announced by Representative Kennedy a member of the committee, that a meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at the committee in the House at which time interested members of the legislature will be given a hearing.

That there will be serious opposition to the passage in the Senate of the Boehmer House bill known as the literary bill, which prohibits one person from assembling another in the preparation of a ballot was evidenced this evening in the Senate when Senator Vaughan made an effort to set the bill for consideration next Monday. The Senate declined to entertain his motion and the bill was not set. In accordance with the recommendation of the governor, Senator W. F. Morrison introduced a bill for the Senate a bill providing for the incorporation of rural credit unions of cooperative associations for the purpose of promoting thrift among their members.

Morning Proceedings in Legislature
By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, March 15.—Contrary to expectations, the House had a quorum this morning, most of the legislators returning from Fort Worth a resolution was adopted thanking Fort Worth for its hospitality. Representative Lowrey introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor with $100 fine to dance the bunny bug turkey trot and such dances. Morris of Victoria, offered a bill making a felony for an officer to fail to enforce the liquor laws. Waldmud and Schwegel introduced a bill extending the time in which corporations may pay their franchise taxes.

The House adopted a resolution to purchase 152 copies of the Texas Constitution, annotated by Assistant Attorney General Harris, for the use of legislators and accredited newspaper men. The House adopted a resolution by Morris of Victoria asking Congress to extend the benefits of the parcels post to executive and state documents to aid state libraries in the exchange of state papers.

GENERAL OJEDA WINS VICTORY

WITH 500 FEDERAL SOLDIERS HE DRIVES BACK 1000 INSURGENT ATTACKERS

MEN FOUGHT VALIANTLY

Bravery and Effectiveness of Mexican, Federals a Revelation—More Fighting Ahead

By Associated Press. Naco, Mexico, March 15.—Instead of being attacked by nearly 1000 insurgent state troops, General Ojeda with less than 500 federal soldiers went out from Naco today and defeated the enemy in a battle of aggressive fighting, peppering the enemy's line with rifle and machine gun bullets and spraying lead from snapper shells over the hills adapted as fortifications. The Huerta federal force the state forces five miles to the southwest.

Battle Not Decisive
Late today the government forces returned victorious to the Mexican border town opposite this point. Ever the victors did not believe the fighting ended, however, nor that Naco is secure from assault. The state forces assembling tonight in still greater numbers to wrest the only remaining port on the Sonora border from the hands of the Huerta national government.

With the advantage of unexpected aggression and possessing five artillery pieces, the little brown harem of soldiers defending the military honors of the new regime, fought like wild men against seeming overwhelming odds.

Not Expecting Attack
It was the group under Eliaz which first received the assault. Expecting to attack rather than be attacked, the state troops soon retreated. The other half of the constitutional forces under Prefecto Braconero rushed to their rescue and the battle was on.

For an hour, desperate fighting continued. Little by little the state troops fell back under the terrific fire of the aggressors. For a mile the insurgents pursued closely, and wounded and killed state troops to the number of 300.

On behalf of the State of Arizona Sheriff H. H. Wheeler of Tombstone stated there he no fighting at the border, as at the Nogales battle. This was the federal commander to abandon his fortifications and set out on the snowy, vice roads of the fifth and ninth United States Cavalry were on duty along the border keeping back non-combatants. The only person wounded on the American side was A. T. Hopkins, a deputy S. marshal who was shot in the head.

As at Nogales, the American volunteers in automobiles drove the first rescue wounded and Dr. Randall, of Douglas, is missing.

Porfirio Diaz at Naples
By Associated Press. Naples, March 15.—General Porfirio Diaz, ex-president of Mexico, has received many messages with full details of the situation in Mexico. He said today he hoped complete order soon will be restored. He called today on the King of Sweden who has just arrived here.

10,000 REBELS HAVE SWORN ALLEGIANCE TO HUERTA
By Associated Press. Washington, March 15.—From Mexico City come reports that 20,000 men in all have sworn allegiance to the Huerta government. The Mexican authorities appear to be confident of ending the revolution in North Mexico. They expect soon to have enough troops in those sections to quell any disturbances.

Strict Neutrality Enforced
By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, March 15.—The strictest enforcement of neutrality is in effect here. All Mexican soldiers, federal or insurgent, armed or unarmed, in uniform or in civilian dress may be arrested if they step on United States soil. This order was given today. Rebels and federals alike have been entering American border towns where they made purchases un-restrained unless armed.

A CONFESSION AS TESTIMONY
Dallas Judge Admits Statement of Defendant Given Without Being Warned

Dallas, Texas, March 15.—In the trial today of A. A. Musif, a prominent business man accused of assaulting a 12 year old girl, Probation Officer John Lowrey testified that Musif acknowledged to him, after certain associations with the child Lowrey said Musif made this alleged confession while in charge of a deputy sheriff; that the confession was never reduced to writing and was made without giving the defendant warning.

This is claimed, is the first time in the history of Dallas county, that such a confession has been admitted to the jury. This testimony was admitted after several hours examination by the prosecution, the defense and by trial Judge W. L. Crawford Jr. Lowrey's testimony was corroborated by Deputy Sheriff Harston, before whom the alleged confession was made.

Chicago Man Recently in City to Look Over Situation—Favorably Impressed
A proposition to establish a factory to manufacture paper boxes will probably be submitted the Chamber of Commerce shortly by the head of a Chicago concern, which is engaged in this business. The manufacturer in question has been in Wichita Falls recently and was favorably impressed. He believes that a large part of the output would be taken by the bottle plant and other local factories and that this would be a good location for the plant, which he says would employ more than 100 men.
Wheat straw will be largely used in the decision to come here depends upon the supply of straw available.

INTER-COSTAL CANAL IS NEARING COMPLETION

Water Highway Is Being Dug Between the Brazos and San Bernard—Rapid Progress

Freeport, Texas, March 17.—Work on the last section of the Inter-Costal Canal that remains to be dug between the San Bernard and Brazos rivers which when completed will open this inland waterway for navigation from Galveston to Corpus Christi, has in the past three days progressed at the rate of 500 feet per day.
This is not only the best progress that has been made on this section of the waterway, but a record achievement for this portion of the waterway. According to Captain Jacobson of the dredge Matagorda his dredge will be able to keep up this amount of excavating for nearly all the remaining distance which remains to be dug. This will insure the completion of the canal by the last of April or the first of May, and at the latest, thirty days before the Inter-coastal Canal celebration which is to be held June 12 and 13.

Less than four miles of the canal now remains to be dug, seven or the eleven miles of this canal between the San Bernard and Brazos rivers having been finished. As the work stands now, six miles of the gateway has been completed between, from the San Bernard eastward, and one mile to the west from the Brazos.

The Metropolitan Contracting Co. of Texas City which has the federal contract for the digging of the canal has had two dredges, the Matagorda and Velasco at work on this section. The Matagorda is now at work in Munton Lake, the middle one of a string of three lakes through which the eastern end of the canal passes. This dredge is doing the excavating while the Velasco is scouring out the waterway and perfecting the channel behind her sister dredge.

Announcement of the proposed excursion to Mineral Wells on March 26 has met, with much enthusiasm, and already a number of Wichitans have telephoned in to Acting Secretary Thomas of the Chamber of Commerce asking that their names be placed upon the excursion list.
It is expected that not less than 200 will make the trip and the number will probably be much larger. Mr. Thomas has given an order to the window glass factory for several hundred glass cases which will be carried by the excursionists to advertise Wichita Falls' newest and largest industry.

MEN WHO MADE $300,000 JEWELRY HAUL SEEN BY W.O. MAN

TUNNEL INTO BASEMENT

Tenant of Adjacent Apartments Sees Men As They Ape Driving Away With Stuffed Loot

New York, March 17.—Cracksmen who tunneled through the heavy wall into the safe of Martin Simons and Sons' pay-shed on the lower east side and stole $300,000 worth of diamonds, were seen in flight by a woman the police announced today. This woman lives in a tenement adjoining the pawn shop. She told the detectives she was going down stairs yesterday, when a strange man came up from the cellar of the tenement. He carried an acetylene lamp on his shoulder.
She followed him to the street and saw another man drive up in a light wagon. Into the wagon the first placed the lamp. He then went back to the cellar and returned in a few minutes with another lamp and a parcel done up in manila paper. He placed these in the wagon and both men drove away. The police are certain that these are the men who tunneled through the walls of the tenement foundation to the cellar of the pawnshop.
The brown parcel they believe contains a fortune in gems taken from the safe. From the woman they obtained a good description of the men. Later they took her to Rague's gallery to identify the men if possible, from the pictures of criminals on file there.

Missouri Returns Home After Extended Absence—Says Mysterious Influence Proved Him On
Springfield, Mo., March 17.—After a country-wide search had failed to find him, H. J. Fenwick, a prominent Mountain Grove business man who had been missing since December 1, 1912, returned to his home today. His return was as mysterious as was his disappearance. When it became known that he had returned, hundreds of people gathered at his home to welcome him back and learn the story of his adventures.
It became necessary to lock the doors of the Fenwick home and deny admittance to all visitors, as it was feared that the man would suffer another mental breakdown.
Fenwick is unable to explain his strange actions. His business affairs were in good shape and he was prosperous. He left home December 1 for a business trip to Mansfield, Mo. He was not seen again by his wife until today. He remembers giving the conductor his ticket and picking up a newspaper. His memory is a blank from that time till he came upon a man in a patch of woods. Thinking he was near his home he asked how far it was to Mountain Grove. He was told he was in Louisiana, 400 miles from Missouri.
His mind again became a blank. He next found himself in South Carolina, in a state of semi-consciousness he wandered from place to place. He said he had a longing for home and wrote three letters at different times to his wife. None was received and Fenwick believes he addressed them incorrectly. Some strange influence, he says, caused him to work his way toward Missouri from South Carolina, though it was not till he reached Memphis that he was able to make his real identity known to others.

ANSWERS FIRE ALARM WITHOUT SHOES OR HAT

Driver McClure's Chiropractical Operation Interrupted—Home of W. H. Ellinger Destroyed
The home of W. H. Ellinger, 1306 Thirtieth street, was destroyed by fire at about 4:29 Sunday afternoon. The building, a five room structure, and practically all of its contents were destroyed.
The fire is supposed to have originated from the electric wiring.
Fire Engine Driver McClure made the run to the fire without his shoes or his coat. He had just finished a bath and was engaged in treating a corn on one of his toes when the alarm came in. He did not take time to put on all his clothes and slid down the pole to the engine room in his bare feet. Mrs. McClure threw his shoes down after him but he did not even take time to pick them up. Once before an alarm came in while Mr. McClure was shaving. He went to the fire that time with half his face shaved and the other half lathered ready for the razor.

Meetez, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well."
One day, I decided to try some Cardui. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and I cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.
The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardui will do for sick women.
A few doses of Cardui at the right time, will save many a big doctor bill, by preventing serious sickness. It tones up the nervous system, and helps make pale cheeks fresh and rosy. Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardui. Suppose you try it. It may be just the medicine you need.

MISSOURI RETURNS HOME AFTER EXTENDED ABSENCE—SAYS MYSTERIOUS INFLUENCE PROVED HIM ON
Springfield, Mo., March 17.—After a country-wide search had failed to find him, H. J. Fenwick, a prominent Mountain Grove business man who had been missing since December 1, 1912, returned to his home today. His return was as mysterious as was his disappearance. When it became known that he had returned, hundreds of people gathered at his home to welcome him back and learn the story of his adventures.
It became necessary to lock the doors of the Fenwick home and deny admittance to all visitors, as it was feared that the man would suffer another mental breakdown.
Fenwick is unable to explain his strange actions. His business affairs were in good shape and he was prosperous. He left home December 1 for a business trip to Mansfield, Mo. He was not seen again by his wife until today. He remembers giving the conductor his ticket and picking up a newspaper. His memory is a blank from that time till he came upon a man in a patch of woods. Thinking he was near his home he asked how far it was to Mountain Grove. He was told he was in Louisiana, 400 miles from Missouri.
His mind again became a blank. He next found himself in South Carolina, in a state of semi-consciousness he wandered from place to place. He said he had a longing for home and wrote three letters at different times to his wife. None was received and Fenwick believes he addressed them incorrectly. Some strange influence, he says, caused him to work his way toward Missouri from South Carolina, though it was not till he reached Memphis that he was able to make his real identity known to others.

RULER IS ASSASSINATED WHILE AT SALONIKI TODAY

Censorship Prevents Details Being Received—Had Been In Personal Charge of Troops

By Associated Press.
 Saloniki, March 18.—King George was assassinated here this afternoon.

King George, who had taken personal command of his troops during the earlier period of the war, had been here since December, when the Turkish fortress was occupied by the Greeks after a short siege.

The Queen of Greece was also there and was paying great attention to the sick and wounded. King George December had a meeting here with King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to discuss the fate of the captured Turkish territory after the war.

King George was in his 68th year and had ruled fifty years. He was a brother of the Queen Alexandra of England and a son of the late King of Denmark. He was chosen king in 1863, in succession to Otho I. A previous attempt to assassinate him was made in 1898.

King George was married in October, 1867, to Princess Olga, eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, a brother of the late emperor Alexander II.

King George had taken personal command of the troops during the earlier period of the war.

ASSASSINATED RULER HAD EVENTFUL CAREER.

Few European rulers of modern times have had a more interesting and eventful career than George I, King of the Hellenes. He was born December 24, 1845, as the second son of Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glücksburg, who became King of Denmark in 1863 and Princess Louise, daughter of King Carl XV. of Sweden and Norway. In baptism the young prince received the name Christian William Ferdinand Adolphus George.

His father, King Christian IX., was simple Prince William, without prospects or fortune, when he entered the naval service of Denmark as a midshipman.

The young prince had made one or two cruises and was on the point of starting on another, when, in October, 1862, a revolution broke out at Athens and a revolution broke out at Patras and Vaniza which two days later reached Athens. King Otto, of the Bavarian house, who had occupied the throne of Greece for thirty years, lost his throne in three days. He calmly retired to Bohemia, where he died five years later, apparently without regretting the loss of his throne.

The European powers were puzzled how to replace Otto. The crown of the Hellenes was first offered to Prince Alfred of England, second son of Queen Victoria, but the English government declined the offer. It was then offered to Duke Ernest of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who also declined it. Then it was that at the suggestion of M. de Chaudordy, minister of foreign affairs the French government proposed to the other powers to offer the throne of Greece to Prince William, then in his teens. Russia and England approved of the choice and the other powers followed suit.

The young prince was elected King of the Hellenes by the National Assembly at Athens, March 18, 1863 and accepted the crown through his father acting as his guardian, June 4, 1863. He was declared of age by decree of the National Assembly, June 27, 1863 and landed in Greece on November 2 of the same year, greeted with enthusiasm by the population.

Dissension Marks Reign.
 The first few years of his reign were comparatively peaceful and his marriage on October 27, 1867 to Olga Constantinovna, eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, brother of the late Emperor Alexander II, greatly strengthened his position and added to the popularity of the young ruler. But the king's popularity soon became undermined by the unfortunate internal quarrels of the political parties of Greece and the boundless cupidity of the officials who maintained a spoils system that led to frequent disturbances and popular outbreaks.

Greece became involved in financial difficulties and King George was powerless to enforce the financial reforms which he advocated and urged to his parliament. Only with great difficulty did King George succeed in preventing Greece from becoming involved in war with Turkey during the troubles on the Balkan peninsula in 1876 and in 1886, after the revolution at Philippopolis and the Servo-Bulgarian war only the firm attitude of England prevented the Delianis cabinet from precipitating Greece into a war with the Porte.

Once more in 1897, trouble arose and the Delianis cabinet forced the King to go to war against Turkey, although he knew that Greece was putting into railroad business a practice that has been followed in military service. In every army and navy worth the name, since Napoleon made every field marshal, every brigadier and every colonel absolutely responsible for the unit under his command. Bonaparte got results. So has every general manager who has put this discipline into practice in the management of the transportation line. The King in adopting the new order, is assured of that service that gets to the point and gets there first.

While it doesn't cost anything for a contractor or property owner to take out a building permit, failure to do so may be penalized in any sum from $5 to $100. Under these conditions one would think that a permit but the city authorities have found several houses nearly completed in Floral Heights for which no permits had been issued. No complaints were filed in these instances but in the future the officers say they will not be so lenient.

Permits were issued this morning to J. L. Mooney for a frame house on lot 5, block 252 and to J. B. Jones for a house on lot 7, block 43, Floral Heights.

The new production of the Producers Oil Company for the past five days has been increased to 2250 barrels by the drilling in yesterday of the company's No. 3 Sheldon-brothers well, which started off at 600 barrels.

Late last week the Producers drilled in No. 4 Bywaters and No. 14 Bickley, each good for about 800 barrels, so that the Sheldon well put the new production above the 2200 barrel mark. This makes the Producers total daily production at present above 10,000 barrels, the first time it or any other company operating in this field has passed the 10,000 mark.

With this production and the scheduled early completions there are excellent prospects that Wichita county's production will be very close to 18,000 barrels by April 1, if not above it. All but a few hundred barrels of this is Electra production, the Burkburnett wells totalling at present less than 400 barrels. The recent big completions at Electra have served to keep that part of the field in the limelight, as there have been four wells in the past month with a total daily production of 3700 barrels.

It has been established that Miss Leslie told several passengers that she was unable to participate in the election because of her condition during the voyage. These facts and the position of her body when found are taken by the authorities as indications that she had a fit and died before help could reach her.

Mr. Jarouskow, owner of a glass plant at Peru, Kansas, who had been in correspondence with the Chamber of Commerce relative to the removal of the plant offered to give contributions of a fund an interest in the plant if they would aid its removal and establishment here, was present at this morning's session. Mr. Kemp explained his proposition. It was the sense of those present that the Chamber of Commerce could not give aid to the enterprise in its present form, but that if Mr. Jarouskow could interest someone with capital to take an interest in the plant then the Chamber of Commerce would extend its support. The proposition was referred back to the committee on manufacturers to try to work out a satisfactory plan.

LAW TO PREVENT WASTING OF GAS

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL ASK FOR LEGISLATION ON SUBJECT

Declaring it to be the sense of that organization that the reported wasting of gas in the Petrolia field was an outrage that should be stopped immediately, the directors of the Chamber of Commerce this morning authorized President Huff to confer with District Attorney Scurry to learn whether there was any Texas law to prohibit gas wells from being allowed to flow wild, and if there was not such a law to urge Wichita's representatives in the legislature to secure its enactment at the present session of the legislature.

This action was taken on a report believed to be reliable that a company operating at Petrolia had been permitting a five million cubic feet gas well to flow wild for more than two months. Mr. Huff will also take up the matter with the owners of the well. A number of matters were acted upon at this morning's session of the directors.

Acting Secretary Thomas reported arrangements for the excursion to Mineral Wells. It was decided to send a band with the excursionists. A committee comprised of Messrs. Pennington, O'Reilly and Leopold was appointed to assist Mr. Thomas and a representative of the passenger department of the Wichita Falls Route in securing a big representation from this city. Mr. Thomas said he believed a fare of $2.50 for the round trip would also provide for the band and for badges, canes, etc. It was also decided to ask the railroad company to provide a standard or a tourist sleeper for the accommodation of the ladies who would make the trip.

The mention of a sleeper brought up the question of asking the Fort Worth & Denver to operate a standard sleeper between Wichita Falls and Fort Worth. It was reported that the Fort Worth & Denver had adopted to do this but to help matters along a resolution was adopted requesting that this be done.

An appropriation of $200 was authorized to pay part of the salary of J. W. Campbell, agricultural demonstration agent, for the ensuing season. The expense of this work is borne jointly by the federal and county governments and the Chamber of Commerce. The industrial departments of the Fort Worth & Denver and the Katy railroads will also be asked to share in this work and bear part of the expense of soil analysis to aid in experiments in alfalfa growing.

A. I. Huey, chairman of the membership committee outlined the committee's plan for a membership campaign. It provided for a division of the business portion of the city into districts with a committee for each district and the setting apart of a special day to conduct a membership canvass. The plan was adopted and April 3 designated as membership day.

City Marshal Gwinn who is all broken out, gives some advice from the heart.

"Get vaccinated" is Chief of Police Gwinn's advice to anybody. Chief had been exposed to smallpox many times and because he had never had it he believed he never would. Recently one of his little daughters broke out with smallpox. The family was quarantined, but his head did not regard the matter with great seriousness, although he did have respect for the law not to violate the regulations. Several days after the quarantine had been raised the chief himself was taken sick and soon developed a case of smallpox. He is now well broken-out and has changed his mind about the disease. This morning he sent the advice quoted above to the officials at the city hall.

Miss Laura Crew, a Los Angeles society girl and the second Mrs. Wardell, charges that the San Francisco man married her under the name of Donald Coleman and then deserted her in Chicago after he had obtained possession of her bank account, totalling $4500. She caused his arrest and Wardell was brought back from Rochester, N. Y., today.

Wardell's first wife, who came all the way from the coast to see him, treated the real estate man affectionately. Tonight she declared she had forgiven him and was willing to take him back home.

Wardell had $3800 when he was arrested—just $700 less than the amount of Miss Crew's roll.

"I think Miss Crew will forgive him and drop the case so he can take him back," said Mrs. Wardell. "He was in so much trouble he did not know what he was doing."

This community has been blessed with three or four good rains the past week, and wheat is coming to the front very fast. Wheat has been needing rain for some time, and in fact, the rain was needed to put the ground in shape for planting, although quite a few had planted corn before the rain, but since the cold snap we suppose there will be quite a good deal to plant over.

Mr. J. R. Fowler, Mrs. Frank Fowler, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Addie Pharis, and Mrs. Levi Fowler called on Mrs. Lillie Pharis Thursday, the 13th, each presenting her with a nice piece of embroidery work. This is a club gotten up by the ladies of the community and is called the Embroidery Club. The intentions of it are, we understand, is to present each and every member of the club on their birthday, with something of the kind and spend the evening socially.

Health of the community is good at the present writing.

Charles W. Morse home MAY LIVE FOR YEARS.

New York, March 18.—Charles W. Morse, the former banker, who was pardoned by former President Taft, accompanied by Mrs. Morse, reached here today from Europe, where he has been traveling since last November. Physicians have told him he may live for years with proper care. Mr. Morse said:

"But I watch myself constantly and be careful about my diet," he added.

Mr. Morse said he intended to enter business again, but he was silent.

"GOLDEN RULE" CHIEF OF CLEVELAND DISCHARGED

Cleveland, Ohio, March 18.—Frederick Kohler, "Golden Rule" chief of police was last night found guilty by the civil service commission which sustained charges of "gross immorality," conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, and conduct subversive to good order and discipline in the police department, and immediately discharged him from office.

The charges were filed by Mayor Baker, and the trial of the chief occupied the whole of last week.

The charges involved alleged visits of Kohler to the home of Mrs. May Schearer, Feb. 2, May 23 and June 5, 1912. In the absence of her husband, O. On the last named date Schearer testified in the trial that he

WISCONSIN CONVICT FREED AFTER LONG TERM FOR MURDER

Stephon, Wis., March 18.—Edward Eckart of Pennsylvania was today paroled from the Wisconsin penitentiary after 37 years actual time served behind the bars. He was convicted of murder when 21 years old. Eckart's victim was named Sol Peterson. The two were trapping in Wisconsin during the excessive cold winter of 1875 and in a quarrel over a fire started beside the railroad track near Jefferson, Peterson was killed and Eckart was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder.

He has never admitted the crime maintaining Peterson was killed by another tramp. In the 37 years of prison confinement never a mark of demerit has been placed against him. His kin have deserted him and he does not know the whereabouts of his wife and daughters.

Without money, Eckart brought his case before the supreme court of Wisconsin and the circuit court of appeals of the United States, but was thwarted. He then appealed to a Milwaukee newspaper man, who was instrumental in obtaining his conditional release.

Chicago, March 1.—David A. Wardell, San Francisco real estate dealer and alleged bigamist, will go free if the love of his first wife can conquer the hatred of his second wife plus a deficit in the second wife's bank roll of some $700.

Miss Laura Crew, a Los Angeles society girl and the second Mrs. Wardell, charges that the San Francisco man married her under the name of Donald Coleman and then deserted her in Chicago after he had obtained possession of her bank account, totalling $4500. She caused his arrest and Wardell was brought back from Rochester, N. Y., today.

Wardell's first wife, who came all the way from the coast to see him, treated the real estate man affectionately. Tonight she declared she had forgiven him and was willing to take him back home.

Wardell had $3800 when he was arrested—just $700 less than the amount of Miss Crew's roll.

"I think Miss Crew will forgive him and drop the case so he can take him back," said Mrs. Wardell. "He was in so much trouble he did not know what he was doing."

This community has been blessed with three or four good rains the past week, and wheat is coming to the front very fast. Wheat has been needing rain for some time, and in fact, the rain was needed to put the ground in shape for planting, although quite a few had planted corn before the rain, but since the cold snap we suppose there will be quite a good deal to plant over.

Senator Wiley Purposes To Sell Present Plants and Build New One at Austin.

Austin, Texas, March 18.—A new penitentiary system is advocated by Senator Wiley, who proposes to abandon the two existing penitentiaries—he does so the more willingly in view of the losses mentioned and build a single institution that shall be different, here at Austin. He said yesterday that there is an unmistakable trend in the direction indicated by him, and his conversation with other legislators lead him to believe that it is not unreasonable to expect this legislature to take action looking to that end. He thought that Senator Wehnert, head of the senate committee on penitentiaries, was distinctly favorable to the idea.

No measure of the kind has been introduced as yet, but Wiley intimates that there might be one before long.

His idea is to sell the real estate holdings of the system and to build in connection with a power dam on the Colorado a large cotton factory to be driven by the electric power and operated in all its departments by prison labor. However, the cotton factory would be but one of many departments. In order to do away with the objection of unfair competition with free labor he would place all prison workers on the free labor wage scale, and after deducting the cost of their maintenance would pay over the rest to the family of the convict. He believes that in this way a penitentiary can be run as a business institution, as a dividends paying institution.

In this locality the institution would have the advantage of nearness to the public and the social eye and also the advantages that would accrue from proximity to a large community containing many cultured and altruistic people.

This would be to somewhat radical change, Mr. Wiley is free to admit.

JANUARY CONSUMPTION OF COTTON IS REPORTED.

By Associated Press.
 Washington, March 18.—Cotton consumed in the United States during February amounted to 466,933 running bales, including 23,091 bales of linters, compared with 533,251 bales in January and 455,287 in December. The cotton on hand February 28 was 4,209,559 bales, including 120,650 sales of linters compared with 4,180,228 bales January 31 and 4,905,135 bales in December.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION PLANS ARE TAKING FORM

500 Expected Here For Events—and Entertainment Program Is Now Being Prepared

Tentative plans for the entertainment of the State Firemen's convention, which meets here the second week in May, have been formulated by the committees in charge and it is proposed to treat the visiting fire fighters in a way that will cause them to remember Wichita Falls a long time.

On the first night of the convention the firemen will be guests at a dance on the lake, on the second night a shanty and Dutch jug band will be the guests of the city at the exposition grounds. On the second night, while the firemen are at the Dutch lunch, the ladies will be taken through the glass vortices.

Reacts are to be a feature of the convention and substantial prizes will be hung for waxon and base reel races; these prizes will be large enough to attract considerable competition, aggregating about $1000. About 1500 visitors are expected ere for the firemen's convention and the committees estimate that a fund of $2000 will be required to properly entertain them.

Well, we can conceive no objection to this proposal unless there be some objection to the hugeness of the task of examining at one time not only the army of the fourth-class postmasters, but the probably larger army of Democratic volunteers ready to supplant them.

Some legislator is threatening to introduce a bill prohibiting newspaper prize contests, and if he does his fellow legislators should vote for it. Mind you, the Times has been guilty of such things, but it is not right or just to accept the labor of the losing contestants without compensation, and this is hardly possible when it is considered that it requires about all the money received during the contest to buy the prizes for the prize winners.

DETECTIVE BURNS NEW MOVIE HERO: FOR A PART CONSIDERABLE HE APPEARS IN PHOTO-PLAY AND PLAYS HOB WITH THE VILLAIN

Detective Burns enacting the role of a great detective in photo-play.

New York, March 18.—Tempted by the biggest salary ever offered anybody to appear in a single photo play, Detective William J. Burns, America's famous sleuth, has become a hero of moving pictures. Not for long, however. He will be seen just once, in a thrilling melodrama, wherein the detective, just as in real life, runs down the horrible villains and brings them to a wretched end.

A scene representing the house of representatives in session is modestly termed by the producers the greatest achievement ever made in photo play production. As there was no studio stage in existence which would permit the construction of such a setting, the producer sent scenic artists and carpenters to Washington so that they might make accurate sketches and plans of the chamber and then reproduce the desired portion on a special outdoor stage.

WHAT THE SILO MEANS TO TEXAS

WILL PRACTICALLY REVOLUTIONIZE GROWING OF FORAGE CROPS

MANY ALREADY IN USE

Over Two Hundred in State—Value is Piped Out in Saving of Feed For Cattle

Fort Worth, Tex., March 19.—There has been introduced in Texas within the past two years one of the greatest boons that has come to modern agriculture since the first reaper was manufactured and the fact has been established beyond a doubt that the silo has secured a permanent place among the necessary equipment of a modern Texas farm.

A census recently taken by the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association shows that there are 214 silos now in use on Texas dairy, stock and other farms where feeding livestock is practiced to any extent and that the total storage capacity of all the silos in the state is 27,765 tons or an average of 129 tons per silo.

While silos have been in use at the A. & M. College dairy, Tipton ranch and by a few others in the state for several years the feeding of ensilage and the erection of silos in Texas has only become general during the last two years the majority of the total number of silos in the state being erected during 1912.

The number of silos in each county is shown in the following list: Brazos 5, Bowie 1, Brazoria 60, Bosque 2, Bell 4, Clay 3, Colorado 1, Cameron 3, De Witt 2, Denton 10, Ellis 4, Fisher 1, Galveston 6, Gregg 3, Harrison 8, Kaufman 3, Matagorda 2, Nolan 1, Neches 7, Palo Pinto 9, San Patricio 10, Tom Green 12, Tarrant 2, Travis 3, Wharton 25, Wilbarger 2, Webb 2, Williamson 2, Wichita 1.

There are four silo manufacturing concerns now operating within the borders of the state, three of which are located in Fort Worth and one in Houston. The representative of these concerns, farm demonstration agents, and the testimony of those who have proved that the silo and ensilage is no longer an experiment but the best system of growing and curing crops for feeding farm animals, is responsible for the state-wide interest now being manifested in the silo.

Results show that the silo is offering the best possible solution of the perplexing problem for feed supply and milk, butter and beef is being produced cheaper on a ration of ensilage than was possible on any other kind of food except pasture grass.

The majority of the silos erected during the past year were constructed in the Southern part of the state while a few were built in nearly every section. There are now quite a number of silos scattered over the Panhandle region, the greater number of which being in the vicinity of the Plainview country. Silos are found occasionally throughout central Texas especially near Brownwood and Temple. Brazoria county leads all other counties of the state in the number of silos in use with 60 having a total capacity of 5,900 tons. Wharton county farmers have 25 silos in use, some of which have as high as 300 tons storage capacity.

The interest manifested in the silo and the desire for a more complete knowledge of its value was clearly emphasized when this census was taken. Many farmers writing the Texas Commercial Secretaries Association for complete information on the subject. Therefore, it would probably not be out of place here to define the silo as an air tight structure used for the preservation of green coarse fodders in a succulent condition and silage or ensilage as the feed taken out of the silo.

The silo enables the farmer to preserve a larger quantity of the food materials of the original fodder for the feedings of his animals than is possible by any other method of preservation now known. It has been proved in the dairy states that where the silo has been in use for several years producing capacity of the farm is increased at least ten per cent, and of the acreage a 150 acre farm with a silo will produce as much revenue as one of 180 acre without it. As compared with the producing value, the cost of constructing the silo is small—wooden or stave silos are the most generally used in Texas cost from $150 to $3 per ton capacity, while those of stone, brick or cement from $2 to $4. The average size of the silo in this state is from 90 to 150 tons. To hold 100 tons of silage the structure must be about 14 feet in diameter and 32 feet high. As the silage is always fed from the surface of the stored mass it is necessary that the diameter be such that the surface layer be fed off every day if the feeding is done in warm weather. Therefore, the diameter of the silo will vary from ten to fifteen feet to meet the demands of the herd.

The life of the silo is generally dependent upon the initial cost and materials used. A silo might be built for $150 which would last ten years. The cost exclusive of the upkeep being $15 a year. With the use of better materials or construction on the same size silo its life might be increased to twenty years at an additional outlay of perhaps $50, which it is readily seen is much cheaper per year. Quality usually goes hand in hand with price and the farmer who can afford it should not make the mistake of building anything but the best if he wishes to economize to the greatest advantage.

Sorghum is a sure crop in Texas and produces a fine quality of ensilage if it is planted early, two good crops may be secured on the same ground if the stubble is cultivated after the first crop is cut off. A recent bulletin of the Texas Experiment Station at A. & M. College states that the crops most desirable for the silo in Texas are corn, sorghum, cow peas, alfalfa and ribbon cane tops. Indian corn is the crop most generally used while sorghum, kafir and milo maize are used extensively. These four crops are sometimes planted in rows together, the result being a mixed silage of high quality.

From reports from Farm Demonstration Agents in all sections of Texas, the year 1913 will witness the number of silos in use at present doubled. The largest order for silos ever given in this year was placed in January of this year by Mrs. Henrietta King, owner of the King Ranch in South Texas, which is reputed to be the largest ranch in the world. The order is for 45 silos from the McIure company of Texas, located in Fort Worth. It will require fifteen cars to handle the material which will cost $25,000. The total amount of ensilage which these silos will hold will be approximately 10,575 tons and will feed 5,000 head of beef.

The bureau of animal industry of the United States Department of Agriculture estimated that five per cent of the 1911 corn crop of the United States was used for silage. Assuming that the average silo had a capacity of 100 tons, it would take 266,679 silos to hold five per cent of the 1911 corn crop. Helmer Rahld in charge of the dairy farming investigation bureau of the Department of Agriculture puts forth the following arguments in favor of silos as an ensilage.

"Silage keeps your stock thrifty and growing all winter. It enables cows to produce milk and butter more economically. Silage is more convenient than corn, and is more palatable. The silo keeps waste of corn stalks, which contain about one-third of the feed value of the entire crop. The silo makes palatable feed out of material that would not otherwise be eaten. It enables a large number of animals to be maintained on a smaller number of acres. It is the most economical method of supplying feed for stock during the hot dry periods in summer when the pasture is short."

The animal husbandry department of the A. & M. College of Texas have conducted a series of feed tests with ensilage and other methods of feeding their dairy herd and have found that the best results were obtained from a ration of ensilage.

U. S. ARMY TRYING WICHITA TRUCKS

WANTS THEM FOR AERO SQUAD AND IS MAKING TESTS

Man Who Has "Traveling "Movie" Buys Trucks Here With Which to Transport Apparatus

A Wichita Truck is being used by the Aero squad of the United States Army and is giving such good satisfaction that the government is negotiating for the purchase of five of these trucks.

Jack Culbertson, manager of the local plant, has just returned from Texas City, where he went to make a test of the truck for the government. The truck was shipped in response to a telegraph order. He says the army fliers are preparing to attempt a flight from Texas City to San Antonio and expect to break the world's record for a single continuous flight.

Carry Moving Pictures. New uses are being found for the Wichita Truck constantly and it is making good in all of them. The latest and most novel use to which they have been put is as the home of a moving picture show. The term "moving" is used in a double sense. A Mr. Ayes, proprietor of Ayer Overland Shows, recently placed an order for two Wichita Trucks. These trucks will be equipped with a complete motion picture outfit and will carry a piano and will also be the homes of the show people while the shows are on the road. Electric current for the picture machines will be generated from the truck's motor.

The two trucks ordered by Mr. Ayes are to be ready for delivery by May 1, when they will be started on tours that will take them to the Canadian line and back. Orders so far received for the Wichita Trucks have averaged more than one a day for each day in March so far.

TUMULTY, SECRETARY TO THE PRESIDENT, GROWS IN POPULARITY AT THE CAPITAL

Washington, March 18.—Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, has endeared himself to official Washington by his genial personality. They say he's the most popular president's secretary since the Roosevelt days, when William Loeb held the post.

Tumulty is a hard and efficient worker, too, and President Wilson considers himself pretty fortunate.

It is part of the secretary's job to stand as a buffer between the president and the office-seeking politicians. Tumulty's task, therefore, since his arrival in Washington has not been an long sweet dream. The politicians have swarmed around the White House and President Wilson has refused to see any of them. Tumulty was secretary to President Wilson when the latter was governor of New Jersey. What Wilson didn't know about the Jersey politicians the blond young Irishman did and when the governor decided upon a course of action he found he could depend upon Tumulty to carry out his plans regardless of opposition.

It was not until he was nominated for governor of New Jersey that Dr. Wilson met Mr. Tumulty. The young man had previously served four terms in the New Jersey assembly under the patronage of the then powerful Bob Davis, boss of Hudson county. Tumulty was secretary to Davis when he found that his independence in legislative matters and his refusal to blindly follow the orders of Davis had so seriously impaired his law practice that it was necessary for him to quit politics to make proper provision for himself and family.

It was that independence that was attracted the attention of Dr. Wilson to him and after becoming thoroughly acquainted with Tumulty in the campaign of 1910, he made him his private secretary.

Tumulty made his debut in politics in Jersey City while he was yet a student in St. Peter's college, addressing Democratic meetings. He was a good talker—he won the gold medal for oratory in his class in 1898—and he continued speech making while he was studying law in the ensuing four years.

One year later he married Miss Catherine Byrne, with whom he attended St. Bridget's Parochial school. They have six children—four girls and two boys—and Mr. Tumulty says the only drawback about politics is that it keeps him away from his little ones too much.

Maverick county, has been materially improved in quality by washing. In 1911 there were 37,000 tons put through washers, yielding 130,375 tons of clean coal and 6,625 tons of refuse. Coal mining in Texas in 1911 was practically free from labor trouble. As a usual thing bituminous mines are worked 8 hours per day and the lignite 10 hours. Only 60 men were out on strike and the time lost by them aggregated 300 days, an average of 5 days per man, while in 1910, 1776 men were out on strike for 108,230 days.

Texas Production. The Federal Government has not yet made its estimate of the coal production for 1912, but from information furnished the Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association by various coal companies operating in the state the production for that year is estimated at 2,900,000 tons, valued at approximately $3,100,000.

The first coal production in Texas recorded by the United States Geological Survey was in 1884, when the output was 125,000 tons, but since that time the production has increased 1,500 per cent. The following table shows the growth of the industry in Texas during the past quarter century. The figures are the official estimates of the Federal Government and the unofficial approximation of the 1912 output is eliminated.

LITTLE JOSEPHINE-COTHRAN, WHITE HOUSE BABY, GIVES FIRST TEA PARTY; COUSINS VIRGINIA AND WILSON HOWE AMONG GUESTS

Left to right: Josephine Cothern, Virginia Peyton Cothern, Wilson Howe and Elizabeth Wilson. Baby Josephine Cothern, entertained at a tea party in the green room of the White House a few days ago. Her guests were her little cousins, Virginia and Wilson, the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Howe, and Mrs. Alfred W. Howe. The tea table and chairs, as well as the dainty refreshments, were brought down from the attic where they had been stored since the baby's birth. "Baby Joe" sat at the head of the table, and the other girls and the grand-nieces and the grand-nephew of Woodrow Wilson for the occasion.

130 MINERS IMPRISONED, BUT RESCUE IS LIKELY

Coal Mine in Kentucky Caves in Shutting Off Escape, But None are Believed Killed

Associated Press. Henderson, Ky., March 18.—One hundred and thirty coal miners are imprisoned today in a coal mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., at Baskets near here. The cause of a cave in which has clogged the mouth of the mine. Reports from the mine state that though the men have been unable to make their way out through the air shaft there have been no fatalities.

It is expected the men will be rescued late this afternoon.

SEVENTY WARRANTS ON ARSON CHARGES ISSUED

Insurance Companies Said to Have Been Heavily Swindled and Many Arrests Expected

Associated Press. Chicago, March 18.—Seventy warrants were issued today in connection with the arson frauds by means of which insurance companies have been swindled out of millions of dollars. Assistant State Attorney Johnston said that at least an equal number of warrants would be taken out later.

EXTENT OF TEXAS COAL INDUSTRY

THIS STATE RANKS TWENTY-SECOND IN PRODUCTION OF MINERAL

FROM NINETEEN COUNTIES

Lignite is Mined Extensively—Output Totals Approximately Two Million Tons Per Year

Fort Worth, Texas, March 18.—There are 10,200 acres of land in Texas that contain workable coal, and at the present rate of mining the supply will last 15,500 years, as the coal deposits of this state are estimated at 39,967,000,000 tons, in a report just issued by the United States Geological Survey.

Compared with other states, Texas ranks twenty-second in coal production, the output for 1911 being 1,974,593 short tons which had a mine value of $3,272,288, which is the largest production on record for the state. The Texas production for 1910 is estimated at 1,892,176 tons and valued at about $3,160,965.

Fifty-three per cent of the 1911 production was of the bituminous variety 45 per cent lignite and 2 per cent was semi-bituminous. The following table shows the number of tons of each class of coal mined in Texas in 1911.

Lignite	890,641
Semi-bituminous	32,094

Total 1,974,593

Texas was a notable exception in the matter of coal production in 1911 to the generally decreased output throughout the United States. Moreover, it was one of two states in which coal mining is an important industry whose production in 1911 was the maximum. Pennsylvania is the other state in which the 1911 production broke all previous records. Coal mining in Texas is confined to 19 counties. In 1911 approximately 1,907,655 tons of bituminous were mined in the counties of Eastland, Erath, Maverick, Palo Pinto, Webb, Wise and Young. The remainder of the output, which consisted of mostly lignite, came from Bastróp, Hopkins, Houston, Lee, Leon, Medina, Milam, Rains, Robertson, Titus, Van Zandt and Wood counties. Palo Pinto is the most important bituminous county and Wood county leads in the output of lignite, the production for 1911 being 244,520 short tons. Texas is the only state in which bituminous coal and true lignite, or "brown coal," are produced in any material quantity. The increased production of coal and lignite in 1911, as in 1910, may be attributed to the growing population and industrial development of the state, which consumes not only its own production, but large quantities shipped from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Colorado New Mexico and other states.

The Men Employed. The number of men employed in the coal and lignite mines of Texas in 1911 was 5,363, who worked on an average of 234 days, against 4,197 men and an average of 234 days in 1910. The bituminous mines operated 230 days in 1911 and furnished employment to 4,027 men, while the lignite mines employed 1,316 men for an average of 268.5 per year or 1.17 per day in the bituminous mines and 636.8 tons per year and 3.19 tons per day in the lignite mines. The general averages were 369 tons per year and 1.63 tons per day per man.

The quality of coal mined by machines in Texas is relatively small, amounting in 1911 to 71,085 short tons, or 3.6 per cent of the total. Operators of mines in which machines are not used were for the most part unable to report for 1911 the percentage of their product mined by hand or shot off the solid. The tonnage for which the mining methods were reported represented 45.6 per cent of the total output, most of the reports stating that no account was kept or separation made of the coal shot from the solid or hand mined. Of the tonnage reported, however, 75 per cent was hand mined and 25 per cent was shot down without being mined. This record is highly favorable as compared with some of the other states in

KEEP CLOSE WATCH UPON FRIEDMANN'S PATIENTS

Daily Bulletins to be Issued on Progress of Cases Given Anti-Tuberculosis Serum

By Associated Press. New York, March 18.—The progress of the twelve persons who received Dr. Friedmann's treatment for tuberculosis at Bellevue hospital yesterday will be told the public by a daily series of bulletins. The first of these bulletins will not be issued for a week, as no change in the condition of any of the sufferers is expected within that time.

Dr. Friedmann has been refused permission by the medical authorities of the city to give his treatment except in connection with certain hospitals. Since his arrival here hundreds of sufferers have besought him to aid them.

"Many of these people have come from out of town and they can not be taken into the city hospitals because they do not live here," Dr. Friedmann declared.

He told of a victim of the disease who had laid siege daily to Dr. Friedmann at his hotel for ten days. "This man," he continued, "has a temperature of 104 and 105 and is walking about the streets. He may drop dead in the street, but we can not help him. Dr. Friedmann can treat only cases in hospitals and those under care of Government physicians.

"There are hundreds of persons in New York to whom he wants to give his treatment for the benefit of humanity, but his hands are tied. He is eager to treat those patients, rich and poor alike, without charge. It is a crime not to allow him to do so."

A dozen persons suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis received the treatment at Bellevue. All were in advanced stage. Some of the scores who waited outside in the vain hope that they might begin the treatment came in automobiles. All were turned away and only the cases previously selected came to his attention.

PEACE IN SIGHT ON REDISTRICTING

AGREEMENT EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON—OIL MEASURE FIGHT IN HOUSE

RESCIND FORMER ACTION

Consolidation of Wire Properties Passes—Senate Agrees to Increase in Salaries of Judges

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, March 21.—There probably will be a unanimous report on a congressional district from the conference committee this afternoon. The Senate has concurred enough to get the House to agree.

The House today argued during the entire morning on the House bill by Stevens of Liberty and by Bagby proposing to give oil holders the right to own barges and hold stock in other corporations. The bill had been passed yesterday after it had been passed and an effort was made by Stevens to send it back to the Senate.

However, the fight resulted in the bill not only being recalled finally, but the House rescinded the action by which it had been passed finally and placed the bill back at the engagement stage, making its final passage at this session more than doubtful.

Standard Oil Influence. It was on this bill that Stevens said he believed Standard oil interests had begun opposition. The House did not take this view and majority seemed to think that there was a joker in it, or at least that it should be more carefully considered.

Llewelling favored killing the bill. Mills opposed it. McDaniel said he would apologize for having voted for it, Hunter spoke against it, Rogers quoted the attorney general's department by saying that it is a vicious bill.

The House adopted the free conference report on the bill allowing consolidation of telegraph and telephone lines. This report makes the bill applicable more strictly to local telephone exchanges after the city council gives consent and provides that with consolidation there shall be no increase in rates. The House adopted the free conference report on the marital rights bill.

School House Bill.
The Nugent bill to protect timber workers by giving them a lien was passed to third reading after it had been amended by Kirby so that saw-mill and logging camp workers would also have a lien on timber for their wages.

The House then took up the Brelsford bill giving those forgetting school land the preference right to repurchase it within twenty days.

The Senate this morning took up practically all morning arguing the House bill regarding the construction and equipment of school houses costing more than $400 as to ventilation, heating and fire protection. The bill was amended to provide that local school trustees may have a certain amount of liberty in providing heating apparatus.

Senate Proceedings.
The Senate rescinded its action in which it had refused to concur in House amendments to the Watson bill increasing supreme court and court of criminal appeals judges' salaries to $5000 a year and appellate judges to $4000. As soon as the House discharges its free conference committee, the Senate will concur.

The Senate passed finally Weinert's bill for rural credit. A bill was passed creating a special district for Liberty, Montgomery, Chambers, Hardin and Polk and San Jacinto counties; this bill came from the House. Before passage it was amended to make it expire December 1, 1914.

The Senate adopted the conference report on the final draft of the resolution allowing the University and penitentiary to issue bonds and providing for bonded warehouses.

SAN ANTONIO LAWYER IS NEW FEDERAL ATTORNEY

J. L. Camp Appointed by Attorney General McReynolds for Western District of Texas

Washington, March 21.—Attorney General McReynolds announced after today's cabinet meeting that J. L. Camp of San Antonio, Texas, will be appointed United States attorney for the Western District of Texas.

J. L. Camp has been an attorney at San Antonio for a number of years being a graduate of the law department of the State University. He is a Democrat. He succeeds District Attorney Burgess who resigned several weeks ago.

FATHER CONVICTED ON TESTIMONY OF HIS SON

Found Guilty of First Degree Murder on Evidence of Twelve Year Old Boy

By Associated Press. New York, March 21.—With 12-year-old Frank Spear as the chief witness against his father in the latter's trial for killing his wife, the prosecution yesterday brought about the conviction of Alexander Spear, aged 41, for murder in the first degree. The jury was impressed by the son's testimony—that his father took him on his knee, and with the aid of a knife and an apple, showed the boy how he would cut his wife's throat. The jury deliberated less than half an hour. Spear was the only defense witness. He laughed as he denied his son's story.

$45,000 IN SECURITIES IS LOST BY NEW YORKER

Pickpockets Get Away With Valuable Bundle From Magazine Man on Subway

By Associated Press. New York, March 21.—W. A. Hall, president of a magazine company, was robbed of $45,000 worth of negotiable securities. The theft became known today through an advertisement offering a large reward for the return of the papers, with no questions asked.

Mr. Hall was going from Wall street to the Grand Central Station to deliver the securities which he had just insured. He had placed them in an inside pocket. When he stepped off the train he found the securities missing.

He remembered that three men had jostled him in the train. He declared he will not prosecute the thieves if they return the securities.

TWO CONVICTS KILLED IN EFFORT TO ESCAPE

Ramsay State Farm Scene of Trouble Among Prisoners and Fatal Results are Reported

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, March 21.—Information reaching here this afternoon from Bonnie is that two negro convicts were killed and one or two others wounded in an attempt to escape from the state farm at Ramsay. It is said the attempt to escape was general and that drastic measures were resorted to quell it. Details are lacking.

DISCUSS INVESTMENTS OF CABINET MEMBERS.

London, March 21.—The ethics of investments by cabinet ministers is widely discussed in connection with the deals in wireless shares admitted by Sir Samuel Isaacs, the attorney general and Herbert J. Samuel, postmaster general.

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, invited Premier Asquith in the house of commons to make a statement outlining his position in the matter. The premier replied that it had not occurred to him that it was his duty to make any statement.

Bonar Law then said he "had hoped the premier would take a different view," adding, "perhaps he will reconsider his position." To enable him to do so, I will repeat my question next Tuesday.

DR. FRIEDMANN'S WORK HINDERED

PENNSYLVANIA WILL NOT GRANT HIM TEMPORARY LICENSE THERE

CAN COME AS CONSULTANT

Demonstration of Anti-Tuberculosis Serum Will Probably Be Made in Philadelphia

By Associated Press. Philadelphia, March 21.—No temporary medical license will be granted by the Pennsylvania state board of medical examiners to Dr. F. F. Friedmann of Berlin, who says he has discovered a tuberculosis cure. The president of the board of health made this announcement today. He said:

"We never will grant Dr. Friedmann a temporary license. If he wishes to come here and treat cases and collect fees, he will be compelled to take the state board examination. We do not object, however, to his coming as a consulting physician and demonstrating his serum and I think every physician in the city will welcome him if he should come under those conditions."

JACKSBORO-SALESVILLE LINE IS COMPLETED THURSDAY

Jacksboro, Texas, March 21.—The Jacksboro-Salesville extension of the Gulf, Texas & Western railroad was completed Thursday and connection made with the Mineral Wells road. The event will be celebrated at Mineral Wells March 26, for which special excursion trains will be run from Seymour, Wichita Falls, Jacksboro and Graham. Regular service will begin on the following day. Traffic arrangements have been made with the Mineral Wells road and the Texas & Pacific so that through passenger and freight service will be had into Fort Worth and Dallas. The Gulf, Texas & Western now has 100 miles of track extending from Seymour on the west to Salesville on the east. This connection makes a new western outlet for Fort Worth and Dallas.

ANTI-FREE LUNCH LAW TO SAVE $250,000 ANNUALLY

Jefferson City, Mo., March 21.—Governor Major has signed a bill making it unlawful for saloons to serve free lunches. The bill was urged by the St. Louis Retail Liquor Dealers' Association. It was said its enforcement would save St. Louis saloon keepers $250,000 a year.

En Route to Mexico City to Be Tried, Taken Out of Railroad Car and Shot

By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, March 21.—Mexicans arriving at Juarez today declared they were part of a firing squad which executed Governor Abraham Gonzalez of Chihuahua two weeks ago. They say he was killed under the notorious fugitive law. They say he was killed before arriving at Torreón, while en route from Chihuahua to Mexico City, where he was to be tried for an alleged revolutionary plot.

At Jimenez he was separated from six other prisoners, placed alone in a single car and started south. At a quiet place near Torreón he was removed from the car and shot.

Gonzales was one of the most prominent promoters of the Madero revolution and was well known among American cattlemen before the revolution.

Montenegro and Austria at odds. Latter reported to be preparing ultimatum to former. Conditions at Scutari. Montenegro's reply to protest said to be caused of action in threatened difficulty. Vienna, March 21.—The Austro-Hungarian government is preparing an ultimatum to Montenegro, according to an official statement today. It is said the ultimatum was decided upon owing to the unsatisfactory nature of Montenegro's reply to Austria's protest about conditions at Scutari.

The Austrian minister at Cetinje was instructed to inform the Montenegrin government that it must comply with the following: Free exit from Scutari of all non-combatants. Explanations of the death of a Catholic priest and named Pale, who was said to have been slaughtered because he opposed violent conversions of prisoners. Violent conversions must cease instantly. Full satisfaction must be given for the violence shown by Montenegrins and Servians at San Giovanni di Medua toward the crew of an Austrian merchant vessel. Part of the Austrian fleet has already left for the Montenegrin and Albanian coasts, and while it is officially announced that the object of the warships is to carry out maneuvers, it is apparent that their presence is designed to impress Montenegro and Serbia with the determination of Austria to prevent the further cannonading of the civilian section of Scutari and to obtain satisfaction for the alleged forcible conversion of Catholics and interference with the Austrian steamer Skodra.

The Montenegrin delegate in London, M. Popovitch, speaking for his government, describes as untrue and trivial the incidents for which Austria is demanding satisfaction. But whatever truth or importance they have, the bitterest feeling on the part of Austria has been aroused and the press and public of Austria-Hungary are demanding action.

The Austrian official account says that the Montenegrins are trying to destroy the town of Scutari and that shells, instead of being aimed at the fortress, are directed against the town, where the citizens are in a state of panic, some of them taking refuge in the cathedral.

AUTOS ARE USED TO CARRY BOOZE

WEBB LAW STOPS RAILROAD SHIPMENTS INTO OKLAHOMA TOWNS

Liquor May Be Expressed "For Personal Use" But Is Subject To Many Formalities and Delays

Since the enactment of the Webb law relative to the interstate shipment of liquor, there has been a marked falling off in the express and railroad shipments of intoxicants into Oklahoma and a corresponding increase in the personal conveyance of such goods.

Automobiles are now being extensively used by bootleggers, according to information from Oklahoma points and the stuff is even being hauled across the river in farm wagons.

The railroad and express companies are still handling shipments of liquor into Oklahoma where it is certified the liquor is intended for personal consumption, but at a good many Oklahoma points the officers require the consignee to make affidavit concerning the "personal use" before they will allow the stuff to be delivered.

Even when such an affidavit has been made some of the officers have been slow in being convinced as to the sincerity of the affiants and have delayed its delivery for several days.

These tactics have had the effect of forcing most of the "bootleggers" either to carry the liquor across the river in suit cases on passenger trains or to use automobiles in their illicit trade.

DERAILMENT ON DENVER JUST SOUTH OF ELECTRA

Oil Cars Leave Track But No Passengers are Hurt—Train Strikes Open Switch

Northbound Fort Worth & Denver passenger No. 1, the through train leaving here at 1:50 was derailed about a mile and a half south of Electra at about 3 o'clock this afternoon and all the coaches left the track. None of them, however, turned over and reports both from Electra and the Fort Worth & Denver dispatcher's office here say that no one was injured more than being shaken up or scratched.

At the Fort Worth & Denver offices here the cause of the derailment was not known but a telephone message from Electra says the train hit an open switch. This report, however, is from an unofficial source.

It will probably require a number of hours to get the coaches back on the track and most of the passengers are reported to be walking to Electra.

"THE SEALED TOMB" SUBJECT OF DR. McKEE TONIGHT

"The Sealed Tomb" will be the subject of Dr. J. L. McKee's sermon at the First Presbyterian Church at 7:45 tonight. This will be the last of a series of services preparatory to Easter. There was a good attendance at last night's meeting.

A storm which swept parts of Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee Thursday night caused a score or more deaths and many thousand dollars property damage, according to reports received by the Associated Press. Wires are down in many parts of the stricken territory and the full extent of the casualties and damage has not been ascertained.

FIVE REPORTED KILLED AT POPULAR BLUFF, MO.

By Associated Press. Memphis, Tenn., March 21.—Five persons were killed and more than fifty injured by the storm last night at Poplar Bluff, Missouri, according to members of the train crew of a St. Louis & San Francisco railroad passenger train arriving here today. They also reported one dead and twenty-five injured at Hoxie, Arkansas, and the town practically blown away.

Great damage was done in the country between Poplar Bluff and Hoxie. During the storm a big wave in the Mississippi river sank the United States steamer Vulcan, part of the dredge fleet. She was sunk in forty feet of water; she was valued at $10,000.

ONE MAN IS KILLED AT SABINE, LOUISIANA.

By Associated Press. Shreveport, La., March 21.—One man was killed, several persons were injured and heavy property damage was done at Sabine, Louisiana, a town of about 300 inhabitants, by last night's windstorm.

NEGRO WOMAN IS KILLED IN STORM NEAR TYLER.

By Associated Press. Tyler, Texas, March 21.—A negro woman was killed near here and a white child was injured at Winona, in a severe windstorm throughout Smith county last night. Many houses were damaged and telegraph and telephone wires were blown down. The city of Tyler was not in the storm zone. Fruit has not been hurt by last night's cold.

INDIANAPOLIS SCENE OF HEAVY STORM DAMAGE.

By Associated Press. Indianapolis, Ind., March 21.—A score or more of persons were injured and thousands of dollars damage done today by the most severe wind storm in Indiana in years. The wind velocity at 6 o'clock was 60 miles an hour. The streets here are littered with wreckage of all sorts.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT SAYS FOURTEEN KILLED

By Associated Press. Mobile, Ala., March 21.—An unconfirmed report from Lower Peachtree on the Alabama river says fourteen people were killed and an immense amount of damage done by a tornado at that place last evening.

BIRMINGHAM STRUCK BY HURRICANE THIS MORNING

By Associated Press. Birmingham, Ala., March 21.—A hurricane accompanied by rain struck Birmingham at 3 o'clock this morning, doing considerable property damage and causing one of the iron foundries to close down on account of damage to furnaces.

DRILLERS IN AMARILLO FOR THREE GAME SERIES

Boys Will Play Panhandle Team Today, Tomorrow and Sunday, Returning Monday

"Duke" Morris took his Drillers up to Amarillo this morning for a series of three games with the team at that place this afternoon, tomorrow afternoon and Sunday. The team will be brought back to Wichita Falls Monday morning.

Morris had his doubts about the weather at Amarillo yesterday and telephoned to the manager there yesterday afternoon. The Amarillo man told him a south wind was blowing and that the temperature was rising steadily.

GENERAL CHANGES IN CONSTITUTION POSSIBLE.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 21.—That the Oklahoma Constitution may be opened up for general revision or amendment seems a possibility and such an undertaking is in the hands of a number of the members of the senate at least, when a committee of the senate was elected Thursday afternoon to confer with Governor Cruce and ascertain if he is willing to allow the introduction of such resolutions or whether he will make restrictions similar to those in recommending certain laws in legislative matters.

If the governor does not place any limit on resolutions of this nature it is possible, from the fact that many amendments have already been proposed changing the constitution, that numerous others will be introduced.

Effective Car-Stop Scream Introduced by Child

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Passengers on a crowded Holiday car about 12:30 p. m. the other day were greatly alarmed by a child's piercing screams as the car began to move after a stop at Clara avenue.

Men and women who had been lucky enough to secure seats sprang to their feet and struggled for a view of the rear platform, from whence the shrieks came.

A rush which might have resulted in a panic was averted only because the congested condition of the car precluded any rushing.

As the shrieks rang out the conductor grabbed the bell rope and gave the motorman the "stop-quick" signal.

The crew and passengers alike waited breathlessly to learn the cause of alarm.

Male passengers, smoking on the rear platform, performed the seemingly impossible and cleared a passage to the steps, through which walked a matron leading a girl about seven years of age, from whose eyes the tears were welling.

"Ain't you ashamed of yourself?"

the woman was demanding. "They were leaving you behind," the child sobbed.

As the car moved on again those passengers nearest the steps explained the situation.

The woman and the child, presumably her daughter, were running to catch the car. Youth led in the race and the child boarded the car first. The woman was several yards behind and the conductor did not see her and gave the signal to start the car before she had boarded it. The near-kidnaping, which then was threatened, was prevented by the child's effective unusual method of stopping the car. She just screamed.

Bold Lions of Gorongoza

READY FOR LION HUNT.

THOUGH they are gradually retreating before the advance of white men in the shape of sportsmen, these are too few a present to threaten the lions of the Portuguese Territory in East Africa with any serious diminution in their numbers—at least, when these live far from the railway. But they are gradually retreating, further into the great plains or tundras or into the Urema Flats, writes W. L. Puxley in Field.

But by far the best place for them now is in the thick bush upon the slopes of the Gorongoza range, where they are practically unmolested by the guns of the few English who go to the territory, for these, as a rule, avoid the heights and keep to the plains, where the game is far more abundant, though perhaps not so varied in character as upon the high veld. Therefore, except when one of the few Portuguese officials goes upon a hunting expedition there, which is not often, the lions have it all their own way, and they have become so numerous upon the mountains that they have gradually thinned the game, and are now in consequence obliged to go farther afield for their food, and are a terror to the natives, who dare not go along the dreaded road to Sena except in large numbers, and if they have to pass a night upon the dreaded road, or rather track, which skirts the mountains, they keep a sharp lookout and make sounds which compare unfavorably with the roars of the lions. Even so, if any native wanders from his companions, or lingers behind, it is pretty certain that before long he will fall a victim to the savage beasts, and only his remains will ever be seen.

The Portuguese commandant of the province has several times been obliged in the course of his official business to travel along the road to Sena, which seems to be a synonym for lion hunting, and when I was staying with him a few months ago, he related some of his experiences while traveling. It appears that, having to spend one night on the way to his destination, he arrived at a small native village and made his camp near it.

Lions in the Camp.
 "All at once," he said, "the boys came into my tent and told me that two, or perhaps three, lions were in the camp, and, thinking they were too near to be pleasant, I resolved to pass the rest of the night in the village. Therefore, leaving all our provisions and stores as they were, I spent the night in one of the huts, while the boys arranged themselves in the others. Next morning at dawn we went back to the camp and found that after we left, one of the lions had sprung upon my tent in search of human food, and finding his prey had escaped, he and the others had turned upon the stores and literally wrecked them. Flour and other necessaries lay scattered all over the ground, and our cases of provisions had been torn open, and all that could prove to be food for the hungry lions had been devoured, the rest being rendered useless. It would seem that the beasts had acted in revenge, for whatever was of no use to them had been mauled past repair, and we had nothing whatever left either to eat or to use. Lions seem to act in this way when balked of their prey."

"Once I was traveling to the railway at Bamboo creek, when a lion, which had evidently been watching our movements from the long grass which grows on either side of the track, quietly crossed the path close behind my machilla. These animals do not like the look of a machilla, which they do not understand, and, therefore, when a white man is traveling, they allow this to pass; but in this case—and it has happened to other whites as well—the animal calmly trotted across the track between the machilla and the next boy, who was a short distance behind, never molesting the latter, but going on after his prey.
 "Mr. Bartb, who owns a plantation on the Paagwe, told me that a lion comes to drink every evening from the tank not ten yards from where he is lying close to his open window, and the beast acts exactly like a huge cat, watching him closely while drinking with his great yellow eyes, and after drinking his fill, the lion flicks his lips and walks off into his fastnesses, without disturbing the watcher in the least, for in that district the game is still plentiful, and the lions, therefore, do not molest the white men.

A Venturesome Old Lioness.
 "Once we shot a fine lioness in our compound, close behind the house. In this case she had grown incapable of going after the game from her haunts upon the mountain sides opposite, and her teeth were gone for the most part, owing to her age. Therefore, she could no longer compete with the younger lions, as game is getting scarce there, and most of the buck remaining there are small kinds, which do not satisfy a lion for long. In this case, the lioness had ventured to the compound for the sake of the goats and chickens, and we shot her as she was in the act of killing a goat, several of which she had mauled. I still have the head, but the animal was long past her prime, though her head was a large one. Sometimes the natives show the greatest bravery when they are faced by a lion, for they have only their assegais and other side weapons, but even so they will sometimes make a determined stand against a hungry lion, and will act together so well as to keep the lion from killing any of their number. In this way they obtain the teeth and claws which are so often offered you in the villages you pass through on your way.

At present," he concluded, "the bush is so thick upon the mountain sides and the lions so numerous that no white man should go after lions single-handed; but if two or more were to come here together they would be almost sure of splendid sport, as the natives know pretty well the exact spots where the lions have their haunts, and are only too willing and anxious to point these out, so that they shall be rid of their powerful enemies."

As the cobbler stepped into his shop his scold of a wife started to lecture him unmercifully for coming in late.

"Be quiet, Zenobia," said he affably. "Today I have had a great stroke of luck. Coming home I met a fairy who had lost her way. I put her on the right track and out of gratitude she presented me with this pair of slippers. Whoever puts on the left one becomes invisible. Then if you put on the right one you reappear. You will see that this present is very valuable because we will be able to make lots of money with it."

Zenobia became still and stood over some with curiosity in front of her husband.

"Come," said he, "let us try it once."
 "She slipped on the left slipper—and positively in the same instant vanished away."
 "It is really true!" said the cobbler, astonished. "She's gone!"

Then he took the right slipper, went out of the house and threw it in the deepest well.

With Limitations.
 A man who owns a big restaurant, but does not care to run it, was engaging a manager. He thought he had just the right man and was talking over the matter with him before final arrangement.

"Of course," said he, "you are to have entire charge of the restaurant and the employees; but John, the head chef, has been here for ten years, and wouldn't want you to fire him, and Pete, the night doorkeeper, has been here since we opened and I would not want him fired."

"See here," said the prospective manager before any more were put on the safety list, "you don't want a manager; you want a watchman."—Vanity Fair.

Leon Ames
 Not content with winning eleven and losing five games last year, Leon Ames, pitcher for the New York Giants, is striving to add to his effectiveness this year by learning the spitball.
 This most difficult of deliveries is said to be assuming exceedingly effective proportions under the persistent endeavor of Ames. The curve is breaking in a style calculated to be easily baffling to the batter. Ames now is working to gain control, and is said to be making rapid progress in this essential.
 With the spitball added to his repertoire, Ames should make all the hurries in the National League hustle for the honors and, instead of ranking fifth with only nine complete games to his credit, should go through twice as many contests, at least, with effectiveness.

SLOW TO MAKE ANY CHANGE

Conservation of Human Nature Shown in Persistence of Certain Features of Male Dress.

"Human nature is first and last conservative," philosophized a tailor, "and in nothing is that shown more than in the persistence of certain features of dress, once of great practical use, that are still continued long after their days of usefulness have passed.
An instance? Look here," he said, and touched the two buttons on the under side of his sleeve. "And here again," he continued, and touched the two buttons on the back of a customer's frock coat.

"Now, of what earthly use are these buttons?" he queried. "None whatever. They have survived their usefulness of 300 years ago—yes, for fully that long they have been utterly useless, but no man would think of wearing a frock coat without these buttons. Conservatism."

"What was their use? Why, several centuries ago, when every man carried his life in his hand, when it wasn't safe to go to the shop around the corner at night, unless you were armed, for fear some fellow with a fancied grudge would stick a rapier in you, every man carried a sword.
Now, in order that the sword belt should not sag at the back from the weight of the weapon two buttons were placed at the waistband of the doublet and the belt buttoned to these.
They supported the sword and belt.
Also, it was pretty dangerous to fight with swords with unbuttoned hands.
Your opponent might slide his rapier down your blade and, with a swift twist, wound your hand or fling your sword from your grasp. Accordingly gauntlets were always worn, and that these, which were loose in fit, might not slip off they were fastened to two buttons set a little way back on the under side of the sleeve.

"The days of the sword have gone,
the days of the gauntlet have gone,
but the coat and sleeve buttons remain as evidence of man's conservatism."

TREES LIVE FOR CENTURIES

Six Thousand Years is the Age of One on the Canary Islands, and There Are Numerous Others.

Knowing that some trees have reached the age of several thousand years, it is surprising that so many of our shade trees should die so young.
The age of a dragon tree on one of the Canary Islands is said to be more than 6,000 years; that of a bald cypress in Mexico is believed to be more than 4,000 years, and that of an English oak in Europe and a "big tree" (Sequoia gigantea) in California is known to be more than 2,000 years.

Many trees also have attained to enormous size, both in height and diameter. The eucalyptus in Australia is known to reach a height of 470 feet and the "big tree," the redwood, and the Douglas fir in California often grow to a height of three hundred feet. The sycamore and tulip tree in the eastern states sometimes reach a height of 200 feet. The tree of largest diameter is found at the base of Mount Etna, in Sicily. It is a species of chestnut and its trunk is more than sixty feet in diameter. Some people claim this remarkable tree is the result of several individuals. The Oriental sycamore comes next with a diameter of about forty feet.—From "Trees in Winter" by Blakeslee and Jarvis.

Real Uniformity.

Colonel G— is a fine commander, but not a musician. He sent for the chief musician of his regimental band one day and delivered this scathing criticism:

"I notice a lack of uniformity about the band which must be regulated.
Yesterday morning they were out on parade, and the largest man in the band was playing a little bit of an instrument—flute or something of the kind—and you had the big drum played by a small man. That sort of thing doesn't look well, and must be attended to. I want the small men to play small instruments, and the big men the big instruments. And another thing—I want the trombone players to slide their instruments in and out in unison. It annoys me to see them all out of step with their hands."—Everybody's Magazine.

Enormous Wealth of the Borgias.

A large proportion of the wealth of the Borgias appears to have come down to their descendant, the duke of Osuna, who figures in Disraeli's letters. In 1867 the duke was appointed Spanish ambassador at St. Petersburg.

He accepted the post on condition that the government would distribute his salary among the poor of Madrid, as he could not condescend to draw money from the state. The duke was then described as "the wealthiest man in Europe." His property extends from Cadiz to Turin. He could travel by coach from Madrid through France and Germany to Warsaw and sleep
every night in one of his own castles.

English Pronunciation.

When Mrs. Newlywed had completed her marketing in the Ridge avenue market the other day the butter-and-egg man said to her: "But you have forgotten your razor."

"Razor," said Mrs. Newlywed, wondering if the man was trying to make fun of her. "What do you mean?"
"Why, your bread raiser; your yeast cake," was the reply.

WOMAN YOUNG AT 122

LEAVES A WASHTUB TO HAVE HER PICTURE TAKEN.

Enjoys Sound Health and is Able to Perform Household Duties, Although Not So Spry as When
She Was a Young Fry.

One hundred and twenty-two years
young, not 122 years old!

Picture taken a short time ago.

"Lucy Fry, born on June 20, 1789," the records prove it, and there isn't the slightest reason for skepticism
When she entered the world it was to wear the iron collar of slavery, perpetuated in the then young nation despite the slogan of liberty, "all men are born free and equal," which had ushered it into existence.

Sidney Ann Bledsoe of Orange county, Virginia, had title to her as his property and chattel from her birth.
Then she was torn from her parents
when merely a child and sold to Samuel Shadrach and taken to his large plantation in Culpeper county, Virginia, on which she lived until the Civil war made her free.

Residents of Culpeper county who lived during the Civil war know all about her history and can vouch for this account. Also, interested in perhaps the oldest woman in America as one who has lived among them, they have traced her record and verified every fact.

Lucy Fry enjoys sound health. She is able to perform household duties, although she is not so spry as when
she was a young fry.

Her recollection of recent events is not accurate. But she remembers the past and loves to relate incidents of long ago. She tells graphic and lurid stories of the cruel treatment she received from her last master.

Only Slight Difference.

The young girl graduate was conversing with a minister who was calling on the family.

"After all, Dr. Crawford," she said,
"there's only a difference of a single syllable between salvation and perdition."

"Why, Marion," interrupted her mother, "how can you say that?"

"The minister looked at her questioningly.

"It's merely a question of eternal bliss or eternal blisters," she replied, looking past the reverend gentleman.

Queer French Food.

The French eat many things which other nations do not care for or eye askance and only partake of sparingly. Not the least of these tidbits is the Gallic estimation are small turtles, snails and frogs. So popular are all these that they are hawked publicly on the streets of Paris, the live frogs being fastened on skewers, in-long rows, and the snails being advertised as fresh from the vineyards, their quality being considered then the best.

SATURDAY'S SPECIALS

AT "THE LIVE WIRE STORE"
 We have given considerable study to the "High Cost of Living" question and believe it has been aptly changed to the "Cost of High Living".
 It is doubtful if more than five per cent of the people of Wichita Falls are able to pay 35c or 40c for a can of California Fruit. Most everyone can pay a quarter a can. Apples at 75c to $1 a peck are almost prohibitive but the working man can afford to eat them at $1.25 to $2.25 for a four peck box.
 Cabbage and onions are not very appropriate for a before-Easter advertisement, but nice fresh cabbage at 25-pounds for 25 cents is attractive to the conservative buyer and fancy Red Globe Onions at 10 pounds for a quarter is a money saver. Read every word in this advertisement today and then read it again tomorrow. It will do you good whether you are laborer or a capitalist.

SHERIFF IS CRITICISED BY ELECTRA NEWSPAPER

Charged With Releasing Alleged Bootleggers To Make Own Bonds—Matter Explained
 It appears that Sheriff R. L. Randolph has been unjustly criticized in an article recently published in the Electra News. This article follows:
 "One of our city officers informed us last night, that after several days of waiting and watching they had been able to round up two bootleggers with the goods on them. They took them to Wichita Falls and turned them over to the county officials and a bond was required in the sum of $1000 each. Now the question comes in. These same bootleggers were given a blank bond in the sum above mentioned, and told to go back to Electra and have it properly filled out and returned to the county seat. A fine piece of work for our county officials, we must say.
 "If these men had committed a crime, that it took a $1000 bond to secure their appearance how in the name of common sense could Peter Randolph, our efficient (?) sheriff, allow these men their freedom to come back here and secure bail (perhaps)? This is certainly an injustice to our city officers, and if the county is not going to attend to their end of the business after a criminal is turned over to them, its about time we get some county officials at the next election that cannot be handled in this loose manner.
 "There have been many complaints from the sheriff's office as regards bootleggers before this, but this is the limit."
 To get the facts of the case a reporter of The Times has made an investigation of the county records and finds that C. E. McCain and J. L. Levitt are charged in a complaint with the sale of intoxicating liquors in a prohibited district. They were brought here from Electra and placed in jail Sunday and were released Monday, March 17th on a bond of $1000 each for "his personal appearance before said court at its present term begun and now holden, etc."
 The signatures to these bonds are

H. Warmick, J. H. Ballew and D. M. Hardy. At least one of these bondsmen is worth many times the sum of both bonds, and as we understand it Sheriff Randolph could hardly do anything else than accept it and release the men. These bonds are now on file in the sheriff's office and none of the bondsmen have been released from liability. These are the facts so far as The Times has been able to learn. It is understood the defendants had promised one of the bondsmen to secure another bondsman acceptable to Sheriff Randolph in his place. Their efforts to do this are probably responsible for the report that the sheriff let them loose to secure their own bonds.

MORE THAN HALF OF NATION ROUSED AGAINST TRAFFIC IN WOMEN MANY GOVERNORS EXPRESS SYMPATHY WITH ILLINOIS CRUSADE

Governors of more than half the states of the union have expressed sympathy with the movement in Illinois to investigate and stamp out the causes of white slavery. Wisconsin and Colorado are expected to take definite action through legislation in the near future, while the Utah house of representatives already has passed a law providing for a minimum wage scale for women.
 Among the governors who have publicly expressed a desire to cooperate with Illinois in fighting the white slave traffic and securing a minimum wage law for women are Governor Cox of Ohio, Governor McCreary of Wisconsin, Governor Hulston of Indiana and Governor Mann of Virginia.

FREEAR-BRIN'S

FROM out a swirling cloud of sand a man emerged, moving slowly, painfully, and driving before him a burro heavily laden. The spikes of the Spanish bayonet had rent his clothing, and his bruised feet were ill protected by broken shoes. But he did not heed the prick of the thorns nor the hurt of the bruises.

Three men came after him. Two of them were leading pack-animals, and the third, a Mexican, staggering as he walked, bore upon his shoulders the load of the looted animal they had shot back at the last water-hole. The trackless waste stretched away to the rolling hills, its level expanse unbroken save by giant cacti—those sentinels of the desert standing eternally on guard above the bleaching bones of hapless victims.

It was hot—the sun, a round, unwinking, malignant eye, glared from a copper-colored sky. The wind that came in little puffs, heaping, leveling, whirling the alkali-dust hither and thither, was like a blast from a furnace.

In the scant shade of the sagebrush and Spanish bayonet lizards pined, and the horned toad sought shelter in vain. The gusts increased in violence, and blinding sand-showers filled the air.

"Mebbe the Professor knows whar he's goin'," said the man at the tail of the procession. He raised his voice to make himself heard. "If he does, why'd he hire us to find his gold-mine fer him, eh, Williams?"

Williams fell back a pace. "Fer the pleasure o' our sassiety, Watkins? What else?" He grinned through cracked lips.

"Wal, this day's my last. I've had enough o' it. We shouldn't 'a' left the water-hole. That's a storm comin' up, an'—"

As if in mockery of his words, a mighty gust of wind nearly swept the four men off their feet. Simultaneously, a writhing column appeared to the left, and in a moment they were enveloped in a stinging cloud of sand that stifled the breath and made speech impossible.

With one accord they dropped to the ground, and lay with heads covered until the force of the storm was spent. The Professor was first upon his feet. He bent over and touched each man in turn on the shoulder.

Watkins, lifting his head, uttered a startled exclamation. Out of the whirling cloud of darkness had grown an evil face, a face that menaced him. He shuddered involuntarily, and then laughed at himself for a fanciful fool, as, with the passing of the blinding gust, the Professor stood revealed.

"I took you for the Fieend himself," he said, as he rose slowly. "No wonder, in the yaller light, an' with all this sand in my eye, you sure looked somethin' fierce."

The Professor took no notice of the remark. "Comet" he insisted. "We must go on."

THE VISION AND THE QUEST

By J. TORREY CONNOR

helped yet. It's me for the back track. We can make the railroad in four days, an' be in California in a week. Wish I'd never left it to come on this here fool trip."

A strange light flickered in the Professor's eyes. His lean fingers curved inward, like the claws of a bird of prey. He shot one glance at Watkins—a glance that was at once threatening and defiant—and then turned to Williams.

"You will not desert me, m-m-m, Williams? It is only for a few hours now—a few hours!"

"I'll stand by you, Professor."

"And you, Pedro?"

"Si, senior."

"I'll tell you what I'll do," Watkins amended, ashamed to find himself the one deserter from the ranks. "We'll camp over there for the night, an' in the mornin'—Wal, I'll agree to hold the fort here for twenty-four hours. Take the camp outfit with you or not, as you like, but you'd better march light. You say it's a few hours' journey now, Professor? All right. If you don't show up by to-morrow night, I'll hit the last place back to the railroad."

With the suddenness characteristic of the comings and goings of desert storms, the wind had subsided, and only by the murky atmosphere could the wanderers have told that the evil gent of the wilderness had passed that way. Presently night fell, and gathering round the fire of grease-wood which the Mexican built, they talked or were silent, by turns. The Professor sat alone, as was his custom.

He was of the Tribe of the Wandering Foot, this man whose infirmity banned him from the companionship of men. He went up and down the land seeking and ever seeking, that which to him was life itself. In solitude only by the murky atmosphere could the wanderers have told that the evil gent of the wilderness had passed that way. Presently night fell, and gathering round the fire of grease-wood which the Mexican built, they talked or were silent, by turns. The Professor sat alone, as was his custom.

"I reckon he's plumb foolish," said Watkins in a low tone, with a glance at the man who, with a dripping candle-end in his fingers, was poring over a tattered parchment.

"You've got another guess comin'," retorted Williams. "Bein' tongue-tied don't keep his brain from workin' proper, does it?"

"It ain't that. It's this hull blamed business o' huntin' fer a gold-mine whar nobody ever heard tell o' thar bein' gold."

"He didn't let on 'twas a gold-mine. He lowed he was after treasure."

"He's after blood, all right!" Watkins snarled. "Did you see the look he give me a while back? It meant murder, or I'm a greaser!"

"Hot!" Williams-hooted derisively. "What an unhealthy imagination you must have, Watkins! The Professor? Why, the Professor wouldn't hurt a fly! I went with him onct, when he was follerin' up these here cliff-dwellin' people, an' he was like a lamb fer peaceability. The hull time they do tell, Watkins, that thar was folks a livin' an' cities built here long Ameriky afore Columbus disklivered it."

"They do tell that the moon made o' green cheese!" Watkins mocked. "What's he sayin'?"

The Professor leaned over and thrust the parchment into Williams' hand.

"You see"—he traced the outline with a trembling finger—"the ruins there, and there, and t-t-t there. You will not fall me, with the en-lan-a-sight?"

And again, Williams pledged his word.

"I am not a prophet, nor the seer of a prophet," the Professor went on dreamily, "but I had a vision. It was on the night after the parchment came into my possession." The Professor's eyes had in them the look of one who sees things unseen of other men. "Did you ever hear of the Seven Cities of Cibola, Williams?"

Williams scratched his head reflectively.

"What railroad be they on, Professor?"

"You d-don't understand? No-matter. This is what I saw in my vision: I t-thought I was wanderin' in an accursed p-place that God had made in His anger. I came to a ravine, with a small stream trickling along the bottom of it. I stood above, on the brink of t-t-the ravine."

"Suddenly I noted, on the opposite bank, a flight of stone steps, cut in the solid rock, and there w-were endless processions of naked, bleeding slaves, chained together, ascending up and coming down the steps. Where the flight ended at the top, a huge rock, roughly oval in the form of a sphinx, stood guard at the mouth of a cavern."

"As I watched the cowering figures, searaged by the sun-masters' whips, I dreamed to me that the slaves were conveying treasure to the cavern. Those who went up—eased burdens, while those who came down were empty-handed."

"The Professor's voice trailed off. He gazed fixedly into the darkness."

"We'll go after that ravine first thing in the mornin'," Professor, Williams cheerfully assured him.

"Plumb foolish!" Watkins retorted, as he settled himself in his blanket for the night.

The sun rose in a conflagration of red and gold. The Professor's impatience would hardly brook the delay necessary to the preparation of the morning meal, and that despatched, he insisted upon setting out at once.

The three turned their faces toward the hills. The camp was soon left far behind. The country changed and became more broken; the ground, ridged with sharp, black rocks, rising to knolls and dipping to hollows.

A heat-wind rolled from the earth in waves. The distant hills, as seen through the haze, were "buried" in outline and indistinct. The Mexican, wiping the sweat from his eyes, trudged on uncomplainingly, but Williams called a halt.

"Ain't thar some other way, round, Professor? These stones hurt my feet, an'—"

He stopped and stared at the Professor with seven-league strides that carried him forward lightly.

The sunburned hills appeared to be no nearer, although for an hour the men kept on across the country as the crow flies. The Professor's mutter had increased and under his heavy lids Williams could only hope that he would tire of the fruitless search and turn back of his own accord.

Then, all in a moment, they were there, standing on the brink of a barranca that, in some volcanic action, had opened a deep, narrow slit in the ground.

"Do you see it?" the Professor cried, pointing down and across the ravine to where, midway between top and foot and showing black in the wall of rock, the mouth of a cavern yawned beneath an overhanging rock.

sphinx—whether by nature or by the hand of man could not be determined at that distance—and leading from the mouth of the cave a rude flight of stone steps that descended by turns and angles to the floor of the barranca.

"At last! At last!" The Professor's voice rose to a shriek. "After all these years! Success! After all these years! Success! Success! Oh, that I should be the one to find the way! Oh, that I should be the one to find the way! Oh, that I should be the one to find the way!"

Williams momentarily forgot the cause of the Professor's jubilation. Gazing into the man's twitching face, watching, as if fascinated, the writhing of the lean fingers as they plucked and tore at the handkerchief knotted about the skinny throat, he could only gaze at one astonishing fact. The Professor's halting tongue had given utterance to unalloyed speech!

Wondering still, he submitted passively when the Professor, laying hold of him, dragged him hither and thither in search of a place where they might attempt the descent in safety.

Thus occupied, the Professor did not perceive that which Williams, scarcely crediting the evidence of his own eyes, saw—the topping of a bushy tree, the opposite end of a high bank, the rattling shower of earth and stones that preceded the movement of the rock which kept the mouth of the cavern's mouth, the trembling of the ground underneath.

The Professor had espied a pathway where the scrooping of volcanic rock promised a foothold. He turned to the mozo, who, after the manner of his kind, ever followed the leader unobtrusively.

"Come!" he shouted.

But the man, his eyes distended with fear, was tracing the course of a fissure that suddenly had split the ground, separating him from his companions.

"No!" the frightened man protested. "He dropped on his knees, crossing himself and calling on his patron saint. "El temblor, senior, el temblor!"

Even as he cried out, the ground under their feet, undisturbed as the waves of the sea, heaved to their danger, the Professor held out his hand to Williams. Together they leaped the widening fissure, and staggering, stumbling like drunken men, gained the solid ground.

As they reached the Mexican's side and faced about, the earth crumbled before their eyes, a huge mass of rock and earth sliding with a muffled roar into the depths of the ravine. Again was felt the undulating motion, so sudden, so violent, that they were thrown on their faces.

After a time the men who had so narrowly escaped death struggled to their feet and stared at each other with blanched faces. Then, in a moment, it all came back to the Professor—the vision and the quest. He remembered why he was there.

"We must get out of this!" cried Williams, laying his hand on the Professor's shoulder. "But the Professor was gazing straight over Williams' head—gazing with an awful look in his eyes at—what?"

Involuntarily Williams sent his glance in the same direction. Gaping mouth of the cave no longer showed black against the wall of rock. Buried under thousands of tons of earth that had filled the barranca almost level full, the cavern, the guarding sphinx, and the steps of stone were lost to view.

Williams' glance traveled back to the Professor's face. What he saw caused him to utter an exclamation. It was as if some long-dormant strain of savagery had suddenly changed the gentle, scholarly man of Williams' knowledge to something less than human.

It was terrible in this hour of his defeat. His yellow teeth were bared, fanciful, in a grimace of rage. Under the brilliant gray eyebrows the eyes burned with a light that menaced death.

As Williams gazed at the distorted shape, the gleam in the Professor's eyes went out as would a candle-flame in a whiff of wind. He sank to the ground, all strength gone from him, and passed his hand across his forehead in a bewildered fashion.

"The v-very sign!" he mumbled. "I did not know you had the other parchment. See, here it is, the outline of the sphinx."

As Williams stooped to help the Professor to his feet, the glint of yellow metal caught his eye. In an instant he was on his knees, digging into the loosened earth with his bare hands. The Mexican, roused to action, joined him, and the two toiled silently, breathlessly.

Presently Williams sprang to his feet, and seizing the Professor's shoulder, shook him roughly.

"It's thar, Professor!" he shouted into the other's unattentive ear. "Gold! Gold! Gold! Enough to make us all rich as kings! Don't you see? The gold is thar!"

The Professor lifted a piteous face in wistful appeal to his companion.

"It was not to be, Williams! It was not to be. All m-m-m-my life I have been willing to deny myself anything, everything, t-to train the end in v-view. Why, I would have starved and died happy, if the w-w-work that lives after the workman—my w-work—had been done."

"Williams here it was that the Seven Cities of Cibola once existed, and down there—down there in that cavern—are t-tablets, given to our fathers, that I should have failed with success in my quest."

"It is the heat, N-no," said the Mexican. "The heat is my loss. No!"

The professor thrust the parchment into Williams' hand.

In the PUBLIC EYE

CRUSHED AN EMPIRE IN FOUR DAYS

Military experts are eagerly looking up details as to the career of Savaof of Bulgaria, conqueror of the Turks. In four days, out of the shadows of the Balkans, he has risen to eminence among European military commanders.

Turning to the man himself, there is the most meager information concerning him. The situation called for one of his abilities and he responded. All that is known of him is that he is yet a young man, being only forty-two years old.

ASQUITH DEFINES ENGLAND'S POSITION

Speaking at the new lord mayor's inaugural banquet the other night, Prime Minister Asquith made the emphatic statement that he believed it to be the general opinion of Europe that the Balkan states should not be robbed of the fruits of their victory.

Premier Asquith referred to the unsuccessful efforts of the powers to prevent the conflict and to the great changes the war had made in the map of Europe, and continued:

"In these anxious times it is satisfactory to be able to announce that the relations of England with the other powers, without a single exception, were never more friendly and cordial.

"The great powers are working together with a closeness of touch and a frankness of discussion which is remarkable and which may seem almost unintelligible to those who believe that because, for certain purposes, the powers have been and are ranged in different groups, they must, therefore, in a time of European crisis, be arrayed in opposite camps.

"The map of Europe will have to be recast, and nowhere is there a disposition to belittle the magnitude of the struggle or dispute the decisiveness of the result.

"England has no direct interest in the exact form which the political and territorial redistributions may ultimately take. The special relations of the other powers, geographical, economic, ethical and historical, with the scene of the conflict, are such that they cannot be expected not to claim a voice when the time comes for a permanent settlement."

DR. EMIL HIRSCH FAVORS PORK CHOPS

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, preaching to the young Jews of Chicago, who are "departed from orthodoxy and lacking religious anchorage," under the auspices of the People's Synagogue association, created a sensation when he denounced the devotion to "superstitious observance that characterizes orthodoxy in some of its manifestations, and said:

"I urge you that, instead of pondering about the observance of the dietary laws, abstaining from certain foods, you lead lives of righteousness and help to spread our religion among the people. We believe in one God and that God in spiritual form. Let us carry his word to our brethren.

"The Reformed Jewish church has nothing to do with obsolete forms of religion. It has to do with the unification of the peoples of the earth under one God, and the koshering of meat is far less important in our scheme of things than the rescue of human beings from moral, intellectual and spiritual chaos.

"The pork chop is just as much my meat as your meat or any man's meat. The only thing I have against pork chops is their price. No superstition that taboos pork has any terrors for me or any other reformed Jew. We have nothing to do with ancient and abandoned tribal Juju. We do not believe that the hog was the ancestor of any branch of the Jewish race, and this is the basis of the superstition that taboos pork in orthodox circles."

WOULD PENSION ALL U. S. MOTHERS

That each woman who bears a child shall receive a pension of $25 is one of the provisions of a bill which Mrs. Ellen Spenger Mussey, the dean of the Washington College of Law—the only exclusively women's law school in the country—is advocating before congress.

Mrs. Mussey's bill contains a number of unique provisions, all putting a premium on motherhood. She would provide the mother not only with $25 for every child born, but would have the government allow mothers $2.50 a week for three months before and three months after the birth of a child. In addition to this a woman forty-five years old with six children should also get a pension, the amount not yet being named.

Mrs. Mussey, in discussing her bill, said that much of the blame for the white slave traffic in this country could be laid to the failure of mothers to properly instruct their growing daughters. The sponsor for this bill is one of the most prominent women in professional life in the United States. She has been a practitioner before the Supreme Court of the United States for fifteen years, and she was at one time a member of the school board of Washington and was the most prominent figure in that board.

WILL BAR INTOXICANTS IN-HIGHLAND ADDITION

All Deeds Contain Clause That Buyer of Lot Will Not Sell Liquor Upon It

Intoxicants can never be sold on any of the land now being deeded by the Highland Irrigation Company in the factory addition.

A clause of the deeds expressly prohibits the use of the land for this purpose, and provides that it shall revert to the grantor if so used.

A few of the first tracts sold did not contain this provision, although an oversight, but it is understood all that have since been made do.

The clause in the deeds referred to follows:

"As a part consideration for the above described land, the grantee hereby agrees and binds himself, his heirs and assigns that said premises shall never be used for the purpose of the sale of intoxicating liquors of any kind. The grantee further agrees and binds himself, his heirs and assigns, that if this agreement or condition is violated that the above described property shall immediately revert to the grantor, or its assigns and, the title thereto revert in it. This agreement is a covenant and shall run with title to the land."

When the blood becomes thin, poor, devitalized nature cries out through such external and often painful evidence for help, and the safest and surest and most helpful remedy we know is Vinol.

This is because it is a combination of the two most world famed tonics—the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil (without the oil) and tonic iron for the blood. Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite purifies and enriches the blood, creates strength.

Mary Lang of Altoona, Pa. says: "Ever since childhood, I have been delicate, and my blood poor, thin, and devitalized. Nothing seemed to help me until I took Vinol and it has built me up and made me strong."

We say positively there is nothing like Vinol to purify and enrich the blood and build up weak, run down people. If it should fall in your case we will return your money. (Advertisement)

Rich Men Made United States Great

By the Duke DE TALLEYRAND of France

To Destroy Trusts Would Ruin Country

Husband of Anna Gould

THE United States is unquestionably one of the GREATEST WORLD POWERS. She is great simply because she is so vast and rich and powerful and not because she has struggled for her position like the great powers of Europe. You see, no nation is going over to fight the immense republic. But the United States can make herself felt in international affairs because she has a good navy and can make it stronger than that of any other country whenever she likes without any great sacrifice on her part. She can HIT WITHOUT BEING HIT BACK.

BUT REMEMBER THAT IF THE UNITED STATES IS GREAT IT IS BECAUSE OF THE ENTERPRISE AND ENERGY OF HER RICH MEN. OF COURSE EVERY AMERICAN WHO HAS WORKED HARD HAS HELPED TO MAKE HIS COUNTRY RICHER, BUT THE RICH MEN HAVE DONE MORE THAN THE OTHERS. THAT IS WHY THEY ARE RICH.

The great business men and the great businesses of America are the most wonderful and admirable features of the country. In enterprise and efficient organization they set an EXAMPLE TO ALL THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE WORLD.

Now, there is a determined effort to destroy or check the big businesses of the country. Believe me, if you destroy the big businesses of the country you will ruin your country, and if you merely check their growth you will CHECK PROSPERITY.

THE MOVEMENT TO DESTROY THE TRUSTS CANNOT SUCCEED WITHOUT RUINING THE COUNTRY.

The trusts are the best thing that ever happened for America. They are simply the climax of successful business and successful organization. They mean that some great industry is conducted at the LOWEST POSSIBLE COST WITH THE GREATEST POSSIBLE EFFICIENCY. They cheapen the necessities of life and distribute better products.

High Cost of Foolishness Our Modern Problem

By Mrs. AUSTIN N. PALMER of the Political Study Club, New York

IT'S NOT THE COST OF LIVING, BUT THE COST OF FOOLISHNESS, THAT'S GRAYING THE HAIR OF THE MODERN HUSBAND AND FATHER.

To my mind the most pathetic figure in our life today is the middle class wage earner, the man who on a small salary is striving to enable his wife and daughters to "KEEP UP APPEARANCES." Headless feminine folly is the REAL PROBLEM OF HOME ECONOMICS.

It's the high cost of foolishness that's the horrible cutworm working at the root of the modern home. Too many irresponsible wives buy extravagant and showy clothes and SPEND LONG DAYS wandering through the shops or window shopping.

Protect All Workers From Industrial Accidents

By Dr. W. F. WILLOUGHBY, Professor of Political Science at Princeton University

THERE IS CRYING NEED OF GENERAL LEGISLATION REQUIRING CARELESS EMPLOYERS TO INSTALL SAFETY DEVICES AND MACHINERY TO CARRY OFF DANGEROUS DUST AND FUMES IN THEIR FACTORIES.

Illinois is the only state in the Union that has proper labor legislation at present. The logical thing would be to have workmen's compensation and insurance against INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS AND OCCUPATIONAL DISEASES as well. There are, however, many obstacles in the way of that.

In the first place, there is a general APATHY OF THE PUBLIC which can be and is being overcome by educational propaganda.

Then there is the interested opposition to such legislation by some PHYSICIANS who, thriving on large practice among workers in such dangerous occupations, so far forget their social obligations as to oppose the enactment of preventive or remedial legislation to shield the workers.

In the third place, there is the OPPOSITION OF MANUFACTURERS, who fear that if they go to the expense of providing defensive machinery and methods in their factories competitors less humane than they will be able to undercut them in the price of their product and thus undersell them.

LIGHT CONTRACT IS CONSIDERED

COUNCIL DISCUSSES TERMS OF AGREEMENT WITH POWER COMPANY

NO FINAL ACTION TAKEN

Question of Liability Afloat—Site Near Cemetery Is Purchased For Garbage Plant

Discussion of the provisions of the proposed contract with the Wichita Falls Water and Light Company for furnishing the current for street lights for a period of ten years and for the installation of lights in the residential districts occupied most of the session of the city council last night.

The contract was passed over until the next meeting for final action and in the meantime the light company will be asked to modify several clauses.

Question of Liability. One of these is that specifically involving the light company from liability for accidents in connection with the maintenance and operation of the lights on the ninety ornamental light posts in the business district. As proposed in the contract drafted these lights are to be installed and maintained by the city, the light company furnishing only the current for their operation, the contract specifically stating that the light company was relieved of all liability in their operation and maintenance.

Members of council agreed that the light company could not be expected to become responsible for accidents resulting from any defects in the material or apparatus installed by the city's failure to properly maintain the same, concurred in a belief that the light company would be willing to assume such liability if they were paid to maintain the lights. The committee was instructed to confer with representatives of the light company to see if this would not be agreed to.

Site For Incinerator. In connection with the preparation of specifications for the lighting fixtures to be purchased by the city, Councilman Young of the light committee and Engineer St. Clair were authorized to make a trip to Dallas at the city's expense.

Council last night authorized a warrant from the sewer fund of $150 to be paid to Sam Wisdom in payment for a tract 200 by 200 feet to be used as a site for the city's incinerator. This land is situated near the Riverside Cemetery. Material is already being hauled out for the erection of this plant.

A warrant for one dollar was ordered drawn in favor of Arthur Williams, colored, as a refund of poll tax wrongly paid. Williams appeared before council to ask the refund. He said he had come here from Lawton, Okla., in January, 1912 and not being familiar with the Texas law had paid poll tax for that year and had later found that he could not vote.

TEXAS ASPHALT TO GERMANY SHIPMENTS BEING MADE.

Berlin, Germany, March 21.—It is expected that this country will become one of the leading consumers of Texas asphalt, asphalt oil and petroleum asphalt as the government, after special tests has exempted these products from duty. Several large orders have already been placed as a result of the action of the German Custom's Union and shipments are expected to be made from Fort Arthur, Texas, to German points at a near date.

OKLAHOMA BULL MOOSERS TOWNED BY STANDARD OIL

Progressive State Secretary Makes Charge As He Tenders Resignation to Party

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 21.—Charging that the progressive party of Oklahoma is dominated by the Standard Oil influence, Orvel J. Johnson, state secretary of the progressive party, has tendered his resignation as secretary to State Chairman Alva McDonald, to take effect immediately. Johnson says he will carry his complaint to the progressive love feast to be held in Tulsa.

Mr. Johnson's resignation is looked upon by third party men to be the beginning of the fight which is expected to break loose at Tulsa against Chairman Alva McDonald, State Organizer L. G. Disney of Muskogee, and National Committeeman George Priestly, of Bartlesville. It is understood and whispered around in the councils of the bull moosers that incompetency will be the charge registered against McDonald and that he has used the influence of his office in an effort to defeat Congressman Dick T. Morgan in the recent congressional race. It is whispered that he is a favorite of the light for the glory of preferment abroad and is the progressive rather than any adherence to the policies of the organization. He is criticised and charged with making a NOTE the unevenness of the contents; also the small amount of leavening gas from the height the powder has risen in the glass. The residues from these powders vary considerably.

YOU will also note the small amount of leavening gas here; also the sediment in the bottom of glass, which is a solution of Rochelle Salts. About 80 per cent. of this powder used is left in the food as Rochelle Salts. Ask your doctor about constant dosing with Rochelle Salts.

NOTE here the amount of leavening gas by the way the powder has risen over the top of the glass. Note how light and fluffy it is; also how even the grain is. This test proves CALUMET has a great amount of leavening gas that it is gradually and uniformly given off. It leaves no unwholesome residue.

one man organization of the progressive party in Oklahoma and that he has bungled in its management. Disney is charged with being a strong arm organizer and rumors are being circulated that the operations of the councils of the bull moose party in Oklahoma would make the play of Victor Rosewater at the Chicago convention look like child's play. It is stated that a petition was started to have Disney at least sent to some other state to organize so that his operations might be put to a stop. As the position he now holds embraces several states and as he is appointed by the national committee it is not surmised what headway the opposition will make in their efforts to get rid of him. The opposition to Mr. Priestly is some what less rampant. He is charged with being a representative of the Standard Oil Company and that as the representative of this trust he is incapacitated to fully work for the purposes of the third party.

CLEVER PROGRAM THURSDAY NIGHT AT THE MAJESTIC.

Four exceptionally good acts make up the bill for the last half of this week at the Majestic and the program is one replete with enjoyment throughout. Despite the bad weather there was a very fair house and it those present all liked the show as well as The Times representative the house should be packed tonight and tomorrow.
The bill opens with a bag punching and contortionist act by Misses Execla and Jessie Franks, the "physical culture" girls. The bag punching was of a high order, the bags being kept going with a variety of movements and at a rate that was remarkable. The contortion part of the act was a clever exhibition, the Johnson Bros. and Johnson, a Red Hot Minstrel Show at the Lydia Margaret tonight.

The Inviting Chalmers "Thirty-Six"

Inviting because it simply appears good an right. Some houses are that way—the ones you know are right, without knowing just why.
The wide door invites you to step in, the deep cushions to sit down, the big steering wheel to drive.
Just keep your seat—don't get out in the street again. The control of this car is centered on the cowed dash.
Push a button and the Chalmers cranks itself. Chalmers air pressure starter does it—best starter made because simplest, most economical, quickest acting, most reliable under all conditions.
Chalmers was the first car to have a dependable starter.
Chalmers "Thirty-Six" gave a trade name to the year 1912. That year got down in automobile history as "Self-Starter year." Chalmers cars set fashions.
Just move a lever and the carburetor is adjusted.

Turn a switch and the electric lights are on.
The levers and pedals and wheel are just where you want them. In fact, all the "controls" of the Chalmers are right to your hand—most of them artistically grouped on the stylishly cowed dash.
And, by the way, that's another big automobile improvement the Chalmers had first—the cowed dash. Compare this one feature with the same on other cars—see if the Chalmers isn't better done.
Rims are demountable. Tires may be inflated from the compressed air tank—no pumping. Others ask you to pay extra for this feature.
In view of all these good points, a Chalmers "Thirty-Six" is particularly inviting because of its price—only $1950 (f. o. b. Detroit) for a fully equipped up-to-the minute motor car of A-1 goodness. Always on view at our showrooms.

This motor car stands for all you can ask in a motor car young woman tying herself in a series of knots and working her body through small hoops in an agile manner. There was an element of comedy in the performance, and the novelty of it gave it added zest.

Brant Hays and his banjo were next. Nobody would have dreamed that as much music could be grabbed out of a "nigger violin" as Hays got out of it; the audience demanded more and more and the smiling musician responded gracefully. The most pretentious rendition was the "Miserere" from "Il Trovatore." This is not generally considered a banjo selection, but the rare beauty of the famous piece suffered nothing at all as Mr. Hays presented it. Another classical selection was from a recent composition "The Angel and the Serpent." There were several rag selections and a thoroughly pleasing repertoire that found much favor with the audience.
Hall & Gilfof, singing comedians, presented the third act. One of them posed as a young woman, with mannerisms that were very amusing, though of course much exaggerated. The songs were comical and were well presented making the act a very enjoyable one; the audience was emphatic in asking an encore, but there was nothing stirring.
"The Toll Bridge" a one act comedy skit, closed the bill, being presented by James Grady and Company. The story is a simple and pleasing one, with considerable comedy, and was ably presented, doing the audience much good. It was well staged and was one of the best one act skits ever seen here.
The bill has not a bad feature in it and if succeeding ones are up to this standard, there is little doubt that Wichita Falls will continue to be a Majestic town for some days.

TEXAS NEEDS MORE HOGS: PRESENT SUPPLY SHORT.
Fort Worth, Texas, March 21.—With local packers clamoring for more hogs and offering top notch prices for Texas porkers, comes the report from the Federal Government that the swine herd of Texas has decreased 51,000 head during the past year. The crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates the number of head of hogs in Texas at 2,493,000 on January 1, which is a decrease under 1912 of 2 per cent. The farm price is given at $20,941,000 which is an increase during the past year of $4,914,000 or 30 per cent. The average price of the Texas hog has jumped from $6.30 each in 1912 to $8.40 in 1913 and the daily market quotations indicate a continued increase. The total fresh pork requirement of Texas is approximately 140,000,000 pounds per annum and the production is only 80,000,000 pounds. On a per capita basis we produce in Texas 20 pounds of pork per annum, while the consumption is 35 pounds. Texas imports for home consumption approximately $52,000,000 of meats and provisions per annum, the bulk of which are pork products.

TEXAS FREIGHT TOTAL FOR 1912 IS ANNOUNCED

Over 46,000,000 Tons Handled By Railroads During Year, According to Commission

Austin, Texas, March 21.—The railroads of Texas handled 46,693,884 tons of freight last year for which they received $71,520,000 in freight charges, according to the twenty-first annual report of the Texas Railroad Commission.

There were nine commodities which constituted nearly 60 per cent of the total tonnage. These with the amount tonnage of each are as follows: Lumber, 7,798,000; coal and coke, 6,311,789; grain, 2,344,967; vegetables, 2,593,165; crude petroleum, 1,807,189; stone and sand 2,222,888; brick, etc., 2,022,120; cotton, 2,652,240; livestock, 1,807,189.

The products of the factory lead in amount of tonnage shipped during the past year on Texas lines, with farm, mine and forest products following in the order named. The tonnage and classification of freight handled in 1912 are as follows: Factory, 15,475,000 tons; farm, 12,633,000; mine, 11,648,000; forest, 9,908,000; making a total of 49,709,000 tons.

The number of miles covered by the locomotive in the Texas freight service amounted to 25,426,566 or practically equal to more than 1,000 times the distance around the earth. Approximately 30,000,000,000 pounds of coal and about the same number of pounds of crude oil were consumed by the locomotives in their onward march of progress through the Lone Star State.

DECLARES SELF PROPHET OF POLITICAL WEATHER

Bryan Says Trend of World is Rapidly Toward More Popular Government

Des Moines, Ia., March 21.—Speaking to the joint convention of the two houses of the legislature and to a well-filled gallery, Secretary W. J. Bryan told of the trend of the nation's ideas and demands toward Democratic government.

"I come to you as a member of the political weather bureau," he said. "My business is to study the courses and changes in political winds. I believe I am better able to predict the direction those winds will take than I once was. I admit that there was a time when I apparently lost the confidence of the people in my ability as a forecaster. But of late years my guesses have been more accurate."

"The wind which is blowing in this country today is a steady as a trade wind. The trend of the world is in the direction of more popular government."

"The legislator who recognizes this trend of thought, and gets behind it will come out right," but he who gets in its path certainly will be crushed.

"I am not asking you to do the popular things; I am asking you to follow the permanent forces which guide the people."
