

PROCEEDINGS TODAY IN HOUSE

MANY RESOLUTIONS AND BILLS INTRODUCED IN LOWER HOUSE TODAY

RECESS UNTIL MONDAY

Several Resolutions Presented Today For Amendments To Constitution

By Associated Press. Washington, April 10.—Today's proceedings in the House were characterized by the introduction of a large number of resolutions. The House adjourned at noon until Monday.

The following were the day's proceedings in the House: Representative Mann introduced a bill providing for a tariff board of five members. He also introduced a resolution for a constitutional amendment for the direct election of the President and limiting the tenure of the executive to a single term of seven years.

Representative Barthold introduced a resolution for an amendment to limit the President's tenure of office to two four year terms.

Representative Neesley introduced a resolution for a constitutional amendment for the popular election of United States district judges, elections to be held every six years.

Representative Barthold introduced a resolution for the appointment of a commission to fix the boundaries of all North and South American nations.

Representative Clark introduced a resolution for a special committee to consider appointments to the legislative and executive committees.

Representative Austin introduced a resolution for an investigation of an alleged tobacco pool at Henderson, Kentucky.

Representative Loback introduced a resolution authorizing the President to invite the nations of the world to participate in a naval parade at the opening of the Panama Canal.

Representative Taylor introduced a bill for a Lincoln memorial highway from Boston to San Francisco.

Representative Murdock introduced a bill providing for the labeling of clothing and textiles and to make their misbranding a misdemeanor.

Representative Palmer introduced a bill to permit National banks to loan money on real estate not to exceed fifty per cent of their combined surplus and capital.

The Progressives today elected Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania for membership in the House rules committee replacing Representative Chandler who declined to serve.

Railway Business For January. The mild weather that prevailed throughout the United States during January and the good condition of business in general caused the returns of the railways to show large increases over January of 1912, a month that was characterized by severe weather impeding railway operation.

Operating income for each mile of line averaged $7.66 for each day in January, 1913. This average for January, 1912, was $5.09.

The corresponding average per mile per day for the last fiscal year $9.52 for the seven months of the current fiscal year $11.35. Comparison with these longer periods averages the effect of fluctuations of the weather and shows that last January as usual was relatively a poor month for railway traffic.

The fact that this operation income per mile per day average $12.13 in November, $10.16 in December, and $7.66 in January shows that as usual this was a month during which traffic diminished.

Operating income is the amount, after the payment of operating expenses and taxes, available to the railways for rentals, interest on bonds, appropriations for betterments, improvements, and new construction and for dividends. In the aggregate it averaged per mile of line for the month $375 for the railways of the east; $224 for the railways of the south, and $177 for the railways of the west.

These figures are from the summary of earnings and expenses of steam railways operating about ninety per cent of the mileage of the country, made by the Bureau of Railway Economics from the reports of these railways to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He went to Dayton and saw the actual conditions there. Mr. Bicknell had much experience in relief work during the San Francisco earthquake.

A POST MORTEM EXAMINATION

CUTS AND BRUISES ON FACE OF ROBT. COBB'S BODY—BLOOD CLOTS UNDER SKULL

CARTER HELD AT JAIL

No Date Has Been Set For Examination Into the Death of Wichita Falls Attorney

No date has been set for the examining trial of Sam Carter, charged by affidavit with the murder of Robert Cobb Jr., who died yesterday morning. Carter is still in jail and has not employed counsel. When seen this morning he declined to discuss the case at all, saying he would wait until his preliminary hearing.

Yesterday afternoon four physicians made a post mortem examination of the attorney's body. Doctors G. R. Yantis, L. Coons, R. A. Bennett and Everett Jones made the examination of which no official report has been made as yet. Death was declared to be due a ruptured blood vessel. The face was badly swollen and discolored and the nose was broken. There were several cuts and bruises about the eyes and forehead. Three blood clots were found underneath the skull behind the forehead.

District Attorney Scurry was returned from Archer county, where district court is in session, and is at work on the case. County Attorney Boone, who is confined to his home, ordered the post mortem examination yesterday at the request of relatives of Carter, following the latter's arrest. Carter is only 23 years of age, but is an unusually powerful appearing man.

When seen this morning he seemed to be more or less affected by his position and spoke haltingly. "I don't want to say anything; it might help me and again it might hurt me; I'll just wait," he said.

SPEEDING ON LAKE ROAD MUST STOP

Constable Burns Says Racing and Speeding Must Come To An End

Constable Frank Burns wishes to call the attention of automobilists to violations of the speed laws on the road between the city and Lake Wichita. He says reports have come to him that machines are being driven at a speed of forty and fifty miles an hour along this road, especially on Sunday's and that there have been races between machines that have endangered not only the lives of the occupants but the lives of other users of the road as well. He says he does not desire to get anyone in trouble but that the racing and speeding must stop. He intends to place watchers along this road to see that the speed laws are respected and accidents prevented.

GAG ORDER IN TREASURY DEPT

SECRETARY McADOO EXTENDS RULE TO INCLUDE EVERY DIVISION AND BUREAU

SECRETARY IS CENSOR

McAdoo Himself Must Pass On Desirability of News For Publication

By Associated Press. Washington, April 10.—Secretary McAdoo's gag order today was extended from the assistant secretary of the treasury to whom it originally applied to include every bureau and division chief of the Treasury Department. Under the secretary's order nothing whatever concerning the government's business in that department may become known until the secretary has passed upon its desirability for publication.

Surgeon General Blue of the public health service by this order is forbidden to give the results of the government's test of Dr. Friedmann's anti-tuberculosis vaccine or to warn the public of danger of disease or epidemics. The life saving service cannot give news of vessels in distress.

All such information now must go first to the chief in charge of the bureau in which it originates and then Mr. McAdoo's office.

The treasury is the only department of the government in which the gag order has been used. Secretary McAdoo's order completely reverses the policy of his predecessor Former Secretary Veach.

HIGH WATER MARK IN MEMBERSHIP

Chamber of Commerce Makes New Record—Committee Still at Work

The membership of the Chamber of Commerce today reached the high water mark of its history, with a total of over 400 names on the roster. The additions brought by the membership campaign, together with a number which have been added since that time, bring the total to that figure.

In spite of this record, it is felt that there are still many names to be added and the membership committee is still at work. A. L. Huey, chairman of the committee, recently compiled a list of a large number of Wichitans who are not members and efforts are now being made to bring these into the organization.

Washington, April 10.—Interest in diplomatic circles here centered in the appointment of Walter H. Page as ambassador to Great Britain. Reports received from various sources and from England seemed to indicate that Mr. Page was entirely acceptable and was well fitted to fill the important post without display. It was remarked that London papers generally took the appointment with cordial feeling. Mr. Page who will resign as editor of World's Work, has been with that publication since its establishment in 1907 and a member of the publishing firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., the New York publishers, since 1899. He was born at Cary, N. C., on August 15, 1855. He was a student at Randolph-Macon college in Virginia from 1872 to 1876, and a fellow at Johns Hopkins university from 1876 to 1878. He was editor of the Forum from 1890 to 1895 and editor of the Atlantic Monthly until 1899.

MISSISSIPPI SLOWLY FALLING AT MEMPHIS

Absence of Rain and Some Sunshine Brought New Hope To Workers

By Associated Press. Memphis, Tenn., April 10.—The absence of rain and some sunshine brought new hope today to thousands of workers who have been watching the levees that are holding the mighty torrent of the Mississippi from the fields of Eastern and Northern Arkansas. These are considered the danger points along the river at present.

This morning all the levees except the crevasse at Wilson were holding.

The gauge at Memphis showed a fall of one-tenth of a foot reading 46.5 feet. Just below Memphis a fall of six-tenths of a foot was reported.

REPUBLICANS PLAN ATTACK

THEY CLAIM DEMOCRATIC TARIFF BILL WILL MEAN PRACTICALLY FREE TRADE

NO HEARING IN SENATE

Expected Tariff Bill Remains In Committee On Short Time—Free Sugar Fight Predicted

By Associated Press. Washington, April 10.—The Senate finance committee has determined not to hold hearings on the tariff bill. Many manufacturers have applied to the committee to present arguments against rates proposed in the Underwood bill. The Senate members, however, take the position that the hearings conducted by the House Ways and Means committee in January were sufficient to bring out practically all the points in the tariff bill that may concern the revenue features of the measure.

It is now believed that the new tariff bill, after it finally reaches the Senate, will not remain in the committee more than ten days.

Republican senators are preparing for a united attack on the Democratic revenue tariff on the ground that it not only destroys all protection to American industry but that in many features it is practically a free trade bill.

After a conference with President Wilson today Representative Hardwick of Georgia, declared he would submit to the House Democratic caucus an amendment to the tariff bill to place sugar on the free list, March 1, 1916, instead of three years from the date of the passage of the bill as now proposed.

He predicted a fight in the House for free sugar.

PARIS BIRTH RATE LOWEST SINCE 1861

Only One Birth For Every Thirty Families Mortality Rate Excessively High

By Associated Press. Paris, April 10.—The birth rate in the French capital for 1912 was the lowest for any year since 1861, there being only one birth for every thirty families. The infant mortality was also excessively high being 143 per thousand. Prohibitive rentals are said to be the chief cause of the low birth rate, and overcrowding the cause of the high mortality rate.

RETURN VISIT BY MINERAL WELLS

PLANS FOR ENTERTAINMENT

Dinner, Trip To Factory District and Other Features Will Fill the Day

Mineral Wells citizens will, on Monday April 21, return the social call which Wichita Falls paid them two weeks ago when the new railroad was opened, and preparations will begin shortly for the entertainment of the visitors.

The special train is expected to arrive about noon and during their stay here the visitors will be given dinner, taken to the factory addition in automobiles or street cars and otherwise entertained. They expect to come in over the Wichita Falls & Southern, returning by way of the Wichita Valley, through Seymour.

Wichitans who went on the Mineral Wells trip remember very pleasantly the manner in which they were entertained there, and it is felt that this city's entertainment of Mineral Wells citizens should be fully as complete and enjoyable.

POPE'S CONDITION TODAY REPORTED MUCH IMPROVED.

Rome, April 10.—At noon today the Pope's condition was reported much better but he is still very weak in his heart action and his intermittent pulse is still causing anxiety.

His physician today permitted him to eat an egg with some broth but he was able to take it only with great difficulty.

NON RESIDENTS URGED TO JOIN

Campaign To Enlist Support of All Interested Here To Chamber of Commerce

Non-resident property owners are now being urged to become members of the Chamber of Commerce and letters from the membership committee are being sent out, asking support of the organization. While in recent years much of the property that was formerly owned by out-of-town people has been sold to local buyers, there are still many non-resident property owners, and it is felt that as these receive direct and decided benefits from the work of the Chamber of Commerce they should contribute to the support of the organization.

The resident membership of the Chamber of Commerce is now 408, larger than it has been in some time. The non-residents include people in various parts of the country, some in Maine and some in California. These are now being "lined up" as long-distance boosters for the city where some of their interests are.

EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY

SPEAKER AT NATIONAL CONFERENCE DECLARES THIS IS ALL FARMERS ARE ASKING

FINANCIAL REFORMS

Currency Laws Should be Amended So As to Extend Credit Facilities Farmers

By Associated Press. Chicago, April 10.—The last day of the first National conference on Marketing and Farm Problems brought forth expressions of the real financial needs of farmers. Herbert Myrick of Springfield, Mass., publisher of several weekly farm papers spoke on co-operation and finance, and said an adequate financial system for farming needs required the following:

(1) Whatever reform of the currency system be enacted by Congress it should provide facilities for the financing of farms and small industries relatively equal to the facilities afforded great industries.

(2) Such reform legislation should encourage saving and thrift. This should be done not by the granting of special privileges or the bestowal of "paw" but by affording equal opportunities in banking and exchange to finance themselves either through mortgages to banks and savings companies or by a co-operative system of credits and loans.

JANUARY WEATHER ON THE TENTH OF APRIL.

Wichita Falls was again very January today, with a cold north wind this morning and temperature only a few degrees above freezing. The annual scandal, winter lingering in the lap of spring, appears to be in progress.

During the day the wind seemed to shift to the westward and the temperature gradually mounted. Overcoats were considerably in evidence and straw hats were shelled for a while.

Frost tonight, fair and warmer tomorrow, is the weather man's guess for the next 24 hours.

DANGER INCREASING ON LOWER MISSISSIPPI

Heavy Rains of Last Few Days Have Added to Peril to Levees

New Orleans, April 10.—The heavy rains of the last two days have increased the danger to the Mississippi River levees south of Vicksburg. These rains promise to raise the height of the water above the previous high record.

A solid train load of seventeen cars of steel piles is en route here from Pittsburg to be distributed throughout the lower Mississippi territory for use in a new scheme for tying together the ends of crevasses. United States engineers devised this plan and believe it feasible. Heretofore it has been almost impossible to tie together the ends of breaks in the levees.

STATE TAX RATE MUST BE RAISED

State Warrants Must Now Go Unpaid From Two to Five Months

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, April 10.—State Treasurer Edwards today said: "There must be an increase in the State tax rate." The present ad valorem rate is 10 cents for each assessed $100 valuation. Because the legislature does not meet until July 21 to make appropriations the meeting of the automatic State tax board which is supposed to meet in July to fix the tax levy will have to be postponed until August.

Mr. Edwards said it will be impossible to pay some of the State's warrants until from two to five months after their issue.

The legislature at its session just adjourned appropriated $1,125,000 and there is a heavy deficit in the treasury although $225,000 of this appropriation has been paid out. Mr. Edwards estimates that April warrants will be paid not later than June 15; May warrants not later than August 14; June warrants not later than November 9, and August warrants not later than January 20, 1914.

RURAL LIFE IN HOLLAND

W e are on the high road to Harderwyk, one of the small "dead cities" of the Zuyder Zee. It is Saturday morning and market day, the most important weekly occurrence in these environs. Market begins quite early and must now be over, for it is close upon 11 o'clock and we meet the returning stream of peasants. They have sold all their eggs and other produce, have made their purchases in town for the coming week and are now returning homeward, writes W. J. L. Kiehl, from The Hague, in the Chicago Daily News.

Most of them are on foot, but some come driving in carts and in wagons that are curiously carved and painted a dark green color. Some of these wagons are hooded with either white or dark blue cap-like covers. From underneath these hoods peep the smiling faces of the peasant women. Every one gives us a friendly nod and a cheerful "good morning." The drivers of the vehicles that overtake us half stop their teams as they offer us a lift. But we do not accept the kind offers, for the walk is far too enjoyable this fine winter morning.

Fond of Blue Colors.
Every man, woman or child we meet is carrying a basket, sometimes two, and a few bundles. The baskets are all covered with kerchiefs, many of a dark blue ground with light blue flowery pattern, or blue and white check. The bundles, too, are all wrapped in such cloths. Strange, this preference for dark blue, which also obtains in the dress of all these peasants. The women wear black skirts, with wide plaited overjackets, low at the neck, where they show a neck kerchief of spotless white, over which is pinned a bright scarlet flowered overkerchief. But the long wide aprons they all wear and which entirely cover the skirts, are dark navy blue without exception.

actually met two or three girls on bicycles, with their wide skirts, curling caps, wooden shoes and all! And they seem to get along perfectly well on their "bikes" with their wooden shoes; only somehow, it seems incongruous and a sort of anachronism to see such modern things as bicycles on the old road with its people of bygone ages, as it seems.

Dress of the Men.
The men also still adhere to the ancient dress. The trousers do not differ much from those we see in south Holland. A double breasted waistcoat or a short black or dark blue jacket lined with very heavy dark blue flannel are worn with the kerchief in dark colors around the neck. They also carry a gold brooch that is attached to a kind of collar of white knitted cotton, on which are worked in red the name or initials of the wearer. These brooches are made like two large buttons, more or less ornamented with filigree, and hold the neck kerchief in place at the throat. A black silk cap, sometimes with embroidered border, completes the costume.

Many of these men carry finely chased silver or old brass tobacco boxes, for they all chew tobacco. "It is such a comfort," they tell us. The costume described is more or less of a "Sunday dress" kind, for when at work nearly every man wears a dark blue cotton blouse.

The tiny boys in their dress are exact counterparts of the men. Some few men we meet wear very long coats and high hats. That is a mourning costume, we are told, which custom requires to be worn on Sunday and feast days as a mark of respect for the dead.

Few carry umbrellas. They are not very necessary here, for the clothing is almost impervious to rain. It is so thick and of so satiny a sheen that the

DISCUSSING POLITICS

The headdress is curious and consists of many pieces, all of which have some meaning of their own, showing whether the wearer is maid, wife of widow, or whether she is in deep or light mourning. Most of the women we meet wear close-fitting white lace or calico caps, over which is tightly drawn the kerchief, of a bright colored flowery pattern on cream ground. Over this is laid a wide silver band, lying close to the neck and coming up over the ears. Just above the eyes two gold spirals are fastened that look like small horns. At the back, the silver headpieces have engraved the initials of the wearer and are decorated with some sprays of leaves or flowers. Although not so costly as the gold headpieces of the Holland and Frisian peasants, these silver ornaments represent good values, costing from 35 to 40 florins ($14.40 to $16). Every girl, as soon as she reaches the age of fifteen, is promoted to wear these caps and headdresses. The younger children wear black, hoodlike caps, such as we see in pictures of the Stuart period in England.

On work days every one wears wooden shoes. Only on Sundays do the wealthier peasant women wear leather shoes with great silver buckles, the latter often ancient heirlooms of beautiful workmanship. On this market day many of the women, have donned their Sunday things and are showing off their leather shoes. In wooden shoes; however, every one seems to be more comfortable and we water does not penetrate, but runs off it as from a duck's back. It is the thickness of the material and not any undue number of petticoats that makes the women's dress stand out so widely around them, and that make even the long coated jackets of the little girls stand out as if they were whalebone. The workday jackets of women and girls have short sleeves; and only on very cold days do they wear finely knitted black woven mittens over their bare arms. But the Sunday jackets are long sleeved and of a silky brocade appearance.

In former years, when the Netherlands were not being reclaimed on so large a scale and sheep were pastured there under the care of a shepherd, every peasant family had their own few sheep, whose wool they carded and spun themselves and then knitted it into stockings that were almost impossible to wear out, so strong was this wool. Now, however, this branch of home industry is almost discarded and the people wear the stockings knitted in the factories.

Just Love,
Just Love and I
We, two;
But we can make
Old Fate undo

The knots and tangles he has tied so tight,
Bring out his lantern to illumine the night
For you, Love, you can charm him,
I can sue.

Just Love and I
Alone
But we can draw
From the tense string
The music they had thought forever stilled

Brim the bright cup so long had been unfilled,
For you, Love, you can play
And I can sing:

Just Love and I
Can give
All that we have
From day to day,
Can brave the things that hurt, the words that burn,

Pour out our treasure, asking no return,
For you, Love, you can wait
And I can pray.

Just Love and I
Just Love
Can be so dear
That in surprise

Hearts cold shall throb with tenderest desire
To make a place for others by the fire—
In love, just two alone
The secret lies.

ALAMO HOME AND SCHOOL CLUB MEETING OF APRIL 4

The meeting of the Alamo Home and School Club Friday, April 4 was one of unusual interest and enjoyment. The session was held at the school and was well attended. One new member was added to the club's roll. Mrs. J. W. Culbertson led in the devotional exercises opening the meeting. Songs and readings by pupils of the first grade of the school followed. These numbers were greatly appreciated. The Misses Ora and Fannie Craig played a piano duet in a most pleasing manner. The feature of the program was the talk by Dr. Chas. R. Hartsook on the eye, ear, nose and throat. Dr. Hartsook in his talk dealt especially with these organs in school children and gave many practical and helpful suggestions for mothers and teachers. The next meeting will be held on April 19th when the annual election of officers will take place.

23,329,097 CATHOLICS UNDER STARS AND STRIPES

Figures from "Official Directory" indicate Growth of That Church

The annual statistics of the Catholic Church from Catholic sources are now available from the annual "Official Directory." That volume is so far advanced toward publication that Catholic journals are able to present from it figures of general interest and importance. There are, according to these authorities, 15,154,105 Catholics in the United States alone, while in the outside possessions there are 7,131,989 in the Philippines, a million or more in Porto Rico, 11,510 in Alaska, 42,108 in the Hawaiian Islands and 900 in the Canal Zone. In all it will be found that there are 23,329,047 Catholics under the Stars and Stripes. The issue of the Directory for 1913 informs us that a new church is built every day in the year. We read from the abstract in the Inter-Mountain Catholic (Salt Lake City):

"There were 373 new churches established during 1912, some of them, of course, being only mission churches. To be exact, there are 244 new churches with resident pastors and 129 new mission churches, that is, served by a neighboring pastor. All told, there are 14,312 churches in the United States, 9,601 having resident pastors.

"According to the publication there are 17,945 Catholic clergymen in the dioceses of the United States, 13,273 being secular clergy and 4,672 being members of religious orders. In addition to the 17,945 priests, there are also hundreds of fathers in distant lands; in fact, there is hardly a civilized or uncivilized land where United States clergy are not to be found. Only a few days ago a United States priest sailed from New York for the island of Timor, an island away out in the Indian Ocean, inhabited by semi-barbarous Malays and Papuans.

"In addition to the 17,945 clergymen engaged in the United States, there are 6,169 men and youths studying in 85 seminaries, located in various parts of the country.

"There are also 230 colleges and academies for boys and 684 academies for girls, where the higher education of our Catholic youth is given serious attention. The number of academies for girls is, of course, larger than the colleges for men and boys, but the number of men and boy students is much larger than girl students.

"One of the features of the Directory which will give food for thought is the table giving the statistics of the parochial schools. According to the figures which have been supplied by the Diocesan Chancery officials there are 5,256 parishes which have parochial schools connected with the churches. In these 5,256 schools, 1,360,761 boys and girls are receiving their elementary education. Furthermore, it must be borne in mind that in many rural districts, where parochial schools can not be organized, due provision is made for the religious instruction of youth. With this in mind, the fact that 1,360,761 children are attending the parochial schools will stand out more sharply.

A table has been prepared showing the distribution of the Catholic population in twenty-five States having the largest number of Catholics. Thus:

New York, 2,790,623; Pennsylvania, 1,633,353; Illinois, 1,460,987; Ohio, 743,065; Massachusetts, 1,383,435; Louisiana, 584,000; Michigan, 568,

Wichita Falls, Texas, April 10, 1913

Wichita Falls has been very nicely treated by the Katy in the schedule changes just announced and the management of that road seems inclined to give Wichita Falls a real square deal. It is possible, under the schedule, to go to sleep in a Pullman at 9 o'clock here and wake up in Dallas the next morning, and the early morning train out of here also gives direct connection to Dallas. Double daily service to Newcastle, with prompt and through connection to Mineral Wells without changing cars, are also provided for under the new schedule and Wichitans certainly have no kick coming against Miss Katy. Wichita Falls is getting much better treatment from all the roads than she formerly did and the folks in the general offices are not so much inclined to put us in the way station class.

THE MISSOURI, KANSAS & TEXAS RAILROAD AND THE STATE.

The Chronicle unreservedly expresses the opinion that the suit instituted by the attorney general to prevent the carrying out of the provisions of the consolidation bill passed by the legislature is to state it mildly, most unfortunate. That the bill was overwhelmingly and imperatively demanded by the people is due beyond all question. The consolidation affected the people living in all the territory from Wichita Falls to Waco, and from Waco to Trinity, and from Trinity to Beaumont and Port Arthur, and the people, who are the repository of all power, imperatively demanded that the bill be passed, and their servants and agents obeyed their behest. While the governor was opposed to the bill from the first, he was justified in submitting it to the attorney general for his opinion as to its constitutionality, and when that opinion was adverse he was justified on that ground in vetoing it; hence the governor may be eliminated from the equation and the responsibility be placed on the attorney general.

That official is responsible for the halt and stay of building railroad connections which are sorely needed and which will benefit many sections which have no railroad facilities at all.

As the completion of the Panama canal draws near, all the great trunk lines are making every possible effort to get the end of their lines to tide-water, and that they should be able to do so is a matter in which four millions of people in Texas and countless millions beyond the seas are profoundly interested.

The people have done all in their power to promote the attainment of that end. They pay the taxes; they pay the freights; they raise the crops; they buy the goods; they bear the burdens, and they have the unrestrained and unrestrained right to say what railroads they want and where they shall be built, and neither the attorney general nor any other man has the right to seek to thwart their purposes or prevent the consummation of their hopes.

There are just as good lawyers in the legislature as is the attorney general, but, conceding that the constitutionality of the law is debatable, every doubt should be resolved in favor of the will of the people.

As the Chronicle has said before, the action of the attorney general has very much the appearance of trying to get even with the legislature for paying no attention to his opinion by passing the bill over the gubernatorial veto.

Who is going to be harmed by giving the state new lines of railway? What evil can follow upon allowing a great railway system to get its touch at tide-water with the commerce of the world? Why should not the people of the imperial realm of the Northwest, and those of Central Texas, and the dwellers in the pines, who have long yearned for a railroad, be given the benefit of a shorter line to the markets of the world?

It is wise, is it politic, to interpose between the accomplishment of that desire a lot of legal construction and debatable constitutional question and analysis of hair splitting decisions? Is the question so plain, so patent, so obvious that the official conscience of the attorney general is compelled to seek to thwart the popular will and desire? It is not. Had it been the bill would never have been passed.

The home town of the attorney general is indebted for the larger part of its gratifying growth to the very railroad whose progress into other fields he now seeks to obstruct. It has spent millions of money in Texas. It asks the privilege of spending millions more. It appealed to the people's representatives for that permission and obtained it, and now one man, who was nominated by the very narrowest of margins, rises to say, "The people be damned. I will not permit their commands to be executed," and the work on a great public enterprise is stopped, and the people stand disappointed, and millions of dollars are kept out of Texas.

This is the plain, unvarnished situation. How long will the people stand such trifling with their wishes? They have stood it too long already. —Houston Chronicle.

ADVERTISING THAT REPELS.

One of the mysteries of advertising, says the Philadelphia Record, is that men reputed to be shrewd spend their money in methods of publicity that repel the very buyers whom they are anxious to attract. A common form of such misdirected effort is the huge billboards and signs along railroad lines. The effect which the atrocious blights upon the landscape produce upon many people and especially those of the greatest buying capacity, is vigorously set forth by a Charleston (S. C.) paper, which, under the heading, "Down With the Vandals," has this to say to the point:

"In the west there is a widespread movement on foot to prohibit the placement of roadside scenery by the placing of advertisements on the wayside rocks and by building huge signs proclaiming the virtues of this and that brand of tobacco to all who pass that way. Verily, we are progressing. We are developing aesthetically and are beginning to make head against the barbarians. Perhaps the time may yet come when summer resorts in the garden country of the south will fine those of their merchants who stick up hideous advertisements along the roads which lead into the towns. Certainly they are already many among the summer visitors who view these decorations with contempt and make up their minds straightway not to patronize the stores which are responsible for them and not to buy the tobacco manufacturers of which have done so much to deface the scenery of America. Hasten! the day when the South as well as the West shall have no patience with the vandals."

The feeling of resentment here referred to is one shared by many Americans. Why alienate possible buyers by such crude methods when a well-worded advertisement in a newspaper will reach a larger public and create a favorable impression? With the best medium of advertising chosen the fight for business is half won. —Waco Times-Herald.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF ROBERT COBB, JR.

The funeral of Robert Cobb Jr., who died yesterday morning, took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the Church of the Good Shepherd, burial being in Riverside cemetery. The simple but impressive Episcopal service was read by Rev. Chester Wood, rector of the church. The active pall bearers were from the friends and neighbors of the deceased, being St. Clair Sherrod, Horace Nutt, Walter Reid, J. E. Childers, Alphonse Becker and E. L. Fulton. The honorary pall bearers were all the members of the county bar association. There were many beautiful floral offerings and a large concourse of friends attended and followed the cortege to the cemetery. The Wichita County Bar Association met this morning at the court house, with Judge C. B. Felder presiding, and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, the All Wise Providence has seen fit in His Wisdom to remove from our midst one of our esteemed and brilliant members, now therefore be it resolved by the members of the Bar of Wichita County, Texas, that in the death of Robert Cobb, Jr., we have lost from our number a man of brilliant mind; a lawyer of high integrity and conspicuous honesty, and a gentleman of noble character and high attainments.

"That we extend to the members of his bereaved family our deepest sympathy in this their great sorrow. "That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the district and county courts of Wichita County, Texas, and that the resolution be published in the Wichita Falls papers and a copy be handed to the members of the family. Respectfully submitted

"C. B. FELDER, "WM. N. BONSNER, E. L. FULTON, "Committee."

The hanging nests in the cottonwoods and other trees in the suburbs of Denver, and all the towns in Colorado from the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains to Durango and Grand Junction, in the eastern part of the state, are the work of Bullock of Bullock's oriole. Bullock's oriole is a wonderful architect and a shrewd builder. Its nest is fastened to the smaller swaying branches or twigs of trees, generally safe from those who would rob or destroy eggs or young. Strings, wood, fiber, horsehair, leaves, wool and soft materials are used in its construction, the rim of the nest being so artfully attached to the limb of the tree that it can withstand almost any gale that blows. This oriole is not averse to stealing string and other material from the nest of the house finches, also linnets and other birds. The nest contains from three to six eggs, and the young orioles are truly the rock-a-by babies in the tree-tops of the bird world.—Rocky Mountain Herald.

This week is worthy of attention of any man who wants value in clothes. It's really worth $25.00, and not another tailor in Texas would think of selling it for less than $22.50. I am selling it this week for $18.00, because I want to get you started in my new place, and because I had an opportunity of buying two big bolts of the cloth at a very low price. Into these $18.00 suits, as an extra value, I am putting a first class mohair wool lining, just the same as I use in $35.00 and $40.00 suits without extra charge. CLEAN-UP-DAY ON BALL TEAM

SQUAD CUT TO MAXIMUM NUMBER OF FOURTEEN BY RELEASE OF THREE

LINE UP OF THE TEAM

Reducing Squad To Thirteen
Reducing Squad To Fourteen
Players

This was "clean-up day" on the baseball team, the squad being cut to the required number of fourteen by the release of Payne, Miller and Wilson, all three candidates for infield positions. Trigg, the Lockhart pitcher, had already left, leaving just thirteen men on the salary list. One more player, either an infielder or a pitcher, will be added before Tuesday. The team now stacks up as follows:

Rosamond and White, catchers; Myers, Jones, Scroggins, Valverde, pitchers; Kizlar, first base; Phillips, second base; Shell, third base; Brown, short stop; Guthrie, left field; Morris, center field; Nicholson, right field.

Marked improvement in the work of some of the new men has put the team in better shape in the past few days and as soon as the youngsters recover from stage fright and other ills it is believed the team will be equal to any on the circuit. If a good short stop can be found, Brown will go to center field and Duke Morris take the bench. If the fourteenth man is a pitcher, and it will probably be Baxter, the line-up will remain as above.

The team has two left handers, Scroggins and Valverde and both are showing up well, so that it is possible both will be retained. It seems entirely certain that Scroggins will remain and Valverde's chances depend upon himself. He has not Scroggins' control, but has been showing considerable class that promises well.

Kizlar played in the outfield last year, being at one time the league leader in batting. He is a left hander, which is unusual for a first baseman, but which is more of an advantage than a disadvantage. Nicholson, the new outfielder, has not done any hitting yet, but is showing remarkable speed both in the field and on bases; he is a faster man than Brown, and the fans know how fast that is.

The pitching staff, as a whole, is much better than at this time last year.

DOG AND MONKEY CIRCUS TO REMAIN ALL WEEK.

Wormwood's dog and monkey show proved such a successful attraction at the Lydia Margaret Theatre that the management has decided to keep it over for the balance of the week. The act is one of real merit and has played in all of the big cities of this country, as well as in Europe. Pink, the star performer of the troupe is a dog which actually seems to possess reasoning powers. From numbers supplied by the audience he adds, multiplies and subtracts and barks out the numbers at sight of them on a slate. Prof. Wormwood has trained animals all his life and has handled everything from elephants to cats, but he thinks Pink is the best trained animal he has ever possessed. Another performer in the bunch that attracts a great deal of attention and causes much amusement is a monkey that skates on roller skates about the stage as good as any human could do it.

MAY CLOSE STORES FOR BALL GAME

Movement On Foot For Closing All Business Houses Next Tuesday Afternoon

Efforts are under way to have all stores here closed next Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, while the opening game of the Texas-Oklahoma League season between Wichita Falls and Denison is in progress. In all of the towns where opening games are played, the business houses will be closed so as to allow everyone to attend the game, and it is hoped to secure a sufficiently large number of merchants here to make this possible in this city.

The game will probably start earlier than usual, and should be over by 5 o'clock, so that stores may be

Chalmers "Thirty-Six" gives the answer to both —to the man who is thinking of buying a cheap car:

The difference between the Chalmers "Thirty-Six" and some other car you may be thinking of buying is probably about $300 or $400.
But the difference in value, we can honestly assure you, isn't less than $1000.
Nowadays it is not merely enough that an automobile run. You can take that much for granted with almost any car. What you should look for is permanent satisfaction, comfort, good looks, elegance of equipment. You want a car you can be proud of. You want a car that will be good 5 or 6 or 8 years from now.
The Chalmers "Thirty-Six" is such a car.
Built in the Chalmers shops, manufactured—not assembled—made of the best materials and under the most rigid inspection, the "Thirty-Six" offers all you can ask in a motor car. If you are going to spend your money at all for a motor car, isn't it wise economy to put $300 or $400 more to it and make your first investment really good?

—to the man who is thinking of buying a high priced car:
Just what more do you get in any high priced car than you get in the Chalmers "Thirty-Six" at $1950? Can you go any further in a day or a month? Can you go any faster, (except at a great risk)?
Can you ride with any greater comfort? Can you get any more conveniences to make driving easy and pleasant?
We honestly believe that many people choose high priced cars simply because they are high priced.
We know of many who have paid more than they really needed to pay—simply because they didn't realize that a medium priced car like the "Thirty-Six" would give maximum service.
We know these same people are paying out monthly far more in upkeep than they would need to pay for such a car as the "Thirty-Six."

To all such we say, "See the "Thirty-Six," ride in it; try it out thoroughly. It is a car you can be proud of—a car that will save your money—but not the cost of satisfaction."

Won't you give us the opportunity of demonstrating the Chalmers "Thirty-Six"? Please phone or call reopened after the game. Many of the merchants have expressed themselves in favor of a general closing for two hours and owing to the brief time for which they are asked to close, it is felt that there should be no objection to the plan.

Denison is admittedly one of the real contenders this season and the opening series is expected to be one of the best that will be seen here.

The pupils of the Washington School (colored) will raise a flag tomorrow at 3 p. m. with appropriate exercises to which the public is most cordially invited. The flag pole was made and erected by the boys of the Manual Training department. C. C. Trimble, Principal.

COUNTRY FILLED WITH GAME

CROSSING A FORD IN EAST AFRICA

FROM Mozambique to Mombasa is a four days' sail, passing the delightful, palm-covered island of Zanzibar on the way, writes Sir Henry Seton-Karr, C. M. G., a big game hunter. This island deserves a longer visit and a fuller account than I had time to pay or am able to give. But a ten-mile motor drive and a short day's visit afforded a glimpse of its luxuriant coconut and clove plantations, its beautiful vegetation, its narrow eastern streets and brass-studded doors, and its heterogeneous colored population.

Mombasa, or rather Kilindini (Mombasa being the town), is a fine harbor, the best of shelter, fairly easy of access, and with good anchorage. Moreover, it is an increasingly busy port, and a standing witness to the foresight of the late Lord Salisbury when he faced the responsibility of the Uganda railway, of which it is the terminus and the outlet.

My immediate objective in visiting the newest English colony was a month's safari from Nairobi and some big-game hunting. So I left Mombasa by the first available train, and in twenty-four hours had ascended 6,000 feet, through palm grove, tropical jungle, thorn and grass-covered plain and mountain ranges, to the high tableland that makes British East Africa possible as a white man's colony and another cradle for our race. Of this tableland Nairobi is the capital, and the social and political center. Incidentally I was informed that 200 young British wives in and around Nairobi had produced among them during the last two or three years no fewer than 120 bonnie white babies—120 "bundles of possibilities" for the furtherance and future extension of British dominion and Anglo-Saxon civilization.

Great Variety of Sport.
Never have I seen anything like the quality of big game in any part of the world such as now exist in their thousands in British East Africa. Even Western America thirty years ago had nothing like this wealth of wild fauna. I rather doubt if South America in its pioneer days equaled it in this respect. For some hours before reaching Nairobi thousands of zebra, hartebeeste (kougoni), gazelle of various kinds ("Grant's" and "tomnies") can be seen from the railway carriage windows dotting the plains and grass-covered, tree-sprinkled hillsides through which the railway runs. Herds of wildebeeste are almost always in sight; also other varieties of buck or antelope, such as impala and oribi. Also an occasional rhino, and frequently a herd of giraffe.

One has heard so much of hunting parties visiting Nairobi of late years and returning in every case laden with spoils and trophies of the chase, that I had a sort of feeling beforehand that the game would soon be all killed, unless one hurried up and went soon. But now the mystery was solved. The country is so fertile, pastoral and extensive, and the climate so equable, that it is capable of maintaining an almost incredible amount of game.

The game is there, and has not been recklessly slaughtered and squandered in the past. It is now only shot in a sportsmanlike manner, under strict regulation as to numbers and locality—some rarer kinds being absolutely protected—and only on payment of a substantial license fee; and so the consequence is that, if anything, the game is increasing in numbers, not diminishing. In fact, the boot is on the other leg. The question is whether, in some districts, the commoner kinds of game are too numerous and should not, in the interests of settlers and their fencing and crops, be greatly reduced in numbers or even altogether killed off.

So far as my own hunting experiences are concerned, I enjoyed a most delightful and productive three weeks' safari, during the course of which I shot about forty head of big game, either for meat or for trophies, including eighteen different varieties, among them a great python sixteen feet long. I am bound to confess, in my view, that there is no great sporting merit in obtaining the ordinary common big game trophies of East Africa, such as wildebeeste, hartebeeste, the various kinds of gazelle and smaller antelope, zebra and warthog, all of which are to be found on the open plains and outside long grass and jungle. It is merely a question of how long one stays out and how many cartridges one uses.

Poor Opinion of Lion.
There are, however, other varieties of big game much harder to find and shoot, and in the hunting of which some woodcraft and intelligence, as well as straight shooting, are required,

A box of Ben Davis for $1.50 is a good purchase. That is our price. Trevethan Bros. 84 2tc and there is more danger to be faced. The dangerous game are the lion and leopard, the rhino, buffalo and elephant. As a matter of fact, these are all hard to find in the grassy, jungly ravines and thick forests in which they hide during the day. Lion hunting, in particular, is the most "chancy" sport possible. This great carnivore only feeds at night, and kills once in twenty-four or forty-eight hours—some authorities say the latter. He is somewhat generously styled the king of beasts, being, as a rule, a sneaking, crawling, night-prowling brute, hiding away in deep ravines and thick reedbeds until night comes, when he goes forth to hunt. Some sportsmen have been years in Africa without getting a shot at a lion; others drop across one in the first week.

I was not fortunate enough on this trip to get a shot at a lion, though I saw three, and heard several others at night grunting and roaring close to camp.

My most exciting experiences were with buffalo. This great mammal is a fine sporting beast, and I have the greatest respect for him. On the whole I consider him to be the most dangerous game I have ever hunted. He is massive and powerful, extraordinarily quick in his movements for so large and heavy a creature, endowed with great vitality and very hard to kill. Also he plays the game of hide-and-seek in the grassy ravines and jungle of his native home with much success; and when hunted and wounded, turns on his pursuer with the utmost determination and ferocity. In fact, he plays the game to perfection.

REWARD APPEALED TO HIM

Saving Girls' Lives Would Be Attractive if Unlimited Kisses Followed Brave Action.

While reading the paper 'other morning I noticed that a sweet Boston lass who was saved from being run over by a train by a brave man, rewarded him with a kiss.

This trifling little incident has suggested to me wonderful possibilities along this line. Soon as I can find the time to get around to it, I'm gonna go into the life-saving business—in the life-saving of charming young ladies. I'm just gonna hang around railroad tracks and on street corners where traffic is thickest and where there is a congestion of motor cars and at other dangerous places—I can find—just stick around, you understand, waiting for an opportunity to save some sweet thing's life for her.

Yassir, I'll butt right in where angels fear to tread—carrying my life in one hand and my courage in the other. When I see a sweet and altogether charming maiden standing bewildered on a railroad track or in front of an oncoming truck or behind a buzz wagon that is backing up, I'll holler, "Fear not, fair creature—I will save you!" Then I'll jump right in, pick her up in my arms and carry her to safety.

Having saved the girl's life for her, I'll stand there waiting to be kissed, and if she doesn't kiss me I'll be pretty doggone sore. If she doesn't kiss me, do you know what I'll do? I'll send her dad a bill for saving his daughter's life.—Boston Post.

Poison Kills in Forty-nine Years.

Abraham D. Tompkins is dead at Tarrytown, N. Y., indirectly the victim of a poisoning plot 49 years ago. In February, 1864, Tompkins' sister Theresa received a letter from a jealous lover warning her not to keep company with a certain young man. She did not heed the warning, and arsenic was placed in the well. She was the first to be taken ill, and died within a week. Another sister was bedridden for 25 years before she died. Tompkins was paralyzed through his left side from the poison, but although a cripple he had been able to run a little news store. The man who placed the poison in the well was never caught.

Kills Two Wildcats.

Charles A. Myers, a flagman on the Pennsylvania railroad, killed two wildcats with a club, he was carrying. Myers was flagging the rear of his train on the Columbia and Port Deposit railroad at Haines station when attacked by the animals. The train had stopped near a strip of woods and the wildcats, half-grown ones, attacked so suddenly Myers had scarcely time to defend himself. He came out of the battle with his face scratched and his clothes torn to shreds.

French Ideas Gaining In America

By Professor GUSTAVE LANSON, French Educator

AMERICANS are showing less slavish devotion to German school methods and are now coming to have a PROPER APPRECIATION OF FRENCH THOUGHT AND EDUCATION. This happy change is directly due to the modern exchange professorship system.

Nothing could better serve to dispel the false ideas of one another prevailing in the two republics. The idealism of French thought can be made to blend with American utilitarianism.

AFTER BEING FOR A LONG TIME DEVOTED TO GERMAN SCHOOL CULTURE AMERICANS ARE BEGINNING TO REALIZE WHAT THEY CAN LEARN FROM THE FRENCH, ESPECIALLY SINCE THE REVIVAL OF OUR UNIVERSITIES.

They see with surprise and pleasure that FRENCH ERUDITION CAN BE AS SOLID AS ANY OTHER, while less massive and more easily digested. They recognize the luminosity of our thought, the EXCELLENCE OF OUR ART and our care in crystallizing and presenting ideas in books and lectures.

Simple Form of Government Best For This Country

By Professor CHARLES ZUEBLIN, Lecturer

HOME rule for the United States is to be attained through direct legislation, a simple ballot and an elastic form of government.

HOME RULE INVOLVES SOME SIMPLE FORM OF GOVERNMENT, EASILY UNDERSTOOD BY MATURE MINDS, SUCH AS THE NEW ENGLAND TOWN MEETING OR THE COMMISSION FORM OF MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

More could be accomplished by the election of a FEW REPRESENTATIVES chosen at large from each integral geographical area and subject to control by the initiative and referendum without other check except that of an easily amended charter and constitution than in any other way.

Have the representatives to be chosen sit in one council or house. There would be NO DISTINCTION BETWEEN EXECUTIVE AND LEGISLATIVE except that the administrative officers would be appointed by the legislators and given entire charge of administrative work under a civil service system.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE NAVY LEAGUE.

Washington, April 10.—Wanted—a navy program.
This was the theme of the annual convention of the Navy League of the United States, which held the first of its three day sessions here this afternoon.
The convention was called to order by Vice President Henry H. Ward who sounded the keynote of the gathering. Ward told his auditors that it was important that Congress be persuaded into laying down a fixed naval program for a long term of years.
Such a program, said Mr. Ward, was not only in the interest of real efficiency and economy, but was also in the interest of maintaining an adequate navy.
Perry Belmont then addressed the convention, urging the necessity of creating a council of national defense and begging members of the league to use their best efforts toward getting such a measure through Congress.

FINE ANIMALS—FINE FEED

THE FEED QUESTION is purely a matter of education with both man and beast. There is a difference of opinion of course between the Cannibal and Missionary as to what constitutes good food, but there should be no question in the minds of experienced stockmen as to the value of our feed over the cheap dirty kind.

We carry a full line of Garden seeds, chicken remedies, fancy watering jugs for chickens, stock vigors, and all sorts of good feed for horses and cows. Plant some "Feteria" and clover seed.

Coming To Firemen's Convention
The annual meeting of the State Fireman's Association will be held at Wichita Falls this year, the dates being the 13, 14 and 15 of May. A few days ago members of the local department were soliciting funds with which to send a large delegation to the meeting. More than one hundred dollars has been raised, which will be sufficient to pay the expenses of some five or six of the men. J. H. Turner, chief, is a delegate at large, while F. E. Woodruff and Wm. CLEOPATRA is said to have been about the sweetest damsel who ever worried the milliners of her city. She wore large rings in her ears and had a complexion like a new saddle. She never met a hobbler skirt and if she should sweep down Eighth street this afternoon she would be looked upon as what the Ladies Home Journal would call a lumpy dresser. Our old friend Cleo was rather shy on happy raiment but gold and silver, well she had some because she took money off of every farmer in the Nile Valley whether he belonged to the union or not and in the matter of real shiners seventeen of the best pawn shops in the business could not have covered her sparklers with a twenty per cent margin if they had rediscouted every ticket in the house and soaked everything they had but their shoes. She spent more money for beads than Mary Garden spends for clothes, but there was one thing that Cleo could not buy because the ALTA VISTA PURE ICE CREAM man had not yet happened. Don't forget when you are regarding yourself with good old ALTA VISTA PURE ICE CREAM that Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, who had gold and diamonds enough to load a two-ton truck, could not buy a dime's worth of it.

NEGLIGENCE

WHAT does an unmarked grave call to mind? You look upon it and wonder who they were. Every cemetery shows the unmistakable outline of unmarked, unremembered graves, and as we look we know their life was as full of all the human emotions, of love pathos and tragedy as our own.

Inattention, neglect, penury, who can tell? The unremembered spot, it is unmistakable proof that some one has lived, and that the name, together with all that life holds dear has perished from this earth.

There are more unmarked graves in Riverside cemetery than any city of like size in the state. What is it? Inattention, neglect, or plain penury. We upon investigation are inclined to think it is the former in most cases.

Don't Sacrifice Quality for Quantity

There is no economy in buying cheap Groceries. Every housewife knows this, or ought to know it, and a careful comparison will prove it. Our business has been builded upon the plan of handling only the very best grades of goods—giving the very best values, but never sacrificing for quantity or price.

We take pride in the knowledge that not a single customer has ever gone out of our store dissatisfied. Our prices are low—when the quality is considered, and a dollar spent with us buys a full dollars worth of groceries—no matter who buys them.
