

VEETERANS OPEN THEIR REUNION

GOVERNOR HOOPER'S WELCOME INTERRUPTED BY SOME HISsing

CHEERS QUICKLY FOLLOW

Hostile Demonstration Anticipated and Stopped—Is First Republican to Extend Welcome

By Associated Press. Chattanooga, Tenn., May 27.—A few audible glances which later were drowned out in cheers and applause, followed the introduction of Gov. Ben W. Hooper of Tennessee, today at the first meeting of the United Confederate veterans here. The demonstration delayed the governor a short time in beginning his address. Quiet was restored when the chairman rapped for order and the governor delivered his speech without further interruption except for cheers.

WELCOMED BY GOVERNOR

In welcoming the Confederate reunion on behalf of the state of Tennessee, Governor Ben W. Hooper said: "I deem it the proud privilege of a lifetime to welcome to Tennessee soil the venerable survivors of the world's greatest war. From the dawn of history down to the present hour, the measured tread of soldiery has echoed upon the earth and the vibrant strains of martial music have stirred the hearts of men. There have been wars just and unjust, wars of necessary and unnecessary wars of cruel revenge, of selfish aggrandizement, and of exalted patriotism. Among all the military conflicts, ancient and modern, which have swept our planet with fire and drenched it with blood, none have produced more splendid examples of military prowess and heroic valor among men and loyal devotion and uncompromising self-sacrifice among men and women than the war between the states.

"In the calm light of this peaceful day it is hard for us to realize that fifty years ago the hills and valleys of this immediate country resounded with the roar of artillery and the clash of arms. We habituate ourselves to think of such terrible things as being far away in distance and in time. But there are many heads here today which vividly remember the village of Chattanooga as an armed camp and her surrounding ridges and mountains crowned with all the 'pomp and circumstance of war'.

"In behalf of every man, woman and child in the great Volunteer State, I welcome this reunion of Confederate veterans. I likewise greet you strong, manly sons and daughters, sweet and beautiful daughters.

General Young Responds Bravery, and the men and women of the Confederate states, were eulogized here today in an address by General Bennett H. Young, of Louisville, Ky., commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, in his response to speeches by state and city officials tendering the convention hall to the veterans attending the reunion here. General Young's address was surcharged with Southern fire and courage, characteristic of antebellum days.

"We all love brave men," he asserted, "whether their skins be black or white or brown. There was no brave man in all the world, outside of cruel, brutal Russia, that did not rejoice when after an exhibition not only of high skill but of the noblest valor, the little yellow men tore down the hated Russian ensign from the great fortress which Russian engineers had declared when completed 'all hell could not take'.

"The speaker then told how, after the 'splendid achievement' of Port Arthur, the Japanese had hurried forward to Mukden, where as they swung into battle, they shouted 'Banzai, banzai!' 'Clear the way, clear the way, we be the men that come from Port Arthur'.

"Men and women of Tennessee" continued General Young, "and people of Chattanooga, as we come to receive your welcome on this auspicious occasion we feel that we are not unworthy of what you have done for us; we think that we will not be violating the principles of the hour if we would cry out to the world: 'Clear the way, clear the way, we are the men from Manassas, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor, Petersburg, Gaines Mill; clear the way, clear the way, we are the men who fought at Shiloh, at Murfreesboro, at Franklin, at Atlanta, at Resaca, at Brices Cross Roads; clear the way, clear the way, we are the men who fought at Wilson's creek, at Galveston, through New Mexico, at Mansfield, at Sabine Pass, clear the way, clear the way'.

In expressing the appreciation of the veterans for their welcome to Chattanooga the speaker declared "We

RECEIVER ASKED BY FRISCO LINES

INABILITY TO MEET LOAN, MATURING JUNE 1 IS DIRECT CAUSE

APPLICATION MADE TODAY

Director Says High Rates for Money and Increased Charges Have Made Action Necessary

By Associated Press. St. Louis, May 27.—Attorneys for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad are preparing a petition for receivership for the road at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The petition will be based on the railroad's inability to meet a maturing loan of $2,250,000 based on short time five per cent notes, due June 1. A director who would not allow his name to be used, said: "The Frisco has been under a severe handicap for some time. Operating charges and fixed charges have offset large gains in gross earnings because of increased pay to trainmen and high rates for money. In the Southwestern floods a year and two years ago, the Frisco suffered losses running into millions."

WAGGONER BROTHERS WELL REPORTED DRY HOLE TODAY

The Producers Oil Company's well on Waggoner Brothers' ranch did not find a paying sand when it drilled this morning, according to telephone advices from the ranch. There was a good showing of oil, but not enough to pay, and it was decided to drill deeper. There had been reason to believe that this well would come in for a good one and the unfavorable news caused some disappointment.

AUSTIN FRANCHISE WILL BE GIVEN TO SHREVEPORT

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, May 27.—News reached here this afternoon that papers have been made out transferring the Austin League franchise to Shreveport, La. This information came to Manager Morris of Fort Worth.

breath a welcome in the air, the currents of the beautiful river flowing by your city murmur their pleasures at our presence, and these majestic mountains, witnesses of unsurpassed heroism, standing as stately guardians over battlefields made historic by the blood of heroes, give acquiescence to your gladness and your joy at the presence of these survivors of the Confederate armies. It could not be otherwise than that the people of the great 'volunteer state' should rejoice to have once more with them the men who follow the banners of the South. Tennessee gave so much in the effort to win national life for the Confederate states that it could not but be that her citizens should be pleased to look once more upon men who followed Lee, Jackson, Stuart, Albert Sidney Johnston, Joseph E. Johnston, Bragg, Forrest, Wheeler Kirby Smith, Price and Shelby in the most wonderful of all modern wars."

Declaring that the veterans have a history "that speaks now and that will speak for all ages to come of patriotism and heroism," General Young recalled some of the notable battles of the war between the states, dwelling briefly on incidents of each. "We also paid high tribute to the women of the South and to each Southern state, which was included in the Confederacy."

Remnant Still Here "The name of the Confederacy," General Young added, "and of the Confederate soldier, can never die. The Confederate nation only lived four years. It made more history in those four years than any other nation that ever existed for so brief a while. Time, pitiless time, has fearfully thinned the ranks of the men who fought under the Confederate standard. The death roll is ever enlarging, the demands of the grave are calling in eight, every year. A remnant still is here, and that remnant still feels the holiest pride and boundless joy in the renown that crowns the Confederate name."

"It is ours in all its splendor and grandeur; no hand can rob us of our birthright. There are no recruits to take the place of departing comrades. They are going, going, going, and in a little while will all be gone, but in life, in battle and in death, we still stand for the Confederate soldiery around whose memory a just and impartial fate has woven an unending wreath of glory."

The exercises were attended by a large assembly of friends of the graduates and patrons of the school, nearly every seat on the lower floor being occupied and the gallery being well filled. During the first year the class was in two divisions with Clyde Maricle who died during his school course, heading one and Karl Hammond the other. In the second year the two divisions were united in one organization. Miss Benson said that of the twenty-eight graduates, six were planning to continue their education in higher institutions of learning. The average age of this class was seventeen years, five months and twelve days; the average height, five feet six and three-fourth inches; the average weight, 130 pounds.

DELIVERS CLASS ORATION

Oliver Dudley Beauchamp, the class orator, delivered an oration on "The Civilization of Today." He brought good thought to his theme and spoke in a clear voice that carried to every part of the theatre giving well proportioned emphasis to the points desired.

"The Red Cross Movement" was the theme of the class essay delivered by Miss Bernice Taylor. Miss Taylor's delivery was exceptionally good, and in her essay she had much to interest all present.

Another musical number was a chorus by pupils of seventh grade and first year high school pupils. Miss Una Cook who achieved the highest scholarship of the class of 1913 read an essay on the "Influence of Pictures" and delivered the valedictory.

Parrish of Henrietta, the orator of the evening, the presentation of diplomas was made by Hon. W. J. Bullock, president of the school board, following which Mrs. S. H. LUCIAN W. PARRISH DELIVERS COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS TO STUDENTS

OPPORTUNITIES OF TODAY

Speaker Discusses Present Day Progress and the Twentieth Century's Needs

The address to the graduating class of the high school at the commencement exercises last night was delivered by Hon. Lucian W. Parrish, an attorney of Henrietta. Mr. Parrish is a graduate of the University of Texas, where he won many honors along athletic, oratorical and political lines. His address last night was considered one of the most able efforts ever heard in this city and was heard attentively and with interest. Mr. Parrish said:

"This is an age of growing complexities, one in which men strive to attain the greatest heights in the shortest possible time. The poor man of yesterday becomes the millionaire of today; the man in obscurity yesterday, whose name to fame and fortune was unknown, is now in harmony with the rapid movements of today. We sit in our homes and talk to the governor in his mansion, a distance of three hundred miles away; we send a message around the world in a few seconds of time; the president of the United States delivers an address in Washington at 9 o'clock at night, and Mr. Taylor and J. B. Marlow were appointed a committee to lay it before the commissioners."

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED

"Whereas, the taxable values in the city of Wichita Falls pay to Wichita county a larger percentage of the city's tax than the city has paid in the last four years although there was a distinct pledge from the Commissioners at the time of submitting the levy of special road tax to the voters that a portion of the funds would be spent, and

"Whereas some of the main outlets from Wichita Falls need work badly within the corporate limits beyond the ability of the city government to supply, therefore,

"Resolved, that the Commissioners of the county be requested to officially recognize Wichita Falls as a part of the Wichita County in the expenditure of road funds as well as for taxable purposes, and asked to place all main roads in good repair from the corporate limits to the business portion of the city, and that Judge Felder and Commissioner Jackson be requested to bring the matter before the Court with favorable recommendations from them."

Several other matters came up in the road discussion but no action was taken.

PLANS MEAT STORAGE PLANT

Messrs. Kemp, O'Reilly and Hines were appointed a committee to show the gentleman who is here with a view of establishing a slaughter house and meat storage plant over the city.

A committee was also appointed to confer with the property owners at Downing's corner on Ninth street and also on Tenth street with a view of widening the street to eliminate the danger of those in vehicles from being caught by the street cars at points where the street cars turn in the narrow street.

Acting Secretary J. W. Thomas was authorized to employ a stenographer to assist him in his work.

AVANCE DUELLING FAILS TO GET RESULTS WHEN RIVALS ADOPT IT

By Associated Press. Geneva, Switzerland, May 27.—The romantic story of a duel by avalanche between two rivals for the heart and hand of an Italian girl is told by travelers from Mount Blanc. The two lovers lived at the base of the mountain, and decided to settle their claim by standing in the path usually followed by the avalanches until one of the men was swept to death. One was struck yesterday by an avalanche but was only slightly injured. Now the rivals are looking for a quicker method of duelling.

ACCIDENT IN SALOON INJURES BARTENDER'S HAND

Bob Thornton, bartender at the Senate bar, was painfully injured last night when the valve blew off a air drum used in bar service, lacerating his right hand and breaking some of the bones. The compressed air in the drum blew off the valve with great force and Mr. Thornton is wondering how he escaped without his hand being torn off.

DIRECTORS ASK COUNTY TO HELP

CALL ON COMMISSIONERS TO AID IN GETTING BETTER STREETS

CONNECTION WITH ROADS

Strong Resolution Adopted and Will be Presented to Court by Committee

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce gave most of their attention this morning to road matters. The subject was brought up by Myles O'Reilly who emphasized the importance of the improvement of the roads to bring new trade into the city for the retail and whole merchants. He reported that since the 20th of last August 750 feet front of new business houses had been built in the business section, being fifty feet more than two blocks. At this rate the business section would double its size in four years he said. There were thirty new stores here. Although the increase in population had more than kept pace with the new buildings and the new stores he declared that the retail trade ought to be increased at a still greater rate and said one of the best methods to bring it about was through better roads.

GOVERNMENT POSTAL ROAD

One result of Mr. O'Reilly's suggestion was the endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce of the application made recently by Henrietta and Bowie for a part of the appropriation for postal roads made by the federal government for the road along the Fort Worth and Denver between Henrietta and Bowie. Chairman R. E. Huff was instructed to write to Governor Curtis telling of the action of this body and urging that he designate the stretch referred to for a part of this appropriation.

At the suggestion of Dr. Bell the Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee of three to go with a similar committee to view the street or road leading from the county bridge over the Big Wichita to the business part of town.

In this connection R. E. Huff offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted, and R. E. Huff, W. Taylor and J. B. Marlow were appointed a committee to lay it before the commissioners.

"Whereas, the taxable values in the city of Wichita Falls pay to Wichita county a larger percentage of the city's tax than the city has paid in the last four years although there was a distinct pledge from the Commissioners at the time of submitting the levy of special road tax to the voters that a portion of the funds would be spent, and

"Whereas some of the main outlets from Wichita Falls need work badly within the corporate limits beyond the ability of the city government to supply, therefore,

"Resolved, that the Commissioners of the county be requested to officially recognize Wichita Falls as a part of the Wichita County in the expenditure of road funds as well as for taxable purposes, and asked to place all main roads in good repair from the corporate limits to the business portion of the city, and that Judge Felder and Commissioner Jackson be requested to bring the matter before the Court with favorable recommendations from them."

Several other matters came up in the road discussion but no action was taken.

Drinks whiskey and brandy only when the doctor orders. Says that while he was shot in Milwaukee, he never got shot with the stuff that made Milwaukee famous. Never frequents saloons and keeps both feet on the floor when he does his drinking. Drinks champagne at banquets and public dinners. Drinks Maderia, white wine and sometimes sherry with his meals when at home. Declares he never drank a high ball or a cock tail in his life. There was a mint bed at the White House when he was there and they had other things besides grape-juice in those days. The general substance of Roosevelt's testimony is that he drinks moderately, but not habitually.

High Balls and Cocktails, Never, No, Never, Juleps, Now and Then, Whiskey When Doctor Orders

By Associated Press. Marquette, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt took the witness stand today in his libel suit against George H. Newell, who in an editorial charged him with drunkenness. Roosevelt testified as follows: "I have never drunk a cocktail or a high-ball in my life. With the exception hereafter noted, I never drank whiskey or brandy except under the advice of a physician. I do not care for the taste of either. I don't smoke, and I don't drink beer, because I dislike smoking and dislike the taste of beer. I have never drunk whiskey or brandy except when the doctor prescribed or possibly on some occasion after great exposure when I was chilled through. I have never drunk beer nor do I drink red wine. The only wines that I have drunk are white wines, Maderia, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry. At home, I often at dinner, will drink a wine glass or two wine glasses of Maderia. White House Mint Bed. "In summer, instead of the Madeira I will often drink a tall glass of white wine and a glass of champagne, or 'poly' water. At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne, perhaps two. I think that on the average this means I will drink champagne about once a month. "The only exceptions to what I have stated about drinking whiskey and brandy are as follows: 'mint juleps I very rarely drink. At the White House, as I had a mint bed, and I should think that on the average I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps a year. Since I left the White House four years ago, to the best of my memory, I have drunk mint juleps twice; on one occasion, at the Country Club at St. Louis where I drank part of a glass of mint julep, and on another occasion at a big luncheon given me at Little Rock, Ark., where they passed around the table a long cup with mint julep in it and I drank when the cup was presented to me. "In Darkest Africa. "The only other occasions when I have drunk whiskey have been when it was prescribed by the doctor. During the last fourteen years I do not believe I have drunk whiskey straight up with water more than half a dozen times. On the African trip, the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whiskey and a bottle of brandy. The bottle of brandy was taken for me because I don't drink whiskey. Some other members of the party drank whiskey. The champagne was used medicinally for three members of the party who were down with fever and dysentery and for two or three travelers, hunters and missionaries we met who were sick. I never touched either the whiskey or the champagne. "Out of the brandy bottle I drank exactly seven ounces, this being given me by Dr. Mearns on two occasions when I had fever. The last time I told him I disliked it, so that I did not think it did me any good and unless he objected I would take tea. "On very hard campaign trips, on the advice of Surgeon-General Rixey and recently of Dr. Hiltbrook Curtis, who attends to my throat in connection with these campaign trips, I have frequently just before going to bed at night, drunk one or two goblets of milk with a teaspoonful of brandy in it. If there is more than a teaspoonful I dislike the taste and don't drink it. I frequently drink milk at some meal during the day, usually lunch. Never Drinks At Bar. "On my ranch, I never had whiskey. I never made a practice of drinking at a bar, and I don't believe I have ever drunk at a bar for twenty have so thoroughly applied the doctrines of science to their work that such a word as waste is entirely unknown to them. They have utilized the refuse products from the work shop and the factory. They have even made valuable recipients from the cesspools of large cities, thus converting into an asset one of the most objectionable features of the modern city.

Some Wonders of Today. "We have the lightning calculator machine on which we can with lightning speed add, subtract, multiply and divide with absolute accuracy, and still more wonderful than this is the phonograph, a machine into which you can talk, and then, turn the key over to your grand son, and fifty years from now the machine will reproduce your words even retaining the peculiarity of your own voice."

"Even more wonderful has been the advance made in medicine and surgery. In the last few years, our surgeons have twice been successful in performing the delicate operation of sewing up the human heart, and the patient still survive and we all know how that smallpox, meningitis and kindred diseases have been stripped of their terror by the ceaseless efforts of the kind-hearted men of the medical profession, and all ready tuberculosis, the cause of one half of premature death, is being fought by the relentless fight of medical experts and we are expecting every day to hear the official announcement that the noted German scientist, Dr. Friedmann, has furnished a permanent cure for the dreaded disease."

"This same proficiency has been carried into every phase of the business and professional world, and we there, that we often hear men characterizing the whole system as corrupt and dishonest. They condemn all business and professional methods with one grand stroke, and say that an honest man cannot succeed. The business life, they say is dominated by corporate influence, and they complain that our political life is controlled by political factions."

"Next before in the history of our country was there such a demand for young men trained in the various vocations and professions of life and never before did our country open up to young men so trained greater opportunities for service. A short time ago an aged and distinguished citizen of this country said that he would give anything in the world to be a young man just closing his career in college, and have the opportunity of living the next fifty years in Texas, in order that he might witness the wonderful changes that inevitably will take place. This citizen sounded the key note of progress. He has been studying the conditions, looking into the future and he knows something of the changes that Texas will witness in the next two and one-half score years. Texas with the opening of the Panama Canal will move one thousand miles further south and will fall directly in line with the trade and commerce between the orient and the occident; her southern shores will be lined with the trading vessels of the world, and Galveston, now second to New York only, will become the first port of the entire Western Hemisphere. With one hundred and eighty million acres of land, Texas is an empire of boundless possibilities, a domain rich and fertile replete with all that can add to national greatness and national wealth. With a population as dense as Rhode Island, she will furnish a home for one hundred million souls; and her rich and fertile fields boundless in their extent, when touched by the hand of the scientific agriculturists will furnish food and clothing for her own people and for as many more besides. Underneath her surface, awaiting the chemists furnace, are many valuable minerals and precious ores, and the mining experts can safely pledge fuel to warm our people and to move our commerce for a century yet to come. This will necessitate the construction and building of new ports and new cities, and great cities like New York and Chicago will spring up where Dallas and Houston now stand and your own fair city will be a veritable metropolis and the great state will present new fields of human industry, fields that will challenge the attention of the greatest commercial interests of the world, and you and I are to see this happen in less than a score of years. Cheap water transportation will require cheap land transportation, and this will make necessary certain adjustments of great transcontinental railroads, the greatest in the world, which of necessity cross Texas from north to south. All this means new life and new life means without question, new methods and expert service, such as can only be rendered by men and women who have gone deep into the principles of mathematics and science. Can't you read the signs of the times? The world's leading constructive Genji by their actions believe that Texas will witness in the near future the greatest development that this nation has ever seen. During her four score years of existence she has gained a hundred years on New York and the rest of the world. We must see to the test every effort, and is calling on the front the best brains in the land in her wild and eager efforts to realize her boundless possibilities. It is a noble prophecy to say that the next generation will see great factories in Texas; will see the principal section of this great state populated with those who are skilled in the principles of scientific agriculture and those who are to control our government and manage the affairs of state, will not be flattering politicians or wild thiered demagogues, but will be scholars and statesmen, scholars who believe in wisdom and justice and statesmen who are skilled in the science of politics and government."

Determination Needed. "In these great changes which are sure to come, you and I young men may take an active part, but in order to do this we must first of all have the determination to do or to be. We must train our minds so that we will be able to compete successfully and manfully with the greatest brains of the day. There is no such word as luck. We must go forth from this night's beginning with that determination that has characterized those great and good statesmen who have succeeded in spite of every opposition. Go with that determination that caused Napoleon to say 'talk to me about opportunity, I make opportunities.' Go with that determination that caused Cecil Rhodes, that man who has done more than any other one man to harmonize the world, to say 'I haven't got time to die.' Go with that determination that caused our beloved Reagan, when he turned away from college because of financial reverses to say to his college chum, 'I will meet you in the Hall of Congress.' Catch the spirit of these men, plant your feet squarely on the present, throw off every weight that would hinder you, equip yourself with every advantage that you can command and say to yourself and all the world that you will succeed, and let nothing deter you."

"In making this fight, however, there are certain precautions that you must take, certain lessons that you must learn. In the first place allow yourself to become under obligation to no man. Whatever you do or wherever you go, let it not be said that there is any man or body of men who can stifle you in your effort to rise, or who can embarrass you when it comes to making a private or public fight for any principle of right. Many a man by reason of his connection some time in his life, with some enterprise or undertaking or scheme has compromised himself in such a manner that he dare not at the crucial hour, stand out and make the fight for the things that are best; he knows that some where back in his career there is a weak place, and if he makes the fight, as perhaps he would desire to do, he knows that those with whom he has compromised will come up before him and expose him to the public eye; he has ruined his usefulness by reason of that dark spot in his life. Young men remember that the only safe way to build your character is to build it so that you can face the world and stand for any principle or any issue, without a blush as to the past or without fear as to the future."

Things To Avoid. "Not only is it well that you do not come under obligations to any man or set of men, but let that be true also in your dealing with the young ladies with whom you associate. Let it be said of you that you are a weak place, and if he makes the fight, as perhaps he would desire to do, he knows that those with whom he has compromised will come up before him and expose him to the public eye; he has ruined his usefulness by reason of that dark spot in his life. Young men remember that the only safe way to build your character is to build it so that you can face the world and stand for any principle or any issue, without a blush as to the past or without fear as to the future."

"Then again, do not allow yourself to be weighted down by the indulgence of habits that will stifle and dull your brain and unfit you for the struggle of life. If you are to rise as you should, you cannot afford to indulge in the fatal habits such as the use of tobacco and strong drink. I have been in school where all classes of students have gone, and have seen them struggle, rise and fall. I have heard the unfortunate boy who was driven from school because he could not do his work, state the cause of his failure and after careful observation, it is my honest conviction that the young boy who tries to himself the habit of smoking cigarettes makes himself a victim of his own folly. It dulls his brain and makes him an easy prey for the other temptations of life, and chokes into submission the strongest ambition of the human heart. I would not for a moment think of trying to go through college with such a habit. I would quit it. With head erect and manly resolve, if I indulged in that habit, I would go from this house tonight, with the avowed determination that I would never touch another cigarette and mark my word you will feel the stronger and the braver by the victory.

 "I feel that it is unnecessary to warn you against strong drink for no man can ever reach the limit of his ability, or realize his full possibilities, who wastes his body and fires his brain by taking into his system that poisonous liquid which has ruined so many homes and caused so much suffering in this beautiful land of ours. It is worse than suicidal to indulge in this habit, and I warn you, I beg you, if you are tempted by this fatal drug, shun it, flee from it as if it were a deadly monster; if indulged in it will strike you down in the prime of life, and waste your body when the struggle of life is fiercest.
 The Young Woman.
 "What I have said concerning the young man applies as well to the young woman. In all ages woman has been the source of all that was pure, all that was true, and all that was heroic and unselfish in the spirit and life of man.
 "If it was for love that Anthony lost the world, it was for love that Jacob worked seven long years and for seven years more; a distinguished French Historian answered the narrative of every event with the question 'who was she?'. Helen conquered Troy and plunged all the nations of antiquity into war and gave that earliest, as it is still the greatest epic which has come down through all time. Poets and fiction are based upon woman's love and the movements of history are mainly due to the sentiments or ambitions she has inspired. Zenobia, Queen Elizabeth and other women of national fame claim a cold and distant admiration. They do not touch the human heart, but when Florence Lewis, unselfish and unheralded, periled all to succor and save the sentiments of the home, the proudest and boldest emotions of our nature, renders them tribute and homage. No aspiration which any young woman here tonight entertains, no achievement he seeks to accomplish no great and honorable ambition, desires to gratify which is not directly related to either of both a mother or wife. From the heart—one drops which flows the recollection of our mother, from the breast where our wife awaits us, come all the purity, all the hope, and of the courage with which we fight the battle of life. The man who is not thus inspired, who labors not so much to secure the applause of the world as the solid and more precious approval of his home, accomplishes little of good for others or of honor for himself. May we always have near us:
 "A perfect woman nobly planned,
 To warn, to comfort and command,
 And yet a spirit all so bright,
 With something of an angel light."
 What of the Future?
 "With men and women like this inspired with the true principles of life and with such social, economic and political institutions as we have our state and nation's future is secure. The history of the progress that we have made reads more like fiction than like fact. There can be no grander picture than that presented by the rise of the American home, its development into our magnificent economic, social and political institutions, and the consequent welding of these institutions into a monument of liberty and free government as durable as the ages. But we must not overdraw the picture or deceive ourselves by believing that we have escaped the evils incident to all human institutions. Great evils are gnawing at the very vitals of our government. Corporate greed and talented wealth are seeking to rob the people of the liberty that is theirs, and to take from helpless hands the fruits of honest toil, and though we may not have a criminal statute that reaches them there will rise on this foundation that grander state, with its citizens devoted to the worship of truth and righteousness, where for offenses against the standards of right conduct there will be a swifter condemnation with a punishment as ever administered for violation of criminal statutes in the courts of law; and where to the imagination of men there shall rise in the midst of these harmonious surroundings, not a dwarfed statue, but a noble and commanding monument to liberty, from whose lofty summit there shall shine forth us and all the world, with increasing splendor the light of a true civilization—then it will be that we worship at the altars of an ideal state, that state toward which American manhood has labored unceasingly, and whose certain coming we await with absolute confidence. To doubt America's future is to doubt humanity itself, and the meanest of pessimists need only to lift his eyes to the future and there behold the contradiction of all prophecies. Instead of a dead and decaying state he will see a rising and struggling humanity carrying forth in triumph to the benighted nations of the earth the banner of liberty and free government, stimulating all mankind to rise to that higher life—the life of purer thinking and nobler living.
 "Inspired with these high principles of life go forth, young men and young women, with your face toward the morning sun, bathed in the eternal principles of truth and honesty, determined and inspired to achieve the nobler ambitions of life, contented not to waste your time upon the trivial things of life, but seek to accomplish in the broadest and truest sense and to perpetuate forever among the children of men the principle for which men have sacrificed life throughout all the ages of the past, and when you have done this you will have accomplished the mission of your life, and will have taken your place as it was your duty to do as a citizen of our great state, and having done this you will have made the State of Texas greater by reason of your efforts, for a state and even a nation is made and known by the men who compose it.
 "What constitutes a state? Not high raised battlement and labored mound, Not thick wall and moated gate, Not cities proud with spires and towers crowned, Not bays broad armed ports, where, laughing at the storm rich navies ride, Not starred and spangled courts, Whose low-born baseness waits perfume to pride; No, men, high minded men, Men with powers as far above dull brutes imbued in forests, brake and glen As beasts excel cold rocks—and brambles rude, Men who their duty know, And, knowing, dare maintain, Prevent the long aimed blow And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain, These constitute the state."

 The Waitress:
 The waitress at the small hotel wears such an air of scorn She makes one realize that he should never have been born. At breakfast time she stands behind him seven feet away. And if his hearing's good he thinks he almost hear her say: "Orange juice! Ham! Bacon! Eggs! Coffee! Or milk!"
 And if he asks that she repeat, her angered soul impels her to stand where she is and voice that breakfast fare in yells whereat we shrink into our chair, discouraged, shamed and ill, And mumble anything, and let her bring just what she will, Especially as we have learned, no matter what we say, She'll pay no heed to what we want, but do it anyway.

According to the way a scientist has it figured out, without birds to check the ravages of insects human life would vanish from this planet in nine years. Those who find sport in killing and destroying the feathered tribe should think about this, and there is abundance of food for thought in this country. Twenty years ago the prairies and ravines of this particular section of the state were alive with quail, prairie chickens, and birds of nearly all kinds. Now they are scarce, and can hardly be found at all. In their stead crop destroying insects are to be found by the million. Destroy the birds and you make it next to impossible to raise crops. The scientist may not have figured it out right. They rarely ever do, but those who have been close observers will readily tell you that the more birds there are in a farming country the greater are the crops.

The people of Wichita Falls will soon have the opportunity presented to them to choose between an aldermanic and a commission form of government. An election is soon to be ordered to determine this matter, and after that has been settled, those who are in the minority will, or at least should join in with the majority to make whatever form of government selected a success. Harmony is a great factor in city building, and is far more important to the growth and prosperity of any city than the form of municipal government that might be selected. Either can be made a success or a failure. So far as the Times has been able to observe Wichita Falls has grown and prospered as no other city in Texas, and her municipal affairs have been conducted economically. Some few mistakes, and some of them have been expensive, have been made. This is likely to occur again, it matters not whether the form of government is changed or not. They were honest mistakes, and therefore no one is to be censured or condemned for their commission. There is no question but that a new charter is needed and must be obtained if the city government expects to keep in touch with the growth and demands of a city such as Wichita Falls. This can be obtained under an aldermanic as well as under a commission form of government, and while the Times prefers the former simply for the reason that it has worked well and accomplished all that could reasonably be expected of it, it is not going to object if a majority of our citizens decide that it is best to have a commission form of government, but will be found doing all it can to make that form of government a success, and accomplish more and even greater things for Wichita Falls than the present aldermanic form of government.

NOT TO BE DOWNED

This from the New Orleans Picayune appears to be going the rounds of Texas' fun columns:

Very often an apology is worse than the affront and some apologies may be read either way. The editor of the Bucklin Banner had a disagreement with the fire department of that town and was called on to retract some statement he made. He winds up his apology in the following manner: "Being as how it is necessary I will say that the Bucklin Fire Department is a bunch of gentlemen of good looks and ability, and would not be guilty of doing as they were said to have done, although they did."

But it isn't in it with the "retraction" paragraph of that Arkansas editor, now a classic of the craft, concerning a local politician about whom the editor had been telling the truth, which announced the politician would call in the sanctum next day to do violence, and concluded: "He will leave a wife and four children."—Waco Morning News.

"Better than the law requires"

You could not get beans as carefully hand-picked and sorted as uniform in size as these for home cooking. The very best beans grown, prepared in the cleanest manner imaginable. Thoroughly washed and soaked in pure, clear water for twenty-four hours before cooking; then cooked in the can with the tomato sauce. The sauce is evenly distributed throughout—not poured in spots here and there as it is when put in after cooking.

You could not serve a more appetizing or palatable dish. Ready to eat—hot or cold.

CRIPPLED TEAM GETS EVEN BREAK

WITH MAKESHIFIT LINEUP, DRILLERS GET ONE OUT OF TWO

KIZZIAR GOES INTO BOX

Hornbuckle, Lawson and Phillips Out of Game, But Drillers Make Good Fight

Special to the Times.

Sherman, Texas, May 27.—Forced to use Kizziar as a pitcher in the second game, and with Lawson, Hornbuckle and Phillips out of the game, the crippled Drillers yesterday broke even with Sherman in a double header, overwhelming the locals in the first game and out-hitting them in the second.

Kane pitched the first game and held the locals to one run, keeping the hits well scattered. The Drillers tapped Black, Hallahan and Chapman for fourteen singles and made a regular race track out of the diamond. With neither Lawson or Hornbuckle able to catch, Nicholson went behind the bat, Kizziar played at first and Morris to right field.

Myers played center field, while Brown covered second in the absence of Phillips. In spite of this makeshift line-up the Drillers did all sorts of things to the locals.

In the second game the Drillers found themselves without one of the regular pitching staff ready to work. McAdams, formerly of Dallas, who joined the team today, was out of condition and Kizziar went into the box. He held Sherman to nine hits while the Drillers were counting thirteen on Black and Tincup. Wichita Falls did not make a score until the eighth, when they started in a way that caused Black to be quickly pulled in Tincup's favor; even then the run-getting did not stop, but Sherman had to good a lead.

The Drillers left last night for Texarkana where McAdams will probably make his debut. Yesterday's scores:

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN TWENTY-EIGHT PUPILS

Mr. Bullock's Address.
The address of W. J. Bullock, president of the school board in delivering diplomas to the class was as follows:

"I am glad to say the people of Wichita Falls believe in the cause of education. The board of education has never asked for a bond issue they did not get. It has been a difficult task to meet the requirements of buildings and equipment for the public schools of a rapidly growing city, but the people have been loyal and enthusiastic in their support of the board for which we thank you. In the last four years $150,000 in bonds have been voted for school purposes and the board is proud of the fact that every dollar so far as we know, has been spent to the satisfaction of all the people. Those of us who are serving you as school trustees have only one aim—one hope and one ambition, and that is to make our schools the very best there are in Texas. Our superintendent and teachers are actuated by a like motive. To give to the rising generation the opportunity for self-culture and advancement, is broadly speaking to serve well humanity. The public schools with all their imperfections, are the greatest blessing of this age and generation.

"Young ladies and young gentlemen, it is indeed a pleasure for me to present to you your diplomas. You are now on the threshold of a speech making period in your lives. Some of you will go from here, into the colleges and universities, and some of you into the busy marts of commerce, and the environments of an active, industrious life. I wish all of you could go to the college or university, because the college bred man of woman has the best chance of success in the battle of life. A well trained mind and a cultured brain count for more now than ever before in the history of the world. My advice to you, is to make every possible sacrifice to get a few years of training and study at the university. It will pay you a thousand fold in the years to come and will be an asset you can never lose.

"Whatever your future destiny, I can only wish for all of you a life of probity and honor spent in the service of mankind, for only thus, can you in the highest measure, attain success. May you build characters free from vice and immorality, living lives of truth and virtue, doing your duty earnestly, going forward in brave and faithful service under the institutions of our country and under God."

odd years. I don't believe I have been inside a saloon during that time.

"In the Ohio campaign last year, at Toledo, after the speech of Mr. Garfield, Mr. Post and I went to the house of Mr. and Mrs. Shoupe where we met Mayor and Mrs. Brand Whitlock and we went into the dining room to take a little supper. There was some champagne and I first took a glass of champagne, and then I found that there was a pitcher of milk and doughnuts and I took the milk and doughnuts instead.

Mr. Roosevelt described in great detail the few other public occasions when he remembers taking drinks, including some public dinners at the Gridiron Club in Washington.

In Cross Examination.
Col. Roosevelt was on the stand one hour and forty minutes. Under cross examination the defense tried to bring out that intimation that some Michigan organization is backing him in this libel suit. Mr. Roosevelt denied that any other organization was backing him and assumed complete responsibility himself.

Jacob A. Riss testified that during fifteen years intimate acquaintance with Mr. Roosevelt, he had never seen the colonel resort to liquor although he had seen him under the greatest stress. When asked, "Have you ever seen him under the influence of liquor," Mr. Riss exclaimed, "O, Lord, no. The statement that he is a free user of liquor is a lie."

The way those darkies sang and danced and did juggling tricks drew forth such remarks from the audience as "best for the money I ever saw."

TWO ELECTIONS ON NEW CHARTER

VOTERS WILL FIRST SELECT FORM OF CITY GOVERNMENT

SESSION OF COMMITTEE

Form of Charter Adopted at First Election Will Be Submitted to Voters Later

The adoption or rejection of Wichita Falls' special charter will soon be up to the voters, if the city council adopts recommendations of the charter committee, which met last night. The committee recommended that one election be held to decide whether the people wanted the commission or aldermanic form, this election to be followed by another at which the charter covering the form selected would be voted upon.

The committee tried to figure out some way whereby one election would be sufficient, but found that this could not be done under the law. The committee adopted a resolution which will be presented to the city council Thursday night, as follows:

"To the honorable mayor and aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls: Your charter committee heretofore appointed by a mass convention of the citizens of Wichita Falls to prepare a special charter would respectfully submit that we have performed that duty and as instructed have prepared two forms of charter, one of them providing for a commission form of government, with a mayor and four commissioners upon whom is thrown the whole responsibility of the government of the city with authority to appoint all the subordinate officers of the city after the terms of those now in office shall expire; and the other form, providing for a mayor and five aldermen, with all subordinate officers to be elected by the people. The powers of the city government to be substantially the same in both and the only difference, the fixed expense for salaries in both systems being equal.

Recommendation to Council.
While your committee has not agreed among itself in many things at first, it has reached substantial agreement in all material points in its final action. The new law provides, however, that each voter shall be furnished with a copy of the proposed charter recommended by the committee before voting for its adoption or rejection.
We therefore, recommend that you submit to the voters the decision as to the form of government and afterward submit that form of charter which has been approved by a majority of our voters at said special election.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION PLANS HEARINGS JUNE 9

City Tax Values for Year Fixed, but No Large Increases in Values Fixed

The city board of tax equalization finished its preliminary canvass of assessments within the city limits yesterday, and today notices are being mailed out for a hearing on June 9, when property owners may appear and show cause why their assessments should not remain at the figures fixed by the board.
In the meantime those receiving notices may come to the tax collector's office at the city hall and compare their own assessments with others in their vicinity to determine for themselves whether an inequality exists. By doing so and getting their information at first hand they can greatly facilitate the work of the board at the hearing in June.
The city board made no large raises in the assessment of any firm or corporation. Both gas companies

"We recommend the following form of ballot at said election:
"For the commission form of government.
"For the aldermanic form of government.
"We further recommend that full thirty days notice be given of said election.
Members of the committee present were A. B. Brittain, R. E. Huff, J. M. Bell, F. W. Householder, Dr. I. Mackechney, J. L. Jackson, T. B. Noble.
Members of the committee expressed the belief that if there was any fight at all over the charter, it would be over the question of commission or aldermanic form, and not on the adoption or rejection of a new charter itself. It was said that almost no opposition at all had been found to a new charter, the need for that being generally recognized.
The above communication will be presented to the council Thursday night and the first election will probably be called for sometime late in June.

Just Go into a Green Room and Think Yourself into About $100,000
London, May 27.—"See green" and become a millionaire.
Here, in brief, is the recipe for making a modest income of say $100,000 a year. The recipe has been discovered by some New Thinkers.
"So simple is the recipe that quite a lot of people will be regretted that they have missed the $100,000 for so many years. But of course, $100,000 need not be the limit; the yearly income can be increased by the ambitious.
The recipe, according to Mr. A. Osborne Eaves, a New Thought writer, is to sit down in a quiet room and "see the picture" and picture in exactly the same manner every day what is desired. So that if anyone wanted $100,000 it would be necessary to picture this precise sum regularly.
Emphasis is laid on this point by Mr. Eaves, who says: "Upon this daily repetition depends materialization of your desire." Having fixed on $100,000 a year once it is best to stick to that figure and not hanker after a further increase of income.
The most important part of the formula is the following: "Visualize all success scenes taking place in a

ASKS PARENTS ASSISTANCE IN TAKING SCHOOL CENSUS.

W. W. Brown, who has been taking the scholastic census, requests that all parents who have been overlooked, telephone him at No. 603, so that the names of their children may be secured. This must be done before June 1. Every child enrolled by Mr. Brown increases the apportionment from the State by about seven dollars, but has no effect on local taxation. It is essential, therefore, that every child of scholastic age, whether attending school or not, be included in the list Mr. Brown is making.

DISAPPOINTMENT

Is that which comes to those who build their homes, and fall to use the best Mantele, Wall, and Bathroom Tiling, set by some one who knows how.

Every few days some one comes to us with a tale of disappointment, having been misled by the apparent difference in cost between superior and inferior material and labor. Cheap material, set by inexperienced hands comes high and results in disappointment.

We demand only a fair profit, regardless of what competitors say, and what we say, we do—without any disappointment to you.

Guessing vs. Knowing

If I were selling nails or glass, or pills or garden sass, or honey from the bee—whatever line of goods were mine, I'd study up that special line and know its history.

If I were selling shoes, I'd seize the fact that on gooseberry trees, good leather doesn't grow; that shoe pegs do not grow like oats, that cowhide doesn't come from goats—such things I'd surely know.

If I were selling books, I'd know a Shakespeare from an Edgar Poe, a Carlyle from a Pope, and I would know Fitzgerald's rhymes from Laura Libbey's brand of crimes, or Lillian Russell's dope.

If I were a grocer man, I'd open now and then a can and see what stuff is held; I'd be better than to write in woo and make reply. "I didn't know," when some mad patron yelled.

I hate to hear a merchant say: "I think that this is splendid hay." "I guess it's first class tea." He ought to know how good things are, if he would sell his silk or tar or other goods to me. Oh, knowledge is the stuff that wigs; the man without it soon begins to get his trade in kinks. No matter where a fellow goes, he's valued for the things he knows, not for the things he thinks.—Walter Mason.
