INTERCOSTAL CANAL FINISHED

READY FOR NAVIGATION

COMPLETED AT MIDNIGHT

Waters of San Bernard and Brazos Rivers United After Months

Special to The Times. Freeport, Texas June 3.—At 11:45 p. m. Thursday the last few feet of earth remaining to be dug to complete the Texas 200-mile Intercostal canal system from Galveston to Matagorda Bay was cut away and this important waterway was finally open for navigation throughout its entire course.

Under the glare of the brilliant electric lights that illuminated Matagorda. a small but interested group of spectators stood on the bank of the canal and watched the powerful 16-inch suc-tion cutting pipe of the dredge eat its way into the last two or three feet of mainland that separated the waters of the San Bernard and Brazos rivers. Fifteen minutes before midnight this barrier crumbled away with the cheers of the nocturnal spectators, and Texas first great inland waterway was finish The waters of the two large rivers had met, and a new and useful waterway through the midcoast country was ready to serve its people as an avenue of transportation.

All but a dozen feet of the dredging to complete the work was finished at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, but at the request of Col. C. S. Riche, U. engineer in charge of the Galvestor district, under whose supervision the canal has been dug, the work was sus-pended until his arrival from Galveston hat he might personally be present when the historic event occurred.

Col. Riche arrived at Freeport or the engineer's department tug, Captain Tolfar, from Galveston at eight o'clock in the evening, where he was met by Captain S. M. Wilcox, assistant U. S. engineer at Galveston, who had come ahead of his chief on the department's yecht "Colonel," earlier in the day.

The Finishing Touches. Shortly after nine o'clock the spec Riche to be present when the finishing ouches were put through to complete the canal left this city on the yachts 'Colonel" and "Skylark" for the mouth of the canal running west from the Prazos river. A landing was made at the wharf on the Freeport and Mexican Fuel Oil company's property, where the party gathered together on one boat, the "Skylark." In the party were E. P. Swenson of New York, Judge W r. Andrews of Stamford, C. A. Jones of Spur, Captain Taliaferro of Hous-ton, E. C. Hastings of Freeport, and several other prominent citizens of

ions was obtained. Col. Riche passed the work to Captain Jacobson, the contractor who dug the canal to proceed withh the cutting and at 10 o'clock the last attack on the 12-foot barrier commenced. In ad-dition to Col. Riche's guests, there were assembled on the bank five Boy Scouts from Corpus Christi in their navy launch No. 3, who had journeyed from the Matagorda end of the canal to be present on this occasion, and also a few residents from Quintana

After watching the dredging proces and marveling at the ease with which the hungry 16-inch suction pipe devoured the bank, Col. Riche's party went aboard the "Matagorda" and were shown over the dredge. At 11:45 the cutting was completed and the boarse tooting of the "Matagarda's" whistle announced that her 45 mile task from Matagorda Bay to the Brazos river was at an end.

Indulge in Speechmaking.

Following the completion of the dredging operation the party was entertained aboard the dredge with a midnight supper by Captain Jacobson. Captain Taliaferro of Houston acted as toastmaster on this occasion. Rising to their feet the assembled guests. drank a toast to Col. Riche, who had planned the canal and directed its con-struction, and to "Captain John Jacobstruction, and to "Captain John Jacobson, the man who dug it."

An hour of speechmaking followed. Short addresses were made by Col. Fiche, Captain Taliaberro, E. P. Swenson, Judge Andrews, C. A. Jones and E. C. Hastings. Each speaker dwelf on the great advantages which would accrue to the midcoast country, now that the canal was completed and iff. that the canal was completed, and dif ferent points of view were expressed that would follow its use.

At an early hour Friday morning the warty returned to Freeport on the "Skylark." which had the honor of be ing the first boat through this newly completed section of the canal. The two first boats to make use of and Brazos rivers carrying freight, were the auxilliary schooners "Myrtle" of Matagorda and "Sterling" of Bala-rios. The "Myrtle" had 18 tons of freight on ber and the "Sterling" had in tons, all consigned to points west on the canal. These boats went through at daylight today.

The present session of school, which began September 28th, 1912, has been a most successful one from many diferent standpoints. During the season bout to end more students have been registered than ever before in the hisory of the institution. In the realm of scholarship, on the athletic field, as politicians and in hundreds of other ways these students have been ac omplishing things, and in many cases Wichita Falls students have either taken the lead or have picked out adantageous places in the front for themselves.

At the beginning of the fall term in 1912, more than sixteen students from Wichita Falls were in attendance at the University, but for one reason or another, several of these have dropped out, and at present only eleven remain.

The Wichita Falls Club.
Early in the season a Wichita Falls Club was organized and the motto, "Boost Wichita Falls at the University and the University at Wichita Falls," was adopted. The admonition conwas adopted. The admonition tained in this motto has been and wil: continue to be carried out. Throughout the year the Wichitage Falls Club, with its friends, has been one of the livest and most important organizations in school. Meetings have been held two and three times Ward, freshman. each month and at least every thirty days enjoyable picnics, attended by

A dope fiend who had been arres ed during the night, got down on his knees before Chief of Police Gwinn at the city hall this morning and be tween sobs, begged for the strych nine tablets taken from him when he was searched after his arrest. Such incidents are not infrequent at the police station, but upon one not ac customed to seeing the seamy side o life, they make a lasting impression and offer convincing proof of the depths to which a man can sink when once he becomes a victim of the drug habit. When arrested this man had enough strychnine tablets in his possession to have killed sev eral men.

BECOME EFFECTIVE FIRST OF SEPTEMBER THIS

Embodies Some Radical Departures From Present Customs and

Austin, Texas, June 3 .- Senate bill No. 11 by Collins, passed by the last session of the legislature and subse quently approved by the governor pecomes effective on September 1 1913 and is an act providing for the compensation of certain employes and their representatives and bene ficiaries for personal injuries sus tained in the course of employment for death resulting from such ployment.

The first paragraph of the bill is almost startling, in that it enacts a law that radically departs from the established principles, theories practices of the past century in country, for at one swoop it wimi-nates the employers' defenses that have been the mainstay in suits for injuries all these years.

The defenses of contributory negli gence, assumed risk and fellow ser vants are aoblished and hereafter each employer shall pay a definite and certain amount of compensation to each of his employes or his de pendents in the event of the em-ploye's death, whether he be accidentally injured in the course of his employment, and regardless of whose negligence or fault caused the in Jury. The only exceptions under the law are employes of common carriers, domestic servants, farm labor ers and employes of cotton gins, or where there are no more than employes of one firm or corporation Creates Accident Board.

The second part of the bill crates an industrial accident board, con-sisting of three members, with authority to make rules in line with this act for carrying out and enforce ing its provisions, and to see that the employe or his beneficiary.

The main feature of the second part of this law is that section 7 provides that within eight elays after the occurrence of an accident result ing in personal injury to an employe a report must be made in writing the industric! accident board failure to make such a report or refusal to give the board a report or to give any information demanded by it, causes the employer to be subject to a fine of not more than $1000 for each and every offense.

Employers of labor within the state of Texas must make this report whether the said employer member of the association hereinafter mentioned, or whether he carrie other insurance of not. This is on of the general provisions of the Mil and should be noted carefully by every employer of labor in the state of Texas.

Twelve Men in Body. Part 3 of the bill creates a body rporate known as the Texas En Noves Insurance Association. This association consists of twelve members, who are first appointed by the goternor and afterward annually elected by the members of the as-sociation. The board of directors of this association has power to distribute the subscribers in groups and to fix the liability of the subscribers, or. in other words; to make rates and has authority to declare dividends, if any, and to levy additional assess ments for amounts needed to pay losses and expenses. This is simply the creation of an insurance scheme under the state's supervision, and is on the principle of our mutual or reciprocal associa

The law is so framed that whether the employer is a subscrib er to the industrial insurance scheme operated by the state or carries his insurance with the old line, or mu tual, companies entitled to do business in the state, compensation of the injured employe is fixed, and one can clearly see that if the employer elects (and the rules and regulations are purely elective) to go without insurance or fails to become a sub scriber to the Texas Employers' Insurance Association, he will be de prived in court of the usual defenses that he now could claim, therefore it is not likely that any employer of labor will hereafter go without pro-tection of some kind.

Part IV of the law defines the words and phrases used in the preceding parts of the act and adopts certain rules and regulations that shall govern the operations of the Framed After Other States It also provides that no liability workman's compensation policy at rate in excess of the rate of the insurance association heretofore menloned. This provision of the law may operate as a just cause for the old line companies ceasing to write workman's compensation insurance in Texas.

In general, this law is framed somewhat after that now on the statute books of Massachusetts and New Jersey and is in line in a way with similar laws in twelve or New Jersey and is in line, in a way with similar laws in twelve of fourteen other states. The purpose of all of these laws seems, to be towfold—first, to operate to do print average justice and to see that all injured employes are cort ensated; second, to operate to prevent accidents.

The law has been tried out in sev eral states and in some instances it has worked admirably. states employes as well as employers are dissatisfied and the scheme has become, an injustice to workmen and employers alike and a breeder of accidents.

REAL REFORM IN

SOME MATERIAL RESULTS

Hardened Criminals, In Occasional In tances, Turned Out Good Citizens

BY S. M. TENNEY,

Chaplain of Rusk Prison
To sum up all that has been said eretofore, we found that the populacoming to prison is of all ages from 15 to more than 70 years, that while 191-2 per cent. were under 20 years of age, 451.2 per cent. are between 20 and 30 years of age, and 35 per cent. more than 30 years of age. found that 65 per cent. are report to have no employment, that near per cent, were intemperate, that bout 75 per cent. have never advanced yond the fifth grade in school, and hat 55 per cent. had been married nd that only a very small percentage had any property claims.

We found that the man inside the walls is the man he was outside the walls, with the exception of the clange of his surroundings. We fur-ther found that physical surroundings ore moral, and that only can rectify conditions which takes notice of this iner nature that must be ministered

In a measure the state realizes that mething more is needed than employment and comfortable quarters, hat the man must think and his heart must be changed. To meet this condiion she has provided two measures in er laws, the one to surround the prisner with such personal influence in those who are over him as will be up-lifting, and the other to give him all the advantages of the chaplain's deartment which first and last, are inended to get at the character.

Law Regarding Having Guards.

I. The prison law of our state says "No person shall be employed as a guard to guard conxicts who is not at least 21 years of age, of good moral heracter, and who is not able to read nd write, and who has not a fair nowledge of the English language, and the prison commission may provide such other qualifications as they may deem expedient; provided, that no who is in any way addicted to the use of alchohol or intoxicating liquors."

No gambling shall be permitted at any prison farm or camp where prisners are kept or worked. Any officer employee engaged in or knowingly rmitting gambling at any such prion farm or camp shall be immediated dismissed from the service." (Sec-

"Any officer or employee ' having harge of a prisoner's money who may misappropriate the same or any part thereof shall be deemed guilty a felony and upon conviction theretiary for a term of not more than five (Section 47.)

Section 33 begins: "That confined in the state prisons of this state may have every opportunity and encouragement for moral reform; it shall be the duty of the prison mmis to provide every reasonable and practicable means for the encouragement of such reform."

Section 41 reads as follows: "The various provisions of this act are deigned to secure to the prisoners humane treatment, suitable moral in struction, etc.'

State Seeks to Reform Men. It should be clear from the above quotations that the state recognizes he moral defect of the prisoner, and seeks to overcome it first by putting over the prisoner men of moral integity, men of good moral character. presenting this condition she speci les in part what she means by a "good nicral character," that he shall be hon-est in his dealings with the prisoner, that he shall not be "addicted in any way to the use of alcohol or intoxicating liquors," and that he shall not be a gambler or disposed to countenance gambling. If the state be serious in her design o reform the morals of the prisoners these are wise provisions. President Woodrow Wilson has said,, "It takes fire to kindle fire." We may beat men into doing physical work but if the inner man is to be reached it will be in a different way. It takes a good man to teach another to be a good man. A bad man whose badness is concealed and not known may teach a man but so soon as his real character is reveal ed his good teaching will be annulled A bad man may be so bad as tha his very badness will repel and lead another to reflect, but this will deend altogether on the temperament of the man to be influenced and taught. be natural, the regular, the only true way is for the man-who is to direct the morals of another to practice what he preaches. Many a child has stumbled over a father who, though he told him not to swear or smoke would himself both swear and smoke. That is a wise provision of our law which provides for the guards and officers of our prisons to be men of good moral character," and the more strictly the state hews to the line in this particular, the more potent wil be the influence over the prisoner for good, the surer will be the cooperation of all forces, chaplain and others for good, and the more successful the state will be in returning the prisoner to society as fitted for its privileges. The ideal we must hold up before

State Recognizes Religion, 2. "To further, aid in the moral in struction" and "moral reform," the state recognizes the power of religion and provides for the chaplain's departnent. So universally is the Christian religion recognized as the greatest power to reform the life of the prisoner that not only all prisons in the civi lized world provide for the religious Free sample from Hot Springs Cheminstruction of their tumates, but in ical Co., Hot Springs, Ark. TEXAS PRISONS

Certain cases of extreme criminals in findia, made overtures to the Salvation Army and entered into a formal contract with them to see what they could do for their rude and hardened people.

The experiment, after running a few years, has been highly satisfactory. The annals of Water Street Mission, New York and many other instances, show beyond a doubt what the religion of our Jesus Christ can do for the most depraved of men. "The Life of Jerry McAuley," "Down on Water Street," "The Life of Samuel Hadley," "The Dry Dock of Thousand Wrecks," "Twice Born Men" and many other such books of our own day testify with marvelous effectiveness to the truthfulness of the old song, "There is power in the blood," to make a man a new creature.

The work of the chaplain's depart.

a new creature. The work of the chaplain's department is of a threefold character—(a) that of the school superintendent; (b) the librarian, and (c) the preache

School a Potent Factor.

(a) Through the school the state seeks to offset all the disadvantages of illiteracy. Section 26 says: "The prison commission shall provide schools for instruction of prisoners in elementary branches of the English language, etc.; provided, that al teachers herein provided for shall, as far as practicable, be taken from the convicts, and such teachers may be excused from further labors." The statistics show that about 10 per cent of our prisoners are wholly illiterate. The school report shows that the en rollment in the school has varied from 10 to 20 per cent. of the whole prison population at this place. Attendance in the night school is purely voluntary. The branches taught are principally reading, spelling writing, grammar and arithmetic. The disadvantages under which we labor are an irregular teaching force. Qur teachers are be ing constantly changed; lack of physical equipment, and unfavorable environment; the school is held in the cell building, where all kinds of distrac-

The special difficulties are the age of the pupil, the force of the habits of life, lack of appreciation of the importance of education, lack of ambition for future prospects and a body worn tither with the work or indolence o the day. How many men enter school after reaching 20 years of age? The mind is then practically set in its ways and such a person can not apply self as well or advance as quickly as a child six years of age.

I know by personal experience the advantages that a younger mind has over an older one in study, for I have seen boys of 16 years of age outdis-tance men of 35 agen and again in the university. Moreover our prisoners have formed habits by fixing their attention on the practical money affairs of life so that they can not and do not appreciate the value of an effort in school. To them it seems useless.

Patience la Great Need. And, again, one has but to try the matter, as I have done, working all day in a field and then try to study at night to realize how a tired body is against the mind. I know there are men who have overcome these difficulties, but I know also that these are remarkable men. If, then, not many of our prisoners advance or make much headway in the school let the public be considerate and patient in its judg-ment and consider his difficulties and compare him with those of like conditions in his own society.

How many laboring men of more than 20 years of age attend the night schools of our cities? But I want to say that even in the face of advantages there are some with make good. Quite a good many rearn to read and write very respectably, in most instances better than those who write to them. During the past year we have had one man who advanced well in the use of language, learned shorthand and typewriting in his cell with nothing but a very little encourage

He is now stenographer to one of our busiest efficers. This man used to be a brickmason. If we have but one instance out of 300 like this in 12 months, I ask is it not comparing fa-vorably with anything outside? Many others are very discouraging, hardly beginning school before they have quit. But these are common things and the chaplain, without discouragement, must go on and face such.

WITH BROKEN BACK, MAN IS LIKELY TO RECOVER

Lineman Injured Some Time Age Still lives and His Chances

Although such instances are very rare, there is now a man living in Wichita Falls with his back broken His name is Jesse Adams, and his home is in Oklahoma. It will be re-membered that the young man fell from a telephone pele while engaged in work here about two months ago. His back was broken by the fall. Although there was little hopes of saving his life, he was taken for treatment by Dr. Everett Jones. The assurance is now given that the young man will recover we far as it is now given that the young man will recover so far as it is pos-sible for one to regain his strength with a broken back. The muscles be-low the waist are useless to him, but he can use his arms and hands.

Love and respect for those who have departed this life are two of the higher attributes that distinguish us from the lower animals. What's-His-Name

By George Barr McCutcheon
A charming human story which has its beginning in a little western town, and shifts later on to "the white lights of Broadway." "What's His-Name" is the husband of a popular actress whose name twinkles in electric lights in front of a Broadway theatre. He has but little part in the gay life of his wife, and masshe is bill boarded under an assumed name, he is simply referred to as "What's His-Name." He devotes most of his time to their little daughter while the site goes the pace of a theatrical favorite, and matters finally come to a dramatic climax. The situation is worked out with uncommon power, and Mr. McCitcheon manages to tell a most pathetic story, at the same fime presenting a great deal of it in humorous fashion.

And II I were a grocer man, I'd open now and then a can and see what stuff is held; 'twere better than to writhe in woe and make reply, "I didn't know," when some mad patron yelled.

I hate to hear a merchant say: "I think that this is splendid hay." "I guess it's first class tea." He ought to know how good things are, if he would sell his silk or tar or other goods to me. Oh, knowledge is the stuff that wins: the man without it soon begins to get his trade in kinks. No matter where a fellow goes, he's valued for the things he knows, not for the things he thinks.—Walter Mason.
