BIG PITTSBURG BANK IS CLOSED

FIRST-SECOND NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURG $2,145,000 SHORT IN LEGAL RESERVE

ASSETS OF $82,100,000

Character and Value of Securities Questioned—McKeesport, Pa., Bank Also Closed

By Associated Press.
Pittsburg, Pa., July 7.—Differences of long standing with the treasury department over the character and value of the securities of the former First National Bank of Pittsburg will be merged with the Second National Bank of Pittsburg last March under the title of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg, culminated this morning in the closing of that institution by the order of Deputy Comptroller of Currency P. T. Kane.

The Pittsburg Clearing House Association has taken charge of the situation and announces no further trouble from that source is expected.

The suspension of the First National Bank of McKeesport, Pa., of which J. S. Kuhn, president of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg is also president was later announced.

The First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg's condition at the last call of the comptroller of currency at the close of business June 4 showed assessments of $82,100,000, including loans and discounts of $15,704,000. The statement showed individual deposits of $15,105,144.

The suspension of the two banks caused intense excitement in the banking district. As the word of the suspension became general several thousand depositors of the Pittsburg Bank for Savings, a few blocks away started a run. W. S. Kuhn is president of this bank.

At the First-Second National Bank a notice was posted during the morning saying "The amount of items maturing here will be received" signed "C. C. Murray, receiver."

Officials of the First-Second National Bank are: J. S. Kuhn, president; J. M. Young, William McCannoy and Oscar L. Keeling, vice presidents.

Kuhn is also vice president of the American Waterworks Company of which his brother, W. S. Kuhn is president. The company controls waterworks companies in eighty cities of the United States, with a capital stock of $85,000,000.

The company is the largest waterworks operating company in the United States. It is also largely interested in irrigation and electric interurbans and electrical lighting enterprises.

Closing Results From Office Building Connections.
By Associated Press.
Washington, July 7.—The First National Bank of McKeesport, Pa., has closed its doors. Secretary McAdoo was so advised today. James S. Kuhn of the closed First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg is president of the McKeesport Bank whose capital is $300,000 and surplus $300,000, according to its last report to the comptroller of currency.

Treasury officials today announced that an official statement would be issued later defining the situation. Preliminary reports of the Pittsburg bank's condition indicate that it results from the financing of a new office building in which the bank has its home and with which the bank has connections.

The capital of the bank is $3,400,000. How much of this has been impaired, has not been definitely ascertained.

The legal reserve of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg was deficient by $2,145,000 on June 4, the date of the last call by the comptroller of currency. This brought the affairs of the great institution to a climax.

The bank was chartered in Pennsylvania in 1882. Since 1889 it has paid an annual dividend of six per cent and in June of last year declared a stock dividend of 150 per cent, from its surplus.

Receivers Asked For Waterworks Co.
By Associated Press.
Pittsburg, Pa., July 7.—Attorneys appeared before Judge T. T. Orr in the federal court here this afternoon and asked for receivers for the American Waterworks and Guarantee Company and also for the firm of J. S. Kuhn and W. S. Kuhn, incorporated. Both J. S. and W. S. Kuhn were named among the receivers for the waterworks company, which is the largest in the United States.

COL. ROOSEVELT WILL GO TO ARIZONA.
Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 7.—Colonel Roosevelt will leave for Arizona early this week with his sons, Archie and Quentin, for a two months' vacation. The exact date of his departure has not been settled, but the party will probably leave before Wednesday, it was stated last night.

The colonel does not plan to do much hunting on the trip, but will spend his time "roughing it" with his sons through the wilds of Arizona and the Grand Canyon. Soon after his return from this trip Roosevelt will start for the Argentine where he will deliver a series of lectures.

MERCURY CLIMBS TO NINETY-EIGHT DEGREES

Mark Half Degree Higher Was Reached Sunday—Fine Cotton Growing Weather

Some hot, this. Ninety-eight in the shade at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and the mercury still climbing. Yesterday it was even worse, about a half a degree worse and tomorrow promises to be just as bad. About the only remark that will bring a responsive smile from any one these days is an invitation to take a drink and the principal ingredient of the drink has got to be a great chunk of ice. Once in a while some really and truly optimistic will say, "Yes, it's hot, but it's great for the cotton and corn." And probably it's true, but for the most part suffering humanity don't seem to care whether there is ever any more cotton raised and it is expected to see it picked anyway, if this heat keeps up.

But it's not so bad at that. Away up north where it is supposed to be cool all the year round, the heat man jabbed it to "em about five or six degrees more than he has handed it to us and people died from it. Here we grumble and growl, but we don't die, and when night comes and the cool breeze blows over our extended nether limbs we reach down and get hold of more bedding and forget that it ever was hot. But right at this writing it's too blamed hot.

THOMAS ATTENDS LEAGUE MEETING.

Secretary John W. Thomas of the Wichita Falls Baseball Association is attending a meeting of the Texas-Oklahoma League directors at Denton today at which disposition will be made of Wichita Falls franchise in the league.

The Drillers played Saturday at Bonham under the direction of the president of the league and won their game. They are playing at Bonham again this afternoon.

Hugo will probably get Wichita Falls franchise and support the team for the remainder of the season.

LADY SACKERVILLE AWARDED $5,000,000

By Associated Press.
London, July 7.—The will of the late Sir John Murray Ascroft, leaving nearly $5,000,000 to Lady Sackerville, daughter of the former British minister to the United States was sustained by a jury today which heard the suit brought by Sir John's relatives contesting the will. The jury found no evidence of undue influence or fraud.

GOVERNOR CALLS SPECIAL SESSION

SETS FORTH PURPOSES OF EXTRA SESSION IN PROCLAMATION ISSUED TODAY

MANAGEMENT OF PRISONS

Is One of the Matters to Be Considered—Session Called at 10 a. m. July 23.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, July 7.—Governor Colquitt today issued the following proclamation:
"Whereas the Thirty-third Legislature adjourned the regular session thereof without making appropriations for the support of the state government. Now therefore the failure of the legislature to pass such creates an extra occasion justifying the governor to convene the legislature in extra session. I do hereby call the same to convene in the capital in the city of Austin beginning at 10 a. m. July 23, 1913 for the following purposes:
1. To make appropriations for the support of the state government and its institutions for the fiscal year beginning September 1, 1913 and ending August 30, 1913.
2. To pass laws providing for and regulating the election of U. S. Senators of Texas by the people thereof as provided for by an amendment of Section 3 of the Constitution recently declared and ratified and adopted by three-fourths of the States.
3. To revise and amend the provisions of the law now governing the management and control of the penitentiary system of the State as embodied in Chapter 4 of the Acts of the Thirty-first Legislature.
4. To consider and act upon such other matters as may be presented by the governor under Section 40 Article 3 of the Constitution."
O. B. COLQUITT, Governor.

FIVE WELLS WILL BE SUNK NEAR ARMORE

J. R. Allen of this city, formerly with the Oil City Townsite Company, and C. D. Ambrose, a wealthy citizen of Big Springs, Texas, have formed a partnership and purchased the capital stock of the Petroleum Development Company and of the Skelly Oil Company. They have 320 acres of deeded lands in the oil fields, they make bond that they will sink five wells on the property, and will sell out the property in quarter acre blocks to investors. The office of the company will be in Ardmore.

The company plans to make further development in the fields, which development work will be appreciated by the people. Their plan will also permit many small investors to obtain a foothold in the field who otherwise could not do so.

Mr. Allen has been a resident of the city for several months, having come here from Dallas, Texas. Mr. Ambrose is said to be a very successful business man of west Texas and owns some of the best business property in his home city—Ardmore, Ardmore.

REHABILITATION OF SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES

This is First Essential in Working Out Plans for Betterment of Rural Communities
By Associated Press.
Seattle, Wash., July 7.—The rehabilitation of country schools and country churches as the first essential in working out plans for betterment of conditions in rural communities particularly in relation to children, was urged by Dr. W. H. Slingerland, special agent of the Russell Sage Foundation of New York, in an address before the National Conference of Charities and Correction here this morning.

Dr. Slingerland in speaking of the need of child welfare work in rural communities, noted that many school workers scattered throughout the country in support of a national effort to place such activities in county districts on the same plane of efficiency and sufficiency that prevails in cities.

"The first preliminary agency is educational," said Dr. Slingerland, "more teachers and schoolhouses and playgrounds will aid mightily in solving the welfare problems of rural communities. The second agency to be established is an endless chain of child centers among the people, by the people and for the people. This implies a constant and general use of schoolhouses and playgrounds. In ways, some of which were unknown to our fathers, but proven effective wherever properly and intelligently undertaken. The third constructive element is the revitalizing and modernizing of the country church, which has largely adjusted itself to the new conditions due to modern civilization. The rest of the program includes adequate institutional provision for the feeble-minded, there being one feeble-minded person for every three hundred of population. This, and the extension of the work of agencies and societies dealing with child life so that these activities cover the rural districts, will solve the main problems of rural welfare work."

Unity in Child Helping Service.
In an address on "Unity in Child Helping Service," William T. Cross, secretary of the State Board of Charities of Missouri, insisted that much more can be learned from the study of rural child problems than from the study of similar conditions in the city. It is practically self-sufficient and self-regulating. "Moreover," he said, "we never appreciate any section or institution of social life until we see it in relation to child welfare." The speaker advocated not only the correlation of all such agencies as juvenile courts, child placing societies, orphanages, etc., but a mutual understanding and unification of efforts among all whose work influences in any way the lives of children. He particularly urged the consolidation of efforts for the prevention of infant mortality, the avoidance of excessive child labor, efficient education and the treatment of defectives, dependency and delinquency among children.

ACCUSED BY LOBBYIST MULHALL, THESE MEN WILL ANSWER ON THE INQUIRY WITNESS STAND

Among the men of note who were directly involved in the sensational charges of corruption by Colonel Martin M. Mulhall, former lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers, were those here pictured. Representative James E. Watson of Indiana, an influential Republican congressman for years and the floor leader for the Taft forces at the Republican national convention in 1912, former Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Illinois, and former Representative Henry M. Coudry of Missouri. They were all directly named in Mulhall's published statement as having received money for aiding legislation in favor of the N. A. M.

TEXAS WILL BE WELL REPRESENTED

Commissioner of Panama-California Exposition Now in This State
By Associated Press.
San Diego, Cal., July 7.—"Texas will be represented at the San Diego exposition in a manner that will reflect credit on that great state, and lend added attraction to the exposition," was the statement of N. R. Powell, livestock raiser and dealer of Pecos, Bexar county, Texas, who came to San Diego to investigate conditions in San Diego, and learn plans and the scope and character of the exposition now being built here.

W. H. Perry, special commissioner of the San Diego exposition returned to San Diego from Texas with Mr. Powell, and brought him in touch with the exposition officials here. The site selected for the Texas exhibit and the plans made for the exploitation of the resources and opportunities of Texas were gone over, and Mr. Powell left San Diego with a definite idea of what Texas can accomplish with her exhibit at the exposition in 1915.

Mr. Powell will report to others interested in the Texas state exhibit, and then the work of bringing together the various interests in the state to form one grand exhibit of the resources of the entire state will be resumed. Already enough has been pledged by individuals and associations in Texas to make it certain that the exhibit will be one of the largest and most comprehensive state exhibits on the grounds.

"The livestock interests of Texas will naturally want to have their best exhibit in San Diego," said Mr. Powell, "because this exposition is given in the section in which there is no restriction against the entrance of our cattle, and also the section from which we can look for a large sale of our blooded stock."

LAUDERBACH GOES BEFORE PROBERS

NEW YORK LAWYER ADMITS SAYING HE REPRESENTED SPEAKER CLARK AND OTHER LEADERS

LAMAR TOLD HIM TO

He Also Visited J. P. Morgan and Have Financier Confer With Lamar

By Associated Press.
Washington, July 7.—Edward Lauderbach, under cross examination before the Senate lobby investigating committee today admitted that he had gone to Lewis Cass Ledyard, of the counsel for J. P. Morgan & Company with the statement that he represented Speaker Clark, Senator Stone and other democratic leaders in Congress but said he had done so at the direction of David Lamar.

Lauderbach, who is a New York lawyer and friend of David Lamar, at first denied that he had made the statement that he represented Speaker Clark and Senator Stone and other democratic leaders.

Lauderbach testified that he did go to the late J. P. Morgan, but not for the purpose of "shaking him down" as Lamar put it, but solely with the idea that if Mr. Morgan would personally ask Lamar to stop the resolution, the broken relations between the two men would be restored.

Lauderbach denied that he knew Lamar had impersonated congressmen in conversations over the telephone with Wall Street financiers. He said his purpose in proposing to have Congress stop the steel trust investigation was to have that corporation adopt certain reforms that would make the investigation unnecessary.

He flatly denied having made any claims of ability to influence the acts of Congress or congressmen and said he had never seen President Taft but that Lamar had told him the Republican administration was strongly opposed to the steel trust investigation.

He said he had based his statement on Ledyard.

He said he censured Lamar for not letting him know of the telephone conversations.

Lamar said he had done these things to bring to light a conspiracy against him in which Ledyard was the leading factor. He said Ledyard had been at work to defame him for two years.

SPENDS MILLION A YEAR IN TIPS

Young Gates Says He Can't Take Money With Him and Going to "Burn It Up"

New York, July 7.—Reaching here this afternoon after traveling 90 miles an hour from Chicago in a special train over the Pennsylvania road, Charles W. Gates, the wealthy son of the late John W. Gates, denounced as inventions the stories that he had had an altercation with his father-in-law in Minneapolis.

Mr. Gates lauded a life of speed, asserted he spent $1,000,000 a year in tips alone and declared that inasmuch as he could not take his money with him when he died he was going to "burn it" while he lived.

"We went 92 miles an hour some of the way," said Mr. Gates, "and I'm going to spend my money at the same rate."

The special train which brought him to the Pennsylvania station consisted of a locomotive, two baggage cars, a dining car and a sleeping car. It arrived in New York at 11 minutes after 12 o'clock. Mr. Gates was met by a reporter, who asked about the reports that he had blazed a golden trail of $5 to $20 tips.

"I give $1,000,000 away in tips every year," he said. "Father left me a bank roll. I can't take it with me when I die, so I'm going to burn it while I live. I'm interested in 23 corporations and it seems they can't get along without me. There was a meeting of the Texas Company in the White Hall building this afternoon and I had to be there. That's the reason for this special to New York. They couldn't hold the meeting until they had a quorum and I was that quorum."

"I'm used to specials. This is a life of speed. The faster the better. I had a bully trip."

"About New York tips?" tentatively offered the reporter. "I've never heard of 'Maybe the amount is more than $1,000,000, and I don't know how much it costs me to live. What's money to me? I have more now than father left me."

"Money was only made to spend and give away, and believe me I'm going to spend it—every nickel."

SERVIAN LOSSES OVER 11,000 MEN

BULGARIANS OUTFLANKED TIMOK DIVISION AND INFLECT TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER

REMAINDER ARE CAPTURED

Greeks Continue to Drive Bulgarians Before Them in Macedonia District

By Associated Press.
Vienna, July 7.—Eleven thousand officers and men of the Timok division of the Servian army were killed in the battle with the Bulgarians, according to the Sofia correspondent of the Reichspress.

The division, consisting of 15,000 men was surrounded by the Bulgarians who had outflanked them and only 4,000 survived. These were taken prisoners.

The Bulgarian column of 14,000 men has Drana and is threatening the line of retreat of the Servian army.

By Associated Press.
Salonica, July 7.—Part of the Greek right wing has driven the Bulgarians from Strumva and is now marching on the town of Serros, according to official reports from Greek headquarters.

200,000 Men Engaged in the Fighting.
London, July 7.—After ten days' fighting, more severe than anything in the last Balkan war, a little light began to break upon the obscure operations. The Servians have lost more men than in the whole previous campaign, and semi-official statements from Belgrade had the appearance of preparing the public for news of a disaster.

Desperate fighting with fluctuating fortunes is proceeding along the Dar-danel and Bregalinitza Rivers, apparently to Bulgaria's advantage. News has been received of the Bulgarian invasion of Servia through Belogradchik.

The Bulgarians seem to have defeated the Servians and captured five guns and a quantity of other war material and by the occupation of the passes to have opened the road to Nish, Servia's most important fortified town.

There is heavy fighting between the Servians and Bulgarians south of Istip and in the neighborhood of Korchava. About 200,000 men are engaged and the losses on both sides appear heavy.

Bulgaria's strategy appears to be to hold the Greeks in check, probably by a comparative small force, and fight the deal with Servia. Unconfirmed reports credit the Bulgarians with victories near Kopriv, giving them the key to Uskup, and with an outflanking movement from the south of Tabynov Lake which would cut off the Greek retreat.

The Saloniki dispatches report that the Greeks have captured sixteen guns at Doran. Evidence of desperate fighting is found in the arrival of 8,000 wounded at Saloniki.

A conservative estimate of the killed or disabled in last week's fighting is from 30,000 to 40,000. Thousands of destitute refugees from the scene of fighting are pouring into Saloniki.

The Greeks have made charges against the Bulgarians of burning and pillaging all the villages south of the front, of committing murder, mutilations and other horrors.

PRESIDENT WORSHIPS IN QUAIN OLD CHURCH

Cornish, N. H., July 7.—In a quaint little church a century old, where fifty country folk worshipped, President Wilson and his family listened to a sermon Sunday on the relation between the leader and the led. No reference was made to the President by Rev. J. F. Schneider, the pastor, yet the theme took was the interdependence of people in ordinary walks of life with those in high authority.

Mrs. Wilson, Miss Eleanor Wilson, Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., and a Secret Service man rode to the church in an automobile with the President. In another car were Miss Jessie Wilson and Francis Bowes Sayre, her fiancé. It was the old South Congregational Church which the President attended, as there is no Presbyterian Church within forty miles of here.

A volunteer choir and a volunteer organist rendered selections, the pastor preached a brief sermon, and after communion, in which the President and his family participated, the congregation stood while the Wilsons passed out.

The President took an hour's motor ride, but otherwise spent the day in seclusion at his home. The President expects to play golf tomorrow and to continue his motor trips.

Harvard Division 275 L. A. to O. R. C. will hold a regular meeting in Moose Hall Tuesday, July 8th at 3:30 o'clock. Visiting sisters are extended a cordial invitation to meet with the local chapter.

Owing to the presence in the city of an unusually large number of visiting girls, as well as to the fact that a number of people will leave this week for the summer, the week which came to a close Saturday was filled with social events of various kinds.

With streams of sweat pouring down his dusky countenance, Henry Cavitt, wearing sweat-soaked clothes and carrying his arm in a sling, limped in Justice Alexander's court this morning that Cleve Moore and Earnest Alexander, two negro grocers who were stand-up callers, but bore no indications of having sweated recently, had attempted to carry out a "frame-up" to carve him up Saturday.

Henry bore a cut on his shoulder and forearm and Cleve suffered from a knife jab in his elbow that had severed an artery, indicating that some attempted carving had been going on at least.

Henry and his right hand bower, Earnest Alexander however, asserted that Henry himself had started the carving operations. Cleve claimed that he was a sufferer from indigestion and that was the reason he hadn't worked for sometime. No testimony was introduced to show whether Alexander worked with Henry.

Henry called them "culled gentlemen" and said they never worked, only some "hawd workin' niggers." Henry further declared that all the "no count niggers" in town had it in for him because he worked hard and wouldn't have anything to do with them. They said he "santched" on them (at this juncture Constable Burns asked the opposit what "santching" meant), he said, but declared that he was too busy trying to keep up with the high cost of living to pay any attention to their doings.

The alley at the rear of the Moore Bateman building was the scene of the trouble Saturday afternoon.

Something Henry Cavitt did or did not say about Earnest Alexander's girl precipitated the trouble. Cleve Moore and Earnest met Henry in the alley and Cleve charged Henry with a derogatory remark about Earnest's girl. Henry denied it and here reports differ. Henry says Cleve called him a liar and started to work him over with a knife, and that he got away "just as soon as I could."

He says that Cleve cut himself in attempting to cut him. Earnest and Cleve say that Henry was the first to do any cutting, and that Cleve only used the knife in self-defense.

Two white men who saw a part of the trouble corroborated Henry's story.

After the hearing this morning charges of aggravated assault were filed against Cleve Moore and Earnest Alexander while Henry Cavitt was permitted to go back to work.

Henry was very anxious to have the court understand that he was "no fightin' nigger."

"Why judge, I ain't carried no knife in twenty years," he stoutly asserted. Judge Howard smiled and told him he was talking too much and would tell something pretty soon that the court wouldn't believe.

NEGRO TRIO IN A CUTTING AFFRAY

HENRY CAVITT CHARGES OTHERS WITH "FRAME-UP" TO CARVE HIM UP SATURDAY

TWO SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

Henry Asserts No Count Niggers Are Down on Him, Because He Works

With streams of sweat pouring down his dusky countenance, Henry Cavitt, wearing sweat-soaked clothes and carrying his arm in a sling, limped in Justice Alexander's court this morning that Cleve Moore and Earnest Alexander, two negro grocers who were stand-up callers, but bore no indications of having sweated recently, had attempted to carry out a "frame-up" to carve him up Saturday.

Henry bore a cut on his shoulder and forearm and Cleve suffered from a knife jab in his elbow that had severed an artery, indicating that some attempted carving had been going on at least.

Henry and his right hand bower, Earnest Alexander however, asserted that Henry himself had started the carving operations. Cleve claimed that he was a sufferer from indigestion and that was the reason he hadn't worked for sometime. No testimony was introduced to show whether Alexander worked with Henry.

Henry called them "culled gentlemen" and said they never worked, only some "hawd workin' niggers." Henry further declared that all the "no count niggers" in town had it in for him because he worked hard and wouldn't have anything to do with them. They said he "santched" on them (at this juncture Constable Burns asked the opposit what "santching" meant), he said, but declared that he was too busy trying to keep up with the high cost of living to pay any attention to their doings.

MORE ARRESTS. FOR INTOXICATION

Early Closing Law Hasn't Lessened Number of Drunks Arrested By City Police

Nearly twice as many arrests for drunkenness have been made by the city police since the nine-thirty closing law went into effect than before.

This fact can be certified by an examination of the police "blotter" at the city hall. The rains that occurred about the time the law went into effect making it too wet for thrashing and sending the thrashing crews into town where some of them proceeded to tank up will probably account for a part of the increase.

However, it has been noticeable that immediately after nine-thirty when the saloons close activities start in the flat district. The number of police calls from that section has greatly increased since the new law went into effect. Whether this will continue is a matter only for conjecture.

The officers have increased their vigilance for bootleggers but have not been able to apprehend more than the usual number since July 1. The Wichita Falls and Northwestern's southbound passenger train leaves here at 9:40 p. The train carries a number of thirsty Oklahomans who offer lucrative customers for the bootleggers. It is expected that this train will attempt to "work" this trade but the officers are determined that they will have poor success.

SOCIAL SERVICE REFORM PROGRAM

Health, Efficiency, Happiness and Welfare of Individual Family and Community Sought

By Associated Press. Seattle, July 7.—The varied and far reaching program of reform demanded by the National Conference of Charities and Correction was unfolded last night by Frank Tucker, of New York, president of the conference, at its fortieth gathering here.

"I believe the third era in the life of the National Conference has begun," Mr. Tucker said. "I believe that the new era will concern itself with constructive discussion for a program to bring about the health, efficiency, happiness, and welfare of individual, family and community. We must expect to be the melting pot from which our knowledge and ideals will flow into new programs of constructive action. Social justice demands minima below which no individual or family, fit to be a member of a community, shall be expected to exist. It puts no limit on knowledge, wealth or power, provided they are not acquired at the expense of the weaker or of those for their exploitation."

"What are these minima that social justice demands?"

"1. A Living Wage—Social justice says the very least among ye shall be paid enough to have for himself and his family education, adequate housing, sufficient food, simple clothes, fuel, light and transportation, reasonable recreation, health, care and protection, insurance against death and disability."

"2. Reasonable Working Hours and Conditions of Work—Social justice demands that the worker shall not be destroyed or disabled, or his working years shortened. It demands that the number of hours of continuous work shall be reasonably limited; that there shall be one day's rest in seven; that occupational diseases shall be studied and preventive mechanisms and processes arbitrarily provided and their use enforced; that the home shall not be turned into a sweat shop, bakeshop, food factory, candy factory or cannery; that there shall be light, air, sanitary conveniences as well as safety appliances for machinery in every factory, foundry and workshop."

"3. Education—Social justice demands that every one shall be trained to be efficient as a producer and a consumer and effective and intelligent as a community member."

"4. Housing—Social justice demands that the housing of the lowliest shall have sanitary and house-keeping necessities, shall not be overcrowded and shall be procurable at a reasonable price."

"5. Social Justice demands that the lowliest shall have sufficient food. It demands that neither the raiser nor the consumer of food shall be exploited. It demands that food shall be pure and unadulterated; that it shall be sold by honest weight and measure. It demands that it shall not be wasted."

"6. Clothes—Social justice demands that clothes shall be honest, simple and appropriate. It frowns upon extravagance, exaggeration and constant change. It forbids the wanton destruction of birds and animals to gratify a senseless vanity.

"7. Health—Social justice demands that the individual be taught from the time of first understanding the elements of health preservation; to know the danger signals of disease; that he shall be taught to spot a quack and shun him; to look askance upon patent medicine cure-alls; that he shall know the problems of sex and have a holy horror of venereal disease."

"8. Recreation—Social justice does not exclude the yacht, the automobile, the polo pony, the picture gallery or the private engagement of the operatic star from the millionaire's scheme of recreation, but it demands that all shall have a playground, a park, a bathing beach, a dance hall, an art collection, and music and the drama in all their forms of expression."

"9. Security of Life and Economic Status Through Social Insurance—Social justice does not exclude the million dollar policy for the rich man any more than it excludes him in the scheme of life, but says that not he alone but all working men shall have insurance protection against accident, sickness, old age and death."

BELLE OF WICHITA-IT'S BETTER

A Progressive Standpatter

By Savoyard in the Houston Chronicle

If a process should issue from chancery with adequate jurisdiction in that behalf and directed to me for service, and it required that I produce at the bar of justice the politician now in American public life who would go to the stake for his convictions, I should not hesitate to take into custody and hale him before the bench and I would get commendation of the judge for duty faithfully performed.

For Robert M. La Follette is terrible in earnest, as honest as he is fearless, and as fanatic as he is opinionated. When he is right he is a giant for progress, and when he is wrong he is yet a giant for reaction. A while ago I read his book, and it is a thrilling narrative that every public man and every political writer should read and ponder. He tells the story of the battle he waged against corporate privilege and political bossism in Wisconsin, and it is as sound an argument as it is valuable as a history. Here is a man with no more imagination than the multiplication table, and no more sense of humor than one of old Ike Stephenson's sawlogs, the author of one of the most entertaining books ever devoted to American politics. I'll bet some ancestor of his, without doubt, Richelieu of the Maid of Orleans led against the English invading usurper.

Was there ever before such a combination in one man—truth and error interlocked and intertwined? He made a heroic fight against the transportation monopoly of his state and snote it to discipline, an dthen he advocated as shameless as heartless, as greedy a piece of privilege as our country ever saw—the butter trust in its crusade against oleo-margarine. So far as the other trusts are concerned they have no more relentless enemy than La Follette, and yet, touching the tariff, the only difference between La Follette and Penrose is in degree, not in principle. Nor is that all—La Follette's position in the present session of congress is precisely that Penrose would have ordered him to take had he been one of Penrose's squad.

As I remarked, it is a wonderful book he wrote, and it is the more marvelous in that he does not mention the name of Matt Carpenter. Now, I maintain that had not Carpenter planted, La Follette had never filled or harvested. I have heard Beecher, Ingersoll, Breckenridge, Bryan, Cockran, but in my poor judgment Carpenter was a greater orator than any one of them. No other American but Edgar Allan Poe ever equaled him in command of perfect, powerful, exquisite English, and as for voice it was what John Forney said it was—a mixture of the flute and nightingale. If you would read the finest passage in American political literature, get the opening paragraph of Carpenter's speech in behalf of Tilden in the election contest in 1877; and he was a republican, too, although he voted for Stephen A. Douglas against Abraham Lincoln in 1860.

Nobody will ever know whether Carpenter was a greater lawyer than Jeremiah S. Black, and nobody will ever know whether Black was greater at the bar than Carpenter. In the biggest case they were engaged in as opposing counsel before the supreme court (the McCordie case) a republican congress, dominated by Charles Sumner in the senate and Thaddeus Stevens in the house, was reduced to the humiliation of repealing one of its own enactments to save a republican supreme court from the nauseating duty of deciding for Black, for on that bench is always respect for its own intellect.

Black loved Carpenter as a son, and pronounced him the greatest lawyer who spoke the English tongue. Carpenter revered Black as a father. Fundamentally both were democrats, though Carpenter became a republican when Fort Sumner was fired on in 1861. Small doubt that Carpenter got his views of corporations from Black, but whether he did or not, Matt Carpenter was the first public man of the United States to sound the alarm and arouse the people to a sense of their danger from the aggressions of monopoly.

We all have heard of "pious frauds" for the glory of God. We have heard of political frauds for the promotion of patriotism. One of the latter is a forged letter purporting to have been written by Mr. Lincoln to one Jesse Harper, I believe his name was, in which the president was made to say that the danger to the republic from corporations was greater than it received from African slavery and the sectional issue.

Lincoln did not say that or write it, but Matt Carpenter said it when Lincoln had not been in his grave six months. And that was the beginning of the struggle of the people against corporations, and he said it in Wisconsin, and thus blazed the path La Follette trod years later.

But on the tariff La Follette is a deep-dyed protectionist. It was the author of the agricultural schedule of the McKinley tariff in 1890, as insidious an adjunct of privilege as ever was conceived, for it is impossible to protect the American farmer by a tariff, and La Follette's action could have had effect other than to kill the American farmer, while wool, steel, glass, pottery and the other tariffed monopolies robbed him.

Now here is one of his profundities: "It was McKinley's greatest ambition now that the country had reached its highest development under the protective system, with an excess of production demanding outlet, to round out his career by gaining for America a supremacy in the markets of the world; and this he hoped to do without weakening the protective system."

Stuff and nonsense! It means we will sell, but we will not buy. It means we will eat our cake and have it. When water runs up hill and sparks fly down stairs, a nation that practices a protective tariff will "gain supremacy" in the markets of the world—not till then.

It is announced that La Follette is going to speak a week against the democratic tariff. Solomon couldn't speak that long without uttering stupidities. Why not get one of George Evans' speeches and read it? It is a much greater argument in favor of protection than La Follette can make though he talked six months.

He says he liked John G. Carlisle in a tariff debate. The opening paragraph of Carlisle's speech was a solar plexus that knocked Tom Reed out for the rest of that congress—O. P. Fifield. Then he smote Burrows under the fifth rib, and he was not.

La Follette's speech was based on some stuff Edward McPherson got up for him in the way of statistics. And the woodcock ejaculated and away he flew.

Washington, D. C.

J. Mariycorn's Ever Large Family. Americans drank more and spent more in the fiscal year which ended yesterday than ever before in history. Moreover the record was broken by a big margin. The internal revenue receipts for the year showing that the collection of all others by 14-13 million dollars.

The total of internal revenue receipts for the last twelve months—$309,478,000—is enormous, government officials say.

Uncle Sam closed the fiscal year with a surplus of $4,083,229, representing the excess of receipts over expenditures, exclusive of Panama Canal and public debt transactions made. This exceeds last year's surplus by 3-4 million dollars.

The Panama Canal expenditures and public debt transactions, however, wiped out the surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures, and created a deficit for the year of $2,149,000.

Total receipts for the fiscal year amounted to $228,782,921, while the ordinary disbursements were $232,699,692. Corporation taxes yielded the government $54,948,870, or 24.5 per cent more than in the fiscal year 1912.

While custom receipts for the last few months have shown a decrease, as is characteristic of a tariff revision period, the total for the fiscal year reached $318,142,000, an increase of nearly seven million dollars over the previous year.

Under the first year's operation of the new pension law the government paid veterans and widows $175,134,000, an increase of $21,537,000. The fiscal year closed with $164,704,000 in the general fund of the treasury, as compared with $167,162,000 a year ago.

The cash drawer of the treasury contains $65,263,000 as the working balance of the government. The trust funds of the treasury include $1,086,727,000 in gold coin and bullion. The government spent $41,741,000 on construction of the Panama Canal in the last year, making a total of $318,229,000 spent on the canal to date, of which $179,828,000 has been paid out of the general fund of the treasury and the balance from the proceeds of the bond sales. The grand total of assets of the government is nearly two billion dollars, against which there are liabilities including the gold and silver certificates aggregating about $1,725,000,000.

The mints coined in the year $37,147,000 of which $30,058,000 was in gold.

COURT OF APPEALS AFFIRMS OIL CASE

Wichita County wins in First Round in the Higher Courts on Oil Lease Assessments

The court of civil appeals of the second district at Fort Worth Saturday affirmed the Wichita county district court in the appeal of the Texas Company vs. W. H. Danaherty, tax collector of Wichita County. This is the oil lease taxation case which will now be carried to the supreme court. The affirmation Saturday was of Judge Martin's refusal to grant an injunction against Tax Collector Daugherty to refrain him from collection of taxes assessed against oil leases.

It will be remembered that Judge Felder insisted on the assessment of oil leases over the protest of the companies and owners and that his view was adopted by the commissioners' court. After the taxes were assessed, expected for several months.

An agreement was made to carry the matter to the higher courts. This was done on a petition for an injunction filed in the district court.

Several thousands of dollars in taxes are involved and the companies are fighting the assessment because they will set a precedent in Texas that will be very costly to them.

A ruling in the supreme court is not

MRS. PANKHURST'S DAUGHTERS NOW UNDER ARREST.

London, July 7.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, youngest daughter of Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst, the militant leader, again is awaiting trial on a charge of inciting to violence. Her latest predicament is the result of her charge on Downing street at the head of several hundred suffragettes and men sympathizers a week ago. She addressed a crowd in Trafalgar Square, from the Nelson monument, and in the course of her remarks, said her "mother was 'dying by inches.'" Under the roading, the crowd headed for Downing street, where the cabinet ministers have their residence, but were repulsed by the police. Five men were arrested and sent to jail for fourteen days each.

A summons was issued for Miss Pankhurst. It was returnable today and when she failed to appear in Bow street police court a warrant was issued for her arrest.

Miss Annie Kenny and Miss Rachel Barrett, the suffragettes today released from Holloway jail are in a hospital, where it was said they are in a serious condition. They are weakened and enfeebled from hunger and friends fear for their recovery.

The police declared they were positive suffragettes were to blame for the incendiary fire which today destroyed a Methodist church at Peil-hell, in Wales, and another fire which threatened the Baptist tabernacle in the same place. Both were of incendiary origin.
