Financial Pittsburg Undisturbed by Monday's Developments and Conditions Declared Good

By Associated Press. Washington, July 8.—John S. Williams, assistant secretary of the treasury who represented Secretary McAdoo in the closing of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg, today declared "the bank has been seriously mismanaged and the extent of the mismanagement will be determined by the department of justice."

The report to the department showed nearly $2,000,000 in red-ink counts but this item was omitted from the published statements. The national bank act requires that statements to be published in the form they are returned to the comptroller of currency.

Officials say the general banking condition in Pittsburg is in splendid condition and that the failure of the First-Second National Bank was simply the collapse of a weak spot due to "unsound banking."

Banking conditions generally throughout the country are declared to be good.

Financial Pittsburg Undisturbed. Pittsburg, Pa., July 8.—Financial Pittsburg was apparently undisturbed today over the closing of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburg with deposits of $2,000,000 and the First National Bank of Pittsburg, an allied concern, and the appointment of receivers for the American Waterworks and Guaranty Company, the largest concern of the kind in the country, and for the banking house of J. S. Kuhn and W. S. Kuhn, incorporated.

The run upon the Pittsburg Bank for Savings which began yesterday was resumed this morning, but the same method adopted yesterday was continued. All depositors were given $50 at once and notices of thirty, 60 and 90 days were given.

W. L. Jones was elected president and L. M. Plummer as vice president.

Town Commissary Headquarters for Servians—Large Force of Servians are Cut Off

By Associated Press. Vienna, July 8.—After repulsing several small bodies of Servian forces the Bulgarian troops have penetrated Drayna, the commissariat station of the Servian army, according to a Sofia dispatch. The Bulgarians, the dispatch says, are advancing toward the Morava river, and if this is correct, the Bulgarians will cut off a huge body of Servian troops from Belgrade.

HUGO IS BUILDING A NEW BALL PARK.

Hugo, Okla., July 8.—Hugo baseball fans have at last secured a place in the Texas-Oklahoma League, the deal being made last Saturday by which Hugo became the owners of the Wichita Falls franchise. D. A. Stovall left Monday to attend the league meeting in Sherman. He carried with him a certified check to the league and all other money necessary to consummate the deal and transfer the franchise. All the money necessary was raised here Saturday afternoon and work on the park fence and grandstand began this morning with fifty men at work. All will be finished in a shape when the team arrives in Hugo Friday with Sherman as the first game on the home grounds. Hugo has been winning everything in the last few days, taking two out of three from Paris on July 4 and winning from Bonham Saturday.

LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE NEEDS MONEY

It Has Been Robbed by Concentration of Wealth in the Big Cities

Salt Lake City, July 8.—One of the speakers at the National Educational Association convention here today was M. P. Shawkey, state superintendent of schools of West Virginia. "He said in part: 'The little red school house yet remains the biggest thing in our educational world. In the number of teachers employed it shows up a total of 212,380 as against a total of 299,570 in all the consolidated, graded, village and city schools of the nation.' According to the excellent monograph put out a few weeks ago by Dr. Monahan of the United States Bureau of Education, the rural schools of the country enroll something more than one-half of all the pupils in the United States and the single room schools fall behind these in the number of teachers employed. It shows up a total of 212,380 as against a total of 299,570. If territorial extent were to be considered, the one room school would probably surpass all others five to one. Only in percent of attendance and the amount of money spent upon them do the single room schools fall behind these in the larger groups. This fact I may say parenthetically ought to be taken into consideration when we put the single room school in the balance.

"Yet the little red school house with all of its history, all of its virtues, all of its sentiment, has become the storm center of criticism. Brick-bats are being hurled at it from all quarters. These attacks are too indiscriminate. Blair of Illinois is right when he declares that no single generalization will describe these schools as a class.

"There are, however, certain faults and defects particularly common among them. The remedy in one case will not fit in another.

"There are three general remedies of great worth: '1. Abolish the one room school by the process of substitution. There are thousands of places where the consolidated school may take the place of five to ten single room schools and render immensely better service to the community.

"2. Reinforce it with competent supervision. There are many thousands of cases where because of the bad roads and the physical conditions of the country the consolidated scheme is not now practical and in many of them it never will be. Here the single room school may be greatly improved by providing a competent supervisor for each small rural unit. Such unit should not contain more than 20 to 40 schools.

"3. Change its sex. Not that men are better than women teachers, they are not. The average teacher in the single room school is a girl who sticks to her job three years and then marries or takes up a different profession. The single room school is a task for a well matured man or woman who will cast his fortune with the community and become its social leader.

"In conclusion, the rural school mostly needs more money. It has a big mission and deserves adequate support."

OKLAHOMANS EXPECT MUCH IN REBATES

Decision Expected to Favor 2-Cent Fares and Make Rebate Checks Redeemable

Guthrie, Oklahoma, July 7.—The recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Minnesota rate case is creating interest throughout Oklahoma for the reason that this state's 2-cent fare case is also pending that court and state officials have always maintained that much has depended upon what decision the court gave in the Minnesota case. The Oklahoma 2-cent fare was provided in the State Constitution.

The question, "pending in the supreme court is similar to that in the Minnesota case—whether or not the railway companies can make a reasonable profit operating under the 2-cent fare law. After hearing evidence in the case, Federal Judge William C. Hook enjoined the State officials from enforcing the 2-cent fare provision and later he was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

It was ordered by Judge Hook, however, that until the case is finally determined in the courts, the railway companies shall give to persons, buying passenger tickets in Oklahoma at the 3-cent rate, a rebate check for one-third of the fare, the railway companies to redeem these if the 2-cent fare is sustained.

Should the Oklahoma rate be upheld, the railways will owe to the Federal Government itself something like $4,000 in rebates. After Judge Hook's decision was given, special orders were issued by the departments heads under President Taft to all Federal employees in this state, who are entitled to mileage, to preserve all such rebate checks and to account for them to the Washington departments under which they serve.

Every month the employees are required to make a report to Washington of all checks received, and to accompany the reports with the checks themselves. They are filed away in Washington, and if the 2-cent fare is ultimately sustained the Government in all probability will be the first to redeem that its rebate checks be redeemed.

The list of Federal employees in Oklahoma required to send in these checks to their departments include Federal Judges, attorneys and marshals and all their deputies and assistants, together with Internal Revenue officers, employees in the Indian service and others.

It is figured that at least 75 per cent of the people who receive rebate fare checks throw them away, and then all such checks fall into the hands of the more thrifty, who are storing them away with the hope that the courts will eventually hold the 2-cent fare to be a profitable producer for the railroads.

Preserving these rebate checks has become a fad with some persons, and they are continually on the lookout for them. Many such persons will be made wealthy should the law be sustained. There is a Missouri, Kansas & Texas station agent in the State who is credited with having something like $75,000 worth of rebate checks.

He became such a check fiend that he has guarded each incoming train carefully, picking up the checks from the car aisles and depot platform. If the law is sustained he can quit his job, and he is planning to invest his rebate money in a California orange grove.

A leading Republican politician of Oklahoma is said to have a "half trunkful" of these checks, which if ever redeemed will net him a nice campaign fund. As a rule, however, the persons who make a practice of hunting and preserving the checks are clerks in offices and departments, including many women stenographers. All, too, are building air castles on the money they will receive when the checks are redeemed.

DAVID LAMAR, "WOLF OF WALL STREET" WHOSE TELEPHONE IMPERSONATIONS MAY LEAD TO NATIONAL LEGISLATION

MOBILE. Lamar's admissions and his general attitude stirred the country. It brought up this question: "Why can't a man who represents himself as another over the telephone be prosecuted even if no money loss results?"

This is David Lamar, called the "Wolf of Wall Street." He's the New York stock manipulator who brazenly admitted before the senate lobby investigating committee at Washington that he freely impersonated congressmen and others in telephone conversations with Union Pacific railroad officials. He was snatched at Washington leaving the hearing in his automobile.

LAMAR AGAIN TAKES THE STAND

DECLARES HE WAS ONLY ATTEMPTING TO FORCE WALL STREET CROWD INTO THE OPEN

THEY WERE AFTER HIM

"Wolf of the Street" Declares Investigation Was the Very Thing He Wanted

By Associated Press. Washington, July 8.—David Lamar took the stand again at his own request today to make a "statement" taking up the motives back of his relations with Edward Luederbach, when the Senate lobby investigating committee convened today. The close of the Wall Street end of the investigation is now in sight.

"I realize perfectly that my life and character are on trial," declared Lamar in arguing that he and Luederbach were not engaged in any effort to get money from J. P. Morgan & Company and other Wall Street firms.

"I tell you what my motive was," continued Lamar, "it was either to force these men to recognize the injustice of their attitude toward Luederbach and myself or to force them to come out into the open with the charges of blackmail they had circulated in New York against both of us."

Ledyard and his associates had ruined many men, Lamar declared, and said that he was determined that they should not ruin him.

Lamar said he knew Lewis Cass Ledyard was trying to trip him up when he began to telephone him using the name of Representative Palmer, and then he determined that he would fix up a game to force the financial people to come out into the open.

Frequently during Lamar's statement his voice shook with apparent emotion. His choice of adjectives led members of the committee to interrupt his statement frequently. When a member of the committee would interrupt to disapprove of something he said Lamar immediately would agree with him, to the amusement of the audience. Lamar insisted that his only object was to bring about "just such a situation as this investigation."

"I am the only villain in Wall Street," said Lamar bitterly, "all the rest are actuated by the highest motive and ideals."

He declared the whole thing was only a major Wall Street operation and traveled on Wall Street lines, and insisted that Cravath, Ledyard, Levitt and the Morgan crowd and the Steel Trust, the Union Pacific and other interests were seeking to ruin him, and declared that he wanted to force them into the open.

He said his charge of the $82,000,000 forgery on the Union Pacific books, emphatically denied by attorneys for the company, he had taken from a manual published by Thomas Gibson. He said he had discussed with Luederbach a proposal to make these charges public.

The witness said he had impersonated Chairman McCombs of the National Democratic Committee and Chairman Hill of the National Republican Committee.

Senator Cummins asked if Luederbach had any explanation of matters reflecting upon his honor involved in the testimony.

"A question of honor was not involved," he answered, "it was a Wall Street operation entirely."

GENERAL RIVA CANNOT SURVIVE

WOUNDS OF CUBA'S NATIONAL POLICE CHIEF BELIEVED TO BE FATAL

HIGH OFFICIALS HELD

Governor of Province, a Senator and a Representative are Denied Bail

By Associated Press. Havana, Cuba, July 8.—General Armanda Riva, chief of the Cuban national police fought off death today but surgeons declared there was a hope for his recovery from the wounds he received last night during a pistol fight.

Order is being maintained throughout the republic.

Bail was refused today to Ernesto Asbert, governor of Havana province and Senator Morales and Representative Anias who are charged with the shooting, which was the outcome of a raid made by Gen. Riva Saturday night on the Asbert Club, when a large number of members were caught gambling. They were arrested and sentenced to a heavy fine.

Gen. Riva, Asbert, Morales and Anias met unexpectedly and, according to witnesses, the shooting began almost immediately.

Riva fell with a bullet in his head and another in his abdomen. His coachman was shot three times and two bystanders received bullets. The Prado was crowded with promenaders, including many women and children.

Causes Intense Excitement. The tragedy has caused the most intense excitement throughout the city. All points were ordered closed. Central Park and the Prado were patrolled by squads of police, who prevented any assembling in groups. A strong force of rurales is being held in reserve.

Gen. Riva is an officer of the regular army. He was appointed Chief of the National Police by President Gomez and reappointed by President Menocal. He is considered an efficient and fearless officer.

Gen. Riva in his statement declared he was shot by Asbert and Anias. Two witnesses have given testimony that Riva was shot while he was attempting to shelter his sons in the carriage. He had no chance, according to these witnesses, to return the fire of his assailants.

President Menocal summoned a meeting of the cabinet last night, which he decided to convene immediately the supreme court in whose charge the accused have been placed. This course was necessary because of the official station of Gen. Riva's assailants.

It is thought that the supreme court will not decide upon its future action until after the cabinet meeting.

BRASS RAIL AIDS GRAPE-JUICE HABIT

Soda Fountains Made Look Like Real Thing for Those who Follow Administration in Drinking

New York, July 7.—All the comforts and joys of a saloon are promised as scores of drug stores since the grape-juice wave, which was tossed up at Washington recently, struck this city.

In one drug store, at Manhattan avenue and West One Hundred and Sixth street, a tempting free lunch was offered at the soda fountain. More than a week ago they put a brass railing in front of the counter and they promise to use sawdust on the floor on "big days."

Pictures of race horses, weighing machines and possibly a news ticker, will find a place near the fountain to give more atmosphere, if business keeps up. Many other drug stores have taken on a corner cafe appearance and increased the number of their fountain tenders.

One of the most popular drinks for the man who is "breaking off" but determined to follow the flag and administration, is the grape juice rickey. It is served in a "regular saloon" glass, has ice, lime and that sort of thing and is said by some to possess something of the desired "punch."

"Me for the grape juice-after this," observed one man who had grape purple rings under his eyes and something of a head after a night with the grape-juice boys. "I was up till all hours at the corner drug store last night and never had a better night. The bunch was there, and all of us drank a bit more than we should. But there is this to be said about gazing under the red and blue drug store lights—the man there can fix you up before you leave for home."

"Besides, one spends less money over the marble than over the bar, and can have just as much fun. Why, in our crowd last night it was hard to believe we were not grouped around a rood bar calling the bartender by his Christian name."

"The fellows gave a grapevine twist to their talk, bragged about how much money they made, how many swell-knove persons they knew personally, told of how cute their children were, knocked their friends who were not present and kept up an interesting and

LIEUT. CALL, ARMY AVIATOR KILLED

MEMBER OF FIRST AERONAUTIC CORPS IN FATAL ACCIDENT AT TEXAS CITY TUESDAY

THE MACHINE COLLAPSED

Aeroplane Had Risen to Heights of 500 Feet When Warm Air Current Encountered

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, July 8.—Lieutenant Loren H. Call of the United States Army aviation corps was killed instantly this morning by the collapse and falling of his aeroplane just north of the Texas City camp.

Lieutenant Call was practicing landing when he met his death. He entered the air this morning and maneuvered some time when he ascended to the north. Several soldiers were watching him, and they saw his machine when at an altitude of about 500 feet and at 6:45 a. m. was seen to turn its nose suddenly downward and plunge swiftly to the earth.

The impact was terrific. Physicians who examined Call's body said that nearly every bone was broken. The machine was completely wrecked.

At the army aviation camp the news was expressed that the accident resulted from encountering what is known as a "warm air current."

While a board will be named to investigate the accident, the crew is expressed that nothing remains about the wreckage which can explain its cause.

Tenth Fatality in Government Aviation Service

By Associated Press. Washington, July 8.—The death of Lieutenant Call today makes a total of ten in the service of the government aviation work. There have been nine fatalities in the army and one in the navy since flying experiments were started at Fort Myer in 1908.

Lieutenant Call was 25 years old and was a native of Missouri. He was appointed to the army from Kansas in 1907. He was a son of Leslie W. Call, chief clerk and solicitor in the office of the judge advocate general of the army. He took up his first duties with the First Aeronautic Corps.

Another Witness Says Call's Body Struck Earth First

By Associated Press. Houston, July 8.—Private Smith of the aeroplane squadron said Lieutenant Call's body came down in advance of the biplane. He says he was closely watching at the time and that the biplane came to a sudden halt and Lieutenant Call was thrown forward and as he fell he clung with both hands to the forward rail, the machine following him to the drop to the earth.

MILITANT ARSON SQUAD AGAIN ACTIVE

Country Home of Sir William H. Lever and Valuable Paintings Burned

By Associated Press. London, July 8.—The arson squad of the militant suffragettes last night burned the country residence of Sir William H. Lever of the Liverpool School of Medicine. The residence was known as the "Bunglow" and was situated in Lancashire. It contained valuable paintings which were destroyed.

The suffragettes left a note saying that if Sir William had been loyal to their cause the fire would not have happened.

REVENUE ESTIMATES GIVEN SEN. SIMMONS

Internal Revenue Official Believes Corporation and Income Tax Will Yield $106,625,000

By Associated Press. Washington, July 8.—The total yearly revenues from the corporation and the income tax sections of the new tariff bill as revised by the Senate were estimated today at $106,625,000 by the commissioner of internal revenue committee in statistics prepared for Senator Simmons of the finance committee. The corporation tax is expected to yield $37,900,000, and the income tax $68,000,000.

As the income tax cannot operate until after the first two months of the present fiscal year the total revenue for the year 1913 will be decreased to $25,000,000. These estimates are higher than those made on the bill as passed in the House.

Instructive line of talk, just like they do at saloon bars.

"We sang, danced a few steps of trolley trot and pushed over garbage cans on our way home. It was what I call a big night, and it only put me back 55 cents, counting 5 cents for drugs and 5 cents for cigarettes. It's bound to become popular."

THREE COUNTIES BRIDGE CANADIAN

THREE STRUCTURES PLANNED TO CROSS CANADIAN RIVER AT GREAT COST

FLOOD DESTROY PROPERTY

Many Lives and Much Loss Result From Mountain Torrents Each Year

Norman, Okla., July 8.—Up and down the South Canadian River, said to be the most treacherous stream in the West, engineers, road builders and others are seeking solution of the problem of successfully bridging the stream for the transportation of vehicles, horses and pedestrians. Recently surveys have been made in three counties of Oklahoma and in one county of Texas, and while plans were being made another of those unexpected floods that have their origin in the melting snows of the Rocky Mountains came rushing down the wide flat bed, taking with it bridges and approaches to bridges and everything else loose that came in its path. The bridge of the Colorado Southern Railroad at Texas, Texas, was the first to succumb to the swift waters. Next came a Rock Island bridge near Bridgeport, Okla., the approaches to which were washed away. The Frisco bridge near Mustang, Okla., also suffered considerably. As usual, the case of the flood came during a dry period in Oklahoma. No rain had fallen for several days and the floods came like a marvel to those unaccustomed to the furious antics of the South Canadian. Before the days of many telegraph and telephone lines, Texas people were drowned annually in the Canadian floods that swept over New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

Coming of Floods Announced. In this day, however, the coming of the water is announced to those along the stream several days in advance. But this has not dissuaded the untutored traveler who backs his team at the brink in the face of a wall of water ten to twenty feet high approaching on a dry bed only a few rods away. For twenty years railroads of the Southwest that cross the South Canadian have been battling with the currents and dozens of bridges have been washed away. Until Dorsett Carter of Purcell, erected his great toll bridge at Purcell last year not a single wagon structure along the course of the stream in Texas and Oklahoma was considered sufficiently strong to combat the flood waters.

There is a movement on foot here to build a bridge similar to the Carter bridge and it probably will be completed before the end of the year. Recently the county commissioners of Canadian county and Grady county held a joint meeting at a point on the river near the crossing of the main line of the Rock Island and discussed plans for building a joint bridge there at a cost of about $500,000. The plans were approved by Col. Sidney Suggs, State highway commissioner, who was especially interested in the project because the structure would be a connecting link in the proposed Meridian highway to cross the State from north to south.

Other Bridges Planned. The commissioners of Blaine and Caddo counties are considering the erection of a similar structure over the Canadian near Bridgeport and near the Rock Island bridge, that for several years has been the prey to floods from the Northwest. A meeting of the commissioners of the two counties was held at Bridgeport and tentative plans were made for building the bridge. This would be an important link in a projected State highway running east and west through several counties of the western side of the State.

A movement has been started at Canadian, Texas, for the erection of a wagon bridge that will withstand the floods. In that part of Texas many bridges have been washed away during the last few years and the counties have lost many thousands of dollars. Any project now elicits a notice of doubt, but the plans probably will mature for one of the greatest bridges of the kind along this stream.

BARRETT SEES FARMERS A POWER

HEAD OF NATIONAL UNION WITH 2,000,000 MEMBERS, FORECASTS BRIGHT FUTURE FOR SOIL TILLERS

GIVES EDUCATION A BOOST

Producers are Just Coming Into Their Own, He Declares, and Points to South's Growth

St. Louis, July 8.—The farmers of the country now are in a position to dictate laws in their favor, and to block legislation inimical to their interests. Charles S. Barrett, president of the Farmers' Union, has announced.

While on his way to Wyoming and North Dakota last week, Mr. Barrett forecast the future of the farmer in the United States as filled with the greatest promise in the history of the tiller of the soil. At last, he says, the farmer is coming into his own.

Mr. Barrett is the guiding genius of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union, which has 33,000 local lodges and 2,000,000 members. The organization was founded at Point, Texas, ten years ago and Barrett over in Georgia affiliated with it at once and within a year was elected as the national president.

He has been re-elected seven times without a dissenting vote, which is one of the strange things in the amazing history of the Farmers' Union, for while Barrett smiles with typical Southern appreciation of humor, he is a fighter from the drop of the hat and never temporizes nor surrenders his convictions.

"Our organization is built on the principles of education and cooperation among farmers," said Mr. Barrett. "The South was backward in agricultural development, but there has been a great awakening and the Farmers' Union in many ways has been the greatest factor in the change. The union was at first mainly a Southern organization, but our greatest growth now is in the Middle West."

"The South has depended almost wholly on cotton. The Union taught the farmers the necessity of growing other things, of raising their own hay and grain and meat, and this diversity of production is one of the foundation stones of our new prosperity."

"My own State of Georgia was far down in the list of States, but so remarkable has been the progress made that the government reports place it fourth in agricultural products now—Illinois, Iowa, Texas, Georgia, that is the order. When I think of that old State of red hills and gullies leaping to fourth place in value of farm products I can scarcely credit it."

"We do not run for office, nor nominate candidates. We haven't a thing to do with partisan politics, but we elect a man now and then to private life just by way of example. Mr. Barrett smiled reminiscently as he drew this distinction between politics and politicians.

"One of our bills aims at the prohibition of gambling in farm products. It has been passed twice by the House, but blocked by the Senate and Murphy J. Foster of Louisiana, one of our strongest opponents, is now living quietly in his home near New Orleans in consequence. We had to retire him. Uncle John Lamb of Virginia, chairman of the general agricultural committee of the House, fought us and we had to use him from further public service at the primary last August."

"The Farmers' Union is a staunch advocate of scientific farming. Many agricultural colleges have been established in the South through its influence and more liberal support given those already founded in consequence of its demands.

"One day in Arkansas when I was at a convention across the street I was called before the legislature. They said to me, 'The Farmers' Union of the State is demanding four agricultural colleges. Do you need that many?' I said, 'I do not know that we do, but if they are asking for four, give 'em to 'em. Humor the farmers once in a while. You've been saying all these years they are the backbone of things, so let them have the four colleges if they say they want them.'

"They passed the appropriation bill for the four colleges that day. In Georgia we have twelve agricultural colleges. In Mississippi the splendid State Agricultural College at Starkville has the only chair of marketing in the world, dealing with the tremendously important problems of marketing. Prof. T. J. Brooks of the chair of rural economics and marketing, as the department is designated, was furnished to the college by the union, which was directly responsible for the establishment of the department."

Saturday. She was accompanied by Miss Urs Cobb who will be her guest for the next two weeks. Prof. Otto Hudstedler, who was the superintendent of the high school last year left last week with his family for Springtown, where Prof. Hudstedler has accepted the position of superintendent of the school at that place.

Miss Mattie Wigley left last week for Arkansas, where she will visit at various points for the next three months. County Commissioner McCleskey is riding around in a new Buick auto which he purchased last week. Miss Trish Griffin left last week for Oklahoma City, where she will visit.

As Bad as Hats
Mrs. Arthur Westworth Balfour, the noted Western Audubonist, praised, in an address in Tacoma, the action of Congress in forbidding the importation of feathers save those of the ostrich and the domestic fowl.
"Feathers, anyhow," she said, "aside from the cruelty of them, make so for vanity, don't they?"

I know a man who sat at the opera one night behind a lady with an eighteen-inch white algrette in her hair. The man craned to the right, he craned to the left, but that tall, white, thick, superb algrette was always in his way.
"At last, despair, he bent forward and whispered:

was in order to see.
"Madam, I paid $6 for this coat."
"And I, sir," the lady answered, haughtily, "paid $60 for this algrette. It was in order to be seen."

WATERMELON SUPPER AND DANCE AT LAKE

A most enjoyable event was a watermelon supper and dance at Lake Wichita given by Miss Orveta Wyatt last evening in honor of Miss Gertrude Orth's guest, Miss Allyne Kirtley of Dallas. A number of large, juicy watermelons had been secured for the occasion, and after the guests had enjoyed themselves dancing for several sets, watermelon was served on a long table around which were seated probably fifty guests, including Mrs. Orth, Mrs. B. After watermelon had been served, dancing was resumed, and a general good time was enjoyed until a late hour.

JUDGE BRATTON'S TRIAL NEXT MONDAY

Former Tarrant County Judge Will be Tried on Charge of Accepting Bribe Money
Fort Worth, Texas, July 8.—The case of former County Judge R. B. Bratton, charged with accepting a bribe, is to be taken up in the Seventeenth district court next Monday morning. This agreement was reached Monday morning.
This case has been set a number of times, but each time it would be postponed for some cause or other, and all the time the defendant has been pleading for a speedy trial.
By agreement of Judge Ewyne of the Seventeenth district court and the county attorney Monday, it was given a speedy setting for next Monday morning.
It was said by an attorney in a position to know that Mr. Bratton proposes to put on no witnesses whatever, but will rest the case when the state has introduced its witnesses.

BALL TEAM FORMALLY TRANSFERRED TO HUGO

League Directors Admit Oklahoma Town at Meeting Held at Denton Monday Afternoon

Hugo, Oklahoma, was formally given possession of the Wichita Falls team in the Texas-Oklahoma league at a meeting of the league directors at Denton yesterday. The team takes over the contracts with all the players and will finish the season playing the games that had been scheduled.
John W. Thomas, secretary of the local organization attended the directors meeting and brought back $500 of the forfeit money posted with the league officials. This will be used in liquidating some of the debts of the club. Mr. Thomas had some difficulty in getting this money. Since Wichita Falls surrendered the team on the evening of July 4, it has been playing under the direction of the league officials. In this time it has lost several hundred dollars and the directors wanted to take this out of the forfeit. Mr. Thomas, however, succeeded in overcoming their arguments. He also made a deal for the sale of the suits and supplies to the Hugo management.
The greater number of Hugo's six thousand inhabitants are said to be fans of the tenth degree and it is expected the team will pay its own way there. The Hugo management also expects the team to win the larger part of the games played from now on.

SALVATION ARMY PICNIC THURSDAY

Thirty Gallons of Lemonade and Eighteen Gallons of Ice Cream Will Be Part of Dinner

Thirty gallons of lemonade, eighteen gallons of ice cream and other picnic staples in proportion are being prepared by Captain Robb and wife for the Salvation Army Sunday school picnic at Lake Wichita Thursday.
Captain Robb already has the names of 125 children who expect to attend the picnic and it is probable the number will be increased to 150 or more.

The Salvation Army's Christmas tree and its annual outing are two events that are looked forward to with joyful anticipation by many children and they are events that do not bring disappointment.

The children will be taken out to the lake Friday morning on one of the big open street cars. After spending the day at the lake they will be brought back to town, where it is the plan of Captain Robb to give them an automobile ride, if enough automobiles are donated for that purpose. No owner of an automobile who can realize the joy such a ride will bring to the children will fail to offer his machine.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 8, 1913

The odor left by the McNab incident seems to have been overshadowed or almost entirely wiped out by that produced by Mulhall and Lamar.

Wouldn't we laugh though if R. T. Milner should be elected governor. He would give Texas another Jim Hogg administration.—Tyler Courier-Times. If you can convince the people of Texas that Milner would make as good a governor as Hogg he can win in a walk. Texas needs another James Stephen Hogg as her governor for a term or so, and if Milner has it in him to make us that kind of governor, he ought to be the unanimous choice of the people.

The supreme court of Alabama has ruled that after September 1st legal technicalities will cut no figure in the reversal of cases brought up on appeal before that court, or in any other court in that state. Cases are to be tried strictly on their merits, unless it can clearly be shown that the whole cause of the applicant may be prejudiced by the passing over or the ignoring of the technicality complained of in such instances, the courts are to be governed accordingly. That is at least one step in the right direction.

The governor has called the legislature to meet in extraordinary session on the 21st. The principle business to be transacted is for that body to devote a sufficient amount of its time to make appropriations to run the state government until the legislature meets again. The very necessary legislation could just as well have been put through at the regular session. But, there is no use to complain. The people get just what they pay for. Neither should the members of that body be criticised. They are doing their best, and all that could be expected of them.

While the Times is opposed to the adoption of Senate Joint Resolution No. 127 it has done its best by publishing as much information as it had space for, both for and against, and if any difference, more space has been given to arguments in favor of the adoption of the proposed amendment than against. Therefore, if our readers are not posted, it is through no fault of the Times. It is true, we receive great stacks of literature daily from those who are devoting their entire time to advancing reasons why the amendment should be adopted, and also from those who oppose its adoption, but most of all of them go into the waste basket, for the reason that this literature is prepared by the fellows who make it a part of their business to either oppose or favor such propositions, and generally take the side of the question that offers them the greatest compensation. Most intelligent voters, however, will be able to make up their minds as to which way they want to vote on that proposition by merely getting a copy of the proposed amendment and reading it carefully from beginning to end. They will then have a better idea of how they want to vote than were they to read every leaf sent out by the two campaign committees.

TAXING BACHELORS

Much has been written, always in a humorous way, about taxing bachelors, but the United States Senate has adopted the principle in its amendments to the income-tax law. Under its provisions the exemption of bachelors and spinsters is to be only $3,000, while the exemption of married men and women is to be $4,000. Exemptions of $500 for a child, or $1,000 for two children are also allowed. No exemptions are to be made for a greater number of children than two.

Regarded entirely from the economic point of view, there are many arguments to support such a policy. If the man is considered the agent for creating wealth, and takes the responsibility of a husband, it does not seem right that he should be penalized for undertaking to support a wife and raise a family of children, or that the man who avoids such responsibilities should have the advantage of accumulation of wealth. It is an effort to equalize the burden of the support of the government, as between men with families and those who have none. A man who has no family can much more easily pay taxes than the man who, besides paying the taxes, must support a wife and children. It will be noticed that no discrimination in favor of women is made. The unmarried woman stands exactly on the same plane as the unmarried man. The French Government has recognized this principle in some late enactments, but in an entirely different way. It gives a bonus to families that have a certain number of children. It is a new thing in government, and it is somewhat surprising that it has not called forth more comment than it has.—Omaha World-Herald.

THE OCTOBER HAT

Women's hats, so the milliners tell us, are going to be smaller in the fall and winter and they are also going to be less gorgeous. The martial plumes, the bobbing silks and the vaporous heterogeneity of other days will not be vanquished utterly, but they will appear in subdued, diminished dimensions. It is no purpose of the arbiters to make the future hat imperceptible; it is planned simply to reduce its displacement and millify its completion, as it were.

In behalf of the proposed hat it is claimed it will plunge the prolonged and dangerous hatpin into desuetude. What the law has grappled with bloodily and unavailingly fashion, it seems, will be able to dispose of without suffering a scratch. Still, the possibility that American women may not maim, trample and slay one another in a stampede for the new hat is admitted. It appears that in recent years American women have been raising bumper crops of hair and the contour of the new hat will require some pretty glorious sacrifice along that line. It is a vexing question, therefore, which the melancholy days will have to answer. Has the spirit of sacrifice fled from American women? Will they permit their vanity to stand out against the vogue? Do they prize their locks more than their looks?

Of course man will be heard urging women to complain with the new hat mandate. Because it is to be smaller and simpler he will selfishly conclude that the new hat is to be cheaper and so will enthusiastically endorse it. As usual, though, man is mistaken. It is officially proclaimed that the new hat, even if it be petite and demure, will be maddeningly expensive. The cost of living may yield and cravenly retreat from many positions, but as regards women's hats it intends standing pat. The bill for the new hat will be immense. So our guess is that the rich but not ruddy bonnet will conquer and occupy the field when the landscape dons October's plaid.—St. Louis Republic.

GETTYSBURG—A CONTRAST

July 3, 1863. General Lee, encouraged by the success of the first and second days, determined to press the attack on the morning of the third. Ewell was to assault the Federal right on Culp's Hill, while Longstreet, aided by Hill, was to storm the left center, commanded by Hancock on Cemetery Ridge. Ewell attacked in the morning and in spite of heroic efforts, failed to carry Culp's Hill and was finally compelled to retire. After several hours delay, at 1 p. m., the Confederate artillery on the right opened fire. The Federals responded, and for two hours nearly three hundred cannon "volleyed and thundered." At last the cannonading ceased and the long magnificent line of Confederates moved forward to storm Cemetery Ridge. Over the ridge, behind which they had been protected during the artillery duel, down the slope and up the heights, three-quarters of a mile, fourteen thousand heroes in gray charged an army of a hundred thousand men. At 1.100 yards, the Federal cannon re-opened fire, and the shot cut windows through the advancing lines. The Confederates closed up and pressed on. The advance reached the Federal works, captured the guns, and planted the Confederate flag on the outer stone wall; but they were not supported, and, under a terrific fire from front and both flanks, they went back, the fourteen thousand now but seven thousand. The charge had failed. In heroic daring it has never been surpassed.

Cooper, in "History of Our Country."

July 3, 1913. "Today there were gathered just below the old stone wall nearly all that are left of Pickett's men, some of them the very men who had broken over it with Armistead. They looked up at the wall and then saw the men who had fought them grouped this time on the wall instead of behind it.

They saw three crossed flags where the Union men stood, the flag of the Second Corps of the Army of Potomac, Hancock's crossed with a Confederate flag, captured in the battle, and over both a United States flag.

"When it came to be 3 o'clock, the time when they made that charge, Pickett's men crowded their way through the thick underbrush and made their way up the hill. All along the stone fence, eager hands went down to grasp their hands and help them up the wall. It is a steep ascent, just before you get to the stone fence, and some of the younger men found it hard climbing through the brush, but the old men didn't seem to regard it as a difficult thing at all. In every face that bent above them from the stone fence was an eager, welcoming smile, and over them, as they reached it, floated a great flag, the flag of the United States with forty-eight stars."

Otto Praeger, in Dallas News. Rumors of New Steam Line. Freeport, Texas, July 8.—A new railroad with this city as a terminus is being promoted by Bay City and El Campo interests. It is proposed to build a line from San Antonio to here running through above places and other towns in the Gulf Coast section.

Love's Logic. "There's no logic in love," said Dr. H. Mitchell Wilson, the noted Denver eugenicist, as he drank in the salt-impregnated air of an Atlantic City pier.

Dr. Wilson, gazing absently at a school of porpoises tumbling in their graceful way in the blue and sunlit water, chuckled and continued:

"Two young people sat on the beach the other night. Moonlight whitened the sand. The sea in the moonlight was like frosted silver. The young girl, mystically beautiful beneath those calm rays, said:

"How do you know I can make you happy?"

"Because," groaned the young man, "you make me so miserable."

Tom B. Taylor of Archer County, returned yesterday from Austin where he had been to attend a district conference of the Farmers Union. Mr. Taylor says there were about three hundred delegates in attendance at the meeting, representing every portion of the state. A resolution was presented asking the endorsement of Senate Joint Resolution No. 18, but was voted down unanimously. After the conference had adjourned, Mr. Taylor visited Fayette county, where he delivered a lecture and says that he failed to find but little sentiment whatever among the farming class of people favorable to the adoption of the proposed amendment and believes that on the 19th, that not only Senate Joint Resolution No. 18 will be voted down, but that all the others will be defeated.

Second Game Was Hard Fought From Start to Finish After Shut Out

Special to the Times.

Bonham, Texas, July 8.—The Drillers celebrated their change of ownership yesterday with a double defeat, losing the first game by a score of 4 to 0 and the second 5 to 4. Corzine was invincible in the first game, holding the visitors to five scattered hits, while Matthews was touched up for ten safeties, one a two-bagger by Basham. The second was a hard-fought contest from start to finish. Bonham made two scores in the last inning and won, Basham, hitting for Scott, singled to left and was forced at second by Leslie. Russell drove out a two-bagger, scoring Leslie, and took third on the throw in. Russell scored with the winning run when Nevitt dropped Sporn's infield fly. Two fast double plays by Bonham and an unassisted double play by Nicholson for the visitors featured. The scores:

Hence Its Origin

"Every superstition, or nearly every superstition, can be traced back to something sensible and rational. Take the Friday one, for example.

"You bet your life I wouldn't," Bob replied.

"What a superstitious ass you are, Bob!"

"Superstition is hanged!" said Bob. "I wouldn't start off on Friday because Saturday's pay day."

The speaker was Mayor Reutter of Lansing.

"Take the Friday superstition," he resumed. "One Lansing clerk said to another:

"Would you start off on your vacation on Friday, Bob?"

To be honest in action, word and influence. This means among other things, absence of exaggerations in advertisings."

GIVES FREE CIRCUS IN OLD HOME TOWN

Millionaire Fulfills Vow Taken When, as Boy, He Couldn't See Show—Hundreds Join in Frolic

Chicago, Ill., July 8.—Twenty-five years ago a penniless boy in Delavan, Wis., vied with envy the boys of the town as they merrily sped on their way to the big attraction of the day—a circus.

He couldn't go. He hadn't the price. He longed to be inside that tent and see its myriad wonders that other more fortunate boys were enjoying, and the lack of the 25 cents prevented the consummation of his desire. He turned away from the scene utterly soul sick.

Then he made a resolution. That resolution was that he would conquer the world, get rich and see all the circuses he desired.

He started for Chicago, and as he left his home hamlet he vowed that that town and would give every body in the district a look at a circus.

Children Come by Hundreds. That boy, now Edward Tilden, millionaire packer, kept his promise when he gave a circus such as never had been dreamed of to 2,800 of the small boys and girls in Delavan and vicinity.

He has kept most of his promise concerning the buying of the town, for he owns many large farms there and a palatial country place on Delavan Lake, where his little guests frolicked.

It was more than a circus. Everything the childish heart could desire was there in abundance. Jimmy Ward, the aviator, gave aeroplane demonstrations. Hundreds of automobiles whirled through the forest drives carrying laughing and cheering hundreds of happy children.

There was a circus gathered from some of the best attractions of acrobats, bareback riders, clowns and all the other features of a regular big show.

Ests. For Everyone. Then there was a feature such as never had been seen by many of the guests. Every child to tempt any kind of appetite was served in the grove and buildings on the place. A Chicago band furnished music throughout the day. A drum major with a big baton was the cynosure of the admiring children.

The day was ideal for the event, and every home in Delavan is hearing the story of how the penniless boy went forth and conquered. And that's how Edward Tilden treated his home town.

The day's pleasure, including the cost of the various amusement features and the dinner, cost the packer $10,000.

"It was worth it," he said. "It has been many a day since I felt the real thrills of pleasure I experienced. I am glad I was able to do it. It has been a most joyous occasion. That's

RECORD OF BIRTHS HIGHLY IMPORTANT

Every Mother Should Ask Physician to See that Record of Child is Recorded

By Associated Press. Seattle, Wash., July 8.—It is more important for mothers to see that the births of their babies are registered than it is to see that their own marriage is recorded, according to Dr. Lewis Meriam of the Federal Children's Bureau.

Dr. Meriam in an address on "Auditing the Birth Account," before the National Conference of Charities and Correction here this morning said, "every mother should specifically ask the person in attendance upon her whether the baby has been properly registered. The birth is just as sacred as the marriage, and the reasons for recording the marriage are, if anything, of lesser importance than the reasons for recording the birth. The community must therefore demand that persons who are in attendance at births shall make reports, and if they fail to do so that they be prosecuted."

Dr. Meriam outlined a co-operative movement which the Children's Bureau is about to enter into with the women's organizations throughout the country, in which committees of women in selected towns and districts will get the names of a number of babies for each member, go to the registration office, see if they are recorded, and report the results to the Bureau in Washington. It is expected that this widespread interest and responsibility will have the effect of securing the registration of practically all babies born in these communities. Such a complete registration is necessary, in the judgment of the Children's Bureau, that there may be a scientific basis for all efforts at social betterment; to enable health authorities to bring to the family of the baby a knowledge of hygiene and sanitation which will preserve the health of the infant; to give to the state a record of the age of its children, so that it can enforce its laws for compulsory education and for the protection of the children from the evils of child labor; and to furnish each and every citizen with a proper record of the date of his birth and his parents in the archives of his birth place.

Charities Laughed Without Sufficient Forethought. The ease with which charitable societies and institutions are started in American cities and that without sufficient forethought by responsible people, was discussed by Francis H. McLean, general secretary of the American Association of Societies for Organizing Charities.

"We are passing through a period in which philanthropic societies and movements of all sorts are being organized all I can say of it, and that expresses everything, both for myself and my guests."

organized almost daily," said Mr. McLean, who went on to discuss the various needs of different cities and the consideration which must be given to organizations already in existence. "It is necessary," he said, "in order to prevent the waste of effort and of resources occasioned by the individualistic chaos in which anyone can start anything at any time to take up the question of developing programs of charitable work, just as the development of cities on the municipal side is being organized and directed through city planning."

BOY RIDING WHEEL COLLIDES WITH MAN

Pedestrians Apparently Have Little Business on Walks When Wheelmen are Riding

A youth whose name was not learned while riding a bicycle on the sidewalk on Ninth street this morning collided with a man and was thrown headlong from his wheel. He was picked up fully fifteen feet from his wheel, but was not seriously hurt. One of the pedals of the wheel had struck the man's leg. Neither the boy nor the man were seriously hurt, according to The Times informant.

Although there is an ordinance to the contrary, boys and men are riding on the sidewalks in all parts of the city. When violations of the ordinance were first permitted the riders generally dismounted upon meeting a pedestrian. Now, they ring a bell or blow a whistle, if they carry one, and the pedestrian has the choice of getting off the sidewalk or taking a bump amidship. No serious accidents have yet been reported. No arrests have been made recently.

Finds Was Kept. William M. Wood, the head of the woolen trust, said in Boston, apropos of the new tariff:

"It listens good, as the slang phrase goes, but will it listen good to the very end? Won't the end be a dismal surprise, like the tale of the lost coat?"

"A country minister, driving to church with his new overcoat on the seat beside him, lost the coat en route, and announced his loss from the pulpit. "Dearly beloved," he said, "I met with a sad loss this morning. Somewhere on the river road, while driving to church, I lost my fine, new, silk-lined overcoat. If any of you find it, I hope you'll bring it to the parsonage."

"It's found, doctor," said a voice from the back of the church. "Bless you, my friend! Heaven bless you!" said the minister, beaming on the speaker gratefully.

"It's found, sir," continued the voice. "I came along the river road just after you, and it wasn't there."

AUTOMOBILE TIRE AS LIFE SAVER
Fort Worth Man Rescues Son Who Was Sinking in River With Inflated Inner Tube
Fort Worth, Texas, July 8.—Oliver Blanke, 16-year-old son of Waterworks Commissioner Blanke, was saved from drowning Sunday in the Clear Fork below Dam No. 4 by an automobile tire inner tube, used as a life preserver.
Young Blanke had gone down twice in a deep pool of water near the dam when the inflated tire was thrown to him. With it he kept afloat until pulled into shallow water.
Commissioner Blanke had taken members of his family with him to the Powell water plant when he visited it Sunday. While he was at the plant they went to the river for a swim.
On July 4 Commissioner Blanke noticed a man swimming in the river with an automobile tire. Sunday he recalled this while worrying about the boys swimming in the river.
"I got to thinking what would happen if one of the party should go down," he said, "for I cannot swim myself. Then I got to thinking about the swimmer I saw July 4, so I went to the car, got an inner tube, blew it up and took it down to them at the river."
While other members of the party were floating on the inflated tube, young Blanke suddenly went down in the deep water. Commissioner Blanke had not left the bank and rushing into the river shoulder deep got the tire tube and with it reached the boy in the deep water beyond.
He was brought to the shore in an exhausted condition. After he had fully recovered a test was made of the buoyancy of the inner tube and it was found that it would support three persons.
