HIGH-UP DIVORCE SUITS IN LONDON

MARITAL TROUBLES OF MEN IN PUBLIC LIFE ARE BEING AIRED

FROWNED ON BY ROYALTY

Queen Even Innocent Parties to Such Cases, But King Is Less Severe

By Ed. L. Keen, (London correspondent of the United Press.)

London, July 15.—England is having a lot of trouble these days trying to decide just how far the private conduct of a public man affects the value of his service to the state. On top of the recent turmoil over the dealings of Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George and Attorney General Sir Rufus Isaacs in American Marconi shares, comes the case of the brilliant liberal, Capt. Crawshaw-Williams, until a short time ago member of Parliament for Leicester.

When Hubert William Carr-Gomm, also a liberal, representing the London district of Rotherhithe in Parliament, whose young and beautiful wife had been one of the most popular members of English society, brought suit for divorce, he named Crawshaw-Williams as co-respondent. Purely in defense to public opinion and to precedent, Crawshaw-Williams at once resigned. As Leicester is a strong Non-Comfortist center, and as Crawshaw-Williams is a Non-Comfortist himself, strong and vigorous attack began upon him throughout the district. The Leicester Mail led the onslaught.

Crawshaw-Williams' peculiar error has produced widespread public discussion. It is altogether unlikely that he will be able to break down past traditions. A note of tragedy is added to the case in the fact that he is a man of strong ambitions as well as of signal ability. Only 34 years of age and having been Parliamentary secretary to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, his early promotion to the ministerial bench was practically assured but the divorce suit undoubtedly means his political extinction.

It is recalled that similar suits were responsible for the ruin of such men as the late Sir Charles Dike and Charles Stuart Parnell. Dike was a cabinet minister when he was named in a divorce proceeding and his resignation and retirement from Parliament followed immediately. Some half a dozen years later he reentered Parliament and remained there nearly twenty years, but no liberal premier dared outrage public opinion by including in his cabinet perhaps the most brilliant politician of the past thirty years. After the famous O'Shea divorce case Gladstone and other English liberals requested Parnell to retire from the chairmanship of the Irish party, although he declined he was out-voted by his followers, 44 of whom deposited in favor of the late Justice McCarthy. At the 1892 election only nine Parnellites were returned out of 81, and the great Irish leader died a broken hearted man.

In English court circles connection with divorce cases has long been frowned upon. The late Queen Victoria barred even the innocent parties. King Edward relaxed the rule slightly receiving innocent parties and occasionally recognizing co-respondents who had been unable to disprove the charges against them. This, however was never on great state occasions and under the Puritan rule of Queen Mary, divorce and co-respondents are totally excluded. Much comment was caused recently by the presence of Lord Hamilton of Dalziel at the Derby Day banquet given by King George, but the banquet was given to members of the Jockey Club and being a private affair for men only the king evidently saw no reason for barring Lord Hamilton, who was co-respondent in the divorce suit brought by the Hon. William Lawson a couple of years ago. Hamilton was formerly a lord-in-waiting to the king and married the lady immediately after the divorce, but neither he nor his wife are officially received at court.

The domestic infidelities of the ducal houses of Westminster and Marlborough have resulted in the exclusion from court of the dukes though no actual legal proceedings have been taken. Both the duchesses however, are still received by Queen Mary.

The leading figure in the widespread campaign of tax resistance is a part of the woman's suffrage crusade is the Duchess of Bedford. Following her refusal to pay taxes the government levied on the Princess Skating Club, of which she is the owner.

"My reason for resisting the payment of a property tax," she explained today, "is that I consider it unjust that women should have to pay taxes when they have no hand or voice in the making of laws which enforce them. I also wish it to be known that in spite of the tactics adopted by the Woman's Social and Political Union, I am not deterred from declaring myself in favor of modified woman suffrage. There are many women in favor of the franchise who have not given the movement any public support because they do not wish to be identified with militancy. By this holding back they lend support to the impression that there is no great demand among women for the franchise. There are also many women who have not studied the question at all and who associate it only with the breaking of windows and the burning of houses." If these women went into the study of woman suffrage they undoubtedly would become ardent crusaders for the cause.

NEWS OF DAY IN NEW YORK TOWN

GIRL LOST FOR THREE DAYS, BAFFLING POLICE AND DETECTIVES

WHAT BECOMES OF FIDO?

S. P. C. A. Interested in His Fate After He Gets Unfashionable—Horse Lovers Aroused

By Carolin Ten Eyck, (Written for the United Press.)

New York, July 15.—Helen McCarthy, the 16-year old daughter of a wealthy man living in an ultra-fashionable uptown hotel, was "lost" for three days and nights and her experience showed that it is difficult to imagine anything to be impossible in the manifold varied life of the big city. The McCarthy girl dropped completely from the sight of family and friends and her whereabouts was a mystery for sixty hours, though the entire police force of the metropolis was hunting for her. In all that time, too, she was not under a roof, not seeking to hide herself. She simply was swallowed up in the "wilds" of New York, as completely as though the earth had yawned at her feet and engulfed her, though very newspaper in the city carried her picture and description.

Heien did not like the school to which her parents sent her and when he rebelled her father spoke sharply to her and boxed her ears. Resentful, he child left home to look for work, he said. She did not find it and when night came she was again sought to save the big hotel, to which she owed she would not return, who wandered away up into Fort Washington park at the northernmost limits of Manhattan and slept in the open. The second day her search for work was fruitless. According to her story, and which is being investigated, she sought the shelter of the secluded park, because she knew no other resting place. On the third day she was so exhausted from worry, loss of sleep and insufficient food that she had no energy to save the park, and it was there she was found.

Two youths, reading newspaper stories about her disappearance, saw the girl and one suggested more as a joke than because he thought the girl as really the missing Helen McCarthy, that she must be the missing girl. A detective working on the case was even more sure of the girl's identity. "I wish she stoutly denied that she was the McCarthy girl. A telephone message brought her distracted father and he took her home. The police were amazed to learn that they were out-fitted for three days by a slip of a girl who was out in the open the whole time. Small wonder that the yeggmen and gangsters say that New York is the safest hiding place available after he has "pulled a job."

What becomes of Fido when he goes out of fashion? That is the question that has been worrying a prominent member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ever since he overheard a conversation between two fashionable women in Central park. "The first woman, the more ultra-fashionably dressed of the two, was walking in the park with her dog, a large Russian wolf hound, when she met her friend, not quite so well dressed, who was leading a diminutive poodle by a silver chain.

"When have I seen a poodle before?" exclaimed the owner of the big dog with her most engaging smile. "No had the little fellows have gone completely out of fashion. One never encounters them any more. I wonder why they went out of style so completely?"

All unconscious that he was passing, the little poodle trotted away with his mistress, but she wore a passive look and did not seem half so interested in the diminutive canine as before she met her acquaintance. The S. P. C. A. man was perfect sure that the poodle could not long decorate the other end of the silver chain, but what he has been unable to discover is where the poodle will go when he is discarded as milady. When the poodle came along, the pug went by the board, and then the pomeranian put the poodle out of business, and now the big dogs are the thing of the afternoon, say. But the S. P. C. A. never before considered where the dogs go when they go out of fashion.

New York horse-lovers are all "wrought up" over a story coming from Chicago, that the deliberate blinding of horses to make them more tractable for use in the city has become a regular business in the western metropolis. Hugo Kraus, president of the Chicago branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, offered $50 as a reward for information leading to the arrest of anyone blinding horses. The matter got into the newspapers and caused a great hue and cry. Kraus was authority for the statement that hundreds of horses on the streets of Chicago had been blinded in order that they might be made more docile and inanimate from fright caused by automobiles and street cars. He said that the S. P. C. A. there is determined to stop the practice.

Thomas F. Fend, superintendent of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, when asked about the matter, said that such a thing as the blinding of horses had never been heard of here, but he declared that the investigators of the Society would look into the matter and see what there is to it. The New York animal lovers are the impression, saying that if such barbarism is practiced in one city to the extent that Kraus says it is done in Chicago, it very likely prevails elsewhere. Today agents of the S. P. C. A. are looking after the eyes of horses all over New York and if more than the average number of blind horses should be found, it is likely that a rigid investigation would be ordered.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 15, 1913

The Panhandle Farmers' Association, embracing West Texas, the Panhandle of Texas and New Mexico, will meet in convention at Sweetwater, Texas, August 19th, 20th and 21st. The Times acknowledges with pleasure an invitation to attend this meeting.

If your wife is away on a visit and you are lonesome and think it is about time she should return, one good way to get her back is to clip an article from the local paper—it matters not what there is the clipping away and send her the paper from which the article is clipped. The following day, repeat it, only select for your article to be clipped, one about twice the size of the first. Those who have tried this trick say it works like a charm.

The first bale of 1913 cotton was ginned at Lyford, Texas, on the 10th, and sold to Wm. D. Cleveland at Houston for $805. The money realized from the sale of the bale was given to build a church in the Lyford community. In 1912 the first bale was ginned July 2, and in 1911 the first bale came in on June 11, which is the record for early cotton so far as known.

Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan says that he will not abandon the lecture platform, giving as his reason that the salary he draws is not sufficient to support himself and family in the way he is expected to live and uphold the dignity of the high office he holds. Doubtless this will give his enemies opportunity to criticize and censure him, but he has stood for lots of that in the past, and may be able to stand for a little more. Perhaps it would look better in him to keep of the lecture platform while he is holding a cabinet position, but if it is necessary for him to do that in order to make ends meet, the people will excuse him.

There is no tax that brings greater or more substantial benefits than that of a street paving tax. In the matter of paved streets Wichita Falls is behind other cities of her size and importance, and this should not be the case. At the present time the Times is informed that the city is bonded almost to the limit, and unless we get busy and secure a new charter, we cannot expect but little if any more paved streets than we now have. Wichita Falls has done well, and better than almost any other city of twice her size in the matter of building cement sidewalks but she needs more paved streets, and this should come soon.

Public service corporations have souls. At least, some of them do. In Tulsa, Okla., for instance, the electric light company has volunteered to furnish free of charge electric fans to all the sick in that city who are too poor to afford such luxury, and the ice plants of the city are furnishing free ice to all who need it, and are not able to pay for it. Some of our public service corporations who are doing thriving business in some Texas cities could well afford to follow the example set by the public service corporations at Tulsa, and when the Times hears that they are doing this it will be pleased to make a front page story of the matter.

The statements of banks issued in June in compliance with the order of state and national governments, show no signs of decrease in deposits, reserves or liabilities, and this of itself indicates a healthy financial condition of the country. The fact that a few banks are yet without buyers, should not be taken as an indication that hard money times are ahead. There may be some valid excuse for the lack of money for investment in bonds, and one of them is that the banks are busy now preparing to handle the biggest crop ever produced. By the time the crop begins to move money, which is a little tight now, will get easier in the fall. At least that is what we gain from the financial journals that reach our exchange desk.

S. P. Hawkins of Burkburnett is in the city today. He told a Times reporter about two months ago that the prospects for a wheat crop in his neighborhood was not very flattering, and today came in to correct his statement. He has been a resident of Wichita county for more than 30 years and gives it as his candid opinion that the 1913 wheat crop is by far the best that has been produced in the county.

an average of over 25 bushels per acre, and in some few instances parts of crops have gone as high as 37 bushels per acre. He had 200 acres of wheat on his farm, a part of which made an average of 27 bushels per acre, the entire crop of 200 acres averaging 15 bushels per acre. Mr. Hawkins says the yield per acre is not only better this year than before, but says the grain is better.

The Times is in receipt of a communication from some one at Byers, Texas, who commends it highly on the stand it has taken in opposing S. J. R. No. 18, but regrets that it cannot publish same, first, for the reason the writer has failed to sign his name, second, because he makes an attack on members of our legislature that is hardly justifiable. The Times does not believe our legislators have acted wisely in this matter of asking so much authority be conferred upon them, but is unwilling for its columns to be used in attributing to them other than the best of motives. They simply need to be taken down a notch or two, and the Times has faith that the people will attend to that matter properly and in a most satisfactory manner on next Saturday, the 19th. Our constitution may need amending. Indeed, it might be necessary to make a new one, but when the time comes for this great work and most responsible work, it should be done by the very best men the state has. In saying this, the Times does not mean to reflect on our present legislature, composed for the most part of young and aspiring men with little more to make them qualified voters than making the necessary acquaintance with a poll-tax receipt. When bonds are to be voted upon under the present law those exercising that privilege must be qualified voters and in addition be property taxpayers. In this respect, the Times does not want any change in the constitution—a change that would deny the people the right to vote upon themselves a debt, but confer that privilege on the legislature. That is why the Times is opposed to this amendment.

STUDENTS MAKE APPEAL FOR S. J. R. NO. 18.

To the Editor of The Times: The undersigned students of the University of Texas wish to explain the conditions at the University which make necessary the adoption of the amendment to the State Constitution known as Senate Joint Resolution No. 18.

1. The University now needs nearly a million dollars for permanent improvements in the way of additional grounds and new class rooms, study halls, libraries, laboratories and offices. The old equipment has been completely outgrown by the tremendous increase in attendance during the recent years. Last term five box sheds on the campus were used for class rooms, such sheds would not be tolerated at any high school in the state and should not exist at the State University.

2. These improvements cannot be made without a change in the Constitution, because the Legislature is now forbidden to appropriate money for his purpose. The annual income from the University's permanent fund, now about $10,000 per year, is not sufficient to erect the large and substantial buildings needed, unless the income is allowed to accumulate for a number of years, and the buildings are needed soon.

3. The proposed amendment will allow these improvements to be made without cost to the taxpayers of the state. Bonds will be issued against the permanent fund, and the income from the fund will pay the interest on the bonds and will create a sinking fund for their redemption at maturity. The University will be able to use a large amount of money without disposing of its permanent fund. The Legislature will not appropriate money or the making of these improvements or the payment of these bonds. It has been urged that part of the income from the permanent fund is now used for maintenance, and that the legislature would have to appropriate an increased amount for maintenance if his amendment is adopted. But if his amendment is not adopted certain the entire income from the permanent fund will have to go directly toward the making of improvements, if they are to be made at all.

We make this statement because we know the situation better than most others. Leaving to older and wiser men the task of answering the arguments which have been made against the proposed amendment, we want to ask friends of education to vote untrammelled for this measure, and we have reason to believe that the students now can play both ends against the middle on your own account." In July, 1906, Mulhall began to write and receive letters about campaigns in Pennsylvania congressional districts and he wrote to Cushing: "I hope Mr. Sherman and the Republican congressional committee will get busy in the near future."

Mulhall said that Mr. Sherman referred to was the late Vice President Sherman. Some of the congressmen who Mulhall said "were on the Gompers blacklist" were given in a letter from him to Cushing as follows: "The principal parties that he will attempt to defeat this fall will be Chairman Jenkins of the House Judiciary committee, Speaker Cannon, Congressman Dalzell of the Pittsburgh district and Congressman of Littlefield of Maine." Senator Reed brought in the name of former Congressman Nicholas Longworth and P. H. Goebel of Ohio when he put in the record an article from a Philadelphia paper of Aug. 8, 1906, in which Longworth and Goebel were said to be opposed to the American Federation of Labor. "Longworth had been a pretty good fellow when you went to see him for the National Association of Manufacturers?" "I had never met Mr. Longworth up to that time," said the witness.

During the past decade the Indian population has increased 232, Chinese 505 and the Japanese population shows a decrease of 241. Kinney county leads in number of Indians having 300 within her borders. El Paso has the greatest number of Chinese, which is 253 and Harris county takes first rank in Jap population, there being 92 in that county.

The Quality of Service

Merchandising without advertising's helpful aid is a custom that is more profitable in the breach than in the observance. Run over in your mind a dozen first grade businesses that serve the public with daily interesting news of all that is going on within their spheres of activity—and then if you can, think of just one establishment, great or small, depending upon the patronage of the public, that does not advertise in some way or another.

The advertiser not only renders the public a distinct service in presenting his announcements frequently, but he also has perfected a high quality of service, in his relations with his patrons that is of an unusually satisfactory order. One of the big things in business today is service, and we think that it is found in its finest development in those progressive concerns who through the medium of the daily newspapers, tell you the interesting things you ought to know about themselves, and merchandise they have to offer you.

Detective

Confidential investigations made on all matter of business, civil and criminal cases of all kinds handled. Evidence gathered. Witnesses located. Strictly reliable service given on short notice. AGRICULTURAL AGENT FOR DISTRICT IS HERE

William Ganzer of Denton in City—Good Work is Done by Girls' Tomato Clubs

William Ganzer, district agent for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in this section, arrived today for a stay of several days during which he will inspect the work done and go over plans for the coming year's work with J. W. Campbell, county agent. Mr. Campbell came up from Holliday this morning to meet him. Wichita county Girls' tomato Club members are growing some fine specimens of that vegetable and for the first time in many years home grown tomatoes are on the market in considerable quantities. It had always been believed that tomatoes could not be raised here, but last year the experiment was tried by the Girls' tomato Club members with such success that the raising of tomatoes was tried as a commercial venture by many members this year.

WOULD STOP WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER OF LIONS.

Nairobi, July 15.—So extensive has become the slaughter of lions in British East Africa by sportsmen emulating the example set by Col. Roosevelt, the legislature is now considering a measure for the protection of the "king of beasts," so far as crown lands are concerned. According to official statistics, nearly 1,000 lions have been killed in the district in the past two years. It is declared that if this is kept up lions will be exterminated in ten years. Paul Rainey, who is out on another lion-hunting expedition, has shot his nineteenth. The Maharajah of Darfa killed thirty-six during a two-months hunt recently.

GUGGENHEIM'S MARITAL TROUBLES AGAIN AILED

Third Attempt to Set Aside Decree of Divorce is Now Pending in Courts

Chicago, July 15.—The third attempt to set aside the decree of divorce granted Mrs. Grace Brown-Guggenheim-Wahl in Chicago in 1901 and establish her as the legal wife of William B. Guggenheim, multi-millionaire, ore smelter king, who now has a second wife, was begun before three judges of the circuit court of Cook county today. Arguments were begun today on a motion by the state's attorney that the decree of divorce be expunged from the record on the ground that it was obtained through collusion and that the then Mrs. Guggenheim was not at the time a resident of Illinois as is necessary under the laws of Illinois.

The first attempt, made by the divorced wife herself, ended in failure when Judge Heard of the circuit court on January 11, 1913, decided that while there was no evidence of collusion, it set aside the decree as being against public policy, inasmuch as both parties had remarried. State's Attorney Hoyne filed another petition after Chief Justice Baldwin had required an investigation.

The marital affairs of the Guggenheims aroused the interest of society in January, when the divorced wife began her efforts to have the decree set aside. The Guggenheims were married in Hoboken, N. J., on October 30, 1900, and lived together only one day. Within a few months Mrs. Guggenheim came to Chicago and began proceedings for a divorce. She afterwards charged that she swore she was a resident of Illinois at the investigation of Guggenheim's attorney and her own. The decree was granted by Judge Duane, now governor of Illinois, and she was given $150,000 alimony by private settlement.

Preliminary to her attack upon the decree Mrs. Guggenheim applied for a divorce in the New York courts, naming the multi-millionaire's second wife as co-respondent. It was admitted that this bill was filed to test the legality of the divorce granted in Chicago. The petition was denied and the divorce action in the Cook county courts began.

Samuel Untermeyer, noted New York attorney, represented Guggenheim in the earlier legal battles to protect the name of his second wife and the legality of their child. On both sides were arrayed noted attorneys. Untermeyer was not the attorney for Guggenheim in the second action.

OIL RESIDUE FOR BUILDING ROADS COMING EVENTS IN SPORT WORLD

D. P. TALLEY BRINGS SUGGESTION BACK FROM CORPUS CHRISTI MEETING

MAY MAKE EXPERIMENT

Report is Made at Session of Chamber of Commerce Directors Held this Morning

That Wichita county was overlooking a mighty good road making material in the residue from the oil storage tanks was the opinion expressed by R. J. Potts, road expert of the A. & M. College to D. P. Talley, Wichita Falls delegate to the Good Roads Congress at Corpus Christi last week.

Mr. Talley's report of the Corpus Christi meeting was an interesting feature of the meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning.

Mr. Talley said that in a conversation with Mr. Potts the latter said that heavy oil such as he understood the residue from the oils at Electra and Burkburnett to be used were mostly asphalt which when mixed with sand of the proper character made one of the best roads that could be obtained. Mr. Potts expressed the opinion that a demonstration road of this material would result in such roads being built over the entire county. The residue mentioned is now scraped from the tanks and burned to get rid of it.

A particularly interesting feature of the convention, Mr. Talley said, was a school of instruction in road building conducted by government experts. This, he believed, should have been attended by commissioners from every county in the state.

At the suggestion of Myler O'Reilly, following Mr. Talley's report, Walter Reid was added to the roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

A blank contract from the Dallas Fair for space for the Wichita county exhibit was forwarded to the agricultural committee.

An invitation was received from the Cooke County Fair Association to the Chamber of Commerce to send a delegation to the fair there Sept. 15, when Gov. Coakitt would be a speaker. H. B. Hines, Dr. J. M. Bell and N. Henderson held up their hands when the chairman asked how many would go if Bailey would speak. The invitation was referred to the entertainment committee.

A communication from San Angelo relative to the proposed highway through that place was referred to the roads committee.

A Mr. Berry demonstrated a patent barbed wire stretcher before the directors, for the manufacture of which he asked assistance. The matter was referred to the agricultural committee with instructions that if this committee found the invention practical they would refer the matter of its manufacture to the committee on manufactures.

MASON-PRODUCERS CASE IS NOW BEING ARGUED

Will Reach Jury Late Today—Case Takes Interesting Turn at Monday's Session

The case of George W. Mason vs. the City National Bank, in which the Producers' Oil company intervened, and which involves the title to a right of draft for $6,250, took an interesting turn late yesterday, when attorneys for the oil company took the stand and testified regarding statements made to them by Mason.

This case is an outgrowth of the noted Overall case, which has already been the subject of some litigation and which promise to be the basis of still more. J. H. Mathis and Judge Robert John of counsel for the Producers, testified last night that Mason had declared to them that the contents of H. A. Overall as to the manner in which the leases were taken, were true. They testified, however, that the next day Mason withdrew the statement. The attorneys also declared that Mason had said that the Producers company knew how the leases were taken.

Overall had alleged in his suit for cancellation of the leases that Mason had secured them by a certain "slight of hand" performance. When Mason was tried for forgery, the state was unable to show the alleged illegitimate nature of juggling and Mason was acquitted. The oil company's attorneys now testify that Mason admitted to them that Overall's contention was correct, although he later said that if he had made such a statement he did not know what he was doing; yesterday on the stand he denied making any such statement to Judge Mathis of Judge John at all.

Testimony in the case was concluded this morning and argument is in progress this afternoon. When Mason said the lease to the Producers, he received a check for $7,500, making $1,250 in cash and $6,250 in exchange; before the exchange was cashed, the Overall allegations about the taking of the lease were made and payment of the exchange was stopped; Mason is now suing to recover the $6,250 from the City National, and the Producers Company intervened in the case, alleging fraud. The case will probably go to the jury late today.

The third train was shipped yesterday and contained 50,000 bushels, valued at $25,000. Sixty car loads of oats were also shipped yesterday to scattering points.

LIPTON SECURES AMATEUR YACHTSMAN TO COMPETE FOR AMERICAN CUP

VICTORIES OF YALE TEAM

Seventeen Straight Games Equals, but Does Not Equal Former Record Made in 1897

New York, July 15.—Sir Thomas Lipton's choice for the amateur yachtman, William P. Burton, to command and pilot his fourth Shamrock in the 1914 races for the America's cup, probably will be regarded by many yachtmen as a daring and risky innovation. In all previous races for the historic trophy, the competing yachts have been handled by professional skippers and it is generally assumed that a professional yachtman must know more about the game than an amateur.

It is not generally realized here, however, that far more opportunities are at the disposal of the English amateur yachtman to obtain practice than exist for his American prototype, however keen and enthusiastic he may be. Because of the great distances between the constant ports along the Atlantic Coast a yachtman has opportunities to participate in the races of but a few clubs. In England, where distances between yachting centers are so much shorter, dates are so arranged that a yachtman may engage in as many as three score or more races in the course of a season. That is probably three or four times as many as a New York or Boston yacht has a chance to take part in. If not satisfied with the abundance of racing opportunities in his own waters the British yachtman also can engage in some of the races organized by continental clubs.

Mr. Burton began his yacht racing career in 1888. He always elected to sail his own boat and for some years contented himself with small boats, but after fifteen or sixteen years he has owned and raced larger craft. Altogether he has sailed in about a thousand races. It is safe to say that there are few if any professional American yachting skippers who have had anything like the experience of Mr. Burton in yacht racing.

By the best English judges he is regarded as the cleverest helmsman, either amateur or professional, in English waters. He has repeatedly raced his yacht against those sailed by the most famous English professionals and has beaten them. In 1911, sailing his 19 motor Octavia against yachts of the same rating steered by professional helmsmen, he finished the season at the top of the class, with 27 prizes to his credit out of 27 starts.

Mr. Burton is a member of several yacht clubs, including the Royal Harwich Yacht Club, which confers on him the distinction of being ex-officio an honorary member of the New York Yacht Club. He is a wealthy man and with ample means to indulge in his sporting proclivities, he has spent considerable time racing in the county of Suffolk where he resides, he has hunted for many seasons with his own pack of hounds.

Yale's Baseball Record. While the seventeen straight victories scored by the Yale Varsity nine of this season, with an excellent streak of playing, there remains no question regarding the fact that it was not an intercollegiate baseball record. Parke Davis, the Princeton athletic statistician, has shown that the Tiger team of 1897 scored seventeen consecutive victories. Now comes William F. Garcelon, graduate treasurer of the Harvard Athletic Association, who goes Mr. Davis one better. Mr. Garcelon has prepared a record of the Harvard Varsity nine of 1888, which shows that the Crimson team won twenty-one out of twenty-seven games played that season, ending with a straight run of nineteen games.

The team, which was captained by Samuel E. Winslow, now Congressman from the Worcester District, Mass., consisted of the following players: Catcher Allen, '86; pitcher, Nichols, '86; first base, Willard, '87; second base, Clarence Smith, '88; third base, Beaman, '85; shortstop, Westlin, '87; left field, Foster, '87; center field, Edgerly, '86; right field, change. Manager, Winslow, '85; Tilden, '87; Litchfield, '87; Clavin, '86, manager.

During the twenty-seven game season Harvard scored 280 runs to opponents' 88. Fifteen of the twenty-seven games were won by scores ranging into double figures, while Tufts was the only team to secure a total which required more than one figure to express. The one defeat was administered by the Cochituate club by a score of 3 to 1.

Championship Sculling. The final details for the world's championship sculling match between Ernest Barry, holder, and Harry Pearce, challenger, have been completed, and the race will be rowed July 21, weather permitting. The racing made Barry is quoted at 5 to 1 to win. A championship cup and a side stake of $5,000 goes to the winner.

The Putney to Mortlake course on which the race will be rowed is the longest of all world's championship courses. The African Zambesi course is 1 1/2 miles; the Paramatta and Wanganui courses of Australasia being 3 miles, 330 yards and 3 1/4 miles, respectively. The baseball fan frequently wonders what becomes of the old uniforms, bats and gloves that are discarded by big league clubs. Much of the paraphernalia is used until it is

GRAND DUKE OF RUSSIA MAY WED PARIS AGTRESS

Cousin of Czar Causes Considerable Precipitation by Contemplated Mesalliance

Paris, July 15.—Grand Duke Boris Vialimirovich, one of the many Russian grand dukes who hate pomp and royal state, is giving his cousin, the czar, many sleepless nights. He threatens to marry one of the most notorious women of submerged Paris.

Boris earned the distinction of having painted all European capitals red. Even in Paris he is called the "wild grand duke." His favorite haunts are Maxim's and the Cafe de Paris. He is surrounded by the smartest butterflies of the town.

Recently he thrilled Petersburg by getting into a box at the Aquarium and throwing paper money down amongst the crowd. People were astonished, knowing he is always hard up. He is now out that he had taken the money from a man from Moscow, immensely rich, who had gone up to St. Petersburg to have a good time and fallen into the grand duke's clutches. The crowd was so pleased with the largesses and clamored so persistently for more that the police were called in.

Czarina Fieds Him Insuperable. The czarina is said to dislike him more than any other of her husband's relations. One day, when she first knew him, she tried to persuade him how bad his way of living was, and especially his love for champagne. But he only answered, "If you had the misfortune to be born a grand duke you would drink from morning till night, too." She gave him up after that.

Marries Off Gypsy Chorus. At one time he kept his own private gypsy chorus. Then he grew tired of them, but did not want to send them away, so paid poor young students handsome sums of money to marry them. He would see a student about the streets or parks. When he thought he looked like a good candidate he would have him traced and sent for him.

President Wilson Wants Books Admitted Free. Washington, July 15.—President Wilson today expressed surprise that the Senate finance committee had increased duties in the tariff bill on works of arts and books. He believes these articles are more of educational use than luxuries. It was indicated that the president would consult senators on the changes.

"God Help the Rich, the Poor Can Work"

Said Elbert Hubbard, and a saner sentence never came from human tongue or printed page. The happy mortal is the busy one. The man who thinks there are not enough hours in a day and far too few days in a year never has time to worry over the calamities of the future or brood over the misfortunes of the past. He is too busy trying to crowd all the accomplishments possible into the day that is passing. To him yesterday represents experience and tomorrow opportunity.

We are always too busy to worry. Work is our programme and service our motto. If we should not please you we will thank you to tell us that we may know why, because on our ability to remedy defects in our business system depends our success and your satisfaction.

In Business for Our Health

Work is a great tonic. It relieves all the ills of man, and insures decided increase in his grocery bills. There is a difference though in working and being worked. A salesman from a large city comes along with a cut and dried talk that sounds like Dan Patch on a hard track and while you listen, you dream of the yellow coin being handed you in big packages. Where is it dreams come true?

We are in business for our health, and yours too. Drug stores, hotels, churches and fine private residences use our Floor, Wall and Mantle Tiling. Mr. Contractor, why go elsewhere to buy? Your customer can come to our office and make selection on anything. We have the samples, the cuts and designs from which to select. We are also able to fill our contracts completely and satisfactorily.

Baptists May Lose Gift

St. Louis, July 15.—It was announced today that the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium will lose the $100,000 gift of the late A. D. Brown unless the Baptists of St. Louis and other sections of Missouri raise the $50,000 they agreed to get, by August 24. It was provided that this sum be raised before the $100,000 donation go the sanitarium. Of this amount, $30,000 already has been raised but E. P. Nelson, chairman of the subscription committee said today that he fears the remainder will not be forthcoming unless some wealthy friend of the Baptists donates it. It may be necessary to appeal for help from Baptists outside the state.
