BRYAN A STICKLER AS TO EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Government Charged Only With Proper Expenses on Commonsense Account

Washington, July 21.—The White House would make no comment on Secretary of State Bryan's statement that he could not live in Washington on $12,000 a year—his salary as a cabinet officer. Nor would cabinet officers discuss the question of whether they can meet expenses on their salaries.

All of them, with the exception of Postmaster General Burleson, are said to be poorer men than Mr. Bryan. The postmaster general is the wealthiest one of the cabinet.

Secretary Bryan's expenses are high. His home, formerly the home of Mrs. John A. Logan, and now owned by her, costs him in rental $4000 annually. He employs three servants. The upkeep of the home is expensive, as Mr. Bryan entertains much and there is usually more than one guest at his home.

The secretary of state has few carriage expenses, as he uses the carriages and horses of the state department stable. The government also furnishes him a coachman and often a messenger of the state department acts as footman. This is generally so when Mr. Bryan makes his official calls.

Mr. Bryan has a saddle horse, which he boards here. The charge for this is about $30 a month. He had one automobile, a $3000 car, and employs no driver.

Insists on Accuracy.

The secretary of state is a stickler, however, for accurate expense accounts. When traveling for the government there are many items which the secretary pays out of his own pockets and which legitimately should be paid out of government funds. The best illustration of how close Mr. Bryan keeps his expense account is had in the trip the secretary of state made to California.

When he went to Sacramento to try to adjust the California-Japanese dispute, Mr. Bryan took with him Robert Rose as his private secretary. Aside from the railroad fare, Mr. Bryan's expense account was just $181. This included hotel bills and other expenses incident to a trip of ten days or two weeks. This expense account included Mr. Rose's.

On that trip the secretary of state spent considerable of his own money in sending telegrams on official business, it is said. At the state department today it was said that the secretary of state cuts expenses to the bone on every trip in the same way.

Much Money Tied Up.

Mr. Bryan's private fortune is estimated at from $200,000 to $500,000. Five years ago when Speaker Cannon asserted that Mr. Bryan was wealthy, the latter replied that his fortune amounted to a little over $150,000. His assistants said today that he had added to his fortune, but they did not know how much.

Part of it is tied up in real estate, which is not earning anything now. He has several thousand dollars invested in his home in Lincoln. That is bringing him no returns. He has a winter home in Florida which is also earning nothing. He has lands in Texas which are earning little.

MARRIED WOMEN AS TEACHERS

DOES MARRIAGE AND MOTHERHOOD INTERFERE WITH THEIR EFFICIENCY

AN ISSUE IN NEW YORK

Discussion Aroused There Over the Board's Refusal To Grant Absence Leave

New York, July 21.—Does marriage and motherhood interfere with woman's efficiency as a public school teacher? That is the question now agitating the New York board of education and many civic bodies throughout the Greater City have taken the problem up. The question has become such a burning issue that the other day 150 men and women, teachers, lawyers, writers and actresses, formed themselves into a league for the Civic Service of Women which will in the fall begin an active campaign in the interests of married women teachers.

The argument started when Mrs. Katherine C. Edgell, a member of the Erasmus High School faculty, formally applied to the board of education for a year's leave of absence without pay for the purpose of bearing and rearing a child. The board, after considerable debate and deliberation refused Mrs. Edgell's request. The newspapers and gave it much space, arousing discussion throughout the city. Fuel was added to the flame when Mrs. Bridget C. Pletotto, a Bronx teacher, was suspended indefinitely for staying away from school to give birth to a baby.

Twenty married teachers attended the meeting at the Hotel Astor where the League for the Civic Service of Women was launched and the movement was endorsed by the New York Mothers' Club and the Women Lawyers' Club. Many years ago there have been married women employed in the public schools of New York, and from time to time they have dropped out on sick leave and have become mothers. The question never became a public one until Mrs. Edgell made formal application for leave, giving as her reason her wish to become a mother. Members of the board who opposed Mrs. Edgell's request for a motherhood vacation, defend their action by saying that they do not support married women as teachers, they say, but they think that matrimony lowers the efficiency of women as teachers. When they say some and husband and children, it is argued, the teachers cannot give their undivided attention to their pupils.

As an additional argument, they point out that the home is the place for the married woman and that she has no business out in the world looking when she has a husband to care for her. Also, they say, it is selfish to marry a woman to hold on to a teacher's job when there are so many single and dependent women who are forced to support themselves and who would make capable school teachers. Those who have taken up the cudgel for Mrs. Edgell and the other married teachers, say that the attitude of the board of education is inimical to society and encouraging to race suicide. They also declare that married women naturally make the best teachers, since by their fuller experience in life they are better fitted to teach young girls or boys and train them for normal, happy lives.

Tango enthusiasts are putting up a new argument for the permanence of the craze. The argument is going the rounds of the hotel ball rooms, restaurants and by the sea dancing pavilions. And of course it is always a charming debutante or an equally charming young matron who advances the new reason. The devotees of the tango and especially the proprietors of the places where it flourishes, have been very busy lately at the concerted attacks made on the "American negroid" dances, as they are called abroad, and they are seizing every plausible argument to boost the gyrating dance.

This is the way they put the tango, for, don't you see, it is

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, sick stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell. I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together."

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Do you, lady-reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, dizziness, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

MORE RAILROAD

TALK IS HEARD

Rumored Kemp and Kell are Planning to Build the A. R. and E. P. Line

The Hall County Herald has heard a rumor that Kemp and Kell will build a railroad along the route of the A. R. and E. P. Both Mr. Kemp and Mr. Kell and Mr. N. Henderson who is also named in the Herald's article are out of town and the truth or falsity of the rumor could not be learned. Here's what the Herald says:

What appears to be an authentic rumor has been floating around over the community the past week that the M. K. & T. Ry. Co. has become the owners of the franchises and properties of the A. R. and E. P. line running through and across the Panhandle towards Roswell and El Paso. The line was largely graded a few years ago, but the promoters got in deep water financially and the road was stopped. The proposed line runs from Wellington through to Lubbock. Most of the road has been graded between Memphis and Lubbock. It is well known that Kemp and Kell of Wichita Falls have done all of the construction work for the Katy in the west and they will perhaps be at the back of this extension if it is a go. Last Saturday N. Henderson of Wichita Falls was in Memphis. He is very closely allied with Kemp and Kell in their railroad promotion work. He states that he was here to look out a location for a brother. It is known, however, that he spent most of the day in the court house looking over the records and the beds of the right of way and other papers connected with the A. R. and E. P. road. He left here for Silverton, Lockney, Lubbock and other points along the route, perhaps to look up locations for his brother. Now of course this is only surmise, but the rumors and facts taken together would appear to give coloring to the whole as being true.

"The M. K. & T. and Kemp and Kell always make contracts to run their trains into a town before any bond is payable and under these conditions we believe Memphis would meet them fairly and be glad to welcome the building of the line, for which they would agree to pay a reasonable sum upon the completion of the line. The next few weeks will perhaps develop something along this line and it will be well to keep your ear to the ground. Memphis is too good a town to have only one railway and not attract attention of other lines."

JACKSON'S CONDITION CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

Man Cut in Back With Axe Now Well Enough to Be Moved to Jail

The condition of A. W. Jackson who was cut in the back last Thursday evening in the wagon yard conflict in which C. P. Yeary met death, was considerably improved today and it was stated at the court house that he would be moved to the county jail this afternoon or tomorrow. He is now able to sit up and it is believed he could be taken to the jail without danger. Jackson is kept under guard at the hospital.

No arrangements have been made for an examining trial for Jackson and in view of the fact that the grand jury convenes next week, it is not likely that there will be any preliminary hearing in his case.

THOMAS H. BALL MAY NOT BE CANDIDATE

Business Developments May Keep South Texas Man Out of Gubernatorial Race

Special to The Times. Houston, Texas, July 21.—While lacking official confirmation it has come to be pretty thoroughly understood that Colonel Thomas H. Ball has eliminated himself from the race for governor next year.

Unexpected developments in business are given as the reason why Colonel Ball will not be in the race. Colonel Frank Andrews, law partner of Colonel Ball, has recently been named as receiver for the Texas Frisco properties. This will mean a large increase in the duties devolving upon the law firm of Andrews, Ball and Streetman. The probabilities are that Colonel Ball forgoes such an amount of detail work ahead as to deter him from entering the political arena.

The decision of Colonel Ball to refrain from seeking to re-enter public life comes as a disappointment to friends all over the state. His acquaintance is wide and his friends numerous. Ever since he voluntarily retired from congress a decade ago repeated efforts have been made to induce him to again take up the duties of public service.

Two years ago Colonel Ball was made leader of the prohibition forces. The fight he made amazed the state. Texas missed passing the dry column by a narrow margin of 6000 votes. By reason of the outcome of the amendment election Colonel Ball was by many regarded as the logical candidate for the United States senate, a position to which he could doubtless have been chosen. However, the construction placed by some voters on a campaign pledge made by Colonel Ball induced him to put aside the opportunity of serving in the senate. It was at Baltimore last year that Colonel Ball achieved one of the most brilliant political victories of his entire career. The triumph of Woodrow Wilson in the convention was very largely due to the work done by Colonel Ball, who with Davies of Wisconsin, was named by National Chairman McCombs to have charge of the Wilson campaign.

CAPT. BURNETT HERE ENROUTE TO SEYMOUR

Capt. S. B. Burnett of Fort Worth passed through the city yesterday afternoon en route to Seymour to stand trial for the murder of Estley Sears at Paducah, last summer. The trial began there this morning.

Tom Pickett, formerly constable here, was with Burnett at the time of the shooting.

Judge J. T. Montgomery of this city will assist Burnett's counsel in the selection of a jury but will probably not actively participate in the trial itself.

WOODED BY MAIL AND WEDS WITHOUT INTRODUCTION

Hillsboro, Texas, July 21.—Wooded by mail and wedded without the formality of an introduction in Pueblo, Colo., to which city she journeyed alone, was the experience of pretty Miss Helen Louise Hunt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Hunt of Hillsboro, according to a letter and to newspapers received here today by the parents of the bride. Romantic was the courtship. The bride at one time worked as operator in the Southwestern telephone office in Dallas, during which time her photograph was printed in several state papers. The picture thus getting into the hands of Harry E. Coates, a mail clerk of Pueblo, who fell in love with the likeness. A correspondence sprang up and an offer of marriage came to the "prettiest girl in America."

PERRY'S FLAGSHIP NIAGARA IS MAKING A TOUR OF THE GREAT LAKES TO TAKE PART IN CELEBRATIONS OF WAR OF 1812

LAUNCHING THE NIAGARA

THE NIAGARA'S GUNS

Erie, Pa., July 21.—The Niagara, rebuilt from the hulk of the original flagship of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, which won the battle of Lake Erie Sept. 10, 1813, left this port for Fairport, where the second week of Perry's victory centennial will be celebrated. For ten hours the Niagara lay just outside of Erie harbor, at almost the exact spot where Perry's ship Wolverine of Erie, in command of Captain William L. Morrison. The Niagara is carrying a crew of twelve men. A six inch line 600 feet long is being used to tow the Niagara. Officers in command expect no difficulty should the little fleet meet with storms, as she is said to be thoroughly seaworthy.

Make A Lady of Your Daughter

A good education is a fine and very necessary thing, many of us who had little or no advantages ourselves wish to correct in our children the handicap we have lived under by reason thereof

A good musical education will not only open hearts and homes of the best people of the land to your daughter but her presence is solicited and urged, and instead of her possibly being overlooked she is literally carried in, and more especially is this true at any and all social functions where the few chosen few are only guests.

Music as an accomplishment is a tangible something the value of which is nearly impossible to over estimate, from a social standpoint it hardly has an equal, and if you will ask some skilled pianist what she will take in dollars and cents never to sit down to the piano again her answer will likely give you some idea of its commercial value.

Fine music directs thought to the Higher and Loftier things, all that is of the world including its cares and its wickedness is forgotten while under its spell, it raises our ideals, it expands the mind, purifies the heart and makes us better by having heard it, and more it endears the performer to every heart within reach of its sound, so why not equip your daughter with a sure passport through life by giving her a musical education? Do it now before that greatest and worst of all thieves "Procrastination" creeps in and steals her opportunity, for musical talent no matter how great must be caught and trained young or it amounts to little or nothing.

We do not believe you learned to swim until after you got your feet wet and neither can your child learn to play the piano until she owns one. Suppose you come around to our store and examine the EXCEPTIONAL VALUES WE ARE OFFERING IN THE BIG CUT PRICE SALE to run next week.

Next Week Piano Week

We have on our floor nearly twenty different makes of pianos, carrying a stock of from sixty to ninety. We have decided to confine our buying to about ten manufacturers in order to buy cheaper, so we have discontinued as many lines of pianos and offer these at prices that speak for themselves. We have outstanding orders for fall stock that will be received next month. The prices we are making on discontinued lines should clear the floor of all makes, both secondhand and new, to make room for our regular line. Look these prices over and come and see for yourself. They will all be marked in plain figures.

- $300 oak case piano, perfect condition, used short time only, goes at $145 00
- $350 oak piano, fine shape except case slightly damaged $160 00
- $350 piano, oak case, fairly good condition, dandy to learn on $97 00
- $350 Walnut case piano, good condition, will go quick at $100 00
- $400 fine standard make, rented short time only, a snap $225 00
- Player-Piano, bargain, 65-note, perfect condition, 30 rolls $265 00

New Guaranteed Pianos on Terms as Low as $10.00 Down and $6.00 Monthly at the following Prices

- $300 factory list price, discontinued line sale for only $198 00
- $325 factory list price, discontinued line sale, for only $220 00
- $350 factory list price, discontinued line sale for only $240 00

Fijians at Viti Levu

THE heat was unbearable; and when you have said that you remember how astonishingly well every one bore it. The women grumbled about their hair; the men complained that the matches in the smoking-room would not strike. There was rather less activity in the deck-games now that the ship was fairly in the tropics; the demand for ice-drinks became abnormal and the lengthy menu at lunch and dinner was rather slighted. People wanted to get back to their chairs on deck, for on one side at least there was something approaching a breeze. A great many people slept at night in their chairs or had the mattresses brought up from their bunks and spread on the deck. In the cabins, especially those which got no breeze at all, in spite of electric fans, the atmosphere was like that of a very warm conservatory. In the bathrooms the cold shower had become lukewarm and the moment you left the water you felt the desire to bathe again. Dressing for dinner was a torment, but it was a torture to which everyone submitted. And the hair, which somehow or other the women had made presentable, received a finishing touch from the punkahs which swung over the tables.

It rained a great deal. But the storms, which came up quickly and burst over the ship and swept on, did not cool the air. They served only to add to the general moisture and to make everyone rather more sticky. They were aerial storms that hardly affected the ocean.

Fair Voyage.

From Sydney to Auckland and from New Zealand till now, when we were approaching the Fiji Islands, which we were to reach Suva in Viti Levu.

There was a lively scene on the jetty. It appeared as if half the inhabitants of the place had come down to greet us. There were European officials in sun-helmets and white suits and one or two European ladies carrying white parasols with green linings. There were the native constabulary in blue tunics and white kilts and there were the natives themselves in their hundreds.

Some of the Fijians were black but the skin of others was surprisingly light. All of them had fair hair, for, like so many other South Sea Islanders, they bleach it with coral lime. The hair stood up straight and stiff from their heads and as if to modify the fierce appearance that this gives to them some of the men had stuck in the front of their hair a single flower. Besides the Fijians there were a great number of Indians who had come over to the islands to work in the sugar plantations.

Samoans Dance.

Before our ship sailed there came on board a party of Samoan dancers. Why the Fijians did not entertain us I did not discover, but as spectators they made a picturesque background to the dancers.

The Samoan men were dressed in cerise silk shirts and bright lava-lava or kilts; the heads and shoulders of the women were covered with wreaths and decorations of flowers that hung over their gay costumes. At first the girls took no part in the dance, though they clapped their hands and joined in the musical chanting. The men squatted in a double row on the deck, clapping their hands, striking their thighs, going through a rhythmical series of mothe voyage had been fair. There had been no day of storms; all the same it had not been such a passage over smiling seas as we had pictured. Often there had not been a ripple on the surface of the ocean but the ship rolled unceasingly because of the swell—huge, polished hillocks of water creeping along, one after the other. But sometimes the sea was broken up into waves, as amazing, brilliant blue with snow-white crests, flashing in the sunlight, beautiful to look at but which tossed the little red and green steamer unmercifully.

Near to New Zealand we had seen albatrosses and, on the horizon, a school of whales; but for some days the only living things to watch had been the flying fishes, darting on gossamer wings over the water. Not a ship had been sighted and it really seemed astonishing that our captain was to steer us through the region of the South Sea Islands—as numerous, according to our little map of the world, as the stars in the heavens—and give us sight of only one or two islands in a single group! We had never, really realized that the distance between Fiji and the Marquesas Islands, for instance, was roughly the same as between San Francisco and Philadelphia; that the whole of Australia could be dropped between them; that there were islands in the Fiji group more than two hundred miles apart.

Because after all we were to see so little of the islands of enchantment. We rose early on the day, during

"God Help the Rich, the Poor Can Work" Said Elbert Hubbard, and a saner sentence never came from human tongue or printed page. The happy mortal is the busy one. The man who thinks there are not enough hours in a day and far too few days in a year never has time to worry over the calamities of the future or brood over the misfortunes of the past. He is too busy trying to crowd all the accomplishments possible into the day that is passing. To him yesterday represents experience and tomorrow opportunity. We are always too busy to worry. Work is our programme and service our motto. If we should not please you we will thank you to tell us that we may know why, because on our ability to remedy defects in our business system depends our success and your satisfaction. FAMOUS DRIVERS AT GALVESTON RACES

Galveston, Texas, July 21.—When the starter's gun sends the big cars away in the first event of the Galveston Beach Auto Race meet, by far the greatest meet ever held in the South will have begun. This conclusion is reached after a glance at the names of drivers and the cars entered.

The racing course already presents a lively scene, with fences, telephone lines and grand stand under construction. The automobile parking space has been doubled and the policing of the course and grounds will be nearly perfect in order that all danger of accident may be eliminated. The grand stand has been increased to a length of 600 feet and is twenty seats high. It is estimated that the greatest crowds ever known in local racing history will attend this meet. The repair pits and judges stand are being built directly before the grand stand in order that spectators may view the spectacular work of the repair teams as well as the races proper. The stand is erected at an angle permitting a view of the beach as far as the eye can see.

Adriens were received this morning that Armour Ferguson, the millionaire driver of Long Island, will bring to Galveston a Peugeot car, sister car to the one which won the 500 mile event at Indianapolis, and which will appear in the Galveston races with Ralph Mulford at the wheel. The $5,000.00 carnival sweepstakes event promises to be the greatest contest staged in any beach race meet in history. The Studebaker company is sending its famous light car racing team for participation in many of the events. The speed demons are expected to begin to arrive in the city by Monday and the course will be promptly turned over to them for the purpose of tuning up.

Contractors and Builders

I have added a complete line of tiling of every description, and your business will be appreciated. I carry this tiling in stock, and have in my employ a first-class setter that I pay 75c per hour. I feel safe in saying that you can not afford to buy this class of work out of town before seeing me and getting my estimate. REMEMBER YOU WILL SUFFER NO DELAY and I will make the price satisfactory, for I need the business. Not Cheap, BUT FIRST CLASS.
