HENRY WOULD BARE PLOTTERS

TEXAN CALLS FOR INVESTIGATION OF McCADOO'S CHARGES ABOUT BOND PRICES

COMMITTEE TOO BUSY

Texas Desires to Play Money Trust Will Have to Wait on New Currency Bill

By Associated Press. Washington, July 29.—Investigation of Secretary McAdoo's charge that New York bankers have organized to depress the price of U. S. government's two per cent bonds, was demanded in a statement issued today by Representative Henry of Texas. The aide in the so-called insurgent democratic attack on the House banking committee's bill.

Chairman Glass said, however, that the committee had his hands full at present. Nevertheless he and other members of the committee—made plain that they shared the secretary's opinion.

"The secretary of the treasury should be brought before the committee on banking and currency at once and reveal the facts," said Henry, "and the head of every great bank in New York should be sent for, and at the earliest possible moment placed on the stand—and thoroughly grilled by this committee. The secretary of the treasury can and doubtless will demonstrate to this committee and to the American public how a clique of bankers manipulate the markets and put up and down the prices of United States bonds, and control the destinies of the American people."

McAdoo's Statement.

Secretary McAdoo issued a statement flatly charging that the decline of government 2 per cent bonds to 95 1/2—a new record—was due "almost wholly to what appears to be a campaign waged with every indication of concerted action upon the part of a number of influential New York City banks to cause apprehension and uncertainty about these bonds in order to help them in their efforts to defeat the currency bill."

Bankers throughout the country own almost entirely $750,000,000 of the 2 per cent bonds. Their market value today was approximately $300,000,000 less than when the banks bought them. Almost all the entire issue is used as security for National bank notes. At the present price, however, the discrepancy between the market value and the issues of notes against the bonds is covered by what is known as the 2 per cent redemption fund, deposited by the banks with the treasury to care for retirements of National bank notes.

"Two Per Cents Worth Par."

Secretary McAdoo announced it was not his intention to require the banks to charge of the present depreciation below par, but that the banks might continue to put the bonds at par in their statements to the controller of the currency, at least "until some material change in conditions should compel the adoption of another course." In his statement, Secretary McAdoo declared 2 per cents were worth par—notwithstanding their decline in the New York market and continued:

"The idea seems to be that the country banks which hold about two-thirds of the 2 per cent bonds and use them as the basis for their circulating notes, may be induced to unite with the New York City banks in opposition to the bill if they can be made to believe that the proposed currency measure is going to injure these bonds and cause losses to the banks. This, of course, is unfounded."

"Meantime, it is folly for any bank to sell government 2s at a sacrifice because of any apprehended legislation adverse to government bonds, as no such legislation will result. In the 124 years of its existence, the government has kept faith scrupulously with creditors and it is not going to change its honorable character now if the necessities of any bank oblige it to sell bonds at depressed prices, that, of course, is another matter—a matter solely for the bank to determine."

$75,000 JEWEL ROBBERY COMMITTED IN NEW YORK

Rope of Pearls Valued at $60,000 Stolen From Home of Mrs. Ramsey

By Associated Press. New York, July 29.—Gems valued at more than $75,000 including a rope of pearls worth $60,000 were stolen from the home of C. Ramsey at Narragansett Pier during the twenty-four hours ending Sunday night. Mrs. Ramsey was a daughter of the late E. H. Harriman and the rope of pearls was a gift from her mother and has a sentimental value far above their intrinsic worth.

BRYAN IS STILL INVESTIGATING

SECRETARY HOLDS ANOTHER CONFERENCE WITH AMBASSADOR WILSON TOAY

NO ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

Steps By American Government Will Await Results of Negotiations Now in Progress

By Associated Press. Washington, July 29.—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson resumed his conference with Secretary Bryan on the Mexican situation this morning. Mr. Wilson had expected to leave Washington today but remained at the request of the secretary to continue an extended report of conditions in the southern republic.

The Senate foreign relations committee held a special meeting this morning at which Secretary Bryan appeared to continue his conference on the proposed Nicaragua treaty.

President Wilson at noon today had announced no definite action to be taken in Mexican affairs, but there is every reason to believe no action will be taken until the negotiations now in progress have borne some results. The fact that some of the mediators engaged in an effort to bring about an agreement between the followers of Carranza and Huerta are encouraged is taken as a favorable indication.

The prominent Mexicans engaged in these negotiations have made no announcement of their plans although it is said that Secretary Bryan has been informed of their nature. Definite developments are not expected for a fortnight.

The arguments which the Mexican leaders are said to be advancing to President Huerta for his retirement and the election of a provisional president satisfactory to himself and Carranza is that the United States under any circumstances will recognize his regime and that to extricate Mexico from her threatened financial ruin it is necessary to establish an administration which the American government will recognize.

Secretary Huerta will accept the proposed agreement. A number of names have been selected tentatively for his successor. The peace promoters decline to permit the use of these names.

Ambassador Wilson, it was learned this afternoon, has been asked to appear before the Senate-foreign relations committee.

Aviator Destroys Mexican Gunboat.

Nogales, Ariz., July 29.—The Mexican federal gunboat Tampico was destroyed today by a bomb dropped from an aeroplane over Guaymas harbor, declares an official insurgent message.

It was said that Aviator Dieder Mason made three flights over the harbor before he succeeded in hitting the boat.

Gov. Ignacio Pesquera received word of the reported insurgent victory while he was on the way north from Hermosillo. He was met at Nogales, Sonora by Jose Maytonera, the Sonora governor, who has been at Tucson, Ariz.

REV. NORRIS SICK AND UNABLE TO COME

Another Speaker Will Fill Fort Worth Man's Place at Pavilion Tonight

New arrivals continue in for the Interstate Baptist Encampment at Lake Wichita and those in charge of the meeting are delighted with the success of the affair. A meeting of all those interested in an encampment next year will be held at the pavilion at 8:30 this evening and there is no doubt but that the enterprise will be unanimously endorsed.

At a collection taken Sunday morning enough money was secured to pay all expenses of the encampment and to place the meetings on a sound financial footing. No fees of any kind or admission are being charged and the grounds are free to those who want to pitch tents and camp.

This afternoon the Woman's Alliance of the First Baptist Church of Wichita Falls is holding a reception on the first floor of the pavilion for the visiting ladies of whom there are several scores.

Another feature of this afternoon will be a Sunday-school institute conducted by Dr. W. S. Wiley, field secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The song service tonight will start at 8 o'clock and will be followed at 8:30 by an address.

Tomorrow night Dr. F. M. McConnell, superintendent of missions for the Texas Baptist Convention will be the speaker.

Rev. J. P. Boone, president of the encampment, received a telegram from Rev. Norris late this afternoon saying that he would be unable to fill his engagement here tonight on account of being sick. Another speaker has been secured and a good address is promised those who attend tonight's meeting.

A LIAR AND A BLACKMAILER

THESE WERE TERMS USED IN DESCRIBING MULHALL MR. UNDERWOOD

FLURRY IN THE COMMITTEE

Star Lobby Witness and House Leader Engage in Peppery Repartee

By Associated Press. Washington, July 29.—Majority Leader Underwood of the House today denounced Martin H. Mulhall, the self-confessed lobbyist, as a liar and blackmailer. Mr. Underwood appeared before the Senate lobby committee to deny that Mulhall had ever talked with him about legislative affairs.

After one look at the witness Underwood said: "I never saw him before in my life."

Mulhall reiterated that he had written of conditions in the capital "just as I found them."

"The statements made in your letter are not true and can be proven so by other members of the ways and means committee," said Mr. Underwood.

"I will stand as clear before the country as you will after this investigation is over," Mulhall retorted.

"Oh, I have no question how we will stand relatively before the country," said Underwood, with a laugh.

The incident created a flurry in the committee room.

Mulhall told the committee today that at one time he had proposed an investigation of his lobbyist activities to former chairman Wilson, Speaker Clark and Minority Leader Mann and that all had turned down his proposal.

PROF. MARTIN NEW WEATHER BUREAU HEAD

Man Chosen by President Has Been in Service Since 1884—Changes Completed

By Associated Press. Washington, July 29.—Prof. M. H. Martin has been named by President Wilson to succeed Willis L. Moore, recently removed as head of the United States Weather Bureau. Prof. Martin is now chief of the instrument division of the bureau. He was appointed to the civil service in 1884 from Ohio and has been with the bureau continuously since. President Wilson will send his nomination to the Senate next week. Under the new chief more attention will be given to weather reports and forecasts of conditions that will affect agriculture and general farming conditions.

Prof. Martin is the inventor of many instruments in use by the bureau and has written extensively on weather conditions and has conducted many important investigations for the government.

AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION MEETING AT GALVESTON.

Galveston, Texas, July 29.—At a special meeting of the Texas State Automobile Association Monday night an amended set of by-laws and regulations were adopted. The financial report for the year was read by the secretary-treasurer and a committee appointed to handle the matter of the arrest of a party of touring automobilists at League City Sunday on a charge of exceeding the speed limit.

Approximately 400 members of the State Association are in the city at present and headquarters have been established at the Galveston.

The association also went on record as condemning the practice of automobilists in flashing powerful headlights in the eyes of drivers of passing cars and of keeping their mufflers open.

The question of the condition of the roads between College Station and Comptest also came in for a deal of discussion, automobilists declaring that were it not for the fact of this bad stretch of some sixty miles that the tourist travel between points in North Texas and the Gulf would materially increase.

"Our association is for promoting good roads throughout the State," stated President E. F. Keith of the State association, who is here from Dallas. "The State association has aroused a great deal of interest in the good roads question and the new organized club in the State—that is, the State Road Builders' Association, has pledged itself to raise a fund to build good roads through Lamar county and to keep them up."

RELEASE OF AMERICANS ORDERED BY HUERTA

Washington, July 29.—Chas. Miller and Bernard MacDonald, American mine superintendents under sentence of death at Chihuahua have been ordered released by the Mexican government. It was said Secretary Bryan expressed satisfaction over the prompt action of the Huerta government in their cases as well as in that of Charles Dixon.

Plan to Start Grading August 15

Freeport, Texas, July 29.—It has been announced by C. E. Clark, Treasurer of the Gulf, Freeport & Northern Railway Company, that the preliminary survey of the proposed road has been completed between West Columbia and Beasley and that survey work will start immediately between West Columbia and Freeport. The officials of this new road plan to commence grading their line August 15th.

Howard Elliott, President Of The Great Northern, Likely To Be Head Of New Haven System

New York, July 29.—Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, it is practically assured, will succeed Charles S. Mellen as head of the New Haven. It is accepted that Mr. Elliott's name will go before the board of directors at the meeting Friday, on recommendation of the subcommittee and be approved. Mr. Elliott is said to be getting $75,000 a year as president of the Northern Pacific. About a year and a half ago when he was receiving $50,000 in the same capacity he was offered the presidency of the Missouri Pacific at a salary of $100,000 a year and refused the offer. It was believed then that he was waiting for a chance to get back into railroad work in the east. Though not a native of New England, he was brought up in Cambridge and spends the greater part of his summers there. Most of his close friends are in New England.

TO CLOSE UP FOR NEW GLOVE FACTORY

Representative of Hilburn Manufacturing Co. Will Be Here This Week

Nine directors of the Chamber of Commerce met for the regular monthly meeting this morning. There was no business of importance and the time was given over to discussion of matters of a more or less political nature.

Secretary Thomas read a letter from the Hilburn Manufacturing Co. to the effect that Mr. Hilburn would be here some time this week to close up the business relative to the establishment of a canvas glove factory. The Hilburn Company now have a factory at El Paso and will establish another here to supply the trade in this section.

SECRET SERVICE FOR COMPTROLLER

AMENDMENT PROVIDES $25,000 FOR SUPPRESSION LIQUOR LAW VIOLATIONS

COMPTROLLER'S CHARGE

Service Would Be Entirely Disassociated From State Ranger

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, July 29.—A secret service for Texas disassociated from the Ranger force and devoted to the exclusive work of suppressing violations of liquor laws and under the control of the comptroller is provided for in an amendment to the administration appropriation bill adopted in the House today. The appropriation carries $25,000.

Two blue sky bills were introduced, one was offered by Ratliff and the other by Ridgell.

The election of senators by a direct vote in the Senate on its third reading. Senator Wiley proposed an amendment to allow the expenses of candidates to reach $10,000 but this amendment was lost by a vote of 12 to 10, a two-thirds majority being necessary after the measure had passed to engrossment.

Culberson's Health Better
Washington, July 29.—When Postmaster General Burleson, who has been in close touch with Senator Culberson personally and by correspondence, was asked today in regard to the disturbing reports about Senator Culberson's health which are in circulation in Texas, he replied: "Senator Culberson is rapidly regaining his health. He will not resign."

Letters from Senator Culberson's family to friends in Washington in the past few days state that the Senator's health is steadily improving and that he will return to Washington to resume his duties when the weather becomes cooler. Senator Culberson's Washington physician, who saw him at Atlantic City just before Mr. Culberson started for Connecticut, says that he is entirely satisfied with the Senator's condition.

BELLIGERENT RIGHTS FOR CONSTITUTIONALISTS

Washington, July 29.—Senator Sheppard of Texas introduced a resolution in the Senate this afternoon asking the foreign relations committee to advise the Senate if the belligerent rights in Mexico should not be formally recognized.

The committee shall consider, reads the resolution, "the question of our relations with Mexico growing out of the present disturbance and the committee shall report with as little delay as possible the true conditions and the protection given American lives and property. The committee shall also inquire into the reports of inhumanities and atrocities that have come to this body through official sources. The committee with as little delay as possible shall recommend what action should be taken by Congress."

Representative Stephens said he had introduced the resolution after conferring with Secretary Bryan and President Wilson.

LOCAL OPTION CONTEST IN WILLIAMSON COUNTY

Voting in Progress Today After One of Most Notable Campaigns in State's History

By Associated Press. Williamson County, Texas, July 29.—Williamson county is voting today on whether it will remain dry or wet. The entire county except Taylor and Granger is already dry. The campaign has been one of the most notable ever known in a county local option election in Texas. One thousand suits were used by the campaigners in the closing week. Both pros and antis are claiming victory on the strength of the early voting. There are about 7500 polls in the county and a heavy vote is expected.

The sand was struck at a depth of 490 feet making it one of the best propositions in the entire Wichita district. This is the fourth well drilled on this farm. All have found oil but this is the best of the four. A number of other wells will go down in that vicinity immediately.

PATERSON SILK WORKERS STRIKE IS SAID TO BE OVER

Paterson, N. J., July 29.—The silk strike is over but not all the employees who left the mills twenty-one weeks ago were able to find work today. The manufacturers said they had all the hands they could use until they received orders held, pending settlement of the labor troubles.

It is estimated the strike cost the employees $5,300,000 in lost wages. The manufacturers lost their spring and summer orders and twenty-one small plants failed.

THEORIES ABOUT DALLAS MURDER

DETECTIVE SAYS ROBBERY MOTIVE, SHERIFF BELIEVES JEALOUSY OR REVENGE

BROKEN PEARL BUTTON

This is Only New Clue Found Today in Investigation of Dallas Crime

By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, July 29.—Robbery or possibly revenge are the only theories advanced by the detectives after twenty-four hours investigation of the ferocious murder of Miss Florence T. Brown, a young stenographer in a real estate office here Monday morning.

The revenge theory is based solely on the multiplied evidences of ferocity and savagery. Miss Brown was a church choir singer of a studious and quiet disposition and it is not known that she had an enemy in the world.

A further theory that an insane person committed the crime has been suggested by Chief of Detectives Tanner. It is known that the girl had not been dead more than fifteen minutes when her body was found. In fact one of her employers thought she moved her hand when he picked her body from the street car. In pointing out this fact said that whoever killed her barely had time to get out of sight when the body was discovered and that ordinarily he would have had no chance to escape from a real estate office in the center of the downtown district such as this. Mr. Tanner, however, believes robbery was the motive for the crime.

He said: "After the first few hours work on the case I am compelled to admit that we have not discovered the slightest clue on which we are justified in making an arrest. I am convinced, however that the murder was actuated by motives of robbery."

A fact pointed out to show the coolness of the murderer is the blood found on the door knob leading from the lavatory. This is taken to indicate that after cutting the girl's throat the robber went to the door to look out into the office to see whether any one had come in.

Close to Busy Street.

At no place in the office is it many feet to the street although the bright daylight hours is this street deserted. There are always people walking along it, and being a locality of real estate offices and brokers has many people all the time in a short distance of the place where the young lady met death.

Bowed with a grief he could not conceal, J. R. Brown, the father, killed at police headquarters during the afternoon and conferred with Police Chief Ryan and Detective Chief Tanner in regard to the case.

"I'm afraid we will not get him, boys," he said, referring to the slayer of his daughter.

"I believe we will, and expect to have him soon," said Mr. Tanner, reassuringly.

The sorrowful countenance of the veteran officer lightened a bit as he replied: "I hope we do." He said:

Father is Overcome.

"I can not imagine what would induce any human being to perpetrate such a horrible murder. My daughter was an exceptionally clever girl, and well liked by all who knew her. She left the house at 5 minutes after 8 o'clock this morning in company with Mr. Guthrie, who drove her in her uncle's automobile. She intended me to ride down, but I was sitting on the front porch, enjoying my pipe and reading the News, and as I had ten minutes before time to go back to work, I declined the invitation, telling them I would go down on the street car. Florence waved her hand to me as they were driving off, and I waved mine back at her.

"She was a girl who had everything her heart could desire. She was wrapped up in her work at the office, and unlike most girls, did not devote much of her time to social affairs. She had been working as stenographer for fifteen years and had always been well liked by her employers. Her present employers had granted her a vacation beginning August 1 and presented her with $100 to pay her expenses to Colorado. She had been planning for this trip for some time. She was in fine health and spirits and so far as I know had no enemies. I am inclined to believe that some person attempted to rob the car and killed her to cover up his tracks."

A Single Clue to the Murder was Found Today. It is a Piece of a Small Pearl Button Found on the Floor of the Lavatory which might have come from the clothes of either a man or a woman but did not come from Miss Brown's clothing.

Sheriff Brandenburg is convinced that jealousy or revenge and not robbery was the motive of the crime.

TURBULENT CITY of USCUBI

USCUBI, which was the scene of many activities during the Balkan war, was the key to the Serb side of Turkey. The city has for decades been the scene of insurrection, massacre and turmoil. One who would go to USCUBI, even in normal times, must be prepared to be inconvenienced.

Once independent, the trip is made interesting by a review of what USCUBI has stood for in the past. In the beginning of things, USCUBI was known as Dardania, originally an independent empire, which was swallowed up by the Roman Empire in 71 B. C. when USCUBI became the capital of the Province of Dardania, but now under the name of Scopl. At the opening of the eleventh century, however, Scopl had become a part of the vast Bulgarian empire, to which tradition is again today reverting. In the Balkans, with some of the most interesting ruins, and then about 1284, it, along with all Macedonia, was torn away by the war ruler, Vatazes. USCUBI therefore, has been a Balkan battlefield, time and again, in the past. The Serb emperor captured it in the day when Greater Serbia was at its zenith. There were battles here between Bulgars and Byzantines, and there are Moslems, wearing fez or turban, but otherwise clinging to the European dress for the most part. Nevertheless, the numbers who still retain the red jacket, blue bloomers and heavy red belt, in addition to the fez, are far from small.

Off from the main street USCUBI reverts into a rather uninteresting town. After all, the best part to it is that view on entering. But there are some odd characteristics. For example, the Christian women go barefoot, wearing clogs under the sole. Little boys don the fez, except the cypriotes whose children run nuda, regardless of sex, while the elders, too, are half naked.

Continue up the muddy street and you reach a section of two-story homes of more modern style and cheap stores. There is no enterprise evident, everything seems slow—the country smacks of Arabian Nights times. Side streets consist of walls in yards, each with double door of wood and heavy knockers, as again is the case of Bagdad. These streets are very narrow, above them the laced windows overhang.

It's the people who interest the most. Many of the Turks wear a heavy silver-handled pistol in the belt. Sometimes you meet a man peddling tin pigs' feet at the end of a pole slung on his shoulder. There's a preponderance of soldiers and their officers in the street life; the latter in garments quite threadbare. They here, at USCUBI, was crowned the man who was "car of the Serbs and Greeks." It was at his death that the great Serb empire fell and USCUBI became the booty of the Turks. They changed its name to the present one, and made it capital of a sandchak or district.

USCUBI's decline thereafter is marked by one break of note, that in the seventeenth century a colony of Ragusians established itself here and surrounded the city with splendid vineyards, as well as organizing a tremendous export of local products, notably wax and leather. For a year (1659) the Austrians also held USCUBI, but had to release it—and it is Turkish since!

Touristically, USCUBI repays a brief stay on one's trip through Macedonia. Lying as it does on the left shore of the Wardar, there is an interesting bridge, built away back in the times of the Sultan Mohammed II. Standing on this one may see far to the northwest the peak of the Sijobara, and, in the southwest, the snow-capped Karaschitsa. Just above the town is an interesting fortified castris and passes indicate landmarks that show where, an hour's distance to the northwest, a long squalid of Byzantine times remains.

These points, though, require some little time to reach and inspect thoroughly. Closer by, in the city itself, there's a wonderfully pretty mosque with a konak, or palace.

A Pleasure in Town: USCUBI is made picturesque as that it is practically divided by the arching stone bridges over the muddy, whirling river. This river, in current exceptionally fast, is lined with rather pretty, old stone quays. Of course, at its bridges, there are police; in fact, police are everywhere, and these carry guns on their shoulders, as would the soldiers at home. So, too, everywhere

IS SOCIALISM ON THE WANE

ANTI-SOCIALIST PRESS IN GERMAN CLAIMS MOVEMENT HAS REACHED CREST

MALE MEMBERS FEWER

Claimed, However, by Socialist Leaders Loss is More Than Offset by Female Recruits

(By Karl H. Von Weizsaecker, Berlin correspondent of the United Press.) Berlin, July 29.—The Social-Democratic movement in Germany, the home of Socialism has temporarily at least, reached the crest of its wane and is receding, according to the anti-Socialist press. There has been a decrease in the membership in some sections of Germany, symptomatic rather than marked. Socialist leaders themselves are raising the cry of "stagnation" in the party, which now numbers some 4,000,000 voters and has the largest representation of any party in the Reichstag.

Is Socialism on the wane? Reports from Socialist meetings would tend to affirm this, but present signs may be but a temporary relaxation in the hitherto unceasing propaganda. At a recent meeting of the central organization, Herr Ernst, chairman, reported a falling off of 2010 male members but an increase of women members which partly offset the decrease. The treasurer made a strong appeal for funds. He told of falling revenues. He said that voluntary contributions to the "cause" which formerly came in freely, have ceased almost entirely. "There are serious times ahead of us, comrades," he said. "We need not only members but money."

On July 27, Herr Stuehgen, a member of the Diet and editor in chief of "Vorwaerts," the central organ for the party, told of a decrease in the number of subscribers to that paper. "Today," he said, "we have to admit that slight recession has taken place in our organization. It demands the minutest investigation and we must not forget self-criticism." Stuehgen declared that the recession was coincidental with the increasing "conservative tendency" in the party organ. He virtually confirmed rumors that serious differences have arisen among the leaders of the party of whose "iron discipline" so much has been written. The talk of a general political strike was severely denounced.

The youth of the country is the prize for which Socialists and government are both battling. The government sees in it the check to the Socialist movement and is going to extremes to keep the youth free from socialism until after service in the army. The Socialists on the other hand see in the conversion of the young men the weapon they have long tried in vain to drive into the army.

So far the government has had the advantage. It has appealed to the fondness which almost every boy has for military play. Field Marshal von Pains has organized a Boy Scout movement and Pathfinders, against the Socialists can make little headway. "Good government is the greatest obstacle in and to democracy in and the republicanism of Germany," is the way a leading national democrat described another factor which he said tended to make the German people apathetic in politics.

Henry George's single tax theory is declared by its opponents to have proven a dismal failure. It is held partly responsible for the utter collapse of the real estate market in Berlin and stagnation in building operations. Between the inability to obtain money even on first mortgages on the one hand and the improvement and increased requirements taxes on the other, practically a complete cessation in building has taken place.

Scores of buildings in Berlin are in bankruptcy proceedings and others are but partly completed because the builder ran out of money and had been unable to obtain any loans. Real estate transactions have largely ceased and there is little property changing hands, it being asserted that no one wants to pay the increased increment tax necessary when property is turned over.

Although there are over 600,000 people in Berlin living in what is known as one foot dwellings consisting of apartments and flats of one room and kitchen, at the rate of five to eight persons to each such dwelling, it is claimed that there are more than 75,000 flats and dwellings vacant in the city.

During the last 12 months approximately 1150 foreclosure sales have taken place in the real estate and building market. The Merchant Elders organization in a recent report characterized the situation as hopeless.

The study of railroad timetables is to be placed on the curriculum of some of the Berlin schools when the fall term begins. In Germany there are no separate and free timetables of each road as in the United States. The network of railways are owned by the government and the timetables of these many lines are printed in a good sized book which is sold from 12 to 50 cents according to size.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS ARE DROWNED IN WICHITA RIVER

ONE IN RESCUE OF THE OTHER

JESSIE AND GORDON THOMAS VICTIMS OF HEART-RENDING TRAGEDY MONDAY AFTERNOON

WERE ON FISHING TRIP

Bank Caved in Precipitating One into Stream—Other Attempting Rescue Drowns

Jessie, aged 15 and Gordon, aged 12, daughters of Horace Thomas, manager here for Armour & Company and whose home is at the corner of Denver avenue and Eleventh street were drowned in the Blue Hole, Wichita, about two miles upstream from the city late Monday afternoon.

Jessie the older of the two gave up her life in a desperate but futile effort to save the life of her younger brother who had fallen into the deep waters of Blue Hole while fishing. News of the drownings were brought to the city by her brother, John aged 10 and Raymond, Douglas, another boy of the same age, and rescue parties hurried out and recovered the bodies after they had been under the water from an hour and a half to two hours. It was then too late to attempt resuscitation.

The two girls with the two little boys had left their home in the morning taking lunch with them to spend the day fishing. Jessie, the older of the children being a girl who enjoyed outdoor life, was the leader of the party, and fishing in the smaller holes as they went along, the party finally came to the Blue Hole early in the afternoon. Here they fished for several hours with good luck catching a large stringer of blue fish. About 4 o'clock it is believed from the best information obtainable, it was decided to start back toward town.

In going up to the Blue Hole the party had waded across the river a short distance below the hole to get onto the opposite bank under which the water was deeper at the hole and offered better fishing. Jessie told the two boys to go on down stream when they were ready to start back to town and to cross over the river at the place they crossed coming up and that she and her sister would wait a while longer and would then follow them. The boys accordingly started out and had waded about mid-stream at the crossing place when they heard screams and cries from the direction of Blue Hole. Looking back they saw the girls struggling in the water. They ran to the scene as fast as they could and just as they got there Jessie who had seen the futility of her efforts to bring her sister to the shore without help of something to grasp to the shore and seized a pole with which she jumped back into the water. The younger sister seized the pole in her drowning struggles, but instead of Jessie being able to pull her out she too was dragged under the water.

The two little boys helpless to give aid and horrified, waited several minutes for the girls to reappear and then realizing that they had been drowned started a long weary run to town to call for help. They ran with the speed in their little legs but at best made slow time over the river bank and up and down hollows and washes and through weeds and brush. The first persons they saw were a gang of men working the roadway at the city incinerator plant fully a mile and a half from the hole where the girls were drowned. Panting for breath they gasped out their story and then ran on toward town. Immediately the men on the road gang started on the run up the river. They located the hole where the drowning took place by seeing a dinner pail on the bank and a child's hat lying at the waters edge. A few minutes later one of the men esied a child's skirt floating again a piece of driftwood at the end of the hole and there the body of Gordon, the younger girl, was found.

By this time Dr. R. C. Smith, Sam Scaling and others had arrived from town in automobiles and the men formed a long line holding hands together and started across the hole stopping every few feet to go to the bottom to explore for the body of the other girl. After some time one of the men touched her body when he went down and later brought it to the surface. It was then after six o'clock and the bodies had been under water probably two hours making it too late to attempt resuscitation. Mr. Thomas himself who had hurried out in an automobile arrived before the recovery of the second body. Strong men carried the bodies in their arms to the automobiles that were waiting and brought them to the family home in town, where they were laid side by side.

News of the drowning spread rapidly over town and many started for the scene to give any help they could in the rescue but owing to not knowing the exact location of the hole nor the way to reach it many did not get there, meeting those first out on the road back with the bodies. The water where the body of Jessie was found was about ten feet deep. While neither of the two boys who were members of the fishing party saw the girls until after they were struggling in the water, a hole in the bank showing where a portion had crumbled away, it is believed, explains the accident. From this it appears that while the younger of the two girls was standing close to the edge, the dirt crumbled beneath her feet allowing her to fall into the water which ran close to the bank beneath. The older girl then plunged into the stream to save her sister. The water at that point is about twelve feet deep and not being a swimmer and encumbered by her wet dress the girl had little chance for her own life to say nothing of rescuing her sister. Both girls were unusually bright and lovable children. Jessie was a self-reliant child and cared for her younger sister almost like a mother. She was fond of outdoor life and not infrequently went out fishing or in search of wild plums along the river.

The body of Jessie was recovered by a man serving out a sentence on the road gang and he was given his liberty last night. Most of those who ran up the river from the incinerator were serving out fines on the road gang.

E. P. Stones who owns the place along the river where the hole is in which the children were drowned said he saw them there before noon and warned them not to get close to the bank and pointed out where the deep water was.

"They were such a happy lot of children," said Mr. Stones in discussing the accident Tuesday.

He said he saw them from where he worked in the field until about four o'clock in the afternoon and supposed they had left, and when he saw men come up to the river and start the search for the bodies he knew for the first time some of the party had been drowned.

This is the same hole in which the Powell boy was drowned about a year ago and Mr. Stones wants to warn the public against its dangers. The bank is crumbling at the deepest part and the hole shifts every rise in the river making it particularly dangerous for swimmers and those in wading. Mr. Stones says that where the girls went down the water is from eight to ten feet deep. Only a few feet away it is only foot or so deep, the hole dropping abruptly. Where the Powell boy was drowned last year the water is now only about two feet deep.

The Thomas family came here about a year ago from San Angelo. Both Mr. Thomas and his family have made many friends and they have the sympathy of all in this community. A double funeral will be held at the Thomas home at 5:30 this evening conducted by Rev. J. P. Boone and tonight the two bodies will be shipped to Matador by Undertaker Hill for burial beside the grave of their mother who has been dead about eleven years.

$3000 DOLLAR VERDICT FROM NORTHWESTERN

Jury Awards That Sum to Andrews From Northwestern 22 Damages

The jury in the case of Andrews vs. the Wichita Falls Route and the M. K. & T. Railway, returned a verdict this morning at 11 o'clock, giving the plaintiff judgment in the sum of $3000. The jury took the case at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and worked upon it till last night. This morning it was taken up again, and the verdict reached. There were really two cases to be considered. Andrews sued for damages to an eye from the effect of a piece of steel flying into it, and also for a rupture received in oiling some machinery. The two cases were tried as one, but the judgment was returned for $2500 for the injury to the eye and $500 for the rupture.

Wichita Falls, Texas, July 29, 1913

Don't let us forget that Wichita Falls is behind other cities of her size on paved streets.

A party who refuses to give his name sends the following to the Times by special messenger:

Editor of the Times: If you will publish an article in the Times and help me to get the addresses of families who are actually in need, I will investigate and furnish 30 or 40 families with ice each day.

Now, if there are people in this city who have knowledge of families in distress and who need and cannot afford to buy ice, here is an opportunity to relieve all such cases, or at least 30 or 40 families.

HONORABLE SETTLEMENT

The Oil City Derrick, a newspaper generally supposed to be owned and controlled by the Standard Oil Company, comments as following upon the compromise settlement of the suits filed against the oil corporation.

From present appearances it would seem the blatant Texas lion was inside the meek little oil lamb.

Who Gives You The Poorest Service?

If it is the merchant who has the brightest store, the most attractive things to sell you, a polite and intelligent sales force to serve you and an all round genial, home-like, welcome atmosphere awaiting you in his shop—then tell us about it in his advertising.

It is from that kind of merchant that you receive poor service? It is not probable.

The changes are ten to one that the poorest service and least satisfaction come from the shops where business is done under antiquated conditions; where the merchandise is badly chosen and badly displayed; where salespeople are not well-informed and courteous and obliging; and where the merchant either has nothing much of interest to advertise or else "doesn't believe in advertising."

There MAY be exceptions but, if so, they indicate the rule. The best service comes from the business that has so much confidence in its methods and its merchandise that it is a part of its splendid service to tell you about it.

Faithful ad-readers seldom go to the wrong store.

Special to the Times. Fort Worth, Texas, July 29.—Cattle raisers in the United States will not suffer extensively from the ingress of South American cattle, should the Underwood tariff bill pass, according to Arthur D. Skeen of Handley, Mr.

Skeen has recently returned from a tour through Panama and the northern part of South America. Mr. Skeen went on the Panama trade excursion. This was promoted by the Galveston Commercial League. S. D. Skeen, his father, was also on the trip. Declaring that cattle were not as extensively raised in South America as some cattle raisers had imagined, Mr. Skeen said shipments would not be large. Although there are no rigid laws governing cattle killing, he said it was his observation that they were killed under fairly sanitary conditions. "But I did observe Panama and South American ranchmen do not raise as fine grade of cattle as the American ranchmen do," Mr. Skeen said, "and this is where the American cattleman will profit. Apparently the South Americans have not learned the how of good cattle breeding. Texas cattle are the best in the world. Great Countries. "Panama and South America are great countries. It is well that the American capitalist should look to this country and invest his money in its development. It will not be a matter of exploitation there, but a matter of exploitation. The country is there and the people are there. All it needs is good American capital. It is getting it, too."

If Texas should lose anything by the importation of cattle, this will be recouped by the incoming of other things, Mr. Skeen said. Galveston will be the greatest port in the world, he said. "When the Panama canal is completed, Galveston and all Texas will be the front as an inlet to America," Mr. Skeen stated, "for then all the outgoing traffic from the Rockies, Middle West and the Mississippi river country will come through Galveston. Will Come to Fort Worth. "The greatest cattle market in the world will be established in Fort Worth. All the cattle shipped in will come to Fort Worth packing houses. Then the Fort Worth packing houses can ship to foreign countries with less expense. "Texas already surpasses the world in the raising and shipping of cotton. When it takes the front as the importer of meats it will then truly be the 'empire of the world.' It will absolutely furnish food and wearing apparel for the whole world. Water will be turned into the Panama canal by October, Mr. Skeen said. Although the canal will not be completed within this time, Mr. Skeen declared the remainder of the work could be done with dredges. He said water has been turned into the canal seven miles on both sides.

GIVES ADVICE ON MARRYING

MAN WHO HAS SPLICED 5,000 COUPLE GIVES POINTERS ON THE SUBJECT

SHOULD BE OF SAME AGE

If There is Difference the Bride Should be Older Than Bridegroom

Opposite do not marry any more, as a rule. This is as it should be. Ninety per cent of the people who marry are in the late twenties or early thirties. Of younger couples, man is most affected; it's the woman when they're older. Between the ages of 25 and 30 couples seldom kiss after the ceremony. The bride should be the same age or older than the bridegroom, not younger.

Denver, July 29.—After having married more than 1,000 couples in the last five years, during which time he has kept track of the couples following the ceremony, William Rice, justice of the peace of Denver, and some times called the "marrying justice," believes he has the right to "tell 'em how to do it." Today he vouchsafed in publication a few matrimonial hints and observations.

First and foremost, Justice Rice says no woman should marry under twenty-five and that no man should marry until he is thirty. And when they do marry, says the justice, they should both be the same age or the bride should be older and not younger. "The idea of marrying to grow up together," said Justice Rice today, "is wrong—all wrong. It means that the two young people will indulge themselves in childish quarrels and not have the restraint of wisdom that years bring to last out these squalls on the matrimonial sea. If people these days waited until they have some sense here wouldn't be so many divorces and separations.

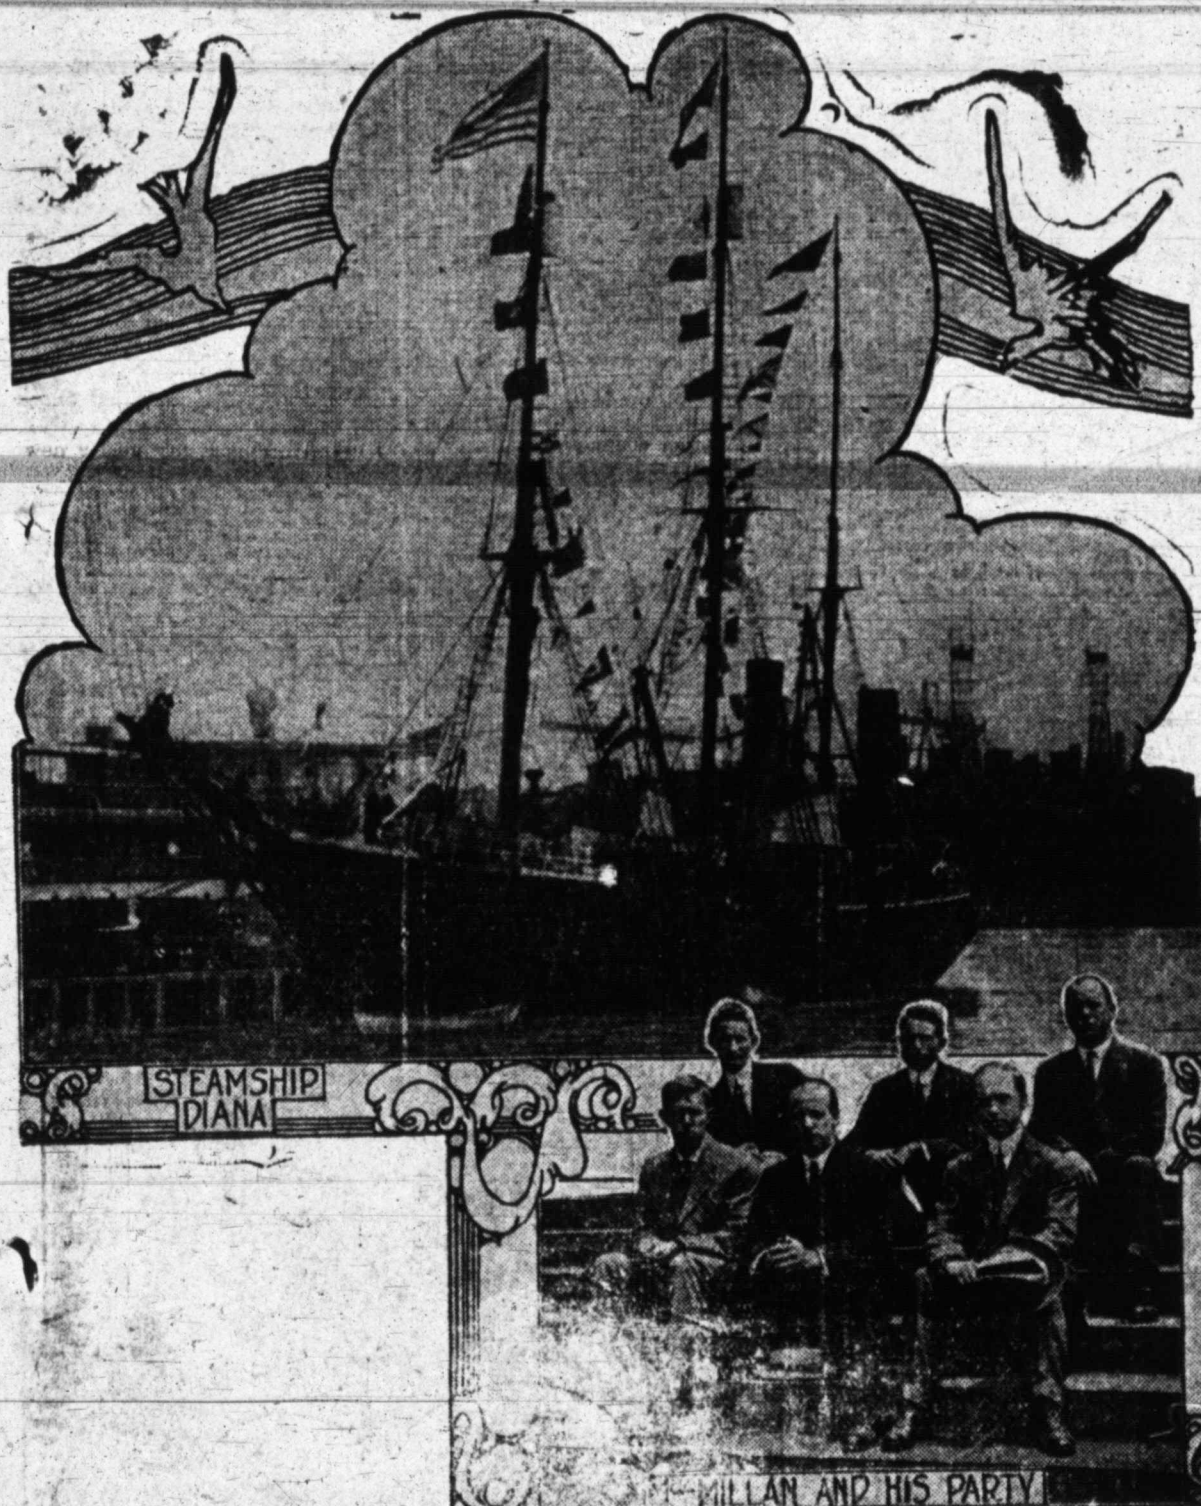

The reason why old fashioned marriages did not result in divorce as frequently as the marriages of today is not because the couple experienced any more unhappiness. It was because they hadn't gotten the habit of breaking up their partnership as soon as a few domestic windstorms blew up. Society did not lean toward divorce as it does now. Man and wife made the best of things, believing themselves wedded for life, and after all's said and done, the system worked pretty well as our grandmothers and grandfathers will tell us. Divorce has become a habit. People don't look askance at the divorce any more so the selfish persons accepts it as the easiest way to settle a fuss.

"The educated woman, despite the general belief, makes the best wife, and this is not strange. The woman should be better educated than the husband. He keeps on growing with the world through contact with the world. She generally stands still because she hasn't got that steady contact with the outside. The better educated the woman the more she realizes that the marriage contract is, to a great extent, a business contract with mutual obligations. It is the husbands of parasite wives who apply for divorce.

"Every couple should be engaged at least one year. During that time the girl should follow the old German custom of gathering a trousseau of linen and various articles of clothing sufficient to last three years. It takes a man three years to find his bearing as head of a household and start a nest-egg. Most of the collection suits in my court are against newlyweds who started married life on the supposition that their living expenses would fall like manna out of the sky."

M'millan's Arctic Steamer Diana Is Fast Aground Off Newfoundland And It Is Believed She Will Be A Total Loss

STEAMSHIP DIANA

MILLAN AND HIS PARTY

New York, July 29.—Dispatches from St. John's, Newfoundland, say that the sailing steamer Diana, conveying the Macmillan arctic expedition northward, went ashore in a dense fog at Harge point, forty miles west of Battle Harbor, Belle Isle strait. According to the latest reports, the Diana is so firmly aground that it is unlikely she will ever be refloated. The Newfoundland government cruiser Stella Maris has been ordered to her aid, but it is not believed she can pull the Diana off, for the steamer is heavily loaded with coal and supplies for the expedition. Every day toward the Diana is reported to be safe. The expedition, headed by Donald B. Macmillan, to explore Crocker Land, was sent by the American Geographical Society and the American Museum of Natural History. However, no word came to them from the stranded Diana. The Diana left New York on July

BURNS DESCENDENT TO TEST SALE OF MSS

London, July 29.—A new turn has been given the protests emanating from Scotland against the recent action of the Liverpool Athenaeum in selling the so-called Glen Riddle manuscripts of the poet, Burns, the purchase being understood to have been made indirectly by an American millionaire.

J. C. Ewing, one of the acknowledged authorities on Burns' work, has raised the point that the Glen Riddle manuscripts were loaned, not given, to Dr. Currie, who later presented them to the Athenaeum. Mr. Ewing declares that Dr. Currie obtained loan of the manuscripts in 1787 when he arranged to write the life of the poet and edit his works but he never returned the papers to the widow.

SULZER IS RECRUIT FOR SUFFRAGE ARMY

New York, July 29.—The men's league for woman suffrage has received Governor Sulzer's indorsement to a petition which it is circulating to present to the United States Senate, urging a suffrage amendment to the constitution. R. Beadle, secretary of the league, quotes the governor as making this emphatic stand in favor of the women's cause: "I am now and have always been and always expect to be in favor of granting women the same political rights that men possess. There should be no abridgment in the United States of the political rights of women just because they are women. In my judgment a woman can vote just as honestly and just as intelligently as a man. I hope the day will come when this view is expressed in the constitution of our country."

St. Louis Wants Elevated. St. Louis, July 29.—Weary of slowly creeping surface transportation plans are being discussed today by citizens associations to demand elevated or subway lines of the city fathers and the traction companies. The suburbanites especially are taking an active interest in the plans to give St. Louis adequate transportation facilities. At the present time a passenger must "anti a nickel" every little while if he rides any distance on St. Louis street cars and go to East St. Louis there are bridge tolls to pay. The present plan is to have a combination subway and elevated from down town to the west end.

Miss Inez Milholland, Suffragette, Won By Wealthy Young Hollander

MRS. EUGENE BOISSEVIN,
nee INEZ MILHOLLAND

London, July 29.—Miss Inez Milholland, the handsome New York suffragette, was married in the Kensington registry office Tuesday afternoon to Eugene Boissevain, a wealthy Dutchman of Amsterdam. The bridegroom, who is thirty-three years old, is engaged in the wireless business and was introduced to Miss Milholland in New York a few weeks ago by Signor Marconi. His father, Charles Boissevain of Amsterdam, is the owner of rich plantations in Java. He is also the principal owner of the foremost newspaper in Amsterdam. The couple will spend their honeymoon in a cruise on the North sea and will sail for New York in August. Miss Milholland was graduated from Vassar in 1909, and while there she kept the faculty on pins and needles with her advanced views on feminism and socialism. It was she who started the suffrage movement in Vassar, enrolling two-thirds of the students in the cause and then proceeding to teach them the meaning of socialism. She held a record for throwing the basketball. The bride will continue her law practice when she returns to New York.

WHERE MUSTACHES ARE COMPULSORY

Kings Regulations Demand that English Army Officers Wear Hair on Upper Lip

London, July 29.—British army circles and the general public don't know whether to laugh or become alarmed over the nearest approach to a strike the British army has experienced. The whole thing hinges on the question of compulsory mustaches for English army officers. Since the beginning of the nineteenth century British army officers have been compelled to wear mustaches or at least such hair as could be cultivated on the upper lip. The king's regulations distinctly say "the chin and upper lip shall be shaved, but not the upper lip." Whiskers of moderate length may be worn. Recently, however, society set its face—not literally, but figuratively—against whiskers, including mustaches, and officers have been agitating for the right to shave. Many have openly defied the regulations and done so, an act that led to their appearance before the colonel. The original offense, of course, is counted purely as a technical one but it becomes rank insubordination after that. It could even be called mutiny. Many going colonels have argued the war office that it is silly to punish officers for no slight thing as shaving one's upper lip, but Whitehall stands by red tape, and the red tape says there must be mustaches—no mustaches there will be. In the meantime, delinquents are pointing out that King George himself ignores the regulations by wearing a beard. Frank Richardson, well known author, has come to the support of Whitehall by saying: "I am absolutely opposed to any order that will abolish the lip-whisker. Were the change allowed who could distinguish a soldier from such undistinguished persons as lawyers or actors—or even authors and novelists. I would never do."

POTATO TUBER MOTH IS WORKING HAVOC

Government Bureau Issues Bulletin Urging Treatment of Seed to Prevent Spread

Washington, July 29.—The potato tuber moth is working such injury to potato crops in various parts of the country, especially in California and Texas, that the bureau of entomology of the U. S. department of agriculture has issued a special warning and instructions to potato growers to help them overcome this highly injurious pest. According to the specialists this moth is being rapidly spread over the country in shipments of infested potatoes and by careless methods of using and distributing seed potatoes. The warning is issued at this time in order to enable farmers to take special action with the seed they will use for the fall crop.

The department particularly urges potato growers to sort the potatoes for seed two weeks after digging and then to sort them over two weeks later. The tubers unaffected by the tuber moth should then be placed in a moth proof bin. It is easy to pick out the infested tubers because of the excrement of the moth, which adheres to the surface of the tubers and can be easily detected.

The tubers placed in the moth proof bin, after sorting, should be fumigated by means of carbon bisulphid (or bisulphid of carbon as it is also known), in order to kill any moths which might have bred out or have slipped in through crevices, and when the bin was opened, carbon bisulphid is applied by pouring small quantities into flat vessels such as milk pans or pie tins. An average of three pounds should be used in 1,000 cubic feet of space. It is more effective at high temperatures, 80 to 90° Fahr. being best. About a pint is poured into each receptacle and the pans are placed in the bins at the top. The gas being heavier than air naturally penetrates the mass of potatoes, reaching those at the bottom. The bin should be tightly closed for from 24 to 36 hours with good assurance that the fumigation power of the seed is not destroyed. The utmost care should be taken that no fire, such as a lamp, a cigar, electric fan, stove, or even a gas light or lamp should be brought into the vicinity. Otherwise, as the gas is very inflammable, the result may be a serious explosion may follow.

All potato growers should keep a careful lookout after fumigation. At first the fumigated seed potatoes should be inspected daily to detect any growth of the insect; later, observation every other day and finally once a week should be sufficient. If there is any indication that the tuber moth is propagating, a second fumigation with carbon bisulphid should be given. This method of saving seed potatoes is so simple, although very effective, that the specialists fear that many potato growers will disregard it.

In order to grow fall potatoes, the government points out that it is necessary for farmers to work overtime on a cleaning up campaign, which should begin at once on receipt of this special notice. Small and useless tubers and tops should be promptly cleaned up and burned. The land should be harrowed to break up the clods and leave as few hiding places as possible for the moths. For the same reason all weeds and all plants of the potato kind, such as nightshade, ground cherries and similar weeds should be destroyed over large areas surrounding the potato field. The department urges growers of potatoes to co-operate in this general work and thus lessen importantly the numbers of the moths and reduce their chance for propagation. It is believed that if general co-operation can be secured it will be possible to stamp out this insect pest. Any slipshod methods of raising potatoes at this present time is regarded as particularly dangerous because of this moth and the specialists urge growers in infested districts to choose some other crop rather than to raise potatoes in a careless manner. Unwise protective and defensive measures are adopted at once there will be a serious reduction of the potato crop.

C." in the heavens think it means "Preach Christ" when it means "Plow Corn," said Vice President Thomas E. Marshall today in addressing 20,000 persons who had gathered at Mooseheart to attend the laying of the cornerstone for a $5,000,000 industrial school and home for orphaned children and the aged. The institution is to be erected by the Loyal Order of Moose. "Out of the superior educational advantages of today," Vice President Marshall said, "one unhappy condition has developed. A vast army of persons whose labors would make for the industrial advancement of the nation have conceived themselves fitted for fancied nobler pursuits and thus the progress they would have made in the work they are fitted for, is lost." Governor Dunge of Illinois, Congressman I. C. Copley of Aurora, and Ralph W. Edonges of New Jersey, supreme dictator of the Moose organization, spoke at the corner stone laying.

MRS. J. C. TATUM HELD UNDER $2,000 BOND FOR ASSAULT

Andes, N. Y., July 29.—Facing an indictment punishable by five years in prison or $1,000 fine, or both, Mrs. John C. Tatum, wife of a rich cotton broker of New York and Great Neck, N. Y., was held in $2,000 bail for the grand jury after her sister, Miss Kathryn MacArthur, had completed her story of the alleged assault upon her. The husband provided the bail. Mrs. Tatum rose in anger at Justice of the Peace Charles Johnson's decision and exclaimed, "If this case goes beyond the grand jury we'll show up just what's at the back of it, and then you'll get the whole truth." Her husband drew her away before she could say anything further. In her testimony Miss MacArthur was about to make some declaration as to Tatum and his wife having had a "terrible fight" about "one of her admirers in New York," and as she was going to mention the name Mrs. Tatum's lawyer stopped her.

MILLIE AND LILLIE A pair of twin song birds doing a kick and scream act with the Frizzly Chicken Dramatic Company which was the most brilliant aggregation of murderers of the histrionic art on the tall grass circuit once breezed into a pill emporium to start something in the perfumery department. The entire force of pill mixers dropped everything surrounded these waspy waisted peroxide confections and showed them everything from HOYTS GERMAN to MARY GARDEN. They gave them more attention than is usually accorded a new colored minister while the natives stood around and walked on each others corns begging for a chance to put a hot box on the cash register but failed to qualify for attention until the Dolly Grays were gone. Now we do business just like this only DIFFERENT. Our programme is to treat everybody right and that means to treat everybody alike. There are no amateurs in our store. We have gazed across the plate glass at passing humanity until we can tell whether you want to buy a dime's worth of safety pins or four dollars worth of glad smelling joy water with blinders on. We give you what you ask for. We know you can tell perfume from fly chaser and that you know what you want.

LOVE—LIFE—HOME "Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return." Was not spoken of the soul? How strong and faithfully does every good and noble life bear out the above sentiment from the Poet's Pen. Man and woman pass through this life battling with conditions and yielding to environments as nothing else does. Each have their circle of friends and loved ones. Each their joys and their sorrows; each their creeds and desires while playing an important part in our actions comes greed, avarice, misfortune and penury. What emotions fill the human breast as varied as life itself. So thrilling that no hand however skilled can picture it; so tragic that no human tongue however voluble can express the heart rending emotions that wring bitter tears from human eyes. So full of hope that we place angel wings on human form and halos of light around their mortal heads. All thanks to Pandora! Hope points above where weeping loved ones see the way to a brighter and better life beyond. Our MEMORIALS tell the full story of LOVE, LIFE, HOME COMPLETELY and EVERLASTINGLY.
