DALLAS MURDER MYSTERY DEEPENS

CLEWS THAT HAD BEEN FOLLOWED CONFIDENTLY PROVE FALSE TRAILS

LETTERS ARE INVESTIGATED

Detectives Travel Long Distance to Interview Man Named in Correspondence

By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, Aug. 2.—It was learned today that the use of the term "sweetheart" in the letters of Miss Florence Brown, murdered here Monday, aroused the suspicions of the detectives. The letters were from a traveling man. They were the only evidences among all the papers of Miss Brown of a love affair and the police based the belief that this was a love affair solely on the use of the word "sweetheart."

Detectives from Dallas traveled a distance to interview the traveling man with whom Miss Brown corresponded. They announced on their return that he was not in Dallas on the day of the murder but the letters are still the basis of a thorough investigation.

Officers who have made investigations in other Texas cities have returned reporting failure. Chief of Detectives Tanner after his return from a trip to San Antonio said: "I know less now than I did when the body was found. We thought we had a good clue but it failed." Captain W. J. McDonald has returned from trips to Brownwood and Sherman where it is reported that suspected clues failed to develop.

W. L. Coe, foreman of the grand jury held a long conference with Chiefs Tanager and Ryan today. It is said the grand jury is devoting its entire time to an investigation of the murder and any one who knows anything about it may soon be called before that body.

A new theory of the escape of the slayer so quickly and unobserved in the Fort Worth interurban which passes the office soon after 8 o'clock. Examination of the conductors and motormen is in progress but so far no suspicious looking persons are reported to have boarded the car. Fort Worth authorities are assisting in this phase of the work.

That Miss Brown was still alive at 8:14 Monday morning is certain through the statement of Miss L. K. Hear and R. E. Palmis who saw her in the doorway of Robinson and Strong's office as they passed down the street. The time is fixed so exactly because Mr. Palmis called up the telephone exchange on arriving at his office to know the time as his office clock had stopped running. The police believe that this was only a few minutes before Miss Brown was killed.

HEADLINES ALMOST CAUSED MISTRAL

By Associated Press. Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 2.—State adding links to chain. This headline across the entire front page of a local newspaper threatened for a time today to precipitate a mistrial in the proceedings against Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of Mary Phagan. When the jury returned to the court room after a short recess presiding Judge Roon was reading the newspaper. Counsel for the defense claimed that every member of the jury had seen the headlines. The defense, however, said they did not propose to demand a mistrial at present but requested the judge to make a statement to the jury which he did, warning them not to pay any attention to newspaper headlines or the cries of newsmen.

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 2.—As a well dressed middle aged man and a handsomely gowned young woman walked down crowded Broadway this afternoon the man drew a pistol and shot the woman three times and then blew out his own brains. He died instantly. There is little hope for the recovery of the woman. Letters found on his body indicate the man is Abraham Fink of Cleveland. Witnesses say the woman walked down the street reading a letter aloud much to the annoyance of the man. He demanded her to stop and when she kept on he drew the pistol and fired. At the hospital the woman said her name was Rebekah Silverman aged 21 and that her home was in New York.

FORMER MEXICAN GOVERNOR ARRESTED

Emanuel Castillo Brito Held at New Orleans for Killing of Soldiers

By Associated Press. New Orleans, Aug. 2.—Emanuel Castillo Brito, former governor of the Mexican state of Campeche, was arrested here today by federal authorities and held without bail on a charge of murder and robbery preferred by existing Mexican authorities. Brito is said to have killed two of his own soldiers during the Madero revolution. He says it was a time of war and that he should not be called to account for his act. He said he knew if he permitted the soldiers to arrest him their act would be followed by death. He resisted drawing his sword. They took his sword from him and Brito says he drew his pistol and killed them.

It was announced tonight that an application for a writ of habeas corpus will be made for Brito before a United States court. It will be held that Brito has committed no offense against the United States and that the offense against Mexico, for which he is held is not a statutory but a political offense. There is no provision in the existing treaties for extradition for other than statutory offenses.

A FORTY SEVEN CENT TAX RATE

THIS WILL BE NECESSARY IF APPROPRIATION BILLS PASS AS DRAFTED

LITTLE DONE SATURDAY

No Session in Senate and a Very Late Session in The House

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Aug. 2.—With no session in the Senate and a very late session in the House the legislative day was quiet today. At any time since the called session was convened. The Senate finance committee worked on the educational appropriation bills, the House began consideration of appropriations bills for educational and economy institutions. According to Chairman Wortham the appropriation bills for the first year less the penitentiary items will total $6,477,410, and for the second year $6,262,265, a total of $12,739,675. It is figured this will produce a tax rate of about 25 cents, if the bills stand as they are. To this must be added a five cent special Confederate pensions tax and 16 2/3 cents educational tax making a total of 47 cents.

It is believed the Senate will insist upon a downward revision of the appropriations bill as will Governor Colquitt.

The A. & M. College gets the major portion of the educational appropriations as the bill now stands receiving $584,000.

The House did not amend the economy appropriation bills except twice when the amendments adopted were inconsequential. This bill was engrossed and the House adjourned until Monday at 2 p. m.

WILL BROKE NO INTERFERENCE

BOTH NATIONALS AND FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS WARNED TO KEEP HANDS OFF

HUERTA'S ANNOUNCEMENT

Statement issued by Minister of Interior Sets Forth Views of Superior

By Associated Press. Mexico City, Aug. 2.—Foreign interference in the conduct of his pacification of Mexico will not be tolerated from either the National or foreign governments by Provisional President Huerta. He proposes to stay in the presidency and will brook no interference.

This was contained in a statement issued this evening by Dr. Urterria, Mexican minister of the Interior. "General Huerta will not resign," the statement said. "Much less will he permit the nationals or foreigners to take a hand in a question in which is involved his honor and that of the nation. I will say still more that General Huerta has contracted an obligation to establish peace in the Mexican republic. This obligation is in the way of being fulfilled. If when it is realized our government has been recognized by the United States we will rejoice. If it has not we will lament. We will not in any event change the defense of honor and national dignity."

The declaration of Interior is regarded here as the government's answer to the members of the Chamber of Mexican Deputies who are formulating proposals for peace between the factions.

President Huerta authorized the statement that General Felix Diaz who was recently appointed special commissioner to Japan to thank the Japanese government for its participation in the Mexican centennial will continue on his mission to Japan.

Under this arrangement the leaders hope to get many campaign speeches out of the way.

The earthenware schedule was completed today after an amendment by Sam Jones to put a countervailing duty on lime was voted down. ## RESCUE PARTY MEETS DEATH

DOUBLE EXPLOSION OF DYNAMITE AND GAS KILLS 18 IN PENNSYLVANIA MINES

BODIES BLOWN TO BITS

Rescue Party Caught by Second Explosion and Completely Annihilated

By Associated Press. Powerstrip, Pa., Aug. 2.—Eighteen men were killed and two seriously injured in a double explosion in the East Berkside mine of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co., near here by a double explosion of what is believed to have been dynamite and gas. Thirteen men died in the first explosion and five met death in the second explosion while they were attempting to rescue the victims.

It is not known exactly what caused the first explosion. The dead were scattered about for a distance of a quarter mile. Only three were taken out alive and of these two died on the way to the hospital.

Superintendent John Lorenz, aged 60, was in the mine when the first explosion occurred. He was rescued several hours later when he was found crawling along the ground trying to make his way through the debris to safety.

It is possible the real story of the explosion will never be known as all those who were in position to know were killed. Superintendent Lorenz was about 600 feet from the blast.

The men were killed in three different ways. Some of them were hurled against the side of the tunnel in which they were working and were crushed. Others were burned to death by the explosion of gas and others were suffocated by afterdamp.

Shortly before noon the men on the surface heard a rumble from the mouth of the mine and from the air shaft at the fan house there came clouds of dust. The outside men realized there had been an explosion and a rescue party of six was quickly organized. They were lowered in the mine to a depth of 1200 feet at an angle of 80 degrees down to the fifth drift, east to the bottom of the mine.

It is believed the second explosion struck twenty minutes after the first. The rescuers had walked about 600 feet from the mouth of the shaft where their bodies were found.

CRUCE UNDONE BY M'CALLISTER

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR OUT OF STATE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR REVERSES POLICY

SIGNS BOOK CONTRACTS

Also Pardons Prisoners Including Nephew of Former Governor Haskell

By Associated Press. Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 2.—Lieutenant Governor J. J. McCallister's first act as acting governor in the absence of Governor Lee Cruce today consisted in issuing four pardons and signing all of the book contracts made by the old state school board. Thus in his first act the lieutenant governor has succeeded in doing what Governor Cruce has prevented for more than two years—namely, holding up the contract made by the old board of education, which board he was instrumental in removing. The fight over the adoption of the state's text books was the point of opposition.

Governor Cruce left Kansas City tonight at 9 o'clock to head off any other acts of the lieutenant governor contrary to his policy.

The pardons today included that of B. H. Updike, nephew of former governor Haskell confined in the McCallister penitentiary in connection with a killing at Oklahoma City.

Wheeler claims that if this box is thrown out he will have a majority of nine votes.

UNIONS ASK FOR MINERS INTERVENTION

Copper Miners Claim Army of Deputies is Being Placed in District

By Associated Press. Calumet, Mich., Aug. 2.—Further union appeals to Governor Ferris for intervention in the copper mine strike were followed tonight by intimation that steps might be taken to secure a congressional investigation of the industrial situation. Union officials claimed tonight that the mining companies were organizing veritable armies of armed guards to take the place of the state troops.

The companies on the other hand repeat their assertions that no outsiders have been brought into the district.

Cases of intimation were reported today from several places. Mrs. Mary Rees whose boarding house has been patronized by non-union men found a note on her door threatening her with violence unless she stopped feeding non-union men. Another letter reached a mine foreman and intimated that he was a marked man. It was printed on brown paper and signed with a skull and crossbones. ## U. S. POLICY IS NONINTERFERENCE

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS NEVER CONSIDERED POSSIBILITY OF ARMED INTERVENTION

TO GET AMERICANS OUT

Then U. S. Can Watch Faction Fight Out Settlement Without Becoming Involved

By Associated Press. Washington, Aug. 2.—While President Wilson has not yet announced the policy which he thinks the government ought to pursue towards Mexico there is every reason to believe he is evolving a plan of non-interference.

Two developments today emphasized the trend of affairs toward an attitude of friendly non-interference. It became known that the president in conference with members of the House military affairs committee encouraged the idea of making preparations for a volunteer army. Likewise Secretary Bryan's request for an appropriation of $100,000 with which to transport destitute Americans from Mexico in emergencies, developed in official circles that the American government would try in a crisis to remove Americans quickly from the danger zone. This is believed would lessen the chances for international difficulties, and as any destruction of any property would be cared for through indemnification the United States would not be involved. There is every indication that the Wilson administration will pursue a vigorous policy toward recovering damage to foreign property in Mexico.

With Americans out of Mexico the United States government would feel less responsibility and would assume the role of an observer rather than a participant.

President Wilson never has allowed the thought of armed intervention to enter his considerations. His efforts have been directed toward a peaceful program. Hope that the Mexican negotiators will agree upon a Mexican president to succeed Huerta is still held.

The constitutionalists are making repeated representations that if allowed to secure arms on an equality with Huerta their government would soon triumph.

The Senate foreign relations committee has decided to allow several persons representing the Mexican factions to appear before it. Suggestions were made today that Mrs. Madero, widow of the former president and his brother, Alphonso, be invited to appear before the committee. It is said they would refute statements given by Ambassador Wilson recently.

BRYAN DISCLAIMS ULTERIOR MOTIVE.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Secretary Bryan vigorously disclaimed today that his request for an appropriation for the relief of destitute Americans in Mexico had any connection with any policy the administration might evolve in reference to Mexico. In government circles the request for the appropriation is thought to be the forerunner of a policy of non-interference.

ADVANCE IN CORN WAS MAINTAINED

Buying Orders Streamed into Corn Pit and Kept Up Price Advance

By Associated Press. Chicago, Aug. 2.—Buying orders streamed into the corn pit today and kept the expected price advance that has now lasted a week. Crop destruction due to recent breaking drouths gave no sign of being stopped, and the close of the day left the market holding firmly at a level one and three-eighths to one and five-eighths above last night. Wheat finished with a gain of five-eighths to three quarters and three quarters to seven-eighths and oats were up five-eighths to a cent. In provisions the outcome was 1-2 to 22 1-2 decline. Corn quotations came within a quarter of a cent of making good the prediction that the market would reach as high as 70 cents a bushel. All other grains were influenced by the action of corn.

ADVANCE FOR WEEK IN COTTON PRICES

Market Closed at Advance of Three or Four Points Over Last Week

By Associated Press. New Orleans, Aug. 2.—The net change in prices in the cotton market this week was an advance of two to three points. The high prices were made Friday and the low prices Monday. At the highest, trading months were 25 to 27 points over last week's close. At the lowest they were one to three points under. The range was 27 to 29 points. The condition figures of 76.09 were lower than expected and caused heavy buying but on the closing session of the week this advance was wiped out by a general selling movement based on private reports of good rains in Texas. The movement of new cotton in Texas attracted considerable attention. Middling closed at 12 cents against 10 cents last week and 12-7-3 cents this week last year.

DULL DAY ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Week Shows Continued Improvement in Money Market—Crop Outlook a Factor

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 2.—This was the dullest day on the stock market in fifteen years. The market was without its usual guide as London was observing one of its frequent holidays. Bonds' improvement in the money market continued very manifest and a demand for mercantile paper sprang up from sources that have refrained from asking for this paper for many weeks past. The rapidity with which this country's wheat is being marketed was another reassuring factor. The mixed crop outlook leaves opinion undecided as to revised demand this fall for manufactured products. Reduction of the Illinois Central dividend clearly aroused anxiety regarding the Chesapeake and Ohio dividend.

WILL PUT SOUTHLAND ON THE MARKET

The firm of Bean, Huey & Gohlke, real estate dealers, has been dissolved, Mr. Huey retiring. In the future the firm will be known as Bean & Gohlke. The dissolution comes by reason of the fact that Southland addition is soon to be placed on the market, and will be placed in the management of the firm. In a way this would conflict with the management of the Floral Heights addition sales, and the latter will be taken over by Mr. Huey, who has opened offices in the Kemp & Keil building.

Southland addition which Messrs. Bean & Gohlke will place on the market is that portion of the Huff pasture through which the new Seventeenth street car line will pass. It will contain about 350 lots, and is one of the most desirable residence sections of the city. Streets are being graded and the lots laid out and it is expected the property will be ready for the market about the middle of September.

German Doctors Experiments Claimed to Show Hulled Rice is Source of Disease

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Aug. 2.—Dr. Max Moszkowski, of Berlin, who has won distinction by his scientific researches in New Guinea, succeeded in giving himself an unmistakable case of beri-beri by living for 138 days upon a diet consisting almost exclusively of hulled rice. He believes his experiments support the theory formerly held by him, and beri-beri is a disease induced by certain foods and not due to an infection of any kind from without as has been maintained by many investigators.

Dr. Moszkowski, who in 1911 advanced his theory in an address before the Berlin Medical Society, reported at the society's last meeting, the results of the experiment which he has just finished. After a few weeks of hulled rice diet the nervous disturbances accompanying beri-beri appeared and the case was then diagnosed as beri-beri. Dr. Schaffer, a noted authority in this line. The typical dropsical affection of the skin followed, with soreness of certain groups of muscles, stomachic disturbances, and eventually the typical and dangerous irregularities of the heart action.

Dr. Moszkowski then treated himself with injections of an extract prepared from rice hulls. He recovered rapidly and is now quite well. Injections of this extract also cured pigeons and hens which had become affected with beri-beri after a hulled rice diet.

Dr. Moszkowski believes the hulled rice contains a poisonous substance which is neutralized when the hulls also are eaten. Furthermore, the fact that the phosphorus content of rice lies entirely in the hull probably is of importance. He believes that beri-beri has a distinct relationship to scurvy and rickets.

ES-KENNEDY COMPANY

Wichita, Falls, Texas

The police have put an end to a means of livelihood employed by an attractive woman of Berlin who, dressed in widow's garb, gathered in considerable sums by a swindling game which had the merit of novelty and was based on a keen knowledge of human nature.

The woman's mode of operation was to station herself at a subway entrance, or before a post office, wait until a likely looking man came in sight, start hurriedly searching through her purse, and then cry out "I've been robbed!" Gallant males, sympathizing with a woman in distress, generally started a conversation.

In the course of the talk they learned that she was a widow and lived in Charlottenburg, a fashionable district of the greater city. She confided various troubles to her listener, whereof the chief one was that her eight-year-old daughter was difficult to manage and too fond of the society of men, although otherwise a dutiful and loving daughter. The "widow" then suggested that a loan of $3 or $5 would save her interrupting her shopping tour. If her new friend lived anywhere in her neighborhood, he could take as security a new and expensive pair of shoes which she had just bought and carry them to her home, where her daughter would be glad to repay the trifling loan made to her mother.

According to the police, a large number of men, seeing an opportunity to become acquainted with a charming young woman who loved men's society, lent the distressed widow the sum demanded, took her IOU and the box of shoes, and posted off to her home. Unable to find either home or daughter, they finally become suspicious and opened the box. It contained half a brick and some wrapping paper.

The widow's downfall came when she inadvertently tried to play the same trick on the same man for the second time.

This proud distinction has been earned by the discovery by M. Brisset that man is descended, not as Darwinians think, from monkeys, but from bullfrogs.

After escorting M. Brisset triumphantly to the Pantheon to see Rodin's statue of "The Thinker," a noisy crowd of students carried off their "prince" to a lecture room where he won much and loud applause.

"In unflinching long agoes," said M. Brisset, "a bullfrog sat on a lotus leaf and hailed the dawn with a sad croak. That frog," he added, "was your grandmother."

And, strange to say, the speaker was quite sincere.

Wichita Falls, Texas, August 3, 1913

Dallas had a hanging Friday. In this instance it was a negro who had murdered his wife. Dallas can well afford to have hanging bees more often than this.

Now that the city has awarded contracts for the paving of 10th street, the property owners on Scott avenue should keep up the agitation for the paving of that street until action is taken.

The Farmers Congress of Texas has gone on record as favoring the ballot for women in this state. Now watch the candidates for governor fall in line.

While no definite plan as to what attitude the United States will take towards Mexico, has as yet been settled upon, this much seems sure: President Wilson seems unalterably opposed to accepting the suggestion offered by Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, under any circumstances, and the government set up by Huerta must go. The murderer of Madro and Suarez, and those who aided and abetted in that foul crime must step down and out, and among the number is the American Ambassador.

The older our present democratic administration gets, the better we like it. To head off the calamity howlers and panic shriekers, Secretary of Treasury McAdoo will distribute about $25,000,000 of government money in the south and west with which to handle the crops. This is taking the conceit out of Wall street financiers at a great rate, and it begins to look like that President Wilson meant just what he said before being inaugurated, when he assured the American people that while it would be possible for those who have a desire to bring about a money panic to do it, but that if they did such a thing deliberately they would be the ones to suffer the result. Usually, money panics are profitable to money sharks. This Democratic administration, it appears, will attempt to reverse conditions in that respect.

A newspaper has the right to decline advertising that is objectionable, even though the advertiser has a contract with the paper calling for so many inches to be used within a given time. In this instance the newspaper had declined to accept certain parts of an advertisement, and the advertiser, taking advantage of this, attempted to cancel his contract, but in this the court held he was liable and will have to pay for the space whether he uses it or not. The Times has always thought that newspapers had the right to use the blue pencil on ads that were objectionable, and has at times done so, and as a consequence lost some otherwise good business and made some enemies. But a newspaper that expects to continue in business cannot afford to allow the use of its columns for purposes the best judgment of the manager tells him is wrong, and if he has not got the proper nerve to act on his best judgment it is plain to see that that newspaper needs a new manager, and unless the demand is supplied without much delay its finish is in sight. The Times has often asserted that the success of a newspaper depends almost as much upon what is kept out of it, as it does upon what is allowed to go in, and this Minnesota court decision only strengthens its contentions along those lines.

Some Wichita Falls bachelors, widower or young man of marriageable age who has a desire to hook up with a red-headed widow might find the opportunity he is looking for in the following letter:

"Darl, Tenn.—To the Times: I want you all to advertise my picture to the young men of the west. I am a young widow; my age is 20 years; I have been left a widow three years, and I want to advertise for a husband in the west. To any of the western men who wants a wife, I will be one for them if they will answer the advertisement. I have red hair and weigh 20 pounds. I hope I hear from any of the western men. My name is Emma Bedford; my postoffice is Darl, Tenn."

It will be noted that Emma sends her picture along, but as our artist is on his summer vacation it was impossible to reproduce it. She also says she is 20 years old, and looks every bit of it. In writing her weight it is evident she has, through mistake, dropped a cipher. That should be 200 pounds, and good ones at that, instead of 20 pounds, if one can judge from a picture and appearance are not deceiving. Those interested, however, can call at the office and see the picture and read the letter. Possibly it is re-writing and interpreting the letter we may have made some immaterial errors, but if so, those who have not been away from the grand old state a sufficient length of time to forge the native tongue can take it and make a better job. Our office hours are from 7 a. m. until 11 p. m. We entertain a rush, so don't call at once.

All of us feel a pride in Wichita dirt. In fact fortunes have been accumulated rapidly through its exchange, but occasionally some of us take a delight in getting rid of it by taking a bath. Those who have resorted to that method lately have found by experience that they took on just about as much as they put off. It has been demonstrated that the water being served the public can be made reasonably or passably clear, but to accomplish that requires more expense to the company, and so long as patrons are satisfied to pay for the mud and water prices the company is not likely to complain. Of course, if the Times had the power to compel the water company to clear the water it would not hesitate to use that power, but it has not, and so far as it knows apart from the reading of the contract the water company has with the city, the people of this city are getting just about the quality of water they contracted for. Some contend the contract reads "pure and wholesome water," but that is not the case. It plainly says "to furnish water from Holiday creek." So it will do no good to kick or complain. "If you don't like what you are getting, pay up and quit." That's about the attitude the water company assumes as regards the quality of water now being furnished its patrons in Wichita Falls.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN THE FUTURE

From the Outlook. A recent article by ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge in the Saturday Evening Post put sharply and forcibly certain views as to the present and future relations of parties. We summarize briefly and without argument or comment. Mr. Beveridge holds that a merger between the progressive and Republican parties is impossible. He believes that a million Democrats voted the progressive ticket last fall and a million Republicans voted the Democratic ticket, while many progressive candidates for congress and for local offices were Democrats. How he asks, could these be amalgamated in such a merger? How merge men like Parker of Louisiana and Harris of Georgia with Root of New York and Smoot of Utah? Another reason is that the advocates of a merger seem to regard the progressive party only as a protest against party rule and laws, whereas the new party stands for large principles. The progressive organization, Mr. Beveridge reports, is being perfected widely; it is being done by the progressive party the present moment more party work is being done by the progressive party than by both of the old parties put together. * * * Over 5,000 party clubs have been organized during the present year." In 1914 straight-out progressive candidates for United States senators will be in the field in every state where senators are to be chosen. On the other hand, continues Mr. Beveridge, "neither of the old parties has any principle or even any policy in which the respective parties agree or can agree throughout the whole country. Both have come to be mere crazy quilts of glaring opposite beliefs." And he compares the Iowa Republican, the Democratic governor of Connecticut with the Democratic governor of Washington. The progressives say: "What we fight for in Oregon we fight for in Florida; what we preach in Kansas we preach in Rhode Island." In the question of big business, the tariff, trust regulation and, above all, in the matter of humanity in legislation, the progressives not only have a united and clear-cut program but are definitely opposed to the ideas of both the old parties. This is a national question, and everybody who has studied it knows that it can be handled wisely only by national law. The progressive party favors a national law on this vital subject. The two old parties say that the nation has no power to deal with child labor at all, but that the subject must be left to the states. Yet if left to the states not only can child labor not be ended; not only will the ruin of American citizens in the making go on in the various states that fail to stop it; not only will labor disturbances in states with good child labor laws continue to be caused by the employment of children in other states—but also the most serious business inequality is set up all over the republic.

Again, as dealing with the trusts, Senator Beveridge says: "The progressive party recognizes that the organization of business can not be and ought not to be destroyed on the one hand; but we say that they can and must be bridled and directed on the other hand. The greatest business concerns can be made the greatest servants of all the people."

"Just this is what the progressive party would do. We would make these vast industrial concerns do the people's work instead of letting them exploit the people. We would pass a business law plainly stating what business practices are unlawful, punishing its violation by prison sentences instead of money fines; and we would create an independent arm of the general government to control and regulate these giant business agencies in the interest of the public. If the interstate commerce commission is a good thing to regulate and control the railroads for this country, will anybody tell us why an interstate trust commission would not be an equally good or better thing to control and regulate the trusts, whose products the railroads carry? * * *

Yet against this plain, simple common sense statesmanship of the progressive party both old parties and also the great and evil interests that

MODISH COSTUMES HAVE PEG-TOP OUTLINES

New York, Aug. 2.—Whoever the man was who first assumed the prerogative of creating models for women, he secured for himself a long line of followers. Sometimes they have been condemned, sometimes mildly approved, but still more frequently enthusiastically admired by the favored sex. A recent body of these august personages has set the stamp of approval on many charming features of our present fashions, and suggested a variety of new ideas which promise to be equally popular.

At the recent convention of the National Ladies' Tailors' and Dressmakers' Association, the great majority favored the continuation of the narrow skirt; so it will be with us during the fall and winter. They fixed its width at one yard, or, at most, a yard and a quarter and with true American independence, and regardless of feminine, and, too, this low neck fashion never produces headache. To be sure, there are other waists much less fragile and dainty which are equally good style. The practical shirt waists have lost not a whit in favor, and, whether made of wash silk or other plain or striped, of flannel, linen or percale, are always very popular. At all times, the waist, whether of filmy or firm material, should be fresh and dainty, thus aiding in the difficult task of looking and keeping cool in hot weather.

How appropriate, then, for all practical purposes is the attractive waist and skirt of the second illustration! The waist is developed in white crepe. Collar of lace and deep yoke extending over the shoulders are pleasing features. The skirt is of black and white plaid in large check. A fashionable wide girde of black satin, brought loosely twice about the waist, finishes the costume, which is sufficiently smart for business, street or travel.

An apt example of the way our ideas shape themselves to the changes in fashion is evidenced in the cut leather belts of a contrasting color with the costume. Although still much favored, gay ribbons have not the exclusive right of encircling lady's waist. But, a short time ago leather belts of contrasting color were considered "too fancy" by the woman of really good taste, and, too, it was not the mode to "break the lines" with a belt, girde or sash in color. Now all this is changed. Stunning belts of suede in Chinese pious anathemas, decreed that the slash at the hem was "perfectly proper." So, it, too, will remain, but it is limited to a depth of eight inches. The wide, girde effect, such as illustrated in the first figure, will finish the garment at the waist, and the deep cuff or band will form an effective trimming for the lower hem. The charming frock below was developed in white surah silk. Drapery in both waist and skirt is an attractive detail. Narrow panel of silk embroidery, in shades of gold, royal blue and white, extends down the entire front of the costume. Gobel in blue girde, finished at the ends by beaded ornaments, is knotted carelessly at the left side, the ends hanging to the knee. For dinner, reception or justice, the frock is equally attractive either in summer or winter.

Among other approved modes are the peg top and leg o' mutton skirts, which, in their general silhouette, closely resemble one another. The former has box pleats introduced at the waist. At the back and front these are draped into panels, giving a broad effect over the hips and very narrow lines about the lower edge. The leg o' mutton skirt has Watteau pleats at the hips. The lower narrow hem is finished with stitched, smartly turned up cuff, an innovation in the style of finishing a woman's skirt that much resembles the smart turn a dady gives the hem of his trousers. The substitute for this cuff will be the band. We are assured that this band will be very smart, particularly on the Balkan dress.

Suit coats, made of brocaded eponge, will be worn with plain skirts. They will have sloping shoulder lines and kimono sleeves, and range in length from thirty-six to forty-one inches. Evening coats of charmeuse, plain or brocaded, for the present and of plush and wool cloth, with moire finish for fall and winter, will be effectively draped. The drawn in appearance at the hem continues in favor. The approved length is from forty-one to forty-five inches. Embroidery, fur, velvet and velour will be the fashionable trimmings.

In all the furor raised about extravagance and immodesty in the present styles, no one has thought to make favorable comment on the charming simplicity and unparalleled comfort of the present day blouses. To be sure, the materials used, muslin, mousseline, chiffon and crepe are frequently very diaphanous, but this sheerness is conducive to comfort on torrid days and the ribbons, rosebuds and laces to be seen underneath are very dainty and charming. With their delicate, ruffled fichus and attractively shaped necks filled with tulle or chiffon, no method of development could be more appealing or essentially blue, dull and moss green, bronze, lapis lazuli and apricot are seen with many of the smartest costumes. They are not drawn taut, as formerly, but allowed to come down loosely below the waist, in similar fashion to the ribbon girdles worn. They naturally crush a little. In this way the effect of suppleness which should characterize the figure is obtained. The blouse droops over them slightly, both back and front.

NEGRO HORSE THIEF ATTEMPTED ESCAPE

Bad Warren, foreman on the Tom Burnett ranch at Iowa Park, brought in a negro Friday evening, who officers at Ardmore, Oklahoma, had arrested on a charge of horse stealing. The negro had been at work on the Burnett place, and being discharged he went away, taking the horse with him. When the train on which Warren was bringing him back on, was out of Henrietta about a mile the negro made a getaway, jumping from the train. Warren signaled the engineer to stop, but failing to get a response, he jumped after the negro, and recaptured him before he could recover from the fall he got in jumping from the train.

ARE GEN. RIVA'S SLAYERS IMMUNE

CLAIMED LAW GIVES MEMBERS CUBAN CONGRESS LICENSE TO MURDER

TO REPEAL THIS LAW

Special Session of Cuban Congress Has Been Called by President Monocal

By Associated Press. Havana, Aug. 2.—The question of the immunity of members of the Cuban Congress from the laws of the land, so tragically brought into prominence by the killing July 7, of General Riva, chief of the National Police, by General Ernesto Asbert, Senator Morales and Representative Arias is arousing the deepest interest all over the island. President Monocal has called a special session of Congress to consider the great question at issue—a matter of far greater importance than the bringing to trial of the murderers of General Riva, whether or not the present conditions under which the life of any one of the two million and odd citizens of Cuba is at the mercy of any member of the privileged class of one hundred and sixteen men composing the two houses of the national legislature. The special session will be asked to adopt a law of procedure which shall define the article of the constitution conferring immunity in a manner adequate to the proper functioning of a republican regime. What Congress will do no one can say, but the opinion is almost universal that any attempt to change the law will be attended with great confusion and endless difficulties. If no other reason existed, the final argument of self-defense would, it is believed, compel Congress to battle to the last gasp against any modification of its rights of immunity. If these were surrendered, a notable proportion of the membership would at once become liable to arrest and prosecution, in many instances, on grave criminal charges. Out of a total of ninety-two representatives charges of one kind or another are reported to be pending against twenty-five. The proportion of accused in the Senate is not so high. In all these cases the consent of Congress to permit prosecution has been demanded and refused. Among the persons thus shielded by Congressional immunity are one representative against whom charges have been brought by a young girl; several charged with seduction, and one member accused of falsifying a public document. Since the inauguration of the first Cuban Congress the cloak of immunity has been often in demand and a large number of congressmen have found shelter under its ample folds. Only once has Congress permitted the prosecution of one of its members. The representative so distinguished was accused several years ago of homicide. It was only at his own urgent request, after explaining that he had a perfect case of self-defense and was assured of acquittal that Congress granted permission to prosecute. He was, however, convicted and sentenced to a long term, but was pardoned by the president. Another reform which President Monocal is most anxious to bring about is the abolition of the national custom of carrying conceal weapons which is now well nigh universal. All pistol licenses have been revoked time and time again, only to be reissued, until the ranks of the regularly licensed "gunmen" were recruited to their customary strength. But these constitute only a small proportion of the Cubans who habitually go armed and would as soon think of leaving home without revolver and knife as of leaving without hats. It is now proposed to prohibit the carrying of weapons under the severest penalties; but there is little reason to hope that Congress can be induced even to consider such a law.

LOVE—LIFE—HOME

"Dust thou art, and unto dust returnest Was not spoken of the soul." How strong and faithfully does every good and noble life bear out the above sentiment from the Poet's Pen. Man and woman pass through this life battling with conditions and yielding to environments as nothing else does. Each have their circle of friends and loved ones. Each their joys and their sorrows; each their creeds and desires while playing an important part in our actions comes greed, avarice, misfortune and penury. What emotions fill the human breast as varied as life itself. So thrilling that no hand however skilled can picture it; so tragic that no human tongue however voluble can express the heart rending emotions that wring bitter tears from human eyes. So full of hope that we place angel wings on human form and hatos of light around their mortal head. All thanks to Pandora! Hope points above where weeping loved ones see the way to a brighter and better life beyond. Our MEMORIALS tell the full story of LOVE, LIFE, HOME, COMPLETELY and EVERLASTINGLY.

BLINDS DOWN IN LONDON HOUSES

THEATRICAL SEASON IN ENGLISH METROPOLIS BROUGHT DISASTROUS EXPERIENCES

OTHER ENGLISH NEWS

Labor-Socialists Introduce Bill for Nationalization of All Mines

By Associated Press. London, Aug. 2.—The theatrical season of London closes with the ending of the social season in July. When all the town houses of the West End lower their blinds the curtains of the leading theatres drop until fall and the principal London managers go touring through the provinces.

This last season has been another of those disastrous experiences like the "unusual winters so common in Indiana." Moving pictures for the masses and the music halls for the tired business man get the blame from the managers of the legitimate, but the lack of good new plays also undoubtedly has had much to do with the slump in business. Revivals of old favorites have been the real successes of the year, with only two or three exceptions. The plays drawing most people today are Sardou's "Diplomacy," a veteran of forty years' life and Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanderay," with Sir George Alexander and Mrs. Patrick Campbell in the parts they played twenty years ago.

Many of the new plays have run brief and disastrous courses. English managers do not pay actors for rehearsals. A current story is of an actor who requested salary for three weeks rehearsal. When the manager expressed surprise at this presumption, the actor said: "Pay me for the rehearsal, and I will throw in my work for the rest of the piece."

Several American plays have been tried here, as usual. Only a minority were fairly successful. Yet American managers seem never to tire of paying money to learn that London is not Broadway.

The one theatrical event of historical importance has been the farewell season of Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson and Lady Robertson, who was Gertrude Elliott. They managed to fill the enormous Drury Lane Theatre for several weeks, with Hamlet for the chief attraction.

Today Drury Lane is a rival of the Covent Garden opera. Sir Thomas Beecham has brought the principal Russian opera singers and dancers from St. Petersburg for a season of Russian opera and ballets and society is finding the production novel, dazzling and attractive.

The most advanced step in the Labor-Socialist program, which is being formulated as a protest against the alleged mildness of the social legislation of the present government, has been marked by the introduction in Parliament from the labor benches of a bill for the nationalization of all the coal and other mineral mines. The first reading of the bill was moved by Stephen Walsh, the most independent of all the labor members. Briefly stated, the law contemplates:

1. The fixing of an appointed day on which the state is to take over all the coal mines and minerals in the kingdom.
2. Compensation to all those who have in good faith invested their money in the sinking and equipment of mines.
3. No compensation whatever to royalty owners, but the bill originally refuses to recognize or acknowledge their rights.
4. That the amount of compensation to be calculated on the actual output for the previous five years, a maximum of two dollars and one-half a ton being paid in the case of mines with an output of more than 100,000 tons a year, and of three dollars a ton in mines of smaller production.
5. That a minister of mines be appointed, with commissioners to give him advice, three representing the Mining Association, three the Miners' Federation and three the Trades' Union Congress.
6. That the minister of mines to be empowered to acquire any lands compulsorily; to carry on the business of selling coal to consumers, and apparently, to fix the price of coal.
7. That the mines be acquired by the formation of a three per cent coal mines stock, the dividends payable out of the proceeds of the business.

When these proposals were read, they rather took away the breath of the House. Some members were inclined to regard the measure in a jocular spirit until the earnestness of Mr. Walsh, who earned the respect of the House by his stand during the coal strike, caused them to pay serious attention to the provisions of the proposed law. No liberal names appeared among the backers of the bill. It is purely a labor measure, and it represents the labor view of how such a measure should be cast.

Certain anxious heirs in the United States who have been informed by a firm of attorneys that the estate of the great English navigator, Sir Francis Drake, is ready for distribution will be disappointed to learn that the most diligent search has failed to reveal the existence of this property.

The American embassy in London has recently received a number of letters from people in New York saying that certain persons representing themselves as the American attorneys for the Drake estate had informed them that their claims to the property of the courageous of the Spanish main could be substantiated. The attorneys demanded a percentage of the estate, and incidentally a few dollars in advance to defray the expense of collection.

An investigation at Somerset House where all estate records are kept, does not reveal the slightest foundation for the claims of the New York attorneys and if Sir Francis left any estate it was distributed to his heirs several hundred years ago.

TO EXTERMINATE HEAD HUNTERS

JAPAN OPENS VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN AGAINST SAVAGES OF FORMOSA

COUNT OKUMA'S VIEW

Says Japan's Success Depends on Effective Intercourse With World

By Associated Press. Tokyo, Aug. 2.—Japan has opened a vigorous military campaign against 20,000 savages of the island of Formosa, better known as "head hunters" who have refused to submit to the domination of Japan. When Japan was ceded Formosa in 1895 at the conclusion of the war with China the "head hunters" so named because of their custom of bringing human heads to all ceremonies, numbered about 150,000, but successive campaigns and peace overtures by the Japanese have now limited them to the Taruco tract, the widest of all, who inhabit the rugged and precipitous mountains near the eastern coast. The present Japanese force of subjugation comprises 3,000 men, made up of native troops and the police force of the island. It is divided into two columns and is in charge of General Sakuma, the governor-General of Formosa.

The Taruco tribesmen came from the Malay Peninsula and are the oldest known inhabitants of Formosa. They practice a rude kind of agriculture, wear scarcely any clothing and live in wood and bamboo huts on the heights of almost inaccessible mountains. They fight from the tops of trees and the campaign against them will be exceedingly dangerous. The subjugation in the past has been largely carried on by constructing a network of roads and by gradually extending the Japanese district, until the domination of the head hunters was restricted to the mountains which must now be assailed. The Japanese hope to make peaceful armers out of those who are left at the end of the present expedition.

A notable contribution to the discussion of the relation of the West to the East, opened up by the Californian land bill agitation, has been made by Count Okuma, "the Grand Old Man of Japan," who declares that Japan's future success depends upon her development of foreign intercourse.

Count Okuma writes of this problem in a volume fresh from the press. The Russian constantly uses the word "taisei," meaning trend, tendency, current or movement. Dividing history into the ante-medieval and post-medieval periods, the writer points out that in the former period oriental races overran Europe, while in the latter European races invaded the oriental world. This pulsation, or movement of races, Count Okuma calls the "taisei," or tendency of history.

Three successive waves have swept Japan. The first period began with Oda Nobunaga, when the Portuguese, Holland, Spain and other European nations sought intercourse with Japan. The second was the Russian movement which began to be felt after one hundred and fifty years of seclusion, and the third reached its culmination with the coming of Commodore Perry from the United States.

The attitude of a country toward this world tendency decides its fate. The Count says: "To follow the taisei is to rise and to oppose the taisei means destruction." This law, he declares, holds in the material world, and as a principle it governs the course of a nation to pursue is to obey the world tendency, to mount upon it, and to guide it. It was this attitude that saved Japan from destruction. If Japan for any reason should assume an attitude of hostility and opposition to the world tendency, her doom would be sealed.

Count Okuma considers it a matter of good fortune that Japan took good advantage of the world tendency when the movement was felt pressing at her door. "The progress of Japan in the future," Count Okuma concludes, "will depend upon the nation's success or failure in effecting intercourse with foreign nations."

Japan is making important strides in aviation. Recently a number of young military aviators in the Imperial Japanese Corps made a series of successful inter-provincial flights, covering a distance of 60 miles and qualified themselves as experts. The aviation corps has a spacious open ground at Tokorozawa, near Tokio, where a group of student aviators is being trained by Captain Tokugawa. These military aviators make occasional excursions to the city of Tokio, the people of which climb up to house tops to see the "man birds" fly.

The naval aviators also have been active recently. They paid a surprise visit to Yokohama and Tokio from the naval station at Yokosuka. In one of these trips Lieutenant Yamada covered a distance of 130 miles in two hours and ten minutes. The naval aviators are now planning to exhibit their craft before the Emperor, who is recuperating at Hayama, a seaside resort, from his recent illness.

The "new woman" crusade in Japan is day by day occupying an increasingly prominent place in public discussion. This is due to the comparatively radical measures adopted by the women to further their cause and to the fact that this agitation has elicited a counter campaign by prominent men of Japan, including officials of the department of education. Although the Japanese crusaders have in no way approached the radicalism of their English sisters and have not

A General Clean-up

Is the August Program at This Store

All Summer Merchandise is Marked for Slaughter

Beginning Monday, we will inaugurate a General Clean-up Sale of Summer Goods; prices will be radically reduced to insure a complete clearing. Two months yet remain for light wearables, but we realize that the selling period is short and are going to make prices, regardless of values, that will move them. We will not carry goods over from season to season, if SLAUGHTERING PRICES will move them out, and, our experience is, it generally does. Our buyers have been in the Eastern Markets the past four weeks and the greatest Fall Stock in the history of this business is beginning to arrive, for which we must have room, and to make the necessary room we must Slaughter summer stock.

resorted to violence, they are carrying on a determined movement by means of lectures and literature, some of which the government has seen fit to censor. Mr. Okuda, minister of education, says he is at a loss to understand the real motives of the "new woman." He declares so far as he can gather, that they are trying to transplant wholesale to Japan the extreme and unwholesome doctrines which have had a vogue in some parts of the United States and Europe, without modifying them to suit the Japanese people.

The minister admitted that not a few cases of unhappiness in the home in Japan are due to the general misconduct of men and he acknowledged that the present relations between men and women show room for great improvement. He recommended, therefore, that men pay greater respect to women. Women on her part should practice those virtues upon which alone happy and healthy households can exist. Girls and young women should be educated with the idea of making them good wives and wise mothers.

MARKETING PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

FARMERS UNION ARRANGE WITH WELLS FARGO EXPRESS COMPANY

TO HANDLE PRODUCE

Express Company To Act As Intermediary Between City Housewife and Farmer

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 2.—Peter Radford, president of the Texas Farmers Union, announced from the headquarters of the organization in this city today that he had just succeeded in arranging with the Wells Fargo & Company Express to act as intermediary between the shipper and buyer in the sale of farm produce. The plan which has been worked out by the executive committee of the Farmers' Union and accepted by the Wells Fargo Company, contemplates that the express company, through its agents, will accept from housewives and dealers in cities, a continuous order of country produce, shipment to be made daily or at periods specified by the buyer. These orders will be turned over to the Texas farmer to fill.

The express company will encourage the movement of the business and special packages will be constructed with compartments for eggs, butter, vegetables, fruit, etc., to accommodate the trade, so that the farmer can keep his customer supplies with a variety of seasonal produce.

The Wells Fargo people will also keep the produce advised of market conditions in the larger cities and by free distribution of dependable information, hope to take out much of the friction and misunderstanding now existing between the shipper and dealer and to prevent shutting one market and starving another.

It has long been the custom for speakers and writers to graphically measure the distance from the farm to the table, but this is perhaps the first instance where a comprehensive and capable route to shorten it has been surveyed and opened up. As the movement develops, President Radford thinks it will be adopted by other carriers and the territory extended throughout the United States.

A New Roadway of Trade. When asked for his views on the effects of the plan upon distribution, President Radford said: "We are blazing a new roadway of national trade and it is going to take cooperation and patience on the part of both the producer and consumer in smoothing out the rough places, but I have abiding faith in the ultimate success of the movement. The new alignment tends itself, as it were, to the elimination of the middleman, a consumer that can place a community order with a local Farmers' Union to fill. The Farmers' Union has asked the federal department of agriculture to put one or more experts on the project with a view of strengthening their plans as they develop and to work out plans for extending the new system of marketing into the staple products and apply it to all lines of transportation.

The only line of industry that has ever been successfully and constructively regulated is the common carrier. If we can make them the agency between the producer and consumer, then we will have a regulated highway of commerce where the article can safely travel without danger of being burglarized on the roadways of trade.

Middleman Needs Regulating. The Farmers' Union has long cherished the hope of bringing the producer and consumer nearer together. The middleman is nothing more than a farm hand, but he is able to fix his own wages and collect them and to multiply his transactions as he pleases. He is, at best, an independent and oftentimes incompetent servant of agriculture and frequently deserves to be either disciplined or discharged. The middlemen are without competition or government supervision. They need regulating as badly as the common carrier as they plan a road for facilities for a competitive system of marketing which will act as a check against the greed of the middleman, a leverage against combinations and will have a tendency to avoid glut on the market.

The new plan is not without its compensation to the middleman. While reducing him to his natural position as an industrial domestic, it will restore to him many profitable advantages which he has forfeited for power. It will take out waste, uncertainty and inefficiency and will add volume, stability and conscience to the business.

The consumer will likewise feel the generosity of the new system of distribution in the extension of the season of perishable products far beyond their present limits. As a rule the movement of perishable products is retarded during the season and agricultural panic will be unknown and business generally will feel the steadying hand of this new influence in trade. The volume of business will be largely increased and waste turned into profit.

The Need of Sound Money. On the line of products which constitute the bulk of the traffic adapted to movement through the new channels of commerce, those who are authorized to make estimates tell us the middleman gets an average of forty cents on the dollar which the consumer pays for the product. It is justice to the middleman, I will say that I consider half of this seeming profit is waste. It is toll levied by an incompetent and immoral system of business which breeds panics in marketing and enforces speculation in the business. The farmer is compelled to do business on a fifty cent dollar while other lines of industry have sound money.

A Billion Dollars Involved. The annual profit of the middleman of the nation on fruits, vegetables and poultry approximates one billion dollars and the new system of distribution places in the hands of the producer an opportunity of securing a large amount of this profit. It has the additional possibility of adding at least one-third to the volume of the business as I consider that more than thirty per cent of this class of products never leaves the farm for want of a market or gets in the field for lack of profitable prices.

The interests of the producer and common carrier harmonize sufficiently to admit of a working basis of cooperation. The carrier receiving no part of the purchase price or direct compensation for the sale of the article would not be subjected to the character test which the middleman must meet in every transaction. The desire to move the business would naturally stimulate the carrier to exertion on behalf of the producer and their activities would compensate rather than conflict with the producer and the Inter-State Commerce Commission, having power over rates, can protect the interests of the middleman. The plan will reduce the element of risk to the minimum.

Railroads Should Have a Market Bureau. I am hoping that the railroads will also put on a market bureau. The railroads have been plowing, so to speak, for some years and it is easy to understand their intense interest in increasing the tonnage and the same reasons apply to merchants, manufacturers and business interests generally, but bumper crops without market facilities have sent more farmers starving down the tracks than any agriculture than all the pests and droughts that ever cursed this nation. Certainly a freight solicitor could offer no greater inducement to a farmer than a profitable sale of the products and indeed the railroad can give no greater encouragement to the producer than top prices for things he can raise. The railroads will find that one good salesman in the market will do more to stimulate production than a dozen professors in the field.

The railroads can give agriculture no more serious blow than to dump the farmers' produce in a market which is frequently done. Marketing—not production—is the problem that confronts the American farmer today and I want to commend the Wells Fargo Company for its understanding and co-operation in solving this problem. Our transportation systems are the dray carts of agriculture and can be made capable peddlers of farm produce. The middleman has been driving the delivery wagon, but the present plan gives the farmer a hold on the reins. There is no other way now constructed that will lend itself to carrying quite so readily as our common carriers with offices girdling the globe and agencies in every market.

A Word to the Farmers. The connection of the Farmers' Union with this matter has been to formulate and submit a general plan to the Wells Fargo people. It is up to the farmers individually to make it a success. Remember that honesty and reliability are your best salesmen. Your personal reputation and that of your fellow farmers is at stake in every package. Stand behind your label and back up your goods. The table is waiting at the other end of the line and your service must be reliable in both time and quality.

Wells Fargo & Co. Confirm. In a long distance conversation with C. W. Simpson, industrial agent of the Wells Fargo & Company, headquarters at Houston and having jurisdiction over the southern and western divisions of the company, the statement relating to the action of the Wells Fargo Company was verified. Mr. Simpson said: "I have just returned from New York where I attended a six weeks conference of representatives of the industrial department of the company held with President D. B. Caldwell for the purpose of going fully into the details of the plans submitted by Mr. Radford."

The Wells Fargo & Company will issue a statement to the public at an early date outlining the plan in detail.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

P. W. Nolen, 1100 Indiana St., Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Harrington's Drug Store and was relieved of pains across my kidneys that had made every move one of misery. In the morning the trouble was worse. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and I consider them a fine remedy for regulating the kidney action and removing trouble with the kidney secretions. I willingly confirm the testimonial I gave some years ago."

LECTURES TODAY ON WHITE SLAVERY

Addresses Will Be Made This Afternoon By Dr. Betts and Dr. Essert

Under the auspices of the International Anti-White Slavery Association three meetings will be held here this afternoon and tonight. These meetings are to be part of a nation wide campaign against the evils of white slavery which the society is making.

One of these addresses, for men only, will be given by Dr. Essert at the First M. E. Church, South, whose subject will be "America's Peril—White Slavery." This address will be given at 3 p. m.

At the same hour Dr. Betts will speak at the First Baptist Church. His subject will be "The Blight and Curse of Beraty."

A mass meeting will be held in the evening. In referring to a recent address by Dr. Essert at Cheate, Kansas, the Chanute Daily-Tribune says: "At the close of the address a request was made unanimously by the audience that the Tribune be requested to publish the entire address if possible. It was suggested also that sufficient money be raised to issue the address in pamphlet form for free distribution."

These addresses are given under the auspices of the ministers of the city and all lovers of home and virtue are urged to attend.

Are Doing Good Work. These two men recently held a series of lectures in Emporia, Kansas. The Emporia Gazette has the following to say regarding the meetings: "There would be no white slave traffic if it were not for the segregated district. This is the statement made by Dr. E. H. Essert, lecturer for the International Anti-White Slavery Association, in his address to men in the First Methodist Church yesterday afternoon."

"Mr. Essert spoke on 'A National Peril—White Slavery' and gave a forceful address in which he condemned the practice of vice segregation. "The International Anti-White Slavery Association stands for the blotting out of segregated vice," said Dr. Essert, who continued by saying that by its abolition, many of the young girls would be saved and the traffic checked. The speaker then made statements of a most astounding and alarming nature, concerning the social evil. He told of the large numbers of sufferers and afflicted with blindness, insanity and other infirmities which are attributable to this evil. He stated on authority of eminent men that at the present rate of increase of social diseases, not many years would elapse before this nation would collapse and fall as did the Roman Empire."

"Dr. E. E. Betts talked at the same hour in the First Christian Church to the women. The church was well filled with Emporia women and girls and the address was helpful, startling and well given. Without any attempt at sensationalism, Dr. Betts revealed the unseen danger that surrounded the unsuspecting girl and told of the disappearance of girls who have dropped into the underworld and have never been seen."

Remember the dime novels published by "Laird and Lee" of Chicago you used to read when younger? William Henry Lee, senior member of the firm, died the other day, leaving a fortune of $200,000 and no heirs. Investigation has shown he had negro blood, his mother being a slave and that he was a waiter for many years.

Funeral Of Amos Steelsmith Will Be Held Monday 3 P. M.

Amos Steelsmith

The funeral of Amos Steelsmith, the veteran oil man who died Thursday night following injuries received when he was crushed beneath a falling derrick at Electra, will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon from the family residence at 1104 Brook street. Rev. J. W. Hill will deliver the funeral sermon.

The cut of Mr. Steelsmith used in connection with this item is one used in the publication of "Progressive Men of Pennsylvania," published in 1909. This volume contains an extended sketch of Mr. Steelsmith. From this sketch it is learned that Mr. Steelsmith was born at Edenburg, Clinton county, Pa., September 15, 1851. He first engaged in the oil business at Edenburg in 1874 and later was prominent in the operations at Sandy Point in Butler county, Pa., at Clarendon, in Warren county, the same state and in 1886 he made his first venture into the Ohio field at Findley.

Later he was active in the Glade Run field and at Cooperstown, and his first operations in the West Virginia fields was at Cairo. At one time he had interests in practically every oil field in the country. He drilled one of the first wells in the Indian Territory, and at one time held a lease on 400,000 acres comprising the Glenn Pool in Oklahoma, which had the government approved and allowed him to retain, would have made him richer than a hundred Croesus.

In 1900, at the time of the publication of the "Progressive Pennsylvania," he owned eighty producing oil wells and owned a controlling interest in a number of wells in the Bullion district in Venango county, Pa. He was also interested in a gold mine and held a large interest in the Butler Pa. Natural Gas Company, besides owning a three story business block in Butler and the controlling interests in an oil refinery at Coraopolis, Pa.

At that time he was worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. When fortune's tide turned against him and swept away his last dollar, Mr. Steelsmith did not lose hope or give up the fight and for nearly ten years his life has been a valiant struggle against odds that would have overwhelmed the ordinary man. Just as it looked like he was going to win in one of the gamiest fights ever known in the oil world his life was cut off by a fatal accident. It was characteristic of the man, those who know him best say, that he told his helpers to stand back from the dangerous work and himself took all the risk in the work at which he lost his life.

Characteristic of the man, those who know him best say, that he told his helpers to stand back from the dangerous work and himself took all the risk in the work at which he lost his life.

Mrs. Sadie Braun, daughter of Mr. Steelsmith is expected to arrive tonight from her home in New York. A meeting of the North Texas Oil Men's Association was held Friday night at which committees were appointed to draw up resolutions and make arrangements in connection with the funeral of Mr. Steelsmith. As the news of his death is spread over the country a flood of telegrams of condolence is coming in to his widow and members of his family here.

Resolutions of Respect. The committee appointed at Friday night's meeting of the oil men reported the following resolutions:

"Whereas, It has pleased the All Wise Father of the Universe to call from our midst a wise counsellor and an efficient laborer in the enforcement of the Divine precepts. "Now therefore as an expression of our deep and sincere regret so far as words may be adequate to this expression, which we all feel in view of his tragic and untimely death, the North Texas Oil Men's Association place upon this sheet our individual and united voice the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That we deplore the tragic and untimely death of our brother, friend and counsellor, Amos Steelsmith, which occurred Friday, August 1, 1913.

"Resolved, That we who knew our friend and brother, can bear cheerful testimony of his spotless and unblemished character, as a devoted husband, a loving father and a true friend, who, at all times found his greatest asset to be that of truth and honor. We realize that Amos Steelsmith has passed, but the world is better for his work. The good he has done will stand eternal and imperishable.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the meeting of the North Texas Oil Men's Association, a copy given to the press of this city, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family, as a token that they are not alone in their grief.

"Resolved, That in contemplating the life and death of our deceased

LIFE SENTENCE FOR YOUTH

HERMAN COPPES, A BAFFLING STUDY IN JUVENILE CRIMINOLOGY

THREAT TO COMMUNITY

Innocent and Harmless On Day Surfers Homicidal Mania On the Next

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 2.—Fourteen years of age and sentenced for life. Granting that Herman Coppes, a mere baby, lives to the average age of prisoners, this youth who calmly shot to death, for no apparent reason, the wife of his benefactor and crushed the heads of two babies with an axe, today is looking forward to his fifty years he must still serve behind prison bars before death liberates him.

Herman Coppes is a tousle-haired, he found on corner lots playing baseball or at the swimming holes taking a stolen "plunge" there will be no baseball or swimming for him. Herman Coppes.

"The most baffling study in juvenile criminology that has ever come to my notice," was the characterization of the Coppes boy expressed today by Warden Edmund M. Allen, of the Illinois state prison at Joliet. And although criminologists and penitentiary officials who have examined this strange little fellow, who the warden's statements. All are agreed that it would be a menace to any community for the boy to be free in it. They are agreed that there is no doubt of homicidal mania of the worst type. The alienists—at least some of them—say the boy should be sent to an institution for the insane for treatment, but they admit that his condition is such that he should be treated as an idiotic man. Some freedom would have to be given him. At any time, they say, during one of the periods of apparent sanity, he might cunningly plan and succeed in satisfying what they call his lust to kill. Penitentiary officials admit frankly they haven't the slightest idea what to do with the boy. Never before, they say, have they been forced to "turn a cell into a library."

"He is a second Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," said one of the guards. In whose cell he sleeps. "He's the queerest little fellow I ever did see, and I have some youngsters of my own, about his age, who are not white sergeants. One day he'll be as happy as a kid with a baseball bat. The next day he hangs his head, mopes in his cell, marches into the dining room with eyes half shut, and eats barely enough to satisfy the hunger of a kid one-third his age. He will refuse to talk even when we talk to him of things he likes. Then, the next day, he's smiling and cheerful again."

The Story of His Crime. When he was barely thirteen years old, the Coppes boy was sent to the St. Charles state reformatory because his father declared him to be "incorrigible." Ten months ago, he was paroled and given into the custody of Manny Sleep, a farmer living near Kewanee.

One evening when Sleep was away from home the boy shot the farmer's young wife. With an axe he dashed out the brains of her two babies. Sarah, aged four, and Bertie, aged two. Removing the cover from an abandoned cistern under the kitchen he pushed the dead mother and her dead babies into the well. Then he brother, we are more than ever impressed with the beauty, force and truth of the expression: "He loved his fellow man, his purse and hand were ever ready to aid the afflicted and the needy."

When he looked up there were tears in his eyes, and he sobbed openly as he went back into his cell. ### PAVING MELON THREE SLICES

THREE CONTRACTORS GIVEN AWARDS FOR THE TENTH STREET PAVING

TWO MATERIALS USED

Wood Blocks To Lamar Avenue, Asphalt Macadam Rest of Way—Curbing To Roberts

The city council Friday night decided to divide the Tenth street paving melon, giving each of the three lowest bidders a slice.

From Ohio avenue to Lamar the paving will be of creosoted wood blocks of a thickness of three and one-half inches, with a concrete base of four inches. The Cresoted Wood Block Paving Company drew this piece of the work at a price of $2.59 per square yard, which carries with it a five year maintenance bond.

From Lamar to Broox the work will be of asphalt-macadam, with a four inch concrete base. The R. D. Mosley Company of Dallas were awarded this portion of the work at a price of $1.23 1-2 which also carries with it a five year maintenance Texaco asphalt will be used.

The curb and gutter work was given to I. H. Roberts of this city at a price of 60 cents per lineal foot. The work will be of concrete. The division of the contract came through the fact that a difference in the price bid was made by the different contractors on the different parts of the work, and also because the aldermen felt that a more permanent pavement was necessary on that portion of the street nearest to town and on which the street cars are run. In each instance the lowest bid was accepted.

During the session of the council a petition was presented asking that the width of the street be reduced to thirty feet, the residue to be given over to parking purposes, making the lawns in front of the houses extend out from the sidewalks. The object stated in the petition was to reduce the cost of paving and the cost of maintenance. In opposition to the petition, Mr. Wiley Blair appeared before the meeting and advanced the statement that forty feet was narrow enough for a street used as much as Tenth street would be, and urged the council not to consider making the pavement less than forty feet. He said his position was endorsed by many other property owners who were unable to be present. The council discussed the matter at some length and finally laid it over till another meeting until the sentiment of a majority of the property owners could be ascertained.

The work of paving will be commenced as soon as the material can be placed upon the ground, probably in twenty or thirty days, and will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

A motion was also carried calling upon the city attorney to prepare an ordinance making it compulsory for property owners to connect with the sanitary sewer, water and gas within the next thirty days. This was done to prevent as far as possible the tearing up of the pavement as soon as it was down by those who may have failed to make the desired connections.

No action was taken in the matter of Scott avenue paving, the aldermen having all they could do to get rid of the Tenth street job in the time between supper and midnight.

ALL READY FOR STARTER'S BELL

TRACK IN FINE SHAPE

Reduced Fares On Traction Line During Race Meet Have Been Announced

With more than 150 trotting, pacing and running horses on the ground, seasoned to the altitude and weather, and in the pink of condition, the race course at Lake Wichita presents an enlivened scene, and is in readiness for the starter's bell for the first races Tuesday morning.

Several carloads of racing horses came down from Vernon Friday night and more came Saturday and by Saturday noon all the stables at the Lake were filled and running horses were being tethered in the open.

In addition to the horses that have been racing in the Texas-Oklahoma short slip circuit during the past four weeks a number of horses from South Texas have been entered in the meet here, and already the entries outnumber those at any other meet in the circuit.

While some exceptionally fast time has been made in the races at Clarendon, Quanah, Childress and Vernon the horses, many of which were entered from Colorado and points of higher altitude, are just getting thoroughly acclimated, and are expected to make a better showing here than at the meetings already held.

While it is customary to charge 50 and 75 cents admission to races of this class the traction company here will sell round trip fares to the lake including admission to the race course for only 40 cents for the round trip. To secure this rate tickets must be purchased.

The track has been placed in tip top shape and horsemen say it is the fastest over which they have yet raced. An ample grandstand has been erected and other provisions made for the safety and comfort of the visitors. Excursion rates on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern and other roads will be effective during the meet and it is expected that thousands of out of town visitors will be in the city during the week.

Many of the horses were worked out yesterday and will be given workouts again today and many are planning to go out to watch the workouts.

The meeting will open Tuesday morning. The opening day's races include the following: 2:20 pace, purse $300; 2:25 trot, purse $400; two year old pace, purse 100; one-fourth mile dash, purse $100; five-eighths mile dash, purse $100.

T. J. Jeffries of Childress, is acting as manager of the meet.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

On account of the big race meet at Lake Wichita, August 5, 6, 7 and 8, the traction company will sell round trip tickets to Lake Wichita and return and ticket to the enclosed grounds, which includes the pavilion, for 40 cents, being 15 cents for car fare and 25 cents admission to the grounds.

This only applies between the hours of 6 a. m. and 7 p. m. and before 6 a. m. and after 7 p. m. the grounds are free as heretofore.

25 cents admission to the grounds will be charged those using conveyances other than the street cars, for each person, and 25 cents for each automobile or other conveyance.

This general admission of 25 cents admits you to every part of the ground, including the race track. A check will be furnished at each entrance gate which admits you to any part of the grounds.

Tickets may be obtained from any street car conductor or from the following business houses:

- Stonecipher-Smith Drug Store
- Mack Taylor's Drug Store
- Collier & Hendricks
