STATE TO TEACH PEOPLE HOW TO LIVE

Michigan is Appearing in Role of Instructor in a Health Campaign

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 5.—The state of Michigan today is appearing in the role of instructor in a unique campaign of public health education. In charge of Dr. R. L. Dixon, head of the state board of health, is a "public health special" which every important community in the lower peninsula will be visited. The trip will last twenty-four days.

The "public health special" consists of three exhibition coaches and a Pullman. Dr. Dixon will teach not only the principals of good health but the prevention of diseases. Crammed into all the available space in the coaches are pictures, charts and models. One model was of an unsanitary house in which tuberculosis might thrive. Another was a model house with quarters for a tubercular person separated from the rest of the building and with all sorts of appliances to prevent any possible spread of the disease to other members of the household. There are models of sanitary drinking cups, sanitary lavatories, bathrooms and kitchens.

In one of the exhibition coaches are two bedrooms contrasting good and poor systems of ventilation and arrangement. In another part of the car a model garbage incinerator is demonstrated. In another section is an apparatus showing the proper construction of wells to prevent pollution of water.

Moving picture exhibits and lectures will be given in all the towns and cities visited where overnight stops are made. About sixty places will be visited by the "public health special." The length of stops will vary from several days in the larger cities to an hour or two in the small towns.

DANGEROUS CALOMEL GOING OUT OF USE

A Safer, More Reliable Remedy Has Taken Its Place in the Drug Store and in the Home

A few years ago, when women and children took calomel for a sluggish liver and for constipation. They took risks when they do so, for calomel is a dangerous drug. Your family doctor will be the first to tell you this if he discovers you dosing yourself with calomel.

But the drug dealer has found a safer, more pleasant remedy than calomel in Dodson's Liver Tonic.

Miller tells us that their drug store sells Dodson's Liver Tonic in practically every case of biliousness and liver trouble where calomel used to be taken.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a vegetable liver tonic that is absolutely harmless for children and grown people. It sells for 50 cents a bottle and is guaranteed by Miller's Drug Store who will refund your money with a smile if it does not give quick, gentle relief without any of calomel's unpleasant after-effects.—Miller's Drug Store.

A HARD SUMMER ON STATESMEN

THOSE WHO ARE FAVORITES ON CHATAUQUA CIRCUITS ESPECIALLY HARD HIT

WILL FEEL MONEY'S LACK

Democratic Leaders Have Hard Work Keeping Congressmen in Washington

(By Burton Standish, written for the United Press)

Washington, Aug. 6.—The tempo of criticism which arose when Secretary of State Bryan declared that he couldn't live on the $12,000 yearly salary he receives as head member of the president's cabinet and that he was compelled to augment his salary with receipts from his chautauquus talks calls on the fact that there are quite a number of "chautauquus" held involuntarily in Washington this summer. And worse still for these erstwhile platform charmers, it is generally conceded here now that extra sessions of Congress will be called on the chautauquus season until the latter part of September—if not later—thereby putting a disconcerting and jagged dent into the planned incomes of a good many public men.

While all of the men of official life in Washington who every summer add considerably to their incomes via the chautauquus route, do not command the big prices Secretary Bryan does, their manage to make enough by their lectures to pay a lot of bills and still have quite a nest egg left over. Secretary Bryan is said to be the highest priced lecturer on the circuit. He is reported to get between $200 and $300 every time he raises his voice in silvery toned oratory before a chautauquus audience. Other chautauquers of the Congressional and statesman rank, it is declared, command on the average of from $100 to $200 per lecture.

Senator Bob La Follette and Speaker Champ Clark are close on Secretary Bryan's heels in the matter of popular esteem as lecturers. Both these gentlemen are among the mercurials in Washington. Both, when it was seen that Congress would drag along, cancelled their dates and stopped thinking what they would do with the money. Senator La Follette has found time to keep a few of his lecture dates, but they were mighty few.

Representative Victor Murdock, the fiery haired Progressive House leader from Kansas, is also a great drawing card on the platform and he said today that he hates to think about the money he isn't making "on the side" this summer. Senator Olla James used to do quite a bit of lecturing during the summer months but of late years, since he rose from the House to the Senate, he has done very little on the chautauquus circuit. Still, he admits having arranged to exchange three or four talks this summer for "square change," as he put it, and he is another one whose "side money" has been sadly depleted. Vice President Marshall hoped, when 4,291,776 citizens voted him in to the vice presidency, that he would be able to add to a rather thin purse by raking in a few shekels which some of those citizens might pay to hear him lecture. He has made several brief excursions into the chautauquus circuit but he doesn't dare leave for any extended period while Congress is in session. Marshall has to sit tight on the job because at this moment that "scent Democratic majority" in the Senate might get to pinning wild and make it a tie vote on some administration measure.

Not only does this summer legislation by the legislators hurt in the region of the pocket book, but it has also plagued them with innumerable vacation plans. Mighty few Democrats will be permitted to leave Washington from now on, and some of them are acting just like the office boy does when the boss tells him he can't go off on that cruise or camping trip—he had looked forward to with such pleasurable anticipation.

Whip J. Ham Lewis and majority leader Mann are the Simon Legrees of this summer session of the national legislature. Hardly a day passes that some Democratic legislator complains about breaking down and needing just a week or just a few days of rest and relaxation. But Senators Kern and Lewis were well chosen for their task. They can rip into an excuse or a plea, tear it to pieces and cast it smashed and mutilated to the floor without the flicker of an eyelash while some leeching fellow member stands pleading for a slight recess almost with tears in his eyes. Not a senator in Washington today who has suggested a brief vacation only to be instantly rebuked but believes that somewhere back in the pan, Kern and Lewis could find an anguished spouse who was either a slave driver or commander of one of the ancient slave galleys.

Nearly a score of senators, clinging to the hope that Congress would go through in time, made bookings for trips to Europe, fixing their sailing dates late in July or early in August. All without exception, have had to cancel them. The only thing left for the solons are week end trips and moving picture shows. And the week end trips about Washington are mighty few and far between.

Yes, it's a hard life, this being a statesman. The baseball games are about the only thing to amuse these hard worked, perspiring, tariff-making legislators. There is some talk here of passing the Congressional Washington team to play all its games at home whenever there is a summer session of the legislature.

World's Specialists in Session.
London, Aug. 5.—London's normal quota of doctors was increased by over 5,000 today when the world's greatest specialists gathered at Royal Albert Hall for the opening of the seventeenth International Congress of Medicine. Practically every country in the world was represented when Prince Arthur of Connaught welcomed the delegates on behalf of King George and during the next ten days twenty-three sections will discuss "all the ills to which the flesh is heir."

Sir Thomas Darlow, King George's principal physician, chairman, and among the delegates are Professor Harvey Cushing of Harvard University; Surgeon General Charles F. Stokes, U. S. N., and Col. William C. Gorgas and Major Frederick F. Russell, U. S. A. Professor Cushing will lecture on surgery as affecting the

Harvesters Buzz Merrily In Big Wheat Belts As Banks Oet Money From Uncle Sam To Move Crops

Washington, Aug. 5.—Over 100 banks in the south and west have asked for government money to help move the crops, as offered by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Farmers in the great wheatfields of the country are rejoicing over the action of the administration, judging from tigrams which have been received by the treasury department. The merry buzz of the great harvesters will go on more Catholic Abstainers Meet.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Following the formal opening of the convention of the National Catholic Total Abstinence Union with solemn Pontifical mass at the cathedral, several thousand delegates from every section of the country settled down to business this afternoon for a three day session. The morning session was devoted to speechmaking. Director of Docks Ferris Norris welcomed the delegates in behalf of Mayor Blaken-burg. Representative J. Washington Logue of Pennsylvania was the principal speaker this afternoon. A public outdoor meeting will be held tomorrow at Willow Grove. Bishop Canevin of Pittsburg and Rev. J. P. O'Callaghan of Chicago, national president of the Union, will be the principal speakers. Archbishops Ireland, of St. Paul, Keane of Dubuque, and many distinguished laymen from the west also will speak.

Mrs. John Hanan Whose "Stolen" Jewels Were Found In Pawnshop

MRS. JOHN H. HANAN

Boston, Aug. 4.—The answer to Narragansett Pier's dual sensation of the missing jewels valued at a quarter of a million dollars is right here in Boston.

Mrs. John H. Hanan's $150,000 worth of diamonds were found in the safe of a State street broker. They had been left there by persons known to the brokerage firm as security for a $50,000 loan.

Some of the missing jewels of Mrs. Charles Carey Rumsey, which are valued at $100,000, are likewise in Boston.

"Some of the Rumsey pearls are in Boston, some are in New York," C. C. Tgethoff remarked to a gentleman friend, who asked:

"How do you know that?"

"It is my business to know," replied Mr. Tgethoff, crisply.

Mr. Hanan who is ill has not been told of the disappearance of the jewels by Mrs. Hanan.

Mrs. Hanan declined at her Narragansett Pier cottage an offer of the service of a fingerprint expert to help her solve the mystery of her absent gems. The Boston American brought to her cottage a fingerprint expert of a big detective agency. This expert was formerly in the employ of the British government at Shanghai. He demonstrated his powers in the fingerprint line before Chief James R. Caswell of the police department. Chief Caswell was thoroughly satisfied with the demonstration.

Then the expert, with a reporter, went to the Hanan cottage. A message was sent in to Mrs. Hanan that the services of a fingerprint expert were at her disposal and that if the expert were allowed to examine the jewel drawer he would detect any finger marks which might have been made on it.

Jewels Simply Soaked.

None of the society folks were arrested. Their names were taken by Constable Cross. Mrs. Hanan gave the name of "Mary Jones." An examination of the roulette wheels showed that they were crooked. There was a general exodus of the accused society persons from the pier after the raid. Mrs. Hanan declared that she would remain and face the music. She had expressed her opinion previously that she saw no harm in gambling if it could be of suicide. A comrade who has been able to bring prison in with him is regarded as exceptionally fortunate. Those of us who are not thus provided are practicing the art of making deadly nooses which we may tighten with our own hands in case we are called to the awful punishment cell.

EXAMINATION IN PROGRESS BEFORE JUSTICE HOWARD.

An examining trial is being held by Justice Howard this afternoon to determine the extent if any to which Jessie Miller and Elizabeth Mogley were implicated in the shooting scrape in the Gem rooming house Monday night. The two women were present when the shooting took place. Chas. Conroy, the man who was arrested for the shooting, claims to have had $240 in one roll of bills, when he went into the hall way where, he says Carter and the two women were. They all took a drink together and from that time until he came too in the police station he says he cannot remember what transpired. The women have been held in jail by the officers since the shooting took place and the examination this afternoon is to decide whether they will be held to the grand jury convenes.

"Closed—Gone to the Races." This is a sign that is displayed on the doors of most of Wichita Falls stores and offices this afternoon. The traction company was taxed to its capacity to handle the crowd that went out to the race track this afternoon and reports indicate an attendance more than twice as large as yesterday.

Gaineville—O. L. Rash, secretary of the Cook county fair association has closed a contract with a motion picture company to photograph the events of the fair to be held here Sept. 18 to 19.

Temple—Preliminary arrangements are being made at this place for the erection of the new $25,000 round-house. Construction work is expected to begin immediately.

A letter from a prisoner at Alcatraz

BREAKING IT TO SAM

By GEORGE BINGHAM.

"Allie, I'm goin' to ask you once more to marry me. I've got a farm over in Kansas in that river-bottom. There's a house there! It's well fitted up for me and you—not for me and somebody else."

"Sam, I know you have waited for me and I couldn't decide, but now I have decided; I'll go and be your wife. I'll go."

"When will it be, Allie? Tonight?"

"No, not tonight—but the next day after Thanksgiving."

Sam was happy and went to his home.

The morning was cold, and the big flakes of snow drifted through the keen air and settled on the frozen ground. It was Thanksgiving and the day was good for killing hogs.

Before sun-up Dock Hill built fires under the big kettles down in the horse lot and the neighbors came over to help him. The neighbor women wrapped shawls around their heads and flocked to the house to assist Dock's wife in preparing the big dinner.

That morning Sam went across the field to Dock Hill's. When he arrived there other men were standing around the roaring fire built between two large logs, upon which rested the scalding kettles with dirty-looking water.

Sam came through the patch of woods and climbed the rail fence.

"We're waitin' for you. The water's gettin' hot," some one called. Then this same person in a lower tone spoke to those around him: "I wonder if he's heered the news yet? I wonder how he's goin' to take it?"

"You tell him, Jim."

Jim Carpenter spoke up. "Sam, have you heerd the news?"

"No, what is it?"

"Why, didn't you hear about Allie and Ben Tillman running away last night?"

Sam never moved—but his face changed color, changed from a healthy red to a sickly pale.

"Dock, I don't reckon I can help you today, I'm not feelin' good," he said.

Sam went toward his home over in the Cumberland river bottoms and after he was out of hearing one of the men spoke up: "Say, Sam don't seem to keep a dura if Allie did run off with that other feller, does he?"

An old man fanned the smoke away from his face and answered: "Young feller, you can't allus tell when a man's heart has been hurt. Sam's one of them men that can't be seen into. You can't see the real Sam by looking into his face. He's one of those quiet sort of men. A better one never lived."

Sam Williams went to his home and saddled his horse. Slowly down the road he started with an ashy face and eyes that looked at nothing. His horse took him to the nearest village where whisky was sold. Late that afternoon he came back. His horse was in a dead run, and its rider, with a long pistol in one hand, started the people living in sight of the road with shots and wild whoops.

"Well—did—yes—er—er!" an old woman exclaimed. "If that ain't Sam Williams. Who'd a thought it! Never saw him that way before, and I kaint believe my old eyes now."

When the darkness of that day came the wind settled, the air grew softer and snow began falling.

Dock Hill opened his front door and looked out into the darkness. "Hi's jest peppering down snow. I'll bet the woodpile is covered up in the morning. Don't believe I ever seed it snow so brisk. Hi, whuts that big light I see over to'ards Sam Williams' house. Gimme my hat, I'm goin', Sam's house is afire!"

Away across the hills toward the river bottom a huge light made a hole in the darkness.

Dock drew near to the house of Sam Williams and saw the red flames and spark-laden smoke rise up in the night, and heard the roof of the house falling. Nearly breathless he ran up, and there on the yard fence he saw Sam Williams sitting with a gun in his hand.

"Go back home, Dock. This is my house and I've got a right to do as I like. Go back, go back."

After the fire in the building was beyond control of anyone who might want to interfere, Sam took his horse from the stable, started a fire in the large hayloft and galloped away down the road on his steed. There are people in this community, who heard the hoofbeats of Sam's horse as he swept down the road that night, but there are none who have seen him since.

They All Read Alike.

"The average novel is insipid," said James L. Ford, the noted critic, at a dinner.

"I was taking tea one afternoon in Washington square, when my hostess suddenly turned to her parlor maid and cried:

"Oh, Marie, horrors! What have you done with my new novels?"

"I just gathered them from the two tables, ma'am, to make room for the tea service," the maid answered, "and I plied them all together on this commode here."

"Perdition!" my hostess cried. "What am I to do now? Didn't you know, Marie, that the books on the small table I'd read, while those on the large one I hadn't? Now they'll all be mixed up, and I'll never know which are which!"

KATY TO PUT ON MILLION YARDS BALLAST

Over 600 Miles of Roadbed Will be Improved—This Division Needs It

Special to the Times. Dallas, Texas, Aug. 6.—Closing a contract with Butler Brothers of Dallas for the burning of a million yards of ballast, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway Company of Texas is getting ready to make six hundred more miles of its Texas roadbed a luxurious experience to every passenger and a thing of delight to every shipper.

This vast project involves an expenditure of between $1,250,000 and $1,700,000, the cost to the company to burn and lay ballast being, according to location, etc., between $1.25 and $1.50 a yard. Butler Brothers are the inventors of a method of burning ballast for roadbed that is the envy of railway companies without it and are the biggest firm of contractors of this kind in America.

To execute the big order, the M. K. & T. management has just let, there will be four pits, locations being determined largely by both proximity to the mileage and to the clay needed. There will be one at Hillboro, another near Granger, a third at Reedville, and the fourth at Rogersville. To get the ballast required for heavy railroad traffic, a special clay is required. This substance is found in unlimited quantities at the places named.

Approximately 150 acres of land will be needed as a working surface from which to furnish the amount of clay wanted. At every pit the "open fire process" will be in operation. A triangular rack of wood, usually old ties, is laid side by side, placed alternately, a layer of coal and a layer of clay. The pyramid reaches a height of twenty feet, is usually 2500 feet long and 500 feet wide and when fully ablaze gives out a heat that may be felt many yards and a smoke that is visible for miles.

To handle the amount of ballast contracted for will require 35,000 ballast cars. In trains of 20 cars each, this would mean 1750 trains. To burn this ballast 250,000 tons of coal will be used and 350 trains of 20 cars each will be needed to haul the fuel to be consumed in this one gigantic effort of the Katy to improve its roadbed in order that its patrons may be benefited.

Further carrying out the comparative figures showing the immensity of this undertaking, it may be said that, if one man shoveling ten hours daily, should be required to handle this single order, he would have to work 50,000 consecutive days, 128 years, in order to see the job completed.

Work of the contractors is to start at once and the first consignment of the ballast is to be ready by the first of January next. It takes from five to twelve months to finish the burning process and the evolution of the soft clay into a product that will stand the surging of the heaviest locomotives and hold the rails as steady as a clock is something that never loses its interest for those who understand.

This contract, the biggest of its kind ever let by a railroad in the Southwest, is just one feature of the stupendous work of putting the roadbed of a great railroad company in finished shape and keeping it ready for constant use. The vast expenditure does not include one cent of the cost of new rails and ties, or any other of the things incident to the expenses of the operating department.

There is not a single mine in either Texas or Oklahoma that has a yearly output big enough to supply the fuel needed for the making of this ballast. In addition to the direct benefit the new ballast will be to the patrons of the M. K. & T., the execution of the contract will give employment to hundreds of men. The project is a shining mark of the industrial development of the State and new evidence of the determination of the Katy's management to give to all the territory traversed the very best service possible, pride to the company and a pleasure to those it serves.

To lay the ballast called for in the contract means looting off a big slice of gross earnings during any year. With railroad companies' expenses seem never to end, and ways to spend money, ways that cannot be avoided, are met at every turn. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas might have rested content with its roadbed in its present condition, but its managers are striving to attain an excellence no railway outside the great populous centers ever had before and in the restless advance to this end no obstacle is allowed to balk them.

Glass Bottle Blowers in Session. Marion, Ind., Aug. 6.—With delegates from all over the United States and Canada in session, the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada met here today in annual session. Higher wages and better working conditions will be demanded of their employers if a resolution introduced is passed by the convention.

SPLENDID RACES ON OPENING DAY

2:20 PACE, 2:35 TROT AND TWO RUNNING RACES WERE PRETTY CONTESTS

STORES CLOSED THIS P. M.

Reports From Race Course Indicate Big Attendance This Afternoon

If the opening day's program was any indication of those to follow the people of Wichita Falls and this section will enjoy splendid racing here this week. The attendance Tuesday was not large but if those who did not go out had known what they missed they would have been there. This is indicated in the larger attendance today. The stores are closed this afternoon while a great throng is at the lake seeing the races. The attendance from out of town was also larger this afternoon and for the time, Wichitans have become devotees of the race course.

This afternoon's program includes the free for all pace, the two year old and seven-eighths and half mile running races. Tomorrow's program includes three-year old trot, the 2:35 pace, the Wichita county derby and the 4-1-2 furlongs running race. It is probable also that one or two other events may be raced tomorrow.

Mary Malone Won in Straight Heats The first event of the opening day's program was the 2:30 pace. This was won in straight heats by Mary Malone, the bay mare owned by T. J. Jeffries of Childress and driven by Miles. It was her eighth straight victory in this circuit.

Dolly Barton drew the poll in this race, George Forker was started in second place, Johnnie Patch in third and Mary Malone fourth. The horses had not gone to the quarter before Mary Malone forged to the front and kept the lead all the way through this and the subsequent heats. George Forker came down in the stretch in each heat to second place while Johnnie Patch and Dolly Barton fought hard for the third place.

Exciting Finish in 2:35 Trot Five heats were required to determine the winner in the 2:35 trot in which there were six starters. Each heat, except the second when Floyd Togo was beaten at the wire by a nose by Hilmah Patch, was a fight very foot down the stretch between Hilmah Patch, owned by McBride of Frederick and Daisy Lou, owned by Barlett of Clarendon. Hilmah Patch won first money, Daisy Lou second and Eva Moore, third. Symbol Lou was drawn after the first heat and Floyd Togo, the big black stallion, owned by G. H. Black of Wichita Falls, after a splash race in the second heat was distanced in the third. This horse with a little more experience is being picked for a winner.

The Running Races The running races were not less interesting than the harness races and if anything were harder fought contests. Catch Bird, a long barreled bay gelding, forged ahead turning into the stretch in the quarter mile dash and was kicking the dirt a good two lengths ahead of the second horse under the wire. Starter Carr had considerable difficulty in getting the horses off for this race and when he finally cried "Go" Headlight who was in sixth position for the start, climbed the embankment at the starter's pole and did not make the race.

Co Ed, a bay mare, ridden by Hamilton, won first money in the five-eighths mile dash. There were four entries for this event and it proved a closer contest than the first running race.

John Carr, the well-known horseman of Frederick, Oklahoma, is officiating as starter. The judges are Dr. Polyn, Frank Fowler and J. E. Marlow. The times were J. W. McCloud, S. J. Waitman and J. E. Lebus.

NEUTRALITY LAW IS ATTACKED BY STEPHENS

Washington, Aug. 6.—Recognition of "a state of public war in Mexico" and of American "neutrality between the belligerents," was demanded in a resolution Tuesday by Representative Stephens of Texas. It would repeal the neutrality law prohibiting exportation of arms to Mexico. No action was taken and the resolution was referred to the rules committee. Another resolution by Stephens proposing a commission to attempt a settlement of Mexican affairs, is also pending there. The resolution with respect to Mexico declares there is not now in Mexico "any established government worthy of recognition by the United States."

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years, says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, 'with sick headache, and stomach trouble.' Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

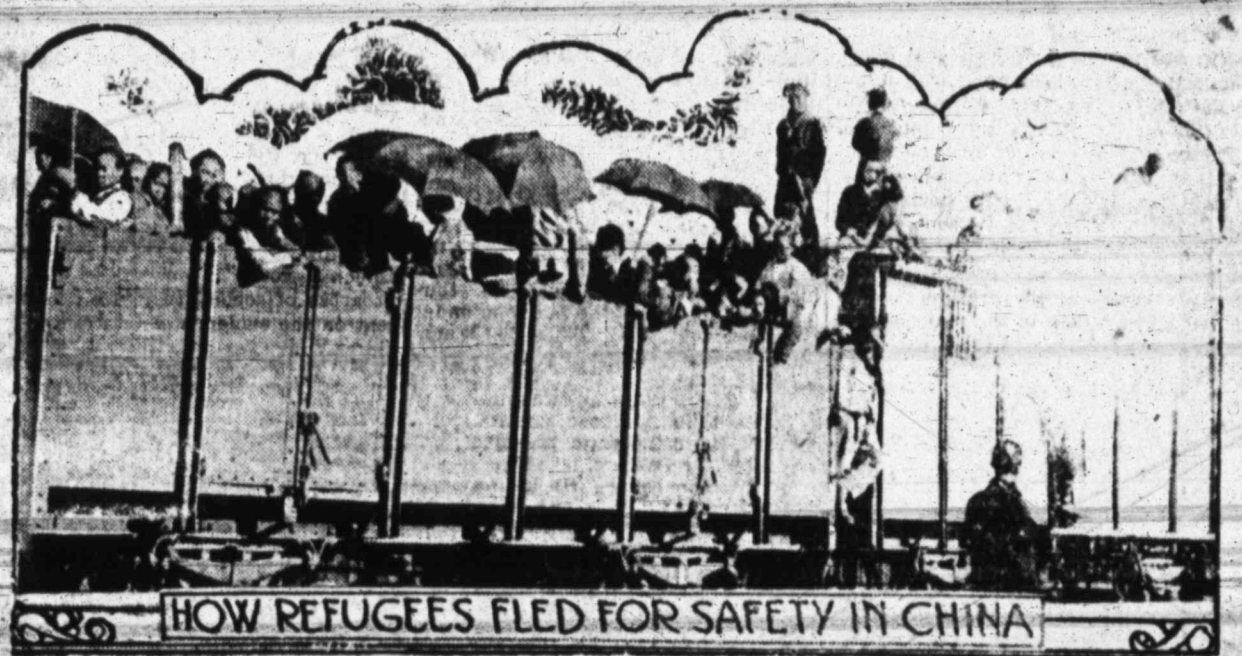

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people. Your druggist sells and recommends Black-Draught. Price only 25c. Get a package to-day.

TALES OF TERROR TOLD BY CHINESE REFUGEES AS TRAINS ARRIVE FROM SEAT OF REBELLION

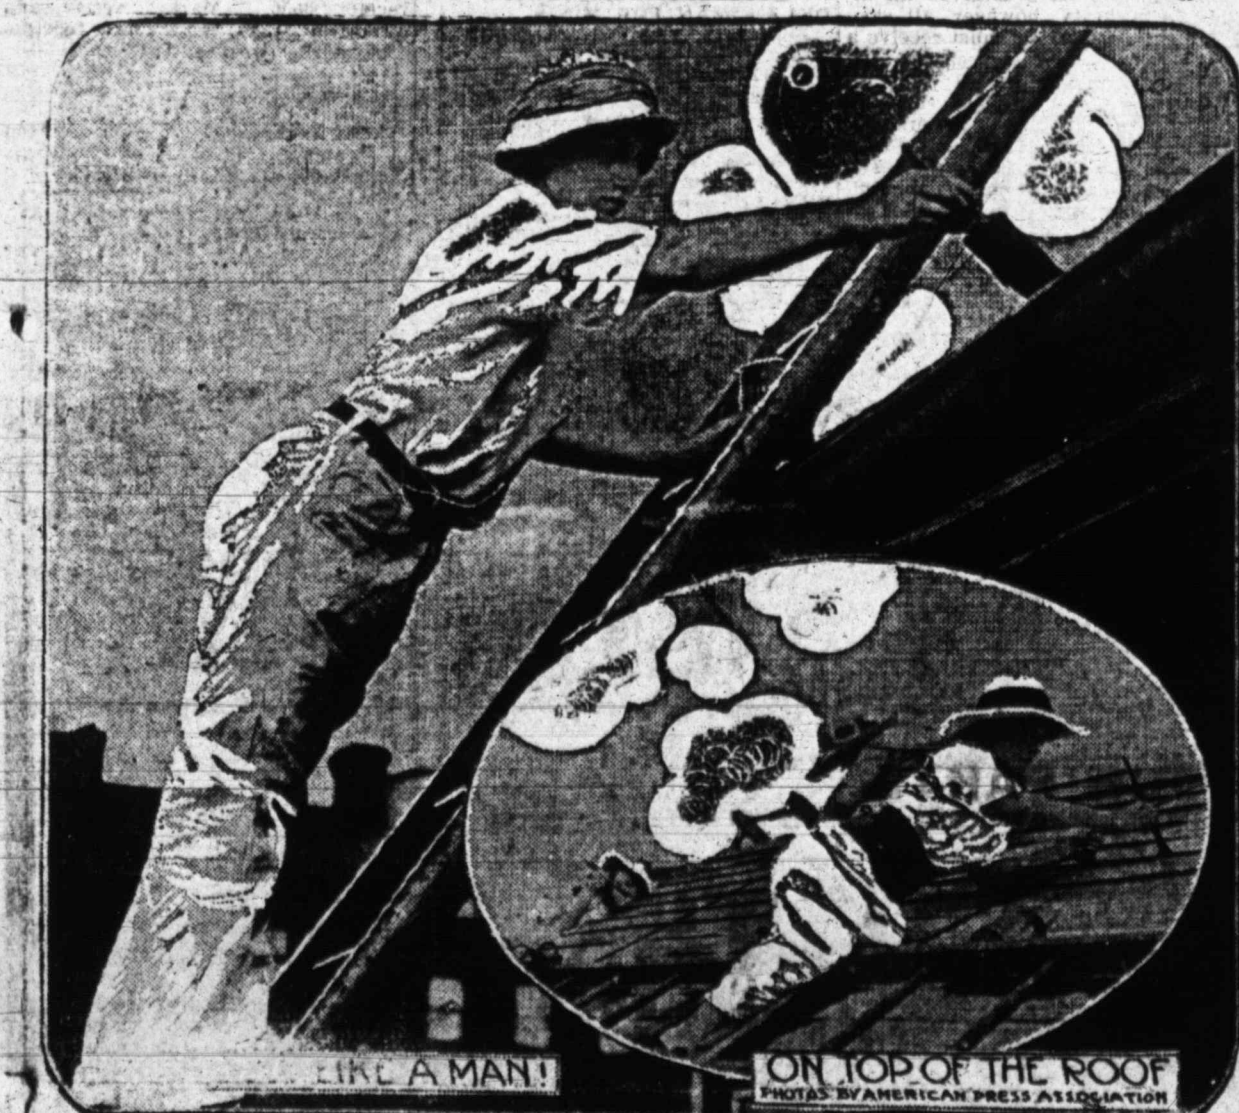

HOW REFUGEES FLED FOR SAFETY IN CHINA

Shanghai, China, Aug. 6.—From refugees who have arrived here stories are obtained of the recent uprising against the government. Many trains from Kiangsi province have brought terror stricken families, some mourning the loss of members who were slain in the fighting. The latest news seemed to indicate a cessation of the rebellion, but no one knows when fighting and pillaging more murderous than before may ensue. The manner in which refugees flee from the district where the rebellion started is here illustrated in a picture taken on a similar but much less serious occasion.

ARE AMERICAN SUFFRAGISTS SLOW? BEHOLD! THEY'D RATHER SLING PAINT THAN BRICKS

LIKE A MAN!

ON TOP OF THE ROOF

New York, Aug. 6.—American suffragists would rather sling paint than hurl bricks. It's much safer. A brave band of votes for women advocates tried it out the other day on their clubhouse at Tompkinsville, N. Y., just as some day in the west. Donning overall, bloomers and old skirts, these fair vote seekers climbed ladders and daubed their clubhouse various hues while a crowd of men looked on and cheered. There wasn't anything in the line of painting that these paint-bringers did not attempt. They even club, and made a good job of it too. "A woman can do anything a man can" was the slogan of the day. Miss Elizabeth Degroof, shown on the ladder painting a gutter, was the forerunner of the task. She was aided by Miss Amy Blake, who is shown on the roof in the smaller picture, and about a dozen others.

MRS. JONN ASTOR BACK TO SCENE OF FORMER TRIUMPHS

Newport, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Jonn Astor, first wife of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster, received a warm welcome from her old society friends here upon her arrival from Europe with her daughter, Muriel. She was accompanied here by her son, Vincent, the young head of the Astor fortune. Mrs. Astor will stay in America until early winter and will then likely return to England, where she has lived since she obtained a divorce from the late Colonel Astor. The picture shows how she looked when she arrived in New York.

Attention A. F. & A. M.
 There will be a called communication of Wichita Falls lodge Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.enary to confer the M. M. Degree on three candidates. There will also be work in the F. C. Degree Thursday night. All visiting Masons are cordially invited.

"ELECTRIC SHAVE" RESULTED FATALLY
 Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 6.—A coroner's jury today investigated the death of Christopher Gustin and Donald Kenny, who died during initiation at the meeting of Birmingham lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, July 24, during the "branding" stunt.
 David U. Williams, secretary of the lodge, described the initiation and denied that the "razor" part of the stunt while gave the electrical shock was placed near the heart of the victims. He said the work that night was not rougher than at any other time and that the same magneto had been used before and in other lodges. Dr. R. M. Cunningham, former lieutenant governor of Alabama, testified about effects of electricity in cases of fright or weak heart.

Panama-Pacific Managers Not Worried By Refusal of The "Big Three" to Exhibit

San Francisco, Aug. 5.—The Panama-Pacific exposition managers are not worried by the announcement that England, Germany and Russia will not exhibit at the big fair in 1915. They predict that the industrial show will be a great success. Enough countries have already obtained concessions from Frank Burt, who is in charge of that end of the exposition, to warrant them in declaring that the affair will be worth any one's attention. But the fact that these great European countries have not entered the exposition has aroused interest in the present condition of the grounds. The service building was the last to be completed, and the mammoth machinery hall, which will be the largest on the fair grounds, is gradually assuming definite shape. Work is being pushed in all departments.

organization in the world," declared Mr. Barrett, whose address was the feature of today's session. "It has to be a success; it is the only hope of the farmer. The Farmers' unions throughout the country have more to their credit than all the organizations in the world combined. In legislation alone the unions are worth all that they have ever cost. Hundreds of statutes are on the books in various states for which the farmers were directly responsible. More than 90 per cent of the legislative requests of farmers' organizations have been granted."

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Bernice Millican left on the early morning train this morning for Denton, where she will visit friends and relatives for several weeks.

Not long ago we worked by daylight only, and had good eyesight until we were well along in years. Now we do our work by artificial light and wear a pair of glasses.

Our shoes were formerly made by hand, and a long time was taken in making one pair. Now one man by fastening his eyes on a small part of his machine practically turns out hundreds in the same period.

It is well known that silage makes high quality beef. The fact is being impressed upon the stock farmers all over the country.

It encourages stock farming; it enables the farmer to grow such crops as wheat and corn...

Great Demand in Texas So great has become the demand for silage in this state...

All silos are built round. Various kinds of material, however, are used in their construction...

While in a sense silos are modern, so far as their adoption in the newer agricultural regions of this country...

It is claimed that the underground type of silo is well suited for the semi-arid parts of the country...

Increase Value of Crops As a result of this method of crop utilization there has been a great increase in the average yield...

In the cotton growing territory of Texas, farmers are finding it highly profitable to use silage mixed with cotton seed or meal...

Upon many farms corn binders are used to read the stalks. Most silos range in height from 30 to 60 feet.

AMOS STEELSMITH FATALLY HURT

PROMINENT OIL MAN CRUSHED BENEATH FALLING DERRICK NEAR ELECTRA

DIES FEW HOURS LATER

Necessary to Chop and Saw Timbers Off His Body—Sketch of Career

Amos SteelSmith, one of the best known figures in the oil business in the entire country, died at Electra last night a few hours after he had been crushed beneath a falling derrick.

At the time of the fatal accident Mr. SteelSmith was helping his son, Charles SteelSmith, pull the casing from a hole on the Fisher lease east of Electra.

Mr. SteelSmith was 52 years of age and was a native of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SteelSmith was a man of high character and was very popular among the oil fraternity and with the citizens who knew him.

A Tribute From W. G. Long. W. G. Long pays the following tribute to the deceased:

9 long and honorable life came to a tragic end yesterday when Amos SteelSmith was killed by the wrecking of a derrick while pulling casing on the Fisher well.

Mr. SteelSmith, at the time of his death was between 65 and 70 years of age. A big, whole-souled, lovable man and a patriarch among the oil men.

He was one of the few—the "blazers" of the way—who never wore doubt's bandage on his eyes—he would starve and chill and hurt, but hold to courage and to hope, because he knew that there was proof or truth in it he did but try.

JOSEPH E. WILLARD, THE NEW MINISTER TO SPAIN, LEAVES SOON

Washington, Aug. 2.—Joseph E. Willard, the newly appointed minister to Spain, notified the state department that he was ready to proceed at once to Madrid.

He was one of the few—the "blazers" of the way—who never wore doubt's bandage on his eyes—he would starve and chill and hurt, but hold to courage and to hope, because he knew that there was proof or truth in it he did but try.
