FINAL VOTE IN NEXT TWO WEEKS

THIS IS HOPE OF DEMOCRATIC LEADERS IN SENATE ON TARIFF BILL

MAKING DEEP INROADS

Showing Yesterday Makes it Practically Certain Wool Will Remain Free

By Associated Press.
Washington, Aug. 23.—Rapid progress on the tariff bill was made today in the Senate. The wool schedule was disposed of as far as it will be considered by the Senate in committee of the whole and a deep inroad was made into the free list.

Although no vote was taken on free raw wool, the decisive showing on wool having been postponed until the bill comes from the committee of the whole, the finance committee agreed to without amendment and there was every indication that raw wool would remain free. The Penrose-LaFollette-Smoot-Carter substitutes for the wool schedules will come up when the bill appears in the Senate proper.

Final Vote in Two Weeks.
With only a part of the free list, a portion of the paper schedule and the sundries schedule remaining to be considered in committee, democratic leaders expressed confidence that the income tax would be disposed of before the end of the coming week.

It was their hope to have the bill ready for the final vote in the Senate within two weeks. Among the articles on the free list ratified today were agricultural implements, sugar cane machinery, alcohol, horses and mules and animals for breeding, asbestos, Hibbes, bread, biscuits and many others.

Wants Inspection of Meat Imports.
An inspection system for foreign meat imports more rigid than that in the tariff bill was proposed in an amendment introduced and urged by Senator Cummins, but the free meat section went over without action. The pending bill provides for the acceptance of certificates of inspection from exporting countries. Senator Cummins' amendment would demand ante-mortem examination of meats in the countries of exportation and would authorize American inspectors to reinspect the meat after it enters the United States. Senator Cummins said:

"There can be no reason why we should permit the foreigner to supply us with diseased meats and deny that privilege to our packers."
The present bill, he declared, would give Americans no protection against beef of diseased cattle from countries that had no adequate system of ante-mortem inspection. Senator Williams asked:

"Does the senator want to fix it so most cannot come here from Mexico?"
Senator Cummins replied:
"I do not particularize. I want to protect our consumers no matter from where the meats come."
Secretary of Agriculture to Decide.
Senator Norris also said he believed the bill, if not changed, would give the foreign meat producer an advantage over the American packer. Senator Williams, in charge of the bill, said the committee intended to admit foreign meat from countries with inspection laws inferior to American laws, provided the secretary of agriculture should decide the foreign inspection was "good enough." He said the United States had no power to compel other countries to adopt definite inspection systems.

Senator Lodge suggested other countries in the past have compelled the United States to adopt regulations by excluding United States meat. Senator McCumber offered an amendment proposing a countervailing duty of twenty per cent on meat against countries that levy a tax on American meat. No action was taken on this amendment. Many of the more important items of the tariff free list were passed over for future consideration. These included harness and leather goods, fax, cash registers, typewriters, sewing machines, iron pipe and other articles.

GERMANY SHAKEN TO VERY FOUNDATION

Reported That Emperor William Has Joined the Ranks of Teetotalers

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Aug. 23.—Emperor William is reported to have joined the ranks of teetotalers. It is known that during his recent northern cruise, the emperor abandoned use of practically all alcoholic beverages and it is understood he has permanently sworn even the fatherland's famous beer and his choicest wines. As a substitute he has taken to lemonade with a dash of orange juice.

PRISON BILL VETO IS FILED

PRISON SYSTEM REMAINS ON SAME BASIS AS BEFORE LEGISLATURE

DREAMS AND THEORIES

Governor Declares Prison Law Enacted and Made it Impractical—Common Sense Lacking

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Aug. 23.—As expected by many, Governor Colquitt before leaving for Colorado Springs this morning filed his veto of the penitentiary bill with the Secretary of State. The special session spent more than a month with this measure, and its veto leaves the law as it was before the called session began.

"I have deemed it advisable to disapprove House Bill No. 18 and defer until some future session of the legislature the hope of making common sense and practical business provisions for prison management. As the bill stands, it is full of dreams and theories which I believe are impracticable," the governor said. He continued:

"The House bill is disapproved for the following reasons:
The unconstitutionality of the so-called William profit sharing provision, according to the attorney general's opinion.
"Payment of per diem, which is unconstitutional.
"Depriving the prison commission of the right to purchase land."

Governor Appoints Prison Commissioners.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 23.—Governor Colquitt today appointed Secretary of State C. W. Welton to succeed R. C. Bigham and W. O. Murray, fiscal agent, as penitentiary commissioner to succeed Ben E. Cabell.

FISHERMAN LANDS A 355 POUND SWORD FISH

By Associated Press.
Los Angeles, Aug. 23.—Establishing what was declared to be a world's record with rod and reel, W. C. Boychen of New York landed a Catalina Island, a 355-pound sword fish, after a 92 minute fight. The fish was twelve feet long and had a four foot sword.

SEVEN YEAR OLD HERO RESCUES BABY SISTER.

By Associated Press.
Memphis, Texas, Aug. 23.—Homer Strong, aged seven, today rescued his two year old sister, Florence, from fire in their attic bedroom. When he discovered flames in the hall way, Homer ran back into the attic, locked a trunk containing all the family's valuables and then carried his sister pig-back down the steps. The children were alone at the time of the fire.

MORE TROOPS MAY COME TO TEXAS

ONLY THREE SOLDIERS NOW AVAILABLE FOR EACH MILE OF MEXICAN BORDER

SEVERE DRAFT ON ARMY

Soldiers Would Have to Come From Eastern and Western Departments

By Associated Press.
Washington, Aug. 23.—With only three American soldiers available for the protection of each mile of Mexican border and certain knowledge that quantities of arms and ammunition are being smuggled across the line, consideration has been given in military circles to the dispatch of fresh troops. The possibility that as a result of the steady northward movement of federal troops in Mexico the numerous constitutionalist bands may be tempted to cross into Texas and Arizona to escape capture has also been taken into consideration, although no orders have been issued. Plans have been developed to largely increase the maneuver division, under Gen. Carter at Texas City.

The augmented force would thus be in position to deploy in strength along the border, or in case of need could form the military unit of a successful expeditionary force. Owing to the considerable number of troops sent to the Canal Zone and the detention in China of a military force and the maintenance of an army of about 12,000 men in the Philippines, the total strength of the mobile army remaining in the continental United States over and above the coast artillery force is only about 32,000 men. Of these 11,000 are now under General Carter in Texas and to bring the strength of his division up to possible requirements heavy drafts would be laid upon the eastern and western departments probably aggregating 14,000 men.

UNITED STATES SOLDIERS READY ON MEXICAN BORDER FOR ANY EMERGENCY

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 23.—American troops here and at other points along the Mexican border were prepared for action at any moment in connection with the Mexican situation. The attitude of Provisional President Huerta of Mexico toward the American government led United States officers

CURRENCY BILL CHANGES URGED

BANKERS' COMMITTEE AT CHICAGO ADOPTS NUMEROUS RECOMMENDATIONS

WILL GO TO WASHINGTON

Seven Bankers Will Urge Adoption of Association's Ideas by Congress

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Aug. 23.—Bankers from all parts of the country at the end here today of a two days' conference agreed on several important amendments to the currency bill now pending in Congress. They appointed a committee of seven to go to Washington and try to have these changes incorporated in the bill. Members of the conference said they believed administration forces in Washington will be convinced by their arguments and will modify the bill so that it will be reasonably satisfactory to the banking and business interests of the country. A summary of the important changes in the currency bill proposed by the resolution adopted by the bankers, follows:

That there should be established one central federal reserve bank instead of twelve, and if this is found inexpedient, the number should not exceed five, with as many branches as may be required.

That membership in federal reserve banks be made voluntary instead of compulsory on the part of the national banks, as is provided in the case of state banks.

That the amount of subscriptions to the capital stock of the federal reserve banks be reduced from twenty to ten per cent of the capitalization of the bank applying for membership.

That in order to remove control of the federal reserve banks from political influence, direction of the institution be vested in a board of seven members composed of the secretary of the treasury as ex-officio member, three members appointed by the president of the United States who shall give due regard to geographical territory and three members to be selected by the member banks; the terms of office are fixed at three, six and nine years at the beginning and nine years for all members after the first term. The salary is fixed at $10,000 a year, with traveling expenses allowed.

By Associated Press.

THAW CASE NOW IN LEGAL SNARL

NEITHER HE NOR LAWYERS KNOW WHAT NEXT MOVE WILL BE

WAIT ON HIS GUARDIAN

Three Ways are Open to Attorneys but No Decision Has Yet Been Reached

By Associated Press.
Sherbrooke, Quebec, Aug. 23.—Harry K. Thaw, squabbling with the Dominion's leading lawyers retained to prevent his return to the Mattawan state hospital for the insane, from which he escaped last Sunday morning, tonight apparently was as much in ignorance of the next move in his case as was the casual idler around the Sherbrooke jail.

For two hours his counsel conferred this afternoon, debating whether they would produce Thaw in court on a writ of habeas corpus next Wednesday or abandoning the writ, surrendering him to immigration authorities and permit his deportation to Vermont, a procedure to which it was said here the immigration officers had agreed. The two hours talk was preceded by a conference with Thaw as to his preference, but it resulted in no definite decision.

Thaw is Domineering.
Thaw was domineering and it was decided to wait the arrival of Roger O'Mara of Pittsburgh, Thaw's delectable guardian. According to the understanding here, he will arrive tomorrow night. Never in the history of Quebec Province has such a legal snarl been before the courts. In brief, Thaw is held on a commitment charging him with being a fugitive from Mattawan where "he was confined on a criminal charge."

This is an error. Acquitted of Stamford White's murder on grounds of insanity, he was held on no charges, but as a lunatic. Both sides have admitted that the commitment is defective and it was conceded that he should be released on the writ when lawyers were asked by immigration authorities, cancel all your objections to his being held, turn him over to us and we will deposit him in Vermont? It would then be up to New York State to extradite him.

President Finishes Message.
The president finished his message today, read it over to Secretary Lusk and will discuss it Monday with members of the Senate and House committees on foreign relations.

The sending of a special envoy from Mexico to Washington further to discuss the situation with President Wilson is regarded here as a dilatory move. It is known that the Washington government has made it clear that such a procedure would not alter the views expressed in its first note. It is believed, however, that the Huerta officials now have abandoned the idea of sending an envoy and are seeking to develop a new basis for negotiations.

STATE TAX RATE WILL BE 45 CENTS

STATE BOARD FIXES ALVALOREM RATE AT 23 CENTS ON THE $100

13 CENTS OVER LAST YEAR

Total State Rate Will Be Increased 18 2/3 Cents Over Last Year's Rate

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Aug. 23.—The state tax board today fixed the ad valorem tax at twenty-three cents on the $100 valuation, which is an increase of thirteen cents over last year. The school tax rate was fixed at seventeen cents against sixteen and two-thirds cents last year. The board also fixed a five cent special tax for Confederate pensions as provided for under a recent constitutional amendment.

The total state tax, therefore, will be forty-five cents against twenty-six and two-thirds cents last year, an increase of 18 2/3 cents.

BUFFALO BANDITS SHOOT DOWN TWO MEN

By Associated Press.
Buffalo, Aug. 23.—Bandits who fatally wounded Bert G. Gaze, president of the American-Blue Stone Company at Warsaw, New York, and seriously hurt K. Sturcell, a bookkeeper, hurried off into the woods today without attempting to take a bag containing $1000 in gold which had inspired the hold-up. They stopped the men who were driving an automobile and when the auto tried to back out of harm's way, the men were shot down.

OTHER NATIONS ADD PRESSURE

ENGLAND, FRANCE AND JAPAN USING INFLUENCE UPON HUERTA

ARE IN DESPERATE STRAITS

Huerta Regime has Little Prospect of Securing Money For Running Expenses

By Associated Press.
Washington, Aug. 23.—Great Britain, France and Japan are among the nations which have had the greatest influence upon the Huerta administration in support of the efforts of the United States for a peaceful settlement of the revolution. Although administration officials were silent regarding this phase of the situation, there was a lively interest in diplomatic circles as to the probable effect of foreign pressure.

It was learned that the Mexican authorities hope President Wilson will not read his message to Congress next Tuesday, as he had planned to do, but will take a position to prolong the negotiations. Unless, however, some tangible overtures are received within forty-eight hours from the Huerta officials indicating a desire to accept the fundamental proposals of the United States, the president will proceed to Congress and to the world at large of this government toward Mexico.

Something Definite Expected Shortly.
The fact that diplomats from some of the very countries which have not only formally recognized Huerta, but whose bankers hitherto have loaned loans for him, are using their influence on the Mexican administration, is calculated to produce something definite shortly. Official reports to the Washington administration show the Huerta regime to be in desperate financial straits with little prospect of getting funds anywhere to meet the running expenses of the government or to pay the troops who are already restive because of deferred payments.

So important is this aspect of the situation regarded that an air of tense expectancy prevailed in official circles where it was believed some pronouncement would be forthcoming from Mexico City before President Wilson finally decided to communicate his message to Congress. The insistence of the United States on a constitutional election and the elimination of Huerta was reiterated positively by administration officials, a position which Mr. Lusk has been instructed to emphasize.

JURY REPRIMANDED FOR FAILURE TO CONVICT.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 23.—Because a jury today reported a mistrial after two previous trials in the case of Butler Searey, a prominent planter accused of holding a negro in peonage, Federal Judge W. B. Shepard reprimanded the jury and said:

"This man is guilty of peonage. Deep down in your hearts, you are certain of this fact, but you bring in a verdict to the effect that you agree to disagree."

After hearing the re-buke, Searey voluntarily arose and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to three months in jail.

By Associated Press.

At least six gangs are known as members of the trust, including two Americans. The profits of the organization are said to exceed $2,000,000 per year.

MUCH BUILDING

NOW IN PROGRESS

Dog Days Have Not Had Appreciable Effect on Building Activity

The hot weather of the August dog days has not had any appreciable effect upon local building activity, and a great deal of work is now in progress. While the business section, as always, is the scene of new building operations, it is being actively rivaled by the residential part of town at present. In the residential section there are the Presbyterian and Christian churches, the Kemp apartments and the new school buildings, all of which are going up at a rapid rate.

The Christian Church building has reached a stage where some idea of its size may be obtained, and it will be one of the largest houses of worship in North Texas when completed. The Presbyterian Church, further west on Tenth street, is also going up rapidly. The Kemp apartment building on the site of the old Presbyterian Church is not far from completion and it is reported that practically all of the apartments are already assured of tenants.

In the business section, work is under way on the new Hoan Hotel at the corner of Eighth and Elm streets on the Anderson-Bean building between Seventh and Eighth on Indiana. Work is just starting on the two-story building to be erected by the Marriott heirs between Sixth and Seventh on Ohio. The contract has been awarded for the P. L. Lee two-story building just north of the City National Bank building and work will doubtless soon be under way. The Tom Reese building on Ninth street and the New Maer building on South Avenue, near Ninth, are other new business structures. The former is well under way and the latter is nearly completed.

Residential building is as active as ever, but not as lively as it is expected to be in September and October, according to local contractors.

Orozco and two other revolutionary commissioners who had been sent by the government to parley with Zapata were reported to have been found riddled with bullets after a defeat of Zapata's bands.

"VIVA Olivares!"

That was what the advance column of the Venezuelan revolutionary army yelled as they came scrambling in the twilight over a steep ridge and saw, spread out below them, the city of La Victoria, for which they had been fighting since morning. Into its sheltering squares and streets the government soldiers were scurrying. They had had all they wanted that day of General Olivares' medicine.

The revolutionary general himself climbed to the crest of the ridge. There was a smile on his face.

"How are you, my victor?" he said, apostrophizing La Victoria. And then there came a puff of smoke, a start of flame, and a roar from a steep hill off to one side; roots and stones flew into the air, and a man dropped at the feet of Olivares, gasping out his life.

The chief shook his fist at the hill. "Curse you!" he cried. "Why don't you come down here and fight in the open like the rest of the government crowd? Oh, I'll get you!" He shook his fist once more. You just wait till tomorrow!"

"Eli!" muttered his second in command, flicking from his face some drops of blood which had splattered over him from the man just shot. "It will be the devil's own job to clean out that place up there. When?"

Against smoke and flame darted from the hillcrest, again earth and stones, splashed suddenly into the air, and with them a man's head and other things.

"One hundred men," said Olivares, unperturbed, "could do it. They could crawl through the underbrush without getting much damaged, and then—"

He waved his hand in a general way toward the hill—and then they would race for it across that cleared space."

"Whisper to the fifty men," put in the second in command, "could scramble over the rubbish in the front, back their arms and admit getting over the wall, clean out whatever's on the other side, point the guns on La Victoria, and bombard it to pieces."

"Whisper, glory and extra rations for twenty-five men. Eh?" Another shot from the redoubt dropped squarely into the middle of a group of soldiers who had just topped the ridge, and completely annihilated them. "Looks as if we'd have to get on."

But the twilight deepened to darkness. The shots from the hilltop began to fall short or pass overhead. Olivares decided to hold the ground.

"God night, you spitfire," he called to the hill. "I'll like to clean you out now, but haven't a man who could walk fifty yards tonight without dropping off asleep. But you wait!"

As if in defiance, the hilltop flared and roared again in the darkness, knocking dirt and pebbles into Olivares' eyes. He stamped his foot.

"Hey, machete man!" he called. "Come here!" He waved his arms, and all the officers within hearing clustered about him.

"I want a volunteer to lead a forlorn hope against that redoubt tomorrow morning," said the general.

Every officer stepped forward, his hand to his cap. If there were a lot of sort of thing in Venezuela, it would be a better country, Olivares smiled.

"Thanks," he muttered. He ran his eyes along the line of men. "You and you," he said. He touched two men on the shoulder. "They stepped out of the line. A burst of automatic rifles fired, and the two men in command looked disparagingly at the men chosen.

"How do you know that either of them can lead a forlorn hope?" he asked.

"Because," answered Olivares, quietly, "both of them want to die. Now we'll decide the question for 'em."

But an aide-de-camp came running along the ridge, evidently filled with important news for the commander. He drew up beside him, saluted, and began to speak.

A man carrying a mail bag had been caught trying to creep into La Victoria. The mail came from the capital. It included dispatches for the government commander.

"Wait," said Olivares to the two men whom he had chosen. "He has handed away with the aide-de-camp and the other officers."

The two men sealed themselves a short distance from one of the rifles kindled by the soldiers on the ridge. From the hill no more shots came; those who occupied it had evidently decided to abandon ammunition against the morrow.

One of the men threw himself on the ground, clasping his hands beside his head. His hair was light and his eyes blue; all about him, in fact, he looked the foreigner. He was young, but in the gleam of the fire his face showed worn and unhappy—too bitter to be really handsome, too stunted to be really bitter.

The other man was dark, like most Venezuelans; his hair was ash, splashed like few. His eyes were watery, yet piercing; though his hand twitched, it looked as if, closed, it would make an excellent fist. He was a wreck, but the wreck of a man. He glanced across the fire, and said, "American," he said, "the chief has a good eye."

"He has," muttered the other.

The red-faced man jerked a hip flask from his clothes. He started to unhook it. But, at the first whiff of the brandy he suddenly stopped. "This he held the flask up, at arm's length, in the light of the flames, before the other man's eyes.

"Trench, my boy," he growled, "that's why I volunteered to lead the forlorn hope tomorrow—to death. That sums up the life of Manuel Rengifo, gentleman that was, best that's in this world. He is to be—there is a life in death. Yes, my love—he seemed to be talking now to the liquid showing yellow against the side of the flask, "I mean it—gentleman that is to be. For you can't teach me in death, my dear. Here you've beaten me; these I'll beat you. He laughed disingenuously. "I won't drink—I'll never touch you again—because I'm free now—dead!" His voice dropped. "For there is no life without you," he muttered. "No life without you." He thrust the flask into his pocket and ran his tongue over dry lips.

"No life without you," he repeated. "That applies to you, too, Trench, doesn't it—in a different way."

The American nodded. He was gazing at the sky-gazing with eyes that seemed to see no starlight or moonlight, only the blackness behind.

"I'm sorry for you," said Rengifo, "I'm exceedingly sorry for you, because I know exactly how you feel. But—I'll win!"

"You'll lose."

"Well, we needn't argue about it. It's going to be decided for us right now."

There was the tramp of approach. General Olivares stepped into the freight, followed by an aide-de-camp. Behind them crowded scores of other officers and men. They stood or squatted in groups about the fire, and the light from it danced along gun barrels, flashed back from sword hilts and buckles, mingled with the sizzling light in dark eyes.

"Gentlemen!" Olivares turned to the two close to the camp fire—"I beg that you will excuse me keeping you waiting. I found dispatches that were most important. Few words proceeded."

He took from an inside pocket a pack of cards. Every onlooker drew nearer. "Each of you two shall choose a card." He turned to Rengifo. "Major," he said, "what do you consider an appropriate card for yourself?"

Trench stood up and buckled his word belt. The noise crashed Rengifo. Leaning on one elbow, the Indian faced Olivares, eyes on the commander of the forlorn hope. Then he picked his flask from the ground beside him and put it to his lips.

"To you—success," he said thickly. "Thanks."

Trench walked away, followed by the sergeant.

One hundred men, with Trench at their head, slipped down the face of the ridge nearest to La Victoria, while the light of dawn was still not much more than an uncertain gray. The young American was struck by the cheerfulness of his command; from the faces of its component parts nobody could have guessed the nature of the job which lay before the forlorn hope. The average Venezuelan soldier knows little about most things and nothing about fear.

Realizing the foot of the ridge, the men began to pick their way over a hollow which lay between the hill, and its objective. The pace was slow. The faces of those who pushed aside as if it were an ally of the redoubt overhead. After a few hundred yards of toilsome going, Trench looked back over his shoulder. On the ridge, he urged men of Olivares' army were drawn up. Drums were beating and trumpets blaring for the attack.

"They've waked up," muttered the sergeant. "The next one will probably be for us, captain."

It was. It came shrieking down from the hilltop, just as the forlorn hope reached the edge of the underbrush, dropped into the very center of a knot of men, and blew them to fragments.

"Now for it!" cried the sergeant between closed jaws.

As he spoke, the sun burst out of the east in full glory. The light of a dawning morning flooded ridge and hillside, city and redoubt. Trench looked about him once. The sunshine seemed very bright, the sky very blue.

Then he waved his sword frantically, called for the charge, and dashed on the cleared hillside, followed by his men.

From the crest above them came a roar after flash, roar after roar, and again Trench heard the incessant rattle of musketry and yelling of defiance. Again and again he and stones again bushes in front, and on both sides of him, were flung straight up into the air; and once, as he was scrambling toward a little mound, it suddenly broke off from the hillside, and Trench, leaning forward, found a hole instead of a mound, and fell into it on hands and knees and face. When he scrambled out again there was blood on his clothing. For in the hole was a man, who was dead. Sometimes Trench ran alone; sometimes others danced and shouted by his side, and always there was the shrieking and stinging of metal in the air.

Trench ran straight over a ditch, leapt to the brim with rubbish, leaped to the top of a low wall, found himself clawing his way up it, digging his fingers into openings and projections, till he was thrown as long across and was on the top. There he balanced a moment, then leaped to a stone flooring, and turned, spreading like a spider, beside a smoking cannon. When he sat up in the dust somebody was swinging a machete high above his head.

Trench ducked and threw up his hands, but there was no blow, for somebody suddenly pitched, face foremost, into the dust with a small red hole in one temple.

"Thanks, sergeant," gasped Trench, getting on his feet. With his revolver clutched in his hand, he staggered forward. He traversed the whole width of the redoubt, blaring away pointblank five times at men whom he met. When he reached the sergeant, he started on the second page, he found an officer backed up against it, who jammed his revolver into Trench's face and pulled the trigger. Trench ducked and threw up his hands, but there was no blow, for somebody suddenly pitched, face foremost, into the dust with a small red hole in one temple.

When the American faced about after the government colors from the flagpole in the center of the redoubt. Around him, cheering, stood twenty men—twenty-five, perhaps. Trench shuddered.

For a while he lay on the stone flooring, panting; about him the soldiers did the same. Then the sergeant picked up his rifle and moved over to the wall, below which lay La Victoria.

"Madre de Dios!" he ejaculated when he got there. "Captain, look down there."

The American walked across the redoubt to the sergeant's side. From the narrow streets of La Victoria the government troops, in long winding columns, were pouring out into the fields to the attack of Olivares on the ridge. Their arms and accoutrements glistened in the sunlight, and the steady beat of the drummers at the head of the columns rose distinctly in the hilltop-through-the-morning air. Evidently it was not the activity of the government's men which had drawn from the sergeant his exclamation; nor was it that which now caused Trench to tip out an oath in English between his teeth.

Instead of seeing the revolutionaries below the ridge, in the hollows between the hills, he saw them moving back over the ridge and down the other side, the far side, evidently in full retreat. It was an orderly retreat, so far as he could make out for the men were marching slowly.

The sergeant tapped his arm.

"Aha!" he murmured. "Captain, look behind you."

Trench did, and saw, dropping down the face of the hills of which the redoubt hill was an outlying spur, an army apparently as large as that of Olivares; an army, moreover, which wore the government colors on hats and shoulder-straps. Already one portion of it, fully one thousand men strong, had circled the base of the hilltop, and stood between the ridge and the redoubt, cutting off retreat for the forlorn hope in that direction. Trench and the sergeant looked at each other. The forlorn hope was surrounded.

Then there was a yell from the direction of La Victoria. Trench looked over the wall. A large force was coming up toward the redoubt from the city.

"We'd better get ready," he muttered.

"Yes," said the sergeant. "These new fellows are going to try a hand, too."

Sure enough, a big detachment from the redoubt in the hollow started to the ascent by which Trench's men had reached the redoubt. And from the hill range behind a third force, veering away from the main advancing body, approached the crest by the steep slope opposite that leading from La Victoria.

"I'll take the gun over there," said the American. "You, sergeant, handle the other one." Trench turned away. He ground his teeth. The sergeant smiled at him.

"No look it," asked Trench with a smile. And sitting beside his cannon, he started on the second page, he found an officer backed up against it, who jammed his revolver into Trench's face and pulled the trigger. Trench ducked and threw up his hands, but there was no blow, for somebody suddenly pitched, face foremost, into the dust with a small red hole in one temple.

Sobriety Prevails In The Color Scheme For Summer

New York, Aug. 20.—Those of us who have a penchant for quiet color schemes uttered last spring a strong protest, which later became almost indignant, when we were told that Bulgaria coloring was to be the rage of the summer. Unwillingness changed to bewilderment when the new Futurist, Post-impressionist and Cubist schemes made their advent. But gradually many of us who at first condemned the gaudy riot of color, in which orange held combat with green and blue with purple, enthusiastically embraced. And the tem-wide ribbon girde accompanies this style of frock. Although much has been written of the girde, "the last word" remains to be said, as new methods of tying or ornamenting are continually being introduced. At present a girde that has won much favor is brought loosely about the waist in soft, crushed effect and terminates in wired butterfly bows at center front or back, the ends being folded underneath and attached to the lower edge of the tunic. It is made of tulle, printed gauze, embroidered chiffon or soft velvet or satin, the softness of the fabric being the prime essential of the girde.

But afternoon frocks of perishable fabric, although preferred are not always most serviceable. They soil easily and cleaners' bills come high. For this reason many women prefer a silk frock of rather dark tone. Such a frock may be seen in the second illustration. French blue novelty moire was the material chosen. The waist is attractively trimmed with shadow lace; inserts and neck flounce coming well over the bust. It has a stylish back yoke and droops effectively over the black satin girde both back and front. The skirt has front drapery and applied panel. The back is laid in soft pleats. The style will be quite as smart for fall and midwinter wear as for midsummer.

When walking through the shops at this season of the year, many odds and ends of cretonne, mousseline, plain and figured silk, satin and crepe may be seen strewn about the counters. Did women realize the possibilities of these fabrics, they might have most attractive, up to date Jack-

Blue portion of the world at least, bent its knee in obedience to Fashion's behest.

Dame Fashion has a capricious spirit. Her moods are all earnest, not of principle, but of fancy. No sooner was this frenzy of color accepted than she voted it a nightmare, startling and distressing. She would have none of it. So back she swung to her old reliable black and white and the various half tones that follow in their train. And as summer was under way and Nature had already made lavish use of her color tubes, the quieter tones were a timely relief even if we should return to our gay tints in the fall.

Very refreshing on a midsummer day is the neutral tint of the frock first illustrated. The shade chosen was gray and the material eponge. Black satin was used for collar, cuffs and girde, and shadow lace for the tie. The waist is fashioned on Balkan lines, now so fashionable for general wear. The skirt has close fitting front and back panel and narrow lines at waist, hips and hem. It is one of the few models intended particularly for outdoor sports, morning and business.

Frocks for afternoon might very appropriately be called by our mothers evening dresses—not, however, by our great great grandmothers, whose afternoon dresses approached the evening style quite as closely as do our own in their décolletage, diaphanous shoulder effects and wisps of sleeves. So history is repeating itself. Chiffon, mousseline de sole, tulle and lace are the fabrics chosen for these waists, tunic and overdresses. The waists are very low in front and very transparent about the neck and shoulders. The sleeves are such in name only. They are frequently but a few inches long and made of transparent film-silence. The gloves worn with these sleeves should extend almost to the shoulders. Still, the shoulder drapery has become a smart style feature and reaches well over the arm, a small, closely fitted sleeve cap is inserted in the waist drapery or attached to the underwaist or cachet to prevent exposure of the underarm.

Many of the skirts for wear with these lovely sheer bodices are made of silk or soft satin. They are wrapped about the form in folds over the hips and in narrow lines about the hem and are slashed at front, sides or back to permit of easy walking. It is at the hem where the sharp contrast is made between afternoon and evening frocks, as no trains are seen on gowns for afternoon wear. It is rare when any of the material of the wrapped skirt appears above the high waistline unless in the folds of the girde or in fluted, pleated and pointed effects. Skirts of mousseline de sole, chiffon and net accompany waists of similar materials. When the development is in these fabrics they are almost invariably flounced. These flounces may be pleated or gathered, as preferred, and extend from waistline to hem in two, three or more tiers. The three tier skirt is, at present, most fashionable. A ets at a trifling outlay. These smart little coats are made on loose lines. Frequently the sleeves are cut in one with the body of the garment; a belt and is added and a smart ribbon belt and the garment is ready to don. Peplums by the way, are the distinctive features of the coats. They invariably extend to a point in the back and are smartly cutaway in front. The necks and sleeves may be attractively trimmed with lace or net frills. When the development is in silk or satin the jackets may be worn well into the fall and are very attractive as an accompaniment to dainty afternoon frocks.

PIECE OF SKULL IS REMOVED SATURDAY

Efforts to restore Leonard Lennox, otherwise known as "Dutch" to his normal condition took definite form yesterday when an operation was performed on the skull of the semi-paralyzed, deaf man in the hope that he will again have the use of his limbs and faculties. Lennox is the man who was injured last year while at work on the Magnolia Petroleum company's pipe line. Since his injury he has been a familiar character on the streets here. Although deaf and without the use of his limbs on the right side of his body, his mind is not thought to have been permanently affected. Several weeks ago, through the efforts of A. A. Scott, W. G. Long, Ed Morgan and others of the local oil fraternity, plans were made for an operation on Lennox and the necessary authority was secured from the county authorities. Lennox apparently having no relatives to speak for him, Doctors Jones and Burnside consented to perform the operation, assisted by Doctors Meredith and Hale. The work was done at the Wichita Sanitarium yesterday afternoon and last night the man was said

PRONOUNCED STRENGTH SHOWN IN UNDERTONE

Big New York Banks Pursuing Cautious Policy About Buying Out New Loans

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 21.—Stocks ruled at moderately higher figures during most of the session. Trading was on a small scale, but the undertone showed pronounced strength. Some of the obscure issues moved more widely than the prominent stock, rising two points or more. Chesapeake & Ohio touched sixty making a gain of more than three points since its dividend rate was reduced from five to four per cent.

Bonds were steady. Total sales per value $445,000. United States four's declined one quarter per cent and the Panama three's coupon declined one-half on call on the week. There were elements of uncertainty in the outlook both for financial and general affairs which counted for a hesitating movement of stocks this week. The strained relations between the United States and Mexico, continued drought in the Southwest and the imminence of the interior crop moving demand for cash, were dominating influences on securities. Foreign financial authorities reported vague apprehension of foreign defaults.

The showing of the great foreign government banks is significant of the extensive preparations which have been made for the expected strain of the coming autumn. Reserves and bullion holdings of the Bank of England exceeded those for any August since 1896. The New York clearing

Wichita Falls, Texas, August 24, 1913

September 15th has been fixed as the day for our public or city schools to open.

The total state tax rate for 1913 has been fixed at forty-five cents on the $100 valuation, an increase over last year of eighteen and one third of a cent. The tax is proportioned as follows: state ad valorem, 23 cents; state school tax, 17 cents; special confederate pension, 5 cents.

A contract for more than $20,000 worth of cement sidewalks was awarded to a firm in this city one day this week. Cement walks and paved streets are essential to city building. Wichita Falls already has more miles of cement sidewalks than most cities of more than 20,000 population, but she wants and needs more and is going to have them.

If the storm waters that flow down the channels of the Wichita river were stored, millions of acres of rich lands could be made to produce abundant crops annually that only produce now and then when the rainfall is plentiful. To dam the Wichita river at some point above Wichita Falls would require the expenditure of several millions of dollars, but even at that, the investment would pay for itself in a few years. There is no better crop-producing lands to be found anywhere than along the Wichita river on both sides, and the crops that have either been wholly or partially destroyed by the drouth this summer, had there been sufficient rainfall to have kept them alive, could have been sold at present market prices for a sufficient amount to have gone a long way toward paying the expense of damming the river and saving of storm waters for irrigation purposes. It may be years before the people who own these rich lands will finally wake up to the fact that it is necessary to irrigate them during hot, dry spells, but if they ever expect to make them produce crops one year after another, with never a crop failure, irrigation will have to be resorted to.

It strikes the Times that if public service corporations are to have the free use of our streets and alleys for the setting of their poles upon which to string wires they should be required to pay something toward the maintenance of the city government for that privilege. Those who own property are not only required to build sidewalks, but to pay two-thirds, and in some instances, all the cost of paving the streets. Notwithstanding there is a court decision that is construed to mean that telephone, telegraph and electric light companies are not required to take out franchises, and have the free use of the streets and alleys in towns and cities where they operate, the Times believes there is a way to make them pay for the use of our streets. It is nothing but right that they should help, in a way, to bear some of the cost of maintaining our streets and alleys, and it is not just of right that they should be given the free use of them.

IN DEFENSE OF ROBERTSON INSURANCE LAW

Dallas, Texas, August 22nd, 1913.—To the Times: Quite a number of papers in the State have recently printed a communication from John R. Lanford under the caption "Bankers Fav' Cheap Money." The article damn the Robertson insurance law will faint praise, and quote Ike T. Pritchard Chamberlain and C. S. E. Hoiland as approving the intent of the law, but denying the fact that practical application thereof has been harmful to the best interests of the people of Texas, and expressing the wish that the legislature will so amend the law that the withdrawing life insurance companies may be permitted (sic) to return to the State.

C. S. E. Hoiland, vice president of the First National Bank of Victoria is quoted as saying: "It appears that the legislature has erected a wall of protection keeping out the Eastern life insurance companies, and causing the Texas insurance companies to insure the people for a higher rate of interest than is charged by the banks. I am strictly in favor of throwing the doors wide open, and letting all reputable companies do business on exact and equal basis in this State."

As a matter of fact, all reputable companies are now doing business on exact and equal basis in this State. Disreputable companies, thanks to State Commissioners, who administer the law, are not doing business on an exact and equal basis in this State. Every man who reads the daily paper knows, if he credits the official statements of R. F. Milner, Thos. B. Lov and B. L. Oll, who have served a

Commissioner of Insurance after the recent insurance laws went into effect, that the twenty-one withdrawing companies had less than a million dollars invested in mortgage loans in Texas, when they left the State, although they were collecting from Texas policyholders nearly eight millions of dollars in premiums annually, and the State had been wide open to them during all the years preceding their exodus.

The fact that more than thirty out of state companies are now transacting a life insurance and loan business in Texas under the Robertson law, and in entire accord with its provisions, is a complete refutation of the statement that the law is keeping any life company out of Texas, except those companies which elect to withdraw from any state whose legislation they are unable to control.

The Armstrong investigation, made by a legislative committee in New York, brought out the fact that the big New York companies, joined by some out of State companies in the East, had combined to control legislation not only in New York, but in all other states in which they were transacting business. The "yellow dog" fund, as it was termed, consisted of a sum of money set aside for use in defeating objectionable legislation. Every newspaper reader has been advised as to how the fund was handled, and how it was hid away in the annual statements made by the companies under the head of supplies, of printing and of advertising. This special fund was no inconsiderable part of the tremendous expense account, especially of the large companies. Common honesty, and common decency stood abashed at the revelations. Sanitariums, death and exile, took care of company officials when the Armstrong committee completed its work. Secretly, however, had public indignation subsided when the "Presidents Association" was organized, ostensibly for the purpose of guiding the companies that held membership, in sane and safe methods of correct business conduct. One of the first concerted moves made by the companies, members of the Presidents Association, was to oppose the enactment of the Robertson Bill into law, by the Texas legislature in February, 1907, less than two years after the Armstrong committee had registered its condemnation of managerial methods. The "Presidents Association" had in the meantime engaged as legal adviser, and legislative director, Robert Lynn Cox, who had served as a member of the Armstrong committee, and who is still in the employ of the Association. Mr. Cox advised the public, in an address delivered in Texas several months ago, that legislation similar to the Robertson law had been introduced in more than twenty states since Texas took action in the matter, and that in each instance it had been defeated.

This unconscious compliment paid to a Texas legislature is appreciated by every citizen of the state familiar with the facts—and here are some of the facts. Twenty-one companies with drew from Texas in July, 1907. They had been transacting business in the state, none of them less than four years and a number of them more than twenty years, and their investments in Texas on the date they left the state was less than a million dollars. The last report of the State commissioner of insurance shows thirty-five out of State life companies engaged in business in Texas, and that their mortgage loan investments in the State aggregate more than twenty million dollars. In addition thereto Texas companies, sixteen of which have been called into existence since the enactment of the Robertson bill into law, have mortgage loans placed in Texas in the sum of $7,284,717.

The Presidents Association is a sleepless, tireless organization. Aided by State local organizations similar to the "Secretaries Association," and the so-called "Welfare Commission," it has been able to influence during the last six years, legislation in more than twenty states. One of the strongest arguments in favor of the legislation similar to the Robertson law that has appeared in public print was given out by the insurance commissioner of North Carolina a year ago, and yet, by a few notes, the bill was defeated in a North Carolina legislature. "By a few notes," that have the record in more than twenty states during the past six years, and the legal adviser of the Presidents Association had the nerve to boast of this fact in a public address in Texas. He apparently didn't realize that he was heaping encomiums on the heads of the law makers in Texas.

The Robertson insurance law is all right. If you have any doubt on that subject ask the State Commissioner of Insurance to give you the facts from the records in his office. Before joining in any hue and cry raised by any interested party, let the insurance commissioner tell you what it is all about. He facts are eye openers, and should be given the public two or more times over by every paper published in Texas.

Resolution Adopted Asking U. S. Navy To Fortify Panama Canal

Associated Press.
The Hague, Aug. 23.—The twentieth annual peace congress had its closing session today. The congress finished its labors after recording its appreciation of President Wilson's attitude toward peace. The thank-you congress were telegraphed to President Wilson.
The question of fortification of the Panama Canal was again up, American delegates securing the passage of a resolution asking the United States government not to fortify the canal.

NIAGARA IS GRAND
Nothing Can Mar Grandeur of This Natural Wonder.

Regardless of Hotels and Refreshment Rooms the Falls Retain Their Wonderful Impassiveness and Charm to the Beholder

Buffalo, N. Y.—Niagara has been described a thousand times. Dickens did it in masterly fashion. "The first effect," he says, "in the course of an eloquent passage, 'and the enduring one—instant and lasting—of the tremendous spectacle was peace.'" Other writers, visiting this celebrated pilgrimage-place at later dates, when hotels and refreshment rooms had already begun to batten upon its fame, have brought away recollections far from peaceful. The falls, they declare, are spoiled, defiled, not only by the catering for trippers and honeymooners, but by the electric power houses and factories which have grown up around the gorge. Whether these severely utilitarian, but none the less interesting, erections are a defilement or not is debatable; one thing is certain, Niagara can never be "spoiled." It is one of the two supremely majestic natural wonders of the world, one of the few show sights which must always justify their reputation. Perch a cheap esthetic house on the very brink of the falls, and the falls would remain magnificent. Probably the eating-house, veiled in drifting spray, overhung by frail rainbows and shaken by the thunder of the cataract, would have its banality turned into some strange effect of subtle loveliness. Even if its ugliness were unassailable, it could not, by its presence, make the falls ugly.

A short distance below the falls an iron bridge leaps the gulf from America to Canada. For myself, I happen to think the bridge an object exhibiting real beauty, in its curve and in its pattern; but apart from such personal prejudices, no one can deny that the falls, weaving a tremendous gauze of vapor athwart the rigid spider's web of metal, do indeed beautify it and throw round its arch a glamour which it would otherwise lack. Even the much-abused power houses down the gorge are not unpicturesque in certain lights. They rise against the sky on the cliff summit like fantastic modern renderings of mediæval fortresses or barons' burgs on the Rhine;—capitulate robbers' castles, as maybe some indignant critic would name them, enthroned to plunder both nature and man.

Nobody, I conceive, can sweep up such admiration for the trippers and aristocratic portion of the toga of Niagara Falls itself. The odor of its too blatantly hospitable restaurants, greeting the newcomer on his emergence from the railway station exit, the ag- time of its gramophones and other musical entertainments, are admirable; but these offenses are kept at proper distance by the park reservation which surrounds the actual waterfall. One the platform which overhangs the American fall one can sit alone; and, indeed, I imagined that the most sociable soul would have desired solitude. For, without wishing to indulge in any false rhetoric, one cannot but describe this spot, with all its reverence, as a place of worship. The view which the eye encounters is verwhelmingly impressive, and the ear which beats upon the ear contributes superbly to that impressiveness. Outspread before the spectator is the umptuous panorama of crushing liquid, flinging itself in a kind of agony of struggle to the brink, and then, by contrast, almost serenely—slipping sheet upon sheet, down the gorge the cauldron whose depths are concealed by veering, billowing steam.

J. L. Hinds, who resides on the Richardson farm, near Lake Wichita brought to the Times office Saturday a head of maize and one head of feterata. He has only two acres of the latter, and says it will yield at least 35 bushels to the acre. He planted the feterata on May 14. His neighbor, Mr. Jackson, has done even better than himself, who has about four acres that will yield about fifty bushels per acre. ### IRON MOULDER'S STRIKE FOLLOWED BY RIOTING

General Walkout in Erie, Pennsylvania May be Ordered as Result of Trouble

Erie, Pa., Aug. 23.—Rioting in connection with the strike of iron moulder broke out afresh tonight and as a result a state policeman was wounded and a score of injured have been taken to their homes. The streets were crowded near the labor temple, where the union men were discussing the question of ordering a general strike which would involve 8000 men. As the non-union workmen filed out of the plants, it is alleged they were met by union workers and foreigners.

A troop of state constabulary responded to the riot calls. It is said the commanders ordered the crowds to disperse, but the orders were ignored and the troopers rode into the throng. The crowd resisted and a number of persons were injured. The Central Labor Union late tonight appointed a committee to draft a resolution calling a general strike.

UP TO DATE INFANTS

By CAROLINE CROW.

Looking up wonderingly from her embroidery, the girl in the apple blossom kimono beheld her room-mate stalk gloomily in from the matinee. Without a word the newcomer pitched her muff at the offended angora. Still without a word, she poured and drank three cups of tea in desperate succession.

"Oh, Meg! Now what has happened?" pleaded the girl in the apple blossom kimono. "Couldn't the children go to the matinee with you, after all?"

"Oh, yes, we went, seven went, seven strong," darkly responded Meg. "Lois, how old am I?"

"Why, don't you know?" queried her bewildered friend in the kimono. "I thought I did. But oh, those children—those alleged children!" groaned Meg, clasping her white gloved hands about her knees. "If you wish to preserve one lingering illusion, Lois," she said presently, "never, never be deluded into giving faculty children a treat."

"But why?" demanded Lois. "My first misgivings attacked me when I saw how competent and composed the little creatures were at the very outset," related Meg, somewhat calmer by now. "No timid, upward glance for guidance at crossing, no clinging to my skirts when the fearsome locomotive approached full blast—you know it makes my heart jump to this day to see the great monsters coming on; no shirking, reluctance about selecting and appropriating the best accommodations on the train."

"I'm sure the Blodgett children have charming manners," defended Lois. "And Jamie Dowd—"

"Oh, they have, they have!" walked Meg, biting a rose stem savagely. "Nothing alarmed and discomposed me so much as their manners. My own are a crude, backwoods product by comparison. They had the manners of little dukes and marquises to each other and to me. My mouth simply fell open, and stayed open, at the polite lilt those midgets favored each other with. They certainly have the responses down pat. Now, personally, I like nice mannered children—but by that I mean just good, old-fashioned, farm manners!"

"Wasn't it All Just Perfect?"

Her companion laughed merrily. "You would!" she agreed heartily if somewhat ambiguously. "But didn't the dears seem to have a good time?"

"The finest kind of a time," asserted her friend, nibbling a ladyfinger. "There was I just thrilling over the magic and wonder of it all, laughing and crying by turns, and all but climbing on the stage in my absorption in the sport. Then there came an intermission—I dried my eyes and turned to clasp the enraptured babes to my heart."

"Instead of finding enraptured babes I found six mature little entities, cool, alert, pleased as Punch, and interestingly discussing—what do you suppose? the mechanics of the production!" That was what had caught their attention and continued to hold it, despite my best-breaking efforts to interest them with the miracle of the thing. They didn't care two figs about fairyies and poetic imaginings, but wires and bulbs and black drops moved them to sincere enthusiasm. Lois, I got fairly hysterical before the end.

"The worst display of all, however, came when we were in the foyer, passing out. A dear, well-meaning, motherly soul, as pitifully behind the times as I had been myself but a short while before, accosted our party."

"Beaming on Rhoda's little golden seraph's head, she said: 'And wasn't it all just perfect, dear?'"

"Rhoda regarded her gravely for a moment—not why, you know, merely weighing her answer. Then, 'With one possible exception,' she replied courteously. 'I suppose, of course, you noticed that the climax comes far too early in the piece!'"

"Oh, Lois! Hand me that cat!"—Chicago Daily News.

WHEEL BUMPING FAVORITE SPORT OF BOY RIDERS

Messenger boys and other juvenile bicycle riders have succeeded in making life fairly miserable for downtown pedestrians and complaints have been heard on many sides. Good Intentions!

Do you remember what you told yourself, your wife, loved ones and friends about beautifying and marking the lonely mound out on the hill? Good men and true all over this part of the country, have said time and time again, they were going to mark the sacred plots in the cemetery tomorrow, next month, next year. But visit those graves, and you will find them unremembered, unmarked. In many instances, there is a rotten board, which the dust of time has all but destroyed. Every cemetery has its unmarked, unremembered dead, thus hindering those who have the work at heart and desire to make the place beautiful and attractive. Why pave your way with good intentions and as the shadows of night gather round you forget them? Count your marked graves, and you KNOW your best citizens in any community. Come to our plant and do your part in this great work.

THAW CASE NOW IN LEGAL SNARL

(Continued from Page 1) That habeas corpus proceedings hearing would be held Wednesday. Another possibility was suggested. Thaw would come into court, plead not guilty and demand trial. This, it was said might not take place until the October term. "How about it?" Thaw was asked. "Wait for Roger," he said. O'Brien was thus literally the missing key-stone in the Thaw forces tonight and William Travers Jerome, Thaw's old enemy and prosecutor, was the missing general of the New York forces. Thaw did not appear particularly disturbed when told Jerome was hastening here. Calls Jerome "Willy." "So Willy's coming?" he said, "for once in my life, I have lawyers who save no tremendous amount of ability but I am able to confer with them. I have never had a lawyer except Delmas and maybe a couple of others who were worth over $25 a day. A number of Stamford White's friends have always pursued me and they pursued me up here, but their influence is waning. Well, I hope Jerome has a good time here. I have a lot of things on Jerome. I was going to spring them at White Plains in 1908, but decided not to; I'll spring them sometime, though." Thaw declined to say a word about Evelyn Thaw or the child she says is his. Without O'Mara, Thaw's lawyers are merely sparring for time. Dance at the Lake every Wednesday and Saturday Music by the Lake Wichita eight-piece orchestra. Best music in the city. ### "THE DIVINE SARAH" AGAIN SEEN IN MOVING PICTURES.

Much has been heard of the moving picture machine as the ignoble but dangerous rival of legitimate drama, crowding the players off the boards and debasing the public taste with its crude and tawdry substitute for dramatic art. Its success in bringing to stay at home people startling intimate glimpses of animal life in the jungle as well as the authentic pageantry of durbars and coronations has served to remind us, it is true, that the motion picture can assert its dominance in certain fields and yet give the artistic no cause to grieve. But to many it will doubtless be a surprise to learn that no less an artist than Sarah Bernhardt has entrusted her art to the films, and that she will be seen this season in the United States in historical photoplay. Its twenty-one scenes are adapted from Amiel Moreau's "Queen Elizabeth," a new drama in which the actress made her first appearance and scored a fresh triumph only last April. Henry Bridon gives in the Journal des Debats (Paris) a full account of the plot which is based on the tragedy of Elizabeth's relations with Essex. —Literary Digest.

PANHANDLE ODD FELLOWS TO MEET NEXT IN VERNON.

(Vernon Record)
A telegram to the Record received today at noon conveys the information that Vernon has been selected by the Panhandle Association Independent Order of Odd Fellows as their 1914 meeting place. In 1911 Vernon was a strong contender against Wichita Falls for the 1912 convention and was finally defeated by a margin of only one vote, the first being a tie. The convention for Vernon is secured as a result of efforts of local Odd Fellows and the Young Men's Business League and plans will be made at once to entertain the Three-Linkers on their visit here next year. There will probably be some 200 or 300 visitors.

THE NEW FALL SUITS ARE HERE

The earliest showing of the new fall suits and dresses—the wear that is most interesting to womenfolk is ready for inspection, and we invite you to come and see it. Only a few are ready to buy yet, but all are anxious to look, and, unlike some stores that want you to buy if you look, we want you to look whether you buy or not. The display includes the full Wooltex line of suits and coats, all adopted from the Parisian models, and an equally fine line of evening and street gowns. The line is increasing every day, the shipments of the best coming in first. We have aimed to have no two costumes alike, which gives an individuality that is always appreciated. Every suit and coat is sold under a guarantee of two full seasons' satisfaction, which means if you buy now, you will be in style next season as well. The millinery department is also replete with many of the early fall styles—the styles that will be seen in all well dressed affairs for the next three months, many of which will last through the entire winter. Come and see them.

SPECIALS IN SUMMER GOODS

If you have not already bought all of the summer and early fall goods you need, we call your attention to a number of specials, at prices made to close them out. They are mostly staples—as good next years as this but we do not want to carry them over.

FIRST SALE OF NEW CROP COTTON REACHES FREDERICK

(Frederick Leader)
The sons of David Quesenberry residing on the Cassidy farm, five miles northwest of Frederick, brought the first bale of 1913 cotton to this city Wednesday. The cotton was taken to the Foster-Harris gin. The Messrs. Quesenberry have a large acreage of cotton and report it in fairly good condition. Some of the bolls in the load they brought in were of medium good size. They are of the opinion that a good rain within a few days would be of wonderful assistance to the cotton crop. If the drought is much longer continued, however, it will cut the crop short. This opinion is shared by others who are acquainted with conditions. The first load weighed 1,500 pounds, weighing slightly less than 500. It was on the streets yesterday morning and was bought for 11 cents a pound by H. Bartdorf, S. J. Mathies circulated a premium paper, which was liberally signed.

We are giving entire satisfaction to the people. We know how. Dr. DuVal, the Progressive Eye, Ear, Nose, Throat Specialist. 55 11c

Nearly Every Modern House That is Being Built Now Has AN ECONOMY Fireplace Furnace Installed

Why? Because every one who has an Economy fireplace furnace recommends them so highly that most modern homes are either having them installed now or building the flue the right size, so the Economy can be installed at a later time. If you will study the working of the Economy Fireplace Furnace you'll find that the ordinary gas grate cannot possibly give more than one-fourth the heat from the same amount of fuel. Therefore, one of these furnaces will heat as much space as several ordinary stoves and besides you have the cheerful looking fireplace that all enjoy so much.

IT HAPPENED IN WICHITA FALLS

And is Happening to Wichita Falls People Every Week

The case told below is not an uncommon thing. The same occurs frequently and will continue to happen as long as folks have kidneys and overtax the kidneys.

Mrs. Mary Beck, 712 Seventh St., Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "For years I suffered from kidney trouble, having pains in my back and sides and irregular action of the kidneys. I steadily grew worse and about three years ago the trouble reached a climax, when I had to take to my bed. For three months I was helpless and six local physicians said that I had Bright's Disease. I was discouraged. A friend suggested that I try Doan's Kidney Pills and I took them. I began to improve and by the time I had taken the first box, I was much better. Four boxes cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

VERNON WILL FURNISH POOL HALL TEST CASE

Former Attorney General Lightfoot is Counsel For Proprietors Who Will Make Test

(Vernon Record)
The law which enables a county or any political subdivision to determine by vote whether the operation and maintenance of pool halls shall be prohibited within the limits of said county or political subdivision is to be tested before the court of criminal appeals at Austin with Messrs. Charles Frances and J. E. Pearce, proprietors of the F. & P. pool hall of this city, as defendants. That the act passed by the present legislature and which became operative July 1, under which the operation and maintenance of pool halls within justice precinct No. 1 of Wilbarger county was prohibited by vote of the people at an election held for the purpose on Saturday, July 19th, is unconstitutional will be the contention of the defense. Jewell P. Lightfoot, former attorney general of Texas, has been retained as counsel for Frances and Pearce, and the plan agreed upon to bring the matter into court, is that defendants keep their pool hall open one day after the law becomes effective. They will be arrested for violation of the law. Their counsel will then sue out a habeas corpus at Austin admitting them to bail pending disposition of the case which is expected some time in October. The law is scheduled to go into effect Friday at midnight. Messrs. Frances and Pearce will keep their place open tomorrow and tomorrow night, they will then be placed under arrest and the procedure detailed in the preceding paragraph gone through with. Pending a decision in the case the local pool halls will remain closed.

CHILLICOTHE CITIZEN IS MORE THAN CENTURY OLD.

(Chillicothe News)

D. F. N. B. Oliver was born in Emanuel County, Ga., in 1809, Aug. 14 and is therefore 104 years old. He was only married once and by this union 17 children were born, only two living at present. Mrs. Clara Don is 55 years of age and was here with him during his visit to his grand-son J. T. Bond. He has a son living at Sentinel, Okla., named A. P. Oliver, whom he is now visiting. He has 27 grand children, and to use the Dr.'s own expression, "Lord only knows how" many great grand children. He was elected to the first legislature in Florida, after the war, defeating a negro who was his opponent, being the only white man elected who had a negro opponent. He was a practicing physician for 55 years and surgeon in the 5th Georgia regiment. Says he never took a social drink of whiskey or beer at the bar in his life and quit using whiskey 75 years ago and tobacco 75 years ago. Two weeks ago he thought he would try a chew of tobacco, but having only one tooth he couldn't chew it, and he tried a pipe and while on the way the pipe dropped out of his mouth, setting the bed on fire and he threw the pipe away. He attributes his long life to moderate eating and taking care of himself. Was made a Mason in 1836 and has lived a Democrat and a Methodist all his life—and will continue to adhere to these principles. His Masonic membership is in Monticello, Fla. Was for many years an Odd Fellow but gave up that lodge years ago.

HENRIETTA AND GAS COMPANY NOT FRIENDLY AT PRESENT

(People's Review)
The definite word and documentary proof, as bills, bill of lading, etc., has arrived to the effect that the pipe for Henrietta's new gas supply is on the way, and seven cars are due to arrive here Monday. The fittings, as regulators and other appliances, are also coming—and Henrietta's accumulated "show me" doubt will very shortly be dissipated.

It was current rumor yesterday that the North Texas branch of the Lone Star company was showing its teeth at the situation; that it was refusing to turn on its gas for gas and other like concerns until these had signed a contract to continue the use of Lone Star North Texas gas for two years. A more or less mild overture of like effect was also made to the city in relation to the water works. This is a happy state of affairs, if the rumor is correct. Coming from that source—from the company that began with the insult of "20 lights in the City Hall," continuing with the pipe discrimination against us as to factory price gas and which has carefully refrained from laying us under any obligations of any sort. Henrietta has been beaten and chiseled from every direction, including those who should have been her friends; but the old gal will prove to be red-headed and wiry though small, and not above totting wood if necessary. It is hoped, however, that the rumor has been exaggerated.

M. J. KING ASKS $50,000 DAMAGES

BYERS MAN ALLEGES DEFAMATION OF CHARACTER IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

BYERS PEOPLE ARE NAMED

Suit is Aftermath of Investigation of Alleged Murder of Young Girl

As an aftermath of the complaint filed against Milton J. King, the Byers young man who was held under bond in the district court here pending an investigation by the grand jury of charges that he was responsible for the death of a girl at Byers about a year ago, King has filed suit in the Clay county district court asking $50,000 damages against G. A. Poole, Fred Kepley, A. T. Reed, G. C. Davis, J. B. Wright and H. B. Medley all of Byers.

The Henrietta Independent has the following account of the filing of the suit:

The petition of the plaintiff sets up defamation of character as the cause of action.

About a year ago a young lady of the Byers neighborhood who was attending school at Wichita Falls, died and the petition states that the defendants falsely charged that plaintiff had seduced her and with the aid of a Wichita Falls doctor had produced an abortion, which was the cause of her death. And that they falsely charged that the young woman made a statement on her death bed that plaintiff was the cause of her ruin.

The petition further states that recently the defendants filed an information in the courts of Wichita county charging defendant with the murder of the young woman and caused him to be arrested, but that upon an investigation by the grand jury that body voted not to find a bill against him.

King charges in his petition that the defendants, in all these statements which are set out, made same knowing them to be false and without foundation, and made them in the presence and hearing of many good people.

All the parties to the suit are prominent people in and around Byers, and interest in the outcome of it is very strong. King is represented by Taylor and Humphrey and Allen.

"SUICIDE POND" IN FRANCE CAUSES AUTHORITIES TO TAKE ACTION

JACK JOHNSON AS SLAVE

Ex-Sultan of Morocco Thinks He Would Have Made a Good One. Other News of France

By Associated Press.

Paris, Aug. 23.—Close to the old Breton town of Fougeres is a pond beside which is a sign-post setting forth in large letters that, by order of the local authorities, "all persons drowning themselves in the pond will be heavily fined."

During the past few months, quite a number of persons, tired of life, have ended their lives in the placid waters of the little lake, moved no doubt by the spirit of imitation so frequently found in persons of unbalanced mind. A woman dwelling on the bank conceived the idea two months ago of putting up the notice in question, and the instinct of obedience to the behests of authority is so deep seated in the French mind that no suicides have occurred in the pond since.

Paris, the traditional resort of kings in exile, now harbors the ex-Sultan of Morocco, Abdul Aziz.

His majesty, in following robes of white, is to be seen daily in a large automobile driving along the boulevards. To distract him from his gloomy thoughts he was taken to a well-known vaudeville establishment to see the "Revue." The potentate gazed with indifference at the long array of gorgeously arrayed dancers; only when Jack Johnson appeared to give an exhibition of boxing, and to dance with his wife, did a gleam of interest dawn in the royal eyes. "What a splendid slave he would have made for me a few years ago," said his majesty with a deep sigh.

Aerial Artillery Tests

Residents on the Swiss Shore of Lake Constance are watching with great interest a series of experiments with a new aerial gun, conducted over the lake from Zepplin airship.

Great secrecy has been maintained about the trials, and the full results are not known. Firing from a height of 300 feet, it was observed that the floating target was riddled with bullets, while from 2,500 feet another target suffered considerably.

It is understood that the new gun is a quick-firer, a kind of aerial machine. It is not designed to sink vessels so much as to kill the crews. The experiments are always carried out at sunset.

There is a persistent report that the vacant chair at the French Academy is to be filled by a woman. The Academi-cans themselves are understood to be favorably disposed to the innovation, in view of the indisputable talents of the person mentioned, the Countess de Noailles, who was recently declared by a distinguished foreign critic to be the greatest living French poet.

Anatole France, when asked recently the date of his next appearance at the Academy, is said to have replied: "Very shortly—for the election of Madame de Noailles." The French Acad-

If you're a farmer we need you in the rich valley of the Wichita and Red River.
If you are a truck grower you can purchase good land adjoining the city with plenty of water to irrigate same and a home market with big prices for everything you raise.

If you are speculative inclined you will find the largest oil and gas field in the State right at our door, where farmers, business men, oil men and speculators grow rich in a fortnight.

If you are a manufacturer you can secure a free site and the cheapest natural gas in the State of Texas, with plenty of water, seven railroad outlets, cheap freight rates and a large distributing territory for your manufactured product. Over forty manufacturing industries in operation now, and Ball Bros.' large fruit jar factory will start up about September first with 250 employees.

If you are a merchant, lawyer, doctor, contractor, real estate agent, clerk, laborer or what not, we welcome you just so you are a desirable citizen.

WE WANT YOU. We have plenty of room to grow and if you think we are not growing just compare our per centage growth in post office receipts and population with any city in the United States for the past ten years, and if you use slang you will exclaim "we are going some."

We have everything necessary to build a great city with the exception of people and money and we are scouring the country for both. Won't you join us? We have a healthy climate, water, gas, oil, coal, railroads, a fine farming country with a large trade territory and no competitive city. In fact, we have every natural advantage we could wish for with 15,000 live boosters. What more do we need? Just people and money.

Visitors to Wichita Falls are invited to come directly to the office of the FLORAL HEIGHTS REALTY COMPANY in the Kemp & Kell building, Suite 311, for information about everything in the city. All information is given free of charge. No fees are asked or accepted.

BALL BROTHERS PLANT WILL OPEN MONDAY

BOXES CLEANED OUT AND BLOWING MACHINES TESTED SATURDAY

ALL IN READINESS

More Than 150 Men Will Be Employed From Start and Larger Force Later

The "boxes" were opened and cleaned and the big blowing machines at Ball Brothers fruit jar plant were tested out Saturday afternoon preparatory to opening the plant Monday morning. Fires have been burning in the big furnace nearly three weeks and the sand mixture has now turned to fluid glass. When the boxes at the front of the furnace close to the blowing machines were opened this morning the molten glass poured from the apertures like thick molasses. It is necessary at the beginning of each season to open the furnaces and allow the dross and dirt which collects to the top of the fluid glass to flow off in order that the jars may be free from air holes and foreign matter.

The machinery was given a thorough testing out Saturday and was found to be in good shape. The molten glass is of the right consistency and everything is in readiness for the whistle at 7 o'clock Monday morning when actual operations will begin in Wichita Falls biggest industry.

At the start about 150 men will be employed. This number will be increased to more than two hundred as all the departments of the plant are placed in operation. The framework is up for the zinc mill operated in connection with the plant and this will be completed after the other departments are opened and will be in operation probably within sixty days. Before the end of the season and when the shipping is at its height it is probable the plant will give employment to between three and four hundred men.

The blowing department will be opened night and day with two twelve hour shifts working from 7 to 7, closing Saturday night until Monday morning. A day shift only will be worked in the packing department.

T. B. Smock who has been with Ball Brothers for about ten years and who had charge of the plant at Coffeyville, Kansas, will be manager of the plant here. Patrick Kelly will be the general foreman of the furnace room and Lewis McKelvie will be the night foreman. O. H. Karr will be foreman of the packing room. J. C. Davis will be foreman of the cap department and will also be in charge of the machine shop. The foreman of the zinc mill has not yet been selected.

The fruit jars are made and packed ready for shipping with a minimum of hand work. The sand is hauled to a big mixing machine in the sand house in wheel barrows and from the mixing machines is poured automatically onto a big belt which conveys it to the top of the furnace in an adjoining building and dumps it into a hopper at the top of the furnace. It is drawn out by the furnace at the opposite end as molten glass and is poured into the mould and blown into jars by machines.

There are six of these blowing machines in the plant and they can make jars fast enough to keep two hundred workers busy handling their product and getting it ready for shipment.

From the blowing machines the jars are placed in belts or conveyors which run right up to the machines, and are moved on these belts to the furnaces where they are automatically moved onto a great belt or moving platform which moves constantly but very slowly through the furnaces which are probably forty feet in length, and by the time they have passed through the furnace they have been tempered and are ready for the packers. A detailed description of all the operations in connection with the making and packing of the jars will be published after the plant is in full operation.

VERNON TO SEEK TRADE FROM ACROSS RED RIVER

Vernon Record.
A proposal from farmers living in Jackson County, Okla., that if Vernon will straggle the crossing of Red River they will come to Vernon to do their trading and sell their cotton this fall was received by the Young Men's Business League at the regular monthly meeting last Tuesday night and a committee appointed to look into the feasibility of the project and if found practicable to raise funds to make the necessary improvement in the crossing. The project will cost not exceeding $125, and it is believed the League can raise this amount out of their own treasury, from local business men, the county commissioners and ginners in the north part of the county. It is probable that the matter will be taken up within a week and definitely settled. What made the matter look good to the League was the fact that about twenty-five farmers signed an agreement to do their trading in Vernon if the proposed improvement is made.

BEN SMITH SERIOUSLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Loose Brake Wheel Causes Switchman To Fall Fracturing His Skull

Ben Smith, for many years an employe of the Fort Worth & Denver here, was seriously hurt Saturday morning when he fell from a passenger coach on one of the coach tracks near the Union Station. The coach was one off the Wichita Valley train and it was a part of Smith's work as a switchman to set the brake on it. He had climbed up onto the platform and was pulling at the brake wheel to set the brake firmly when the wheel came off and he fell backward to the ground, the back of his head striking against one of the rails.

Mr. Smith was picked up by fellow employes who had witnessed the accident and was later carried to the hospital in an ambulance where it was found that his skull had been fractured at its base. His injuries are pronounced of a serious nature and his recovery is doubtful.

It is reported that the tap at the end of the brake rod holding the wheel was missing.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23—John W. "Bull" Young Jr., the prize fighter who was knocked out last night by Jess Willard, died today at the hospital where an operation was performed to relieve cerebral hemorrhage. Surgeons said concussion of the brain was the cause of death. Safeguard Your Health By Using Pure Ice—We have already called the attention of the public to the importance of Pure Ice. It is a subject worth mentioning again. We want to emphasize it by repetition. At this season of the year when the intelligent housewife is particularly careful to safeguard the health of her family, Pure Ice is the one matter she should not and does not overlook. We're carefully treating our water before we start it into the freezing process. If there happened to be a germ in the water freezing would do him no harm. Merely to incase him in ice would be a joke on us, not on him, because as demonstrated, soon after the discovery of germs, they don't ever stop wiggling in a block of ice much less die; so first we put the water through a special chemical process to make assurance doubly sure then we boil the water and condense the steam. A famous chemist and bacteriologist has said that ordinary water is liable to be anaquairum, (meaning germs, not fish) that if boiled it becomes a graveyard, but that condensation makes it absolutely pure. Not only is our ice made from absolutely pure water. It's kept pure in the making process—Phone us your orders

Keep Your Eyes on Southland Addition

Contract for 200,000 square feet of cement sidewalks was let last week. Work is progressing rapidly on sewerage system and new street car line. Water mains to guarantee a plentiful water supply for the addition will be laid shortly. SOUTHLAND ADDITION will be the most complete residence addition ever placed on the market in West Texas. Buyers will be protected by restrictions preventing the building of unsightly shacks through the placing of a minimum building restriction on the property when needed. These restrictions will not, however, retard the building of modest homes. Lot owners will be protected against the building of outhouses alongside front of lots by preventing lots being cut cross-wise and backing up against other lots. Lots will be sold for residence purposes only. SOUTHLAND ADDITION WILL NOT be placed on the market until all improvements are completed. It will be a full grown addition that will sell rapidly and build rapidly. It's location is far enough away from the noise and dirt of the business district to be very desirable for homes and close enough in to give quick direct car service down town to enable the busy man to lose but little time. WAIT FOR SOUTHLAND ADDITION. OPENING SALE WILL TAKE PLACE IN ABOUT 30 DAYS.

MONEY AND FAITH

These are two of the great essentials in buying real estate. Lots of people have the money and yet they lack faith. Others have faith and lack the money.

If you have resided here as long as six months and haven't got the confidence that this is going to make a large city, then you ought to rub up against a wide awake real estate man and come out of your trance or stupor and awaken to the great possibilities that surround you.

Don't you know that Wichita Falls is going to make a city? Can't you see its great natural advantages which are bound to make it grow to a large manufacturing, industrial and commercial center? Certainly you can see it if you will but open your eyes. We have water, gas, railroads, oil, coal, good farming lands with a large trade territory to draw from with no competitive city. We also have the finest bunch of business men that you can find anywhere. What more do we need? Why, it is a cinch that we are going to build a city here. If I didn't think so I would move out, wouldn't you?

Well, you say that you have the money and the confidence, but you are going to wait awhile to invest.

Are you waiting for a slump, cool weather or a big sensational movement in real estate? If so, learn now your mistake. There will be no slump in Wichita Falls property, and prices will never be so low again as they are today. Hot weather should cut no ice nor delay you, neither should you wait for some excitement, but learn to use good judgment rather than impulse.

The best time to purchase property is when the market is quiet as you will find more good bargains offered. Never wait for a big rush to buy property for it is then that every one wants to buy and no one wants to sell, consequently you don't find so many bargains offered.

Now if you have a little money and will call at my office, suite 311, Kemp & Kell building, I can soon convince you that we can make your little money grow into big money by investing it in Wichita Falls real estate.

You will note that I have changed my office but that I am still in the real estate business.

While I expect to push Floral Heights as a leader for bargains, yet you can rest assured that if there are any other bargains offered in the city you will find them among my listings and I will take great pleasure in showing them to you. I have quite a few of these bargains now. Call and see me.

EFFECT OF NEW LAW ON SALOONS

PROPRIETORS DECLARE NINE-THIRTY CLOSING IS PROFITABLE

LIQUOR SHIPMENTS BILL

Express Companies Do Less Business But Dry County Citizens Fail To Suffer

The 9:30 closing law has not only failed to put any local saloon-keepers out of business, but it has resulted in increased business for them. That, briefly stated, is the opinion of local saloon-keepers after nearly two months under the new law.

Although none of the local proprietors cared to be directly quoted on the subject, the half dozen who were questioned were unanimous in stating that so far from cutting down their receipts the new law has added to their profits. Not all of them attributed their increase to the 9:30 law, some expressing the belief that the liquor shipments bill was also partly responsible.

"I don't know why it is," said one proprietor, "but it's a fact that we've done more business since the law went into force. Our July business was $700 larger than our June business for some reason. I know we sell considerable more in jugs and bottles than we used to, maybe the actual drinking over the bar hasn't increased any, but we're selling more of the stuff than we did."

Another saloon keeper who was questioned said that the anti-shipments law had worked out in a peculiar way.

"A man in Archer county, for instance," he said, "used to send up here for a quart perhaps once a week. Now he has to come after his liquor in person, so when he does come, he naturally lays in a bigger supply. Then he goes back home and the three quarts that he takes with him don't last any longer than the one quart used to. I can't explain that, exactly, unless it is because some fellows are just naturally hogs, anyhow."

There is no question, however, that the anti-shipments measure has hit those saloons that used to make a specialty of this business, catering little or not at all to the bar trade. The best evidence of this may be found in the difference between present conditions and those which used to prevail at the Union station in the middle of the day when trains were moving in and out.

Some of the proprietors declare that two months is not a fair test and that the real effect of the new laws is yet to be determined. That there has been no marked "blatant" in the business is shown by the demand for saloon licenses as soon as it was found that the law would permit them on account of the increase in population.

NEW YORK DEMONSTRATES USE OF DOGS BY POLICE

German Plan of Trailing and Catching Criminals is Tried With Considerable Success

URGES VACCINATION AS SMALLPOX PREVENTIVE

Dr. Coons Reports Several Cases in Factory District and Wants To Avoid Epidemic

New York, Aug. 23.—A taxicab containing four "gunmen" dashed up to a bench on which two men were sitting in Van Cortlandt Park today. One of the "bandits" brandishing an automatic revolver was proceeding to "stick up" the two men on the bench when a policeman a hundred yards away came into sight. He sounded his police whistle and drawing his revolver, started on a run toward the scene of the hold-up, firing as he advanced. The three gunmen in the taxicab answered the policeman's fire as did the driver also.

As the policeman came up with the taxicab six policemen leading a half dozen trained police dogs entered the park and made for the scene of the shooting. Within the police reserves were within a few yards of the bandits they loosed the dogs which made for the would be robbers. Two of the dogs leaped to the front seat of the cab and pulled the driver to the ground while the others made for the man who had been "sticking up" the "victims." He was soon thrown to the ground. The three robbers in the cab threw their guns out and surrendered. After some difficulty the police pulled the dogs away from the bandit and the taxicab driver. Some 20,000 spectators cheered lustily.

Tremendous Losses Caused By American Bad Roads

Denver Republican

The farmer, and the business man as well, has at last come to realize the losses he suffers from bad roads, and the magnitude of the movement to better conditions is little appreciated by those whose interests have not brought them in contact with it. The cost of bad roads has long been known in a vague way, but recent scientific investigations have brought the matter home in tangible form to those who suffer from them, says the Review of Reviews. One of the most thorough investigations of the subject ever conducted, the results of which are used as a text wherever the doctrine of good roads is preached, was made by the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association. While the conditions investigated were those of territory tributary to Minneapolis, they are undoubtedly typical, to a greater or less degree, of those existing elsewhere.

A committee of the association, selected for investigation the farming district, 750 square miles in area, the trade of which is tributary to Minneapolis. From a thorough canvass of the conditions existing there, it was found that the 4,069 farmers in the district hauled 560,000 tons of farm produce to market in 1911 and sold it for $6,665,688. To do this they had to make 305,000 trips, the time spent equaling 200 years of eight-hour days and the distance covered 33 times the circumference of the world. Bad road conditions caused losses in time, partly due to slow progress, partly to the necessity of taking less direct routes and partly because smaller loads had to be carried. Detailed investigations showed that the losses in time were as follows: Due to not taking the shortest route, $62,000; due to slower progress, $75,000; due to extra trips necessitated by smaller loads, $159,000—a total loss of $296,000. Losses from inability to reach the market; from the spoiling of produce, and from injury to horses and wagons were found to aggregate $221,000; from restricted
