CHARLTON FACES TRIAL IN ITALY

AMERICAN ACCUSED OF WIFE MURDER ARRIVES AT GENOA TODAY

CONVICTION NOT LIKELY

Believed Probably He Will Be Adjudged Insane and Confined in Italian Asylum

(By Henry Wood, staff correspondent of the United Press)
Genoa, Aug. 25.—Accompanied by the two carabinieri who have not left his side since he was taken from the New Jersey prison on August 14, Porter Charlton arrived here today on board the Italian steamer trial for the murder of his wife. Fears that he might attempt suicide during the voyage, rather than face the Italian courts were entirely ungrounded according to the carabinieri.

The sea voyage had evidently benefited Charlton very much. He appeared in much better physical trim even than when taken from New Jersey. He declined positively to discuss the case saying that it was a matter solely for his attorneys.

As yet practically nothing has been done by the Italian government towards the trial of the case. The Department of Justice preferred that Charlton should be actually in its jurisdiction before it should begin its work. It has not even been decided whether he shall be taken to Rome or at Milan, which is nearer to Genoa where the case will probably be heard pending the preliminary preparations.

May be Adjudged Insane
In general, it is not expected that Charlton will be convicted although very likely he will be judged insane and disposed of accordingly. Owing to the profound influence which Lombroso, the famous criminologist who died a few years ago at Milan, had upon Italian judicial life, conditions are most favorable in Italy for escaping criminal convictions on pleas of mental irresponsibility.

Lombroso's profound studies, which have been recognized in all parts of the world result in a goodly part of the Italian criminal code being modified in favor of those who have become criminals through inherent moral or mental deficiency. Judges and jurors throughout Italy are also especially disposed towards this phase of criminology in all cases heard by them.

Should Charlton actually be brought to trial he will be enclosed in a steel cage in the court room as were the famous Camorristas during their trial at Viterbo. The Italian carabinieri with fixed bayonets will be constantly on guard and will take the usual precautions to prevent attempts at suicide which so often happen in the prisoners' cage in the Italian court rooms.

Italian attorneys who have looked up the case have succeeded in finding a precedent in Charlton's favor which they say will unquestionably be introduced. An almost identical case was tried several years ago in Italy, when an Italian named Olivetta murdered his wife, concealed the body in a trunk and threw it into a lake.

Lombroso, who was then alive and was called as an alienist in the case, demonstrated not only that the man was mentally irresponsible but that owing to peculiar conditions he was perfectly harmless as far as society in general was concerned. His complete acquittal followed.

Solitary Confinement Fatal
Should Charlton be convicted he would probably be given the usual penalty of life imprisonment. This carries with it seven years of solitary confinement which in Italy usually proves fatal.

In the case of his being adjudged insane, he will be confined in an asylum until he is either cured or until the department of Public Safety is convinced that his liberty would not be a menace to the public at large. This in Italy is not difficult to establish.

It is believed it would be especially easy in the present case in view of the fact that as Charlton would probably make his future residence in America instead of in Italy it would not in any case be the Italian public who would suffer.

American Ambassador O'Brien has received instructions to see that Charlton is assured of the full protection of his rights as an American citizen.

GOVERNORS FACE MANY PROBLEMS

SIXTH ANNUAL CONVENTION BEGINS TODAY AT COLORADO SPRINGS

SOME NOTABLE FEATURES

Banking and Currency Laws and Farm Credit Matters are to Be Considered

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 26.—Recommending many changes in the banking and currency laws and advocating a system whereby the farmers of the country will be able to borrow money for longer terms and lower rates of interest than at present, Senator Fletcher of Florida, today addressed the sixth annual convention of the National Conference of Governors. The conference, composed of governors, ex-governors and governors-elect from the different states of the Union, which was organized at the instigation of President Roosevelt in 1907, convened here today. Because of the importance of legislation pending in the national congress and in the legislatures of various states, and because it has been the custom of the organization in the past to take up such matters and base laws for new legislation on the discussions, this year's conference was expected to be the most important yet held.

Senator Fletcher was one of the few who are not members of the conference to be invited to address the state executives. He was chosen because of his interest in the recent investigation of an American commission into the farmers' loans and sinking systems of a dozen European countries. Senator Fletcher described several of the best systems of Europe by which farmers abroad through governmental and co-operative banks are loaning money at a much lower rate of interest and for such longer periods than are in vogue in the United States. This, he declared, Senator Fletcher is the chief reason for the wonderfully efficient farms throughout Germany, France and Holland. It is imperative, declared the Florida senator, that the United States make it possible for American farmers to enjoy the same benefits if its country is to get the best out of its great industry of agriculture.

Among some of the most important subjects which will be formally presented by scheduled speakers and afterwards be the subject of open discussion are: "A State Department of Efficiency and Economy" to be presented by Governor Crace of Oklahoma and Lister of Washington; "Distrust of Legislatures; the Cause; the Remedy" to be presented by Governor Lodge of Kansas; "The Growth of Administrative Commissions" to be presented by Governors Dunne of Illinois and Hanna of North Dakota; "State Assumption of Nomination and Election Expenses" to be presented by Governors Baldwin of Connecticut and Carey of Wyoming.

Governor Hanson of Ohio, Hatley of Missouri, and Aldrich of Nebraska today prepared to announce formally the success of the states in their fight before the United States supreme court through the recent decision of that court in the famous credit banks, land mortgage societies and co-operative buying and selling associations to meet the needs of the people of the United States engaged in agriculture.

Another important report which was scheduled for today or tomorrow was from the committee appointed last year to prepare a bill to be submitted, after its approval by two-thirds of the governors, to the legislatures of the several states providing for the establishment of rural credit banks, land mortgage societies and co-operative buying and selling associations to meet the needs of the people of the United States engaged in agriculture.

WICHITA FALLS PLAYERS NOW IN FASTER COMPANY

Scoggins Has Reported to Chicago White Sox—Nicholson and Brady With Dallas

Several members of the lamented Wichita Falls baseball club went up to faster company at the close of the Texas-Oklahoma League season and practically all of them bid fair to remain. Bobby Myers was the first to go, being sent to Toledo which fished him out to a minor league squad.

Scoggins has reported for duty with the Chicago White Sox and may have a tryout before long. Although demoted by scouts as a second lefty pitcher, he is thought Scoggins requires more than one season's hardening before he is big league material. That he has the stuff can hardly be doubted.

Nicholson and Brady are with the Dallas Giants. The former is playing in the outfield and appears to be doing well. Brady has not yet had a tryout. Phillips and Workman are playing independent ball. Nevitt is still owned by Fort Worth, but will probably play in New Mexico. He is in the city at present on his way to the west.

Bronte—About fifteen men are at work surveying the canal for the big irrigation project, being under consideration on the Colorado river, three miles from this city. Approximately 100,000 acres of land will be irrigated by this project when completed.

Wichita Falls, Texas, August 26, 1913

President Radford of the Farmers' Union, predicts that cotton will sell for 15c per pound before January 1st, and while he made this prediction before the drought had cut short the prospects for the fine cotton crop, it looks now as if his prediction will come true. The way things look now, the Texas cotton crop will be at least a million bales short of what it was last year.

About all the city of Wichita Falls owns are the streets and alleys, and these are maintained largely at the expense of abutting property owners. Under present conditions public service corporations use our streets and alleys for which they pay the city nothing. This is not right, and there should be a way to levy and collect a reasonable tax from such public service corporations for the use of the streets and alleys. The city constructed and maintains the sewer system, but for each and every connection to that sewer, the property owner is required to pay an annual tax for the privilege he enjoys, the price being regulated according to the number of rooms in a house that the sewer serves. There is nothing wrong in such a tax. But it is manifestly unjust to tax property owners to maintain the streets and alleys and allow them to be used free of charge by public service corporations.

Now that it has been decided to do a little more paving of streets, and inasmuch as the owners of abutting property on the streets to be paved will be required to pay all the paving expense, excepting the intersections, why not give the owners of abutting property a chance to make a choice of the kind of paving to be used? There are many objections to the wood-block paving. In the first place, for the first year or more after the wood block paving has been put down the tar that is poured into the cracks together with the epoxide oozes out on the slightest provocation and makes crossing the street a disagreeable task requiring the scraping off of the soles of one's shoes before entering a place of business or a house. In the next place, wood block paving is slippery at all seasons of the year, and during freezing weather it is dangerous to drive a team across or on them. In fact, about the only redeeming feature of the wood block paving is that it is less noisy than brick or possibly other paving. It is much more expensive than other kinds of paving without being any more lasting. The ordinary concrete paving—such as some of our alleys are paved with, is gaining favor as a paving for streets. It is perhaps true that this kind of paving is not so nice or quite as noiseless as the wood block paving, but the cost of it is less than one-half of wood-block paving, and that is quite an item for property owners to consider. The concrete paving can be seen in the alley between Indiana and Ohio avenues from Seventh to Tenth streets; part of which has been in use for several years, and is showing but small indications of giving away. By those who are posted it is asserted that streets paved with this material will hold up and last as long as brick paving, and if that be true, the Times, for one, would like to see a few blocks of streets paved with concrete in order to test the matter out.

"How do you know Higgins is 'unpopular in his household'?" "Because when the baby is good they say it takes after his mother, and when it cries they say it takes after its father."—Washington Star.

Governor Colquhoun was merciless in cutting appropriations, and yet the State tax rate will be 45-cents as against 26 2/3 cents last year. The increase is even greater than the figures indicate, for assessments are higher than a year ago, we take it, not having the exact figures at hand. There are two causes for this marked increase in tax rate. First, anything but an economical administration of public affairs, and second, every mother's son of us is ready to enlarge the scope of government if only we can see an immediate benefit for ourselves. We grab for this, that or the other institution or departmental aid, forgetful all the while of the pay day. A man like Oran M. Roberts, backed by the right sort of legislature, could run the State of Texas on one-half the present expenditure and run it well. But no would begin by choking to death some institutions that should never have been called into being.—Waco Times-Herald.

EXPECT LITTLE CHANGE IN THE PENNANT RACE

First and Second Places in Both Leagues are Practically Decided Now

New York, Aug. 26.—Not only the pennant winners but also the runners up seem now to have clinched their positions in both big leagues, though six weeks of play still remain, and in the American League it would not be taking a very long chance to predict that the end of the season will find each notch in the standing occupied by its present tenant.

Barring one little slump back in late June and early July, the Phillies have traveled practically the same pace as the Giants, and their consistent work makes it almost a certainty that they will land second place in the National campaign, just behind the New Yorkers. The Cubs and Pirates are likely to do a little more interchanging in third and fourth places, but as threateners of the Quakers' number two berth, they have passed into antiquity.

The Naps apparently have shaken off the Senators for good and all and now seem sure to stay next to the Athletics in the American League racing. The White Sox are enough behind to preclude almost any possibility that they will get up against past the Washingtonians. The Red Sox, thoroughly encased in fifth position, and the Tigers next, hardly need hope for either better or worse. The only battle left in this league is between the Yankees and Browns for tenth place, and the chances are that the St. Louis entry will manage to keep the Chance charges in the cellar.

The Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals are likely to have some more tussling in the basement of the National circuit, but Boston, in sixth place and the Brooklyn in fifth are ten to one bets to wind up there.

Clarke Griffith's third place Senators undoubtedly have grabbed more free advertising this year than any other American League team, not even excepting the Athletics. The performance of the list national pitcher, Walter Johnson, in first making a new world's record for consecutive shutout innings, then winning ten straight games and later, after losing a few, starting a string of wins that gives him the record of the year, has occurred several times before in big league history.

When two well known players were sent by a big league team recently to the minors a few of the fans in the big league town who had been habitual knickers of the pair declared that the best pitcher they were not worth $1,500 for which amount any other team in the league could have had them by the waiver route. The funny part of it is that the men in question would be bought gladly by several other clubs for at least $2,000. The rival clubs have made an agreement to help this particular club along by waiting on its request, thereby making it possible for the club to engineer deals with minor league clubs for new blood and retain options on the men in question. This occurred several times before in big league history.

Pitcher Tincup and Infielder Hallip, just bought by the Phillies, are appropriately named Indians, and would be still more so if a third redskin should be named Firewater.

The poor hitting of Chief Meyers that has occasioned much comment among puzzled Giant fans. The alleged reason has just leaked out. It dates back to the last world's series. Joe Wood, finding it impossible to puzzle the Chief with his fast ball, tried a curve on him. It worked like a charm, and the Indian did not get anything else to bat at from Wood during the rest of the series. As a result he was a toy in the hands of the Bostonian, who has not only a world of speed, but one of the best curve balls in the game when right. Players of other National League teams who saw the series passed the tip around at the start of the season. As a result, when Meyers comes to bat the usual procedure now is not to give him a base on balls, but to throw curves to him.

MARINE CORPS IS READY FOR INSTANT SERVICE

Washington, Aug. 26.—While the United States Marine Corps has not been preparing for any particular emergency, officials declare that branch of the service has been made so mobile that on a few hours' notice it could start for any place its services were needed. This applies in general to the entire personnel of the corps, but more particularly to that portion stationed at Philadelphia. From that station 1,000 marines in barracks will be ready to take transport and sail on the shortest possible notice.

So far as the men themselves are concerned every one would be at their posts with their paraphernalia within two hours after a call came; every man would be in line for the marine corps is the one branch of the fighting service of the Nation which is filled up to the last man. Of the 9,922 marines, not counting officers, many more are stationed at Philadelphia than at any other point. At Norfolk there are almost 700, but many are recruits, not ready without at least ten days' training.

The special preparedness of the marines at Philadelphia is due to the advance base training given them there. Speed is the element which enters at a greater degree probably than any other in this training. An hour's loss of time in reaching some particularly desired strategic point in an enemy's territory or elsewhere might give the enemy an advantage which might mean weeks of hard fighting. For this reason the necessity for speed in answering every call is insisted by constant practice.

As to provisioning a transport to carry marines from Philadelphia, it is believed all the food needed for an extended trip could be taken aboard in considerably less than twelve hours' time. Should a call come in the morning a transport could be on its way by nightfall.

A demonstration on a large scale of the efficiency of the organization is soon to be held. The old army transport Hancock is being overhauled and turned into a navy transport. She is to be sent to Philadelphia from New York and some time next fall at a given signal the full resources of the "advance base" are to be called into operation.

A thousand marines are to be ordered in the transport, which will have been loaded with nonperishable food supplies, field artillery, tentage, medical supplies, etc.

Lanlan-Homer D. Wade, secretary of the Central West-Texas Agricultural Association, has announced that the eighth quarterly meeting of that association will be held in this city September 17th. An interesting program is being arranged for the occasion.

Safeguard Your Health By Using Pure Ice—We have already called the attention of the public to the importance of Pure Ice. It is a subject worth mentioning again. We want to emphasize it by repetition. At this season of the year when the intelligent housewife is particularly careful to safeguard the health of her family, Pure Ice is the one matter she should not and does not overlook. We're carefully treating our water before we start it into the freezing process. If there happened to be a germ in the water freezing would do him no harm. Merely to incase him in ice would be a joke on us, not on him, because as demonstrated, soon after the discovery of germs, they don't ever stop wiggling in a block of ice much less die, so first we put the water through a special chemical process to make assurance doubly sure then we boil the water and condense the steam. A famous chemist and bacteriologist has said that ordinary water is liable to be anaquairum, (meaning germs, not fish) that if boiled it becomes a graveyard, but that condensation makes it absolutely pure. Not only is our ice made from absolutely pure water. It's kept pure in the making process—Phone us your orders

ODDS AND ENDS

T. S. Wren of the Lydia Margaret who returned yesterday from his old home in Kentucky, brought The Times a quantity of natural leaf home-made tobacco. Members of The Times force who are patrons of the so-called filthy weed are used to filling their pipes out of little tin cans with pretty pictures on the outside and the genuine tobacco article, unadulterated with alfalfa and other farm products, is somewhat new to them. One of The Times force filled his pipe with the Kentucky stuff and fired up. He hopes to be back at work by Thursday. When he came to, his pipe was missing.

Later—the pipe has been found. It had chased the office cat out of the press room and was pushing a 500-pound roll of paper around like a spool.

All the winds of doctrine were blowing on Seventh street Sunday night. On Indiana at one corner, the Nazarene church was conducting open air services, while across the street the Apostolic church was also having exercises. At the corner of Ohio the Salvation Army was holding its usual services, rivaled only a few feet away by some mendicants who were singing and soliciting alms. Later, more services were held at the Indiana end by an individual street preacher. Open air services are getting to be quite frequent here, especially on Sunday evenings and it is not unusual for some uncouth party to come forward and join in the worship. Those who conduct the services say that while many of their hearers are loiterers who listen because they have nothing else to do, they frequently reach some soul who would probably never attend any denominational church.

The impeachment proceedings against Governor Sulzer of New York are of more than passing interest to Wichitans by reason of the fact that a former Wichitan, Sam Bell Thomas, now an attorney in New York City, was campaign manager for the governor last year and led the Sulzer ticket to victory in November. Mr. Thomas was at one time editor of The Times when this paper was a weekly, back in the nineties. He abandoned journalism for the law and has been quite successful in the metropolis, being prominent in politics as well as in his profession.

HUMPHRIES FOUND GUILTY; FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE.

"Kid" Humphries was found guilty by a jury in the county court this morning on a charge of keeping a bawdy house and his punishment was assessed at twenty days in jail and a $200 fine. Humphries filed notice of appeal. After his trial Lillian Hall was placed on trial on a similar charge. The court expects to be taken up with the trials of bawdy house charges until Friday when Judge Felder will go to Burk Burnett where he will act as one of the judges of farm exhibits at the Burk Burnett carnival.

LAMAR AIRDOME FEATURES FOR WEEK PROVE PLEASING.

Farlardeau and Brown are a comedy team that made a big hit at the Lamar Airdome last night. Farlardeau is a female comedian who nature gave much to and with the addition of a grotesque make-up and a line of really brilliant comedy she keeps the audience in a roar all of the time she is on. Brown, her companion, has an act, called "Watch the Cigarette" and it keeps one watching all the time to see what he is going to do with it. He also has some clever comedy work and the two make one of the best acts here in a long time.

The four musical Astops also have a good act in their line rendering some classic instrumental numbers, as well as several good imitations and novelty songs.

PITCHERS MAKE GREAT RECORDS

TWENTY-ONE CONSECUTIVE SCORELESS INNINGS IN LATEST STUNT RECORDED

OTHER NEWS OF ATHLETES

Much Interest Attends Golfing Tournaments This Fall—English Cricketers to Make Tour

By Associated Press.

New York, August 25.—A sequence of unusual events and performances marked Tuesday, August 25, as a red letter day in baseball history. William Whittaker of the Keokuk Central Association team pitched twenty-one consecutive scoreless innings in a double-header between the Waterloo and Keokuk teams. But five hits were made off Whittaker and his team won both games by a 1 to 0 score. The first game went nine innings and the second twelve. In another instance, Reulbach of the Chicago Cubs, on September 26, 1908, pitched a double-header consisting of two nine-inning games against Brooklyn, winning both without giving the Superbas a run. During the same year Walter Johnson, of the Washington club shut out the New York Americans on September 5 and 7, pitched twenty-seven consecutive innings without allowing a run.

While Whittaker was performing at Keokuk, William Powers, of the New London Club of the Eastern Association, was pitching a double-header of eighteen innings in which he shut out the New Haven team without a run and allowed but eight hits. At the same time the Toronto and Jersey City clubs of the International League, were playing a twenty-inning scoreless game which Pitcher Hearne of the Toronto club pitched without allowing but six hits. Minor league history shows that this twenty-inning scoreless game was duplicated by the Cleburne and Fort Worth clubs of the Texas League on July 27, 1906, when as in the case of Jersey City and Toronto, the game was called on account of darkness after the twentieth inning.

The chronicles of the day's unusual baseball features do not end with these feats. August 12 marked the twenty-seventh anniversary of Napoleon Lajoie's entry into big league baseball. It was also Charlie Mathewson's thirty-third birthday and he celebrated by being a material factor in the Giant's victory over the Brooklyn club in an eleven-inning game. The National Baseball Commission took advantage of the occasion to get into the limelight with a ruling to the effect that a baseball player who owed another money in the form of a personal debt could be suspended from organized baseball until such time as he paid the debt.

Although a day late, Pitcher Hedgepath of the Richmond club of the Virginia league performed a spectacular twirling feat on August 13, when he outpitched in both games of a double-header against Petersburg, allowing one hit, three bases on balls and no runs. Hedgepath, who is slated for the Washington Americans, was opposed in the first game by Pitcher Ayers, who until defeated by Hedgepath, had a record of thirteen straight victories. Ayers will also join the Washington club this fall.

Autumn Golf Contests With English golfers in all three national championship tournaments this autumn the play for amateur, open and woman's titles taken an added interest. According to the latest reports Abe Mitchell will compete in both the amateur and open; Miss Muriel Dodd, present woman champion of Great Britain, and Miss Ravenscroft, 1912 champion, in the woman's title tourney; Harry Vardon, Wilfred Reid and Edward Ray in the open. There is early evidence that these title-seeking golfers, aided by the French trio, will attract unusual attention to the competitions at Garden City, Brookline and Wilmington.

Large entry lists are predicted for both the amateur and open. The entire week, September 1-5, will be devoted to the amateur tournament. A record entry is also expected for the open competition and the play will in all probability require four instead of two days as originally planned. It is believed that many of the United States professionals will avail themselves of the opportunity to enter with the idea of watching the famous foreign players in action, rather than the hope of securing a place in the final rounds.

With the finish of the 1913 pennant races in sight the magnates of the big league clubs are already planning for another year's campaign. The efforts to strengthen various teams in both the National and American leagues goes on apace accompanied by the usual report of trades, shake-ups and managerial changes. Dame Rumor can always find ready listeners in the baseball world and almost every club except the flag winning combinations come in for a share of her attention. Among those managers who are reported to find the balancing of the field director's crown a nerve racking feat of Evers of the Chicago Nationals; Callahan of the Red Sox; Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox; Dahlgren of the Brooklyn Nationals; Stovall of the St. Louis Browns, and Tinker of the Cincinnati Reds. Lord and Chase are also said to be willing to help Comiskey in the task of uplifting the White Sox. Apparently John McGraw and Connie Mack are the only managers who appear to be sure of their positions at this time. If rumors are to be believed.

Cricket Team An interesting addition to the international contests of the year should develop in the coming American tour of the famous Incegnitt Cricket Club of London. This organization of amateur cricketers holds a unique position in the cricket circles of England. Composed exclusively of gentlemen players the club was formed in 1861 with a membership originally fixed at 100, raised to 150 in 1869, increased to 175 in 1871, and now limited to 300 members. There is a large waiting list of applicants for membership, for the Incegnitt Club is a social as well as a cricket club. The members do not play for gate money, and are paying their own expenses during the tour of the United States and Canada.

DISEASE PREVENTION IN SCHOOLS IS DISCUSSED

International Congress on School Hygiene Considers Several Problems of This Kind

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Denouncing many of the present complicated systems of school ventilation as breeders of disease, speakers at the second day's session of the Fourth International Congress on Hygiene today pleaded for open air and out of doors schools especially for pupils who are known to be weak physically or to have tubercular tendencies. The speakers, however, did not confine their plea for well aired schools for sickly pupils alone. They were unanimous in emphasizing the need of better ventilation for classes of physically "perfect pupils" so they may be kept physically perfect. The artificially heated, unventilated, and sealed air of the modern ventilating "system" was roundly scolded.

"Learning disease prevention in schools was the topic discussed by Professor C. F. Hodge of Clark University, who took the house fly as a practical lesson in the cause and spread of disease. Professor Hodge urged that the children be protected from flies by traps and the abolishment as far as possible of breeding places for flies. "Only by teaching the youngest pupils the danger of the house fly," he declared, "can we hope to make successful war against this malignant, malicious breeder of disease. One ignorant or careless parent can allow enough houseflies to breed to vitiate the best endeavors of the rest of a town or city, and by teaching the young the danger of the fly and how to exterminate it, we can reach the parents."

Dr. Mary E. Lapham of Highlands, North Carolina, in speaking of the prevention of tuberculosis by medical inspection of schools, recommended the school as the best place for examinations to be made. "The fight by prudens and ignorant against such examinations of children in the schools," she declared, "is really an insidious and deeply laid attack on the very foundation of the public school system—by those who are financially or otherwise interested in private and semi-private schools." Tuberculosis must be overcome in the children if we would cut off our future supply of consumptives."

Dr. C. E. A. Winslow of New York, urged a "museum co-operation in the teaching of school hygiene and sanitation" such as is employed in the public schools of New York for the purpose of calling the attention of the children to carriers of disease

Good Intentions!

Do you remember what you told yourself, your wife, loved ones and friends about beautifying and marking the lonely mound out on the hill? Good men and true all over this part of the country, have said time and time again, they were going to mark the sacred plots in the cemetery tomorrow, next month, next year. But visit those graves, and you will find them unremembered, unmarked. In many instances, there is a rotten board, which the dust of time has all but destroyed. Every cemetery has its unmarked, unremembered dead, thus hindering those who have the work at heart and desire to make the place beautiful and attractive. Why pave your way with good intentions and as the shadows of night gather round you forget them? Count your marked graves, and you KNOW your best citizens in any community. Come to our plant and do your part in this great work.
