CONFERENCE ON SCHOOL HYGIENE

MANY PROBLEMS RECEIVED ATTENTION AT MEETING NOW IN BUFFALO

INFLUENCES ON OUTSIDE

Papers are Read Covering Many and Varied Phases of Subject Under Discussion

By Associated Press. Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Many problems of school hygiene, ranging from the conditions in the school room itself to the very remote influences that make or mar the young intellect, are receiving attention at the Conference on School Hygiene now in session here.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The establishment of courses in sex hygiene for teachers in universities, colleges, normal schools and grammar schools, and compilation of text books suitable for school use was urged by speakers at today's sessions of the Fourth International Congress on School Hygiene presided over by Dr. Charles W. Elliott, president emeritus of Harvard University and president of the congress.

Dr. Thomas M. Ballist, dean of the School of Pedagogy, at New York University; President William Truitt Foster of Reed College, Oregon; and Dr. Hugh Cabot, of Harvard University, spoke on the subject of instruction for teachers and preparation of text books in sex courses. Attention was called especially to the report of the American Federation for sex hygiene which favors the use of nature study and biology as a medium for sex instruction and which opposes instruction in the schools by sex specialists. It was argued that specialists not trained to teach children could not satisfactorily go into the details necessary without possibility of offending sensitive natures of the children. On the other hand, it was pointed out, teachers specially trained in sex hygiene could, with their knowledge of instruction, be made to be better fitted for this somewhat delicate task.

One of today's features was the discussion of oral hygiene in a symposium arranged by the National Mouth Hygiene Association. Attention was called to experiments worked out in the Cleveland schools where it was declared, very good results have been obtained. Dr. J. B. Wallis of the University of Pittsburgh, called attention to the need of municipal provision for psychological clinics for the purpose of classifying school children mentally. "Only thus," said Dr. Wallis, "can we economically and effectively train all the children of all the people."

Under the topic, "Health Direction in the Public Schools," Dr. Clifton P. McCord, medical inspector of schools for the city of Albany, remarked that the health director should be the officer to keep the physical needs of the child before the public and educational authorities. "He should act as an expert for the board of education," said Dr. McCord, "and he should pass on the physical fitness of candidates for the teaching force."

"The Social Emergency," was the subject of the address delivered today by Dr. William T. Foster, who is president of Reed College, and also president of the Pacific Coast Federation for Sex Hygiene. Dr. Foster said in part:

"The Social Emergency that confronts the human race is flung before us in many unlovely forms and appears in new aspects wherever we scratch beneath the surface. Study the results of human frailty and the possibilities of racial deterioration through any avenue of approach and we meet the fundamental problems of sexual hygiene and morals. Our cities struggle in vain to free their police forces from graft while the business of prostitution offers such large and easy profits. Students of municipal recreation centers discover such conditions that they regard parks and playgrounds as physical and moral menaces unless under careful and trained supervision.

The home, the church and the school have reached a point where sex instruction, while thousands of quack doctors still ply their vicious trade widely disseminating falsehoods, and preying upon that fatal ignorance of vital matters that we have carefully cultivated in our children under the name of innocence. The juvenile courts bring in their daily records of brutal cases. The anti-saloon workers present evidence of the dependence of commercialized prostitution on the liquor traffic. Decent employers of labor cry out against the competition with employers who expect their young women to eke out a living wage by immoral conduct. Honest keepers of hotels and lodging houses protest that it is useless to keep up the fight for decency while disreputable houses under police protection, make exorbitant profits. Students of eugenics find sexual immorality the chief hindrance to racial improvement. Turn where we may within any field of legitimate human endeavor and we run counter to this destructive force; we discern new aspects of the Social Emergency.

"In the face of this Social Emergency, there are but few who offer no complaint. They are the white slavers, the pimp and pandarer, the imbeciles and feeble minded among their victims, the keepers of bawdy houses, the respectable owners of property used to promote the joint business of drunkenness and prostitution, dealers in liquor, municipal officers and police who protect vice for a living, fake doctors who thrive on ignorance and spread disease and newspapers that make such criminal business possible through advertisements accepted at extraordinary rates.

To begin with, there is the history of the question. Many generations have joined in the 'conspiracy of silence' in matters pertaining to sex and reproduction. The result is widespread ignorance of matters of the utmost importance in the individual and the race—ignorance of which many good people are proud. During these generations in which the home, the church and the school have withheld the truth from young people, other agencies have been busy disseminating falsehoods. Having almost no opportunity to hear and matrimony discussed with reverence, our young people have almost invariably heard these subjects discussed with vulgarity. Partly as a result of all this has come the general acceptance of the double standard of morality which has bitterly condemned the girl—made her an outcast of society—and excused the boy for the same offense on the specious plea of physiological necessity. With the sanction of this double standard, tacitly accepted by society, the majority of men have grown up in indulgence and have developed habits which are, or which they believe to be beyond their control. Millions of men who recognize no law in sex life but their own appetites are thus contributed to us by the past. They are factors in the present situation and must be reckoned with.

"As a matter of fact the educational phases of social reform are of most immediate importance. Nothing can so probably secure the success of social hygiene agencies as the education of the public. If groups of social workers come to serious disagreement on other phases of the present emergency—if the discussion of restricted districts, minimum wage laws, health certificates for marriage and reporting of disease divides the group into warring camps—all can unite in favor of spreading certain truths as widely as possible; and it is not difficult to agree on at least a few of the many methods which have already proved effective in educational campaigns.

"At the outset of our attempt to educate the general public in matters of sex, we face certain factors which govern the scope, time, place, and nature of any successful efforts. Failure to give these factors due consideration has brought many attempts to early and unhappy ends, and convinced some people that ignorance is safer than such education.

"The aspects are more important than those concerning morals and religion. The restraining fear of disease may and probably will be thrown off by science. Whether education in scientific aspects of the subject will do good or harm in a given case depends on to which moral and religious ideals control the conduct of the individual. The inadequacy of mere information in matters of sex is painfully evident. To the knowledge of what is right must be added the will to do the right. All the other aspects of the Social Emergency treated with superhuman wisdom would still leave the greatest problem unsolved. As moral and religious instruction is the dominant educational need of the present generation, so the moral and religious aspects of sex problems transcend all the others in importance.

GOVERNMENT PLANS TO IMPORT REINDEER MEAT

Believes It May Help to Solve High Cost of Living—Supply is Declared Large

Washington, Aug. 27.—Before very long we may draw a considerable part of our meat supply from the reindeer herds of Alaska.

So says the government bureau of education, which has charge of all the Alaskan reindeer—the reindeer service in that territory being part of the school system.

Already considerable quantities of reindeer meat are being shipped to the United States from Alaska. A recent shipment from Nome to Seattle comprised 125 carcasses, bought by a cold storage company from Eskimo herders, the total weight being 18,500 pounds. It found a ready market in Seattle at 25c to 75c a pound, according to cut.

On the theory that the less we make the more we get for that which has been made, cotton should sell for at least 15c per pound this year.

When you drive over our streets and find them in bad condition, worse in fact, than they have been in several years, don't lay the blame to our city officials.

Two men are dead or dying, a third is badly hurt and three women seriously crippled as the result of a drunken joy ride in which a branch, wire and bent out a prominent figure.

Senator Willacy, one of the strongest anti-prohibitionists in the state, and by the way, also one of the state's most able men, in speaking of his prospective candidacy for the governorship, has the following to say:

Every tax-payer in the state has only to refer to his tax receipts for the past three years to know that his state taxes have been more than doubled without any corresponding benefits.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a notice calling attention to the announcement of Congressman John H. Stephens' opponent from Paducah.

al of him and his work by an overwhelming vote, as they have always done before. The Record is not a Stephens champion by reason of his making him home in Vernon, but because he is the equal of any man in Congress today as an all-round lawmaker.

From reading the proceedings of the habeas corpus trial of a man charged with arson in connection with the burning of the First Baptist church in Fort Worth and the parsonage, one is bound to reach the conclusion that the people of Fort Worth are hopelessly divided.

It is not in conflict with the State anti-trust laws: Let all the newspapers of the State agree to ignore the personal and asinine features of the legislative proceedings and print only news of proper legislative and executive actions.

Notoriety is the chief aim of the average legislator and if this avenue of distinction or rather of public notice were denied him, there would be less grand stand playing in Legislative halls.

OHIO CITIES TO STOP FLOOD LOSS

PLANS UNDER WAY TO PREVENT SERIOUS WATER DAMAGE HEREAFTER

WILL WORK IN HARMONY

Much Work to be Done to Avoid Repetition of Last Spring's Disasters

HOW FLOOD DISTRICT CITIES WILL PREVENT FUTURE FLOODS

Dayton, O.—Raised $2,000,000 prevention fund by private subscription. Engineers preparing complete plans to prevent future floods—Temporary repairs made in levees.

Columbus, O.—City council appropriated $20,000 for complete survey. When plans are submitted will bond itself to wipe out flood damage at any cost.

Carlo, Ill.—$750,000 available for strengthening and raising levees—Sixty foot stage planned—New levees going up.

Hamilton, O.—Complete survey being made—Bond issue to be voted on after plans for complete protection from future floods have been submitted.

Indianapolis, Ind.—City appropriated $10,000 for survey—Also appropriated $150,000 for repairs.

Evansville, Ind.—Raising embankment five feet.

Cleveland, O.—Plans when carried out will provide adequately against any recurrence of floods.

Cincinnati, O.—City and federal government working out plans for permanent relief.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—Data gathered by the local Chamber of Commerce for its special committee on flood prevention shows that in many cities stricken by the floods of last March steps have been taken to prevent a repetition of the disasters. A dogged determination was shown in the replies to the Chamber of Commerce's queries to wipe out all danger of such floods at any cost.

This was the spirit evinced in the Dayton and the Columbus replies and the officials of these two cities apparently believe that they would get the bond issues to back up the prevention plans. John Bassel, general secretary of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce said:

"When these plans are received it is the purpose of the city to vote a bond issue, and no matter what the cost may be, meet for all the issue that will present itself. We will not continue with such a menace confronting the city. In this mind the people stand as a unit."

Edward A. Deeds, a member of the Dayton flood prevention committee wrote: "The Morgan Engineering Company has been at work three months in the field making a complete survey. They have instructions to prepare complete plans which will guarantee our city against another disaster, and expect to have within a year the plans complete and the work started."

Hamilton, O., lost over 100 lives and over $9,000,000 in property, reported through G. R. Greer, secretary of the citizen's relief committee, that a survey is being made and plans are in view "that will be an absolute warranty against a second inundation."

"The question of issuing bonds," said Greer, "will be submitted to the voters of Butler county with the least possible delay. We have no doubt the bonds will be authorized and the work promptly begun."

Brookville, Ind., was almost the only town that reported little or no steps toward permanent relief. This place was seriously damaged by the flood and nearly a score of lives lost. Its business men reported they were contemplating asking for state aid. Cairo and Evansville reported that levees were being repaired to the point where danger of future inundations would be practically nil. Also Cleveland, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, in which the property loss last March was heavy, reported active campaigns for permanent relief from floods.

TOOL DRESSER'S LEG BROKEN WHEN HORSE RUNS AWAY

C. Strange, a tool dresser in the employ of L. C. Heydrik was brought here from Klocra, this morning with a badly broken leg and was placed in the Wichita Falls Sanitarium. Yesterday morning Strange and a driller started to drive out to a well in a hired rig. They had not gone far when their horse became unmanageable and started to kick and run. Strange was kicked on the leg while still in the rig and then jumped out. The other man stayed in the vehicle until it was overturned. He was not hurt but Strange was picked up with the ends of the broken bones sticking through the flesh just above the ankle. The fracture was a bad one, but Strange was resting easily this afternoon. He believes his leg was broken when the horse kicked him.

Rome, Aug. 27.—Italy today made its first experiments with biplanes armed with rapid fire machine guns. The latter are intended for the destruction of other aeroplanes and dirigibles in time of war. Lieut. Laurati, who manipulated the machine gun in today's trial flight, will be in charge of the biplane machine gun corps which is soon to be organized.

Washington, Aug. 23.—It was reported that Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo, O., would get a diplomatic post, probably Belgium. For some time Mayor Whitlock's name has been under consideration by the president. It was declared, and his friends felt sure that he would land some post. He is a progressive Democrat. He started life as a reporter and then became a lawyer, entering Ohio politics. He is the author of several novels.

He was not hurt but Strange was picked up with the ends of the broken bones sticking through the flesh just above the ankle. The fracture was a bad one, but Strange was resting easily this afternoon. He believes his leg was broken when the horse kicked him.

If we did not have the ability to relieve the headaches and other nervous disturbances that often result from eyestrain, we would not call your attention to these distressing subjects. Our glasses are not "cure-alls." They simply relieve eyestrain, and if the troubles mentioned are due to eyestrain they cease. We have worked too long to give satisfaction to give out all we have gained for a temporary profit.

MOTOR BOATS SUPPLANT ROMANTIC GONDOLIERS.

Venice, Italy, Aug. 27.—The desire for rapid transit has killed another romantic custom in romantic Venice. With the formal inauguration today of a power boat service on the historic Venetian canals, the gondola's doom is sealed as was the doom of the caddy of London and New York when the taxis were put on the streets. There have been one or two motor boats on the Venetian canals before but they were rarities. Twenty of the chugging, spluttering boats driven by erstwhile gondoliers were put in service today and twenty more will be launched shortly.

Make the Clerk Give You the Cash Discount

We have inaugurated a plan whereby the cash buyer gets an even break with the credit man. Hereafter we shall give a coupon with every cash sale, and for every dollar's worth of coupons a refund of five per cent will be made. You can take the refund in either cash or merchandise making it just the same as a five per cent discount for cash. This discount applies to every thing we sell—drugs, toilet articles, sundries, books, magazines, stationery, fountain drinks, cigars, etc. All you have to do is to get your coupon when you buy the goods, and turn them in when you get ready. Five per cent means one-twentieth part of every dollar saved—a big discount when you stop to figure it.

Good Intentions!

Do you remember what you told yourself, your wife, loved ones and friends about beautifying and marking the lonely mound out on the hill? Good men and true all over this part of the country, have said time and time again, they were going to mark the sacred plots in the cemetery tomorrow, next month, next year. But visit those graves, and you will find them unremembered, unmarked. In many instances, there is a rotten board, which the dust of time has all but destroyed. Every cemetery has its unmarked, unremembered dead, it is hindering those who have the work at heart and desire to make the place beautiful and attractive. Why pave your way with good intentions and as the shadows of night gather round you forget them? Count your marked graves, and you KNOW your best citizens in any community. Come to our plant and do your part in this great work.
