HOT SPRINGS LOSS $6,000,000

CITY LIT LAST NIGHT BY TALLOW CANDLES—RELIEF PLANS WERE CONSIDERED

55 BLOCKS ARE BURNED

Governor Hayes Arrives to Assist in Bringing Order Out of Chaos in Stricken City

By Associated Press. Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 6.—Under the light of tallow candles, the citizenship of Hot Springs sits tonight in assurance that while the fire losses are heavy, and while the situation looked most doubtful for a while, energy and time will do what the fire has undone. The city has been voted to organization, centralizing authority being the main care.

Three thousand dollars locally have been subscribed to the work of relief at two meetings held today. A relief committee was named with authority to make arrests for any of the wrongs that may follow in the wake of the fire. An appeal was sent to outside cities for aid. The two companies of state militia volunteered by Governor Hayes will reach Hot Springs late tonight.

Losses placed at $6,000,000. Latest estimates do not vary from original loss figures of $6,000,000. No movement has been made to estimate the insurance, but some think it will reach half the loss.

Rain Aided Firemen.

A heavy rain which began shortly before noon proved a valuable aid to the weary firemen fighting the smoldering ruins of the $6,000,000 conflagration which swept this city late yesterday and last night. In all about fifty-five blocks were burned. Perfect order prevailed due to the efforts of 250 citizen police. The 2500 persons rendered homeless are being cared for and it is possible no call will be extended for outside aid.

Governor Hayes, who arrived today, and others are working with Mayor McClelland in an effort to bring order out of chaos. Two companies of state militia will be used as guards. The city will be in darkness for at least thirty days.

Texas Offers Fire Apparatus

Today a citizens committee was appointed to assist the city council to provide fire fighting apparatus and care for the homeless. It is probable offers from Texas and other cities for the use of apparatus will be accepted. More than six thousand feet of hose was destroyed last night and many fire department horses were rendered unfit for service.

The patients from the Ozark sanitarium were removed to other hospitals today. Not a single fatality occurred and only four persons were slightly injured.

COTTON LEAF CATERPILLAR IS FEARED IN MANY SECTIONS

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 6.—The department of agriculture today announced that the recent rainfall felt in many sections would undoubtedly lead to the production of the cotton leaf caterpillar, which eats the upper leaves of the cotton plant and is very detrimental to a fall crop. It was advised that where the caterpillar begins to make an appearance that the stalks be dusted with arsenate of lead or paris green. While the dew is still on the stalk.

COUNTERVAILING DUTY IS REMOVED

Senate Strikes Out all Retaliatory Features Against Canada in Wood Pulp Schedule

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 6.—The countervailing duty on wood pulp proposed by the tariff bill was stricken out by the Senate today and all retaliatory features against Canada were removed. Senator Smoot said he would vote for the amendment but predicted it would not be many years when the great pulp manufacturing business would be transferred to Canada.

All the burdens of these retaliations, which have existed against Canada on wood pulp must be borne by American newspaper publishers, who in 1912 paid indirectly a penalty of more than $3,900,000 in addition to the amount of retaliatory duties paid directly. No print paper can be bought in the open market. American mills will not sell news print paper unless they know its destination, the purpose for which it is to be used, and the name of the buyer. They starve the market by restricting production, as is shown by their monthly reports to the bureau of corporations.

They have kept down the stock of paper on hand at the mills to an eight day supply for all the newspapers in this country. They have dumped paper into Great Britain at lower prices than they sell to the American consumer. The policy of retaliation against Canada fosters and helps that arrangement.

The Senate by a viva voce vote then agreed to eliminate the countervailing duty.

Passage of the bill Monday night or early Tuesday was predicted tonight by senators on both sides. Among matters still to be presented by minority members are amendments to the wool, cotton and metal schedules and the income tax.

By Associated Press. New York, Sept. 6.—The cotton market this week first took a wide advance on continued unfavorable crop news and then lost much of it on the stand taken by the Senate democratic caucus against trading in cotton futures. DISMEMBERED BODY OF WOMAN FOUND

By Associated Press. New York, Sept. 6.—Head, arms and legs missing, the nude body of a woman found near Cliffside, New Jersey today proved an enigma to detectives today. None of the missing members severed from the trunk as if by a practiced hand, had been found along the river bank today. The theory was advanced that the body had been dissected in New York. A sheet and a pillow case, wrapped around the trunk furnished slender clues. To the pillow case was sewn a tag, apparently the makers' bearing the words, "Rest well, friend—Chicago, 59 cents."

ARREST OF JEROME REGRETTED BY THAW

Latter Denies He Instigated Arrest—Would Have Gone on Jerome's Bond

By Associated Press. Chicago, Sept. 6.—Harry K. Thaw regrets that William T. Jerome was arrested in Coaticook yesterday charged with gambling and denies that he or his lawyers instigated the arrest. Moreover Thaw would have been glad to furnish Jerome $500 bond. This was the statement made by Thaw today according to Andre Rousseau, hotel proprietor, who served the fugitive's meals and who was one of Jerome's bondsmen.

Jerome was not here today to hear Thaw's expression of good will. He went yesterday to Vermont and after he was released from jail today efforts will be made Monday to bring Jerome's case into court that day instead of Thursday so he may proceed with the Thaw case unhampered, according to an announcement of his counsel tonight.

Spear of Hot Springs, charged with being implicated in a conspiracy through which John Rumping, a Montana stockman, lost $18,000 on a fake horse race in an East St. Louis pool room last January. The prosecution alleged that the stockman lost $6000 in Hot Springs before he lost the larger amount in East St. Louis. Spear is defendant in another case in which Frank P. Fox, a miner of Terre Haute, Indiana, is the complaining witness. Fox charges that Spear won $20,000 from him last year in a "fixed" roulette game. This case was continued today.

TO FACILITATE MEXICO EXODUS

GOVERNMENT INSTRUCTS CONSULS TO FURNISH FIRST CLASS FARES

WILL AID WITHDRAWAL

Government Offering Every Aid to Those Who Will Leave the Southern Republic

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 6.—The United States government today broadened the powers of its consular representatives in Mexico to such a degree that it is believed there will be no further obstacle to a mass general withdrawal of American citizens from the danger zones of the southern republic. American consuls in Mexico who previously had been instructed to furnish first class transportation to any who desired it on condition that they later would reimburse the state department, today received added instructions to give Americans whatever transportation they desired and they would be expected to reimburse the government only if they were able and at their convenience.

The adoption of this liberal policy resulted from the possibility that many Americans would needlessly linger in the trouble torn districts unless every facility for their departure was afforded. Some Washington officials commented for the first time on Huerta's hesitancy that if the American government was reluctant to give the refugees first class transportation he gladly would do so.

These officials, instead of resenting the statement, regarded it as an act of generosity and remarked that they hoped Senor Huerta's beneficence would be extended to repay Americans and other foreigners for the great losses their investments had sustained through the chaotic conditions resulting through Huerta's irregular assumption of power.

There was no change today in the Mexican situation. No messages came either from John Lind at Vera Cruz or Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City. It is most likely that developments will await the arrival here next week of Senor Zamacoana who is expected to carry forward here negotiations for a peaceful settlement of difficulties. Though no announcement of the administration's attitude toward his mission has been made, it was predicted in many quarters he would be courteously received.

The number of Wagner's victims reached sixteen today by the death of another of the villagers he shot. ZAMACONA IN UNOFFICIAL CAPACITY

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 6.—The declaration by Mexican Foreign Minister Gamba that Manjeli Zamacoana is coming to the United States in an unofficial capacity is interpreted as meaning that Zamacoana will not be invested with power to represent the Huerta government until the United States indicates its willingness to receive him. The view prevails that to receive Zamacoana would not conflict with Lind's negotiations, but administration officials thought that if he were received the parlays here would supplement these carried on by Mr. Lind.

AMERICANS KILL MEXICAN OFFICER

LIEUT. ACOSTA, OFFICER IN FEDERAL ARMY, SHOT ON AMERICAN SIDE OF RIVER

SHOOTING WAS AT ELPASO

Customs and Immigration Inspectors Shot After Mexican Had Opened Fire

By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, Sept. 6.—Lieut. F. Acosta, an officer in General Salazar's federal command at Juarez, crossed the Stanton street international bridge this afternoon and was killed by United States Customs Inspector T. F. Jonah and Immigration Inspector Thomas F. Heffron after he had opened fire on them with a rifle.

AMERICANS UNINJURED

Acosta was shot through the mouth and arm and his horse, from which he had dismounted, was shot through the side. The American officers were uninjured. Before crossing the bridge, the Mexican had remarked that he was going "to kill a Gringo." Heffron was standing at the American end of the bridge when Acosta first opened fire on him. He fired back, using an automatic pistol. Jonah hastened to his assistance and began firing at the Mexican. The Mexican officer was within thirty feet of the Americans before he was killed. Two troops of the Thirteenth Cavalry were ordered to the bridge following the shooting in order to restrain the one thousand Mexicans who had gathered on the Mexican end of the bridge.

BITTER FEELING AGAINST AMERICANS

General Hugh L. Scott, commander of the United States troops was notified of the shooting and he ordered all troops to be prepared for movement to El Paso from Fort Bliss in case of trouble. Troop detachments of cavalry were stationed at both international bridges and army officers and troops have been ordered to remain in quarters in case of an outbreak among the Mexicans. A bitter feeling against Americans was manifested in Juarez by Salazar's troops following the shooting.

ACOSTA WAS DRINKING

Inspector of Mexico Consulates M. E. Diebold of El Paso is investigating the shooting. American officers placed Heffron and Jonah under arrest after the killing. They were released on $1000 bond. Mexican officers at Juarez tried to stop Lieut. Acosta from crossing the bridge, but he threatened to shoot anyone who interfered with him. The Mexican officers said he had been drinking and a bottle of Mexican whiskey was found in his saddle bags after the killing.

Texas Railroads Paid Only 3.32 Per Cent On Assessed Valuation

Special to the Times. Austin, Texas, Sept. 6.—An analysis of the items entering into the business results of 33 of the leading Texas railroads, comprising approximately 95 per cent of the mileage of Texas and doing approximately 95 per cent of the total railroad business of the State for the fiscal year ending June 30 last shows a deficit of $2,135,586.15. These details have been worked out by General H. G. Askew, state auditor for the roads.

That the figures may be properly understood it should be stated that the accounting departments of all Texas railroads are conducted under a system laid down by law and each is identical with the other. First the total revenue from operation is shown. From this is deducted the operating expenses and the result gives the net operating revenue. To this net operating revenue is added other income that may be had and the fiscal result is the gross corporate income.

Out of this gross corporate income is paid the following necessary expenditures of each road: Taxes, rents accrued for lease of road, rents for "out" facilities, debit balances for fire of equipment, debit balances for outside operations (such as dining cars and the like), miscellaneous rents, other deductions and interest. The total operating revenue for the 33 roads for the fiscal year was $118,617,454.87, an increase of $13,050,252.32 over the preceding fiscal year. The operating expenses were $92,609,612.30, an increase of $9,098,24.08 over the preceding year. The net operating revenue was $26,007, $42,57, an increase of $3,932,028.23 over the preceding year. Other income for the last fiscal year was $1,907,227.43, a decrease of $402,416.34 as compared with the preceding fiscal year. The gross corporate income, arrived at as heretofore set forth, for the last fiscal year was $27,915,070, which was an increase of $3,529,611.39 over the preceding fiscal year.

From this gross corporate income must come money to pay taxes and the other items, heretofore named. Exclusive of interest charges these aggregated $12,452,974.57 for the 33 roads. This sum deducted from the gross corporate income left available for interest payments $15,462,095.43, which sum was $2,135,586.15, less than enough to meet the actual interest charges against the 33 roads.

The value of the railroads embraced in the compilation as it was found by the state tax board, after making pro rata allowances on a mileage basis for mileage exterior to Texas but covered by the report, was for last year $460,996,903. On this valuation the aggregate sum available for the payment of interest was but 3.32 per cent.

That such a small return was not satisfactory to those who have money invested in Texas lines is conceded by financial authorities generally. That such a showing is not an encouragement to the building of railroads in Texas for investment purposes naturally follows. There has been no charge of the Texas railroads not being economically managed, though greater economies in operation could be effected by the expenditure of large sums of money. With the returns on railroad investments in this state averaging not quite 3 1/2 per cent, the question of securing needed funds for needed betterments becomes one that causes actual conditions to outweigh prospective theories.

AN ENCOURAGING REPORT OF CROPS

WICHITA COUNTY FARMERS ARE NOT IN HARD SHAPE BY LONG ODDS

WELL SUPPLIED WITH FEED

Cotton Better Than Believed. Soris Good Corn Yields, and Other Encouraging Reports

Wichita county farmers have harvested a good wheat crop, the corn crop is fair, they have plenty of feed stored and considerable more to harvest, and cotton will do better than many people believe.

That is the situation here, in the opinion of J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent, who has been over this section in the past few days. Mr. Campbell says that very few farmers will have to buy any feed as many of them had a supply left over from last year, while others have made good crops of milo maize and kafir corn in spite of the drought.

Mr. Campbell is unable to make any estimate of cotton. He says a few fields will make a fourth and a third to the acre, but most will be considerably below that. In some places it will take twelve to twenty acres to make a bale.

On his own farm Mr. Campbell says he has done surprisingly well in some places and Mr. Campbell himself was abounded at the yields that were recorded. While not allowed by the government to give out any names, he knows of one farmer who had forty acres that averaged forty-one bushels, another with twenty-six acres that averaged forty and several others with good yields, as follows: Ten acres averaging twenty-seven; ten acres averaging twenty; seven-acre, averaging twenty-one; eighteen acres, averaging thirty-five; fifteen acres, averaging thirty-one; five acres averaging twenty-one; thirty acres averaging twenty-five and thirty-five acres averaging thirty-five bushels.

Mr. Campbell tells of one farmer who has fifty acres of milo maize and kafir corn, upon which he is pasturing a hundred head of hogs. Mr. Campbell considers this a valuable hint. There are some good fields of kafir corn and milo maize in this vicinity. Mr. Campbell says: one of seven acres will average seventy-four bushels and one of ten acres will make forty-five bushels.

These forage crops, Mr. Campbell finds, have weathered the dry spell in excellent shape and he finds general conditions much better than they are generally believed to be. While the drought has cut deep into the cotton production and the corn, Wichita county is in better shape, everything considered than was thought earlier in the year.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC!

A good deal has been said about the name "BRIN" being on my signs and wagons, and in order that my friends and the public generally may know why this is, will say that the firm name Freear-Brin Furniture Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas, and it would be impossible for me to change this without the consent of the stockholders.

Through courtesy to Mr. Brin I have not used his name in any of my advertisements trying to avoid as much as possible the use of his name. And I can assure all that nothing would give me more pleasure than to remove his name from the places on which it now appears. However, the firm name still remains the same and will until the stockholders see fit to change it.

Very respectfully,

SIN KILLER TO START MEETING

NEGRO EVANGELIST SAYS HE WILL BRING RAIN TO WICHITA FALLS

MEETING FOR EIGHT DAYS

Will Start on Old City Hall Lot—Will Move if Larger Quarters Needed

Surer and more efficacious, he declares, than dynamite. "Sin Killer" Griffin has arrived to bring rain to Wichita Falls. He will hold services on the vacant lot near the postoffice on Ohio, beginning tonight and lasting at least for eight days.

"Sin Killer" is probably better known than any other negro preacher in the South. For more than twenty years he has been preaching and both his delivery and subject matter are calculated to get results. His audiences nearly always include a number of whites.

"Yes," said Sin Killer, "I see where you needed rain and I'm going to bring you some. Down here at Kaufman, not long ago, they needed rain and they said if I would make it rain, they would make up a purse to buy me a tent. So I preached there and pretty soon it rained. But they was feeling good again then, and they didn't make up any purse for Sin Killer."

Tonight's subjects by Sin Killer will be "A Mother's Love" and "The Race of Israel." Tomorrow night he will deliver what is considered his masterpiece, entitled "The Child Sneezes Seven Times After It Was Dead." Tuesday night's subject will probably be "The Eagle Stirring Up Her Nest." He has made arrangements for vocal and instrumental music for his services here and expects to get results, both in converts and precipitation.

If the lot chosen for the services proves to be too small to shout in Sin Killer will seek larger quarters. He wants his hearers to have plenty of room, as there is usually considerable shouting and strutting around incidentally, he extends a special invitation to white folks to be present.

PRODUCTION OVER 30,000 BARRELS

FUEL OIL NOT ACCOUNTED IN 29,970 BARRELS REPORTED IN THE FIGURES

IOWA PARK IS COMING

Production in New Shallow Field Estimated 110 Barrels and Growing Rapidly

Production in the Northwest Texas field, including all wells in Wichita and Clay counties, is very close to the 30,000 barrel mark at this writing. The actual figures are 29,970 barrels and as the amount of oil that is being used for fuel is merely estimated, it is quite likely that the field is putting more than 30,000 barrels into the tanks daily.

The principal interest now centers in the shallow fields near Burk Burnett and Iowa Park. The Burk Burnett shallow sands are giving up about a hundred barrels daily, while the Iowa Park field is probably doing a little better than that figure. Owing to the fact that operations in every part of the field are held up at present on account of lack of water, there is not as much work now as there promises to be after it rains. With the price at a new high figure, and water plentiful, operations this fall in the field are expected to be on a much more extensive scale than ever before.

Production in the Iowa Park shallow field is estimated at 110 barrels daily. Most of this is being used for fuel and the rest is being stored. There are nine completed producers in this section of the field, eight being on the pump at the present time. While some estimates put Iowa Park's production at close to the 200 mark, it will hardly go very far above 100 barrels. All of this is from the Lockridge. The Ferguson well is not being pumped at present.

The Burk Burnett shallow production, which is divided between Allen and Fisher and the Burk Burnett Oil Company, is close to one hundred barrels daily, with eight producing wells. Several rigs are going in this shallow field at this time. There has been one dry completion to date.

Runs, stocks and stocks for August are as follows: Texas Company at Electra—runs, 450,000 barrels; stock, 105,000 barrels, practically all delivered. Magnolia at Electra—runs 390,000; stocks, 850,000, 50,000 barrel increase, deliveries, 370,000 barrels. Gulf Pipe Line Company at Electra—runs 34,000 barrels; stocks, 18,000 barrels; shipments, 25,000 barrels. At Burk Burnett, the Texas Company shipped a thousand barrels, the rest going for fuel; the Magnolia runs were about 25,000 barrels, and deliveries 13,000 barrels. At Petrolia the Texas Company runs were 25,000 barrels, with 58,000 in stock and no shipments; Magnolia—13,000 barrels run, stock, 3000 barrels. The Developers Company shipped about 9000 barrels to a refinery at Dallas. At Iowa Park, the stock is about 1000 barrels.

The Producers' test on the Andrew Weeth at Burk Burnett is being watched with interest. It is in the northeast corner of the Weeth section and is about two miles directly south of the Hortoin and Walker tract.

Among the week's completions was one by the Producers on the Markowitz good for 400 barrels. The Corstean yesterday completed a 75 barrel well on the A. A. Honaker.

It was reported yesterday that the Producers company had an eighty barrel well on the Markowitz tract near Burk Burnett.

Clint Wood No. 2 Borchheldt will be drilled in shortly in the 1500 foot sand. His No. 1 is making about sixty barrels. Mr. Wood has made locations 3 and 4 on the Borchheldt, they being north of No. 2 and west of No. 1, respectively.

The casing is now being pulled on the Kemp Oil Company's well on the Daniels, which was abandoned at 2000 feet. This failure, following that of Mr. Kemp on the Ayres, makes it appear that Mr. Kemp was not cut out for an oil man. There have been seven or eight ventures in the oil field in which Mr. Kemp has been interested and none of them have proven successful. The only production in which Mr. Kemp is interested is that of the Developers company, in which he owns some stock.

Latest figures show a total of 194 rigs and drilling wells in Wichita and Clay county, a new high figure. Not all of the rigs are running as lack of water has shut a great many of them down.

The almost 30,000 barrels production in the field is distributed as follows: Electra—Producers, 14,350; Corstean, 7500; Guffey, 1550; Forest, 800; Red River, 1400; all others, 4250. Total for Electra, 27,500. Burk Burnett—W. C. McBride, 130; Guffey, 90; Corstean, 850; Corstean (Greenleaf), 75; J. W. Dyson, 50; Producers, 75; Head and Langford, 70; shallow wells, 100 barrels. Iowa Park—110 barrels shallow production. Petrolia—Producers 600; Guffey, 30; Developers, 200; Edmonds Oil Company, 40; 340 shallow wells, 400. Total for Petrolia, 1370 barrels.

Fear of typhoid fever at Electra caused the Producers Oil Company to have a number of its employees inoculated with the anti-typhoid serum, according to the Electra News. This precautionary measure was taken when several cases of typhoid developed at Electra.

NEW YORK ORGANIST PLAYS FOR WICHITANS

Lester B. Major, Organist at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Heard Here Saturday Morning

A pleasant and unexpected treat was provided yesterday morning for a gathering of Wichita Falls music lovers when Lester B. Major, organist of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, New York City, rendered a number of selections on the organ at the M. E. Church, South. It was not known until Friday afternoon that Mr. Major would be here, and a number of music lovers were invited on short notice to hear him. He is in this city visiting his sister, Mrs. A. R. Prothro.

The program was a varied one, including some selections from the great masters, and the audience was very greatly pleased. The organist displayed wonderful technique and his shading was considered especially good. He played with exquisite feeling, being as much at home among the tender symphonies as in the stronger selections. His exposition of Bach's "Fugue," the "Twilight Song" and the "Holy Night" by Dudley Buck, were particularly well received.

Wichitans may feel a special interest in Mr. Major from the fact that he was born and reared in the neighboring town of Bellevue and his musical education began with a Texas teacher. His first instructor was a Wichita, whose name cannot be set forth here. Mr. Major has been organist in churches at St. Louis and New York City.

TYPHOID VACCINE USED AT ELECTRA

One Hundred and Fifteen Employees of the Producers Oil Co. Are Inoculated

One hundred and fifteen employees of the Producers Oil Company at Electra were vaccinated last week with typhoid fever vaccine. Serum was furnished by the Richardson

Drug Company and was administered by Dr. Ogden of Electra. It is expected that other companies operating in the oil fields will follow the example of the Producers company. Last year typhoid fever caused many deaths among oil workers, who by the nature of their employment are exposed to greater risks than workers in almost any other line. According to the last reports most of the men vaccinated show indications that they have become innocuated and none of them are experiencing any serious trouble from the vaccination. The typhoid vaccine has been used by the United States army on the troops now stationed in Texas with excellent results.

TO ORGANIZE MOTORCYCLE MINUTE MEN FOR ARMY

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 6.—According to plans made today, Evansville soon will have a troop of motorcycle minute men as an auxiliary to the United States reserves. Evansville is following the example of several Kansas cities and towns which have similar organizations which have proved a great aid to local officials in apprehending fugitives from justice. The motorcycle troops also have been of great aid to county authorities in eliminating speeding by touring automobilists.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 7, 1913

This is not original, but it fits our case: "If you feel down in the hole—remember Jonah and the whale—he came out all right."

If supply and demand is to cut any square in the price of cotton this year, the farmers may, with reason expect to get that 15c per pound before January 1st. Therefore most farmers, who are in a position to hold their cotton for a better market than now, or doing so, and it is right they should.

In another column will be found an article written by Rev. J. W. Hill complaining of the dusty streets. As every one is probably aware, dust can be kept down to a considerable extent by sprinkling. There is plenty of water which can be obtained at so much per 1000 gallons, but it seems the city is without funds to buy the sprinklers or to pay for the running of them. Relief from the dust, therefore, is not likely to come before it rains, and when that will come no one dare predict.

And Mr. Jerome was "pulled" while in Canada to bring Harry Thaw back, for gambling, was jailed for a few hours, let out on $500 bond, which, considering the fact that the penalty for such an offense in Canada is one year in jail, he lost no time in forfeiting, and made "just about as quick time in getting out of Canada as Thaw did in his race for liberty when he made his escape from Matteawan insane asylum.

There are more things to be done for Wichita Falls than can be accomplished right away, but we can do some of them, and the first should be to secure a new city charter, vote $150,000 or $200,000 worth of street improvement bonds. After that, see that the money realized from the bonds are expended for the purpose for which they were voted, and if that is done Wichita Falls should have at least five or six miles of paved streets by this time next year. This improvement of city streets should not be done merely to give work to the unemployed or to put money in circulation, but because there is not a city in Texas that needs better streets more than Wichita Falls at the present time. We are behind in this matter, and this is a good time to catch up. Our securities are ample, and our bonds will find a ready market. Let's get a move on us and vote for a new charter and then vote the bonds. Taxes will be a little higher, but that will not hurt half so bad as low taxes, bad streets, vacant houses and decrease in property values. It costs a little something to keep a city to the front and growing, and Wichita Falls must not take a backward step.

WHY ARE OUR STREETS NOT SPRINKLED?

Editor Daily Times: I am neither a knocker nor a kicker, but am for anything and everything that looks to the comfort and betterment of our city and its people. Being "such an one," I ask: Why is it that situated as we are and possessing the very best water supply, our streets are sprinkled neither with oil or water? This dust is not only unhealthy and uncomfortable, but is a very bad advertisement for the city. People who visit us want to know why every other town of this size in Texas attends to its streets while we are wrapped in a fog of dust. It may be that this horrible condition is unavoidable. If so, I am sorry. If not, we should do something to relieve the situation. Yours for the best. J. W. HILL.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

To the Editor of the Times: I wish to avail myself of your invitation and say a few words and ask a few questions in regard to the Commission form of government.

The commission form of government originated in Galveston and had its inception from the flood which swept that city in 1860. It has since been adopted by hundreds of cities, both north and south, and is the only new idea in city government that has gained any favor in the last hundred years. What does the commission form of government mean and how does it differ from the aldermanic form? It does not differ from the aldermanic in the manner of electing commissioners. It is true that most cities having the aldermanic form of government elect their aldermen from wards, and that most cities having the commission form of government elect their commissioners from the city at large, but this is not necessarily so. Wichita Falls now elects her aldermen from the city at large, so there would be no difference in that respect. The initiative, referendum and recall have nothing to do with the question, as either aldermanic or commission government may have these features.

The most important difference is that under commission government, fewer officers are elected, these officers being given more authority and charged with more responsibility. Under the aldermanic system the people elect a mayor, from six to twelve aldermen, and a full complement of minor officers, including a city secretary, tax assessor, collector, marshal and attorney. Under commission government the people elect a mayor and four or five commissioners, and these men select all other employees of the city.

Another difference is that each commissioner becomes head of a certain department of the city's affairs, and devotes all his time to it, while under the aldermanic system each alderman participates equally in the government of every department. Of course, the commissioners meet at regular intervals, to pass on the acts of their colleagues and to discuss matters that concern more than one department. Should the people select their minor officers themselves or delegate the power to a board of commissioners? Can the voters of a board of commissioners pick the best men to perform ordinary duties? Most people will agree that greater efficiency along this line would be secured by a commission just as experience has proved that a corporation is better managed by a board of directors than by a mass meeting of stockholders.

But if the commission form is more efficient, is it not liable to be more dangerous? If the commissioners have power to do more good, will they not also have more power to do harm? Of course, if the commissioners are always honest and capable men, there can never be any trouble. The same is true with the aldermanic system. In the final analysis, it seems to me, that form of government will succeed best that will arouse most popular interest in it. When the people run their government, all is well; when they neglect it, graft and inefficiency creep in.

LAWTON GIRL WANTED TO BE AN ACTRESS.

A Lawton girl who had stage aspirations was taken from a carnival company now exhibiting here last night by Deputy Sheriff George Hawkins and turned over to her father. The girl is said to be only seventeen years old. Her father is a carpenter. He has been working here for several months and his daughter worked in the local telephone exchange. A few weeks ago she went home to her mother but about a week ago she told her mother she was coming back to Wichita Falls to work in the exchange. Instead she came here with her father. Her father's presence in the city with the carnival company and enlisted the aid of Mr. Hawkins in getting her away. It is reported he will send his daughter back to Lawton.

SAYS WILL DRIVE OUT WHITE SLAVE DEALERS.
Berlin, Sept. 6.—Prince A. von Sayn-Witgenstein today announced that he will make it a part of his life work to drive the white slave dealers out of Germany. It is well known that Germany, particularly the peasant districts, is a rich field for the slavers who engage girls on various promises and pretexts and ship them to resorts in Argentina, Brazil and the United States. The Prince has begun his campaign by issuing a monthly publication entitled "The Slave Market," the purpose of which is to expose white slavery and instruct German girls regarding the wiles that are laid for them.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE TEAMS IN A TIE

Mobile and Atlanta Teams May Play Series of Three Games to Decide Pennant

By Associated Press.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 6.—Tonight the Mobile and Atlanta clubs still are tied for first place in the Southern Association pennant race. Today Mobile won from New Orleans, four to three while Atlanta defeated Chattanooga five to nothing. Each team has won eighty-one games and lost fifty-six. The end is not yet, however, for while Atlanta's season closed today, Mobile will play another game with New Orleans tomorrow. Should Mobile win tomorrow, its claim to the pennant will be established by the margin of half a game. In the event New Orleans wins, however, the championship will go to Atlanta by the same narrow advantage. Just what would happen should there be no game tomorrow is a matter of conjecture. If the game is tied or results in no contest, the Mobile and Atlanta clubs would still be tied. Baseball officials here tonight said that if the leaders are tied after tomorrow's game, President Kavanaugh probably would order a deciding game at some neutral point, possibly Memphis or Birmingham.

Kavanaugh Would Order Series. By Associated Press. Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 6.—Judge Kavanaugh, president of the Southern Baseball Association, said tonight he would immediately order a series of three games to be played between Mobile and Atlanta in case the game between Mobile and New Orleans was not played tomorrow or should it end in a tie.

Brownwood—A cotton exchange has been organized here which will operate a direct leased wire service during the cotton season. All information received by the exchange will be furnished the membership. El Paso—Passenger service was inaugurated September 1st over the interurban line constructed between this city and Yalton, a distance of twelve miles. Cars will be operated every hour.

Texas City—The Texas City Street Railway Company inaugurated passenger service over their line Sept. 1st. The road is two and one-quarter miles in length and traverses the most important streets of the city.

"RELIABLE"

Exaggeration Vying With Conservatism In Fashions

New York, Sept. 6.—One who watches the procession of the fashions and observes the first, hesitating semi-baughful entrance of a new model, then its growth in popularity, and finally the swagger and flamboyance it assumes in its last exaggerated form, must derive much entertainment from the kaleidoscopic changes. It is not hard to recall certain of these evolutions—or shall we call them devolutions—the leg-a-mutton sleeve of blessed memory, for instance, which expanded to such proportions that it must have sailed away, balloon fashion, for it has been ming these diaphanous blouses—a fashion, moreover, which may be also effectively applied to the hat—is by means of butterflies. These are made of tulle, lace or spangled net, wired to hold out the wings, and with black satin or velvet bodies fashioned by twisting the fabric about a firm piece of wire. Nestling close to the side of the crown of her hat, they are a most attractive means of ornamentation.

Tulle and net girdles, sashes, neck and sleeve frills, also tunics and flounces, either plain or much be-spangled, are among the latest and most artistic fancies. Blouses and all dainty accessories should be made by hand. It is the bit of hand work which imparts a distinctive note and which comes out so high in the shops. Those who long for the dainty and pleasing, without gross incursion on the pocketbook, may have it in exchange for only a little time, patience and skill.

But there are always many persons in each community who, from necessity or preference, consider sheer fabrics too perishable for their use. For these a model such as this will meet with hearty approval. It was developed in blue taffeta, with small, double, circular motif of corse shade. Yoke, collar, cuffs and girdle are of soft figured silk in tones similar to those combined in the taffeta. The yoke of the waist is a charming feature, extending, as it does, into the sleeve and to the underarm both back and front. The skirt is two-piece, with the fulness long lost to sight. One after another the caprices have taken us. Just now the critic is engaged with the vagaries of the split skirt, a pretty enough fashion when kept within proper bounds and not used by vulgar wearers to exploit themselves.

But this, too, will pass, for, though the hue and cry that is always raised against a new mode would lead us to infer that the whole world is going to the "eternal bow-wow" in dress, the great mass of women remain conservative and manage to clothe themselves in very graceful, becoming fashion. One of these dainty, conservative gowns is illustrated in the first figure. It is such a dress as every sensible woman must approve. The development is in tan and brown striped serge. The collar and cuffs are of heavy ecru colored lace. The frill, adorning the front closing, is of fine hem stitched batiste, matching the shade of the collar and cuffs. A girdle of brown satin ribbon and buttons covered with brown satin, finish an outfit attractive enough for any morning or afternoon affair either in city or country. The costume has the advantage of being both stylish and serviceable, considerations of vast import to the majority of women.

That the present day costume be smart it is not necessary that it be one piece or monotone in color. It is now decreed that simple and elaborate costumes alike may strike a different note in skirt and waist. In fact, many of the most modish waists are waists in name only. The fabrics chosen are so sheer and lacy as to be mere wisps. This penchant for waists of tulle, net, chiffon and lace will be very notable during fall and winter months. In tulle and chiffon, the most fashionable shade is known as "chair" color, which is simply another way of saying flesh tint. For wear with the afternoon tailored suits for matinee, bridge or teas they will be much in evidence. Invariably because of the flimsy quality of the fabric, to insure a perfect fit they are arranged over an underbodice of white or pale pink silk, to which all seams, tucks and trimming are attached. There are dropped armholes bound with pale pink silk. The only fulness of the long sleeves is seen at the armholes and cuffs, the latter being daintily finished with gathered ruffles. The blouse is crossed in front, surplice fashion, and held in place, not by frogs, braid or buttons, but by tiny bows of silk or velvet which begin at the base of the V neck and terminate at the high girdle. An esthetic means of trim-at the waist line laid in soft pleats. The lovely soft taffetas, which arrived with the first breath of spring, have been somewhat side tracked by the sheer muslins, voiles, marquisettes and batistes of midsummer. With the first tinge of autumn they are again returning to favor and promise to be among the smartest of fall fabrics for home wear, teas, luncheons and like informal affairs. For the flounces now so popular and for the pleated petunias the new soft taffetas is particularly fit. Plaid taffetas this season will have an unprecedented vogue. In fact, to be quite modish, this lovely new tartan should be introduced either in sleeves, vest or girdle; in waist and pelium, in separate waist, or in the skirt. Much latitude for its introduction is afforded. Just so long as it makes an appearance its whereabouts is not important. In shades of blue, green and gold, or combined with any of the varying copper tints now so fashionable, after strenuous effort to arrive, taffetas for morning and afternoon wear have come to tarry awhile.

Germany To Have Municipal Hotel. Berlin, Sept. 6.—Work was begun today in the city of Dulsburg, on the Rhine, on what will be the first municipally owned hotel in the German Empire. There has been need of a first class hotel here for some time but no one cared to build it owing to unfavorable financial conditions. The city council therefore decided last week to build it and run it. The plan will be closely watched by other cities.

Camanetti And Diggs, Convicted Of White Slavery Act Violations

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—Farley Drew Camanetti, son of the Commissioner General of Immigration, was found guilty late Friday of violating the Mann white slave act. The jury was out three hours. From the first the vote stood 10 to 2 for conviction, and finally the two recalcitrants agreed to compromise by finding a verdict of guilty on one of the counts charged.

Bail in the sum of $10,000 was furnished. Sentence will be pronounced Wednesday next, the day set for sentencing Maury L. Diggs, jointly indicted with Camanetti and convicted on four counts. Exceptions to the charge of Judge Van Fleet were taken by counsel and a petition for an appeal will be filed, as was announced in the case of Diggs.

was that Diggs was the self-constituted boss and majordomo of the party and Camanetti more or less of a passive and pliant agent. The finding of the jury was that Camanetti was guilty of transporting and aiding in transporting Lola Norris to Reno for immoral purposes. It did not consider him responsible for Marsha Warrington's elopement with Diggs, and it refused to believe that Miss Norris had been enticed into going as the other counts in the indictment charged.

GOLF BECOMING POPULAR DIVERSION AT CHICAGO

Opening of Public Links in One of Parks Brings Out Entire Family To Enjoy Game

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Golf—as a sport for all classes—threatens to enter into active competition with baseball with the extension of golfing facilities in Chicago parks next year. Father, mother, sister and all the grown up brothers are taking keen interest in clubbing the little white ball over the public courses at Jackson Park.

Time was when golf was distinctly the pastime of Chicago's leisure class—and it was only a few years ago. Fashionable country clubs, accessible only to owners of automobiles, held all the links around the Windy City and the average bookkeeper or store clerk knew nothing of the game save what he read in his newspaper.

All that has changed. Jackson Park has two courses—one of nine and the other of eighteen holes. Lincoln Park is to have public links next year and other recreation grounds may be provided with courses if the park commissioners are successful in negotiating for additional land.

To get an idea of the extent to which Chicago has taken to golfing it is only necessary to spend a Saturday night at the golfers' shelter in Jackson Park—a night running into the early hours of Sunday.

Enthusiastic golfers begin arriving at the shelter before midnight to get an early start around the links. Every elevated and surface car arriving off the park thereafter brings a player or two to swell the number before daylight, when the park official gives out numbers, there are, as a rule, at least 150 persons waiting their chance to play.

There is never a squabble for position among the first arrivals. The first man on the ground takes his nap on the ground at the extreme right of the shelter. Number two falls asleep with his bag of sticks as a pillow and so on down the line, until the numbers are given out at day-break.

DISTRICT COURT BEGINS ITS SESSION AT GRAHAM.

(Graham Reporter) The business of the grand jury session of the district court opened Monday morning with Judge Martin and District Attorney Edgar Scurry on hand and ready to take up the strenuous duties necessary to the completion of the work of this term. In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Martin stated that he had been informed both by letter and orally that there had been considerable fraud in the county seat election and requested the grand jury to make a careful investigation of same. There are several criminal charges up for investigation and it is expected a number of indictments will be returned this week.

Thomas A. Edison, Whose Illness Causes Alarm Because Of High Pressure Under Which He Works

Portland, Me., Sept. 6.—The report that Thomas A. Edison, one of the world's most noted inventors, was ill while on his vacation with his family here caused alarm because of the fear that at last the great wizard of electricity was facing a breakdown. Mr. Edison was sixty-six last February. He has worked so strenuously all his life that it was feared the pressure had begun to tell upon him. Mr. Edison has for many years gone with only a few hours sleep each night, spending the rest of his time in his laboratory. He is his own slave driver, and he claims that unremitting application to his inventions does not harm him. The Edison party left here to tour through New England in their auto.

It's All Right To Miss. London, Sept. 6.—When the Swenson Agency today formally entered an award of $250 damages to Alfred Pratt against Herbert Taylor, it settled the question of whether a spectator in a music hall or theatre can hear something he doesn't like. Pratt didn't like one of the songs sung by Miss Payne at Cardiff Empire Music Hall and he expressed his disapproval in the customary fashion. He was forcibly ejected by Herbert Taylor, manager of the place. Pratt's attorneys established the right of a spectator to applaud on the grounds that it was criticism. Rising, therefore, they argued, being criticism also, Pratt was within his rights. ENGLISH-GERMAN MARKETING PLAN

COMPARISON OF LONDON AND BERLIN METHODS OF SELLING FARM PRODUCTS

BY STRICT REGULATION

Germany Limit Amount of Food Offered for Sale and Forbid Speculation in It

(By S. A. Lindsey, chairman Texas Farm Life Commission)
Lucerne, Switzerland, Aug. 14.—I went to Southern Italy and to Sicily when vegetables, citrus and other fruits are grown, hoping to learn something as to the marketing of these products that would be of value to those people of Texas who are engaged in the growing of perishable products. I was disappointed, for the people of these two sections seemed never to have had the problem of marketing perishable farm products up for solution.

The territory of Europe adapted to the production of fruits and vegetables is so restricted and unsuited to large production, that buyers come from Northern Europe to the groves and fields of Italy and Sicily and purchase their products before they are gathered. I learned the California growers are regarded as invincible in their methods, for they have driven the European oranges and lemons practically out of the American markets, and are introducing California wines into Europe in competition with the wines of Italy, France and Spain. I think the methods of California growers are the ones for our people to study. I have already mentioned the methods of marketing farm products in both Denmark and Ireland and Frank Wozencraft, in a very able paper to the Texas Farm and Ranch, has described the marketing methods of the farmers of Holland. I will now describe the marketing methods in Germany and England, giving a study of the food markets of Berlin as an example of the one, and of London, as an example of the other.

Acres of Market Buildings. Both Berlin and London have regular city market places, being buildings of great extent and magnitude. There are wholesale meat markets and wholesale fruit and vegetable markets in each city. An idea of the size of these markets may be gained when I say that in London twenty-five thousand tons of meat pass through the markets daily. This means the carcasses of about one hundred thousand animals, besides fowls. Acres of buildings are required to provide stalls enough to expose all these meats for sale. The bulk of vegetables and fruits are even larger than the bulk of meats sold daily and more space is required for these. Then there is the milk market, the butter and egg markets and fish markets. I am speaking here of wholesale markets.

The city of Berlin, being about half the size of London, has markets about half as large. The food products in both Berlin and London are sold at wholesale on commission, the commission being 3 1/2 per cent in case of meats and 7 per cent in case of vegetables and fruits; eggs, butter and cheese take same commission as meats. In the Berlin markets all the farm products are from the German farmer, because a tariff protects and preserves the German markets to the farmers of that empire.

In the markets of England one sees no English farm products, but there are meats from Argentine, Australia, New Zealand, fowls and eggs from Russia and Holland, and large stalls of milk, butter and cheese from America, and these stalls are occupied by our big meat markets. In Berlin the whole sale is virtually made by the producers, as the organized farmers sell, most always through their own agents. Hence the German farmer receives all his produce bringings, except the cost of transportation and the commission.

City of Berlin Owns Stalls. At the wholesale city market the products pass into the hands of the hundreds of retail dealers. In Berlin all these dealers rent stalls and transact business in the city's retail market places. In London, many of them do, but many dealers carry on business in privately owned buildings scattered about the city, while others are merely hucksters selling from wagons.

Now, note the difference in the systems. In Berlin the city owns an abattoir or slaughtering place. All animals killed for the Berlin market must be slaughtered there, by the permission of the food authorities in this way the city is not only able to know the kind and condition of animals offered for sale, but is also enabled to prescribe the number to be killed daily.

I asked, "Why did the city wish to regulate the amount of meat offered to the market daily?" The explanation was, that there are times when, for some reason or other, the farmers will rush more meat on the market than is needed, as in the fall when cattle are fat and the farmer does not wish to carry them in the winter. If this should be permitted there would surely follow a scarcity of meat later, and consequently a rise in prices as meats would have to be imported, for the German farmers produce a little over ninety-five per cent of the food products of Germany. The purpose of the city is to see to it that German meats shall be as far as possible and that prices be kept uniform.

London does nothing of this kind. Food Speculation Prohibited.

The German government prohibits speculation in food products. It goes upon the theory that the speculator either boosts or depresses prices; if he depresses them, the producer suffers. So the government has enacted laws prohibiting trading in futures of food products, such as wheat and corn, and providing a limit of time which food stuffs may be kept in cold storage.

The city of Berlin regulates the cold storage plants in that city. Everything which goes in cold storage is booked in a manner showing the date it is entered and is taken out, and the city sees to it the stuff is not kept in cold storage longer than the time allowed by law. Meat is allowed to remain three months, butter four months and eggs six months. These limits are fixed because experts have determined that meat, butter and eggs begin to lose their food values at the end of three, four and six months, respectively. By these means, food stuffs in Germany and in Berlin are kept regularly moving from the producer to the consumer.

Nothing of this kind prevails in London. "What was to prevent the retail people from combining and selling at exorbitant prices?" The remedy is simple and the city resorted to it once. If the retail dealers, or wholesale dealers either, for that matter, demand more than is just the city protects its citizens from exorbitant prices by the easy and simple method of opening up of market stalls and selling to the people at reasonable prices.

German Farmers Receive More Under these methods, I estimate that the German farmer received twenty-five to forty per cent more for his produce than do those who sell in the London market, and yet the consumers in Berlin pay less than do the London consumers.

I was at the Berlin markets in June and the London markets July 23rd, six or seven weeks apart, but I do not think there was much difference in prices in June and July. Beef sold, wholesale, in London at from ten to fourteen cents a pound. Mutton fifteen to eighteen cents, hogs fourteen to eighteen cents, chickens twelve to fifteen cents per pound. On the same days these meats retailed at more than double these prices. The city officer who showed me through the markets, told me that all products were sold by the retail dealers at double and often at more than double the wholesale cost. I could that day get $1.20 for a cantaloupe, which sold in the wholesale market at fifty cents that morning. The melon was about four times as large as Texas peaches, selling at eight cents each or a dollar per dozen, but all such products are imported.

The day I visited the Berlin markets, beef, mutton, veal and venison retailed at nineteen to forty cents per pound. Chickens fifty to eighty cents each, goose nineteen cents per pound, calf four ten cents per pound, lemons eleven cents a dozen, apples fifteen cents for seven, eggs twenty-two cents a dozen, and rice ten cents a pound.

Pure Food Officers Present. A gentleman who lives in London told me he paid thirty-five to fifty cents for butter, twenty-five to forty cents for eggs, twenty-five to forty cents for meat and seventy-five cents to one dollar for chickens.

In both Berlin and London pure food officers of the city are ever present in the markets, and they see to it that all foods offered for sale are pure and wholesome, that the stalls are kept clean and sanitary and they investigate all complaints as to false measures or weights, or unfair dealings or irregularities of any kind. If the dealer fails to run a clean and sanitary place, or proves untruthful, upon second offense he is ousted from his place, in Berlin he would have to quit business. By this means, only persons of good character and friendly habits of business deal in food products.

If the city of London would adopt the same methods as are employed in Berlin, at the prices meats are sold at wholesale in that city, it would save the consumers of London fifty thousand dollars a day. It is the duty of American cities to see that pure and wholesome foods are sold to their citizens and both their duty and advantage to see that the very least expensive methods possible of supplying such stuffs shall be employed in order to give the consumers food stuffs at reasonable prices. The cities can, if they will, do much to assist in solving the high cost of living. If the cities will establish, regulate and supervise markets and the farmers will organize so as to send their products in car lots and in condition for market, the cost of marketing which now amounts in the United States to about 54 cents in every dollar paid by the consumer, can be reduced at least one-half.

These are the reasons which the German city methods impressed upon me.

San Angelo—Many bags of wool are being purchased by the commission men of this city and the prices received by the growers is gratifying.

Here Is the Evidence of the Merit of a Life Insurance Company—

The First Death Claim Made Against the Wichita Southern Life Insurance Co. Was Paid in Three Days After the Death Occurred

THE fact that this company has written over three million dollars' worth of insurance in the two and one-half years it has been in operation, with only one death loss, tells the story of its safe, conservative management, and the fact that this first claim was paid in full within three days after the death occurred, is the best evidence that the company recognizes its duty to its policy holders, and will pay its claims without quibbling or loss of time.

Gentlemen:—
We beg to acknowledge receipt of your Check, No. 3,307, in the sum of One Thousand Dollars, in payment of claim under policy 810, issued to Mrs. Mattie Brokaw, June 12, 1912.
Mrs. Brokaw's death occurred Monday, August 25, 1913, and we congratulate you upon the prompt payment of claim.
Yours very truly, T. M. HOXIE, Cashier.

Our policies are absolutely free from conditions as to residence, occupation or place of death, and are guaranteed by deposits with the Texas State Treasurer.

THE above letter is self-explanatory. It shows Mrs. Brokaw to have been insured in the company but little over one year. It shows that this company paid the claim in but three days after her death, and on the same day that the proof of death was submitted. The company is exacting in its medical examination, and can therefore provide cheaper insurance for those who pass the examination. We invite inquiries from those who desire the best class of insurance at the minimum cost, and will be glad to submit rates and sample policies to those who wish them.

ELIZA TO AGAIN CROSS THE ICE

REVIVAL OF "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" IS PLANNED IN NEW YORK NOW

DOINGS ON THE RIALTO

Sure Enough Models in "Potash and Perimeter" Say Stage Safer Than Clothing Store

New York, Sept. 6.—White slavery is the keynote of the season's melodrama and perhaps it is not a far cry to black slavery. Hence the revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It's the power of suggestion again. Perhaps the power of suggestion is nowhere more potent than in the show business. Every hit is followed by its hundreds of imitators, just as surely as a man is followed by his shadow. Peter lost his shadow, yes, but by the same token he has never been limited, which leaves the rule unshattered. With our drama slowly but profitably selling itself into white slavery, was it any wonder that a Harlem stock manager thought of black slavery and revived "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Maxine Elliott's?—the forerunner of an avalanche of social evil plays and here was Mrs. Stowe's slave play all ready for production.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is so old that it is new to a lot of folk on Broadway and off, and such a radical departure from the conventional and light drama that it is small wonder that its revival has aroused a storm of discussion. It was so popular that the original run allotted to it has been indefinitely extended. All must agree that this intensely modern play is a revolt alike against the false romance of Barrie and the false realism of Bernard Shaw. Doubt has no place in dramatic criticism. Barrie has often placed his heroes in tree-tops and such places—but he never put his heroine on ice. Topsy when she tells little Eva that Eliza's was—the forerunner of an avalanche of social evil plays and here was Mrs. Stowe's slave play all ready for production.

Up at the Hippodrome on Sixth avenue, they have come back home at last. After going around the world and covering every known and imaginary country on the globe in their spectacles, the Hippodrome management has come back to America. That is the name of the production that recently opened the gigantic theatre. It is a stupendous affair, "America" covering every part of the nation and its development. In the cast are Indians, cowboys, plainmen, Alaskan miners, soldiers—and girls. There are hundreds of the latter, dancers, singers, "lookers" and just plain girls. For many weeks the girls have been drilled tirelessly, their rehearsals lasting from morning until far into the night, and they are said now to be the best trained chorus in New York. Over 500 new faces are to be seen in the cast—and chorus—this year. But the chorus girls and men are not to be seen in the stereotyped ball as in former Hippodrome spectacles. The greatest feature of this year's show is the Carnival of Sports, which replaces the ballet.

There is a bit of real "local color" in Potash & Perimeter, the sensation popular Montague Glass play now running, which portrays the doings of those humorous Hebrew partners in the cloak and suit business. Among the characters are four models, former chorus girls and to get the necessary ideas for their parts the four girls worked for three weeks as cloak models in a department store.

To give them more realism, the girls sought and obtained the positions themselves, telling neither the store management nor the other girls of their purpose and for eighteen days they worked as models, showing off gowns, suits and gowns to prospective buyers. "Never again for mine," said one of the girls, telling of her experience. "The chorus is plenty good enough for me, thank you. Talking about temptations, the glarriest part of Broadway is a Sunday school compared to those department stores. "On the stage a girl can go her own way and not be molested if she wants to, but those fresh guys from Kalumazoo and Syracuse, the buyers, L. men. Looking over a suit, they run their hands over the arms and bodies of the girls to feel the fit and—whisper a wine supper invitation every time. If those poor models accepted every bid they got, they'd be soured in no time and besides would lose their shapes and their jobs. The stage is safer for girls any day in the week than a department store, take it from me. I know for I had three weeks of it."

BLUE SUNDAY IN VERNON: ONLY ICE CREAM IS SOLD.

(Vernon Record)
The state law which makes it a misdemeanor to sell cold drinks, cigars, tobacco, etc., on Sunday has been invoked in Vernon for the first time in several years. Last Sunday was a "blue" one in Vernon, all soda fountains and cigar stands being closed for business for the day. Under the law, ice cream and that without fruit is the only delicacy that can be sold on Sunday.

OKLAHOMAN'S RICH HARVEST FROM SWEET POTATO CROP.

(Frederick Leader)
Many marvelous potatoes may be heard about the sweet potato farm of Charles Jones, in Hunter township and some of them are exaggerations, but the truth is good enough. Mr. Jones was in Frederick Wednesday and modestly told the Leader the facts in the case. He planted this year 129 acres of sweet potatoes. Ninety of these acres are irrigated with water from Otter creek with an irrigation outfit which he installed. The irrigated acres are yielding at about the rate of 150 bushels per acre. The dry land, of course, is not yielding nearly so well. The irrigated potatoes are particularly fine, and Mr. Jones is selling these potatoes in sacks by wholesale at $1.50 per bushel and they are cheap enough at the price, for they are extra good ones. Here is a prosperity item that shows whether it pays to irrigate in southwestern Oklahoma. Leaving out the dry acres, figure how much Mr. Jones will get out of the 30 irrigated ones, and say whether it pays.

Lexington—Purser Brothers of this city recently shipped 118 head of hogs to the Fort Worth packeries. The porkers average 220 pounds and the price received for the entire shipment was $2,000.

Advance Autumn Showing in Our Silk and Dress Goods Section

The new autumn silk and dress goods and the beautiful rich colorings and designs which are to have their first presentation this week in our silk and dress goods department and the preface of a new volume of autumn fashions, and like most prefaces, are the most interesting part of the volume. They are refreshing by virtue of being new. Make it a point to see these beautiful new fabrics. The new silhouette, as the Parisian terms it, has been drawn from the mingling of the races and has introduced the most daring color combinations and designs. The rich materials have the absence of any suggestion of stiffness and are very supple and silky. We are immensely gratified with the auspicious beginning of the season. We had not only studied the wishes and necessity of our constituency, but have done everything but manufacture the beautiful fabrics in order to have exactly the kind that are most desired for this autumn season and to have exclusive designs that will not be shown elsewhere in the city. Exquisite fabric creations for evening, afternoon, dinner, opera, church and reception, imported and selected with great care and skill. For early autumn soft shades are likely to be extremely popular and afford excellent opportunity for the introduction of bold touches of vivid tints that blend well with purple, rose, emerald, green, cruise, American beauty, Russian green and all the popular blues. Brocades were never more luxurious than at the present time, brocaded chiffon, brocaded poplin, brocaded charmeuse, brocaded crepe de chine and brocaded crepe meteor. Many other new weaves and shades too numerous to mention. The selection of our silks and dress goods is not guesswork, but the result of concentration and specialization in the open markets of the world. Our silk and dress goods preparation for this autumn far surpasses any past effort. We earnestly request that you pay this department a visit this week and see the beautiful new fabrics. Our business motto is thoroughly true merchandise, correct in style. We shall expect you this week. No trouble to show goods. Requests for samples and mail orders will receive our prompt attention. Estelline Ball Team Pulled Stalled Auto Out Of River

In a mud-splattered, water-soaked car in which the leather seats were still damp and whose horn honked croakily from the water in the tube, Cecil De Jernett and R. H. Blackwell, two young men of Commerce, the former a son of Dr. De Jernett, president of the leading bank there, passed through Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon on their return to Commerce after a trip from Colorado. Thursday in crossing Red River at Estelline the water came up over their engine and the automobile stopped in midstream and had soon settled in the sand until the water was running near the top of the doors at the side of their car. The two young men waded ashore and hired a man with a team to pull them out. The two horses couldn't budge the machine and another team was hitched onto the tongue of the wagon to which the first team was hitched. Both teams didn't budge the automobile but they pulled the wagon in two.

It looked like there was nothing left to do then but to leave the auto in the middle of Red River, so the two young men walked into Estelline. Here they found a big crowd gathered to see a ball game between the Estelline Athletics and the Welch Giants. The latter team hadn't yet put in its appearance and thinking that the two strangers wearing khaki suits might be professionals imported by the Welch nine, the Estelline players began to make covert inquiries and soon learned their predicament. "Let's pull 'em out," suggested the pitcher. "You're on," exclaimed the short stop. "Whoopie," yelled the others as they started racing toward the river bank. Some of them pulled off their shirts as they ran and in a minute after their arrival piles of cleaned shoes and baseball uniforms littered the bank, while nine stalwart ball players and two substitutes from the second nine, the home umpire and the manager, were splashing the water around the stalled machine. A rope was quickly tied to the front axle and while some of the sturdy young men of Estelline pulled at the rope others milled and lifted and pushed on the sand embedded wheels and in short order they had the machine rolling toward the Estelline shore. After the water had been mopped out of the carburetor it was found that the machine would run all right. That afternoon the Estelline team had no more local and enthusiastic rooters when they lugged the Welch nine to the tune of 15 to 0 than the two Commerce tourists.

HAS SOLUTION RAIN PROBLEM

FORMER WICHITAN SEEKING PATENT ON NEW PLAN FOR FORCING PRECIPITATION

TO MIX AIR CURRENTS

Suggests High Tower Through Which Warm Air Could be Forced Into Cold Current

To The Editor of The Times: Round Rock, Texas, Sept. 4. There is an old adage "that necessity is the mother of inventions." I believe the time will come when it will be possible to cause it to rain when needed on all arid and semi-arid regions. Perhaps the reason it has not been accomplished is the superstition of man in what is termed, trying to improve on God's method. Now I believe the Lord placed man here on earth to use anything that is good for mankind. We dam up streams to catch storm water and harness electricity and other things which were not given direct to man. Irrigation is good as far as it goes, but there are thousands of acres which cannot be irrigated. What we have to do is to combine the elements that produce rain and the land that now is arid can be made to blossom like the rose. Thousands of farmers are just existing and that is all for the want of moisture to make crops grow, and as soon as man can lay superstitious aside the rain problem will be solved. Why should not man make a machine to force the warm air that is next to the earth caused by the reflection of the sun on the earth up to the cold atmosphere above. We know through science and by observation that a warm current of air striking a freezing atmosphere will produce moisture. Take a pitcher of ice water and as soon as it comes into contact with warm air it will cause moisture to collect on the outside. Clouds

CAN A MAN BE SENT TO PEN FOR GIVING NEIGHBOR DRINK OF WHISKEY?

IT IS THE CHIEF QUESTION

Prohibitionists and Antis Quote Authorities on Both Sides of the Question

Is it a penitentiary offense to give a man in dry territory a drink of whiskey? This is the question about which the arguments in the local option campaign in Archer county center. The vote comes next Tuesday. The anti's quote written opinions from District Attorney Seury and County Attorney R. S. Morrison of Archer county in support of their contention that to give a man a drink of whiskey in prohibition territory is an offense that merits imprisonment in the penitentiary. The opinions were given by Judge Seury and Mr. Morrison on July 25 before the campaign was opened or an election ordered. The anti's also quote Judge Martin's charge to the grand jury in Young county last week instructing that body to investigate violations of the liquor laws especially the bringing in of liquor from wet territories to dry territories and they also cite the arrest of an Olney man recently for bringing one of his neighbors a bottle of whiskey from Wichita Falls. On the other hand the dry's exhibit a letter written by Judge Martin on September 2 to County Attorney Morrison at Archer City which follows: Dear Sir: Answering your inquiry I will say that in my opinion there is nothing in the Allison Infractate liquor shipment law which prohibits or attempts to prohibit or curtail in any way the right of one citizen to give intoxicating liquor to another citizen. The constitution itself, Article XVI, Sec. 20, only authorizes legislation prohibiting "sales" and no gift

NATURE'S WARNING
Wichita Falls People Must Recognize and Heed It
Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy. If there are settlings and sediment. Passages frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to fear serious kidney trouble.

It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have done great work in Wichita Falls.
John Glen, shoemaker, 712 Seventh street, Wichita Falls, Texas says: "For many years I had various troubles caused by my kidneys and bladder and the only remedy I have ever found that will cure me is Doan's Kidney Pills. I had pains in my back and side and was troubled by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended, I tried them and found them even better than represented. They cured me and now I seldom need a kidney remedy. When I do, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always benefit me."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Don't Take Any Chances

With Your Children's Feet This Fall

In spite of the fact that some progressive shoe manufacturers and progressive shoe dealers are working together to produce a higher standard each year in the manufacture and sale of better footwear for children, many mothers will continue to take chances on ruining their child's feet for life in poorly made shoes because they are CHEAP.

Cheap Shoes in the Beginning Are Always Very Expensive in the End.

When You Buy SELZ Royal Blue Shoes

you take none of these chances. They are manufacturers that are SURE of the shoes they build. Sure enough that where you find SELZ stamp on them, you find a guarantee tag attached that says you MUST get satisfaction. Ever read the guarantee? Better look it over right away. It's mighty convincing. See if you can find it on other shoes.

School begins soon. Your children like to look well dressed—that's where we come in with shoes—Selz shoes. They are stylish enough for the best dressers.

Let us outfit your children for Fall. Many styles—moderately priced.

THE IDEAL HOME!

With the many conveniences which the present age affords in the way of street cars, automobiles and other modes of transit, it is not necessary for homes to be crowded by being located in the dust and din and noise and bustle of the city life.

Residence of J. A. Kemp, Floral Heights

It is a rank injustice to your children to bring them up in the crowded, noisy, dusty city when a mile further out can be found pure, fresh air, health, comfort and happiness. Every home builder should consider these conditions in selecting a site for the place that is to shelter and protect him and his family.

Location For An Ideal Home

The beauty of its surroundings is one of the chief charms of the restricted district of Floral Heights. It is a charming property, ideally located. Situated on the car line with the highest elevation between the city and Lake Wichita and directly on the Lake Boulevard, the most beautiful driveway in and around the city. The view in all directions is one of magnitude of stretching landscape as far as the eye can see.

There is only one restricted district in Wichita Falls for elegant homes. It will be impossible to have any other like it in years to come. The area is small and limited comprising only about 60 acres. There are now built and under construction in this district five beautiful homes, two of which are the finest in the city. There are also 1500 beautiful native trees growing nicely at an expense to this Company of over $6000.00 besides four years care and trouble. These trees are now valued at $15,000.00 and in a few years they will be worth a quarter of million to this city.

You don't have to be rich to own a home in this district. The restrictions are modest and simple, as follows: No residence shall be constructed in this restricted district in excess of one residence to two whole lots and no residence shall cost less than $3000. The way building material and labor costs at the present time $3000 is not considered much to expend on your home, and the two lots will not cost you nearly so much as one a little closer in, besides the same car that takes you to Broad street will for the same fare land you in the restricted district just five minutes later.

Can you imagine any part of the city to compare with this restricted district when it is built up with beautiful homes, every owner having 100 feet front with well kept yards, and all the streets and avenues lined with beautiful sheltering trees?

Do you know that in a short time it is going to be one of the greatest regrets of your life that you did not purchase a pair of these lots while the price was reasonable? Do you know that they are about all sold and that they will soon be in the hands of parties who will not sell them at any price? There is no limit to the prices that you will see these lots selling for in the very near future.

Drive out today and take a look at this restricted district. Study its surroundings, its magnificent view in all directions and see if you don't come to the conclusion that here will be built the beautiful homes of the future. When you have done this you will use good judgment by coming to the office of the Floral Heights Realty Company Monday morning and let us show you how reasonable these lots can be purchased.

LA SIGNORINA of the SEVERED RING

By Robert Carlton Brown

Ugh!" snuffed Giallotta, starting in his sleep. There was a jolt of the shabby day-bed; the little Italian's eyes burst open and he glanced fearfully from one to the other of his drowsy companions, their shoes off, each with his few belongings tied in his overalls and deposited carefully within sight.

"Ugh! Bad dream," he grunted expressively, seizing his left hand with the other and holding his blunt middle finger close to his snappy little eyes. A plain gold band befitting the stubby digit. Like a child amused by a plaything, he rubbed his thumb over the rough edge and sought his reflection in the gold.

Turning his elbow on the window-sill, he looked through the pane; reflectively, gazing the band with his lips.

"Carliotta, Carliotta," he murmured to the ring, and then a longing little smile crept into the corners of his eyes and lips and fixed his stare even more far away. Soon the monotony of the journey and the thoughts running ever in a circle overcame him, and he dropped over onto Pietro's shoulder his mouth open and eloquent.

Three years he had searched for Signorina in the great America; three years he had looked for little Carliotta, with whom he had split the golden band, and who now wore her hair with the rough edges that watched his. Need had forced him to take up the shovel and give up the bell, yet always as he worked he scanned the face of each passer-by.

And now he was returning to New York under the supervision of a boss who treated his gang as cattle, and had made the transportation rate with the company that was now carrying them as closely packed as poultry.

Toward evening a stir among the men awakened Guido Giallotta. He smiled dreamily as Pietro shook him and jabbered lightning words into his drowsy ear. By dint of much shaking the companion finally aroused him, and imparted the intelligence that they were entering New York.

New York meant much to Guido, and he had taken the first opportunity to go back. It was there that he could mix with his countrymen, through whom he hoped to hear again of his Carliotta. Besides, the great American painter had induced her to go to New York to earn her living as a model, and probably she was still there.

The ferry was just leaving when Giallotta looked quickly back to the shore and lurched toward the edge to make out the face of a brightly clad figure standing on the pier.

"Nah; notta Carliotta," he sighed, turning back.

Immediately on arriving he and Pietro took rooms in an Italian lodging-house. There he loafed for a week, living on the board in his worn leather wallet that he carried beside his knife. Everywhere he inquired for news of his Carliotta, but nothing had been learned since he left.

One night Pietro rushed home from work with the news that he had of the girl. Eagerly unfolding a New York foreign paper, he shook it before Guido's longing eyes, and showed him where mention was made of the model.

Dashing off to the newspaper office, Giallotta found the man who had written the article, and from him learned the long-sought address.

Slipping his hair down with grease and wrapping a resplendent handkerchief of red silk around his neck, Guido set out alone. Love quickened his steps, and soon he was ringing the bell at her little apartment.

"Guido!" she cried, opening the door and staring at him blankly.

"Carliotta," he beamed unsteadily, returning her look of surprise for she had changed, and was no longer his simple little Italian lass.

Her gown was of American cut. Her hair was not parted simply in the middle, as it once had been. All of her former beauty was there, but changed—sandy changed, thought Giallotta as he looked at her.

Her manner, too, was different, and the man stood embarrassed before her, showing himself to poor advantage.

"Da reeng?" he queried, as they seated themselves in her room; and he looked at a flashy new band she wore in place of the betrothal ring.

"Oh, eet ees too plain," objected the girl, flushing slightly.

"Den you no love me more?"

"Nah, you not understand," Guido; eet ees deefrent countrie."

"Eet love deefrent?" asked the man, with a catch in his voice.

"Eet ees not same 'Merican man!"

deefrent love. Dey not hot like Italian; cool; taka time—mooch time."

"But I not 'Merican," sighed Guido. "I love—"

"But you must wait, Guido," the girl answered.

She had told him that he might call tomorrow at the studio where she was working and take her to an Italian restaurant. Guido went. As he entered the room he saw her again as his old sweetheart. Her hair was parted in the middle, and she wore a simple Italian costume that caused the little man's heart to beat madly.

At dinner she appeared once more in her new American role, and further tantalized the man by putting him off and treating his great passion lightly, as she had learned to do from the artists.

The next time he saw her she was walking with a man. Guido followed, and saw her smile at the American and act in the new strange way. It unseated him. He pressed his long thin knife, and his eyes snapped.

At a corner the pair turned and saw him. The girl gave him a smile. He stared up suddenly as he saw the American escort make a motion in his direction, and the couple went on laughing—at his expense, he felt.

Her tantalizing manner finally caused him to pour out his heart to the sympathetic Pietro. Pietro had been in America for ten years; he knew the people and their ways. He and Guido talked long that night, and it was with a new determination that the man awoke in the morning, dressed carefully, and haunted the studio, where she had been.

But all day she did not come, and Guido, wondered mightily. At night he went again to her room. She greeted him cordially, and listened to his passionate pleadings with a look that encouraged the little fellow.

"But, Guido," she cried, springing up suddenly, "you must go. Da 'Merican ees tak me to theater to-night!"

"Nah, I tak you," Giallotta spoke out holly. "Ees eet not me dat you love?"

"But—but, Guido, in dees counterte eet ees all deefrent. He ask me go, an' I moost."

Giallotta hung his head. Jealousy stirred his fiery heart. He could not understand why she put him off. It was not the way in Italy. He must know whether or not she would marry him. Suddenly he remembered Pietro's advice, but in spite of it he blurted out:

"Den you do love me?"

"Eet eet not time yet to say," insisted the girl. "You moost go. He will come, an' he moost not see you."

Without another word, Guido started for the door.

"See!" Carliotta called after him, holding up her half of the ring. "I haf not forgot everytheng."

Giallotta started back impulsively, but she darted into another room and closed the door.

"'Merican man!" ejaculated Guido, walking blindly through the door.

"Eet ees heem dat she get fool notion from. I feex heem."

His lips, parting in a vicious grin, showed his gleaming teeth as he strode down the corridor, fingering his knife and growing inwardly. A sudden light step came up the stairs. With a suppressed hiss, Guido shrunk into a shadow and waited, a cruel glint of aroused jealousy in his passionate eyes.

Carliotta laughed in her mirror, and slipped on the split ring tenderly just as her lover darted into the shadow to await the approaching steps.

Suddenly her ears became attentive. She made out the sound of a scuffle in the hall. Her eyes flashing, her lips pressed in a firm line, she sprang to the door, threw it open, and stood for a moment in the doorway. Her form swayed, and suddenly she grasped the door for support as the sound of a falling body reached her terrified ears.

recovering herself slowly, she was about to dart toward the noise when Guido slipped through the doorway and dropped at her knees.

"You keel! You keel heem! Ah, Guido, why you not tell me eet hurt so bad?"

"You love me, den?" cried the man.

"Ah, Guido!" She pressed her shamed face against his.

"Den why you not tell me before eet ees too late?"

"Eet was wrong. I not 'Merican; I Eetaly girl. I love—like dees," and she drew the man to her madly, sobbing, hysterically.

"But—but, Carliotta, eet ees too late. I keel meeself, too," cried Guido, making ready to strike with the bare knife in his trembling hand.

There was a piercing scream, and she wrestled with him for possession of the knife. Securing it by a sudden twist, she threw it through the window and fainted in his arms.

Guido dashed water on her face, and soon she came back to consciousness.

"I go to prison wid you," gasped, remembering it all.

"Nah; you go to Eetaly wid me," answered the man, drawing her closer and covering her with kisses.

"But you keel heem; dey keel you. Eet ees—"

A beatific smile lighted up the little Italian's face. He stopped his caresses just long enough to cry:

"I no keel him. I taka Pietro's vice. I poucha da head."

"Guido! Guido! Ees eet not?" screamed the girl, pressing his hot face passionately between her hands.

"I poucha da head; he fall down stairs an' run. I taka you to show yes?"

"Yes," she repeated vaguely, clinging to him and pressing her betrothal ring to his lips. Then she added:

"An' to Eetaly, too. I notta lall 'Merican—too cool. Eet ees not love, Guido."
