NEARLY 3 INCHES RAINFALL HERE

PRECIPITATION WEDNESDAY NIGHT 2.8 INCHES—RAINFALL CONTINUED THURSDAY MORNING

THE RAIN IS GENERAL

Reports indicate all of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma is drenched

Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma were covered last night by a heavy, soaking rain, very extensive in scope and very beneficial in effect. Locally there was 2.8 inches according to the government gauge, there being no doubt that the precipitation was close to three inches.

On the Fort Worth & Denver from the Panhandle to Fort Worth, from Fort Worth to this city on the Wichita Falls & Northwestern, from the Wichita Falls south to Abilene and west to Spur on the Wichita Valley and from many points to the eastward, practically every town was reporting rains this morning. The heaviest rain was reported at Spur, being three inches. Along the Denver, the report "rained steadily all night" came from a number of towns. Oklahoma towns were not overlooked in the distribution of precipitation and all points on the Northwestern were visited.

Locally the rain began falling shortly before 8 o'clock, being preceded by a few puffs of chilly north wind that presaged the 55 degree temperature prevailing this morning. The rain fell in torrents for nearly an hour, accompanied by a very vivid electrical display. Blinding flashes of lightning and crashing peals of thunder succeeded one another in quick succession while the downpour of rain was incessant.

No damage was done here by the rain, so far as has been learned. There was a slight washout on the Denver north of Childress, but not enough to cause material delay.

The rain has filled up tanks which were beginning to run low again, and is expected to permit much greater activity in the oil fields, where work has been held up for the past two months on account of insufficient water. The rain continued at intervals here practically all night and this morning there was a decidedly lower temperature, the thermometer registering fifty-five.

Western Union's Report. The Western Union's 8 a. m. report today showed the following weather conditions in Texas and Oklahoma:

Oklahoma: heavy rains over north, east and south portions of State. Cloudy in west portions but no rain reported. Temperature 55 to 58. Following stations report from one and half inches to four inches of rain: Tulsa, Norman, Kingfisher, Light, Chandler, Bristow, Fairfax, Cushing, Davis, Newkirk, Ponca, Halleyville, Calvin. Very light rain at Clinton.

Texas—Denison, cold rain; Waxahatchie, cold rain; Fort Worth, very heavy, still raining; Dallas, raining hard; Lampasas, cloudy; Light, rain; Houston, sprinkling; Longview, clear; Mt. Pleasant, light rain; Commerce, raining slow since 1 a. m.; Tyler, light rain; Greenville, heavy rain; Brownwood, clear; Weatherford, cloudy; Corsicana, raining; Temple, raining hard; El Paso, cloudy; rain last night; Waco, rain since 3 a. m.; San Antonio, rain; Columbus, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, raining; Abilene, rained all night; Snyder, rain; Paris, rain; Beaumont, cloudy; Taylor, misting; Bartlett, rained all night.

Rainfall is General.

By Associated Press. Sept. 25.—A heavy general rain accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature was reported throughout Central and West Texas today. In some instances a maximum of four inches was reported and in other instances reported two inches or more. Damage to unpicked cotton is mentioned at some places as being considerable, the staple having been beaten into the ground and its quality lowered. Advances from other places say the precipitation has been beneficial to fall grain. Reports indicate that the rainfall extended from Oklahoma City southward to South Texas.

Frost Feared in the Panhandle.

By Associated Press. Amarillo, Texas, Sept. 25.—The entire Texas plains country was covered by a chilling rainfall, which began early last night. Advances of heavy sleet through eastern New Mexico have been received. The temperature here has fallen to 40 degrees and fears are entertained of a frost which would result in great loss to farmers and ranchmen.

PAVILION AT LAKE WICHITA WILL CLOSE MONDAY NIGHT.

After Monday night September 29th the pavilion at Lake Wichita will be closed for the season and will not be reopened until next spring. A number are planning to avail themselves of the last opportunities for dancing at this popular resort. More couples have danced on the splendid floor at the pavilion during the season nearing an end than any season since it has been built.

KEMP LEAVES FOR THE EAST

CITY/BUILDER GOES ON MISSION THAT MAY MEAN MUCH FOR WICHITA FALLS

HE DEPLORES STRIFE HERE

Declares Belief that Either Charter Will Make for Upbuilding of the City

Deplores what he considers a tendency to stir up personal strife and expressing the hope that whatever the outcome of Saturday's election, Wichita Falls will get a new charter. J. A. Kemp left this afternoon for the East on a mission that has to do with the possible securing of a new industry for Wichita Falls. He will not be back in time to vote in the election Saturday.

Mr. Kemp said while he was not wedded to either the aldermanic or commission form, he regretted to learn that the commission was "a corporation" measure sought by public service concerns and other large industries as a means of furthering their own interests. He denied that this was true, so far as he was concerned.

"I believe that either charter will make for the upbuilding of Wichita Falls," said Mr. Kemp, "personally, I wasn't sure just which form was best until Monday night, when after hearing the commission speakers, I felt that the commission would be more in line with progressive ideas. I hate to see the citizens arrayed against each other as they seem to be in this contest and I hope no such feeling will be stirred up as will cause us to lose sight of the real interests of the city. The concern in which I am interested have taken no hand in the matter and I am sorry that anyone should take the view that the commission is a 'silk stocking' affair. Above all things, we must have a new charter and both of those now before the people seem to be all right."

Mr. Kemp said that his present trip was on a matter that meant much to the future of this city, but he could not disclose its nature.

THE KATY HEARING HERE IS ADJOURNED

Attorneys Leave for Walnut Springs Where Another Hearing Will Be Held Friday

The Wichita Falls hearing in the State's dissolution and penalty suit against the Katy came to a close late last night and those in attendance caught night trains for their homes. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow at Walnut Springs, Texas, where the Texas Central shops formerly were located.

Last night's hearing consisted only of an examination of the minutes of the Northwestern's stockholders and directors meeting. Nothing was found to show even the stock transfers to the Katy and the session was unproductive of anything startling as all the sessions have been since President Schaff was on the stand. The purchase of Northwestern stock does not show on the minutes of the latter road.

During the hearing here, thousands of pieces of correspondence were examined by Luther Nickels, assistant attorney general, the files of the traffic department of the Northwest, rain being gone through at great length.

THAW REWARDS KIND HEARTED OFFICER

Sends Check for $50 to Canadian Official Who Did Act of Kindness

By Associated Press. Montreal, Sept. 25.—A check for fifty dollars has been sent by Harry K. Thaw to S. Garceau an immigration officer, as an appreciation for kindness shown the Matteawan fugitive the day he was put across the border. Garceau was the man who ran to get an overcoat for Thaw on the cold morning when he was rushing across the boundary. Thaw sat slivering in the automobile. Garceau noticed this and hurried into the station and returned with his own overcoat which he gave Thaw.

CAMPBELL RETURNS FROM AGENTS MEETING

J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent, has returned from Brownwood, where he attended the semi-annual meeting of agricultural agents for West Texas. Mr. Campbell said that he saw no crops better than those around Wichita Falls, throughout his entire trip, and that the people of this section are better off than most parts of West Texas. There is a good chance for the next agents' meeting, six months from now, to be held in this city and Mr. Campbell is trying to land it.

NEW INTEREST IN MEXICAN AFFAIRS

GAMBOIA'S NOMINATION BY CATHOLIC PARTY REAWAKENS INTEREST AT WASHINGTON

CAN HE BE ELECTED?

This is Doubtful in Official Circles in Government Offices in United States

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 25.—The nomination last night of Frederico Gamboa, Mexico's minister of foreign affairs by the Catholic party for president re-awakened interest here today in the Mexican situation. While the United States might ultimately recognize Gamboa if he is chosen at a legal and fair election the disposition in official circles today was to doubt whether he could be elected. Representatives of the constitutionalists declared the radical party of Mexico would take no part in the election and that the revolutionists would refuse to recognize Gamboa if elected.

The opinion of administration officials was that the nominee of the Catholic party could not triumph in a popular election. The overwhelming opposition recently shown in the Chamber of Deputies against Eduardo Feneriz, a leader of the Catholic party, as minister of public instruction is regarded by officials here as indicating how unsatisfactory Gamboa candidacy would be to the Liberals.

NO GUNS DRAWN AT TODAY'S SESSION

Following Yesterday's Disorder in Tennessee Legislative Situation Continued Tense Today

By Associated Press. Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 25.—When the Tennessee house of representatives met today factional lines were tensely drawn but good order prevailed. Fears had been felt that a clash might occur, the so-called "gunmen" were not in evidence.

Speaker Stanton assumed the chair without opposition of the backers of the law enforcement bill. There were no signs of the storm which broke late yesterday following adjournment of the lower house.

The wrangle in the house is over bills seeking to make easier the enforcement of the prohibition laws. One prohibits interstate shipment of liquors, one makes saloons a nuisance to be abated in civil and criminal courts and one prohibits shipment into the State. There has been much disorder as a result of the fight on the legislation.

Serious trouble was probably averted in the house of representatives yesterday by the cool head of Representative A. L. Todd of Rutherford county who, in a conciliatory address, quelled angry members after Speaker Stanton had declared the house adjourned without a roll call.

At 5:45 o'clock Representative McDade made a written motion that the House set the so-called law enforcement bills for a special order at 6 o'clock. Representative Wilson moved to adjourn. "Those in favor say 'Aye,' those opposed 'No.' The house is adjourned," ruled the speaker, without taking a vote.

Action Starts Uproar. The action of the speaker precipitated an uproar. Representative McDade advanced toward the speaker and Senator Fisher stepped between the two men. Speaker Stanton hurried from the hall and Mr. McDade assumed the gavel. An appeal from the decision of Speaker Stanton regarding adjournment was taken, but was lost because of the absence of a quorum.

The sergeant at arms was dispatched in search of Speaker Stanton, but failing to find him, the house, after a wait of fifteen minutes, adjourned. During the uproar it is claimed that weapons were drawn.

The exciting finale of the session followed a day's filibuster by "regular" members who had spoken apparently against time to delay consideration of the law enforcement bills. In the morning Representative Testerman, addressing himself to Representative Royston, had declared "You lie, you bound," and had started toward him when he was pounced by five other members.

Shouts of "Throw him out" and "He doesn't belong here" greeted Senator Fisher when he interposed between the speaker and Representative McDade and Senator Fisher was escorted from the hall by the sergeant at arms. Representative Bejachs dared members to put him out and was also led away by the sergeant at arms.

CHILEAN EXHIBIT ON A REDUCED SCALE

By Associated Press. Santiago, Chile, Sept. 25.—The Chilean government has decided to participate in the Panama Pacific Exposition on a reduced scale owing to the absolute necessity of reducing expenditures. The Chilean exhibit will have a place on the pavilion and will not occupy a building of its own.

TAFT APPEARS BEFORE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Former President Asks For Marble Postoffice for New Haven—Corrects Report

CAMPAIGN NEARS THE END

Commission Mass Meeting Tonight and an Aldermanic Meeting Tomorrow Night

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 25.—Former President William Howard Taft today in the capacity of a private citizen urged Secretary McAdoo to give New Haven, Conn., Taft's adopted home, a marble postoffice building. Whether a former republican president has sufficient influence with a democratic administration to have the structure built of marble instead of granite was to be decided. When complimented upon his appearance the former president smiled and said:

"The report that I have lost 80 pounds is a malicious lie. I have lost only sixty."

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES START OCTOBER 7

RATE HEARING ON AT OKLAHOMA CITY

By Associated Press. Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 25.—Assuming that the New York team will win the National League pennant the National Baseball Commission decided today that the first game between that club and the Philadelphia Athletics for the world's championship will be played in New York, October 7. Umpires agreed upon for the series are Connelly, Egan, Clamm and Reiger.

The second game will be played in Philadelphia October 8 after which the clubs will alternate between the two cities. Tomorrow night the campaign will close. The aldermanic committee will close the opera house and will hold a meeting there, but the speakers have not been announced. A meeting of some kind will in all probability be held by the commission tomorrow, but the place has not been announced.

CONFEREES ARE STILL UNAGREED

SPEAKER CLARK TELLS HOUSE AGREEMENT IMPOSSIBLE BEFORE SATURDAY

INCOME TAX FEATURES

Three Thousand Dollars Maximum Exempted for Single Man—$4,000 For Married

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 25.—Speaker Clark told the House today there was little prospect of an agreement between the tariff conferees before Saturday. The conferees today agreed on $3,000 as the maximum amount of income of single men that shall be free from the income tax. The exemption of a married man will be $4,000 with no further exemption for children.

Only one exemption of $4,000 will be allowed for each family even though the husband and wife have separate incomes. The conferees decided to put burial on the free list and to leave grain bags on the dutiable list, and to reduce the House rate of 20 per cent on jute fabrics to 10 per cent.

Two cent fares should be ordered on the Northwestern, a man riding from Wichita Falls to Mangum, for instance, could buy a ticket to Devol, the first station in Oklahoma, for three cents per mile at Devol he could get out and buy a ticket to Mangum. The Northwestern, a man riding from Wichita Falls to Mangum, for instance, could buy a ticket to Devol, the first station in Oklahoma, for three cents per mile at Devol he could get out and buy a ticket to Mangum. The Northwestern, a man riding from Wichita Falls to Mangum, for instance, could buy a ticket to Devol, the first station in Oklahoma, for three cents per mile at Devol he could get out and buy a ticket to Mangum.

Orville Bullington of the firm of Huff, Barnes and Bullington, states that a large per cent of the patrons of the Northwestern realize that a three cent fare is necessary if the present standard of service is to be maintained, and that they are opposed to the reduction.

JAIL SENTENCES AND HEAVY FINES

Penalties Piled up on Kid Humphries and His Wife, Rose

"Kid" Humphries and his wife, Rose Humphries, who have figured in county court bangals considerably of late, are now facing heavy fines and jail sentences and up to this afternoon had been unable to raise sufficient money to liquidate the fines. In cases in which he has pleaded guilty and accepted judgment, "Kid" owes fines of $800 and costs amounting in all to about $1000 and must serve eighty days in jail. A total of about $1000 in fines and eighty days in jail were assessed in other cases which are on appeal to the higher courts.

Rose Humphries has 120 cases on appeal, involving $500 in fines and forty days in jail. She has pleaded guilty to nine vagrancy cases being fined $50 and costs in each, totaling about $800. Her fines also include one for carrying a pistol. The other fines and jail sentences grow out of bawdy house charges or out of vagrancy charges arising from the same practice.

In spite of the fact that he is considered well fixed financially, "Kid" was unable either yesterday or today to raise money and pay his fines. In the custody of an officer, he has been trying to secure the money, but is not yet free. Although he holds title to considerable property here, it has developed in his present series of troubles that all of it is encumbered and the removal of the reservation to its new location makes much of it worthless than formerly.

APPLICATIION OF DEMOCRACY DISCUSSED

Valencia, Pa., Sept. 25.—"The Further Application of Democracy," was the main subject discussed at today's sessions of the national conference of the National Federation of Settlement Associations which opened a three-day meeting yesterday. Cornelia Bradford, of the Whittier settlement house, Jersey City, N. J., opened today's discussions. Other speakers were: Harry E. McDowell, University of the Settlement, New York City; John L. Elliott, Hudson Guild, New York City; and Henry Moskowitz, Madison settlement house, New York City. Some of the sub-topics discussed were:

The personal opportunity afforded by the settlement as a field for constructive democratic service; how to engage the people in supporting neighborhood work; the neighborhood as a center of community action, particularly through neighborhood improvement associations; relations of settlement to the broader aspects of political and industrial democracy. Special group meetings and sight-seeing trips about Pittsburg were on the program this afternoon. Jane Adams, of Hull House, Chicago, will open the discussion on "The Struggle for Life Above the Poverty Line." Sub-topics will be "Minimum Standard of Living and of Life," "The Pressure on the Home-widow's pensions—minimum wage—trade unionism for women."

MAYOR GRANT TO REPLY TO CHARGES

OKLAHOMA CITY MAYOR HERE TO SPEAK IN DEFENSE OF HIMSELF AND COMMISSION

WOULD EXTEND POWERS OF I.C.C.

SENTIMENT CRYSTALLIZING IN CONGRESS TO GIVE RAILWAY COMMISSION MORE POWER

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 25.—Following upon the heels of the Interstate Commerce Commission's announcement of its findings in its investigation of the recent wreck of the New Haven, Hartford and Connecticut in which twenty-one lives were lost, charging that "man failure" beginning with high officials and extending to the train crews was responsible, sentiment in Congress today rapidly crystallized into a movement to take up legislation for train safety at the regular session in December.

Backed by the influence of the Interstate Commerce Commission an effort will be made to enact legislation to empower the commission to deal with such questions as fuel cars and modern safety equipment. Commissioner McCord is reported to be drafting a bill to place such power in the commission.

"Man failure" all along the line from officials and directors of the New Haven Railroad down to its trainmen is held by the Interstate Commerce Commission to have been the cause of the Wallingford wreck on Sept. 2, in which twenty-one were killed and thirty-five injured. In its report, made public yesterday, the commission blames the crews of the wrecked trains for lapses and "inefficiency of management."

Operating officials of the New Haven and officers and directors of the system are grilled scathingly for promulgation of regulations that were "dead letters" and for not seeing to it personally that operating conditions were what they had directed them to be.

"Man failure" in this case," said Commissioner McCord, who prepared the report after an exhaustive personal investigation of the accident, "began high up in official authority and it was a natural sequence that it reached down to those in positions lower in official rank."

RANGERS GUARD NEGRO AT ANGLETON TRIAL

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, Sept. 25.—Jim Durfee, the negro convict lately charged with the murder of Mrs. J. M. Sett, of Post City at Angleton, July last, was taken to Angleton today for trial. The trip was made in an automobile with a strong ranger and civil guard to prevent any possible show of violence in Brazoria county where sentiment is very strong against the negro.

CARNEGIE'S MONEY CAUSES SCHOOL ROW

Jackson, Mo., Sept. 25.—The St. Louis conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today adopted a resolution condemning the trustees of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., for accepting a million dollar endowment from Andrew Carnegie. The adoption of the resolution was preceded by a spirited debate.

The acceptance of the Carnegie endowment, which was to enlarge the medical department of the university, was vetoed by the board of bishops of the church on the grounds that the Carnegie endowments are conditioned on the beneficiary colleges being independent of sectarian control. The trustees decided to ignore the veto of the bishops and to contest in the courts for their right to control the university.

THREE PROPOSITIONS FOR GLOVE FACTORY

Hilburn Bros. Submit Proposals to Chamber of Commerce for Location Here

Three propositions, accompanied by a certified check for $500 as a guarantee of good faith, were submitted to the Chamber of Commerce this morning by Hilburn Brothers of Dalhart and El Paso, for the establishment of a glove factory here. The organization is allowed sixteen days in which to accept or reject the offer.

The company plans to increase its capital stock from $10,000 to $25,000 before establishing its plant here. The three propositions are as follows:

1. That Wichita Falls shall subscribe for $300 of the capital stock.

2. That Wichita Falls shall subscribe for $5000 of the capital stock and lend Hilburn Brothers $5000 for a year at eight per cent, with privilege of renewal for one year.

3. That the Chamber of Commerce should lend Hilburn Brothers $10,000 for two years at eight per cent.

Although no definite action has been taken, it is probable that the third proposition will be accepted.

ALL TESTIMONY TO BE ADMITTED

SULZER IMPEACHMENT COURT SO VOTES AT THIS MORNING'S SESSION

GOVERNOR IS CHEERFUL

Tells Friends His Story on Stand Will be Knockout Blow for Prosecution

By Associated Press. Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Governor Sulzer and his attorneys were in good spirits as they emerged this morning from a conference which lasted several hours. Judge Herrick was asked if the testimony given yesterday had caused any change in the plans of the defense. He smiled as he said, "I don't think it will be necessary for Governor Sulzer to go on the stand."

"Nevertheless the governor is still at work assembling the story he expects to tell. He assured his friends today it would be a knockout blow to the cause of the prosecution. The court of impeachment for the trial of Governor Sulzer today unanimously voted in favor of admitting all testimony to alleged campaign contributions to the governor's fund whether specified in the articles of impeachment or not. The point arose in connection with the testimony of Morris Petulnik, a liquor dealer and former president of the New York City Liquor Dealers Association. When he started to tell about the organization's contributions to Sulzer, Attorney Marshall for the defense, objected maintaining that there was nothing about this witness in the articles of impeachment and that the purpose of the articles was to give notice to Sulzer of the nature of the accusations against him to afford him time to answer them."

Attorney Stanchfield in reply declared that the manager has secured and are prepared to prove that Sulzer received a large number of contributions in excess of those which appear on the face of the charges. "One of the governors' defenses is that the omissions were the result of a mistake. We charge that he deliberately set out to falsify and that he accomplished his purpose." He said there is no question in law that the evidence is not admissible.

Presiding Judge Cullen delivered an opinion on the question at the conclusion of which he announced he would overrule the motion and submit it to the whole court for a vote. The presiding judge declared that if the present case was a criminal trial he would be disposed to exclude evidence on charges not specified in the indictment.

At the outset of the day's session the question which the governor Sulzer made of the $2500 given him by Jacob Schiff precipitated a heated argument. No final decision was announced. Upon its determination depends the question as to whether the governor is guilty of the most serious charge against him, in the event that it should be shown that in every instance no restriction was placed by the donors and the gift of money received by Mr. Sulzer was without direction from the donors.

Governor Sulzer was free to use the $2,500 check given him by Jacob H. Schiff, a New York banker, in any way he chose. The banker so declared on the witness stand late yesterday. The designation of the check for $1,000—a personal contribution—placed no limitations on its use. He said; however, that he had made the gift to help the governor in his campaign and had been "foolishly generous."

These are two of the alleged campaign contributions which the articles of impeachment against the governor charge that he misused.

"It possibly can not make any difference in this case, but if I were sitting in a criminal prosecution," said Judge Edgar M. Cullen, president of the court, "I should have to charge the petit jury that if the owner consented to the use in any manner of the money or check given by the party to whom it was delivered, such use would not constitute larceny."

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC COUNCIL ORGANIZED.

The high school's athletic council, an organization which directs the athletic affairs at the school, has been organized for the school year. The council includes the high school faculty and two students from each class. Organization was perfected by electing the following officers:

J. L. Braun, coach; F. B. Elliott, manager; Otis Nelson, assistant manager; F. A. Hoach, treasurer; girls' basketball manager, Miss Ball; tennis manager, E. L. Vance.

Plans for the best interests of the association were discussed and several committees were appointed to help make arrangements for the coming football season. The members of the council felt enthusiastic in this branch of school work.

Fishing on the Dwina

RUSSIAN COAST SCENE

There were six of us, four men and two women, all bare legged, the men with their trousers rolled up well above the knees, the women in short underpetticoats. We sat in a large boat with two sails and moved merrily over the little waves. On board there were fifty yards of netting, a basket of black bread and pickled cod, a kettle and a pot, two bark boxes to contain the fish, and one or two heavy deer skin jackets to put on if the night should be very cold. The men were idle, the women rowed. I ladled out water and read in their imagination, badly, and there in nothing more unpleasant than to have one's food or clothes splashed with bilge, a writer in the London Evening Standard says: "There was a little conversation. "Why is it so much fish comes up the Dwina this season of the year?" "A bug drives them." "If they didn't come up it would be bad for us." "God sends the bug to chase them, so that the poor moujik shall not starve."

"That is true. Glory be to Thee, O Lord!" The women discussed whether the tide was coming in or going out. They agreed that if the tide were still coming in we should catch nothing but "spittles," meaning thereby very little fish or nothing at all. We all hoped that the tide had turned. Casting Nets on the Dwina. By 8 o'clock we reached the shore of a Dwina island, drew in on the sand and prepared to tackle for our first cast into the depths. The nets, fifty yards long and ten feet wide, were much entangled, and the stone weights attached all along the bottom did not make unravelling the easier. We spent an hour extricating the stones and the cork and repairing the big rents through which, in their imagination, the women already saw our finest fish leaping. Attached to the four extreme corners of the netting were long ropes—these were the pulling ropes. Ikra, my son and Laika took a pair of these and Ikra and the two women took the loose ready netting on board and rowed out upon the water, throwing out the tackle as fast as we traveled, so that there was a long tail of corks and rope stretching behind us to the shore, where the other two held their ends. The women rowed, I helped to throw out the nets.

When we had reached a convenient point we turned the boat and rowed back to the shore, making the floating line of corks and rope into a half circle. Once on the shore we took out our ends of the rope and pulled. Young Ikra and Laika also pulled; one of the women went over to help them. The nets were very heavy and yielded very slowly to our tugging, so heavy that one might have thought that they inclosed all the fish of the sea. As a matter of fact, it was the draft that resisted us and not the draft. We wound the ropes round our middles and lay back and dragged like captains of a tug of war.

Gradually, very gradually, we gained the victory, and approached the other party pulling toward us. We drew in the first strands of netting and then the second and third, our excitement and expectation increasing as the half circle narrowed in and decreased, and we saw little fishes darting to and fro in the shadowy water.

We watched; but, alas! what disappointment! We did not catch a fish larger than our middle fingers. They were all "spittles," and we all agreed that the tide had not turned yet. It was our lot to repeat this abortive and fruitless performance three times before success attended our efforts. It was at the fourth cast that our fortune suddenly changed.

As usual we drew in the nets slowly and heavily and approached one another, and then stood hopeful, but ready to be disappointed, watching the finale. On this occasion we saw big fish swimming about, trying to escape the toils, and one of the men could not contain himself, but rushed into the water and tried to secure one in advance; the consequence was a sudden splash and a jump and a lively pike had leaped out of the trap back into the river. "Oh, oh, a three-pound, a four-pound fish, come back, come back!" we cried out, and brought young Ikra back.

With a one, two, three, we landed the heavy sack of the net with its complement of mud and weeds and shells and splashing, sithering fish. A glorious sight presented itself—three large white gwinads all together and half a dozen fair-sized fish smashed, half escaped, but caught, thin a-bushel-of-perch-and-dace and founders. We all smiled and felt pleased.

Stared At by Wild Horses. By 11 o'clock, when the sky was steeped in the first red of sunset, we had already cast the net six times and were content with the result. Two of the party went off to look at the bushes to see whether the wild black currants were ripening, and the rest of us sat round on the sand and ate bread and fish. While sitting so, about twenty wild horses came trampling over the sand and stared at us curiously; then, when I tried to stalk them, galloped off pell-mell. The river was perfectly tranquil, the yellow peach burned to crimson from the low rays of the sun. The Dwina villages slept, there was scarcely a craft to be seen on the river, and we seemed utterly alone in the world.

We began to feel cold and proposed to go in search of the others, when suddenly they appeared, declaring there were no berries this year, nothing at all. We had better keep to fish; we should do nothing gathering fruit. That meant that we set to work again. When we had filled our baskets we would light a bonfire, and make tea and warm ourselves. Fortune remained with us—God allowed the fish to be caught, as one moujik put it—and we did well. We brought in much jack, many muddy flat fish, then a fat salmony looking fish of which I know not the name, and at least a score of gwinads over a foot long. Ever and anon a big fish would jump and escape.

We arranged the baskets, putting the large fish in one and the little ones in the other. There was a cunning jack that was squirming its tail and snapping its jaws like an alligator. I offered him a little fish and he bit it in two. At 11 o'clock the deep band of sunset still glowed in the north and west. The waters of the river drowned crimson with purple, and the sands were becoming brown again as the dusk settled down. Soon it would be dawn.

At 3 it was cold, and we finished our fishing and built a brushwood bonfire on the beach. It crackled, smoked and flamed, scorched our bare legs, but warmed not our bodies. Yet the tea was good. The sky was full of the prediction of morning, and while we sat warming ourselves at the fire the great heat bringer himself was rising to our service. The last red of sunset seemed to have vanished, and the twilight was mingled. We went down to put our tackle aboard. Then came a wonderful period—the lighting up of the dawns, when the sun rose over the black forest, changing all the pine tops to fire embroidery. The vision was splendid, and we stopped winding up the net at the water edge on the crisp wet sand and looked to the east and to the light beams. Between the tree horizon and the zenith was a bed of roses. On the river a tug was racing south with a message from Archangel. Morning had begun. And the night's fishing had ended. Very, very cold, we finished our work with a rush, got into the boat, and with all hands to, rowed away.

OIL FIELD NEWS

Another Wichita oil man will shortly join the Oklahoma ranks, the same being W. W. Silk of the Five Rivers Company. Mr. Silk has been in Oklahoma since his company began operations there and it became known recently that he would soon cease to call Wichita Falls home. The oil colony of this city has seen quite a few of its members claimed by the Mid-Continent field and there are very few whose departure occasions more regret than that of Mr. Silk.

Texas and Louisiana Production. A Houston dispatch in the Oil and Gas Journal gives a table showing the oil production by fields during July and August for Texas and Louisiana. Burk Burnett is not included in the table and the production at Iowa Park has been a negligible factor up to within a few weeks ago.

Good Roads Campaign Starts. Denver, Sept. 25.—Commercial and good roads organizations of Colorado today started a movement preparatory to launching a general western campaign for the permanent improvement of roads, simultaneously with the entry into Colorado of a large party of automobilists from St. Joseph and Kansas City, Missouri. The motorists are inspecting the Rock Island highway St. Joseph to Denver. They are placing markers at all cross-roads and forks between the two cities. The highway at Colby, Kansas, joins the Golden Belt route from Kansas City and from Colby follows that route to Denver. The motorists left St. Joseph September 23.

Greenville—Three large spaces have been secured by J. H. Erickson, who has charge of the Hunt county exhibit at the Texas State Fair. A fine display of farm products is being gathered in this county that bids fair to cope with any exhibit that will be shown this fall.

Yale Opens With Record Enrollment. New Haven, Conn., Sept. 25.—The vanguard of what is expected to be the record enrollment at Yale University enrolled here today for the 1913-14 term of the class of 1917. Because there are more seniors this year than ever before, Dean Jones was unable to make final arrangements for housing them on the campus. Owing to the frequent freshmen "rows," card parties and "joy affairs" which were pulled off last year, all freshmen this year will be housed on campus except ing about sixteen who will have rooms in the new private dormitories on York street. These dormitories will not only have the usual number of college professors to see that order is maintained, but they will also have a janitor and other attendants under college jurisdiction. For the first time a number of seniors will this year be housed in freshmen dormitories.

ARCHER COUNTY IRON

ORE IS EXHIBITED

Specimens Brought Here Look Like Bombs for the Charter Fight

Samples of iron ore from Archer county have been received here in connection with the Chamber of Commerce plans for looking into the possibilities of the ore deposits there. The specimens were brought by E. B. Carver and may be sent to some geological authorities with a view to determining their mineral properties. President Huff of the Chamber of Commerce has taken the matter up with Congressman Stephens in an effort to have some government experts come and investigate the proposition. While it has been known for many years that iron ore is to be found in Archer county, the supposition has always been that it existed only as "surface ore" and that there was not any large bed. The matter has never been fully investigated, however, from a geological standpoint.

The specimens sent by Mr. Carver are globular in shape and when brought to the city hall this morning, it was suggested that they were cannon balls, to be used for ammunition in the charter fight.

LOCOMOTIVES EQUIPPED FOR FIRE FIGHTING.

Denison, Texas, Sept. 25.—To prevent as far as possible fires in yards and along the line, especially where the handling of cotton is heavy, the Katy is equipping several of its engines with a pump and reel of fire hose.

Engines operated on special cotton trains and engines working on local lines besides several engines employed in yard work are being so equipped. The pump is already on the engine, as the regular injector is used. The only additional requirement needed is a large wye that is placed on the branch pipe leading from the injector to the boiler check. In case of fire a stop cock to the boiler check is closed and the injector placed in service hose connected to a fitting on the wye and a pressure of 200 pounds is readily for immediate use.

The engine tanks carry when full from 6,000 to 8,500 gallons of water and in some cases hold a fire down until additional help arrives. The new feature to the engines is being installed in the local Katy shops.

BEST ONLY FOR FAIR PATRONS

Band Music of the Best to Feature Coliseum Programs.

THAVIU WILL DIRECT

Famous Ballet in "Dances of All Nations" Very Best Act in World Vaudeville Secured.

Dallas, Texas.—The State Fair of Texas is bending every effort toward making the Coliseum programs at the coming exposition, Saturday, October 18, to Sunday, November 2, of unusual interest. Already a ballet of America's best dancers has been secured. Under the leadership of a premier dancer who comes direct to America from Austria-Hungary, the ballet will be seen by Fair goers in the dances of all Nations.

Bandmaster Thaviu and his famous organization of musicians and instrumental soloists are well known to patrons of the State Fair and are exceptionally popular with those who love the best in band music. In a letter to the management Mr. Thaviu says: "I have already arranged my programs for the Fair without an equal. As much attention will be given to popular airs as to classical music and we will have a band that will please each and every visitor. My list of instrumental soloists is not as yet completed, but will include the very best in the musical world. Have practically completed arrangements for securing vocal soloists of National reputation, whose singing will be one of the big features of the Fair."

Among the vaudeville acts of merit that will feature the Coliseum bill are: The Three Duttons, an acrobatic act; the Tetawari Japanese Troupe, the Six Contraltos, Sautcel, The Three Duttons consist of three people and two horses in "stunt" act.

The Tetawari Troupe is billed as the very best Japanese act in America, not only in their ability as performers but in stage settings and costumes. The Contraltos contribute the very best acrobatic work on the vaudeville stage and their performance each day will be marked by marvellous feats. Sautcel is an accordion player and his instrument is so constructed that he can play the most intricate of classic music as well as popular and ragtime airs.

SILOS AT FAIR.

Management Harvasts Twelve Acres of Sorghum for Demonstration Work.

Dallas, Texas: Along with its other many duties the management of the State Fair of Texas at Dallas is actively engaged in farming. Twelve acres in the rose track infield were planted in sorghum this year and the field was harvested on Tuesday, September 23. The crop will be used in silo demonstration work at the twenty-eighth annual exposition which begins Saturday, October 18, at the Coliseum. November 2. Silo demonstration work will be one of the big educational features at the coming exposition. The silos will be erected in the livestock barns erected this year at a cost of $10,000 and silage will be used in feeding exhibit cattle, horses, sheep and other stock.

One mammoth silo at Fair Park alone holds 100 tons and there are several others that were used in taking care of the remainder. Experiments carried on by the bureau of animal husbandry of the state Agricultural & Mechanical College have shown that silage may be made from either corn, sorghum, Kaffir corn or milo maize and can be used profitably in beef production. The first silo was placed at Fair Park hundreds have been erected in various portions of the Southwest.

STATE FAIR DAIRY FARM.

Butter Making and Judging and Mechanical Milking a Feature.

Dallas, Texas: Butter making and butter judging, mechanical milking and a model dairy farm will feature the dairy division of the 1913 State Fair of Texas at Dallas, which begins Saturday, October 18, and closes Sunday, November 2. The division will be of interest to every man, woman and child that visits the Fair, declares President J. Eckford. He said: "The model dairy farm will consist of twenty cows which will be mechanically milked twice each day. Silage along with other feed will be used in milk production the model farm will be connected with a silo by automatic feed carriers. Automatic litter carriers will deliver the bedding, etc. from the barns directly into manure spreaders. The product of these cows will be separated, the cream will be ripened and churned according to the best scientific methods, all of which will be instructive and interesting.

"We have made a change in the classifications this year in which only one entry of butter will be permitted from each herd. All other butter made from the same herd but by other butter makers will be entered in another class that will not be subject to competition for the Holland trophy cup. Premiums have been increased in every class. The butter on exhibit will be judged by an expert from the United States agricultural department."

STATE FAIR REST COTTAGES.

Splendid Conveniences For Women and Children at Coming Exposition

Dallas, Texas: When the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the State Fair of Texas begins at Dallas Saturday, October 18, the grounds will be equipped with seven rest rooms and cottages for the accommodation of women visitors and children. These cottages are conveniently located. The seventh structure of this kind is now being erected in the livestock department. Built of concrete and cement stone it is 25x43 feet in dimension. It is equipped with seven stationary washstands and seven lavatories and other conveniences. In each building there are spacious rooms and numerous accessories. A necessary feature is a baby room with attendants in charge at all times will be located near the main entrance. In this respect the management declares the State Fair of Texas is better equipped than any other Fair in the United States.

Additional benches and drinking fountains are also being provided this year. Whoever becomes tired at the 1913 State Fair will find a bench at hand to rest upon. A score of new ones have been ordered this year and are now being placed on the main plaza in the center of Fair Park. Additional flower beds and shade trees will add to the attractiveness.

Times Ads Win Comment

Inland Printer, the Leading Technical Journal of the Printing Trade, Praises the Work of The Times Compositors

The Times has always been proud of the artistic work displayed in its composing room in the production of the advertisements of the different merchants of the city, and believes it will compare favorably with that of any paper, even in the largest cities of the country. From time to time The Times printers have sent copies of Times ads to The Inland Printer, published at Chicago, and recognized throughout the world as the leading technical journal of the art preservative of all arts, and in every instance the work has been highly complimented. The accompanying ad was one printed last spring for the Colonna Toggery Shop from manuscript copy, and on which O. F. Byxbee, ad critic for The Inland Printer, makes the following comment, in the August number:

Colonna

You get not only beautiful morning and noon wear, but also a hat you pay $1.00 or $1.50 and see the same and more. Our hats are thoroughly made and pleasing you in every respect. Pretty Easter Hats For $3.95 Come and see them.

I would like to reproduce several of the specimens sent by D. C. Walker of the Wichita Falls (Texas) Times, as they show some excellent arrangements, many of them with round cornered panels of various sizes. Here is one of Mr. Walker's ads, and shows the manner in which he took care of an awkward trademark. The display in this ad would be quite ordinary, if it were not for the excellent grouping, but it is very pleasing as it is.

The article is worthy of consideration by business men who appreciate the fact that good work in the composition of an ad is one of the essential features in getting the much desired results therefrom.

We've often heard of graft and grafters, and the smooth way in which they get off with the goods, but the story as told by an Oklahoma City paper when one of the city commissioners filed a house is about the limit. No, he left the lot, perhaps for the reason it could not be moved.

The rainfall of last night amounted to two and four-fifths inches in this city, which is the heaviest that has fallen this year in so short a time. It was general throughout this section of country, and puts a splendid season in the ground for wheat growing, besides furnishing an abundance of water for stock. It will also be of great advantage to drillers in the oil fields, as more than half the rigs were closed down because of no water, and those that were drilling secured their water supply at great expense.

CONCERNING THE VERACITY OF A TIMES EDITORIAL

Mr. Ed Howard, City, Dear Sir: In the Wichita Daily Times of yesterday I notice an editorial written by you calling in question certain statements made by me at the Alamo Theatre on last Monday night.

Among other things you state that you did kick and kept kicking until at one of the elections the people took it upon themselves to vote for one or two of the elective officers, though in the order for the election no election had been ordered for those two offices.

The statement is misleading and is in variance with the facts in the following particulars:

Aside from the City Assessor and Collector, from 1902 to 1910, none of the officers were elected. As stated by me heretofore, there was no public demand by the people to elect these officers. The change came about in the following manner, as can be verified by all of those who have knowledge of the facts:

In the early Spring of 1910, Mr. W. Householder, desiring to become City Attorney of Wichita Falls, consulted Mr. Montgomery, who was then City Attorney, and myself as to whether either of us desired to longer continue in the office after the April election. Among other things, he stated that under his construction of the statutes, this was an elective office, and he desired to stand for election if neither of us wanted it. Mr. Montgomery stated to Mr. Householder that he did not longer care to hold the office and neither did I care to run therefor or be appointed to it; he then presented his petition and had his name put on the ballot along with H. F. Robertson for City Tax Collector and Assessor. There was absolutely no demand by anybody except the interested parties themselves who desired their names placed on the ballot. This was in 1910. In 1912 Chief Gwinn made a like request and his name was placed upon the ballot.

From 1900 to 1910, the City Attorney's office was filled by appointment and the following named gentlemen served respectively during that time: J. H. Barwise, L. H. Mathis, C. C. Huff, J. T. Montgomery. If there was any dissatisfaction among the people with the incumbency of these gentlemen I ever heard of, and I feel reasonably sure that neither of these gentlemen would ever have held the office if it had been necessary for them to have engaged in a political scramble therefor. I think even you will admit that these gentlemen will compare reasonably well with the officers elected to that office by the people.

As to the City Assessor and Collector, H. F. Robertson was appointed in 1907 by the City Council to fill this position. His name was placed on the ballot in 1908, 1910 and 1912, and at each of these elections the people chose him to fill this office, and to my mind there could not have been a great deal of dissatisfaction as to his appointment when the people in three successive elections since have ratified it.

As to the City Engineer, Mr. L. C. Hinckley was appointed by the City Council to fill this position from about 1896 or 1897, and by successive appointments up to the election of 1912. His name was then placed on the ballot and he was opposed by another gentleman of honesty and ability, and the people elected Mr. Hinckley to the office, and this would seem to be pretty good evidence that the people were satisfied with the selection made by the City Council.

As to the Chief of Police, R. V. Gwinn was appointed by the Council

KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

The poor attempt of a writer in yesterday's Times to place the editor of the Times in a wrong light before certain citizens is one that we should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. In his article he seems to take the position that the word of a man who is engaged in the liquor business is worth nothing to a staunch prohibitionist as the editor of this paper is and always will be. It so happens in this instance that the editor of the Times is not even acquainted with the saloon man at whom the slur is cast, and is therefore in no position whatever to pass upon his credibility as a witness, but in order to set the writer of that article right, the editor of the Times will state, there are saloon men in Wichita Falls whose word he would take just about as quick as he would the word of the writer of that article, and this is not intended as a reflection on him. He is our friend; has shown substantial evidence of that fact on more than one occasion, but to place us in a wrong light has done us an injury, intentionally or otherwise. To further clear his mind on this matter, the editor of the Times will state that he places principle above men. Simply from the fact that a man is engaged in the saloon business does not of itself make him either a good or bad citizen. Because we do not think and vote alike is no cause for us to condemn a man and say he is not a good citizen. On one occasion the editor of the Times has been present when some of the rights and privileges of a certain class of our citizens were about to be usurped and trampled into the dust by another class, composed largely of those who are now clamoring for commission government, when the writer of that article had been made to suddenly realize that things were not coming exactly his way or to his liking when his plaintive plea to the opposing forces was heard: "Be fair, boys." He should remember this, and take some of his own advice.

I fully endorse the sentiments expressed in the above editorial insofar as they apply to me as I was placed in the same boat as the editor of the Times.

W-J. BULLOCK.

In 1907 and successively appointed by it up to the election of 1912, his name was then placed on the ballot and he was opposed by several candidates and Mr. Gwinn was chosen by the people to succeed himself. This would indicate that the people were not dissatisfied with the appointment by the City Council during those years, or they would not have set their seal of approval upon it by again putting him in office.

Judge Edgar Rye filled the office of City Secretary during that entire period, as well as the office of Recorder for a greater part of the time, and if there was any dissatisfaction with his selection, it came not from the law-abiding citizens of Wichita Falls, but from the element who had been compelled to dance to the tune of "1830" for the violation of those laws.

The people in all of the elections where these offices have been submitted to them have invariably ratified the acts of the City Council of Wichita Falls, save and except in one lone instance and that was the election of City Secretary in 1912.

Your statement therefore by inuendo that these elections came as the result of a public demand are certainly erroneous, the demands coming solely from the individuals who desired to fill these offices. Mr. Householder had only been here about eight months at the time, was acquainted with a very few people, and even then he was unopposed for the office. I have never examined the order of election for 1910, but I do know that in his notice of election his name was given.

Very truly yours, A. H. BRITAIN.

Editor's Note—There is only one more day now until the election. The Times has not intentionally misrepresented any one. He will say, for Mr. Britain's information, that he joined in a petition to our then mayor and city council to restore to the people a right and privilege that had been usurped and taken from them without authority of law. That petition asked that the people be allowed to elect their own officers. Or, perhaps, it was only for one office. As to that our memory fails us. At the time the petition was presented to yours truly it had the signatures of 150 voters of this city (and our voting strength at that time was not more than 500 at the outside). It was continued in circulation after the editor of this paper had signed it by an old ex-Confederate soldier, now dead, who was seeking the office of city marshal. As we remember it now, our signature went down on that petition right under that of our good friend, Judge Huff. Doubtless many signatures were obtained through sympathy for the old soldier. As to that we do not know. At any rate the petition was finally presented, signed as the editor of the Times was reliably informed, by over 50 per cent of the voters of the city, and that was the last ever heard of it. The editor of the Times was informed that it was either pigeon-holed or thrown into the waste basket by the mayor. And yet Mr. Britain says nobody was "kicking but Ed Howard." At the next election no order was made for the election but for aldermen, or possibly for a mayor and aldermen. As to this record in the city hall is the best evidence. But the people felt they had been outraged and determined to vote for any candidates who might seek the offices, and our recollections are that the pressure brought to bear on the powers that were, were so great that another or an amended election notice was posted, which graciously gave back to the people the right to elect one or two of their elective officers. We only make this note to refresh Mr. Britain's memory. If he will search the records (though to find anything that should have gone to record is like looking for the proverbial needle in a hay stack) he will find that the vote cast at elections where only aldermen and mayor were to be elected, fully brought out from 5 to 25 per cent of the voting strength of the city, and that after the mayor and council had restored to the people their rights, from 75 to 80 per cent of our people of voting age participated in those elections. We were an interested listener to his speech, and when he referred to the time this city was under commission government, we thought then he was going over ice that was none too thick, and was likely to break through. In this, we were not disappointed.

MR. BRITAIN'S REJOINER

Sept. 25, 1913. Wichita Daily Times: In your issue of yesterday in reporting the speeches of the aldermanic advocates, with reference to the compensation of the city attorney's office under my partner, Mr. J. T. Montgomery's administration, City Attorney Bonner sought to mislead his auditors and the public into believing that the compensation of his predecessor had been four times the amount received by Mr. Bonner, and he is quoted as saying: "And did not those emoluments and salaries for one month amount to more than the salary I received for four months? Who would want to be elected when they could get that kind of an appointment?"

The public may not be interested in the matters, but for fear some honest but unsuspecting man hearing these remarks or reading them in your paper may believe them, I do not feel justified in permitting them to pass unchallenged.

From September 1st, 1908, to August 1st, 1909, the city attorney's office was on a fee basis, or rather a half fee basis, that is to say the city retained one-half of the fees allowed by law and paid the remaining half to its attorney. No fees whatever were paid where fines were worked out on the street, and only one-half where the fines were paid in cash. From August 1st, 1909, to April 1st, 1910, when Mr. Montgomery's term expired, a period of eight months, there was a fixed salary by the city council of $125.00 per month and no more.

For the first eleven months under the fee system above, there were only five months of that period where the salary exceeded $100 per month; five months of the time the salary was less than $100.00 per month, one of these months being $78.35; and one month an even $100.00. The total amount received for the 11 months was $1430.75, or an average monthly salary of $130.07. The remaining 4 months was fixed at $125.00 per month. The total amount received for the 15 months was $2430.75, or an average monthly compensation of $162.05.

Mr. Bonner receives a salary of $100 per month. If he can figure out that $127.92 is four times $100, or $400, he is some mathematician.

These figures are at the City Hall where Mr. Bonner's duties call him every morning, and if he had been very zealous for the facts he could easily have found them, or I would have been pleased to give them to him. These figures are given from Sept. 1st, 1908, because that was the time I came to this city and became a partner with Mr. Montgomery.

To keep the records straight I shall thank you to publish this. A. H. BRITAIN.

SENDS WOMAN DELEGATE TO STATE CONVENTION.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 25.—Massachusetts, for the first time in its history, has sent a woman to a state political convention. She is Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw, daughter of Charles S. Bird, progressive candidate for governor. Mrs. Shaw was elected in yesterday's primary as a delegate to the state progressive convention from her home ward, the Sixth. The largest vote cast in the ward yesterday was for her. Mrs. Shaw has been active in the Woman's Progressive League.

SALOON MEN IN QUANDARY MANY WILL CLOSE

While it is conceded that the election Saturday is not a legal one in the strict sense of the term it is probable a number of Wichita Falls saloon keepers will close their places of business Saturday to be on the safe side. It is reported that Comptroller Lane has telegraphed here asking that the names of all saloon keepers here tasking that the names of all saloon keepers who do not close to be reported to him. District Attorney Secury does not believe the election is a legal one and that the law governing the closing of saloon on election days does not apply. Several attorneys while holding that the election is not a legal one are advising their clients to close so as to avoid trouble with the comptroller's department.

DREAMERS

Men and women who do things, have always been dreamers. They dream of something nearer the ideal, than the other fellow then they get busy and do it. The populace say "they are a genius," but they are only ordinary folks that make day dreaming a habit, that must come true. Dreamers in every line, if they develop their ideas, make a hit. They are listed on this mundane sphere as Electricians, mechanics, bankers, lawyers, doctors and preachers, the farmer and the day laborer, battling with adversities. In our own little place, "the best known to the science of our craft is not enough." A better plant and studio, a truer conception of harmony both in subjects and surroundings, telling the story of life today in all of its fullness that the children of tomorrow may see your life, your thoughts and dream of your great love for those who passed before you, and in so doing be made better for the thought. Our memorials to your loved ones are everlasting. It's not a duty, but a glorious privilege.

WISCONSIN'S NEW MARRIAGE LAWS

DOCTOR'S CERTIFICATE REQUIRED FROM APPLICANTS FOR MARRIAGE LICENSES
MUST MARRY IN STATE
Marriage of Wisconsin Couples Outside that State Will be Held Invalid

Milwaukee, Sept. 24.—Consternation has been caused among the ranks of the love lorn in Wisconsin by the general publication of the provisions of the recently enacted eugenic marriage law. While its provisions were generally understood by the people at the time of its enactment, it has now been discovered that the law is much more comprehensive and rigid than was at first realized.

The law provides, under heavy penalties, that county clerks shall not issue any marriage license after January 1st, 1914, until the groom has presented a doctor's certificate showing him to be physically fit for the state of matrimony. Violation of the provision will incur severe punishment. Failure on the part of the county clerk to demand the certificate is punishable with imprisonment from one to five years in the state prison and misstatements on the part of the applicant are punishable from 30 days to one year. Physicians making false statements are liable to prosecution for perjury.

But the provision that is causing the most discussion is that which, in the opinion of most of the attorneys in Wisconsin, makes a marriage of a Wisconsin citizen performed outside the state, invalid in this state if the groom refuses to produce the necessary health certificate and files it with the county clerk.

The law provides that residents of the state that go into another state or country to be married must file a physician's certificate within 30 days after their return. Right here leading Wisconsin attorneys declare this clause in the law is going to be very fruitful of legal disputes and court actions in the future. The law clearly attempts to nullify any marriage of a Wisconsin citizen performed outside the state invalid in Wisconsin unless a health certificate is filed. But as the act is one that has been performed outside the boundaries of Wisconsin, the state is debarred from imposing any punishment. According to lawyers, heirs from any such union would be in danger of legal attacks as to the validity of their claims for inheritance.

RINGLING BROTHERS BILL POSTERS HERE

Countrys He and Town too Being Plastered With Flaming and Alluring Posters

The circus is coming. Yes, sir! Haven't you seen the bill posters? Came to town in one of those fancy cars all painted up red and gold. And say, you ought to see those pictures they're pasting up all over town. Camels, tigers, lions, elephants, pretty girls, riders, acrobats and all sort of things like that. When is it going to be? Wednesday, October 15.

Ringling Brothers and if the show is like the pictures—it will be "some circus." The biggest, brightest and altogether the grandest feature this year will be the spectacle "Joag of Arc." This production cost $500,000 to build and requires a solid train to itself, with the properties, costumes and tons of scenery. The cast numbers 2,000 people, together with 300 dancing girls and 500 horses.

Last night a huge eighty foot car pulled into the Katy station. Covered with a fresh coat of bright red paint, it announced in blazing letters of gold, "Ringling Bros., World's Greatest Shows Advertising Car No. 1." An old resident of this city who hasn't missed a circus in twenty years, asked a Times reporter who happened to be at the depot, "What is that car for?" This query decided the newspaper man that there were perhaps many thousands of circus goers who would like to know what work these big advance cars do with a circus.

Ringling Bros. have three advance cars and they follow each other one week apart. The No. 1 car goes to each town three weeks before the circus is due to appear. It carries twenty-seven men consisting of twenty bill posters and six lithographers in charge of the veteran car manager, George Goodhart. A steam machine for making paste is carried on the car and every night the car porter makes twelve barrels of paste for use the following day, the head lithographer sees that the dates are pasted on the lithos and the car managers lay out the work for each man to do.

At 5:30 a. m., the men are called, breakfast is served at 6 o'clock and at 8:30 the local livery teams are at the car ready to take the bill posters, armed with barrels of paste and their brushes to the outlying towns and through the city itself to plaster the bill boards, the lithographers work with their bundles of lithos (in circus parlance called "bods") to decorate the store windows and by the time the supper hour arrives everybody knows the big circus is coming and enthusiastic and excited youngsters are busily engaged in figuring out the easiest way of touching jiddle for the price of a circus ticket.

IS THEIR NATURAL PASSION
Army to be Fine Combed for Material—Whole Country is Being Organized

Paris, Sept. 25.—In the hope of defeating the United States at the sixth Olympiad to be held in Berlin in 1916, France today put the finishing touch on the greatest athletic organization the world has ever seen. This touch was the definite promise of $100,000 as a government subsidy to supplement private subscriptions for the purpose of preparing a record team to be sent to the next Olympic games.

The war office will allow the army to be fine combed for material and chosen soldiers will be permitted to "do their time" to a large extent, on cinder tracks and in training quarters, all expenses paid. Every school and college must contribute whatever material they have; athletic clubs are forming all over France with the one object in view: To find the men who can leave behind "those wonders from America."

Athletics have suddenly become the national passion. The whole country has been organized into a sort of sporting republic inside a political one, individual associations grouped into departmental ones, departmental ones into national ones, with all powerful Olympic games board over all and watching all.

President Raymond Poincare, Prime Minister Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister Pichon, and other statesmen are backing the agitation in a semi-official way and have given financial promises to see that not only is every encouragement, financial and otherwise, offered during the formation and training period, but that the sum of $40,000 will be contributed by the government in 1916 to take the men to Berlin and quarter them there. Considering the short distance separating Paris from Berlin, this sum is regarded as generous.

France's Olympic games organization is an adoption of the American one. The various athletic associations are grouped into a national body. Then there is a national sports committee in which every important sporting club is represented. Lastly there is the French Olympic games committee at the head of which is Count Clerfayt who is also president of the national committee. The Olympic committee is made up of representatives of the federations composing the National Association, the latter furnishing the funds, the former preparing the final training of Olympiad athletes and attending to all other paid arrangements insofar as France is concerned.

The College of Athletes at Rheims is the first of a series of training camps to be established at various cities throughout the country. A second will shortly be begun in Paris. There are already about 80 men training at Rheims.

The Rheims college is open to the public. Five a month paying all expenses, tuition, board and lodging. Army officers pay $50 a month, the government generally footing the bills. All athletes who have won a national championship are given a month's scholarship free during which time they are put through their paces to see what stuff they're made of. If sufficiently promising, they stick and the national committee arranges for their expenses.

There is talk among the deputies in favor of arranging things so that all soldiers who distinguish themselves in the athletic field may first serve in the army for three years and then be "detached for duty" at Rheims where for two years and a half all they will have to do will be to train. The minister of War, Messines, himself, is in favor of the plan. But even if this does not go through, athletic soldiers will be allowed the time to do serious training throughout their compulsory military service and what ever happens the Olympic committee will have the pick of the entire army at its disposal.

Big Springs—October 1st will be the opening day of the West-Texas District Fair, to be held at this place and a splendid program has been prepared by the directors of this association. Horse racing will be the feature of the exhibition and a number of owners of prominent race horses have written they would bring their race horses to this fair.

PRINCETON'S NEW GRADUATE COLLEGE BUILDING OPENED
Princeton, N. J., Sept. 24.—Princeton University's new graduate college buildings were opened for occupancy today. The schedule of rates for the course was made to conform with Princeton's policy of "democracy" and to give men of small means an opportunity to take the course. The capacity of the new building is 102 students. The rooms are divided into five groups according to price, and some of these show that a student's bill for furnished room, board, and tuition for the college year will be $300. The college year is thirty-six weeks. There are a larger number who can be accommodated for $320 and $360 a year. All the rooms are completely furnished including window curtains, bedding and bed linen but not toilet linen.

OKLAHOMA RANCH RECALLS OLD DAYS

Cowboys, Cowgirls, Indians, Bullfighters, Cossacks and Famous Shots in Parade

Tuesday, September 30 will be the Oklahoma Ranch Wild West Show day in Wichita Falls. The event will be signalized by what is described as the most novel and picturesque street parade ever offered as a free spectacle to the public by any manager of an out door amusement enterprise. Hundreds of interesting characters will be in line. There will be cowboys from some of the most famous western ranches, with champions of the Pendleton round-up, the Calgary stampee and other great wild west gatherings. There will be over fifty cowgirls every one of them a daring rider of wild horses from childhood. There will be scores of Indians, in all the panoply of war bonnets, gay blankets and beaded ornamentation, accompanied by their squaws and papposes. There will be reckless riders from Cossack land, bull fighters and lariat throwers from Mexico, and more other strange and curious people than have ever before. It is declared, been seen in a single street display. With all this there will be what is said to be an unusually notable exhibition of fine horses in the gorgeous tableaux section, which serves to illustrate in a series of living pictures scenes and incidents in the stirring days of the pioneers. Ten kinds of music will enliven the line, and the oldest genuine stage coach in existence will be driven by one of the most famous of the old time overland mail drivers.

The parade will be preliminary to what is expected to prove one of the most interesting and complete wild west exhibitions ever seen in this city. A performance of infinite variety is promised. Col. Zack Mulhall, the famous Oklahoma rancher and founder of the town of Mulhall, and his equally famous daughters, Lucile

CHESTER H. TERRELL WILL NOT ENTER AGREEMENT.

The Times received the following: San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 24.—On September 17th a report was sent out from Austin stating that a gentleman residing in Austin, enter the race for governor and that in the event he announced his candidacy, it was expected that I would retire from the race for governor.

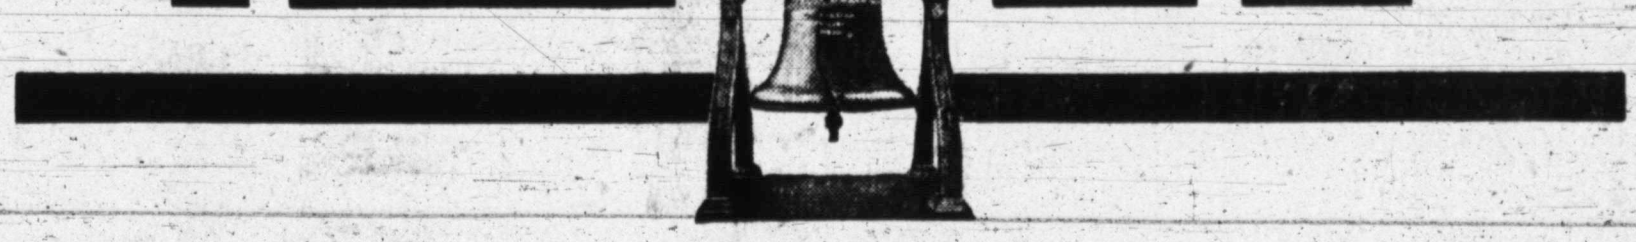

I beg to say that I announced my candidacy after mature deliberation, and I will neither withdraw nor submit my name to any caucus. The statement sent out from Austin was manufactured by some who are opposed to me and who would like to see a partisan caucus select a candidate for governor.

So far as I am concerned, I believe the proper place for the democrats to select their nominee is in the democratic primaries next July, and the question as to whether or not I will be the democratic nominee will be settled there and not by a few people who select themselves as a committee to decide who shall make the race. Very truly yours, and George, will give a series of remarkable exhibitions with the lariat, and illustrate in an exciting way the ranch method of controlling wild horses. A big band of cowboys and cowgirls will give a genuine round-up with Texas steers and incidentally contribute a few exhilarating experiments in broncho busting. There will be border dramas in which the Indians will be picturesquely utilized, and Mexicans and Cossacks will contribute to the general strenuousness of the big show. As an extra feature of sensational effectiveness, there is an auto polo game, with four racing machines and expert players. Performances begin at 2:15 and 8:15.
CHESTER H. TERRELL.

Make Your Children's School Work A Pleasure This Fall

Imagine, if you please, your own discomfort in trying to work in an ill-fitting pair of shoes. Your children exert themselves very strenuously, especially at school. As a rule boys and girls don't growl about foot trouble. Their fancy begins and ends with exterior appearance of shoes. Therein lies the danger. A shoe salesman bent on selling, regardless, might do permanent injury to a child's feet.

Selz Waukenphast and Liberty Bell shoes for boys and girls are manufactured over foot form lasts by skilled workmen, using the same effort and care that characterizes Selz as a positive leader in the shoe manufacturing industry of the world. They are sold exclusively in this store and fitted by men who know how. This appeals to most people who give such matters serious thought.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY IN JUDGE SPEER CASE.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Taking of testimony in the case of United States District Judge Emory Speer of

HAVE A CLEANING PLANT OF YOUR OWN

For the removal of little stains or the regular cleaning of wearing apparel the most sensible and economical plan is to establish your own cleaning plant. The expense of cleaning your possessions is gratifyingly small in comparison with the bills that amount up on your list to an alarming degree. There is no delay and a quick ability to remove all dirt, which you will remember is "matter out of place," will insure a prebrilliantly fresh wardrobe. If you are noted for faultlessly white gloves, shoes, and accessories, you are either an owner of a good bank account or you are your own cleaner. It is for the woman with limited means that this article is written.

That spot of grease on your dress or blouse is a telling note against your carefulness in matters of dress. There is really no excuse for it. Purchase five or ten cents' worth of French chalk. This will last a long time and will give a delightful sensation of security, you know that it is on hand. Take the garment and place the spot over a piece of blotting paper. Over the material sprinkle the French chalk and place a piece of blotting paper over it. With a warm iron press the paper, down over the material. The French chalk absorbs the grease by the action of the heat and the excess is absorbed by the blotter.

Spots From Silk.

An excellent method for removing grease from silk is to down over the equal parts of French chalk and fuller's earth with either turpentine or water. Apply this to the spots and allow it to dry on for a day or two. Brush off and you will find that the grease spot has been removed. The greater number of grease stains may be removed by solvents. Alcohol, ether, chloroform or gasoline are the ordinary solvents and should not be used near a fire or intense heat. Apply with a piece of the same material if you can and rub from the outside of the grease spot in toward the center to prevent the spreading of the piece of material which you are cleaning.

Machine oil is not an organic grease. It can be removed while fresh, with cold water and pure white soap.

For Wagon Grease.

Wagon grease contains a great quantity of graphite. This can be removed by applying lard, which will combine with the graphite and the two can then be removed with warm water and white soap. If you are fortunate enough to find vaseline stains as soon as they have been placed on material, remove them with turpentine. If they are overlooked and boiled into the fabric, there is a very little hope of removing them.

Have you ever counted up your glove-cleaning bill. It is far greater than you suspect. Here is a cheap answer to your puzzle:

Buy a quart of more of gasoline and keep in a cool place, of course. When you need to clean your gloves, place them on the regular wooden glove forms, if you have them, or your hands if you do not own the structure. With an ordinary hair-brush make a suds of pure soap and gasoline in a basin and scrub the gloves with it. Rinse in pure gasoline and hang in the air to dry. You will be delighted at the snowy whiteness of the gloves. Count the cost.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pioneer Celebration at Walla Walla

Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 25.—The old pioneer days of the west when it was really wild and woolly were re-enacted here today when "Frontier Day" celebration began. Indian war dances, spectacular "battles" between Indians and plainsmen, attacks on immigrant caravans and "prairie schooler" feets by Redskins, wild horse riding and racing and other feats of horsemanship better than any circus ever showed, were some of the numbers on the program witnessed by many thousands from Washington and contiguous states. Broncho busting, steer roping, "bull-dogging the steer" and dozens of events in which cow-boys will participate also were on the program. Cash prizes and valuable trophies are offered in every event. A notable feature of the celebration will be a reproduction of the massacre by Indians in 1847, of Dr. Marcus Whitman, famous pioneer Congregational missionary, and eleven of his followers. Three hundred full blooded Nez Perce Indians encamped on the grounds will "commit the 1913 massacre." Another feature will be a three hour battle in the most primitive portions of this section between two bands of Indians in aborigine regalia.

Georgia, for alleged misconduct in office, will be begun by a subcommittee of congress about November 15. Chairman Clayton of the House judiciary committee announced late yesterday.

Mr. Clayton expects to send the subpoena to Macon, Ga., the jurist's home, to take Judge Speer's testimony. He is desirous of presenting it to the House before the new session starts in December.

Cement As A Road Making Material

With the adoption of the new character of road commissioners of Wichita Falls will probably do more street paving, and while we are thinking about street paving and road building the following from a correspondent to the Outlook is of timely interest.

There has been evolved by the board of road commissioners of Iyavne county, Michigan, Edward N. Hines, chairman, a highway that has cost for maintenance during the past five years less than $5 per mile per year. A striking illustration of the economic significance of this achievement is that we are to build 500 miles of ordinary stone or macadam highway and 500 miles of the Michigan type of road, the work to be done at the rate of 100 miles a year during a period of five years, and that repairs will not be required on either type of road for two years. Beginning, then, at the third year, and estimating maintenance costs for the Michigan type at $25 per mile per year, which it will be noted, is five times more than it has really cost, the total maintenance costs on 500 miles of this road would, at the expiration of seven years, be only $37,500. In the case of macadam, basing costs on the New York and New Jersey figures, which have exceeded $900 per mile per year, repair costs would reach the enormous total of $1,350,000.

This amazing difference ceases to be astounding, however, when the construction of the Michigan type of road is explained. It is a simple proceeding, unattended with secrecy or patents, a precedent every community is at liberty to follow. It can best be explained in this way: Suppose we were to pour over a highway a molten mass of bronze and that it could be so controlled as to settle into the required contour of a road some six inches thick. It would last forever. The streets of ten would be negligible. The Wayne county road builders poured over the previously shaped and rolled roadbed a wet and mushy mass of cement, sand and stone, which hardened into imperishable rock. Just before it hardened the surface was broomed from side to side to give a texture that keeps horses and motor cars from slipping. These roads can of themselves accumulate neither mud nor dust. They improve with age, a characteristic of concrete known to every engineer and chemist.

The Romans built roads that have lasted for centuries. Scientists discovered that their extreme durability lay in their binding material, instead of holding these roads together with clay, rock dust and other sandy displaced binding material, such as we use on macadam roads, the Romans used puzzolan, a form of cement that has also kept intact through centuries their wonderful buildings. The same principle governs the construction of the Michigan type of road. In Bellefontaine, Ohio, they tried cement as a binder eighteen years ago, notwithstanding its then high cost and the result has been that the Bellefontaine road during that long period has cost only $25 per mile per year for repairs.

In an address delivered in the city of Pittsburg in December, 1912, before an audience of engineers, architects and builders, Mr. Hines made the following statement: "With more than sixty miles of concrete road in Wayne county some of it in its fourth year, we have spent less than $200 on its surface for maintenance, and this is what makes this type of road the cheapest of all good roads."

Christoval—A number of San Angelo and Fort Stockton men are interested in the development of the mineral wells at this place and are planning to organize a $100,000 stock company. It is understood that a large tourist hotel will be among the improvements and also another bath house.

SLEEP

During sleep the necessary body-repairs are carried on in the "human workshop."

Anything that prevents sound sleep at the proper time (at night) will sooner or later prevent "smooth running" during the day.

That "drowsy feeling" in the forenoon (when everyone should feel bright and fit) is often caused by want of sound, refreshing sleep the night before.

Very often the habitual use of coffee is back of sleepless nights.

Drowsiness during the Day May be overcome

Quit coffee absolutely and use well-made

POSTUM

It contains the vital phosphate from wheat required by Nature for rebuilding the tissue calls in muscle, brain and nerves.

It is pure and free from the insomnia-producing drug, caffeine, found in coffee.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with the addition of cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly.

Postum induces restful nights and successful days

FALLING OFF IN IMPORTS OF COUNTRY DURING AUGUST

Washington, Sept. 25.—Although imports for the month of August fell off when compared with figures for the same month last year, they surpassed figures of any other August on record, according to the department of commerce, which today made public statistics of the foreign trade in the United States during last month. Imports for the month totaled $137,704,195, while exports aggregated $187,812,636. The figures for the same month last year were $134,756,770 and $167,844,871.

For the eight months ending with August imports to this country were valued at $1,156,575,670; exports amounted to $1,515,088,772.

FOOTBALL TEAMS OF MIDDLE WEST

WISCONSIN, CHICAGO AND MINNESOTA FAVORITES FOR THE CONFERENCE TITLE

NOTRE DAME IS STRONG

Teams of All Colleges are Now at Practice Hammer and Tongue

BY HAL SHERIDAN. (Written for the United Press.)

New York, Sept. 25.—Somewhat behind the Eastern teams in getting started, but now right-down-to-business, there is more footballing done in the West today than a busy boy with a movie camera could lump in a week. The Conference teams got down to practice September 20, and they are now at it hammer and tongue.

Western football critics, taking stock of the material on the scene have it doped out that Wisconsin, Chicago and Minnesota, in the order named, should be played favorites in the fight for the Conference title. Outside the Conference, Michigan and Notre Dame are certain to have eleven on a par with the best in the West.

Coach Bill Juneau, of Wisconsin, has seventy candidates from whom to pick his eleven. Among them is Butler, all-American tackle last fall. Three other eligible this year were picked as members of the all-Western team in 1912. The Badger line of 1912 is almost intact, and several of last year's back field substitutes are available this year for regular work.

Minnesota starts the season in great shape. Nearly every member of the old whirlwind, smashing 1912 eleven reported to Coach Williams, and a squad of recruits from last year's freshmen team is depended upon to give the necessary additional strength.

Purdue looks to Coach Andy Smith, who succeeded the late "Keeckie" Moll, to produce a more successful team this year. Six linemen and three back field veterans were in squad that answered Coach Smith's first call, which leaves but two places to be filled by recruits.

Eight veterans and a squad of exceedingly light substitutes is the nucleus about D. H. Grady, of Northwestern, must build his eleven. There were recruits aplenty turned out for first practice, but they were unusually light and it took just about that first practice for Coach Grady to see that he's up against it. For these obvious reasons Northwestern is not regarded by the critics as a serious contender for the Conference title.

At Indiana, the prospects are unusually bright. Coach Sheldon, has his 1912 eleven intact except for two men who graduated. He has a lot of promising material in the largest squad which has ever turned out at Indiana. Iowa has last year's backfield and all veteran linemen excepting Captain Hanson and Trickey, who graduated but Coach Hawley isn't doing over-much cheering right now. Iowa looks now like it would have the lightest eleven in the Conference.

WHAT THE FEDERAL INCOME TAX MEANS.

(From Boston Globe) Snow will be flying in a few months and with it will come a new form of taxation. This will be the federal income tax, which is now in the hands of the Senate.

This tax is bundled up in the same package with the new tariff law. The purpose of the tax is not to add to the revenue of the government, but to replace revenue which will be lost. The new tariff, having lower customs schedules, will bring in less money. Hence the income tax.

Years ago persons of conservative mind see in the taxation of incomes a plan to rob the rich and even to place a damper on hope, ambition and progress. The idea, however, did not come from a popular cry for the spoliation of the rich. It was started in England in 1799, when the aristocracy ruled Parliament, being first imposed by William Pitt to meet the expenses of the war with France. At the Peace of Amiens it was abolished, only to be taken up again in different form in 1863 and to continue for 50 years.

When England decided on a free trade policy in 1842 and some revenue producing legislation had to be enacted to take the place of the abolished tariff, Sir Robert Peel reintroduced the income tax. It has been collected in England since 1842 and to continue for 50 years. The British income tax not only is graded, but also differentiates between forms of income, and even the rates vary from year to year.

In England the government estimates how much money will be needed for each fiscal year. This estimate is called the budget. Then the Chancellor of the Exchequer, our secretary of the treasury, figures out what the rate of taxation shall be to meet that estimate. The rate on incomes is lowered. This is an advantage of the income tax. It can be controlled. It works somewhat like the fixing of the tax rate in a Massachusetts town.

In England the rate varies from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent. All incomes below $800 are exempt. In 1864 Italy introduced an income tax. Germany adopted one in 1891. Holland passed a tax on incomes of corporations and associations and on citizens in 1893. The Dutch law does not tax the holders of securities.

The idea is not new in Congress. Alexander P. Dallas, secretary of the treasury under Madison, tried to have such a tax enacted in 1814, but failed. The Civil War forced all incomes under $5000 were taxed 5 per cent. There were certain exemptions. All incomes over $5000 were taxed 10 per cent with no exemptions. In spite of protests this law remained on the books until 1872.

During the second Cleveland administration an income tax was enacted, taxing all incomes over $4000 at the rate of 2 per cent. By a close vote in the supreme court it was declared unconstitutional. Since then we have passed an amendment to the constitution and soon we will have a law.

What has been the experience of those who have tried the income tax? They have found that if it could be enforced it was a success. England enforces it by taxing incomes at their source. The States have failed because their acts do not provide for the proper machinery to enforce the law and therefore it puts a premium on dishonesty. The federal government failed during the Civil War because it could not enforce the law.

W.C.T.U. ATTACKS IMMEDIATE DRESS

CHICAGO ORGANIZATION BEGINS CAMPAIGN TO DRIVE X-RAY GOWN TO UNDERWORLD

MRS. McDONALD LEADS

Would Enlist 300,000 Members of W. C. T. U. in a Nation-Wide Campaign

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Three hundred thousand women-members of the W. C. T. U. working with as many more club women all over the United States, will attempt to drive the alluring, the "X-ray" gown and the deolite dress back within the borders of the Paris under world, if Mrs. Almema Parker McDonald has her way.

Mrs. McDonald, who is president of the Cook County W. C. T. U., with a membership of 1,500 women, laid the plans for the "purity" campaign before the Cook county members when they assembled at the opening of a two-day convention here today. She asked the adoption of a resolution pledging every member to join the mammoth "big sister" movement to bring about reform in women's fashions, to enlist the support of as many other W. C. T. U. organizations and women's clubs as possible.

"Something must be done," said Mrs. McDonald, "to combat the present tendency toward indecency in women's clothes. If the present fashion of dresses continues we need not be surprised if we arrive at a period where young girls will parade the streets wearing nothing at all. We have tried in a quiet way through purity leagues to influence women to dress modestly, but a five minute's walk down any street in Chicago or New York will convince anyone that the influence of the purity leagues hasn't been very far-reaching. And I regret to say that the daughters of the W. C. T. U. members have been some of the offenders."

"So hardened have we become to the present styles that a new kind of exposure becomes commonplace. A tight skirt no longer draws attention, neither does a slit that reveals a girl's ankle. A girl must wear a dress that exposes her knee or bares her chest so exposure of the body is to attract attention on the street. The Board of Education in Chicago has refused to let us do any work among school girls, and high school girls more than any others suffer from the mania for immediate dressing. Many a girl who needs an education goes to work for starvation wages because her parents can't afford to buy her slit skirts, thin silk hose and gauzy waists such as other high school girls wear. And some of the mothers of high school girls seem to delight in displaying, by making you would think they would want to conceal under the most voluminous draperies."

The resolution introduced by Mrs. McDonald, who left the chair to address the convention, denounced the present styles in women's clothes and the practice of enameling the cheeks and proposed that all W. C. T. U. organizations be asked to take up at once the campaign against immediate apparel.

CHURCHMEN HEAR BALD JACK ROSE

NOTED GUNMAN DELIVERS LECTURE IN EPISCOPAL CHURCH RECENTLY

MRS. THAW IN LIMELIGHT

Husband's Recent Doings Have Served to Advertise Her—Other News of New York

New York, Sept. 24.—Popularity rests on astonishing foundations in these bizarre days when all roads of crime, misfortune and adventure seem to lead to the vaudeville stage or the lecture platform which are first cousins.

The other night they had a lecture in the Episcopal Church at South Norwalk, and policemen guarded all the entrances, though the affair was under the auspices of clergymen. The reason? "Bald Jack" Rose, the New York gambler, chief "squealer" of the Herman Rosenthal murder case was the lecturer and he professed to be afraid that some of the New York gunmen would try to "get him" as he occupied the church pulpit.

"What makes up the underworld" was the shiny pated crook's topic and the lecture was listened to by 500 of the churchmen, their wives, daughters and sons. The lecture was to raise money to pay off the church debt, and Bald Jack Rose donated his services. Gambler Herman Rosenthal was assassinated in Forty-third street in the glare of Broadway in June of 1912 and the killing started a police graft scandal that is still festering. On the testimony of Rose that he hired the four gunmen who shot Rosenthal and escaped in a touring car, that he transmitted to them the plans for the murder and that he paid them for the butchery. Police Lieut. Charles Becker and the four gangsters, "Lefty Louie," "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey Lewis" and "Dago Frank" are now on the life side of the little green door in the Sing Sing death house, awaiting electrocution.

Rose went scot free and has been a hero ever since. He has lectured in New York and surrounding towns. A serial story by him, telling of his sordid life as a gambler and thug of the underworld took up two whole pages every Sunday for weeks in one of the New York newspapers. It was Jack Rose's own refusal and not the fault of the sensational managers that the "squealer" did not go on the vaudeville stage.

Another scintillating example of amazing popularity is Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, whose husband's thrilling fight for liberty in Canada and New England has been of intense public interest more than a month. For weeks Mrs. Thaw has been the headliner at Hammerstein's vaudeville roof garden in a dancing turn and her popularity is entirely due to Thaw's doings.

Even the most lenient critics admit that Mrs. Thaw is only a mediocre dancer, and that her partner, Jack Clifford guides her through all the steps and that if she were other than the "heroine" of the Stanford White murder, she could not play the big time in vaudeville. The public had almost forgotten Mrs. Thaw until her husband made his melodramatic escape from the asylum but her press agent was quick to seize the opportunity and the public stood for it.

Thinking people could see no possible legitimate connection between Thaw's doings and those of his estranged wife. Mrs. Thaw's press agent gave out pages of interviews and the roof garden turned 'em away nightly. Such is fame.

Indications of a tilting of "the lid" lately has delighted those Gothamites who trail Broadway. When the late Mayor Gaynor left for Europe the acting mayor immediately granted 23 all night drinking licenses to Coney Island restaurants for Mardi Gras week. When the late Mayor Gaynor was appealed to for such licenses, he refused them, remarking that those "who could not guzzle enough before 1 a. m., would better not guzzle at all."

About the same time at least two of the White Light resorts near Longacre Square which were forced to close for lack of business during Police Inspector Dywer's rigid enforcement of the 1 a. m. closing law, reopened for business.

The managers, when they closed, explained that the early evening patronage was not sufficient to enable them to continue and their reopening gave the impression that the vigilance of the police has been somewhat relaxed.

Rumors of several other reopenings of night restaurants have been current in the "upper tenderloin" since Mayor Gaynor's death. Formerly the police were under strict orders to keep people moving on Broadway in the neighborhood of the 40's and so well did they carry out their orders that for a time men were not allowed to stand in front of hotels and on several occasions "standees" were arrested and fined a dollar in the Men's Night Court, but nowadays men may be seen as thick as flies, standing along the curbs and around hotel and restaurant entrances from Thirty-fifth to Forty-sixth streets.

The police have even abandoned their perfunctory "keep 'em moving, gents." Altogether the Great White Wayfarers see a ray of hope.

A Mammoth Auto Show at Texas State Fair.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 24.—A mammoth automobile show will be one of the many interesting features of the Texas State Fair, which opens in this October 18th and closes November 2nd. Practically every make of car and auto truck sold in Texas will be exhibited in the new automobile building at Fair Park. The officials of the different automobile manufacturing concerns in Detroit and other northern points are making tentative plans for a special train to leave Detroit at an early date, so as to arrive here in ample time for the opening of the fair.

Mademoiselle Ruth will give the Wichita audience a chance to approve of some of her high class classic dancing at Lamar Airdome tonight. Miss Ruth gives her spring time dance in a very beautiful manner and in her gestures one might fancy her pulling the blossoms from the trees plucking the tiny violet or reaching to the early lark as it carols its springtime song. Really she is clever. Her attire is very much the picture in coloring in pink caught up with apple blossoms. The draperies are arranged in a way that the popular-slit skirt is brought to mind for the skirt alluringly separates at one side. Mr. Armond has a number of new song hits, both grave and gay. His singing has won him a warm spot in the hearts of the nat-chez fans.

Make Your Children's School Work A Pleasure This Fall

Imagine, if you please, your own discomfort in trying to work in an ill-fitting pair of shoes. Your children exert themselves very strenuously, especially at school. As a rule boys and girls don't grow about-foot trouble. Their fancy begins and ends with exterior appearance of shoes. Therein lies the danger. A shoe salesman bent on selling, regardless, might do permanent injury to a child's feet.

Selz Waukenphast and Liberty Bell shoes for boys and girls are manufactured over foot form lasts by skilled workmen, using the same effort and care that characterizes Selz as a positive leader in the shoe manufacturing industry of the world. They are sold exclusively in this store and fitted by men who know how. This appeals to most people who give such matters serious thought.

VALE OPENS FOOTBALL SEASON.
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 24.—Yale University opens her 1913 football schedule here today in the annual try-out against Connecticut Wesleyan University. It was the first appearance of both teams on the gridiron, this season in a formal contest, and the Blue, as usual, expected little trouble in disposing of the Middletown eleven. For in the many years that Yale and Wesleyan have opened their respective seasons with the "Wednesday game" the times have been rare when Wesleyan has even scored.

ARE LEAVING IT ALL TO WOODROW

PEOPLE LOOKING WITH STRONG FAITH TO WILSON AND TO BRYAN

CONGRESSMEN ARE WILLING

None Have Found any Real Cause to Fight Administration Legislative Program

BY BURTON K. STANDISH. (Written for the United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 24.—Leaving it all to Wilson is about the easiest road to popularity for a congressman in congress just now, if the nature of their advice from home be a safe guide. The folks back in Oregon and up in New Hampshire and away down in Texas are for once in their lives forgetting to complain. If they write or wire to "their congressman" at all it is to ask for a farm bulletin or a cook book or seeds. They have "passed the politics up to Woodrow."

When the newspapers were fairly hurrying with headlines and black face type on the Mexican peril, one of the leading democratic senators from a northern industrial district confided that he had received just three letters on the Mexican question during the summer. Another had heard about it from a constituent who wanted to get a consular job on the border. Comparing notes in the cloakroom the senator discovered they need not "view Mexico with alarm." They could let Wilson do that.

Blind to Pictured Danger

Before the Huerta unpleasantness there was the tariff tragedy. Wise politicians in congress, and especially those whose political faith was founded on the dire results they believed would follow letting down the high tariff bars, prepared to receive a few hundred letters of protest each morning, and a sheaf of telegrams at lunch. But the lobby inquiry stopped the sugar letters and the ordinary folk back home evidently forgot to write a line. Tariffs went down like wheat before a six-horse reaper, but there were no loud yells nor sounds of sobbing in the form of increase in the letters in the congressional mail. Except in a few cases, which looked suspiciously like the small boy who, fretful as a hornet, tries to cry but can't squeeze out the necessary and alibi tears, the people whom the tariff operators pictured as being outrageously sandbagged, robbed, insulted and driven to the poorhouse gates, were apparently blind to their pictured danger.

Some democrats were suspicious of this public unresponsiveness at first. They wanted to get a lot of notes from home applauding them if none came condemning them. But by and by they came to the conclusion that the folks back home had a method in their trustful silence. Congress figured that the back home folks were holding Wilson and Bryan responsible. All right! Congress was glad to oblige. If the home folks wanted to saddle this responsibility and the trustfulness on Woodrow, why their servants on Capitol Hill had no objections.

Watching Spotlight Characters

And in this same spirit many a democrat who knows he knows very little about the currency question is facing the debate on that subject with a profound and peaceful calm. Wilson is on the job. Bryan is at hand. The people are watching the spotlight characters, and they are too busy to write. Besides, there's still a chance that either the Giants or Athletics will be beaten out for the pennant in their respective leagues, and the fight between Cleveland and Washington for second place in the American League is a real thriller. Opposition parties are fighting each other with one eye on Wilson. It's really queer, but it's an admitted fact that nobody has yet developed the mood or that they think is a real cause to fight Woodrow's policy.

So up and down the corridors of the Capitol and the two big white office buildings that flank Capitol Row runs the password to official and congressional peace: "Put it up to Wilson; the home folks have."

Critics Point Out Errors

Captious critics are finding fault with the Capitol now. Most of them are peevish at the great oil paintings that adorn the walls of the rotunda of the legislative house. Out of the eight great allegorical paintings which hang there, it is now pointed out that five are defective either in technique or in regard to nature or historical fact. Here are some of the mistakes which have been pointed out by the critics: The figure of a girl in one has three hands. The figure of an Indian chief has a foot on which are three toes. Flags on Columbus' boat are blowing in three different ways. General Washington is shown at the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown—which he wasn't. The signing of the Declaration of Independence is given as July 4, 1776, when as a matter of fact it wasn't signed until August 2, 1776. So far no official notice has been taken of these apparent defects in the great paintings which are one of the big show features for Washington visitors. They have all hung in the great Rotunda so long every one is waiting for some one else to start the ball rolling.

ITALIAN ROAD MENDER'S GREAT AMBITION

Son of Duffy Italy Wants to Sing and Lay Before Presidents Family

Windsor, Vt., Sept. 24.—Phillippo Carsons, a road mender, who came from Italy three months ago, bringing the family accordion and a sweet voice, has just developed a great ambition. It is to play his accordion and sing his love songs to the president's family. Already Phillippo has played and sung to many of the rich summer residents hereabout, trudging up the hills to his home when his day's work is done, and trudging back again after he has amused his listeners.

FLANAGAN

It is to play his accordion and sing his love songs to the president's family. Already Phillippo has played and sung to many of the rich summer residents hereabout, trudging up the hills to his home when his day's work is done, and trudging back again after he has amused his listeners.

Marion Pizdo, his friend who can talk English, explained, "He likes to sing to President's girl what 'got married soon." And Phillippo when this was translated to him, nodded brightly, and in a powerful contralto voice, "sanga da song" of the lover. Phillippo came to Boston from Italy three months ago. He was sent to Windsor to work on "Wilson road," named in honor of the president. It is the road over which the Wilson family must always pass when they go to and from town. In the meantime, he is singing his way into the hearts of the summer residents, and laying by the money he is earning to "learna de Englees." For Phillippo has other ambitions. His father and his father's father were musicians and Phillippo wants to play in an orchestra.

New Feature For Fall Stock Show. Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 22.—A new feature has been added to the National Feeders and Breeders' show to be conducted here in November, which will attract horsemen from all parts of the country. The new feature is planned by the management of the show and they will offer $1000 in cash prizes for a single event for five gaited saddle horses.

The new event will be known as the "Horse Show Classic" and will consume fifteen minutes time. It is anticipated that through the "Horse Show Classic" the very best products of famous breeders of the horses of Kentucky, Missouri, Texas and other States where the industry has been on the up grade will be brought here. My motto: Miller sells it for less.
