TAKE ACTION FOR GLOVE FACTORY

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE VOTES TO ACCEPT PROPOSITION SUBMITTED BY HILBURN.

CHARTER NOT ENDORSED

Directors Decline to Deviate From Precedent in Connection With New City Charter.

The Chamber of Commerce stuck to precedent this morning and declined to put itself on record in favor of the charter which was approved by the people Saturday. The directors have an unwritten rule that where there is material opposition to a matter of this kind, they will not take sides. The only deviation has been in bond issue elections in which the opposition is nominal.

This morning, when J. B. Marlow brought up the charter indorsement matter, it was decided, without ever coming to a vote, that an indorsement of the charter would not only violate precedent, but that it might operate, in some quarters, to injure the charter's chances rather than aid them. Consequently no action was taken by the directors.

The weekly session, held this morning, accepted one of the glove factory propositions, furthered preparations for the farm exhibit Saturday, took steps to revive a local industry which is now idle and decided to hold a public membership meeting sometime within the next few weeks.

Loan For Glove Factory.
The three glove factory propositions submitted by Hilburn Brothers of Dalhart were discussed at length, all the directors favoring accepting the third proposition, to lend the plant $10,000 at eight per cent on a $25,000 certificate. It developed that while the banks did not care for this loan, as a business proposition, they would be willing to share it on notes backed by local business men, each indorser to be liable for a stated amount.

Headman pointed out that the industry would be a valuable one, with every prospect of success and that it would be much more agreeable all around to sign a note, with security, than to dig up the cash for a bonus as had been done in the case several other local industries, and he thought little difficulty would be experienced in getting the notes accepted. It was voted then to accept the third proposition and refer the matter back to the committee for final action.

J. B. Marlow brought up the matter of a local manufacturing plant which was idle because of the owners' inability to finance it, and he suggested that the organization might secure someone to purchase or lease it. This matter was set for the next regular meeting and in the meantime a definite proposition from the owners of the property will be sought, so that the matter can be taken up on a definite basis.

The charter was then brought up, with results as above stated.

Dinners For Club Boys.
At the request of J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent, an appropriation was made to provide dinners for the corn and cotton club boys who will be here for the exhibit Saturday. Mr. Campbell said that he had received encouraging reports and hoped for a good attendance and a splendid exhibit.

Membership Meeting Planned.
Myles O'Reilly brought up the good roads question and suggested that the aid of the Automobile Club be enlisted in securing some road work. This led to the question of whether the club or not and from that the topic shifted to the need for general action by the Chamber of Commerce as a whole along this and other lines. Mr. Huff and Mr. Marlow favored a general membership meeting sometime in the next thirty days and this was agreed upon. A committee consisting of J. B. Marlow, A. H. Carrigan and Myles O'Reilly was appointed to select speakers and make other arrangements.

In discussing the good roads matter, Mr. O'Reilly called attention to the fact that many other Texas cities have well organized and active good roads associations that are getting results and he did not believe Wichita Falls ought to lag behind the procession. Those present at today's meeting were R. E. Huff, N. Henderson, H. B. Hines, Myles O'Reilly, J. B. Marlow, J. M. Bell, J. C. Strauss, A. L. Huey, A. H. Carrigan, M. J. Gardner, F. H. Pennington, C. W. Snider, directors; E. F. Loney, J. W. Campbell.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR FALL FAIR AT BEAUMONT.

Beaumont, Tex., Sept. 30.—The directors of the Southeast Texas Fair which will be conducted here from November 15th to 22nd, are making elaborate preparations for a big exhibition. A committee has been appointed to endeavor to secure a troop or more of cavalry and a mounted band from the barracks at Galveston. Many requests are being received daily asking for space in the exhibit hall. Indications point to this being one of the most successful exhibitions ever held in this section of the state.

TEACHING FARMERS BY MOTION PICTURES

Poultry Raising Instruction Being Given By State of Missouri By This Method

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 30.—Missouri is today engaged in the role of instructor in poultry farming. State authorities are teaching the farmers the best way of raising poultry, especially by incubation. By means of the inevitable moving pictures which are being shown in sections of the state where poultry raising is engaged in, the state is teaching every detail from the gathering of the eggs to placing them in the incubators, care of the eggs during the incubation period and on down to care of the chick at hatching time and until it has grown to a full-sized chicken. The farmers of the state have shown great interest in the moving picture series. A lecturer is in charge and ready to answer all questions that the farmers may ask at the conclusion of the instructive picture show. Every place at which the instructions have been given so far the farmers have been enthusiastic in their commendation of the system.

LABEL ON CIGARS TO TELL ORIGIN

Can Be Called "Pure Havana" Only When They Meet the Full Requirements

Washington, Sept. 30.—Smokers who enjoy a good "Havana" cigar, soon will need only to look on the label to ascertain whether the tobacco employed in making the cigar is genuine imported Havana goods.

If the filler of the cigar is Porto Rican goods with a Havana wrapper or American or Porto Rican filler with an imitation Havana wrapper, it will be so stated on the label. All real Havana goods will be bonded by the government in a manner similar to whisky goods.

Such is the provision of the Berriman bill, which probably will be signed by President Wilson on Tuesday. The bill provides that all cigars sold in the United States shall bear a stamp to indicate their character, origin of the tobacco from which made and place of manufacture.

Drawn By Tampa Man.
The bill, which was an amendment to tariff bill, was introduced in the Senate by Senator Duncan, U. Fletcher and in the House by Congressman S. M. Sparkman. It was drawn up by Edward C. Berriman of Tampa, Fla. The text of the amendment reads: "Provided, That cigars manufactured in whole or tobacco imported from one country, made and manufactured in such manufacturing warehouses, may be withdrawn from home consumption upon the payment of the duties under such regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, and the payment of the internal revenue tax accruing thereon in their condition as withdrawn and such cigars shall be stamped to indicate their character, origin of tobacco from which made and place of manufacture."

The passage of the amendment will force manufacturers of supposedly Havana cigars—and it is said that of the 400,000,000 annually made in the United States, 2,000,000 are wrapped with Porto Rican or American wrappers—40 label their goods in a manner similar to the provisions of the pure food act.

Dingley Bill Caused Change.
Before the passage of the Dingley bill in 1894, which advanced the duty on cigars made in Cuba to $4.50 a pound, plus 25 per cent, and lowered the duty on Cuban grown tobacco 35 cents a pound on gross and $1.35 a pound on net, 75 per cent of all genuine Havana cigars consumed in the United States were made in Cuba. The passage of the Dingley bill reversed these conditions and today 75 per cent of the Havana cigars are made in the United States and 25 per cent come from Cuba. The duty on tobacco from other foreign countries including Porto Rico, was the same as tobacco from Cuba. When the United States took Porto Rico the duty was cancelled and the tobacco entered the United States free.

80,000,000 VICIOUS GERMS FOR HARVARD STUDY

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 30.—Eighty billion filament germs, lodged in the "wings" of Ecuador and Peru, are being shipped to Harvard college, according to word received from Dr. Andrew Watson Sellards of Johns Hopkins university and three Harvard professors who have just returned from an expedition to South America.

The professors have successfully landed their prey in this country duty free as "South American curiosities," and have shipped them to the Harvard bacteriological laboratory, where they will proceed to make a scientific study of the germs at short range. In America the 80,000,000,000 germs are pellagra, orange fever, yellow fever, bubonic plague, typhoid fever, a collection known as "uta," which is really South American typhoid, and the dreaded black water fever.

SULZER BUCKED BIG FOUR SLUMP

WALL STREET BROKER TELLS OF GOVERNOR'S LOSSES IN RAILROAD STOCKS.

HE BORROWED $180,383

Bought Stocks at 81 and 82 and They Slumped to 52, Broker Testified.

By Associated Press.
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Governor Sulzer is taking a hard fall. For Wall Street brokers, the sum of $180,383 on Dec. 30 last, incident to alleged speculation in stocks, according to testimony at the trial today by Melville E. Fuller of that firm.

Fuller said Sulzer opened an account with the firm on March 18, 1910. The first entry was for the sale of 100 shares of Big Four railroad stock and another sale of 100 shares on May 17. The account was then closed and reopened in June, 1910, when the firm bought 100 shares of Big Four at $0 and 100 shares at $1, on which the firm "loaned" Mr. Sulzer $60,000. On July 2, 1910, Big Four had dropped to 72, wiping out the governor's margin when the firm called for an additional deposit.

Attorney Krasel followed the fluctuating course of the stock deals with the account showed that Sulzer kept going down and in order to keep his margins good Mr. Sulzer kept depositing against it, not cash, but more stock. On Oct. 1, 1910, the market value of the securities on deposit had dropped to $53,000 and interest had been added. On Oct. 1, 1910, Mr. Sulzer owed the firm $50,600. In the meantime, Mr. Fuller had been calling for more margin and finally Mr. Sulzer paid $10,000 in cash Nov. 1, 1912. Mr. Sulzer bought more stock at $2 and paid more margin.

It appeared the books credited Mr. Sulzer with a loan of $40,261 on Dec. 30, 1912.

"The managers believe," said Krasel, "that this entry was not made under date of Dec. 30," and handed Fuller the book and asked him to total up the amount lent by the firm up to Dec. 30, 1912.

"Don't your books include the $40,261 in the total that you say loaned the governor?" he asked.

"Yes, the total including that was $180,383. The total debit and credit transactions on that date had amounted to $555,978 since Sulzer opened the account," answered Fuller.

Mrs. William Sulzer had borrowed money from the Carnegie Trust company and it was to aid her in financial difficulty that the governor borrowed from the Stock Exchange firm of Harris & Fuller, was the explanation which Fuller gave to the transaction.

TRIPLE VICTORY FOR SULZER

Governor Sulzer yesterday won a triple victory over his accusers at the trial of his impeachment.

Presiding Judge Cullen of the high court barred the introduction of evidence tending to prove that the governor had made a corrupt political bargain with Assemblyman Patrick of Greene county and held that the testimony brought forward to show that he had made similar bargains with Assemblyman Sweet of Oswego county, and Assemblyman Prime of Essex was incompetent.

The legislation had to do in each case with highway and bridge improvements provided for in bills passed by the legislature to which the assemblies were devious of getting the governor's signature. In the Patrick case, however, no charges were brought in this regard. Judge Cullen threw the charge out.

The Sweet and Prime cases were specified in article 7 of the impeachment which the governor borrowed vetoed one and signed the other bill. One assemblyman had failed to support the governor's direct primary bill and the other did so after consulting Sulzer, the managers charged.

Says Governor Wanted to Know.
Assemblyman Sweet testified that when he urged the governor to approve his bill he was asked whether he had voted for the direct primary bill, which had been defeated in the regular session of the legislature.

"I told him I voted against it," said the witness.

The primary bill was to come up again at the extraordinary session in July and the governor wanted to know how Sweet proposed to vote at that time. Sweet said he replied: "According to the bill and in the interest of my district."

"What happened to your bill?" asked Attorney Brackett.

"It was vetoed," replied the witness.

"How did you vote on the primary bill at the regular session?" To this question the defense objected.

"Objection sustained," ruled Judge Cullen. "He has already said he voted against the bill, and if this witness was already against the bill it showed he did not receive the price of a corrupt bargain."

On practically the same grounds Judge Cullen held that the charges in connection with the Prime case were likewise invalid. The difference was that at the regular session of the legislature Prime did not vote at all.

POSTPONEMENT IS VOTED DOWN TODAY

Committee Declines To Await Return of J. L. Jackson Before Taking Up Charter Changes

The charter committee this afternoon refused to postpone action on the charter and after voting down Judge Felder's motion to that effect, proceeded to consideration of the initiative, referendum and recall provisions which are to be inserted.

The committee also voted down, six to two, a motion to change the southern boundary of the new corporation, so as to leave out part of the Wyatt addition. The request for this change was made by Ed Wilson and Mr. Huff moved to grant it. Mr. Bullock moved as a substitute that no change be made in the boundaries and this prevailed, Messrs. Huff and Bell voting no.

Judge Felder moved that the committee postpone further consideration of the charter, saying that J. L. Jackson, who withdrew himself and Mr. Bullock constituted the minority, was out of the city. He said that this minority was "now if never before" entitled to consideration at the hands of the majority, since the minority's views had been indorsed by a large majority of the people.

Replying to this, several members said that the minority had been given all due consideration and they denied that any "minority" existed, since the election. Attention was called to the fact that Mr. Jackson had attended very few sessions of the committee while the charter was being drawn up. Judge Felder's motion was voted down, he being the only one to vote in the affirmative. The committee then proceeded to consideration of the requested amendments.

Frederic H. Robinson of the committee which is arranging for the play disclaims any salacious treatment of the subject and proposes to restrict the performance to persons who are interested in sociological work. The movement contemplated for new state laws in the strike district is likely to break out in the Walsenberg district at any time.

The larger operating companies in the strike district have determined on immediate publication of ejection notice to miners occupying houses owned by the coal companies.

VOTE EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON

FINAL PASSAGE OF TARIFF BILL IN HOUSE MAY COME BY 4 P. M. TODAY.

DEBATE IS IN PROGRESS

Underwood Declares Rates of New Bill Lowest of Any in 75 Years.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 30.—"The rates of the tariff bill as it comes back to the House for approval propose a lower taxation than any tariff bill in the last three-quarters of a century," said Representative Oscar Underwood, democratic leader of the House, in support of the conference report on the tariff bill today.

It had been agreed that four and one-half hours would be allowed for debate on the report and it was expected a vote would be had about 4 o'clock this afternoon, when the report probably will be adopted. Later the cotton futures tax question will be taken up.

"The bill as it is now before the House," continued Mr. Underwood, "is lower in its rates than either the bill that passed the House or the bill that passed the Senate for the House conferees accepted all of the reductions made by the Senate except three or four while the Senate receded from over one-half of its reductions. This tariff bill with its twenty-six per cent average is almost as low as the famous Walker tariff bill which had low duties on liquor and tobacco. This bill places many of the necessities of life on the free list or gives them very low rates of duty."

He said that in contrast with the average tariff of twenty-six per cent ad valorem in the Underwood bill the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff has an average of over forty-six per cent and the Wilson bill, passed by the last democratic administration, had an average of over thirty-nine per cent.

The revenues under the new bill, he declared, would yield a surplus of $18,000,000 over the estimated government expenditures in 1914. He gave the House expert's figures showing that the total revenues of the government would be $1,026,000,000 and the expenditure $1,008,000,000. "After three years of battle, today, the democratic party is prepared to keep its pledge to the American people," he said. "I do not believe there is any danger of this tariff working an injury to the great producing interests of the United States."

Representative Payne, republican of the existing law and leader of the republican conferees, declared the democrats had over-rated the revenues that will be secured under the new bill. He declared American commerce and industry had developed greatly under the existing tariff and that serious disastours set back under the democratic tariff bill.

U. S. TROOPS TO EAGLE PASS

Two Squadrons of Third Cavalry Being Rushed to Border on Special Trains.

By Associated Press.
San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 30.—Two squadrons of the Third U. S. Cavalry and one machine gun platoon are being rushed on three special trains to Eagle Pass this afternoon. No definite reason has been assigned for the hasty dispatch of the troops.

It is rumored that the constitutionalists are preparing to dynamite and burn the town of Piedras Negras in event they are compelled to evacuate it. This may have a bearing on the movement of the troops or they may be intended to take care of the border in case of an engagement between the federals and the constitutionalists.

THE DIGGERS WHO WON'T COME BACK

(By Louise Pond Jewell, in Collier's Weekly.)

"Do you know," said the pretty tourist in the observation car of the Panama railroad, gazing thoughtfully back at the swiftly receding track, "do you know, it makes me sad to look at this splendid roadbed, for I can't help thinking of what it has meant to flesh and blood. Why, they say," she added, with a little, luxurious sigh, "that it has cost—"

"Stop," interrupted the appetitive looking old gentleman in the corner, raising his arm as if to ward off a blow. "If you like to say that, the laying of this railroad has cost a man for every mile, you will be morally responsible for my demise. I have heard that expression exactly 66,000 times so far this tourist season, and one time more would be the last straw—especially as the statement is not true!"

To be true, the railroad would have cost more lives in its construction than were ever engaged in work on it. But it is at least a striking way of suggesting something that is a fact—the lavish pouring out of human lifeblood that has been the price of this great canal of ours.

It is easier to bask in the sunshine of such generalities as this than to produce statistics. It is said that the figures not only would lie if you could get them, but you can't get them! One high in authority in the sanitation department puts the loss of life among the workers of French times at 20,000 to 30,000. Our own official records from the time of the French purchase to the present are misleading, but are as follows:

Year.	Force.	Deaths.
1894	6,213	82 18.26
1905	16,512	427 25.86
1906	28,547	1,105 41.73
1907	39,343	1,132 28.77
1908	43,891	571 13.01
1909	47,167	592 12.54
1910	50,802	558 10.98
1911	48,876	539 22.02
1912	50,892	467 9.18

*Rate per 1,000.
(Compiled from the annual reports of the department of sanitation, Isthmian canal commission.)

This record does not include the women and children belonging to the families of the workers; does not include, of course, those who have gone home to the States—some of them and there died; and does not include the negroes and other foreign employes who died at their homes, unless they were actually on the payroll at the time of death.

Even at the present time there is a noticeable—albeit desirable—tendency about the constantly occurring deaths, especially those by accident.

A hospital car is carried on every train, and it is a common thing, though to some it never ceases being a gruesome one—to see a stretcher, or two, or three, coming out of this car at Panama, upon which lies prostrate a human form; sometimes animate, with only the foot or the arm or head wrapped in bloody bandages; sometimes covered by a sheet. Once in a while crowded station platform is rent by a wail or shriek as the stretcher is met by some waiting friend or loved one.

Then a crowd gathers silently around—orderly, unexcited, simply interested in watching the wife or mother at the side of the grim figure on the stretcher, and listening to her weeping. But presently, with the systematic dispatch which marks the whole organization, the stretcher is placed in the hospital ambulance and driven away and the crowd quietly disperses. The matter has been of too common occurrence even to arouse comment.

One would never dream, amid all the canal enthusiasm and energy and the sort of joyousness that prevails among the workers, that every day on an average ends more than one life—that 30 or 40 die each month in Ancon hospital alone, and that two dozen new graves stand ready all the time at Ancon cemetery for the occupants whose speedy coming may be depended upon. The stories of the manifold sufferings of the workers of former years are more picturesque than those of today; and, in a way, sadder, in that the fearful loss of life due to ignorance of the causes of the tropical diseases seems, in the light of our present knowledge and splendid use of it, quite needless.

There is the story of the thousand Chinamen who came to work on the railroad, and who began to die off so fast from yellow fever that the rest of them, discouraged and heartsick, committed suicide. The place where they lived and died bears record of this story in its name—Matschin—"Dead Chinaman."

There is the story of the gang of light hearted Irishmen, arriving full of energy and ambition, who succumbed even more quickly to the climatic conditions than did the Chinese, and died off promptly, to a man.

There is the story of the French consuls who came with their families, one after another in quick succession—sometimes only six weeks apart—each one sickening in a short time of the dread fever, and paying the penalty with heartrending unoriginality. The quarters of the French consulate, which came into the hands of the Americans when the purchase was made from the French in 1904, and are now the home of the American legation, are still so surrounded with the traditions and memories of those tragic French happenings that not a servant can be induced to sleep there at night. All go home when dusk falls, to return only with morning light.

And the yellow fever in the first years of our own occupation of the Zone was unsparing and cruel. Many are the tales told by the few "Canaries" still on the Isthmus who survived those early days.

"I remember well," said one, "how a dozen of us had a dinner in honor of the engagement of one of our number to a girl—a pretty girl she was," he added, reminiscently. "The dinner was on a Saturday night, and it was the gayest affair of the season. The next Saturday night eight of us dined together again—the other four, including the fellow in whose honor the first dinner had been given, were dead and buried—yellow fever."

The cemeteries "along the line" are all more or less alike. All the graves are indeed marked—not by headstones, but by small iron crosses generally painted white, each cross extending from one to two feet out of the ground, and bearing on its six-inch transverse arm not a name, but a number. At Ancon, however, in many cases, behind the cross and projecting above it, stands a rule, white-painted board, on which are printed a name and two important dates.

The names on the Ancon headboards indicate a large range in nationality but a small range in age; and the youth of these departed canal diggers impresses even the casual visitor. The average age is somewhere between 20 and 30 years, and rarely goes above 40.

In the cemetery at Empire the monotony of the crosses is varied here and there by a mound surrounded by a rude wooden fence, or even, sometimes, by a pretentious, gingerbreadly little wooden structure, looking not unlike an old-fashioned Bible picture of the Ark of the Covenant.

BRAKEMAN COPELAND SERIOUSLY INJURED

Right Leg and Part of Right Hand Cut Off When He Fell From Denver Train

M. J. Copeland, a brakeman, aged twenty-three, sustained the loss of his right leg and part of his right hand last night when he fell from a south-bound Fort Worth & Denver train and was run over. The accident occurred thirty-eight miles north of Fort Worth and the injured man was taken to that city.

Copeland, who resides at 606 Lee street, left here on a freight at 12:40 last night, the accident occurring several hours later. The train was in charge of Conductor Stewart. In addition to the injuries to his hand and leg, Copeland was hurt in the head; the right leg was cut off above the knee and the right hand rendered practically useless. His home is at Alford.

RUSSIA AND NOT A JEW ON TRIAL

GOVERNMENT MUST PROVE OR STAND CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY

HISTORY OF THE CASE

Mendel Beilis Charged With Murder of Youth To Secure Blood For Passover Ritual

London, Sept. 30.—When the case of Mendel Beilis, Jew, is called in the district court at Kieff on October 8, the Russian government will in effect place itself on trial before the world. It will be compelled to prove its "blood accusation" or stand convicted of the most heinous conspiracy attempted by a nation against the Jewish race since the days of the Pharaohs.

The charge is that Beilis, either with the connivance or with the actual cooperation of a band of Jews, slew a Christian boy and drained his blood for use in making "passover bread." For two years and a half, the government has been working on this so-called "ritual murder" case which, as soon as the crime was discovered, was seized upon by the Black Hundred and other reactionary Russian organizations as the basis for a fierce campaign of persecution of the Jews throughout Russia.

"Find the Jew" was the cry that went up among the strongly anti-Semitic population of Kieff on the morning of April 1, 1911, when the body of twelve-year-old Andrei Yushchinsky, bearing 47 stab wounds, apparently made by an awl or chisel, was discovered in an abandoned brick kiln in a yard on the outskirts of the city. Beilis was the foreman of the brickyard. Beilis was a Jew. He was arrested. Despite the reports of various detectives that they could find no substantial evidence that it was a "ritual murder," or Beilis the murderer, he was indicted. M. Kravsky, chief of the detective department of Kieff, was temporarily dismissed "for ignoring the lines of search pointed out to him by the Crown Prosecutor"—which was to find the Jew. Mischevsky who succeeded him and two of his assistants were not only dismissed from office, but were tried and convicted of "manufacturing false evidence" favorable to the Jews and against a band of thieves to whom they believed they had traced the crime. The three detectives were sentenced to a year's hard labor each.

Beilis was, and is, really a minor factor in the case. The authorities have from the first devoted their energies principally to the attempt to prove that the ritual murder is a recognized institution of the Jewish that Prosecutor Brandt refused to listen to any other theory than that of ritual murder and repeatedly ordered the officers to drop all other clues. In order to establish the theory that the Jews slay Christian children and drain their blood, distributing it from synagogues to synagogues for the purpose of mixing it with passover bread and that this rite is prescribed by the Talmud—the Jewish Bible—M. Feneko, the examining magistrate, interrogated the Archimandrite Ambrosius, Vicar of the Greek monastery at Kieff, who claimed that the rite has been described to him by two monks who were formerly of the Jewish faith. The wounds must be of a certain fixed number, about 45, declared Ambrosius.

Napoleon's Cornemuseux Says Land-Paris, Sept. 30.—Pierre Schamel Roy, aged 105, who three times stood beside the great Napoleon, today went to court unattended to press his suit for $1,000 damages against his landlord, Roy alleges that the damp and unsanitary conditions of the premises on which he lives has "impaired his otherwise excellent" health. The aged man declares in his petition that he "has up to the present time never been ill or sticky in his life."

CHILD HEALTH EXHIBIT IS TOURING OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Ohio recently adopted a new and unique method of carrying the gospel of good health into the smaller communities of the state. The work is still going on today. An interesting and educational traveling health exhibit is going the rounds of the smaller towns, one of the features being graphic illustration of the high death rate among babies with propaganda containing hints and suggestions for cutting down the rate. An electrical apparatus on which five small cradles revolved on a belt was set so that off the second revolution the fifth cradle disappeared, indicative that the baby death rate today is about one in five before the second birthday. Ignorance of simple hygienic precautions and methods of feeding, it is explained, is responsible for a great majority of these "one-in-five deaths."

UNMATED. He said: "I will wait till my love shall come." "Come out of the years to me." But never out of the drowsy hum of summer to him came she; And never out of the wintry sleet When snow capped cot and wall. He harked for the sound of her dancing feet. But never came she at all. And never he did as she'd have him do; He fought life's battles fair; To man and woman and self kept true; And though the years made his eyes to dim, Yet his white soul left no doubt; But never she came down the years to him, To him with her hands held out.

And so he came to end of the road, The end of the last long mile, And left life here with its irksome load, And went with the same sure smile Across the mists into the Shadow Land, Where ever it dreams come true— She came to walk with him hand in hand, As he'd waited for her to do. —Judd Lewis, in Houston Post.

New Duvetyn Cloth. Much more pleasant is it to contemplate the coming of such fabrics as duvetyn, peau de peche and their like, Duvetyn was mentioned in the fashion reports last spring, but it made little stir-over here. Perhaps this was because not enough of it reached this country to be easily discoverable even if one wanted to find it.

Now, however, one hears plenty of talk of it in trade circles and although the comments are not always favorable there is no question that the fabric will have a considerable vogue among the best dressed women. Our domestic manufacturers have begun to produce it, with the result that Rodier—the French genius in the creation of the new fabrics—has come forward with a warning that he not only invented the cloth itself, but gave it its name "duvetyn," which name he regards as his own special property.

Some idea of the character of the material may be had from this name with its suggestion of the down breast of a bird. It is composed largely of silk, yet has a soft lusterless nap or pile. The chief objection is that pile will crush easily, and, therefore, that important personage, the average woman, cannot indulge in so expensive a luxury. This naturally will be an added point in its favor with the elect few, however.

MAKE THE CHURCHES SOCIAL CENTERS.

Editor The Times: The ladies of the Methodist church (South) have an all-day meeting, with a picnic dinner, once a month, which is quite a strong feature of their church, as it unites the ladies in a friendly interest. They take their socializing, as they would enjoy the day in a friendly, informal way. Their program is always an instructive feature of this meeting. This week's program was devoted principally to the necessity of one knowing and being friends with the people who work with the shop girls and the delivery boys; of our interest in the wayward girls; how best to reach and help them. The 14-year-old girl who went out joy riding and for an all-night camp with two boys was discussed.

I being an invited guest, was called on to express my opinion. As is usually with me, however strongly I may think or feel on a subject, when called on to express myself publicly, my timidity overcomes my good judgment and I cannot express myself as freely as I think, so I am taking this method of reaching the mothers of the town. The mothers of good girls, and the mothers of headstrong, wayward girls; mothers of girls and of boys, too, for there is never a delinquent girl who goes astray but that there is a bad, lost boy. No girl goes astray alone. Someone has said: "Happyness was born in twin." So it is with sin. There is always two. The surest way to remedy the social evil is to remember the old adage, "An ounce of preventative is worth a pound of cure. Teach our children the laws of nature, and of reproduction. Tell them of the dangers and pitfalls of secrecy. And, above all things, make your home pleasant and happy for your children. No matter how poor or lowly you may be, let them invite and entertain their friends in their homes, whether they be boys or girls; make them feel welcome, know who your daughter's beau is, where he works and the reputation he bears. It may be some little trouble to have "parties" at home, but the parents who make home pleasant are not apt to have delinquent children. Do not force your children to go out to the streets and public halls for amusement. Public pleasure resorts are the root of many evils. Of course, this is inexact in general.

And again, another way to reach the masses is to use our churches and schoolhouses for social centers. This will help to gain the acquaintance and friendship of the working class, and to develop good strong moral men and women—to do away with the delinquency, because, if a girl knows she has a clean light place to go for honest pleasure, where she will be welcomed and thought well of, she will be more apt to seek her pleasure there than to skulk around some dark corner, or questionable resort—where especially if she knows she will meet all her chums and companions on equal footing, and they be welcome too.

Our churches and schoolhouses will never bring us adequate returns for the enormous amount of money spent for them until we keep them open day and night and use them as social centers, as well as for educational purposes. When we begin to spend money to prevent evil, instead of spending it to punish evildoers, then, indeed, will we reach a higher plane of civilization and will have less evildoers to punish.

So again, I urge that the doors of our churches and schoolhouses be opened at night. Let the rooms be warm, light and well ventilated. Have some of our good, strong, well known town ladies to chaperone. Send out the word that all the good literature that is to be discarded can be used. Then invite the girls and boys we want to reach to come and show them they are welcome. Charity gives when there is need, but the social centers will do away with the need for charity along those lines, if we put our best efforts forth.

MARY LIGON CHRISTENSEN.

SUFFRAGISTS BLAMED FOR DRESS TENDENCY

(Hearst's Magazine.) The modern tendency in styles for women's dress is toward the wearing of fewer clothes. With the narrowing skirts have come the abandonment of petticoats and other netherish hangings, and the wearing of tights. What clothing is left is becoming more and more diaphanous. Stockings of filmy silk reveal the warm tint of flesh beneath. Skirts are slit to display the leg half way up to the knee. Low-necked frocks are violently V-shaped, and the cut is adorned with spider-web lace.

Comes now Miss Adele Barry importing from Paris the X-radiant gown, which for transparency and revelation is, as your Uncle Toby would say, "a humdinger."

"It," says a writer in the New York American, "this gown was not a 'creation,' it bore surely some relation to the fashion that prevailed just following the creation."

The tendency to few-clothesness is of course viewed from various angles. The moralist improves the opportunity for some vigorous objurgating. Women writers seem the most radical in their explanations. One observes that it marks "the triumph of common sense. Another, that the tight skirt has little pliancy for man, as he prefers the flirtatious provocation of fluffy skirts.

Mr. Godfrey Dean declares the movement to indicate the protest of the feminine woman against the suffragette type. He says: "In her natural repugnance to being mistaken for what she is not—a suffragette—her womanly feminine is displaying her charms. She cannot very well wear a label; she cannot very well declare herself to strange fellow travelers for what she is; but she can and does endeavor to distinguish herself from women whose conduct she disapproves."

"The more the woman suffragist asserts herself the more necessary it is for the woman feminine to assert herself. It is woman's silent, dress, and dress, or should I say undress, is playing a big part in it."

In all this welter of discussion it might avail itself to the effect that no fashion of garments can ever take away the inherent modesty and decency of woman.

A good woman, whether swathed as a Greenland or clothed as Lady Godiva in but the glory of her hair, has that about her that rebukes the lewd eye and makes the honest man noble.

Whatever women choose to wear, or to leave off, is right. So say we men, and are prepared to whip here and now any person or persons who may dare intimate to the contrary. Now what have you got to say?

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 30, 1913.

There is no telling what is going to happen these days. A man recently got off the train, suffering with a violent headache. He has sued the railroad for $10,000 damages, claiming that the suffering was caused by the water he drank from the cooler. Other passengers who drank water from the same tank found no objection to it. There ought to be some thing coming to the man who is attacked by a first class case of belly ache. This man was on the train when the pain first struck him, and it would appear therefore that the railroad must be guilty of negligence. —Tyler Courier-Times.

The price of cotton continues to go up and at the rate it is climbing now Nov. 1 will see it selling at 15 cents per pound. Of course, this will be somewhat disappointing to those who predicted that if Wilson was elected and the platform demands of the Democratic party carried out, there would be a panic and the price of cotton would go down lower than ever before known. All of which goes to prove that such talk was merely started with the hope of scaring the timid voter, but not many fell for it.

Wood block paving is about the most expensive paving that can be put down. Reasoning from that point, it should be the best, and more satisfactory. But it has not proven so in Wichita Falls, and while this city needs more paved streets, The Times trusts that those in authority will select some other kind of material for the next batch of paving that is to be done. It will not make much difference what kind is selected. There is not much chance of making a greater mistake than before.

SOBERNESS.

(By George Matthew Adams.) There is something fine and stirring about the very face and attitude of a Sober, Serious man. It so strikingly contrasts with the Face and Attitude of a Sour, Solemn man.

Soberness is a state of Mind where Thought is actively at work—though thoroughly Generalized.

Experience and Responsibility are great breeders of Soberness. So is Time. But Work, that is entered into with spirit and zest and carries through with confidence and a love in its doing, is by all odds greater than anything for bringing substantial Soberness and ripeness to a man or woman.

There is nothing light or trifling in the knowledge that you are always engaged in work that has a large bearing on your entire future. How the world's efficiency, through all the various branches of endeavor would immediately and phenomenally increase just the minute that every human being decided to put the full service meaning into his individual work and went ahead exactly realizing the importance of his hours and days! You can act your part in this great ideal grandly, simply by doing your work daily with the feeling that it is going to last and live.

Get a little Soberness into your make-up. Realize that the most Serious as well as the best paying business in the world is that of living a life worthily.

Wichita Falls Shows Greatest Increase in Scholastic Population

The forthcoming report from the department of education will show greater growth in Wichita Falls than in any of the smaller cities of Texas.

We give below the scholastic census of seven cities in Texas, besides our own, showing scholastic census for 1912-1913 and 1913-1914, respectively.

City	1912-1913	1913-1914	Increase
Ablene	1,461	1,473	13
Amarillo	1,932	1,932	None
Corsicana	2,406	2,148	12
Cleburne	2,525	2,735	210
Greenville	2,132	2,205	73
San Angelo	1,991	1,958	67
Temple	2,376	*2,370	6
Wichita Falls	1,904	2,579	635

*Decrease.

In other words, the increase for Wichita Falls alone is 267 more than the other seven cities combined. Temple actually decreased six, while Amarillo barely held her own, neither gaining or losing, the only change being one more white child and one less colored. Outside of Wichita Falls, Cleburne makes next best showing, and being the only one of these named above whose scholastic population still exceeds Wichita Falls, although all except Abilene were ahead of us last year.

A PERFORMANCE TONIGHT MINERAL WELLS RABBI

Oklahoma Ranch Show Arrived This Morning From Frederick—Big Crowd in Town.

Will Conduct the Rosh Hashanah Services Beginning at Sundown Tomorrow Evening.

The Oklahoma Ranch Wild West show reached Wichita Falls early today from Frederick and began unloading near the Katy freight depot, the tents being erected on the site of the old ball park across the railroad tracks. Shortly after noon the parade which was delayed by the late arrival of the show, was held and was viewed by a large crowd which waited with patience the procession. The systematic publicity work of this show had resulted in big crowds from both town and country and the streets were lined with spectators when the parade went by.

Organization of a Jewish congregation in Wichita Falls is in progress and has advanced to a point where arrangements have been made for a meeting place for the coming year, and the first meetings will be held in celebration of the Jewish New Year 5674, beginning at sundown on Wednesday evening. The services, which will be held in the Moose hall, will continue all day Thursday and all day Friday. They will be conducted by Rabbi Hoffman of Mineral Wells.

The parade included three bands and an imposing array of cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, Cosacks, tableau wagons and other features, including a few relics of the wild west that would have passed the scrutiny of the most particular old timer. These included a stage coach and an old-fashioned ox team.

A copy of the Hebrew Bible written on sheep parchment by hand is being brought here from Dallas for the services in connection with Rosh Hashanah. Leonard Art, father of J. L. Art, the jeweler, is chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for these services and to secure a meeting place for the Hebrew congregation for the coming year. Other members of the committee are L. Nathan, Abe Blank and M. Levine. They have arranged for the new congregation to hold its meetings, until a synagogue is built, in the Moose hall. Regular services will not be held during the first year, according to present plans, but another special service will be held a week from next Friday, beginning at sundown when the "Black Feast" will be observed.

This prize herd of Rambouillets will be exhibited at a number of other state fairs before being returned to Texas.

CITIES MORE MORAL SAYS REPORT.

Berlin, Sept. 30.—The old theory that farming communities are more moral than cities received another shock here today when statistics were published showing that fifty-nine per cent of the children born in the kingdom of Saxony last year were illegitimate. The greater percentage of the births were in farming districts, the parents being farm laborers. Next in order came lawyers, physicians, state employees, preachers, army officers and school teachers as parents of illegitimate children. The report published today shows that in the five years from 1906 to 1910, 35,773 children were legitimized in Saxony through the subsequent marriage of their parents.

SALVATION ARMY'S WORK FOR YEAR

CAPTAIN ROBB MAKES REPORT FOR YEAR ENDING AUGUST THIRTY-FIRST.

60 Cases of Illness Visited, 30 Funerals Conducted—Work Found For 25

A synopsis of the work of the Salvation Army in Wichita Falls, for the year ending August 31, 1913 has been completed by Captain H. G. Robb of the local corps of the Army. The report shows considerable activity on the part of the Army in this city and there is no doubt that it has accomplished much. The report states that 5200 "War Cry's" have been sold and 364 outdoor meetings held, this being an average of about one a day. There were 154 indoor meetings, with twenty conversions. The average attendance at Sunday school was sixty.

Captain Robb, Mrs. Robb and other members visited sixty cases of illness, and conducted thirty funerals. They also visited and prayed with many who were not sick, the report says. Second hand garments to the number of 496 were given out during the year. A Christmas entertainment, which three hundred attended and a summer outing for 125 mothers and children were given.

Work was found for twenty-five people and a quantity of fuel, cast off furniture and the like was distributed in addition to the men and women who were supplied with food and lodging. The report concludes: "Fuel, groceries, bedding, drugs and ice have been furnished many to tide over sickness or temporary calamity and quite a number of people have been shown how to help themselves out of trouble more imaginarily than real."

MOTION TO RETAX SUBPOENA COSTS

Legality of Taxing Costs of Service on Witnesses in Each of Sixteen Cases.

The right of an officer to charge up the cost of subpoenaing each of a number of similar cases was attacked this morning on a motion in the county court to retax the costs in the vagrancy cases growing out of the bawdy house indictments. There were a number of these cases and W. F. Weeks, attorney for the defense, contended that as there was only one service upon each witness for the entire sixteen cases, the sheriff's department could not charge up the cost of the subpoena service in each separate case. Judge Felder overruled the motion to retax, but an appeal may be taken.

It was brought out that although from twenty-five to thirty witnesses were subpoenaed for each hearing, one or two, outside of the officers, were put on the stand as witnesses. The fines assessed in these cases are to be paid, by agreement upon the installment plan, the women agreeing to pay from $25 to $100 monthly until the entire amount is paid. Some of the women owe as much as $850 and one of them this morning said she would probably make no attempt to pay her fine, but go to jail and lose what she had. The costs question will likely be taken to the court of criminal appeals.

WILLIAMS' EXAMINING TRIAL SATURDAY A. M.

Condition of J. T. Williams, Shot Saturday Night Reported Much Improved Today.

The examining trial of Van Williams, charged by affidavit with assault to murder in connection with the shooting at Burk Burnett Saturday night, will probably be held next Saturday morning. It was set for this morning but was postponed by agreement of counsel. The defendant's father has arrived from Altus with an attorney and it is likely that local counsel will also be employed. The condition of J. T. Williams, who was injured in the shooting at fray, was said this morning to be quite favorable and it is now believed he will recover. A number of witnesses have been summoned from Burk Burnett for the hearing.

We are proud to handle a shoe with such a record and believe you would feel the same way about wearing them if you were familiar with their construction. It takes eleven factories to produce Selz shoes, each factory specializing on a certain kind of a shoe, and engineered by skilled shoemakers. Try your first pair; styles were never more beautiful and the satisfaction of wearing a good, comfortable shoe ought to appeal to you.

They are guaranteed in a manner that leaves no doubt. All sizes for men, women and children.

Jersey Has Three Political Conventions.
Trenton, N. J., Sept. 30.—New Jersey set a record for herself and possibly a record for the country today when she held three political conventions in one day. The democrats, republicans and progressives are today adopting platforms and planning for the state campaign, this November. All three conventions were vastly different from the "catch as catch can" loss ridden conventions of other days. The naming of the candidates will be done by the people at the state primaries according to the new primary and election law put on the New Jersey statute books while President Wilson was governor.

PROVISIONS FOR STATE EXHIBITS

MANY STATES WILL HAVE BUILDINGS AT SAN FRANCISCO EXPOSITION

APPROPRIATIONS BY STATE

Aggregate in 18 States is $4,115,000—Other States Raising Funds By Various Methods

Special to The Times.
San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Through the United States architects, engineers and draughtsmen are planning or completing the details of the huge state pavilions at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition where a wonderful exhibition of the products of the American states is assured. The commissioners of thirty-five states have already selected sites for state pavilions and the appropriations made are evidence of representation upon a vast scale. The legislature of the five states making the largest appropriations have voted funds totaling $1,800,000 for their participation. The total appropriations from eighteen states aggregate $4,115,000. Every state in the Union will be represented at America's big show, either through its industries, by collective representation fostered by commercial organizations or else by state appropriations.

In a few states, where the legislatures have not yet made appropriations, the commercial bodies and manufacturers are putting on steam and raising funds for display of the state's products.

Bricks Being Sold in Oklahoma.
One of the most interesting campaigns is that in Oklahoma where bricks are being sold at $5 each. The bricks are selling like hotcakes. The commissioners appointed by Governor Cruce of Oklahoma say that they are quite certain of raising $250,000. The money will be devoted to an Oklahoma building at the exposition. The idea was born of a unique situation. For years the hustling Oklahomans had been attempting to secure money from the legislature for a building to be devoted to exhibits of the history of Oklahoma. When the legislature failed to make an appropriation for the exposition, a local brick company jumped into the fray and offered to donate fifty thousand bricks to erect the long desired historical building, provided the bricks were sold at $5 each and all the money raised was expended in building an Oklahoma pavilion at the exposition. The plan took like wildfire; the first man to buy a brick paid $50 for it. Each brick has the name of the purchaser stamped on it. The movement started with a meeting of the businessmen in the rooms of the Advertising Club at Oklahoma City. It received the endorsement of Governor Lee Cruce of Oklahoma. Plans for Oklahoma's display at the exposition developed rapidly and on September 16th, amid brilliant military ceremonies, a site for the Oklahoma state pavilion at the exposition was selected.

Waterloo, Iowa, Raising Funds.
In Iowa, too, enterprising commercial interests have determined in an Iowa building where the world may be entertained in 1915. The lower house of the Iowa legislature voted an appropriation of $75,000 by a big majority, but the bill failed in the Senate by three votes. The manufacturers association of Waterloo got busy. They called a great public meeting and wired the state legislature requesting the legislators to pass a resolution authorizing Waterloo to raise the funds necessary to assure the participation of Iowa in the Panama Canal Exposition. The resolution passed easily, whereupon Waterloo determined to see Iowa in the front ranks and guaranteed $50,000 as its contribution. Waterloo has called upon other cities of Iowa to help raise the fund and there is no doubt that the great middle west state will make a splendid showing.

Copper Medallions Providing Money.
In Arizona the campaign resembles that of Oklahoma. Instead of bricks, however, the great copper interests of the state will stamp slugs with attractive medallions, the working on which will be in the form of a receipt for $1 donated by the purchaser toward an Arizona building. No commonwealth is the public more enthusiastic over the Panama Canal and Panama-Pacific Exposition than in Arizona. The lower house of the legislature appropriated $100,000 but the Senate failed to pass the appropriation by only two votes. When the state senate failed to take action—a big mass meeting of public spirited citizens was assembled. The movement spread throughout the state and now the citizens of Arizona are preparing to circulate an initiative petition to the voters, demanding that the legislature, which meets in 1913, shall appropriate $100,000. As soon as the vote is cast, the banking interests of the state will advance the funds necessary to an Arizona pavilion. Under the initiative law in Arizona an initiative petition will amount to the passage of the bill since the legislature is compelled to pass any bill approved by initiative vote. It is planned that Arizona shall make a most marvelous display of its vast mineral resources.

Public Subscription in Montana.
In Montana the people and commercial interests wanted a state building, but the legislature failed to make an appropriation. Governor Stewart had visited the exposition site and he planned for a state pavilion where Montana might greet the world in 1915. When the legislature failed to act the governor immediately appointed a commission of fifteen enterprising Montanans, who elected a president and secretary and outlined a campaign for public funds. $100,000 was the mark set. The first appeal was made to the boards of supervisors of the counties, the supervisors being permitted to make an appropriation from the general fund for advertising. All counties approached responded to the appeal. $50,000 will be raised through the counties and when this amount is fully subscribed the banking interests of the state will pledge the additional $50,000.

Kalamazoo Got Busy.
In Michigan an appropriation for state participation failed by the smallest margin. The Senate failed by one vote to pass the bill approved by the lower house by a tremendous majority. When the news of the state senate's action came the Chamber of Commerce of Kalamazoo got busy. It sent out thousands and thousands of letters to commercial organizations and to business men. Every commercial body in Michigan was asked that delegates be sent to a great state meeting to plan for the erection of a Michigan pavilion. The movement is receiving support everywhere. The Michigan societies of the western states are banded into a great auxiliary to help it along. The automobile and manufacturing interests of Michigan will be represented upon a vast scale at the exposition. Enterprising commercial interests are planning to send a ship containing exhibits of the resources of the state through the Panama Canal to the Golden Gate, where the boat will be moored before the exposition site.

MARY PICKFORD AT THE LYDIA MARGARET

Mary Pickford, another of the thirty famous players, will appear in motion pictures at the Lydia Margaret tonight "In the Bishop's Carriage." This is a fascinating drama of the underworld and approaches tragedy and ends in romance.

A synopsis of the story follows:
It was not altogether Nance Olden's fault that she was an inmate of the Charity home; neither was it to blame for being forced to escape. Falsely accused of theft, and cruelly punished, she decides to rid herself forever of the matron's persecution. Pursued by the police, she takes refuge in the room of Tom Dorgan, the crook, where later he finds her. Both refugees from a doubtful justice, their common lot inspires them to establish a partnership in crime. After a daring theft of jewels, the loss of which is almost immediately discovered, Nance, in terrified despair, eludes the police by jumping into "the bishop's carriage." From this incident a series of thrilling adventures progress, until Nance is again rescued from the police by the timely intervention of Obermuller, a theatrical manager, who is impressed with her mimic talent and offers her a position on the stage and a chance to travel the straight road. Now occurs a bitter contest between Dorgan and Obermuller for the loyalty of Nance, which is culminated by the arrest and conviction of Tom. Nance's admiration for Obermuller ripens into requited love, and she attains fame and fortune as an actress. And then a shadow of the past crosses her path. Tom escapes and returns to claim her; but his purpose is defeated by Obermuller.

"Only once more is she tempted by the old fascination; only once more she steals—steals an illegal contact from the theatrical syndicate that is attempting to crush Obermuller—and then she really conquers second, the weakness, marries Obermuller and drinks the sweets of a righteous existence."

NEGRO IN NEGLIGENCE CAPTURED LAST NIGHT

Discovered By Street Car Conductor and Placed Under Arrest—Fined $25 For Intoxication

When the headlight of a street car in the residence section last night disclosed the form of a negro man, scantily clad and getting more and more scantily clad every second, the notorman stopped and tried to remember what the rules said to do in such cases. Mr. Orth and the conductor made their own set of rules for the occasion and started for the negro who was captured after a brief struggle, in which he resisted both men strenuously. He was in an advanced state of undress when finally overpowered.

A charge of intoxication was lodged against him and he expected to draw the usual $10 fine. In view of the trimmings, Judge Ryan made $25. There were three other fines for intoxication and one for disturbing the peace. Three of the men fined gave checks for their fines.

A downtown grocer who was charged with committing a nuisance, announced ready for trial and demanded a jury; the case was postponed until tomorrow. The grocer is alleged to have thrown a lot of spoiled cabbage and other things on a lot near his store.

Fort Worth.—Announcement has reached here that the Texas Retail Merchants Secretaries' Association will hold its annual session in this city during the National Feeders and Breeders Show, which will be conducted here in November.

It is the Duty of School Teachers

To look to the care of their pupils' eyes. Many children are born with defective eyesight, and are called "nymphs." They are unfortunate in most cases for having some eye defect. Most of them show no sign of eye trouble, and grow to manhood and womanhood dull and stupid, never knowing that their eyes alone made them averse to study and activity. No "drops." We know how Dr. J.
