THIRTY FIVE MAY BE DEAD IN TROOP TRAIN WRECK

Twenty Six Bodies Taken Out Of Wreckage Already And Others Not Yet Reached

By Associated Press.
Meridian, Miss., Oct. 20.—At ten o'clock this morning twenty-six bodies had been taken from the Mobile and Ohio troop train wreck near Staline, Mississippi, according to a telephone report reaching this city. This report said all bodies had not been taken out.
While the Mobile and Ohio railroad officials say the official death list is seventeen, telephone reports from the wreck, received here, place the number of dead as high as thirty-five.
It is said that many arms, legs and other parts of bodies are being picked up separately and this may have led to exaggerated reports of the number killed.
It is reported that an unrecognizable mass of parts of human bodies is accumulating at the wreck scene.

Parts Of Maimed Bodies Found In Morgue—Steward Is Hero

By Associated Press.
Mobile, Alabama, Oct. 20.—A total of eighteen bodies, killed in the wreck of the special troop train on the Mobile and Ohio railroad near Buckatunna, Mississippi, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the engine and express car and three wooden passenger coaches crashed through the Rube Boroughs trestle, sixty-four miles from this city, have arrived in Mobile today and several more are reported in the debris.
A total of seventy-one are in the various Mobile hospitals and forty-three of these less seriously injured have been taken to the government hospital at Fort Morgan, Alabama. Of the eighteen bodies at a private morgue here, twelve are badly mangled.
The scene at the morgue this morning resembled more a battle field than it did a death house, parts of bodies being strewn on the floors and tables. The correct and full names of some of the dead will not be obtainable until they are properly prepared. Sergeant Beasley, hospital steward, who was with the company, was the hero of the occasion. Alone and unassisted, he attended the wounds, giving each one some attention before the arrival of the relief train, which did not reach the scene before dark. The train carried a total of 179 officers and men. The first coach was occupied by the thirty-ninth company, the second by the 170th company and the third by the band from the eighth company.
The majority of those killed were in the second coach, which telescoped the first. The wooden coaches were reduced to kindling wood. The soldiers were members of the United States coast artillery companies and were on their way to Meridian, Mississippi, to take part in the State Fair.

Washington, Oct. 20.—If the American battleships now in Mexican waters are not removed by Oct. 27, the day on which will expire the six months' permission granted by the Mexican congress for their presence in Mexican waters, President Huerta may find himself obliged to adopt drastic measures. The administration has already prepared for the expiration of the special six months' permission granted by the Mexican congress to the American ships. The government purpose is to take from Huerta all technical ground for complaint by changing the date under Rear Admiral Boush and

Jack Frost Makes His Opening Appearance But Fails To Do Much

The first frost of the season was reported this morning throughout North Texas, but apparently little or no damage was done to vegetation except in the extreme northern section, where the damage will be slight. Denton reported frost along the Red River Valley on the Oklahoma border which will cause light loss. Continued fair, with another frost tonight, was the report of the government weather bureau. A light frost is also reported to have been visible Sunday morning. Tomato plants and other tender vegetation has doubtless been damaged but no damage is believed to have been inflicted on growing cotton or other crops.

The view of the British government is that the policy of Sir Lionel Corden, the British ambassador to Mexico is not antagonistic to the point of view of the United States, and it is pointed out as merely a coincidence that Sir Lionel presented his credentials with Provisional President Huerta's declaration of dictatorship.

CURRENCY PLANS PLEASE WILSON

BELIEVES BILL WILL BE REPORT-ED TO THE SENATE EARLY IN NOVEMBER

EXPECTS EARLY PASSAGE

In Letter To Majority Leader Underwood in House, Takes Very Optimistic View

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 20.—President Wilson wrote Majority Leader Underwood today expressing the opinion that the currency bill would be reported to the Senate not later than the first week in November and passed after two or three weeks' debate. The president is confident of considerable non-partisan support for the bill and said today he did not expect any change affecting any fundamental part of the bill, but rather had found an unexpected agreement on the fundamentals.
Senator Weeks, Republican of the banking committee, observed that the letter "disclosed more optimism than the facts warranted."
Will Hold Conferences.
Conferences between President Wilson and Republican members of the Senate banking and currency committee, with a view toward making the pending currency bill a non-partisan measure, will be held within the next few days at the White House.
The president has been assured that not only a report from the committee is possible by Nov. 10, but that the legislation can be enacted before the December session, provided Republicans and Democrats reach a common agreement on the bill.
Hearings before the Senate committee are to be continued until Oct. 25, but the coming week may see the beginning of preliminary work at night on the bill itself, changes and amendments about which it is felt there is already unanimity being in contemplation so as to leave as few disputed points as possible for next week.
The president told his friends that his talk with Senator Nelson (Rep.) on the currency situation was most satisfactory and encouraged him to discuss the subject further with other Republicans.
Wants it Party Measure.
From the first, it was said, the president has not been desirous of making it a party measure, although he feels that the Democratic party would be held responsible for whatever law is framed. The idea that Mr. Wilson was uncompromisingly committed to the House bill led largely to that impression, but with in the last few days he has made it known that if the Senate will keep the main essentials which the administration desires, changes in harmony with the fundamentals will be acceptable.
In this spirit the President will confer with Republicans, and he is greatly encouraged over the possibility of getting a unanimous report from the committee. This undoubtedly would mean that debate on the floor of the Senate will be much shorter than was the case with the tariff.
The president will discuss with Representative Underwood, majority leader exactly what should be done by the House while the Senate committee is dealing with the currency. Mr. Underwood has called attention to the restlessness of House members and recent conferences with Republicans and Democrats on the Senate committee have given the president a basis for a reply on just what program can be followed.

BOARD'S RULING IN HER CASE IS REVERSED—RESIDENT TAKES HAND

CANNOT REMAIN, HOWEVER

Is To Leave Country Again As Soon
As Lecture Tour Ends—Had Threatened Hunger Strike

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant British suffragette, is free to enter the United States. The Ellis Island board's order of deportation was reversed today after President Wilson had conferred on the celebrated case with Secretary Wilson and a hearing had been concluded before Immigration Commissioner Camanetti.
Secretary Wilson announced after the conference that Mrs. Pankhurst would be admitted with her own recognizance with the understanding that she would depart at the end of her lecture engagements. No bond was exacted.
President Wilson felt that the law had a flexible interpretation, so that it was largely a question of policy. Commissioner Camanetti's decision was in strict accordance with the views of President Wilson and the secretary of labor.
Spends Sunday in Detention
Sunday Mrs. Pankhurst waited on Ellis Island, and not without some impatience, word from Washington as to whether she would be permitted to land under bond to carry out her lecture tour or whether she must go back to France whence she came here.
"Have there been any dispatches from Washington on my case?" she frequently asked.
When word finally was received that Commissioner Camanetti had declined today to admit her, Mrs. Pankhurst prepared again to sleep at the immigration station tonight.
Mrs. Pankhurst kept to her decision not to begin a "hunger strike" while the prospects seemed favorable for an early decision of her case. Her appetite was good and she appeared to relish each of the free meals sent her room. For breakfast she ate grape fruit, toast and coffee. For luncheon she was served with two broiled lamb chops, French fried potatoes, lettuce, buttered toast and strong coffee. She ate heartily. She said she has given up tea for coffee, explaining that coffee is more strengthening.
Up Early Sunday
Mrs. Pankhurst rose at 8 o'clock Sunday morning and declared she felt refreshed as the result of a good night's sleep. Donning a long gray kimono and slippers, she went to the roof of the building for exercise before breakfast. She spent nearly half an hour on the roof, gazing through the mist at the Statue of Liberty and the skyscraping office buildings in Lower Manhattan. Then she went below for breakfast. After the morning meal she attended herself in a gray suit to await the arrival of suffragette friends who had obtained special cards of admission to the station from Commissioner Uhl.
At 9 o'clock Mrs. Blatch, Mrs. John Rodgers, Jr., and Miss Alice Perkins were admitted to Mrs. Pankhurst's room. The militant leader was resting upon her bed, propped up with pillows. Each of the visitors was kissed upon the cheek.
"I am a prisoner, don't forget that," she said by way of introduction. "I have never submitted to unjust imprisonment in England," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "and I will not submit to it here."
"If the steamer La Provence carries me from New York next Thursday as the result of an order issued by the immigration authorities in Washington, the steamer will carry me to my death. I feel that I can not last long after six hunger strikes—not more than twenty-four hours—if I enter upon a seventh."
"As a result of those hunger strikes my stomach is in a weakened condition. On the way over I was seasick. I am a good sailor and I have been on ships when the sea was much rougher than it was during the trip over. The vibration of the ship affected me because, I suppose my stomach was in a weakened condition."

You can claim anything that you're able to write in an advertisement, but in this age and generation you must make good every statement or quit advertising, for the simple reason that exaggeration or false statement invariably defeats their own ends. Talk isn't cheap in the advertising columns of this paper, and we will not fill it with high sounding adjectives that mean less than nothing when boiled out. We claim to every man in this town our ability to save him money—there's a flat statement of fact stripped bare as a plucked goose. These three live Globe stores are the largest cash purchasers of high grade clothing. We figure on volume, the profit on our individual sales is so small that the little fellow hasn't a chance to duplicate the values we give. We do not quarrel with any man who is compelled to charge $5.00 to $10.00 more for a suit than we do, in order to make a living, but we do think that any man is foolish who gives up extra money unnecessarily. Buy your fall suit here and save that extra $5.00 or $10.00. That's why our business keeps on growing and growing and why the larger it grows the better values we give. ## SUBWAY BLOCKS PEOPLE'S FORUM

PLACE WHERE PUBLIC SPEAKERS HOLD SWAY GIVES WAY TO IMPROVEMENTS

UNION SQUARE CHANGES

Riot and Red Flag Have Flourished There in Days Gone By—Other New York News.

New York, Oct. 20.—For the only time perhaps in the countless years of its stirring history, New York's "People's Forum" is closed. Union Square is not open to the would-be Demosthenes for the first time since the memory of man runneth not back to the contrary. This does not mean that Father Knickerbocker or Mayor Adolphus Kline, to be exact, has put the lid on free and untrammelled speech in the greater city. The construction of the new Broadway-Lexington Avenue Subway has progressed that far, and the work is occupying the square. The place where Big Bill Haywood, labor agitator, has harangued the crowds, where Miss Inez Milholland that was, and "General" Rosalie Jones have demanded votes for women, now looks like the shaft house of a West Virginia coal mine. First-class built iron fences around the walks and iron spaces of the square, and its outraged habitués were confined to the benches bordering the pavements. This was bad enough, but then came workmen who erected frame sheds all over the place, cutting off the view across the ancient quadrangle. Then they began to drive wagons into the square, to be filled with dirt and rocks heaped forth from the works of the earth by powerful machinery that is building the underground railway.

The Union Square regulars are disconsolate. They cannot tell how long their favorite loafing place will be hindered by with the construction work. All winter, at the least, the place will be filled with the temporary buildings and noisy with the clank of machinery. It is no place now for an "easy-going" club or a "cosmopolitan" W. W. There is nothing when it will be again.

Union Square in its day has seen some interesting and exciting events. It was when it was the literary center of New York, in more ways than one. In the best days, reading houses flanked the huge open space and there abided many poets, novelists, essayists, composers and he like. Then came the encroachments of business, spreading eastward, and the homes where once dwelt the writers were supplanted with office buildings—skyscrapers in their hey day where held forth the publishing houses. A decade ago, the popular magazines were published in Union Square and some of the most notable book publishers had offices there.

Gradually these too, moved up town. The buildings, made second and then first class, were replaced by more imposing structures (further up, were occupied with small manufactures and the like. Fourteenth street became the "Great White Way" of the East Side, and Union Square lost all of its grandeur. The old rectangle, once a fertile spot for fresh air and its sunshine and it became the regular habitat of the homeless, the friendless, the man out of work and the idler by choice. Daily they came and sat on the benches and read newspapers picked from the waste cans. They talked together of many things, of politics, war, finance. This gave the orators their idea and Union Square became the "People's Forum." There the political agitators went to work for their candidates. There the candidates themselves addressed huge masses of voters. Socialists sought the place to spread their propaganda. The Industrial Workers of the World found Union Square a fertile spot to sow their seed. Organized labor, on the first Monday of each September used the place for speeches after the Labor Day parade, and lastly came the suffragists. They held several meetings in the square, their women orators addressing the crowds that were always ready to gather in the square on the slightest provocation.

There was considerable nodding and blinking among the Broadway crowd the other day. It had been said

It was for only one night and was granted to the proprietors of the restaurant on the New York Theatre roof. ## SHIED AT $7 PER AND THE LUXURIES

Driller From East Couldn't Take Offer of Western Wages as a Serious Proposition

The National Petroleum News this month contains a lot of interesting matter under Wichita Falls date line.

One of the stories follows:—Our Northwest Texas there is an oil field. It is bounded on the north by the Red River, on the east by Clay county, on the west God knows where, and ditto on the south. It is some 30 miles long and its magnitude depends on the man who is telling about it. We have almost every language that is written spoken in this field and some that are not written, for it is an oil country English and understood by oil men only. There is the "outon" who calls for "Hop Brew," the Irishman who wants his toddy, the Englishman who must have his jaw and hawl, and the old Pennsylvania oil man who drinks the "whole business" when he can get it.

But the ratio of good fellows is larger here than in most oil fields controlled by the big ones. Among this class of good fellows was one named Morgan Pierpont; that is not his name but it will do as I do not wish to get personal. He was one of those original fellows who wore overalls and kiki with distinction, in fact he looked better in a kiki suit than some men do in a Prince Albert. He was liberal to a fault and was chokey of enthusiasm over his work, which was that of a contractor.

One day he took his Buick "Gadabout" and started for Electra. He sits like a two-year-old thoroughbred. The purr of the motor beneath the hood was like the mussy wowl of his sweetheart to his receptive ear. He raced through pastures starting the white-faced cattle lazily grazing by the wayside. The cotton bolls smiled and nodded their greeting from the adjoining fields. The great brown-tailed hawks soared gracefully over his head, and autumn was donning her beautiful but hopeless appearance.

Morgan whistled and hummed a few bars (not the mahogany kind), but a few bars from "Down by the old mill stream, where I first met you." Just ahead sitting on the roadside was a human. A migratory human whose purse had been flapping from too long a stand with one foot on the rail and in front of the mahogany drinking the suds, and he was looking for a place to light. He was a typical driller, who in the collar and elbow tussle with one James Baileycorn had lost every fall. Morgan stopped his car and invited the man to ride with him.

The man was from the East and was looking for a job. Morgan needed men. Now by all the laws of supply and demand the situation was ideal to make a trade. The man being from the East had been used to $6.00 per day. Sometimes in the mountains of West Virginia he had to walk three to four miles on and off lower. Many times it was necessary for him to carry his drinking water, or go like a camel 12 hours without water. And this man was so camel. Now when Morgan suggested to him that he needed men, paid $7.00 per day, furnished tea and a conveyance to haul him to and from his work (which is the custom in this field), the man looked at Morgan with a scared expression in his eyes. In the meantime they had reached Electra, and the man got out, thanked Morgan and went his way.

That afternoon he was heard telling some new friends he had met that he had ridden part of the way with a crazy man, who imagined he was a contractor, and evidently had stolen the car the way he drove it. "I didn't think much about it until he offered me $7.00 per day and a team and coachman to take me to and from work," he was heard to say. "What do you think of that kind of stuff?" Take it from me, kid, I didn't fall for it!"

The moral to this is "If we should find Utopia we would think all the inhabitants were crazy."

Hurry and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit. Miller Drug Store, Wichita Falls, Texas.

REV. FRANK ONDERDONK LEAVES TO RESUME HIS DUTIES AS MISSIONARY

PREACHES TWICE SUNDAY

"Home" and "The Irreparable Past" Are Subjects—Completes Three Weeks of Services

The three weeks' series of meetings which Rev. Frank Onderdonk of Mexico has been conducting at the M. E. Church, South, came to a close last night, two largely attended and splendid services being held yesterday.

On an early train this morning, Mr. Onderdonk left for Mexico, which he will endeavor to re-enter and resume his duties. Once ordered to leave that dangerous zone by the board under whose direction the works, he has decided that his duty lies there, and will make an effort to get back. Even should he succeed in reaching his post at Guadalajara he would still be subjected to many dangers and he is returning upon his own initiative, the board feeling that it was a matter for him to work out himself. On his way, Mr. Onderdonk will stop at Georgetown and San Marcos to visit his daughters, who are in school at the points named.

Yesterday morning's topic was "Home," while the subject last night was "The Irreparable Past." There were five additions to the church during the day, making a total of thirty during the three weeks. Members of both the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations feel that much good has resulted from the services.

Before last night's sermon, Dr. Hill said that while some of the Presbyterians might feel that they had "stayed their welcome" in holding joint services with the Methodists while the new church is being built, but he hastened to assure them that it was the desire of the entire Methodist congregation that the present plan of holding joint services continue until the new edifice was ready for occupancy.

PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL MISSION OPENS

Appropriate Dedictory Exercises Are Held—Services To Be Conducted Every Sunday

The Sunday school mission at the corner of Avenue I and Kemp Boulevard erected in connection with the work of the First Presbyterian Church, was dedicated yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd. Appropriate services were held. This mission is one of two established by the Presbyterian Church, the other being in Floral Heights near the Alamo school, both being in charge of H. M. Frank, Presbyterian missionary for this section.

The new mission is fully paid for, half of the necessary funds being supplied by the residents in the immediate neighborhood and half by others. Mr. Wright will be superintendent and the classes will be held on Sunday mornings. Yesterday, although the heating arrangements had not been completed and the weather was decidedly chilly, there was an enrollment of thirty-eight. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday night of this week, Dr. McKee will conduct services at the mission and next Sunday afternoon there will be a reception to new members, who will be affiliated with the church downtown. At yesterday afternoon's dedicatory services there was appropriate music and talks were made by J. C. Hunt, F. H. Gombright and others.

MODERN MARTIAL PROBLEM

THEME OF "ROSARY" TONIGHT

This beautiful new play "The Rosary" under the direction of Rowland and Clifford, will be presented at the Wichita Theatre tonight. What is the cause of marital unrest? Why is it that the percentage of divorce cases rises steadily every year in the United States? Why should it be that today—tomorrow—you may meet your happily married friend and in response to your question regarding his wife, he shakes his head and replies: "Divorced."

These are questions that the ablest minds have wrestled with for the past decade without even a mediocre answer. But the question will not be answered here. It confronts every thinking man and woman over and over again. Let's brains have tried to reply; orators have used their eloquence; the papers have printed reams of matter, and the pupil has thundered its fulminations. Still the question remains unanswered—unsolved.

Now comes a modern play ensnaring a drama called "The Rosary" written by Edward E. Rose, and produced by the well known theatrical managers, Messrs. Rowland and Clifford. Quietly and modestly with no blaze of trumpets, it projects a quiet word into this turmoil of opinions, which many believe will revolutionize our ethics of marriage and divorce.

"Look within," it says. "Look in to the hearts and souls of our men and women today. See if there be within the same rugged faith that carried a republic from the wilderness and raised above it our Stars and Stripes. Search for the abiding reliance on things unseen, which forever held up our pioneers when they filtered under privation, dangers and hardships." For an illustration—"The Rosary" takes you into the heart of a 19th-century American family. It shows the peace and happiness there, then suddenly unmasks the canker spot—lack of faith in the husband. Slowly, little by little, is seen this devastating power of atheism; how it saps the strength and melts the will, so that when doubt and suspicion creep in they find the soil fertile for their diabolical descendants. Hatred and revenge and the home goes down to ruin with a crash. Then comes the spiritual power of a great man, a priest, whose life is given to mankind. Slowly by sheer faith he analyzes the situation and leads the two lovers, the husband and wife whom he loves out of the darkness of their despair to happiness and peace.

HOW PEGGOT GOT IDEA FOR INVERTED FLYING

Dropped From Aeroplane in Parachute and Saw that it Could Go Upside, Down

Paris, Oct. 20.—It has just leaked out here how Aviator Peggot got his idea for flying upside down in a monoplane. Peggot, flying a biplane machine, had volunteered to test a parachute designed for aviators by M. Bonnet. He was to rise to a certain height then seaboard his aeroplane and come to earth with the parachute. He at mouthed the feat all right, but while en route to the ground he calmly observed the behavior of the pilotless monoplane. It at first rose at a steep angle then plunged head-first toward the earth. Then it turned completely over head on and sailed along upside-down quite serenely. Then it made another vertical curve righting itself automatically and, but for a hay-stack, against which a wing-collided, it would have landed as gently as though obeying the commands of a skilled pilot.

MAY DISCONTINUE WORLD'S SERIES

MUCH DISSATISFACTION WITH PRESENT METHOD OF DETERMINING CHAMPIONSHIP

RESUME OF PAST SEASON

Up to Standard of Previous Years in Most Respects—Coming Contest for Yacht Cup

New York, Oct. 20.—Another baseball season has closed and only the records remain to proclaim the prowess of player and club in America's national sport. Considered broadly 1913 produced play fully up to the standard of previous years, but no appreciable step forward could be detected. The game appeared to hold its own in popularity, speed and technique, but did not surpass the record of recent seasons in this respect.

The world's series, with its attendant ticket scandals, scrambling and bickering, created the usual interest but did little or nothing to advance professional baseball or elevate the status of the sport. In fact many of the cleverest of the club owners and league officials are beginning to doubt the wisdom of the post-season climax in its present form. The payoff for the world's championship under the present system is felt to hold a measure of success—less gratuity to the future of baseball by some of the best informed men connected with the game.

The idea of a sportsmanlike series of contests to decide the title honors of the year is apparently lost in the wild scrambling for the enormous gate receipts and the attendant side-gamblings that accrue to players and club owners. Those stockholders whose teams do not share in the distribution of the prize money view with chagrin the division of many thousands of dollars among the more fortunate. Fans who are unable to secure seats for the games rail at the coupon distributing policies of the competing clubs and all in all there is more dissatisfaction at the close of the season than elation.

All this has been brought home vividly to the National Commission of the Amateur Athletic Union. The National American League and there is a movement on foot to discontinue the present season climax which will leave less jealousy and heart-burning than at present. What is particularly desired is a form of inter-league series that will permit all clubs and players to participate in the financial benefits and the fans of many cities to enjoy the spectacle without being obliged to stand in line twenty-four hours or pay ticket speculators fabulous prices for a two dollar seat coupon.

CONTEST FOR YACHT CUP

While British and American yachtsmen are preparing to spend half a million dollars to win or retain possession of the America's cup, the old schooner that captured the trophy, originally known as the Queen's cup, floats in the sluggish tide of Fort Point channel, Beside the South Street in Boston. The America is owned by former Congressman Butler Ames of Lowell, who inherited her from his grandfather, Gen. Benjamin F. Butler.

Every schoolboy knows that after her famous exploit in English waters, the America became a Confederate blockade runner under the name "Memphis" and was scuttled in the St. Johns River, Fla. during the war. The federal government raised her, and subsequently General Butler purchased the old yacht. She has been replanked several times, and her interior fittings, including many of her frames, have been renewed, but her model is practically the same that James Steers designed 62 years ago.

1914 TENNIS CONTEST

With the prospect none too favorable for a successful quest for the Davis cup in 1914, English lawn tennis authorities are lamenting the lack of youth "first flight" racket wielders. It is pointed out that the standard of English court play remains stationary while that of other tennis playing nations continues to improve. High ranking players between twenty and twenty-five years of age are almost unknown in England. The various national and sectional title holders are players well advanced in years and cannot be expected to increase either in ability or physical power.

"ROBIN HOOD" MASTERPIECE OF LIGHT OPERA STAGE

The de Koven Opera Company is responsible for the revival of "Robin Hood" which will be heard at the Wichita Theatre Friday, October 21. This organization has been founded for the purpose of reviving an interest in the masterpieces of the light opera stage. The first work selected for this purpose was the little classic that Reginald de Koven composed over twenty years ago, and which still maintains its freshness despite the flight of time. In fact it is safe to predict that generations yet unborn will enjoy the score and book of "Robin Hood" in the years to come. Originally written for the Bostonians and produced by them only because of the lack of other available material, this work of Reginald de Koven's found an immediate success and has been performed over 5,000 times. It is, safe to say, however, that no revival of "Robin Hood" has ever attained the dignity of the present one. For the cast the best singers from the grand opera stage were engaged. The keynote of the entire production has been artistic simplicity without over-elaboration. The scenes are faithful reproductions of old England when Robin and his merrie men roamed through Sherwood Forest. The costumes are in keeping with the period of the opera. In the list of singers who will be heard in "Robin Hood" the one dominant figure is Enrica Dill, a dramatic soprano, with that rare thing, a range of two and a half

PROLONGED LITIGATION OVER EDDY WILL END

Trustees Are Appointed To Administer Three Million Dollar Estate of Christian Science Leader

Concord, N. H., Oct. 20.—The final act in the prolonged litigation over the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, was the appointment in the Merrimack county court of probate of trustees to administer the $3,000,000 fund which Mrs. Eddy left for the promotion and extension of the doctrines of Christian Science as taught by her.

The trustees appointed are Archibald MacLellan, Allison V. Stewart, John V. Dittermore, Adam Dickey, and James A. Neal who constitute the board of directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston and Joseph E. Fernald of this city, a banker who has been the practical guardian of Mrs. Eddy's estate since the establishment of this trust in 1907; the court thus choosing as trustees men in whom Mrs. Eddy during her lifetime reposed confidence.

These appointments were made under a recent decision of the State supreme court which held that Mrs. Eddy's will established not a local but a world-wide general charitable trust to be administered under the general supervision of the courts of New Hampshire.

The docket was called in the county court this morning but none of the cases that had been set for trial were ready. Several cases are set for tomorrow.

1667 IN ATTENDANCE AT DALLAS SUNDAY SCHOOL

First Baptist Church at Dallas Had Probably Largest Attendance in Country Sunday

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 20.—The first Baptist Sunday school of Dallas was probably the most largely attended Baptist Sunday School in America yesterday, as the attendance at this school reached 1667. This is also said to be the record of all denominations in the South. The Sunday school of the Baptist Young People's Union of Texas reached 1,812 on the Second Sunday of the last summer's encampment, but although that was a regular Sunday school, at the Dallas school hour, yet it was not a local church school.

For some weeks Superintendent Robert H. Coleman has been receiving reports from some twelve or fifteen of the largest Baptist schools in America and each Sunday listing the five largest of the preceding Sunday on the blackboard. In a recent list three out of five of the largest in America were Baptist schools in Dallas, the other two being Gaston Avenue and Central of Oak Cliff with their Rally Day attendance. On the blackboard yesterday the list for the last Sunday showed Third Church, St. Louis, as leader with 1,112; the First Church, Dallas, as second with 1,064; and the Bible (Texas) Church third, with a Rally Day crowd of 944; the other two schools were Pine street, Richmond, Va., and Tabernacle School, Atlanta, Ga.

WINTER WEATHER IS DUE FOR COMING FEW DAYS

Forecast For Week Is For Chilly Temperatures East of the Rocky Mountains

Washington, Oct. 20.—Wintery weather is predicted for the next few days in the greater part of the country east of the Rocky Mountains. "It is probable," said the weekly bulletin Sunday that general frosts will occur in the first half of the week in the great central valleys, the Eastern States and the interior of the South. Normal temperatures will prevail on the Pacific Slope. There will be rains Monday in the Eastern States, the Upper Ohio Valley and the Great Lake region. Otherwise the next several days will be generally fair east of the Rocky Mountains.

The next disturbance of importance to cross the country will appear in the Northwest Tuesday or Wednesday next eastward and cross the great central valleys Thursday and Friday and the Eastern states near the end of the week; this disturbance will be preceded by a general change to high temperature, be attended by rains in the Southern and Middle States east of the Rocky Mountains and rains and snows along the Northern borders. It will be followed by colder weather, which will appear in the Northwest about Thursday.

"There are no indications of a disturbance in the West Indies."

CURIOUS CUSTOMS OF INDIA

Dancing Girls Married to Idols Representing Gods, Is One of the Oddities.

Parrots are taught in India to spend a large portion of their time in repeating the names of gods, and such a spokesman brings a good price, especially among business men, who imagine that by owning such a parrot their spiritual treasures are accumulating while they attend to their usual occupations.

Many of the dancing girls in India belonging to the temples are called the wives of the gods. At an early age they are united in wedlock to the images worshiped in the temple. This strange matrimonial connection is formed in compliance with the wishes of the parents, who believe it to be a highly meritorious act to present a beautiful daughter in marriage to a senseless idol.

The only foreigner who ever saw the inside of the great temple of Jagannath was an English collector, who succeeded in gaining admission by painting and dressing himself like a native.

When the Brahmins discovered that their holy place had been thus desecrated they became so enraged that all the English residing at the temple were obliged to flee for their lives.

Suspecting their pursuers to be more desirous of gratifying their avarice than their revenge, they strewed silver money by the way, and while the natives stopped to pick it up they gained time and succeeded in reaching a place of safety.

NOT REALLY HEROIC ACTION

Mr. Snibbles Expelled Burglar All Right, but Had Not Much Credit Coming to Him.

Mr. Snibbles got out of bed and slipped on his shoes.

"This must stop," he muttered irritably to his wife. "I'm going downstairs to teach that young man to keep away from my house in the future."

"John," cried his wife, "stop! Don't do—"

But before she could say more he had slipped out of the door. She heard him steal downstairs to the dressing room; she heard sounds of a struggle and the breaking of glass; she heard him drag his adversary to the hall and kick him down the front steps. Then when he returned she flung herself upon him and clung to him admiringly.

"What's the matter?" he demanded.

"Don't you know?" she answered. "That was a burglar!"

"Great Scott!" he gasped, turning pale. "Why didn't you tell me before? I thought it was Ethel's sweetheart!"

Japanese Greeting.

Nothing is more amusing than to watch two acquaintances saluting in the streets of a Japanese town. As they come in sight of each other they lacken their pace and approach with lowered eyes and averted face, as if neither was worthy of beholding the other; then they bow so as to bring the face on a level with the knee, on which the palms of the hands are rested.

A succession of hissing sounds in their ears, made by drawing the teeth between the closed teeth, interspersed with complimentary phrases uttered with great volubility, each trying to outdo the other.

At last the climax is reached and each endeavors to give precedence to the other. For perhaps a full minute the polite contest continues; then the ceremony abruptly ends, as if the difficulty were capable of none but a brusque solution, and the two pass on hurriedly, with a look of extreme relief.

The Japanese gentleman who has many acquaintances must require an hour to walk the length of a block on a city street.

The Eternal Feminine.

The South African natives in Boer-land still preserve their old customs, and one of the most curious is that of carrying off a girl for a wife. The custom is called "ukutwala," and the girl, though not indisposed to accept the man, causes every obstacle to be placed in his way.

The suitor watches his opportunity after first placing so many heads of cattle in the kral of the girl's father and eventually carries away the girl to his main force.

The heartrending cries of the bride, as she is carried away, are something pitiful—a cry that pierces the heart of a Christian, but his pity subsides when he learns that in native language it means:

"Don't take me, but don't let any one help me, because I want to go!"

Pure Fiction.

"We enjoyed your visit so much."

"Say, Central, I've been waiting 20 minutes."

"My wife and I never had a word with each other."

"I never wore a hat that cost less than $85."

"I've had only one drink today."

"I never put myself out for company."

"We did not have a fly in the house all summer."

"I've got to meet a customer tonight."

"We never have trouble keeping crickets."

"I was reared in luxury and refinement."

"When the baby came their happiness was complete."—Smart Set.

INDIVIDUALISM

Did you ever stop to think what it was that made your friend Jones or who ever it happened to be the kind of a character he was. Every time you think of him you remember some distinct characteristic.

What is it? You don't know and you never will, unless the Creator gives you a better vision in the next world, but the human brain is such a wonderful thing that it looks and at once perceives the varied characteristics that go to make up the different individual.

No other business calls for individualism like the one in which we are engaged. Our customers seek oftentimes to reflect the marked characteristics; and we thus record history for future generations to consider.

We always try to reflect the life of the individual, as near as possible, using marble, granite or bronze and the English language.

LEHIGH COMPANY DENIES IT IS PART OF COAL TRUST

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—The Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company, one of the defendants in the suit recently instituted in the United States court in this city to dissolve the so-called "hard coal trust," today filed its answer in which it denied any community of interest with the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, the Reading company and other corporations named in the litigation.

The company admits it constructed, owns and formerly operated the Lehigh & Susquehanna railroad and that it owns and controls coal lands in the Lehigh region from which it annually produces 3,700,000 tons. Arthur City—Material for the big bridge to be constructed by the Frisco Railway Company is arriving daily. The bridge will be built across the Red River and will cost $250,000.

A RECORD

We opened our doors for business on September 29th, 1889, have been under the same roof selling groceries ever since. It's a "CINCH" we wouldn't be here today, if we hadn't been about right. Don't you think so? We've got lots of customers we started with, and think more of that than we do of any financial success we may have made. We're still here at the old stand, and would like an opportunity to show you just why we have been able to stay. In the language of Battle Creek, "There's a Reason"
