INDIANAPOLIS SCENE OF RIOTS

MOB OF 5,000 FIGHTS IN STREETS OF INDIANA CAPITAL DURING STRIKE

STREET CARS ARE TIED UP

Governor Ralston Refuses to Call Out Troops—Says City Police Not Doing Duty

By Associated Press. Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—Governor Samuel M. Ralston tonight emphatically refused to take any action in the strike of street car employees, which completely tied up the city here at noon today. He told Mr. Shank, who advised the situation was beyond control by the city authorities, that the police were not doing full duty, and for the mayor to appeal to Sheriff Curtis of Marion county.

The mayor tonight conferred with the sheriff, but no decision was reached. No attempt has been made to move a car tonight, although about four hundred strike breakers were brought into the city this afternoon on a special train from Chicago. President Todd of the Street Railway Company, said tonight he was prepared to start the cars at any time police protection for them was offered.

Mob of 5,000 Fights.
For more than an hour late today, a mob estimated at 5,000 persons fought in the downtown business section before broken up by the mounted police. The trouble began when Joe Hinchman, a car inspector tried to repair a broken trolley pole on a car. The mob pulled Hinchman from the car and started to drag him to union headquarters when police rescued him.

The crowd continued to battle with the police until the mounted reserves arrived. At a meeting of business men with Mayor Shank, the advisability of closing the saloons until the strike is settled, was considered. Thousands of men and women walked the streets tonight wearing placards which read "We Walk—No You." Women took a prominent part in the disorder. They stood in the crowd defying the police and strike breakers.

Uncle Sam May Take Hand.
That the federal government may take a hand in the strike was intimated in a statement by Postoffice Inspector William T. Fletcher. The car company has a contract with the government to collect mail from substations. Inspector Fletcher declared the mails must be collected on schedule, and if they were not the government would start an investigation and make arrests if necessary.

All cars on the thirteen interurban lines which run into the heart of the city were held up by the traction company were stopped at the city limits. Deserted street cars, standing in the downtown streets were attacked by strike sympathizers and many windows were broken. The opinion is freely expressed that no attempt would be made to re-establish street car service until after the municipal election Tuesday.

Unions Oppose Violence.
President Beatty of the Central Labor Union today telephoned the governor, saying that the union disapproved of violence and charged that the police were at fault in not dispersing crowds and preserving order. Should the company care to make an effort to start its cars tomorrow, Superintendent of Police Highland said tonight he would try to give them enough police to stop rioting.

RECKLESS DRIVERS GUILTY OF MURDER

Men Convicted are Denied New Trial By Chicago Judge—Decision of Great Importance

By Associated Press. Chicago, Nov. 1.—A judicial decision said to be of great importance as precedent, was made here today by Judge Fogelmore Cooper when he declined to grant a new trial to two men convicted of murder in the use of automobiles. There have been convictions for manslaughter in similar circumstances, but this is the first instance in Illinois of conviction and sentence for murder.

The defendant, Frank Hrodek, and Lawrence Lindboom, were convicted in Judge Cooper's court, respectively of killing Patrick Connel, a retired merchant and Joseph Weiss, a cigar manufacturer. In both cases, testimony was produced showing that both defendants had been drinking and were driving without regard to the safety of pedestrians. Both defendants were professional chauffeurs.

By Associated Press. New York, Nov. 1.—Hans Kolehmainen established a new American record today by winning the ten mile run National A. A. U. athletic championship at Ohio field in fifty-one minutes three two-fifths seconds. He also broke all intermediate records between three and one-half and ten miles.

NEW YORK FIGHT NEARING ITS END

MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN IN METROPOLIS VIRTUALLY CLOSED SATURDAY NIGHT

FUSIONISTS ARE HOPEFUL

Campaign Develops in Mud Slinging Contest Centering Around Murphy and Sulzer

By Associated Press. New York, Nov. 1.—The battle for the mayoralty of New York with attendant skirmishes for lesser offices, virtually closed tonight, ending a campaign in which economic issues were buried under an exchange of personalities and a flood of vituperation. On Tuesday ballots will be cast. The foes of Tammany Hall, united under the Fusion standard with John Furroy Mitchell as their leader, have centered their fire upon Charles F. Murphy, Tammany chief.

Although a tireless campaigner, Mitchell was eclipsed as an orator by John A. Hennessy, a political comet whose course deflected candidates from their orbits of campaigning to acrimonious debate, largely centered about the recent removal of William Sulzer from office and revelations resultant therefrom. Hennessy was Sulzer's investigator of graft in state departments and he has made public what he claims to have unearthed in the way of corruption.

Fusion Leaders Hopeful.

Fusion leaders predicted tonight the election of Mitchell by pluralities ranging from 75,000 to 125,000. Tammany was equally confident that McCall would win by from 50,000 to 100,000. The turmoil of the campaign has resulted in unloosening the tongues of the Tammany chieftain for the first time in the memory of his followers. Under the assault, Mr. Murphy talked daily with reporters and on one occasion issued a statement of 1800 words.

Hardly less striking has been the apparent sympathy of the East Side for Sulzer in his fight for election to the Assembly on the progressive ticket in the sixth district. In the epidemic of mudslinging, one figure has been untouched: this is Charles S. Whitman, district attorney and candidate of all parties and factions for re-election. He is aiding in the fight against Tammany.

BLEACHERS COLLAPSE OVER HUNDRED HURT

Cheering That Greeted Gridiron Warriors Believed to Have Caused Accident

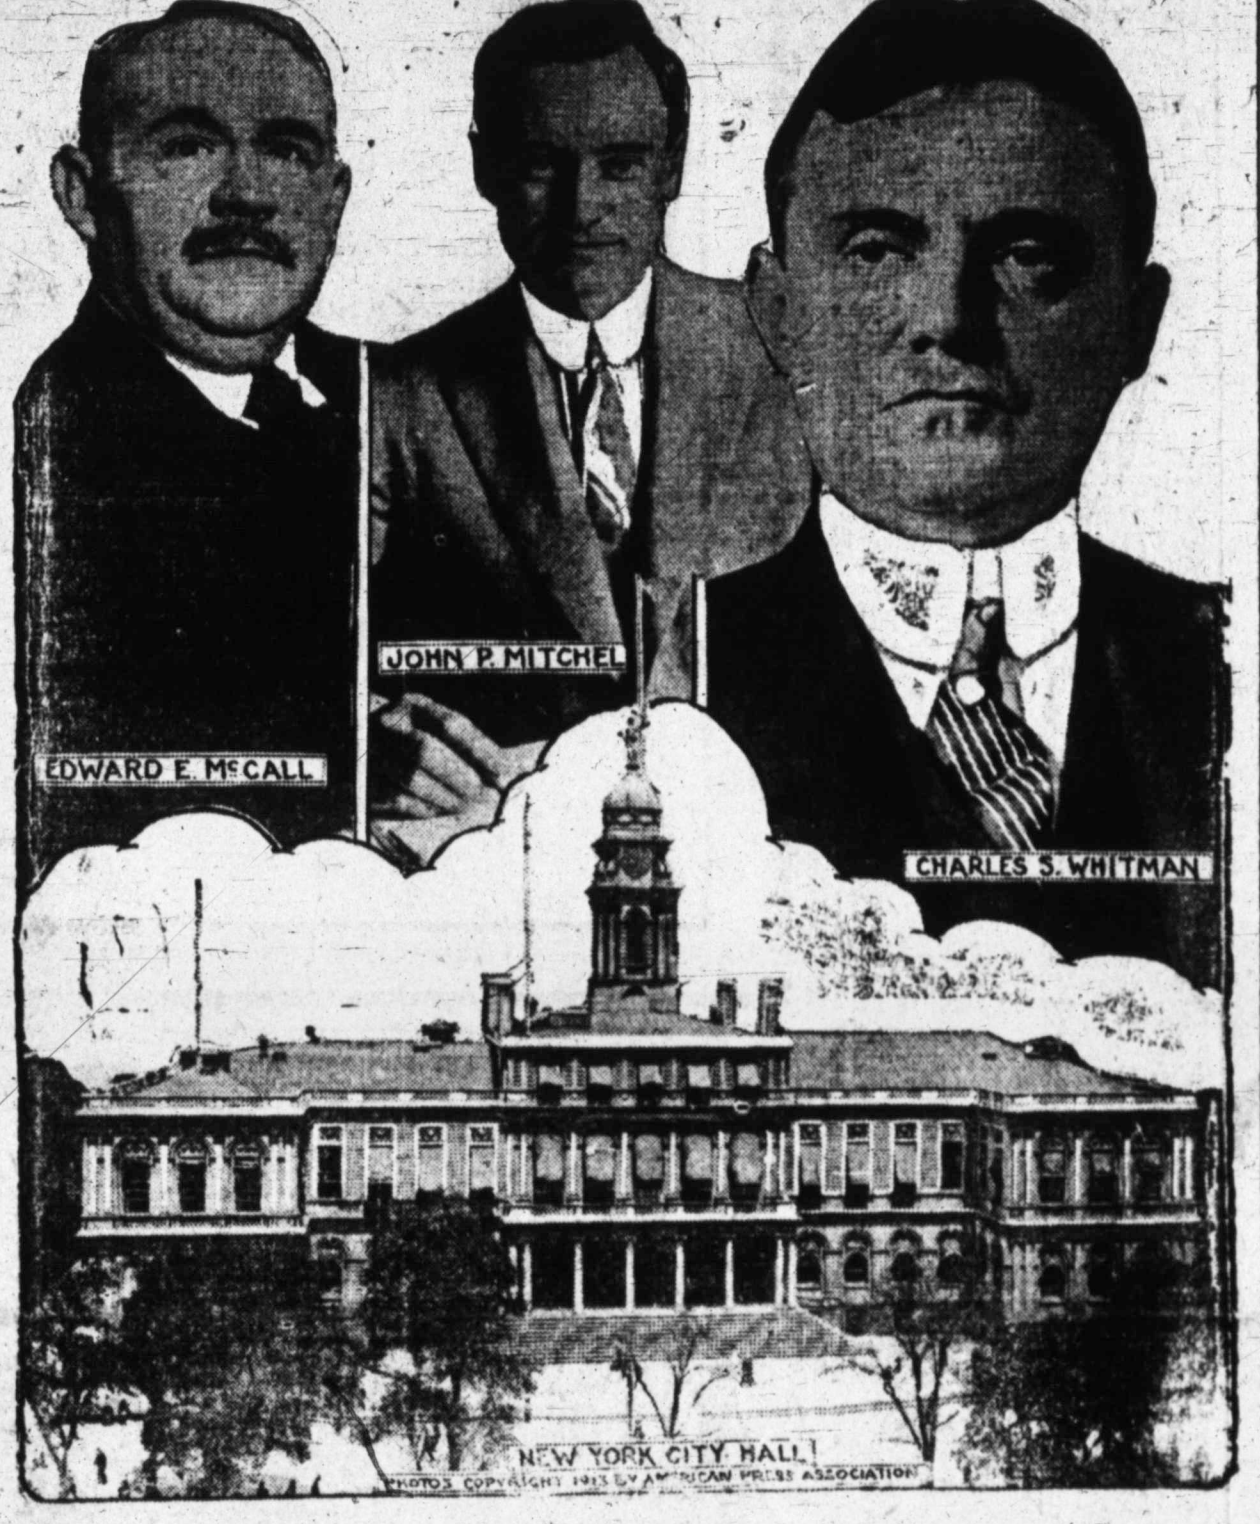

By Associated Press. Greencastle, Ind., Nov. 1.—One hundred or more persons, most of whom were women, were hurt, eight seriously when the bleachers on DePauw University athletic field collapsed just before the DePauw-Roose Polytechnic game this afternoon. More than seven hundred men and women were on the bleachers when they went down. The swaying of the crowd in cheering the DePauw team as it came on the field is believed to have been the immediate cause of the collapse.

Members of the trial board expressed satisfaction with the performance of the ship, which made 22.77 knots of her standardization run, an excess of 1.77 over the contract speed.

PREMIER ASQUITH BEATEN BY WOMEN

HIGH BRITISH OFFICIAL AND PARTY VICTIMS OF OUTRAGE BY MILITANTS

By Associated Press. Edinburgh, Scotland, Nov. 1.—Premier Asquith was attacked today by militant suffragettes, armed with dog whips. He was driving in an automobile accompanied by his daughter and Sir John Graham, a Scotch justice of the peace. The victims of the outrage were more frightened than hurt. The automobile was passing through the village of Pleau when it ran into a suffragette ambush. The "wild women" as they are called here, under cover of a shower of papers, rushed at the car and belabored the premier and his companions.

Government Silent As To Plans.

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 1.—Administration officials shed no further light today on their plans for dealing with the Mexican situation. The government here still is awaiting some announcements from the Huerta administration as to the result of the late election.

Reports describing the conduct of the election and giving impressions of the political situation generally in Mexico, were received today from John Lind at Vera Cruz. It is believed some of the suggestions under consideration here have been submitted to Mr. Lind for approval. It is not expected that any announcement of the situation will be made before next week.

Urges Massachusetts to Uphold President.

By Associated Press. Boston, Nov. 1.—The Orient, Europe and Mexico would regard the defeat of Massachusetts democratic candidate for governor, Lieutenant Governor David I. Walsh, a repudiation of President Wilson's foreign policies according to United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis who addressed a democratic rally here tonight.

"Mexico will go further," he said, "she will preach to her people that this condemnation was because the president had not recognized Huerta is the conclusion too far-fetched, that war might be precipitated with all its horrors."

Senator Lewis entered the Massachusetts campaign hurriedly at the request of President Wilson. While in Chicago Thursday, he received a telegram from Secretary Tammity immediately cancelled several conferences to hasten to this State.

"Foreign governments do not understand your state issues," he said, "but they do know Massachusetts; you decide this election against the democracy and the morning after this decision, the Japanese, recalling the fight of Massachusetts in behalf of the black man, will cry aloud that Massachusetts had repudiated her president on the yellow question. Mexico will go further; she will preach to her people that this condemnation was because he had not recognized Huerta."

INCOME TAX NOW BEING WITHHELD

IF YOUR PAY CHECK IS SHORT MAYBE ITS BECAUSE OF NEW TAX LAW

SELECTING COLLECTORS

Uncle Sam Needs 334 Collectors, 40 Agents, and Forty Inspectors for Service

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—With most of the regulations for the collection of the income tax out of the way, internal revenue officers today turned their attention to the selection of the staff to collect the money. In the next few months, 334 deputy collectors, forty agents and forty inspectors are to be appointed. Several thousand applications for these positions have been received at the treasury department. Appointments probably will be apportioned among the States.

Although the operation of the income tax, so far as concerns collection at the source of income, began today, the actual cash will not reach the treasury for many months. Corporations and others who pay interest on bonds and mortgages or who pay salaries will withhold the tax. The return of the sums withheld will be made early in the year, but the collections will not begin until June.

Wall Street Irritated.

By Associated Press. New York, Nov. 1.—Inauguration of the income tax law was the cause of much confusion in the financial district today. Institutions and banking houses which act as fiscal agents for large corporations were busy receiving and rejecting coupons, the latter course being taken in cases where certificates of ownership were lacking.

Wall street, as a whole, is irritated over the whole matter, its ill feeling resulting largely from the attitude of the treasury department which according to the Street has several times reversed itself in its regulations. At the house of J. P. Morgan & Company, the fiscal agents for many big corporations, coupons were received in large amounts subject to latest rules adopted at Washington. At the Chase National Bank, which has several thousand out-of-town correspondents from whom it collects coupons, payable here, it was said that coupons are not being received for deposit, but only for collection.

It was required that certificates accompanying the coupons state whether the bonds they represent were taxable or exempt.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS ARE AFFECTED BUT LITTLE

Only Slight Falling Off in First Month Under New Democratic Tariff Bill

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 1.—Although the new tariff act with its lowered rates of duty has been in effect practically a month, the customs receipts have so far shown little falling off. According to the treasury statement today, the customs receipts amounted to $30,128,000 for October just about $80,000 less than those of October, 1912. The deficit for the fiscal year to date, the statement shows, is $5,557,637, about $3,900,000 more than the deficit at the corresponding period last year.

Pension payments under the Sherwood act are apparently largely responsible for the larger deficit. The payments for the period in 1912 through October amounted to about $52,500,000 and for the same period this year to $57,000,000. The net balance in the general fund of the treasury at the close of today's business was $124,923,123, and the grand total of cash in the treasury was given at $2,937,846,343.

MIGHT HAVE WON DAYS HAVE COME

EVERYBODY IS EXPLAINING WHY THEY DIDN'T WIN THE SEASON'S PENNANT

MANAGERS BEING FIRED

This is Season of the Year When Mad Rumor Puts the Can on the Most of Them

The bleak and dreary days have come and bring the story near. Of how we might have won the race and not brought up the rear. As each enthralling tale unfolds the story glows anew. Of how the boys failed in the pinch, Of how they slipped down inch by inch. And every single mother's son is telling how we might have won.

The pitchers started with a whoop, but then approached the darkening days of deep and dull despair. As each enthralling tale unfolds the story glows anew. Of how the pitchers' arms went lame Of how the batters slumped and tamed.

And every single mother's son is telling how we might have won. Sad tales be those of blasted hopes and plans that went astray. But breaking in upon the gloom there comes a shining ray. As each enthralling tale unfolds the story glows anew. Of how next year will roll around. And bring to every mother's son The punch that kills the might have won.

New York, Nov. 1.—It's about time for a seventh inning stretch. With the Giants and White Sox well started on their world tour and the spring training season four months away somebody may have to go out for fuel to keep the stove going for the comfort of the Winter League. Gunning for members of the Honorable Order of Deposed Managers by the Winter League officials has been good to date. Reports have put Bill Dahlen and Joe Tinker in the Order. Muelendal has come from Brooklyn. President Lynch of the National League shares with Tinker and Dahlen the honor of being mentioned as among those who may lose their jobs before the gates are again opened. The annual meeting of the league of fields when this argument will be settled comes in December. Starting out by firing two managers and a league president is a good get-away for the stove league. No doubt Miller Huggins of St. Louis might have been included in the list of prospective victims, had not the Rabbit beat them to it. Huggins has signed the warrant sentencing him to appear as manager of the Cardinals again. Among other celebrities to be mentioned as candidates for the receiving end of a firing order are Merkle and Snodgrass, the two Freds of the New York Giants. Visions of Merkle's failure to touch second in the famous game with the Cubs were brought up by the first sacker's play on Baker in the last game of the world's series which allowed Murphy to score. It could hardly be called a play, either, as Merkle gave an exhibition that led many into an argument as to whether boring into Merkle's head wouldn't reveal plans for a hesitation glide rather than baseball brains. They are still trading Merkle for Keney of the St. Louis Cardinals and if the work keeps up the Big Train may yet get into a Giant uniform.

A. AND M. LOSES TO MISSISSIPPI

SPLENDID GAIN BY RIGHT HALF MACARTHUR CONTRIBUTES TO THE VICTORY

FINAL SCORE IS 6 TO 0

Mississippians Back up Star With Steady and Consistent Play—Their Defense Strong

By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, Nov. 1.—Splendid gains by MacArthur, right half for Mississippi A. & M. College, backed up by steady work by his team-mates, gave that team a six to nothing victory over Texas A. & M. here today. The lone touchdown was made in the first quarter. MacArthur received Texas' kick-off and skillfully eluding tacklers rushed the ball back forty-five yards. Mississippi lost the ball on downs, but the Texans were unable to advance against the visitors' defense and punted. Slowly but surely, the Mississippi Aggies worked the ball back to Texas' fifteen yard line, when MacArthur again was called upon and skirted Texas' right guard for twelve yards. From the three yard line, Wells, Mississippi full back, carried the ball across for the first and only touchdown of the game. The visitors' goal never was in real danger. Captain Beasley made the most consistent gains for the Texans. The game ended with the ball on Texas' three yard line. The line-up: A. & M.—Mullin, left end; Faber, left tackle; Rice, left guard; Powell, center; Trew, right guard; Braumiller, right tackle; Cardwell, right end; Beasley, left half; Toomas, right half; Bonner, quarter; Coleman, full back. Mississippi A. & M.—Hurst, left end; Potter, left tackle; Lewey, left guard; Ruffin, center; Spurlock, right guard; Rainey, right tackle; McClure, right end; Baker, left half; MacArthur, right half; Conney, quarter back; Ellis, full back.

LOCALS LOSE TO VERNON ELEVEN

WILBARGER COUNTY BOYS GET REVENGE BY SCORE OF TWELVE TO SEVEN

SUPERIOR WORK IN LINE

Wichitans Unable to Make Openings at Crucial Moments—Much Squabbling During Game

Vernon high school put something of a crimp—a temporary one, at least—in Wichita Falls' championship aspirations, when her football eleven won from the locals, twelve to seven, at the city park yesterday afternoon. Superior weight and strength in the line gave the heavy end of the score to the visitors. The game was marred by much squabbling and fussing and while the actual playing was a stubborn contest, penalties and demands for penalties prevented a much prettier game. Vernon made the first touchdown in the first quarter, Young, taking the ball cross the line after a series of line plays. Wichita Falls came back in the second quarter when she worked the ball to within striking distance of the Vernon goal, then executed a neat forward pass. Trotter to Skeen, the latter dodging beautifully through the enemy's back field and crossing the line. Trotter kicked goal and the first half ended with the score seven to six in the locals' favor. Wins in Second Half. Wichita Falls started the second half brilliantly, but failed to keep up the pace and Vernon gradually got the ball down the field until when the quarter ended, it was almost across the Wichita Falls line; in the last quarter, Clyde Young of Vernon, went the short remaining distance and made the score twelve to seven in Vernon's favor. The locals rallied again and a series of neat forward pass put them close to the Vernon goal. In the last few minutes of play, with only a few feet to go, Wichita Falls hammered the Vernon line and found it impregnable, the ball going over on downs. Vernon kicked out of the danger zone and in the few remaining seconds, Wichita Falls made a plucky but almost hopeless effort to get another score. The game ended with the ball well in Vernon's territory. On the very first play, Jungk, full back for the local, was struck in the head and forced to retire. Wichita Falls lost the game through the inability of her line to stop the visitors; one redeeming feature was the forward pass work, which the locals executed perfectly several times; Vernon was unable to accomplish much with this play and gave it up after several failures. Averages Former Defeat. This result even up things between Wichita Falls and Vernon. Last Saturday at Vernon, Wichita Falls won by a three point margin, and her claim to the championship of Northwest Texas was disputed only by Mineral Wells; yesterday's result puts Vernon once more in the running for championship honors. Last night the members of both teams were tendered a reception at the J. A. Richolt home. The lineup: Vernon—White center; Mathews, right guard; Abbott, right tackle; Fain, right end; J. Liles, left guard; Swinburn, left tackle; Bishop, left end; Stine, right half; McCurdy and Berry, left half; Young, full back; D. Liles, quarter back. Wichita Falls—Hawthorne, center; Jones and Anglin, guards; Lawler and Powell, tackles; Skeen and Dugan, tackles; Trotter, quarter

Arkansas 26, Austin College 7. Fort Smith, Ark., Nov. 1.—Although defeating Austin College of Sherman Texas, in a pretty game here today, the Arkansas University team was scored against for the first time this year. The final score was Arkansas 26, Austin College 7. Tuck of Aus in College starred with his forward passing.

Minnesota 21, Wisconsin 3. Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—Wisconsin's conference football championship was lost this afternoon when Minnesota's eleven inflicted an unexpected one sided defeat on the Badgers, twenty-one to three.

Coalgate Defeats Yale. New Haven, Nov. 1.—Coalgate found Yale's much vaunted defense more of a tradition than an actuality today and defeated the Blues sixteen to six, by superior football. It was the first time this year that Yale has been scored upon and Coalgate goes down in the football hall of fame as one of the very few colleges to defeat Yale. Coalgate's team was fast, well balanced and splendidly drilled. Cornish, who was playing a star game at quarter for Yale, had his jaw broken just before the close of the second period and his substitute failed to measure up to his standard.

Georgia Tech 28, Tennessee 0. Atlanta, Nov. 1.—Crashing through Sewanee's line at will and circling the ends for long gains, Georgia Tech's football eleven this afternoon defeated the Tennessee team twenty-six to nothing.

Navy 39, Lehigh 0. Annapolis, Nov. 1.—Navy's football eleven easily defeated Lehigh University here today thirty-nine to nothing. The game was marked by long tearing plunges through the line by the Navy.

Carle 34, Georgetown 0. Washington, Nov. 1.—Resorting to the main to straight football, but occasionally using the forward pass, the Carle Indians overwhelmed Georgetown University here today 34 to 0.

Harvard 23, Cornell 3. Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—The strength of the Crimson first line and the weakness of the second string were brought out in Harvard's game today against Cornell, which the Crimson won, 23 to 6. While Brickley and the other stars were in the game, one touchdown was scored in each of the three periods and Brickley, aside from scoring all three of them, kicked his customary goal from the field.

Princeton 54, Holy Cross 0. Princeton, Nov. 1.—Princeton's reconstructed football eleven defeated Holy Cross this afternoon by 54 to 0. The visitors never even threatened Princeton's goal line.

Dartmouth 21, Amherst 7. Amherst, Mass., Nov. 1.—Dartmouth won a hard fought game from Amherst today 21 to 7. The contest was closer than the score would indicate.

Notre Dame Wins From Army. West Point, Nov. 1.—The Army football eleven was beaten by Notre Dame by a score of 25 to 13. The Cadets were outclassed in every department except in the second quarter, when they scored both their touchdowns and they looked like no

MORE ATROCITIES REPORTED IN THE RUBBER DISTRICTS. By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 1.—Unofficial reports have been received here of alleged outrages on Bolivian natives in the rubber country almost paralleling the Putumayo atrocities in Peru. Following the precedent set in the latter case, officers expect Great Britain will call on the United States to investigate and in that case the facts will be examined by consular officers and reports made to London.

Stamford—November 19th is the date that the tenth quarterly meeting of the Central West Texas Agricultural Association will be held here. An elaborate program is being planned for the occasion and some of the best known speakers in the state will be secured.

TOP PRICES PAID FOR COTTON SEED HERE
Reports Show Wichita Falls Buyers are Paying Highest Prices Paid in State

According to figures published in the Dallas News, Wichita Falls is practically leading the state in the prices paid by local mills for cotton seed, the local offering being $24 per ton. The average price throughout the State is from $15 to $20, while at some points it is as low as $10.

No reason is assigned for the marked discrepancy in prices between the various towns and the only reason local buyers are paying such comparatively prices, as far as can be learned, is that they have to pay it to get the seed. The Dallas News figures show that Wichita Falls is paying more than any other Texas city, with an occasional exception.

ANOTHER 150 FOOT WELL IN PERKINS, SNYDER AND NORTON HAVE FIVE-BARREL PRODUCER AT THAT DEPTH

OTHER NEWS FROM FIELD
Sheldon and Powell Have Good Showing at Fowkes—Real Oil From Moran Well

Another of the 150 foot wells has been brought in by Perkins, Snyder and Norton, making two last week. The second one is the Young tract, just across the line from the Threadgold. These wells cost about a dollar a foot to drill and are making five barrels a day, so that they are pretty profitable.

The latest from Moran is that No. 1 Wilds which first was classed as a gas well with a light spray of oil, has cleaned itself out and bids fair to settle down to a real oil producer, but definite information was not available last night. The discovery of oil in the Edwards well comes as the result of a persistent, determined campaign by the oil companies, principally the Producers, who got busy when gas was first struck. Gasers and dry holes were found in plenty and last week No. 1 Edwards came in with the first oil. Excitement is said to be high in that section and there are prospects for much new work.

Producers No. 8 W. B. Honaker, which flowed at a 200 barrel rate for several days from a 790 foot sand has been drilled a few feet deeper, with the result that it is now putting 275 barrels into the tank daily.

Producers No. 1 Herron was among the week's completions at Electric, good for about thirty barrels.

The banquet which it had been planned to tender J. C. Straus, the retiring district superintendent of the Guffey Company tomorrow night, will not be held until later in the week, as Mr. Straus will not be in the city.

Sheldon and Powell are reported to have a good showing in their well on the north side of the railroad tract at Fowkes Station. Collis and Cochran have reached the sand in their third well in the same district. Six wells are now pumping in this district and none is making less than thirty-five barrels, according to reports. One of these wells is owned by Smith, Brooks and Allen, three are owned by the Hillboro Oil Company and two are owned by Cochran and Collis.

FRENCH JOCKEY CLUB EXCLUSIVE
ITS PRESIDENCY NOW VACANT. DUE TO DEATH—IS QUITE A UNIQUE ORGANIZATION

NEW MILITARY METHODS
Advent of Fighting Air Craft Makes It Necessary to Change From Some Old Ideas

By Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 1.—The death of the Duke de Fezensac, head of the great Mentequilou family, renders vacant the important office of president of the French Jockey club, one of the world's most exclusive clubs.

Founded in 1883, on the same lines as the English Jockey club, by the celebrated Lord Henry Seymour, it numbered among its fourteen foundation members the Duke of Nemours, Prince of the Moskowa, and Count Dandolo. High social position and large fortune have always been the appreciable conditions of membership; one black ball in six suffices to exclude. The etiquette of the club is of the strictest, and a long period of mourning will elapse before the election of the new president takes place. The post is not an easy one to fill.

First, there are the social qualifications, which are many; secondly, the successful candidate must devote much time to his duties. Both the late Duke de Fezensac and his predecessor, the Duke de Doudeauville, were admirable in these respects. The president is usually taken from among the four vice presidents, but of these at present two are considered too elderly and neither of the other two seems to have enough weight for the post. The Jockey Club has a predilection for members of French noble families and, outside of royalties, admits comparatively few foreigners. There are at present a thousand members; but it is only on rare occasions that anything like a number assemble. The club is a solemn and dignified institution. It never gives entertainments and women are rarely, if ever, admitted.

U. S. Financial Policy.
"America's first step towards a new policy," is the way George Scelle, professor of International Law at the University of Dijon, describes the French proposal which resulted in the International convention of 1907 on the collective recovering of contract debts from defaulting states. This policy has resulted, the professor writes in the Franco-American Review, in a de facto protectorate of the United States over several Latin American countries. The "protectorate" must not be taken in its ordinary sense as "implying the giving up of interior government and especially the control of exterior relations to the agents of the protector who are ostensibly installed in the administration of the protected country."

"The recent interventions of the United States," says he, "in Central America, in San Domingo, Honduras, Nicaragua and Mexico, recall attention to the constant manifestation of North American imperialism in the affairs of the Latin states. This course of action comes about as a result of direct intervention. It takes a logical course according to the circumstances of the case, appearing at one time as a political intervention, or at another in the form of tutelage, pacific in principle, political in effect, pacific in result, which one scarcely knows how to classify among the institutions of international law. Notwithstanding criticism directed against this policy, it appears impossible to deny that the work undertaken is one of civilization."

Lieutenant Colonel E. Picard finds that the firing of one shell of the 12-inch naval gun costs 4,250 francs, or about $970. This amount is divided as follows: The cost of the projectile, which weighs 440 kilograms (about 970 pounds), is 1,500 francs ($300). The charge weighs 135 kilograms (about 297 pounds) and costs 1,100 francs (about $220). The gun costs 350,000 francs (about $70,000). Taking the life of the gun as 200 shots, each shot would cost 1,750 francs, or about $350.

The plan invisible uniform. The ambitious role which the dirigible and the aeroplane will have in future wars has convinced European governments of the necessity of covering an invisible uniform. During the recent French manoeuvres the troops of both sides spent a good deal of their time in deceiving the enemy's craft. Immediately an aeroplane appeared in the sky, the order was given to hide, and the soldiers were forced to lie behind hedges or under whatever cover was available until the air scout was out of sight.

The French military authorities acquired the conviction that the only hope of taking an enemy by surprise in modern warfare lay in being able adequately to hide from his air ships. For it was demonstrated that by means of their air fleets both General Pau and General Chomer, commanding the armies of the French manoeuvres, had almost as accurate a knowledge of their enemy's movements as of their own troops.

The chief for future French uniforms which proved to be the least visible from above appears to be a blue-gray material, light in tone, with a reddish tinge. It is quite distinct from khaki and from the greenish cloth which was tested in the French army a couple of years ago.

ENGAGEMENTS IN LONDON BROKEN
SUFFRAGETTE MOVEMENT IS CHARGED WITH BEING PRIMARILY RESPONSIBLE

OTHER NEWS OF ENGLAND
Country's Income from Colonies and Foreign Industries Placed at Thirteen Billions

London, Nov. 1.—During the last few weeks the society columns of the London papers have contained an ever increasing number of announcements of broken marriage engagements.

Many explanations have been put forward for this public admission of disengagements between engaged couples. The poet naturally explains it by reasoning that spring is the time for love-making and fall for wearing affections, and as the autumn months come along the lovers find they are not suited to one another. Others, however, blame the feminist movement which now has to stand the brunt of so many attacks.

Charles, the novelist, advances this reason: "I do not mean," he said, "that all women and girls are suffragists, or are even in sympathy with the movement, but it undoubtedly has led the girl of today to take a broader view of life than her mother did. The worldly-minded mother of fifty years ago, whose daughter was carefully nurtured and secluded, had little difficulty in persuading the girl into a desirable marriage. Conditions have changed since those days, and a girl is now brave enough, if she finds after having been engaged to a man for a few weeks, that marriage would mean future unhappiness, to break the engagement."

The first week of November is to be observed by the suffragists in the United Kingdom as a national week of prayer for woman suffrage. A call has been issued by various suffrage societies of the Catholic Church, the Church of England, Jewish League, the Quakers, the Scottish Churches and other bodies.

The preamble invites the prayers of all suffragists "in the belief that the enfranchisement of women is in accordance with the will of God. The observance is proposed in the following manner: 'Every individual suffragist who recognizes that her claim for the enfranchisement of women is based on justice and righteousness, and can be rightly and conscientiously pleaded before God, is asked to join in this week of prayer.'

New Foreign Exits.
Four duchesses, two of them Americans, have taken up their residence at Roehampton, a one-time very fashionable suburb of London, and still considered one of the most desirable residential districts. As a result, the town, or rather the colony which consists largely of big comfortable Victorian houses, each surrounded by some fifteen acres or more of grounds, is looking forward to a return of its social importance. The duchesses who are responsible for this expected revival are their Graces of Marlborough and Roxburgh, both Americans; the Duchess of Westminster, who has left the more stately residence of her husband for a house in this district, and the recently widowed Millicent, Duchess of Sutherland.

There is no pretence place on the borders of London, Roehampton, the nearest town is Putney, although Americans; the Duchess of Westminster, who has left the more stately residence of her husband for a house in this district, and the recently widowed Millicent, Duchess of Sutherland.

The Grand Duke Michael-Alexandrovich, the only brother of the Emperor of Russia, who aroused the displeasure of his royal brother by his marriage to a Viennese woman not of royal parentage, has taken up his residence in England, thus adding another to the interesting colony of exiles who have made this country their home.

The Grand Duke has taken a long lease of Knebworth House, the ancestral seat of Lord Lytton, near Harpenden, and has already moved in. This makes the second Russian Grand Duke who, because of morganatic marriage, has come to England to stay. The other, the Grand Duke Michael Michaelovitch, a first cousin once removed of the Emperor, who married Countess Torby, has a home at Hempstead. His two daughters are almost as English as his neighbors, and his wife, still known as Countess Torby, has for years taken a prominent part in the social life of London and England generally.

The Emperor's brother will doubtless be just as welcome in English society. His mother, the Dowager Empress Marie, is a sister of the Queen Mother of England, and despite the fact that his marriage did not please his family, it is not likely to make any difference to his social status in this country.

Income From Abroad.
England's assessed income, from abroad, as set forth in the income tax statistics of last year, reached the immense total of nearly $12,000,000,000. These incomes are derived from foreign mines, gas works, waterworks, tramways, breweries, tea and coffee plantations, nitrate grounds, oil fields, land, financial, telegraphic cable, shipping and insurance companies, branches of banks and mercantile companies, mortgages on property, loans and deposits abroad and profits of all kinds arising from business done abroad by manufacturers, merchants and commission agents. When it is realized how great is the capital invested by Englishmen abroad in these varied enterprises the immense aggregate income, outside that included in the income tax statistics, can be imagined.

According to the same statistics, there are 214 persons in the United Kingdom with an income of $275,000.

which means that there are many persons possessing a capital of about $6,000,000 each. But these are not the richest Englishmen. There are 66 with an income of $500,000 and over 55 with an income of from $375,000 to $500,000, 37 with incomes of $325,000 to $375,000, and 56 with incomes of from $275,000 to $325,000. Furthermore, there are 4,143 persons which means the possession of a capital of $1,000,000 or more. Consequently, the total of persons in the country who possess at least $1,000,000 does not fall short of 4,571.

LAST BODIES REMOVED FROM WELL AT FREDERICK.

The last two bodies were recovered from the city well at Frederick at noon Saturday, according to a message received here last night from that place. The two bodies recovered yesterday were those of John O'Dell and Holy Wilson. O'Dell's head was crushed into a shapeless mass but Wilson's body was little mutilated.

The funerals of all the victims have been held excepting that of M. A. Dean, the contractor. His body will be taken to Vernon, his old home town for burial.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 2, 1913

The short cotton crop has, of course, hurt to some extent, but in spite of that drawback old Wichita is pushing right along just as if nothing of the sort had occurred. The statements just issued by the four banks in this city show a substantial increase in deposits over this time last year; the post-office receipts for October, 1913, show an increase of 11 per cent over October of 1912; there are 600 more scholars enrolled in the independent school district of Wichita Falls than in 1912; many new and handsome business structures are under construction, and many more are being planned and will be under construction before the end of the year; the city's public utilities—street railway, waterworks, electric light and telephone systems—are extending and reaching out, and the city generally is enlarging, growing and extending never before. In fact, it begins to look as if nothing short of an earthquake can stop our growth. Neither panics or droughts can dampen the enthusiasm of the Wichita Falls town-builder, and in Wichita Falls every man is in that class.

A city the size of Wichita Falls should have at least five or six miles of paved streets, but Wichita Falls can never hope to have as many blocks of streets paved as she ought to have, unless some provision is made whereby the city can be made financially able to take care of its portion of the improvement. This can be done by the adoption of the proposed new aldermanic charter to be voted on November 26th. If it should be adopted, it will call for a higher tax rate. Everybody knows this, and a majority of those who pay a greater portion of the tax will make no objection to the raise in the tax rate. The fellow who pays but little or no tax rate will hardly feel the increase, and is working for wages, he has all to gain and nothing to lose by voting for the new charter, in that it will enable the city to make needed improvements, thereby giving employment to more labor. No municipal government ever built a city by its own efforts, but all municipal governments should be placed in a position where they can keep up with the procession. In this respect Wichita Falls is handicapped, and will continue to be until a new charter, carrying with it greater municipal power, is voted by the citizens. For this reason the Times trusts the new proposed charter will be adopted as submitted, and the parts of it against which the worst objections are urged need not be enforced. After the first two years these objections can be removed, and amendments made to the charter, in the event there is any great demand to have the charter amended, or parts of it eliminated.

Several weeks ago it was announced with something like the flourish of the melodrama, that a reconciliation had been patched up between Mr. William J. Bryan, the secretary of state, and Mr. Champ Clark, those two eminent Democrats having since been estranged since Mr. Bryan foiled the plot of Tammany Hall at Baltimore to make Mr. Clark the Democratic nominee for president.

Mr. Clark in his public letter announced that he had forgiven Mr. Bryan, but recent developments indicate that he has not forgotten. One day last week Mr. Clark had published a letter he had addressed to the secretary of the Upper Mississippi River association, declining to deliver an address before that body. After stating that his official duties required his presence in Washington, Mr. Clark wrote:

I say no word of criticism of other people in like cases, but it seems to me to be dishonest for a person to receive money from the government for not performing his duties and then to leave his post to make money on the lecture platform.

The animus of this is clear, as Mr. Clark had not been offered money to make this address. He simply lugged the lecture platform in to aim a shaft at Mr. Bryan, and his remarks were loudly construed as an attack upon the secretary of state.

Mr. Clark will probably never get over what happened at Baltimore, but if the truth could be known, the probabilities are that even had Tammany been able to nominate him, he would probably have been defeated at the polls.

THE MODERN COMMANDMENT—GO THOU AND SIN

(By W. G. Long)

Down from the Creation, or shortly thereafter, came the famous or so infamous saying, "Am I my brother's keeper?" That brother has shifted a responsibility that is religiously observed today. It is true that an angel's spirit can live in a body that is made of flesh and blood, and beautiful things, polished but precious, lie buried in the muck and slime at the very bottom of our cities.

This story is for plain people. For people who have sinned, but still have hope of being able to sometime rise above their putrid surroundings. It will take patience; it will be going over and over the same ground again and again, tuning the feelings to the insults of the "nobler than thou" characters; but ever keeping in mind that from decayed vegetable life spring the many folded rose-buds and the opened fruit. I have moralized possibly more than necessary for this is the old, old story of the death of self respect, with an unusual ending in a Christian land.

She was just an ordinary, everyday, common young girl whom God in His wisdom had given a voice like the old songs, the songs that grip you and make you write letters home. "Old folks at home," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Home, Sweet Home," with a voice as free and untrained as the birds in the woods. This was years ago that the street minstrel sang.

The moral and physical weak mother died, leaving the "brand of Cain" on the white brow of her offspring. Without the guiding hand of the white sealer opened and grasped her purity and the precious better self was pledged to a life of shame. She did not set the fingers of scorn that were pointed at her; some whose hands were reder from crimes concealed than hers were, as she flouted them openly in the face of society. But no matter when the stone door of the sepulcher closed on the moral death of this child, a new being was born with a resolution to destroy as many of the clan that had destroyed her womanhood, and had deprived her of God's choicest gift, the gift of motherhood. It was a new being that was born. A crafty, subtle, lying brutal being, with her back against the wall, fighting the fight against society, against her conscience, against her God and the man who had wrought her ruin.

With this spirit she donned the near robe of her people, the gown fell gracefully over the serpent form and concealed its coil and its deadly fang. In defense of her I wish to say she was born tired, born of poor overworked, ill-fed parents, fed on unwholesome food, inheriting the weakness and the worn-outness of the parents, fulfilling the scriptures "that unto the third and fourth generation."

She selected, to what seemed to her, a life of ease. (God forgive that expression) for the tired child, child in brain and body, fed on parents, fed on unwholesome food, inheriting the weakness and the worn-outness of the parents, fulfilling the scriptures "that unto the third and fourth generation."

they are the established guardians for. Two kinds of ignorance of the law: the one when the Master suffered through ignorance on the cross, the other when the first offense man is garbed in stripes and his manhood is murdered and stamps him with the indelible stamp of the out-law of society. But the fee system is uppermost in the mind of the man that is elected to protect and defend the citizenship of the community. If his prayer could be heard it would be:

"Oh Lord for more convictions and more fees." While a witness the girl in this story was brought before the tribunal. What a change in the few short years. The sweet voiced minstrel was changed to a throaty rump cracked squeak. The former long tapering white hands were seared and yellow from smoking the coffin nails. Her red lips and cheeks, once so healthy and natural, was now rouged and her eyes had lost their lustre. She was an animal brought to bay. She pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking the laws of man and one of the commandments of God. She threw herself on the mercy of the court, and prayed for clemency. She was sentenced to jail and to pay a fine. She had no money; they never have. O, what a chance to say "Go thou and sin no more." But it was not said, but instead they said, "Go thou into thy sinning ways; ply thy hellish conduct until you have brought me enough to pay your fine and bring me my fee. We will allow you a convict's bond while you earn money to pay."

A story you say. I wish it were only a romance, for from where I sit writing these lines I can hear the moaning and the low rumbling of a shipment of cattle packed into the cars to be shipped for slaughter. I am thinking that the quick stab of the long knife as the victim passes by, is painless and rapid, and the fate of these cattle is sweet and cheering compared with the interminable days and the nights of greasy that the poor, happy street cleaner is remanded to. I believe no, a thousand times no. For there is a broad macadam highway to every heart if we but look for it.

The fee system has destroyed good citizens. If the man is hounded to the penitentiary, he loses his respect of the law and its executors, and he becomes an enemy to society. In the dawn of this new era, there is hope, a hope that someone will initiate laws that will reclaim instead of eternally dam the morally diseased men and women.

Musings of a City Builder.

(By L. M. Ward, Sherman, president of the Texas Commercial Association.) They took a little hustle and they took a little grit, A little optimism, And some get up and go, A little thought and patience, A little effort too, A little work to do.

They took some perseverance And some persistency, Some firm determination, Some real consistency, Tenacity and courage, They added to the rest; A little public spirit, Some nerve to stand the test.

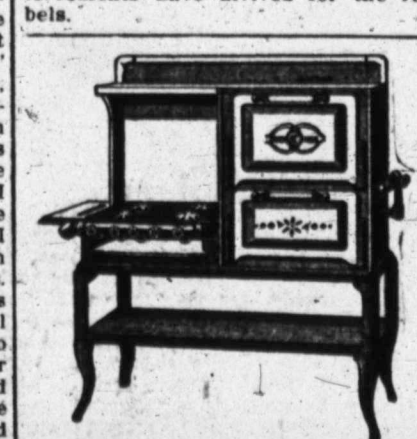

Plan Congress of Religions.

Leading Japanese have accepted a suggestion coming from religionists in the United States to hold a universal congress of religions in Tokio in the spring of 1915.

The suggestion was brought here by the Reverend Doctor J. T. Sunderland, who is traveling in the Far East, representing particularly the American Unitarian Association and the British and Foreign Unitarian Association. The object of the congress is to break down the existing barriers that divide religions and nations and races. The idea, therefore, has been welcomed in Japan as a step in bringing about a closer understanding between the peoples of the United States and Japan.

MANY WOUNDED ARE BROUGHT TO MATAMOROS.

(By Associated Press.) Brownsville, Texas, Nov. 1.—A troop train bearing 101 wounded from Monterey of whom sixty were constitutionally sound and forty-one were feeble, arrived at hospitals in Matamoros today. The fighting at Monterey, officers say, was conducted unaided by the column of General Gonzalez and he was forced to withdraw from within the city upon the arrival of 1500 reinforcements for the federalists. The city is now being surrounded by the rebels and it is expected hard fighting will be resumed within a day or two. Heavy reinforcements have arrived for the rebels.

JAPANESE MILLIONAIRE CONSECRATES LIFE AND FORTUNE TO HAGIS MEMORY

Universal Congress of Religions May Be Held in Tokio in 1915—Is Suggested by American

(By Associated Press.) Tokio, Nov. 1.—A picturesque instance of Japanese hero worship is reported from Kobe, where Sanjin Murano, a millionaire business magnate, has announced his intention of consecrating his life and fortune to the late General Nogi, the hero of Port Arthur, who, together with his wife, committed suicide by hara-kiri on the night of the funeral of Emperor Mutsuhito last year. Mr. Murano has decided to retire from business and has severed his connections with all the concerns in which he has held important posts.

The announcement was made on the anniversary of the tragic death of the great soldier, whose loyalty and devotion to the country and its ruler have been held in great admiration and reverence by the retiring business man.

Mr. Murano will build a temple at Fushimi, in the vicinity of the mausoleum of Emperor Mutsuhito, as a memorial to General Nogi, and in that sanctuary Mr. and Mrs. Murano intend to spend their remaining days. He will also build an industrial school for children of the poor in order to cultivate the spirit of industry and the love of work, which the late General Nogi always insisted upon for this purpose.

Mr. Murano started his life as a modest municipal officer, and his fortune he has amassed in due to his own hard work and business talent. He is now sixty-six years of age.

The entire population of the small island of Nakashima, of the Ten Islands Group in Southern Japan, has been threatened with extermination by a veritable plague of rats.

Nakashima is inhabited by a dozen families, all engaged in agriculture. The rodents increased there at such an enormous rate that they absolutely took possession of the island, ravaging the farms and devastating the crops, and actually attacking cattle and other livestock. The inhabitants killed or captured 5,000 of them, but not before they had lost all their provisions.

The authorities were forced to send them from the island. Meantime, a campaign was organized from without to exterminate the rodents. This was a difficult matter, as they had burrowed retreats in all parts of the island.

U.S. MONEY NOW IN USE IN ASIA

PASSES AS LEGAL TENDER IN SOME PARTS OF NORTHERN SIBERIA

DISCOVERY OF NEW LAND

Brief: Message Recently Received From Explorer Is Of Considerable Importance

(By Associated Press.) St. Petersburg, Nov. 1.—The ubiquitous American trader appears to have discovered a part, at least, of Northern Siberia and to have made it his own. So strong a hold in fact has he secured upon the natives of that little known part of the world that while the American silver dollar is taken with avidity in trade, the Russian rouble for the same amount of goods is looked upon with suspicion.

Lieutenant Arbeniev, of the Russian navy, who was a member of the Russian expedition upon its arrival at St. Michael, Alaska, a few weeks ago, reported having found a large body of land forming the counterpart of Nova Zemlya, and enclosing the Kara Sea, in a book of the work of the expedition in 1912, just published, waxes humorous about the American traders met with during the voyage.

Wherever natives congregated, he says, they stood the tall-tale log cabin, wheaten silver dollars, American rifles and canned goods were doled out in return for the precious furs in which the land abounds. The offer of two rubles instead of one silver dollar was in many cases treated with suspicion.

Lieutenant Arbeniev argues that it is about time the Russians took more interest in their own lands and peoples. He records a visit paid to the Talmir and Waigatch, the two steamers of the expedition, when off Tcheliusk in the end of August, 1912, by Tunguz, a chief and styled Bobrovsky, which means beaver, who proudly displayed a medal conferred upon him by the president of the United States for succoring the survivors of the Jeannette Arctic expedition.

The influence of the alien traders, says the lieutenant, does not seem to have been physically harmful to the natives, but quite the contrary so far as the appearance of the younger generation is concerned. They have, however, been unable to alter the indelibly filthy habits of the Siberian redskins.

The discovery of the new land by Captain Wilkitzky, the commander of the expedition which arrived at St. Michael, is the result of the endeavors of the Russian government to render commercially practicable the Northern Sea route to the Far East. The captain is a son of General Wilkitzky, who died in February last, and who as chief of the Russian Hydrographic Service, signed the instructions for the survey of the coast of Siberia for which the present expedition was organized.

The Talmir and Waigatch are ice-breakers specially built to perform the northern voyage from Vladivostok to St. Petersburg, and are equipped with wireless installations. Every year since 1910 a section of the coast has been surveyed and an attempt was made to reach European waters without wintering. Last year the expedition was unable to reach Cape Tcheliusk. The leader, General Serzeff, who has subsequently invalidated himself by a prostration of the coast turned back to Vladivostok.

According to the opinion of hydrographers, Captain Wilkitzky decided at any cost to come westward, even if he had to winter in the Kara Sea. In these circumstances he boldly moved northward and made the important discovery of new land, which he has reported in a laconic message to the Admiralty. After recounting that he put into St. Michael for coal and because of slight damage received during a storm, he says, "We continued our survey as far as Cape Tcheliusk, where the ice proved impracticable. We then went north, seeking a passage. We discovered land extending over 200 miles as far as latitude 81 north, longitude 96 east. Being unable to get through we turned back. On Bennett Island we took the collection left by Baron Toll, and in that neighborhood discovered a new island, Cape Tcheliusk, in Siberia, is the most northern point of the mainland of Asia. Bennett Island is the most northern member of the new Siberian group, and lies about 600 miles east from Cape Tcheliusk. The Jeannette was lost in 1881, at a point 100 miles east of Bennett Island after drifting in a west-northwest direction for two years. In 1884 objects believed to have been from the wreck of the Jeannette were picked up on the southwest coast of Greenland. It was upon the current which conveyed these relics that Nansen relied in his expedition with the Fram during which he achieved his farthest north in April, 1895.

The presence of land in these regions was not unexpected, although the expeditions of Nordenskiold, Nansen and Toll passed through what are now known to be comparatively narrow straits without leaving any record of any such discovery.

ONLY FOURTEEN RIFLES REWARD OF EXPEDITION.

(By Associated Press.) Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 1.—Fourteen rifles was the net result of an arduous expedition consisting of two regiments of infantry, two troops of cavalry and a platoon of artillery comprising the Colorado National Guard, which left here early today to occupy the Ludlow district and seize the arms and ammunition of the striking miners of the Ludlow tent colony.

The fourteen rifles were turned over voluntarily. No organized search for weapons was made. It is declared that more than 10,000 rifles have been hidden by the strikers.

HARVESTER SUIT HEARING MONDAY

DISSOLUTION CASE WILL COME UP TOMORROW IN FEDERAL COURT AT ST. PAUL

VOLUMES OF TESTIMONY

Case Is Believed To Establish New Record For Number of Witnesses Examined

(By Associated Press.) St. Paul, Nov. 1.—The suit of the United States vs. International Harvester Company to dissolve it will come on for hearing in the United States District Court here before Circuit Judge Sanborn and Smith on next Monday. In its petition, which was filed April 30, 1912, the government alleges that the International Harvester Company was organized in 1902 as a trust in violation of the Sherman law; that its purchase of the plants, properties and business of the McCormick, Deering, Plano, Warder, Bushnell & Glasner and Milwaukee companies created in that company a monopoly of the business in binders, mowers, rakes and binder twine in the United States; and that, in its business methods and practices, the company had increased its prices, to the grave injury of the farmers, and had coerced dealers and eliminated competitors.

The company, in its answer, filed August 5, 1912, admitted the purchase of the harvester properties and business of the five vendor companies, but denied that the company was organized for any unlawful purpose or that such purchase gave it a monopoly in the harvester trade, or that it had increased prices, or that its business methods and practices had injured the farmers or the dealers, or its competitors, but on the contrary its answer stated that its organization and business had been a benefit to the farmers in improved machines and service and in the low prices of the machines.

The taking of evidence on behalf of the government began at Chicago on September 16, 1912, before Robert S. Taylor, examiner. The government called witnesses at hearings held in Chicago, New York, St. Louis and St. Paul.

On behalf of the Harvester Company witnesses were called at hearings held at Omaha, Neb., Wichita, Kans., Kansas City, Mo., Sioux Falls, S. D., St. Paul, Minn., Pittsburg, Pa., and Chicago.

The taking of evidence was completed on June 27, last. The record returned to the court by the examiner consists, with the exhibits, of 18 printed volumes of about 600 pages each.

The case is believed to be a record, both in the number of witnesses examined and in the short time taken in preparing the case for hearing. Counsel representing the government are Edwin P. Grosvenor, Special Assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, and Joseph R. Durling; and for the defendants, Judge William D. McHugh of Omaha, and John F. Wilson and Edgar A. Bancroft of Chicago.

DEPOSED GOVERNOR MEETS WITH OPPOSITION IN ATTEMPT TO SPEAK

TACTICS OF TAMMANY

Fire Engines, Fire Crackers, Clanging Street Cars, Bombardment and Fighting are Features

By Associated Press. New York, Nov. 1.—Of the many spirited campaign episodes, William Sulzer, deposed governor, now a candidate for the assembly from the sixth district, met with one tonight which caused him to accuse his political enemies of adopting a new method of warfare. Sulzer went in to the second assembly district to denounce Alfred E. Smith, speaker of the assembly, seeking re-election.
Fire Wagons and Fire Crackers. Sulzer found himself in a strong Tammany territory and took his place in an improvised balcony opposite local Tammany headquarters. Four wagons bearing McCall and Smith signs drove into the crowd in the streets. Men set upon the wagons, tore off the signs and warned the drivers to leave. They had hardly gone when fire engines dashed up, some one having sent in a false alarm. When Sulzer finally was able to speak, thirty giant fire crackers were set off in rapid order.
Clanging Street Cars. Madison street horse cars which run ordinarily at about thirty minute intervals began to pass through the crowd frequently each loaded with passengers who insisted that the conductor stop where the throng was most dense. Girls in a doorway began shrieking when Sulzer tried to talk. A life and drum corps came, men carrying Tammany banners behind it. After a few fist fights the police diverted the parade into a side street.
Men Fruit and Vegetables. Sulzer was then attacked with eggs and vegetables, as retired into a building his auditors following. When he left after his speech disorder was resumed. One of the minor candidates, Thomas C. Press, running for district attorney in the Bronx had an exciting experience when several hundred foreigners whom he was about to address rushed toward the platform shouting a foreign word for "death."
Press friends came to his aid and a tree for all fight took place until police reserves rescued Press, who escaped uninjured.

JEWELRY STOLEN FROM THEATRE DRESSING ROOM.

Jewelry valued at several hundred dollars belonging to Mrs. F. C. Bird was stolen from a dressing room at the Lydia Margaret Theatre, Friday night. A wairus hand bag, in which the jewelry was left was found lying in the alley at the rear of Foyville's jewelry store several hours later by Nightwatchman A. Humphries. The bag was empty except for a small purse which had contained a small amount of change. This had been left in the bag but the change was gone. Mrs. Bird is a member of Bird & Company, a vaudeville company that was a feature of the Lydia Margaret's bill last week. Before going on for her act Friday night Mrs. Bird had seen some one outside her window but thought nothing of it. When she came back after her act the hand bag and its contents were missing. Among other articles taken were a pair of sapphire earrings, bracelets and several other articles of jewelry.

EFFECT OF NEW TARIFF ON COST OF CLOTHING

Statistics Show That Average Family May Save As Much As Sixty Dollars a Year

Washington, Nov. 1.—Better clothing, and cheaper, too, is the joyful prospect for Americans as a direct and early result of the new tariff law. More real, tangible reductions of the "high cost of living" as a result of tariff legislation will be effected by the reduced duties on clothes and wearing apparel of all kinds than on any other commodity. Many Republicans, as well as Democrats, concede that clothing will be both cheaper and better because of tariff slashing. It is estimated that a real saving will be as much as $60 a year for the average family of five persons.

Governor Wilson today has before him statistics estimating the probable concrete savings Americans may expect on "wearables." The United Press is able to present exclusively these estimates which were prepared by the official statistician and "tariff expert" of the democratic party, who drafted the democratic campaign handbook used in the presidential election last year. The figures will be used by the democratic congressional campaign committee during the forthcoming congressional campaigns. They are the democratic dictum on the probable reduction of the high cost of living as a result of the new tariff. The first figures are the present prices and the second are estimated reductions:

All wool serge suit	$27.00	$6.75
Worsted suit	18.00	4.50
Overcoat	21.60	5.50
Shawl	8.00	3.60
Shawl	4.00	1.80
Shawl	2.00	.90
Collars, cuffs, doz.	2.10	.30
Linen cloth, yd.	.25	.02
Fine cloth, yd.	1.95	.45
Blankets	1.24	.20
Flannels	1.40	.20
Knit underwear	3.65	.75
Wilton carpet	3.85	.78
Brussels carpet	2.64	.60
Tapestry Brussels	1.14	.34
Treble ingrain	1.60	.40
Woolen pl. grain	1.24	.28
Woman's dress, ready-made	.77	.36

The democratic statistician figures that the ordinary family will be able to save under the new law between 35 and 45 per cent each year on clothing, or between $20 and $60 a year. Republicans admit there will be a saving on clothing, but do not concede it will be so large. It remains to be seen which is right. But the greatest tariff slashing was done in the wool, cotton and linen schedules, and some saving is bound to result. In any event, admission of wool, duty free after next spring will enable manufacturers to give consumers better quality retail prices are not actually reduced.

For the man who wears suits costing from $7.50 to $12.00, little retail saving will be possible. Neither will tailor bills be any lower. But hand-me-downs selling now from $15 up ought to go lower at retail—and certainly they will be of better quality. Few ready-made suits are imported, however, and the imports are not expected to grow very much larger. But cheaper mill costs are regarded as certain to follow.

Retail prices on wearing apparel, however, can hardly be expected to drop before next spring, although wholesalers and retailers may decide to "unload" present stocks at bargain prices in some instances, in anticipation of the inevitable. Shoes probably will not be any

EUGENIC MARRIAGES ARE URGED BY BALDWIN

Peking, Nov. 1.—In the process of drafting a permanent constitution for the Chinese Republic the question as to whether there is to be a recognized state religion looms large at present in the discussions at Peking.

A decided Confucian revival has been in progress in recent months and this has found its expression in the organization of the Confucian Association, which includes many distinguished scholars of the Republic. One of the central figures of the movement is Dr. Chen Huan-chang, author of the book, "The Economical Principles of Confucius and His School," who has received the highest literary honors in China and also the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia University, New York.

Other Chinese hierats, he has been carrying on a most energetic campaign to influence the members of Parliament to vote in favor of inserting in the constitution some such statement as follows: "Confucianism shall become the state religion, while religious liberty shall still be accorded to the people of China." A petition to this effect has been presented to the Assembly. Following Western methods of lobbying, Dr. Chen has interviewed practically all members of Parliament in the support of this movement.

Before the establishment of the Republic, prejudice against Christianity was great, but in the provisional constitution freedom of religion was provided for, and Christians as well as Mohammedans, Buddhists and Juggites have had before the state at least presumptive equality with Confucianists. President Yuan Shih-kai said in a speech before the National Assembly on April 20, 1912: "In view of the religious liberty of the people, all religions will be regarded as being on the same footing, and there will be no discrimination against any particular one. There should be mutual respect and avoidance of mutual distrust among the people, irrespective of whether they practice any particular religion or not, or whatever faith they embrace, so that they may all share in the enjoyment of public peace and happiness."

Naturally enough the Christians of the Republic, now numbering almost a million, including all branches of the Christian Church, are not standing idly by watching without protest the movement to establish Confucianism as the state religion. A committee of seven has been selected and a counter-movement is under way. The duty of the committee is that of informing Christians throughout the country concerning the various activities of the Confucian propaganda and they are rejecting the proposal to have a state religion for the Republic. Moreover, agitation against Confucianism or any other religion becoming an acknowledged national religion is under way in the Chinese press.

The PRICE AND QUALITY

We Want to Direct Your Attention

and to ask you to carefully compare the prices at which we offer our goods as against the prices, the same goods are sold at in retail stores generally

Our Position on the Question of Price and Quality—Quality and Price—Quality with us is always first consideration. Price cannot be determined until quality has been fully established, for the very good reason that quality is in itself the first great measure of value, therefore, measures the meaning of price. We must furnish a quality of merchandise that will effectively disprove every argument of any kind raised against us. With us, fair grade is not sufficient; ordinary quality will not do. What is commonly known to the trade as acceptable goods we cannot use, for in this question of quality we dare take no chance. To us one mark short of the highest standard is dangerous. As many marks above the recognized high standard as we can get is our safety.

Inviting You to a Careful Study and comparison of our prices with others of the goods shown in this ad for the purpose of illustrating the relatively big values, the relative average big difference between our prices and prices charged by others for similar goods, we wish at the same time to take advantage of the opportunity of plainly stating our position on the great price and quality question. Quality with us is our first aim and the highest consideration; quality is the measure of success or failure, profit or loss, decline or perpetuity.

ABOUT OUR PRICES

First, having found an article of a satisfactory high standard of quality, with us the question of price is easy. It's only the calculation of the cost of the goods to us to which we add our one small percentage of profit. As we buy for cash we feel it is only reasonable that we should be able to buy our goods lower on the whole, than other concerns. Our contracts are surrounded by high quality conditions, such as are not common to any of the goods made to be sold through many channels of trade. This being the fact it is not unreasonable for us to believe and to ask you to believe that we own our goods, quality for quality, lower than any other house, and it is only fair for us to believe and ask you to believe that we can do the business cheaper at a lower cost than any other house. It is only fair for us to believe and to ask you to believe that we can be satisfied with a much smaller profit than any other house. Accepting these claims, as facts, you have a simple problem of addition, our cost plus our one small percentage of profit, and that's the price to you. Should anyone ever raise the question as to our low prices we especially urge that you make your price comparison on any goods in this store that you can compare intelligently, being reasonably sure you are comparing the exact same goods, and then you will see a vast difference in price in our favor.

U.S. MILLERS CAN CONTROL WORLD

REMOVAL OF TARIFF MAY RESULT IN THEIR CORNERING FLOUR SUPPLY

CANADIAN GIVES WARNING

Saskatoon Rancher Warns British Importers That New Law Means Fight For Them

By Associated Press. London, Nov. 1.—Alexander Mackenzie, a wealthy wheat rancher of Saskatoon, is here investigating the condition of the grain market, and he has taken advantage of his visit to warn wheat and flour importers of the British Isles that the passing of the American tariff law means the attainment of the long cherished ambition of American millers to the control of the flour markets of the world.

"It has long been the cherished ambition of American millers to control effectively the flour markets of the world, and now it appears as if this dream was in a fair way to be realized. The realization of this dream will not work any hardship on the Canadian wheat grower, as it will be distinctly to our advantage to have such a near market for our grain, but how will it fare with the British and Continental millers? When they were able to secure our wheat regardless of the long haul, which was offset by the American duty, everything was well, but if the millers of St. Paul, Minneapolis and other great flour centers of the Middle West States, near the Canadian boundary, adopt for their trade motto, 'flour only for sale,' they can well afford to stand pat, selling their flour at the actual cost of production if necessary, and still make good profits on the by-products, which have hitherto enriched the British and Continental millers.

"I am surprised that the millers here are so indifferent to the threatened loss of business, which will be inevitable, for from the moment of the ill-starred reciprocity campaign the American flour men have been preparing to take advantage of the removal of the duty on Canadian wheat. The Canadians are also under illusions as to the advantages which will accrue to them from the new tariff, as witnessed by the fact that they are now preparing to ship across the border 3,000,000 bushels of oats, which they have been holding in anticipation of the passage of the new act."

By Associated Press. Washington, Nov. 1.—Representative Whitacre of Ohio, introduced a bill today to double all postage rates to pay for a billion dollar bond issue for good roads. News Budget From The Nation's Capitol

By J. E. Jones.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Persistent foreigners who have influence seem to be able to break through our immigration barriers. When Castro was held up at Ellis Island he finally invoked habeas corpus proceedings, and got ashore. Mrs. Pankhurst has been the biggest show at the New York port since Jenny Lind made the Battery famous with her songs. All of the immigration laws seemed to be against Mrs. Pankhurst, but she found a friend in President Wilson who exercised a "common sense" view of the situation and caused an order to be issued admitting her to "the land of the free." Thus Mrs. Pankhurst has the opportunity she desires to commercialize her notoriety and obtain American money to further the militant cause in England. There seems to be an American weakness for desiring to hear lectures from persons who have been in jail, and as Mrs. Pankhurst is said to be one of the world's greatest orators, the people of this country will doubtless be glad to hear her, since she has announced that she will calmly discuss the subject of suffrage. However, the famous English woman is in this country on probation, and clearly understands that no "militant" business or anarchy will be tolerated.

In viewing the currency measure as "hardly in line with the Golden Rule," Mr. Kenaston of Minnesota, manufacturer of agricultural implements, including threshing machines, made an interesting statement. He said the business aggregates between four and five million dollars a year and its operation discloses an entertaining side-light on human nature, which may have occurred to the bankers who have interviewed their bankers upon important occasions. Mr. Kenaston says that during a portion of the year his company borrows very heavily. "I have sometimes felt as if it was an accommodation. I have gone to banks at times when I felt it was a big accommodation. Of course I paid for it, but at the same time I regarded it as an accommodation at that time. At other times, perhaps, it is an accommodation for me to take the money."

The Prince of Monaco came to Washington, called on the president of the United States, gave a few lectures, saw the sights and went away. The Prince is the ruler of the small-est principality on the face of the globe, but his place is famous because it contains Monte Carlo, the greatest of gambling joints. While in this country the Prince was the guest for a time of Buffalo Bill on his Wyoming ranch. He said he never had met "the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo." Since he came to the United States on his private yacht he ought to be believed.

The total number of establishments in the United States in 1909 engaged in the manufacture of electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies was 1,909. The total number of persons engaged in the industry was 105,600, of whom 102,950 were wage earners. The total capital employed was $267,844,482, and the total value of products was $221,208,562.

Use of Oil in Navy. Representative Cox of Indiana is one of the Democratic members who does not believe in the policy of the House remaining idle in order that only two great pieces of legislation may be considered. He told his colleagues the other day that "there were other measures, the question of interlocking directorates (that are referred to the committees, when we were considering the currency bill)." He declared that there were five or six important platform declarations which ought to be taken up.

There is a persistent effort being made in the House of Representatives for a short recess pending action of the Senate on the currency bill. A good many people are apt to think that this demand on the part of congressmen who would dodge their work, but such is not the case. Although the committees of the House have been organized since the beginning of the special session in April, and not withstanding the fact that eight thousand bills providing for every class of legislation have been introduced—in accordance with the Democratic caucus decree only tariff and currency legislation is to be considered. The committees have held no meetings, and the members have hung around Washington until idleness has become boredom. The Republicans and Progressives have been putting in their time attacking the Democratic caucus, neglecting the real grievance. If there be any, growing out of the understanding among the Democratic leaders that there would be no committee meetings. The administration has demanded tariff and currency legislation and has stopped there; meanwhile the able-bodied and nimble-minded statesmen have loafed on the job, notwithstanding the fact that the legislative hopper is full of work that must be tackled at some time. But their hands are tied and general legislation must wait for the regular session this winter.

Panama Canal Government. Colonel Goethals has been the absolute master of all affairs, civil and military, since he went to Panama. Now that the canal is about to be opened there comes the announcement that Richard L. Metcalfe, civilian member of the Isthmian Canal Commission, who was one of the editors of Bryan's Commoner, has submitted a report to the War Department recommending the repeal of the one-man government plan, which would put Colonel Goethals practically "out of business." Some of the Democratic politicians attempted to find in the Metcalfe recommendation a sharp contest hatching, in which Secretary Bryan and Colonel Goethals will come to conclusions over the policy of government for the Canal Zone.

General Sherwood of Ohio took a dip into Mexican affairs during a brief speech before Congress, and he paid his respects in his usual emphatic manner to the forces that have been terrorizing the Mexican people. The old general quoted from a New York newspaper regarding the proposal of this country to finance Nicaragua. The newspaper quotation said: "The present government of Nicaragua is weak and unstable. Their promises and their three million dollars would probably run out together." The Ohio congressman has little faith in the South American republic, but he believes it to be the duty of the United States to maintain the Monroe Doctrine against any aspirations, whether they be from a prince of the House of Bourbon in France or the supporters of unconstitutional liberty like Huerta.

The president of the United States, with a beautiful yacht at his disposal, manned with one hundred and eighty sailors and seamen, has spent less than three days aboard the Mayflower since March fourth, while every member of his cabinet has been gallivanting around the country—none of them attracting particular attention by their absence except Mr. Bryan. In reversal of the order of the song, "Father works all day," and the president has been on the job constantly. Although he has maintained a summer home in New Hampshire, he has spent less than ten days occupying it with his family. There has never been a more hard-working president. He has the tariff scalp at his belt, and if the currency legislation should slip up for any reason it will not be because Woodrow Wilson was not on hand at all times directing the men selected by the voters to do the job.

"Hobson Again." This man Donovan who came to congress from Connecticut has already practically destroyed harmony and equanimity among the great lights of Alabama, and as a result in showing how Representative Hobson is neglecting his congressional duties, was precipitated a verbal battle between Mr. Hobson and Mr. Underwood, who are rivals for the senatorship of Alabama. Mr. Donovan inserted in the Record a short editorial from the New York World which tells completely the story of Hobson. Here it is: "Fifteen years ago last June Richmond Pearson Hobson was a hero. He has been a nationalist ever since. With his militarism, his jingoism, his anti-Japanism, he has been a visitation upon his afflicted country. Now he is running for the United States Senate against Oscar W. Underwood. He feels that demands for $50,000,000 for the navy for ten superdreadnaughts, even for immediate war with Japan, have lost their pristine charm. So he turns over a new leaf by denouncing Mr. Underwood as 'the tool of the whiskey ring and the money interests.' Coming on the heels of the passage of the Underwood tariff act, it is hard to decide whether this charge is the more outrageous or ludicrous. With South Carolina threatening to send Cole Blaise to the United States Senate, the bare possibility that Alabama might inflict Hobson on the country is enough to arouse a national-wide interest in Mr. Underwood's candidacy."

Delegate James Wickersham from Alaska, who, though unable to vote in congress, constantly keeps things stirring, has made himself so obnoxious to the Morgans and Guggenheims that they are said to fairly hate the sound of his name. Nevertheless, Wickersham lets congress know the things of our great northern possession needs. In speaking of his work the delegate asks: "What's the matter?" Just plain ignorance! Congress is the darkest Africa of ignorance about matters Alaskan. Congress has a hazy idea that the red-headed step-child's estate, of which it is trustee, consists of icebergs and snowballs and that whoever says Alaska has resources is a prevaricator. Alaska, to them, is an arctic mystery, afflicted with the Guggenheims and a delegate, both of which they wish were in the land of shades, at least. In 1799 the czar leased Alaska to the Russian-American company, which thereupon became both government and monopolist of all trade and opportunity in Russian America. This Russian lease was a single monopoly continued until in the treaty purchase in 1867 the United States paid an extra $200,000 to end it. Immediately upon the purchase, the United States, in 1870, leased Alaska's only known resources, the fur seal islands, to a United States monopoly for forty years. This lease expired in 1910, and thus for one hundred and ten years Alaska was in a state of lease-hold penance, created first by the Russian czar and second by the United States congress.

In 1904 the United States exported $44,000,000 worth of beef during the first eight months, while in 1913 the exports were but $1,000,000 for the corresponding period. $1,000,000 dozen eggs were exported from the United States in the fiscal year 1913, against one and a half billion dozen ten years ago.—These figures show that while American cattle are decreasing in number, that the barnyard fowl is prosperous in supplying its palatable food for foreign breakfast tables.

According to the Department of Agriculture, wooden shoes can be constructed in the United States for from fifty to sixty cents a pair, and with ordinary use will last two years. While this class is not adapted as a substitute for dancing pumps, yet they are used by those who work in cold or wet places, such as tanneries, breweries, or livery stables, and by workmen in steel or glass factories who have to walk on hot grates or floors. It was determined some time ago that more wooden shoes were worn in the United States than in Holland, where "Dutch shoes" had their origin. The principle users of wooden shoes are in the middle eastern states, and thousands of pairs are manufactured annually for the market.

McKinney—A petition is being circulated here calling for a good road bond election in road district No. 1 in the sum of $500,000. The election will be held at the earliest possible date.

SOME DAMAGE DONE BY HALLOWEEN MARAUDERS

Signs are Removed and Minor Depredations Committed But Nothing Serious Occurs.

Halloween marauders Friday night moved a big board sign advertising the Southland addition from the corner of Ninth and Brook streets into the middle of Tenth street in the next block where they left it standing facing toward town. Another Southland sign on Thirtieth street near Travis was pulled down.

Porch chairs and swings, and other movable property were carried blocks away from the places they belonged, wheels were removed from buggies and wagons and other pranks were played, but it is not believed much property was seriously damaged.

NEW YORK'S TAMMANY FIGHT IS VITAL TO THE WHOLE WORLD

John Callann O'Laughlin, a New York staff correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, gives the following personal observations relative to the fight that is going on in the Empire State against Tammany Hall.

The greatest political clean-up New York has ever had, not excluding that following the Tweed scandal, promises to be the result of the sensational struggle in the state which, up to date, has resulted in the impeachment of Governor Sulzer, and indicates the defeat of Tammany's candidate for mayor in this city.

Following the majority campaign a thorough investigation of the corrupt combination by which New York has been so expensively ruled will be demanded. In the past the cooperation of the Republicans, who have controlled the canal graft, and of the Democrats who have enjoyed the highway graft, has prevented an effective inquiry.

But with public sentiment aroused and it is aroused—there is little doubt the legislature will be forced to make an inquiry. The men who are agitating such action predict that once action is taken a number of prominent financiers and politicians will deem it expedient to take a trip to Europe for their health.

In short, the corrupt alliance between the bosses and the financial element which has profited from politics, is on the eve of exposure.

The impeachment of Sulzer, made by order of the "chief," as Charles Murphy is known, as a result of the Sulzer revelations, was inspired by the head of Tammany, not only for the purpose of punishing the man whom he put into office and whom he regards as a traitor, but also for the purpose of throwing the fear of disgrace into the hearts of the puppets hereafter to be chosen to do the organization's will.

But vengeance has proved a two-edged sword. Instead of Tammany triumphant, holding the head of a governor in one hand and a bloody knife in the other, with its real victim, the people of the city and state, at its feet, the spectacle is presented of Tammany with its back against the wall, appealing to its victims to disbelieve the truth and to continue to rely on men whose corrupt methods are a reproach to their community.

The struggle for honest government in New York is of national concern. This great city has its tentacles fastened on the entire country. The fever from which it is suffering therefore affects the political life of all the people.

Tammany has dominated not only in the city and the state, but has sought to control the country through influence wielded in national conventions. It succeeded in foisting its man, Alton B. Parker, on the Democratic party as a presidential candidate in 1904, and if made him temporary chairman of the Baltimore convention in 1912.

Had it not been for the courageous fight made by William Jennings Bryan, the presidential candidate of the Democracy last year would not have been Woodrow Wilson, but a man acceptable to the grand satchel of Tammany.

Murphy's plan of operation at Baltimore contemplated his control of the convention and his nomination of whoever might be most satisfactory to himself and other bosses, preferably Oscar Underwood of Alabama.

Defeat was by no means destructive of Murphy's power, for with New York in his grip, he could, he believed, secure all the state jobs and all the fat contracts which the welfare and prosperity of his organization required.

Sulzer, nominated as his name having visions of the presidency, failed to deliver the goods, and his punishment followed.

This reference to the way in which Tammany has reached out to secure control of the nation is an indication of the ambition of its leaders, and, as they best way to forecast the future is by the experience of the past, proof of what it would seek to do in more propitious times.

Therefore, Tammany is not merely a local, but a national menace.

financial and other support are made on the representations that it is opposed to Woodrow Wilson, Democratic president of the United States.

It is such an organization and such an organization's man that the people of the city are asked to destroy. And the control of this organization is vested in Charles E. Murphy and the band of contractors and officeholders who have profited in their pockets through their political power and political financial affiliations.

Had the Sulzer revelations and particularly those of "Heartless" Hennessy, who is a partner in the firm of John A. and who for years has been acquiring information of Tammany corruption, been suppressed or delayed until after the elections, Tammany would have sat back in smug silence, practically certain of the victory of its majority candidate, Edward E. McCall.

But these revelations have overturned the situation. The men controlling the organization are fighting not only for their political lives but to escape the vengeance of an outraged community. If they win, they will have a respite, and they will continue their career of plunder. If they are beaten, they will have to face a legislature frightened by a popular uprising and anxious to save their own skins by offering up for public sacrifice those who gave them place and power.

So Tammany may be depended on to resort to every political trick and every political crime in order to gain victory. The accusations of Sulzer they meet by pointing to the fact that he is making statements which he dared not make under oath before the court of impeachment. The charges of "Heartless" Hennessy, they find more difficult to answer.

Murphy deemed it expedient to deny in an affidavit, an unprecedented thing in Tammany history, that his candidate, McCall, paid him $35,000 for the nomination to the supreme court. Hennessy, secretly, is going his own way, revealing the inside of Tammany plunder and naming places and circumstances in support of his accusations.

"It has been amusing to watch their efforts to keep me quiet," he said today. "They have a large mysterious person follow me around. That doesn't hurt anybody, who lives right and always has a witness with him."

"They threatened to lock me up for libel. I have offered to commit any libel they asked so I could summon witnesses under oath to tell things publicly which I now know only as private confidences.

"They say I own a gambling house. They ought to be able to prove it. If I collect all the gambling graft, and if I have a gambling house it couldn't stay open unless they got a peekoff."

There is no illusion in New York about the power of Murphy. The impeachment of Sulzer has established it. And that impeachment has convinced thousands, as nothing else could have done, that the initiative, the referendum, and the recall must be placed in the hands of the people rather than retained in the control of the boss.

This besides contemplating the freedom of 5,000,000 people from boss rule and invisible government the scandals of the impeachment trial and the campaign have given impetus to a movement which will have a tremendous influence upon the political future of a great state.

SODALITY OF SAINT ALOYSIUS ORGANIZED

Thirty Boys Consecrate Themselves as Followers of Great Saint in Church of Sacred Heart

Thursday afternoon, October 24, the Sisters of St. Mary, pupils of the Academy of Mary Immaculate, and several other members of the parish witnessed a most impressive ceremony when the sodality of St. Aloysius was formally organized in the Church of the Sacred Heart; thirty boys being received as members. The candidates for admission first appeared at the Academy and from there proceeded to the church.

Upon entering they quietly advanced to their places, invoked the assistance of the Holy Ghost, then knelt devoutly to receive their badges which had just been blessed. After this Master Floyd Wheeler kneeling before a picture of St. Aloysius read aloud a beautiful act of consecration to the saint, which was reverently repeated by the other boys in clear, earnest voices. It was certainly most edifying to see and hear them as they solemnly consecrated themselves to this great saint, who should be taken as a model by every Catholic youth.

Rev. Father J. J. Dolje then addressed the St. Aloysius boys and having expressed his approval of this voluntary step they had taken, gave a brief account of the life of the saint whom they had this day chosen as their patron. He earnestly exhorted them to imitate his many virtues and to try to perform as fully their new duties as Sodality boys.

The boys listened attentively for they all realized the importance of the occasion and how much the future of the organization depended upon their co-operation and enthusiasm. To add to the beauty and impressiveness of the scene the altar had been appropriately decorated with choice autumn flowers. And as a fitting close to the reception benediction of the most blessed sacrament was given.

As the new Sodality returned to the Academy the red and gold of their badges flashing in the sunlight formed a picture that will not soon be forgotten by those privileged to witness it.

IT IS NOW LAWFUL TO SHOOT DUCKS

Open season for killing wild ducks and ducks began November First. Yesterday marked the opening of the game season in this vicinity, it becoming lawful to kill quail, doves and ducks on November 1. A large number of local hunters were out yesterday and some good looking bags were brought in.

There are comparatively few ducks at present, and quail are also scarce. Doves are more plentiful than the others, according to local opinion. This is the first season under the new federal game statute and duck hunters who were out during October were, according to the latest restrictions of the law, violating the new government regulations.

FEDERAL PRISONERS TO BE KNOWN BY NAMES

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—Prisoners at the Atlanta federal penitentiary in the future will be known by names instead of by numbers and their uniforms no longer will bear the letters "U. S. P." Announcement of this radical departure from prison custom was made today by "Good Words" the paper edited and published within the walls of the penitentiary. Ever since the establishment of the prison, convicts have lost their identity upon entering, being given numbers.

CHEROKEE MOVE PATHETIC EVENT

NO LONGFELLOW HAS EVER PAINTED IN WORDS SCENES AT CHEROKEE REMOVAL

SIGNED AWAY BIRTHRIGHT

Was No Treaty at all, as Cherokees' Consent Was Not Solicited

Ada, Okla., Nov. 1.—Longfellow has immortalized, in his Evangeline, the exile of the Acadians—a poem full of pathos and grief—a blot upon the fair history of the settlement of America, but no Longfellow has ever painted in words the heart-rending scenes, the great grief and pathos, that marked the summary removal of the Cherokee people from their mountain home in Georgia in 1838-39 to Oklahoma.

The intrigue which marked the signing of the so-called treaty at New Echota, whereby less than 10 per cent of the Cherokees gave away the birthright of the entire tribe, need not be recounted. Major Davis, who was sent by the government to enroll the Cherokees, wrote the secretary of war in part as follows: "Sir, that paper called a treaty is no treaty at all, because not sanctioned by the great body of the Cherokees and made without their consent or participation."

It was in the early spring of 1838 that General Winfield Scott was sent into the Cherokee country with nearly 7,000 soldiers to force the Indians from their homes in accordance with the so-called treaty. Upon his arrival he found a people that were pastoral. Churches had been erected and called together a people each Sunday to worship the true God. Cemeteries dotted the valleys where reposed the remains of their ancestors and loved ones. Their advancement along civilized ways had kept pace with the white settlers that were their neighbors.

Troops were distributed over their nation and stockade forts erected. Squads of troops were sent out, all heavily armed, into every nook and corner—into the fastnesses of their forests, along their mountain streams—to seize and bring in every man, woman and child of the tribe. None were excepted in the order issued. The aged, infirm and sick were alike victims of the orders of the government. It is said that "families at dinner were startled by the sudden gleam of bayonets in the doorway and were to be driven with blows and oaths along the weary miles of trail that led to the stockade. Men were seized in their fields or going along the road, women were taken from their wheels and children from their play. In many cases, on turning for one last look as they crossed the ridge they saw their homes in flames, fired by the lawless rabble that followed on the heels of the soldiers to loot and pillage. So keen were these outlaws on the scent that in some instances they were driving off the cattle and other stock of the Indians almost before the soldiers had fairly started their owners in another direction. Systematic hunts were made by the same men for Indian graves, to rob them of the silver pendants and other valuables deposited with the dead. A Georgia Confederate soldier, after having gone through the Civil War, said: "I fought through the Civil War and have seen men shot to pieces and slaughtered by thousands, but the removal of the Cherokees was the most cruel work I ever saw."

To prevent escape, the soldiers had been ordered to approach and surround each house, so far as possible, as to come upon the occupants without warning. One old patriarch, when thus surprised, calmly called his children and grandchildren around him, and kneeling down bid them pray with him in their own language, while the soldiers looked on in silence. Then rising, he led the way into exile. A woman, on finding the house surrounded, went to the door and called up the chickens to feed for the last time, after which, taking her infant on her back and her two children by the hand, she followed her husband with the soldiers.

In this manner nearly 17,000 Cherokees were gathered together into the stockades, when the real work of removal began.

The first party, numbering nearly 5,000 souls, started westward in June. The extreme heat of the summer brought death to over 1,000 of those who started. The trail from Georgia and Tennessee to Oklahoma has often been referred to as the "trail of tears." Each day marked the celebration of the funeral rites of the tribe. Hardly a mile of the long track but a Cherokee grave marked the awful avarice that forced those unhappy people from their homes to an unknown country, amid conditions never before exacted and never since re-enacted. So great was the disaster and so astounding the mortality that when Principal Chief John Ross pleaded with General Scott for permission for the Cherokees to remove themselves unobstructed by soldiers' aid, the hardened heart of the general was softened and permission granted. Accordingly, the following fall—October, 1838—from Rattlesnake Springs, where the last council in the east was held and where they solemnly resolved that their constitution should be in force forever, the march was begun. It resembled the march of an army—there being 13,000 souls. At Hopkinsville, Tenn., their noted chief, White Path, sickened and died. A little later on their principal chief, John Ross, suffered the bitter pain of bereavement in the loss of his devoted wife. The Mississippi River was crossed at Cap Girardeau, the march having extended through southern Illinois. The death toll amounted to over 1,000 on the march alone under the command of Ross. Hundreds had died from exposure in the unrelenting weather, an equal number from the rations supplied them, which were of flour and other provisions to which they were unaccustomed, and which they did not know how to prepare, and hundreds of others died shortly after their arrival in their new homes in Oklahoma from the exposures of the trek. Fully 4,000 gave up their lives of the 17,000 who were enrolled at New Echota, Ga.

Three quarters of a century has passed—all who participated have long since passed to their eternal rest, the memory, however, of that awful year still lives. Thousands of citizens of the state are descendants of those heroes and heroines of 1839, and these descendants today are among our best citizens.

The nation, whose citizens at Rattlesnake Springs pledged anew their faith and devotion to their constitution, has passed—peacefully, and with their consent, into American citizenship and probably not one of them would wish to turn the hands of the dial of destiny back.

SAYS SHOW "READY MONEY" IS BEST OF ITS KIND.

"Every business man in Wichita Falls should see 'Ready Money,'" said M. A. Brit of this city, who saw the production at Chicago earlier in the season. "It's the greatest show of its kind on the American stage."

"Ready Money" which is described as a comedy of love, romance, risk and thrills, under the management of William A. Brady, Ltd., will be the offering at the Wichita Theatre tomorrow night.

The author, James Montgomery brings a decidedly fresh treatment to one of the present day problems in his comedy, "Ready Money." There is Grace Tyler who is very much in love with Stephen Baird and there is Grace's mother who objects to Stephen; furthermore, who decides that her daughter shall never marry Stephen. There seems nothing the matter with the young man except that he is discouraged and down-hearted at his ill luck. It don't give Stephen much satisfaction to reflect that the mother of his beloved is unreasonable. He casts about for something that will allow him to overcome parental difficulties, and the manner of his doing so makes up one of the most successful comedies in years. The situation is not new, but the treatment is altogether unique and those who still believe in love and romance follow with keen interest the affairs of Grace Tyler and Stephen Baird in "Ready Money."

It tells a story of a poor young man and rich young girl, who become engaged much against the wishes of the rich mother of the girl and affords a lesson in encouragement that cannot fail to make an impression on its beholders. The play contains four separate and distinct love stories, each delightfully worked out and lending the spirit of romance to the comedy.

BUSCH HEIRS WILL RECEIVE $1,000 DAY EACH.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—Each of the heirs of the estate of Adolphus Busch, who, according to the will filed here yesterday, are to have shares of the trust into which the estate is to be formed, will have an annual income of $375,000—a share, or more than $1,000 a day.

The son, August A. Busch, who succeeds his father in the management of the vast properties, is to have two shares of the trust and his income consequently will be $750,000 a year, minus the provision he is required to make for his invalid brother, Carl.

According to a high officer of the Busch estate corporation, the income of the estate is estimated at $3,000,000, which is a 6 per cent return on a valuation of $50,000,000. These are the widow's and seven children.

No Spite Against Scharer.

The fact that a codicil was attached at a little more than a year ago, exempting Lieut. Edward Scharer, the husband of Wilhelmina Busch, from a fourth interest in his wife's share of the estate, should she die before him, was explained today by a member of the family. The codicil was added, it was stated, not because Adolphus Busch resented the marriage of his daughter to the German lieutenant, but because the laws of Germany provided that a husband and wife shall share equally in any estate either shall inherit, and that the original provision giving Scharer a fourth interest should he survive his wife, would be invalid in Germany.

The three executors—Mrs. July Busch, Edward A. Faust and Charles Nagel—will have full power to make the $210,000 in charitable bequests and the personal bequests amounting to $20,000; and to provide an income for the widow not exceeding $50,000 a year.

Trustees' Rule Estate.

After these deductions are made, the three trustees, Mrs. Busch, August A. Busch and Charles Nagel, will administer the trust estate, subject, however, to certain provisions that make August A. Busch supreme in the management of the brewery, the Manufacturers' railway, the American Bottle Company and the Busch-Sulzer Brothers-Diesel Engine Company.

PENNINGTON'S

Success, Artistic and Financial, Attends "Robin-Hood" Performances

Two things are to be remembered of "Robin Hood" first, the marked excellence of the production from an artistic standpoint; second, the financial success which attended the two performances in Wichita Falls.

"Two audiences—one the largest matinee audience this city has ever seen, the other taxing the capacity of the opera house, viewed the production and went away lulled by its music, delighted with its comedy and sated with its completeness.

"Robin Hood" was something of a test of Wichita Falls' appreciation of really high class offerings in the operatic line. The company was the largest ever in this city and one of the largest ever in Texas.

"Robin Hood" is classed as a light opera, which may be further defined as a cross between a comic opera and a grand opera.

Not that the delight was unalloyed, for it wasn't. It wasn't altogether natural to hear Robin Hood talk and sing with such a decided Italian accent and an American in that role would have been better; that Italian, Misha Ferenczo, could certainly sing and when that tenor of his began to pour out the audience forgot everything else.

But these defects, if they may be considered as such, were lost sight of promptly amid the wealth of good things with which the audience was served. One feature of note was the exquisite blending of the voices in every chorus and the effect of this was augmented by the splendid orchestration under the direction of Joseph Sainton.

There were twenty musical numbers and each was a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Particularly pleasing, however, were "Brown October Ale" by Joseph Parsons as Little John; "O Promise Me" by Miss Mason as Alan-A-Dale; the Armorer's Song by Jerome Daley as Will Scarlet; "When a Maiden Weds" by Miss Morrill as Annabel, and the Forest Song by Miss Dill as Maida Marian; to Ferenczo singing in the title role, tribute has already been paid.

As a comedy, the production mixed the lines of the original story of Robin Hood with some of the present day slang, with results that were clever and amusing. George Frothingham as Friar Tuck, Phil Branson as the sheriff of Nottingham, and Sid Braham as Guy of Guisborne, held up the comedy end of the production with finesse and ability.

As stated in the beginning, "Robin Hood" is to be remembered for two reasons, its artistic success and its financial success; and in one's pleasant retrospect of the first, he cannot but hope that the completeness of the second will mean other such productions for Wichita Falls in the days to come.

The estate of the production was as follows: Little John—Joseph Parsons. Alan-A-Dale—Sara Mason. Will Scarlet—Jerome Daley. Annabel—Helena Morrill. Friar Tuck—Geo. Frothingham.

Dame Durden—Thilla Salinger. Robin Hood—Misha Ferenczo. Maida Marian—Eureka Dill. Sheriff of Nottingham—Phil Branson. Guy of Guisborne—Sid Braham. King's Herald—Nettie Uart.

TRAIN HITS AUTO OIL SUPPLY MAN HURT

Emmett Munnell Sustained Fractured Ribs in Accident Near Electra Friday Evening

Emmett Munnell, manager for the Republic Supply Company at Electra narrowly escaped death Friday afternoon when an automobile in which he was riding with Mr. Caperton, an oil man operating in the Fowles Station district, was struck by south-bound Fort Worth & Denver passenger train No. 2 just south of Electra.

Caperton jumped before the locomotive struck the automobile and escaped unhurt but Munnell was not so fortunate and was brought to this city last night with three or four broken ribs and painful bruises. It is not believed, however, that his injuries are of a serious nature.

Munnell had sold Mr. Caperton a new rig which was being put up near Fowles Station and was driving his out to the field in his automobile to see it. They were engaged in an earnest conversation when they rounded a curve and turned up on to the railroad grade where the road crosses the tracks just before the wheels of the car reached the rail and saw the train coming down upon them.

"Jump," he shouted to Munnell, at the same time leaping from the car himself. Instead of jumping Munnell involuntarily jerked a lever to stop his machine and back. The effect was to stop the auto on the track just as the engine smashed into it. The automobile smashed into pieces, was hurled from the track and with it the driver. Fortunately it had not gotten far enough onto the track to bring Mr. Caperton directly in front of the locomotive and to this fact he owes his life. He was able to walk back to Electra with Mr. Caperton and came down on the oil train Friday night for treatment in a local sanitarium.

I am now located at Dr. J. G. Kearby's office, over Morris Drug Store. Phone 333. J. S. NELSON, Dentist.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County: Greeting. You are hereby commanded to summon Bessie Jackson by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Wichita County, to be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on the first Monday in December A. D. 1913, the same being the first Monday in December A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of October A. D. 1913, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 4754, wherein Mack Jackson is plaintiff and Bessie Jackson is defendant, and said petition alleging that on or about the 8th day of December, 1908, in Denton County, Texas, plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married to each other and lived together about one and a half years when defendant left plaintiff without cause on his part; that after about 3 or 4 weeks plaintiff persuaded defendant to return and live with him. That plaintiff and defendant lived together as man and wife after this until about March 6th, 1910, when defendant, without any cause on part of plaintiff abandoned plaintiff; since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife, and plaintiff has not heard from defendant since June, 1910. That by reason of the three years abandonment of plaintiff by defendant their further living together has been rendered insupportable.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited in terms of law to appear at the next regular term of this court and answer herein, for judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant, cost of suit and general and special relief, etc.

Herein fall not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Right of Pedestrian to Kick a Dog Around is Upheld By Judge Rye

Judge Rye is in hearty accord with the sentiment of that Missouri classic: "You gotta quit kickin' my houn' aroun'" but he believes it a houn' to fasten its teeth into the calves of a pedestrian's legs when the pedestrian is not in violation of the statutes if he kicks the houn' aroun'. He so held this morning in the case of two young white men who had been brought before him for kicking a dog belonging to a negro.

The negro was employed at a saloon in the flat district. The testimony showed that as the two white men were passing the place last night the dog ran out and began to bark at them and made a show of biting them. One of them landed a heavy kick upon the canine ending the animal upon its nose after which it retreated howling to the saloon. The negro ran out and upbraided the two men and they advised him to go back into the saloon to his dog.

The combination of happenings brought the white men into court this morning where Judge Rye dismissed the charges against them after hearing the evidence.

(Waco Times-Herald) Only a week remains for the Stough of Kansas City to comply with one of the essential provisions of the franchise given him here, to lay pipes in the streets and alleys of this city, for the purpose of transporting natural gas. It is specified in the ordinance, which was passed October 7, that Mr. Stough was to begin work on the pipe line from Mexico Waco within one month from that date. Mayor J. H. Mackey has not heard from Mr. Stough since the ordinance was passed. In the event Mr. Stough and the gentlemen associated with him do not see fit to accept the franchise,

A ship from Africa brought a Mahogany log that was ripped with rich, heavy, cross-grained marks. In Grand Rapids a factory sliced it into many feet of marvelous veneer and this was made into the tops of sturdy tables, buffets, etc. Another log came from the oak crowned hills of Virginia, and in time it, too, appeared as a massive Turkish rocker. From far and near we gathered this furniture, each piece with a fascinating history, each a joy in comfort and utility.

It does not mean that the project has been abandoned. It will be recalled that some time ago a similar franchise was sought by Mayor T. P. Smith of Mexia, and his application was filed in abeyance, for the reason that the terms were not as liberal as the ones to which Mr. Stough agreed. MISS BONNIE HARDY BRIDE OF JOHN R. CHAMBERS.

Thursday evening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hardy was the scene of a beautiful wedding when they gave their only daughter, Miss Bonnie, in marriage to Mr. John R. Chambers of this city. The wedding was a quiet one, no formal invitations having been issued, and only the most intimate friends of the contracting parties having been invited. The rooms of the Hardy home had been beautifully decorated in asparagus ferns and white chrysanthemums. The Wesley Girls of which class the bride is a member, met the guests in the beautifully decorated reception hall and they were also greeted by Mrs. Hardy mother of the bride attractively gowned in white lace. The bride couple came down the broad stairs to the lovely strains of Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Lester Jones, passed through the library into the must room where they were met by Rev. J. W. Hill. There before a bank of ferns the solemn words of the beautiful ring ceremony was pronounced which made them man and wife. After congratulating the young couple the guests repaired to the dining room where the color scheme was carried out in the mint punch served. Mrs. Rhea Howard dressed in pink charm ease with over drapery of chiffon and lace and Mrs. Clifford Robson in white lace presided at the punch bowl. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown away gown of new blue with hat to match trimmed in lovely new blue and bronze plumes. Mr. and Mrs. Chambers left on the 12:30 train for Oklahoma City and other points. The wedding will be at home at 1100 Travis after November 5. Both young people are well and favorably known here, the bride being of a well known family and has many close friends won by her charming personality. The groom is a trusted and highly respected railroad employe. The popularity of the young people was attested by the many beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver and other articles.

Among the invited guests were Lorene Thomas, Lucile Eikins, Fay Brown, Madeline and Dorothy Soule, Sibylne Smith, Helen George Velma and J. A. Scott of St. Louis, Tom Wirtley, Blum, Texas, Joe Brown, Rob. Smith, Phillip and G. Stout, Homer Duke, Elsie Priebe Louise and Aubrey Bachman, Aaror Kruger, Frank Bundy and Marvir George.

The Missionary Society of the Baptist Church celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union. This is known as the Jubilate year and is being celebrated by all societies throughout the South. The room was decorated in the union colors, lavender and white. A Jubilate program was carried out, the Jubilate hymn being sung and other special music given. Interesting talks were given by Mesdames J. B. Jones, R. C. MEETING OF WESLEY GIRLS HELD FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The Wesley Girls held their regular weekly meeting with Mrs. O. R. Hartsook Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was a combined business session, social meeting and surprise party. However, the surprise was unique in that one member of the class surprised the others. A business session, making plans for the reception to be given Wednesday by the Wesley Girls at the home of Mrs. T. J. Waggoner in honor of the recent bride, Mrs. Rhea Howard, was in order first, then came the hour for sewing. The hostess served refreshments of individual pies, sandwiches and hot chocolate and as the surprise just before time to go home, Miss John Hardy invited all the Wesley Girls to be present at her marriage to John R. Chambers which takes place Thursday evening at the Hardy home. Miss Hardy is the third Wesley Girl to be married within a month and while the girls are becoming used to weddings, nevertheless they were agreeably surprised. Those present Tuesday afternoon were Mesdames Robson and Lester Jones, Misses Bon Hardy, Hazel Robson, Alta Ruffner, Ruth Harding, Ila Cook and Tommie Hale.

MRS. G. FRED THOMPSON'S RECITAL MUCH ENJOYED.

The following program was admirably rendered Thursday night at the Wichita Theatre by Mrs. G. Fred Thompson, assisted by Mrs. Bruce Greenwood, violinist, Miss Edna Mooneyham, pianist and Mesdames Arthur Huff and E. Von der Lippe, accompanists: Songs—Where My Caravan Has Rested—H. Lohr. The Quest—Eleanor Smith. The Years at the Spring—H. H. A. Beach. Lullaby from Jocelyn—B. Godard. (Violin Obligato, Mrs. Greenwood) The Nightingale—Liszt. Valse—Schubert-Liszt. (Miss Mooneyham) Aus Meinen Grossen Schmerzen—R. Franz. Im Herbst—R. Franz. Standchen—Johannes Brahms. Wenn Die Rosen Blühen—Luise Reichardt. Legende—H. Wienlawski. Hungarian Dance—Brahms. (Mrs. Greenwood) Serenade—Schubert. His Lullaby—Carrie Jacobs Bond. Annie Laurie—Anonymous. Each number was exquisitely rendered and very pleasing to the appreciative audience. Mrs. Thompson's rich, beautiful voice was at its best in the tender, soothing lullabies, which formed two of the numbers on the program. "The Lullaby" from Jocelyn with violin obligato by Mrs. Greenwood was pleasing in the extreme. "His Lullaby" by Carrie Jacobs Bond, was most beautiful and Mrs. Thompson's rendition of that pleasing old ballad "Annie Laurie" was perfect. One could almost have a view of Max Welton's brass and Bonnie Annie Laurie whose brow is like the snow drift. The German songs were beautifully sung and full of feeling. The pianist, Miss Mooneyham, was excellent and her selections were much enjoyed. Special praise is due Mrs. Arthur Huff and Mrs. Von der Lippe, the accompanist, while Mrs. Bruce Greenwood, violinist, charmed the audience as she has never failed to do. Mrs. Thompson and assistants deserve the hearty thanks of the Presbyterian ladies and the audience as well for the material aid given the ladies and the delightful musical treat given the audience.

In one corner the fortune teller's tent had been erected and Miss Laura Martin as the fortune teller proved very ingenious and entertaining. The company next amused themselves by watching a few of the more-bolder bob for apples. Some of the boys proved themselves quite apt in the art, in spite of an occasional ducking. Others attempted picking for apples suspended on strings throughout the evening. WORKS ALL DAY

And Studies at Night on Grape-Nuts Food

Some of the world's great men have worked during the day and studied evenings to fit themselves for greater things. But it requires a good constitution generally to do this.

A Georgia man was able to keep it up with ease after he had learned the sustaining power of Grape-Nuts, although he had failed in health before he changed his food supply. He says:

"Three years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which left me unable to eat anything but bread and water."

"The nervous strain at my office from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., and improper foods caused my health to fail rapidly. Cereal and so-called 'foods' were tried without benefit until I saw Grape-Nuts mentioned in the paper."

"In hopeless desperation I tried this food and at once gained strength, flesh and appetite. I am now able to work all day at the office and study at night, without the nervous exhaustion that was usual before I tried Grape-Nuts."

"It leaves me strengthened, refreshed, satisfied; nerves quieted and toned up, body and brain waste restored. I would have been a living skeleton, or more likely a dead one by this time, if it had not been for Grape-Nuts."

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times a day and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eyestrain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given. INDIVIDUALITY IN YOUR DRESS

IT IS BEST TO STUDY YOURSELF BEFORE STUDYING STYLES, SAYS MISS MASON

AGE, HEIGHT AND FIGURE

Several Things are to Be Considered in Picking Out Styles Best Suited to Ones Self

(By Margaret Mason)
If you're fat or if you're fair, If you're slim with dusky hair, If you're short or very tall, If you're old or young at all, You should dress to suit your style. So you'd better pause a while. Ere your hats and gowns you choose, And this article peruse.

New York, Oct. 31.—To know what not to wear is quite as important as what to wear. You'd best study yourself before you study the style books. Yes, verily; what is sadder than a fat woman in the bouffant draperies meant for a svelte sylph, or a fluffy hat for sweet sixteen on the grizzled locks of almost sixty.

If you are of ruddy tresses look not upon a gown with red and if you are a blonde turn your back upon yellow. The best color selection for the golden girl is all shades of green, blue and the darker shades of brown, black, white and deep shades of plum and amethyst. The dark beauty, if her skin is of a healthy, has a wide selection among all shades of brown, green, blue, red, yellow and purple, grey black and white. If these is the least tendency to sallowness purple, green and yellow must be eschewed and if her complexion is ashy the more subdued tones must be her choice. This is true of both blonds and brunettes whose coloring is high. The Titan haired Venus is wise who sticks to olive and Nile green, old blue and navy, golden brown, burnt sienna, taupe, grey, black and white.

If you are portly with broad shoulders, a full face and several chins, your hair should be dressed plainly and on top of your head. Your hats should be trimmed high and have medium brims. Long lines should be striven for and only dark colors worn as they tend to reduce the bulk of the body. Black is the very best for this purpose. Your blouses and waists should be loose and softly full to conceal your general curves, and the skirts should be plain and but slightly draped. Never indulge in an overskirt, peplum or ruffle for these will but add to the bulk to breadth. If a lassie is fat and short all at the same time she is sorely tried indeed. If she gets a hat with a brim wide enough to fit her face it will take from her height alarming-ly. A short woman should never wear an all black hat with broad shoulders; shadow will cut her off while just a touch of color will overcome this shortcoming.

Shoulders should be narrow for the plump girl, her gowns should be colorless and cut out close to the neck and in a long shape in front. She should cling to long plain sleeves and normal waist lines.

The slim maid nowadays is the favored of the gods. She can pick all her costumes unhampered by the fear of showing lumps instead of lines. Her only don'ts—if her face be long and thin—are to eschew long drippy earrings and high coiffures.

In playing her little part on the world's stage lovely woman certainly has to be careful how she dresses the part or she will never make a hit as a star performer. She must pick her type according to her personality as well as to her coloring and then proceed to costume it appropriately.

Since time immemorial the petite blonde has wisely chosen the role of a baby doll and dressed in book muslin and blue ribbons. The petite brunette should take the tip from the blonde for her regular overfascinated offh type.

The medium sized and complexioned girl should adopt the boyish, box-coated, heeled shoe and tailored effect while the languorous slender brunette or red haired charmer should play the Oriental game to the hilt by wearing clinging, colorful gowns, bizarre jewels, subtle perfumes, and uncommon effects.

But for the sake of suffering humanity if you weigh three hundred on the hoof and have a collection of "hins" don't try to be an Oriental hour or a baby doll. Just require a cheery personality and go in for comfort rather than style.

ANOTHER WICHITA PIONEER GONE

Dick Wheeler, Once West Texas Stage Driver, Succumbs To Attack of Dropsy

D. P. (Dick) Wheeler, a pioneer resident of Wichita Falls, died at his home at 1100 Seventh street at 11:30 o'clock Friday night after an illness from dropsy and complication of troubles. Mr. Wheeler was in his sixtieth year and had been a resident here since the early eighties.

Before coming to Wichita Falls Mr. Wheeler was a stage driver out of Jacksboro which was then one of the outposts of civilization along with old Fort Griffin and Fort Loncho. At one time Mr. Wheeler was employed by E. B. Goring when the latter was engaged in the livery business here and some of the older citizens remember when he made his regular trips over the city lighting and turning out the street lights for which Mr. Goring had the contract.

At the time of his death Mr. Wheeler was proprietor of the Princess Bar on Indiana avenue. He was a man of genial personality and in his long residence here made many friends. Nearly all the old timers not only here but throughout this section knew and liked Dick Wheeler. He leaves a widow and five chil-

DISTRICT FARMERS UNION MEETING

127 Delegates From 14 Counties of Wichita Valley District Attend—Keeler Speaks

One hundred and twenty-seven delegates representing locals in fourteen counties were here Friday and Saturday attending the regular quarterly meeting of the Wichita Valley District Farmers' Union. The meeting was adjourned Saturday morning after a most enthusiastic session. Most of the session was taken up with strictly business matters but a diversion much enjoyed Friday was a talk by D. B. Keeler, vice president of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad. Mr. Keeler and General Freight Agent Sterley were in the city looking after the arrangements for the installation of the switch to the new cotton oil mill being built by Farmers' Union interests and Mr. Keeler was invited to address the meeting which he did discussing the inter-dependence of the farmers and railroads.

It was announced at the meeting that the new cotton oil mill would probably start operations this week. The company has 1800 tons of seed in storage ready to be crushed. Twenty-seven gins in the fourteen counties in the district are interested in the new mill.

CITY WILL NOT SEND INSPECTOR TO MILL.

The city of Wichita Falls will not send a man to the mills to inspect the wood blocks to be used in paving a part of Tenth street. This was asked by the company having the contract for laying the blocks out May or Bell declared that the time to inspect the blocks was as they were laid on the street. The city council backed him up in the position. The mill with which the contractor had his order telegraphed they would not make shipment unless the city sent an inspector. The contractor told Mayor Bell he would place the order elsewhere if the mill persisted in its refusal.

When the blocks were laid here several years ago an inspector was sent to the mill and the crosscutting plant in Louisiana.

Young Girls Adopt The Petal Frock

New York, Nov. 1.—The younger set is agog over the "petal frock" that bewitching innovation which its modiste creators have dedicated to the charm of girlhood. Flower like amidst its daintily flaring rills blossoms the delicate loveliness of youth.

A shop specializing upon young folks' clothing exhibited recently the most attractive interpretation of this idea which we have yet seen. The foundation garment was of forget-me-not-blue taffeta in supple folds and weaves. Over the skirt were hung, one above the other, three white chiffon tunics, graduating in depth and having the edges cut in deep rounded scallops. Corried pipings of rose pink satin were run around the edge of the scallops causing them to stand off from the skirt. Transparent sleeves of the white chiffon were finished at the elbow with a double ruffle also piped with the satin to make them bouffant. On the waist in bolero effect were placed two ruffles of the chiffon treated in a similar way. The effect was indescribably lovely, exquisitely, airy alluring.

A petal frock intended for an older girl was less bouffant. Developed in sea-green satin, it was draped with two tunics of green chiffon in a light-idea, very wide at the hips. At the center front smocklike is introduced in novel effect. Slipper of suede, dyed to match the shade of the gown, complete the toilette.

Note the softly waved coiffure of the girl who is wearing this costume. With the return of more ornate apparel styles, simple flat methods of arranging the hair have been superseded by the waved coiffure. The very newest type shows the locks piled to produce a very long line from the knot of the hair to the tip of the chin.

This high coiffure is well illustrated in our first sketch. The gown is of deep lavender moire trimmed with Venise lace. Moire waves are now conspicuous in a great many textures. Of the old type of moire silk, we find an abundance and, in addition, we have moire velvet and plush, moire de laine, moire pongee, crepe and marquisette. Moire Fleude is the name of a new satin face silk so soft and fine that it may be drawn through the proverbial ring.

The moire used in the gown pictured is of exquisite draping quality, the folds of the skirt hanging in lovely soft lines. The waist is cut away beneath the bretelle like inserts of rich Venise lace, and there is an upstanding frill of the lace around the neck. At the center front, just above the waistline, is applied an intricate beaded ornament in lavender, purple and tarnished gold. The vest-like extension, cut in double points, gives a very attractive touch.

Vividly colored ornaments, rich laces and wonderfully beautiful ribbons are used in the construction and trimming of many afternoon and evening gowns.

Never before have there been ribbons such as we see this year. Pages can be written about them and the story would not be half told. Of novelties there is a truly marvelous showing. A ribbon, half moire and half fur is one of the richest of these. It appears in moleskins with gray moire, heavier with tan sealakin with white and ponyskin with yellow. Wool embroidered ribbons are gorgeously beautiful. As a rule, the embroidery is worked on a shantung background. One very effective style which we saw was in cross stripes. On a tan ground appeared, about an inch and a half apart, inch wide stripes of yellow peacock blue and orange. The same effect was repeated on a black ground in bars of red, green, tan and blue.

Wool flowers worked in a crape ground in New Art colors and still-ontinental patterns made another ef-er shade. The tunics were cut in pointed outline and piped with black velvet. The sleeves had the double frill, pointed and piped with black, but there were no ruffles on the waist, which was a simple blouse of green chiffon over the satin foundation. Carrying out the flower idea, which was readily apparent, a touch of yellow was introduced in a knot of satin at the left side-front.

Innumerable charming color effects are suggested by the flower frock, which is particularly pretty when seen in the new sawing dances. Debutantes are rushing to their dressmakers with instructions to make up one or more gowns of this kind as quickly as possible, and even the schoolgirl who is not yet "out" will have a petal dress for afternoon parties and dancing school.

Many interesting things for the little folks are being shown in the shops. Even little boys are departing from stereotyped styles. A well known store is now featuring for them overcoats of red chinchilla, with black velvet collar and cuffs. Suggesting English sporting togs, they are picturesque and not inappropriate.

Women's clothes keep on getting more and more elaborate. Gone entirely is the simplicity of line which has characterized the styles of several seasons past. Richness of weave and gorgeousness of color in fabrics add to the sense of elaboration. Much black and white, however, is still seen.

Silk materials are being duplicated in wool, among the most interesting textures of this kind being wool charmeuse. There is no "wear out" to it so we are told, and it is, if anything, even more elegant than the silk goods of this name.

Wool charmeuse of a wonderful mahogany shade is the material in which the gown shown in our second illustration is developed. The model is very clever. The waist shows the smart bolero outline, the high roll collar and the omnipresent waistcoat or vest. Waistcoat and the crushed ends in which the unusual cross closing is continued, are of brocaded silk in yellow, mahogany, black and gold. The skirt is based upon the peg-top fective ribbon. Heavy silk embroidery in more subdued colorings produced extremely handsome effects. Close nap velvet ribbons show Purist, flammak and intricate Persian patterns. In the latter designs, the colorings are particularly lovely, representing the soft faded tones of old rugs. Tapestry ribbons are another novelty—plaid, Roman stripes and big block checks afford interesting suggestions. Tarnished tinsel ribbons are woven in wide widths for sashes and in intricate filigree like patterns. Black gauze ribbons with silver flowers and white with gold, are lovely. An exquisite "dowdrop" ribbon, which made us think of early morning in a garden, was of cream gauze dotted with glistening beads placed far apart and embroidered with large silk flowers in delicate rose and blue tones. To trim a young girl's dancing frock it would be charming. Made flowers of silk and velvet

Men Most Amorous Between 24 And 26 Says German Doctor

Hamburg, Germany, Nov. 1.—The "curve of love" has been traced by Dr. Johann-Jackh, after much study of the scientific principles governing the relations between the sexes. His diagram shows that the male capacity for affection towards the other sex is highest between the ages of 24 and 26 whereas the "female curve" rises highest between 20 and 34.

The statistics are based on an examination of the sex lives of 400 famous men and women. Dr. Jackh observes that men loves appreciably at twenty, but that after that there is a drop, owing to his getting over youth's first delusions. "He begins to love strongly," says the doctor, "at twenty-four. He seldom really loves at thirty, being then too busy with his advancement in life. At that age he will accept love and in many instances make some advances but after thirty, almost invariably, the man is wholly receptive and the woman makes practically all the advances."

"READY MONEY" AT WICHITA THEATRE MONDAY NIGHT.

When "Ready Money" was produced for eight months at Sir Charles Wyndham's New Theatre in London, last year, the King and Queen saw the performance twice, and said it contained the prettiest love story they had seen on the stage. This high praise has been endorsed by press and public in New York, Chicago and Boston, where it ran in each city for many months. "Ready Money" will be presented by William A. Brady, Ltd., at the Wichita Theatre Monday night.

The play is by James Montgomery and is described as a comedy of love, romance, thrills and laughter. The story is new and developed on original lines, and revolves around the efforts of the hero to quickly obtain enough ready money to overcome the objections of the mother of the girl he loves. There are nineteen clever players in the cast and the play is artistically staged.

"Ready Money" does not tell a story of frenzied finance, as its title may suggest, but it does describe the frantic efforts of the hero to obtain enough ready money to win the girl he loves and who devotedly loves him, but is prevented from marrying him because her mother objects to the matrimonial intentions of a poor young man, however otherwise worthy. The hero owns an unproductive gold mine out west, and a 25-cent piece, when the play opens. How he is induced to accept the loan of $50,000 in clever counterfeit bills—not to spend, but to show that he has the money, how his friends thinking he has struck gold in his mine and pour in an avalanche of money for stock, and how the mine really does produce gold just as the U. S. secret service men are on the trail of the counterfeit money, makes a play of absorbing interest and thrills, which does not, however, overshadow the charming love story nor the irresistibly laughable dialogue and situation. The play is clean and wholesome in every respect, and is presented by a large cast of clever players.

FARMERS SHOULD PLANT MORE CORN

RADFORD SAYS THIRTY MILLION DOLLARS IS SPENT FOR IT IN TEXAS

CITES RECENT IMPORTS

Will Be An Enormous Shortage In State This Year, He Says—Refers To Tariff's Effect

(By Peter Radford)

We have had a corn famine in Texas for the past fifty years, and I want to appeal to the Texas farmers to plant more corn. It causes an annual drain of more than thirty million dollars upon the resources of the farmer and this spectre of want should be driven from the land. The remedy is very simple—plant more corn. The farmers in the corn belt report one of the heaviest demands in recent years and also state that the buying has been done chiefly by farmers to be used for feeding work animals and other livestock. The Texas crop of 1913, according to the United States department of agriculture, is about 155,000,000 bushels, while the requirements for the year is said to be not less than 200,000,000 bushels. The Texas Grain Dealers' Association is the authority for this statement, and according to these figures, there will be an enormous shortage of 45,000,000 bushels. This shortage will have to be shipped in from other states and countries, and Texas farmers will be required to spend approximately $30,000,000 to supply this deficiency.

Effect of the Tariff. With the signing of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill by President Wilson, on October 3rd, this grain was made a free trade product, the duty of fifteen cents per bushel being removed, and corn produced in foreign countries is now permitted to compete in price with the Texas product. At the present time a cargo consisting of 250,000 bushels of Argentine corn is en route to Galveston port, and this shipment is consigned to a Wichita Falls mill. Concern and none of the imported cereal, so far, has been purchased by farmers for livestock feed, but there can be little promise of relief from that country, as Argentina's average annual production of corn is approximately equivalent to that of Texas, while her population is twice as great and her livestock supply more than eight times that of the Lone Star State. It is not likely that the farmers of Texas will receive any benefit from the new tariff insofar as the purchase of corn is concerned, as the United States exports this cereal surplus, 75 per cent produced on the earth's surface, and fixes the world's price. The only one in this State who can possibly benefit by the removal of the tariff is the Texas dealer, and then only where the cost of transportation is cheaper from foreign countries to Texas than it is from the corn belt of the United States to Texas. We have had an annual shortage of approximately 50,000,000 bushels of corn in Texas for the past decade, which has been supplied largely by Illinois, Oklahoma, Iowa, Kansas and a few other States.

1913 Second Largest Crop. The average annual corn production of Texas during the past decade has been 140,000,000 bushels, while the yearly requirement has been around 200,000,000 bushels. The 1913 crop was the second largest ever produced in Texas from a production standpoint. The 1908 crop was the largest in the history of the Texas industry, amounting to 201,848,000 bushels, and valued at $119,090,000. The total farm value of the 1913 crop, which amounted to 155,000,000 bushels, has not yet been estimated by the United States department of agriculture, but the average price throughout Texas on October 1st was 82 cents, compared with 66 cents per bushel on the same date last year. This average will not prevail for the entire year.

however, and it is safe to estimate that the total farm value of the 1913 crop will not exceed $100,000,000. As we consume more corn in Texas than we produce, the Texas crop demands a higher price than the average crop of the United States. Figures compiled by the crop reporting board of the United States department of agriculture show the price per bushel of the Texas cereal on October 1st, 1913, to be seven cents above that of the average for continental United States.

Collin Leading Corn County. Collin is the banner corn producing county of Texas and one of the largest crops ever produced has just been gathered in that county. According to the latest government reports 150,000 acres or 35 per cent of its cultivated area is devoted to the raising of this grain. In acreage, corn follows very closely the same sections as cotton, and as a rule, the leading cotton producing counties of Texas take high rank in corn yield. Corn is a commercial crop in 249 of the counties of the State and sixty-nine farms out of every one hundred produced this cereal to some extent.

While present indications are that there will be an increased corn acreage next year, it is not sufficient, as the acreage of this product has been on a steady increase for a number of years. Comparing the 1912 acreage of Texas with that of ten years ago and the average yearly increase from 1903 to 1907, with the annual average from 1908 to 1912, it will be found that an increase of 25 per cent has been witnessed, while the acreage of wheat and oats shows heavy decreases.

Small Crop, High Prices. The price of 82 cents per bushel quoted by the United States department of agriculture on October 1st is unusually high for Texas. The yearly average price during the past ten years has been 60 cents, although the maximum yearly price of 80 cents was reached in 1911, when the yield was only 50 per cent of the average crop. The minimum yearly price of 48 cents was paid for the Texas product in 1903, when the production was 4,000,000 bushels above the average crop.

The first government statistics relating to corn in Texas were compiled in 1879 by the census bureau. Since that time, the production, as well as the acreage, has shown an uninterrupted and strikingly rapid increase, while consumption has more than kept pace with production.

LONDON HOP MARKET IS FACING SERIOUS CRISIS

Crop Is Too Short For Country's Needs and None Can Be Imported From Abroad

By Associated Press

London, Nov. 1.—The hop market is experiencing a crisis unprecedented since the famous season of 1882, when hops attained a price never reached before or since.

For several years English hops have been plentiful, but of a poor quality, and the ruling price was so low that all of the weaker growers were driven out of business, leaving only the independent farmers in the field. This season the crop in England and Australia is very short, and the market has hardly opened when prices began to soar. In the United States the crop is plentiful and good and, almost from the opening of the market, the price on the other side has been ten cents lower than here. In spite of the high price no hops have been brought to market, and the surviving growers are enjoying their vengeance to the fullest extent. All of them can hold on as long as they please and with the season two weeks old there are no signs of weakening on their part. The only buyers who are happy are those who foresaw the conditions early enough to buy American crops in advance, some of whom have made fortunes on their deals.

Other buyers are very pessimistic over the situation and declare that the cheapness of hops in the United States cannot save the situation long, as the price there is bound to go up as soon as the American growers realize the situation here. Some of the dealers are already predicting that the price will finally surpass the historic level of 1882.

JAIL DELIVERY AT CHILDRESS; SIX PRISONERS GET AWAY.

(Childress Post)

Some time Wednesday night the six prisoners confined in the Childress jail made their escape and thus far nothing has been heard of them. As reported to this paper, the prisoners managed to pry off some of the cross bars to the cage, making a hole large enough for them to crawl through. Getting out into the run-around, they found the door open and quietly walked out to liberty. The exact hour of their escape is not known, but Jailer Barnes is of the opinion that it was between midnight and daybreak. On Thursday Sheriff Brown and his force all got busy trying to locate the missing prisoners, but to far, without success. Four of the men who escaped were charged with felonies and were awaiting the action of the grand jury. The other two were serving out a short sentence each for misdemeanors.

Fleming—Plans are being arranged here for the erection of a new school house, for which bonds were recently voted.
