MAYOR BELL SUCCEUMS TO ILLNESS LATE WEDNESDAY

NOTABLE CAREER COMES TO CLOSE

CHIEF EXECUTIVE PASSES AWAY AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS WITH APPENDICITIS

BURIAL THIS AFTERNOON

Proclamation Requests That Business Houses Close For Funeral—Expected For Hours

Dr. J. M. Bell, pioneer of Wichita county, beloved citizen and mayor of Wichita Falls, died Wednesday night at 10:05 o'clock, following a week's illness with appendicitis. For many hours before the end, it was known that he could not survive and death had been momentarily expected for some time when the final summons came. He was fifty-four years old.

Death was due to peritonitis following an operation for appendicitis which was performed last Saturday. It was at first thought he would recover from the operation, but Monday he took a turn for the worse and last night the great strength and vitality that had sustained him at last gave way and he fell peacefully asleep. At that loving friends and scientific skill could do to prolong his earthly days was done, but to scant avail.

Funeral This Afternoon.
The funeral was set for this afternoon at three o'clock at the M. E. Church, South Dr. J. L. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and Dr. Bell's pastor; Dr. J. W. Hill, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, and Rev. F. L. Mcadden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, will officiate. The schools will close in time for the children to attend the service and a proclamation issued this morning by J. W. Bradley, mayor pro tem requests that business houses close.

The pallbearers were selected by Dr. Bell himself. Last summer, after he had suffered an attack of heart trouble he seemed to realize that death was not far away and told close friends and members of his family of his desire in this connection. The pallbearers are: Wiley Blair, G. Clint Wood, J. A. Richmond, M. J. Gardner, Frank Floyd of Iowa Park, W. R. Ferguson, M. H. Moore, R. C. Smith.

Honorary—Frank Kell, J. A. Kemp, R. E. Huff, Frank Blair, C. R. Hartsock, C. W. Beavers, C. C. Huff.

Ill Only Short Time.
Although the citizenship of Wichita Falls had known for many years that there was hope for the mayor to revive his illness, the sad message that went forth this morning was a shock to all with whom he had come in contact. No Wichita had a wider circle of friendship and the new cast a pall of sorrow over the entire city.

Dr. Bell had been ill since Monday of last week, but the seriousness of his condition was realized only about a week ago, when it was discovered that he was suffering from appendicitis. An operation was decided upon and this was performed by Dr. Harris on Fort Worth several times during the week, but was suffering considerably.

On Tuesday of last week he attended the performance of "Ben Hur" with members of his family but was forced to leave before the performance ended. After his operation Saturday night was performed by Dr. Harris on Fort Worth, he came under the anesthetic in apparent good condition and it was thought at that time that he would recover. On Sunday he was suffering a great deal, but was not thought to be in danger. Monday afternoon he took a sudden turn for the worse and it was found that peritonitis had set in. Monday night he was delirious and he had been conscious for only a short time since noon Monday.

Had Been Slowly Sinking.
On Tuesday it was thought that at other operation might be performed and a special train rushed here from Fort Worth bearing Doctors Harris and Barber. They decided, however, that

PROCLAMATION

City of Wichita Falls, Texas, February 5, 1914. Whereas, I, John W. Bradley, Mayor Pro Tem of the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, have learned with deep regret of the death of Mayor J. M. Bell, which occurred at 10:05 o'clock p. m. Feb. 4, 1914, and desiring to show the proper respect due the honorable position held by Dr. J. M. Bell, in the City of Wichita Falls, I do hereby request the business men of Wichita Falls to close their respective places of business between the hours of three o'clock and four o'clock p. m. of February 5th, 1914, as a token of respect to the honorable deceased Mayor.

JOHN W. BRADLEY,
Mayor Pro Tem.
Attest: W. A. McCARTY,
Secretary.

"ONE OF THE BRAVEST AND THE TRUEST MEN."

Mrs. J. M. Bell today received the following telegram from Washington: "Mrs. J. M. Bell, Wichita Falls, Tex.: Mrs. Bailey and I profoundly sympathize with you and the children. Outside of his immediate family, nobody regrets Dr. Bell's death more than I do. We were friends when in college boys together, and I know him to be one of the bravest and the truest men that ever lived." (Signed) J. W. BAILEY.

another operation would be useless. Since Monday night, Dr. Bell sank slowly, his unusual strength sustaining him many hours past the time when it was thought the end would come.

He had not been in good health since last summer when he experienced an attack of neuralgia of the heart, occasioned, it was said, by the extreme heat and overwork. Since that time, although he soon resumed his duties as physician and as chief executive of the city, he had not been as active and vigorous as formerly and his friends noticed a change in his condition. He, too, was aware that his health was shaken and in conversations with friends, even while pursuing the busy routine of his day's work, he spoke as if he knew that the end was not far away.

A large number of friends from Dr. Bell's old home at Iowa Park came down at noon to attend the funeral and these, who had known much longer than most Wichitans, felt that the Mayor had indeed moved in a mysterious way.

J. W. Bradley Becomes Mayor
John W. Bradley becomes mayor of Wichita Falls, pro tempore, he being president of the city council. He will serve until the election in April. Mr. Bradley this morning issued a proclamation calling upon the business men to close their places this afternoon for an hour between three and four o'clock.

Native of Tennessee
Jonathan M. Bell was born on January 14, 1859, in Marshall county, Tennessee, near Lewisburg. His father was a physician. In December of 1880, the family moved to Mississippi, occupying in Pontotoc county, where J. M. Bell was schooled and reared. He received his literary education at the University of Mississippi and at Vanderbilt University and then decided to follow in the footsteps of his father, taking up the study of medicine. He attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons at St. Louis and after graduation there he practiced a few months, Mississippi, and his father's health failed. He then moved to Pontotoc county to remain with his father until the latter's death.

After the death of his father, Dr. Bell moved to Texas and located in Wichita county, settling about five miles north of Iowa Park. He had married in Mississippi, Mrs. Bell being Miss Cornelia Watts of Pontotoc county before her marriage.

20 Years in Tiffin County
For more than twenty years Dr. Bell has been a resident of Wichita county. In 1906 he moved with his family to Iowa Park, where he resided until 1910. In July of which year he came to Wichita Falls to make his home here. His long career in this county as one of loyalty to his friends, of faithful, kindly service as a physician and of upright, courage and devotion as a citizen and as a Christian, many stories are told of his kindness and gentleness of his nature. Strong and fearless in every undertaking, he had the tenderness of a woman when called to the bed of suffering and his sympathy was never failing.

When he came to Wichita Falls, Dr. Bell, always public spirited, became at once a prominent figure in the affairs of this city. He was a director of the Chamber of Commerce and few men, if any, were more loyal to this city or had her welfare more at heart. It may be said in simple truth that his days would almost surely have been prolonged had he labored less earnestly and less faithfully for this community.

Mayor Nearly Two Years.
Two years ago when the municipal election was approaching, Dr. Bell's friends prevailed upon him to make the race for mayor and like the good citizen that he was, he responded. He was elected without opposition in his own party and the two years directed the affairs of the city bravely and with wisdom. He took a leading part in the preparation of the new charter and one of his dearest wishes was fulfilled when it finally became the organic law of the city.

Surviving are his widow and seven children; four daughters, Mrs. R. E. Souther of Fort Worth; Mrs. R. L. Fain of Lubbock; Miss Laura Bell and Miss Lillian Bell of Wichita Falls; three sons, Luther, Jonathan, and Joseph Bailey. He was one of eight children of which five survive: W. J. Bell of Birmingham, J. A. Bell of Macon, Georgia; J. W. Bell of the University of Mississippi; Mrs. W. M. Roberson of Pontotoc, Mississippi and Mrs. C. P. Smith of Aberdeen, Mississippi. J. W. Bell and Mrs. Roberson arrived here last night, a few hours after the death of the Mayor. He is survived also by a sister-in-law and a nephew and niece, Ben Bell and Miss Ona Bell reside here.

Mason and Presbyterian.
Dr. Bell was a Mason and had been a faithful member of that order for many years. He was also a member of several other fraternal organizations. He was a life-long member of the Presbyterian Church and was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church of this city.

In connection with Dr. Bell's experiences as a Mason, there is a story of interest among his pallbearers. A few months ago when a number of visiting Masons from Dallas and other points were here to confer the Master's Degree on a number of candidates, Dr. Bell was called upon to speak, sitting next him were his friends, Wiley Blair, who had become a Mason comparatively a short time since, putting his arm around the shoulders of Mr. Blair Dr. Bell told his hearers how his friend and brother had become a Mason.

"When I die," he said, "I want this man to be one of my pallbearers and (turning to Mr. Blair) do you know, Wiley, I've been thinking about that more within the past few weeks than I ever did in all my life before." Then his voice broke and he could say no more. That scene was recalled all too vividly to the minds of those present when they learned of his death.

City Officials Take Action.
This morning the city officials adopted resolutions upon the death of the mayor, as follows:

"Where, bowing to the will of Almighty God, who has called the spirit of Mayor J. M. Bell from its earthly tabernacle to a home beyond the grave, we, the city officials associated with him in the performance of his duties, desire to express our heartfelt sorrow for his death; therefore,

"Be it resolved, That in the death of Mayor J. M. Bell, we have lost a friend and adviser who was always ready and willing to assist and advise us in his official capacity and who at all times proved himself arable and efficient officer.

"In recognition of his services to the city of Wichita Falls, we do recommend that our citizens show the proper respect for the memory of Mayor J. M. Bell.

"And to the family of Mayor J. M. Bell, we extend our sincere sympathy in the hour of their affliction.

ISLE-THREAD BANKS ARE BEING DISPLACED
Washington, Feb. 5.—Women are abandoning their "isle-thread" banks, and depositing their spare change in "Sue Sam's" postal savings banks, according to a report today in the hands of Postoffice Department officials. The report was submitted by the postmaster at Pittsburg. He says that a woman recently went to his postoffice and pulled $2,000 out of her stocking, and asked for a pass book from the postal savings department.

Failure of banks is also benefitting the postal savings service, according to Third Assistant Postmaster General Dockery. In cities where banks have failed recently, many bank depositors have opened new accounts with the post offices. Five days after a run in the United States Trust Company in this city last November, 147 new accounts with deposits of $15,650 were opened with the postal savings here. At Pittsburg a similar instance is reported. Following the closing there last July of the First-Second National Bank deposits increased greatly, the Pittsburg postmaster reports.

Washington, Feb. 5.—As the result of the ramming and sinking of the Old Dominion liner Monroe by the steamer Nantucket it is probable that efforts will be made at once by the department of commerce to have an international law adopted requiring steamships to come as nearly to a full stop as possible and remain stopped as long as the lookout or the captain on the bridge is unable to distinguish moving objects clearly within an eighth of a mile. The department of commerce has full power to prescribe such a rule on navigation, within the jurisdiction of the United States, but on the high seas it would be necessary for the enforcement of such a rule to amend the maritime convention to which the United States is a signatory power and to which twenty-five or thirty other nations also have subscribed. In the past it has been difficult to get this convention amended. George Uhler, superintending inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, states that he is strongly in favor of the eighth-of-a-mile rule for navigation on the high seas, and he indicated that he would recommend to Secretary Redfield that action be taken to have such a rule adopted. The accompanying illustration shows the officers of the Nantucket, who did good work in rescuing passengers of the Monroe from the water; the shattered bow of the Nantucket and the vessel in dry dock for repairs. The arrow indicates Captain Berry of the Nantucket, who claims that the Monroe was at fault.

CABINET MEMBER RETURNS TO POST

HUERTA'S MINISTER OF FINANCE WHO RESIGNED RECENTLY HAS RECONSIDERED

INTEREST MAY BE PAID

Reignation Due To Mexico's Failure To Pay Amounts Due On the National Debt

Paris, Feb. 5.—Adolfo de la Lama, who in January resigned his position as Mexican minister of finance as a protest against Provisional President Huerta's decree suspending the payment of interest on the Mexican national debt, decided today to return to Mexico to serve again as minister of finance. He will leave for New York February 11.

President Huerta after De la Lama's resignation, sent him a long, friendly cablegram, expressing his confidence and reliance upon the minister and urging him to continue in his position. The interest due in April on the Mexican debt is said to be already in hand. It amounts to $50,000.

Senator De la Lama also has begun negotiations to raise $5,000,000 to meet the July interest payments.

Leslie Mestrezat will make the race for the United States Senate, while Secretary Wilson of the department of labor will remain in the cabinet, declining to be a senatorial candidate. This was declared today by a conference of Pennsylvania Democratic leaders after talking with President Wilson.

MORE SHIPPERS FAVOR EASTERN RATE ADVANCE

Traffic Manager For One Concern Says His Company Has No Objection To Proposed Increase

Washington, Feb. 5.—The first testimony by shippers favoring an increase in freight rates was developed today before the Interstate Commerce Commission at its hearing on protests against the five per cent advance asked by eastern railroads.

T. A. Gantt, traffic manager of the Corn Products Refining Company, testified that his company had no objection to the increase if the rate made no discrimination in favor of competitors.

WARNING AGAINST BLIND FAITH IN RADIUM CURE
Pittsburg, Feb. 5.—A warning against blind faith in the cure of cancer by radium was voiced here by Dr. Ward Reynolds of Boston at a public educational meeting of the American Society for the Control of Cancer in the Soldiers' Memorial hall here.

Dr. Reynolds, who is vice president for New England of the American society, stated there is no evidence that radium had cured one advanced case of cancer. According to his views, the radium treatment of cancer is up to the present time a matter of experiment and successful results have been obtained chiefly in the treatment of "external" cancers, particularly of the skin.

CANCER IS FATAL TO CONGRESSMAN

RADIUM TREATMENT PROVES UNAVAILING IN REPRESENTATIVE'S CASE

Washington, Feb. 5.—Robert Gunn Bremner, congressman from the seventh New Jersey district and editor of the Passaic Daily Herald, died today of cancer at a local sanitarium where he had been undergoing radium treatment since last December. He had been suffering from the disease for four years. Mr. Bremner was thirty-nine years old and married but childless.

He came here to try the radium treatment after physicians in his country and Europe had tried vainly to cure him. It was found that the disease had made such inroads upon him that little could be done and that the fight against death would be made with all the odds against him. He was optimistic, however, and tubes containing $100,000 worth of radium were applied to the growth. For a time Mr. Bremner seemed to improve, but a few days ago he was seized with a sinking spell.

In the last days he still insisted that he would get well and he declared he wanted to go back to Congress to fight for a bill to have a government owned radium institute so that this mineral could be at the disposal of rich and poor alike. Mr. Bremner was a close personal friend of President Wilson.

LITERACY TEST BILL TO SENATE

MANY BELIEVE PRESIDENT WILL VETO MEASURE IF IT IS PASSED

HAS DRASTIC PROVISIONS

Debate in Lower House Where Measure Was Passed Yesterday Is Sharp and Acrimonious

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 5.—With a provision barring illiterates said to be the most drastic legislation of its kind for many years, Representative Burnett's literacy bill was before the Senate today, where the literacy test will be threshed out.

It passed the House yesterday. Many expect the Senate to pass the bill as it stands, but President Wilson's attitude is the subject of much speculation. Some claim the president opposes the literacy test.

The bill passed by a vote of 241 to 126. All proposed amendments relating to the exclusion of Asiatic immigrants previously had been eliminated.

The bill as passed provides that every immigrant admitted to the United States must be able to read the English language, or some other language or dialect, including Hebrew or Yiddish. It prescribes the method of testing immigrants, providing that each applicant for admission must read a slip on which is printed between a ship and forty words.

Wilson Likely to Exercise Veto
In its present form this measure passed the House and the Senate in the last Congress, but was vetoed by President Taft. An identical bill was vetoed during President Cleveland's second administration. The supporters of the bill are confident that President Wilson has let it be known that he does not approve the literacy test.

Opponents of the literacy test fought strenuously to the last, but on a last effort to eliminate the test from the bill they were defeated, 140 to 232. The final vote came at the end of a day of vigorous debate which at times threw the House into confusion and on several occasions threatened to cause serious trouble.

Manahan Calls Burnett Coward.
Representative Burnett of Alabama in charge of the bill, tried to hurry the debate along and frequently moved to proceed and shut off the discussion. On one occasion Representative Manahan of Minnesota commented upon what he called the "fairness" with which this bill has been driven through, and the "unfair" statements of the chairman, Mr. Burnett, in view of his fear and cowardice which he has shown in not daring to answer objections.

With a bound Representative Burnett was on his feet.

"That's a lie, Mr. Chairman, and the gentleman knows it," he shouted.

Brownsville, Texas, Feb. 5.—Accompanied by a brass band, eighteen wagons bearing more than 600,000 rounds of ammunition, left Brownsville in parade line for Matamoros today, making the first large exportation of ammunition on the lower border.

As the parade passed through the business district of this city there were shouts of "Viva Huerta" by many of his sympathizers.

Huerta Issues Circular of Instruction to Chiefs—Wants Non-Combatants Protected

By Associated Press.
Mexico City, Feb. 5.—President Huerta today issued a circular of instructions to the chiefs of all army divisions and governors of states. It recites that the government has begun a more active campaign against the rebels and urges the "extreme diligence be observed in giving all possible protection to non-combatants, foreign as well as native, removing them when necessary from the zone of operations."

NORWAY IS OPENING UP

THIS week sees a new and specially interesting part of Norway opened up, says a recent issue of the Dundee Courier. Hitherto there have been two ways of seeing Norway, viz., sailing along the fjords and carrying across the country. Both had their charm, but there were often long distances between the scenes of special interest.

But in recent years the country has been waking up, and railways have been laid wherever their was business to be fostered or tourists to be expedited. A few years ago the magnificent cross-country mountain railway between Bergen and Christiania was opened for traffic, and wherever one thinks of the luxurious carriages or the entrancing scenery the memory of a journey by that railway will be a constant delight.

The new railway, the Dovre railway, is to connect Christiania with the Molde Fjord, and also with Throndhjem. There is already a narrow gauge, single-track line to Throndhjem, but it is utterly unfit to cope with the increasing traffic, and it runs parallel to the Swedish boundary, and is strategically a source of danger.

Where Scotch Mercenaries Fell.
 The new line runs west of Dovre, and then due north to Throndhjem, broad gauge, double track and safe from hostile operations. The line will continue from Dovre westward to the Molde Fjords, thus opening up the beauties of the Gudbrandsdal and the magnificence of the Romsdal. Now, that region is the Scotland of Norway. All along the route Scotch names abound, names recalling incidents and providing traditions and legends in which Scots played a romantic and tragic part, and one part of the valley is called Skotereien, the Scotch road.

On the 24 of August, 1612, a band

The 300 Scots were under the command of Lieut. Col. Alexander Ramsay and Captains Hay and Sinclair. Captain Sinclair was a nephew of the earl of Caithness, who in return for some favor, got his nephew to betray Lord Maxwell into the hands of his enemies. Under the guise of friendship Sinclair won Maxwell's confidence and then handed him over to his mortal foe, Sir Roger Lindsay. The victim pronounced a bitter curse on Sinclair for his dastardly deed and that curse embittered his remaining days.

Survivors of Sinclair's Expedition.

Four officers were spared, Sinclair and the others having been killed. A few privates also survived, and took service with one or other of the farmers. For instance, one such remained for some years at the farm of Valde in Vaage. He had been a glazier in former days and eventually started in his old trade. He sent some specially designed windows to his old master at Valde. That family treasured them until about twenty-five years ago, when they were removed to Christiania, and now occupy a place in the Anglican church there. Another of the Scots is reported to have swam across the Laugen, and to have found shelter at the farm of Ellingsbo, in Hedalen. He remained in the farmer's service for several years and then settled down in Oslo as a silversmith. He sent silver cups to Ellingsbo's children and these were long preserved as memorials of the Scottish survivor from Kringom.

The name of Sinclair is associated with the Scots' expedition by the Norse. Indeed, it is as often spoken of as the Sinclair expedition as by any other name. For the surviving officers hoping to escape more easily, led the peasants to believe that the dead Sinclair had been the real leader of the Scots. And so the Sinclair-bat-of Scots set sail from Scotland in two vessels, one of which started from Dundee. The other from Caithness. These 300 Scotsmen were mercenary soldiers proceeding to Sweden to help Gustavus Adolphus in his war with the Danes. They were destroyed near Otta, one of the stations on the new railroad, at a spot which can be seen from the train. The peasants, who outnumbered the Scotsmen, had laid their plans with consummate skill and caught them in an ambush. Naturally, the incident was greatly magnified by the simple-daisymen—and legends, tradition song and story have embellished the episode to the glorification of the natives, and great care is needed to sift out the truth.

It was, of course, to be expected that the action of the peasants would be commemorated in some lasting form; and a succession of monuments has marked the spot. A handsome stone memorial has stood on the high road for well nigh a century, bearing the inscription, "In memory of the peasants' bravery, 1612." But the stone had suffered from exposure and vandalism and a new one had become necessary. The present time seems specially appropriate, when history has been dissociated from legend, for the erection of a new monument, which bears the inscription, "In memory of the fight at Kringom, 24th August, 1612." Some of the traditions have doubtless a basis in fact, and along the route names of places containing the word skot are so numerous that not a few must have had a definite connection with the Scottish expedition.

lands and legends tell the Norse version of the disaster to the Scots. Guns, pistols, swords, etc., that were picked up by the peasants were called Sinclair's. One man, Jorgen Ferdinogen of Hedalen, obtained possession of a metal money-holster with Sinclair's initials on it. At the farm of Hraden, on his way home, he was enticed to have dinner with the family, and during the meal the holster was spirited away. To this day, if anything is left unattended, especially during a meal, and it disappears, the owner is said to "have been dining like Jorgen." The holster was eventually recovered and now occupies a place in the Vilk collection of Scottish relics of the expedition.

Many tourists pass by without paying any notice to the monument that has stood so long. Their guide book has told them little or nothing. One English traveler had kept his eyes open. Meeting a fellow countryman, he said: "Terribly hilly road this, one must be careful. There is a horrible place called Kringom down the road. I advise you to alight." I did, I see by a post that a man Sinclair had a bad fall there." The Sinclair monument is a huge flagstone, about eight feet long, seven feet high and six inches thick. It contains the inscriptions: "The leader of the Scots, George Sinclair, was buried here after he had fallen at Kringom on the 24th August, 1612."

In itself the incident was comparatively unimportant, but it meant much for Norway. Until that time the Norse had no militia or territorial defense.

MYSTERY OF THE GRAVE STILL IS UNSOLVED.

Arlene, Texas, Feb. 5.—Truth is stranger than fiction and many are the cases of mistaken identity. On Wednesday, January 28, the body of a boy was found near Eastland. He had been cut to pieces by the train. Nothing was found on the body by which it could be identified. Inquiry was made and a scar over the right eye led the officers to believe that it was the body of Paul Rothel of Hamlin, Texas.

Rev. Mr. Owen of Hamlin, went to Eastland. He had known the boy from childhood. He thought the body was that of Paul Rothel, but J. C. Watts of Dallas was there claiming it as his son and Rev. Mr. Owens was ordered. The body was shipped to Dallas. The wife of the Dallas man was positive that the body was not that of her son.

In the meantime H. C. Rothel, father of Paul Rothel had gone to Eastland and seen the photograph of the dead boy. He and Rev. Owen went to Dallas Sunday morning and identified the body as that of Paul Rothel. The body was taken to Hamlin and buried in the family burying ground.

During this time Paul Rothel was among friends at Gorman. They read in the papers the account of Paul Rothel's interment. The father of the boy was at once communicated with and informed that his son was alive and well. H. C. Rothel went to Gorman and was overjoyed to find his boy. Father and son passed through this city this afternoon on their way to their home at Hamlin. H. C. Rothel is section foreman on the Orient railroad at Hamlin. While he is rejoicing over the fact that his son is alive, the identity of the body that was buried at Granbury remains a mystery.

 Though God should send me,

 Across His sky,
 And bid all space between us be

 Though He should give me
 There a task,
 Sweeter than any

 And, with the task, achievement, too,
 Greater than all I here shall do—

 tions. At the conclusion of the pro-

CONSUMPTION OF OIL BY SOUTHWEST RAILROADS

Over Eleven Million Barrels Used Last Year For Fuel By Texas and Louisiana Lines.

(From Fuel Oil Journal)
 Railroads in Texas and Louisiana used 11,428,254 barrels of fuel oil in 1913, the greater part of which was consumed in firing locomotives. A comparatively small portion was burned under stationary boilers in shops, roundhouses and pumping plants. The Southern Pacific, largest consumer in the two States, supplied fuel oil to its Atlantic line steamships at Galveston and to its tugs at Gulf ports. The quantity employed in this service is included in the total as given.

There was no considerable difference in the aggregate consumption by the several railroads as compared with the 1912 record, but in individual instances there were various.

Southern Pacific
 The Southern Pacific's requirements in 1913, were 4,457,549 barrels, as against 3,924,403 barrels in 1912. The Texas lines alone, including oil delivered to steamships at Galveston, used 3,910,134 barrels last year, the remainder, 547,415 barrels, being consumed on the Louisiana lines.

This company imported 1,784,143 barrels of Mexican crude during the year, 1,355,337 barrels coming to Galveston, Texas, and 428,806 barrels to Algiers, La., on the Mississippi River opposite New Orleans. A good portion of this oil was from wells owned by the Southern Pacific's subsidiary, the East Coast Oil Company, in the Topka and Panco fields, adjacent to Tampico, transported in the company's tank steamer, the Topka. The remainder was purchased from the Magnolia Petroleum Company and The Intercontinental Oil Company.

The domestic fuel oil used by the Southern Pacific was of many varieties—crude from the different coastal fields of Texas and Louisiana and residuum from a number of Texas and Oklahoma refineries.

Second in rank of consumption, the Santa Fe lines in Texas (Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe) used 2,342,703 barrels of fuel oil in 1913 as compared with 2,178,323 barrels in 1912, drawing its supply principally from domestic crude and residuum, and receiving some Mexican oil at Galveston.

The Kansas City Southern Railroad consumed 922,191 barrels of fuel oil last year as against 1,254,668 barrels in 1912. The decrease resulted from discontinuing the use of oil on many locomotives on the northern division, because of the rapid advance in the price of residuum, making it more economical to burn coal, of which there is an abundant supply along the company's lines in Kansas. In January, 1913, the Kansas City Southern's consumption of fuel oil was 71,920 barrels. By December the quantity used monthly had fallen to 64,860 barrels.

Purchases of residuum by this company during the year were 193,552 barrels from Sugar Creek, Mo., 193,876 barrels from Shreveport, La., and 20,300 barrels from Port Arthur, Texas. Crude oil to the amount of 100,892 barrels was obtained at Tulsa—all within the first six months of the year—185,487 barrels at Oil City, La. (Caddo field), 65,744 barrels at Beaumont, Texas, and 33,793 barrels at Lake Charles, La. In January the largest source of supply was Sugar Creek, 35,296 barrels, and by December the quantity consumed by these lines at 200,000 barrels, or 2,400,000 barrels for the year which quantity covers the requirements of the International and Great Northern, the San Antonio and Aransas Pass, the Texas and Pacific, the Galveston, Houston and Henderson and several short lines.

Mrs. Newton Maer, presided. Mrs. J. P. Boone was assisted by Misses Andrea Addicks and Thelma Kahn in serving the salad course, which accompanied the tea. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. E. L. Smith and were ushered to the receiving line by Mrs. Thomas. Mesdames Mytinger and Little and the honorees made up the informal receiving line. Mesdames Griffin and Fitzgerald welcomed the guests into the dining room and on leaving they were ushered out the side entrance by Mesdames Pounds and Dolman. The members of the house party were all exceptionally beautifully gowned. Mrs. Emmert wore a black lace robe over yellow satin. Miss Emmert wore blue crepe mezeor with trimmings of shadow lace and coral velvet. Mrs. Mytinger was gowned in rose crepe mezeor, effectively draped and trimmed with iridescent beehives and garnitures. Mrs. Little wore a pink crepe de chine gown with trimmings of shadow lace.

The New Idea Club met with Mrs. E. W. Friberg on Denver avenue Wednesday afternoon. The usual routine of a number of guests attending additional pleasure. Sewing and conversation occupied the attention of all until late in the afternoon. A tempting two course luncheon was the hostess very acceptable contribution offering, the luncheon consisting of creamed oysters with bread and butter sandwiches, fruit salad, olives and wafers for the first course followed by fruit pudding with whipped cream and oatmeal cookies. The personnel of members included: Mesdames G. E. Friberg, Long, Carey, Ledelle, Tellis, Johnson, Simon. The guests were: Mesdames Mary, Emmert and Julian Carr of Illinois, W. M. Friberg, C. O. Quarntorn, Mary Friberg and Ed Peavy, Misses Altha Friberg, Edmontine Friberg and Deloise Peavy.

ALLEGED ATTACK UPON GIRL IS INVESTIGATED

Her Brother in Law Under Arrest Following Incident of Wednesday Afternoon

Rosie Catts, a thirteen year old deaf and dumb girl who can neither read nor write is alleged to have been the victim of an assault by a white man Wednesday afternoon. The girl is a daughter of Mrs. J. A. Stutter who lives on Elm street. A man held by the officers on a complaint is her brother-in-law, County Attorney T. R. Boone and District Attorney Scurry with other officials are making a thorough investigation and if they find sufficient evidence George Henson the man under arrest will be given a hearing. Unless they are satisfied with the evidence they will dismiss the charge. Statements have been secured from Henson's wife, sister of the girl and her mother. Mrs. Henson said the girl had followed her husband out to the well in the yard when he went to get a bucket of water and that she saw him drag her into a building at the back of the lot. Mrs. Stutter's statement partly corroborates her daughter's.

Why Seal Coffee? Because It's Better.

Phones 432 and 232 and 1318
 Reese Building, 710 Ninth Street

Once in a while a customer asks me why I am so keen on recommending SEAL brand coffee. The answer I gave above tells the story in three words—Because it's better.

Just what do I mean by that? There are coffees and coffees and you can pay as much for some other kinds as I'll charge you for SEAL Brand but you won't get SEAL quality.

I have failed to find any other brand that has the real SEAL flavor and quality. If I could find it I might perhaps be persuaded to sell it. But as far as I know, and I have studied the coffee market pretty thoroughly this SEAL coffee is the best coffee to be had in America today.

That seems to be a good reason why I should be talking SEAL coffee frequently. How does it appeal to you? Besides this my guarantee stands back of every pound and it must make good in your judgment or I will pay the price.

TALKING PICTURES TO BE AT THE MAJESTIC TONIGHT

An advance notice says: All hail to the wizard Edison, no motion picture ever exhibited in this city has been more profoundly interesting, than the talking motion pictures, that will be given at the Majestic theatre tonight. They possess a scientific value that cannot be attributed to the pictures of the familiar black and white or garden variety. Not only are the pictures on a larger screen than usual, but the distinctiveness of the voice and the synchronization of the subjects is wonderfully realistic.

Nothing has ever been invented that could so clearly illustrate the educational value of the photograph and motion pictures as these wonderful Edison Talking Pictures. No more remarkable achievement of this new photography has ever been revealed in this city. The pictures are both comic and tragic, a complete program having been arranged.

It is a perfect combination of the talking machine and the motion picture. The new marvel simultaneously projects sound and motion, producing an effect that is truly wonderful. It is hard to believe that the action depicted on the screen and with the dialogue, music or other sound, is so perfectly synchronized, is the result of the perfection of an invention and not the genuine article. At the Edison Studio, Orange, New Jersey, no expense is spared to turn out subjects and to keep the thirty or more companies Mr. Edison and his associates constantly supplied with new subjects.

John J. McGraw, the most picturesque personality in the baseball world is now appearing in Edison Talking Pictures. The Napoleonic leader of the New York Giants stole a few moments from a busy life just before the World Series to prepare a sketch which only a McGraw could originate. He is first seen in the locker room at the Polo grounds, where his quick, decisive manner of speech is indicative of the nature of the man. Out of a fund of experiences unique to the great man in the baseball profession, McGraw has chosen several extremely funny incidents which he relates with the effectiveness of the trained theatrical star. One of his stories concerns a budding hero of the diamond, when told to go into right field, asked McGraw which one it was, explaining that he was a stranger in New York.

PROMISE MUSICAL TREAT IF GUARANTEE IS SECURED

If Wichita Falls is to secure a place on the musical map of America we will never have a better opportunity than is presented today. Otto L. Fischer, America's great composer, pianist, and Harry Evans, the famous London bassist at the coronation of King George in 1911, have agreed to stop for a concert in Wichita Falls on their present tour in America, but in order to have the concert, those who are undertaking the local management must guarantee that there is a big audience in this city wanting to hear them.

Messrs. Harrison and Everson of the Music Store, and Mrs. McKee of the Wichita College of Music and Art, together with the support of the women of the Musicians Club, are uniting to make this concert possible, and are taking the names of all in Wichita Falls who would like to hear these artists in concert. Many of the most influential business men and society women in this city, as well as a number in the surrounding cities, have already subscribed for tickets, but there must be many subscriptions secured before these artists will agree to stop for a concert. It is the character of program that those who enjoy music have had to journey to the large city to hear, and if Wichita Falls can make a success of this concert it will mean that this city shall not only have the pleasure of hearing these two wonderful artists on the same program, but it will mean that Wichita Falls will have an opportunity to secure others of the world's greatest concert artists, and there is no reason why we should not have from one to three concerts by the very best musicians turning, every year.

LOVE, HATE AND SACRIFICE RUN THROUGH "VIRGINIAN"

The story of "The Virginian" a dramatized version of Owen Wister's remarkable novel which will be seen here Saturday at the Wichita Theatre is a tale of love, hate, sacrifice and romance. "The Virginian" is a young cowboy of exceptional gifts and wild primitive passions and modern civilized conventions which are continually at war within him, until he meets and falls in love with a pretty Vermont school teacher of superior education and refinement than his own. He has never before been thrown in contact with such a woman and his rescue of her from a perilous predicament which is their first meeting, has awakened in him a strain of native fitness that has hitherto had no chance of development. She is attracted by his virility and the earnestness reflected by his roughness. Quite against her intentions she is won by him, but not until he has shown himself to be the master. In some surprising ways, which with some displays of amazing courage and sacrifices he convinces her of his underlying nobility. The action is fast and filled with surprising and thrilling situations, and is replete with humorous comedy, making a brilliant as well as entertaining evening at the theatre.

"If 'The Traffic' remained in Fort Worth playing every night for a week there would be such a thinning out of a certain class of the male population that some street corners would not be recognizable. A week of 'The Traffic' would do more to change conditions than a month of revivals or the most rigid attempt to put the lid on.

"It is not a pretty play. It strikes at the most cancerous part of the social evil and the treatment for the social disease is not homeopathic. Filthy people will do well to stay away. Those who are willing to face the truth ought to see 'The Traffic.' If it could be followed by similar plays showing as faithfully the foolish finery route and the religious confidence route to give the world a glimpse of some startling reforms.

"After witnessing 'The Traffic' one gets out of the placid statement that such things have stood against attacks for ages and is roused to the knowledge that some remedy must exist for so great a crime. We feel that something would have carried unanimously at the Byers Friday night and it would not have been a surprise at any moment to have seen some man get up in the audience and take the end of a six-shooter or a club to the under-world mauler. One leaves with the feeling that the best law that could be written to combat with the social evil would be a statute requiring every woman of the under-world to carry a pistol at all times and qualify on proficiency by using it at frequent intervals. When an entire audience applauds a shooting, even though it be a stage one, there must be merit in the shooting.

"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS" TELLS INTERESTING STORY

An advance notice says: "The Shepherd of the Hills" the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel, which holds the record for the largest sales on any American work of fiction, which has been made by Mr. Wright, with the assistance of Elsbury W. Reynolds will be seen at the Wichita Theatre tomorrow night. The scenes of the play are laid among Ozark mountains of Missouri. It is a story of the hills and the simple life, yet it has plenty of excitement and an air of mystery that will hold the auditor from beginning to end. The story has to do with the father of an artist, who tired of city life, goes into the Ozarks for peace and quiet. He learns of a grievous sin committed by his son, whom he mourns as dead. The son had visited the hills some years before, when he fell in love with a simple-country girl. He painted her picture and when he went back to

TEXAS CATTLE RAISERS WIN QUARANTINE FIGHT

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 5.—E. B. Phillips, secretary of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, was notified by wire Wednesday morning that Assistant Secretary Galloway of the department of agriculture had withdrawn his recommendation for the repeal of the law of 1884.

This is a great victory for the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas which inaugurated the fight against the repeal of this law. The announcement was made in a bulletin issued in December by the department of agriculture to the effect that part of the law of 1884 permitting movement of cattle from below the quarantine line to interstate markets for immediate slaughter, should be repealed, and before cattle from below quarantine line could be shipped to any market, other than those in the state in which produced, they would have to be dipped twice under government supervision.

Cattle Raisers' Association Protests. The Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas seeing the great loss that could result from the repeal of this law and the uselessness of this action immediately protested and took steps to prevent the repeal of this part of the statute.

Those Who Gave Lives To Save Others at Sea To Be Honored In New York City

New York, Feb. 5.—Work will be begun as soon as the frost is out of the ground, according to W. L. Bottomley, architect on the memorial fountain which is to be erected at the base of the large office tower in Liberty Park to the memory of Jack Phillips, the wireless telegraph operator of the Titanic, and others of his craft, who have lost their lives at sea doing their duty.

The fountain which will be of the finest white granite, will consist of a huge basin on a pedestal surmounted at the back by a cenotaph six feet high and flanked on either side by seats of the same material. The grand-stand under the principal inscription will be carved and will be composed of motives derived from aquatic plants, shells and sea forms.

The names of wireless operators to be inscribed on the cenotaph are for the present:

Jack Phillips, Steamship Titanic, April 15, 1912, Atlantic ocean.
George C. Eccles, Steamship Ohio, August 26, 1909, Pacific ocean.
S. Lawrence Prudhont, Steamship Rosecrans, January 7, 1913, Pacific ocean.

MOTHER'S COFFEE

You remember the cup of coffee your mother made way back yonder at the Homestead. In memory you still smell its delightful aroma, taste its rich mellow flavor and feel its exhilarating influence—a morning benediction.

Mother didn't have as good coffee as you get now, as coffee at that time was in the hands of semi savage tribes and was poorly cultivated and handled. Mother made it in an old tin coffee pot. BUT MOTHER DID HAVE FRESH ROASTED COFFEE. She roasted it herself in the oven—a day's supply at a time. It wasn't roasted in Boston, New York or Chicago. It didn't lay in dirty box cars and depots nor linger on the grocers' shelves for weeks and perhaps months before it reached your kitchen, so in spite of inferior coffee and inadequate apparatus mother made a dandy cup of coffee. You can make a better one if you buy your coffee of us for you will get the very best of fine old mild growths of coffee intelligently blended to get the best results in the cup and fresh roasted—in us to date roasting machinery.
