ANNA PAVLOVA'S VIEWS ON NEW SOCIAL DANCES

"Turkey trot—no tango, one step, hesitation waltz, yes." Thus Anna Pavlova, greatest dancer of the age who is practically responsible for the present all pervading craze for social dancing in this country. To give the death blow to the tango and still to show how beautiful the old-fashioned steps of modern dancing may be, she has devised a society dance at every performance. It will be included in the diversions which will make of the third part of the brilliant program to be given at the Wichita Theatre, Feb. 23 by Pavlova and her cohorts.

This new social dance at present all the rage at the various kinds of dances in the East is an assimilated combination of tango and hesitation waltz. It is danced to the music of Idolka's Glow Worm by Pavlova with Berge as a partner. It is done in the Directors costumes and was introduced on the stage by the Metropolitan opera house, New York as the Cavotte Directors. But Manhattan society seized upon it and called it naturally the "Cavotte Pavlova."

RUSSIAN COUNT BROKE ARRIVES AT EAGLE PASS

Eagle Pass, Texas, Feb. 19.—Count K. A. Spolovsky, son of a wealthy Russian nobleman, has arrived here penniless after trying experiences in Mexico. The young count was sent to Mexico by his father to buy lands, supposed to be cheap because of the revolution. The count was arrested almost as soon as he reached Vera Cruz but his release was obtained by Lind. He went to the capital where he again was arrested and diplomatic exchanges were necessary to secure his release again. Then Kolosky set out for the interior to buy lands and fell into hands of rebels and federal soldiers. He was held for a score of times and each time was imprisoned. If they had known he was a nobleman he would have been held for a big ransom. After arriving here cablegrams were sent to Europe which brought him a goodly sum of money and he is returning sadder but wiser regarding Mexico and will buy no lands.

EARLY DECISION IN FREIGHT CASE

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION PROMISES ACTION ON PETITION OF RAILROADS.

TWO LINES CONSIDERED

Harlow Explains Present Attitude of Board in Making Inquiries As To Increase.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 19.—Decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed freight rate increases is expected to be reached probably within three months and certainly before the commission adjourns for its summer recess on July 1. This announcement was made by Commissioner Harlow today. He said: "Recognizing the public importance of an early disposition of the problems before us, the carriers, shippers and the commission are using every effort to bring the inquiry to an early conclusion."

Commissioner Harlow explained that the commission had before it two broad inquiries in respect to the proposed advance. "Are the present revenues of the carriers adequate? If not, how may they be supplemented? With respect to the first of these issues the carriers already have offered much testimony, but their witnesses have not been cross examined," added the commissioner, "we also advised that certain shipping interests will submit important testimony touching the adequacy of the present revenues of carriers."

TO GIVE GOVERNMENT PREFERENCE IN LEASING

Bill Now Pending in Congress Would Give Federal Authorities First Call On Oil

Washington, Feb. 19.—Among the provisions of a bill introduced in Congress by Representative Mondell of Wyoming to regulate the leasing of public lands for oil and gas purposes is one to the effect that the United States shall at all times have a preference right to take oil from the wells on such lands, for the revenue service, when necessary, but with due compensation. Another provision is that the producer "shall not monopolize in whole or in part the trade in oil or gas." The bill, in part, provides that:

"The secretary of the interior be, and he is hereby authorized for and on behalf of the United States, to issue licenses granting to holders thereof the exclusive right to prospect for oil and gas on the vacant public lands of the United States and on lands located, selected, entered, purchased or patented with a reservation to the United States of the oil and gas contained therein and to execute leases authorizing the lessee to produce and remove oil and gas from such lands. No license shall pertain to an area of more than 2,500 acres and no lease shall pertain to an area of more than 640 acres and all such areas shall be in reasonably compact form and not more than three miles in extreme length in the case of a prospecting license and not more than one and one-half miles in the case of a lease and conform to the public land surveys in all cases in which said surveys have been extended over the lands. No prospecting license shall be issued for a longer period than three years. All licensees shall pay yearly in advance a fee or rental of five cents per acre for the land covered by their license. Lessees shall pay in advance a rental of ten cents per acre for the full calendar year or fraction thereof, twenty-five cents per acre for the second year and not less than $1 and not more than $4 per acre for each succeeding year. The sums paid for rent by a lessee shall in every case be a credit upon the royalties that may be due from the same year. All lessees shall pay a royalty of one-tenth of the value at the well of all oil and gas produced. All leases shall be granted for such period as the lessee shall designate but in no event for more than 30 years; but all lessees who have complied with the terms of the leases shall have a preferential right to an extension."

BALL'S FRIENDS JUBILANT TODAY

WITHDRAWAL OF W. P. LANE, THEY BELIEVE, MAKES SUCCESS CERTAIN.

WORD FROM WASHINGTON

Rumored That A. S. Burleson and E. M. House Will Attend Fort Worth Meeting.

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, Feb. 19.—Supporters of Tom Ball for governor have arranged for a special train to Fort Worth Friday night. The news of the withdrawal of W. P. Lane from the race has encouraged them to believe that all opposition to Ball will disappear before the convention meets. "A report given credence here is that both Postmaster General Burleson and E. M. House who is reported to be President Wilson's closest adviser, will be at the convention. While reports persist here of an elimination move on the part of the anti-Lane definite steps in that direction have been taken so far as is known."

Lane Steps Down.

The announcement of withdrawal came in the form of a letter to T. H. Ball and is as follows: "Hon. Thomas H. Ball, Houston, Texas. "My Dear Friend Ball: On last Monday I issued a statement to the people of Texas defining my attitude in the present gubernatorial contest, since which time I have made a careful study of the results of the prohibitory mass meetings which were held in the several counties throughout the state on last Saturday and in my opinion there can be but one conclusion reached and that is that you are the overwhelming choice of the Democrats of Texas who are opposed to the legalized liquor traffic, to make the race for governor in the Democratic primary election to be held on July 25, 1914. These patriotic Democrats who participated in the said mass meetings have clearly indicated that they desire to lead this righteous host in the oncoming conflict for good government, civic righteousness, clean politics, progressive Democracy and the abolition of the legalized liquor traffic, and this fact having been established, through the expression of the primary mass meetings, I am anxious to take my place in the ranks as an humble private, to render whatever service I can in the interest of the cause."

Prohibition Cause Paramount.

"I felt at the time I announced my candidacy for governor that I was the logical man to make the race, but the mass meetings last Saturday having decreed otherwise, I have no disposition to interfere with your personal ambition between the will of the people and the success of the prohibition cause in Texas. "It was no idle expression or ill-considered declaration when I said a few days ago in an open communication to the people that I had rather drive the legalized liquor traffic out of Texas than to be the governor of the State for the next one hundred years."

Indorsement Is Unqualified.

"As there are many other issues involved in this contest for governor besides the prohibition question, I would have preferred reading your platform on these questions before giving you my unqualified indorsement, but since the great majority of the Democrats in Texas, who agree with me on the paramount issue in this campaign, have indicated a willingness to give you the indorsement of the mass meeting at Fort Worth without an expression from you on those other issues, and being personally as I do and believing implicitly in your devotion to the people's interests, I am content to take my place with them in the confident belief that when your platform is made known, it will contain no declaration which will not be in the interests of the great, toiling masses of the people and for the advancement of the material and moral welfare of our State. "Would Nominate Houston Man. "Assuming by your silence since the county mass meetings last Saturday that you will accept the indorsement of the mass meeting in Fort Worth if tendered you, and that you will enter at an early date upon an active campaign of the State, I take this occasion to say to you that I will request my friends not to present my name to the mass meeting in Fort Worth next Saturday for the indorsement as a candidate, for governor, but when the proper time arrives in the proceedings of the mass meeting, I will ask recognition of the presiding officer to present your name as the choice of the Democrats of Texas who oppose the legalized liquor traffic, and I trust this suggestion will be approved without a dissenting voice among the great host here assembled and I confidently believe that the people will heartily approve our action in the July primaries."

Urges Friends to Convention.

"I urge my friends throughout the State to be in attendance at this meeting and in order that they may be apprised of my attitude before the

WILSON AT WORK ON TOLLS MATTER

CONFERES WITH KERN WHO BELIEVES SENATE WILL SOON TAKE ACTION.

POSITION OF UNDERWOOD

Does Not Agree With President, But Will Not Organize Opposition To His Views.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Feb. 19.—President Wilson pressed further for repeal of the exemption clause of the Panama Canal act in conference today with congressmen. He talked with Senator Kern, majority leader, who thought it probable the Senate would act on the repeal before the House. Although Mr. Kern voted for the exemption, friends of the administration claimed he would be among its supporters. House leaders, it was announced today, desire some announcement of message to Congress by the president before reversing themselves on the tolls question, so as to be able to explain to their constituents that international circumstances had arisen requiring the change. Representative Underwood also for the repeal, while still believing in tolls exemptions will not organize opposition to the president.

Chairman Henry of the House rules committee today offered the president his help in expediting both the tolls question and the trust bills. He said both House and Senate would repeal exemption clauses within sixty days. Senators Simmons, Overman and Shively and Representative Palmer who opposed exemption, announced they would change their votes.

During yesterday afternoon's debate in the Senate, President Wilson was accused of inconsistency by Senator Bristow. Senator Bristow's attack brought to the defense of the President several Republicans, as well as Democratic Senators, while it served also for the signal for opening the fight within the Democratic party against repeal of the toll exemption provision. Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, Democrat, dramatically declared that he would not "stultify" himself by telling his constituents that he had not kept his platform pledge on the toll question "because the President of the United States does not agree with me."

While Senators thus were engaged in the first open discussion in Congress over the Chief Executive's desire for reversal of the Panama policy, the President himself was engaged with leaders of the House of Representatives who are opposed to repealing the declaration of the party platform. He discussed the situation with Majority Leader Underwood and Representative Kitchen of North Carolina; but so far as can be learned, did not convert them to his view that the provision granting free tolls to American vessels violates the Hay-Panama treaty and embarrasses the Administration in its foreign relations.

Basic For Bristow's Charge.

Senator Bristow based his charge of inconsistency against the President on the ground that he had told the suffragettes he could not advocate their cause because the Democratic party had not expressed itself in the matter, while he proposed that Congress should reverse itself on the toll question, despite the fact that the party had indorsed its action. In this connection the Kansas Senator mentioned the reference in the Baltimore platform favoring "a single presidential term" and asked whether the President would interpret this plank in harmony with his position as to suffrage or as to canal tolls.

JURY STRONGLY FOR HIM

Returns Verdict That Brings Cheers From Crowd—Plaintiff Announces Will Appeal Case.

By Associated Press.
Oklahoma City, Feb. 19.—The federal department of justice is expected to take action in a short time in connection with the defendant, attorney of Oklahoma politicians against Senator Gore as charged by Gore in the $50,000 damage suit with Mrs. Bond, decided in his favor late yesterday. This was the statement of one of Gore's attorneys today. Representatives of that department of justice were here throughout the trial.

Will Move to Dallas.

Notice of appeal was given by Mrs. Bond's attorneys. She stated today that she and her husband would remove to Dallas where Bond has employment. "The jury was absent from the court room but ten minutes and when the verdict was read the crowd that thronged the court room did not wait for Judge Clark to complete the proceedings before it gave whoops and cheers and several attorneys from her eyes Mrs. Gore, who has attended her husband each day during the trial, rushed toward the jury box. She was intercepted by one or two enthusiasts who threw their arms about her and kissed her. "You can't imagine the way we thank you," exclaimed the senator's wife as she grasped the jurymen's hands. "Some of the jurors were visibly affected and those of the upper tier of seats quit their chairs to receive a handshake from the blind senator, who closely followed his wife."

Judge Clark attempted to remove the customary questions to the jury when the cheering broke afresh and he settled back to await the pleasure of the crowd. "The verdict of the jury," he asked and the room again became silent. "This is the verdict of all of you." "Sure it is," piped a newsboy as he ducked under the press table. Judge Clark smiled and turning to the jury, received its affirmative answer. The crowd poured over the railing and knuckled down chairs in getting to Senator Gore's side to offer congratulations.

"If you prove the principle that truth and justice will prevail," said Senator Gore when asked for an expression. "That is all I care to say." Senator and Mrs. Gore will remain in Oklahoma City several days before returning to Washington. The verdict read: "We, the jury, impaneled in the case entitled Minnie E. Bond vs. T. P. Gore, find that the evidence is insufficient upon which to predicate a suit and that said verdict wholly exonerates the defendant, Thomas P. Gore and we further find that, in our opinion, the facts in the case were entirely insufficient upon which to base a suit, and we unanimously advise that the conclusion of said jury's evidence had the defendant at that time announced that he desired to introduce no evidence in his behalf and rested his case, our verdict would have been the same but that event as the one which was returned by us, to-wit, in favor of the defendant, Thomas P. Gore."

In witness hereof, each of us

On Fortitude.
Be calm, be calm and evermore be calm!
He is invulnerable who keeps his peace
Amid the striving and the empty noise—
Holds power in the hollow of his palm!
Brave words are these and excellent advice
And in the roar of larger wars, one may observe it, but in pretty trials pray Who keeps his quick emotions packed on ice?
When in the mazes of the modern dance
Where one the steps must wildly, weirdly trip,
One hears and feels, somewhere a sudden rip—
Who can be calm in that dread circumstance?

Or when spouting language deep and dense
To listen in gears (not counting his who naps)
One has of memory a sudden lapse—
Who can be calm in moment so intense?
What hero, though of wondrous fortitude,
Refrains from springing up with warlike whoop
When down his neck the waiter spills the soup?
Sir Galahad himself would then be rade.
Be calm! Oh, very well! Amidst the fight,
In crises great, most certainly I'll be quite calm, my friend, as you yourself may see—
But I'll not promise when the chig-gers bite!

MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE WHO IS VERY ILL

New York, Feb. 18.—Mrs. John D. Rockefeller has returned to her home at Pocantico Hills from Cleveland. She was so feeble that she was carried from the train at Philippe Manor where she got off instead of at Tarrytown. Mr. Rockefeller met her with a closed automobile. Apparent effort was made to keep secret the time of Mrs. Rockefeller's arrival, and the train on which she came was stopped at Philippe Manor only after inquiries had been made as to the probable time of its arrival at Tarrytown. This was done, it is supposed, to make it appear when the train did not stop at Tarrytown that Mrs. Rockefeller was being taken through to New York instead of to her country home. Mr. Rockefeller has brought all his secretaries to Pocantico Hills and everything indicates that he has settled down for an indefinite stay there. Unusual reticence is being preserved regarding his plans.

ONE ECONOMICS WEEK CONCLUDES

MANY HOUSEWIVES AND OTHERS ATTEND LECTURES AT THE STATE UNIVERSITY

MANY FEATURES STUDIED

Speakers From Many Parts of Country Attend and Give Information On Vital Question of Day

Austin, Tex., Feb. 18.—After a five days session of home economics week which has been held under the direction of the University of Texas came to a close after having been pronounced by the hundreds of women attending to have been a profitable and entertaining week of study of the problems they meet daily in the home. Nearly a thousand women registered at different times during the week, which has been held by the University of Texas and its success insures that it will become an annual affair. The practical, moral, the economic and the aesthetic aspects of home life characterized the program of the week. All these elements were admirably correlated by the visiting lecturers who were chosen from the foremost authorities in this country on their respective topics.

In discussing art and the general home economic problems and the municipal and personal relationship, Frank A. Parsons, president of the school of fine arts, New York City, declared that the tone of a place is expressed in its social status. Fine arts, according to him, does not consist merely in pictures or statues, but that it is the question of right relationship. Art at the present day is not like it was in the middle ages when one retired to a monastery to express it. According to Mr. Parsons, the art now is the art of the community as expressed in the city. He advised that every city should have a plan, if possible, for making it beautiful and that the first part of this plan is to clean up the place, beginning with the elimination of tin cans and the taking down of objectionable advertising.

Building Texas Homes.

Architecture, particularly that adapted to Texas climate, was thoroughly discussed by Mr. Parsons. He traced the effect of Christianity in developing Gothic architecture. He declared that it was all right for churches, but that it was an abomination for homes. Texas homes, according to the idea of the speaker, should take on horizontal lines. They should appear as though they were a part of the site upon which they rest. The governor's mansion was cited as a perfect expression of the climate. (The expression of this idea being simplicity, directly and consistency, he contrasted the architecture of the new building of the University of Texas and the library building which stands nearby the library being given as the expression of a different idea and that its results were beauty, but that as a result of the lack of unity and purpose in the architecture of the main building was not to be praised. In discussing this phase of art, Mr. Parsons took occasion to speak of the new dances representing a change in the public consciousness from the idea to do things well to do things to as to get the greatest physical expression from it. He said, "they are an orgy of emotional activity. It is a reversion to the non-classic idea. The emotions displace the head."

Commenting on the study of art by clubs and some schools, he said that people began at the wrong end in the study of art. People take the finished product and seek to understand the elements making for the expression. Primarily in the study of art we should analyze the elements which go to make for art.

Dr. Rachel Yarros of the University of Illinois Medical School and resident physician at Hill House in Chicago, in discussing the economic recreational aspect of the social hygiene movement, talked of the remedies which may be applied for the solution of the social diseases. She recommended and advocated that every State should require a certificate of health before issuance of a marriage license and that proper care for those affected be given by public dispensaries. Physicians should report cases of these diseases when the one infected refuses to be properly treated. In justification of the new era in social relation, Dr. Yarros said, "putting the stigma on the disease has not solved the problem, hence we must face it rationally. There is a tremendous burden on the women to help carry the idea of social purity."

Steps For Social Hygiene.

The speaker strongly condemned segregation and in answer to the oft repeated proposition that the demand created the supply for this life, she said that it is only a few who realize how much the artificial supply created the demand.

Mrs. Florence Kelly told of the efforts of the Consumers League, of which she is secretary, to regulate the working hours of women and children in industry. She stated that the consumer is fundamentally responsible for the things that go wrong in the industrial world and that it was their duty to exercise an inquiring mind into the sources of their clothing and food as to whether they were made by women and children under adverse conditions. Mrs. Kelly reviewed the legislation which has been passed regulating the working hours of women and children. As one of the best acts which the Consumers League had done she cited that it was their support and interest that enabled the Oregon law regulating the hours of work for women and children to be upheld as constitutional by the United States supreme court.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Feb. 19, 1914

McLennan County voted a good roads bond issue the other day of one million and seventy-five thousand dollars and did it by something over the necessary two-thirds majority.

Comptroller Lane has given to the press a letter addressed to Col. Tom Ball in which he says he accepts the verdict of the prohibition Democrats in last Saturday's conventions as final, and will not permit his candidacy to be submitted to the Fort Worth convention. He also asks that he be permitted to place in nomination Col. Ball.

The election to vote a bond issue of $25,000 to be used in the building of a joint city and county hospital has been ordered by the city council and will be held on March 21st. The county will appropriate the amount making the hospital cost $50,000. So far as known, there is little or no opposition to the movement, and as The Times sees it, there should not be. There is nothing that is needed worse by both the city and the county than a public hospital.

In the event Col. Tom Ball does not accept the endorsement of the Fort Worth convention next Saturday and become a candidate for governor, then it will be up to the convention to give its endorsement to some other candidate. Mayes, having an second to Ball, is evidently expecting Ball to decline, and is therefore going to be at the Fort Worth meeting prepared to make a strong fight to secure the endorsement. The friends of Ball, however, seem determined to force him to become a candidate, and it is not believed that he will decline, though there are those who assert Col. Ball had, prior to the county conventions, given Mayes assurance that he would not accept the endorsement if tendered. But he may have changed his mind. Time will tell.

From the National Petroleum News the Times gets this information as to the number of oil wells being drilled in the oil fields at Electra, Burk Burnett, Iowa Park and Petrolia oil fields: Electra, 133 rigs, locations and drilling wells; Burk Burnett, 39 rigs, locations and drilling wells; Iowa Park, 30 rigs, locations and drilling wells; Petrolia, 18 rigs, locations and drilling wells; Burk Burnett, 39 rigs, locations and drilling wells. This, of course, does not include the great number of wells that have already been drilled and are now producing oil to the amount of more than 30,000 barrels daily. It simply shows that drilling for new wells is more active right now than ever before, and the outlook is that one year from now the total daily production of oil from wells in the fields named above will be at least double what it is now.

The damage suit brought by the Oklahoma woman against Senator T. P. Gore of that state, was finally disposed of yesterday, the jury returning a verdict for the defendant in less than ten minutes after the case was given to it for deliberation. To all appearances, the trial of this suit has sustained what Senator Gore charged: that it was just a plain case of blackmail attempted to force him to secure federal appointments for interested parties, or, failing in that, to pay a large sum of hush money. Generally, when a woman appears in court the jury is in sympathy with her from start to finish, and if there is doubt she gets the benefit. In this particular case, the jury was not inclined that way, probably from the fact that there was no doubt. Thus, the effort to destroy a very able and useful man has failed most signally, and the woman who permitted herself to be used for such a vile purpose, though it be admitted that her character before this incident occurred was as free from stain as the driven snow, she has cast a shadow on it that will follow her to the grave. That is punishment sufficient for her. As for the husband of this woman, and his confederates, who without doubt were the instigators of the plot, too much in condemnation or contempt can be said of them. If Gore was not afflicted with not a blind man—no, one could blame him to discharge a duty he owes to himself and society generally, by resorting to a shotgun and filling their worthless hides so full of holes as to render them useless for even holding shuck. But unfortunately for Gore, and fortunate for them, he is a blind man, and they will escape their just deserts.

PROMISING OUTLOOK

The New York Herald last week printed reports from industrial centers showing that the tide of prosperity is rising. Trade conditions at Paterson, N. J., the great silk manufacturing center were never better than at present. Mills and factories that were temporarily shut down during the holidays and stock-taking seasons have reopened and a spirit of optimism prevails. The rolling and stamping mill of St. Louis, employing 3,000 men, has resumed operations on Monday. On the whole, the outlook for 1914 is exceedingly promising.

A NEW ADVERTISING PLAN

Mrs. S. J. Thrasher of Fort Worth, representing a company that make a business of manufacturing aluminum cases in which silver dollars are encased, is in the city today for the purpose of putting a proposition before the Chamber of Commerce and business men generally to have a considerable number of these encased dollars with an advertisement of Wichita Falls on one side of the dollar, and that of the business firm on the other placed in circulation, to be known as "the Wichita Dollar." Several towns and cities have adopted this plan of advertising, and so far as the Times is aware, are pleased with the results. Mrs. Thrasher is stopping at the St. James Hotel, and will remain here for several days in order to place the proposition before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

DUNCAN ATTACKS BALL

John M. Duncan, a life-long friend of ex-Gov. Hogg, a political enemy of ex-Senator Bailey, and a prohibitionist who has never yet failed to take a shot at the liquor traffic has written a letter under a San Antonio date line to the Fort Worth Record, in which he reviews the attack made on ex-Gov. Hogg at the Waco convention in 1906, and attacks the political record of Col. Tom Ball, who on last Saturday received almost the unanimous endorsement of the prohibition Democrats of Texas as their choice for governor, and indicates very plainly that in the event Col. Ball holds to the views he had in 1906, now, he will oppose his election as governor of Texas. The letter is as follows:

San Antonio, Feb. 18.—In 1906, six years after he had ceased to be an office-holder, Governor James S. Hogg, seeing that there was to be no early relief from the state legislature against certain great and growing public evils, formulated certain proposed amendments to the state constitution, had these amendments published and went before the people, paying his own expenses, in a canvass of the state to secure a plank in the next state Democratic platform favoring their adoption, and he made speeches on the subject throughout Texas. A bitter fight was made upon him and upon his amendments by all the powers and influences which it was sought to curb, and before the convention met at Waco, there was a deep and mighty conspiracy formed to destroy both his amendments and his political prestige by a combined and thoroughly organized personal and political attack on him in the convention. In pursuance of such plot that convention was packed against him by the lavish issuance of free passes over the railroads to all who would go there, either as delegates or clackers, to engage in the work of overwhelming him. Speakers of great ability were selected by the combine, with reference both to their powers and their personal dislike and bitterness toward Governor Hogg. The leading speaker thus selected was Thomas H. Ball of Houston.

So well was the work done of manipulating delegates that, when the convention met, out of the thirty-one members of the committee on platform, only two favored the Hogg amendments. A majority report was made against them, and the two members referred to made a minority report recommending their adoption. Leo Walker of Terrell and myself had the honor to be that minority and to make the report. Then the fight opened on the floor of the convention, and the speakers chosen by the instigators made a most meretricious and malicious onslaught on the amendments and on Governor Hogg personally. They were led by the most infamous gang of political heelers and corporation hirelings, both on the floor of the convention and crowded into the lobbies and galleries, who ever disgraced a public assembly. The closest attention was given to those opposing Governor Hogg in debate, but when he came to speak the mob—for it was no less—undertook to bowl him down, flinging epithet and insult at him from all parts of the house. For thirty minutes the rioting continued, and it seemed impossible that he would be allowed to be heard, but he held the platform unmoved and grand in his contempt for the miserable fools who were denying him a hearing. Finally his lion spirit arose in righteous anger, and he began to point here and there and call the names of "free pass packers" and corporation tools who were leading the charge which was being used toward him, and to threaten the traitors with the vengeance of the people. His superb courage and just indignation simply awed the whole assembly into silence, and he then went on and made the greatest speech of his life, arguing the legal questions connected with his amendments with unsurpassed ability and warning the convention that if they were not made a part of the platform every delegate who voted against them would be branded as a traitor. He won. At the close of the debate the convention by a large majority, adopted his amendments as a platform demand, and the Democrats of Texas rejoiced in this step toward conquest over the corporations and trusts.

It was the most critical period in all Governor Hogg's political life. The defeat of his amendments, under all the circumstances, was understood, to mean the end of his power and influence in Texas, and the triumph of all the enemies of the people and of free government. Even his warmest admirers doubted his ability, or that of any man, to win under the same conditions. Yet he conquered, and it was the most brilliant and glorious victory of all his career. But when his amendments came before the succeeding legislature overwhelmingly Democratic and theoretically and in honor bound by Democratic platform declarations, their submission to the people was defeated by a narrow majority, through the power and influence of hired lobbyists and of the free pass, as well as other agencies which the corporation knew so well how to use in a legislature. In other words, the very evils which his amendments sought to remedy working upon the legislature defeated them.

Now, what were these amendments? What evils were they designed to eradicate, and how did they propose to do it? The amendments provided: 1. That the powers of corporations to issue stocks and bonds should be subordinate to the authority of the state and to be exercised only according to the constitution.

2. That no insolvent corporation should do business or retain its charter in Texas. 3. That a corporation should be deemed to be insolvent when its stocks and bonds amounted to more than three times the value of its property as rendered for taxation. 4. That a corporation should be declared insolvent where it has issued fictitious or watered stock or bonds, which, with its other indebtedness, amounted to more than double the value of its property. 5. That no corporation should use any money or anything of value except for corporate purposes. 6. That corporations should not directly or indirectly contribute money or anything of value to any political party or to any campaign expense. 7. That corporations should not pay any lobby or lobbyist any money or anything of value, as salary or other wage, and require every voucher, draft or payment of money by corporations to show on its face what it was given for. 8. That the attorney general should bring suit to forfeit the charter or permit of any corporation which in itself or by its officers or agents violated any of the above provisions and make good violation of any of them a cause for forfeiture.

9. That railroads should not carry, free or grant passes to any person, firm or association and prohibiting discriminations in the carrying of persons, except that passes might be furnished to officers, agents, attorneys and bona fide employees of the railroad company issuing them, provided a list of them should be filed with the railroad commission. Governor Hogg wished to take a vote of the people on these amendments, and he could not believe that any Texas legislature would be so subservient to corporations that it would deny the people the privilege of voting on them. He wished to make them a part of the constitution by a vote of the people so that they might thus speak directly in condemnation and prohibition of the evils which he sought to cure, but he misjudged the influence of the powers opposed to him. The legislature refused to give the people an opportunity to decide these questions, and it did this in the face of, and in flagrant violation of, the platform demands that these amendments should be submitted to the people. Although Governor Hogg knew that the people of the State of Texas were overwhelmingly in favor of his amendments, he then saw that the corporations and trusts had such a hold upon the legislature that it would be at that time impossible to get these questions to the people for a vote, and that it was idle to think of any relief from the legislature, thoroughly dominated at its every session by the agencies which he was trying to restrain and control, and he proposed to wait until the audacious and insolent boldness of these powers had grown to such a degree as that the people would revolt against their tyranny. The time was about ripe when death removed him, but it did not and could not remove nor modify the eternal principles of right and justice for which he stood. Who was it that stood forth at that Waco convention representing the conspiracy against Hogg and the people as its leading champion and speaker opposing every one of those amendments? Who but Colonel Thomas H. Ball of Houston, who now evidently aspires to be made governor on the single issue of prohibition. Colonel Ball left congress to serve the corporations and he has been in their constant employ since. This he has a right to do, and it affords no ground for reflection on him personally. It was his own choice and he should abide by it. He has served the corporations too long, and has been hostile to the interests of the people in matters too vital, for it to be prudent for them to confide in him the guidance of the affairs of this state without a distinct and unequivocal commitment, on his part, beforehand, to the side of the people on every important question affecting their interests. How does he stand on the question of repealing, or amending to death, the corporation and bond laws and the other great laws placed on the statute book by that patriot and statesman? Does he approve of the political activities and purposes of the commercial secretaries? What will he do in regard to the existing wreck of state institutions and of machinery of the state government? Are all these and other vital questions to be lost sight of in the pursuit of the one object of state prohibition? Let the people beware. Colonel Ball may prove the Trojan horse filled with their armed enemies. Already the papers are referring to him as "a well known conservative." I have been fighting and the people have been fighting conservatives for twenty-five years. Conservatism is the disguise worn by the foes of the people. I am as sincere and unlimited a prohibitionist as this state holds and have been all my life, but I am not prepared to sacrifice every other principle and belief just to get a prohibition governor, especially when a governor, not having the power to veto a proposed constitutional amendment, can do so little to forward or defeat constitutional prohibition. Now, personally, Colonel Ball is a cultured, pleasant, courteous, social and affable gentleman. Most corporation attorneys are so. He is naturally so, but he would be less useful to his employers were he not so. Let prohibition Democrats at Fort Worth take care. There are thousands of such Democrats in Texas who do not believe that the state can live on prohibition alone. A man with Colonel Ball's environment, connection and political record will not be hard to beat in the general primary, by an anti not so situated. He need not hope for the nomination unless he speaks out loudly, clearly and pointedly, before the general primary on every question of public concern in Texas and give pledges of strict performance. JOHN M. DUNCAN.

T. B. TAYLOR TO ANNOUNCE AS LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATE The formal announcement of Tom B. Taylor as candidate for representative from the Clay-Archer district in the State legislature will be forthcoming shortly. Mr. Taylor has let it be known that he intends to be a candidate but has deferred his formal announcement. Mr. Taylor has already outlined his platform as follows: First—The best interests of the agricultural classes of Texas. Second—The education of our children. Third—The best interests of all the people and all the interests of Texas.

1 FEDERAL PRISON 2 NATIVE MARKET 3 REBELS MARCHING ON TORREON Mexico City, Feb. 18.—The disorder in the capital has been growing more and more pronounced, and much adverse criticism is heard regarding Americans. What is most feared is that a determined attempt will be made to liberate the hundreds of criminals of all classes in the big penitentiary here, around which the federal guards have been doubled. It was in the street close to this prison that the late President Madero was murdered. The illustration shows the prison, a scene in one of the city markets where the natives buy supplies and also a view of Villa's ragged rebels marching on to Torreón, where the next big battle with the federals will occur.

POULTRY THEFTS ARE DISCOVERED

MAN AND BOY ARE ARRESTED BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES THIS MORNING

EVERAL CHICKENS ROBBED

Youth Confesses to Officers Telling How Operations Were Carried on—Many Chickens Secured

The operations of a pair of chicken thieves who have been busy this week came to an end Thursday morning when Policemen Jernigan and Constable Frank Burns arrested a youth aged about seventeen and a man aged about thirty-five near the First National Bank where they had come to cash a check received in the sale of stolen chickens to the Parker Grocery store on Indiana avenue. Mr. Parker, when he bought a coop of chickens from the pair in the evening, suspected that the poultry had been stolen and after giving a check called up Constable Burns over the phone and told him of his suspicions. Mr. Burns got Policemen Jernigan and went to the First National Bank to await the coming of the pair with the check. Mr. Burns himself was called away before the suspects got to the bank. Mr. Jernigan saw two men answering the description of those who had sold the chickens approach the bank and then turn away. Fearing that they might get away he went out and arrested them and took them to the city hall where the check was found on the man.

Youth Makes Confession: While the man was held at the city hall the youth was taken up to Justice Howard's office where the Justice and Mr. Burns induced him to make a confession. He said his home was in Oklahoma City; that he came to Dallas recently and there met the man who told him how easy it would be to go around over the country, stealing chickens and other property. Being out of employment he decided to join the man and they beat their way to Wichita Falls where they arrived early in the week.

According to the boy's story they first stole some coops used in shipping chickens. These they hid until they made a trip into the residence section to locate chicken roosts. Monday night they made their first foray bringing back twelve fat hens which they sold at a local produce house. Tuesday night they made a bigger haul getting about thirty hens from two roosts. These also they sold to the produce house. Wednesday night they went out again and brought in thirty-one hens which they sold to Mr. Parker.

In selling the chickens the man took the lead in the negotiations. He told Mr. Parker they had shipped the chickens down from Oklahoma in a box car. Mr. Parker saw that the chickens had not been long in the coop and this aroused his suspicions as well as the appearance of the two who brought the chickens.

Points Out Places. After the officers had secured the confession from the youth they took him around and had him point out the places from where the chickens had been stolen. Later they went to the produce house and identified the chickens sold so that the owners could get them back.

One of the pieces the chicken thieves visited was the hen roost at the home of F. M. Denton. They took all of his chickens excepting a setting hen and a venerable rooster.

Among the others visited was Dr. W. H. Walker, Mr. Smith, the rural route mail carrier and a neighbors hen roost and a wagon yard on Indiana avenue.

The youth said his name was Pitts and that he was seventeen years of age. He said the man had given different names on different occasions.

HOME PAPER'S ESTIMATE OF NEW BANK FOUNDERS

Muskogee Expresses Regret at Losing Messrs. Reid and Wagner Who Will Locate Here

The clipping below from the Muskogee Times-Democrat concerns two new Wichitans being an estimate of them from their recent home:

"Two Muskogee men, Charles W. Reid and Natt T. Wagner will leave next week for Wichita Falls, Texas, where they will become actively engaged in the management of a new national bank now in process of organization. The bank is being organized chiefly by Mr. Reid, who for some time has wanted to engage in the banking business. For a time Mr. Reid was one of Muskogee's foremost bankers, but sold his interests and has since been engaged in handling his properties here. However, the opening in Wichita Falls, coupled with the favorable opportunities for extension under the new federal currency law, caused Mr. Reid to decide to move to Wichita Falls to assume charge of that city's new institution.

"National Bank of Commerce, of Wichita Falls is the name of the new bank, which is being capitalized at $100,000. Thirty prominent men of Wichita Falls are stockholders, and a directorate composed entirely of Wichita Falls men, with the exception of Reid and Wagner, will be elected. Mr. Reid will become president of the bank, and Mr. Wagner, who is assisting in the organization, will be connected with the institution in an official capacity. The Reid and Wagner families move to Wichita Falls next week, and the bank will open for business in sixty days, as soon as the advantageous location which has been secured has been remodeled into a banking room.

"I have just as much confidence in Muskogee as ever," said Mr. Reid today in discussing his plans. "I will retain most of my interests here and will be in Muskogee from time to time. I would not have considered leaving Muskogee had not the opening at Wichita Falls been so advantageous that I could hardly refuse to grasp opportunity when it knocked."

"Mr. Reid has been an active member of the Muskogee Commercial Club, Muskogee Water Power Company, and has always taken a great interest in civic improvement work here. He has also been prominent in civic circles, being a Mason and a member of the Muskogee Town and Country Club. Mr. Reid is enthusiastic over the new currency bill and says that under its provisions the bank in the country town or the town here will have the opportunity to prosper that it never had before."

A. W. McCoy, former manager of the Terson Hotel here, will be one of the Wichita Falls stockholders.

NEW STREET SIGNS ARE NOW BEING INSTALLED

Enamel Markers Are Placed At Intersections Throughout City—Four Hundred are Purchased

The street signs recently ordered by the city council have arrived and are now being placed into position. The signs are of porcelain enamel and are in the form of strips which can be tacked onto posts. There are four hundred of them, which it is believed will cover most of the city.

They are being nailed into telephone and electric light posts, where such posts are conveniently located. Where there are no such posts at street intersections wooden posts are being placed into position for the signs.

TWO SUITS A WEEK

Fine Clothes Help Spanish King to Keep Throne.

Monarch Believed to Spend More Money on Wardrobe Than Any Ruler Except Czar of Russia—Wears Startling Vests.

London.—The king of Spain is the most elaborately attired monarch in Europe.

It is doubtful if the youthful monarch has ever been seen more than half a dozen times in the same suit, and it is certain that there are many suits in which he has been seen but once or twice.

When he takes a fancy to a particular tweed or cloth he will often order a dozen suits from it straightway and wear each but two or three times. If he tires of the material before he has worn the whole dozen he will have the lot put out of the royal wardrobe. It would be difficult to say how many suits of clothes the king of Spain orders in the year.

The number greatly varies. Sometimes King Alfonso will order as many as a couple of dozen suits at a time, while at other times he will give his tailor, or rather one of them, for he patronizes several, an order for but one or two suits.

The king of Spain keeps from 100 to 150 suits in the royal wardrobe and buys on an average of 100 suits a year.

His majesty's bill to his tailor alone averages $5,000 a year, of which sum

King Alfonso of Spain.

London tailors get a good share. There is one London tailor who, when the king of Spain was the guest of the duke of Westminster at Eton hall some little while ago, took an order from the Spanish monarch for 40 suits.

The tailor was asked by wire to go to the duke's residence, and returned to London with the largest single order he ever received in his pocket.

There is no monarch who is so punctilious about being dressed in the extreme of fashion as his Spanish majesty. Any suit the cut of which has become the least out of date is at once put out of the royal wardrobe, though it may only have been worn by the king once, or possibly not worn at all. The king of Spain has not any particular fancy for any material (except perhaps a striped flannel for summer wear) so far as the pattern goes. He appears equally often in light and dark cloths of different patterns, but he never wears a heavy material of any sort.

His majesty has a particular liking for fancy waistcoats. He buys dozens of them and pays from $15 to $25 apiece for them. In waistcoats alone he spends at least $1,000 a year.

When he came over to the English court in 1905 to woo the then Princess Ena he had in his wardrobe some waistcoats of rather more remarkable pattern than was possible even for a monarch to wear, in England at all events, without being thought to violate good taste.

Clearly a hint had to be given to the young monarch on the matter, and his royal host, the late King Edward, with characteristic tact, thought of the best way of doing this without offending the royal guest. The Princess Ena was instructed to say something on the subject to King Alfonso, and thereafter his majesty was never seen in a fancy waistcoat except of the most correct pattern according to English notions.

The king of Spain, like all very well dressed men, is extremely particular about having ties that harmonize correctly with his clothes. He purchases about 100 ties in the year, which cost him from $5 to $10 each, and buys most of them in Paris.

On shirts the Spanish monarch spends about the same as he does on ties.

His polo shirts cost him $15 apiece and are made of the finest silk, and he puts a dozen of them out of the royal wardrobe every season.

King Alfonso changes his collar and shirt three times a day, and rarely wears a shirt that has been laundered more than three or four times.

Pls. $10,000,000 Meteor.

Fresno, Cal.—While digging a well on his farm near here, Fred Williams, a farmer, found a 20-ton meteor from which he chipped a small piece of metal looking like solid gold. Jewelers have pronounced it crystallized gold and figure the meteor would be worth $10,000,000 if their deductions are correct.

AROUND WORLD AERIAL CONTEST

AERONAUTS FROM ALL CIVILIZED NATIONS WILL CONTEST FOR PRIZE

90 DAYS TIME ALLOWED

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—Aeronauts from all the civilized nations of the globe, with every standard type of aircraft driven by motors, will participate in an aerial race around the world, which will be a feature of the sporting events to be held during the period of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Three hundred thousand dollars, the largest prize fund ever offered for any sporting event in history, will be offered to the aeronauts who participate in the stupendous contest. This may be increased later.

The race, the climax of all the world's aeronautical activities, is to start from the grounds of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in May, 1915 and must be finished within ninety days, according to the tentative plans submitted to the Pacific Aero Club, representative of the Aero Club of America, which is the American division of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale.

Thus the flight becomes the most tremendous aerial drama ever played. The start will be made from San Francisco and the finish must be made in San Francisco.

Route Outlined.

The route lies across the Sierra Nevada mountains, thence by way of Reno to Cheyenne, thence either to Kansas City, St. Louis or Chicago, and on to New York City. Here the route turns up the Atlantic coast to Belle Isle, a small point between Newfoundland and Labrador. Here the flight across the broad expanse of the Atlantic begins with Cape Farewell, Greenland, 610 miles, away as the goal.

This is not an impossible flight, as is proved by the accomplishment of Gargos, the French aviator who recently flew 600 miles over the Mediterranean sea from Cannes, France to Tunis, Africa.

From Cape Farewell, the route will traverse the Atlantic ocean again for a distance of 270 miles to Reykjavik, Iceland. The next stop is at Storway, in the Hebrides, off the west coast of Scotland, a distance of 270 miles and here the entire Atlantic will have been traversed.

The flight is then over well traveled air lines, which run by way of Edinburgh, London, Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, St. Petersburg, Moscow and then, with the Trans-Siberian Railway as a guide, through European and Asiatic Russia. Thence down into Manchuria, past Vladivostok to Korea, over the Japan sea to Kobe and Tokio and thence north to Kanchuk.

Great Gathering of Aircraft.

San Francisco will see such a gathering of aircraft and airfolk as has never before come together in the world. Although the Zeppelin dirigible balloons are rarely permitted to leave Germany, it is fairly certain that one or more of these huge craft will be entered in the race.

France will unquestionably send some of its dirigibles. There is every reason to believe that all powers of the world having aero-nautical equipment will send official representatives from among their military and naval aeronauts. The principal craft and their pilots of America will come from Germany, Austria, Belgium, Holland, Spain, Italy, France, England, Russia, India, Japan, Sweden, Norway and Switzerland.

In addition to the aeronauts and they encourage the event will undoubtedly draw every scientific and military man who is interested in aeronautics. The preparation and the result of this contest will have a great effect upon the science and the military art of aviation. In fact, it will have a tremendous significance in every department.

Qualifying Tests.

Proceeding the date itself it is planned to hold a week's meet on the Panama-Pacific International Exposition grounds. During three days of this meet there will be contests and sports in which contestants in the great race will be put through a series of qualifying tests. During the last four days of the meet an absolutely novel program will be arranged.

Oceans Will Be Patrolled.

The trip will be made under the supervision of the World Federation of Aeronautical organizations, which has jurisdiction of all sporting activities in the air. The various governments will be invited to patrol the Atlantic in order to render assistance to the aircraft if help is needed. The United States, Japan and Russia will be invited to patrol the course over the Pacific. Over the Transiberian course, the most dangerous part of the route, the Russian government will be asked to send troops in designated spots so that if a man comes down he may be aided.

Under the rules of the federation, which is composed of aeronautical bodies in every civilized country, certain places must be designated as central points. These will be about one thousand miles apart and at each central point the racers will be obliged to stop and secure certification of their passage.

On Feb. 11th

We gave two pairs of my best gold filled frames and Geneva Crystal Lenses to Mrs. Frances Rahl, 606 Travis, and to Mrs. J. M. Fablon, 290 1/2 Seymour street. These ladies were successful in being at my store first for glasses.

Now I will give to the first gentleman entering my store Feb. 14th, 1914, one pair the same as I gave to the above ladies. We are scientific opticians, and know how to make you see. It will be a pleasure to have a pair of my Geneva Lenses.

We are serving people every day and the best reason I can give is we make them see as they once did. You need not fear any drops put in your eyes which is so harmful. We use the latest methods in every respect. Phone us for engagement. I may be busy when you come to see me. I certainly will not rush a patient through to get to the person waiting. We do our work right and take the time needed. Further you will not have to wait till we send off for our lenses. We grind them and make delivery soon after the examination.

A Lady Said To Us

On last Saturday night: "I have traveled pretty well over the United States and drank coffee in the leading hotels and cafes in America and have never drank a coffee as satisfactory as your 'WHO CAN BEAT IT.'" This afternoon the Chef of the leading hotel in the city and said, "I have cooked in big hotels in all the leading cities in America and used all the leading brands of coffee and have never used any as satisfactory as yours." This sounds pretty loud but both came to us unsolicited and we will give you the names of the parties if you wish. Better try a pound yourself. WE GUARANTEE SATISFACTION. Fresh roasted every day.
