CARDEN COMMENDS MEXICAN POLICY

BRITISH MINISTER EXPRESSED BELIEF HUERTA WOULD RETIRE VOLUNTARILY

SAILED FOR LONDON TODAY

Said in His Opinion Intervention Would be Greatly Serious Move

By Associated Press. New York, March 4.—Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, sailed for London today to report in person regarding the Mexican situation to Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary.

The minister commended the attitude of the administration toward Mexico and expressed the belief that General Huerta would retire as provisional president as soon as the country was restored to some semblance of peace.

Intervention of any sort, he thought, would be a "greatly serious move."

BRITISH COMMENT ON GRAY'S PRONOUNCEMENT

By Associated Press. London, March 4.—The pronouncement of Foreign Secretary Edward Grey in regard to the investigation of the death of William S. Benson are the subjects of much comment in the newspapers today. The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The temperate and restrained language in which Sir Edward Gray referred to the Mexican murder will have the approval of all Englishmen. Its moderation, however, does not disguise the depth of their feeling to see that the punishment of Benson's murderer shall be undertaken without delay. At the present moment the civilized world stands aghast and the application of the Monroe doctrine must assume an immediate and new phase."

CLEVELAND COURT TREATS OFFENDERS PSYCHOLOGICALLY

Cleveland, March 4.—The utility of mechanical punishment as a remedy or prevention for crime is today responsible for the establishment here of a municipal criminal research bureau, the first of its kind in the United States. Crime and criminals are being studied scientifically by a commission of seven experts under the supervision of the director of public welfare.

A psychological clinic is in operation in connection with the criminal branch of the municipal court system. The commission composed of alienists, psychologists, physicians and jurists has charge of the clinic. Before jail sentences are imposed on offenders, the prisoners are taken before the clinic and subjected to an examination. The plan was initiated by Municipal Judges Manuel Levine and George P. Baze whose long and daily experiences in court rooms have led them to conclude that present laws deal only with the effect of crime. "Science deals with causes and effects of crime," said Judge Levine. "Hitherto law has ignored the causes. It has only been dealing with its attitude toward crime. Every other profession has advanced. The physician has discovered that certain hereditary influences, diseases and physical conditions influence men to crime. The psychologist has analyzed the mind of the criminal and has learned lessons which the law has ignored. The alienists have told us crime and abnormal mentality are closely associated. Hence our effort to remedy both the cause and effect."

BUSINESS IN MEXICO IS "IRREGULAR" THESE DAYS

Mexico City, March 4.—There's no use of trying to do business in a regular way, in irregular war times. One young American here, who has an auto agency, got the inspiration to sell automobiles to the men who had newly grown wealthy in the Huertista regime. "The new officials listened to him willingly and ordered lavishly. One of his best cars went to the private secretary of a leading general, upon order, and, two days later, he went to the man's office for the $15,000 (Mexican money) check.

"Oh, that auto was not for me," he said. "I sent it up North to Captain So and So, who is fighting Villa. You must go to him for your money." Though the young American sets the auto every day in the boulevards, with the Mexican official riding in it he doesn't dare to say anything in protest and he knows that a court action would be worse than useless for it would only get him into trouble with the administration. He's one of the few Americans here who want intervention.

City Managers For Colorado Springs, Colorado Springs, March 4.

Colorado Springs, March 4.—Colorado Springs may find trouble with the city manager form of government, it was believed here today as the result of a recent visit of Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Municipal League. Last year the passing of auto tourists through this city, going to and coming from Colorado was a daily occurrence and this year the number is expected to be larger still as the roads are now in much better condition than in 1913.

WHO WANTS TO FIGHT THIS PETITE BOXERESS

Paris, March 4.—The title of world's champion boxer is claimed by Mile. Marthe Carpenter, who today announced her willingness to meet all comers. She is a good looking French brunette, 18 years of age, weighs 127 pounds, and is 5 feet, 3 inches in height. Mile. Carpenter, who is in no way related to the French champion of the same name who has twice defeated Bombardier Wells, has been trained by M. Albany, an expert boxer and jiu-jitsu instructor, for the past six months. In the mornings she helps her mother in a little grocery shop in the Terenos quarter of Paris, and devotes her afternoons to her boxing lessons and general training exercises.

"I have always been fond of sport," she said today, "and I don't see why boxing should be forbidden to my sex. So long as brutality is prohibited, I am sure by a few rounds with the gloves occasionally shouldn't be beneficial to my young woman. I know it does me good. It is apt, of course, to spoil a woman's beauty, but bruises do not last forever. Before I took lessons in boxing I was very nervous and irritable and timid. I would not have ventured into a crowd alone for anything. Now I'm not afraid to go anywhere. Her first serious match will be with Miss Grace Cleveland, of Geneva, who has signed up for a ten round contest."

A DISCRIMINATION AGAINST AUSTIN

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION WILL INVESTIGATE FREIGHT RATES

IS BIG HANDICAP FOR AUSTIN

Shippers Find it Cheaper to Ship to Dallas and Then Rebill From There

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, March 4.—An investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of freight rates which are alleged to be highly discriminating against Austin with special reference to the packing industry will be begun here March 19. The commission will hold its sessions here in the federal court room to hear complaints against Texas railroads by the Walker irrigated farms which have recently begun extensive operations especially in the packing business.

"Austin is discriminated against in packing products especially and in practically all other products," said Dale Walker today. "When we ship our products to northern cities we find it cheaper to ship to Dallas or Fort Worth and rebill our shipments from those places to their destination. The Dallas-Fort Worth group have a highly advantageous rate over Austin and in some instances San Antonio has a better rate than Austin."

IS ACCEPTED BY PRESIDENT

Declared By Officials That Mexican Situation Had Nothing To Do With It

By Associated Press. Washington, March 4.—John Bassett Moore, counselor of the State department, who ranks as acting secretary, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted by President Wilson. Mr. Moore's impending resignation has been rumored to several weeks and each time has met with unqualified denial. It was explained in official circles that Mr. Moore was resigning in accordance with an understanding he had with President Wilson when he took the office of counselor last May. It was declared by officials that the Mexican question had no connection with Mr. Moore's retirement; that he had his own views as to the manner of handling the situation and that they were not at all points in accord with the administration policy as it has been reported but it is pointed out that Mr. Moore has always been loyal to the administration.

THE ADMINISTRATION ONE YEAR OLD TODAY

DEFIANCE OF PRECEDENT AND TRADITIONS CHARACTERISTIC OF EXECUTIVE

MANY INCIDENTS ARE REVIEWED

Democratic Simplicity and Directness Have Been Rules at White House

Washington, March 4.—The Democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson was one year old today. For absolute defiance of precedent and traditions and precedents it has eclipsed that of any other chief executive since the early days of the Republic. The two big things in legislative achievement were the tariff and currency bills. Both are still under fire and their success cannot positively be determined within another year. Democrats say they are bringing about a condition of prosperity in this country which directly benefits the wage earner and small business men rather than the stockholders in the big corporations. Republicans in this and say that the day of the soup house is at hand.

But these are matters of history. It has been rather in the lighter way that President Wilson has attracted attention. The first thing he did after subscribing to the oath of office was to hand a real wallop to society as it is represented in Washington. Announcement was made that the Democratic simplicity was the rule. Instead of gold laced military aides to trail his every step and interpose their bulk between the president and the common people a civilian garbed physician and a husky blonde, well dressed secret service man lolled about the president's side. Whoever his fancy dictated, untrammelled by rigid rules and red tape. The office of his secretary was thrown open to the public generally and the president would emerge from his private office frequently to mingle with the populace and transact business on the jump.

TEXAN WILL HEAD CHINA OIL WORK

D. C. STEWART WILL HAVE CHARGE OF EXPLORATION WORK FOR STANDARD

4 WELLS TO START AT ONCE

First Territory to be Developed in Near Cities of Shensi and Yeng Chang

The leading article of the Fuel Oil Journal in its current issue relates to the employment of well known Texas oil men in the development of the oil fields in China, mention of which was made in The Times last week. The Journal's article is reproduced herewith.

D. C. Stewart left Texas on February 26 for San Francisco, whence he will sail on the Pacific mail steamer Mongolia, March 5 for Shanghai to take charge of exploration work in China for the Standard Oil Company of New York, under the arrangement announced from Peking February 17, by which the American company has the right to develop promising prospective oil territory in the provinces of Shensi, northern China, and Chihli, northeastern China. The offer came to him on February 19, but he did not decide to go until several days later. Ten picked men, all practical cable tool and rotary drillers, will follow him from Texas in a few days and will sail from San Francisco March 21 on the steamer Shinjo Maru. These will include A. B. Smith of the Henretta Drilling Co., of Petrofta, Texas; E. W. Morgan of Morgan & Quinn and the Morgan Drilling Co.; Harry Schinolt of the Corsicana Petroleum Co.; L. A. Holman of the Hugh Sturm Drilling Co.; Walter Youngling, now working for North Texas contractors; Roy Strerret of the Dixie Oil Co.; C. W. Bersey of the Morgan Drilling Co.; Joe Quinn of Morgan & Quinn and V. L. Conaghan of the same firm. They expect to leave Wichita Falls March 10.

To Take Both Cable and Rotary Outfits

Four complete cable tool outfits and two heavy California type rotary outfits, with all accessories, hence to be shipped from San Francisco on the steamer Masconco, sailing on March 10 for Tientsin. Four test wells, two in each province, will be started as soon as the rigs can be delivered to the scene of operations. The work will be inaugurated with cable tools, and the rotaries will be held in reserve to be used if needed. The territory to be developed in Shensi is near the city of Yeng Chang and in Chihli near Chingtehful, 100 miles northeast of Peking. Messrs. Clapp and Fuller, geologists, have been engaged for some time in making examination of the localities where it is expected to find oil.

American Enterprise Opens New Trade

The Standard Oil Company of New York for many years has been supplying refined oil to the people of China, also furnishing the lamps in which to burn it. Growing out of this long established trade relations, it enjoys the confidence of the government and in undertaking to develop the rich mineral resources of the country it occupies the unique position of being a partner with the government. It is unofficially stated that the subsidiary American-Chinese company will have a capital of $100,000,000 Mex. ($50,000,000 gold), of which the Standard will hold $50,000,000 Mex. the Chinese government to receive $37,500,000 Mex. in free shares, with the privilege of acquiring within two years $7,500,000 Mex. for cash; stock to the amount of $5,000,000 Mex. to be reserved for subscription by private Chinese subscribers. The Standard will finance the development work and if prolific pools of oil are developed the right will be given to lay pipe lines, build railroads and conduct all necessary appurtenances for the conduct of the business. It follows that in the event profitable production is secured refineries will be erected and the American-Chinese company will supply China and other far eastern markets with finished products made from Chinese crude.

Comments on the enterprise were that it means a new era for America in China and the beginning of the development along systematic lines of the great mineral resources of the country.

D. C. Stewart's Career.

David C. Stewart, who is the married man to get results in the development of China's oil fields, was born January 19, 1861 at Franklin, Pa., and began his career at Cherry Grove, Pa. in 1882. For ten years he was in charge of the formation in West Virginia for the Enoka and Buckeye pipe lines, later becoming assistant superintendent of the Buckeye line. He built the Cumberland pipe line from Kentucky to West Virginia and laid the first line from Kansas and Oklahoma to the Sugar Creek refinery near Kansas City, also a part of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co.'s line to Whiting. He was assistant line to Whiting. He was assistant throughout the strenuous days of the Glenn pool in Oklahoma, having charge of all pipe line construction. He laid the Oklahoma Pipe Line Company's line from the Glenn pool south to Arkansas and was general director and general superintendent of the company. Two years ago he came to Texas as manager of the pipe line department of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, laying the company's 3-inch trunk line from Electric to Beaumont. Later he has been engaged on the construction of the Magnolia's line north to Oklahoma and is president of the Magnolia Pipe Line Company which is completing the line north from Red River and east to the Healdton field in Carter county, Okla.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE CURE

GERMAN GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATING MERITS OF TYPOSA-FROL NEW CURE

MAY BE A GREAT BOON

Epidemic of Disease Killed 4,000,000 Cattle in 1899 and 1,000,000 the Following Year

Berlin, March 4.—Cattle raisers in Germany are eagerly awaiting a decision by the government as to the merits of the cure for foot and mouth disease announced recently by Prof. Ludwig Brieger, a distinguished German scientist and his assistant, Dr. M. Krause. The remedy is called typosafrol, and is a derivative of saffron. It is administered easily by mixture with the water which the cattle drink. The formula has not been made public, however, and there is a division of opinion as to whether an effective check has been discovered for this catarrhal plague which costs stockmen all over the world millions of dollars annually.

As previously reported, it is claimed that 290 head of cattle were successfully treated in recent experiments here and members of the Reichstag have asked the government to investigate the remedy, with a view to acquiring control of it, if effective, and furnishing it to cattle raisers at cost. Prof. Brieger, who also recently announced a new method of treating sleeping sickness, is one of a large band of investigators who have been giving their attention to the foot and mouth disease germ, whose identity was only recently established by a Swiss scientist. Dr. Brieger believes that his discovery may not be effective against the foot and mouth disease, but against other germs to which the blood of cattle is subject. If only his claims as to the former are borne out, however, that alone will be sufficient to confer a real boon to humanity for the disease has been one of the great factors in the high prices for meat.

A widespread epidemic of the disease occurred in 1899; 4,000,000 cattle were affected in 1899 and 1,000,000 in 1900, notwithstanding the most rigid quarantine measures and the slaughter of whole herds of animals, and three years ago the pest again swept through the empire. Great numbers of farms are still infected.

The disease has even become a factor in politics, furnishing the basis for a great conflict between the government and the agrarians on the one hand and the Socialists, Radicals and other representatives of the middle industrial classes on the other. The latter assert that the regulations closing the frontier to all foreign live-stock are absurd in view of the fact that the herds of Germany are more extensively affected than those of most of the countries from which imports are possible and that the bars are kept up merely to let the landowners get high prices for their meat. They demand the raising of the quarantine, particularly against such countries as have for years been entirely free from the disease. The government and the agrarians admit a number of the countries against which the quarantine is rigidly enforced are absolutely free from the disease, but quarantine against all is essential to a successful campaign.

A new epidemic of the disease is reported from the hunting preserves of South Germany where deer are dying in large numbers. The loss in the Rhine Provinces alone is already estimated at nearly $125,000. The deer of Wurtemberg, Baden, Hesse and Lotharing are also seriously affected. As the disease appears not to have reached the hunting preserves of North Germany, Venison is as cheap in Germany as any meat and cheaper than some, and vast quantities of it are used. The spread of foot and mouth disease to the hunting preserves will bring a marked reduction in the empire's meat supply, and the problem of combating it successfully among wild animals is difficult.

WHY 7000 DRUGGISTS

Guarantee and Recommend Vinol. If any one should know the value of a medicine it is the retail druggist who sells it.

Therefore, when over seven thousand of the best retail druggists in the country recommend Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, with cod oil, as the greatest tonic, restorative and strength creator they have ever sold, it must indicate the value of Vinol.

We could publish columns of such testimony as the following:
J. C. Brady, druggist of Fall River, Mass., says: "In cases where cod liver oil, emulsions and other tonics fail, Vinol will build strength and cure."
C. A. Potterfield, druggist of Charleston, W. Va., says: "It is a pleasure to sell Vinol as it gives such universal satisfaction."

Hunter & McGee, druggists, of Jackson, Miss., say: "We have great confidence in the strength creating and curative value of Vinol."
We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person or any person suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis, to try Vinol, and we guarantee the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Miller Drug Store.

P. S. For itching, burning skin, try our Sazo Salve. We guarantee it.

COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM WILL COST FULLY HALF MILLION

Hundred Miles of Roads Will be Required to Cover the Entire County

That $500,000 is not too large a bond issue for a county as rich and well populated as Wichita was the sentiment expressed yesterday afternoon before the adjournment of the Good Roads Association at the court house and the decision to declare definitely for a bond issue of that size was made because it was felt that the issue should be drawn somewhere.

"Everybody is in favor of good roads," said J. E. Head, "but if they don't want them enough to vote sufficient bonds we might as well leave it at the start."
Some opposition was manifested to the association going on record at this time, the opponents saying that it would be best to hold the other meetings first. It is pointed out that it will require one hundred miles to have anything of a good roads system in this county and that fully $5000 per mile will be required, so that a smaller issue than $500,000 could not reach more than the few leading points in the county.

EVERLYN NESBIT THAW AT THE WICHITA MARCH 16TH.

In a bright and clean musical play "Muriette" Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the most talked of woman in the world, will be seen at the Wichita Theatre on Monday, March 16th supported by a company of seventy-five artists including an English ballet of sixty, under the direction of Paul August of the Lyceum Theatre, London. Mrs. Thaw comes direct from the tremendous sensation she created at the London Hippodrome and Hammerstein's Victoria Theatre, New York. This will be the only opportunity to see Mrs. Thaw as she is strictly to return to London, the scene of her first triumphs, and from there make a tour of the continent for several years. In addition to "Muriette" a number of American and European diversions are introduced that are said to be unusual.

Buttons That Grow On Trees Now Generally Used

A button to the average man is a rather negligible object, until it happens to be missing from his coat vest, or trousers—invariably at the most inopportune time—and then it becomes an object of much importance and considerable solicitude. He wants it replaced forthwith and hires his tailor. There he finds that this individual has carefully selected the exact shade of button that matches the delicately mingled colors of his suit, a fact which he had probably not thought of before, and that the stock of this particular kind of button has been exhausted. At once the button takes on a new importance, and perhaps the query presents itself—of what is it and whence does it come?

Out of 1,000 well-dressed men taken from an average city crowd, how many could tell, if asked, where the buttons that so artistically embellish the fancy greys, browns, or blues of their fashionable attire have their origin? Perhaps not one. And yet each of them is an unconscious walking advertisement of one of the unique products of several Latin American countries, writes Edward Albes in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, and proceeds to give an account of the vegetable ivory button from its birth on the tree until it is placed as a finished product on the card and offered for sale.

Discovered in Ecuador
It appears that it has been some thing like fifty years since some rubber gatherers in the forests of northern Ecuador first told of a peculiar species of palm which they found in great numbers, whose fruit was a nut resembling in form and color the miniature head of a negro. These nuts were called "neiritos," and upon further investigation it was found that the kernels, when thoroughly dried, had the appearance and texture of dentine ivory. Sample lots of these nuts were shipped to Europe and although at first they were thought to be useless, it was soon found that they furnished an ideal material from which to manufacture buttons and other small ornamental objects for which the more expensive ivory had hitherto been used. The dried kernel could be sawed, carved, and turned on lathes into all sizes and shape of buttons, while the texture of the material proved an important product and now adds considerably to Ecuador's export trade. Something like 20,000 tons are shipped from that country each year.

worth about $1,700,000, while Colombia and Panama are both increasing their output.

A Stunted Palm Fern

The tagua, to use its common name, grows near the west coast of South America from southern Panama through Colombia, Ecuador and the northern part of Peru. It is most plentiful along the eastern slopes of the Andes and grows in groves along the river valleys at varying elevations and as high as 2,600 feet above sea level. The tree is a stunted palm fern with a short thick trunk which grows slowly to a height of 10 to 20 feet, marked by spiral lines of scars left by fallen leaves and fruit stems. The leaves resemble large gorgeous green feathers and are like those of the coccoloba palm, and very fragrant. The seeds or kernels resulting from these are first in the form of sacks of sweet, refreshing liquid that changes into a soft, delicious, edible pulp and finally becomes the hard nut of commerce. A group of 60 to 90 nuts are encased in a huge, knobby, rough, brown husk which locks something like a huge chestnut burr, and which opens at the bottom when the nuts are ripe and lets them fall to the ground. The nuts mature very slowly, requiring from blossom to ripeness fully a year. The gathering of green or unripe tagua nuts is prohibited by law in Ecuador. When full ripe they are about the size of small potatoes, of very hard, white composition, very fine grained, and closely resemble dentine ivory in all of its characteristics. The trees are said to begin bearing in their sixth year and live from 50 to 100 years.

Hundreds of natives, called tanguaros, make a business of gathering these nuts from the wild trees of the interior of Ecuador, collect them on rats and float them down the rivers to Esmeraldas or other Pacific ports, where they are sold in open markets to the exporters. The importance of the industry has grown until now the United States alone buys annually about 10,000 tons of tagua nuts, for which the purchasers pay, including export and import duties and transportation charges, about $1,500,000. There are 33 vegetable ivory factories in this country and no less than $4,000,000 is invested in the industry which gives employment to no less than 10,000 people.

Life looks—well, pretty good to me— Since I have heard her say With sweet and gentle modesty She'll marry me some day— If I will give up smoking, If I will go to church, If I will grieve my friends and leave My old chums in the lurch.

If I will let her have her way, She's promised to be mine; If I will never, never stay— Out later, say, than mine; If I will move to Lakewood, And never touch a card, And never shirk, but go to work, And labor long and hard.

It'll be always pleasant, And never swear or scold; Stay as I am at present, And not get sour and old; If I will be an angel— And that is easy—Gee!— If I can seem just like her dream— She says she'll marry me— —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ART LITERATURE CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS.
Discussion of the prison reform, woman suffrage and the election of officers formed the program for the meeting of the Art Literature Club Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Langford. On account of the weather but few of the members were in attendance but a very interesting program was enjoyed. After the business session in which the officers for the ensuing year were elected, a very interesting paper was read by Mrs. C. W. Bean on the prison reforms, dealing with the conditions of the prisons of the country and the efforts that are being made to better them. Mrs. Elmer Filgo considered the subject of woman's suffrage in a very clear and comprehensive manner, treating this inexhaustible subject quite ably. During the social hour, the hostess served brick, lemon and cake to the following members: Mesdames Letcham, Harris, Bean, Elmer-Filgo, G. W. Filgo, Smith and Gebhart.
CRESCENT CIRCLE SURPRISES ONE OF ITS MEMBERS.

DRIGGARS CASE DECIDED TODAY

Must Move His Fifteen Dollar Tailoring Store at Once.
Decree is filed and judgment entered that Fifteen Dollar Driggars, manager of the Stinson Anderson Co., has been found guilty of wilfully and deliberately selling the best fitting and most up-to-date all wool suits ever shown in Wichita Falls for fifteen dollars. The testimony of several hundred witnesses proved beyond doubt that the charges were true and a verdict of guilty was rendered. The decree of the court was that he must move from his present location at once, and in accordance therewith he will hereafter be found at 515 Eighth street, in the room formerly occupied by the Zig Royal Blue store. In spite of the court decree he is going to continue to sell the best clothes for the money ever shown in the city—in fact he is going to defy the whole outfit and go home one better than he ever did before. He is going to call the place the Union Woolen Mills, because it is a strictly union store, where nothing but the products of the best union woolen mills and the best union tailoring factories will be offered. He wants all his old friends and customers, as well as every other man who wants to get the best suit for the least money, to call and see him and look through his spring line.

"RELIABLE"

MUTT AND JEFF COMES TO THE WICHITA SATURDAY.

Did you ever realize how much meaning there is in the ordinary expression "Make good"? Bud Fisher, cartoonist on the New York American staff, conceived the idea of two eccentric characters whom he called "Mutt and Jeff." At first the pictures created but little comment, but like wine they improved with age. Soon the pictures began to attract the attention of the children, then grown up folks became interested, then doctors, lawyers, brokers and professional men of all sorts found themselves unconsciously opening the American at the funny page to see what new stunt "Mutt and Jeff" were up to. If practically became a disease until not only all of New York but the entire country kept tabs on "Mutt and Jeff" and Fisher's idea was proclaimed the most successful cartoon series of the history of journalism. The father of successful cartoon plays began to "sit up" and take notice. He quietly secured the stage rights to "Mutt and Jeff" and had a suitable book and music written; rehearsed four companies of forty-five people; and finally a musical comedy entitled "Mutt and Jeff" and sailed forth to reap the benefit of the most tremendous advertising a play ever had at the hands of the newspapers of America. Did it make good? Well, I should say it did, not only because the cartoons were successful, but because the play as a play, irrespective of the fact of its title being "Mutt and Jeff" was a hit from its first performance. It was a hard thing to follow the success of Fisher's cartoons and make good, but that's just what our Wichita success has made good with the people but fairly wrung the title of the greatest financial success in a quarter of a century from the cold blooded magnates who control theatrical bookings. "Mutt and Jeff" with the substance which earned all of its success will be at the Wichita Theatre next Saturday for matinee and night.

The rainfall of yesterday and last night amounted to one and fifteen one hundredth inches, and this is considered a good rain for this season of the year. A few more as good or equal to it between this and May will make certain a bountiful wheat crop.

According to the Houston Post there are 1000 unmarried men in that city with incomes of more than $3000 annually. That means the combined income of the 1000 is at the lowest figure $3,000,000 annually, and the Post further thinks it is nearer the $10,000,000 mark. Doubtless, every mother's son of them is a city builder, and Houston is showing unmistakable signs of their work.

There is a disposition on the part of the State Democratic Executive Committee to prevent the name of Col. Tom Ball from appearing on the Democratic ticket in the July primaries. Col. Ball is a pro Democrat. A majority of the State Democratic Executive committee is composed of anti-prohibition Democrats. If the attempt is made there is prospect for a good-sized legal battle, but now is as good time as any to settle the question as to whether the question of prohibition shall affect a man's standing in the Democratic party. Threats of this kind have been made before, but for some cause those making them have feared to do anything more than make the threats. For this reason it would seem they were being made only for political purposes—to intimidate voters. Now that the matter has again been brought up, it should be settled once and for ever, if that can be done by the courts.

There is such a thing as a banker declining to receive large deposits from a single person or corporation. This was demonstrated recently by a Michigan banker who declined to accept the account of Mr. Henry Ford, the multimillionaire automobile manufacturer. The banker did not refuse the account of Mr. Ford because of any ill feeling toward him, but simply because he did not think it to the best interest of the bank to do so. Mr. Ford promptly writes checks for large amounts, and of course, if the bank is not to do business with him, it is a loss to the bank. It is not always as done, as banks are not in the habit of carrying in their vaults such large amounts of cash, and in the event the check can't be cashed it makes trouble for the bank. For that reason, the Michigan banker prefers that his bank shall not be the account of the business man or individual who do not have so much money to deposit, and in the event any one of them desires to withdraw the account the bank will not be embarrassed.

THAT FORT WORTH GATHERING

J. B. Gambrell in Baptist Standard. The history of the move, how it grew and took hold of the public heart is fresh in the public mind. It culminated last Saturday in the meeting of the First Baptist church, Fort Worth, when the progressive convention packed every part of that great auditorium and overflowed—in all 4000 strong. It, as President Brooks said, looked like a meeting of the Texas Baptist convention, and the tone was about the same. It was a political convention with a high moral purpose. It was representative. Every part of the state was represented, even the remote parts. All callings were represented. It was said by many that such a political meeting was never seen in the State before. There was not a smell of liquor. There was no smoking in the place. There was not a "curst" "bully fellow" there. It was a great assembly of unselfish farmers, lawyers, bankers, editors, teachers, preachers, merchants; men of all honorable callings, but not a saloon man, not a man doing anything the light of day might not be turned on without embarrassment. Texas never saw a political assembly composed of a nobler set of men. There was nothing churchy about it, but it was dominated by Christian ideals and moved by Christian sentiments. It was a fine example of Christianized politics. It is the mission of churches and preachers to create, everywhere, the right kind of Christian sentiment, uphold true ideals of right and leave Christians as citizens to embody these ideals in civil institutions. In this way, and in no other way, can Christ rule in the kingdoms of this world.

In a match shoot of the gun club in Dallas last Sunday a woman proved the best shot, breaking 47 clay pigeons out of a possible 50 and winning the prize in competition with a dozen men. We are proud of the woman's success, but we knew all along that Dallas women could beat the Dallas men shooting. During the past two years a dozen Dallas women have taken shots at their husbands and every test of a woman's marksmanship, has been followed by a funeral.—Honey Grove Signal.

There is a rumor that a Fort Worth woman who wanted to enter the contest was barred, otherwise the score would have resulted a tie between expert dames in the entertaining science of winging fleeing husbands on city boulevards.—Houston Post.

DID ENOUGH TO SUIT THEM

Seems to be some dispute as to what Dewey did at Manila, but the Spanish fleet takes no part in it.—New York American.

Just one year ago today Woodrow Wilson was inaugurated President of the United States, and since that time he has been constantly on the job, insisting with all the power at his command the enactment by Congress of laws and reforms demanded by the National Democratic platform. Along this line he has succeeded to a degree that is almost remarkable. It used to be the saying that the Democrats, even when given an opportunity, could not be made to work in harmony long enough to accomplish anything demanded by the party in convention. In this respect, President Wilson and both branches of Congress have disappointed their critics.

President Charles C. Moore of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, has announced that all main exhibit buildings will be ready for installation of exhibits by July 1 of this year. When the exposition opens on February 20, 1915, more than sixty thousand exhibitors from all parts of the globe will be installed in the huge palaces.

ACQUITTAL IS DUE TO A MISSING COMMA

Houston, Texas, March 4.—Because a comma appeared between the words "hotel" and "restaurant" in one part of the law and did not appear between the same words in another section, Judge Clarke C. Wren today instructed a jury to declare J. A. Davis not guilty of violation of the fifty-four-hour law for women. Judge Wren held that the word "hotel" modifies the succeeding word, making the law only applicable to restaurants operated in connection with hotels.

She had started to make a fire with coal oil and an explosion followed, resulting in her own injury and the destruction of the building. The house was the property of W. P. Conley, in Hollister, was burned. In another fire today, the drug store of W. P. The cause is not known.

"THE RULE OF THREE" PLAYING IN NEW YORK

BY BEAU RILATO. (Written for the United Press.) New York, Mar. 4.—"The Rule of Three" at the Harris Theatre is billed as a farce and three "up" to its name. Going by N. Webster's definition, the play is the first real farce of the season. Among the many meanings of farce, according to the afore-mentioned authority are "an empty show" and "to stuff full." "The Rule of Three" is certainly empty of ideas and sentimentality, but it certainly stuffs full in that the spectator is "fed up" long before the last curtain. One laughs heartily all the way through the piece and at the end wonders why.

The play is innate and meaningless, and its situations are indeed a direct thesis to the coat which held in so tightly about your knees, this winter. The regenerated basque but the bitter fact is known full well to all those dandies who have helped to make a garment do for two seasons that Fashion changes are ever extreme.

Another evidence of this is seen in the new ripple coats whose flaring skirts are indeed a direct thesis to the coat which held in so tightly about your knees, this winter. All the smartest Spring top coats of cloth or silk are shown with a ripple flare set on around the bottom. The shoulders hang loose from the shoulders and gradually toward the hem. Particularly in the sport coats the bright shades of red, green, blue, and yellow will be seen while among the little fussy short silk coats are gay harlequin checks, Scotch plaids and Roman stripes will predominate. Perhaps the most popular uses for the lovely Roman silks will be as sashes but as a trimming and also as whole bodies they are very smart.

The new sash waist is a charming model for the many lovely new figure silks. It is cut like a regulation V-waist at the top, but the two fronts of the waist are crossed over below the V shaped front opening and gradually narrowing to the width of sash ends they pass around and tie in a bow at the back.

Lovely ladies may now pocket everything including their pride for the pocket is in evidence an every chic Spring skirt. Just where they are located is a question of little moment, in either or both hips of a peg skirt. A rear one nestling in the shadow of the bustle or a front one just below the belt. Fried husband is bound to be crazy about this new style. He sees at last where he will have his better half on his hip as 'twere and has his share of extensive searches through wilsey pockets. But be that as it may one thing is sure if you are out of pocket you are out of Fashion.

The simple lines of the erstwhile lingerie-frock are lost to view this season in a profusion of flounces, frills, furberlows and draperies that vie with the more pretentious silken gowns.

With foundations of soft and clinging crepe they are veiled in the film net, lace bordered. Many of the frocks are entirely of lace and this lace is all net topped and bordered heavily in artistic designs.

Exquisite sheer mulls embroidered with borders of pastel tints are lovely also for the newest lingerie effects and chiffon embroidered in limited design competes with lace inuring loveliness.

Jet as a garniture of Spring hats is being seen on the best of heads combined with the upstanding tulie such things it is decidedly effective particularly when it ornately embellished the straight, collar-like band that forms the basis of the crownless chapeau.

In lieu of the banned aigret and Paradise some ingenious modistes have evolved imitations out of set but the results have proved formidable stiff and bristly. If your hat ripples and waves however, you should by all means get a pretty headdress.

As a confession to the omnipresent tango, skirts promise to be broadened out a bit about the feet. As yet this is only a promise, however, and it has the caveat of Paul Porciet to back against.

He, it seems, huris defiance at Torspichore and announces that all his skirt designs are tighter and more clinging than ever heretofore. It is bound to be an exciting struggle and until either Monsieur Poirot or the tango wins out, our skirts are doomed to do a sort of a hesitation so it seems. It is interesting to note that the one and only Paul also bans the bustle.

Why Not? 4.—Dustless brooms, smokeless powder, painless dentistry, tuneless songs, pointless strolls, jokeless comedies, hopeless hopes and wireless telegraphy have all come, made their little bit or gone to come again and why, may not be:—
"Manless Beer Saloon"
It is the Pittsburgh Idea, de luxe; conceived by Director Charles S. Hubbard, of the Department of Public Safety. The new saloon would be a place of gilt and glass, with miniatures, free lunch, chirotopidists, pretzels and all other fixtures. The two and several lady waiters, pictures of many handsome women, gowned in the height of fashion, perhaps, but at least gowned. Besides Director Hubbard would have swinging doors and a conspicuous sign:
"Cafe—For Ladies Only—Bar"
Director Hubbard declared that he was very serious about it, and even had some plans or other drawn and introduced. He said he thought it might go a long way toward eliminating certain questionable "hotels" and houses of ill repute.

BASQUES IS FASHIONS NEWEST SPRING DECREE

BY MARGARET MASON. (Written for the United Press.) New York, Mar. 4.—Basque it is and coming as they do right on top of bustles the female "figger" is in for a complete overhauling and readjustment. This Spring will see things at an entirely different angle, particularly tummys.

The debutante slouchers will once more lead an upright life and healthful interiors will again be compatible with fashionable outside. It is a far cry from the loose "baggy" of the kimono waist to the same clasp of the regenerated basque but the bitter fact is known full well to all those dandies who have helped to make a garment do for two seasons that Fashion changes are ever extreme.

Another evidence of this is seen in the new ripple coats whose flaring skirts are indeed a direct thesis to the coat which held in so tightly about your knees, this winter. P. B. M. CO'S FORMAL SHOWING OF SPRING HATS

The P. B. M. Company is holding its first formal showing of the spring hats today and in its showing includes all of the very latest in the millinery line. This spring, and summer are destined to be color seasons; for never have there been so many colors in existence and such rich and riotous shades. Black is as favorite as usual, blue is the old reliable and in the new shades which the clever brain of the dyer is able to conceive of, green, sensational green, as in the Nile every imaginable tone and shade and numerous other colors are shown in the trimmings and in the entire hat. The much maligned tango has lent its name to a number of charming shades, blending from a rich red just the color of tomato soup to a flaming orange. No color is too daring for this season and they are not only used to brighten up a sombre shape but entire hats are shown in the flaming tango shades.

The hats gain their style motif from the days of 1830, the French Empire period and other periods of bygone days. The hall mark of a 1914 spring hat is the bandeau—in some hats it is little more than a suggestion, just a tilt to one side and perhaps a flower or bit of ribbon near the brim. In other hats the bandeau is a startling fact high side effects being shown, the bandeau trimmed with flowers and so high as to show all of the hair on one side and tilting the hat over the face of the other side. The days of the hidden hair is now over and it has even been rumored that perhaps ears will once more be stylish. The trimmings of the hats consist mostly of flowers and the methods of placing the trimming are legion.

The P. B. M. store is showing a number of handsome pattern hats and imported models featuring the Vogue, Phipps, Plisk and Hyland hats. The showing is one sure to please and a good idea of modish styles for early wear may be gained by a visit to this department. Later when they get their new building finished a grand opening will be held in which the mid-summer styles will be featured. A complete line of headgear for the little tots will be shown, also the latest tango caps, airy hats for the dance.

BANDITS OF 2 ERAS

Outlaw, His Contemporaries in Scott's Day and Ours.

Rob Roy and Jesse James—Both Maudsayers Had Their Friends and Each Was Renowned for Deeds of Kindness.

New York.—If we are not certain as to the date of the death of Rob Roy, it may lighten our blunders to remember that Sir Walter Scott looked on it as doubtful, says a writer in the Living Church. Reports varied; the best authenticated tradition showed that the daring McGregor had outlived his wildest deeds, and we may take it for granted that he died in the latter part of the decade between 1730 and 1740. Assuming that we have some interesting comparisons to make. A man whose real life was as sensational as that of the feudal mess trooper, a chieftain who leveled blackmail on peaceful cattle raisers, who plundered his enemies, who had quenched some bold spirits, over and setting up Stuart, a character half seventeenth century and half sixteenth, was living during a part at least of George Washington's infancy. Franklin may have heard many a story of him. Paul Jones may have sailed with men who had caught a glimpse of Rob Roy through coast and island traditions.

Take Rob Roy's own strong personality and add what the genius of Scott has thrown around him, and he is a fascinating "last of the Mohicans" type. Part of the ancient Scotland of claymores and coronach had gone out with the civil wars of Cromwell's day, the revolution had cut short many a life—the uprising of 1715 had quenched some bold spirits, exiles had died heart broken in foreign courts and cloisters. Rob Roy was a link with the past. He frightened many who yet admired him, even as his estimable kinsman, Baille Nichol Jarvie, did. But a few dates may startle even some who have read Scott's noble story half a dozen times, and it is well to think of some who had come before Rob Roy had gone.

At the time the outlaw breathed his last Joseph Butler had written the Analogy, and George Berkeley was past fifty. William Pitt had grown to man's estate. Edward Gibbon had trodden many a step on the road to learning. "Voltaire" was in his forties. Adam Smith and William Blackstone were launched into boyhood. Buffon was an active child. Buffon was a man of some years' standing. Elderly men of scientific tastes looked back on royal society gatherings and on ingenious hypotheses as the elderly men among ourselves look back to the Suez canal and the Pacific railroads. The death of Rob Roy may have been exciting news to the ardent young John Wesley, who never forgot his romantic loyalty to Mary Queen of Scots, and to young Samuel Johnson, who heaved many a sigh for the luckless house of Stuart. What part of the eighteenth century had just started before the old freemason passed from the earth. After Rob Roy's death, it is true, there was another Jacobite flash, and some brave men paid with their heads for the uprising of '45; but the cool judges saw that the old Stuart times were at an end. No one after all has so clearly shown us how impossible it all was as the novelist who admitted that it was 60 years since.

Some day the fragments yet remaining of Jesse James' life will be gathered together by one who passes over the transition stages of history. Robbers there have been, and will be, but few of the young people of today understand how large a territory owned Jesse James as a sort of bandit baron. Like Robin Hood and Rob Roy he had devoted followers. Quiet farmers and merchants made excuses for Jesse James, not unlike those Baille Nichol Jarvie made for the McGregor. Stories about Jesse James' kindness to the poor, his generosity to his friends, his courage and good humor, were told in many a tavern. There were many who, not from cowardice but from sympathy, would have held back evidence tending to convict the James boys, and who would have given the accused the benefit of every possible doubt. If the reader can recall how Rob Roy's arms were bound and how the guard let him escape just at the right time he can form some idea of the open or secret friendship for the James boys by many of their contemporaries.

It is almost tantalizing that Rufus Choate, who suggested the history of New England as material to be treated after the manner of the Waverley novels, did so little to forward the design. If we got at it, we should find that the stock of romances of the daring and the lawless, the wild and the almost incredible is endless. Before starting ourselves at the idea of Rob Roy co-existing with Locke's philosophy and Berkeley's ideas, let us remember that Jesse James was the contemporary of Ralph Waldo Emerson and T. S. Arthur.

In some copies of the Times Tuesday afternoon the raising of a column rule blurred the type so that in the item relating to the resignation of Police

The New Empress is showing Marion Leonard, the world famous dramatic photo-play star in the triumph of her career, "A Leaf in the Storm." In this three reel feature Miss Leonard does some wonderfully artistic work amid beautiful settings. Principal among the impressive scenes are a terrible storm at sea, a gigantic shipwreck and a far-away desert island. Friday will be a big feature day at the Empress, the offering to consist of a five reel picture in natural colors.

The Majestic's program for today consists of a Kalem special, "Her Husband's Friend," featuring Tom Moore and Alice Hollister. "The Squires' Mistake," a Lubin and a Kalem comedy, "The Medicine Show at Stone Gulch," featuring Ruth R. Land and John Brenna.

ALCOHOL IS BARRED ON POLAR TRIPS

TOTAL ABSTINENCE FROM ALCO-HOLIC STIMULANTS REQUIR-ED BY SHACKLETON

TO USE TEA AND COCOA ONLY

Men Chosen for Expedition are Between Thirty and Forty Years of Age

London, Mar. 4.—Total abstinence from alcoholic stimulants will be strictly observed during Sir Ernest Shackleton's trip across the south polar continent. He and his men propose to work long hours, including eight hours marching every day, but for stimulant they will rely on nothing stronger than tea or cocoa. The tea will be taken at midday to refresh the men for afternoon march, and the cocoa the last thing at night to preserve the body heat during the hours of sleep. Sugar will figure largely in the ration. On his last expedition Sir Ernest and his companions took two or three lumps of sugar every two or three hours and he says ten minutes after eating they could feel the heat going through their bodies.

The men thus far chosen for the expedition are between 30 and 41 years of age. Shackleton, who is 39, believes that men are at their best between 25 and 40. A man, he says, does not reach his full strength until he is 25, and whatever may be the superiority of youth in the way of spring, nerve and enthusiasm, these do not weigh against the staying power of an older man or the balanced judgment of one who has experience behind him.

Schedules For Work-Days.
The working day arranged for the transcontinental party calls for an hour of preparation after waking, then a four-hour march and hour's rest and another four-hour march. Sleep time, which in previous trips has been observed between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., will be cut to eight hours.

Sir Ernest is busy arranging for details of the expedition—which is regarded as the biggest undertaking ever attempted in polar exploration since the distance to traverse from Weddell Sea to Ross Sea is 1700 miles. At first Shackleton proposed to return from the South Pole to Ross Sea by one of three routes, that taken by Scott in his ill-fated expedition, or by Amundsen in his successful one, or a new one known as the western route, crossing the great range of the Victoria chain of mountains. It has since been decided that unless certain conditions prevent the expedition will avoid the two old routes and come out either through the Victoria range or by a route to the eastward of Amundsen's track. If this can be done the expedition will open entirely new ground.

This greatly increases the difficulties and dangers of the journey for the party will have the advantage of a chain of feed depots which proved such a material aid to their predecessors.
They will, however, be helped by the resources of science to a degree never dreamt of by former explorers.
The expedition will be assisted by a wireless installation which will keep it in touch with its base for most of the time and will besides have aero-plane sledges.

Two Steamers on Expedition.
Two steamers will support the expedition. A Norwegian steamer, for which negotiations have been opened, will take Sir Ernest and his party to the Weddell Sea, while the Aurora, which has seen much Antarctic service, will go to the Ross Sea to pick them up when they have accomplished their journey.

The first steamer will leave Buenos Aires some time in October and push to the Antarctic, reaching if possible 15 degrees south latitude, where a good landing place was found by the German expedition. If the ice conditions are favorable, winter quarters will be established, depots laid out and the start made the following season.
In the meantime the Aurora will have started from New Zealand to land a party in the Ross Sea to meet the transcontinental party. Sir Ernest believes that the trip can be accomplished in five months, but should the obstacles be insurmountable he will have the base in Weddell Sea to fall back upon. The first part of the trip, that from Weddell Sea to the Pole, is giving the explorer most serious thought. The distance is about 800 miles and through an entirely unexplored region. The party have no data whatever to rely upon, but believe that the dogs which proved such a blessing to Amundsen and sledges fitted with aeroplane propellers, all obstacles will be overcome.
Neither of the steamers will winter in the Antarctic. The Aurora, after landing the supporting party in Ross Sea, will return to New Zealand, going back later to bring the whole party home. The other steamer will return to South America after landing Sir Ernest Shackleton and his friends, going back in the following year to pick up the Weddell Sea party, for besides those who are to make the long trip, some will be left at the base to carry out scientific investigations.
Both ships will burn oil and will be fitted with tanks so that any specimens taken may be brought home alive.

MAXIM GORKY IS NEAR HIS DEATH

AFTER LONG EXILE AUTHOR IS BACK IN RUSSIA, FATALLY ILL WITH CONSUMPTION

CLOSE CONFINEMENT IS CAUSE

Italian Papers Follow American Journals in Devoting Much Space to Sporting News

Rome, March 4.—Maxim Gorky is back in Russia after eight years exile, perhaps to die of consumption, before another summer, his physicians say.
Officially, the Russian writer is still at Capri, where he has lived since banishment, while bodily he is at Mastanjak, Finland, whence he may later proceed to Moscow. His return is generally a secret in Russia, the government desiring to take every precaution against irritating demonstrations by his admirers.
Last year Gorky was included in the comprehensive amnesty conceded by Emperor Nicholas and could then have returned to his native land without opposition, but he asserted that that he had no intention of taking advantage of the privilege. His failing health and longing to see his country, however, led him to change his mind and he has just completed the trip to Mastanjaki by easy stages.
Gorky's friends declare that he contracted his disease during confinement in the prison fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, but it is believed his constitution must have been weakened by the many years which he spent in prison, his feverish energy in writing and the increasing labor of deep study to overcome his lack of culture.

There has lately appeared an odd chronology submitted by Gorky, an editor who has asked for an autobiography. Gorky replied as follows:
1862—born at Nischni-Novgorod.
1878—Shoemakers boy.
1879—apprentice to a designer.
1880—Cabin boy on a steamer.
1883—Worker in a manufactory of biscuits.
1884—Porter.
1885—Bakers boy.
1886—dummy in a village theatre.
1887—Fruit Seller.
1888—attempted suicide.
1889—railway employee.
1890—clerk to an advocate.
1891—Operative in a salt-miner later vanished.
1892—wrote the first novel "Makar Chudra."
1903—celebrity and riches.
The sporting page along American lines has lately become a feature of Italian newspapers. Most of the journals are giving up a whole page or more every day to sport. While devoid of baseball or football gossip, the pages deal extensively with aviation, automobileing, bicycle racing and rowing and swimming.

A subject of current discussion is a proposed trip to the new Italian colony in Africa, members of the Italian touring club planning to join, with members of the Agricultural Society and the Venetian Association of the Studies of the Antique in an excusion whose aims will combine pleasure, science and art. The party will visit Tripoli from April 29 to May 10 and the tour of the colony.

In connection with the approaching anniversary of the death of Dante, the Italians are renewing their sympaty with his writings. Dante, in Italy is almost a national God, and so far as his adoration carried that when Sir Henry Irving gave his drama which had Dante as its hero, the Italians rose as one man to protest against the destruction of their idol.

In the history house and tower which the Count Anguillara built in the 12th century as a mansion and fortress, and which was frequented by Dante, Senator Pasquale Villari, who is famous as a student of the great poet's life and works, has begun a series of lectures on the Father of the Italian Language.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription first and get a bottle of this harmless liquid solution. Bathe the eyes two to four times a day and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start.
Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eyestrain, cataract sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it. You may see strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so; or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of those victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others get clear healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given. (Adv't)

HAL SHERIDAN TALKS ABOUT THE FEDERALS

SCARCITY OF PLAYERS WILL BE HANDICAP FOR NEW LEAGUE, HE THINKS.

WOULD HURT THE MINORS

Direct Negotiations With Players
Would Deprive Smaller Leagues
of Source of Revenue.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
New York, March 4.—When the Federal League was just beginning to break into print and disturb the peace of mind of organized baseball, one of the chief sticks in the trade of argu-ings against the possibility of the league being able to live was the statement of big baseball officials that there was no room for a third league.
There was no place for another organization, it was declared, and therefore the Federals were to be excluded. As a result of the recent meeting of the leagues in New York, however, we now know that organized baseball itself has been considering for the past two or three years the establishment of a third major league circuit.
Also that one of the "star players" considered in the early days was the placing of a third league in the field to combat the Federals. All of which indicates anything that one may wish to take it as indicating.

Players, There's the Rub.

As might be supposed, there are many things to consider in establishing a third major league circuit.
Most of the baseball officials admit that a real major league town will support two ball teams. Baseball has reached the stage where it was taken as a steady diet by the fans and censorious ball is looked upon with favor in the larger cities. One of the sticking points has been the matter of players, however. Star ball players are scarce. The sand lots, minor leagues and colleges are combed every year for talent. Few ever get any further than the training camps and some sp-camping back to the tal' arks soon after the season opens. Others come up from the training camps and are not turned back, but they are not heard of again for two or three years. As a matter of fact some of the club owners of the two big leagues have men out on the bench who are better ball players than perform daily for the tallenders, and there you are.
The major leagues knew they would have difficulty putting a third big circuit under way. No one would be willing to give up, but if the Federals kept at it they may show how it can be done. The only way a third major league could be started by organized ball," said a well known manager here recently, "would be to take some players from each of the clubs

W. B. PATTON, PECULIAR COMEDIAN COMING HERE.

The many friends and admirers of W. B. Patton will be interested to learn that the peculiar comedian will visit Wichita Falls March 10th in his play "Lazy Bill" which is conceded by dramatic critics to be his masterpiece. As is the case with most artists, Mr. Patton started at the bottom rung and has played many parts.
He is gifted with a personality that few comedians possess and his delicious portrayal of Dr. Hale in "Lazy Bill" is the crowning event of his starring career. To his charms

Connie Mack Had Welsh, Center- fielder for the Athletics during the last world's series was buried for two or three years. Walsh was then a star but Mack had men of such high calibre there was no place for Walsh but on the bench. He played every position on the team at one time or another while waiting around for some veteran to crack and make a place for him. These men who are doing time on the bench are impor- tant and need training, it is true, but whenever a greater demand for star players develops they will begin coming to the top. If the Federal League cuts in and is able to grab some of the star minor league players the two big leagues may be forced to pull out some of their bench warmers a little sooner. Because stars are scarce now is no reason for believing they will continue to be. It is natural to suppose that the more baseball there is to be played the more players there will be developed and the percentage of stars will in- crease in proportion.

The Federal League is in a position to wreck the minor leagues of the country if it cares to in the opinion of Joe Tinker. He has pointed out that where the major leagues pay fabulous prices for a minor-league star (the money going to the club owner) the Federals may secure such a player by simply bidding to the player direct and meeting the offer of organized ball with an offer of salary to the player equal to the amount the majors pay for him. After organized ball makes the purchase they would still have the man's salary to pay, but the Federals would have taken care of that by turning the big money to the player in the form of salary instead of handing it to the club owner. As the big money in minor-league ball comes from the sale of players these interests are naturally being steadily at the feet to find some way of stopping the Feds taking them into the fold, or doing something to avert disaster. Of course this idea of wrecking the minor leagues by buying players without the minors no corps of major league players would be developed. The Federals would thus be crawling out on a limb and then sawing it off, which raises the question of how far they would go with such war measures.

I have just as good companies as do business in the state of Texas, will look after your interest and appreciate your business.

that the restricted district of Floral Heights is destined to be the bon-ton residence section of Wichita Falls for all time to come. It will be impossible to have any other restricted property like it. It is a charming property, ideally located. Situated on the car line with the highest elevation between the city and Lake Wichita, the view in all directions is one of magnitude of stretching landscape as far as the eye can see. You don't have to be rich to own a home in this district. The restrictions are modest and simple, as follows: No residence shall be constructed in this restricted district in excess of one residence to two whole lots and no residence shall cost less than $3000.00. Just think; you can purchase a pair of these lots for $660.00, one-third cash, balance on or before one and two years at 8 per cent interest. The Company only has a few of these lots left, and there is no limit to the prices you will see these lots sell for in the future. Two of the finest homes in the city are in this restricted district. Come to our office today and let us show you these beautiful lots.

NEW YORK NEWS LETTER

New York, March 4.—Newlyweds, here's your chance. Any intrepid young pair—old, for the matter of that—not superstitious and without "nerves" can have the use of a comfortable apartment, free of rent for one year. All they have to do is to obtain a domicile gratis, is to live in the Eighth avenue flat where Father Hans Schmidt, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week of March 23 next, murdered Anna Ammuller and dismembered her body.

This seems like a small order to fill to find a tenant among some of the million people, for one little apartment, but it has stumped one of the best known firms of Manhattan realty agents. The explanation is simple. New York is one of the most provincial towns in America, a "cube" town to be brutal. New Yorkers are primitive and superstitious. In any Middle-Western city of size, Chicago, Cleveland or St. Louis for instance, the fact that a domestic servant had been murdered by man in a four room flat, if otherwise desirable, would be as much in demand as if the tragedy had never happened.

But in New York it is a different matter. Here, the world where race, religion and cast are paramount, the murder of the Bohemian working girl by a Bavarian who is also a Bohemian, is of great importance. Schmidt's killing attracted attention entirely out of keeping with its relative importance. New Yorkers quickly lose the perspective and it is not entirely their fault. The sensational newspapers, confronted with a dearth of more important news, "play-up" the Schmidt murder, mendaciously substituting quantity for quality. Schmidt and the dead girl were pictured in every possible pose, their past and future was dug up and portrayed over countless pages. The result was that not a man, woman or child in all New York failed to learn every detail, real and imaginary, of the sordid murder. New Yorkers are heir to all the primitive superstitions of all the races that go to make up the conglomeration of humanity in the greater city and consequently not one New Yorker will have anything to do with the harmless and perfectly comfortable little apartment where Hans Schmidt slew and hacked to pieces his trusting sweetheart Anna Ammuller.

But real estate agents are practical men. They have no sentiment and no superstition, but they know a stone wall of hard and prosaic facts when they meet one. The particular agents in charge of the Eighth avenue apartment house where Schmidt killed a human butcher realize the necessity of removing from the premises the stigma that popular opinion attaches to the place by reason of the gruesome tragedy. They know that to make the fickle New Yorkers forget that the apartment is a house of death and mystery; all that is necessary is to have it occupied for a time.

Wichita Falls W. O. W. Camp No. 3001 meets every Thursday at 7:30 p. m. 812 1-2 Ohio avenue. C. H. Elliott, Consul Commander; S. Heysler, clerk.

Despairing of persuading any ordinary rent paying tenants to take the place, they have offered the apartment rent free for one year to any family who will occupy it. The hoodoo must be exercised.

Who has wisdom? The black cat. Behold, the fore-handled ebony feline, oh ye harassed Harlemites—come early and avoid the subway rush. One scrappy and ill fed cat with material instincts "from the night plutonium shores" invaded the new Broadway-Lexington subway before even the excavators had finished their work and workmen found her forty-five feet below the street level with four kittens. Pussy, looking for a place where she might rear a family safe from the disturbances of the ash man and out of reach of the depredations of the East Side youngsters, entered the new subway and worked her way to the furthest southern end of the diggings. The men found her there early one morning, completely caringing for her four youngsters. The cat and kittens immediately became the mascots of the subway gang. The men swore that tabby and her family should ride the first car to pass through the new underground railway.

EGYPTIAN PROVERBS

"In 'Vell'd Mysteries of Egypt,' S. H. Leeder points to the remarkable ability of the Egyptians for enriching their conversation with proverbs. Here are some from a long list of examples he gives:

"Man is often an enemy to things of which he is ill-informed"

"Don't ask any man about his origin; you can read it in his face."

"If you censure your friend for every fault he commits there will come a time when you will have no friend to censure."

"Don't strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. A professional sword swallower died the other day from getting a fish bone in his throat."

"Knowledge without practice is like a bow without a string."—Vell'd Mysteries of Egypt, by S. H. Leeder.

"A stony heart never swells with emotion."

"A good experience is not a tether to tie to, but a pointer to progress."

"He who borrows trouble is in danger of borrowing again, and forming the habit."

"The lure of the heights is sometimes the strongest when they are seen in the distance."

"Man is the very image of his Father until he goes into sin so far as to spoil the likeness."

Have You Read "THE ROSE IN THE RING?"

It's the latest and most people say the best of George Barr McCutcheon's works

The scenes are laid in Virginia. The hero, David Jennison, who comes fleeing over the mountain, is just the handsome, likeable, chivalrous youngster that McCutcheon loves to picture, and the Rose is just as sweet and brave and fascinating a heroine as the Princess Yevie, Beverly or any of her predecessors in McCutcheon's stories. The Rose has a bad father and David a wicked uncle, and they meet at a circus when David becomes a clown and the Rose is a star equestrienne. The price is 50 cents. A thousand other volumes of this year's newest and best fiction at prices from 50 cents to $1.65. New magazines in today—Blue Book, Red Book, The Etude, Vogue, Elite.
