NEW PRODUCTION WAS 4,175 BA

FEBRUARY RECORDED 79 COMPLETIONS IN FIELDS IN THE WICHITA DISTRICT

PRODUCTION 32,250 BARRELS

During Month 28 Dry Holes Were Abandoned—Petrolia Figured in New Production

New production amounting to 4175 barrels daily was brought in the Northwest Texas field during February, bringing the total production to 32,250 barrels. The new production for February was distributed as follows:

Electra—42 wells completed, 14 dry, one gasser, 27 producing wells with 2600 barrels.

Burkburnett—12 wells completed, six dry, no gassers, six producing wells with 275 barrels.

Petrolia—four completions, one dry, one gasser, three producing wells with 1150 barrels.

Iowa Park—21 completions, eight dry, no gas, 13 producing wells with 150 barrels.

Field production is distributed as follows:

Electra—27,300.
Iowa Park—600.
Burkburnett—1900.
Petrolia—2450.

Among the months' important features was the Sunday completion northwest of Iowa Park, showing either a new pool or a new link in the chain of production between Burkburnett and Electra. Prospective early completions this month are expected to bring the production to a new high figure. There would have been a decided slump in February but for Petrolia's completions. The Culbertson, the Producers and the Developers wells materially adding to the daily average.

The Iowa Park district continues to record a good lunch of shallow completions, holding the production up to a good figure. Interest now centers, however, in some deep tests in that section. The Sunday neighborhood may furnish one of these. A particularly interesting location is the J. C. Straus well on the Wagoner ranch and it is being closely watched. The Producers are showing on this ranch and its proximity to the Foxkles district also makes it look promising.

In the Burkburnett field the Goziciana's shallow well on the Ramirez was the feature. The completions at Electra were all inside.

TEXAS CATTLEMEN IGNORE COLQUITT

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED DO NOT MENTION GOVERNOR'S PLEA FOR ENDORSEMENT

URGES PROTECTION OF LIVES

Attempt to Secure Endorsement of Administration Policy Out of Order

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, March 11.—The Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas Wednesday morning adopted eighteen resolutions reported by the resolution committee without an opposing vote. The resolutions included two with reference to the Mexican situation but no stand was taken on the disagreement between Governor Colquitt and the federal government.

A resolution proposing endorsement of the policy of the national government was presented during the reading of the resolutions but James Callahan, chairman of the resolution committee, declared it was out of order as the convention rule required that all matters for resolutions be presented to the committee for submission. The president's ruling was in accordance to this request.

One resolution adopted urged the protection of lives and property of Americans in Mexico and the other urged a vigilant policy along the border.

The association adopted a resolution asking for an amendment of the tariff laws to provide for additional restrictions of importation of cattle along sensitive lines. Another resolution expressed hearty approval of the stand of the National administration in favor of rural credits.

MODEL WORE STRING OF BEADS ONLY ON BACK

Philadelphia, March 11.—The fashionable women of Philadelphia, in an effort to follow the Parisian vogue, adopted the green wig in a twinkling and accepted the skillet hat without a murmur, but today, when the "backless" evening gown was exhibited by living models, there were evidences of a fashionable revolution.

The exhibition of gowns was held at a hotel, and the grand ballroom resounded with shocked "Oh's" when a model walked out with nothing on her back but a string of beads and a draft.

The gown was of bright green crepe de chine, veiled with a lighter shade of tulle. There was hardly anything to the front of the waist, and the back was entirely absent. As a result, as the handsome model walked across the room, the effect was unusual, and the exclamations of the women present indicated that the gown will not become popular at once in Philadelphia.

As the model announced, four diagonal strands of beads are all that stand between the wearer and pneumonia.

M. Kennedy, campaign manager for Chester Terrell who is a candidate for governor.

Mr. Kennedy will call upon Governor Colquitt at Austin tomorrow and lay the facts before him with a request that a special session of the legislature be called to change the law.

PROS DON'T BELIEVE SPECIAL SESSION NECESSARY

Austin, Texas, March 11.—AT The Dallas conference last Saturday Governor Colquitt indicated that he would call a special session to enact changes in the Terrell election laws to require majority nominations, if he was requested to do so by prohibition leaders. Many prohibitionists, however, it has been learned, do not favor the calling of a special session, believing that the action of the anti-including a convention to select a candidate to go into the primaries following their own action several weeks ago in endorsing Tom Ball of Houston, assured a majority nomination in the coming primary, without any change in the election laws. They declare themselves in favor of changing the law at a regular session of the legislature.

DEDICATION OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

GREAT CROWDS ATTEND THREE INSPIRING SERVICES AT NEW CHURCH SUNDAY

RELIGIOUS FERVOR FELT

Beautiful Services. Great Crowds. Spiritual Feeling Combine to Make Day Eventful

From Monday's Daily

The new Christian Church edifice was formally turned over to the trustees by the building committee and dedicated yesterday morning in a service that was marked with religious fervor and delightful with brilliant oratory and music. The event is one that will live always in the memory of the large audience which gathered to participate in the worship. For the occasion the church was handsomely decorated with ferns, palms and carnations, and presented a most beautiful scene with the sea of earnest, Christian faces aglow with the happiness of work well done.

The pastor, Rev. F. F. Walters, stated that this was the first time that he had been called upon to preach a sermon dedicating a church of which he was the pastor, and he thought that his own people had wanted him for this service. "The greatest compliment they could bestow on him and the greatest pleasure they could give him," he said, "is to have him preach a sermon dedicating a church of which he was the pastor, and he thought that his own people had wanted him for this service. The greatest compliment they could bestow on him and the greatest pleasure they could give him, is to have him preach a sermon dedicating a church of which he was the pastor, and he thought that his own people had wanted him for this service."

The services opened with an organ prelude by Mrs. B. Shuman, followed by the singing of the doxology. Rev. J. E. Coe, pastor of the First Methodist Church, made the invocation, prayer and the choir sang the beautiful Gounod anthem "Send Out the Light." In the singing the choir was augmented by the instrumentalists, especially Miss Helen Ritchie who also sang a solo, "The Ninety and Nine." Miss Bernice Jackson joined in the music with the violin.

"We have a great work," he said, "in making all the churches of the city work in a little field under the same roof. We have a great work in making all the churches of the city work in a little field under the same roof. MAY ATTEMPT TO WIN BACK PITCHER

REPORTED CLEVELAND AMERICANS WILL TRY TO NEGOTIATE WITH FALKENBERG

K. C. FEDERALS ENROUTE

Some of Players Left That Place Last Night and Are Expected Here Tonight

From Monday's Daily
That agents of the Cleveland American League baseball team will be here this week in an effort to win back Cy Falkenberg, here with the Indianapolis Federals, became known tonight. Falkenberg was with Cleveland last season being the pitching mainstay of the Naps, but jumped to the Federals when they offered him about twice what Cleveland had been paying him.

The vanguard of the Kansas City team is reported to have left for Wichita Falls yesterday and should arrive here late tonight. A telegram from Manager Phillips of Indianapolis stated that the Hoosiers would arrive Wednesday night.

Falkenberg Non-Committal.
Falkenberg was non-committal today when asked what he would do if the Cleveland management met the terms of the Federals. He said that he was well satisfied with his treatment at the hands of the Federals and that he felt that the outlook for the new league was very promising. Falkenberg is to receive $7,000 from the Indianapolis management, this being about double the amount paid him by Cleveland.

The effort to induce Falkenberg to leave such an effort is being made, amounts to a declaration of war on the part of the American League. Falkenberg is under contract with the Federals and could not go back to the Naps without jumping his contract. The Federals have not sought to induce any American or National player to sign with them who was under contract with any team and both sides have respected contract rights so far. That they may not continue to do so is indicated by the effort to induce Falkenberg.

Ready at the Lake.
It was learned today that a number of the Kansas City players had left for yesterday and they are due in Wichita Falls tonight. Manager S. Clair stated today that everything was in readiness for the Packers at the lake, he having completed all the arrangements. The City Park will be ready for the Indianapolis players when they arrive. Mail and express packages for members of both teams have been arriving for several days.

The Indianapolis players will have rooms at the Heera Hotel, Trainer Huber having completed arrangements to this end. The players will eat their meals downtown. The four Indianapolis players here enjoyed a brisk work-out this morning, the weather being almost ideal. They will go out again this afternoon.

SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION URGED FOR 3 DISTRICTS

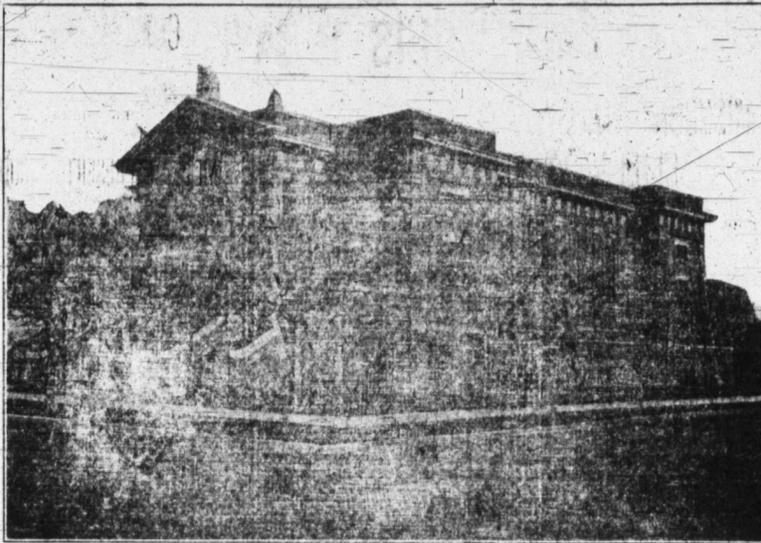

County School Board Hears Plea For Uniting Frisberg, Cashion and Cooper Schools

From Tuesday's Daily
Plans for the consolidation of the district schools at Frisberg, Cashion and Cooper were discussed at a meeting of the county school board held in the office of County Superintendent R. M. Johnson. No final action was taken but it is probable that the consolidation will be effected. The three schools affected are one and two room buildings and it is planned to erect a substantial structure at the center of the consolidated district. The board also arranged for about thirty transfers for the benefit of high school pupils from the rural districts. Under the law where a student from a rural district is enrolled in a high school the funds necessary for his tuition may be transferred to the district in which the school is located.

Beautiful New Building Filled to Capacity at the Opening Service

From Monday's Daily

In the presence of a throng that filled the church to the limits of its capacity the new building of the First Presbyterian congregation was opened Sunday morning. Although the normal seating capacity of the auditorium is about 500 it was estimated that fully 1100 were in attendance. The congregation of the M. E. Church, South, with which the Presbyterians have worshipped while their new church was being built, took part in the services and the Methodist choir furnished the music for the occasion. The musical program was one of exceptional beauty; Mrs. O. E. Maer presided at the organ and an orchestra which included Messrs. Tompkins and Walsh and Mrs. Clara B. Greenwood added to the occasion. A very pleasing solo by Mrs. G. Fred Thompson was also a feature.

There were two addresses, one by the pastor, Dr. J. L. McKee and the other by Dr. J. W. Hill, pastor of the M. E. Church, South. In his address, Dr. McKee said that the occasion was a dedication, not only of a building, but he hoped of the congregation as well. He spoke of the opportunity for Christian service in this city and of the work that was before the church in the coming year, pledging himself to do all in his power to fulfill the mission that he saw before him. Dr. Hill spoke at length along the lines of an organic union of the church, talking occasion also extended felicitations to the Presbyterian congregation upon the completion of the new home. He said that the new church had been a dream of the pastors for many years and he rejoiced that it had been realized. Dr. McKee had endeavored himself to the Methodist during the joint inauguration, and he was anxious that the Presbyterian congregation desired to keep him as long as he lived.

The speaker reviewed some chapters of church history, briefly, telling of the action and differences of opinion that led to the founding of each present day denomination. He told how the effort was already becoming a reality in the mission work in foreign fields. He congratulated the congregation and the pastor upon the consummation of their long-aided desire in the completion of the new building and stated that the new home of service might also be realized.

HE WAS ONLY TRYING TO SHOOT OUT THE LIGHTS

Celebration Caused Officers to Believe Fire Had Broken Out Across Tracks

From Monday's Daily
The Sunday night quietude of the city was disturbed last evening by the bang bang of fire arms, the report coming from the district across the tracks. Sheriff Petre Randolph, Deputy Constable Melton and Officer Jernigan responded, but found the disturbance very ridiculous in the nature of the disturbance. They proceeded to arrest six women and one man, all of whom pleaded guilty in Justice Howard's court this morning to charges of vagrancy. Each was fined $10. As far as could be learned the principal offender was not shooting at anybody, but merely trying to "shoot out the lights."

Sheriff Randolph also arrested a negro who was charged with beating two negro women and with carrying a pistol. The man was fined in justice court this morning.

Some People Have Funny Notions About Purpose of Charity Work of Army

From Monday's Daily

A plea for financial assistance, coming from the apparently worthy source of a man with a wife and several children, was made to Captain Robb of the Salvation Army recently. Seemingly to it that the immediate (parent) needs of the family were supplied, the captain proceeded to investigate the man and soon learned that the result of his heavy medical bill was that he was unable to pay for his medical expenses. The man did not deny it, but seemed to think it was entirely all right to work for the Army if he could.

In another case which the Army corps recently investigated, it was found that a woman to whom aid had been given for the reason that she was suffering from an over-dose of opium, had been freed from debt. In a third case, a Texas county, also several times had come from epidemic. The board did not deny it, but seemed to think it was entirely all right to work for the Army if he could.

From Tuesday's Daily
On Monday, March 16th the Wichita State Bank will inaugurate a novel savings plan which will be known as the Christmas Savings Club. The purpose is to provide the members with funds for their Christmas shopping. The idea developed when the originator was paying the Christmas bills and trying at the same time to keep enough ahead to pay taxes or whether it was born in the stress of Christmas shopping or the failure to shop on account of lack of funds, it seems to be a good one.

The plan is for weekly deposits of small amounts at the bank until November 30 when the bank will mail to the depositor a check for the sum of all deposits together with three per cent interest. These deposits may be made at the rate of $1 dollar a week or may start at one, two or five cents weekly and be increased each week by the amount of the initial deposit or may start with the amount that the last deposit on the ascending plan would be and decrease each week until the last payment would be initial deposit at the other plan.

MANY DIE IN FIRE AT SAINT LOUIS TODAY

MISSOURI ATHLETIC CLUB IS SCENE

FIRE BROKE OUT ON THIRD FLOOR—GUESTS ON UPPER FLOORS TRAPPED

NUMBER IS STILL UNKNOWN

Six Bodies Already Recovered and Twenty-Four are Still Unaccounted For

By Associated Press. St. Louis, Mo., March 9.—Six persons were known to be dead and their bodies have been recovered and twenty-four were missing today as the result of the fire at the Missouri Athletic Club building today.

These figures were given in a statement issued by a committee of the club which sought a record of every man known to have been registered at the club house last night. Of the twenty-four missing hope has been practically abandoned. Three dead are unidentified. The property loss was more than $350,000.

STILL BURNING AT NOON

The fire which broke out about two o'clock this morning was still burning at noon and fire chief Swinley said it would be unsafe to send anyone into the ruins to search for the missing until tonight or tomorrow. The building was owned by the Boatmen's Bank which occupied part of the first floor. The bank opened in temporary quarters this morning in a building four blocks from the burning building.

BIG SUM IN THE RUINS

In the ruins of the burned building, bank officials said were $1,349,000 in currency and $27,000 in coin.

Uncertainty as to the number of men in the building made it difficult to determine the number of missing. Jack Reisinger, night clerk at the club said forty-five members had rooms at the club and that the registration of guests brought the total number for the night to seventy-five. Some of the missing guests however may not have been in their rooms when the fire broke out.

The fire was believed to have started on the third floor on which the dining room was located. On this floor one man was found dead. Two others of the known dead jumped from the fourth floor.

Started in Dining Room. The fire is believed to have started in the third floor dining room, although the police are investigating a report that it was caused by an attempt of robbers to blow a safe on the fourth floor.

PRESIDENT URGES REPEAL OF TOLL EXEMPTION CLAUSE

Again Delivers Message In Person Before Joint Session Of Two Houses Of Congress

By Associated Press. Washington, March 5.—President Wilson personally appealed to Congress assembled in joint session today to sustain the National honor of the United States by repealing the Panama toll exemption clause against which Great Britain has protested.

He asked Congress to do that "in support of the foreign policy of the United States," and added that an exemption for American ships is not only "a mistaken economic policy" but was contrary to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

"I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater importance and delicacy and consequences if you do not grant it to me in unbreakable measure," said the President. "The right thing to do is the only thing we can afford to do—a voluntary withdrawal from a position everywhere questioned and misunderstood. We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong and so once more deserve our reputation for generosity and the redemption of every obligation without quibble or hesitation."

Administration leaders in Congress said after hearing the reading of the message that they were confident the President's wishes would be carried out. The message was the shortest the President has yet delivered to Congress, containing exactly 420 words.

The House chamber and galleries were packed to hear the President read his address. The French and German ambassadors and many other members of the diplomatic corps were in attendance. No official of the British embassy was present, however.

President Wilson reached the capitol ten minutes before the time appointed for his address, and waited in Speaker Clark's room until 12:30 when he was escorted into the chamber and promptly began reading his brief address. Its delivery required less than five minutes and the address was so brief that the President was through and had gone almost before many had realized it.

Within ten minutes after the President had finished reading

WICHITA SPEAKERS CONTEST WINNERS

HIGH SCHOOL REPRESENTATIVES VICTORS IN COUNTY CONTEST HERE

WILL REPRESENT COUNTY

Low Park School Was Only Other Represented in Contest Saturday Night

From The Sunday Times. Representatives of the Wichita Falls high school were winners in the county declamation and debating contest at the high school auditorium Saturday night and will represent the county in a district contest, arrangements for which are now being made. The winners in the district contest will represent the district at a state contest to be held at Austin later.

Low Park was the only other school in the county represented in the contest Saturday night. There were three numbers in the contest being junior and senior declamation contests and a debate. Representatives of the Wichita Falls high school were victors in all three.

The question for the debate was: "Resolved, That at the next regular session of the Texas legislature there should be passed a compulsory education law requiring all children between the ages of seven and fourteen not mentally or physically incompetent to attend either a public or a private school not less than six months during each scholastic year."

DECISIVE MAJORITY FOR POOL HALLS AT ELECTRA

By a decisive majority the citizens of the Electra precinct voted to retain pool halls in that precinct, as a result of Saturday's election. The vote was 70 for the retention of pool halls, 219 against.

There are only two voting boxes in the precinct. The Beaver Creek box voted solid for the pool halls. At Electra the vote was 209 for the pool halls and 75 against.

This was the first pool hall election held in Wichita county and the large majority given for the continuation of such halls by the Electra people probably will be a deterrent to similar election in other precincts in the county for some time to come.

GAS COMPANIES COMMON CARRIERS

OKLAHOMA JUDGE ISSUES WRIT OF MANDAMUS TO ENFORCE CARR BILL

PRODUCERS EQUAL MARKET

Gas Companies Ordered to Purchase and Carry Gas of All Producers

By Associated Press. Oklahoma City, March 7.—The writ of mandamus requested by the State to compel all gas companies operating in Oklahoma to become common carriers and carriers of gas from the immediate territory in which the gas pipe line operates, was granted today by District Judge George Clark in granting the writ against the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company. Judge Clark said that he entertained considerable doubt as to the writ being the proper legal procedure to compel the companies to obey the common carrier law of Oklahoma as the Carr bill, but he said he granted the writ because the federal courts had evinced desire to suspend hearings of similar cases pending the final adjudication of the law in the state courts.

Attorneys for the gas company will ask for a new hearing upon the writ.

DIAMONDS ON GARTERS IS THIS MAN'S STUNT

New York, March 9.—Diamond-studded garters, suspenders, buckles that dazzled the eyes, a shirt bonnet that would have made Diamond Jim Brady's starched front look tame—these were some of the luxuries indulged in by Augustus R. Hall, whom fellow speculators on Wall Street dubbed Sparkling Gus, according to Mrs. Anna L. Hall, who for sixteen years lived with Hall as his wife. She so told Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum. Mrs. Hall is seeking to uphold a common law marriage to Hall and compel him to support her.

She also said Hall had given her thousands of dollars' worth of diamonds for her own use, but most of the gems had been sold or pawned.

DEDICATION FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

THREE SERVICES WILL BE HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEDICATION TODAY

WILL REPRESENT COUNTY

Building Cost More Than $40,000 and Will Be Dedicated Free From Debt

From The Sunday Times. The dedication of the new First Christian Church recently completed at the corner of Travis and Tenth streets, will take place this morning, beginning at 10:40 o'clock. There will be three services at this church today—the dedicatory service this morning, the fellowship service this afternoon at 3 o'clock and the evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

The new church, a picture of which appears above, has already been described in detail in the columns of The Times. It is considered one of the most up to date structures of its kind in the State, being built for service. The arrangement of the rooms for use by the Sunday school and the general design of the building are along the very latest approved lines.

The building cost in excess of $40,000 and its dedication this morning finds it without a dollar of indebtedness of any kind. It has a magnificent organ and every feature that goes to make an ideal church building. Its pastor, Rev. Frank E. Walters, has been in this city less than two years, the church having been planned and completed since he assumed his duties. The church was completed several weeks ago but it was decided not to dedicate it until the entire debt was lifted. The program for today's services follows:

Morning Service. Organ Prelude—H. E. Strange, regular church organist. Doxology, audience standing. Invocational Prayer—Rev. J. E. Coe, pastor First Methodist Church. Anthem: "Send Out the Light" Hymn No. 325, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord."

Work to Start Soon On Remodeling of Bank's Home—Progress On Other Structures

By Associated Press. Although building activity here is not nearly as great as during much of last year, new business structures continue to give the usual busy look to the downtown section. The walls of the new Pennington building on Indiana between Eighth and Ninth, are up and from present indications this will be ready before very long; it promises to be one of the most attractive business houses on the street.

Another Indiana avenue improvement is the Bacon-Lord-Henderson building, three stories in height at the corner of Tenth and Indiana. This will be occupied by the North Texas Furniture Company when completed.

Work will be started this week on the remodeling of the Ward building at Eighth and Ohio, to be occupied by the National Bank of Commerce. The front and north side of the building will be changed and its appearance materially altered.

N. Henderson is erecting two buildings on Seventh street and is also adding a second story to one of his one-story structures. Work on the building at Seventh and Scott has been temporarily halted, but will be resumed at an early date it is said.

From The Sunday Times. Friends of Ed Morgan last night gave a banquet in his honor at the Westland at which more than thirty were seated. The occasion was a farewell to Mr. Morgan who leaves soon for a new field of work in China for the Standard Oil Co. and though the friends were loth to see him go they were proud to know that he had received the responsible position to which he is going and all joined in wishing him a safe journey and a most successful venture.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OPENING

FIRST SERVICES IN NEW FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ARE TO BE HELD TODAY

IS A BEAUTIFUL STRUCTURE

Churches in Other Parts of Country Look To Building as a Model To Copy

From The Sunday Times. Today promises to be memorable in local church annals, witnessing the dedication of one church and the formal opening of another. The first in the new First Presbyterian Church at the corner of Tenth and Bluff streets and the opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. W. Hill, pastor of the M. E. Church, South.

The requirements of both beauty and service were filled in the erection of this church, which costs about $49,000. So good a model has it been found that churches in other parts of the country including one in Kansas City have asked for copies of the plans with a view to following the local design. In outward appearance the structure has little in common with most churches of today, the absence of both spire and dome being noticeable. It stands well above the level of the street, being reached by broad stairways on each side.

In this church the needs of both the Sunday school and the church proper were carefully met. The Sunday school services are held in the basement, which is considerably wider than the upper auditorium, with an ingenious lighting arrangement. Separate rooms are provided for all of the classes and there is an ample Sunday school auditorium.

The main auditorium has a seating capacity of about 300, while there is a gallery which will accommodate a number additional. The walls are finished in a delicate shade of bronze and the whole interior is lighted and tones result to the eye. The massive pipe organ, said to be one of the finest instruments of its kind in the State, looms behind the pulpit. The electric lighting arrangement is worthy of special mention, although there is not the slightest glare and the eye does not meet the light itself at any point. This is through the use of the latest idea in the lighting of public buildings, the light being reflected from the ceiling. There are large containers suspended from the ceiling and in the interior are the shades of the cream colored finish serves as a reflector from the ceiling.

Work on the church was started nearly a year ago and it was first opened for Sunday school purposes only in February.

Five years ago the Baptist Church was the only one in the city occupying a brick building. Since that time the First M. E. Church, the M. E. Church, South, the Central Presbyterian Church, the First Christian Church and the First Presbyterian Church have, in the order named, completed commodious and handsome brick buildings, costing from $20,000 to $40,000. The Baptist congregation is now planning to erect a new building and the Catholics are preparing for the erection of a cathedral to cost $50,000.

The congregation of the M. E. Church, South, will join with the Presbyterians today in the opening of the church. When the Presbyterians vacated their old building at Tenth and Travis last spring, the Methodist congregation offered the use of their house of worship and joint services have been held since that time. Dr. McKee and Dr. Hill alternating in the pulpit.

Dr. James L. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, has been in Wichita Falls about five years, being the dean of the local ministers. The program for today's services follows:

Morning Service. Prelude. Doxology. Apostles Creed. Invocation. Hymn No. 157. Responsive reading. Solo—Mrs. G. Fred Thompson. Offertory. Address—Dr. J. L. McKee. Address—Dr. J. W. Hill. Prayer. Hymn No. 300. Benediction. Postlude.

Organ Prelude. Organist—Mrs. O. E. Maer. Orchestra—Messrs. Templeton, Wilson and Aranson. Organ Prelude. Hymn No. 689. Prayer. Responsive reading. Quartette. Scripture lesson. Offertory. Hymn No. 560. Sermon. Paraphrase. Benediction. Organ Postlude.

THIRD ARTICLE MEXICAN REVIEW

HUERTA'S DICTATORSHIP DEVELOPS INTO VERITABLE REIGN OF TERROR

DEPUTIES ARE ARRESTED

Victory After Victory Adds To Strength of Rebels in Northern Mexico

Vera Cruz, March 11.—With the two Maderos and Suarez murdered and countless others who opposed him mysteriously missing Huerta's dictatorship developed into a veritable reign of terror. Huerta's only hope of holding his blood bought power was to shed more blood. The house of deputies, not realizing to what lengths the new president would dare to go, began to protest against Huerta's methods. One evening at 6 o'clock a cordon of soldiers surrounded the house of deputies, while other soldiers entered and arrested 100 of the leading statesmen of Mexico. They were herded to jail like common prisoners and they were hardly looked up in their cells before Huerta declared himself dictator of the country. He called an election. It was held. A new house of deputies was chosen, every man of whom was Huerta's servant. At a previous make believe election, Huerta had been chosen president, but the votes were so few and so obviously controlled that even Huerta didn't dare to call himself elected. And so with infinite craft, he ordered his new house of deputies to declare that the election was void and that another election be held on the fifth of July, 1914 and that in the meantime Huerta be considered provisional president. This congress also voted to Huerta dictatorial powers and then adjourned, leaving him in sole possession of the government. In a situation that made his word and order as strong as any laws that both houses might pass. In the meantime rebels victories multiplied; shortly every northern state was in rebel hands. Francisco Villa who had been one of Madero's generals, took the field with Carranza. It is true that Pascual Orozco went to Huerta's side but a bright prospect and defeat met him at every turn. How to get money and how to raise an army were Huerta's problems. He set about to do these things, but every dollar he raised by taxation only gave him a new enemy and every person whom he forced into the army only made him another soldier on whom he could not depend. By the seventh month of his rule he had built up a large army and had W. E. Miller returned this morning from a business trip to Dallas and Fort Worth. W. L. Singleton came over this morning from Archer City, returning this afternoon. Frazier Bell returned yesterday from a visit with relatives in Sherman and Denison. George Davis returned last night from a few days business trip to points in the East. John Christman returned to his home in Hillsboro yesterday after several days in the city. Ed Morgan returned from Dallas today where he went to see his daughter before leaving for China. Ed Stewart returned yesterday from Burk Burnett where he had been transacting business in the oil fields. Mrs. Dena Hunter has resigned her position at the P. M. B. Co. and has taken a place in the Gilhouse fashion store. W. A. McSpadden, a real estate man of Amarillo is here today looking over the oil field and meeting a lot of friends. J. O. Apple of Paris, a popular Texas Midland conductor, is in the city the guest of his brother, Sam Apple and family. EVELYN THAW DRESSES WITH-UTMOST SIMPLICITY. Although her photograph has probably been printed in the newspapers more times than any other living woman's, although her portrait smiles down from billboards, and out from store windows Evelyn Nesbit Thaw can walk the streets of any city where she chances to be playing absolutely sure that she will not be recognized by the thousands that pass her. In her utter simplicity and lack of ostentation lies her safety. The public, hearing so much about the famous Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, expect to see a by a retinue of servants. While they are expecting such a person, they fail to notice the slight, modestly clad young woman who strolls quietly, strikingly dressed woman ablaze with jewels and covered with furs, dash by in some big automobile or enter a store under a canopy and followed through the crowds busily engaged in finding her own business with no more ostentation than a shop girl; who makes her purchases, receives her change with a smile and walks quietly out. That person may be Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. After every performance in the theatre hundreds of persons crowd around the stage door eager to see the most talked of woman in the world. While they are waiting for the jewels, the automobile and the furs and have perhaps centered their attention for the moment on some gaily dressed chorus girl, Mrs. Thaw can walk out, through the gaping throng safe in the knowledge that probably not more than one of the number will recognize her. It is one of the little addresses' favorite pastimes to hurry into her street costume at the fall of the final curtain, hasten around to the theatre's main entrance and walk in through the outgoing crowd to hear what they have to say about her.

32 SENATORS MUST GO BEFORE PEOPLE

TERMS OF ONE-THIRD OF MEMBERS OF SENATE WILL EXPIRE IN ABOUT A YEAR

RETIREMENT FOR SEVERAL

Senator Root Has Announced His Retirement—Bradley of Kentucky Also May Not Run

Washington, March 11.—The terms of one-third of the members of the United States Senate will expire a little over a year hence. And thirty-two members will face the problem of getting back again—for with possibly one exception all of the senators would like to keep on with their legislative jobs—under the new direct elections law. All of which makes the political situation of considerable interest to the senatorial aspirants. Most of them are anxious to get out now and run for political offices. It will be a novel stunt for most of them in this campaigning among the people instead of pulling wire among members of the state legislatures. Elihu Root whose term expires March 4, 1915 positively doesn't want re-election. Root has announced his retirement from public life at that time. Senator Bradley of Kentucky is not expected to fight for his return. It is practically certain that his successor will be a Democrat. Other Republicans Slated To Go. Another Republican who is very apt to be succeeded by a Democrat is Burton of Ohio. A Republican who will have the fight of his life to "come back" is Bristol of Kansas. His nomination will be opposed by former Senator Curtis, a regular Republican, while Murdoch will oppose him in the regular general election. A Democratic senator who Frankly looks for re-election and struggle in the Chamberlain of Oregon, who will be opposed by former Senator Bourne, a Republican. A member of the Senate since the days of President Harrison in 1891, Gallinger of New Hampshire will have to make his first fight before the people next fall. New Hampshire's other senator, Hollis is a Democrat and will battle for the Progressive against the fall will be that of Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma. Completely exonerated of charges of the most serious character, Gore is expected to be re-elected. A spectacular "armakaddon" contest will be that in Pennsylvania, where Clifford Pinchot will battle for the Progressive against Boise Penrose, standpatter, while the Democratic colors will be carried by A. Mitchell Palmer, who will probably have the corial support of President Wilson. Many of the regular Republicans especially a few Progressives will join the ranks of the Progressives to beat Penrose, who they declare, dominates the party entirely too much to suit them. South Carolina Race. Another fight in which intense interest will center is that of Cole-Louisiana, where the contest will be between the Progressive and the Democrats. The Progressive will have no opposition in the general elections. Clarke of Arkansas, president pro tempore of the Senate, will have a hard fight with Judge W. F. Kirby of the state supreme court. Clarke is now mending fences back home, not having been in the Senate since the Christmas recess. Coe L. Crawford has also been mending fences back in South Dakota since Christmas. In his own party Charles H. Burke will probably oppose him while Edward S. Johnson will probably lead the Democrats in the general campaign. George Ade the humorist, is being brought forward to succeed Senator Shively, of Indiana. Albert J. Beveridge will contest with Ade—should Ade run for the Progressive nomination, Beveridge will be the Republican candidate for the Governor. W. T. Durbin, former mayor of Indianapolis, Charles Bookwiler and W. L. Taylor, Shively is unlikely to be opposed in the Democratic party as Taggart himself he will not run. Democratic voters in Alabama will have a chance to choose between representatives Holston and Underwood. This is to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Johnson for which the Senate recently refused to seat F. P. Glass. The appearance of one or more would occasion no surprise. The players refer to those who have jumped back as "yellow," from which an idea of their attitude may be obtained. The Indianapolis players will arrive at 11:15 tonight over the Katy and will be put up at the Hearst Hotel. They will head downtown to their first practice will likely take place tomorrow afternoon. McNeil said this morning that he hoped to have a game Sunday between the Packers and Hoosiers and this will doubtless be arranged. Spare automobile tire inner tubes will be safeguarded against hardening if immersed in hot water every month for six weeks.

ROMANCE OF A GIRL

Lady Cook, Once Tennessee Clair, a Magnetic Healer.

Had Vaulting Ambitions—With Her Sister She Rose to Wealth, Fame and a Title and Position in English Society.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Whenever Lady Cook talks publicly it is always about something startling. So, when, with eyes flashing and vigorous gestures, this widow of Sir Francis Cook, knighted by an English king for his benefactions, advocated before a Pittsburgh audience recently the branding of me physically unfit for marriage she was merely giving her hearers something for their money. Now about seventy years old, Lady Cook has put behind her a dozer careers that have included poverty, obscurity, notoriety, fame, social position, wealth and a title. Any one of them might have filled an ordinary life, but not so for the resourceful woman of almost three score years and ten, whose energy and activity be long to progressive young womanhood of today. Some sixty years or more ago Tennessee Claffin and her older sister Victoria, were children in an Ohio village, the Kansas City Star observes. Their father, was poor, their mother a spiritualist, and you would not have believed there was much of a chance for the ten shabby youngsters that swarmed in their little home. But shortly after they had reached their teens two of them—Tennessee, who was the youngest and prettiest of the lot, and Victoria, her older sister—became women of the world and independent wage earners. This they did by starting a magnetic clairvoyance establishment and exploiting Tennessee as the "child wonder." For many years dating from this time it was alleged that Tennessee had wonderful magnetic power. Perhaps she had. At any rate, the sisters were successful and acquired a large clientele. But they were looking beyond the restricted horizon that bounded the magnetic power business. They went to New York. Did they spend their time looking for somebody that wanted to hire them? They did not. Victoria and Tennessee, who is now calling herself Tennie C. Claffin, possibly because it saved less of humble origin, appeared in the brokerage business in Wall street. Within a month they were doing better than a good many men brokers in the street. It was the day of Jim Fiske, Jay Gould and Commodore Vanderbilt, and there was always some business they could put in the way of the clever sisters who had taken the plunge into the business world where women were then rare enough to be regarded as curiosities. Victoria at that time is described as fine looking, but a cold, commanding woman, while Tennie was a beauty, more nervous and high strung, yet with a sympathetic winning manner. The brokerage business did not hold them long. They had soon branched out in the publishing business and were getting out a weekly called Woodhill and Claffin's weekly. Victoria had meantime met and been married to a Dr. Channing Woodhill, her senior by a good many years. Their weekly didn't have much to say about spiritualism or magnetism at this time, but it did have a good many startling things to say about free love, equal suffrage, morality of a type somewhat advanced for that day, sociology, humanitarianism and kindred doctrines and theories. Victoria had flown in the face of public opinion by marrying Col. James Hood of Missouri without being formally divorced from her former husband, Dr. Woodhill. Public opinion was aroused against the Claffin sisters, the weekly was on its last legs, the brokerage business was petering out, damage suits confronted them. They were at the end of their rope in America. They sought the more congenial atmosphere of England and for a few weeks dropped out of public view as was America was concerned. But both were brilliant women and both were busy writing and lecturing in London, and gradually they won a following over there and resumed the publication of a weekly paper. Mrs. Victoria Woodhill-Hood was fortunately freed by the death of her two former husbands and she met and won a rich banker, John Biddulph Martin, with a fine home in Hyde Park. Money and social position were hers at last. The press of her younger, hand-some sister was ever more romantic and startling. Francis Clark, a millionaire silk merchant, heard her lecture, fell in love with her and married her. Through her wise direction of the placing of his personal charities and benefactions he was knighted and became Sir Francis Cook and Tennie became Lady Cook. Nobody Steals From His Cigar Stand. Vancouver, Wash.—A cigar stand where the smokers help themselves to the cigars and make their own change is operated in the basement of the bank building at Sixth and Main streets by Stanley Voorhees, elevator boy. In a large showcase he keeps cigars, cigarettes and tobacco for the occupants of the six-story bank building. The plan has been in operation for six months and works admirably. No one takes advantage of the boy, and his cash box at night always tallies correctly with the stock when checked. The world has pity and sympathy for natural defects; for acquired ones, deserve.

BOTHERSOME BUGS COSTING BIG SUM

GOVERNMENT APPROPRIATED $800,000 FOR FIGHT AGAINST THEM

BOLL WEEVIL IS WORST

Argentine Ant and Australian Potato Tuber Moth Are New Insect Enemies

Washington, March 11.—Bugs! Bugs that fly and bugs that burrow, bugs that bite and bugs that sting, big bugs and tiny bugs, lady bugs and bugs anything but lady like are going to cost the federal government $800,000 in real money during the fiscal year of 1915. That is the amount carried in the agricultural bill now that Congress is passing. E. O. Howard, chief of the bureau of entomology and Uncle Sam's champion bug hunter, has pointed out, however, that these insects will cost the country fully 100 times that amount in cotton destroyed, corn and wheat and other grain crops injured, the forest devastated, roof crops ruined and fields laid almost bare. It is to stop such ravages as these that the bureau is maintaining. That it saves many times its cost every year is easily demonstrated by statistics. The biggest bug from the standpoint of destructiveness, is the boll weevil which is slow but certainly retreating before the desperate attacks of government scientists. But the "sinews of war" provided by the appropriation bill are also wanted for campaigns against the gypsy moth that attacks tree foliage, the horn worm that destroys tobacco plants, the cane insect that lays low cane fields, the alfalfa weevil that attacks that crop, the chick bug that sucks the life from wheat and corn stalks, the codling moth that spoils tree fruits, the pine needle and the bark beetle. The latter insect is a serious menace to the national and private forests because it destroys millions of feet of standing timber. The cotton root spider also has been condemned as a public enemy, and two new menaces that have slipped past the timing of the appropriation are the Argentine ant which ruins growing tobacco and the Australian potato tuber moth. This latter pest lays its eggs in young potatoes with the result that when the farmer digs them he finds a large caterpillar inside each tuber eating sixteen meals a day. And finally there is a serious danger in the way of reducing the number of house flies and stable flies which carry diseases and are to be feared than crop failures. The House Fly Also. "We have undertaken an extensive study of the house fly," says Howard on this point. "In the small farm and village 90 per cent of the house flies are bred in stable refuse and we have been co-operating with the bureau of chemistry to find some substance that will kill the fly larvae and not the human family. The value of the refuse, we have found recently that there are one or two such substances which may be used at an economical rate; I think we are on the verge of a very practical discovery which will be of great value in the way of reducing the house fly pest." We have several lines of work now going on in regard to the effect of insects upon the health of man and animals. We wish in the first place to complete the records of longevity of the cattle ticks. Then, as to stable flies, the laboratory has shown to be instrumental in the carriage of infantile paralysis. We also expect to undertake a series of malarial fever studies and the biologies of malarial mosquitoes, in order to provide remedies for the requirements of plantations, especially in the Mississippi delta where malaria is so rife, the idea being to find out what species of mosquito carry malaria in those districts, exactly how they breed, what can be done in the way of protecting people from their bites and what can be done to destroy the mosquitoes in their breeding places. War On the Boll Weevil. The boll weevil which is capable of extending flights, is much more difficult to deal with. Much has been done to control it by burning cotton stalks after the crop has been picked and by introducing parasites. E. D. Hunter, in charge of southern field crop insect investigations for the bureau says that records extending back 50 years in some instances show that the boll weevil never voluntarily leaves a territory if once infested. CHARLES F. MURPHY OUSTED FROM TAMMANY HALL. New York, March 11.—Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader; James E. Gaffney, his political and business associate; Thomas Darlington, former Health Commissioner, and George W. Plunkitt, former State Senator, were declared not members of the Democratic Club. They were read out of the club by the board of governors for non-payment of dues. Edward F. O'Dwyer, president of the club, presided at the meeting. Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, offered a check covering the amount of the dues, but it was refused. Oil and Gas Leases Must Be Taxed. Oklahoma City, March 11.—Oil and gas leases in Oklahoma were from $200,000,000 to $500,000,000 were rendered subject to assessment and taxation by the decision of the state supreme court Tuesday upholding the state board of equalization's valuation of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company's property rights for the year 1911.

COLD PUT CRIMP IN PRACTICE PLANS

PACKERS AND HOOSIERS TAKING LIFE EASY ABOUT HOTEL CORRIDORS

PLEASED WITH THEIR QUARTERS

"Finest Training Camp I Ever Saw," Says Secretary Nelly of the Packers

The cold weather which the Kansas City Federals brought with them when they came yesterday afternoon to a crimp in baseball practice today and both the Packers and the Hoosiers took life easy around their respective hotels. When the Kansas Cityans arrived yesterday the weather was warm and pleasant but with their arrival a norther had arrived. The Indianapolis players did not arrive last night as expected but will get here tonight on the Katy, according to telegraphic advices from the club management. They had planned to leave Monday but did not get away until yesterday. Several more Kansas City players are expected here within the next few days. Hoyte, a pitching recruit from Ohio; Derringer, an infielder, who lives at Indianapolis and who will accompany the Indianapolis team; Geo. Perling, third baseman now in Mississippi; Drummond Brown, catcher, delayed by an operation upon his child; and Catcher Brumel of Dental College, Kansas City, are among those who are due to join the bunch here within a short time. Pleased With Quarters. "Finest training camp I ever saw," was the way Secretary Harry Nelly of the Packers expressed himself about the training quarters at Lake Wichita. Manager St. Clair had everything in readiness yesterday and tried to it that the men lacked nothing. Mr. Nelly was notified today that George Stovall would leave Florida tonight which should bring him to Wichita Falls Friday or Saturday. Nothing has yet been seen of the mysterious Cleveland scout who was coming to try to win Palkenberg back to the American League and it is evident that the visitor is laying low if he is in town. The players say they expected that the American and National Leagues would have scouts here during the training sea-

COLQUITT BITTERLY ASSAILS ADMINISTRATION— REPORTS ON THE VERGARA INCIDENT

SHEPPARD CRITIC COLQUITT'S ACTS

DECLARES TEXAS NOT IN SYMPATHY WITH HIS STAND REGARDING MEXICO

HE BELIEVES IN PRESIDENT

Special to the Times

Washington, March 10.—Senator Sheppard in a speech in the Senate yesterday repudiated the actions and the attitude of Governor Colquitt in connection with the Mexican situation. He said:

"I have refrained from discussing the Mexican question heretofore on the floor of the Senate because I have felt and feel today, as I believe the American people have felt and feel today, that the president and secretary of state have handled, are handling and will continue to handle this delicate and difficult problem in the best possible manner. Every day that passes without intervention and without war is additional tribute to the ability with which they have handled this matter."

"What would the critics of the administration have done had they been in control? Would they long ago have plunged the country into war? Could they have pursued any other course than that pursued by the administration without involving the country in war?"

Declares National Honor Preserved

"A publication by the state department of the numerous appeals that have come to this country from Americans and others who claim to have been injured or to have been threatened with injury in Mexico will show that the department has rendered all possible assistance short of the declaration of actual war and the publication will show that the national honor has been preserved."

"In a number of instances I have transmitted to the department complaints of American citizens in Mexico and in every instance the state department has responded promptly and effectively. I wish to file the Senate one instance which is somewhat different from the instances cited by the senator from New Mexico."

"A constituent of mine in El Paso went to Juarez, across the river, one day and immediately disappeared. His friends and relatives were in a panic. They sent me telegrams after telegram urging me to have the state department inquire as to what had become of this American citizen. They feared that he had been shot by the rebels."

"The machinery of the state department was set in motion and it turned out that while he had not been entirely shot, he had been half shot with whiskey, had been imprisoned in a lockup in Juarez and was later released on the deposit of the necessary collateral."

"The logic employed by the critics of the administration is peculiar. They say that they want bloodshed stopped, that they want outrages stopped and yet any other practical course than the course pursued by the administration would mean intervention. Intervention would mean war; war would mean more bloodshed and shed infinitely more outrages and infinitely more mutilations."

"They say that they want to stop murder in Texas and yet intervention which they say is inevitable, would mean death to thousands of American citizens, the expenditure of millions of American dollars, the creation of enormous war debts and war debts and complications that would vex us for fifty years to come. They want to substitute for a condition which they now call bloody and distressing a condition infinitely more distressing. Bad as present conditions may be, war would be infinitely worse."

Not in Sympathy with Governor. "I think I know something of the feelings of the people of Texas on this subject, and I think it after the Senate and the country to say that the people of Texas are almost unanimously in sympathy with Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan in the course they have pursued as to Mexico. They are not in sympathy with the governor of Texas on this question. They deplore his attitude, and they deplore the position he has assumed as to the advisability of entering Mexico with Rangers of Texas. I have been relieved to hear that an armed force of Texas did not cross the border and did not enter Mexican soil to recover the body of Vergara."

Mr. President, if the American people will continue to lend their support and sympathy to Wilson and Bryan, they will guide us through Mexican affairs without war, without intervention, without imperiling a single American principle, without reflecting on the honor of the nation or the glory of the flag."

Mr. President, I pray and I know the American people pray, that the hardness of adventure war will not be chosen by hostile politicians, may not drive this country into war."

An opinion formed by a woman is inflexible; the fact is not half so stubborn.

ANOTHER OUTBURST FROM COLQUITT

ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION AND SEN. SHEPPARD BEFORE CATTLE RAISERS

MAKES PASSIONATE SPEECH

By Associated Press

Fort Worth, Texas, March 10.—Speaking in the Texas Cattle Raisers' Convention this morning Governor Colquitt repudiated Senator Sheppard's attack on his Mexican policy and indicated that he would run for the United States Senate in opposition to Sheppard. A motion in the convention to endorse Gov. Colquitt's actions and policy provoked heated discussion. Finally it was ruled out of order.

In a passionate defense of "the right of Texas to protect the lives and property of its citizens," Gov. Colquitt made a number of startling statements and declarations. Among them were:

The declaration that he was afraid to turn himself loose for fear that he would not stop until he went to Washington and changed the policy of the government there in defiance of "any authority on the face of the earth" to take from the governor of Texas the right to defend its citizens from wrong."

The declaration that during the illness of Senator Culbertson "Texas is without representation in the Senate of the United States."

A challenge to Senator Sheppard to resign from the United States Senate while he, Colquitt, resigns his place as governor and go before the people of Texas as opposing candidates to see whose views will be sustained by the voters of the State.

A declaration that he had formed the policy of opening negotiations directly with the Mexican authorities for the righting of wrongs against Texas citizens.

An appeal to the Cattlemen's Association to endorse Colquitt's talk as marked by applause, but when after he had finished J. N. Bassett proposed a resolution, agreeing with it, Colquitt in his actions and his denunciation of Texas citizens, Ed. C. Lister of Palfurrias, Texas, former president of the Cattle Raisers' Association rose in opposition.

"I feel that Mr. Colquitt has presumed on the courtesy extended to him by this convention to make the statement he has," said Mr. Lister. "He has attempted to get a condemnation of the National government from his association. Not one man here is competent to pass on the question involved, for this nation has come to be a world power and the problems are more than local. From time immemorial the policy of this convention has been to keep out of politics and I hope the man who introduced his resolution will withdraw it."

Col. J. T. Pryor of San Antonio, requested that both the resolution and his speech opposing it be ruled out of order which was done by President Jackson.

WICHITA COUNTY WILL EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR

Announcement of Prizes and Premiums For County Exhibitors Expected Soon

Plans are being made for an unusually comprehensive farm exhibit from this county to be exhibited at the fairs at Dallas and elsewhere next fall and it is likely that an announcement of prizes and premiums will be made within the next few weeks. It is believed that by announcing the prizes this early interest can be stimulated and the farmers induced to save the best specimens of their crops for the exhibit. It is probable that the first Monday in September will be selected as the day for the county exhibit and as a one day race meet is to be held here then a gala occasion is in prospect. Last year the gathering of the exhibit did not start until late in the year and it is thought that by making an early start a much better showing can be made this year.

BODY RECOVERED BY RELATIVES

VERGARA'S KINSMEN AND HIRED MEXICANS BROUGHT CORPSE ACROSS

GENERAL BLISS REPORTS

By Associated Press

Washington, March 10.—Secretary Garrison received today from Brigadier General Bliss, commanding the American border forces the following report on the Vergara case by Capt. H. T. Howard of the Fourteenth United States Infantry:

Investigation shows Vergara's body was taken from the Hidalgo cemetery Saturday by relatives of Vergara and hired Mexicans. Capt. Sanders states positively no Texas Rangers crossed the border. He met the body at a landing opposite San Agnacio with Undertaker Condey Sunday morning and brought the body to Laredo at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. He states there were no signs of burns on the body. Found four bullet wounds—neck stretched but not broken. Body decomposed and without coat which Vergara had left at home when he was called to the island. Identification seems reliable. Recovery of body said to have cost S. T. Hill, brother-in-law of Vergara, $400. Body being held at request of Adjutant General Hutchins."

Secretary Bryan upon entering the meeting of the cabinet today said American Consul Garrett had reported relatives of Clemente Vergara had recovered his body on Sunday and that Texas Rangers had not crossed the border. That Consul Garrett said he had been notified that if he would go to a place on the American side of the Rio Grande across from Hidalgo, Mexico he would find the body. He was notified by Capt. Sanders of the Texas Rangers and the body was delivered by friends of Vergara. Mr. Garrett added that he was sending a full report by mail.

Mr. Bryan said no representations had been made to the Huerta government.

HUNDREDS VISITED AT DUNDEE LAST SATURDAY

Excursion to Witness Starting of Oil Wells Patronized by a Large Crowd

By Associated Press

Dundee, Texas, March 10.—The excursion to Dundee Saturday, March 7th to witness the beginning of the deep wells for oil near the town was a grand success, hundreds of people from all over the country were assembled at an early hour. Autos from Wichita, Archer City and Seymour brought them in in droves. The country people were in buggies, carriages and wagons by the hundreds. The combination of the ladies from the various churches combined to prepare the dinner for the immense crowd and the profuse compliments that came from every one were sufficient to justify them in their labors for the magnificent repast. The beautiful young ladies who served at the table wore the Napoleon caps that would have made the little general stand up and take notice and even Villard would have bowed to their gracious manner. The town was decorated with bunting. Uncle Sam's red, white and blue flags. In addition to this the stores were all decorated with the bunting of different colors. And everyone seemed highly pleased and passed the day in the most enjoyable manner. Sam Bellah, town deatur, one of the old settlers of the town made a magnificent address in behalf of the country and town and received a hearty applause from his old neighbors. He urged the cooperation of the farmers along the line of stock raising and suggested a campaign for Dundee and urged the raising of greater quantities of all kinds of poultry in the country. He also predicted Dundee would be the next oil field. A board of trade was organized to be known as the Commercial Club and Mr. Bellah was selected as president. Staff G. Helm, town deatur, and Walter Bellah to be corresponding secretary. The crowd was dispersed at about 5 o'clock in the afternoon with a hearty good cheer for Dundee and success for all the wells going down.

ADMINISTRATION'S VIEW OF INCIDENT

NO CONFLICT BETWEEN STATE AND FEDERAL GOVERNMENTS IS PROBABLE

CONSUL GARRETT'S REPORT

By Associated Press

Washington, March 10.—No conflict will arise between the federal government and the State of Texas over the recovery of the body of Clemente Vergara. Further steps demanding submission of Vergara's slayers will be taken. That was the status after the cabinet meeting this morning.

The officially accepted view was that Vergara was lured across the border and murdered and that his body was subsequently recovered by his friends who crossed the border as private individuals and not as armed invaders. After today's cabinet meeting Secretary Bryan gave the following paraphrase of Consul Garrett's report:

"Consul Garrett went with Captain Sanders of the Texas Rangers and deputy sheriff to Palafox for the purpose of further investigating the Vergara case. They went to a ranch and examined witnesses and saw Vergara's horses which were stolen. They also examined witnesses who had seen Vergara cross the border. These investigations occupied them up until late in the day. They then went to Coleman's camp where they ate supper and concluded to remain for the night. At about 1 a. m. one of Vergara's bodies was notified that Vergara's body had been brought across the river. Consul Garrett aroused the chaffeur and they drove five or six miles to a point on the river. Mr. Garrett there found the body with a number of relatives of Vergara who had also been notified by American side but had been no help in bringing the body to the American side but had been notified to be on hand to receive it."

REPORT ON CONDITIONS W. VA. MINE DISTRICTS

By Associated Press

Washington, March 10.—The report of the Senate subcommittee on the West Virginia coal strike, was filed today by Senator Swanson of Virginia, chairman. His report, while characterizing conditions in the district as "most deplorable" explained that the resolution authorizing the investigation conferred no powers to recommend remedial legislation.

The report was a general review of reports on the Paint Creek and the Cabin Creek fields. Blame for the conditions there is ascribed to the following:

The failure of the operators in the Paint Creek district to renew their expiring contracts with the Mine Workers union; the determination of the coal operators under no circumstances to recognize the union and the equal determination of the miners to organize; the employment of mine guards by the operators; discontent among the miners because they are given no opportunity to purchase their own coal; the fact that these homes are in the postoffice and the roads to the postoffice and the company stores are private roads on the company grounds; and the disposition of the miners to resent the strict espionage maintained over their movements by the companies.

ELECTIONS WILL INVOLVE SALOONS OUTSIDE CITY

Local Option Election Called in Commissioners' Precincts Nos. 2, 3 and 4

From Tuesday's Daily. Prohibition clerics which, if carried by the pro faction will knock out all saloons save those in Wichita Falls, was ordered for April 4 this afternoon by the county commissioners, upon presentation of the petition required by law. The territory covered by the election includes commissioners' precincts 2, 3 and 4.

There are at present two saloons in the county outside of Wichita Falls, they being located in a sort of Cherokee strip west of Burkburnett. Since the oil field was opened up in that section they have been doing a thriving business. All the rest of the county has been dry for many years and efforts to vote parts of it back into the wet column have failed.

The election was ordered for April 4 the same date as the school term elections will be held throughout the county including Wichita Falls.

FALL OATS BEING PLOWED UP—KILLED BY FREEZES.

Good prospects for the wheat, forage and spring oat crops are indicated by reports received here from this and neighboring counties, but the fall oats were badly damaged by the February frosts and are being plowed up. The wheat outlook is said to be better than usual at this time of the year the last rain having come in good time.

An increased acreage in forage crops is reported; feterita showing decided gains in favor in this county. Reports from down the Wichita Valley tell of considerable damage to oats in that section. The acreage in oats was larger than usual this year and the cold snaps of February proved the undoing of the crop which had reached a good stand. Local grain men say that all reports from the wheat crop are exceptionally optimistic.

San Angelo—St. Louis capitalists have secured mineral leases on 25,000 acres of land located in this county and announce that they will begin immediately to develop the land. The property is said to be rich in gas and oil.

Bright-Colored Waists Worn With White Taffeta Skirts

New York, March 7.—The last few days of the pre-Lenten season are with us and the social whirl is a vortex of gaiety. A luncheon here, a tea at the Danvers, dinners, balls and theatre parties, come and go in feverish succession. Ash Wednesday will be welcomed by the satiated as the advent of days of rest, if not of penance.

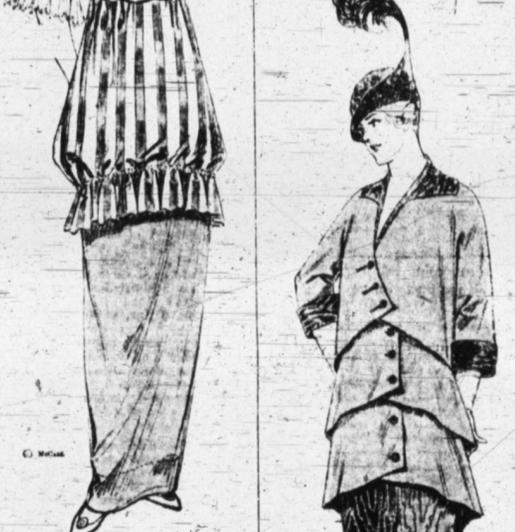

Homes are not large enough for these last and smartest of the season's affairs and hotel ballrooms are hired for the occasion. Here are seen many of the gowns whose style is a harbinger of the spring and summer models.

Net and tulle are used in ball gowns a great deal more than chiffon. Taffeta is used as the medium of development for gowns of all colors and for all ages.

The first illustration shows a charming dancing frock worn by a debutante. Its simplicity caused it to be remarked in these days of much drapery. The bodice and simple all around pannier are of pink and white white.

Charming little hand bags, shaped like jolly bags are made of moire and taffeta and richly embroidered in jet. Some have an elaborate monogram headed in jet or rhinestones, although others are embroidered with the soft, precious stones.

Ribbons are another of the season's fashions. They are used most extensively on summer millinery and for sashes. The grosgrain and moire seem to be among the most used. The popularity for plaids has, as a matter of course, affected the ribbon trade, and the spring ribbons are displayed striped taffeta. A deep frill of white mulline fell from the low neck line and from the sleeves. The pannier ends with a ruffle of tulle and the undraped lower skirt is of plain pink taffeta.

The styles are showing attractive spring suits and coats of taffeta and moire silk. This last fabric is very popular and is used to especial advantage in my second illustration. Fine French serge is used for the jacket and moire for the skirt, whose double tunics are of the serge. Moire collar and cuffs complete the jacket. The buttons on the jacket and tunic are moire covered.

It is not surprising when the separate blouse and skirt idea is applied to elaborate evening gowns that separate waists and skirts should be widely shown among the shops. One of the smart Parisian ideas is to have a white taffeta skirt with a blouse of brocade silk.

Charming waists, which are an American adaptation of Parisian models are seen. The most interesting of these are the blouses with penguins. Their shapes vary, as well as the adjustment to the waistline. They are rounded or square, some are aproned and others are a combination of the two or gathered in under the girle.

Among the brilliant colored waists is a distinctive one of yellow goline. A deep yoke is U-shaped of the same color of crepe and is outlined with a standing frill of creamy lace, having a fillet edge of burnt orange. The collar is a continuation of this frill and is wired and bent to fall away at the sides. Raglan sleeves of crepe, finished with cuffs of goline have frills of lace run into a U-shaped cut-out below the elbow. Yellow buttons and silk cord loops form the fastening at the front.

Another charming waist has body and sleeves in one and is made of pea pod green goline. Shadow lace over flesh colored chiffon makes the fronts which are decorated with green tassels. A green cord with tassels ends in a shirring at the neck. The short puffs of blue net below the kimono sleeves are also drawn up on a silken cord.

These brilliant colored waists are striking and attractive, but it is doubtful whether they will be worn in the summer without little cooties to match the skirts elaborately trimmed with embroidery.

There are many novelties in neck wear for the spring season. One style collar is of white moire with high standing in the back with rolling points. A separate collar mand collar is made of sheer Swiss and embroidery. The collar part is laid in pleats and stands up in the back. On either side a fine wire is sewed, which is bent to form a point. Organdy and Swiss are sheer materials that are being used to make collars and gumples and are considered very smart.

In attending a dance, a few evenings ago, I was greatly impressed with the simple footwear worn by the majority of the dancers. The toes were round and graceful. The heel is low and nicely proportioned. The slippers are laced around the ankle and look like the ribbon coming through three eyelets on each side, which insures their fitting closely to the foot.

The present rage for jet ornaments was brought about by an original and beautiful Parisian actress, who appeared in an elaborate evening gown, wearing a wide jet dog collar which accentuated the beauty of her skin. Immediately several society women appeared with similar collars. Jet combs are very smart, especially when worn in white hair. Jet beads, sequins and bangles lavishly decorate hats and lace gowns.

Charming little hand bags, shaped like jolly bags are made of moire and taffeta and richly embroidered in jet. Some have an elaborate monogram headed in jet or rhinestones, although others are embroidered with the soft, precious stones.

Ribbons are another of the season's fashions. They are used most extensively on summer millinery and for sashes. The grosgrain and moire seem to be among the most used. The popularity for plaids has, as a matter of course, affected the ribbon trade, and the spring ribbons are displayed in all the staple plaids and a large variety of different color combinations have been made. Ribbons with a cross stripe come in all colors of the rainbow. The most elegant ribbons are the hand embroidered taffeta and tulle ribbon having a fancy Jacquard selvage.

To sum this letter up, there is a tendency for better materials this season and less trimming. The large hip effect is obtained by ruffles, tunics, panniers and bustle bows. Upright frills, Medici collars, V-shaped necks are up to date ways of finishing the neck and the arms-eye, is obliterated with kimono and raglan sleeves. The fashionable waistline is above or below the normal one.

DON'T LEAVE WICHITA FALLS

No Need to Seek Afar—The Evidence is at Your Door. No need to leave Wichita Falls to hunt on proof, because you have it here at home. The straightforward statement of a Wichita Falls resident like that given below, bears an interest for every man, woman or child here in Wichita Falls.

H. F. Redin, Avenue A, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "My back bothered me for two or three years and the spells often came on without warning. I was so lame across the small of my back that I could hardly bend. My kidneys became disordered and the kidney secretions were too frequent in passing, causing me annoyance. I finally got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and I have not felt a sign of the trouble since. We always use Doan's Kidney Pills when we need a kidney medicine and we know that they will act quickly in bringing relief. You can act at liberty to continue publishing my former endorsement."

HARDLY IMPROMPTU SPEAKING AT THAT

Washington, March 11.—Representative Townsend of New Jersey, better known to fame as "Chimney Padden" for his stories of that gainful conviction in New Jersey, said that he didn't put one over on them a few weeks ago. It seems that Townsend was invited to Newark to a banquet and asked to say a few appropriate remarks.

The congressman was so busy down here that he didn't have time to give a speech until he caught the train for Newark. Then he sat himself down and scribbled off notes on scraps of paper.

Arriving at Newark, Townsend was urged by a newspaper reporter for an advance on his speech which copy he said he only had the original copy. The scribe saw pencil besmeared pages and offered to have the stuff set in type and a proof furnished the representative before the banquet, so he could read it easier. Townsend agreed. He got the proof for his part, sat down to the banquet. When called upon to speak, "Chimney Padden" arose, made his little bow and reached in for his proof. When he had finished a cautious inquirer who had observed that the speech was in type set up and remarked: "I watched the gentleman carefully. You've been imposed on. He didn't read from manuscript. He read from Congressional Record."

Townsend hadn't been able yet to convince those who are not acquainted with the alleged copy he had handed on a newspaper; that he did not prepare the speech until he got aboard the train for Newark.

SEEKS TO RESTRAIN MEN FROM VISITING HIS WIFE

New York, March 11.—One of the strangest and most sensational divorce cases that New York has known was brought into court today when attorneys for Joseph R. Stonebraker, a prominent merchant, formerly of Baltimore, argued for an injunction to restrain twelve men, named as respondents in his petition for divorce from visiting his wife pending settlement of his divorce suit. The hearing today attracted not only a big crowd of curious spectators but lawyers also took great interest in the legal side. They declared that action by a petitioner in asking that visitors of the opposite sex from the defendant be restrained from paying attention to the laborer, is without precedent in New York courts, if not in any American court.

Kid Humphries Saturday morning by Deputy Sheriff Carnes after an outbreak by Humphries Friday afternoon when four big officers were required to exercise their full strength to restrain him. Other officers and a dray were called and Humphries was taken to jail and Saturday morning he was quiet and peaceable.

If there had been any others in the room they had made good their getaway and no arrests were made.

Chris Murphy, the machinist who was assaulted by two men on Burnett street between Sixth and Seventh streets one night last week, is recovering from his wounds. Yesterday the doctor removed the stitches from one of the cuts on his head. Mr. Murphy says he has no doubt about robbery being the motive of the attack. He says the men were hiding at the side of the embankment. When they hit and seized him he had his keys in his pocket and when he drew it out he brought out his money with it and dropped it on the ground. They were going through his pockets, he said, when Mr. Markham came up and frightened them good away. Mr. Murphy says he got a good view of the men and believes he could identify them.

He has destroyed bedding and furniture to the estimated value of $50 being incarcerated but had to be kept here owing to the crowded condition of the state asylums. When the county hospital becomes a reality a place will be provided where such cases can be given beneficial and humane treatment.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE COFFEE ROASTING INDUSTRY

In the early days all coffee was shipped from Brazil and other producing countries in sailing vessels. These vessels were subject to severe storms and often the cargoes were badly damaged by salt water. This damaged coffee was piled on the wharves and there sprouted and rotted, and had to be hauled away at much expense.

Charles and John Arbuckle were engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Pittsburgh, Penn., and made frequent pilgrimages to New York in behalf of their business. Being Scotch, this taste of coffee bothered them, and Charles, who was of an inventive turn of mind, set about to solve the problem, and built the first commercial coffee roaster, which consisted of simply a large iron cylinder revolved by steam power. They bought this damaged coffee at practically their own price and roasted it before it had time to sprout and put on the market the first coffee sold in a roasted state. This was in the early sixties and since that time the business has grown to gigantic proportions and now involved the investment of millions of dollars and practically all coffee is sold in the roasted state. This method of coffee saves the house wife from the trouble and annoyance, but, as most of the coffee so far has been roasted the large sea-port cities, it has been the cause of much stale coffee being used and has not tended to make coffee as popular a beverage as it should be. But now the trend is in the direction of localizing the coffee roasting business and selling the bean freshly roasted direct to the consumer. That is it should be as it eliminates all waste and middlemen's profits, traveling salesman's expenses. But best of all, gives the consumer freshly roasted goods.

Green coffee is a commodity like wheat, corn, cotton, etc., and is sold in the open market and can be bought by all at the same price. The minute it is roasted, however it becomes a proprietary article and becomes subject to heavy advertising expense, traveling salesman's expenses, fancy labels, and if shipped a distance expensive tin cans which only to a very small extent prevent deterioration.

In order to give the people of Wichita Falls and vicinity the very best coffee at a minimum price we have established a thoroughly up-to-date Roasting Plant and can serve you with the very best goods, scientifically blended and fresh roasted. We invite your inspection of our plant and methods and trust to be favored with your coffee business.

Coffee is the best beverage given mankind. In its brew there is health, in its aroma a fragrance as delightful as the rose, a nectar, rarer and diviner than grape ever distilled into wine—VIVE LA CAFE.

ENGINEER KILLED BY CAR ROBBERS

SHOT DEAD WHEN HE HESITATED TO OBEY ORDERS TO UNCOUPLE LOCOMOTIVE

THREE OTHERS WERE WOUNDED

Two Robbers Wounded and Captured and Two Escape From Illinois Posse

By Associated Press.
Peoria, Ill., March 13.—Arthur Fisher, a Chicago & Northwestern freight engineer, was shot and killed in the cab of his engine early today near Manlius, Ill., as he was north of Peoria, Ill., by bandits who were surprised while stopping to handle from the train. A deputy sheriff was shot through the head and may die. The station agent at Langley, Ill., was shot through the arm and the fireman on the freight train was shot through the leg.

Shortly before the shooting the conductor of the freight train and a brakeman surprised the robbers who were removing goods from a car. The train was stopped near Manlius and the bandits jumped from the car and covering the conductor and the brakeman with guns they marched them down to the engine where they ordered the engineer to uncouple the engine and run it down the track. He wavered in meeting the request and was shot through the head and instantly killed.

The station agent at Manlius telegraphed Princeton and Langley for help. In an hour a posse of 200 armed men was in pursuit of the robbers. Near Sheffield, Ill., the posse came up with the robbers who opened fire and Bert Skoguland, sheriff of Bureau county was shot through the face, shoulder and throat. He is believed to be fatally wounded. Leslie Leyer, son of the sheriff of Bureau county was shot in the leg and the other two robbers were wounded and were captured. Two are still at liberty.

BROWNSVILLE CUT OFF FROM COMMUNICATION.

Brownsville, Texas, March 13.—During a period of thirty-six hours ending last night, Brownsville and all points along the lower Mexican border were entirely cut off from telegraphic and phone communication with the outer world. The cause was a windstorm, which struck a section of country a short distance north of Kingsville early Wednesday morning, and tore down all telegraph and telephone lines for a distance of six miles. Railroad service was not interrupted. The force of the wind apparently was confined to a small area, as no reports of property damage other than that to the telegraph and telephone companies have been received. A force of fifty workmen was promptly started to work repairing the broken lines and they succeeded in re-establishing service at six o'clock.

MAN HURT BY FALL IN TRYING TO BOARD CAR.

H. L. Perkins, a carpenter living at 1305 Eleventh street, fell while attempting to board a moving street car at the corner of Seventh street and Ohio avenue late yesterday and suffered a wrenched back and bruises. The car had started up and Perkins who made a run to catch it knocked his head against the side of the car and fell backward. He was picked up and carried into Harrington's drug store where physicians were called. At first it was thought some of Perkins' ribs were broken but a more thorough examination failed to locate any fractures. Mr. Perkins was later removed to the Wichita infirmary where he was getting along nicely this morning.

SUIT TO TEST RIGHTS OF TEXAS SOCIAL CLUBS

Test Case To Determine Right of Clubs To Dispense Liquor and Have Pool Tables

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, March 13.—Suit was filed in the 26th district court by the attorney general's department today against the Austin Country Club for an injunction to restrain its officers from dispensing intoxicating liquors, also for an injunction to restrain the club from conducting pool and billiards at the club's quarters. This is the test case that will determine the right of social clubs to dispense liquors and operate pool and billiard tables.

The State asked for an injunction against pool and billiard tables on the ground that it is an attempt to run a business for which an occupation tax is required. The State does not ask for a forfeiture of charter, as to restrain the sale of liquor would accomplish the ends desired.

NEW WITNESS FOR CONDEMNED MAN

BIRMINGHAM WOMAN'S AFFIDAVIT CONTRADICTS STATE'S THEORY

SCREAMS FROM BASEMENT

Statement Attacks State's Theory Both As To Time and Place Girl Met Death

By Associated Press.
Atlanta, Ga., March 13.—An affidavit attacking the State's theory as to the time and place Mary Fagin, the 13 year old factory girl was killed, was made public here today by counsel for Leo M. Frank, under death sentence for her murder. The affidavit, filed by Mrs. J. G. Simon, the affiant, alleges that she heard a woman scream in the National pencil factory building here between 2 and 3 o'clock on the afternoon of April 28, 1913, two hours later than the time the State affidavit further declares that the screams came from the factory basement and not from the third floor of the building where the State charged the girl was killed.

Mrs. Simon's home is in Birmingham, Ala. In her affidavit she says she was visiting in Atlanta on the day of the murder and heard screams from the street as she was passing the pencil factory. She further alleges that she reported the incident at the time, more than two weeks before the indictment of Frank, but that she was not subpoenaed before the grand jury or at the trial of Frank.

At the trial the State sought to establish that Mary Fagin was killed on the third floor of the factory building near the office of the accepted superintendent. This was the testimony of the negro janitor who testified he helped Frank dispose of the body of the girl. The negro testified she was killed between 12:30 and 1 o'clock. The State also contended that about 1 o'clock Frank went to his home for lunch returning to the factory again after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The affidavit of Mrs. Simon, it is expected, will be included in the extraordinary motion for a new trial to be filed by Frank's attorneys. The motion will probably be ready for filing by the first of April.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS DEMAND RELEASE

APPLICATION FOR HABEAS CORPUS WRIT FILED IN FEDERAL COURT TODAY

ASK UNCONDITIONAL RELEASE

Right of U. S. Soldiers to Seize Fugitive Mexican Federals is Questioned

By Associated Press.
San Antonio, Texas, March 13.—Formal application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of General Mercado and the 3500 Mexican federal troops interned at El Paso following their flight from Ojinaga, was filed in the federal court here this morning. A telegram was sent to Judge Walker Burns, at Houston to ask if he would hear the application tomorrow. Judge E. S. Maxey of this district belongs out of the State. If Judge Burns concurs, District Attorney J. N. Campbell and counsel for the Mexican soldiers will leave for Houston tonight. The application questions the right of the United States soldiers to seize the Mexicans and demands the unconditional release of the federal soldiers.

JUDGE BURNS CANNOT HEAR APPLICATION NOW.

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, March 13.—Judge Burns said this afternoon relative to his hearing the application for release by habeas corpus of General Mercado and the Mexican soldiers interned at El Paso. "It is my judgment that I have no authority to hear such an application for a habeas corpus writ from the western district of Texas without being specially designated to do so. I have not been so designated. Again, I am in the midst of a lengthy trial which will consume many days as yet and hence I hardly think it would be possible for me to entertain the application, were I designated to hear the writ it would be impossible for me to do so tomorrow."

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT VICTIMS ARE IMPROVING

PROMINENT FIGURES IN MEXICAN CRISIS, REBEL MONEY AND PLACE WHERE BODY OF VERGARA WAS RECOVERED

1. GOV. COLQUITT 2. ENRIQUE CREEL 3. SENATOR FALLS 4. REBEL MONEY 5. HIDALGO CEMETERY

Washington, March 13.—The Mexican crisis has reached a most acute stage through the attitude of senators and congressmen from the states on the Mexican border. The speech of Senator A. B. Fall of New Mexico on the floor of the upper house caused a profound sensation. He demanded armed intervention and cited sixty-three cases where atrocities had been practiced on American men and women, by Mexican soldiers and bandits.

The determined attitude of Governor Colquitt of Texas has added much fire to the situation. He criticizes the foreign policy of President Wilson and urges intervention at once. Juarez, Mexico, March 13.—It is stated here that Enrique Creel, millionaire and inveterate enemy of General Pincho Villa, will be the next wealthy Mexican to flee to the United States for protection. Villa's men are expected to give him little mercy if they capture him. He was formerly a cabinet minister and has represented Mexico in the United States. Creel is said to be on his way to Vera Cruz to take a steamer for New York. The illustration shows a view of the Hidalgo cemetery, from which the body of Clemente Vergara was recovered and a specimen of rebel money now being issued by Carranza's constitutional government in northern Mexico.

More than a hundred literary and dramatic men watched the combat from between balconies and windows while numerous reporters, photographers and moving picture operators viewed the duel from window ledges and galleries. The wives of both principals appeared on the grounds but were not permitted to witness the duel.

TAX FOR HOSPITAL BONDS VERY LIGHT

OUTSIDE OF WICHITA FALLS INCREASE IN RATE WOULD BE ONLY CENT AND HALF IN CITY 3 TIMES AS MUCH

Farmers Would Pay Only $1.50 Additional Thousand Dollars Valuation

The proposed city and county hospital to be voted on Saturday, will cost county tax payers only a cent and a half on $100 valuation and city tax payers only three cents, according to figures compiled today by County Judge Felder and Deputy County Clerk Bullock. The three cents to be paid in the city includes both city and county taxes. This means that a farmer whose property is assessed at $10,000 would pay only $1.50 additional taxes, to be applied on interest, sinking fund and support of the joint institution. A city tax payer assessed at $10,000 would pay only three dollars on both bond issues. These figures are based on taxable values for last year and it is believed that if the tax payers understand how great the benefits of such a hospital will be, as compared with the small cost, there will be little or no opposition to either bond issue on March 21.

Many Republicans spoke in support of the president.

The tangled affairs of the bank and the stores was discussed today by the district attorney and Robert McKim, secretary of the Siegel-Siegel corporation and by an examiner from the state banking department. The fund was accumulated by a weekly assessment of two per cent of the salaries of the employees.

KENTUCKY MAY VOTE ON CONSTITUTIONAL PROHIBITION

Frankfort, Ky., March 13.—The Kentucky House of Representatives by a vote of 60 to 32 today passed a bill providing for the submission to the voters at the general election in 1915 of a constitutional amendment providing for State-wide prohibition. The prohibition bill now will go to the Senate, where it is expected opponents of the legislation will make a determined fight to prevent its passage.

SEVEN BALES OF COTTON STOLEN FROM PLATFORM

By Associated Press.
Waco, Texas, March 13.—Fifty per cent of the early fruit crop has been killed by the heavy frost here last night, according to M. Faulkner of Waco, one of the most prominent orchardists in the State. The temperature here at 7 o'clock this morning was 33. Seven bales of cotton were stolen recently from the platform of the Wichita express, in the southeastern part of the city; there were indications that someone had driven up to the platform with a wagon and team, helped himself and then drove away. The thief is expected to have a hard time disposing of his loot, however, as each of the bales has been marked by the gin and compress in such a way that it would be easily recognizable and any effort to dispose of it would no doubt result disastrously for the culprit.

GEN. FALKENHAYN DEFENDS DUELLING

GERMAN WAR SECRETARY SAYS IT IS NECESSARY FOR MILITARY MEN

By Associated Press.

Berlin, March 13.—Duelling among officers of the German army was strongly defended today by Lieut.-Gen. Briet von Falkenhayn, minister of war in reply to an interpolation regarding the duel at Metz on February 26th when Lieut. Haage was killed. The minister of war said duelling was a necessity for the military. He made it clear that his efforts to diminish it were directed not against the duel but toward restriction of the number of cases in which an encounter was regarded as imperative.

He admitted that duelling is an offense under the laws of God and man and is an evidence of physical rather than moral courage. Moreover the penalty is likely to fall on the wrong man. Nevertheless an officer must be the defender of his own honor and is entitled to regain his self esteem and vindicate his courage and manly the imputation of lack of courage. He face his adversary."

GAME SUNDAY NOT YET A CERTAINTY

HOOSIER MANAGER WANTS TO WAIT FEW DAYS BEFORE
LINING HIS BUNCH UP

ONLY ONE WORKOUT A DAY

More Strenuous Program, However,
Will Be Adopted Next Week
For Players

Workouts were held in both the Kansas City and Indianapolis camps this morning, but both teams are idle this afternoon, the managers deciding that one practice a day was enough for the first of the season.
The Indianapolis team continued to use the old park across the railroad tracks, but will probably go out to the City Park tomorrow. Arrangements are to be made for special street car service.

It is uncertain now whether a game will be played Sunday, as Manager Phillips of Indianapolis does not favor the idea. The men will not be in good condition, he says, and he wants to wait a few days before lining his bunch up against anyone.

Player Under Contract Signed.
Manager Phillips has signed Frank Lepore, an infielder, who last season was with the Washington American League club. So far they have not signed anyone actually under contract, but have not rejected the reserve clause. Within the last week or two, since the organized league forces have not respected Federal contracts, the Feds will retaliate in kind.

Manager Stovall of Kansas City, is expected to arrive tonight from Florida to join his team here and may bring some new tryouts with him.

One Workout a Day.
One workout a day seems to be the rule in both camps for the present, but a more strenuous program will be adopted next week.

"We're training for a six months season, not for a prize fight," said Manager Phillips.

The Hoosiers continued to use the old park east of town today on account of its closeness to the hotel and because they had not been able to perfect arrangements for a special street car service to the City Park. This will probably be provided for by tomorrow, however.

FRAIL, WEAKLY CHILD Made Strong By Vinol

"So many cases like this are coming to our attention for the benefit of fathers and mothers of weak, sickly, ailing children in this vicinity, we publish the following letter:

Mrs. J. P. Weatherford, Litchfield, Mo., says: "We have had an invalid child for the past nine years and until we began using Vinol, we sometimes thought there was little hope for him. He would have terrible coughing spells at night, and they would leave him so exhausted. We could ever think, but to no avail. At last some one suggested that we try Vinol and we noticed a change immediately. The coughing spells ceased and he gained in strength right along.
We would not be without it and would advise parents who have frail and weakly children to try Vinol."

This is because the child needed the strengthening of the liver and stomach on that Vinol combines. No oil, delicious taste. Children love it. We give back your money if Vinol does not benefit. Miller Drug Store.

THE GIRL AND THE TRAMP HERE NEXT WEEK.

The four act comedy success, "The Girl and the Tramp" comes to the Wichita Theatre, Wednesday, March 18th. A notable cast, elegant scenery and the explosion of a real automobile in full view of the audience are some of the features which make "The Girl and the Tramp" such an interesting and enjoyable performance. The highest of dramatic art is displayed in scenes that are empowered in elegant scenery and realistic stage settings. Do not confer the idea that this play is a cheap melodrama or wild west shooting affair, for it tells the story of how a banker who has a loving wife and a "happy home" is brought to ruin through the manipulation of the stock market by a man who is in love with his wife. The wife and husband separate and she is forced to move to cheaper quarters. A wagon is sent to move Mrs. Merton's household goods to the street, because she can't pay her rent, when Flo Randall, a girl Mrs. Merton befriended and afterwards adopted, rushes in with the money to pay the rent. It is an intense dramatic scene and you feel just like kissing the little street urchin for her timely assistance.

The comedy is supplied by Happy
Jack, the tramp, who when hungry, was fed by Mrs. Merton. She persuades him to stop drinking and be a better man—he promises to do so, and through the clever schemes of the girl and the tramp, the husband and wife are reunited and the happy home re-instated.

"OUR MUTUAL GIRL" HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

First of Wonderful Series Will Be Shown at Victoria Theatre
Next Week

For many weeks the amusement loving public has anxiously awaited the coming of "Our Mutual Girl" the now famous fifty-two week serial story which is being produced under the personal direction of David W.
Griffith of the Reliance studios.

Mr. Mornand of the Victoria Theatre received word yesterday from the Mutual Film Company that he will receive the first picture of the series next Wednesday, March 18 and one each week thereafter for a year.

Seven of these remarkable pictures have already been released and to say that they have created a sensation throughout the world is putting it mildly—and it is now generally conceded that "Our Mutual Girl" is one of the most remarkable series of motion pictures ever produced. David W. Griffith enjoys the international reputation of being the world's greatest producer of motion pictures. He is the man who first presented dramatic subjects in films. In the early days when the industry was young he affiliated with the Biograph Company and until three months ago he produced the great dramas that made the Biograph the most famous brand of films in the world. He produced five hundred wonderful dramas for Biograph before he came to the Mutual Film Company.

Notwithstanding the high standard formerly set by Director Griffith for his film productions the critics of New York were unanimous in declaring
"Our Mutual Girl" his masterpiece.

Miss Norma Phillips, a dainty and charming Virginia girl of twenty-one summers inherits the title role in the films and although an actress of renown, she has added millions of admirers to her lists since she has been appearing in her new and vastly more important role.

The Fort Worth and Denver is again operating a pay car. About three years ago the pay car was discontinued by this railroad and its employees paid through checks distributed through the local offices. Recently, however, it was decided to resume the operation of a pay car and this is its first trip. Employees are still paid by checks.

Faith, Across the dusky vale I hear The vesper thrushes call; Now far, like elfin flute, now near The lyric answers fall.

Across the years heart calls to heart With all the heart's deep cry; The strains down silent aisles depart, No lips of love reply.

But firmer than the hills that dream The centuries away Is that sure faith of love supreme Untouched by time's decay—

The faith that waits thro' years be long, And vows, are hope take flight, A voice whose tones are sweetest song Shall answer through the night, —Arthur Wallace Peach.

A tough steak is altogether too common to be pleasant and yet you can just as well have a tender, juicy one, that will make your mouth water and taste for more, as you can the other kind.

It is largely up to the meat man and due to his care or carelessness in buying.

Now, I make it a point to do all of my own buying or at least supervise it and, therefore, I am able to guarantee you your favorite steak delivered to your entire liking. My prices are no higher than other meat men will charge you, but the quality and service will appeal to you. I am sure.

J. S. BRIDWELL'S AUTO STOLEN THURSDAY NIGHT

A Buick automobile belonging to J. S. Bridwell, the real estate man, was stolen from its garage opening onto the alley at 608 Scott avenue sometime Thursday night or early Friday morning. The thief pulled off the staple to which the bar had been locked to get to the car. Bridwell found the door open and the car gone when he went to get it at about 9 o'clock this morning. He had last used the car at about 7 o'clock last night.

Mr. Bridwell's automobile was found later in the day with the gears stripped in the alley at the rear of the Model Laundry on Ohio avenue, where it had evidently been abandoned by the thief or thieves who had given it rough usage. It is also reported that a ten gallon can of gasoline was stolen from the Gulf Refining Company's warehouse last night. Part of this gasoline had been used in Mr. Bridwell's machine.

Sheriff Randolph is offering a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties and Mr. Bridwell is offering a similar reward. Officers are busy on the case.

Wichita Falls, Texas, March 13, 1914

Easter this year falls on Sunday, April 12, that being the first Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal equinox, March 21. Last year Easter Sunday was March 23.

"Swat the fly" is the slogan that is heard from many Texas towns. Here in Wichita Falls there might be fewer flies to swat if stables were cleaned out and manure heaps and garbage hauled away. Destroying fly breeding places will prevent the necessity for swatting in a large measure.

Over seven million dollars worth of bonds for good roads were voted by the various counties throughout Texas during the past year, and still the good work goes on. If this progressive spirit is kept up for the next ten years Texas will not only have good roads, but her agricultural lands will enhance in value to the equal of some of the older states.

It is claimed that our governor has expressed himself in favor of "Dear Clarence" as his first choice. We know of no man the pros would take more delight in sitting down on with a dull thud.—Waxahachie Light.

Aside from prohibition, there are a lot of others who would delight in the pleasure it would afford them in "swatting" Mr. Ousley. While this paper is not the keeper of the record, it has heard that Mr. Ousley, when he resided in a different part of the state than now, was not so very particular about the success of Democratic nominees. It is even charged that he gave open support to the Republican nominee for Congress in his district. That, however, may be a mistake. But if so, it has never yet been denied, to the knowledge of this paper. If he did not do this, it ought to be denied.

In his address before the cattlemen's convention at Fort Worth, Gov. Colquitt said some mighty good things, but nothing better than this: "The Texas people ought to do with the politicians what the cattlemen have done with their herds—rid of the scrubs." From all appearances, that is exactly what is taking place right now. The pro Democrats started the ball to moving at Fort Worth, and the anti-pro Democrats are going to do likewise on the 21st. Their action will at least "eliminate" any scrub of either faction of the great Democratic party from becoming governor of a great State like Texas. Gov. Colquitt is not a candidate to succeed himself.

The Post would like ever so well to believe that President Wilson and Mr. Bryan are right in their do-nothing Mexican policy—in fact, we have long been trying to restrain our inborn desire to see American honor upheld and to think that those in authority know best how to handle the ugly Mexican situation, but we cannot promise to hold in much longer. Peace is a very desirable condition, both individually and nationally, but peace with dishonor is dearly purchased. War is bad any time, but under some conditions war is preferable to peace. Then again, there are times and conditions under which peace can only be had through the practice of war and it seems to our narrow vision that such a time is very near. When our government can no longer protect citizens along its border, to say nothing of those residing in a neighboring country, it is failing to perform its most sacred duty and it is time some change is demanded.—Childress Post.

It now appears that the income tax is going to be a decidedly bigger revenue getter than the most optimistic at first thought. Those who thought they could come near making a correct guess at the start asserted this tax would bring to the government not more than $50,000,000 annually. The more-enthusiastic placed the figures a little higher—at $75,000,000 but now, it seems certain the total will reach and go beyond the $100,000,000 mark. Government experts estimated that not more than 350,000 people would be called upon to pay an income tax. Already more than 600,000 renditions have been recorded, and at least another 100,000 are expected to come in before the work of assessing is finished.

EXCELLED BY NONE "BELLE OF WICHITA" FLOUR

SPITTING ON SIDEWALKS

The old habit of spitting on the sidewalks of Abilene is again growing on the people. There is considerable complaint from the ladies about men ignoring the law and The Reporter has been asked to urge that the ordinance be observed. Nothing is more unhygienic than a big puddle of tobacco spit on a street corner or against the wall of a building. It is not unreasonable to ask people to spit in the street and those who are not willing to show that much consideration for other folks should be called to account by the law-Abilene Reporter.

The same nuisance is growing in Wichita Falls. The Times would suggest that the city authorities might abate this ugly habit to a considerable degree by having placards placed along the sidewalks warning those against expectorating on sidewalks. Most people who violate this ordinance do so without thinking. The placard would be a reminder, and in the event this does not prove effective, it might not be a bad idea to make a few arrests, say for second offenses, or after having been warned by officer not to repeat it.

THE BEST THING ABOUT IT

Twelve months of Woodrow Wilson have produced a number of tangible and definite reforms. But the best result of all is the spirit of public confidence in sane progressive policies and the integrity of the Administration behind them. In the subsidence of the fever of hysteria, and in increased strength at the same time of the resolve to go forward along higher planes of National life. The material gains of these twelve months is great. Other Presidents may have delivered inaugurals at the beginning of their terms which seemed equally striking to the men of their day, but few of them have lived up with such absolute conscientiousness as Woodrow Wilson to the spirit of their professed dedication to the public service. He has made his mistakes during these twelve months, doubtless, like the rest of us, but he has not been serious, and the whole country today gives him the rare credit of absolute sincerity, honesty and patriotism. However we may disagree with him on this or that policy, we have the comfort of feeling that we have in the White House a man who is a public servant in the highest and best sense of that word, and with whom the public interests will always be paramount to party and personal considerations.—Battimore Sun.

PERSONAL INJURY CLAIMS

From San Angelo comes the news that people of that section are beginning to treat the railroads pretty much as they would deal with individuals and as a direct result of this there has been a considerable falling off in the number of damage suits filed against the railroad companies there. A similar spirit prevails in Brownwood, and results there are similar to results around San-Angelo. There are many localities over the state where the people deal with the railroads precisely as they do with individuals, and the significant importance of the subject is that where such a spirit prevails there usually is a decided falling off in damage suits. The personal injury claims go no little ways toward increasing the annual deficit of the railroads of the state, and this is regarded by many as a potent reason why an increase in freight rates should be allowed. We do not believe that the railroads over the country ever willfully injured any person. We believe that those responsible for accidents should not be criticized too sharply; they are just men, and all men are more or less apt to make blunders. The public, as well as the public service corporations is coming to the same opinion, and as a result we have the "safety first" organizations of the public service corporations. Railway accidents are not preventable unless every individual resolves to have them so, and it is gratifying to observe that this impression is becoming so prevalent. This is really a by-product of the policy of dealing with the railroads just as we would with individuals.—Temple Telegram.

NORTHWEST CELEBRATES "FRESH SALMON" DAY

Portland, Ore., March 13.—"Salmon day" was featured in railway dining cars, in clubs and hotels all over the northwest today, following a concerted movement on the part of the fishermen and cannery men to popularize the salmon throughout the country. The movement, which was given stimulus here through the Northern Pacific railroad, followed by the Great Northern, the Spokane, Portland and Seattle and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, has as its object the stimulation of salmon eating among people who look upon this fish as merely something to can.

AERIALS ATTACKING CALIFORNIA GUARDSMEN

Pomona, Cal., March 13.—To prove the efficacy of the aeroplane as a factor in modern warfare, Aviators Glenn Martin, Charles Willard and Ignatius Somers made an aerial attack upon the fortified position of a battalion of California National Guardsmen.

News has been received here of the death of the little child of Drummond Brown, catcher for the Kansas City Federals. Brown did not accompany the squad to this city on account of the illness of the child, which underwent an operation yesterday. Yesterday Secretary Nelly of the club was notified of the little one's death. Brown will probably join the squad next week.

AT THE MOVIES. "Checkers" an all star five part feature being shown today at the Majestic. The story of "Checkers" is a familiar one and the young hero is a very lovable character as depicted in the photo drama. Edward Campbell, better known as "Checkers" worked up from a messenger boy to a clerkship in a bank but at the death of his mother falls into bad habits and gets in the company of a race track tout, Push-Miller. They drift about the country barely keeping out of the hands of the law until Checkers falls in love. The girl's father will not welcome him as a son-in-law and forbids him to return until he has made $5,000 by honest work. His sweet heart gives him an old gold piece for a love token on his departure. Some very realistic race track scenes are shown when at the race Checkers wins the stipulated $5,000 by betting on the races. Later he stops a run on his sweetheart's father's bank and the parental blessing being given, they live happily afterword.

as a tight rope walker, in her apartment to prevent her from warning her lover whose death is planned. She escapes by walking a telegraph wire and arrives just in time to prevent her sweetheart from being murdered. A sensational horse race offers an additional thrill. Tomorrow they will show "Over Niagara" in four parts. The photography in this picture is more than wonderful in its extraordinary realism. Several exciting moments are in the picture, the climax being reached when the heroine goes over the falls. The pictures of the falls are beautiful in their wild realism and the picture affords a number of sensations including a struggle with smugglers of Chinamen in a den, the collision of an automobile and a train and a cave scene.

EXTRA SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY. Strictly Fresh Country Eggs. PER DOZEN 20c PER DOZEN. Only five dozen to each family. Phone 64 and 67. TREVATHAN'S "The People's Store"

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE COFFEE ROASTING INDUSTRY

In the early days all coffee was shipped from Brazil and other producing countries in sailing vessels. These vessels were subject to severe storms and often the cargoes were badly damaged by salt water. This damaged coffee was piled on the wharves and there sprouted and rotted, and had to be hauled away at much expense.
 Charles and John Arbuckle were engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Pittsburg, Penn., and made frequent pilgrimages to New York in behalf of their business. Being Scotch, this waste of coffee bothered them, and Charles, who was of an inventive turn of mind, set about to solve the problem, and built the first commercial coffee roaster, which consisted of simply a large iron cylinder revolved by steam power. They bought this damaged coffee at practically their own price and roasted it before it had time to sprout and put on the market the first coffee sold in a roasted state. This was in the early sixties and since that time the business has grown to gigantic proportions and now involved the investment of millions of dollars and practically all coffee is sold in the roasted state. This method of course saves the house wife lots of trouble and annoyance, but, as most of the coffee so far has been roasted in the large sea-port cities, it has been the cause of much stale coffee being used and has not tended to make coffee as popular a beverage as it should be. But now the trend is in the direction of localizing the coffee roasting business and selling the bean freshly roasted direct to the consumer. That is as it should be as it eliminates all waste and middlemen's profits, traveling salesman's expenses. But best of all, gives the consumer freshly roasted goods.

 Green coffee is a commodity like wheat, corn, cotton, etc., and is sold in the open market and can be bought by all at the same price. The minute it is roasted, however it becomes a proprietary article and becomes subject to heavy advertising expense, traveling salesman's expenses, fancy labels, and if shipped a distance expensive tin cans which only to a very small extent prevent deterioration.
 In order to give the people of Wichita Falls and vicinity the very best coffee at a minimum price we have established a thoroughly up-to-date Roasting Plant and can serve you with the very best goods, scientifically blended and fresh roasted. We invite your inspection of our plant and methods and trust to be favored with your coffee business.
 Coffee is the best beverage given mankind. In it's brew there is health, in its aroma a fragrance as delightful as the rose, a nectar, rarer and diviner than grape ever distilled into wine—VIVE LA CAFE.

Who is this man Villa, this soldier, desperado, who has driven the armies of Huerta from nearly two-thirds of the territory of Mexico, this "half devil and half cat" who robs churches and banks alike, who drags with him across the Mexican mountains tons of gold and silver bullion, this pirate of the plains who times men up by the score and walks down the row killing them with his own hands, who sees a pretty American girl, cashier of a store, and calls a priest and forces her to marry him on the spot and then steals the grandest carriage in the town to carry her away in?

What manner of man is this who, like some buccaner of old, makes his captives "walk the plank," and sets himself up in palace in Chihuahua in a gilded chair, beneath a gold embroidered canopy of red velvet, and forces the great men of the province to pay homage to him?

How much that is written about him is truth and how much is myth? These questions have been upon the lips of thousands since the stories of his remarkable series of victories over the battle-scarred veterans of Huerta's army have begun to come sinking over the wires; and especially since news came last week of the killing of William S. Benton, the ranch owner, the truth about whose death the cabinets of America and Great Britain are striving to find out.

Did Villa coolly murder him with his own revolver that has sent so many hundreds to their death? Or was he shot by sentence of court-martial, as Villa says?

The truth about the death of Benton may never be known. But whether Villa murdered him in cold blood or not there is no doubt that he was well capable of such an act.

Into Mexico on a Stolen Horse.

In all the stories of wild adventure, the truth about the death of Benton may never be known. But whether Villa murdered him in cold blood or not there is no doubt that he was well capable of such an act.

One year ago he crossed the border from Texas into Mexico on the back of a stolen horse, with a borrowed revolver in his belt, a sack of flour across his saddle and nine men at his back. Today he is at the head of a well-equipped army of twelve thousand as desperate fighting men as ever went to war; he is the absolute military dictator of a territory of one hundred thousand square miles; his capital is the city of Chihuahua and he has millions of dollars in gold stored in a vault there. In all the stories of romance and adventure is there another like it?

Stories have been printed that Villa, pronounce his name as if spelled Vee-ya, is an American negro, that his real name is George Goldsby, that he was born in Maryland and enlisted from there in the Tenth Cavalry, a negro regiment, and that in 1882 he left the service and went to Mexico and became a bandit.

Is Villa a Negro?

The truth of that story is vouched for by W. A. Hayes, an attaché of the quartermaster's office in San Francisco and is corroborated by Fred Scott, a former soldier who lives in the same city.

Scott declares that he recently crossed the border and had a long talk with Villa, and they exchanged reminiscences of the days when they served together in the same negro regiment.

Strength is given to that story by the features of Villa, which are negro-like, with thick lips, flat nose and curling black hair.

The Negro Story Denied.

And it may be said in this respect that few of the pictures of Villa that have been printed in this country bear the slightest resemblance to him.

The story that Villa is an American negro has been denied from sources in Mexico that seem to be authentic.

The truth seems to be that he is of a poor family of Mexican peons. A Robin Hood sort of tradition about the boyhood of Villa is that he became a bandit because an army officer ran off with his sister and that he shot the officer down and then he had to take to the hills.

This legend of the beginning of Villa's criminal career was that he was left as the guardian of his sister, a beautiful girl, on the death of his father. His family, the legend says, was a good one, as good as any in the north of Mexico. Soon after his father's death an officer in the barracks near his father's ranch eloped with his sister. There was no marriage, according to the story, and Villa galloped after the elopers and found them camped in the woods. He tied the officer to a tree, rode off and brought a priest, forced the officer to marry the girl, then made him sign his own death warrant and dig his own grave. Then Villa shot him and rolled his body into the grave and covered it up.

When He "Took to the Brush."

When the story became known the father of the officer rode out to the Villa ranch and was shot through the heart as he knocked on the door and Villa fled to the hills and a price was placed on his head by President Diaz. Barred from returning to society Villa became a bandit.

Other reports say that Villa did have a sister and that she became the mistress of an army officer, with the full consent and approval of Villa and all concerned, and that the officer supported Villa as well as his sister, and that when the officer, because tired of Villa's constant demands for money and stopped paying, Villa lay in wait for him and shot him in the back, robbed the body of money and trinkets and took to the brush.

Bad Men Who Rode Down From the Mountains.

There is even doubt about the given name of Villa. He is known among his soldiers as Pancho Villa. But he signs all official documents with the name Francisco Villa.

When Villa fled to the Northern mountain country, after his killing of the army officer, he gathered about himself a band of desperate men, and within six months his name was spoken in awe throughout all Mexico. He and his men lived off the country. They would come down from the mountains in raids and pillage the villages, killing the men, robbing the merchants and the banks, capturing as many women as the band cared to have, and carrying them off to the mountain fastnesses where they were safe from pursuit. Villa was a typical bandit chief, six feet tall, fearless and a crack shot. He ruled his men absolutely. He was easily angered and he never forgave a man who injured him in any way.

Whether the stories they tell in Mexico of his cruelties and his lust for blood are true or not, there is no way of telling now. But here are two of them that are generally believed throughout Mexico.

Stories of His Cruelties.

Once Villa captured twenty men of a band that had been badgering him. He condemned them to death in his usual way and designated himself as the executioner. He bound them with their hands behind their backs and stood them in line one beside the other. Then, with revolver in hand, he walked down the row, looking each man in the face. If the man appeared not to fear death, Villa shot him through the heart. Those who displayed signs of cowardice he passed by so that he could be the more enjoy their fears as they watched comrade after comrade fall. Those who gave way to the most terror he shot last of all. Some of them he encouraged to believe that he would spare their lives. Then he killed them, enjoying to the full their terror and cries for mercy. He said he never enjoyed anything quite so much in his life as he did that massacre.

At another time he captured six men and he made up his mind that there was not enough fun in shooting them. In that way they died too suddenly, and he did not get to have a

BULLOCK WILL NOT MAKE RACE FOR ALDERMAN

In Letter Announcing Attitude He Offers to be School Trustee Again

W. J. Bullock, whose friends recently filed a petition to have his name placed on the ballot for alderman, has declined to make the race. In a letter to The Times, Mr. Bullock says: "I wish to thank the friends who filed a petition to have my name on the ticket for alderman, but must decline for the following reasons: I am at present deputy county clerk and an officer of the opinion that I cannot hold two offices at the same time that pay a salary and besides I have not the time to give to the place that it requires. No man should ask for or be elected to office who is not prepared to give all necessary time to look carefully after its duties and I do not feel that I could do so in this instance."

For a number of years I have been on the school board, most of the time as its president, all the property the school district now owns except one building, having been acquired and equipped during this time, while $150,000 in bonds have been voted and expended and from a village school we have grown to rank among the first in the State, with a payroll of more than $4,500 per month. Personally I am very proud of this record and am willing to continue as trustee, if the people so wish. School trustees serve without salary and I can give the time required without conflict with other duties and I offer for re-election to this position on April 4th believing I can be of some service to the citizens of the district in this capacity. Thanking those who were so partial as to suggest me for alderman. Very sincerely, W. J. BULLOCK.

REPEAL OF BICYCLE ORDINANCE ASKED

Council Considered Proposal But Did Not Take Action Thursday Night

Repeal of the bicycle ordinance was asked of the city council at last night's session and while no action was taken, sentiment seemed to be in favor of taking some action. The matter was brought up by J. C. Hunt, who said that the ordinance prohibiting riding on the sidewalk was not observed anywhere and that children were growing up to consider the law lightly. Mr. Hunt favored a return to the former license system, saying the city might as well get the revenue if the sidewalks were to be used for such a purpose.

Alderman Reed said that many people had gotten used to the idea that the streets were for automobiles, the sidewalks for bicycles and the gutters for pedestrians. Alderman Young said that while small boys and girls rode their wheels on the walks, they were not alone in this practice as he had frequently seen grown men riding on the sidewalks. City Attorney Bonner pointed out that if the council were to permit bicycle riding on the sidewalks and an accident should take place as a result, the injured person or persons would have a claim for damages against the city. The council took no decisive action on the matter last night. An abstract was ordered prepared on the title to lots at the foot of Ohio avenue, which the city is claiming. The lots were occupied for a time by a produce house which recently burned. Alderman Reed and City Attorney Bonner reported upon a damage claim against the city, further (this being asked and granted. The remainder of the session was spent in checking officers reports. There was also a brief discussion of police affairs but no action was taken.

EVELYN THAW NEXT AT TRACTION AT THE WICHITA

Fearing that her entire professional life would be misconstrued as a desire to capitalize her notoriety, Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's ex-wife here Monday, March 16th for one performance at the Wichita Theatre, has positively forbidden her advance agent from in any way, using incidents of her past life in his notes and items regarding her new play, Mariette, which with a company of seventy-five, is proving a potent magnet at various theatres in the East.

Mariette, in which Mrs. Thaw is showing is from French of Maurice Volny and played for an entire season at the Alhambra Theatre, London. The locale is laid in Paris and the plot has to do with student life in the gay French capital.

Mrs. Thaw, when first she contemplated a tour of the country, was loathe to allow the use of her married name in connection with the enterprise, but experience in New York where she was billed simply as Evelyn Nesbit, proved to her that though she was trying to live down the bitter past, it was impossible and the unfortunate ease of her husband, but added to her notoriety and as she has been complimented by the critics of New York and London, she spoke that despite all else, she has made good (theatrical) on her merit alone and that she is being judged on her merit and distinctly does she insist that the name Thaw be used as little as possible.

Evelyn Nesbit, youthful, lithesome and graceful, will be aided in the production by Jack Clifford who has been with her since her re-

TWO SHALLOW SHOWINGS EAST OF HOLLIDAY

Oil Found at 135 and 230 Feet in Well Being Drilled by Smith Bros.

Dr. E. M. Hughes was out at Holliday Thursday. He reports that Smith Brothers of Ennis who are drilling a well one mile east of Holliday got another showing of oil yesterday at a depth of 230 feet. This was the second showing for this test, another having been found at 135 feet. Both of these showings were probably less than half a barrel each but they give encouragement that better sands may be found at a greater depth. Smith Brothers are now down about 300 feet.

THIS MAN VILLA

chance to enjoy their death agony. So he decided to garrote this parcel of men, and he took a thong and tied it in a loop, and after the men were bound so they could not escape, he threw the loop around the necks of each in turn, and with a stick thrust through the loop which he slowly twisted he choked them to death. When one would be nearly dead he would untwist the loop and let the victim come to life again, and then do the twisting over again. In that way he got the pleasure of seeing a man go through the agony of approaching death several times.

The story goes that after he had killed the six men in this way he was so tired that he lay down on the ground beside the bodies and slept as peacefully as a baby.

These stories may be true or not, but it is true that for twenty years Villa was a desperately cruel bandit and that he committed many bloody crimes.

He was a man killer, a bank and train robber.

The Right Arm of Madero's Power. When Madero revolted against Diaz, Villa cast his lot with the revolutionist. This move brought him into the national affairs of Mexico. Madero accepted him at once, for Madero both feared him and needed his help. Villa took him to the support of Madero one thousand men, as desperate men as ever, threw a leg over a horse, and skilled in guerilla warfare and not afraid of God, man nor the devil. They were the right arm of Madero's power. The correspondent of the New York Herald with the Madero army in Mexico at that time, gave the following account of the career of Villa with the revolutionary army.

Insane With Envy. Before the battle of Juarez, in which the Diaz forces were decisively defeated, Villa had a violent quarrel with General Garibaldi, another one of the revolutionary leaders, and threatened to kill him. In the battle which followed Garibaldi distinguished himself and was given credit for the victory, and Villa, incensed and jealous, went so far as to cross the border into El Paso, trying to find and kill the man who had outshone him. Madero's efforts to restrain him caused ill feeling between the bandit and chief, which was increased when Villa, to vent his anger, killed an officer at Chihuahua, against whom he held a grudge.

A final quarrel at this time, which resulted in Villa leaving the Madero forces, occurred when Madero insisted upon protecting the life of Gen. Juan Navarro, a federal general who had been captured. Villa insisted that the man be put to death and was backed up in his demand by Pasquale Orozco, the other bandit leader in the revolutionary forces. When Navarro was stolen out of the lines and saved by Madero, Orozco left the army and Villa threatened to kill Madero.

Soon afterward Villa left the army of the revolutionists, and joining with Orozco, fought Madero's detachment at every turn. For three months Villa worked hand in glove with Orozco, but as was customary with him, he became jealous of Orozco and withdrew his forces. He asked to be taken back into the Madero fold and that much harassed leader was glad to get him.

He was then given the rank of general in the Federal Army.

The enmity between Orozco and Villa at this time reached a high pitch and the people of the country looked forward to a possible meeting between the men with great interest. Each called his forces together and warned them that if the opposing leader was taken he was to be brought to him personally so that he might strangle him with his own hands. Both men were frequently reported dead during this feud and usually made their continued existence evident by some brutal murder following the reports.

Muerta Made Villa Curry Morses. After the fall of Madero and the rise of Huerta to power, and the murder of Madero by Huerta, Villa joined the forces of Huerta in the City of Mexico, but for some reason he got into ill favor with Huerta and the dictator de-throned him from power and put him in his stables and ordered him to curry his horse. This was a bitter humiliation for the former bandit leader and he refused. An order was issued for his arrest. Villa heard of it and escaped with his life, but was shot through the leg in getting away. He made his way up through Mexico and across the border to El Paso, Texas, where he arrived ragged, worn and haggard with hunger.

It soon became noised about that Villa was organizing a force to enter Mexico and fight Huerta. The United States border patrol was ordered to prevent him crossing the border. On the Mexico side the federal infantry and cavalry were on the watch for him, ready to shoot him to death if only they could get their hands upon him.

Just a Year Ago. Last March, just one year ago, Villa sneaked through the lines of the border patrols of both countries and got down into his old haunts in Northern Mexico. He rode an old horse which he had stolen. He was armed with a revolver which he had borrowed from a friend in El Paso. With him were some men, poorly equipped as he. Their commissariat consisted of two sacks of flour.

Within six months he had taken from Huerta an area comprising nearly two-thirds of the whole of the Republic of Mexico; he had an army of upwards of twelve thousand men, mostly well armed, quickly moving cavalrymen, thirty-eight large field pieces, fifty rapid firing machine guns, a train load of ammunition, train loads of supplies for his troops, and more than five million dollars in gold and silver Mexican money. He controlled the state of Chihuahua, the wealthy cotton and irrigation country in the Laguna district of Coahuila and the mines of Durango state, the most valuable in Mexico. He had taken from Huerta and was holding one hundred thousand square miles of territory.

Since then Villa's army has increased in numbers and he holds the states of Sonora, Chihuahua, Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas and Sinaloa. From practically all of this territory the armies of Huerta have been driven out, and late reports from that country are that Villa is seriously thinking of setting up a republic of his own, to be called the Northern Republic of Mexico, with himself as military dictator.

Villa On a Throne. Color is lent to this report by an act of his last week. In a large room of his palace in Chihuahua he built a raised platform, covered it with rich rugs and set thereon a large gilded chair like a throne, and hung behind it and above it a canopy of deep red and velvet embroidered in gold. In this chair sat the man who three years ago was a mountain outlaw who could scarcely write his own name, and the accounts said that his black eyes glowed as the officers of his army and the prominent men of Chihuahua paid homage to him as they would to a king.

Villa is getting all the arms and ammunition now that his army needs by order of the United States Government lifting the embargo against their shipment into Mexico. But his records of triumph were made while the embargo was on, and his success is all the more wonderful when it is considered that it was done with ammunition and artillery taken from his enemy's far stronger force. He declares himself that 95 per cent of the ammunition with which he achieved his victories was taken from the federals and the remainder smuggled in from the United States.

The Cohesive Power of Loot. "If we had to depend upon rifles and cartridges from the United States we would soon have lost," he said a month ago to the correspondent of the New York Herald. "Things brought across the border cost money and we had no money. We had to win our weapons to fight with and the ammunition for them. Often guns were so scarce that my men quarreled among themselves as to who would fight with them. But now we have plenty of guns and money too."

The cohesive power of loot is what holds Villa's army loyal to him. Led by Villa himself they gutted Juarez. They sacked Torreon and are reported to have taken three million dollars in cash there. He threatened Parral and the business men of the town raised a large sum and gave it to him to keep his "gentle-byenas" out of the place. In Chihuahua he despoiled the treasury of the church, robbed the altars of their golden chalices and the priests and nuns of their money and collected from merchants one and one-half million dollars in gold for which he gave in exchange paper money he issued from a printing plant he captured.

One of His Richest Haunts. One of the biggest hauls made by Villa was from Gen. Luis Terrazas, one of the richest men in Mexico. He owned two-thirds of the land in the state of Chihuahua, and his nephews, Enrique and Juan Creel, were nearly as wealthy as he.

In the revolution of Pascual Orozco, which Terrazas financed, Villa captured Parral and held Terrazas. Villa told the correspondent of the New York Herald this story of it: "I took Parral after a bloody battle of several days and I routed Orozco's forces. He will never forget Villa. For eleven days I was the master of the town. But not receiving reinforcements and being surrounded to abandon it. "Before leaving I went to the Banco

Minero, owned by Terrazas, 'My name is Villa,' I said, 'how much cash have you on hand?'

"Trembling, the cashier answered, 'One hundred and eighty thousand pesos, senor.' 'I need them right away,' I explained to him. 'Fill the sacks that are on the backs of the mules outside.' Then with only eight hundred men, Villa slipped through the lines of Orozco's men, closing around him and escaped to Madero, where he joined the Maderos, his mules carrying and the soldiers guarding for him the 180,000 pesos.

Last December Villa, then the military dictator of all that territory, confiscated all the property of Terrazas and the Creels, including banks, thousands of head of cattle, homes and personal effects, and Terrazas and the Creels escaped to the United States and are yet refugees.

Bullion by the Ton. From the Mexican Northern Railway Villa captured $100,000 worth of gold bullion on its way from the mines. This treasure was placed in a wagon drawn by a team of mules with a picked guard around it, and was hauled over mountains and across the plains to Chihuahua.

How much treasure, Villa has now it is impossible to estimate, but it must be many millions of dollars.

As a military leader Villa is said to be resourceful and alert, with some of the capacity of Stonewall Jackson for driving his men on forced marches and appearing suddenly at the unexpected place, striking a telling blow, then disappearing utterly, only to be heard from a week later miles away doing more damage. He has the nerve to make a bold attack, but even his friends say he will run to avoid a pitched battle with a force of equal size.

The Stroke That Made Villa. The daring stroke that made him was one of the dashes for which he is famous. Chihuahua City early in November was besieged by the constitutionalists, but the appearance of reinforcements from General Mercado forced Villa to retreat to the north to await help from other constitutionalist leaders. He then had only thirty-five hundred men. At Tierra Blanca the capture of a train from Juarez gave him an opportunity.

Taking the same of the officer in charge of the train Villa seized a telegraph office, dictated a message, signed with this name representing that "rebels" were reported south of Tierra Blanca and asking permission to return to Juarez. This was sent to General Castro, federal commander at Juarez. Castro demurred at bringing the train back, giving the opinion that the "rebels" were only a party of guerrillas.

Villa sent on a message declaring that two culverts had been blown up ahead of the engine and that there were reports in Tierra Blanca that "Villa is moving north." Then Castro reluctantly gave the order for the return of the train.

Over Mined Bridges. Quickly loading fifteen hundred of his men, with several rapid fire guns, on the cars, Villa began a daring ride. Just before each station was reached and the train was stopped and four men went forward seized the station agent and telegraph operator, wired ahead the arrival of the train at that station and then pushed forward. The train had to be backed by the engine the entire distance as there was no chance to take time for switching at any point.

It was ticklish work. The slightest alarm before the telegraph operator was seized at any of the stations would have meant death to the whole party, as the federals had mines under all the bridges and the touch of a button would have sent the train bodily into the air or into some deep chasm. But the simplicity of the scheme and its daring saved the day. Early in the morning of November 15 Villa's band was borne secretly into sleeping Juarez somewhat as the Greeks were borne into Troy in the wooden horse, and noiselessly seizing the points of vantage. Ciudad Juarez, a prize in every revolution in Mexico, woke up to find itself a constitutionalist city.

The Second Big Chance. Then came his second stroke of luck. With his army divided, half at Tierra Blanca and half at Juarez, the re-inforced federals at Chihuahua came forth to attack. They meant to crush Villa's men at Tierra Blanca, then press on up the railroad over which he had made his famous raid, and destroy the other half and Villa himself at Juarez, or drive them into the Rio Grande. It was a fine scheme of battle, but the stubborn resistance of the constitutionalists at Tierra Blanca gave Villa time to rush to the front with his men from Juarez, fall on the enemy's flank with his swift-moving cavalry and win a decisive victory. Orzco, Salazar and Mercado were whipped in this encounter, which lasted two days, November 24 and 25. Then began the victorious march to Chihuahua.

His American Wife. Villa's method of love making is as impetuous and ruthless as his manner of getting riches and capturing his enemies. When he looted Torreon last December he strode into the store of the American Clothing Company and was immediately impressed with the beauty of the cashier, an American girl. He put a guard around the store and when he got ready to march out of the town he had the young woman brought before him and proposed marriage on the spot. A priest was sent for and the marriage solemnized. Immediately afterward, seated in the grandest carriage that he could find to steal in the town, Villa and his bride drove away from Torreon. She is said to be very much in love with him.

This cake, made by the Cottolene recipe, using only Cottolene for shortening, won the first prize three separate times at the Texas State Fair. Cottolene recipes are all winners, at home or elsewhere.

Cottolene

Remember, however, that you do not need to use as much Cottolene as you would of butter or lard. Always use one-third less when cooking with Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther.

You save money, any way you figure, if you cook with Cottolene, and your food is more wholesome and more digestible. If you will give Cottolene one fair trial, you will continue to use it for everything except on the table.

This is the recipe for the prize-winning cake, by Mrs. W. J. Stone, Dallas, Texas:

Three-fourths cup of Cottolene, 2 cups sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 5 whites of eggs beaten to stiff froth, 2 teaspoons lemon extract. Cream 3-4 cup of Cottolene with sugar, add milk and flour alternately until well mixed, then add whites of eggs and extract. Grease tins and flour them; light the gas just as you place cakes in stove. Put all three layers in and cook at once. Let the cake cool an hour or so before icing.
FILLING—Two cups sugar and just enough water to moisten, cook until it threads from the spoon. Beat whites of 2 eggs to stiff froth, pour the boiling syrup over the whites and beat constantly, then add 1 teaspoonful of lemon extract and 1-2 package shredded coconut, and ice your cake. If icing begins to get too stiff to ice add about 2 tablespoons of boiling water and beat well.

Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing what Cottolene can do. Order a pail of it from your grocer; also send to us for the interesting FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, written by five leading authorities. Write for it today

ERUPTION OF RUFFLES ON ALL SPRING FROCKS

To Be Fashionable Misses Must Be Ruffled From Top To Toe

She ruffles her coats and she ruffles her frocks. She ruffles her hats and they ruffle her locks. She ruffles her sleeves and her bodices so low. While her temper is easily ruffled also.

New York, March 13.—To be fashionable you must be ruffled up from top to toe. We have been straight lined and stumpy and sleek so long that once the break was made there has been a mad revolt from the straight and narrow. The consequence is an amazing eruption of ruffles on all the spring frocks and hats.

While most of the ruffling on the gowns catches you on the hip following the approved hippy outline of the tunic, puff and pannier, others begin at the knee and take a crooked and bias path to the waist line. Some of the ruffles have even dared to break into that narrow zone about the ankles and one some of the newest taffeta models they ripple three deep about so long bounded only by the straight and narrow plain and uncompromising hem.

For the skirt ruffles, not of the taffeta, from which the entire gown is built are the approved materials. For the waist ruffles and those outlining the low bodices the same materials are the thing, although lace is also popular. The neck frills evolved from the taffeta medium are very chic but not as full as those of the thinner fabrics.

The new suit coats are all cut with flaring circular ruffles around the bottom when the suit is of serge or the heavier twilled silks. When the suit is of the omnipresent taffeta the coats are finished with ruffles as full and flamboyant as the law allows.

Separate silk wraps of flowered or plain silk are very quaint with kimono tops and deep ruffles two or three deep set on from the yoke line to the finish. The loose sleeves of these wraps end in deep ruffles while an upstanding one finishes the neck.

As for the hats the small turban shapes almost all boast an upstanding frill of either taffeta or net while the brimmed ones have ruffles of lace, net or taffeta gathered around their crowns and fluffily veiling their brims.

When you have donned a suit whose short jacket is finished with two fitted circular ruffles and whose skirt is just one fitted circular flounce after another then topped it off with a tiny turban of hemp with an upstanding frill of black net you certainly present a fashionable but scarcely a calm and unruffled appearance.

Hardly in the hat class but still something that goes to your head is the new tulle halo made up for all fashionable sinners in imitation of saintlier models. It is fashioned of a tulle frill that stands out from the lace in most approved hair fashion.

Since we have taken to halos it is no wonder that waistlines are again striving to lead the higher life. For evening gowns and in fact for all dressy occasions the high waist is again de rigueur although the normal line still clings triumphant about your middle for middle day wear.

After the surfeit of wide girldes and sashes galore it is a promised relief from monotony that many Parisian dressmakers and designers are now favoring narrow inch and a half girldes or rather belts and in many instances no girldie at all but simply a line of joining between the blouse and skirt. Of course the girldes will not submit to annihilation without a struggle and so it is putting forth new lures and fascinations to hold its devotees.

Not the least of these charmers is a girldie composed of two and three shades or contrasting colors. One in a sweet shade of pink is adorable. In three shades of green, yellow or American beauty tints these girldes are indeed lovely and it will be late at least one about you even if the rest of your wardrobe be girldieless.

It is sad to relate, but waistlines en-sport and top coats absolutely refuse to be elevated like the rest of their ilk. They have sunk to the lowest depths. Even the belts that hang around them have fallen into their low ways and slump loosely and discouragingly in the rear.

There is much interest among the farmers and citizens generally in the forthcoming visit here and at Burkburnett Wednesday of the agricultural special train being operated over the M. K. & T. and the Wichita Falls Route lines by the A. & M. College and the College of Industrial Arts.

This train will arrive here on the night of Tuesday, March 17th and will leave at ten o'clock the next morning for Burkburnett where it will be from 10:45 to 12:45. It will then return through Wichita Falls for points on the Wichita Falls Southern.

At many places where the train has visited the schools have marched down in a body and in most places business men have closed their stores during the hours when the train stopped in their town.

Efforts are being made here to have as many of the members of the cotton, corn and baby beef clubs as can come meet the train either here or at Burkburnett. The domestic science class at the high school will visit the train in a body. At Burkburnett it is understood the pupils will go in a body to meet the train. Representatives of the railroad company are going personally among the farmers and telling them of the visit of the train and urging them to come out to meet it.

CALOMEL IS A FORM OF DEADLY MERCURY

Instead of Such Dangerous Stuff, it is Recommended That You Take Dodson's Liver Tonic. Dodson's Liver Tonic was made to take the place of calomel.

Calomel is a form of mercury, a mineral and a poison. Dodson's Liver Tonic is an all vegetable liquid—never harmful.

What calomel does unpleasantly and often with danger to constipation and sluggish liver, Dodson's Liver Tonic does for you safely and pleasantly, with no pain and no gripe. It does not interfere in any way with your regular business, habits or diet. You feel good after taking it.

The great success and wide sale of Dodson's Liver Tonic are the result of what it does for people. Its merit is backed up by a guarantee of "satisfaction or your money back" as your druggist will tell you.

Dodson's Liver Tonic was intended from the start to take the place of calomel. The label on the bottle always has said so, beginning with the first bottle sold.

Dodson's Liver Tonic "evens the liver," overcomes constipation agreeably and makes you feel good and if you are not satisfied completely with it your druggist will hand back the purchase price 50c to you with a smile.

When you go to buy a family remedy, don't fail to judge between the plain, simple truth about Dodson's and the loud claims of its imitators. That the public doctor accounts for the enormous increase in the sales of Dodson's Liver Tonic month after month. (Adv.)

On the advice of local physicians she was rushed on a special train to New York. Miss Marlowe denied that she had gone to the hospital. "Ill? My, no," she said. "I feel fine now."

Get the Personal Touch

The man who buys an automobile without riding in it first—without taking the wheel himself—without getting the personal touch and the definite knowledge of power that it brings—is buying with his eyes shut and taking a long chance.

Why don't you follow the Mitchell plan—get your experience before you buy and risk nothing, rather than pay for your experience afterwards and have absolutely no redress?

We don't want anybody to buy a Mitchell without the preliminary personal experience. We are tremendously in earnest about this, yet we are entirely safe because the 1914 models will answer every demand you make upon them. They will prove themselves. They are better than a ton of advertising and big words.

After you get the personal touch and demonstration, ask about the details. But ride and drive first.

Here is the Equipment for all the Mitchell Models Which is Included in the List Prices:

Electric self-starter and generator—electric lights—electric horn—electric heater—electric lamp—mohair top and dust cover—flexible valves—jiffy clutch—action side curtains—quick-action two speed valve—vision wind-shield—disintegrator—fine wire mesh—special motor—double extruder carrier—Baldwin holders—leather plate bracket—pump jack and complete set of first class tools

DEMOCRATIC OLD SEA DOG

According to Dewey, Admiral Farragut Was by No Means a Strict Disciplinarian.

Admiral Farragut's methods were always simple. There was a saying that his principal place for filing papers was his coat pocket. Generally he wrote his orders himself, perhaps with his knee or the ship's rail as a rest. Admiral Dewey in his autobiography recalls that one day when Farragut was writing he looked up and said: "Now, how in the devil do you spell Appala/cola? Some of these educated young fellows from Annapolis must know." Dewey adds: "A man who had such an important command could hardly have been more democratic. One night I had given orders for a thorough cleaning of the ship the next morning. I was awake early, for it was stifling hot. Five o'clock came and I heard no sound of the hollystones on the deck.

"So I went above to find out why my orders were not obeyed and my frame of mind for the moment was entirely that of the disciplinarian. There was no activity at all on deck. I looked around for the officer of the deck. He was an old New England whaler, brown as a buccaner, who had enlisted for the war from the merchant service. I recollect that he wore small gold rings in his ears, a custom with some of the old-fashioned merchant sailors who had traveled the world over. I found him seated up in the hammock netting where it was cool, with Farragut at his side.

"Why aren't you cleaning ship? I asked. 'I think I am to blame,' said Farragut with his pleasant smile. 'We two veterans have been swapping yarns about sailing-ship days.' The old whaler did not see how he could leave Farragut when Farragut wanted to talk and inwardly, perhaps, he did not fall to enjoy his position as superior to the young executive officer's reprimands."

'FATHER' AND 'MOTHER' BEST

No Other Names for Parents Carry the Same Deep Meaning of Reverent Love.

"Father" and "mother" are difficult words to improve upon when one thinks of the associations they convey, and the dignity of their meaning, remarks London Answers.

Many, however, have been the offshoots of these appellations. "Papa" and "mamma" have been in use in England for at least three centuries, and it is generally accepted that they are of Italian origin, as Dante uses the word "mamma" in the Purgatorio.

Among middle class folk "dad" or "daddy" is a favorite nickname. "Dad" is of pure Welsh extraction, and is derived from, or is a corruption of, the word "tad."

"Pater" and "mater" make their appearance when students are in the throes of Latin grammar. "Poppa" and "momma" have appealed to the young American.

None of these nicknames, or terms of endearment, can, however, approach the beautiful Anglo-Saxon definition of parents—"father" and "mother," and it is these terms that one clings to when childhood's days are over.

Jewel in a Serpent's Head.
We none of us place much credence in Shakespeare's toad, which—

Ugly and venomous,
Wears yet a precious jewel in its head.

But the natives of India have a firm belief that a certain variety of snake which they call shesh nag, forms a precious stone within its head after it has attained the ripe old age of 1,000 years. This jewel has the reputation of drawing forth the most deadly venom of any other snakebite, if applied at once to the wound. A certain Parsee gentleman is supposed to possess one of these jewels at the present time.

This gentleman in his early manhood happened upon a snake, which he killed. Afterward he found the jewel in its head, and he is said with its aid to have saved several lives.

The stone is said to possess a thin crescent-shaped fiber which moves in the center continuously. Many of the native princes of India have offered fabulous sums for this jewel, but the owner refuses to part with it.

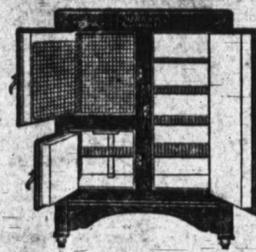

Busman's Holiday.

Recently I came across a really happy omnibus conductor, who knew me by sight, and remarked that it had been a splendid day. He had almost a whole day off, and looked jolly. What had he done? Why, what he always does when on a day off! I had never really believed in the phrase, "The busman's holiday." It's true. For that man always gets on the top of another man's bus and has a good long ride into the country and back. It cured him of insomnia, he said. Working days mean going to bed at all kinds of hours, and a conductor is often too tired to get to sleep at will. But a day off with no tickets to punch—and you can sleep till six tomorrow!—London Chronicle.

Comparison With Cavi Man.

Everything considered, it is possible that the cavi-man had an advantage over us. For though his words were few in number he had few ideas to voice, few thoughts to express, few activities to advance, and these were all of such a nature that his grunt was encyclopaedic in its ability to explain. On the other hand, life is now so complex that with all our words, inflections, accents, mimicry, postures and gestures we are often unable to make our meaning perfectly clear.

"The Store Dependable"

GILDHOUSE FASHION STORE'S FORMAL OPENING THURSDAY

The formal opening of the Gildhouse Fashion Store was held Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6. Carnations were given as souvenirs of the occasion and music was furnished throughout the opening hours.

The Gildhouse store carries one of the most up to date and modish line of feminine apparel to be found in the city. The millinery department includes in its showing a number of French imported hats. All of the best designers, Georgette, Talbot, Reboux and Virot among them, are represented. A very handsome model by Georgette is of smoke blue, trimmed with French lace in self color and flowers. A Reboux in myrtle green, trimmed with jets and small June roses was the object of much admiration. A number of American designed hats are shown fully as beautiful as the French models and Gildhouse hats are of an acknowledged standard.

The ready-to-wear department found fully as much favor with the ladies who visited the opening, the showing of tailored suits and dressy frocks being a splendid one. A number of handsome silk suits in the most popular shades are shown and afternoon frocks of silk crepe, sponge, voiles and other spring materials as well. The prevailing ruffles and bouffant effects are reflected in the frocks which are in all of the popular colors, tanges, blues, greens and so on in an endless variety.

A lovely line of lingerie is exhibited at the fashion shop, together with bewitching negligees. The showing is rendered complete by a handsome line of storage ornaments, tango beads, canutes, gloves and other little accessories so dear to the correctly gowned woman.

FRECKLES

February and March Worst Months For This Trouble—How To Remove Easily

There's a reason why nearly everybody has freckles in February and March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for it not removed now they will stay all summer and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails. (Adv.)

"LAZY BILL" DESERVED A BETTER ATTENDANCE.

Several people attended the Wichita Theatre last night and saw W. B. Patton in "Lazy Bill." No comedian is ever at his best before a meager audience and it did not seem that the company last night exerted itself to any extreme. The production is a comedy of the rural homespun variety with considerable fun and some drama. The headliner had the part of Dr. Bill Hale, otherwise "Lazy Bill" and put as little energy as possible into the part. The play is one of considerable merit and was entitled to a better reception than was accorded it here.
