BRITISH WAR MINISTER OUT

COL. SEELEY RESIGNS AS RESULT OF POPULAR PROTEST OVER ORDERS TO OFFICERS

EMPIRE IS ASTOUNDED

"Mutiny of Army Aristocrats" Made Basis of Attack By Liberals Forcing Resignation

By Associated Press.

London, March 25.—John Seeley today resigned as secretary of state for war in the British cabinet. Occurrences made public today disclosed officially the fact that the British government had given to army officers in Ireland a written guarantee that the government would not use the army to crush Ulster political opposition to the home rule bill. This correspondence, however, shows that the government retains its right to use the army to maintain law and order. The correspondence between the war office and the army officers in Ireland declared that Colonel John Seeley interviewed the general officers in command and explained to them that an officer of the British army was compelled to obey orders to shoot only in case the order was a reasonable one under the circumstances, and that from a general down to a private in the army was expected to use no more force than was required to maintain order and safety of life and property.

Colonel Seeley continued, "If, therefore, officers and men of the army in Ireland have been led to believe that there is a possibility that they might be called upon to take outrageous action, for instance to massacre a demonstration of men who are causing no danger to the lives of their neighbors that no matter what would be the effect on discipline in the army, nevertheless it is true that they are in fact and in law justified in a refusal to obey. There never has been and is not now the intention to give outrageous orders to the troops. The law will be respected and must be obeyed."

That the version of General Paget's communication read by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, Monday, was substantially correct seems clearly indicated. General Paget, the Irish commander in chief, wrote that he was in close communication with the war office and had received instructions from headquarters that those domiciled in Ireland would be allowed to disappear and be afterwards reinstated. They must, however, give their word of honor not to fight for Ulster. General Paget said that active operations were about to begin in Ulster.

Colonel Seeley's resignation followed quickly after the publication today of the "quiet paper" giving details of the crisis in the British army. Col. Seeley in his valedictory address to the House of Commons denied that King George had taken any initiative of any kind in the matter.

He said: "The suggestion is absolutely without foundation in the broadest sense. His Majesty took no initiative of any kind."
The correspondence between Seeley and the Irish officers had astonished the country and the opinion of seasoned politicians either one of two courses: The cashiering of the secretary of war or the resignation of the entire cabinet. The first course was decided upon at a protracted meeting of the cabinet.

Up to 6 o'clock this evening Premier Asquith had not accepted Col. Seeley's resignation.

Fort Worth, Texas, March 25.—Clarence Ousley is preparing a statement withdrawing his consent to become a candidate for governor.

The withdrawal of Ousley leaves the following avowed candidates for the nomination:

Thomas H. Ball, Houston, McLennan county.
Felix H. Robertson, McLennan county.

OBVERSE ANNIVERSARY OF DISASTROUS OHIO FLOODS

Dayton, Ohio, March 25.—Exactly one year ago today mountainous torrents ripped open the banks of the Ohio cities and its tributaries, and flooding through Dayton and other Ohio cities and villages, left death and estimable damage in their path. Eighty one lives were snuffed out by the disastrous floods of a year ago, and today the anniversary was appropriately observed here and elsewhere by mass meetings in public halls and by special services in many churches. President Wilson had been urged to speak here today but press of important business of state kept him from attending.

NO DAMAGE IS FEARED FROM THE OAT LOUSE

J. W. Campbell, agricultural demonstration agent, was in the city today from his farm near Holliday. He says that until the publication of the letter from the state entomologist in which that official said the bugs at work in the wheat fields were the oat louse he was dealing with greenbug or not.
He says that while the bugs are still thick in the wheat fields they are causing no damage. In some fields they are already disappearing, showing that the parasites which devour them are already at work.

PUBLIC LAND BILL CONSIDERED TODAY

Washington, March 25.—Consideration was begun today by the House Public Lands committee of another "administration" bill—that for the development, free from monopoly, of coal, oil, phosphate and other mineral sources of the public domain. It provides a leasing system, excepting Alaska coal lands which are provided for in a separate measure.

Secretary of the Interior Lane who drafted the bill, was invited before the House committee today to inaugurate hearings upon it. President Wilson has given his approval in his general features. Western Senators and Representatives, who conferred with Lane also approve the general leasing plan, which is adopted as the administration system of opening and developing Uncle Sam's resources which have been locked up tight for years.

The bill proposes that all leasing shall be paid to the interior department half to be used in reclamation projects and the other half to be given to the states in which the leased land is situated for public schools, public works or other state improvements. For development of oil lands, the bill proposes "prospector" licenses for limited areas up to 2,500 acres and, if oil is discovered, that the prospector shall receive one-fourth of the tract free for his work. A royalty of 2 cents a ton and an acreage charge of from 25 cents to $1 per acre for coal leases are provided. Stringent provisions against monopolization are included in the bill. The hearings will continue for about three weeks.

Boiling Dynamite Stunt Appears To Be Rushing Things Some To Town's Admirer

Secretary M. A. Weslow of the Childress Chamber of Commerce is looking after business matters here today. Mr. Weslow is the courteous and amiable gentleman who wears a cut-away coat (not a top of it), considerable jewelry and a continuous performance of smiles that appeal to capacity business among his friends and associates in the markets of trade. Mr. Weslow was severely injured in a railroad wreck in Arkansas several weeks ago and was confined to his bed three weeks. He still propels himself with a cane. Mr. Weslow is an ardent admirer of Wichita Falls. "By the by," he exclaimed this morning, "I have always had this place set down as a warm number, but it seems you people are rushing things some."
"How's that?" asked the reporter.
"Shooting wells is warm plenty, but this latest stunt of boiling dynamite over a camp fire is about the limit—tell the world."
The explanation was offered that the "boilers" had been looked after properly upon being apprehended and that hope was entertained throughout this section generally that there would not be any more of the boiling business engaged in in these parts.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS HAGGLE OVER RED TAPE; TOWN BURNS

Brussels, March 25.—The Belgian customs officers on the French frontier have been warned to use more common sense and less red tape in the future. The rebuffs were the result of a fire in the village of Les Ballons. Fearing that the whole place would be swept, the mayor telephoned an urgent appeal for assistance to the fire department of the French town of Wattevos, just across the border. The Frenchmen responded promptly with their motor engine, but on reaching the frontier they were stopped by a customs officer in vain they protested that they were going to a fire but after consulting with his colleagues, the officer flatly refused permission to them to cross with the engine as they were not provided with the required "motor tourists" license.

The board of directors re-elected the present officers as follows: W. W. Johnson, president; G. E. Wilson, vice president; T. W. Owen, secretary-treasurer; E. S. Britton, general manager. The financial statement showed the company is in a prosperous condition. DATE SET FOR EXECUTION OF LEON MARTINEZ

Austin, Texas, March 24.—While the pardon board has not written its findings and filed same with the governor in the case of Leon Cardenas Martinez, it was learned from a member of the board that a decision has been reached and that it is adverse to the plea for commutation; therefore Martinez will hang on April 21 unless the governor intercedes. Martinez is in jail at Pecos. He was convicted of the murder of Miss Emma Brown, an Aulita citizen, who was visiting in Reeves county when she was murdered by a Mexican. Martinez was brought to Waco to escape mob violence. He appealed his case to the United States supreme court, which tribunal declined to disturb the judgments of the Texas courts.

The pardon board has also reached a decision in the companion case of Ed Jones and Jim Banks, from Dallas, negroes under death sentence for murder, and will submit same at once, as the men are sentenced to hang on Wednesday—this week. The governor is in Dallas and may act on the cases while there. The pardon board is going to recommend clemency. The board believes that the negroes are innocent and is also of the opinion that one of the negroes who testified against Banks and Jones perpetrated the crime.

COTTON CROP WORTH MORE THAN BILLION DOLLARS

1913 CROP MOST VALUABLE EVER GROWN AND SECOND LARGEST COUNTRY'S HISTORY

14,127,356 BALES

Texas Production of Lint Nearly Million Bales Short of Crop Grown in 1912

Washington, March 26.—The 1913 cotton crop was the most valuable ever grown in the history of the country and the second largest in quantity according to the census bureau made public today.

The total value of the crop including the cotton seed is officially estimated at more than one billion dollars compared with $920,000,000 last year and $850,000,000 for the previous most valuable crop, that of 1910.

The total number of bales ginned was 14,127,356 including 639,795 bales of linters. The report includes all ginnings up to February 28th.

These figures compare with 13,703,421 equivalent 500 pound bales of lint and 609,594 bales of linters last year and 15,692,701 bales of lint and 557,552 bales of linters in 1911.

The department of agriculture's estimate, announced December 12 placed the 1913 crop at 15,077,000 equivalent 500 pound bales.

With this report the bureau of census departed from its previous method of reporting the cotton crop by not including the quantity of linters in the total production. Director William J. Harris announced this was done because with the installation of modern machinery closer delimiting of seed had largely increased the quantity of linters and at the same time lowered the average quality of the fibre so that now only a small part, if any, was used as a substitute for lint cotton.

The number of running bales of lint cotton, counting round as half bales was 13,964,981 and of linter cotton 629,619 running bales, compared with 13,488,539 running bales of lint and 602,322 running bales of linters last year and 15,553,072 running bales of lint and 556,276 running bales of linters in 1911.

Included in the production for 1913 are 29,267 bales which ginner's estimated would be turned out after the time of the March census.

Round bales included numbered 99,916 compared with 81,528 last year and 101,554 in 1911.

Sea Island bales included 77,480 compared with 73,777 last year and 119,293 in 1911.

The average gross weight of bales for the crop, counting round as half bales and excluding linters was 585.8 pounds, compared with 589.8 last year and 594.5 in 1911.

The number of ginneries operated for the crop of 1913 was 24,770 compared with 25,279 for the 1912 crop.

Production of lint cotton in equivalent 500 pound bales, exclusive of linters with comparisons and the department of agriculture's December estimate which excludes linters follow:

The census bureau announced that the statistics of this report for 1913 are subject to slight corrections in the full report to be published about May 1.

NEW HAVEN AGREEMENT

PLAN FOR DISSOLUTION OF NEW ENGLAND RAILROAD TRUST IS AGREED UPON

LITIGATION WILL END

Department of Justice Closes Its Second Agreement With "Big Business"

Washington, March 21.—After several weeks of negotiation, the department of justice and the New York and Hartford railroad trust announced that they had reached a complete agreement for a dissolution of the New Haven railroad. The announcement was made in the following terms:

"The attorney general has indicated to representatives of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, the arrangement which he thinks would result in bringing the affairs of that company into harmony with the law. The representatives of the railroad are willing to accept the requirements indicated, and to endeavor to put them into effect without delay, if approved by the stockholders in a meeting to be called immediately.

WHAT THE AGREEMENT IS.

The indicated arrangement, stated in general terms, follows:

1. The Boston Railroad Holding Company, a Massachusetts corporation holding a majority of the stock of the Boston & Maine railroad and nearly all of the former stock, in turn is owned by the New Haven railroad. The charter of the holding company prohibits it from disposing of the Boston & Maine stock. The legislature of Massachusetts will be asked to remove the prohibition, and if this is done, the stock of the holding company will be transferred to five trustees and after arrangements have been made to protect the minority stock of the holding company, they shall sell the Boston & Maine stock prior to January 1, 1917.

2. The stock of the companies which control the Connecticut and Hartford trolleys will be placed in the hands of trustees five for each State and shall be sold within five years from July 1, 1914.

3. The majority stock of the Merchants and Miners Transportation Company now held by the New Haven railroad, will be placed in the hands of three trustees and shall be sold within three years from July 1, 1914.

4. The minority stock of the Eastern Steamship Corporation, held by the New Haven railroad, shall be sold within three years from July 1, 1914 and the income shall be deprived of voting power.

5. Whether the New Haven railroad shall be permitted to retain the Sound Line will be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the determination under the provisions of the Panama Canal act.

6. The Berkshire trolley lines shall be sold within five years from July 1, 1914.

7. A decree embodying the foregoing shall be entered in the United States district court for the southern district of New York. The decree shall provide that on application of the trustees and for good cause shown the time within which any of the above mentioned stock shall be sold may be extended by the court.

"Trustees satisfactory to all parties have been suggested at the New Haven. The essential reason for placing the property in the hands of trustees is to secure their immediate independent management. Tonight's agreement marks the second victory at attorney general McReynolds has won in the New Haven case. In his efforts to have the business adjust itself to the Sherman anti-trust act, the complexities in litigating the New Haven were said to be vastly greater than any previous negotiations. The announcement shows that within the last few hours the New Haven was granted certain concessions for which it made a strenuous fight.

The length of the trusteeship for the Boston & Maine stock, owned by the New Haven was held to be one such concession, the decision to leave the disposition of the so-called Sound Line of the New Haven and the Interstate Commerce Commission another.

1-SIR EDWARD CARSON 2-A. J. BALFOUR 3-PREMIER ASQUITH 4-B. VAR LAW 5-LORD LONDONDERRY 6-OUTLINE MAP OF IRELAND

London, March 23.—Orders to British troops to move to Ulster have been followed by wholesale resignations among the officers of the British army who are giving up their commissions rather than fight against the Unionists. There are various indications that a crisis has been reached. A vote of censure on the government, which was moved in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law, the leader of the opposition, was rejected by 245 votes to 252. The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, summoned by Bonar Law, made a hurried return from the Riviera and arrived in London in time to take part in the division. There were reports of the threatened arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other leaders of the Unionists, but it was officially declared that there was "no truth in the statement that warrants had been signed for such arrests." The Daily Telegraph's lobby correspondent says, "Unless all omen are false, blood will be spilled in Ulster before the House of Commons sees Sir Edward Carson again." The Marquis of Londonderry and other prominent Ulsterites went to Belfast and their action is regarded as a challenge to the government if, as is asserted, any intention exists to issue warrants for their arrest. "The vote of censure was based on Premier Asquith's refusal to give details of the scheme of local option by which the nine counties of Ulster would be permitted to vote separately on the question whether they should be left out of the control of the new Irish government.

ENTERTAINMENT HONORING REV. MOTHER ALBERTINE

Visit of Provincial Sisters of Saint Mary Occasion of Much Interest Here

From the Sunday Times

The week past was one of much interest and enjoyment at the Academy of Saint Mary, Immaculate, provincial of the Sisters of Saint Mary in America, arrived here for her annual visit Thursday last accompanied by Sister Mary Angela, delegate of Reverend Mother, provincial general of this order, Namur, Belgium. They were warmly received at the Academy by the pupils as well as the sisters who had eagerly anticipated their advent. A rare treat was enjoyed by the distinguished visitors on the Thursday afternoon following their arrival in the form of an entertainment presented by the pupils in general.

The program ran as follows:

Day is Declining—opening hymn.

Welcome address—Misses Gilbert and Morse.

Sounds from the Echo, piano duet—Misses Haddix, Fonville, Wilson and Ann Wilson.

There is no flag like the Red, White and Blue—boys' chorus.

Grand Polka Concert—Miss G. Hours.

Birdies Nest—little ones.

Piano Duet—Misses Yarborough, G. Anderson, J. Gegg, Watson, B. Anderson, M. Moran.

Vocal Solo—Miss Hammond.

Violin obligato—Casper Emmert.

Drill—Medium.

Play—Boys.

The faultless rendition of each number was rewarded by its well merited applause. The boys play, "The Little Deserter," elicited much applause and received special mention from Mother Albertine. The music throughout was excellent, especially the piano solo, "Grand Polka de Concert" by Miss G. Hader and the duet, "Hector." The vocal solo, "The Day is Ended," by Miss V. Hammond and the vocal chorus, "Awake, Arise," a part song, spent a most enjoyable afternoon and complimenting all for their good conduct but especially the girls for their modest and refined deportment. To be brief the whole was a success and the reward was not returned for on

CREAM STATION WOULD BE PROFITABLE HERE

Agricultural Agent Says There is Good Opening Here for Such an Establishment

From Thursday's Daily

There is a good opening in Wichita Falls for someone who knows how to run a cream station and farmers in Wichita and Archer counties would like to see such a concern started here, according to J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent. Mr. Campbell says that in recent years the raising of good dairy cattle has increased enormously in this section, and that it is now difficult to buy dairy cattle so heavy is the demand. With a cream station here there would be a steady market for the cream; at present farmers with two or three head of cattle cannot make butter at home and compete successfully with farmers owning larger herds.

It is believed that enough farmers would be willing to sign up in advance to furnish cream to such a plant to make it a success from the beginning, provided a competent manager were back of the movement.

HOME TALENT PLAYERS WILL ORGANIZE TEAM

Local Players Expect To Complete Line Up This Week—Will Play Neighboring Towns

From the Sunday Times

A number of local baseball players, wishing to see Wichita Falls ably represented on the diamond, are planning a baseball team and will probably complete their lineup this week. There is considerable material available here and it is believed a club can be organized that will be able to mix things actively with clubs from the neighboring towns.

Inasmuch as there will be no league club here this season, the town will be represented only by local talent teams and it is hoped to organize a club sufficiently strong to draw well and give local fans some entertainment after the Federal clubs leave the city.

H. S. BOYS LITERARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Declamations and Informal Talks Make Up An Interesting Program Friday Night

From the Sunday Times

The boys literary society held its regular meeting Friday evening at the high school. The program for the evening was a very enjoyable one and was much appreciated by those present. It was as follows:

A declamation by Ross Bassinger. His subject was "Universal Peace." This was followed by a declamation by Charles Butts on "The Navy Cruise." Ray Anderson gave an excellent talk on "Wireless Telegraphy." He mentioned the many successful attempts and how it was considered impossible until Marconi announced that he had perfected a wireless telegraph instrument.

No debate was held at this meeting and the time was spent in short talks by the members. Plans were made for the last meeting to be held before the district contest in April.

Ward Freight Rates Lowered.

Washington, March 23.—Merchants in Washington have lost a time honorably fought the right to have their freight backed up to the rear door and have it dumped there without extra charge. Consequently Washington merchants aren't any too well pleased and today they aired their grievances before the Interstate Commerce Commission. They admit that they haven't a show of getting free store door delivery reinstated, but they told the commission today that if the delivery is omitted the old freight rates ought to be lowered.

BONDS VOTED FOR CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL

YOUTH STABBED 4 TIMES; MAY DIE

DELMA STIRMAN, 19, IN HOSPITAL BADLY WOUNDED—ARY MOORE UNDER ARREST

FIGHT OVER A BOARD BILL

Knife Blade Broken From Handle Still in Breast Bone of Wounded Youth Is Found

From the Sunday Times

Delma Stirman, a youth of about nineteen, was stabbed four times Saturday evening near his home across Holiday Creek, sustaining wounds from which it was feared he might die. At midnight Saturday night he was resting fairly well, but at that time the chances were said to be against his recovery.

"Ary" Moore a youth of about the same age was placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriffs Johnston and Russell and locked up in the county jail.

Nothing is known of the cause of the affair and the only statement concerning it was that it started over a board bill. After the cutting Moore went to a neighbor's house where he was found by the officers. He declined to make any statement.

There were four wounds in Stirman's body, two in the back, one in the abdomen and one in the breast. The knife blade, broken from the handle, was still in the breast bone when the physicians came. The boy was removed to the Wichita Sanitarium where about twenty-five stitches were taken. Danger of pneumonia from the wound in his breast and of peritonitis from the abdominal wound increase the chances against his recovery and he had lost considerable blood.

The wounded boy is a son of R. H. Stirman, a sand and gravel contractor, residing near the Holiday bridge.

GOOD MAJORITIES FOR BOTH ISSUES

WITH THREE SMALL BOXES MISSING VOTE IN COUNTY IS 548 FOR AND 133 AGAINST

CITY 376 FOR, 44 AGAINST

Now Expected Joint Committee Will Select Site and Chase Specifications and Plans

From the Sunday Times

With only three small boxes in the county yet to be heard from it was certain Saturday night that the hospital bond issues for city and county, had carried by decisive majorities. The city voted for the bond issue 376 to 44 and in the county, with Cashion, Denny and Clara yet to report, the vote was 548 for to 133 against. The three boxes yet to report do not have a voting strength of more than 100, so it is certain that the bond issues have carried in both the city and county. While only a majority is required, the bonds will have more than a two-thirds majority.

The proposition was for the issuance of $25,000 bonds by the city and $25,000 by the county for a joint city and county hospital. The city and county will jointly maintain the hospital. The greater burden of the taxation will fall upon the property owners residing in Wichita Falls as they must pay both the county tax and the special city tax.

There was no organized opposition to the bond issue either in the city or the county. Beaver Creek was the only box reporting a majority vote against the bonds, the eight votes registered there being all against the bond issue. The Electra vote was evenly divided, twenty being for and twenty against the bond issue.

A joint committee from the city council and the county commissioners court was appointed several weeks ago to receive proposals for a site and also proposals for plans and specifications for a hospital building. It is now expected that this committee will get together at an early date and decide upon a site and plans for the building.

FOUND TRIO BOILING DYNAMITE OVER FIRE

From the Sunday Times

Boiling, what the officers believe, was dynamite for the purpose of securing nitro glycerin, three men found around a fire on the river bank below the railroad bridge at 9 o'clock Friday night were arrested by Constable Burns and railroad officer, Arthur Barker. When the officers came upon the trio surprising them, one of them was engaged in straining a greasy fluid from a pan of boiling water. An oil handkerchief was being used. The other two were on the ground at the side of the fire watching their companion in the process.

The officers placed the trio under arrest and lodged them in jail. They had been told by brakemen on an incoming Wichita Falls & Northwest train that three suspicious looking characters had left the train near the railroad bridge. The officers started in search of them and found them around the fire.

The trio is being held under charges of vagrancy pending an investigation of their purpose. It is not believed, however, that any more serious charge can be filed against them under the evidence so far collected. One of the trio has been in jail here on more than one occasion.

HOSPITAL BONDS WILL FIND A READY SALE

Professor in Theological Seminary in Fort Worth Tended Pastorate of Local Church

From Monday's Daily

Little difficulty is anticipated in selling the hospital bonds which were voted Saturday and the city has already received offers for its share of the securities. The demand for five per cent bonds is said to be very good at present and the city officials are hopeful of getting a premium on their issue. The county should be able to do likewise.

Returns from two more boxes were received today, Denny reporting five votes for and three against, 6 and Cashion, 5 for and 3 against.

Wichita county is the second county in Texas to provide for a joint hospital under the new law. Bexar county was first. Johnson and Hunt counties voted down the bond issues at elections recently.

OFFICERS RESIGN RATHER THAN FIGHT UNIONISTS

Not Since Days Of American Revolution Has British Army Faced Such A Situation

By Associated Press.

London, March 21.—The government's military precautions to preserve order in Ulster having precipitated a crisis without parallel in the history of the British army. Rather than be placed in a position where they might be called upon to act against the Ulster covenants, numbers of the officers have resigned their commissions. While the War Office refuses to say how many have resigned, popular belief is that organization and prevented carrying out of the orders for moving several large bodies of troops.

The Marquis of Londonderry, an Ulster leader, tonight said that nothing of the sort had occurred in the British army since the days of the American revolution. Public curiosity is at fever heat over the question of how the government is to deal with the resignations.

COURT MARTIAL SUGGESTED

The Liberal sentiment is that officers should be court martialed. Many Conservatives argue that the situation amounts to civil war, and that the officers should have liberty to choose which faction they should ally themselves with. The interest of King George, on the scene as peacemaker, was the dramatic event of the day. The King conferred with the premier, Mr. Asquith, the Secretary of State for War, Col. Seely, and several high officials. He afterwards summoned Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who has been criticized by Liberals for utterances construed as encouraging to the rebellious officers.

CONFERENCE OF ARMY OFFICIALS.

From the palace the veteran field marshal drove directly to the war office where he had a long talk with the Secretary of War. The army council held a long sitting at the war office. Generals and lesser officers of the staff came and went throughout the day. It was said that orders have arrived for the dispatch of the Third Brigade of Ulster, but that these could not be carried into execution because nearly all of the officers had resigned.

Orders for the dispatch of the Fifteenth Lancers also failed of execution by reason of the wholesale resignations. According to some reports the military men have unanimously refused information, but a Dublin dispatch says that the resignations from the Curragh forces number forty, but advises place the number at 100.

RUMORED OFFICERS WILL BE ARRESTED

Many rumors were afloat throughout the day. Among those published and denied were reports that the government had issued an ultimatum to the officers, giving them twelve hours to decide whether to obey orders, and that two companies of a Dorsetshire regiment in Belfast had thrown down their arms. A Dublin message to the London Press Association says the officers who refused to obey orders will be arrested and that many of these who have undertaken to go to Ulster have done so on condition that they are not to carry arms against the Unionists.

Throughout the two days' crisis Ireland has not witnessed a breach of peace anywhere. If Sunday passes without rioting officials will draw a sigh of relief. The Nationalists, acting on John Redmond's advice, have abandoned their parade on Londonderry, which would have been almost certain to result in clashes with Orangemen.

From Monday's Daily
A fine of $100 and costs was assessed in Justice Howard's court this morning against Paul Barrett, one of the trio nabbed by Constable Frank Burns, engaged in the manufacture of nitro glycerin. The other two were released. Barrett was fined on a vagrancy charge, there being no other offense upon which he could be convicted; the manufacture of nitro glycerin is not against the law, even under the questionable circumstances of the case.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL VISITOR HERE SUNDAY

City Has Already Received Offers For Its Share—Five Per Cent Bonds In Demand

From Monday's Daily
State Fire Marshal English spent yesterday in this city, going over the local situation with City Fire Marshal McClure. They made a thorough inspection of the business district and visited the water and light plant.

Mr. English found downtown conditions considerably improved since his former visit here, but said there was still much to be done in the way of preventing merchants from heating trash, boxes and the like in the rear of their premises. Fire Marshal McClure has worked very hard along this line and conditions in that respect are much better than formerly. It is planned to have a downtown trash wagon make daily rounds, if merchants will put their trash and sweepings in boxes on the sidewalk.

A reduction in the insurance rate is promised as soon as the new pumps have been installed at the water and light plant. They are now being placed and the state marshal said that they would increase the water pressure sufficiently to justify lowering the local rates.

The result was a very easy victory for Kansas City, sixteen to six.

Pool and Billiards Too

Errors were numerous and dumb plays were frequent enough to prevent it being much of a game, the chilly breeze being too much of a handicap. The crowd was smaller than on the previous Sunday and sat bundled in overcoats trying to keep warm.

The body will be shipped by the Wichita Undertaking Company to Burkburnett, Okla., for burial tomorrow morning. CHARLES C. HUFF, BECOMES GENERAL ATTORNEY KATY LINES IN TEXAS

Circulars announcing the appointment of Charles C. Huff of this city as general attorney of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas and of the Wichita Falls & Northwestern Railway, were issued at the general offices of the Katy in St. Louis late Friday. The appointment is effective April 1. Mr. Huff's headquarters will be at Dallas.

It has been known here for about two months that Mr. Huff was to receive the appointment, although the formal announcement of the fact was not made until Friday. Mr. Huff succeeded Judge A. S. Coke, who has been general attorney of the Katy for many years. Mr. Coke retires on account of poor health and through a desire to retire from the active duties of the office.

Mr. Huff has been general attorney for the Katy and other railroad interests in this city for several seasons and as general attorney of the Wichita Falls Route, he was called upon to take an active part in the long fight for the consolidation of that property with the Katy. Both in legislative and court circles, Mr. Huff had a prominent part in this matter and it was his skillful handling of the proposition that is believed to have led the Katy officials when they began looking for someone to fill Judge Coke's shoes, to select the Wichita Falls attorney of the proposition.

The congratulations of Mr. Huff's friends on the honor thus conferred on him, are mingled with regret that the new position entails his leaving Wichita Falls, after nearly twenty years residence in this city. As general attorney of the Katy, Mr. Huff will be required to reside in Dallas. The full name of the Katy's new general attorney is Charles Chester Huff. On the 24th day of next July he will be thirty-nine years old and probably the youngest general attorney of an important railway system in the country. The fight of day president of the Katy, Mr. Bell buckle, Tenn., on July 29, 1875 and in that community he spent his childhood and boyhood days. He attended the public school there and later was a student at Webb Brothers school.

Mr. Huff was promptly appointed city attorney of Wichita Falls, serving from June, 1887 to November, 1888, when he was elected county attorney of Wichita county, a position which he held for six years, being twice re-elected. He made an enviable record as county prosecutor and his work in that office established him as one of the able attorneys of Northwest Texas.

If about three-fourths of the convicts in the state penitentiaries were paroled and paroled out in bunches of fifty or more to such counties in the state as make applications for them on the same terms that Smith county is now working a bunch on the public roads, the State would save about a million dollars a year and at the same time hundreds of miles of good roads could be built at the minimum cost.

Butter from a Wichita county farm is being shipped every week to a customer in Chicago. The transaction is repeated mutually satisfactory. The Chicago customer gets good butter at a price cheaper than he would have to pay at retail there and the Wichita county farmer sells his butter from his own mail box at a slightly higher price than he would receive here. Recent extensions of the weight and zone limits are going to make it possible for the producer and consumer to deal directly with each other in smaller articles of produce. The cities are full of people who want to buy their goods direct, the country is full of farmers who would gladly sell direct for the sake of convenience and better prices. All that remains is for them to get together. The situation appears to offer a new field of usefulness for advertising.

The Times understands that the Baptist congregation are thinking seriously of abandoning their church at the corner of Tenth and Austin, which was constructed about seven years ago at a cost of more than $30,000, because it is now either too small or not suited to the present plans and purposes of the congregation. If this is done, the congregation will immediately acquire a new site and erect thereon a much more handsome and commodious structure. It has also been suggested that, inasmuch as Wichita Falls is now without a Y. M. C. A. building it might be a very good idea to start a movement by which this Baptist church property could be purchased and used as a home for the Y. M. C. A. and possibly a public library. There are not many cities of 15,000 population that are without strong and well equipped Y. M. C. A. organizations. In this respect Wichita Falls is behind some other enterprising cities. A well organized and well conducted Y. M. C. A. is worth as much to a city as any one of our several churches.

The Constitutional amendment providing that the question of woman's suffrage be submitted to the different states failed to pass in the Senate. Thirty-three senators voted for submission and thirty-four against. In order to have the question submitted it would require a two-thirds vote in the senate. But the vote shows that the movement has gained very rapidly during the past twenty years, and if it gains at the same rate during the next ten years the women of all the states in the Union will be granted suffrage. But even when that time comes, and it is now almost certain that it will, it is extremely doubtful if one-half or even one-fourth of the women will avail themselves of the privilege that go along with woman's suffrage. All the Southern senators excepting three—Lea of Tennessee, Randall of Louisiana and Sheppard of Texas, voted against the submission of the amendment, and this indicates the women of the South who have devoted considerable study to the question of suffrage for women are not clamoring for it under the form that it would come. Perhaps if our Southern women could be assured that they would not be forced to get in line on election day and take their turn at casting their ballots along with the negro women they might be in favor of votes for women in the Southern States. But most Southern women, rather than place themselves in the attitude of getting on a level with the negro women on election day would refrain from voting. In that case, only the negro women and those of our white women who are willing to equalize themselves with the negro women on election day would vote. For that reason all but three of our Southern Senators voted against the proposition, or at least that is the reason they gave. The suffrage question in the South has always been a very serious one, but so long as only men do the voting, the white race, even though in a minority in some localities or election districts, will manage in some way to control the election. If women were allowed to vote, this might complicate maters to such an extent that would be humiliating to the white race, in that it would work to increase the negro vote in the South and decrease the white vote, making it that much more difficult for the white man to dominate at elections.

THE TOLL QUESTION

The ship subsidies—some of whom we regret to say are Democrats—who are fighting the repeal of the toll exemptions clause of the Panama act, argue as though there were money for the people of the United States in free tolls. The canal, they tell us, is ours, and being ours we have a right to make what we can out of it. It is strange that men who have been fighting protection for years should be enshrined in such a wretched fallacy. Instead of making money out of free tolls, the American people will lose $2,000,000 a year by the policy, which they will have to pay in increased taxes.

The idea, of course, is that the ships that will profit by it are "our" ships, and therefore whatever is saved will be saved to the people. But they are not "our" ships at all. They belong to a few men who make money by carrying the products of this people from one coast port to the other. It is these men, and not the American people, who make money out of toll exemption, and they would make it as the expense of the American people. Our Democratic friends understood this perfectly when they opposed tariff protection for "our" industries. They argued, and correctly, that the money so voted did not go to the people, but to a few favored concerns. It is precisely the same in this Panama case.

It is not probable that any of the Democrats who propose to vote for the grab would think of voting for a straight subsidy. Yet the effect of the proposed action would be precisely the same. When this point is made, the advocates of free tolls immediately fall back on the old cry of "subservience to England," and there is at the present time a very discreditable campaign to stir up bitter feelings against England. These people never stop to reflect that Germany and France are also interested in this question. But we never hear any charge of subservience to them.

The real motive back of this fight for free tolls is, not hatred of England but a desire to open up communication with the federal treasury. The shipping interests which have for years been fighting vainly for a subsidy now think that they see a chance to get one. With that factor eliminated there would be no interest in the matter. But when men are after dollars they will go far to get them. Our coasting trade already has a complete monopoly. Now it demands that its monopoly be still further "protected." And that at a time when we are making a great effort to dissolve monopolies. The President is wholly right in his attitude. He will be sustained by the people and congress. The sad thing is that there should be any Democrats willing to repudiate a great Democratic principle in order to sustain a foolish plank in their platform that in no wise conflicts with that principle.—Indianapolis Star.

William Marconi, the Italian inventor of the wireless telegraph, has now succeeded in developing a wireless telephone. Already it is claimed, successful communication between points more than fifty miles apart on the sea have been held.—Wichita Falls Times.

A fellow has perfected a system of directing the movements of an electric launch by wireless, another has succeeded in lighting an electric lamp by wireless and the era of the wireless is now upon us, but what can we do? Nothing. Just let them go ahead and complete their arrangements for running the world by wireless. Within the generation we may have a wireless war, but never will we have wireless politics.—Temple Telegram.

From the best the Times can learn from the people of the county, a very large majority of them are favorable to voting bonds for good roads, but are not willing to vote for the proposed issue of $500,000 right at the start. The people of Wichita Falls, a majority, no doubt, would give their endorsement to a good roads bond issue of $500,000, but in order to get the co-operation of the people of the balance of the county and insure the success of a good roads bond issue, it might be best in the long run to call for about one-half, or $250,000 worth of bonds to start with. The Times believes that the people of the county outside of this city will favor such an amount, but it is extremely doubtful that they would be in favor of voting for a greater amount just at this time.

and honorable way to meet a public debt. The provision of the law governing public hospitals is that only residents of the city and county who have been such for one year, are to be admitted to the hospital. This is a wise provision, as it will tend to prevent other counties and cities from sending their dependants to us to be cared for. Every county and city should be forced to provide for its own dependants, and the best way to handle such a matter is to do just as Wichita Falls and Wichita county has done.

Chester H. Terrill, speaker of the House of Representatives and candidate for governor, has done just what some others might as well do—withdraw from the contest. By taking this action he at least has saved himself from being flattened out by Jake Wolter's road roller that is steaming up for the meeting of anti-prohibition or constructive Democrats to meet in Fort Worth on April 14th. Mr. James E. Ferguson of Temple, another one of the gubernatorial candidates, who is also an anti, made his opening address at Blum Saturday, and he says he is not going to affiliate with the bunch or faction that is to meet at Fort Worth. James E. apparently, is determined to wait until the July primaries to be eliminated. He has plenty of money and has counted the cost of the campaign. If he wants to spend some of his money that way it's all right, but he don't stand any more chance of being nominated than the man in the moon. Either Tom Ball or the man pitted against him by the crowd that meets at Fort Worth is going to be the next governor of Texas. Ball is a pro Democrat, and the other fellow—whatever it is going to be, must be a dyed-in-the-wool anti, the prohibitionist, and must also have voted the ticket often enough to be classed as a Democrat.

THE OTHER KIND OF JINGO

New York World. The fundamental error of the governor of Texas is that he is not content to govern Texas. He wants to rule the United States and Mexico also. If he owned a 50,000-acre ranch south of the Rio Grande that was in the possession of revolutionists, or if he had a million-dollar concession from one of the numerous presidents and pacificators of our neighboring republic, he could hardly be more aggressive.

But the governor of Texas is not a ranch owner or a concessionaire; he is not an army contractor or a manufacturer of guns and powder; he has no connection with Standard Oil or the Pearson syndicate. He is the one other kind of jingo. He is a candidate for the United States Senate and he is crazy to run against "little Morris Sheppard," one of the present senators, who is locally supporting the policy of President Wilson.

All of our war-makers are conspicuously labeled. Some wear their placards openly and some covertly. Yet probably the meanest of the whole crowd of self-seekers is the man who has no object but office. Texas which is powerful enough by itself to overcome Mexico in a single campaign, is not likely to be stamped by Oscar Branch Colquitt's political ambitions, now or later.

The vote in the city and county elections on yesterday was very tight at all the voting boxes in this city, not more than 25 per cent of the tax-paying citizens availing themselves of the opportunity to vote on the question of issuing $500,000 worth of bonds for the establishment of a joint city and county hospital, but the large majority of those who did take time enough to go to the polls favored the proposition, which is another evidence of the progressiveness of the people of this city. At this writing it is not known how the tax-payers of the county voting boxes, outside the city voted on the proposition, but the indications are that it has carried, and that the bonds will be issued for the construction of the public hospital. In this election only a majority of those voting is required to carry the proposition. With returns in from but three small boxes, the vote stands about four to one in favor of the issuance of the bonds.

effort on his part. While the position tendered Mr. Johnson is an important one, he is capable of going up higher, and doubtless will be promoted to something better as the administration grows older.

The Times is glad to note that the city council on Friday accepted the proposition made by the Scotland Realty Company to donate about 42 acres of ground on the north side of the Wichita River for a city park, with the agreement that the city is to clear the site of under brush, drain, and build roads around and through it, and set it in Bermuda grass. This park site is located about four blocks west of the new bridge on Burnett street, and has on it about 500 native shade trees. With a few hundred dollars expended in making the improvements mentioned it can be made into a beautiful play ground and park. Perhaps when this is done it will be an improvement for the Traction Company to extend its line to the park, thus making it more convenient to be reached by the public, or those who cannot afford automobiles or other conveyances. This is the second plot of ground that has been donated to the city during the past year. The other being a tract of five or six acres located near the west end of what used to be Crescent Lake. This ground was donated by Messrs. R. E. Huff and W. M. McGregor, and the city is making such improvements as required by the donors. It may be several years yet before the necessity of public parks or play grounds will be felt by Wichita Falls, but if the growth of the city continues as now, her population is sure to double within the next few years, and then the gifts of these park sites will be appreciated more than now. The city government, in the judgment of this paper, has acted very wisely in accepting them.

FAIR PLAY

The Houston Telegram is aligned with the anti-prohibition Democrats whose copyrighted battler is "save the party." Believing, probably, in a division of labor, the Telegram appears to have assumed as its part of this Herculean task the job of saying mean things about the prohibition Democrats. It says "The progressive prohibition Democrats of Texas are in the same class with the independent Democrats of Tennessee. They have not formed an alliance with the Republicans of Texas simply because the Republicans organization in this state has not been strong enough to figure in a trade based on a division of the state offices, as in Tennessee."

So far from seeking an alliance with the Republicans, the prohibition Democrats have distinctly and repeatedly declared their purpose to make the fight for prohibition within the Democratic party. Neither the Fort Worth conference nor any of the leaders of the movement since that conference adjourned has intimated a desire to make alignments outside the party.

The loyalty of prohibition Democrats to their party organization in the past is a complete refutation of the Telegram's slander at this time. We make no charges. We indulge in no insinuations. But we do repeat the question: If the anti is defeated in July, will they submit as gracefully as the prohibitionists did in 1887 and again in 1910 and 1912?

Will the Telegram answer?—Waco Morning News. If the anti pro or constructive Democrats who are to meet in convention at Fort Worth on April 14th do what it now looks like they are likely to do, it would seem they are really making a stronger bid for the Republican votes than the crowd that met and endorsed Col. Ball. So far as this paper is always Col. Ball is a Democrat who is aware and under all conditions and circumstances fought his political battles strictly within party lines, and he has never yet been charged with giving support and his vote to a Republican nominee against the Democratic nominee.

Frequently one hears a wall go up that Texas are high in Wichita Falls. There is no doubt but there is some truth in that. But, on the other hand, look around here and find out the towns where taxes are low and see what they are and how much progress they are making toward town-building. There are incorporated towns where virtually no tax at all is levied, and these towns are making no progress whatever. Property located in such towns, when it changes hands at all, is at price less than it brought before. It is that way in nine cases out of ten. It takes money and lots of it to build a city, and Wichita Falls is now a little city of about 15,000 population; and before another five years goes by will be double that amount. But this cannot be accomplished without raising the tax a little above what it is now. Those who think it can be done are those who are satisfied with what we have now—or in other words, think Wichita Falls is finished. In this, they are mistaken. Wichita Falls is going to continue to make progress, and the more she progresses and grows in wealth and population, the greater her property values will grow.

The others of the bunch, forty-eight in number, most of whom are long term men, are sticking, and out of their small earnings, $7.50 per month, have raised $38 as a reward for the capture of the two convicts that violated their parole and escaped. Reports from the superintendent of the roads being worked by these convicts indicate that he is well pleased with their work. It is also said that Gov. Colquitt is being flooded with requests from other counties in the state that want the state to turn over to them a bunch of paroled convicts to work their roads. So far the plan is working nicely, and Gov. Colquitt is being praised for adopting the plan even by newspapers that are not friendly to his administration.

Wichita Falls taxpayers who will pay proportionately three times as much of the hospital bond tax as other taxpayers in the county outside of the city can have some consolation in the fact that they can vote twice on the bond issue Saturday. They can vote once as citizens of the county and once as citizens of Wichita Falls. This fact should be borne in mind by voters living in Wichita Falls who favor the bond issue. They will be discharging only half their duty if they vote only once at the elections.

Regarding the election to be held Saturday, March 21st, to adopt or reject the proposition for the county and city to vote bonds to the amount of $50,000 for the construction of a public hospital, the Times will state, in order to correct a wrong impression that in the event the bonds are voted the hospital will be open to all the people of Wichita Falls and Wichita county. Those who are able to pay hospital fees, doctors and nurse bills, will be required to do so; those who are not will be taken care of at the expense of the county and city. The proposition is one that should appeal strongly to those who believe that our sick should be properly cared for, and this cannot be done unless we first provide a place for them.

The local option election held in Grayson county, in a total of approximately 10,000 votes gave a majority of 950 in favor of local option. Four years ago the pro majority was about 500. From this it appears the pro has gained in strength in that county.

The Wichita Falls Times wants the proposed joint debate between Hon. J. H. Lowry and Hon. Cyclone Davis to be staged at Wichita Falls at the close of the Texas Press Convention to be held at that city. The place and occasion suit State Press all right. Of course S. P. hasn't anything to do with it, but inasmuch as he was first, perhaps to suggest the function in question maybe he has a right to say the prospect pleases him. Mr. Lowry is an active editor of twenty years' experience and Mr. Davis is an ex-editor who is still persona grata in the Sulphur Springs printing offices. Furthermore, each of these candidates for Congressman at Large is an orator who can think on his feet, and a joint debate between them would be something distinctly different from the commonplace patter of the politicians.—State Press in Dallas News.

Democrats, and inasmuch as the lines are to be closely drawn in the July primary on the question of prohibition, Cyclone wants the five candidates for congressman-at-large to agree to hold a sort of elimination convention and cut the number down to two. He is willing to have Judge Walker, manager of Ball's campaign, to decide who are the two strongest pro Democratic candidates. The proposition seems to be fair enough, but so far not one of the other candidates have entered into the agreement. Unless they do, however, it is plain enough to see in advance what the result of that contest is going to be.

John M. Duncan, without doubt one of the ablest men in Texas, and who, for a time it was thought would not support Col. Ball for governor, has written another letter which is published in the Houston Chronicle of March 23rd. In which he takes occasion to explain the motives that prompted him in the writing of the first letter, published prior to the pro elimination meeting at Fort Worth, in which he made a rather severe attack on Col. Ball, recalling the Waco convention in which the enemies of the late Gov. Hogg made an attack on and attempted to destroy him politically. Col. Ball was in that convention, and he, at that time, was not in harmony with Hogg, but at the Fort Worth convention Col. Ball explained to the satisfaction of all who attended that great meeting that he was then and had always been Hogg's political as well as personal friend. This explanation also seems to have been satisfactory to Judge Duncan, who was Hogg's friend and law partner, and an excerpt from his letter says: "I feel that the people have just gotten back a man who has belonged to them all the time, and that he will make by far the best governor this state has had since 1898." Thus another influence which the opponents of Ball had been counting on has been lost to them. And that is not all. Some of the most stalwart anti-prohibition Democrats of the state, such as Judge Jim Wells, are in the Ball band wagon. It is becoming more apparent every day the campaign progresses that the opponents of Ball are worried. They don't seem to know who to pit against him, and there is some evidence that, in the event they lose in the July primaries they are paving the way for a bolt. If that is their object, their candidate must be one who can appeal for other than Democratic votes at the general election, and who at the same time can carry along with him a considerable chunk of Democratic voters.—There are aspirants for the governorship who can fill the bill.

On next Saturday a good roads meeting will be held at the court house in this city. Prof. R. J. Potts of the engineering department of the A. & M. College, will be present on that occasion, and will address the meeting, giving his ideas of how good roads should be constructed, and of the kind of material best suited for that purpose. Wichita county needs to wake up on the question of good roads. If our farm and agricultural lands are as productive as we think they are, and as we would have home-seekers believe they are we must keep up with the progress of other counties and build good roads. The counties that are voting bonds for the construction of good roads are the counties that are now being rapidly settled by those who are seeking homes.

The medicine was acquired in Archer City."

Forty constitutionalist soldiers had been fighting federals on the bank of the river for half an hour, when the constitutionalists tried to cross the river and surrender to the American troops. The federals continued firing at them until they reached the American bank.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT A PRETTY PARTY

An announcement of more than ordinary interest on account of the prominence of both the young people was made yesterday afternoon, when in the very prettiest manner possible, the sister of the groom to be, Miss Ona Bell, announced the engagement of Miss Mabelle Jackson and Ben Mosely Bell, the wedding to take place on the sixth of May. Miss Bell invited the Old Maid and the Little Sisters as a few other friends to spend a social afternoon with her at the apartments of Mrs. Walter Robertson at Kemp Korst. After the guests had all assembled and some time had been spent in gay chat, Mrs. Robertson sang "O Fair, Sweet and Holy," with Miss Ona Bell at the piano. Miss Bell at the completion of the song changed the music into a wedding march, and Miss Jackson, who until then had been hidden, marched in and stood in the double doors leading to the music room, directly underneath a large heart, suspended by two ribbon streamers which was dropped down on her head. An arrow pointed to the bride-elect and a small keyhole disclosed the secret, the inscription reading "Ben Mosely Bell, May sixth, nineteen hundred and fourteen." Miss Jackson was attired in a bridal like frock of white, trimmed with pink orange blossoms, with a bridal veil on her head, the veil being caught up with pink sweet peas, and carried a shower bouquet. The rooms were beautifully decorated in the bride's colors, pink and white, and vases of pink and white carnations and sweet peas in the various rooms. Pot plants made a pleasing background for the charming scene. After the excitement had somewhat subsided

WIDE GIRLDES IN CONTRASTING COLORS

Most of the blouses, even those of lace, are worn with extremely high collars of contrasting colors, reaching sometimes to the bust. A pretty effect is obtained by using delicate lace, perhaps shot through with metal threads, for the waist proper, and combining with this a girde of old blue satin. A black jet-tassel falling over the blouse is smart. Some of the blouses are fastened with the usual buttons, with two points on the front and pockets on the side. They are made of suedes and plain, striped or colored silks. A ruffle may be added to the bottom of the softly draped ribbon belts to fall over the skirt and give the wearer a long waltz line. On such a waist, perhaps to be worn with lingerie waists, pretty white buttons are used effectively to trim the front.

DELIGHTFUL RECEPTION FOR MRS. W. LESLIE DAVIDSON

The charming home of Mrs. Sam Scalling was the scene and setting for a most delightful informal reception Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Sam Scalling, Mrs. D. P. Whitney and Mrs. J. W. Culbertson, honoring Mrs. W. Leslie Davidson of Pittsburg, Pa., sister-in-law of Mrs. Culbertson, and a bride of two weeks. The decorations were of pink, white and red carnations, potted plants, ferns and palms. Vases of the fragrant flowers beautified the entire reception suite, filling every available place. The card table stood in front of a large mirror in the hall, which was partially concealed by palms, and Katz orchestra was cunningly concealed at the side of the stairway by a series of ferns and palms. White carnations were given the preference in the clusters used in the drawing room, and pink and red in the dining room, while in the living room the pink flowers were favored. Vases of the flowers were placed on the serving table in the dining room and the handsome polished table was covered with a silver mirror reflector on a beautiful gold cloth. A mass of pink carnations, resting on a bank of asparagus ferns, graced the reflector. Here in the dining room the guests were served pink and white brick cream, pink and white cake, galled peaches and mints. The door of the house had been transformed into a bower for the punch bowl, where the guests were ushered after leaving the dining room. The house party was composed of a comparatively small number of ladies, all of whom were superbly equipped and looked their best. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. C. W. Beavers and were ushered to the receiving line by Mrs. J. P. Jackson. The receiving line was composed wholly of the three hostesses and the honoree Mrs. Davidson. Mrs. Harrington and Mrs. Baker stood between the drawing room and dining room doors and invited the guests into the dining room. Here they were served by Mesdames Arthur Huff, Burnside, Coyne and Ed Gardner. On leaving the dining room the guests were met in the hall by Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Adickes, and proceeded into the living room, where Mrs. Kell and Mrs. E. P. Greenwood were met at the door by Mrs. C. W. Beavers and were ushered to the punch bower. Mesdames Pounds and Bessey presided here. The orchestra music added much to the enjoyment of the occasion, which

COL. WILSON HOST TO BALL PLAYERS

ENTERTAINMENT AT 66 RANCH THOROUGHLY ENJOYED BY PLAYERS. Outdoor Dinner With Two Bees as the Host, Blended Building and Other Features. From Wednesday's Daily. Members of the Kansas City and Indiana State baseball teams together with a number of Wichitans were guests Tuesday at the ranch of Col. Luke Wilson in Archer county. The entire membership of both teams and about forty others; went down to the ranch in autos, ate a splendid dinner, watched a few wild west stunts, shot at jackrabbits and other wild animals and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. It was a novel experience for the baseball contingent, most of whom had never been on a ranch and they felt that it was worth the trip, in spite of the wind and dust that blew in their eyes all the way down. The only disappointing feature was the failure of the supposed outlaw horses to develop any fighting spirit but there were other features that made up for this. Barbecue Dinner. About twenty automobile loads of folks started out from town about 9 o'clock and motored to the ranch, visiting the points of interest on the domain. Noon found everybody gathered at one of the big tanks on the ranch, where dinner was ready. Two whole steers had been cooked, with remnants of potatoes, onions, beans, coffee and something that looked like kidney stew, but wasn't. There was a Wichita truck load of supplies from town but it did not take the place of the ancient chuck wagon from which the grub was dispensed. Everybody was his own waiter and the onslaught on the young men's buffet table became a war of attrition. The beef was cooked to just the right turn, being a product of the culinary art of Messrs. John Thomas and John Herndon, cooks on the ranch. A number of the visitors brought fire arms along and target shooting was among the diversions. George Stoval of Kansas City carefully explained to a young laddie from Wichita Falls how to handle the rifle, how to find the sights, etc.; the young lady seized the rifle and proceeded to pour a stream of lead into the middle of the target. Rough Riding Stunts. After dinner the visitors watched the cowboys round up some ponies for the rough riding stunts. The horses were ugly and troublesome enough until the riders mounted them. B. Marlow, one of the veterans of the range, had one of the cowboys explained to the ranch hands in handling the horses, but the latter showed little fight after being saddled and bridled. Jim Marlow had some trouble with one of the ponies, but eventually rode him out waiting them. There were exceptions. J. D. Burkett, one of the ranch hands, went sailing over the head of his mount, getting a fall that would have hurt most people. Everybody was invited over to the ranch house, where another bunch of horses were waiting them. B. Marlow and John Mann, both ex-cowboys, joined the ranch hands in handling the horses, but the latter showed little fight after being saddled and bridled. At a recent meeting of the city teachers institute, Superintendent G. H. Carpenter gave a very interesting review of the meeting of the National Educational Association at Richmond, Va., which he attended. Vocational education, child survey, the element of economy of time in school programs and the rural school became the center of interest, he reported.

Mr. Carpenter's review in part follows:

Liberal vs. Vocational.—A feature of the meeting was the vigorous, spirited address of Dr. David Snedden, commissioner of education for Massachusetts, and the no less forceful rejoinder of Prof. Wm. C. Bagley of the University of Illinois on the "Fundamental Distinctions between Liberal and Vocational Education." It aroused an enthusiasm such as educational meetings do not ordinarily awaken. The line-up between the advocates of the old liberal education and the advocates of the new vocational education was apparent. Prof. Bagley was the leader of the advocates of liberal culture and Dr. Snedden of the vocational training crowd. Dr. Snedden said:

"There can be no question but that America is confronted by the demand that vocational schools for the rank and file of workers shall be developed under public auspices and supported at public expense. Many States are enacting legislation to this end and even the national government is likely to lend financial support. Every educator is keenly interested in the social, economic and educational possibilities of vocational training."

"We must learn that true and efficient vocational training is something vastly different from general or liberal education, especially in secondary schools and colleges. True vocational education must not be bookish; it must center in the shop or the field or in the home."

"Liberal education should train the mind, taste and character, so as to make a man who is capable of so utilizing the resources of civilization as to benefit himself and to benefit other men who produce and who also utilize the goods of civilized society. But vocational education must make the producer rather than the consumer of utilities. Liberal education seeks to produce the broad, appreciative man; vocational education the intense skillful productive man."

Correlation of Work.—For the practical administration of vocational education Dr. Snedden urged separate organization of vocational schools, at least for the present. Supt. Condon of Cincinnati, agreed cause of the lack of properly trained teachers and the want of moral and religious motives which the study requires. The convention went on record in declaring the home to be the ideal place for such teaching by adopting the following resolution:

"Resolved, that we recognize fully the importance of the proper teaching of sex hygiene, but that we believe the ideal place for giving such instruction to be the home; that we believe the school should be willing and anxious to help the home in this matter as best it can. If instruction in sex hygiene is to be given at all it should be given by teachers specially qualified for such work."

The next meeting of the department will be held in Cincinnati.

perintendent of Rowan county, Ky., who has made a mark for herself in the educational world, and whose work may form the basis of a new system of teaching the rural population. Total of how she had varied the Kentucky program in Rowan county by the simple expedient of establishing moonlight schools, instead of stills. In her first moonlight school there were 1200 pupils. In one of the schools there was an eight year old girl and near her sat another girl eighty-six years old. In the second session nearly the whole illiterate portion of the county turned out. They came afoot, horseback, in wagons and carriages, anything so that they could get to school before the moon set. In this way 250 pupils who literally did not know A from Z were taught to read and write. The work was extended so that she obtained a complete record of every illiterate grown person in the county and then she established home schools. In which those who had been educated to the alphabet and what to do with it helped their less fortunate brothers and sisters to the mastery of the art. In these schools 2500 were enrolled and all learned to read and write and now there are only twenty-three illiterates in the county. Miss Stewart so touched the hearts of her audience that she was encouraged until forced to come back in acknowledgment.

Illiterates.—United States Commissioner of Education P. P. Carlton, said that he hoped to see the Rowan county plan carried out in every rural district of the country, for in a county in New York twenty-four per cent of the rural population is illiterate and in Pennsylvania there are more illiterate people than there are white men in Kentucky and Tennessee combined. In New York City there are, he said, 375,000 people who can not read and write. He asked support of a bill now pending before Congress to give the bureau of education funds with which to carry on its rural work.

Sanitation and Hygiene.—The meeting of the council of education aroused an interest among the members of the association not second to those of the department of superintendence. Rural school sanitation and hygiene were discussed the first evening. The addresses took the form of reports of progress in health propaganda but brought forth no startling statement of new methods or principals. The charts and statistical data which were presented will prove of great value for legislation in the several States. The two sessions devoted to standards and tests of efficiency evidenced satisfactory progress, the desirability of the further inquiry and experimentation. Sex hygiene was severely denounced by Miss Grace Strahlen of New York, and other speakers. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that the home is the proper place for this instruction and the school cannot effectively undertake it at present because of the lack of properly trained teachers and the want of moral and religious motives which the study requires. The convention went on record in declaring the home to be the ideal place for such teaching by adopting the following resolution:

"Resolved, that we recognize fully the importance of the proper teaching of sex hygiene, but that we believe the ideal place for giving such instruction to be the home; that we believe the school should be willing and anxious to help the home in this matter as best it can. If instruction in sex hygiene is to be given at all it should be given by teachers specially qualified for such work."

The next meeting of the department will be held in Cincinnati.

INSECTS AT WORK IN

WHEAT FIELDS, OAT LICE

Plant lice which have been at work on the wheat in the fields in this section are the "oat aphid" and not greenbugs and are not considered particularly destructive. This is the conclusion reached from a letter received by J. W. Campbell, agricultural demonstration agent here from the state entomologist. Mr. Campbell collected some of the lice that have been at work in the wheat fields and sent them to the Farmers Co-operative department at College Station. He received the following answer:

"Dear Sir:—Mr. Proctor has referred to me your letter of the 15th, with plant lice from wheat. The specimens prove to be the oat aphid and are not likely to be particularly destructive for, as a usual thing parasites bring this species under control within a short time after the weather turns warm. This is not nearly as serious a pest as the green bug or spring grain aphid."

"You will understand, of course, that we are passing only on the identity of the specimens you sent us. It sometimes happens that the oat aphid will occur in one part of the field and the green bug in another part of the same field and we are not presuming to say what may or may not be in the various fields of your locality or even in the different parts of the field from which these specimens were taken."

"You can distinguish this oat aphid from the green bug very easily by the fact that the oat aphid has a decided pinkish tinge at the posterior end of the body, that is, at the tip of the abdomen. You can see this very readily with a magnifying glass and probably without trouble with the naked eye if you examine specimens in a good light. The green bug does not have this pinkish color on the abdomen."

"Awaiting your further pleasure, I am, Very truly yours,
"WILMON NEWELL."

REFINERY WILL HAVE

800 BARREL CAPACITY

From The Sunday Times

A change in the plans for the oil refinery to be established because known yesterday when it was learned that the plant will have a capacity of 800 barrels daily, instead of 300 as at first announced. The details of the organization are rapidly nearing completion and a complete announcement of the plans is expected within the next few days.

The plant which will be operated as a branch of a San Antonio refinery, will be located in North Wichita. Considerable local capital will be back of it, and a number of independent operators in the Northwest Texas field have contracted their oil with the new concern.

The refinery will give employment to a large number of men and will be an important addition to the city's industries.

We pay cash for eggs, Trevathans.

DISTRICT ATHLETIC MEET ON APRIL 11

DIRECTOR BRANT MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT OF EVENTS AND RULES

MEET WILL BE HELD HERE

Junior Contests in the Morning and Senior Contests in the Afternoon
J. A. Brant, district director of athletics for the Wichita Falls district makes the following announcement concerning the forthcoming meet here:

The Wichita Falls district track meet will be held at Wichita Falls Saturday, April 11 in accordance with the plans of the University Interscholastic League. The contest for schools of junior rank, including those extending no higher than the ninth grade, will take place at 9:30 in the morning while the contest for schools of senior rank with grades above the ninth will take place at 2 p. m.
Each ward school of a city shall count as a separate junior school. The junior contest is the preliminary to the final meet at Austin. The result of the senior contest, however, in no way affects the right of any senior school to participate in the University meet. Selections from the junior contestants in this meet will be made on the basis of individual point winners and not on the basis of schools, however, the school winning the most points shall be declared the champion of the district.

The eligibility rules follow: (a) No school shall enter this meet that is not a member of the University Interscholastic League. (b) No school shall be represented in this meet by any person who has ever competed for money or who has ever pursued athletic exercises for money or any valuable consideration or who has ever taught or assisted in teaching athletic exercises for money or other valuable consideration. (c) No person shall be permitted to participate in this meet unless he shall have been a bona fide pupil of the school which he represents for at least two weeks immediately prior to the contest and shall have a passing grade in at least three of his studies. (d) No person shall be allowed to participate in this meet as a representative of a high school if he shall have passed his twenty-first birthday on the day of the meet.

The principal of each school intending to participate in this meet shall send an entry list of the eligible members of his school to the district director of athletics at least one week before the meet. No school shall enter more than four nor start more than three men in any event. The order for the senior events will be as follows: Fifty yard dash, one hundred and twenty yard dash, low hurdles, running broad jump, one hundred yard dash, running high jump, one mile run, two hundred and twenty yard dash, twelve pound hammer throw, pole vault, four forty yard run, twelve pound shot put, eight eighty yard dash, discus throw, one mile relay race.
The order for junior events will be as follows: Fifty yard dash; pole vault; one hundred yard dash; running broad jump; chinning the bar; two twenty yard run; running high jump; standing hop, step and jump; forty yard run; base ball throw; tug-of-war; half mile relay race.

First, second and third places shall count five, three and one point respectively, except in the mile and half mile relay in which they shall count ten, five and two points respectively.
The visiting contestants shall bear their own expenses in the first instance. After the expenses for arranging and advertising the meet have been paid, the remainder of the gate receipts will be divided among the participating schools on the basis of amount of round trip railroad fares only, not to include sleeper, meals and other expenses for six persons from each school.
It is hoped that all of the twelve counties in this district will be well represented at the meet. Let all the county officers unite to promote this worthy event and make it an annual occasion of great significance. Visiting schools will be shown every courtesy on coming here.

YOUR HAIR NEEDS PARISIAN SAGE

It Quickly Removes Dandruff

Just because your hair is full of dandruff, thin, streaky, and never will do up to look pretty, do not despair. Beautiful hair, thick, fluffy, lustrous and absolutely free from dandruff is only a matter of care.

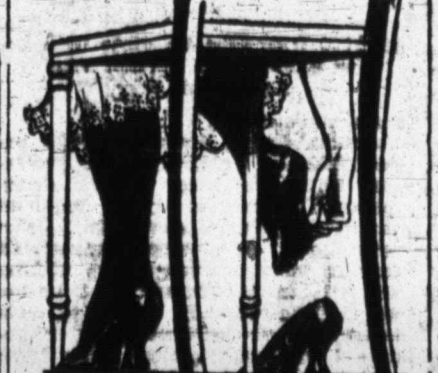

Parisian Sage frequently applied will work wonders. Just one application stops itching head, removes dandruff and all excessive oil. It goes right to the hair roots and furnishes the nourishment needed—the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life.

Parisian Sage not only saves the hair but stimulates it to grow long and heavy. Get a 50 cent bottle from Foushee & Lynch at once. There is no other just as good. (Adv.)

There's No Corn That "GETS IT" Won't Get

No More Fussing, Plasters, Salves and Corn Pains. Try the New Way

Just look at the way that corn comes off. It is what you see. You say when you try wonderful GETS-IT on that corn you've tried so long to pry off of your toe. It is easy to apply GETS-IT—once, two, three, and it is done. The corn begins to shrivel, away she goes, surely, absolutely.

A few drops will do it. GETS-IT never makes toes red and raw. Corn pains go. It means the end of cutting and gouging of corns, the end of sticky plasters that don't work anyhow, the end of salves that eat up your toes, no more harness or fussing. Try GETS-IT, the new, sure way for corns and calluses.

GETS-IT is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. GETS-IT is sold in Wichita Falls by J. F. Reed and the Palace Drug Store. (Adv.)

AUTOMATIC WURLITZER ORCHESTRA INSTALLED

After a slight delay in transit the Automatic Wurlitzer Orchestra arrived Wednesday at the Victoria Theatre and was immediately installed. The orchestra is a massive piece of furniture, beautiful in design and contains an instrumentation of nine pieces. The music produced is of a fine tone and quality and the instrument is all that could be desired. The new orchestra brings the standard of the musical program up to that of the picture program and the theatre might now be said to be one hundred per cent efficient.

Empress.

The notable feature film "Jean of Arc" is showing today at the Empress. Everywhere that the picture has been shown it has drawn immense crowds and in the larger cities has had a run of several weeks in one theatre, playing to capacity houses at every performance. The picture depicts the life of the Maid of Orleans from childhood until the time when she gives up her life, a precious sacrifice to the ignorance and superstition of the age. The siege of Orleans, the coronation of Charles VII, and the taking of Las Tourelles are all graphically portrayed with much realism in this wonderful photo drama. Tomorrow will be presented "The Gods Desire." A story of adventure in the pursuit of a sacred necklace that carries the spectator through a series of thrilling episodes and hair breadth escapes. The setting of the picture is gorgeous and barbaric in its dazzling splendor. The special music attraction adds much to the program.

Gen.

A wonderful wild animal picture is to be seen today at the Gem. "In the Midst of the Jungle" is the attraction, featuring Cathleen Williams and Herbert Busworth, with a vast additional company. This is one of the celebrated Seitz wild animal pictures and the picture is made in the midst of jungle splendor and is full of the charm of the wilderness. Two other pictures complete the program.

Majestic.

The general public has no conception of the immense cost of producing photo drama spectacles. In Geo. Kleine's latest success, "Between Savage and Tiger," a small fortune was spent on animals alone. Three Bengal tigers, a doe and a water buffalo are shot to death; a huge ship is completely destroyed by fire and a number of elephants and horses are used in the production. All these cost large sums of money to say nothing of the salaries of the actors and the terrific expense entailed in getting the correct scenic environment.

Old Friends.
As I sit and inhale the perfume
Of the roses that brighten my room
I am thinking of friends, true and tried,
Who have passed with the change in life's tide.

And I sigh when my roses shall fade
And their leaves in the rose jar be laid
Other flowers my vases shall fill,
I can always replace them at will.

But I would not replace if I could
The friends who in loyalty stood.
When the sun upon other lands beams
Old friends, I am with you in dreams.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TEXAS

URGENT APPEAL MADE BY MRS. ELI HERTZBERG

Dear Club Friends: A letter from our beloved Mrs. Pennybacker says that at the biennial, while Mrs. White, the chairman of the membership committee, renders her report the state secretaries to the General Federation will be asked to take seats on the platform.

Mrs. White will tell of the number of new clubs brought into that organization by each state federation. Now will you not help Texas to take the lead in this report? Just think how proud our president would feel to have her home state announced as leading in membership. If I had the time I would go before each of the clubs in person and ask you to join the General Federation now, ask you to show your love for and loyalty to Mrs. Pennybacker and the great mother organization.

The time to join has been extended to the fifth of April. Do not delay, but write me immediately. I understand other states are working hard. We must place Texas where she belongs, at the head. Faithfully yours,

MRS. ELI HERTZBERG.

The women of Waco are urging every man and woman in that city to become a member of the Humane Society and to see that capable officers will be placed on the streets, empowered to make arrests where and when necessary. The duty of each member will be to assist these officers in keeping a look-out for all cases of violation of the of the humane laws. A society of that sort would not be amiss in Wichita Falls.

The Study Suffrage Club of Waco held open meeting for all the women of the city who desired to study Texas laws and how they affect women at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the library. A prominent lawyer of the town presented the subject to the club. This club is one of the most active of its kind in the state.

Governor Colquitt has announced May 2 as Texas Flag Day, when small Texas flags bearing a suitable inscription will be held there on April 1. Mrs. Isadora Kahn the chairman of the "honor tag" committee has issued a call for girls and young ladies to assist in the selling of the tags, the proceeds from the sale of which will go to the various charitable institutions and enterprises, fostered by the City Federation. The manager of the city railways has issued an order that all women wearing the badge of the Tag-day workers will be permitted to ride the street cars free on Tag-day. A number of the honor tags selling at five dollars and up has already been sold and indications point to a very large sum being raised.

PLANTS HAVE AFFINITIES SAME AS "AFFINITY EARLE."

Washington, March 25.—To the unlimited uninitiated it would seem that more than the Atlantic ocean and a few hundred miles of land separated "Affinity Earle" in Paris and a field of cowpeas in Arkansas, but the bureau of plant industry has just proven that forage crops have affinities just as marked as the notorious artist. Cowpeas in particular have an affinity for oats.

It has long been known to scientists that some plants are benefitted and some injured by association, and recent experiments have demonstrated that leguminous plants, including peas, clover and alfalfa, when planted with certain cereals show a mutual increase in productivity. It appears that the leguminous plants not only gather nitrogen from the atmosphere by means of their root-tubercle bacteria and are therefore able to make a large growth, but that some of the nitrogen so gathered is passed on to the nonleguminous plant associated with it.

The affinity of the stalwart Timothy for the blushing red clover has long been understood by farmers in a general way and now it has been demonstrated that Timothy has another

Veal Loaf, Hamberger Steak—For Economy.

Do you make a veal loaf, hamberger or chili as often as you would like to?

If you have to chop the meats yourself, you probably haven't. Then here's a suggestion.

In cutting up meats, in my department, there are left from the forequarters and other parts pieces that, ground up, would make excellent veal loaf, and Hamberger or chili material.

In the bulk they don't look quite so attractive as a round of steak or some other part of the beef that you might select, but when they are ground up they are just as nutritious, just as satisfactory and far cheaper.

Suppose you try this this week. Give me an order ground up, would make excellent veal loaf, and hamberger steak or a chili and I think you will find something very satisfactory and economical.

clover and alfalfa do not get along very well together.

The increased growth of plants in combination over that of single crops, together with the improved composition of the former, has resulted in some cases of an increase of more than 30 per cent in the production of protein per acre. This increased value probably extends to the roots and the stems left in the soil and means much in the production of food for stock and in soil improvement.

FUNERAL OF STEARMAN HELD THIS AFTERNOON

Ira Moore Will be Given Examining Trial Saturday Afternoon at Two O'clock

The funeral of Delma Stearman, who died Thursday, was held this afternoon from the family residence near the Holiday creek bridge south-east of the city. Burial was in Riverside cemetery and a number of sorrowing relatives and friends accompanied the remains there.

The examining trial of Ira Moore, under arrest on a charge of murder in connection with Stearman's death, has been set for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Justice Howard's court.

JUDGE DECKER BELIEVES IN INTERVENTION IN MEXICO

Judge Decker returned from Browns ville last week having accompanied Mr. Craig, assistant receiver of the Frisco, Messrs. Lazarus and Sommer on a tour of inspection over the Frisco lines. Our townsman reports condition in Mexico appalling, and says that about eleven million of them are wishing for intervention on the part of this country to terminate the present intolerable conditions. These poor people do not wish anything but to work their fields in peace, and, forced into the army, do not know what they are fighting for.

For the sake of alleviating untold suffering, Judge Decker holds, this government ought to intervene.

Editorial and Business Office, 167

Wichita Falls, Texas, March 27, 1914

Clarence Outley declares to make the race for Governor against Tom Ball, the prohibition candidate. His retirement will cause disappointment to many who would have been delighted to follow his flag, as well as to others who had their knives sharpened to use on his political anatomy.

The rain of last night, while not very heavy, seems to have been general all over this section of the state. In this city the fall amounted to one and one-fifth of an inch, as reported by one rain gauge and ninety-seven one-hundredths of an inch by another. The two gauges are located about one mile apart. That it was needed and will greatly help the wheat crop there is no doubt. Rains are nearly always welcome at this time of year, and the more we get the better we like it.

Don't forget the good roads meeting to be held at the Court-House in this city tomorrow afternoon. Those who want to see Wichita county get in line with the progressive counties of Texas in the way of voting bonds for the building of good roads are expected to be present. If they remain away it will be an indication that they do not want good roads, and are very well satisfied with the kind we now have.

American capitalists have been pouring for years these millions into Mexico, notwithstanding the great need of money at home. And now when their property is being destroyed by semi-civilized Indians, and their investments are no longer profitable, they are execrating Wilson and Bryan for rushing this country into war to save their holdings. Why, certainly, our people ought to shed their blood for these capitalists, they have shown so much regard for our welfare!—Quinnah Tribune-Chief.

The Tribune-Chief has the situation sized up about right. Those Americans who have their money invested in Mexico ought to be content to keep still. They could have found opportunities for investment at home, but preferred to send their money to Mexico. Now, in order to keep them from losing a few million, they want the National government to intervene, which would mean war, and the loss of thousands of American lives to say nothing of the cost.

The wheat is looking fine in this section. Viewed from the passenger trains on the several railroads entering the Channah, a big crop seems assured. While there is some talk of "we need rain," it is more talk than need. Farmers and others who have been investigating say the crop can go two weeks yet without rain and show no deterioration. Don't get scared too soon. This will not be a "yellow year."—Quinnah Observer.

Reports like the above are general throughout this, the wheat growing section of Texas. Since a good rain has fallen—those who were beginning to feel blue as to the prospects, can now take on new courage. The prospects for an abundant wheat crop are fully as good at this time as ever before. Another good rain in April, and one or two in May will be all that is necessary, and we have never yet failed to get rains in April and May.

The Times has been asked why it is that so many boys wearing knee pants are to be seen on the streets of this city daily smoking cigarettes. In reply, it will say that perhaps the parents of these boys have given their consent to dealers in cigarettes to sell their boys all the cigarettes they can smoke and pay for. But if this is not true, then the law governing the sale of cigarettes is being violated. It is not this newspaper's business to find out who the parents of these boys are, or whether they have given their permission to smoke cigarettes or not. The officers might take up some of their time in determining that matter.

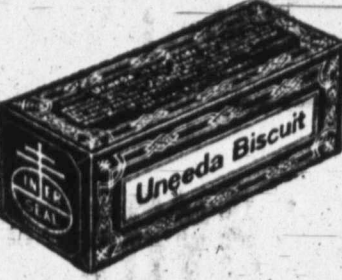

Many local politicians and citizens are somewhat dissatisfied over the announcement that Hon. Horace Chilton has declined to offer as a candidate for Governor.

date for governor. Mr. Chilton is one of Texas' greatest and best men and should he have entered the race, pro and anti alike, would have supported him and he would have been elected. The Record knows of no man whom it would rather see governor of this state than he.—Vernon Record.

But the leaders were against Mr. Chilton. His one great sin is that he is not a particular admirer or endorser of ex-Senator Bailey, and both factions of the Democratic party in Texas are dominated by friends of Mr. Bailey. Senator Chilton, while he did not give that as a reason for declining to enter the contest, did say that he would not become a candidate unless he was sure he could carry with him the support and endorsement of the better element of both factions. He would have made Texas a great governor.

WONDERFUL WICHITA The following information from the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, Robert E. Huff, president, came to State Press by telegraph: City of Wichita Falls votes twenty-five thousand dollars hospital bonds. Only forty-four negative votes. Wichita County, like amount, same purpose. Only one hundred thirty-nine votes dissented. What other city or county can match this record?

No other city or county can match that record, Wichita is said generally. Any town moved by such progressiveness and such unanimity of public sentiment, Wichita Falls is bound to become an important and large center of population. Even without some of the natural advantages that Wichita Falls has, its energetic self-helpfulness would make a city of it.—State Press in Dallas News.

THE PROOF OF A DEMOCRAT IS HIS DEMOCRACY By Lester B. Colby in Houston Chronicle.

Who's a Democrat? It's a comparatively simple question to answer. It's not the hardest thing in the world to find out. There's a high authority up in Washington. He knows. If you want to get what's real in politics you can take it from Woodrow Wilson. You can't fool Woodrow any more on politics than you could fool his mother, as a boy, by wetting your hair, splashing the water against the wall, and telling her you had had your bath. Come Johnson of Tyler has been assigned a job. It is a good job. It is to be solicitor of the state department. He will be closely associated with William Jennings Bryan and Mr. Wilson himself. It is a place that requires a man of brains. It brings with it both an interesting salary and a heap of honor. But aside from all these things it shows who Woodrow Wilson thinks is a Democrat down here in Texas. It is the retrogressives, who style themselves democrats, met in Dallas the other day. What did they do? They declared themselves the democratic party.

And it is to smile

Therefore and perforce, we are moved to smile a smile, to almost laugh a laugh. It makes us think of the tall cutting of the dog and declaring itself the whole pup. The tall of democracy did considerable wagging at Dallas, but it didn't shake the body of the party much. He to return from Dallas and to take up the career of Cone Johnson. Mr. Johnson was one of the "faithful forty" who stood like Gibraltar and fought like Hercules—at the convention at Baltimore.

There was a short time when the career of Woodrow Wilson was trembling. And during this time and in this hour of need Cone Johnson rose and spoke like a Demosthenes. Shoulder to shoulder he fought, and side by side he battled, with William Jennings Bryan and Thomas H. Ball to save Woodrow Wilson to the nation.

Cone Johnson's speech at Baltimore was one of the greatest efforts of his life. Few efforts in any life could approach it. Men have been frenzied by the speeches of Cone Johnson before. But this, when the political life of him destined to be the greatest president of modern times was at stake, is regarded as the greatest oratorical achievement of his career.

Battled the Retrogressives— And long before he went to the Baltimore convention Cone Johnson had battled the retrogressive element in Texas. He had carried on the fight for long years. None of us who were there can forget the great convention in Houston when the seals of the government were torn from the hands of the old guard of bourgeois.

And it was in this convention that the fame of little "Nubbin" Cobb sprang forth. And it was in this convention that Cato Selts was from a partisan democrat the place he occupies on the national executive committee. And Cato Selts was chosen as head of the bureau of Indian affairs.

And the head of the bureau of Indian affairs ranks almost with a cabinet position in responsibility, perhaps greater in point of opportunity. Therefore we are impelled and compelled to ask once more: "Who is a democrat?"

Easier, maybe, it would be to find out who is not a democrat. We would say, perhaps, that as all is not gold that glitters, so all is not democrat that parades its democracy or holds conventions or reads the friends of Woodrow Wilson out of the democratic party.

It's a game to tell de truth, now, 'jedge,' doesn't mean that the truth is necessarily forthcoming. Let's see the proof of democracy! Let's see the deeds and the documents! Let's see who those who seek our votes are "ganging" with. The proof is in the pudding.

A SENATOR CALLS ON THE SCHOOLMASTER

So I went to see the Schoolmaster. He greeted me warmly. "Concerning this bill for the regulation of interstate baseball—" he said. "Mr. Schoolmaster," I said, "let me make my position clear at the start. I am unalterably opposed to the bill." "Your incisive statement of opinion affords me extraordinary pleasure," said the Schoolmaster. "That is why I sent for you. I want you to help me ascertain the truth. In my perplexity I have been saying to myself, 'What are the defects of a bill which elicit such vigorous opposition from a statesman of such exceptional insight and knowledge? I was sure you could make things plain to me.'"

It struck me that he had a fine, clear eye. "That is what I have been saying to myself," continued the Schoolmaster. "I have said, 'There must be some unanswerable argument which impels a man-of that caliber to cling to a position which has been denounced as viciously reactionary by the leading newspaper of the state.'"

"I said, 'Mr. Schoolmaster, may I see the editorial in question?' He handed me a marked copy of my home paper. 'I was struck by the firm lines of his mouth. "I have always admired definiteness of conviction," said the Schoolmaster. "I was impressed by your courageous attitude on the bill because of the numerous telegrams that have reached me from influential persons in your State protesting against your attitude."

"May I see the telegrams?" I said. He handed me a sheaf of yellow telegraph sheets. "I was struck with the sense of power in his long, lean fingers. "Of course," said the Schoolmaster. "I have said to myself that you must take orders from your conscience and not from your constituents; and all the more because you have against you a majority of your own party, of whom a sufficient number have declared in favor of the bill to make its passage certain."

"How do I know that, Mr. Schoolmaster?" I said. He handed me a batch of letters written on Congressional stationery. "I studied them a little while, and my duty became clear to me."

"Mr. Schoolmaster," I said, "I will vote for the bill."

He rose and paced the room, stopping in front of me. "My dear Senator," he said earnestly, "let me implore you not to be over-hasty in this matter. It is less your vote I desire than your assistance toward my own enlightenment."

But I would not be dissuaded. "I am determined to vote for the bill," I said. He pulled out his watch. "Unfortunately," he said, "I have an engagement, else I would pursue the subject with you."

HOW NEAR HUERTA CAME TO GIVING UP

EXONERATION OF ARCHBISHOP BRINGS TO LIGHT INNER HISTORY

HE WAS ABOUT TO ABDICATE

Was Only Dissuaded From Action By Men Who Had Selfish Interests At Stake

Mexico City, March 27.—The exoneration by the authorities at Rome of Archbishop Mora del Rio of Mexico, brought to light the fact that there were certain members of the Catholic party in Mexico who were receiving extensive favors from Victoriano Huerta, Mexico's dictator, and who, in return for these favors went so far as to lodge charges of meddling in politics against Archbishop Mora del Rio, the charges being placed in the Vatican itself.

On first hand information the press is able to explain the activities of Archbishop Mora del Rio, which formed the basis of the charges at Rome. About the first of December the Archbishop began a campaign of persuasion among Huerta's friends with the object of endeavoring to persuade Huerta that he ought, for the sake of his country, to step out of office. This campaign was highly effective for a time, so much so that he felt inclined to leave the presidency, in accord with the wishes of President Wilson, and take the field himself in Northern Mexico. It was only by the utmost persuasion that Huerta's friends, whose financial and political interests were at stake, talked him out of the idea.

Archbishop Mora del Rio's argument was a strong and simple one, as he reached the ears of Huerta through his friends and as Mora himself told it to Huerta one evening when the president called at the archbishop's home. "Huerta has done the best he can," declared the archbishop. "Yet the situation grows worse and worse. What a magnificent place Huerta would take in the Mexican history if, to save bloodshed and to hasten peace in Mexico, he would declare to President Wilson, 'I have done my best but I am not strong enough to bring peace and so much tumult and such conflicts of selfish interests as prevail here, I step down from my high office, with the understanding that you will take the responsibility of settling affairs in Mexico and putting the country again at peace.'"

Undoubtedly if Huerta had followed the advice of the archbishop, President Wilson would have been placed in a highly embarrassing situation; for, to bring peace, it would have been necessary either to support Carranza and oppose Huerta, even if Huerta had put President Wilson under obligation by resigning his dictatorship. On the whole, it is very fortunate for President Wilson that Archbishop Mora del Rio's plans were not carried out.

This is the story of how the rebels saved their first gunboat, the Tampico. It's a short story, full of many happenings in Mexico are taken into consideration. It began Christmas evening, in the port of Guaymas, where the Tampico had entered the harbor to give her crew an opportunity to celebrate. The officers gave a ball. The highest society folks in Guaymas went out onto the gunboat. The champagne and the hours had a race to see which would fly most rapidly. It was a neck and neck contest until two o'clock, by which time the society girls and maids had become very well acquainted with the Mexican seafighters of the Tampico.

Suddenly the lights went out on the gunboat. Who put them out no one knows. Why they were put out is another question that even Huerta himself has tried in vain to answer. A tremendous clamor arose from the officers and husbands on board. They demanded that the lights be turned on.

Please send me the away I pair of glasses so I can read a needle with me. I am 5-2 feet tall and way 152 pounds—I am going on 59 years old and have a strabismic eye, only it is turned up a bit at the tip. I am a farmer's wife and need my spectacles to see how to pick the flies out of the milk. I also need them to sew buttons on Jim's breeches. My eyes are dark brown and have a coal black. I am looking for you by return mail and hope I won't be disappointed. Yours, SALLY PONDER.

KEEPING SOUND AND NORMAL Too Many Neglect the Wonderful Machine Which Constitutes the Human Body.

You never saw a clock that didn't need rewinding, a machine which wouldn't break down, a lamp that did not require refilling. Experience has taught you when to use the key, where to look for lost screws and bolts, and what oil will produce the most light with the least waste.

It's surprising how careful we are with the things upon which we depend for comfort, and the tools on which we rely for our livelihood. But how about the most important piece of machinery under the stars—that body of yours? It's far more delicate than the most intricate mechanical device, much more sensitive. A marvelous affair, strung with minute nerves, crossed and criss-crossed with tiny feed and drain pipes, equipped with a furnace, storage stations, little warehouses to hold emergency supply—in fact, it is a manufacturing plant with more departments than you'd ever imagine, and every one of them needing constant attention. You are as healthy and capable as you are sound and normal.

If you exercise half the care in your body-keeping that you do in your house-keeping there is no telling how long you'll live or how comfortable you can be. Every pain, every ache, is a little warning—one of nature's alarm signs telling you that something is out of order, one of the little wires in the tangled web of a pipe is choked up. Your boilers may need a good cleaning. You have put improper fuel into your furnace, and it is either generating too much warmth or too little—Woman's World.

Spring Is Here

The season when the poet gets busy filling the printed page with rhythmic anapests and the singer birds, whispering zephyrs and babbling brooks. The angler gets out his tackle and hunts for a likely looking place to dig bait. The city farmer—lugs home a load of thoroughbred garden seed from which he expects to glut the truck market with radishes that will no doubt cost him a dollar a piece. Barefooted boys, straw hats and sand storms mark the coming of Spring.

With the arrival of spring we have overhauled our big soda fountain. Our stock of pure fruits, pure fruit juices and syrups, the largest stock ever shipped to Wichita Falls is here. Everything is in ship shape. Our soda fountain-man is a veteran of many summers and knows the fountain business as a sailor knows the sea. Our fountain department will please you as it has thousands of others in summers gone. Come and see.

AN INCH RAINFALL HERE LAST NIGHT

GOVERNMENT GAUGE REGISTERED .97 INCHES AND SIMMONS GAUGE 1.20

RAIN OVER A WIDE AREA

Precipitation, However, Appears To Have Been Heaviest in Vicinity of Wichita Falls

About an inch of rain—97 by the government gauge—and 1.20 by the Simmons gauge—fell in Wichita Falls last night and over a wide section of territory. The rain covered most of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma, being heaviest, apparently in this city and the territory immediately adjacent.

The rain was accompanied by a brisk wind and by a brilliant electrical display. Some damage was done. The change in the weather followed an afternoon that was almost sultry, the warm weather giving away to a cold wind, followed shortly by the rain. Many shoppers who were downtown without wraps experienced some discomfort before reaching home. The rain continued until nearly midnight. Owing to the wind which accompanied it, it did not soak into the ground to any extent, but was nevertheless quite beneficial, coming at an opportune time for spring planting.

Rain was reported at all points on the Denver from Childress to Fort Worth, being light south of Decatur. No showers were reported north of Childress. On the Valley, Byers, Petrolia and Holliday reported heavy showers while Seymour, Gorze, Munday, Stamford and Anson reported light showers. All points on the Southern way visited and the rain extended some distance into Southwest Oklahoma.

MORE SIGNATURES FOR CANDIDATES' PETITIONS

Majority of Those Filled Found Lacking Necessary Number of Signatures

With few exceptions, petitions filed with City Secretary McCarty for the nomination of candidates in the coming city election, were found to be lacking in the required number of signatures and were returned to the candidate. Most of them have secured the additional signers needed. Each petition must have fifty signers and each signer must be a qualified voter. Many persons affixed their names to qualified voters and citizens who were not registered and City Secretary McCarty was forced to strike out all such names. The petitions must be filed at least ten days before the election, which means that tomorrow is the last day, as the secretary's office will not be open on Sunday.

HIGH RENT PROBLEM IS SOLVED IN SERVIA

Belgrade, Servia, March 27.—Servia is confident it has just successfully solved the problem of soaring rents. Following the two recent Balkan wars in which Servia doubled its territory at the expense of Turkey and Bulgaria, there was an influx of population into Belgrade that caused rents to go up to an all but prohibitive point. A new law by parliament went into effect today doubling the taxes on all unoccupied houses and apartments which it is confidently believed, will cause landlords at least to think twice before refusing a tenant who cannot pay as much as the landlord would like.

COUNCILMEN SHY AT LIBRARY PROPOSAL

LACK OF FAITH IN ABILITY OF LADIES TO CARRY OUT PLANS

MIGHT LOSE PRE-EMINENCE

Rival Organization Might Ask For Same Concession—No Action Taken

Consideration of the United Clubs' plan to use the City Park for a public library site occupied the attention of the city council for a time Thursday night and while no definite action was taken, the discussion proceeded sufficiently far to show that some of the councilmen are very shy of the proposition. While no one expressed it in specific terms, there seemed to be a lack of faith in the ability of the ladies to carry their plan to successful fruition, and the fears of what might happen to the city in such a case, caused the aldermen to hesitate.

A plan was outlined by City Attorney Bonner, however, whereby the clubs might protect the city. He suggested that the clubs either incorporate or that they appoint some individual as trustee, so that the city might deal with some constituted authority. It would also be necessary he said, for the city to be indemnified against mechanics' or material men's liens and he wanted provision made to protect the city in case the library building should be moved away from the site.

Mayor Pro Tem Bradley pointed out that the United Clubs, while not representing the leading women's organizations of the city, might in time have a rival and the rival organization would have the same right to ask for a park as the present one. Mr. Bradley cited his experiences with the tabernacle building and said he did not want a repetition of it. The discussion of the matter, the council taking no action.

Many Offers For Bonds

Owing to an error in certifying the returns there was no canvass of the bond election returning and this will be done at the next meeting. It was stated that over thirty offers for these bonds have been received to date.

The city ordered the purchase from N. Henderson of a tract on Seventh street adjoining the Huff-McGregor street, giving the park a Seventh street frontage of 250 feet; the consideration was $300.

The council approved plans for the curb lines at Tenth and Denver and Eleventh and Brook. At the former place the trees on the Hines premises are to be moved inside the yard so as to make the street of sufficient width for paving. At Eleventh and Brook the sharp turn which is now necessary will be obviated.

GOOD ROADS MEETING SATURDAY AFTERNOON

R. J. Potts of A. & M. College Will Be Principal Speaker at Meeting Here

The doctrine of good roads will be preached to Wichita county taxpayers tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the court house by Prof. R. J. Potts of A. & M. College, who has accepted an invitation to speak here. The address will be delivered in the district court room, in connection with the fourth of the series of good roads meetings held in this county. Prof. Potts is one of the leading authorities in the State on this subject and those who attend are assured an interesting talk.

After Saturday's Meeting, It is Expected That the Real Work of Organizing for the bond issue campaign will begin throughout the county and the circulating of petitions to call the election will start. As soon as these receive a sufficient number of signatures, the real fight for the bonds will start.

Use Cottolene on the testimony of the past

The first pure food display of Cottolene which attracted more than National attention was at the World's Fair, in Chicago in 1893.

That meant that Cottolene had then been known well enough and long enough to have its place in the homes of America.

Since then it is fair to say that Cottolene has revolutionized and bettered cooking in hundreds of thousands of homes.

Cottolene

is imitated—of course—but is unequalled. Any woman who knows it and uses it will tell you that it more than takes the place of butter or lard for shortening and frying.

Remember that you use one-third less Cottolene than you do of butter or lard.

Write us today for our FREE Cook Book, filled with splendid recipes by the most famous experts. Tell your dealer to send you a pair of Cottolene, follow the simple instructions and the results will be so gratifying that you will never go back to old fashioned, wasteful cooking fats.

SOME DAMAGE WROUGHT THURSDAY NIGHT'S STORM

Man Killed at Dr. Tyson's Farm and About 40 Telephones Out of Business

Some damage was wrought Thursday night by the electrical storm which prevailed in and near this city. The sun total of the destruction was light. On the farm of Dr. L. Tyson, a barn was struck by lightning and a Jersey bull and cow and a Poland China sow were killed. About forty telephones in the city were put out of commission, but most of this damage had been repaired this afternoon.

In the oil field there was little damage and what barn was done was caused by water which overflowed several tanks and did other minor damage. Today is the anniversary of the storm of 1913, which did considerable damage in the field.

HOW DOES THE U.S. OF EUROPE SOUND?

IF SIR MAX WAECHTER HAS HIS WAY UNION OF NATIONS WILL BE REALITY

EUROPEAN UNITY LEAGUE

General Federation of European Countries is Proposed For Economy and Betterment

London, March 27.—The United States of Europe. Sounds sort of fantastical—but it is the well thought out idea of one of England's hardest headed and most successful business men and he is boosting it with just as much energy as the really expected to live to see its accomplishment. He is 74 now but he is an active physically as a good many men a score of years his junior, perhaps he has a fighting chance to witness the realization of his unique ambition after all.

In the past two months Sir Max Waechter and the British government have been engaged in a fierce competition to ascertain which could spend the most money in advertising—Waechter soliciting recruits for his European Unity League and the government having the young men of the country to enlist in the British Army. Following the example of the war office, Waechter has been running full page display ads in the leading London and provincial papers at from $500 to $1500 an insertion.

Peace is a business proposition with him, just as war is with the government. Waechter's regular vocation is ship building, but since the formation of the league he has been devoting practically all of his time to the organization of his league—which now numbers nearly a thousand serious minded Britishers, many of them prominent in political, commercial and literary life—and to the dissemination of its principles throughout the land. In a nutshell, here are his plans and the reasons for them, as he outlined them today at the League's offices in St. James street:

"If we are to abolish war and the ruinously expensive preparations for war that are now impoverishing Europe, we must abolish the disunion at present existing among the Great Powers. The antagonistic grouping of the six big nations into the Triple Alliance (Germany, Austria and Italy) and the Triple Entente (Great Britain, Russia and France), which has produced so much distrust and jealousy and wild competition in armaments, must give way to the Sextuple Alliance, and this will naturally lead to a general federation of European countries—the United States of Europe. Under present conditions all attempts to restrict armaments are bound to end in failure. Armaments can be restricted only if they become unnecessary only when Europe is united.

Unification should take place on a federal and economic basis—like the United States of America—leaving to each component nation the fullest possible measure of individual liberty and enabling it to deal with its own affairs in its own way. A feature of the Federation would be the elimination of the present customs boundaries. All Europe should form one great free trade market protected by a proper tariff against the nations without. "Under the Federation the two and a half billion dollars now spent by Europe annually on its armies and navies would go into the channels of trade and commerce and the five million soldiers and sailors, the strongest and healthiest men of their respective races, would be released to re-enter the field of production and to maintain themselves and others by the work of their hands, instead of being maintained by the rest of the population. In America enterprise is greater and wages are higher, largely because the wealth of the country is not drained away in the mad race for armaments."

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED AT MORAN-JOHNSON FIGHT.

Paris, March 26.—It is now a certainty that the heavyweight "championship" fight between Frank Moran the Pittsburg, white hope and Jack Johnson, will be pulled off here on a Sunday, the day of the Grand Prix at Longchamps in Paris.

Dan McKelrick, forty manager of Moran, has everything to gain by picking this or a similar day for the match. Johnson is guaranteed $35,000 with loss or draw, $30,000 to be paid his white wife on the day of the fight and $5,000 in $1,000 installments for five weeks prior to the fight. Both and Malfrot, under whose direction the fight is to be held, also have a guarantee of $5,000 with a prospective share in the gate receipts. Moran will get a like guarantee, therefore the box office will have to take in at least $45,000 before Danny comes in for a nickel. Over that amount he, Moran and the fight managers will share, but fights in Paris so far have never yielded anything like this sum.

McKelrick figures this will be the biggest fight France has ever seen, consequently bigger admission will be charged. The battle probably will take place at the Paredes Princes, a big athletic field, bicycle track and favorite duelling ground, or some other large place in order to keep all the money which may be offered at the gate. However, Moran is an unknown here and Johnson is about as popular as the measles; so somebody stands to lose unless the international sporting men here to see the Grand Prix decide to go in strong for it.

GENERAL HUERTA IN GOOD HEALTH

SHOWS NO SIGNS OF PREDICTED PHYSICAL COLLAPSE AND IS NOT WORRYING

HIS LIFE IS VERY INFORMAL

Holds Cabinet Meetings Wherever and Whenever It Suits His Fancy to Do So

By Associated Press. Mexico City, March 27.—After a year in office General Huerta appears in better health than when he undertook the presidency. The difficulties he has encountered have left no stamp upon his features. Six months ago some of his friends and most of his enemies predicted early physical collapse and there were some who would not have been surprised had his intellect suffered as the result of the enormous odds.

"Take things as they come" seems to have been the life long philosophy of Huerta, tempered always, however, with the belief that all things come to him who waits, especially to him who waits for and seizes the big opportunity. Worrying has never been one of Huerta's failings. Nor is he a creature of routine. Regularity does not characterize his methods. He does his work when and where it suits his convenience and all members of his official family, the public and his private family as well have to yield.

Cabinet Meeting in Woods. Long ago he tired of the regular cabinet meetings and announced that conferences with his ministers would take place whenever he summoned them and there would be no place regarded as sacred to that ceremony. And so it has come about that questions of the greatest importance are discussed in his private home as in the national palace and not at all infrequently he sends word to his ministers suddenly that he would like to meet them that very morning in the woods about Chapultepec castle.

To the famous and ancient park in which the castle is located he drives in his automobile. His ministers also arriving in their cars, wonder in just what part the president is going to see them. Their chaffeurs or aids might the presidential car ahead on one of the many drives and there begins a chase which may come to an end beneath one of the great shade trees or beside the lake. Ministers and president alight, sit on the benches or walk along one of the intersecting footpaths and there talk of affairs which perhaps are of international importance. Back of all is the president's whim. He may be late. The ministers wait. He may have altered his mind regarding affairs of state and the ministers are told to meet him later in the day or night at his home.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy lately was the innocent cause of forcing the ministers to waste what doubtless was valuable time. They were walking with the president in the Chapultepec grounds when the American charge d'affaires drove by. The president recognized his car and remembering that there was something that he wanted to talk to the American representative about, signalled him to stop. O'Shaughnessy alighted, joined the official group and was preparing to continue his drive when the president asked him to get into his car with him. The two drove off together, leaving Ministers Blanquet, Alcocer and other councillors of the president staring after the car. Half an hour later Huerta set O'Shaughnessy down near his own car and resumed the interrupted cabinet meeting.

Midnight May Be Chosen. It is not uncommon for the president to summon his ministers to a meeting during the middle of the night and cabinet meetings or what would pass for cabinet meetings, have taken place in cafes. Huerta does not indulge in physical exercise as a means of recreation. He derives his recreation in talking astronomy with any one who can interest him in the subject—and the

HICKORY SWITCH CALLED BEST CIGARETTE CURE.

Chicago, March 27.—Miss Lucy Page Gaston, Joan of Arc in the battle against cigarettes, must first convince mothers that her "mouth-wabbling" treating will cure their young hopefuls before juvenile court will order all young cigarette users to have their mouths washed with a nitrate of silver solution. Judge Pendergast, to whom Miss Gaston appealed for a court order ordering juvenile delinquents to be thus baptized, said today that if he had a boy who smoked cigarette he would experiment with the solution but didn't want to force it on the youngsters without their mothers' approval. "I put it up to one mother," said the court, "and she said she preferred the hickory switch solution."

FRECKLES

February and March Bring Out Unpleasant Spots. How To Remove Easily

The woman with tender skin dreads February and March because they are likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new prescription, Othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength Othine should remove them.

Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails. (Adv't) man who does must be an expert in dining and visiting with his intimate friends. The time he retires appears a matter of indifference, as does his arising in the morning. Usually he is up early. The lightest kind of breakfast, coffee and rolls, he gets as soon as he is awake. A little work, if he thinks of anything to do and then almost every morning a walk up and down on the sidewalk in front of his house in the district known as San Rafael. After that more breakfast and then a lot of work. He may go to the Chapultepec woods or to the national palace, but it just as likely he will do his morning's work at his home, summoning to him there all who may have business with him. Without much routine and with executive mastery shoving all he can onto his subordinates, he ploughs through the day's work until seven or eight o'clock when he is ready for dinner.

Dinner Where He Pleases. Dinner may be in his own home or in that of one of his friends—Huerta's ideas of democracy do not prevent him from dining where he pleases—very likely in one of the public restaurants. There is one central restaurant that has received the greater part of his patronage. Here the entrance of the president accompanied by one or two of his aides, perhaps a personal friend or two and possibly a member of his family, has long since ceased to be a novelty. In the days of Porfirio Diaz the visiting of a public dining place was something of a state ceremony. His coming and going was carefully staged and those privileged to witness it were recorded among the fortunate. To the music of the national hymn he entered and retired while all others stood. A restaurant keeper would have felt himself justified in raising the price on his menu if Diaz had happened to "drop in."

But Huerta is conducting a democratic regime. He likes to dine in public and he does not like formalities. He marches in with no apparent concern, selects a table and orders his dinner. The orchestra does not interrupt the piece it is playing merely because the president is entering and the other diners, grown accustomed to being co-patrons with the president, do little more than crane their necks to see who it is dining tonight with Huerta.

Smoker and Lunch in Lodge Club Rooms—Tuesday Night For Men of Both Teams

Members of the Kansas City and Indianapolis Federal League teams will be guests of the local lodge of Elks next Tuesday night at a smoker and lunch in the club rooms. The invitation was extended today by the lodge and was accepted with unanimity by the players and others. Many of the visiting players are Elks and every club manager in the league is a member of that order. The officers of the lodge are preparing a sumptuous repast for the occasion and the players are promised a very pleasant evening.

Today was a session of enforced idleness in both training camps the ground being too soft for practice. A number of the players took long walks to keep in condition, but most of them spent the day quietly at their hotels.

GOSSIP FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

(By R. Bedichek)

Austin, Texas, March 27.—On page 78 of L. B. Giles' "History of the Terry Rangers" you will find the following: "It was during this winter (1863) that one of the saddest events of all our career happened; the hanging of E. S. Dodd by the enemy. He was a member of Company D. He was of good family and well educated. For many years he kept a diary, setting down at night the happenings of the day. He was taken a prisoner with this diary in his pocket. On that evidence alone he was condemned and executed as a spy."

At the time Mr. Giles wrote the above lines, it was supposed that the diary was lost for good and all, and for many years afterward this was supposed to be the case, until one morning last week, E. W. Winkler, state librarian, found in his morning mail a little package postmarked Glenn Falls, N. Y., containing this very identical diary. The lady who sent it to the state librarian is Mrs. Lenora Mills, 114 Ridge Street, Glenn Falls, New York, and she stated that a lieutenant in a New Hampshire company, a civil war veteran, had, at the time of his death six years ago, given this diary to her which he said was found by him during the war. Mr. Winkler promptly purchased the diary for the sum of $25, and it is now added to the State Library's very interesting collection of diaries which have a bearing upon Texas history.

This note-book is 3 3/4 inches by 6 inches, leather-bound and contains 110 pages of closely written manuscript. On the front cover in black ink is inscribed, "Found on the person of a Texas Ranger hung as a spy in Louisville, Ky., 1864." An inscription in his own handwriting reads "E. S. Dodd, Company D. Terry's regiment Texas Rangers Dairy for 1863." The last entry in the book reads as follows: "150 of the prisoners started for Strawberry Plains 2nd—we go tomorrow," and just under this inscription in a different handwriting, the words: "And tomorrow never came, M. B."

From a cursory examination of the diary, one would conclude that Dodd was a rollicking, poetic sort of a fellow, as he makes notes of good things to eat that he got, of visits to the camp by young ladies, of receiving two shirts "from Mrs. House," and so on.

Another, and perhaps more valuable diary, from an historical standpoint, now in the State Library, is that of Geo. H. Sweet, a Texas newspaper man, who worked once on the old San Antonio Herald. This diary runs from July 6th, 1865, to Nov. 28th, 1866, and contains graphic notes upon various trips in Mexico during that year. The state librarian secured one volume of this diary from Wm. S. Cass, Brooklyn, in October, 1910, for the sum of $2, the last entry in which is of date September 16th. Two years later Mr. Winkler saw a diary indefinitely described in an auction sale in New York, and as the diary of a Texas traveler in Mexico, and bid it in for $175. It proved to be the second volume of the Sweet diary beginning September 17th and continuing to Nov. 28, 1866.

Many curious notes are found in these interesting volumes and it could be counted one of the original sources for the history of Mexico in the reign of Maximilian. It throws most interesting sidelights upon the attitude of mind of many southern men who after the civil war, determined to cast their lots in foreign lands, being sore and disgusted at the defeat of the Confederacy. Mr. Sweet was himself in Mexico for this very reason, and he naturally met and associated with many southerners who were then in Mexico practical refugees from the United States. Much of their talk is recorded.

He described, also, seeing 5000 soldiers and 20,000 citizens assemble to witness Maximilian and his court sacrament. He noted the curiosity, and yet lack of enthusiasm, manifested on the part of the people, for their emperor. Among other notes of interest is a description of a hold-up of a stage by Mexican bandits, the description of the Fiestas de Sonora Contreras at San Angel attended by over 10,000 people, and so on.

It is the policy of those in charge of the state library to make it a repository for authentic documents pertaining to the history of Texas, and so far, it has served as a magnet to draw original historical material from all parts of the world.

Pupils in the Dickerson high school, Jersey City, went to school from 4:30 in the afternoon to 10 o'clock at night on one occasion lately, in order that the adult members of their families might see the school plant in operation.
