"Huerta will salute the American flag or the Atlantic fleet will seize Vera Cruz and Tampico. What happens afterwards depends on Huerta." --- President Wilson.

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH LEADERS OF BOTH HOUSES

Other Indignities To American Honor By Mexico Made Known At Conference This Morning.

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 15.—Huerta will salute the American flag or the Atlantic fleet will seize Vera Cruz and Tampico. What happens afterwards depends upon Huerta.
This is the fixed determination of President Wilson. Leaders in Congress with whom he conferred today agreed that there was ample precedent for such a course.
One new fact brought out at the White House conference this morning with ranking members of the committee in charge of foreign affairs was that two of the American blue jackets arrested at Tampico were actually taken from the Dolphin's boat. Not only the Tampico incident but a long stretch of indignities offered to the United States to the conspicuous exclusion of other foreign nations represented in Mexico has convinced the President that the United States has been singled out for manifestations of ill will and contempt by the Huerta government.

Official dispatches from American Charge Neils on O'Shaughnessy have been intercepted. A ship's orderly, in full uniform on business was arrested and later released while nominal punishment was meted out to the officer responsible for his arrest.
These hitherto unpublished facts were disclosed by the President in his conference with the representatives and senators today.

President Wilson told his advisers that he is for peace but is determined to make Huerta salute the American flag.

While these developments were taking place in Washington the ships of the Atlantic fleet were steaming toward Tampico. The first of the big fighters has already cleared Hampton Roads and the others were ready to sail before night.

Local merchants are planning to take stock in this project to the amount of $5,000.

STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATIONS VIEWS

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 15.—The following official statement was issued today representing views of President Wilson and administration:

"In discussions in official circles in Washington of the present Mexican situation the following points have been very much dwelt upon:

"It has been pointed out that, in considering the present somewhat delicate situation in Mexico, the unpleasant incident at Tampico must not be thought of alone. For some time past the defacto government of Mexico has seemed to think mere apologies sufficient when the rights of American citizens or the dignity of the government of the United States were involved and has apparently made no attempt at either reparation or the effective correction of the serious derelictions of its civil and military officers.

"Immediately after the incident at Tampico an orderly from one of the ships of the United States in the harbor of Vera Cruz, who had been sent ashore to the post office for the ship's mail, and who was in uniform, and who had the official mail bag on his back, was arrested and put into jail by the local authorities. He was subsequently released and a nominal punishment inflicted upon the officer who had arrested him. But it was significant that an orderly from the fleet of the United States was picked out from the many persons constantly going ashore on various errands from the various ships in the harbor representing several nations.

"Most serious of all, the officials in charge of the telegraph office at Mexico City presumed to withhold an official dispatch of the government of the United States to its embassy at Mexico, until it should have been sent to the censor and his permission received to deliver it, and gave the dispatch into the hands of the Charge D'Affaires of the United States only upon his personal and emphatic demand, he having in the meantime learned through other channels that dispatch had been sent him which he had not received.

"It can not be strike any one who has watched the course of events in Mexico as significant that untoward incidents such as these have not occurred in any case to representatives of other governments were concerned, but only in dealings with representatives of the United States and that there has been no occasion for other governments to call attention to such matters to ask for apologies.

"These repeated offenses have necessarily made the impression that the government of the United States was signaled out for manifestations of ill will and contempt. The authorities of the State Department feel confident that when the seriousness and cumulative effect these incidents have made evident to the government of Mexico that government will see the propriety and the necessity of giving such evidences of its desire to repudiate and correct these things as will not only be satisfactory to the government of the United States, but will also be evidence to the rest of the world as an entire change of attitude.

"There can be no loss to the dignity of the defacto government in Mexico in recognizing to the fullest degree the claims of a great sovereign government of its respect."

WILSON'S TAMPICO ACTION ASSAILED IN CONGRESS

Rep. Mondell And Sen. Works Make Bitter Attacks Upon The President's Course Of Action.

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 15.—Representative Mondell of Wyoming in the House today assailed the administration's Tampico action. He asserted the President was suing the Atlantic fleet to enforce the mandates of his personal prejudice against the person who happens to be at the head of Mexican affairs.
Senator Works, Republican of California, issued this statement:

"Hundreds of American citizens have been slaughtered, their wives and daughters outraged, their property destroyed and this government has not raised its hands for their protection.
"Because a few blue jackets from one of our ships are arrested in a city in civil strife, when they had better been aboard their ship, and the Mexican government refuses to salute our flag, we are to go to war or back down and make ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of the world. I can support no such policy."

UNITED STATES NOT BLUFFING

Future Course of Action Depends Upon Mexico City Says Senator Shively

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 15.—Following the conference at the White House this morning Representative Flood, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, said he was sure the president would have the backing of Congress.
Senator Shively described today's conference as "chiefly in formative and said the future course of action depends upon Mexico City." Senator Shively said congressional action would be based upon a message from the president.

"Will there be a message from the president?" he was asked.
"It will certainly come to that if reparation does not come from the Huerta government for its contempt to the United States," he answered.

He was emphatic in declaring ridiculous any declaration or idea that the American government was bluffing. "There is no first class power in the world from which the United States would have patiently withstood what she has from poor embroiled, divided Mexico. It is like the case of the great Newfoundland who must ultimately teach his tormentors a lesson."

Some other senators declared the president would have the support of the Senate in his course.

ENTIRE UNITED STATES FLEET IS ORDERED TO TAMPICO

WILL USE MARINES TO ENFORCE DEMAND FOR SALUTE OF FLAG

Wilson's Cabinet Meets This Morning And Decides That Admiral's Demand Shall Be Backed Up To The Very Limit. Daniels Issues Order

ACTION BRINGS NEW AND GRAVE CRISIS

Entire Naval Fighting Force Of United States Is Being Hurriedly Mobilized In Mexican Waters Today Ready For Eventualities.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., April 14.—BULLETIN—A general concentration of the Atlantic Fleet at Tampico has been ordered by Secretary Daniels following a Cabinet meeting in which President Wilson laid before the members the urgency of enforcing the demand that the American flag be saluted by the Huerta commander at Tampico as an apology for the arrest of American marines there recently.

All of the ships of the Atlantic fleet at Hampton Roads have been ordered to Tampico. The battleship South Carolina en route to San Domingo has been interdicted by wireless and ordered to report at the Mexican port. The gunboats Nashville and the Tacoma at Boston have been ordered to proceed immediately to Tampico.

The torpedo boat Flotilla has been notified to be ready to join the battleships at Tampico on short notice. The transport Hancock with 800 marines has been ordered to proceed there.

The cabinet had discussed the situation in a two hours' meeting at which the general opinion was expressed that the salute must be fired.

After the meeting of the cabinet there was a conspicuous silence on the part of all officers and Secretary Daniels hurried to the navy department where he prepared the orders for the moving of the war vessels.

While the officials said that no ultimatum had been given the mobilization of the fleet at Tampico was intended to put the United States in a position to enforce one should immediate developments make it necessary.

Naval officials received the order eagerly and there was activity and anticipation on every hand. It was learned authoritatively that while further investigation of the affair had been ordered there was a general feeling that the demand of Rear Admiral Mayo should be backed up.

In the meantime it was ordered the American Charge O'Shaughnessy in Mexico City should continue negotiations with Huerta to accede to the demands of the admiral.

Members of the cabinet hope that no further steps will be necessary to secure compliance but they privately admitted the gravity of the situation.

Mobilization of the fleet under such circumstances whether the marines are landed or not, it is pointed out, in most instances would be construed as an act of war. It has been repeatedly held that the landing of marines under such circumstances would be considered an act of war.

It is said, however, that if the Huerta commander at Tampico fails to resist any aggressive steps to secure the enforcement of the demand for a salute no serious consequences might result as the United States would feel satisfied with the enforcement of the apology.

PRESIDENT, BRYAN AND LIND CONFER

By Associated Press. Washington, April 14.—After conferences between President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and John Lind following a cabinet meeting this morning it was announced that before the United States government proceeds further in backing up Rear Admiral Mayo's demand for a salute to the American flag by the Mexican commander at Tampico as an apology for the recent arrest of American marines there that a further investigation will be made into the facts surrounding the incident. All the cabinet members were silent on a situation admittedly grave. They let it be known, however, that a delay did not indicate a disposition on the part of President Wilson to recede from Admiral Mayo's demand.

Naval officers insist that Admiral Mayo should be sustained in his original demand with the possible allowance for time to investigate the waters. This view was also shared by some members of the cabinet until the big naval transport Hancock due to have sailed from New Orleans yesterday to pick up refugees, remains at that port where 900 marines are ashore. The Hancock is reported to have full steam up and could leave that place with the 900 marines aboard in less than three hours notice.

THAW GETS WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS. U. S. DISTRICT JUDGE, HOWEVER, ISSUES NO ORDER FOR PRISONER'S DISCHARGE. CASE TO U. S. SUPREME COURT.

Granting of Writ Leaves Thaw's Condition Unchanged for Present—Bail Not Decided.

By Associated Press. Concord, N. H., April 14.—Harry K. Thaw's petition for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States district court today.

The court said, however, that no order would be issued for the prisoner's discharge from custody until arrangements had been completed to take the case to the United States supreme court.

Thaw's petition for admission to bail the court left undetermined, taking the ground it would be more appropriate for this to be passed upon by the supreme court.

The result of the decision is that Thaw's guardianship and condition will be unchanged for the present, but that his petition for a writ of habeas corpus will go to the highest court of the land with a decision of the lower court in his favor.

MARINES HURRYING ABOARD THE HANCOCK. New Orleans, La., April 14.—Eight hundred American marines are being rushed aboard the United States transport Hancock here to proceed to Tampico. News of the order to proceed to Tampico was received with great enthusiasm by the men. It is expected the transport will sail tonight.

Object of Trip Will Be To Find Places Where Clean-Up Efforts Are Most Needed

Plans for the clean-up which will be undertaken in this city on May 28 and 29 were considered this morning at the weekly session of the Chamber of Commerce directors, when a committee from the Civic League announced and asked for the co-operation of that body. A joint committee including representatives of the Civic League, Chamber of Commerce and city council will start out on a tour of inspection tomorrow afternoon with a view to determining where work is most needed.

Membership of Committees. T. B. Noble, B. J. Bean and J. S. Riddwell will represent the Chamber of Commerce, Aldermen Young, Gardner and Reed the city council and Medames J. A. Richolt, M. J. Garney, C. R. Hartsock and Frank Kyll the Civic League. This Civic League committee appeared before the directors at their session today and asked the assistance of that body saying the appointment of a committee was all they wanted at present. Mrs. Richolt said that on Monday Mrs. Darwin of Gainesville, a member of the state pure food board had met with the Civic League and told her Gainesville won the second prize in the Texas "cleanest city" contest at Gainesville, she said the ladies received very little aid from the men.

The above committee was named to represent the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Gardner said that Mr. Young could act as a council committee. Somebody suggested Dr. Boyd also be being chairman of the sanitary committee.

"Yes, we want Dr. Reed," said one of the ladies, "we'd like to initiate him."

Begin Inspection Tomorrow. The joint committee will begin its inspection-tour tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Several other matters received attention at today's session of the directors. Mayor-elect A. H. Britain was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. J. M. Hill.

The new secretary, R. H. Miller, was invited to address those present and responded briefly, saying the cooperation of every member in his work. There were at present two large industries, he said, that were considering moving to Wichita Falls and he was especially hopeful of landing one of them. Mr. Kemp expressed the hope that more factories could be secured, saying they were the chief aim of the organization.

J. B. Maslow said that with the exception of Mr. Gohlke, few of the secretaries of the organization employed had gotten acquainted with the business men of the city and he suggested that the new one be an exception to this rule.

The directors then adjourned, but President Huff, before they left the room, said he had received a telegram asking for the indorsements of business men on President Wilson's canal-tolls proposition. C. W. Snider, J. A. Kemp, T. B. Noble, G. Long, T. J. Taylor and J. B. Maslow said their names might be used in this connection. Directors present today were: Messrs. Huff, Gates, O'Reilly, Kemp, Gardner, Huey, Henderson, Hardy, Marlow, Taylor, Bridwell, Snider, Smith, Noble and Long.

NEGROES ARE BOUND OVER IN SUM OF $1500 EACH

Preliminary Hearing Fails To Develop Which of Them Inflicted Wound That Killed Foreman

From The Sunday Times. J. J. Dickerson and Clarence Dickerson, the two negroes held in connection with the death of John Foreman, were ordered bound over Thursday night, were ordered bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $1500 each at the conclusion of their preliminary hearing before Justice Howard Friday afternoon.

Neither was able to furnish bond and the preliminary hearing failed to develop with any degree of certainty which of the two accused men actually killed Foreman. The latter was found to have been shot twice and stabbed three times. An examination of the body this morning located a third knife wound in the left eye. The manner in which Clarence Dickerson received a bullet wound in the leg was also not ascertained.

The body of the dead negro was sent to the former home at Denton Saturday afternoon for burial.

BECKER'S TRIAL WILL BE RUSHED

STATEMENT OF DAGO FRANK DECLARED HEARSAY BY DISTRICT ATTORNEY

DON'T AFFECT VALLON EITHER

Cirofici's Confession Admits Guilt of Other Three But Denies Own Presence at Shooting

By Associated Press. New York, April 14.—The confession of "Dago Frank" Cirofici made a few hours before he was executed for the part he took in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, will not be permitted to interfere in the plans for the second trial of Police Lieutenant Becker.

District Attorney Whitman holds the confession to be hearsay evidence and therefore inadmissible either in the prosecution of Harry Vallon or Becker. Dago Frank said that Vallon fired a shot at Rosenthal. It was Vallon's testimony that helped convict the four gunmen. Vallon was granted immunity under the stipulation that if it was subsequently shown that he had actually fired upon Rosenthal the immunity would no longer hold good. Cirofici avowed he was five miles away at the time the crime was committed and that "Whitey Lewis" Selmsbender, although present at the scene of the shooting did not fire any of the shots. Cirofici made an attempt however, to deny that he was included in the original plot to slay Rosenthal, even admitting that two nights before the gambler was slain he went with other gangsters to look for their intended victim.

Was in Murder Car. They were frightened away from Rosenthal on that occasion by men they thought were detectives. The confessed man also admitted that early on the night of the killing he was in the "murder car" with the gunmen, but insisted that he left them before they shot the gambler. He did not explain precisely why he left the other men just prior to the shooting, but two reasons are advanced. One is that he became frightened, and the other that he deserted in order to bail out his sweetheart, Jean Gordon, who had been arrested.

The statement, which was made verbally in the principal keeper's office about 4 a. m. was the result of the instant plea of Cirofici's mother and his sister for their truth. They hoped to get made an unsuccessful plea to the Governor to save the prisoner's life. Returning to prison next dawn they were met by the warden and taken to the office where they met Cirofici.

Mr. Clancy came to Albany and told his story to Superintendent John B. Riley of the State Prison Department and Gov. Glynn. The warden first issued a formal statement, rehearsing a part of what Cirofici told him and later added details which included Cirofici's admission that he and other gangsters had sought Rosenthal two nights before the slaying.

The formal statement of the warden follows:

"About 8 o'clock Sunday night Rosenberg asked me to save Frank, saying he had nothing to do with the shooting, he was not there. I went over and asked Frank why he did not tell the truth. He replied that he knew what was going on, but was not there when the shooting took place. I advised him to tell the whole story. He said if he did they would kill his brothers. I asked whom he meant by 'they.' He replied that there were fifty men in New York he could name. He said: 'I don't care about myself, it's my family I care for.'"

"I caused Frank Cirofici to be brought from the condemned cell house to the principal keeper's office about 4 o'clock Monday morning. He made the following, among other statements, in the presence of myself, Principal Keeper McInerney, the chaplain, his mother and his sister. They urged him to tell the whole truth. He hesitated and said:

"I don't want to make any statement for the public. I do not fear for myself, but I do fear for you."

"His sister replied: 'Don't have any fear for us, we'll take care of our selves; God will protect us.'"

"His mother and sister continued to urge him to tell the truth. He said: 'I did not do the shooting. The men who fired the shots were Gyp, Louie and Vallon.'"

"He said: 'It was five miles away at the time. So far as I know, Becker had nothing to do with this case. It was a gambler's fight.'"

"He mentioned several raids on gambling houses, and said that the place Shamro sold to Commissioner Doughtery was true. He said: 'I told some lies on the stand to prove an alibi for the rest of the boys. The testimony about the conversation with Rose in the car on the way down was not true. I was in Bradley Weber's place when the arrangements were made. I did not know just what the arrangements were. I knew something was coming off. I did not see Louie pack the trunk as I testified on the stand. There were guns there, but not the ones they used.'"

"When asked how he gained this information, he said: 'I heard the boys talking about it since I was here.'"

"The conversation then related to other matters not directly connected with the Rosenthal murder. He admitted his knowledge of and participation in the preparations for the murder.

FIREMEN CARRY OUT MANY

Two Women Killed by Jumping—Life Net Saves Several—Two Still Missing

By Associated Press. Boston, Mass., April 14.—Seven lives were lost in a fire which wrecked the Melvina five story brick apartment house at Thomas Welch and Long avenues. It was feared one other occupant of the building had been burned. The dead:

MR. AND MRS. J. R. POWERS and their two year old baby boy.

MRS. ALICE SHACKLEFORD. MRS. EDITH BEMIS.

TWO UNIDENTIFIED WOMEN.

Many others among the 125 persons living in the house had narrow escapes and several were painfully burned. Mrs. Boush's sister and another woman are holding Mrs. Shackelford and Mrs. Bemis not dead by jumping. The bodies of the other victims were found on the fifth floor.

The fire started in the basement and the flames shot rapidly up through a waste paper chute and elevator. The building was ablaze when the firemen arrived. A woman living next door was the first to see the fire and she ran into the building and rang the bell in all the suites.

Firemen carried a number of men and women down the stairs. Several persons escaped by jumping to life nets.

Early in the day the delegates divided into Ferguson and anti-Ferguson delegates. The Ferguson delegates favored Gustafson, while Macdonald of Anthon in preference to Ferguson. James Callan was to have been selected temporary chairman of the convention.

Ferguson supporters claimed that they had been warned no delegations should be received. The Ferguson delegates refused to receive any delegation. They said 200 Fort Worth men might be run in the convention and out vote the delegate for Ferguson.

Tom Ball is at the Westbrook Hotel and denied the rumor that he was about to declare against nationwide prohibition. He predicted prohibition would be voted in the convention.

At 2 o'clock Mr. Caldwell of Abilene called the convention of the Ferguson supporters to order. The conference took no action other than to adopt a resolution condemning any convention to nominate any man to oppose the democratic primary July and calling on the democratic voters to rebuke such action.

FEDERAL COURT IN THIS CITY PLANNED

MOVEMENT STARTED TO HAVE SESSIONS HELD IN WICHITA FALLS

NOW PENDING IN CONGRESS

Committee Named To See That This City's Claims For Place Are Properly Presented

From The Sunday Times. A determined effort to have a federal court located in this city in case there is a redistribution of the State will be made by the Chamber of Commerce. This matter, which has received more or less attention at the hands of Michitans for several years, is now approaching a stage where decisive action is necessary and the first definite steps in the campaign for such a court, here were taken yesterday when Judges A. H. Carrigan, J. C. Montgomery and E. A. Martin, were appointed a committee of the Chamber of Commerce to look into the matter.

The reorganization of the Texas districts is now hanging fire in Congress and final action is expected to be taken within a short time. The South bill proposes to establish a new district in West Texas, with sessions of the court in Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Plainview, El-Paso and Abilene. There is considerable opposition to this bill from Texas and the outcome is still in doubt. On the belief that whatever action is taken now will most likely be permanent, the Chamber of Commerce is now planning definite action and will seek to enlist the aid of the other West Texas cities affected.

Congressman Stephens is known to be favorable to the establishment of a federal court here and his support for the plan has been promised. It is not likely that when the matter again comes up at Washington, a representative from Wichita Falls and other West Texas towns will go to the capital to present their side of the case.

Ferguson Men Hold Rump Meeting Declaring Conspiracy Against Their Candidate

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, April 14.—Five of the six members of the committee that called the state-wide conference of constructive democrats here today issued a statement at noon calling off the conference which was to have opened at the Savoy Theatre at 2 p. m. More than 150 Ferguson delegates renounced connection with the conference called by the committee and announced a convention at the city hall at 2 p. m. The Ferguson men claimed that the conference was not representative; that Ferguson delegates would not be recognized by the conference; that was called at Dallas and later automatically called off by the resignation of Bryan T. Barry, chairman of the committee that issued the call.

Governor Colpitt is in Fort Worth but said he would take no part in any conference that would eliminate anti-prohibition before the democratic primary in July. He predicted nomination of Ferguson over Tom Ball, the prohibition candidate, or any other candidate; the anti-prohibitionists might select.

HOSPITAL BONDS SELL AT A GOOD PREMIUM

The best prices ever received for Wichita Falls and Wichita county securities were obtained for the hospital bonds, which have been sold by the city and county. The city's issue of $25,000 was sold to N. L. Wagner of this city for par and accrued interest, all necessary expenses and a premium of 2 1/2% of the county's $25,000 issue went to C. W. Snider, representing Faxon and Son and Co. of Chicago, for par, accrued interest and 1/2%.

The city receives a total premium of about one per cent depending on how much the expenses are; they will probably be 1 1/2% or more. The county's premium amounts to more than one and one-half per cent.

The county commissioners this morning looked at some tentative sites for the hospital but reached no decision. The remainder of their session was occupied in approval of accounts and other routine business.

N. L. Wagner, who purchased the city's issue and who made the second best bid on the county issue, is assistant cashier of the new National Bank of Commerce.

MILITARY PATROL ENDED IN COLORADO DISTRICT

Denver, Colo., April 14.—Adj. Gen. John Chase today sent a telegram to Sheriff Jeff Parr of Huerfano County, notifying him the military patrol in that county would end tomorrow and the preservation of order would be turned over to the local authorities.

Gen. Chase said he had not decided as to the disposition of "Mother" Mary Jones; now held as a military prisoner in the Huerfano County jail.

It is not known whether I shall release her, take her to Trinidad, or bring her to Denver," he said. A writ of habeas corpus obtained last week from the supreme court by Horace N. Hoskins, attorney for Mrs. Jones, will not be heard until April 15.

COMMITTEE SUICIDE OVER DEATH OF DOWAGER EMPRESS

By Associated Press. Tokyo, April 14.—Tajiri Shikun, a wealthy Japanese farmer, who formerly was attached to the dowager empress' palace, dressed in white robes and fasted a week praying in a temple on a mountain top for the recovery of the empress.

On descending from the mountain he learned of her death and committed suicide.

WHY I LIKE WICHITA FALLS?

Because 98 per cent of the people seem to possess real life and activity.
 Because 98 per cent of the people are home boosters and the main object of their life next to their families seem to be to tell strangers about Wichita Falls.
 Because the air seems just right; because the average citizen seems just right; because the hand of welcome seems always extended and because business people give a business man a hearing. Because people are wide-awake to the advantage of the future prospects and because the Wichita Falls spirit is contagious and spells the word "Stuck."
 Because your factories do away with the talk of short crops; because you have other industries to fall back on as well as the eternal Texas cry of "fotton."
 Because Eastern people and Northern and Western people have become enthralled to the Wichita Falls spirit and the Wichita Falls spirit seems to be "Do or Die."
 And, lastly, but not least, the editor of the Times seems perfectly willing to give all classes of working people a square deal in public print.
 So let us all get together and form a regular Wichita Ad Club so that we can be represented at the National Ad Club Meetings. I invite answers to this correspondence regarding an Ad Club here.

W. A. CHATTERTON.

Fast driving is dangerous business for anyone to engage in. This was demonstrated yesterday in this city when an automobile in charge of a reckless driver ran into an electric machine. Fortunately, the occupants of the machines escaped injury, but both machines were damaged. The speed limit in the downtown district in this city is twelve miles per hour, and that is fast enough. Those who exceed that limit should be required to pay the penalty. If the officers are given proper support they will do their duty. The next accident brought about by reckless driving may not result so fortunately as that of yesterday. People who drive cars are just as much in danger of losing life or limb as the pedestrian, and the speed ordinance was adopted for their protection as well as for those who have no machines. There is hardly an hour in the day but that some one does not violate the speed law in Wichita Falls.
 Running for office in Oklahoma is not such a bad or expensive game to engage in, even though the candidate meets with defeat. According to the Dallas News a fellow up at Mountain View started out on a campaign for the legislature with only $2 in his jeans and astride a very common broom-stalk pony. During the progress of his campaign he swapped horses eleven times and at the end of the ride was riding a fine Missouri mule with $37 in his pockets. He is now appealing to the state authorities to assist him in making out his sworn statement as to his expenses. His defeat, in all probability, can be charged up to the fellows he traded horses with.

Congressman John H. Stephens, it appears is not thoroughly in accord with the views of President Wilson on the Panama Canal tolls matter, but did vote for the repeal of the free tolls law. In explanation of his vote on this matter Mr. Stephens is quoted by the Congressional Record as follows:
 "The treaty of February 22, 1902, known as the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, says that:
 "The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality; so there shall be no discrimination against any such nations or its citizens, except in respect to the conditions and charges of traffic or otherwise. Such conditions and charges of traffic shall be just and equitable."
 Mr. Speaker, the term "all nations" as here used does not in my judgment include the United States, but does include all other nations except the United States; hence Congress can, if it desires, pass our American ships through our own canal free of tolls. Why should it not? Have we not built this canal with American money, through American territory? Have we not placed our eastern and western coasts 8,000 miles nearer than they were before? Have we not practically doubled the strength of our Navy? Will we not reduce the cost of railroad freight one-half from coast to coast? Were not these noble reasons why we have expended, in round numbers, $400,000,000 in building and fortifying this canal? Did we not fortify it to prevent its control by any foreign power? Did we perform this, the greatest of all human undertakings, for the benefit of all other countries or for our own? This question answers itself. England, and, unfortunately, our President, seems to think that we built it for all other countries and not for ourselves. I therefore wholly disagree with the President's contention that we must save our national honor by repealing this treaty. I agree with him that this free-tolls law should be repealed as an economic question, and for that reason only shall I cast my vote for its repeal. I voted against its enactment and have not changed my mind since I so voted in 1912. I believe that I am right then, and I believe that I am right now in voting for its repeal.

 I hope, however, that the Senate will amend this bill by declaring that nothing in this act shall be construed from hereafter granting free tolls to its citizens."

CLARK AND UNDERWOOD

Wilson and Bryan make a great team when they pull together. At Baltimore they measured political strength with the Clark, Underwood and Harmon forces, and defeated them. Seemingly Speaker Clark and Leader of the House Underwood are still smarting under the hashing they got at Baltimore and have united their forces to defeat the President's recommendation in the Panama Canal matter. So far the President has won out, and the indications are that Messrs. Clark and Underwood have started something that is not going to add any feathers in their political caps.—Wichita Falls Times.

Messrs. Clark and Underwood are two very human beings, especially the former. A human being, you know is one who exudes more or less miff from time to time, and miff, you know, is just as natural as coming between friends. When Mr. Wilson was nominated at Baltimore a miff as big as a cloud rose up on the Champ Clark horizon, and although it is tolerably transparent, Mr. Clark has never since seen Mr. Wilson except through that misty barrier. Mr. Underwood also had certain hopes shattered at Baltimore, and he, too, has evolved a miff which interposes between him and Mr. Wilson. The Underwood miff is not as thick and dark and hot as Mr. Clark's, but it is of such a texture as to make him view the President with a certain hostility through a smudge. Naturally, then the first time these two statesmen with the impaired perspective go to see to picture the party of the third part as they themselves beheld him, is just as naturally, they fail to convince the country that they and it were looking at the same person. Their conception of him was too far from his actual appearance to carry convincing description.—State Press in Dallas News.

One of our defeated candidates for office is now of the opinion that if fifty of your fellow citizens sign your petition to get your name on the official ballot, you can safely count on sixteen of them to vote for you on election day.

There are those who contend that politics had nothing whatever to do with the location of the twelve regional reserve banks, but all the same we have our doubts that had a Republican been our president and both houses of Congress of the same political faith, the South could hardly have expected to land five of the twelve. The South has waited long. She is now getting a square deal, and has got nothing but what is her due in the matter of the location of the reserve banks.

Bulgaria's debt for the recent war is placed at $584,000,000. In addition to this she lost 55,000 in killed, and will have to pay $80,000,000 annually as pensions to the widows and orphans and soldiers who were wounded. Pictures like this make us think stronger than ever that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are pursuing exactly the right course with Mexico. It is far better to let Mexico do her own fighting.

Tomorrow is the day set for the Constructive Democrats to meet in conference or convention at Fort Worth. Our forecast of the outcome of that meeting is that Candidate Ferguson will not be endorsed for the governorship by a majority of those who will compose the meeting. Mr. Ferguson, being, or having at one time been an anti-Bailey man, does not appeal strongly to some of the Constructive Democratic leaders, and they will not give him their support for governor.

A resolution to endorse ex-President Theodore Roosevelt for President in 1916 was defeated in the State convention of the Republican party held at Augusta, Maine, yesterday. The platform adopted condemns the National Democratic administration for what is declared to be its "buried surrender to Great Britain in the matter of the Panama Canal, its violations of platform pledges" and "its vague vacillating policy in dealing with conditions in Mexico." National prohibition is favored.

Underwood's majority over Hobson Dr. Edward Gudeman, a Chicago chemist, thinks he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis, or an effective treatment in the earlier stages of the dread disease, which is inhaling the fumes of burning sulphur. A very simple remedy, and one that costs but little to be tried out. Dr. Gudeman says he personally knows of several cases of tuberculosis that have been cured by the simple remedy.

 was 30,777. Hobson received a total of 46,514, and Underwood 76,285. That is decisive enough it would seem to convince Mr. Hobson that the next time the people of Alabama elevate him to office he should at least make some attempt to earn the salary attached to it by staying on the job.

Some of the Oklahoma papers are not satisfied in that a part of Oklahoma is included in the Dallas reserve bank district, and in speaking of it the McAlester News-Capital has this to say:
 A grievous mistake has been made in dividing Oklahoma between the Kansas City and Dallas districts. In fact, it is difficult to understand why Dallas should have been made a reserve center at all. Dallas is an important city to Texas, but it never has made much of a showing as a banking center and what business it has transacted has been more of a local than of an interstate nature. The trend of the commerce of Oklahoma is toward Kansas City and St. Louis. Practically all of the banks of the state carry considerable accounts in one of the other of these cities or in both. It appears that Southern Oklahoma has been tacked onto Dallas more to boost that city and build it up as a banking center than to serve the commerce and the banking interests of this portion of the state.—McAlester News-Capital.

Lester B. Colby, staff correspondent of the Houston Chronicle, persists in saying that if Gov. Colquitt becomes convinced that he can't be elected to the Senate he will try for a third term as governor. As yet, Gov. Colquitt has not declared himself as for either the candidates for governor, and his silence in the matter is probably construed to mean that he is considering the matter of trying for a third term.

A few days ago there was a bank failure at Amarillo. It was a State guarantee bank, however, and the depositors will not lose one cent. The State guaranty fund has in it $961,000, and the closing of the Amarillo bank will take from it the sum of $89,000 with which to pay the protected depositors. The more we see of this law the better we like it. Every depositor who trusts his hard-earned money to a bank should be protected to the limit, and that is what has been done in every instance where a bank operating under this law has failed, or closed its doors.

There is this much in favor of Candidate James E. Ferguson, who is seeking to be the governor of Texas. He sees the evil of depopulating the country in order to seek a place where the children of farmers can secure a common education, and offers as a remedy the establishing of graded schools in country districts. As to whether his ideas are feasible or can be carried out, is of course a problem that is yet to be solved. There are entirely too many farms lying idle and producing nothing. One reason for this is that the country schools of today do not offer much encouragement to ambitious country boys and girls. In order to obtain even a first-class common school education, they are forced to go to the cities and towns, and that generally means that their parents go with them. If there were better country schools there would be less of this cry "back to the farm," for the simple reason there would be less cause for farmers to move to the cities and towns.

A SUGGESTION FOR FERGUSON.

G. F. Tindall of Sarita, Wilbacy County, is the author of a rather nipping letter on the subject of land rents and Ferguson. After calling attention to the fact that Mr. Ferguson would regulate share rentals to one-fourth of the cotton crop and one-third of the grain crop and making any excess of this proportion usury, he asks:
 "Will he also pass a bill making all land of the same fertility, so that the renter can make a bale of cotton to the acre with the same amount of labor performed?
 "And will he put all farms near a good market, so a renter will not have to transport his crops more than a mile or two?
 "Will he fix the price of land, so that the man who buys a farm can rent it for one-fourth and make a good profit on his investment?
 "The renter knows that it is nonsense to catch his vote."
 "A renter could better pay one-third cotton rent under certain conditions than one-fourth for poor land, such as does not make more than one-fourth to one-half of a bale to the acre.
 "If other bills should be in keeping with his own proposed, Texas would have a poor business governor."
 The above letter is quoted without comment, merely to open up what might be a good line of argument. Possibly renters and farm owners can suggest something more on the subject.—Houston Chronicle.

DEMOCRATS REVERSE STAND AT BALTIMORE

Senator Gore of Oklahoma has written a letter to all the delegates who attended the Baltimore convention to ascertain how they stood on the question of repeal of the free tolls question, and of the answer thereto, thus far 338 favor repeal, and 111 are non-committal. A Washington dispatch to the Dallas News says as follows regarding this matter. It is as follows:
 Washington, April 12.—The most significant development in the contest over the repeal of free tolls granted through the Panama Canal to American coastwise vessels is the preliminary result of a poll being conducted by Senator Gore of Oklahoma among delegates to the Baltimore convention, and the tabulated results, now promising to be more pronounced for the Administration's position than was anticipated, are to be given to the Senate during the debate.
 The Baltimore convention declared in favor of free tolls, and upon this the Administration's opponents have relied to defeat the repeal bill. It is the chief argument among the opposing Senators and was so among members of the House while the bill was pending before them.

 With a view of ascertaining the sentiment among delegates to the Baltimore convention on this question, as detached from every other, Senator Gore addressed a letter to the delegates asking whether they favored or opposed free tolls. The returns have been rapidly coming in during the last few days, and tabulated tonight, show a vote of 338 in favor of repeal, 69 against and 11 who are non-committal, a ratio of five to one among the delegates, for repeal as the ratio among Democratic Congressmen was four to one.

Texas Poll Unanimous
 But two States have given a majority against repeal. A number of them, as far as the returns have been received, are found unanimously for the President's position, notably Texas and Pennsylvania.
 A notable showing is that from among the Illinois delegates, twenty-four of whom have responded in favor of the Administration's position and but two against it.
 The letters are accepted as reflecting not only the sentiment among the delegates on the issue as it stood before the convention, but of the present sentiment of communities throughout the country, and a potent feature of them is the argument against bounties and privileges and in favor of keeping the National faith. But two letters received from the Southwest have been made public. One is from E. K. Thurmond, president of the First National Bank of Sayre, Ok., and a delegate to the Baltimore convention, who writes: "While I went to the Baltimore convention and voted for Mr. Clark, I believe, forty-five times, however I think he is on the wrong side in this fight. I believe that we should stand with the President and that you could not make a mistake in making a strong fight for the President in this matter."
 Another, from Robert E. Huff, an attorney of Wichita Falls, Texas, and a delegate to the Baltimore convention, says: "You will doubtless remember that the report of the platform committee was read late at night, after the nomination for President had been made, and when but a small portion of the convention was present, and that portion in confusion. I think Senator Kern read the report, or a great portion of it, and his voice was weak and could not be heard by the great body of the convention. Moreover, as there was no minority report, the convention supposed that the platform committee had done its duty, according to Democratic policy, and, therefore, this section went unchallenged."

THE GOVERNOR'S RACE AS VIEWED BY THE PROS.

 Even at this early stage of the Ball campaign, our scouts report much activity and enthusiasm among several politicians who are entertaining notions of appointments to office. A close watch is being maintained on the situation in these parts.—Wise County Messenger.
 Chairman Walker has good control and when the result of the duty game is made known it will be seen that he was able to put the "Ball" over.—Waxahatchie Light.
 Gradually the big ones and the little ones are crawling into the Tom Ball band wagon. First thing you know some fellow is going to make it unanimous.—Bryan Eagle.
 Candidate Ferguson says he favors the initiative, referendum and recall, but insists that 51 per cent of the voters sign the petition. In other words he would keep a gun behind the door, but would place it on a rack so high it could not be reached.—Waco News.
 Both Tom Ball and Jim Ferguson disagree on the vital issue, each is the son of a preacher—an itinerant Methodist preacher. Oh, what old lib! Why, that a preacher's job seldom comes to any good end. What's that? These two do not prove the exception, you say, each being a politician? We surmiser and ask for mercy.—Waco Times-Herald.

Some say there will be a Fort Worth conference and some say there will not be one. Three candidates, or even more, are not at all impossible under the present lineup. It is beginning to look like Tom Ball can sing "I Should Worry" with that don't-care expression that means a great deal.—Austin Statesman.
 Special session talk is again being agitated. We think it is well nigh time that some one inform the governor, once for all, that this is election year, and as such, politics will be sufficiently warm without recourse to this method.—Greenville Herald.

Clarence Ousley knew when to dodge the Ball.—Grandview Tribune.
 The Fort Worth convention is going to be scattered like feathers in a cyclone when the old guard from the ranks of the vox populi get on the ground April 14.—Greenville Register.

You may not have seen Hon. Jim Ferguson, the former candidate for governor, but you have been "hearing" of him during the past few days. He is in the running, and he is not a bit above to head him off, either. He is of that class of farmers who never looks back when he has hold of the plow handles.—Gainesville Register.
 It has been suggested that maybe Oscar B. is secretly helping to gully the anti-Ball political waters, with the hope that he may eventually be chosen as a third-term Moses. Wonder?—Corpus Christi Democrat.

The "destructive" Democrats are still at sea. They will never be able to make a landing unless they can secure a pilot.—Waxahatchie Light.
 Is Ferguson the man, or have the politicians a heavyweight dark horse up their sleeve to spring at the prospect?—Comstock Courier-Light.

THE GIRL QUESTION
(Harper's Weekly)

No study could be more fruitful than that of the home from which the girl comes, the way of the father, the breakdown of authority because parents are no longer able to order the goings and comings of the girl who adds to the scanty earnings, the unsupervised hours of leisure in the pleasure resorts with free drinking and unruly dancing the immense stimulus of modern excitement in its myriad forms of love scenes on films, of racy vaudeville, of lurid drama. The mighty urge toward freedom of all present tendency, the casting off of authority, the leap into the stream of life before maturity—these swift currents have seized the untrained youth of our generation. Can anything short of a strong adult nature, ethically reformed, withstand the pressure of modern life, where change and hurry have been substituted for orderly development in protected areas?
 Girls, before they are cast adrift in industrial swirl, need the building up of moral reserve. What vague intuition can be plied against the pleasure and the dance? What undeveloped resource can be summoned against present temptation?
 There is need the reserve of patient years of belief in a moral order, of trust in the presence of love. The modern girl is widely separated from her mother—separated not only in space, but in love. Just now we are busy devising any substitutes for central controls. We are planning and even legislating "social controls" as public dance halls that shall be supervised, a supervised dance hall is far better than an unsupervised dance hall. But a salaried social worker in charge of many little strangers will never take the place of the mother. In the lives of the workers it may well be that civic centers, community centers, will replace the single home for the recreation hours of evening. But the power of the home and the presence of the parents must be extended over that community center. The wit of man can not devise a substitute for the mother and the father. There is no other form of social control equal to that of the home. If our economic conditions are making this home influence impossible, then such changes must be made as shall enable homes to be decently maintained, youth to pass its formative years in education in discipline, parents to regain authority, and to possess a margin of leisure for fine relationship with the growing life.

Of course we of Texas or the South have no kick coming in the matter of the distribution of regional reserve banks. Those in charge of locating them did the best they could, perhaps, but so long as there were so many States clamoring for one of the twelve, it does seem a little bit like some partiality was shown when one State headed two of them.

Wichita Falls has the savings fever. All the banks of the city are featuring their savings departments, the school children are saving their pennies, and a big building and loan association is getting ready for business. T.H.R.I.F.T. is the motto in hundreds of homes and Wichita Falls is building for the future.
 Last year $6,200 of the public money was expended in payment of baths given our Senators and Representatives. This was in addition to the salaries they draw, as we understand it, but if it is right to pay for their baths how long will it be before they will expect the government to pay for their shoe shines, shaves, hair cuts, street car fare, board bills, etc.? If the salaries that go with the offices are not large enough to pay their expenses, then why in thunder is it that it is so difficult a task to induce one of them to give up their job and seek a new field of employment? Some of them have been serving in Congress for from fifteen to thirty years, and seemingly have managed to accumulate considerable property and money. There should be an end to this extravagance.

All three of the former pro Democratic candidates for governor in former campaigns are now supporting Col. Tom Ball for governor. On the other hand, the anti-Pro Democratic leaders who helped to elect Gov. Colquitt are refusing to give their support to Candidate James E. Ferguson. Yesterday at Fort Worth Mr. Ferguson showed that he was not particularly seeking their support. In fact, he defied them, and it is now up to them as to whether they support him or Col. Tom Ball. That Ferguson was strong enough to do this is evidence that he has a strong following, and doubtless he has figured that he will gain more votes by declining and refusing the endorsement of the Constructive Democrats than he could have hoped to gain by accepting the same. The way it looks to us is that Mr. Ferguson deliberately defied Messrs. J. Shob Williams, R. M. Johnston, Clarence Ousley and other very prominent anti-prohibition leaders, giving them to understand that they can no longer dictate as to who shall be the candidate for governor. As eliminators, they have proven a most dismal failure, and in this campaign will have to occupy back seats. For this nice piece of work, even those who are not inclined to give their support to Mr. Ferguson will thank him. While he does not claim to know the political game, those who have observed his movements can see that he is an apt student, and is learning fast.

PETTY THEIVING AND THE REMEDY

Editor of Times: No farmer has yet given a good reason for not building good roads. Some disagree as to the method and others to amount of road bonds. I am not going to tell older heads whether bonds or special tax is best. But I suggest instead of sitting back and looking with suspicion on the car riding experts or ridiculing the orations from presidents of Auto-Have-Good Roads, that we, the farmers get into this good road proposition, hold our own meetings, discuss what looks like to me, our own affairs, decide upon some form of action, most agreeable to ourselves, as to how we will improve our roads, to fit our business and our purse as well. Then unite our plans with village and city.
 The farmers have for nearly a century been so used to having the other fellow do things and doing very little ourselves, that we have nearly forgotten that if we do not see after the farmers' interest, the other fellow is compelled to start something to save himself. You know the early Pilgrims to this country peeled the bark off the trees to deaden them so the sun could shine through to make their crops. While they were doing this other industries sprang up with many different occupations. Years later the farmer began to look around him and find the other fellows were well organized and that lots of poor farmers were still peeling bark. Today the farmers are organizing and slowly bettering themselves, despite the fact other industries were a half century behind them on just plain business methods. And all that retards the farmer in this mutual get-together movement is that so many farmers are content to follow the primitive methods.
 Now a line on the automobile. If have neither an auto or the money to buy one, I don't blame the autolifer for wanting a good driveway. That is his business. I want good roads because they benefit me, and because one-tenth of the car drivers are reckless law breakers I would not leave the road full of mudholes to spite the other nine-tenths and cripple my own welfare. I have heard car drivers boast of peeling the jaw of a mile as they overtook some farmer because he wouldn't get out of the road. I have had negro drivers slow down behind me and expect me to pull my leg out of my wagon to one side so they could follow a straight line, I suppose. But fully nine-tenths of the autolifers I meet are gentlemen and give half of the road. There is about one-tenth of the farmers who believe there ought to be a law to put the auto off the public road. What ever one-tenth of either class is named, they just about even up. So you see this leaves the speeders just simply make them abide by the law. Let's be more up-to-date. Let's have better roads.

Convicts Fight Sterilization.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 14.—Federal Judges Smith, McPherson and Pollock are today hearing the attack upon Iowa's new law calling for the sterilization of insane and habitual criminals by the state board of parole. The attack is being made by thirty convicts in the state penitentiary at Fort Madison who have banded together and employed a lawyer. The state parole board has already put the law into force in three insane asylums, where fifty operations have been performed. The board issued an order for operations at Fort Madison but it agreed with the attorney for the convicts to withhold action until the law can be tested in court. The convicts claim that the law is in violation of their rights guaranteed by the Federal constitution.

ALL NATIONS TO ENTER GLOBE-TRAVELING PANAMA-PACIFIC AVIATION RACE FOR $300,000

The most tremendous aerial drama will be staged in 1915 when the signal is given for the 22,000-mile Panama-Pacific International Aviation race around the world for prizes of $300,000 or more. Aeromats from all civilized nations with every description of air craft driven by motors will participate. The event will compare with the crossing of the Atlantic by Columbus and the circumnavigation of the globe by Magellan, in 1522. Arnold Krueger, chief of the Panama-Pacific exposition bureau of aeronautics, will start soon upon a trip around the world, traversing the entire route, to establish control points and confer with commissioners that will be appointed by the various nations. The functions of this commission will be clearly separate from the aeronautical supervision of the race, which will be under the jurisdiction of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. According to the present plan the commission will be composed of five men, whose selection will be placed in the hands of the President of the United States, the King of England, the President of France, the Emperor of Germany, the Czar, the Mikado and the Premier of British Columbia. The start of the race will be in May, 1915, from the aviation field of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Patrols of scout cruisers will be established to mark the trail over the oceans and lend assistance if needed. Each machine will carry at least two men and will check in at each control point where it will be stamped. Repairs and rebuilding will be permissible. Aviators are confident that by May, 1915, such progress will have been made that success will be assured. It is probable that by that time the Atlantic will have been crossed successfully and that the competitors will be given the choice of routes by mid-Atlantic or by way of Greenland. Circumnavigation of the globe will be the supreme adventure of our day.

How Four Youths Of Good Families Became Gunmen

(Winthrop D. Lane in the Survey)
How are "gunmen" made? Gyp the Blood, Lefty Louie, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank will die in Sing Sing during the week of April 13 unless the governor of New York intervenes. When their bodies are lifted from the chair society will rest content in the belief that it has done its utmost to make their cases crime deterrents.

All society seems to ask is did they kill Rosenthal, the gambler and "squealer" who was shot in July, 1912? And will they pay the penalty? Doubtless this is society's first responsibility. But shall we stop there? Is it not important to learn as much as possible of their early lives and associations to discover how we may prevent more gunmen from being made? Where did these four boys come from? Who are their parents? How was their childhood spent? Did they become murderers in a day?

Lefty Louie was born in the heart of New York's congested lower East Side. The family is one of respectable, orthodox Jews. The father, Benjamin, is a trustee of a synagogue. No suspicion of crime has ever been lodged against any other members of the family. After an illness at the age of 6, the doctor said that Louie must have all the fresh air he could get. At that time the family was poor and the only fresh air for Louie was in the street. The stern household discipline was then broken down. The myriad sights and sounds he had wondered about, he could now investigate first hand. New friends, the amusements of the doorman and the sidewalk.

In a couple of years he became, says his father, a "street fend." The first mischief his family knew about happened when he was 11 or 12. With another boy he tried to "take" some money out of a little bank in which his brother kept his savings. At this time he was going to both the public and Hebrew schools and receiving the usual religious instruction of his race. At 12 or 13 he had become a frequenter of pool rooms, where he probably learned how to pick pockets. He was sent away to a private school for a year and after that worked both in the shipping department of a department store and in his father's office.

But his passionate longing for the street continued. His first arrest was in 1907 when Louie was 16. The charge was "disorderly conduct" and he was sent to the house of refuge. Soon after he came out he was arrested for picking a pocket and sent to the house of correction for nine months. These were his only arrests up to the murder of Rosenthal.

Whitey Lewis came to this country with his family from Poland in 1900, when he was 12 years old. In Poland, the family says, he never got into trouble. His parents are Jews and are poor. The excitement of street life in New York City was too much for Whitey, with his rural upbringing and during his first year here he made the acquaintance of professional criminals in Chinatown. He worked for a while in a book binding shop and then started to learn something with an uncle in Jersey City.

His first arrest came when he was 16. He pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree and was sent to Elmira Reformatory. He was paroled and earned his living as a peddler in seven months. Two other convictions for smaller offenses followed and then Whitey entered the army and went to the Philippines. There he got into a struggle with a fellow who lashed him for being a Jew and Whitey, who had a knife in his hand, cut his persecutor. He was given hard labor for three months and dishonorably discharged. He returned to this country and fell in with his old associates. Like Lefty Louie and Gyp the Blood, he declared, the state has no business interfering with the work of a gang leader, about a year before the murder.

ing is much the same as that of Lefty's. His father is in the tailoring business and well to do. From the ages of 8 to 13, Gyp, who is a Jew, received instruction in the Talmud and the other usual religious teachings of his race. With Lefty he frequented pool rooms. For a while he was an errand boy for a dry goods store and it may be that his trips to all parts of the city brought him into contact with evil associates. At 17 he was arrested for the first time, the charge being petit larceny. He was discharged. The next year for a similar offense he was sentenced to nine months in the city reformatory. He served it in the reformatory and then a year in the state's penitentiary. Two of Gyp's brothers have been arrested also.

Such are the histories of four young men now looked upon as desperate and hardened criminals. Yet beyond their connection with one crime, the world has shown no concern in the stakes by which their criminal careers developed. None of the parents of the gunmen has ever been charged with crime. The early years of each of the four seem to have been normal and straightforward. Gradually they made the acquaintance of older boys and men who had mastered the trick of turning an easy dollar. Their own entrances into the "game" were casual and by no means grand. Gyp and Dago Frank, with attempts to get spending money easily. None of them was given the benefit of probation or a suspended sentence.

ORGANIZATION OF SCHOOL BOARD IS PERFECTED

From Wednesday's Daily
At a meeting of the school board last night the result of the election for trustees for the Wichita Falls independent school district was announced and the following standing committees: Finance—W. J. Bullock, W. R. Ferguson, J. L. Jackson. Teachers—W. J. Bullock, T. J. Taylor, W. W. Brown. Rules and regulations—A. H. Carrigan, J. L. Downing, W. R. Ferguson. Text books and course of study—T. J. Taylor, A. H. Carrigan, W. W. Brown.

School property and supplies—W. R. Ferguson, W. W. Brown, J. L. Downing. Health and sanitation—J. L. Jackson, J. L. Downing, A. H. Carrigan. George H. Carpenter was elected superintendent for a term of two years. H. F. Robertson and collector of taxes and the First State Bank and Trust Company had also been chosen as treasurer.

The schools are in good condition financially and otherwise and are prepared to receive the incoming students for next year, as they now have seven rooms in the different buildings that are not being used. The census to be taken in May is expected to show a handsome increase in school children. The teaching force has to be increased every year and but few people realize the rapid growth of our system of schools. It now takes over $4,500 per month to meet the pay roll, which is more than double what it was four years ago.

Iowa Blue Sky Law Attacked
Keokuk, Iowa, April 15.—Iowa's Blue Sky Law, passed by the last general assembly, to prevent the "fly" bank, and mining promoters from taking money out of the state for wild-cat schemes, is being tested here today in the federal court before Judges Smith, McPherson and Pollock. The law demands that foreign companies, before they can do business in the state, must convince the secretary of state that their scheme is legitimate and they may secure a certificate. District Judge McHenry at Des Moines, has declared the law unconstitutional and the state has appealed this case to the supreme court. Enemies of the law have attacked it on the same grounds in the federal court which is the case being heard today.

DEMOCRATIC OLD SEA DOG

According to Dewey, Admiral Farragut Was by No Means a Strict Disciplinarian.
Admiral Farragut's methods were all ways simple. There was a saying that his principal place for filing papers was his coat pocket. Generally he wrote his orders himself, perhaps with his knee or the ship's rail as a rest. Admiral Dewey in his autobiography recalls that one day when Farragut was writing he looked up and said: "Now, how in the devil do you spell Appalachiola? Some of these educated young fellows from Annapolis know know." Dewey adds: "A man who had such an important command could hardly have been more democratic. One high I had given orders for a thorough cleaning of the ship the next morning. I was awake early, for it was stifling hot. Five o'clock came and I heard no sound of the holy-stones on the deck.

"So I went above to find out why my orders were not obeyed and my frame of mind for the moment was entirely that of the disciplinarian. There was no activity at all on deck. I looked around for the officer of the deck. He was an old New England whaler, brown as a buccaneer, who had enlisted for the war from the merchant service. I recollect that he wore small gold rings in his ears, a custom with some of the old-fashioned merchant sailors who had traveled the world over. I found him seated up in the hammock netting where it was cool, with Farragut at his side.

'FATHER' AND 'MOTHER' BEST

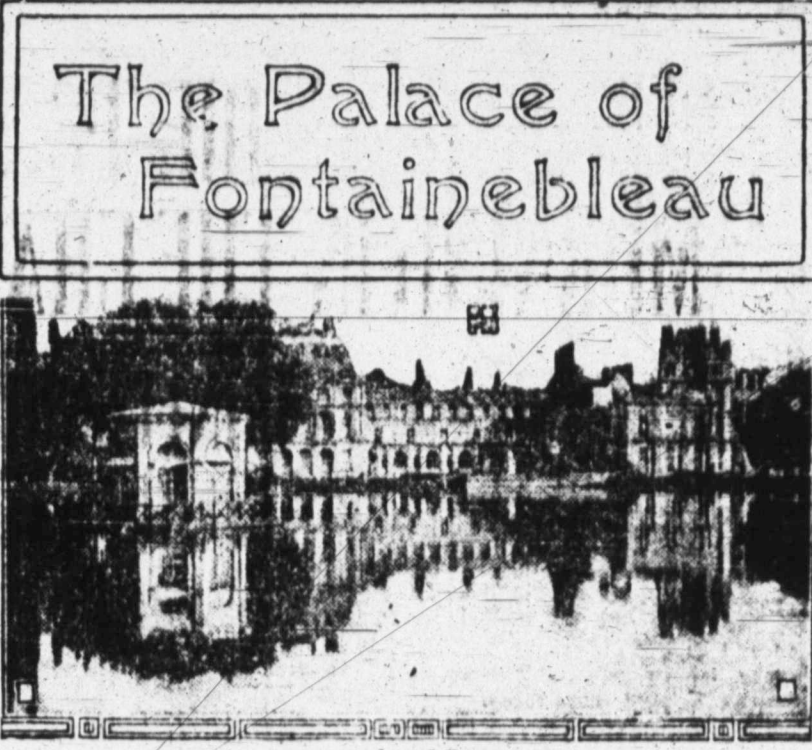

No Other Names for Parents Carry the Same Deep Meaning of Reversal Love.
"Father" and "mother" are difficult words to improve upon when one thinks of the associations they convey, and the dignity of their meaning, remarks Loudon Auserer. Many, however, have been the offshoots of these appellations. "Papa" and "mamma" have been in use in England for at least three centuries, and it is generally accepted that they are of Italian origin, as Dante uses the word "mamma" in the Purgatorio.

Among middle class folk "dad" or "daddy" is a favorite nickname. "Dad" is of pure Welsh extraction, and is derived from, or is a corruption of, the word "tad." "Pater" and "mater" make their appearance when students are in the throes of Latin grammar. "Poppa" and "momma" have appealed to the young American. None of these nicknames, or terms of endearment, can, however, approach the beautiful Anglo-Saxon definition of parents—"father" and "mother," and it is these terms that one clings to when childhood's days are over.

Jewel in a Serpent's Head.
We none of us place much credence in Shakespeare's fable, which— Ugly and venomous, Wears yet a precious jewel in its head. But the natives of India have a firm belief that a certain variety of snake which they call sheeh ash, forms a precious stone within its head after it has attained the ripe old age of 1,000 years. This jewel has the reputation of drawing forth the most deadly venom of any other snakebite, if applied at once to the wound. A certain Parsee gentleman is supposed to possess one of these jewels at the present time.

Bushman's Holiday.
Recently I came across a really happy omnibus conductor, who knew me by sight, and remarked that it had been a splendid day. He had almost a whole day off, and looked jolly. "What had he done? Why, what he always does when on a day off. I had never really believed in the phrase, "The bushman's holiday." It's true. For that man always gets on the top of another man's bus and has a good long ride into the country and back. It cured him of insomnia, he said. Working days mean going to bed at all kinds of hours, and a conductor is often too tired to get to sleep at will. But a day off with no tickets to punch—and you can sleep till six tomorrow."—London Chronicle.

Comparison With Cave Man.
Everything considered, it is possible that the cave-man has an advantage over us. For though his words were few in number he had few ideas to voice, few thoughts to express, few activities to advance, and these were all of such a nature that his grunt was encyclopedic in its ability to explain. On the other hand, life is now so complex that with all our words, inventions, accents, mimicry, postures, and gestures we are often unable to make our meaning perfectly clear.

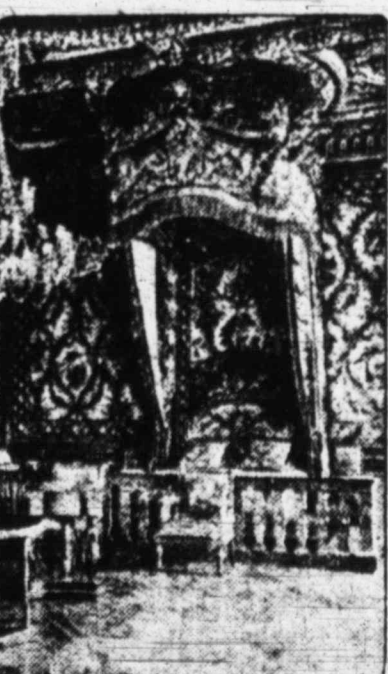

ONE VIEW OF PALACE

The traveler in France Fontainebleau has at least two qualifications which make it worthy of consideration. Its forest and its castle. It was under the reign of Saint Louis that the chateau first became important, although it was not until the time of Francis I. that it acquired a definite place in the history of France. From that time on nearly all the kings of France paid frequent visits to Fontainebleau. It was Henry II. and his mistress, Diane de Poitiers, who continued the work of embellishment commenced by Francis I. Then there was Henry IV. who, with Francis I. did more for Fontainebleau than any crowned head. It was in honor of the famous Gabrielle d'Estrees that the Galerie de Diane was built. Later came Louis XIII, Louis XIV. and Louis XV. who had a theater erected in the palace for Mme. de Pompadour. Marie Antoinette made several interior alterations, but during the period of the Revolution the palace was almost deserted.

Home of Emperors.
In 1804 appeared the greatest figure of all Napoleon Bonaparte. The emperor had the palace completely restored and much new furniture placed in it for the visit of Pope Pius VII, who came to France to crown him. On April 5, 1814, he abdicated. On April 20, after his pathetic and historical adieu to his "Old Guard" assembled in the "Court du Cheval Blanc" (which since has been called "Cour des Adieux"), he withdrew to the island of Elba. Louis XVIII, Charles X. and Louis Philippe came to Fontainebleau. Also the Emperor Napoleon III and the Empress Eugenie, who was very fond of the palace and forest. In more recent years President Carnot paid several visits, but the presidential apartments have not been occupied by any chief of the state since the death of Felix Faure.

The forest, said to be the most beautiful of all French forests, covers an area of 16,800 hectares and abounds in lovely scenery. Largely through the efforts of Messrs. Demecourt and Collinet, one may at the present day admire an endless number of sites, beautiful trees and admirable points of views which, without their, might have remained undiscovered, perhaps, for centuries. Fontainebleau has always been what it is termed a hunting country. There are several packs of hounds in the district. During autumn and winter, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, the hunting equipage of Mr. Paul Leboulay may be seen.

Bedroom of Marie Antoinette.

ter, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, the hunting equipage of Mr. Paul Leboulay may be seen.

Fine Resort.
Fontainebleau, by virtue of the public and sedative action of its forest, is a first-class resort at the very door of Paris. However, until late years it never enjoyed the success it deserved because of its restricted facilities for caring for visitors. This was remedied in 1898 by the construction of the Hotel Savoy, which has about a hundred rooms with baths as well as complete suites with all modern conveniences. Visitors at the Savoy find the golf links one of the prime attractions of Fontainebleau. Not only golf and care but intelligence have been bestowed here and from out of the famous forest, where kings and emperors were wont to disport themselves with the chase has been brought a wonderful picture round English visitors praise the links and compare them to the Norfolk scenery around Sandringham. From the terrace of the club one can nearly see the whole links and the golfers. The course is of 18 holes and is so sporting enough for the best of golfers. With commendable foresight, the club has made an arrangement with the state, who own the land, whereby the links may be extended at any time—but this is not pressing at the moment other projects are on hand. A new building for housing the club members has also just been erected. Various prizes are offered during the fall months, including the "Prix du President" and the "International Challenge Cup." During these competitions the links assume a particularly cosmopolitan appearance and one may see golfers of many different nationalities fraternizing with the comradely which friendliness for the same sport always inspires.

Barbizon, situated on the western extremity of the Forest of Fontainebleau, has occupied a prominent place in the work and also in the life of many artists and of many men and women of letters: Corot, Daubigny, Millet, Troyon, Courbet and others. Henri Taubé and Ed. J. de Goncourt made frequent sojourns here and at Fontainebleau. Alfred de Musset, the great poet, has sung the beauties of the forest. With his mistress, George Sand, the celebrated romancer, he spent more than one autumn in the villages surrounding the forest. Other villages of interest in the forest are Roissy-Bois, Bourron, Marlotte, Moutigny-sur-Loing, Moret, Samois and Thomery.

DOES CHILDREN MUCH GOOD

Open-Air Study, and Scientific Care, Have Been Productive of Remarkable Results.
The open-air school, started last year in one of the centrally located school buildings in Louisville, Ky. for the accommodation of amenable children, has shown remarkable results. The children are from eight to thirteen years old and are taken only from the second and third grades. "Studying in the open air, however, is only part of the care and routine which resulted in an average gain in weight of two and one-half pounds when the school had been running but five weeks. The children arrive at school at eight o'clock and are given a cold shower-bath and a brisk rub. Breakfast, consisting of a cereal and milk, or Graham crackers and milk, is served in a cozy dining-room at nine o'clock. After breakfast the school suits are donned, and the pupils are read for work in the open-air school-room. Like Eskimo children, the boys and girls dress exactly alike, in suits consisting of a belted coat with cowl and long trousers, which are tucked into felt boots. The morning is divided into two work periods with a 20-minute recess between. At twelve o'clock the heavy meal of the day is served, consisting of soup, two vegetables, bread, butter, milk and a dessert, or meat or eggs, two vegetables, bread, butter and milk. The dinner is followed by a half hour of play, after which the children go to their cots to rest and sleep until three o'clock, when they go back to the school room for a short period, followed by the afternoon lunch of milk and crackers. They leave for home at 3:45 o'clock. The nurse, who watches the temperature, weight and the physical condition of the children, gives the baths, sees that the children brush their teeth properly and shows the teacher through the rest period. It is furnished by one of the philanthropic associations of the city.

HUERTA PARLEYS; WANTS SIMULTANEOUS SALUTE

At Last Moment the Crafty Dictator Comes Forward With Proposal In Hope of Securing Delay.

WASHINGTON STANDS BY ITS DEMANDS

Following Cabinet Meeting Note Sent to O'Shaughnessy to Inform Huerta American Position unchanged.

By Associated Press

BULLETIN:—Washington, April 17.—Secretary Bryan cabled instructions to American Charge Nelson O'Shaughnessy to finally inform Huerta that the United States will accept nothing less than a salute of 21 guns, and the American ships will reply after the salute has been fired.

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 17.—Huerta has parleyed again. He now demands that his salute to the American flag shall be returned gun for gun simultaneously. This President Wilson is practically certain not to accept.

The latest hitch at the eleventh hour when officials here expected that the situation was as good as closed was disclosed in dispatches received from American Charge O'Shaughnessy.

President Wilson discussed it with the cabinet. Some members of the cabinet said that Huerta had been informed no simultaneous salute would be fired. The developments confirmed the fears of some of the officials here that Huerta would equivocate at the last moment.

Any intention of recalling any ships of the fleet on their way to Tampico has been abandoned and those close to the administration expected to see President Wilson's demand for an unqualified salute enforced.

The text of O'Shaughnessy's message was not made public but it was said that Huerta would not fire a salute particularly for the arrest of American blue jackets unless the United States would return the salute simultaneously.

Officials here said that the United States was ready to return a salute as was the naval custom but that to return a salute gun for gun simultaneously would make the apology ineffective. They described Huerta's latest move as an effort to protect his won dignity before the Mexicans in that part of the country in which he is in control.

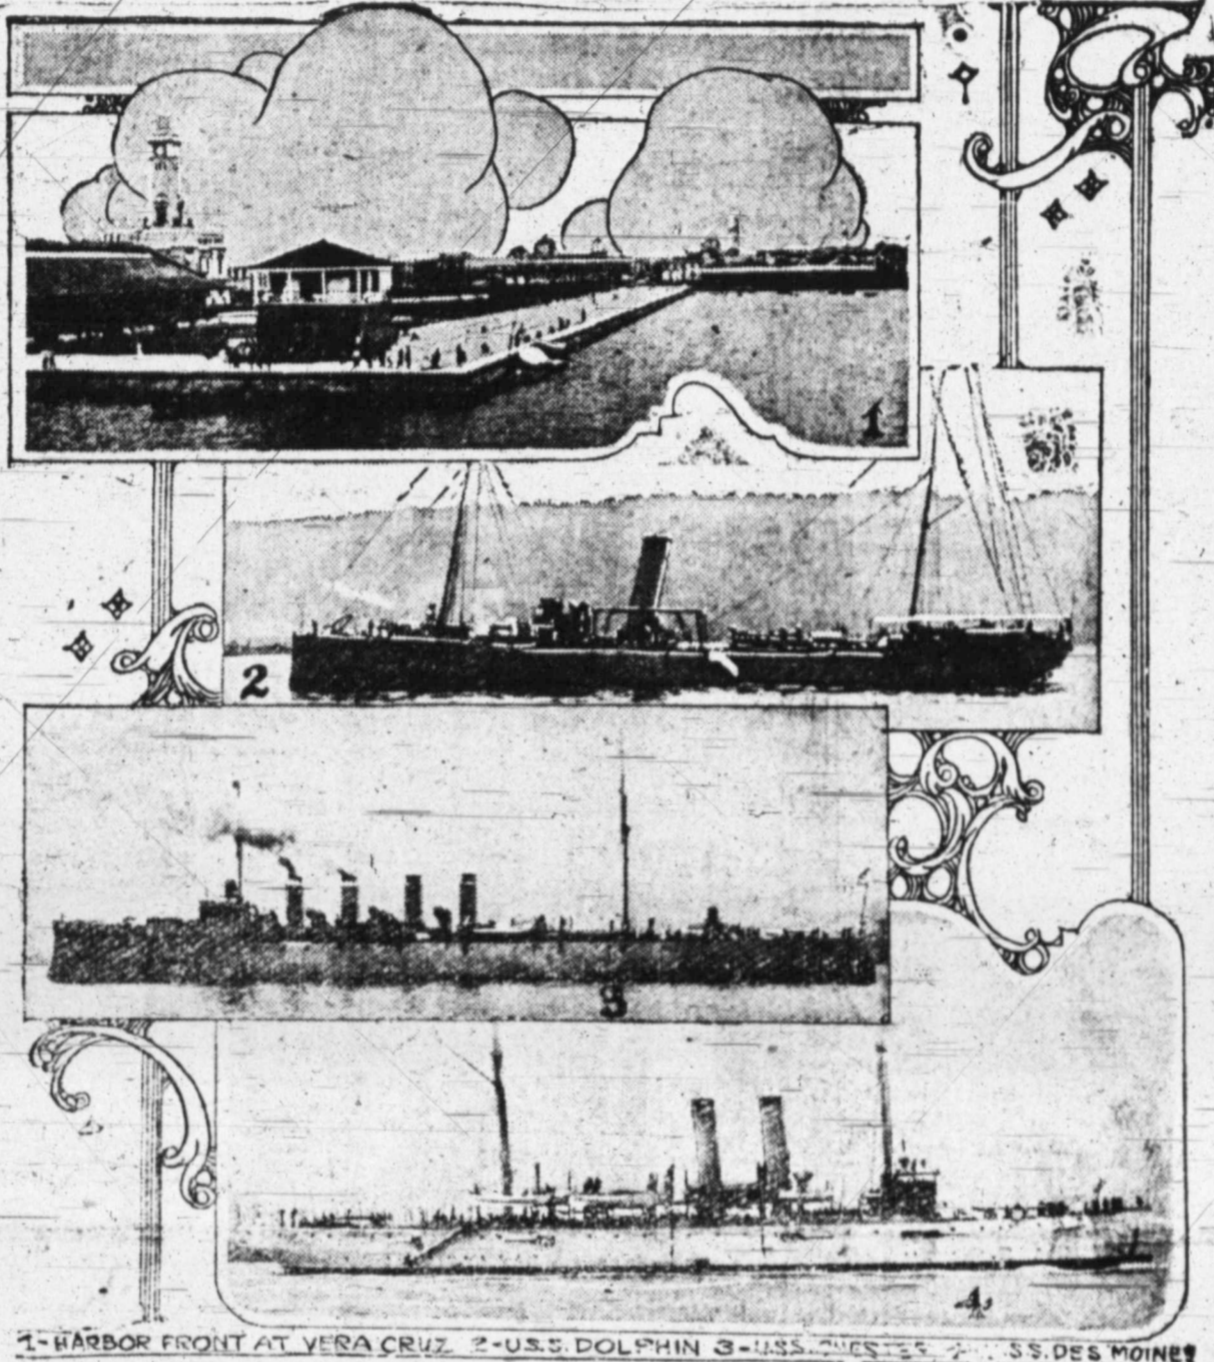

Although Secretary Bryan when he took the latest communication from Charge O'Shaughnessy to the White House, said: "The situation is encouraging but not closed," and the President had said that the hitch did not "affect the heart of the matter." It developed that Huerta's proposition was another play for time which probably would not be accepted to.

All the latest dispatches were laid before the Cabinet which was still in session when Secretary Bryan left to file some messages to Charge O'Shaughnessy. He was silent as to their nature, but it was understood that word had gone back to Huerta that a simultaneous salute would not be fired by the American government, and that O'Shaughnessy had been advised that the United States would insist on the enforcement of Admiral Mayo's demands.

Officials expressed the view that Huerta had been listening to some bad advice during the last twelve hours and after he had promised Mr. O'Shaughnessy the salute would be fired without condition.

Tentative plans for a blockade of Tampico and Vera Cruz and other Mexican ports are being formed by the navy and army departments and it is believed some definite announcement will be forthcoming from the administration within the next few hours.

PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE OIL DROPS TEN CENTS BBL.

Market Opened at Pittsburgh With Stiff Price Reduction—Other Grades Reduced

By Associated Press. Pittsburgh, Pa., April 17.—A drop of ten cents a barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil came when the market opened here this morning. Similar reductions followed in other grades.

It had been known here for some time that refiners were well stocked with finished product and that a vast amount of oil was stored. This with the drop in mid-continent oil last week was given as the principal reason for the drop by the principal purchasing agencies here.

TEXAS OIL MEN MUCH DISTURBED OVER SITUATION

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, April 17.—Texas oil men are said to be more disturbed than for years. Statements are made that crude oil prices, especially the Mexican product have been cut in to and that pipe line companies have been swamped.

The unprecedented production in Oklahoma and Texas is said to be shutting out the Mexican supply and quotations have been lowered to 50 cents a barrel. The Gulf Company is said to be taking production from the Humble field and certain tanks long ago discarded are being repaired with a view of conservation of the supply despite this wasteful method.

CHANGES MADE IN POLICE DEPARTMENT

POLICE FORCE REORGANIZED UNDER NEW MARSHAL WITH SEVEN POLICEMEN

By Associated Press. L. N. Jernigan Made Night Chief—Walston, Ralls, Gilliam and Lyons are New Men

The city council in adjourned session this afternoon elected seven policemen, upon recommendation of City Marshal Nail. Four of the seven are new members of the force which is now as follows:

L. N. Jernigan, night chief; Andy Humphris, Will Allen, Bob Lyons, night men; B. G. Walston, John Ralls, day men; George Gilliam, split shift, from noon until midnight. Messrs. Lyons, Walston, Ralls and Gilliam are new members. With one exception, the slate submitted by the chief was accepted by the council.

The addition of a motorcycle officer to this force will probably be made shortly, though this has not been definitely decided upon.

City Marshal Nail in submitting his recommendations, said that he believed a force of seven men, in addition to himself, was necessary to handle the situation properly. It was essential, he said, that enough night men be employed to enable him to send two on calls from the flats, as he did not believe one man should answer such calls alone. He also thought one man should remain at the station most of his time to answer phone calls and direct the work of the others.

Night Chief Jernigan will have full charge of the night force and will receive a salary of $85 per month. Alderman Bradley said he did not consider the force, as planned, at all too large for a city of this size and that he considered the money expended for policeman the most legitimate expenditure the city could make. The council spent some time discussing the merits of the men nominated; each one suggested was called in and questioned and the highest result was above.

"The council also re-elected George Dolson, superintendent of the street department.

ATHLETIC CLUB MAY BE ORGANIZED HERE

Club Would Stage Wrestling Bouts, Boxing Contests and Other Athletic Exhibitions

Organization of an athletic club which will stage wrestling bouts, boxing contests and other sporting events, is being undertaken in this city and sufficient progress has been made to indicate that the club will be completed. George Hart of Colorado, a wrestler and boxer of considerable note is back of the movement and is meeting with considerable encouragement. He took part in a wrestling bout here some time ago and decided that this city was a good field for such an organization.

It is planned to rent quarters where local and visiting boxing and wrestling talent may train and where the contests may be staged. In the past there has been no organization back of contests here and when the club is formed, it will guarantee the regularity of the contest and class of the contestants.

ANOTHER OFFICIAL HIT BY THE BULLET

SHOT FIRED AS MAYOR AND PARTY WERE LEAVING CITY HALL AT NOON

CORPORATION COUNSEL HIT

Bullet Struck Polk in Jaw—David Rose, Who Fired Shot is Believed Unbalanced

By Associated Press. New York, April 17.—An assassin's bullet aimed at Mayor Mitchell as he was leaving the city hall at noon for luncheon in an automobile missed its mark but badly wounded Corporation Counsel Frank Polk. The man who fired the shot was David Rose. His age is nearly 70 and he gave evidences of being mentally unbalanced.

The bullet crashed through Mr. Polk's jaw knocking out nearly all his front teeth and inflicting a severe but not serious wound. He was assisted into the city hall and later removed to a hospital. Mayor Mitchell gave out the following statement: "Mr. Polk was hit by the bullet, but it was undoubtedly meant for me."

Attaches at the city hall said Rose had called to see the mayor several times lately but because of his queer actions had not been admitted to the mayor's office.

Rose refused to answer any questions about himself. He appeared too frightened to talk. In response to questions he shouted, "I won't answer."

Two letters addressed to Mayor Mitchell were found in his pockets. The shooting occurred at the Park Row entrance to the city hall. At the time Park Row was congested with thousands of persons on their way to luncheon. Mayor Mitchell, Police Commissioner Arthur Woods and Mr. Polk had just entered the auto. As the mayor sat down Rose dodged through the crowd and walking to a point opposite the chaffeur suddenly drew a revolver and fired.

At the crack of the revolver Detective Nuen who was acting as chauffeur leaped from the car onto the shoulders of the man and bore him to the sidewalk before he could fire another shot. Polk staggered into the automobile and was saved from falling by the mayor.

AT THE MOVIES.

The Majestic.
"The Squaw Man," a six reel Lasky adapted from Edwin Milton Royle's play of that name is the offering at the Majestic today. A real Indian girl Princess Redwing, plays a prominent part, supported by Dustin Farnum. The story has to do with Jim Wyngate who agrees to become a scapegoat of his relative, the Earl of Kerhill, the Earl having embezzled funds belonging to the regiment of Wyngate. Wyngate sails from England in a little Indian schooner, is shipwrecked, picked up by an American vessel, lands in New York and finally drifts out west. The rest of the story tells the interesting facts of his adventures in the West and his love for the little Indian maiden. This is a notable film.

The Victoria.
At a time when the Wilson factory of which George Wilson is president, is in a precarious financial condition, Wilson receives a "tip" from a crooked broker in the street, namely, Mr. Robert Thorpe, a rival manufacturer and speculates with money taken from the company's treasury. His speculation ends disastrously. Wilson is sent to prison together with Ben Martin, a discharged employe, who takes advantage of the confusion in the affairs of the bankrupt company to rob the company's safe and to secrete its contents. The Wilson family, disgraced and ruined, by Wilson's imprisonment, and by the fact that Martin and Wilson retrace the money which they have misappropriated and begin a campaign against the Thorpe company, which finally results in disaster for that concern. Martin falls in love with and is accepted by Marjorie, the two retrace the money which they have misappropriated and begin a campaign against the Thorpe company, which finally results in disaster for that concern. JUMPED INTO LIFE NET FROM A SECOND STORY

Fire Department Makes Run to Moore-Bateman Building For Moving Picture Man
About 4:30 Thursday afternoon the fire whistle began shrieking and in a few seconds downtown folks saw by the auto engine and hose wagon emerge from the station, dash down Ohio to Eighth, plow through the traffic on that street to the Moore-Bateman building. A line of hose was laid, ladders were placed against the building and it looked like a sure enough fire fight. A man leaped out of a second-story window, shouting for help and the department spread the life net, into which he fell with his dog jumped to safety.
All of which was for the benefit of the moving picture man, who recounted the entire proceeding faithfully on his film. The thousand or so people downtown did not know this until afterward, however, and gathered at the scene of the "fire" to aid the firemen, as usual, with advice and getting in the way.

HOW COUNTRY CHURCH GAINED 1500 MEMBERS

Macou, Mo., April 16.—From a small country church with a membership of less than fifty years ago, Harmony Church, near Ravenwood, Nodaway county, has grown to be a religious, social and public service center for fifteen hundred persons.
All of that is owing to one man's idea. That man is the Rev. C. R. Green, now president of the North Missouri Conference, Methodist Protestant Church, and pastor of the church at Harmony.

How Mr. Green Did It
"Man is a social animal and if you organize him in the right way he will always pull hard for the general good of the community. It was in discussing the church. That is the foundation of the idea which has developed our little church and the people of our community until they have become conspicuous in the state for what they have accomplished."
Mr. Green began his work at the little country church by asking everybody to come out. He said that it would not be a religious service that day, but just a little discussion of the needs of the community. He talked of good roads, of improved church and school buildings, of agriculture, of sanitation and—to the great interest of the young folks—amusements.

It soon became known in the neighborhood that Harmony Church was something more than a country congregation devoted to religious worship. In the building were meetings during the week—for the organization and planning of good road work. Among the young men an athletic club was organized. Grounds were laid out near the church for baseball, football, tennis and other sports.

Could be Done in Any Community
Harmony church thrived wonderfully from the start. Among its supporters are many who do not belong to any church, but who have been benefited by the sort of campaign for the general welfare that was conducted by the various departments of that church.
"The name Harmony was selected because it stood for the kind of work we are doing," Mrs. Green explained. "To get the people all working together at helpful enterprises you must have perfect harmony. A church and a general welfare organization labor for the same end."

"Some surprise has been expressed that a matter of this kind should be taken up in a rural community and sections so remote from the more modern country churches in Missouri and other states where they have preaching only occasionally because of the supposed inability of the people to pay a man to preach regularly. In the great majority of these cases a community welfare church would thrive splendidly. With the church acting as the head of all the rural enterprises it would attract immediate and constant interest. There is hardly any fault to be found in the plan. It could be extended indefinitely, and its influence extended for miles and miles around."

Business and Religion Mix Well
"I know there are some who say a church is a church and should not mix religion and business. My idea is that religion and business mix pretty well. I am willing to trust the business man who takes his religion to the store with him Monday morning and keeps it there all the week. He is more likely to give me full measure for my money."
"The movement for good roads is pretty close to religion nowadays. I never saw a bad man who was a good roads advocate. With good roads people go to church and more students to school. Our good roads department has been of immense benefit in building up our church."

"We look very carefully to the social side of the life of all. Lectures, entertainments and dinners frequently are given in the school. All healthful sports are encouraged. We have recently added a good athletic field on which our teams meet opposing teams."

No Dancing or Cards
"While all sorts of innocent sports are encouraged and while the pastor himself often takes a hand, yet there is no dancing in the community and no such thing as card playing. I don't recall having heard an oath among our people, and I am told it is very rare for such a thing to occur."

"The church of the unique plan at Harmony is being copied into by the various religious bodies of the state. Up in Adair county the Rev. L. R. Halliday is experimenting along the same lines with the country church near Brashear. He will report at the coming conference that the results are most gratifying and in heartily endorsing the plan."

BLAMES RISQUE DRESS WOMEN ON AMERICAN WOMEN
Paris, April 16.—American women are blamed here for the "immoral and indecent tendency" of modern feminine fashions, dressmakers in the Rue de la Paix charging them with adapting modest French creations to suit their own taste, which is for exaggerated styles. That is the reply made by style makers of Paris when the Woman's Patriotic League started a protest against the tendency of the present day couturieres to promote more daring costumes for women's dress. At first the Rue de la Paix paid no attention to the protests. Campaigns against the ultra-ultra in style have sprung up and waned without number.

"The appeal is the last despairing struggle of the dowagers, a French woman of the extra chic social set said. 'No woman who has known the delights of the slit skirts, with its perfect freedom, will ever consent to return to the old-fashioned petticoats. The women of the Rue de la Paix are not leaders of the section of society that sets the fashions in dress.' But the protest grew from where it could do no harm it grew until it threatened to do a great deal of harm, as the dowagers of the section. It was then that the designers of styles thought it time to get from under, and they chose the excuse first voiced by Adam when caught with the goods in the garden of Eden. It was not their fault; they were tempted and did fall. The American woman was to blame.

A Split Over Slit Skirts
"It is the American and not the French woman who create the demand for indecent dresses," a Rue de la Paix dressmaker told the correspondent. He assumed the condescending air of his kind, when giving the interview, an air which said plainer than words that there is no accounting for tastes—at least among foreigners.
"Rue de la Paix today is split in two. One camp has come out in the open and decided to defend modern styles with their slit skirts, low-cut necks and other daring features, the second stocking to conservatism. The general opinion among American women in Paris is that the dressmakers are right, however hard that admission may hit their sisters in the United States. But the trouble, they say, is not with the American woman, but with the French dressmakers, to wit: Some of the fashionable dressmaking establishments in the Rue de la Paix. Epter Mrs. Simoleon Doukh of Chicago New York, Newport and elsewhere. She hasn't any idea what French women are wearing, save the smattering she has gleaned from glimpses at very fashionable appearing ladies at Longchamps, Anteuil and the theatres. She doesn't know that these women are hired by the Rue de la Paix to wear those eccentric gowns and are only models instead of dressmakers, so she orders a gown like one she has seen. It will make 'em stare back home, she says to herself, and anything, no matter what the agency, to achieve that. Should any lingering doubt remain in her mind that the woman she saw wearing the dress at Longchamps was at least a princess, the dress saleswoman would quickly set her right. He can even furnish the name, for surely it was no other than the Princess Frongame de Hrie.

My Queen.
My love is as a lily fair,
At least I've reason so to think;
Are as I have noticed where
Her cheek shows through the rouge,
Her lips are chemically red,
Her hair is dyed a tender green,
And I'll be happy when I wed
My beautiful, hand-painted queen.

Her eyes, with belladonna's aid,
Gleam limpidly and pierce me through;
And somewhat larger they are made
Judiciously by English blue.
The hollows in her lovely face
Are neatly filled with paraffine;
She is a paragon of grace,
My wonderful, remodeled queen.

Her form is pleasing to the eye,
Although it changes year by year;
Her shapely waist is low and high
According as the styles may veer,
And she is either stout or slim,
Of girlish or of regal mien,
Obedient still to fashion's whim,
My artificial, ragtime queen.

J. J. SANDERS WEDS IN AMARILLO TUESDAY

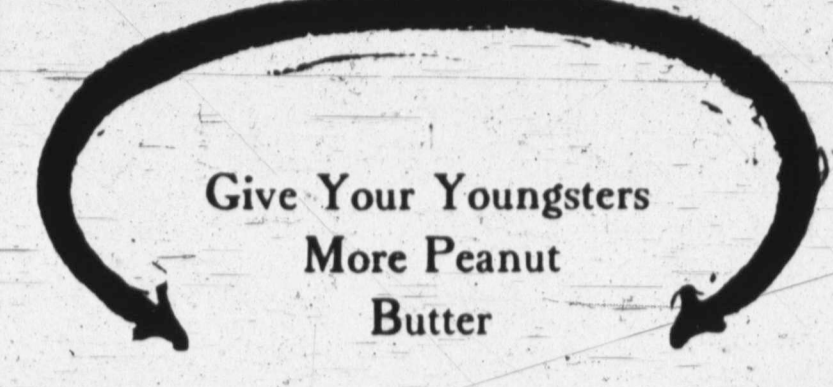

The Amarillo Daily-News of Thursday contains the notice of the marriage of J. J. Sanders of Wichita Falls and Miss Elizabeth Whyman of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will make their home at 2115 Ninth street. The wedding was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sanders, formerly of Amarillo but now living at Wichita Falls to Miss Elizabeth Whyman of this city. The event taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Vernon, 901 Van Buren street, where Miss Whyman has been a guest for the past three weeks. Only Mr. and Mrs. Vernon were present to witness the impressive ceremony performed by Rev. R. Thompson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church. Miss Whyman wore a beautiful traveling suit of king's blue, which brought out the graceful lines of the bride's youthful figure. At an early hour Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left for Wichita Falls where they will make their future home. The honeymoon trip will be taken later on in the summer when Mr. Sanders' business will make it more convenient to take a vacation than at the present time. Miss Whyman was one of the prettiest and most charming of Amarillo's social set and her sweet disposition has made it impossible to part with her with ease. Her father and three brothers are living near El Paso, but were unable to be present on account of the marriage taking place at an earlier date than was at first planned. Mr. Sanders who was formerly manager of the Amarillo branch of the National Biscuit Co., moved sometime ago to Wichita Falls to serve in a larger capacity. Both are well known in and around Amarillo and are held in the very highest esteem.

Give Your Youngsters More Peanut Butter

Some physicians say that it isn't good policy to give children very much meat and we guess they are about right.

Meat is a heavy food even for grown people. Yet the youngsters must have strength giving food for the immense amount of energy they have stored up in their little bodies.

Peanut butter is better than meat and pleases them a whole lot better. You can feed them as much as they will eat. It won't hurt them and it is very nourishing.

Beechnut Brand is one of the best. I have it in 10c, 20c and 30c jars.

She has been in charge of the Tea Dances at the Rice and has taught dancing classes in a number of the best hotels of the county. She will have morning, afternoon and evening classes and will be here for ten days or so. From all indications it will not be long until the Terpechor can devotees of this city will be expert in all of the new steps.

FROM THE CIVIC LEAGUE'S POINT OF VIEW

The time of year has arrived when the greatest precautions should be taken to prevent the visitation of diseases and it is with this end in view that the cleanup work that is now being pushed by the Civic League is prompted. A few preventive measures are worth all the remedies that can be prescribed, so it is necessary that every person in this city should do his or her duty in this cleanup work and do it now. A suggestion as to ways and means of getting rid of the rodents or rats, mention of which was made in yesterday's paper, would be to clean up and dispose of all waste matter and accumulations of rubbish, which has a tendency to attract rats and mice. Now let every merchant do his part towards ridding the town of this pest.

A call meeting of the Civic League has been ordered for Monday afternoon at five o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church. A full attendance of members is desired.

The Just So Club will meet Saturday afternoon with Miss Mary Wilkes, 1404 Tenth street. All members of the club are urged to be present at this meeting.

The regular meeting of the United Clubs of this city will be held Saturday afternoon at the high school at 2:30. All members are urged to be present and on time.

HOW CHAMP CLARK GOT A JOB AS TEACHER

Stockton, Cal., April 17.—How Speaker of the House Champ Clark was back in 1874 applied to him for a position as teacher in a small village school and got it was told here today by W. N. Rutherford, prosecuting attorney of Stockton. At that time Rutherford was superintendent of schools of Randolph county, Mo. "One winter afternoon," said Rutherford, "there was a timid knocker at my office door. Opening the door I beheld a well dressed young man who had the unmistakable appearance of a teacher. "I should like to know, the young man asked, if you have any vacancy that I could fill. I have had some little experience as a teacher. "What is your name, I asked. "Champ Clark, was the immediate answer.

"I was so impressed with the business like manner and tone of the young man that I decided to give him a position immediately. I assigned him to a village school some distance from the county seat and he made good in a hurry. Wichita Falls, Texas, April 17, 1914

The Colonels—Sheb, Hienz and Clarence—have not yet climbed into Candidate Ferguson's band wagon, but there are indications abundant that they will. Got to give 'em a little time to cool off.

Now is the time to wait the fly. For every fly killed now it will mean 2,999,000 less to be killed in June.

Mayor Higgins of Waco was inaugurated yesterday, and in his address said among other good things that he would not favor the Commission granting a franchise for anything until the matter is first submitted to the people. This sounds as if the mayor is going to show that he has as much confidence in the people who elected him to his high and honorable office as they have in him. He does not seem to be one of that kind of city officials who have an idea that, after having once elected a set of officials the people who pay the tax to run the government should not be consulted further as to matters affecting the cities' financial interests.

Yesterday we made mention of two resident lots that were acquired ten years ago for $550, and that were sold with about $2000 worth of improvements one day last week for the neat sum of $8,000. That was tolerably fair interest on the investment. It was only about an average. But business property has increased at a more rapid rate. As for instance, two vacant lots on Indiana avenue that changed hands less than seven years ago for a consideration of about $6000, and after spending less than $15,000 in improvements, the property was sold the other day for $47,500. It had paid good interest on the investment for the seven years, and then sold for more than twice its cost. You can hardly lose by buying Wichita Falls business or residence property, and it is cheaper today than it will ever be again.

A LAUDABLE CIVITY

To The Times: Newspapers do so many things for public good and contribute so generally, and so largely to all charities that the general public take what they do as a matter of course and seldom give them the credit due for particular acts of kindness. I have noticed that in times of public calamity, when subscriptions from the public for the relief of suffering are asked, the paper generally heads the list with a liberal donation of cash, then donates the space to publish the names of all contributors, and then finally sees to the trouble of collecting the amounts subscribed and remitting to the proper beneficiaries, all of which, as I say, is looked upon as a matter in the line of its business by the general public, and little or no attention is paid to it. And this is but one of a thousand ways in which the editor freely and voluntarily contributes more than his share toward that great thing we call the "good of the public." But what I started to say, and with this preface am leading quietly up to, is this: as one of your constant readers and as a small tribute to what I consider one of the best things of the many good things you have done along this line I desire to express my appreciation and commendation of your liberality in fully offering your "want-ad" columns to those who are out of employment. This means a great deal to the earnest seeker of a job; the man or woman who is "down and out" and wanting to do something to keep the wolf from the door.

I am both pleased and proud of a local daily paper whose management is so big hearted and generous, and I sincerely hope your giving of this space to the unemployed in their time

THE DEFEAT OF HOBSON

The Waco News has expressed the belief that Hobson got his just deserts, or words to that effect. Not so the Golden Age, an Atlanta publication edited by William D. Ushaw, the "earnest Willie" of other days. This is the way the Golden Age regards the Alabama event: "We measure our words when we say it—we believe no man standing for national cleanness ever went against a more terrific combination in the history of American politics. Induced by every important organization in America that is fighting for National prohibition, and with the bill pending in both branches of Congress and being fought by the allied whisky interests of the nation, there were yet enough blind "prohibitionists" in Alabama who insisted, with the barest of a crowd, that "prohibition was an issue" to desert the dauntless leader's standard and cause grief to the cause we love all over America. Strange joy must be theirs when their joyote caused the nomination of Mr. Underwood (because he was House Leader) who was backed by every bar-room politician in Alabama. They will see their folly as many of them saw it—when the amendment campaign of deception."

Inasmuch as Hobson stood for the cause, and inasmuch as he is a clean man and a man of ability, it does not seem odd that any sincere prohibitionist could desert him at the critical moment—that is, at the ballot box. Waco Times-Herald. Conceding that Mr. Hobson is, "a clean man, and a man of ability," did that fact of itself entitle him to draw the salary of a Congressman while he was doing little or nothing to earn it? If the report is true that he only served 23 days of an entire session of Congress, this of itself was sufficient to cause his defeat. He did not deserve to receive the support given him in his contest with Underwood. The people are tired of electing to positions of honor carrying with them high salaries and important duties men who will not discharge or do what is expected of them.

SINKING OF THE TITANIC

Two years ago today the great steamer Titanic went down in mid-ocean, carrying with it to certain death hundreds of brave men and women.

When the first flashes of information reached New York the people said no, it can't be. The boat is too well built, it can't sink, nothing can destroy so fine a vessel as that—reindeered as it is by every known device for safety. But as the day passed, little by little the true situation was allowed to leak out, until it was acknowledged that the great ship had lost their lives. The sinking of the magnificent vessel will never be forgotten by those who read the story of its loss two years ago. Men were thrilled by the chivalry of those who stood back and said let the ladies and children be saved first. Deeds were done that will be spoken of centuries to come, and as the anniversary of the event rolls around each year people all over the world will honor the memory of the heroes and heroines of the Titanic.

The lessons of the disaster should remain as vivid as the deeds of the brave men who died in order that others might be wiser. The limitations that surround even the best achievements of man must be recognized. Nature cannot be defied. It is as much greater than man, and the work of man's hand as the infinite is higher than the finite. The Titanic was sacrificed on the altar of speed, and every year hundreds of people lose their life on that altar.—Abilene Reporter, April 14.

The official death list issued on April 19, 1912, gives the number of persons who lost their lives by the sinking of the Titanic at 1595, which includes six deaths that took place on board the rescuing ship, Carpathia, after they had been picked up from rafts or lifeboats. Only 745 were saved.

TO PUBLISH WICHITA FALLS SCHOOL ANNUAL

Otis Nelson, Lloyd Powell and Ralph Matrice of Wichita Falls are in Amarillo, coming Wednesday to close contract with Cockrell & Russell for printing and binding "The Coyote," the annual of the Wichita Falls High School. The young men, in the order named, are respectively editor, business manager and athletic editor of "The Coyote."

The publication will be handsome in design, with cover of green velvet, gold-stamped, printed on plate paper, liberally embellished with illustrations. The volume will contain approximately 125 pages. Three hundred copies will be issued, the work being finished, according to present calculation by May 10.

The modern equipment of the Cockrell & Russell plant, not surpassed west of Fort Worth, is bringing to Amarillo numerous orders for artistic printing and book binding, the Wichita Falls contract being the latest. This concern printed "The Webster," the annual of Clarendon College last year, and the volume was classed by critical inspectors as one of the most attractive ever issued in Texas.—Amarillo News.

We shall look forward with anticipated pleasure for a copy of the "Coyote." We know in advance that a piece of printing that can't be done satisfactorily by any one of the five or five print shops in Wichita Falls, and can be by an Amarillo concern, is well worth reviewing.

TWO GOOD STORIES.

Ho, Hum, Please Pass the Cake (From the Cincinnati Enquirer.) It was a dull day at Federal League headquarters. Only $89,765,234.552 had been expended for new players since 9 a.m., and it was now noon.

"Two gentlemen await without," announced the office boy. "Who are they?" wearily asked President Gilmore, as he flicked the ashes off a $9 perfect into a $400 cuspidor.

"They give their names as Andrew Carnegie and John D. Rockefeller," replied the office boy, as he carelessly tore a $20 bill into fragments and tossed them into the air.

"You tell those pickers to keep away from here," announced President Gilmore. "I haven't time to bother over their paltry $2,000,000,000 pool to purchase Federal league stock. Tell them to go get some real money and I may talk business."

And President Gilmore donned his $5,500 overcoat and went to his $15,000 limousine as the janitors gathered up armfuls of $100 bills from the floor and tossed them into the waste basket.

"We're not so badly off—comparatively, that is," he said. "For one thing, there are only two uncontrolled, unmitigated smoke nuisances in the town."

From the sofa in the corner Margaret spoke:

The car twelve months ahead

From the Manchester, England, Dispatch:— It is only after mature reflection that one is able to grasp the importance of the enormous improvements embodied in the Cadillac chassis. We have been so long accustomed to believing and being told that the English car is indisputably ahead of any other construction in the world that it comes as something of a shock when we are faced with a car successfully embodying features which are as yet in the merely experimental stage in British car builders' workshops.

On the Cadillac car will be found an interesting example of a two-speed back axle, and we may here remark that the construction has been thoroughly tested and found serviceable and reliable, both in the United States and in Europe. There is no element of experiment about the work; it has proved itself. The pressing of a button throws the low or the high-gear on the axle into operation as required, and that is all about it. They tell me that, as a test, the car was driven from London to Edinburgh with a full load without handling the gear-change lever at all. Pressing the button was all that was required.

Having admired the axles to our heart's content, we are at liberty to examine the many other features of the Cadillac chassis, which calls for close examination. There is the self-starter, which will start the engine a thousand times without a miss. There is the neat little mechanical tyre pump. This is one of the finest chassis, taking all things into consideration, that ever left the United States just as an ordinary proposition. All her improvements are practically thrown in. I should term her the push-the-button car. So far as ordinary practice is concerned, she is equal to any. Her unique improvements have placed her twelve months ahead.

CADILLAC COVERS 200,000 MILES IN FIVE YEARS

Two hundred thousand miles is the extraordinary record a Cadillac has made during the five years it has been used by the City Messenger Service of Binghamton, New York. Two hundred thousand miles in five years means 40,000 miles a year and if the car were driven every one of the 365 days for each of the five years without the interruption of a day it would have to go more than 109 miles a day continuously to achieve this record. Moreover the record is a remarkable one because the nature of the business necessitated the use of the car nearly 24 hours a day, over all manner of roads, good, bad and indifferent, and in all kinds of weather. The average motorist, while he may roll up a big mileage in one day, does not make more than 5,000 to 7,000 miles a year.

These are not all of the remarkable facts connected with this car and its record. It has been used principally for taxicab and parcel service and four different drivers are now engaged in running it on different shifts. No less than 25 green men have been broken in and taught to operate the car, yet the working parts of the car are, with few exceptions, the originals and all of the original springs, with the exception of one, are to be found where they were installed by the manufacturer. In spite of green drivers and hard usage not one of the gears has been replaced by a new one. It was found necessary to replace the engine bearings only once, and this was due to the fact that they were burned out by allowing the lubricator to run dry. (Adv.)

Men who are forced to wear trusses continually complain because the pad slips, thereby causing irritation and discomfort, and absolutely preventing a cure. The Akron Truss with sponge-rubber pads are absolutely guaranteed not to slip. The pads are made from a compound of rubber made in molds and blown to a fine porosity, which is soft and resilient, like velvet on the skin. It has no covering of cloth or leather, but an all rubber pad. It adapts itself to the rupture, and covers instead of spreading the rupture. The pads are easily removed and cleaned.

WHY WE WENT INTO THE COFFEE ROASTING BUSINESS

We have been playing the game for twenty-five years and always paid particular attention to coffee. Always had a great deal of trouble in getting blends to suit us and for years before we commenced to roast bought our different coffees roasted separately and blended them ourselves and always enjoyed a splendid coffee business but coffees don't blend perfectly except in the roaster where the different flavors can combine harmoniously. Years ago we bought a hand power roaster and experimented on a small scale but our business soon outgrew this and we had to go back to the Roaster. In 1909 we built a small building at the rear of our store and rigged up the hand roaster with a motor and commenced to roast our coffee but did not let the public know, we were doing so as we wished an unbiased verdict. Inside of ninety days our business had quadrupled and became too big to handle with our little plant so we ordered our coffees roasted again and went East to purchase a plant large enough to handle our increasing business. We bought the very best and up-to-date machinery obtainable and came back unafraid to ADVERTISE THE FACT THAT WE ROAST OUR OWN COFFEES, and since that time our business has increased faster than we dreamed. So we know we are right. If you are using our FRESH ROASTED COFFEES there's nothing to say. If not, would be pleased to show you the difference.

"SANITATION" TITLE OF BOOKLET BY F. N. LAWTON

Water Company Manager Publisher of Instructive Tract for Free Distribution

"Sanitation" is the title of a booklet just off the press, by Francis N. Lawton, vice president and general manager of the Wichita Falls Water Company. The booklet explains the use of chloride of lime as a germicide, this being the substance used by the water company in the water supplied its consumers in this city. It was adopted about a year ago and according to Mr. Lawton has been very successful.

About ten pounds of chloride of lime to each million gallons of water is required. This chemical has very little effect upon the water for drinking purposes and it is estimated that it would be necessary for a person to drink 2,500,000 gallons of water before any harmful effects from the lime resulted. The booklet also contains some interesting data on the house fly, mosquito, proper care of ditches, street sprinkling and other matters in connection with sanitation and public health.

The booklet was compiled for free distribution to patrons of the water company and others.

SEVEN HIGH PRICED DOCTORS, O. K. IT

All Approve Dodson's Liver Tonic as the Safe Family Remedy For Constipation and Lazy Liver

There are most excellent reasons for your druggist's standing back of Dodson's Liver Tonic with an unconditional guarantee to refund purchase price 50c to you at once without question in event of any dissatisfaction.

Seven of America's very highest priced physicians, who were consulted regarding Dodson's Liver Tonic and who analyzed this vegetable liquid remedy carefully with all their skill, knowledge and experience, have all agreed on its superior merit, harmlessness and effectiveness. Dodson's takes the place of dangerous calomel in constipation, biliousness, sluggish liver, sick headache, etc.

Each of these physician's fees was heavy enough to stagger most men; but their judgment is worth all it cost, particularly if it will be the means of leading more people to refuse to run dangerous risk by taking calomel and other violent remedies.

Dodson's Liver Tonic not only relieves the sufferer from constipation and kindred ills, but does it easily and naturally, without ache, pain or grip, with no bad after effects, without interfering with usual duties and habits and absolutely without danger which is one reason it can carry an iron clad guarantee. It has proved a boon to so many that it is recommended for you to try at once. (Adv.)

LAW PROHIBITS PLOVER SHOOTING UNTIL 1918

The following appeared in last Sunday's Dallas News:

The attention of Col. W. G. Sterett was called to the report which had gained circulation to the effect that all kinds of game could be shot on April 21. Col. Sterett replied that it had been erroneously reported that plover and other game birds came out from under the protection of the law on April 21, but that this was wrong, as the federal law continued in force and continuing he said:

"There appears to be a general error throughout the State in regard to the provisions of the federal game law, as far as it deals with plover, which are now here in the migration north from Argentina to their breeding grounds. The State laws have never protected the plover from the destruction which has been visited on them and which has well nigh resulted in making them a thing of the past. The federal game law, in enumerating migratory game birds, reads as follows:

"Limicola or shore birds, including arcoets, curlew, donitchers, godwits, knots, oyster catchers, phalaropes, plovers, sandpipers, snipe, stilts, surf birds, turnstones, willet, woodcock and yellow legs.

"It may be said that some of these birds are not migratory and that may be true, but the authorities of the United States say they are migratory birds and it is observed that the federal judges almost invariably assent to the assertions of the authorities mentioned.

Wording of Law. "Another section of the law reads, 'A closed season shall continue until Sept. 1, 1918 on the following migratory game birds: Bantailed pigeons, little brown, sandhill and whooping cranes, swans, curlew and all shore birds, except the black breasted and golden plover, wilson or jacksnipe, woodcock and the greater or lesser yellow legs. The plover, as will be observed in reading the first section of the law quoted, is included in the term 'shore birds.'

"There is also a widespread report first, that the law is unconstitutional, because the statute interferes with the rights of the States, and that in some States the law is openly defied on that account. From direct information from the department of agriculture at Washington, I infer that this department is unaware of the unconstitutionality of the law or of the defiance of it by the people of other States. Second, that there is no effort to be made by the authorities to enforce it, because of either dissatisfaction with it or because of a fear that it is unconstitutional. This last is contradicted by the fact that it is being vigorously enforced all through the Union to the extent that in one of the States a federal court fined a man $100 for having a common field lark in his possession—the lark's being-protected by another section of the law.

"My information is rather direct and is to the effect that the agricultural department is in dead earnest about the enforcement of the law; that the department of justice is enthusiastically supporting its sister department and that the federal judiciary or federal courts, have been advised of the desires of these departments. Congress made no appropriation to enforce the law and therefore the enforcement will be made through the medium of the federal grand juries. Everyone knows it is unlawful to kill ducks, geese and brant between Feb. 1 and Nov. 1 and hence it is unnecessary to say anything more about the law protecting these birds.

Law To Be Enforced.

"The State game department is not charged with the duty of enforcing the federal law, but it will give the federal authorities all the aid it can and will report to such authorities any violation of the federal law coming under its observation. "The purpose of this statement is merely to keep out of trouble people who may innocently get in it, for I know the violation of this federal law will result in punishment as the federal authorities having its enforcement in charge are in earnest."

GOTHAM INDEED A COSMOPOLITAN CITY

HAS MORE JEWS THAN EVER IN HABITATED JERUSALEM, MORE ITALIANS THAN ROME

WHAT THE CENSUS SHOWED

Hebrews 861,980; Germans 841,889; Italians, 549,444; Poles 116,104; Magyar 64,141; Swedish 61,141

New York April 17.—Gotham's claim to being a real cosmopolitan city was proven and the verdict handed down the other day by the federal census officials. The evidence was staggeringly conclusive of the charge of cosmopolitanism against New York.

Out of a population of something like five and one half millions of people who reside in Greater New York, nearly one million—or to be exact, 974,968—are of English, Irish, Scotch, Welsh and Celtic descent. These figures include those born in the countries mentioned or born here of parents of these nationalities. Besides these there are among New York's population 1,732,970 persons who were born in foreign lands or who were born here of foreign parents. They are divided as follows:

Yiddish and Hebrew, 861,980; German 841,889; Italian 549,444; Polish 116,104; Magyar 64,141; Swedish 61,141; French 47,230; Norwegians 35,003; Danish 14,731; Spanish 11,626; Greek 11,623; Roumanian 10,789; Bohemian and Moravian 49,988; Russian 28,870; Lithuanian and Lettish 24,247; Slavak 10,504; other Slavs 10,075; Dutch and Erisian 9,661; Finnish 8,211; Armenian 2,676 and Syrian and Arabic 3,987.

Trust them to do things here in an entirely different and in the most ludicrous fashion. Now that Mayor Mitchell has shown the city that he means what he says when he says it, the restaurants are religiously obeying the new rules for stopping the sale of all liquors in their establishments on the hour of 2 a. m. If it is then that they turn food and drink emporiums into amant places by shoving the tables, to one side and giving the floor over to the dancers. One proprietor of a well known downtown cafe where they sometimes dance after the "guzzling" has ceased, employs the prize method for swabbing the floor of crumbs and other debris from the tables when it comes time to chase Bacchante in favor of Terpsichore.

The tables pushed back, the head waiter precedes a waiter with a mop or broom. The H. W. carries—a seltzer bottle or two which he uses as a sort of hose for loosening the sticky morsels from the floor—a hydraulic power style, after which the waiter with the mop comes along and dries up the floor. The restaurateur says if he used water it would not dry quickly enough and the floor therefore would be too sticky for dancing. The charged water (which by the way is about the only thing charged about a Broadway restaurant), it is claimed, dries in no time without making the floor heavy.

It Only Takes From $350 to $750 To Own Your Own Home Under Our Building Proposition in Southland Addition

To the first two buyers in each block in Southland Addition, who pay for the lot in cash, the Southland Addition will lend the amount of money needed to build your home and you can pay back the loan in monthly installments.

This is an unusual proposition to home builders and you will never get another chance like it after the required number of applications are filed. Every lot in Southland Addition on the market has sidewalks, sewerage, on or near high pressure water mains, car service, protective restrictions that will prevent abuses against adjoining property, and ideal location. Lots range in price from $350 to $750, 50x150 feet. Now is the time to get your choice of location.

NEW ADMINISTRATION NOW AT THE HELM

VOTE IN CITY ELECTION CANCELED AND NEW OFFICERS SWORN IN

DR. J. F. REED MAYOR PRO-TEM

City Authorizes Loan of City Teams to Civic League on Clean Up Day

The new city administration formally took charge of the municipal machinery Thursday night, when the officers elected on April 7 were sworn in for their terms. Little else was done at the council besides the passing of several ordinances in connection with the hospital bond issue. The council granted the request of the Civic League for the use of the city teams on the clean-up days.

The election of policemen was postponed until this afternoon at two o'clock. The council canvassed the returns of the election and a motion prevailed to declare the successful candidates elected. A. H. Brittain was then sworn in by Mayor pro tem Bradley. The council approved the bonds of the city officials of whom bonds are required, as follows:

City Attorney Horace Nutt, $1000; sureties, A. H. Carrigan, M. H. Moore, City Tax Collector H. F. Robertson, $25,000; sureties, R. E. Huff, W. M. McGregor.

City Secretary W. A. McCarty, $1000; sureties, P. P. Langford, L. H. Lawler, E. V. Friberg, Chief of Police J. B. Nall, $1000; surety, Southwestern Surety Insurance Company.

City Engineer L. C. Hinckley, $1000; V. E. Stampfli, J. M. Bland, I. H. Roberts.

The pending ordinances with reference to the bond issue were then passed. Mayor Brittain then administered the oath of office to all of the other city officials. Dr. J. F. Reed was elected mayor pro tem without opposition. The drawing for long and short terms followed and it developed that there was a conflict in the charter on this point; in one place it says that three of the present council shall draw short terms and in another place it provides for only two. Mayor Brittain then drew for long and short terms, of one year, Aldermen Bradley, Young and Reed drew the one year terms. Mayor Brittain announced that there would be no change in the present standing committees in the council. The aldermen set two o'clock today for the election of policemen.

W. N. Bonner in a brief talk, bade farewell to the councilmen. Two sewer extension orders were passed and upon motion, it was decided to allow the Civic League the teams requested for the clean-up. Adjournment followed, all those present being invited by Alderman Bradley to the Christian Church to eat ice cream with him. When they arrived, they found that the refreshments had been entirely consumed.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Takes Druggists' Advice With Splendid Result. If any one should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it every day. In the week and in a position to know, I remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Ulline of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had a severe attack and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite and I am as strong as ever I was. I advise all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs or who are down to try Vinol."

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's livers, without oil, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic from that makes Vinol so efficient in such cases. Remember, we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not. Miller Drug Store.

RURAL CREDITS BILL SUMMARIZED

PROVISIONS OF FLETCHER AND MOSS BILL SUMMARIZED BY SECRETARY OF COMMISSION

FROM REAL ESTATE BASIS

Federal Bureau of Farm Land Banks is Proposed for Inspection and Supervision

Chicago, April 17.—Plans for farm credits as outlined in the proposed law framed by a commission on agricultural credits after a study in European systems and now pending in Congress under the name of the Fletcher and Moss bill were summarized today by Dr. John Lee Coulter, chief of the division of agricultural research and extension under Federalington, speaking before the second National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits meeting here in joint session with the Western Economics Society. He told of the study of the commission, which he was secretary, and added:

"A specific bill was drafted by the Commission covering the problem of long-term or land-mortgage credit. This was introduced in the Senate by Mr. Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the commission, and in the House, by Mr. Moss of Indiana, vice-chairman of the commission.

"The first recommendation of the commission in the bill is that farm real estate be made the basis of a new banking system exclusively for farmers. It was urged that farm land banks be authorized to go into this business and operate under federal charter. This is opposed to a system of government loans direct from the United States to the millions of farmers in the country. But the commission urged that a federal bureau of farm land banks be established, charged with the duty of inspection and close supervision over the institutions chartered. This bureau would be related to the farm land bank as the present comptroller of the currency is to national banks, or as the interstate commerce commission is to common carriers. There would be no doubt from the beginning that no misdeeds would be allowed, and exploitation would be impossible.

"These farm land banks might be organized by farmers (borrowers) or capitalists (lenders). They would lend directly to farmers and accept mortgages, deeds of trust, vendors' liens, etc., as evidence of the loan, and in turn they would issue land bank bonds in amount equal to the mortgages held or loans made. By selling these bonds more money would be available to lend to more farmers, etc.

"Many restrictive clauses were recommended for the sake of safety, such as—(1) No loan shall be more than 20 per cent of the paid-up capital stock of the bank; (2) no loan shall represent more than 50 per cent of the appraised value of the property mortgaged in the case of improved land, or 40 per cent in other cases; (3) no institution shall take deposits exceeding 50 per cent of the paid-up capital stock, but shall deposit on the margin bonds for funds with which to make loans for a longer period than 35 years; (5) loans made for a longer period than 5 years must be gradually reduced by the payment of a small installment each year, in addition to interest charges; (6) the rate of interest paid to bond holders by more than 1 per cent; (7) no institution shall make loans for a longer period than five years and issue bonds upon the same exceeding fifteen times the amount of paid-up capital and surplus; and (8) all institutions must accumulate reserve funds, etc.

"On the other hand, the farm land banks are given corresponding special privileges. For instance, the bonds are given special favors wherever they appear; the United States government interest charges; (6) the rate of interest paid to bond holders by more than 1 per cent; (7) no institution shall make loans for a longer period than five years and issue bonds upon the same exceeding fifteen times the amount of paid-up capital and surplus; and (8) all institutions must accumulate reserve funds, etc.

"We cannot adopt European expedients without a complete study of the adaptation of them to our governmental system. If we had a budget arrangement with a reasonable, planning body we could hope to do something without corruption and waste. But our budgets are made by the representatives of districts, and each district has the time-worn custom of dipping its hands into the federal treasury for money.

"I object to the Fletcher bill because it will eventually lead to extravagance, waste and corruption. Its framers were earnest men, but any such system cannot succeed. State loans to farmers have been successful in Australia under a responsible cabinet government. The yhave at times been disastrous in America, but when safeguarded properly can be made to work fairly, honestly, if not in highest degree wisely or efficiently.

"I've got the land, given the education in co-operation, given thorough and constant inspection of values and given good amortization and bonding system, and rural credit will take care of itself.

STATE AID PLANS ARE DANGEROUS EXPERIMENTS

Wisconsin Expert Attacks Certain Parts of Moss-Fletcher Rural Credits Bill

Chicago, April 17.—"State aid plans are dangerous in whatever form, and especially dangerous under our system of government."

This pronouncement by Dr. Charles McCarthy of the Wisconsin Legislative Reference Library, was made at the opening of the second National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits, meeting here today in joint session with the Western Economics Society. Dr. McCarthy opened the debate and attacked certain parts of the Moss-Fletcher bill. He said in part:

"We cannot adopt European expedients without a complete study of the adaptation of them to our governmental system. If we had a budget arrangement with a reasonable, planning body we could hope to do something without corruption and waste. But our budgets are made by the representatives of districts, and each district has the time-worn custom of dipping its hands into the federal treasury for money.

COOK BOOK

Use any cook book you please—the one you have always known, or any new one if you prefer. Merely use wherever the directions say butter or lard, always remembering to use one-third less Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther than either butter or lard.

You really have to save money if you cook with Cottolene, for according to chemical laws, a certain amount of flour can only contain a certain amount of shortening. If you were to use as much Cottolene as the recipe called for of butter, you would have too much Cottolene. This might do no harm, except in cakes, which might fall because of being too light and delicate. Yes, this applies to every department of the cook book, even to candies.

For example, just try this:

CODFISH BALLS

Take a pint bowl of codfish picked very fine, two pint bowls of raw peeled potatoes, sliced thickly, and boil in cold water until the potatoes are thoroughly done. Drain off the water, mash, add butter the size of an egg, one well-beaten egg, and three tablespoons of milk. Flour the hands and make into balls. Put two ounces of Cottolene into a frying pan, and when hot, fry the balls to a nice brown. Or the codfish balls may be fried in hot Cottolene after the manner of fritters.

Our FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, will be found a valuable supplement to any books you may now be using. Write for a copy—also order a pair of Cottolene of your grocer.

John Barton Nail Wichita Falls' New City Marshal

This is a likeness of City Marshal John Barton Nail. It does not show the redness of his hair, but it does show the firmness of his mouth and the squareness of the jaw, which, with the redness above mentioned, make a pretty good combination for a chief of police.

On next Sunday Nail will have had just two years experience as a police officer. Most of the fifty-one years of his existence have been spent on the farm and the enforcement of the ordinances is a comparatively new experience for him. He was born in Knox county, Tennessee, coming to Texas in 1881. For about twenty years he farmed in Clay county, just across the line, moving to this city about five years ago. Two years ago he was appointed on the police force and last week the voters promoted him to the marshalship.

One of the kindest, withal one of the sternest when duty required, has Nail been as a policeman. Instead of seeking to make an arrest at every opportunity, he has given the offender the benefit of the doubt, reproving and warning him first, then taking stronger measures when occasion required. Ordinarily, on his beat, he is peaceful and genial, but when some cantankerous drunk doesn't accompany him willingly, his hair seems to get about two shades red-der and the freckles on his face fairly shine. He has been a good policeman, emerging entirely unscathed by "investigators"; his friends believe he is going to make a good chief of police.

CO-OPERATION HAS ITS ECONOMIC LIMITS

Not all the Agencies of Production are Going to be Turned Over to the State

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 17.—Co-operation has its economic limits as well as social, said John Graham Brooks of Harvard University, president of the National Consumers' League, in a discussion today before the second National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits with the Western Economics Society. He said that not all agencies of production were going to be turned over to the state and consequently not all interest and profits could be socialized. He said:

"Fifty years of profit-sharing and labor co-partnership, as recorded in the careful report of the English board of trade, 1912, shows us with a sort of absolute certainty how profound are the limits within which those agencies must work. Though older profit-sharers thought they were to have the whole future to themselves. As against these, consumers' co-operation is with equal certainty to have (as it is actually having) a vastly wider influence. But it seems to me clear that the socialistic claim for its universality is without much solid ground."

"When a pronounced and able group of English socialists put out a document in the present year with the following paragraph:

"There is in the nature of things no reason why in a state of economic equality one individual should not exchange his commodity or service of another individual, if he prefers to do so, without entering into co-operative processes; retaining, like the artist, complete freedom to produce for one customer after another to whatever extent and in whatever manner, we have the frankest admission that co-operation, as well as socialism proper, is to have its limits."

"Co-operation lifts the level of the competitive struggle; it makes it fairer; it humanizes it, but it does not remove it. Or, to put it more concretely in terms of another limitation which must be reckoned with—it is a limit that has both an immediate practical interest as well as a speculative one of even more importance."

"Every effective co-operative center instantly reacts upon local retail prices. Co-operative literature in many countries presents the most startling tables to illustrate what may be saved by pocketing the difference between retail prices (especially at points where there is little competition or practical agreement on prices) and what products might be sold for. In Europe generally the purchasers of fertilizers, seeds, instruments, were mulcted around 40 per cent, and besides the thieveries of adulteration.

"As in the successful store movement, co-operators bring these prices at once to fairly reasonable limits and often puts out of business inefficient retailers who could exist only by these crude exploitations. Again and again, as these prices are dropped to meet the invading co-operators, one sees the tug of war again. A Canadian store reports: 'We had a magnificent showing the first year. We made prices tumble all about us, but since then we haven't had much to show.' Co-operators on the Pacific coast have had plenty of experience of this same sort."

"It is, of course, one of the glories of co-operation that it does bring down the prices and keep them down—a result for which co-operation often gets scant credit; but when this margin of unfair prices has been brought down, the real limits within which co-operators have to act is reached, and they are fairly pitted against opponents ready to try wits and efficiencies against the so-called 'democratic business.' There are thousands of these vigorous individualists, even in Danish bacon, butter and eggs and in the English store movement, who do not fear co-operators in the least."

"We do not think of the socialized postoffice as a part of co-operation. Co-operation will do business with it as with the state railways, telephones and other monopolies which have finally passed out of private hands; but the rise and extension of the consumers' movement is essentially voluntary; it allows outside competition; it lays the utmost stress on restricted and socialized management jealous of outside interference; it is free from monopoly because its doors are always open to new members."
