ENGLAND WILL AID FRANCE IF NEEDED; GERMANY VICTORIOUS IN NAVAL BATTLE

EVENTS POINT TO BRITAIN SOON BECOMING INVOLVED

French Frontier Crossed By German Forces—Coalition Government For England Planned

German troops invaded Russian Poland today and occupied the town of Kalisz.

The German army violated the neutrality of Belgium of which Great Britain is protector; German troops occupied the Belgian town of Arlon. Belgium had previously refused to consider an ultimatum offering a certain agreement with Germany in case Belgium agreed to facilitate the movement of the German army.

So grave is the situation regarded that a coalition government of all parties probably will be formed in the British Isles while it is generally expected that Field Marshal Earl Kitchener was to be appointed Minister of War.

Dowager Empress Marie of Russia was stopped in Berlin and told to return to London or go to Denmark.

The Russian naval port of Libau on the Baltic was bombarded by a German cruiser which was also engaged by a Russian cruiser. The German fleet was reported sailing into the North Sea where the British fleet is said to be concentrated. The German ambassador had not left Paris today.

Fighting between Russian and German cavalry patrols on the frontier resulted in slight losses.

French officers are reported to have attempted to cross the Dutch frontier into Germany, but unsuccessfully.

French air men are said to have made daring flights over German and Belgian territory.

German cavalry is reported to have crossed the French frontier near Belfort and tried to commandeer horses.

Martial law was proclaimed throughout France, where the mobilization and concentration of the various armies have been carried out satisfactorily.

The German authorities accused the French of violating neutrality and of crossing the frontier before the declaration of war. Neutral Luxembourg is occupied by 100,000 German troops.

Skirmishing on Russian Frontier
By Associated Press.

Allenstein, East Prussia, August 3.—Fighting on the Russian frontier was confined to small engagements between outposts until six o'clock last evening when an attack was made by the Russian invaders on Johannsburg which is occupied by a squadron of dragoons. The losses of the Russian troops are believed to have numbered about twenty men. The Germans lost none killed though several were slightly wounded.

German Troops Cross French Border
By Associated Press.

Paris, August 3.—The invasion of French territory by German troops is regarded in official circles here as making war between the two countries start automatically without a formal declaration. German cavalry today raided the French frontier near the fortress of Belfort and attempted to commandeer horses. German patrols also twice attacked Johsherey.

Belgium Appeals to England
By Associated Press.

London, August 3.—Sir Edward Grey announced in the House of Commons today that a telegram from the King of the Belgians made a supreme appeal to Great Britain to safeguard the integrity of Belgium.

Sir Edward Grey Tells Of England's Promise To France

By Associated Press.

London, August 3.—Sir Edward Grey told the House of Commons that he had "given France assurance that if the German fleet came into the English channel or through the North Sea to undertake hostile operations against the French coast or its shipping, the British fleet would give all the protection in its power."

Sir Edward Grey requested the House of Commons to approach the consideration of the European crisis from the point of view of British interests, British honor and British obligations without passion and affect.

"When the documents are made public, it will be seen how genuinely and whole hearted we have made efforts to preserve the peace."

Dealing with the question of Great Britain's obligation, Sir Edward said:

"Up to yesterday we had given no promise of more than diplomatic support, but I told both the French and German ambassadors that if war was forced on France, public opinion in the British Isles would rally to France." This part of the speech was received with cheering.

Toward the close of his speech Sir Edward Grey said:

"We must be prepared and we are prepared to face the consequences of using all our strength at any moment we know not how soon in order to defend ourselves."

Andrew Bonar-Law, leader of the opposition, warmly supported the government and referred amid cheers to the pledges of support received from the British dominion.

Wild cheering from all parts of the House greeted John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader when he assured the government that every soldier in Ireland might be withdrawn tomorrow and the coasts of Ireland would be defended against invasions by her armed sons, the Catholics of the south and the Protestants of Ulster.

James Ramsey McDonald, Socialist and labor member, declared he was not persuaded that Great Britain was in danger or her honor involved. He was convinced she should have remained neutral. The House adjourned until 7 o'clock for a consultation between the leaders of all parties.

CLEARING HOUSES TO ISSUE CERTIFICATES

DECISION REACHED AT MEETINGS IN NEW YORK AND OTHER CITIES

TO PROTECT SUPPLY OF GOLD

Sixty Day Clause Is Adopted By New York Savings Banks at Meeting Today

By Associated Press.
New York, Aug. 3.—The clearing house at a meeting today decided to issue clearing house certificates to meet the currency situation brought about by the European war crisis.

The decision to issue certificates was reached after a general discussion of the foreign situation and its bearing on business conditions here. It was the unanimous view that every means should be adopted to protect the country's gold supply.

It was voted therefore that until further notice the association placed itself upon a certificate basis. An additional resolution was adopted making available in payment of balances all forms of currency issued on authority of the national government. This indicates the desire by the bankers to use freely the currency issued to the national currency association.

This is the first emergency measure taken by the association since similar action during the panic of 1907. Secretary McAduff of the treasury department started back for the capital this morning. It was necessary for him to reach Washington this afternoon for a conference with financiers with various other cities.

Exchange Remains Closed.

CURRENCY RESTRICTIONS REMOVED BY HOUSE TODAY

Amount To Be Issued Will Be Left To Discretion of Secretary of Treasury

By Associated Press.
Washington, Aug. 3.—All restrictions on the amount of currency which may be issued under section 5 of the bank law were removed today by the House in an amendment, passed 231 to 6 and hurried over to the Senate.

As an amendment to a bill passed by the House Saturday, removing other restrictions of the law in the present crisis, both Houses of Congress today are expected to leave the amount of the issue of such currency in the discretion of the secretary of the treasury. The amendment also would extend the issue of the currency to state banks and trust companies which have joined the new federal reserve system or agreed to do so.

A delegation of bankers conferred with the House and Senate committees and meanwhile were in communication with the bankers in New York. The first proposal was to increase the authorized issue under the law to $1,500,000,000. It was decided, however, to leave the amount to the discretion of the treasury department. The bankers expressed the opinion that such authority would relieve any situation which might arise.

REWARDS OF RIGHT LIVING ARE DEFINED

THIS IS SUBJECT OF SERMON AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY

MOSES' INJUNCTION TO ISRAEL

Declares That Principles Laid Down in That Day Are Good in Present Generation

That right living brings its full rewards, both in a material and a spiritual sense, was declared Sunday evening by Rev. Clark C. Smith at the First M. E. Church in a sermon on the "Rewards of Right Living." He discussed the various standards of right living and showed how that which was rewarded by eternal life was that for which Christians should strive.

The pastor's text was from Deuteronomy 5:33—"Ye shall walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you and that it may be well with you and that ye may prolong your days in the land which ye shall possess." He said in part:

"History affords no grander scene than the one depicted in this story of which the text is a part. Moses, the grand old man of Israel, has gathered the nations together and is reviewing before them all that Jehovah had commanded them through him in the years in which he had been their leader. He has proven himself a general unexcelled, a statesman unsurpassed, and a jurist without peer, and his auditors listen to him with rapt attention as if it were indeed the voice of God. He is conscious that he has come to the last days of his life, and that this is indeed his farewell message. He knows that he himself will not be permitted to enter the promised land but he is still deeply solicitous for the welfare of Israel. He exhorts them to keep God's commands and to follow his leading that they may live, that it may be well with them, that they may prolong their days.

"Moses, the wisest man of ancient history and the peer of any man in any age, declares that life, well being and longevity are related to the matter of obedience to God's commands. He relates what Israel had accomplished to the fact of obedience and indicates that whatever achievement they may hope to accomplish must be through that same spirit of obedience. If the desires that spring up within their hearts are to be accomplished it will be through obedience to their leader, to the Jehovah that has brought them from bondage. This has been his teaching during the forty years that he has been their leader, but he is reviewing it now with renewed emphasis out of his experience and he is giving them his last message. It is God's teaching and not his own that he is giving them and the principles involved will not change with the years.

"What about these teachings for this generation? What are we to do with them? A principle that is true for Israel is true with us. We are concerned with the same things that concerned them. We too want to live—we want to be well off—we want to prolong our days. Is there any instruction in these words of Moses for us? Let us look into them a little and see.

Standards of Right Living
"That we may live." What is it to live? It is possible to answer such a question in several ways. The word live is a relative term. Doubtless here it refers to the maintenance of physical life. It is a desire for physical life as contrasted with physical death. The biologist finds that very low order in reality. Some animal life is exceedingly crude and still it is life. It is not the mere fact of life that we desire but a normal human life. We desire to live our life. But that too suggests a wide range of possibility. Doubtless our Creator has a standard of excellence to which he desires our physical life to attain but for one reason or another we do not all attain to that life. What effect upon the fact of physical living would be noted if all mankind should follow the commands of God? It is very safe to say that we would soon find a different race upon the earth. If we all did the best we knew and kept looking for more knowledge we would soon do away with most of the physical imperfections of this life. If sin were done away physical standards would soon rise.

"We might define life from the social standpoint. We sometimes say that a community is alive or dead commercially or socially. Occasional-ly you will hear a worldly wise girl or boy declare that a certain community is dead. That is simply an indication that that particular community has failed to appeal to the predominant impulse in that life. Using the predominant impulse which has failed of arousement is a very low one. Their idea is relative to their plane of living. When our social instincts meet satisfactory response we are likely to think that there is life. A church may have the name of being alive or dead according as it meets the needs of the people who assemble there. Sometimes the social demands are supreme and the spiritual are forgotten, and to the people the church is alive or dead according to the social thermometer alone.

The Spiritual Side
"But there is a spiritual side to real living. The desire for life is instinctive and we do all that we can to live as long as we can. The craving for social and spiritual life is equally natural and equally persistent. The universal hope of everlasting life is an expression of this natural longing and indicates the qualities of ourselves which we most desire to live. It is largely a social and spiritual hope and one can the more easily give up the physical expression of life when he hopes for a continuation of life in other forms of expression. Moses taught that in obedience to God we would find life. The best thought of all the ages and the thought of today is in that direction. We want to live as long as we can, here and then live hereafter. In order that we may live we should harmonize ourselves with the source of all life.

"We not only desire to live but we desire to live well. That it may be well with you. When is a man well off? We are inclined to say that a man is well off when all his physical needs are met. This is the spontaneous answer of mankind. We look at a palatial home equipped to meet every physical need and we say 'There is a man well off.' But such an answer is only relative. We must look further. That man has social needs. How well does his condition minister to his social needs? It gives him companionships and contact with his fellow men and much that passes for social life, but does it give him what he needs for the betterment and building up of his social nature? What does it do for his deeper self, his spiritual nature? He is well off in that his whole nature, physical, social and spiritual is being ministered unto? We have all Bible stories of a man who had a physical comforts about him and apparently little else. He commanded himself to take his ease, eat, drink, and be merry. Immediately God said, 'Thou Fool.' The man whom God pronounces a fool is not well off. When are we well off? When all the needs of our nature are being met and not till then. 'God filled this world with good things to be used of us and the man who is using them with regard to his whole self is doing God's will but there are needs that this world can not supply and one is not well off till he is meeting all the needs of his whole self. Men want to be well off. We may say in a sense that it is the goal of all worthy effort. The personal question for each of us is what ideals have we the satisfaction of which will determine our conception of being well off. We may think we are well off because we have what we want but that does not establish the fact. Moses declared that if Israel should walk in the statutes of Jehovah it would be well with them. Would it not still be well for a man to walk in those same statutes?

Prolonging Man's Days
"That ye may prolong our days. We naturally desire to live to a good old age. A company of boys were being questioned along religious lines and were asked 'How many of you want to go to Heaven?' All hands went up but one. This lad was further interrogated: Is it possible you do not wish to go to Heaven? The lad shook his head and finally answered very honestly, 'not yet.' That is normal and proper. We want to stay here for a good long time. When is a man old? Moses taught Israel that if they would obey Jehovah they would live to advanced years. People who follow after right living have the longest lives. Old age is relative. We ordinarily say that when ones physical powers decline that he is old. Sometimes this happens before many years have passed. Premature senility sometimes seizes us. If we determine years by the physical self alone we have a very uncertain standard. With some people the social instincts fail and they assume a degree of agelessness accordingly. This is needless and accordingly not to be desired. It is our duty to stay young in our social instincts.

"We can better serve our fellow men if we keep young in heart. If we keep our spiritual life renewed we will scarcely grow old though we advance in years. How refreshingly youthful is the aged soul that is alive with God. What a comfort to friends and what a benediction to a community is such an one. God calls us to 'perpetual youth.' We may not expect more than the normal physical life but we may have the spring of eternal youth within in spite of our years. Heaven is eternal youth. No one is old in Heaven. We will have dropped that on which time makes his mark and will have assumed the ageless when we are with our Father. How good it is to live and how blessed it is to know that we may live eternally if we will walk obediently before Jehovah.

EFFECTS OF STRIFE UPON THIS COUNTRY

EUROPEAN WAR WILL HAVE BOTH GOOD AND EVIL EFFECTS

MAY ADVANCE PRICE OF CRUDE

Will Furnish Better Market For Wheat, But Will Demoralize Cotton Business

Across the Atlantic from the theatre of strife in Europe, the United States would seem secure from influences, good or evil, from the present conflict and yet the effects of strife are already being felt in this country and will be felt more and more as the fighting spreads. Time was when such a conflict would have been no more than the distant thunder of a faraway storm; but that was before the cable, the wireless and the fast sailing vessels had brought East and West face to face and hand to hand.

East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet. Sang Kipling, but times have changed since the English bard penned those lines. A Wichita Falls factory sells its products in the Orient, Wichita Falls wheat finds a market half way around the globe. Science and machinery have annihilated time and space. The nations are linked, one to another, by ties of blood and business that cannot be severed on the moment.

It need not be doubted for an instant, therefore, that these United States will share in the burden of suffering that war will bring. It will not be an unshared evil, however. War may so greatly increase the demand for fuel oil that producers in Wichita county may get higher prices for their crude product; war has already resulted in Wichita county farmers getting better prices for their wheat. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, even though that wind be blowing on the other side of the world.

The effects of war upon this country may be briefly summarized as follows:
Beneficial effects—Increase in demand for wheat, oil, beef, mules and other American products, with resultant higher prices to producers in this country. Increase in importance of New York as a world financial center; some economists predict that the war's close will find New York, rather than London, the real financial center of the world. Added importance of this country in maritime circles; Congress is today considering a measure to permit foreign-owned ships to come under American register, that is to say, fly the American flag. That such action would have permanent results can not be doubted.

Detrimental effects—Removal of a market for the American products among them of chief importance to Texas, cotton; others include steel machinery and manufactured products generally. Financial stringency due to gold shipments abroad and demoralization of the world's commerce. Americans who have contracts in Europe will be in a sad plight and some failures are certain.
U. S. May Be Peacemaker.
Among the larger effects of the war is the possibility of the United States assuming a new position among the powers of the world—that of peacemaker. As matters stand now, she is the only great nation that will be in a position to mediate between the warring countries in the interest of peace. That she is being looked upon as a neutral is indicated by the fact that practically every European ambassador, called home by the rupture of friendly relations has turned his affairs over to the United States ambassadors, ministers and consuls, until peace is restored. That the United States will, at the earliest possible moment, tender her good offices in efforts to restore peace is assured, even though there has been no announcement to that effect.

It is not easy to understand why this country should be so directly affected in a financial way. It is largely explained by the fact that in normal times the world transacts its business largely on credit. The actual cash seldom passes and notes and securities serve as a medium of exchange. In times of war the value of these securities is a matter of conjecture. What are the bonds of a railroad worth when that railroad stands an excellent chance of being blown into smithereens or at best, of having its earning power completely removed? What are the bonds of a great factory worth when that factory's chief market is drenched in blood? So gold which fluctuates almost not at all in value and which is the recognized medium of exchange the world over, is called for. The world's supply of gold is not unlimited and when such a demand is made, it runs short of a country's needs.

Lower Prices For Cotton.
England's becoming involved in the conflict will be sure to have a very decided effect upon cotton prices and Texas may be hard hit in that way. With the Liverpool spinners closed down, as they likely would be in the event of England's participation in the fight, the demand for cotton would be reduced to what the American spinners would take and this is a very small part of the cotton crop as a whole. Under normal conditions with the prospects for a short crop, farmers might readily expect fourteen cents for their staple. With conditions as they are, ten cent cotton is a probability.

The market for America's grain, beef and mules will be bettered, however. Arms must be fed and war invariably increases the demand for wheat and the like. Russia,

In the Highlands, in the country places, Where the old plain men have rosy faces, And the young fair maidens quiet eyes; Where essential silence chills and blesses And forever in the hill recesses Her more lively music Broods and dies— O, to mount again where erst I haunted; Where the old red hills and bird-enchanting; And the low green meadows Bright with sword; And when even dies the million tinted, And the night has come and planets glinted, Lo, the valley hollow Lamp-hestarr'd! O, dream, O to awake and wander There and with delight to take and render Through the trance of silence, Quiet breath! Lo, for there among the flowers and grasses Only the mightier movement sounds and passes; Only winds and rivers, Life and death.

which raises a considerable portion of the world's supply of wheat, will cease to be a factor in the market in time of war and the shortage caused by her reduced production must be made up from this side of the water. The American mule will have his share of the fun. He is very popular in the Boer war and will no doubt be in demand in the European conflict.

Children Must Pay Fare Unless Small Enough to Sit in Parents' Lap

It will be useless hereafter to protest to the street car conductor that little Algernon is only four years old. If he is too big to hold in your lap, five cents in lawful money of the United States of America must be forthcoming. The new rule has been made because of the unfortunate tendency on the part of many parents to get six, seven and eight year old youngsters under the five year limit. The conductor, of course, is forced to take the parent's word for it. The new rule is that if the child is big enough to occupy a seat by itself, regardless of its age, fare must be paid for it. The change has made trouble for some of the conductors with parents who have been accustomed to taking Algernon along without paying fare.

The engineers and firemen will go out on strike next Friday, the 7th, unless the railroad managers meet their demands. They have declined further arbitration of the matter, and there seems nothing now for the railroad managers to do except grant the demands of the engineers and firemen, or turn the matter entirely over to the National government to be adjusted, and as both sides seem determined to hold out, that will probably be the outcome of the matter. If it does, it will be a big step in the direction of government ownership or government supervision of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines. There has been a growing demand for government ownership and government supervision of railroads and telegraph and telephone lines. Such an outcome would put a stop to strikes and the evil consequences of strikes. The railroad employees, or at least a great majority of them, do not object to government ownership, and many of the financiers whose fortunes are invested in railroad securities have about come to the conclusion that they are ready to sell out to the government. They have become weary of the constant agitation of strikes, and would much prefer to get their money out of railroad securities and invest it in other ways. The very contemplation of the pending strike is exciting business in all lines, and if it takes place and the National government does not step in and take charge, leaving the railroads and the employees to manage the trouble, it will mean the shutting down of business of nearly every kind. But the people have great confidence in the ability of President Wilson, and they do not believe he is going to permit a tie-up of the railroads. He has the power to keep things moving, and when all other sources have been exhausted, he can be depended upon to step in and take charge of matters, temporarily at least.

THE COLONEL, NEW YORK AND THE NATION

The colonel has endorsed a republican as his choice for the governorship of New York.

More than this, the colonel has advised the republican to forego party patriotism and do likewise.

Quite naturally, the country at large is beginning to prick up its ears and wonder what it is all about.

For the past fourteen years the colonel has been a rather conspicuous figure in American politics. His prestige may have declined perceptibly of late, but that he is still a power to be reckoned with is amply indicated by the closeness with which his activities are followed.

Incidentally, the colonel is still somewhat of an enigma. Few people comprehend his motives, and fewer still are alive to his purposes. Even when he stamped the republican convention and dragged nearly half of its membership away with him, it was impossible to say whether he was dominated by a desire to wreak vengeance on Mr. Taft or by disgust at the machine methods of the republican party.

So in New York it is impossible to determine just what the colonel is trying to do, and just why he is doing it.

He says he will support ex-Senator Harvey Hiramman because that appeals to him as being the most logical way in which to rid the state of ring rule.

Such an argument is surely plausible, but at the same time it implies a willingness on the colonel's part to flirt with his old associates which can not help creating the suspicion that if the opportunity should occur he might avail himself of a similar excuse with reference to national matters.

The colonel is sufficiently shrewd to understand that so long as there is a republican in the republican ranks, the democrats will remain in power. He is sufficiently crafty to threaten the continuance of such a rupture until he gets what he wants.

What he would do if offered what he wants is still a puzzling question. That he will never again lie down

THE SLUMP IN COTTON.

The sharp decline in cotton incident to rumors of a widespread European war should give the Texas farmer something to think about.

As hostilities appeared more imminent, wheat rose steadily, but cotton dropped. Why?

We have been told by the agricultural preachers that the world was at the mercy of the southern cotton grower; that he was master of a great staple, and that by regulating his acreage he could fluctuate its price at will.

We have been told that the American cotton kings had but to raise their fingers to make eastern, English and European manufacturers dance to a wild tune.

We have been told that they owed it to themselves to do this thing; that they ought to reduce the supply arbitrarily.

We have been told that 15-cent cotton could be had for the asking, and that it was the southern farmer's own fault if he did not get it.

We have been told that his failure to do so was because he didn't realize his own strength.

We have been told that he was the linchpin of textile commerce; that he stood between humanity and nakedness, and that it was only necessary for him to put forth his hand to reap a rich harvest of golden shekels to which he was entitled, because of his independence.

The southern farmer has not been quite such a fool as the agricultural politicians took him for.

He understands that the price of his product depends as much upon the number of people who wear cotton garments, and the quantity and variety of garments they wear, as it does upon his acreage.

He understands that of fashion and changing styles are really responsible for the great amount of cotton consumed, and that they have made it a luxury rather than a necessity.

He realizes that people in many parts of the world are buying more clothes than they really need, and that whenever circumstances reduce them to the practice of economy the demand for cotton immediately shrinks.

He realizes that he is not only dependent on the eastern, English and European manufacturers, but also upon what those manufacturers are able to sell.

What rises, because no matter what happens in Europe, people must have bread. Cotton falls because, if thousands of men are called on to the battlefield at small pay, manufacturers will not only have to shut down, but many people will have to do with less clothes.

People can get along with less clothes, but people must have three meals a day, and wheat and corn have come to be the most dependable foodstuffs in the world.

Incidentally, the covetings of the cotton market during the past several days should admonish the Texas farmer as to the expediency of engaging in the growing of more diversified crops, and not stake his all on one staple which, after all, does no more than conform to the absolute needs and necessities of mankind.—Houston Chronicle.

WAGON WHEAT TOO DOWN, FARMERS ADVISED TO HOLD

Conditions at Galveston Are Cause of Reduction Today—War Likely To Bring Advance

Although local dealers are still accepting wagon wheat they are strongly advising the farmers to hold their crop. This advice is likely to have considerable weight in view of the fact that the local quotation has dropped to seventy cents a bushel.

Practically all the storage capacity at Galveston is now taken up and wheat that is bought now cannot be shipped until export traffic is resumed, so that dealers will have to hold the grain indefinitely. Of course only a limited amount of grain can be handled under these conditions.

"If a general European war follows," said a grain dealer today, "Wichita county farmers will be getting a dollar a bushel for their wheat as soon as its shipment to Europe is arranged for. While we are taking wheat at seventy cents a bushel we would much rather pay a dollar for it later when we know how we can dispose of it."

Twelve Per Cent Discount on Diamonds

Thirty thousand dollars, tied up in diamonds makes it necessary for us to realize cash, and that in a hurry, too, and right at this time when Diamonds are bound to increase in value. In spite of this fact we are making the sensational reduction of on any stone in the house. We are also making the extraordinary offer to repurchase any diamond sold at this time, within a period of one year, for ninety per cent of the purchase price, thus enabling purchasers to own a diamond for one year at an outlay of not more than ten per cent.

And frankly, we hope they will all come back to us. Only the necessity for turning a part of our immense stock into cash forces us to sell these stones at all at this time, when they should be marked up instead of down, and when every indication in the diamond market goes to show that every class of stones will be increased from ten to twenty per cent within the next year.

NATIONAL TREASURY ASKED TO AID IN CROP MOVEMENT

Local Bank Wires in That $500,000 Is Needed To Handle Grain Situation

A request for an advance of $500,000 by the government to aid in handling the crop movement was forwarded today to Secretary of the Treasury William McAdoo at Washington by the City National Bank. This calls attention to the need of interior banks in the present wheat embargo situation and says that Wichita Falls handles approximately 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, including a large volume for Oklahoma. The telegram states that Wichita Falls is one of the largest wheat centers in the State and asks that some assistance be rendered.

GERMANY PROCEEDS CALMLY WITH HER MOBILIZATION

Open-Air Religious Service Is Attended By Soldiers—State Armies Aid Pledged

By Associated Press. Berlin, Aug. 3.—The mobilization of the German army proceeded today with absolute calm. An open-air religious service attended by many soldiers in marching kit was held today around the Bismarck monument outside the imperial parliament house. An joined in the Lord's prayer. In accordance with the imperial constitution, the kings of Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg have placed their armies under the command of Emperor William. The Grand Duke of Baden-Burg-Stahlitz and the Duke of Brunswick are to take the field. The families of all soldiers in the reserves summoned to the colors are to be supported by the State.

STATE GETTING READY FOR NATIONAL GUARD CAMP

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Aug. 3.—Active preparations today were in progress in the adjutant general's department, here for transportation of 3,000 troops of the National Guard of Texas to the joint encampment at Texas City, Aug. 17-28. Texas soldiers will meet the Louisiana and Oklahoma militia there and also a detachment of regulars.

GOLD CARRYING STEAMER GOING DIRECT TO BREMEN

By Associated Press. New York, August 3.—Wireless messages were dispatched today from the home office of the North German Lloyd steamship company in Bremen ordering the Kronprinzessin Océlie which has on board $10,000,000 in gold for London and Paris banks, to proceed directly to Bremen without touching, as usual, at Plymouth and Sherbourg. This order was taken to mean that the steamship officials proposed to deliver the gold aboard German ships rather than run risk of seizure by British ships. The report that the ship was off the north coast of Ireland last night, and another that she had been captured by British men of war were not confirmed at the local office.

URGES PROHIBITION OF SLAUGHTER OF CALVES

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Prohibition of the slaughter of calves under two years old as a means of conserving the beef supply and incidentally plugging the constantly growing leak in the consumer's pocket book, was one of the principal topics to be considered by the national convention of the United Master Butchers of America which assembled here today. Another question, almost equal in importance was enactment of state laws supplementing the federal statutes for the regulation of the sale of meats. To consider these questions, one thousand delegates from all parts of the country, with an equal number of alternates, met here today. Large delegations came from St. Louis, Cincinnati, New York and Milwaukee. Arrangements had been made to entertain 10,000 guests expected to attend during the week of sessions.

First Monday brought a good sized crowd and there was considerable trading of livestock. Dozens of wagon loads of watermelons came in and Indiana avenue from Seventh to Fourth streets was crowded with wagons and livestock.

Market Reports

Fort Worth Live Stock. By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 3.—Cattle receipts 4500, lower. Beaves $5.50 to $8.10. Hog receipts 200, $8.50 to $8.60. Sheep receipts 800, fairly steady. Lambs $6.50 to $7.

Kansas City Grain. By Associated Press. Kansas City, Aug. 3.—Cash wheat No. 2 hard 76 1/2 and 78; No. 2 red 74 and 76. Corn No. 2 mixed 73. Oats No. 2 white 36 and 36 3/4.

Chicago Grain. Chicago, Aug. 3.—Despite war news coming thick and fast, wheat prices today tended downward. Absence of an immediate foreign demand was large responsible. The continuance of heavy margin calls on all trades operated to restrict speculative dealing. The opening which ranged from 14 decline to 3-8 advance was followed by a general setback of 1 to 5-8 cents and then by a rally which was in some cases complete. Corn traders paid but little attention to war news, the chief interest being lack of rains in producing sections. After starting 1 to 7-8 higher the market scored further gains. Liberal selling at times on the part of elevator houses weakened the oat market. Otherwise trade was light. Renewed wariness developed as a result of announcement that there would be no railroad strike and this led to a material reaction in corn. Afterwards there was a more serious break in sympathy with the weakness of provisions. Sensational declines were recorded in the provision market prices breaking as much as fifty cents per wt. Lard dropped almost a cent a pound. Corn closed nervous. Prices: Wheat, Sept. 86 3-8; Dec. 91 3-8. Corn, Sept. 67 7-8; Dec. 62 1/2. Oats, Sept. 35 1-4; Dec. 37 7-8.

COTTON BUYERS CALLED IN AND NO DEALS BEING MADE

Employe of Local Firm is in Germany and No Word is Received From Him

Cotton brokerage firms having headquarters here have sent word to their buyers calling them in and no deals of any kind are being made.

No word has been received from Fritz Katz, who is connected with the R. O. Harvey Company and who was in Germany when the war cloud came up, since last Thursday. On that day Mr. Harvey received a cablegram from Mr. Katz at Bremen, saying that the situation looked very serious and he did not know whether he could get away or could get any word through later.

Saturday a censorship was established in Germany and Mr. Harvey has heard nothing more from Mr. Katz. The latter has taken out his first papers to become a naturalized citizen and it is believed, is therefore exempt from German military service.

ILLINOIS HONORS LOGAN'S MEMORY WITH MONUMENT Murphysboro, Ill., Aug. 3.—General John A. Logan, next to General U. S. Grant, the most illustrious war hero Illinois ever produced, was honored here today with the erection of a handsome stone shaft at his birthplace and the formation of a memorial association to secure state and federal appropriations for erecting a monument and a memorial hall on the same spot at a later date. Gen. James Black of Chicago, a war comrade of General Logan, was made president of the Memorial Association and men of national prominence from all sections of the United States sent in their names to be enrolled as subscribers and members. FREIGHT CAR SHORTAGE NOT LIKELY THIS FALL By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Aug. 3.—Railroad men who have been here in conference with the railroad commission say they expect freight to be handled with greater dispatch, more profit to the railroads and less expense and worry to shippers this fall than in any previous year in Texas. It was stated traffic regulations have been revised and made uniform to an extent that will enable all railroads to require of shippers a reasonable amount of co-operation in expediting business. This was expected to minimize car shortage and save time also for the railroad commission which has to listen to these complaints.

Since opening this Bankrupt Sale on July 18th we have sold thousands of dollars worth of Dry Goods and Groceries at prices that we believe have never before been equalled in Wichita Falls. Practically all of the Groceries have been sold but the stock of Dry Goods still remains very complete. Owing to our limited space it has been almost impossible to put the entire stock out where the people could get it. Now that practically all the Groceries have been sold out, we are enabled to move out the Grocery fixtures which gives us an additional space of about 25x50 feet. Monday night we will close our doors at the McCarty Store and will spend Tuesday and Wednesday rearranging and hanging up and piling out as near as possible everything so that the Customer may be enabled to see just exactly what the merchandise is and the price, which will be plainly marked on everything. Information comes from our buyers, now in the Eastern Markets that their purchases for the fall season will be heavy and their instructions to us are to CLEAN OUT this Bankrupt stock at SOME PRICE.

Additional Merchandise

We are also instructed to move as much summer merchandise as possible from the P. H. Pennington Co. Store at 812-814 Ohio Avenue, to the McCarty store and close it out regardless of price. This will be a real Clearance Sale. The final effort to turn into cash all summer goods. Also owing to several receiver's sales and clearance sales now going on in New York City our buyers are purchasing at great discounts many lines in Ladies' Ready to Wear Summer Dress Goods, etc., and we have decided to as fast as these goods reach us by express THROW them into this Bankrupt and Clear Out Sale and close them out.

We Will Maintain the Low Price on Staples

When we first opened the McCarty Bankrupt Sale we placed the price of bleached domestics, sheetings, percales, calicos and ndginghams at a very low price. The stock of these goods was very much smaller than we thought but in this Clean Out Sale we will take enough of these goods from our other store to supply the demand of our customers at the same low prices as before.

PRAYERS FOR PEACE SAID IN LOCAL CHURCHES SUNDAY
Pastors Make Reference To European Troubles and Earnest Petitions Are Uttered
While the dogs of war were being unleashed in Europe and while telegraph instruments in this city were clattering with momentous news of the European conflict yesterday morning, fervent prayers for peace were being offered in practically every church in the city and earnest petitions were sent up that strife might even yet be averted.
References to the situation were made in most of the sermons in local pulpits. At the M. E. Church, South, Dr. J. W. Hill told the story of how Argentina and Chile in South America, patched up their differences and avoided war; then took the cannon, built to destroy life and property and constructed a statue of the Christ from the melted metal; this figure was erected in the Andes on the boundary line between Argentina and Chile as a perpetual guarantee of peace. Dr. Hill said that when men forgot Christ war ensued and that when Christ reigned again in the hearts of monarchs, peace would come.

The Empress.
"Zinko, Son of the Sea" in three parts is showing here today. An extra attraction is the Pathe Meekly No. 45, a pictorial of the happenings of the day.
The Lamar Airdome.
A new vaudeville bill, comprising two acts opens tonight. The picture program includes J. Warren Kerrigan in "The Silent Witness" a two reel notable picture and a Sterling Kid comedy, "The Flirt."
The Majestic.
"The Changeling," a Lubin drama in two parts "Eve's Daughter" featuring Lillian Walker and Earl Williams, the story of an artist and his model and an Essanay comedy, "Jane."
Because her father breaks her engagement to a young man, Jane, a spoiled girl of luxury, retires to a country hospital of which her father is a director, in order to sulk and give vent to her feelings. She and her father have many tilts over her stubbornness and Jane is perpetually victorious. Her father discharges the flirtatious hospital superintendent one day and that worthy leaves, taking with him the entire staff and leaving the hospital isolated and cut off from the world. That evening the "red headed person" the new superintendent arrives and his experiences with the hungry patients, not to mention the bad tempered Jane, serve as a background for a most delightful little comedy. Suffice to say, Jane for once in her life, meets her match in the red haired person, but she rather enjoys being bossed, and an ultimate midnight episode in which she is the moving factor, brings father the next morning all down with three autos loaded with assistance only to burst in on the greatest surprise of his life.
The Victoria.
"The Million Dollar Mystery" the fifth of the series is showing here today in addition to the regular program which is composed of a two part "Thanksgiving," "The Hour of Reckoning" and "The Unmasking" an American, the story of which is as follows:
Harold Clark, a very young man at an extremely impressionable age and untutored in the ways of the seamy side of life, is in love with Clara Morrow, a young girl of his social standing. John Dayton, friend of Harold's, of strong character and more worldly experienced, looks after the welfare of his impetuous friend. They live at the same club and Dayton worries over an encounter Harold has had with a scolding adventuresome Harold, completely entranced by the wiles of the woman, neglects his sweetheart and runs after the woman of the world, blinded as to her actual character. Dayton remonstrates with him, but receives only rebuffs for his trouble. Dayton decides to unmask the woman before his friend. He attends an affair at the woman's house and accuses her of her wickedness. Harold overheard and nearly throws himself into a tragedy by shooting his friend. Dayton later makes advances towards the woman and displays a handful of bills and she falls into the trap. This of course awakens Harold, who is looking on. He denounces the woman and leaves. John Dayton leads Harold back to Clara and watches the two re-unite.

Medical inspection of school children has revealed the fact that at least 25 per cent of the pupils have defective vision, or eye-strain, sufficiently grave to require the constant use of glasses. As a cause of retardation, defective vision is the gravest condition encountered, considering the number involved, yet there is no other defect so amenable to treatment. In the majority of cases suitable glasses cause these children to take their place in class with the normal child.

In consideration of these facts, the correction of defective vision in the school child is not receiving the attention that its importance deserves. Such correction not only increases the efficiency of pupil and teacher, but have an important economic value as well, because if a child is backward and remains in the same class for two or three years, it is costing the state two or three times as much as it should to teach the child.

PLAINTIFF TAKES NON-SUIT IN WESTERN UNION CASE

In the suit of M. Q. Wright vs. the Western Union Telegraph Co. for $3,000 damages for the non-delivery of a telegram from California, the plaintiff took non-suit this morning. The principal item in the suit was for damages for mental anguish. The defendant's attorneys cited authorities to show that the contract between the telegraph company and the sender of the message was entered into in California and that damages could not be collected for mental anguish in that state.

CONTINENTAL EUROPE

is about to become enmeshed in a great war that will affect every European nation. Wars make widows, orphans, broken hearts and ruined homes, pestilence, starvation and misery follow closely in the wake of war. General Sherman, the grizzled fighting man and veteran of many battles, said "War is Hell." This definition is so good and so correct that it has never been questioned. Thanks for the great American nation. We are too progressive, too civilized and too busy to go to war. We have outgrown the barbarism of National murder. We are a nation of industrial achievement and commercial endeavor. The mission of America is not to fight but to feed, not to kill, but to clothe the nations of earth.

Our mission is to see that everybody in Wichita Falls has a chance to get their money's worth in drugs, sundries and service. Our best pleased customers are the ones who have been with us the longest. Our best advertisements are the people who have paid us the most money.

Kress Candy Quality

The word "Best" is a much battered term when applied to things which have to do with the selling of merchandise. We endeavor to use it only when it represents the actual qualities which we talk about, and from the experience know that Kress candy has no equal at anywhere near the price.

This condition has been made possible because we have given careful attention to the manufacture, to the equipment of the factories, to the supervision of all conditions, which owing to pure food agitation have been brought prominently to the foreground, whether it be a piece of confection at 10c a pound, or a delightful, delicious chocolate cream, hand dipped, double coated, you may be absolutely certain that you are securing the "Best" that money can buy, made under the most favorable conditions which the modern way of doing things has made possible.

At the same time we feel justified in saying that we can give you better coffee values than the out of town roaster. We also feel that our twenty-five years' experience as retailers and several years as roasters should
