UNCONFIRMED REPORTS OF ENGLISH SEA VICTORIES

By Associated Press.

New York, August 5.—Though the British consul declined to discuss it a report was current today that Captain Agassiz of the British steamship Uranium arriving here today had reported at the consulate that wireless messages intercepted his ship from the Cunard liner Lusitania had stated that two German cruisers chasing the Lusitania had been pursued and sunk by British warships. Captain Agassiz said he made no such statement and in this he was borne out by officials of the Uranium line. It is known, however, that the Lusitania has been dodging German war vessels while racing for England and the report that there has been engagement between British and German craft was received with some credence.

Madrid, Spain, August 6.—12:02 p. m.—A dispatch from the Canary Islands says a British squadron has sunk a German cruiser, the name of which is not given, and has captured another which is being conveyed to Gibraltar.

GERMAN CRUISERS REPORTED CAPTURED ARRIVE IN SICILY

By Associated Press.

Rome, August 5.—The Tribuna publishes a report today that the German cruisers Breslau and Goeben which were reported captured by the French have arrived at San Salvador near Messina, Sicily. One of the German officers in an interview said that while the Breslau was shelling the French naval station at Bona Algeria, sinking ships in the harbor and destroying the castle and some houses the Goeben bombarded Phillipville, further along the coast. He added that the two cruisers were subsequently pursued by a British squadron.

LITTLE HOPE REMAINS

Specialists Offer No Encouragement. President Cancels Engagements and Stays at Bedside.

Flash—Washington, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Wilson died at five o'clock this afternoon.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Aug. 6.—At 1 o'clock today Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the president, was being sustained by oxygen and other artificial stimulants, but her condition was about the same. Members of the family were constantly at her bedside. The president has been with her every moment he was not absolutely demanded elsewhere by the European crisis and the resulting situation in the United States. Today he cancelled all engagements and remained within call of the sick room. Months of illness which began with a nervous breakdown, aggravated by a fall on the White House floor with an injury to her spine, and then Bright's disease have weakened the noted patient and sapped her vitality. White House physicians, among whom were of the ablest specialists, called in consultation, reluctantly admitted they had little hope. The president went to Mrs. Wilson's before going to the executive offices. She greeted him with a smile, patted him on the arm and said she had spent a good night. A statement by Dr. Carey Grayson gave kidney trouble as the basis for Mrs. Wilson's illness. Favorite Bill Passes. Dr. Grayson said just after two o'clock this afternoon that Mrs. Wilson had had two sinking spells this morning, but rallied under stimulation. She was conscious, but growing weaker. Mrs. Wilson this morning expressed a desire that one of the bills looking to better living conditions in the poor quarters of Washington should be passed soon. Senate leaders got together and brought in the bill in which Mrs. Wilson was so much interested and it was passed without delay or objection.

German Vessels Understood to Be Waiting in Grand Banks—Liners Have Close Calls.

By Associated Press.

New York, Aug. 6.—The presence close to the American coast of warships of the warring European nations prepared to descend upon and capture the merchant vessels of their opposing belligerents was emphasized today by news of Great Atlantic liners arriving at Halifax, Nova Scotia and by reports by wireless of the warships' activities. Two German cruisers are believed to be hovering in the vicinity of the Grand Bank for just such prizes. The cruisers in one report, which came from the British consulate here from the captain of an incoming liner, were sunk by British warships while pursuing the Lusitania yesterday but the report could not be confirmed.

The United States battleship Florida took possession of the lower harbor today and no ship of a belligerent nation can pass her guns until the United States authorities have satisfied themselves that the departure will not violate the neutrality laws. The captain of the Cunard liner Panonia which arrived last night said today that his vessel had passed through a zone patrolled by two German warships and that radiograms in code passing between them were intercepted. The Panonia raced across the Atlantic with lights extinguished. Yesterday she passed the Lusitania. The ship had only running lights and was going at big speed. Later the Panonia was in communication with a British warship which informed her there were several British ships with wireless within call. The Panonia's wireless operator afterward heard German cruisers in communication with each other.

ENGLISH-GERMAN SEA FIGHT BELIEVED IN PROGRESS TODAY; KAISER REPORTED TO HAVE SENT AN ULTIMATUM TO ITALY

WOUNDED SAILORS ARE BROUGHT FROM NORTH SEA

Definite News Of Sea Fight Lacking—Germans Bombard Sveaborg—Kaiser's Subjects In England Threatened

By Associated Press.

London, August 6.—London waited today with anxiety for the movements of the British fleet of which virtually nothing had been heard since its departure some days ago under sealed orders. All eyes were turned toward the North Sea where it was generally assumed the war vessels had gone, to encounter the German battleship squadron.

Reports of firing and the arrival of a number of wounded Germans and British blue jackets at Harwich on the east coast, kept excitement at its highest point, as this was evidence at least that there had been contact between vessels of the opposing navies. The morning passed off, however without any more definite signs of an important clash between the powerful squadrons.

Messages from Belgium appeared to indicate that the check of the Germans had been a severe one, some reports giving the number of casualties as high as 8000. German war vessels are said to have penetrated the Gulf of Finland and bombarded Sveaborg. No definite confirmation of the reported ultimatum from Germany to Italy came to hand here.

As soon as the German ambassador left London today the American embassy assumed full charge of German interests in the British Isles. Irwin Laughlin, the American secretary of the embassy, devoted himself to this business and all German subjects who called at the late German embassy are directed to the American embassy. It was estimated by the embassy that there were 100,000 Germans in Great Britain but there was no means of ascertaining how many of these had left since the beginning of serious trouble. Many Germans resided in England in order to escape military service but a great number of these are said to have applied to be permitted to serve in the German army as soon as Emperor William offered pardon for deserters. So far the British government has not issued any order for the expulsion of Germans and none is expected, so that those now here are likely to remain.

British families, however, are discharging all German servants, governesses and chaffers so that the German benevolent societies have their hands full in supplying the needs of the destitute. While most of the papers today counsel courteous treatment of Germans who are compelled to remain in England, the Daily Mail urges a vigorous application of the law concerning aliens, saying:

"There are too many Germans in England and unless they are kept under close observation their presence may be a source of great danger." The Morning Post proposes that England resume her right to capture all cargoes destined for hostile countries under whatever flag the vessel may be sailing.

German Ambassador Leaves London

London, August 6.—The German ambassador Prince Lognisky with his princes and his suite left London today by special train for Harwich en route to the continent.

French Capture German Cruiser

London, August 6.—The French embassy learns that the French fleet has captured a German cruiser.

RESISTANCE BY BELGIANS

CHECK INVASION OF GERMANS IN BATTLE NEAR LIEGE TODAY.

GIVE STUBBORN FIGHT

Attacking Troops Leave Many Dead and Wounded Upon the Battlefield.

THE SCENE OF ACTION.

To reach France, Germany must either cross the French border direct or go around the north end of the border by way of Belgium. In that way Belgium, as a German ally, would have been very valuable; as a German enemy, she is proving very annoying. The town of Liege, around which the fighting seems to have centered, is a few miles from the Belgian border and about fifty miles southeast of Brussels, the Belgian capital. Inability to force an entrance into France by way of Belgium will interfere seriously with Germany's plans for the small prospect that her troops would be able to break down the double line of defensive forts that guard the Franco-German frontier.

By Associated Press.

Brussels, Aug. 6.—The Gazette publishes today what it says are the facts so far as known regarding the repulse of the German forces by the Belgians in the Liege district yesterday. The German losses are estimated at 8000 men while the Belgians suffered far less. The alleged route of the German Seventh Army corps is not confirmed in its entirety however, says the Gazette which adds:

"The Belgian Eleventh Brigade after successfully resisting the general commanding the Belgians was obliged to order troops to return back as they were getting outside the range of the guns of the Belgian forts."

"The enthusiasm of our troops was magnificent. A number of German wounded fled to Dutch territory and this gave rise to the belief that the enemy had been completely routed. They suffered, however, considerable losses, estimated at 8000. Our losses were relatively small."

Belgium Forts Bombed.

"At 4 o'clock in the morning the German Tenth Army corp attacked the Schudenbantaine and Boucelles forts from the southeast while their artillery bombarded the fort at Flemelle on the opposite bank of the River Meuse, five miles southwest of Liege. The Belgians captured seven guns and several prisoners. Proposals for the surrender of Liege have been again firmly refused."

Two disguised German officers arrested today at Ostend had in their possession extensive military notes and plans of great value. They are to be shot. It is reported here that the German colony at Antwerp is being expelled. However as the colony comprises 25,000 persons the report is not taken very seriously.

The anti-German feeling through Belgium has become intense and many German residents were arrested today and charged with espionage. Every German discovered anywhere in the city is brought before the police who have considerable trouble in protecting the prisoners from attacks by the excited crowd. The patriotic

TORPEDO BOAT BRINGING 200 WOUNDED FROM NORTH SEA

By Associated Press.

London, August 6.—The Chronicle's correspondent at Harwich telegraphed that it is believed an action is progressing in the North Sea. A wireless message received by the British destroyer Virago ordered her to prepare to receive 200 prisoners and wounded who are being brought in by a torpedo boat. The third torpedo flotilla which left the harbor yesterday morning went into action immediately and returned last night but little damaged. The batteries of the British flagship Antheon were slightly damaged.

RUSSIAN BALTIC STRONGHOLD UNDER BOMBARDMENT TODAY

By Associated Press.

London, August 6.—Sveaborg, Finland is said to be under bombardment by German warships. It is known as the "Gibraltar of the Baltic." The fortifications armed with 900 heavy cannon and defended by a garrison of about 12,000 men are spread over a chain of seven small islands connected with bridges. They command the entrance to the Helsingfors, from which there is direct railroad communication with St. Petersburg. Sveaborg came into prominence during the Russian revolution of 1906 when the garrison mutinied and defied the Russian fleet for three days during which the war vessels bombarded the port. The soldiers then surrendered.

FINDS GERMAN CUSTOMS DO NOT GO IN THIS COUNTRY

Man Who Whipped Boy For Being Lazy Is Fined in Justice Court Today

Hans Casten, a native of Germany who has been in this country only a few months, learned something new to his cost about the customs in this country yesterday when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault and was fined $1.00 in Justice Jones' court. Hans is employed at a dairy near the city and is a most industrious and efficient workman. His employer who left home for a short absence a few days ago placed Hans in charge of the milking and the work around the cows. For his assistance a youth who had come along a few days before was hired. When the employer left this boy refused to obey Hans' orders and Hans says, called him a bad name. Hans seized a cow whip and lashed the boy. The blow may have been heavier than Hans intended for it brought the blood. Hans was arrested. When arraigned in court, he said that in the old country it was not considered wrong to whip a boy or one who annoyed a busy man. Hans was given instructions in the difference of viewpoint in this country and in Germany on that subject and paid his fine.

It developed that he had been a petty officer in the German army and was even now waiting for orders from the German consul at Galveston calling him to his colors.

"Nobody can whip Germany. Germany will win," he said confidently.

MANY FIRES IN TEXAS DECLARED PREVENTABLE

By Associated Press.
 Austin, Texas, Aug. 6.—The ratio of preventable fires in apartment houses, boarding houses and private outhouses is 86.4 per cent, according to figures announced here by Wallace Inglish, state fire marshal. The ratio on all classes of mercantile risks in Texas, according to the same figures is 74.4 per cent.

In reaching this conclusion, it was said today, the commission has taken reports received of 40,000 fires in Texas since December 10, 1910. The ratio, members of the insurance commission were pleased to announce, is considerably lower than before the commission was created. The officials confidently expect a further decrease as the result of publicity given methods of preventing fires.

Preparations for such action were now under way, he said.

European Powers Join Forces in Alliance And Entente, For Safety

The triple alliance was formed in 1883 between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, for the purpose of checking encroachments by Russia or France. By its provisions the three powers are bound to support one another in certain contingencies.

Its terms were made more definite in 1887. The exact provisions of the alliance have not been divulged, but are said to have been modified as to France and Italy in 1893. The alliance was renewed in 1902 and in 1907 for certain periods, and the period of its last renewal extends to June 14, 1914. It has been reported, but apparently from no authoritative source, that the alliance has been renewed without alteration for a term of twelve years. It would appear that the recent demands of Italy against Turkey, followed by Italy's declarations of war, were assented to by the alliance. For many years Great Britain, while not a party to the alliance, was closely linked to it through apprehension of French or Russian aggressiveness, but later, becoming quieted by the growth of German naval power, adopted in 1902, a decided change of policy with a view to seeking in the balance of power greater security against invasion.

In pursuance of this policy Great Britain entered into an agreement with France in 1904 and with Russia in 1907.—The aims of the triple entente, so-called, Great Britain, France and Russia, were substantially as follows:

1. The balance of power.
2. The strengthening of the treaty law in the interests of peace and the status quo.
3. Disarmament.

In some directions this policy has met with considerable success.

In the improbable event of a war between the powers of the triple alliance and those of the triple entente (England, France and Russia), the land forces of the entente would exceed by probably a million men those of the alliance, but is it doubtful whether the vast army of Russia could be promptly assembled for service in the theatre of war.

The strength of the combined navies of the entente in ships, tonnage, armament and number of men exceeds the combined naval strength of the alliance.

Comparing the number of ships the alliance has a total number of 239, with 11,000,000 cubic feet capacity against 25 for the entente, with 5,001,000 cubic feet capacity.

The triple alliance, which in an elementary sense is responsible for the scope and extent of the present outbreak in Europe, is merely a tentative agreement of concert and co-operation entered into by Germany, Austria and Italy.

It came as the natural outgrowth of a chain of alliances which in a measure dominated the international relations of Europe during the past 250 years.

It was perfected in 1852, when Italy joined interests with Germany and Austria, shortly after the league of the three emperors had been broken by the withdrawal of Russia.

To offset this alliance, Russia and France pooled their interests in the early eighties, and through the efforts of King Edward VII, England joined them, forming what is known as the triple entente in 1902.

Thus the European situation was resolved into two armed camps, with Germany, Austria and Italy on the one hand, and England, France and Russia on the other.

The triple alliance was formed for purposes of aggression while the triple entente was formed for those of defense.

Through the aid of Austria and Italy Germany hoped to thrust herself into the Balkan Peninsula and break the united power of France, England and Russia by separating them with a barrier which she and her allies could control.

This made it expedient for the three latter countries to act in conjunction, and formed them into the triple entente.

Germany has always been the backbone of the triple alliance, and since her entrance into it England has always been the mainstay of the triple entente.

Incidentally, it is interesting to recall how prominently triple alliances have figured in European history.

The first one was formed by England, Holland and Sweden, in 1668, and was established to check the rising power of Louis XIV.

The second was formed in 1717 by England, Holland and France and had as its object the checking of Spanish aggression and the suppression of Jacobite rebellions against the British throne.

The third was formed in 1738 by England, Holland and Prussia, and was made in a vain hope to forestall the bursting storm of the French revolution.

The fourth was formed in 1872 by Germany, Austria and Russia and was known as the League of the three emperors.

The fifth is the triple alliance of today, and the sixth is the triple entente.

IN THE SPHERE OF WOMANKIND

Life the Master.
Fain would I make a comrade of my life.
Waking each morn to find companionship,
Draining Fate's chalice with an eager lip,
Finding joy after grief, peace after strife,
Fain would I see a clear, straight way ahead,
Where in the open I might meet each foe,
Whence, looser, victor, I may onward go,
Choosing my way, not blinded and not led.
But life is not a friend; a master he Unkindly, merciless and full of guile
Full of my trust betraying with a smile,
Holding me bound when most I would be free;
Yet I must walk with him, hand clasped in hand, Unknowing where he leads me to wheat land.
—Ninette M. Lowater.

UNIQUE ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY TUESDAY MORNING

One of the most delightful and unique affairs of the season was the Japanese tea given by Mrs. Harry Robertson and Mrs. Phillip Kerr at the home of the latter on Tuesday morning, August 4th, at 3 o'clock. The members of the Art Literature Club and the Bachelor Girls Club being the guests. The guests attired in lovely Japanese kimonos, upon arriving at the appointed hour, were met at the entrance to the front porch by Mrs. Phillip Kerr and invited into a veritable Japanese garden where amidst trailing vines and blossoms Mrs. J. S. Pittman and Miss Carrie Kerr served delightful punch. In the large parlors which had been artistically decorated in the National colors of Japan and beneath gay Japanese lanterns and parasols the guests were received by Mrs. Harry Robertson and Mrs. McInnis and seated according to true Japanese custom. It was with some that one might imagine oneself in Flowery Japan.

Miss Carlisle sang "The Japanese Love Song" and "Love Entreaties." Mrs. Pittman in a most delightful way told of customs of the dainty Japanese women and sang "In a Jiriki-sha." "A Trip Through Japan" and "The Little Gray Dove" were rendered on the Victrola. Just as the merriment was at its height a rap at the door an the announcement of a Western Union telegram brought about a perfect silence throughout the house, and as Mrs. Elma Filgo nervously opened the yellow envelope which to their happy surprise read: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kerr announce to you the marriage of their daughter, Jessie, to Mr. John C. Freese on Aug. 13, 1914. Then followed a round of happy exclamations and good wishes to the bride to be.

Refreshments consisting of tea and wafers were served from the low Japanese tea table by Mrs. James Kerr, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Pittman, assisted by little Misses Mary Meredith and Eleanor Pittman.

The Art Literature Club was then called for a short business meeting, after which the guests departed to long bear in mind this happy event and its occasion. The guests present were: Mesdames C. C. White, F. L. McFadden, F. McInnis, Lou Gebhart, J. S. Pittman, J. J. DeBerry, Elmer Filgo, Misses Emma Childers, Clara Carlisle, Eleanor Brown, Christine Hersh, Carrie Kerr, Mabel Winfrey, Mary Meredith, Eleanor Pittman and the hostesses.

Davis Cup Prelim Fights Today.

Boston, Aug. 6.—The crack English team was expected to be returned the victor in the final round of the preliminary competition for the coveted Davis challenge tennis trophy, which started today on the courts of the Longwood club. The English team defeated Belgium's team and the Frenchmen. The Australians, who are meeting the Britons, recently defeated the Canadian team. The two singles matches were to be played today, the double matches tomorrow, and the third and fourth singles matches Friday. The winners of the series which started today will meet the champion United States team at the West Side Tennis club, Forest Hills, Long Island, Aug. 13, 14 and 15.

At The Theaters

The Gam.
"The Last Will," a two part Vitagraph, featuring Anna Schaefer, Otto Lederer, George Holt, Margaret Gibson and Albert Vosburgh. "The Adventure of the Missing Legacy" the sixth story of Octavius, amateur detective and a Biograph, "A Daring Getaway" are the pictures showing here today.

The Lamar Aldoms
"The Skull" a thrilling and intensely interesting Universal feature in two parts and a Universal like Jr. comedy, "A Case on the Doctor" make up the picture program for tonight. A new vaudeville bill will open a three days' engagement tonight.

The Empress.
"The Midnight Strike" a Warner's feature in three parts, supplemented by a single reel is today's program. The pictures at this playhouse are now projected on the most up to date screen made, a mirror screen. This is quite an improvement over the usual curtain and the pictures are in every way. Also pictures projected on this mirror screen are less tiring to the eyes.

The Victoria.
"The Stolen Code," a two reel Reeliance is showing today in which Courtney Foote, F. A. Turner and Irene Hunt are featured. When political spy was trying to obtain information possessed by the diplomatic agent of another country he engaged another woman. She helped get the information but fell in love with the diplomatic agent, quarreled with her employer, shot him while defending herself but finally escaped. This is a pleasing picture of life diplomatic circles in the nation's capital.

The Majestic.
An Edison feature, "A Warning From the Past" is showing here today.

Arthur Trevor loved two things more than all the rest of the world. One was his wife, Aine and the other was for hunting. Because Arthur was her sole and only love, Aine was jealous of her husband's other love. Time and again she begged him to give it up, but Trevor, a cool, dandy, easy rider, laugher her fears to scorn and continued to live up to his reputation of being the most daring rider in the country. The finest of all Trevor's possessions was a powerful brute with the suspicious name of Satan and a variety of vicious qualities thoroughly in keeping with his name. The groom in the stable feared and hated him. Money could not have persuaded one of them to mount on his back. Yet Trevor, glorying in his own strength and skill, rode him recently. Anne, knowing how dangerous Satan was, had frequently begged her husband not to ride him and at last, as a result of her constant pleading, Trevor acceded to her wish.

On the day of the great Holiday Fox Hunt, Anne experienced a terrible premonition of danger and started a note to her husband, begging him not to go. Feeling ashamed of her fears, however, she stuffed the note in a green sofa and said nothing. But when she learned that Trevor, despite his promise, had taken Satan from the stable, her fears returned with redoubled force. Her fears were justified. Trevor was killed. Years later, Anne, knowing how dangerous Satan was, had frequently begged her husband not to ride him and at last, as a result of her constant pleading, Trevor acceded to her wish.

Left alone on the old green sofa, Anne experienced the same terrible premonitions which had visited her grandmother so many years before. Half unconsciously, she drew a crumpled sheet of paper from the sofa. On it was written: "I feel that you are in danger and I long to keep you from it. I know you will be angry but—"

With all her fears crystallized into action, Anne hurried the field and begged her husband not to attempt the flight. Sayre, in some unaccountable way, humored his foolishly anxious wife. But his anger was changed to an entirely different emotion when his friend's aeroplane, tilted in mid air and fell four thousand feet to utter ruin.

EUROPE WILL NEED AMERICA'S WHEAT

PROBLEMS OF NATIONS WILL BE SERIOUS, FRANK KELL DECLARES

BELIEVES BLOCKADE WILL END

Prices of American Products Not Likely To Be Affected, Except Cotton

"To my mind it's not a question of now we are going to get the grain over to them or what we are going to get for it after we get it there, but it's going to be a question for Europe of how they are going to get over here and get the grain and how much we are going to ask for it when they get here."

This is the way Frank Kell of this city, one of the biggest millers and grain dealers in the Southwest summed up the outlook in the grain situation this morning when asked for his opinion upon the probable effect of the European war on grain prices in the United States. Mr. Kell believes that the blockade on shipments to European ports cannot last long although it has completely stopped the export of grain for the present. Shipments are likely to start again, Mr. Kell believes, at any moment.

No Supply From Russia.

With the Dardanelles closed and it is improbable they will not be reopened for months, Russian granaries are cut off from the rest of Europe which must depend largely upon the United States for its bread. This country has about 350,000,000 bushels of wheat available for export and the chances are that Europe will need every bushel of it, before the present troubles are settled.

The Wichita Mill and Elevator Co. has 200,000 bushels of wheat in Galveston waiting to be loaded for export to European ports. Some of his wheat was being loaded on boats when the outbreak of the war stopped it. The railroads have declared an embargo on wheat billed to seaports for export and the movement of grain has stopped almost entirely. The stoppage of wheat shipments has greatly reduced traffic on the railroads here, most of whose traffic recently has been made up of grain shipments.

England's Proposed Guarantee.

The effort to have the British government insure grain shipments in British bottoms for British ports against war risks announced yesterday failed to materialize and now the exporters are making an effort to secure mutual action on the parts of the governments involved. Whether his succeeds or not it is believed the seed of the people in Europe and the developments of naval warfare will soon open a way for the resumption of export.

The feeling all over the country, Mr. Kell says, is that American products will not be seriously affected by the war, with the possible exception of cotton. He is hopeful that efforts now being made to enable the farmers to hold their crop off the market will be successful.

Advice Encouraging.

In reply to a telegram sent the National City Bank in New York City asking about the financial outlook the Wichita Mill and Elevator Co. was advised that there was "no occasion whatever for apprehension."

A telegram from Lamson Bros. of Chicago says: "Our banks are reorganizing under the Newlands act. No loans are being called. New loans are being made at advanced rates." Local grain dealers continue to take the small amount of wheat offered them at seventy cents.

TIMES PUBLISHING CO., ED HOWARD, Manager.

The European war has taken nearly all interest out of the Mexican affair. Even Carranza's threat to move the capital from Mexico City did not get him on the front page. Like the tango dance in America, the war craze is spreading all over Europe.

Was it Napoleon who was credited with saying that within 100 years no Nation could fire a gun without the consent of the United States? If so, then he was mistaken.

And Mr. Lewis was re-elected president of the Farmers' Union without opposition. All of which indicates that the great majority of farmers who belong to the union are well pleased with the part he and Uncle Peter Radford played in the recent gubernatorial campaign.

Though returns are coming in rather slow, the indications are that the gubernatorial contest in Oklahoma has resulted in a victory for Judge R. L. Williams, though the vote is so close between Williams and J. B. A. Robertson that it will probably take the official count to determine which of the two has won the Democratic nomination.

Al Jennings, the ex-bandit, who ran on a "come-back" platform, developed surprising strength and is third man in the contest. The other three gubernatorial aspirants—West, Dunlap and Herring—apparently have polled a very light vote. Senator Gore, the ablest senator, defeated his opponent by a vote of more than two to one.

Morning papers occupy a position of unusual advantage for handling most of the news of the world. More especially in this time of the European war. The real difference in time is all in favor of the morning paper, for there is the censor to be dealt with and there are many vexatious delays which cause afternoon papers to miss the big things which the morning papers get by virtue of their commanding position in regard to hours of publication.—Houston Post.

With one exception every big "break" so far in the war news from Europe has appeared first in the evening papers. That exception was the declaration of war on Germany by England, which took place at eleven o'clock in London Tuesday night. In practically every other instance the big news has been first in the evening papers, and the morning publications have had to content themselves with rehashing and amplifying the news published in their afternoon rivals. European time is from four to six hours ahead of Texas time. The Times goes to press at four o'clock, which is eight o'clock in London, nine o'clock in Paris and ten o'clock in St. Petersburg. The evening paper is published while history is in the making. Readers of The Times, especially those who read the morning papers also, know just how fallacious the Post's claim is. The Post is whistling to keep up its courage.

Tomorrow was the day set for the great railroad strike, and had it not been for this European war the chances are that the strike would have taken place as scheduled, as both the railroads and the employees—the engineers and firemen—were determined in their purpose. But when President Wilson appealed to them to settle their differences without bringing on a great industrial struggle just at this time—at a time when the welfare of the Nation is fraught with so many uncertainties—they yielded to the President's entreaties, and their differences, whatever they are or might be, will be arbitrated. The merits of their dispute need not at this time be gone into. Whether the engineers and firemen are being over-worked and underpaid, or whether they, as union men, are already well paid—better perhaps, than any other class of work men, as contended by the railway managers—is a matter that can and doubtless will be settled later on in a more satisfactory way. Had the threatened strike taken place, business of every kind would have suffered. There is no doubt but that the President was voicing the sentiment of the people when he appealed to the contending factions to settle their differences without a strike. It was a plain case of where the people's interests demanded consideration first, and that the railroad and their employees were willing, to the time being at least, to overlook their personal interests in such a time as this, is to the credit of both.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD.

Is it to be a war for supremacy between the German and the Slav? No polemic predicted that the world some day would be all Cossack or all Red public. Was Napoleon a prophet? Fort Worth Record.

What does this great war cloud that hangs over Europe foreshadow? Al ready the lightning is flashing and the thunder ominous. The Slavonic and Teutonic races and their allies are facing each other and skirmishing to position in one of the greatest armed conflicts the world has ever known. Will it sweep aside the rule of King and dethrone Emperors. Will it weaken and exhaust nations of Europe in the end arise from the bloody battlefields and proclaim them selves Republics? Or, will these as fons, whose boasted civilization caused their rulers to sign treaties of arbitration; and as members of the Hague convention ratify their willingness to settle international disputes in a court of justice—will they listen to the humane appeal of President Wilson and call their "dogs of war" off?

The changing of the map of Europe hangs in the balance. The beginning and ending of the great battle of Armageddon may be fought, and the closing scenes of political ambitions buried in the ruins of the nations of the world.

Who can predict the end? OBSERVER.

RESISTANCE BY BELGIANS

enthusiasm here is extraordinary. Thousands of women of all classes have been enrolled as Red Cross nurses. King Albert has handed over his palace to the Red Cross society and the queen will act as a nurse.

Boy Scouts Take Part. Belgian boy scouts while patrolling yesterday captured a German cavalryman and arrested two German engineers believed to be spies.

Stories of the great struggle between the Belgian troops and the German soldiery yesterday in the vicinity of Liege tell of terrific slaughter among the German forces. At about noon yesterday the German infantry attempted to carry by assault Fort Marchon to the northeast of Liege.

Attacking infantry crept up under the cover of a heavy artillery fire but the Belgians reserved their fire until the Germans were at a close quarters. At a given signal the Belgians opened with a perfect hail of bullets from rifles and machine guns which worked havoc among the Germans.

The attackers soon lay in heaps of dead and wounded around the fort.

At the same time Fort Schudenfontaine to the southeast of Liege kept up a hot fire on another gody of Germans who had seized a neighboring castle. The Belgian artillery reduced the building to a mass of smoking ruins.

The Germans finally retired all along the line. One newspaper says the German losses amount to between 4000 and 5000 men, while they abandoned seventeen machine guns. A squadron of Belgian Lancers according to another report was completely wiped out after it had killed 150 German Uhlans. A force of 20,000 Germans passed through Manhay Luxembourg on Wednesday in the direction of Aywaille, Belgium.

MORE GERMAN TROOPS ARE ADVANCING ON LIEGE

By Associated Press. London, Aug. 6.—A dispatch to the "Tribune" from Amsterdam says it is reported that 2500 Germans were killed or wounded in the fighting at Liege, Belgium. The postmaster of the town was shot because he refused to send telegrams for the Germans, the correspondent says. The German crown prince, with 30,000 additional troops, is hourly expected before Liege. The Daily Mail's correspondent at Brussels reports that a German aeroplane flying at a height of 1400 feet was brought down by a shot which also wounded the pilot. A Zeppelin airship manned by a German was struck by the fire from a Belgian fort and fell near Yser. Hundreds of automobiles left Brussels during the night to pick up the wounded. The first prisoner of war brought in was a German captain named Forner who was wounded. A dispatch to the Times from St. Petersburg says that ten German steamers with coal and timber were seized at Archangel.

AMERICANS IN LONDON CAN'T CASH CERTIFICATES

By Associated Press. London, Aug. 6.—Many Americans today asked for help to obtain food and lodging. There were many instances of persons with gold certificates in their pockets walking the streets all night hungry. Some of these were relieved by small unsecured loans from H. C. Hoover of California, who spent most of the day working to obtain a rate of exchange for American bills. The rate is now exorbitant.

TWENTY OF WRECK'S DEAD IDENTIFIED

HEAVY FATALITIES WHEN PASSENGER TRAIN STRIKES MOTOR CAR

GASOLINE FLOODS PASSENGERS

By Associated Press. Joplin, Mo., Aug. 6.—The thirty-eight killed and two score injured in last night's wreck at Tipton Ford, ten miles from here, when a Kansas City Southern passenger train collided with a Missouri & North Arkansas railroad gasoline motor car were brought here today.

Many of the dead and injured were badly burned by the explosion of the gasoline tank on the motor car. The motor crew evidently misunderstood the orders to meet the passenger at Tipton Ford for it ran past the station without stopping. A mile south of the town it met the passenger head-on.

The wreck was said by railroad officials to be the first in the fifteen years history of the railroad gasoline motor car in the United States to cause heavy loss of life, that was due primarily to the type of car. The huge gasoline supply tank burst, saturating the imprisoned passengers. Then the gasoline caught fire.

Victims in Smoking Car. Loubre Eichelman of Dewey, Okla., a twelve year old boy attempted to break away from his rescuers when he found his mother was missing. He had been in the extreme rear of the motor car and was thrown to one side by the shock.

Bodies of many of the dead were almost consumed by the fire and many persons pinned beneath wreckage sustained severe burns. Complete identification of the dead will have to await lists of those who escape. Twenty of the thirty-eight bodies had been identified today.

The dead and injured, nearly all Missourians, were passengers of the motor. The smoking compartment contained the largest number of victims. Of fourteen men in the smoking car only one is said to have escaped. None of the train passengers was killed.

P. A. makes men smoke hungry. Just you get a whiff of "the national joy smoke" and it's dollars to doughnuts you beat it 'cross lots to the nearest store that sells tobacco—and stock up! The flavor and aroma of Prince Albert has got 'em all backed off the boards. It sure will hit the spot with you. Get the drift of that? PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke. Just does all that we say it will do. It can't bite your tongue and it can't parch your throat. All this is because P. A. is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite! Why, this process has simply revolutionized smoking tobacco. Prince Albert rolls up the bulliest makin's cigarette you or any other man ever smoked. It puts the jolt of joy right into your system. You can just do "makin's" sunrise to sunset and have a lot of fun. Why, P. A. in a cigarette is absolutely a revelation. You go to it! Buy Prince Albert everywhere in the lumpy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; also in pound and half-pound tins.

Austria-Hungary is placed under martial law. Monday, July 27.—Sir Edward Grey, English foreign secretary, proposes a conference of representatives of the powers at London to compose the situation or at least to localize the fight. The Serbian minister left Vienna. Greece pledged her assistance to Serbia. Tuesday, July 28.—Austria formally declares war on Serbia. Germany and Austria decline Sir Edward Grey's invitation. Wednesday, July 29.—Austria, Serbia and Russia begin mobilization. British fleet sails under sealed orders. Patriotic demonstrations take place in Paris and St. Petersburg. Stock exchanges close in European financial centers. Thursday, July 30.—Germany sends ultimatum to Russia giving twenty-four hours in which to reply as to Russia's intentions in mobilizing on her western border. Austrian troops invade Serbia. Tuesday, August 4.—England declares war upon Germany late in the day when Germany fails to explain her position with regard to maintaining Belgian neutrality; earlier in the day England had sent a note to Germany asking what that country's intentions were with reference to the neutrality of Belgium which German troops had entered. Germany replied that while she expected to use Belgium as a military passageway but would not annex any territory. This reply was considered unsatisfactory by England. Germany sought by diplomatic representations and otherwise to place the blame for the conflict upon Russia and France, claiming that the first hostile acts had been committed by those nations. English mobilization begins. Wednesday, August 5.—England rushes preparations for armed conflict. German troops invade Belgium, Holland and Switzerland. Austria withdraws troops from Serbia to defend herself against Russia. United States tenders her services in the interest of peace.

OLDER SALE AT ELECTRA RESULTS IN INDICTMENTS

While the jury was out deliberating on a verdict in the case of Fred W. Rhodes of Electra, charged with violating the prohibition laws, preparations were being made in the district court this afternoon to try Mr. Rhodes on two other indictments of the same character. It was shown that Mr. Rhodes sold cider to customers at Electra. The state claimed that this cider was something else besides apple juice and sought to show by witnesses that it had an intoxicating effect. One witness admitted that after seven or eight drinks of the "cider" he felt somewhat. Witnesses mentioned having seen an internal revenue license posted on the wall of Mr. Rhodes place of business.

SOUTH IS REASSURED AS TO COTTON CROP OUTLOOK

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 6.—According to telegrams received by New York banks and bankers today, cotton planters in the South are much alarmed over the foreign situation in its relation to their interest. Some of the telegrams stated in substance that a continuance of the war would reduce the demand for cotton by fully thirty-five per cent. In response to one of the communications, A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National Bank sent the following telegram to Congressman Oscar Underwood at Washington: "The South is unnecessarily alarmed over the prospective reduction in the demand for and price of cotton, in view of the general European war. European manufacturers may not require the usual amount of cotton but American manufacturers will require it. It is inevitable that all overseas trade of Germany will be at the mercy of any nation which first seeks it and of all nations the United States is in the best position to take and hold the trade. First liberalize our shipping laws; there will be no embargo on the commerce of the Pacific. Our cotton should go abroad not as raw material but as a finished product and when the war is over we should hold largely the trade that is now waiting to fall into our hands."

Market Reports

Chicago Futures. By Associated Press. Chicago, Aug. 6.—Readiness with which wheat offerings were absorbed had a bullish effect today on wheat. At first, however, prices seemed to waver on account of selling by receiving houses here. Weakness was chiefly noticeable in the nearby delivery, September, after opening 1 3/8 lower to 1 1/4 advance the market overcame all the losses and in the deferred options scored net gains that amounted to 1 1/2. Expected rains in the domestic drought zone weakened corn at the outset, but a decided rally ensued when wheat turned strong; besides eastern cash demand was again of an urgent character. The opening was the same as last night to 7-8 lower, and was followed by a substantial advance all round. Trading on oats was quite limited; values were governed mainly by the action of the corn market. The wheat market later reacted almost as fast as it had advanced. Close was weak. Missouri dispatches of crop damage by hot winds added to sentiment for higher corn prices. Close unsettled. Prices: Wheat—September, 91-1-8; December, 96-1-2; Corn—September, 74-1-2; December, 67-5-8; Oats—September, 28-1-8; December, 67-5-8.

Most Disastrous Year Financially In History Of Major League Ball.

New York, August 5.—With the season more than half over, it seems a certainty that the majority of the magnates in the National, American and Federal Leagues will suffer losses that may reach a total of $2,000,000, while the minor league losses will add probably $500,000 to $750,000 to that sum.

The year 1914 will be written on the pages as the most disastrous in the history of the National game, due to small attendance, huge salaries and many postponed games.

But in what a different spirit do the magnates take these losses! In the American and National Leagues, where the majority of owners have been used to reaping in huge profits each year, the losses prove and fret them and cause them to utter harsh sounding words ever and anon. The magnates in the Federal League, however, take their losses laconically—almost cheerfully. They entered into the baseball business knowing they would lose money in their first year out. So it is no surprise or disappointment to find the outlay larger than the income. In fact, they seem gleeful over the fact that their losses are not as large as they had anticipated.

In the National League only the Giants seem to have made money up to this writing, and their earnings so far are said to be only half of those for the same period in the past three years.

If the Cubs can keep up their present pace and act as runners up for the leaders, they may get through the season with only a small loss or may even break a few thousand dollars ahead of the game. This condition was not thought possible six weeks ago because the Cubs were in a rut and the Windy City fans had declared a boycott on them. But since they have performed a "come back" the fans are flocking to see the Chicago athletes in action again.

Despite the game fight being made by the Cardinals and their high position in the race during the first three months, it is unlikely that they will escape without a loss. But it will be less than the Cardinal owners expected when the Reds invaded the town.

The Reds drew well when they were considerably among those present, but since they slumped the attendance, both at home and abroad, has been small and Garry Herman's hand looks to lose $25,000 or so.

The Pirates made money earlier in the year, but since the slump the fans have quit paying money to look them over and Barney Dreyfuss may have to suffer a $50,000 loss for this year. The Dodgers will be certain losers. The total may reach $1,000,000. They haven't been in the race from the outset have not drawn well either at home or on the road and the pay roll is top heavy.

The Boston Braves are another team that has a top heavy pay roll and whose receipts have been pitifully small from the outset of the season. The Hub City fans expected much of the Braves—went so far as to hope they would mix in the world series games. But the Braves got away to a miserable start and they can't seem to hit their stride.

The Phillies have been doing better in an attendance way than was looked for at the beginning of the season when the Reds seemed to have wrecked their club. But even at that the Phillies will do well if they quit the season under a $40,000 loss. The home town fans attended in fairly large numbers when the season first opened and the Phillies showed surprising form, but since the slump it's a different story.

In the American League the Naps will suffer most. The Cleveland fans have quit them cold. The Naps are not drawing on the road and the combination of miserable attendance and huge salaries may set the Nap owners back about $150,000.

The Yankees also will be certain losers, but they may escape with $50,000 or $75,000 owing to the fact that they drew fairly well early in the season and that no matter what their position in the race they usually can draw a nice crowd of from 3000 to 5000 at home. That's the fine feature of being in a town where there are so many transient fans.

The closeness of the race among the other six teams in the league may cause two of three of the first teams to escape with only a small loss. Earlier in the year it looked as if the Browns, Red Sox and White Sox were due for losses of from $50,000 to $75,000 each owing to Federal competition in Chicago and St. Louis and the fact that the Bostonians seemed to be out of the fight.

But the persistence with which the Browns and White Sox keep near the top and the great spurt of the Red Sox has increased the recent attendance to such a point that the early losses may be partially overcome.

Connie Mack's team has been leading nearly all the way, but Connie Mack's bank account won't be fattened much. The fans in Philadelphia seem apathetic. The attendance this year at the home games has averaged less than for the last four years and on the road the Athletics are not drawing overly well. The Athletics will make money, but it won't be much.

The Tigers and Senators, if they can keep in the fight, will clear a little on the season—probably $25,000 for each. Both have big pay rolls this year and in both towns the fans are not coming out in as great numbers as they did in other years when the teams were in the fight.

In the Federal League it seems certain that each club will lose money. No individual estimate can be made, but it looks as if the collective loss to eight clubs will be in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The estimate is arrived at in this way. The Feds have about two hundred and fifty men under contract. Some of these men are getting salaries from $5,000 to $12,000 a year. But many of the others—recruits—are drawing only around $1800 to $2400, making $3500 the average salary for all the players—a rather high average—it means that the managers will have to pay out $875,000 in salaries. Adding to this another $575,000 to cover the cost of traveling expenses, interest on the investment in stands, salaries to officers, etc., it brings the total outlay up to $1,550,000.

The Feds play 154 games. That means four combats each day for 154 days or 616 games during the season. Allowing 2500 as the paid attendance for each of these games it would bring the total attendance to 1,540,000. With the average paid attendance at 50 cents it would mean that the Feds would take in through the gate about $770,000 during the year, giving the whole league a net loss of $780,000, or about $100,000 each.

These figures may do a certain injustice to the Federal Leaguers because they may show the outlay larger than it really is, and the receipts smaller. But they are given from the best estimates available.

Some of the clubs in the Federal League will lose more than others. The Kansas City, Pittsburg, Indianapolis and St. Louis leaguers just now seem destined to suffer larger losses than the others. The losses in the other four cities will not be large.

BOSTON IS SURPRISE OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

BRAVES' SHOWING THIS SEASON HAS BEEN ALL TO THE GOOD

GIANTS FACE STRENUOUS DAYS

McGraw Has Not Yet Copped His Fourth Consecutive Pennant. Maskmen Going Strong

New York, Aug. 5.—They were a long time doing it, but that fact does not take anything away from the feat of the Boston Braves in making good for all those who had kind words to say for them in the pre-season chapter back in March and April. Hiking ones, self from the hold to the middle deck with prospects of grabbing a better berth later on shows they must be considerably classier than about. On their last western trip the Braves hung up a record for the league in their climb to the first division. Pittsburg is Boston's only rival insofar as a speedy switch in standing is concerned only the Pirates made their record dash in the opposite direction.

It was everlastingly keeping at it that finally brought the Braves out of the ruck. They played with all the baseball luck against them at the opening of the season and simply could not lose their flux. Johnny Evers jawed just as hard over decisions, however, as if the team were fighting for the lead. The rest of the gang kept going and on the last swing they swept through like a prairie fire leaving nothing but ruins and ashes in their wake. George Stallings isn't through, either. He has his eye fixed on a higher spot than fourth place, which spot the Braves occupied and had marked with their initials when they finished the last invasion of the West. He has every expectation of keeping the team going and even of giving the Giants a battle through August and September.

Incidentally McGraw should extend Stallings a vote of thanks. It was while the Giants were showing signs of withering up and blowing away that the Braves started on their rampage. McGraw's men were hammered and almost massacred in St. Louis and they tottered through the Cub series with a fifty-fifty break. It was an uncertain outlook, but the Braves were walloping teams that might have benefitted by the Giant's hesitation and McGraw's lead remained intact. Just as long as the Braves kept hammering the other clubs and the Giants stick to their gun, McGraw will be drawing nearer and nearer the goal of his ambition, a goal no other manager has yet reached—a fourth consecutive pennant.

The Giants appear to be primed for their drive into the stretch. The harder part of the pennant fight is still ahead. Through the withering days of August and on through September and early October the old rep begins to ooze and the eye to show signs of desiring to wobble away from the fast ones.

But the return from the western invasion found McGraw's pitching staff in its best form. Matty Tressand and Marquard had hit the old winning gait and the prospects appear rony for McGraw.

With the old Maxian strength asserting itself, the Athletics have asserted their way towards the world's series swing. Each uprising of other clubs has, in a measure, only served to build up the ramparts a little bit higher around Connie Mack. Tearing loose in reckless fashion the New York Yankees showed new life in mid-July. They peeled the hide off the Tiger from Detroit and nailed it high on Coogan's Bluff. This all but put the kibosh on the Bostonians crew. The Yanks cut them down without mercy. The rampage of the White Sox which died away with an easy wheeze also helped Mack along, for the Callahanites had broken when they finally met Mack. Washington appears not to have all the stuff needed to give Philadelphia a fight. The Boston Red Sox, it looks now, are the only ones who will be contenders.

AMERICAN EXPORTERS WILL LOSE HEAVILY IN EUROPE

Cannot Get Ships, Markets Are Demoralized and Insurance Rate is Prohibitive

New York, Aug. 5.—Millions of dollars in possible profit will be lost to American manufacturers and exporters through inability to reach European markets during the coming crop year, according to prominent shippers who have already analyzed the situation.

Lack of American bottoms for the carrying of cargoes, the complete paralysis of freight trade in foreign bottoms and the certainty of hazardous blockades of the ports of warring countries are the three primary reasons for the stoppage of America's export trade. The fourth, which is an effective barrier in itself, is inability to secure insurance even at ruinous rates.

Reposed the loss of profit it is freely admitted in the export trade that many firms which are not strongly entrenched and prepared to weather a crisis will be forced out of business by the tie-up. Shipments from the interior designed for consignment to Europe are due to arrive in New York every day for a week. They must be paid for at once, leaving the exporters with unmarketable products on their hands. As the shipping situation stands today it is impossible to ship a bushel of grain or a pound of food products out of New York to a German, French or Russian market.

Within seven days unless relief is obtained millions of bushels of bread stuffs, alone, will pile up on New York docks. Exporting firms are stopping shipments from the interior whenever possible, but in many instances it is too late. Elevators and warehouses are already crowded with grain designed for European markets. Unless the tension is relieved almost immediately it must be sold here.

Kenneth J. Muir, president of Muir & Co., of the Produce Exchange, one of the largest shippers of grain on the Atlantic coast—said that his firm was stopping every shipment from the interior that can be held up.

"We see no prospect of getting the stuff away," said Mr. Muir, "and don't want to have it on our hands here. We have ordered several thousand bushels of grain designed for Germany, Belgium and Holland halted inland. We find it impossible to obtain reasonable insurance rates even if we could find vessels. Agents simply refuse to quote any figures that can be touched."

Other big concerns realizing the danger of the situation are trying to bring about some arrangement whereby it can be determined at once just what will be declared contraband of war by nations engaged in the conflict. It is pointed out that if all grain is pronounced contraband it will be impossible to ship a single bushel by regular means. Ship owners will be found to take all sorts of risks, of course, but the quantity carried in this way will be only a drop in the bucket.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

APPLE TRADERS AND GROWERS HOLDING ANNUAL CONVENTION

Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—The convention dinner at the Hotel Copley Place this evening was the big event on today's program of the twentieth annual gathering of the International Shippers' Association. Between 200 and 300 members of the organization who are here from all sections of the country spent today in a brief business session and in sight-seeing tours to the many spots of historic interest about the Hub.

Texas, Oklahoma and California delegates vied with each other today in their efforts to get the 1915 convention of the organization. Although California had the promise of an interesting session during the Panama-Pacific fair, Texas put in a strong argument in favor of the Lone Star State. Colorado delegates put up a strong fight today for the next year's meeting. They want it held either at Denver or Colorado Springs. The convention closes tomorrow.

HISTORY OF THE REVENUE CUTTER

One hundred and twenty-four years ago George Washington signed the Congressional Act which established the United States Revenue Cutter Service. It thus became the first maritime force of the American Republic. Fifteen months later there were ten revenue cutters afloat, officered by veterans of the old Continental Navy. These vessels constituted the only armed force afloat belonging to the United States for the following six years. Their duties were to patrol the coast, extending in those days from Maine to Georgia, to prevent smuggling and to enforce the few maritime laws existing in the United States. Organized under the treasury department, it remained in the discretion of the president to send them to war under the navy. Fighting French privateers in 1798, the revenue cutters captured eighteen of the twenty-two prizes taken by the United States. In the war of 1812 they captured the first prize ship and fought gallantly throughout the war. They fought in the Mexican war, one of the cutters accompanied the naval expedition against Paraguary in 1858. During the Civil War, they fought with the navy and helped to maintain the blockade of southern ports. In the Spanish-American war, a revenue cutter accompanied Dewey into Manila Bay, while the crew of another won Congressional medals for its spectacular rescue of Ensign Bagley's helpless torpedo boat at Cardenas, Cuba. Today forty-three armed cutters, tugs and launches, manned by 1,728 officers and enlisted men, are scouring the seas as Uncle Sam's watch-dogs of the sea. The majority are stationed along the coast of the United States ready to steam where duty calls. One may be going to sea to blow up a derelict that has become dangerous to navigation; another searching a ship for smuggled goods or examining her sailing papers; while a third may be on the way to suppress mutiny or piracy or to enforce neutrality laws of American ports. The revenue cutter officer is empowered to enforce nearly every law bearing upon the maritime interests. They protect the seal fisheries of Alaska, and patrol the coast in search of vessels in distress during the winter months. Under a recent regulation they patrol the transatlantic lane of travel to warn all vessels of any nation of the danger of floating icebergs, such as the one that sank the Titanic. They enforce quarantine regulations; they patrol the coasts of four Southern States which were suffering under an epidemic of yellow fever in 1905. They penetrate to the Arctic regions to bring success to abandoned whaling ships. It was in 1874 that a cutter raced through a thousand miles of ice packs to rescue whalers frozen in at Point Barrow before they starved to death.

The STORE of TODAY

To throw the spot light on any average business street of our country, will reveal many average stores. The store of today, however, will always stand alone, even though it be in the group.

This is as it should be, for modern methods of retailing require that a store be something more than a trading place, and the modern demand of the 5c and 10c business requires that a Kress store be something more than just a 5, 10 and 25c store.

This is just what the Kress store means to any community. A department store in miniature, with a price limit of 25c gives a definite picture of Kress' Wichita Falls store.

SATURDAY MORNING, 8:30 O'CLOCK OPENING SALE IN OUR NEW STORE.

The EYES OF The WORLD

Illustrated by F. Graham Cootes. Price $1 35

A real romance with wholesome action, plot, counterplot, mystery and love. The vigor of "That Printer of Udell's," the sweetness of "The Shepherd of the Hills," the power of "The Calling of Dan Matthews," the grace of "The Winning of Barbara Worth" and the ripe thought of "Their Yesterdays" are all women into the most delightful story this author has yet written. "The Eyes of the World" will have a tremendous influence for cleaner, more powerful books. All lovers of decency will be grateful to the author for the powerful blow at the present day evils.

Mother's Prayer

My son don't forget me. When comrades insist, and sin tempts you to forgetfulness, go to my lonely grave and remember all that I taught thee.

How many dying prayers go unheeded? Count the neglected graves the forgotten mounds, the nameless graves and then should you have a neglected loved one, remember something good they did in life. It will make you a better man or woman. You will perform a sacred duty if you will remember them with a substantial MEMORIAL. Try the dealer in Wichita Falls. I can help you, and you will be surprised at the nominal cost for high grade work.
