"At the moment the German main force comes in contact with our troops our allies will of vast proportions. It is well known by now that the Germans anticipated the decisive defeat of the French so that they might immediately follow up such success by a battle against our allies.

"It is also well known that they counted on the slow mobilization of the Russian forces and upon disrutbances in Poland to gain time for their arms. The emperor, however, by his promise to give autonomy to Poland has obtained the fidelity of the Poles and Russian mobilization has been accomplished with remarkable rapidity. The censorship put into effect by the British authorities over the movements of the English armed forces afloat and in Belgium is effective to a remarkable degree. Not one word of news has come through for several days concerning British naval or military activities.

Censored dispatches from Brussels and Paris have frequently referred to the presence of British troops arrayed against the forces of Germany, but not one word has been allowed to come from any source to indicate what the numerical strength of the British field army may be or where the units may be located. Equal secrecy shrouds movements of the British warships, believed to be holding the German fleet in check in the North Sea.

Not one word has come through of the position of any British or German battleship, cruiser or torpedo boat in these waters. So far as the general public is concerned nothing is known of naval activities.

TO PASS WAREHOUSE LAW

Will Convene In Special Session At Austin At Ten O'clock Next Monday Morning

ONLY ONE SUBJECT SUBMITTED BY GOVERNOR

Says Regular Session Will Not Meet Time To Provide Relies For Present

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, August 17.—Governor Colquitt today called a special session of Texas' legislature to convene next Monday.

The special session is called for the purpose of passing a bonded warehouse bill to aid the cotton raisers of Texas.

The session is to be held for the specific purpose of passing an adaquate law providing for the establishment of public and bonded ware houses in Texas so that the farmers may so their cotton and other products. This is the only subject mentioned in the call and the governor said it was not his present intention to submit at er matters but he would not commit nimself, as he declared he wolud be guided by the exigencies of the situation.

He proposes to put the subject up to the Legislature as he considers it very critical at this time. It is understood the governor favors a measure such as was recommended by the Farmers Union at its last meeting in Fort Worth. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, on account of the lack of storage facilities in this state, many hundred thousand bales of cotton are stored in open yards, resulting in loss and damage to the owners estimated in Texas for the last season at several million dolars and on account of the unexpected war between the nations of Europe which consume annually over forty-five per cent of the cotton crop of the United States, the market for cotton is greatly curtailed, thus making some provision for storing and holding cotton in good condition and enabling the owners to borrow money on it at reasonable rates, impertaive.

"There being no adequate law providing for public expense by the cities and towns of the state or by individuals and corporations under bond tifies an extra session of the Legislature of Texas to act upon this very important matter. Before the meeting of the regular session of the Thirtyfourth Legisclature the cotton crop will have been picked and prepared for market. To delay action therefore would result in great loss and injury to the cotton producers and the public generally.

"Now, therefore, being desirous in every way possible to aid and assist the producer of agricultural products and provide facilities for storing and holding the products of the farm, I do herely call the Legislature to convene at the capitol in the city of Austin, beginning at ten o'clock a. r Monday, August 24, 1914, for the following pu poses, to-wit:

1. The enactment of an adequate law pro viding for a system of public warehouses and for the enactment of an adequate law providing for a system of bonded warehouses in which the agricultural products of this state may be stored and safely kept under public guarantee or public bond.

"2. To consider and act upon such other matters as may be presented by the governor, pursuant of Section 40, Article 3, of the Constitution of Texas. (Signed)

> "O. B. COLQUITT. "Governor of Texas."

Victims of Sin. Like Judas, Receive Little From Those Who Led Them Astray

Speaking on the subject, "The Selfishness of Sin," Rev. C. C. Smith at the First M. E. Church Sunday evening took occasion to deliver a sharp arraignment of some present day institutions, including the saloon. text was from Matthew 27:4. He

"Sin is utterly selfish. Many men whose lives sin largely predominates are as big-hearted, and on occasions can be what we sometimes call benevolent. But single out their sinful acts and find their motive and it will prove to be selfish. Selfishness is unquestionably sin and all sin in it an element of selfishness. Insofar as the spirit of Christ has had His way on the earth just to that degree are men free from selfishness. Sin is not only in essence selfish, but it selfishly disregard its victims. Judas, one of the twelve, the traitor to the Christ, went to the company of men whom he knew to be plotting to put the Christ to death and agreed with them to deliver Him into their hands thirty pieces of silver. These selfish men saw their chance and accordingly used Wudas as a tool Judas himself was wicked but he still had a conscience. He had not followed feebly to be rid of his remorse. SURPRISE SHOWER IS GIVEN MISS JESSIE KERR SATURDAY

One of the most pleasing of th many ante-nuptial courtesies shown Miss Jessie Kerr, a bride of the week was the surprise shower given Saturday by Miss Emma Childers and Mrs. Harry Robertson at the latter's Miss Kerr and hher mother went, as Miss Kerr thought, to pay a social call to Mrs. Robertson's sis ter. Miss Pattle Pritchett who is a visitor. After they had entered the house, the door of a room adjoining the parlor suddenly opened and lit tle Miss Mary Meredith, attired as minature bride, even to the veil and orange blossoms, entered, while the wedding march was played on he Victrola. The little bride bore a pasket, laden with gifts from the nembers of the Art Literature Club, who had been concealed in the other com trying to keep quiet, until ime was ripe for their appearance They followed the little gift-bearer nto the room and found much en oyment in the astonfshment of bride to be and in ber delight over he handsome presents which she ound in the basket. Later little pooks were passed to those present end a contest ensued to determine which could frame the largest numer of words from the letters com rising the word "marriage." VICTORIA THEATRE

ID OUR BIG INTRODUCTORY SALE WILL COME TO A CLOSE.

We want to thank the dozens of people who have become our customers and friends in our introductory piano sale in this city.

We advertised the greatest reductions in high grade pianos in the history of this city, and we made good. We could not have succeeded in selling the many car loads of pianos, and player pianos were it not for the fact that we are offering pianos at a saving of from $150.00 to $225.00. Our sales have been made to discriminating people. They called at our store and were convinced.

Do Not Burn Daylight

Remember we are offering inducements to introduce ourselves in Wichita Falls, and vicinity. You can now save just whatever amount your prize check calls for. Our prices will remain the same as they are now, but your prize check will expire in a few days, and after it does expire, we can not honor it. Do not wait, come in now and investigate. We will appreciate the investigation of the best musicians in this city.

Do Not Be Deceived

Do not let piano dealers, agents and others make you think your prize piano check is worthless, it is worth every dollar it calls for. We have offered a $1,000.00 reward to any one who would prove that those checks are worthless. No one has come to us for the reward. Come and let us prove to you that your check is worth one hundred cents on the dollar.

DAYLIGHT BANK ROBBERY

Two Men Cover Officers With Re volvers and Escape With Cash

By Associated Press.
Pittsburg, Aug. 17.—Two men en-tered the Homestead National Bank here today, covered officers with revolvers, took all available cash and escaped in an automobile. Only two officials were in the bank and several depositors when the two robbers entered. Both were heavily armed and commanded "hands up." While one covered the officers and patrons of the bank the other went behind the desk, scooped up all the cash in sight, jammed it hurriedly in a hand satchel and then the two with revolvers still drawn, backed out of the door. At the curb stood an automobile belonging to a preacher. Into this the robbers jumped and made their escape. The amount of money stoler was estimated at $2500 or $3000. The

Pianos at Bankrupt Prices

We have recently purchased a portion of a BANKRUPT piano stock at a great reduction in wholesale prices. These pianos, six in number, were in a two car load lot and were not unboxed until arriving at Wichita Falls, therefore they are not second hand and are without a single scratch or blemish. We propose to give six customers the advantage of this great reduction in price. They are standard articles and "ARTISTIC MUSICAL IN-STRUMENTS," not commercial pianos nor thump boxes. If you are in the market for an instrument don't fail to investigate our state-pleted at the Panana-Pacific international Exposition at San Francisco. Altogether there will be thisteen mala structures on Exposition grounds, and an Auditorium to sext 12,000 persons and to cent more than $1,300,000, construction at the civic center of the city.

The result of the work fulfills every expectation of the commission of famous architects to whom was entrusted the exposition design. To blend and fit in with the impressive natural sur-roundings of the site at Harbor View, the great hills that encircle the grounds on the south, and west, the harbor on the north, with its islands, and beyond the Golden Gate, it was planned to produce a single superb architectural design, and the plan has been carried out.

The Exposition grounds, which face the harbon for almost three miles, are occupied by three great groups of buildings. In the center are the exhibit palaces; upon the cast is the amusement section, and on the west and nearest the Golden Gate is the

and on the west and nearest the Golden Gate is the section devoted to the pavilions of the thirty-six beliefs that are to take part and of the states.

Prom the heights of Delvidere, four miles across San Erandsepharber, the vast copper-green domes of the main palaces, rising as high as the average twalve story city block, are seen to reach more than high way to the first rims of the great encircling hills at Harbor View. Glints of gold and jade and sapphire are splashed over the buildings in brilliant, riotous colors that, in the distance, melt together in a vast mosale. gether in a vast mosaic.

In the center group eight of the exhibit palaces are joined in a rectangle. Four of the buildings face upon a 400 feet wide esplanade upon San isco harbor and four face the South Garden's between the main group of buildings and the Exhe harbor from east to west are the palaces of Mines and Metallurgy, Transportation, Agricul-ture and Food Products. To the south, completing the group, are the palaces of Varied Industries, Manufactures, Liberal Arts and Education. The buildings are identical in height. Their architecture as seen from afar is also similar, and it is: only when one gets close at hand and within the courts that the divergences are are apparent.

the east is the Palace of Machinery, costing more than $600,000. This was the first of the Exposition palaces to be completed. Its interior arrangement consists of three north and south atsles, each 136 feet in height and 76 feet in width, extending the entire length of the building, 967.8 lest. Three transverse alses, each 126 feet long and 75 feet wide, run east and west through the center, intersecting the north and south aisles.

Flanking the group upon the west is the Palace of Fine Arts, which is separated from the groups by a Fine Arts, which is separated from the groups by a lagoon which it partly envelops and which is bordered by flowers, abrubbery and trees, giving the effect of a forest lake in the tropics, fringed with rich shrubbery and palms. The building describes an are 950 feet in length and its area is 205,000 feet, or nearly five acres. The Palace of Fine Arts is of steal and concrete and is fire and burgiar proof.

Opposite the Palace of Education, in the South Gardens, is the great Palace of Horticulture. This huge structure covers approximately five acres and

During the Exposition the half-globe will be planted with flowers of all kines. At night the dome will become one of the most spectacular features of the Exposition. anleidoscopic lights from within will play upon the rises, giving the giant sphere the effect of a huge ridescent scap bubble. South of the Palace of twenue lie three great courts of honor, the walls of Varied Industries and also in the South Gardens, restival Hall, a rendezvous for conventions in 1915, a under construction.

Festival Hall, a rendezvous for conventions in 1915, is under construction.

The eight exhibit palaces forming the rectangle are divided by three avenues running north and south and one east and west. At the intersection of the east and west avenue with the north and south the four buildings surrounding each court being identical to form the oval of the court. In the center of the group is the great Court of the Universe; on the west paralleling the Court of the Universe; in the Court of the Four Seasons, and on the east is the Court of Abundance. Vast colonnades encircle the courts, running from their openings on San Francisco harbor back to the courts themselves. From almost any folk of view, the visitor while traversing the sourts will gain flashing glimpses of the blue harbon between the lofty colonnades.

The Court of the Universe is 750 feet in width by 900 feet long and resembles somewhat in shape the great plaza approaching the Church of St. Peter at Rome. The effect of the court is magnificent. Corinthical columns encircle it. The walls of the palaces behind the columns are colored a burnt seana, while the vaults of the corridors are ultramarine plue. The columns are the shade of the suchibit palacea, a faint lyory yellow, the color of imitation Travertine stone. The columns of the Court of the Four Seasons are Roman lonic, modified with a touch of modern detail. This court is 340 feet square and opens to the north on San Francisco harbor by a colonnaded avenus 473 feet long and 173 feet in width. Through a rassage in a greet niche or half-dome at the south end of the court it opens into the Court of the Palms.

The east court, or Court of Abundance, is similar in size and shape to the Court of the Four Seasons. An arcade, dominated by a great Oriental tower, 270 feet in height, upon the north avenue of the court, ascircles the court. Between the courts along the intersecting east and west avenue are great open patios where the ornamentation of the walls of the palaces is very lavish. The paties are cut off from the course by huge columnades, so that such presents a distinctive scheme of color and decoration. The prevailing decoration of these vast open aisles is Pompeian with shades of green and terro cotta, of robin's egg blue and Venetian red, blending in marvelous mosaics.

The outside walls of the central group of eight palaces forms an almost continuous facade. Throughout its entire circuit of the group its circuit is unbroken save by the huge and highly decorated portals and entrances to the exhibit palaces, by the openings of the courts upon San Francisco harbor and by the two other minor courts that open out upon the South Gardens.

Gardens.

Throughout the circuit of the vast sneireling facades there is regularity in the architecture. In the walls of the stately palaces are green latticed windows with a wealth of gold and terra cotta showing behind the network of the green. The windows recall those of the great monasteries. Repeated groups of statuary, lofty Corinthian and Jonic columns, stately portals and a profusion of ornamental trees, some of them fifty feet in height, and abrubes.

umns, stately portals and a profusion of ornamental trees, some of them fifty feet in height, and shrubs contrast with the prevailing ivory tint, the walls lending life and beauty to the ensemble.

And in this great shell, which is to house the exhibits of the world, will the world's progress be worthily exemplified. Italy, which has appropriated $400,000 toward the exposition, was the last of the foreign nations to dedicate its site. Signor Ernesto Nathan, former Mayor of Rome, who visited San Nathan, former Mayor of Rome, who visited San Transisco as commissioner from Italy to the exposi-tion, promised that his country would make the finest display ever presented by Italy at a foreign exposi-

Although Germany will not participate officially, more than fourteen hundred of the leading manufactures of Germany will be represented, $125,000 is devoted to an exhibit of a single manufacturing industry, that of Potash, and the construction of the potash building has begun. Six hundred of the leading industries of Great Britain will combine in a collective display, despite the final refusal of the government to participate, Here is a list of the participating nations: Argentine Republic, Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, France, Guatemala, Haiti, Holland, Chile, Honduras, Raly, Japan, Liberia, Mexico, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Persia, Peru, Portugal, Salvador, Spain, Sweden Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela.

More than 230 great international congresses and conventions, at which more than 500,000 acredited delegates will assemble, have voted to meet in San Francisco in 1916. It is expected that fully 500 conventions will have decided to meet in San Francisco by the time the exposition opens. The delegates to these assemblages will come from every part of the globe, and leaders in art, science, industry and in the teaching of ethical propagands, will present in standardized form the results of the world's best efforts in recent years. A resume of the cotyections that have voted to meet in San Francisco discloses the following activities: Agricultural societies, 25; business, 20, educational, 21; fraternal, 37; genealogical, 7; Greek letter fraternities, 23; governmental and civic, 16; historical and literary, 5; industrial, 15; labor, 9; professional, 15; religious 9; scientific, 20; social service, 8.
