China Claims Landing Of Japanese Troops At Lung Chow Violates Her Neutrality

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 2.—The attention of the State Department was called today by the American consul at Chee Foo to the landing of several thousand troops by Japan at Lung Chow. This, the Chinese officials claim, is in violation of Chinese neutrality.

TURKISH AMBASSADOR HAS NO WORD FROM HIS GOVERNMENT

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 2.—The Turkish ambassador here said today he was unable to confirm the report that his country had declared war on Russia. He has not been in communication with his government for many days.

TURKEY EXPECTED TO DECLARE WAR ON GREECE WITHIN A FEW DAYS

By Associated Press.
London, 4:40 p. m., Sept. 2.—A Reuters dispatch conveys a semi-official statement to the effect that in well informed circles in St. Petersburg is believed certain that war between Turkey and Greece is only a question of two or three days. Numerous Turkish troops, the dispatch says, are occupying the fortifications at Chatalja and to the east of Scutari fortifications are being feverishly thrown up under the direction of German officers. General Leman Von Sanders will command strong Ottoman armies and Enver Bey will be commander in chief.

TURKEY HAS ALREADY MOBILIZED MORE THAN HALF MILLION MEN

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 2.—Probably more than 500,000 men have been mobilized in Turkey according to the statement of Turkish Ambassador A. Rustam Bey. He said:

"This operation is not meant to allow Turkey to attack Greece, her differences with Greece being the smallest concern. She has to prepare herself in view of other and much more important contingencies."

SENATOR M'NEALUS SCENTS CONSPIRACY

WOULD STOP CONSIDERATION OF MEASURES UNTIL SEPT 23 TO INVESTIGATE

COTTON MEN AND BANKERS

He Claims Are in Plot to Hold Down Price of Cotton—Legislative Proceedings

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Sept. 2.—Soon after the opening of the Senate today Senator McNealus introduced a resolution that further consideration of the warehouse bills be postponed until September 24 in order that the so-called financial conspiracy between the cotton buyers, the bankers and brokers can be investigated. In support of his resolution Senator McNealus advocated a moratorium law as a means to put an end to the conspiracy. He pointed out that cotton was selling for 13 cents in England, while in Texas it was selling at 7 cents. Gov. Colquitt sent two special messages to the Senate today, one containing the names of three prison commissioners and the other the names of other vacation appointments. In his message as to the prison commissioners he urged the confirmation of W. O. Murray, W. O. Stamps and S. J. Bess. He said he hoped politics would not enter into the matter.

After the defeat last night in the House of Representative Humphrey's amendment to the administration emergency bill Representative Llewelling offered an amendment to the bill which is no more than a substitute for the pending measure and appears designed to strengthen the present statute so as to meet the existing emergency. Speaking on his amendment he said there was no necessity for a new law only an amendment which would provide a negotiable cotton receipt. He predicted that no law would be passed at the present session.

The Llewelling-McKamy substitute bill was tabled by a vote of 77 to 30. This left the emergency bill still in the same shape as it came from the committee. Representative Jordan then offered his amendment which was being discussed when adjournment took place.

RUSSIANS ADMIT SEVERE REVERSE

LOSS OF TWO ARMY CORPS AND THREE GENERALS ANNOUNCED AT ST. PETERSBURG

FIGHTING IN STATE OF GALITIA

Battle Between Austrians and Russians There Continues With Unabated Fury

By Associated Press.
London, 10:20 a. m., Sept. 2.—Advices have been received here from Petrograd to the effect that the Russian general staff frankly confesses to disaster to two army corps including the loss of three generals. Telegraphing from St. Petersburg, the correspondent of the Times declares that the war reports given out by the headquarters staff at the Russian capital are rather meager but contrary to what is the case in Berlin and Vienna they are always true. That the headquarters will stick to this plan also when the news is bad is proved by the announcement of today.

Today's announcement indicates that other fortresses along the river Vistula besides Gornadz and Thorn have been sent reinforcements. The news arrived last night and was received by the people of Petrograd with firmness. General Samoniv, one of the Russian commanders killed, was considered one of Russia's most capable and brilliant generals. The other two lost commanders were General Martos and Hestich, attached to the general staff.

From Galitia the only news is that a fierce battle is still raging.

DENIES RUSSIANS HAVE REACHED KOENIGSBURG

Berlin Report Says Russian Remnants in Full Flight—Bitter Denial of Atrocities

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 2.—The German embassy received the following additional wireless from Berlin: "The news that German troops have left Brussels on account of the situation in East Prussia is wrong. The German administration in Brussels is active."

"The French official communication that the Russians have completely invested Koenigsburg is also a lie. The Russians never covered half the distance between the frontier and Koenigsburg and are now retreating eastward after the annihilation of three army corps."

"The Gazette del Popolano, a respectable paper, calls London a lie factory comparable with Shanghai during the Russo-Japanese war. This paper says Lord Churchill's declaration that a victorious Germany would expand in South America appears to be the climax of ridiculous calumny and an unscrupulous attempt to incense the friendly nations of both North and South America."

"The German soldiers returning from Belgium cruelly mutilated and increased the German peoples' anger against the revolting atrocities committed by non-combatants. Enormous excitement has been caused by the Belgian attempt to convince the world, with London and Paris, who are endless liars, as accomplices, that German soldiers committed atrocities at Louvain."

"The Socialistic German paper, Vorwarts, gives a shocking description of the wholesale assassination of the Germans by Belgian non-combatants. 'The Simplification, another publication, says the name of Belgium is the worst insult that could be inflicted upon civilized man.'"

VIOLATION CHINESE NEUTRALITY BY JAPAN IS CLAIMED

By Associated Press.
Peking, China, Sept. 2.—Japan has landed between 1,000 and 15,000 troops from eighteen transports at Lung Kow, a newly opened port about 100 miles north of Tsing Tai. This is declared here to have been done in violation of Chinese neutrality.

WANT GOVERNMENT TO BUY COTTON

RESOLUTION TO THIS END CERTAIN TO BE ADOPTED AT FARMERS' CONVENTION

APPROVAL FOR HENRY'S BILL

President Barrett Drew That Measure and It Will Likely Be Endorsed

By Associated Press.
Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 2.—The National convention of the Farmers' Union is expected to go on record this afternoon in favor of the government buying cotton as a relief to the present emergency along the line of the bill introduced in the National Congress Saturday by Representative Henry, which was drafted with the co-operation of President C. S. Barrett of the National Farmers' Union and has his entire approval. This action will be taken as soon as the two committees now working on the matter can get together.

"Most of the morning session was taken up by a discussion as to whether the matter should be handled by a permanent or a special committee. The provision for the purchase of cotton by the government through the regional banks as custodian seems sure to be incorporated in the joint report, but other details are yet to be worked out."

EARLY ADJOURNMENT SEEN

President Sees No Reason Why Congress Should Long Remain in Session

By Associated Press.
Washington, Sept. 2.—President Wilson personally will address Congress to ask that war revenue measures be passed to supplement the falling customs revenue. He may deliver the address tomorrow.

It is said that President Wilson sees no reason why Congress should remain in session after the emergency war revenue measures and trust legislation has been disposed of. President Wilson today signed the war insurance risk measure.

RUSSIANS BURIED 14,600 AUSTRIANS

FURTHER SUCCESSES IN GALITIA REPORTED FROM RUSSIAN CAPITAL

ADVANCE TOWARD LEMBERG

Austrian Attacks On South Front in Warsaw District Repulsed With Heavy Losses

By Associated Press.
Petrograd (St. Petersburg) via London, Sept. 2.—The following official announcement was made here today: "Our forces invading Galitia have continued their advance in the direction of Lemberg. The enemy fell back gradually before our troops. We captured some cannon, some rapid fire guns and some caissons. The pursuit continues."

"Near Gullia and Lipa the enemy occupied a strong position, of such natural strength that it was considered impracticable. They also yesterday attempted to stop our advance by a flanking attack in the vicinity of Haluz. We repulsed the Austrians, inflicting severe losses. We buried on the battlefield 14,600 Austrians, dead, captured a flag and 32 guns and a quantity of supplies and made many prisoners, including a general."

FOURTH DAY OF THE GREAT BATTLE FINDS GERMANS PRESSING ONWARD

BATTLE ON UPPER OISE

LIFTING OF CURTAIN IN BATTLE DRAMA SHOWS ALLIES FIGHTING DESPERATELY.

PLAYING FOR TIME

Gradual Withdrawal, Inflicting Heavy Losses On Enemy Seems Strategy of Allies.

By Associated Press.
London, Sept. 2.—A corner of the curtain over the battle drama in northwestern France has been momentarily raised. It shows the allies battling desperately to prevent the success of the German assault on the Upper Oise, less than fifty miles from Paris.

On the eastern front the Russian general staff frankly confesses to disaster to two army corps and the loss of three generals. Elsewhere the Russian arms seem to have triumphed. Galitia has been invaded and Lemberg soon will be evacuated, according to reports from the Russian war office. If this is true the Austrian menace to Russian Poland is at an end and the Russian forces can begin to converge for the march on Berlin.

The Russian objective in North Galitia apparently being Koenigsburg, whence they can march on Berlin via Breglau.

On the Upper Oise the British are fighting desperately to prevent the Germans from securing one of the most direct routes to Paris. News of this battle reaching here from two different sources is the first definite information since the end of the battle of Mons. The battle raged Sunday and Monday and by sheer weight of numbers the Germans secured a slight advantage.

Military experts point out that from the present position on the Upper Oise river the German advance will become increasingly difficult owing to the natural features of the country as well as the artificial defenses that will have to be encountered.

It is becoming evident that all along the western line the allies are playing for time in the hope that the German assault will become exhausted.

On the diplomatic side Germany is making renewed efforts to bring Italy into her camp by proclamation which cites that a victory by England and France will deprive Italy of all chance of dominating the Mediterranean.

The western coast of Belgium and the northwestern coast of France apparently are clear of Germans.

Antwerp has asked for an increased garrison. The town also experienced a shudder caused by another Zeppelin visit. The great Zeppelin was fired on and it departed without dropping any bombs.

RUSSIANS ANNIHILATE AN AUSTRIAN DIVISION

Take 4,000 Prisoners Including 100 Officers, Twenty Guns and Battle Flag

By Associated Press.
Petrograd (St. Petersburg) 8 p. m. Sept. 2.—The general staff announces that the Austrian fifteenth division was annihilated at Luchoff on August 28, and that 100 officers and 4,000 men were taken prisoners. The official statement adds that the commander of the Austrian division was among the prisoners, and that an Austrian flag was captured. Of the 4,000 men taken prisoners, 800 had been wounded. The Russians also captured 20 guns.

Tonight fair, cooler; Thursday fair.

ALLIES GIVE WAY SLOWLY WITH STUBBORN RESISTANCE

Both Austro-German And Russians Have Met With Reverses And Successes On East Line

The fourth day of the second general battle between the Germans and the allies finds Emperor Williams' forces pressing with unprecedented strength their advance on Paris.

The right wing is reported to be within 50 miles of the French capital.

In the absence of any official announcement news dispatches are authority that the British and French continue a stubborn resistance giving away slowly wherever required for strategic reasons and prevent an enveloping movement by the German right wing.

In the east the fighting progresses with unabated fury. Both the Russians and the Austro-German armies have met with successes and reverses.

It is admitted in Petrograd that two army corps were defeated in East Prussia and three Russian generals lost.

On the other hand the Austrians appear to have been defeated in Galitia where overwhelming successes are claimed by Russians. These reports are given color by a dispatch from Vienna which stated that the Austrians had decided to evacuate Lemberg, the capital of Galitia.

Official dispatches from Petrograd by way of London show evidence of having been closely censored in London.

The attitude of Turkey and Italy are anxiously awaited by the Allies.

A semi-official dispatch from St. Petersburg says that Turkish troops have landed on the shores of Asia Minor at Smyrna.

The Japanese foreign office has issued a statement complaining of the alleged unfair treatment of Japanese non-combatants in Germany.

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS THAT TURKEY HAS DECLARED WAR ON PRUSSIA

By Associated Press.
New York, Sept. 2.—Dow Jones and Co. today published the following on its news ticker: "London—Unconfirmed reports are current here that Turkey has declared war on Russia. Communication with Constantinople has been cut off for three days and the Turkish ambassador stated he had no way of telling when he would hear from his government again."

VULCANIZING TANK EXPLODES WINDOWS BROKEN 60 FEET AWAY

A more noisy than serious explosion occurred on Seventh street yesterday evening when the entire glass front was broken to bits by the shock which occurred when the vulcanizing tank located in the rear of the Western Auto Supply company's establishment exploded with a sound that quickly brought a great crowd of people to the place. It seems that the safety valve to the tank became locked in some fashion and it resulted in too much pressure, which caused the explosion. Carl and Noble Meade, two employees of the store, were there at the time, but escaped without injury. Besides the glass show windows in front, one section of a show case was broken in the store and several articles were shaken from their place. The damages amount to something like $100.

VETERAN POSTAL MAN TALKS ON SERVICE

BEN HILL OF DALLAS BELIEVES PROSPECTS GOOD FOR EMPLOYEES' PENSIONS

IN SERVICE TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Visits Brother and is Surprised and Delighted With Conditions in Wichita Falls.

Ben H. Hill, who has been connected with the Dallas postal service for the last twenty-five years, while taking a vacation paid a visit to his brother, Dr. J. W. Hill, of this city. Mr. Hill has watched the growth of Dallas from a comparatively small town along the banks of the Trinity to the magnificent metropolis which it now rightly claims to be. In an interview with a Times reporter before leaving for his home today, he said among other things:

"I am surprised and delighted with Wichita Falls and for the wonderful spirit of progress and pluck manifest on every side. It seems to me that there is no reason, if things are properly managed, that Wichita Falls should not be the largest city north-west of Fort Worth. Its climate is certainly delightful. This wind is great. I suspect it's a little colder along through January and February than we have it in Dallas, but this inconvenience is certainly balanced by other considerations, one of which is your bracing breeze.

"No, I don't know anything about the war in Europe, nor does anybody else. The censorship over there is just about as complete as it can be made. Of course, reporters must say something, but a man who looks for real facts finds comparatively few outside of the great, all-comprehensive fact that seven or eight nations are at it, man and tent. Yes, Mexico has gotten off the front page and occupies a position among the advertisements, next to Battle Axe tobacco, Bigbale and Peruny. Of course, they never will quit fighting over there. They never have quit. Every government for the last hundred years or more has had a little revolutionary fringe on the border of it, if nothing more than an occasional incursion by the Yaqui Indians. That people is an inferior race and their so-called civilization is merely a veneer. They are ignorant, superstitious, treacherous and lazy. In my opinion it will take at least three generations of Christian teaching to put them upon a plane equal to some of our negroes.

"We have had a bill before Congress for the last fifteen years to pension postoffice employees who had been in the service thirty years on half pay. The bill has passed the Senate two or three times, but has been knocked out in the House. The prospects now, however, are more encouraging and we older men are expecting a little piece of pie at the close of our efficiency terms. I was much pleased with those connected with the postoffice whose acquaintance I made in this city. They all seemed to be very nice people, indeed.

"The parcels post? That's a great institution. No, it doesn't entail any extra work on the employees of the postoffice. Special persons are detailed to look after that matter. We have delivery men with wagons to carry the items to their destination. It is just Uncle Sam doing a little express business, that's all. Yes, it favors the mail order merchants, and to that extent, of course, hurts the towns, especially the little towns, but for the people generally I regard it as a great thing.

"The salaries of postoffice employees are much better than when I began to work for the department. Then it was double work and single pay. The matter is much better now; though with the increasing high cost of living the salaries are still too small. If we could have a few more years of Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan, every department, postoffice included, would be improved.

"The postoffice department is under civil service regulation, so far as the employees below the postmaster are concerned, and if a man is faithful and efficient, he need never fear of getting fired. But there is no foolishness about it; the least indiscretion is marked up against a man and it keeps us all always on the jump. Of course, my long acquaintance with the service has so educated me that I have no trouble in doing my duty on schedule time."

They sex menfolk can't stand no torture, and yet their high-class faces messages keeps a-gettin' classier and classier.

There ain't much fun in gettin' out and paintin' their town red, and then their best day showin' up in their blue shirt.

BANKS MAY BE ALLOWED LARGER EMERGENCY ISSUES

By Associated Press. Sept. 2.—In event efforts fail to have amended the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill to admit state banks to membership in the National Currency Association, it is understood to be the plan of Gov. Colquitt to submit an amendment to the state banking laws to the special session of the legislature authorizing 75 per cent of the emergency currency issued by banks to be based on commercial paper instead of 30 per cent as allowed at present. Texas state banks have plenty of commercial paper and this, it is claimed, should be made the basis for issuing emergency currency.

CAPTURE OF PARIS NOT FIRST OBJECT OF GERMAN STRATEGY

(By Hugh Martin, correspondent International News Service in the Austin American)

Antwerp, Aug. 31.—The great German strategic design to outflank the French and British armies on their left wing is coming every hour nearer to its accomplishment.

The success of the campaign in France does not so much depend upon the conquest of Paris, but upon the destruction of the French and British armies in the field.

The powerful attack of the main forces of Germany against the left wing of the allies and the main defensive fighting opposite the strategic French line from Belfort to Verdun must be looked at from this point of view.

Germany has to fight with two fronts. The concentration of the Russian army on the eastern frontier of Prussia was expected to last at least several weeks and this time had to be used to bring the French upon their knees.

It is clear that it will be nearly impossible in such a short time to accomplish the defeat of the hostile field armies and also bring to a successful end the siege of a fortress of the rank of Paris.

Therefore, we have to look at the advance of the northern German armies via Liege, Namur, Mons and Arras as a strategic movement aiming in the first line to roll up the whole French-English line of defense and to cut off their lines of communication.

If Paris, as Namur did, falls into the hands of the Germans it will be by a sudden resolute blow. This, of course, is not very likely. Then most probably the German north armies will be satisfied with leaving an observation corps in the east of the French capital, as they have done with Ostend and Boulogne, and try to accomplish their plan by throwing the entire left wing of the allied armies behind their own forces in the line of Belfort, Toul and Verdun.

For days and days the English-French northern armies seem to have prevented that fate by their tenacious resistance and by falling back always in time and turning their left wing so far as to assume an almost northerly front.

As the situation is now there is not much credit to be given the news from Antwerp that in the last few days strong bodies of German troops have been transferred to the eastern frontier. On the contrary, they have, as has been stated by cable message today, pushed forward their attack as far as Villiers, La Ferre and Saon by reinforcing their lines on this side with numerous bodies of fresh troops.

Through this statement we come to the conclusion that the German general staff does not intend to be stopped in the accomplishment of the projected west by the flight of St. Petersburg concerning great Russian victories. The reports of the operation in Russia and East Prussia which arrived today differ widely and are even contradicting each other.

No Fear for Eastern Frontier. But one thing one may be sure of is that the German emperor has left sufficient troops of the second line in the east of the Fatherland to defend every foot of Prussian soil against the invading forces of the czar.

EUGENICS IS NOT A MODERN INVENTION

(Atlantic Monthly) Among many primitive peoples it was customary to eliminate epileptics, idiots, lunatics and those afflicted with incurable illness; and the practice of putting to death weak, deformed and sickly children was extremely prevalent.

Eugenics is by no means a modern science. Primitive peoples took it much more seriously and practiced it more consistently than we do to day.

"HUMANE" BULLETS PLEASANT FICTION

SURGEONS KNOW THAT WAR STILL MERITS SHERMAN'S DEFINITION

BULLET WOUNDS DESCRIBED

Bones Splintered, Flesh Torn and Other Effects—Shell Wounds Are Agonizing

A pleasant fiction widely credited is that men have been studying for years to make war more humane—as if war could be humane!

For example, one of these "humane" devices is the small bullet at high velocity. Stories are told of men who, after being shot through the chest or head with a modern bullet, about the diameter of a small lead pencil, have walked long distances to the field hospital and have then recovered in a miraculously short time.

Severe Wounds Still Slay. The World's Work, in its special "War Manual" edition, asserts that this is not true, and that military surgeons who have seen actual service know that really slight wounds made by modern bullets heal more quickly and thoroughly than those made by the old round leaden bullets.

This magazine article, written by a military surgeon of wide experience says: "The Germans use a steel-jacketed bullet with a core of lead hardened with antimony. The steel jacket often comes off in jagged fragments which horribly lacerates the flesh."

French Bullets Not So Humane. The French bullet, a mixture of copper and zinc, is not jacketed, but is longer and sharper than the German bullet. Bent by ricocheting, it often enters the body as a hook; sometimes it "tumbles" and enters broadside on, making a long, gaping wound.

These "humane" bullets have three general effects: Up to a range of five hundred yards they have an explosive effect, splintering the bone so thoroughly as to explain the frequent accusation that explosive bullets have been used; at ranges of five to fifteen hundred yards the effect is terrible, grinding the bone to powder and often carrying with it into the wound fragments of soiled clothing, thus causing infection.

Hits Blow Like a Club.

The third effect is cumulative. A modern bullet fired into an empty metal vessel enters and leaves by a small hole. Fill the vessel with water and the bullet will make a large, jagged hole in leaving. The bullet has exactly the same effect on the body or the head. In any case the bullet strikes a heavy blow as with a club.

Modern bullets are "humane" only when compared with the effects of shells, and it must be remembered that a far greater proportion of casualties are due to shells than ever before.

Devil's Watering Pots.

In the Franco-Prussian war shell wounds were 91 per thousand; in the Manchurian campaign the ratio had increased to 176 per thousand and in the Balkan war of 1912 the proportion was 364 per thousand.

The Russians in Manchuria called shrapnel "the devil's watering pots." When they burst they scatter hundreds of round bullets as well as fragments of the shell itself. They are most deadly within a radius of ten to thirty yards but even at a hundred yards the "new drops" are lively enough to penetrate six inches of pine.

Shell Wounds Are Agonizing.

The common shell is still more terrible. The fragments, heated to a very high temperature by the explosion, burn the flesh so as to compel cries of agony that only morphine can quiet.

The large shells of the navy not only cut like razors but asphyxiate, amputate portions of the body and crush. Altogether the military surgeon is not unduly impressed with the "humane" aspects of war.

Care Avoids Disease.

Modern warfare is more "humane" however, in the care that is taken to save the armies from disease. In former times the real enemy of the army in the field was not the man with the gun in hand under the opposing flag, but disease which mowed down troops on both sides impartially.

It has taken the world a long time to grasp so obvious a fact, but the lesson has been thoroughly learned at last and it has been applied in all civilized armies. Sick soldiers of an earlier day received no attention whatever. If the wounded received any care it was from a comrade or from the women who followed in the wake of the army. Then the barber became the army surgeon, when there was any, to give way later to monks.

Napoleon paid little or no attention to sick and wounded. In the Peninsula campaign about sixty thousand French soldiers were killed in battle in Spain, and about four hundred thousand died of disease.

Disease Worse Than Bullets. In the Russian campaign of 1812, of five hundred thousand who crossed the Dnieper in June scarcely twenty thousand returned. In December bullets filled some; the deadly cold claimed others; but the great majority perished of disease.

The 1813 campaign after Leipzig was no less disastrous. Of an army of one hundred thousand that left Leipzig in October only a few fragmentary battalions followed the eagles across the Rhine in November. The total ruin of this army was due to sanitary neglect. Soldiers died of disease by thousands.

We started our new cleaning plant by charging the old schedule of prices for cleaning and pressing but one week's run proves that our capacity enables us to do so much more work that we can get by at smaller charges for work and still guarantee good work.

For 10 days we make the following prices and promise to continue them if our quantity business justifies the continuance:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Ladies' plain suits ($1 00), Ladies' fancy suits ($1 25 up), Ladies' gloves (25c), Corsets (35c), Ladies' dresses ($1 00 up), Men's 3 piece suits ($1 00 up), Men's 2 piece suits (75c), Pants (35c), Coats (35c), Palm Beach Suits (50c).

Dry cleaning 9x12 light weight rugs in the machine $2 00. Dry cleaning oriental and heavy rugs in the machine $2 50 up. All rugs cleaned by us go through the same process as the clothing which brings out the original colors and not only gets the dust but also absolutely gets germs or moth that attacks them.

We clean bedding, curtains, draperies, furs, etc. Prices given depending upon the job. Dyeing of all kinds including clothing, furs, plumes, etc. Prices depend upon the individual job.

The boys will keep the plant going and show you how we do cleaning the modern way.

SYRUP CHEAPER THAN SUGAR

A great many people have taken advantage of my special offer in KARO SYRUP and sales have been very heavy this week.

This syrup is of the same good quality that you will always find in 'Karo.'

Come and get a good supply of it and see what a saving it will make on your sugar bill.

Children especially enjoy it. Let them have all they want of it and keep them healthy and happy.

In the suit of Searchlight Publishing company vs. E. B. Stonecipher and A. R. Bascom for debt, Justice Jones yesterday dismissed the suit only as to the defendant, Stonecipher, returning a judgment against the defendant, Bascom, for $78. The plaintiff company has also appealed from the ruling of the court in the case of the defendant, Stonecipher. The plaintiff company further claims that the defendant, Bascom, was not in its employ when he collected the advertising account from Stonecipher. Yesterday's Times stated that the case had been dismissed as to both the defendants.

It is doubtful if any one thing will serve so well to establish the reputation of a particular soda fountain as an ice cream with superior quality in the matter of contents and manner of preparation. Other service may possess a "sameness" or may vary in character, but good cream always carries with it an impression that inspires a tendency on the part of the customer to return to the place. But few places, if any, have succeeded so well in providing this class of service as has the Mack Taylor Fruit Store, and as a result his business in this line has shown a remarkable increase. Good cream is one of his hobbies. He will have none but that of high quality and the variety is all that could be desired. Just at this time he is serving a peach cream that is excellent and is proving very popular, along with the many other flavors provided, and if you have not been a customer of the place, drop around and call for it. Other fruit flavors are furnished for those whose taste may differ. 96 1t c

MEXICO—POOR PLACE TO FIND A JOB

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 2.—Mexico is a poor place for Americans hunting jobs, according to United States Consul General Hanna, who in a letter from Monterey to Consul Garrett, in Nuevo Laredo, advises Americans to stay away unless they can walk home, and not to expect aid from consuls in returning. "Americans call upon me every day complaining there are no jobs and they are broke and hungry," said the letter and the consul adds there are plenty of resident Americans and Mexicans to occupy all available positions.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Wet weather in the spring crop belt and official reports that the Canadian northwest would not yield within 74,000,000 bushels of as much as last year had a bullish effect today on the wheat market here. After opening 1-3 to 3-4 higher, the market underwent a decided sag and then rallied to slightly above last night's level.

Corn held steady. Oats were sustained by continued export demand. Wheat closed firm, corn closed steady. The close for the leading months follows: Wheat, Sept. $1.10; Dec. $1.14 3-4; May $1.21 7-8. Corn, Dec. 73 3-8; May 75 5-8. Oats, Dec. 52 1/2; May 55 1-8.

One's Character

Is determined by the lines of the face, the clothes and the way they keep their places of abode. Beautiful, well kept homes bespeak thrift and energy; neglected ones, carelessness, idleness and indifference.

WE HAVE NOTICED that those who were careless or indifferent about their homes or business were doubly so when it came to taking care of their dead. Should you want to read character, go to the cemetery. You can tell every class without a microscope. There are a few people in Wichita Falls, beautiful in character, homes beautiful, and the last resting place of their loved ones well cared for. The regular visitor to the cemetery knows them.

THE SATISFACTION

You get for the money you pay a tailor does not depend on the building he is in, what his name is or where he came from, nor the amount of warm atmosphere he peddles. You get your satisfaction from the way the suit looks, hangs and fits. Amateur cleaners and pressers make a suit look as though you had cleaned it in a rain and pressed it by sleeping with it on. Our work is guaranteed to please you. We make suits that fit. We have laid the tape on every different shape of human being from the animated bean pole to the living tub who is wider than he is tall.

direct to arrest a young man on a charge of burglary. Coming back on the car from the factory district were these two young men and the young lady. They started matching money as soon as they got on the car and kept it up until we arrested them at about where the car turns into Ninth street within the city limits. It was not a game to see who would pay for the car fare. Considerable money changed hands and we are confident the young men had not less than a dollar of the young lady's money. We had been told that this gambling on the street cars had been a regular occurrence for six months, and in fact the young men so admitted.

We have no apologies to offer for making the arrests and are making this statement merely to get the matter straight before the public.

How Dead And Wounded Fare In War Of Nations

What becomes of the grievously wounded that are falling in the great battles of this war? Are they properly cared for or are many of them left upon the field to be trampled by men and horses of the advancing armies and do many of them die there without care?

And what becomes of the great heaps of the slain, piled five deep in long windrows? Are they all buried, or are many left to lie where they fell?

These are questions that are answered fully in "The War Manual," edition of the World's Work. And the following extracts are made in large part from it:

His Own Surgeon if Possible. Every soldier of every army carries in a sealed tin box, a first aid packet consisting of a bandage, antiseptic gauze and adhesive plaster. A part of the training of the soldier is how to use these, and if the wound is slight and in an accessible place he may apply the dressing himself; if more severe, a comrade may apply it for him.

The wounded soldier, with or without first aid dressing, if he is able to walk, passes back to the rear to the field hospital, which is always more or less sheltered from the fire of the armies. If he is unable to walk he is carried back on a litter by the hospital corps. As soon as he can stand transportation he is passed on to the general hospital and thence in due time to the convalescent camp to recuperate.

The Unlucky 10 Per Cent. The medical staff of an army is equipped upon the theory, based upon past experience, that 10 per cent will be killed or wounded in each battle. If the number of casualties is eighteen thousand the estimate is that fully 20 per cent or 3,600 will be dead on the field; 8 per cent or 1,440 will be so severely wounded that it will be inadvisable to move them; 40 per cent or 7,200 will be able to walk, one-half of them to the station for the slightly wounded in the rear, the rest to the field hospital, and 32 per cent will require to be carried off the field.

In the Manchurian campaign, one-third of the wounded Japanese reported to the ranks within a month. The Zolias of Losses. In deciding upon his arrangements for a battle, the chief surgeon bears in mind that the wounded will be distributed in "zones of losses." The usual proportion of wounded is 20 per cent up to one thousand yards range; from one thousand to four hundred yards range, 60 per cent; in the final rush, 10 per cent; in pursuit, 10 per cent.

The field hospital is not pitched till the actual situation develops and the point where the main attack is to be made known. Then a site is chosen—beyond the range of the enemy's fire, accessible to front and rear by road, yet off the route of march of advancing troops, convenient to wood and water, if possible, near buildings which may be used for the overflow of wounded, for, of course, casualties in battle are not limited by rule and the facilities provided may be overwhelmed.

Conditions on the battle field are all unfavorable for clean surgical work and it is often impossible to reach many wounded for hours, and sometimes for days, as in the attack upon the Liege forts in Belgium, where the Germans wounded in the assaults were unattended for long periods, thousands of them dying where they lay beneath the guns of the forts.

United in the Aftermath. The chief surgeon has under him a corps of surgeons for amputating the limbs of the wounded and for dressing wounds, and also a corps of litter bearers and ambulance men. Many acts of heroism that are not recorded in the annals of the battles are performed by the men of the hospital corps and of the Red Cross, who go out often in the face of terrific firing and gather up the wounded.

Where an army is entrenched, or fighting in the cover of a wood or in any other protected place which it holds for a long period of continuous fighting, the gravely wounded are gathered up as they fall by the litter bearers, assisted by the soldiers, and are passed back to the rear.

When a fighting army is driven out of its position and the advancing enemy rushes over the field and on in pursuit, the medical corps then has an opportunity to gather in the wounded left in the wake of the two armies and often the medical corps of the two opposing armies work together upon the field, each carrying off its wounded. Often an armistice is taken so that the wounded may be picked up and the dead buried.

Generally the medical staff of each army aims to care for its own wounded, but in every case where it is necessary the wounded of the enemy are cared for with the same attention that is given those of the home army. Thus in Antwerp, the Belgians are German army cared for the wounded

Some Of The Cardinals Who May Be Chosen Pope

Rome, Sept. 2.—The full membership of the Sacred College of Cardinals which elects the Pope is more international in its representation than at any time in the history of the church.

With the creation of thirteen new cardinals last May, Pope Pius X brought the college up to 68, only four less than the maximum number allowed under the laws of the church, and three more than participated in his own election in 1903, when there was a record attendance of 63 cardinals.

While the Sacred College is not a representative body in a strict sense of the word, this year nearly all the countries are represented in it; South America, the United States, Canada, England, Ireland, Holland, Belgium, Portugal, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Italy, France and Spain, fourteen nations in all. The Orient has no cardinal; neither has Russia, Africa, Australia or Switzerland.

Twenty of the present cardinals are from five of the warring nations of Europe, Austria-Hungary having six and Germany two, as against a total of twelve which might be said to represent the "allies" in the European war.

While the world has been led to expect that the traditions of the Catholic church will be maintained by the elevation of an Italian and not a foreigner to the Papacy, the fact has been generally overlooked that a large number of the present Italian princes of the church, from among whom the Pope is said to be most likely to be chosen, might lay claim to being cosmopolitan.

Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College, spent almost a quarter of a century in Mexico, Munich, Central and South America, Belgium and Vienna; his brother, Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli, passed over twenty years in Holland, Belgium, Constantinople and Liebon; Cardinal Agliardi, Swiss, spent his last years in India and four in Vienna; Cardinal Pietro was for ten years in the Argentine, Brazil, Munich and Madrid; Cardinal Gotti lived for three years in Brazil; Cardinal Ferrata has filled diplomatic offices in Switzerland, Belgium and France; Cardinal Martinelli was second Apostolic Delegate to the United States; Cardinal Falconio was the third, and became a naturalized American citizen; Cardinals Rinaldini, Lorenzelli, Gasparri, Vico, Belmonte, and Serafini all had years of experience outside of Italy. The only cardinals in curia, that is, attached directly to the head of the church in Rome, who have not spent part of their lives abroad, are Cardinals De Lai, Cassetta, Della Voipe, Cagliano, Bisleti, Pompili, Giustini, Lega and Secchi, all of whom have passed their lives in various offices in the Roman Curia.

With all 66 members of the college present at the conclave it would require 44 votes to elect. The rule is that an election does not take place until the candidate has received two-thirds of all the votes cast. With the Italians holding the majority, and with some of the foreign delegates absent probably, it is generally supposed that the conclave will not seriously consider a foreign Pope at this time. The pontiff to be elected is the 85th in the history of the church, and it is interesting to note that of those previously recorded, excepting the thrice elected Benedict IX, there have been altogether 105 Popes who were Roman, 100 Italian other than Roman, and 63 trans-Alpine or transmarine.

The full membership of the Sacred College at present, in the order of rank, is as follows: Serafino Vannutelli, Grand Penitentiary, Italy.

Anthony Agliardi, Chancellor, Italy. Vincent Vannutelli, Prefect of the Apostolic Signature, Italy. Francis de Paula Cassetta, Prefect of the Congregation of Studies, Italy.
