CROWN PRINCE ARMY IN DANGER

BETWEEN 35 AND 45 IN WRECK ON THE FRISCO

TRAIN PLUNGES INTO A CREEK

COACHES SUBMERGED IN SWOLLEN STREAM AND MANY LOSE THEIR LIVES

TRACK IS WASHED AWAY

Disaster To Texas Limited Near Lebanon, Mo. This Morning—Details Are Lacking

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Between 35 and 45 persons were killed or drowned and a score of others injured this morning when the locomotive, baggage, express, day coach and chair car on Frisco passenger train No. 5, known as the Texas limited from St. Louis for Galveston plunged through a trestle over Brush Creek near Lebanon, Mo., and were submerged by the swollen stream.

Most of the dead were drowned in the chair car and a great proportion of these were women and children.

Those able to escape broke through the windows and swam to safety or were swept against the bank by the current.

DEFINITE ESTIMATE IMPOSSIBLE. It is estimated there were 85 passengers in the chair car. Owing to poor communication it is impossible to give definite estimates of the number of dead.

None of the sleeping cars left the track and their passengers quickly jumped to the ground and helped in the rescue. One man in the chair car lost his wife and five children. When the accident occurred he was thrown clear of the wreck. His wife and children died within his sight before he could rescue them.

Rains last week caused all small streams in the vicinity to rise to unusual levels.

NURSE RESCUES FIVE. The injured were coming back to Springfield this afternoon. One of the passengers in the submerged chair car was Miss Mona Campbell, a nurse of St. Louis. She broke a window and climbed out on the side of the car. Standing in the water she rescued five passengers.

The Frisco offices at noon said that the cause of the wreck was not clear but would be discovered as soon as the high water which is now receding had subsided. Frisco headquarters here indicate that the train did not break through the bridge but that the track washed by the water gave way.

JAPANESE AND GERMANS IN FIRST ENGAGEMENT

Patrols of Two Forces Clashed On September 13—Fighting Was Not Decisive

By Associated Press. Chi-Mu, Shantung Province, China, Sept. 13, via Peking, Sept. 15.—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning when there were several sharp skirmishes between patrols. The Japanese made an unsuccessful attempt to capture a German aeroplane and were driven back after a sharp fusillade.

A considerable Japanese force is reported twenty-five miles north of here. Tsing Tau dispatch says a vanguard of Japanese cavalry is in Kia Chow about five miles out of the Kia Chow boundary to the northwest.

DEMOCRATS WIN BY 3597 IN MAINE ELECTION

By Associated Press. Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—The Democratic victory in yesterday's election was measured by the 3,587 plurality by which O. C. Curtis defeated Governor William C. Haines, Republican re-election. These are unofficial returns from all but 32 of the 521 cities and towns today. All four congressmen, three Republicans and one Democrat were re-elected. Governor Haines was elected two years ago by a plurality of about 500.

UNITED STATES COULD RAISE A MILLION MEN

But Their Efficiency in War Would Not Be As Great As Trained Reservists

Washington, Sept. 15.—"Could we quickly raise an army of 1,000,000 men and put them in the field fully equipped for action? Why, yes." This was the comment of Chairman George C. Chamberlain of the Senate committee on naval affairs in discussing Secretary Bryan's statement that such a military accomplishment is not beyond the preparedness of the United States at this time.

"But the question of the military value of such an army is another thing," continued Senator Chamberlain. "According to our present laws the first military force available for duty would be the regular army, numbering about 75,000 men out of a total authorized force of 100,000. Next in order would be the State militia, numbering about 250,000.

"The regular army is thoroughly trained and according to our present military policy is designed as a nucleus of any larger force this country may be called upon to put in the field. The militia may be considered a trained body, but is not as ready for action as the smaller force of regulars.

"This gives us a nominal force of trained and partially trained men which must comprise less than one-third of an army of a million.

"I do not believe the military value of such an army would compare favorably with a similar army recruited in a country in which a reserve system has brought a majority of its male population under military training.

"What if by any chance the United States had been brought into the present unfortunate European conflict? What would an army of a million men, two-thirds untrained, have availed, opposed to an equal body of trained men? "I do not think we should become a military nation, nor do I feel that we are in any danger of war, but I am fully convinced of the need of a system of military training and a reserve organization which would not find us unprepared in an emergency."

Oklahoma Oil Men Considering Making Such a Request of Governor Cruce

By Associated Press. Oklahoma City, Sept. 15.—Proposals to call on Governor Cruce to take charge of the oil situation using the National Guard if necessary to equalize production were considered at a meeting of oil men here today. The governor was told pipe lines have storage capacity for millions of gallons which they will fill as soon as the price drops low enough. It also was stated that conditions were serious in the Cushing field where a majority of the operators refused to obey orders to curtail production.

RUSSIANS WIN AND LOSE IN THE EAST

OUTCOME OF GREAT BATTLE STILL DEPENDS UPON ARMY OF GERMAN CROWN PRINCE AT THE CENTER

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 15.—As has been the case since the beginning of the battle of the Marne over a week ago, the final outcome of this mighty struggle seems to depend upon the army of Crown Prince Frederick William in the German center, the head quarters of which have been retired to Mount Souton. As this town is fifteen miles northwest of Verdun the Crown Prince's move seems to imply the approaching release of that French fortress which his army has been besieging for more than a week. However, no news of the actual situation there has come nor is there French confirmation of the fall of Maubaug.

BIG GERMAN FORCE IN EAST PRUSSIA

REPORTED ATTEMPT TO STRIKE RUSSIAN BASE DECLARED TO HAVE FAILED

RUSSIAN FORCE WEAKENED

Withdrawal of Troops For Campaign Against Austrians Give Germans Good Chance

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 15.—A Petrograd dispatch to the Post describing Russian frontier operations says that the Germans have concentrated enormous forces in East Prussia and have attempted to drive in with an overwhelming force on the Russian base. At the same time Russia has been drawing upon its forces in East Prussia for reinforcements against the Austrian front. This German attempt was well timed. The Russian general Rennenkampf, however, by clever maneuvering forced back the Germans with heavy losses.

"The Austrian army which is retreating on Przemyśl includes one whole German army corps and part of another. These figures are lost to Germany for the duration of the war for they will be locked up in Przemyśl which the Russians must take by a prolonged siege. Enormous numbers of cannon taken by the Russians have been turned against their old owners, the Austrians.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK BY BRITISH WARSHIPS

Seven Open Fire When Conning Tower Appears Above Surface With Deadly Effect

By Associated Press. London, Sept. 15.—The Scotsman today says that the German submarine which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder was itself sunk last Wednesday. This account says a part of the British fleet on the north, watching for submarines became aware of the near presence of one. The British vessels divided when the submarine approached with its periscope showing. With grim patience the British vessels waited for the reappearance of the Periscope which occurred in dramatic fashion. By some miscalculation or perhaps in an effort to escape the submarine conning tower and upper structure suddenly appeared in the midst of the English vessel. The conning tower had hardly broken the surface when it was shot through. The doomed vessel was within range of seven British cruisers and from every one of them guns opened fire. In ten seconds seven shots entered the frail shell of the submarine.

the only claim made for German arms is that of having successfully defeated French endeavors to break through the German line. It is apparent that this is the case unless the dispatch from Dipsis this afternoon alleging that General Von Kluck's army of the German right has been forced to surrender, turns out to be correct. Up to the present there has been no confirmation of this story.

In any case the estimate given of the number surrendered which in one dispatch was 14,000 and according to another 25,000, it will be a misnomer to call it a surrender of General Von Kluck's army which must total in the neighborhood of 100,000. That his position is difficult is unquestioned, if as reported, the German line is swinging its right back on the Meuse in the

ALLIES CONTINUE FORCE BACK THE GERMAN RIGHT

Armored Gen. Von Kluck Has Surrendered—Rains Add To Difficulties Of German Retreat

By Associated Press. Paris, 2:55 p. m., Sept. 15.—The western and central armies of Germany continued their resistance north of the Aisne river and north of Rheims and Chalons, while the eastern army is retreating. This is the substance of the French official communication given out this afternoon. The communication says: "On our left yesterday the Germans offered resistance on the north side of the river Aisne along a line marked by the forest Laugle and Craonne.

"On our center the German line of resistance was located north of Rheims and Chalons. In order to reach Vienna, a town in the western section of the Argonne region, the enemy's forces which were in the southern part of that region hastened their movement of retreat.

"On our right the Germans were doubling back on Etin and on Metz, Delmo and Chateau Salines, all in Lorraine.

"In the Vosges and Alsace the situation is unchanged.

CROWN PRINCE'S ARMY BELIEVED TO BE IN PRECARIOUS SITUATION

By Associated Press. Bordeaux, via London, Sept. 15.—The position of the German Crown Prince's army which forms the pivot of the change of front forced on the Germans by the allies attack is precarious, according to military experts here. The French force east of Argonne, it is said, makes retreat in that direction impossible. This army therefore is probably moving northward in the hope of joining other German forces, but military men think there is a fair chance that the crown Prince army may be cut off.

HISTORIAN FERRERO'S VIEWS

Isolation of Neutrality of Belgium Gave Pretext That Was Readily Accepted

BY GIUGLIAMO FERRERO

The noted American Historian and Authority on Militarism, in the Chicago Tribune.

In this gigantic war the combatants are actuated by different motives and different interests. Each is acting with different means of offense and defense; each, in a word, occupies a position peculiar to itself.

In the midst of the confusion of events which will soon overwhelm us on every side, it will be impossible to keep one's bearings, unless he knows the position of each belligerent.

So, as we go on observing, an occasion may offer, we shall discern these interests, motives and methods of offense and defense. Today we shall examine this point: For what reason has England taken the field on the side of France.

Speech of Grey.

In the speech he delivered in the house of commons on August 3, Sir Edward Grey clearly defined England's position among the belligerents. It was then still free from any obligations. The French and English general staffs had for some time been working out the plans of the eventual military operations that the two governments might have to carry out, if they should some day find themselves fighting side by side.

Everything was ready for an offensive and defensive alliance; but the two governments had not as yet assumed reciprocal obligations of any kind.

On the evening of August 3, England could still declare itself neutral, and it would seem that Germany was still that very day trying to persuade it not to take up arms.

For what reason did England declare war on Germany on the following day?

The apparent reason was Belgium. That very day the chancellor of the German empire announced in the Reichstag that Germany would violate the neutrality of Belgium, because she who is fighting cannot heed international law. And the next day England sent to Germany the ultimatum: "Respect Belgium or go to war."

But Belgium was the pretext for the war; not the reason—the real pretext offered by Germany to the party in England that for long had been wanting war. England also had guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium. By violating it Germany was affronting England, whose honor was now pledged to unshrink the sword.

In England friends of peace and partisans of war have been—and cannot fail to be—in agreement in recognizing that war was inevitable as soon as the German armies had crossed the Belgian frontier.

But it is to be believed that, even if Germany had not imperiously furnished England with that splendid pretext, England would have sought and found another.

England's Real Reason.

For a long time the Conservative party and a considerable section of the Liberal party of England had been agreed that if Germany should attack France, England must take to the field with Russia in its defense in order to prevent Germany from further aggrandizement upon the continent and from becoming the arbiter of Europe.

This is the real reason why England today stands side by side with France against Germany, just as a century ago it was directing the struggle against Napoleon.

It is a most potent reason, for Germany has no wreathed a point in its history and development at which it might be further expansion become more dangerous to England than the Napoleonic empire was a century ago.

Whoever needs to be convinced of it has only to study the statistics of the production of iron, and there he will find the key to the Anglo-German conflict.

England is the richer, but Germany has far the greater population. With some increase in territory upon the continent and with its natural rapid growth this population might very soon double that of England. So far England this war is a matter of life or death.

$2,247,248 FROM LAND SALES DURING PAST YEAR

Austin, Texas, Sept. 15.—The state treasury department has completed a survey of land sales and leases to the credit of various funds for the fiscal year ending August 31. The total received was $2,247,248, a decrease of $381,787 under the previous year. Of the total collected $388,581 went to the credit of the permanent school fund and $1,434,004 to the credit of the available school fund. The school lands aggregate $55,000,000 in value and bear from three to ten per cent interest. Payment of interest for the new fiscal year begins November 1 and on the same day begins payment by persons who have purchased school lands. The Texas school fund is one of the largest in the country, for in addition to fifty-five million dollars worth of lands, the permanent fund has also about $22,000,000 in bonds to its credit.

TELEPHONE MERGER AT TEXARKANA PROBABLE

Texarkana, Texas, Sept. 15.—Abolishment of the dual telephone system by the merger of the two companies now operating here is likely within the next few months. The matter is now up to the two companies, to agree within sixty days. It is understood a preliminary agreement has already been reached but no details have been made public. Ordinances have fixed a rate of $3 for business telephones and $2 for residence telephones. Waco has already ordered a merger of the two systems here and Houston and Austin are considering this step.

AT THE THEATERS

The Gem.

"Laddie" an Edison drama in two parts is the chief offering here today. It is a version of the famous story of the same name and depicts the great tragedy of a mother who has spent the best years of her life working for her children. Laddie becomes a famous doctor and fifteen years after he left his country home for the city, his mother finds that she must give up her farm. She goes to the city to surprise Laddie. The splendor of his home awes her and she feels that there is something lacking in the welcome which her son gave her. It finally dawns upon her that Laddie is ashamed of her, and broken hearted she goes away, too proud to stay where she was not wanted. Laddie realizes that his coldness has driven his mother away, and his remorse is terrible. He searches for her but in vain. Then one morning he finds her in a ward of a hospital, when he is making his usual rounds, sick and dying. Heart broken he poured out his grief for her, almost to let, but the loving and all forgiving old mother died with a smile on her lips. G. M. Anderson is featured in "Broncho Billy Puts One Over" and a Selig comedy, "The Lure of the Ladies" completes the program.

The Victoria.

"Our Mutual Girl" continues in her quest of the Red Rose and finds the end of her adventure at the seashore. The wearer of the rose warns her that some one who is near to her and who would make her his wife is in danger and in the shadow of disgrace. She is urged to be careful and as she is sure Dunbar is the one who is meant she is much worried. She does not understand her feelings toward this man who has such a strange attraction for her, and so the mystery is deepened. "Does It End Right?" is the title of the two reel feature which is showing here today. When the picture has been seen the question will still remain and you will ask yourself, "does it end right?"

The Lamar Alford.

One of the best musical acts playing the southern circuit is "The Gridleys" and it was the good fortune of a large crowd to hear this act at the Alford last night. The act is far above the usual and is pleasing to a degree. Tonight's detours include a Warren Kerrigan feature with Vera Sisson the opposite lead. "There is a Destiny" is the story of the fulfillment of the destinies of maid of the islands and 3 young M. D. Jack and a number of frat friends are spending their summer vacation on an island. One of the party, "Sport" Hamlin, tries to flirt with her but is coldly repulsed and Jack makes a wager that he will have better success. He succeeds as a boatman and makes the acquaintance of the girl through her grandfather. They become warm friends and Spot Hamlin becomes envious. Jack knocks him down for an insulting remark and he goes straight to the old man, informing him of Jack's deception. This results in an estrangement but as Jack is really in love with the girl, a reconciliation is effected. "The Character Woman" a two reel Clair which will remind you strongly of the story by the same name in the Saturday Evening Post of last week is the other picture. "The old character woman" is reversed in the ways of the world and of men and she is enabled to do a great favor to the young leading woman.

The Empress.

"The Confession" in three parts is showing here today. "Tomorrow" Pauline will be seen and her appearance is awaited with consuming anxiety for all stories of this chapter leave her in the embarrassing and somewhat uncomfortable position of admiring a basket of roses that contain a rattlesnake hidden beneath the flowers—Shades of Cleopatra! Let us hope Harry is there.

The Majestic.

A terrific hand to hand struggle in the swaying cab of a speeding locomotive is one of the many exciting scenes in Kalem's newest two-part railroad story, "The Rival Railroad Plot" which comes to the Majestic tonight. Helen Holmes, the charming Kalem star, portrays one of the principal roles in this production. The Midland and the Northern railroads are trying to land the contract for carrying the government mail. The Northern establishes a record for a fast run, whereupon the Midland determines to beat it. Jerry, a freeman on the locomotive which is to try to beat the Northern's record, is waylaid and one of the rival railroad's tools takes the man's place by a clever ruse. By emptying a chemical solution in the water tank this scoundrel causes the boiler to foam and finally brings the engine to a stop. Chances for beating the record are fast disappearing when Myrtle, Billie's sweetheart, a telegrapher, discovers what has occurred and causes another locomotive to go to the rescue. Again the Northern's tool tries to hold up the train, but in a fierce battle the man is thrown off the engine, meeting his death. What follows is highly exciting. "The Fables" is highly exciting.

At the Wichita.

The Gilson-Bradfield Stock Company opened a two weeks engagement last night at the Wichita Theatre, playing to a splendid audience. The house was filled, in spite of the warm weather and the initial production met with great favor. The offering last night was "The Poor Rich," a play with a moral and one that carries an appeal. Bert Russell as the leading man, the husband who in spite of ten years hard work to provide the things that are dearest to the heart of his wife is far from the happiness that he hoped for, and is on the verge of bankruptcy by the extravagance of his wife, was strong and portrayed the part with a rare understanding. Many of his lines drew thunderous applause and the sympathy of the audience was manifest. Miss Alice De Lane as the wife was all that could be desired and showed remarkable versatility in the radical change in her character and personality when she was awakened to an understanding of her course of folly. Miss Gertrude Chaffee, the character woman, as Aunt Marmaduke gave utterance to many wise sayings which were fully

ACTION TAKEN BY COUNCIL

Committee Named at Last Meeting To Negotiation For Labor Hall

"Let's see your card" will be the salutation of Wichita-Falls union men when they go into Wichita Falls stores to buy groceries, clothing or anything else. A resolution was adopted at last night's meeting of the Wichita Falls Trades and Labor Council by which members of the Council are pledged to demand to see the union card of every clerk who waits upon them before purchasing goods. The resolution was adopted by an unanimous vote and is to be put into effect at once.

At last night's meeting a committee was named to investigate a proposition for the erection of a new hall for the Council. This committee is comprised of C. W. Johnson, Frank Harris, J. M. Allen and F. Nelson. The committee will investigate several propositions.

A campaign to land the 1916 convention of the State Federation of Labor was launched. C. W. Russell of the Typographical Union called the attention of the Council to the advisability of starting the campaign early. His suggestions were endorsed.

A vote of thanks was extended to Manager St. Clair, the Labor Day Committee, the press of the city, the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants' Association and to citizens generally for their co-operation in making the Labor Day celebration the success it was.

On account of the absence of President Burton who has been sick for some time, F. H. Harris of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen presided. Two new delegates to the Council, C. D. Willard from the Musicians' Union and M. F. Lawing from the Carpenters were installed.

C. W. Johnson of the special committee appointed to assist the Laundry Workers in getting contracts, reported progress. Hugh Weaver, president of the Clerks' Union reported that a fair and unfair list of merchants was being prepared for publication. A report was also heard from the Sheet Metal Workers.

appreciated, and her work was one of the best bits of the play. The kid brother and sister who were very much in love added the comedy to the play and other members of the company were uniformly good. For a stock company this performance was unusual, the vehicle being above the ordinary and the players themselves being of the best.

It was with pleasure that the announcement of the decision to make their stay in this city of two weeks duration instead of one, was heard and the success of last night's offering will assure crowded houses for the remainder of the stay. Tonight's play "The Deep Purple" is the strongest in their repertoire and the favorite players, Mr. Russell and Miss DeLane will be seen at their best.

Company to Play Two Weeks The Gilson-Bradfield Stock Company made such a decided hit with the Wichita Theatre coasts last night that Manager Marlow has arranged for the company to play at the Wichita Theatre two weeks, changing plays each night. On account of the length of the engagement the prices have been reduced to 10c, 25c and 50c. The play tonight will be a big New York success, "The World and a Woman."

A little while—only a little while,
And we shall know
The reason for the things that try us so;
The things over which we grieve and weep,
That from our eyelids drive away the sleep!

Only a little while,
And we shall know
A little while—only a little while;
Life's longest day
Is just a handbreadth—just a little span.

'Tis like a vapor that the noon tide sees
Melts all away—so soon our course
Is run,
Only a little while,
Life's day is done.

A little while—only a little while,
And we shall know
That length of days is not the richest gift!

That He who loves us can bestow,
He has a better way his love to show
Only a little while,
And we shall know.

A little while—only a little while,
And we shall see
That all His plans are working to an end,
That we may be with Him forever blest,

And we shall see
A little while—only a little while;

If the election held in Maine yesterday can be taken as an indication, then the Democrats are making good. The State only has four congressmen—three Republicans and one Democrat, and in that respect there was no change, but a Democrat was elected governor by a majority of about 3,000. At the election before this one, the Republican candidates for governor were elected by a majority of 500.

Wichita Falls will raise 10,000 bales of cotton this year, according to conservative estimates, the yield will probably be to 15,000 bales. If 10,000 bales at seven cents a bale the proceeds will be approximately $350,000; if it sells at 10 cents a bale the proceeds will be $500,000. The difference $150,000 will mean a big lot to the farmers of Wichita county. Cotton won't go to ten cents if distress cotton is forced on the market now, if you buy a bale at ten cents a pound it will help the farmers of Wichita county to hold their cotton and at the same time your holding the cotton a year or until it sells for ten cents a pound will keep a surplus off the market. Buy a Bale.

If there is a farmer in Collin county who is considering sending a nice big order to some mail order concern, we would suggest that he put a postscript on it, something like this: "I have been a good customer of yours all these years; I have paid you many dollars, some of which were for goods which were not as represented; and which I found later could have been purchased from my home merchant in a higher quality at a less price and I didn't have to wait ten days to get it. It is true you never donated to my neighbors whose house and all belongings were destroyed by fire, and that you failed to donate in helping us build our little church where we worship, nor to our new school building. And too, that you pay no taxes to keep up our roads and build pike roads and other things but I have been lenient with you in these matters. Now I need you badly and want you to open up your heart and buy a bale of my cotton at ten cents, as I have always paid you spot cash, and now I need a little money to pay my merchant who has credited me." And no doubt (?) you will receive a signed check by return mail with the dollars left blank for you to fill in and deposit in your bank for collection. Funny, isn't it when a fellow gets your money and then turns you the cold shoulder when you need him worst. But the home merchant stands by you, even sometimes to his financial ruin. Be a man! Stay with the man who stays with you. —McKinley Courier-Gazette.

THE TENTANTRY FAKE.

(From Home and State, Pro Organ.) In paragraph five of the El Paso platform the convention demands the passage by the next legislature of a law:

"Fixing a minimum of rent to be collected on all lands rented in this state for agricultural purposes, where the same is cultivated by the tenant, when he furnishes everything except the land, at not more than one-third of the value of the gain and one-fourth of the value of cotton raised on said land, and that maximum rent of not to exceed one-half, where the landlord furnishes everything except the labor and the tenant furnishes the labor, and such law to provide penalties for actual attempted evasions."

We sincerely hope that the next legislature will promptly and fully comply with this plank of the El Paso platform by enacting the law which it demands, and believe that the friends of good government in the legislature should co-operate to that end. This law should be put in operation at the earliest practical moment, not because it can be of substantial benefit to the tenant farmers of Texas, but on the contrary, because, while it can do little, if any harm, it can not possibly be of any real value to the tenant farmers or any one else, and it will be of great educational benefit to the farmers and to all the people them, supported Mr. Ferguson largely on account of the relief promised them by the enactment of such a law. There are those who have but little faith that it can be made to work out satisfactorily, but then those who are of little faith may be mistaken. Let's give it a "try out," more especially after it has been incorporated as a plank in the Democratic platform, adopted at El Paso. If it should prove a failure, Mr. Ferguson will have to shoulder the responsibility. He seems perfectly willing to do this.

MARRIED 25 YEARS—HAPPY.

The American Magazine has been offering prizes for the best letters in a contest entitled "The Happiest Married Couple I Know." In the September number the prize winning letters are published. Following is one of the letters: "The happiest married couple I know have neither of the two possessions—youth and wealth—that are supposed to make people happy. They are far from young, as they are about to celebrate their silver anniversary. They surely are not wealthy so far as money is concerned, for it has always been rather a struggle for them to have the comforts of life.

"They were engaged when in school, and everybody said it was simply a childish affection, and prophesied that as soon as they were out of school and separated they would forget. They were separated five years, but in all that time they never had a thought for anyone else. "When they were first married their neighbors would say to his wife: 'Wait till you've been married ten years, and he won't be so attentive, and to him: 'After you've been married as long as we have the worst stand at the window until you are out of sight.' However, she still stands at the window every morning and his last glance at their home be- holds her smiling, joyous face.

"To the outsiders their life has been very commonplace. They have had very few amusements. They usually attend the Grand Opera once during the season, and one or two good plays, and occasionally go to a dinner party, or give one. The rest of their evenings are spent in the quiet of their little home, he with his books, she with her needle, for she makes her own clothes. "They are both fond of cards, and for an hour or so they play cribbage or 'Double Dummy Auction.' "Their one extravagance is golf, for although they play on a public links, their golf balls and her caddie bills make quite a factor in their expense account. They always play together—match play, he giving her a stroke a hole. The winner treats to the 'movies,' or if they are in a reckless mood a golf ball is the prize. "As he is employed all day, it is necessary for them to rise at five o'clock in order that they may play eighteen holes before breakfast. This, however, makes them both very fit for the day's work and gives them that greatest bliss in life that tends to human happiness, and that is 'good health.' "For several years after they were married they had a little tip separately—just for the joy of the meeting again; but for the last few years they can't bear to be separated even for a day, and he often gives up little business trips that might add to their income, for they both feel that life together is too sacred, and uncertain for them to risk separation. "Yes, they surely are the happiest married couple I know—and I ought to know, for the man is my husband and I am his adoring wife."

Tyler—Warehouses with a combined capacity of 10,000 bales have been arranged for here and work on the structures will be under way shortly. This action grew out of the recent meeting of a number of business men and farmers. It was also urged at this meeting that no farmer dispose of any cotton at a price lower than ten cents per pound.

Buy a Bale Committee Opposed—Auto Ride For Fort Worth Excursionists

Cotton warehouse matters and the "buy a bale" movement occupied the attention of the Chamber of Commerce directors at their weekly session Tuesday morning. The warehouse committee was instructed to raise the remainder of the $5000, amounting to about $800 as quickly as possible. A special "buy a bale" committee consisting of Messrs. Noble, Gardner and Young was named. The soliciting committee reported that it had received subscriptions to the amount of $4225. Mr. Kell reported that the organization committee was ready to let the contract for the warehouse as soon as the money was subscribed and he asked that the committee be instructed to complete the amount as promptly as possible. A motion to this effect prevailed. Mr. Kell said that three blocks, east of the new compress had been leased, one of them being leased without charge by Mr. Kemp and himself. Stockholders To Decide. Mr. Kell asked for instructions from the directors as to whether the committee should proceed under the emergency warehouse bill, but the directors decided that this was a matter for the stockholders to determine. Upon motion of Mr. Kemp a special buy a bale committee consisting of T. B. Noble, M. J. Gardner and J. T. Young was appointed and the secretary was authorized to give as much of his time as possible to this work. The contract under which the bales are bought was read for the information of the members. It limits the buying to tenant farmers and pledges the seller of the bale to reduce his acreage at least twenty-five per cent. To Entertain Excursionists. A. L. Huey brought up the question of excursionists for the Fort Worth excursionists who will be here Thursday. He said that the Gainesville party which visited this city several weeks ago had some home somewhat peeved at Wichita Falls because this city provided no entertainment for them. He said that the directors pointed out that Gainesville's excursion was advertising a labor day celebration in competition with this city's observance of the day, and that therefore no entertainment could rightly have been expected.

It was decided to have automobiles provided for the Fort Worth visitors and to take them for a ride through the city and out to the lake. All of those present who own automobiles promised to use them and J. W. Thomas and J. B. Marlow were constituted a committee to secure the use of at least eighty cars for the occasion. The directors then adjourned. Those present were: R. E. Huff, Frank Kell, C. W. Bean, Myler O'Reilly, J. C. Ward, F. A. Kemp, A. L. Huey, Frank Chittman, J. B. Marlow, T. B. Noble, H. B. Hines, A. H. COTTON PRICES RANGE FROM 7 TO 8 CENTS

Buyers Only Filling Orders and Market is Very Uncertain—Little Sold

Local cotton buyers are quoting seven and a half cents for middling here today, but very little cotton is being sold and the market is almost at a complete standstill. This price is an advance of about one cent from last week's quotations and the "buy a bale" propaganda is believed to be largely responsible for the advance. Cotton men state that no cotton is being offered locally, but that some is being bought in neighboring communities. Yesterday one cotton firm here was offering over eight cents but is not willing to give that much today. Merchants and others who have bought bales from farmers are beginning to believe the price will soon reach a figure that will make their investment a profitable one.

ENROLLMENT OF 1950 AT OPENING OF SCHOOL

Increase Over Opening Last Year of Nearly 100—Number Enroll in Kindergarten

The public school term was started with an enrollment of 1950, according to figures compiled today by Superintendent Carpenter; this is an increase of several hundred over the enrollment at the opening of school a year ago and indicates a much heavier attendance for the year. The kindergarten opened with an encouraging number of pupils, and prospects of still more later on. No books are required in this school, the children being taught to use their hands in the making of various simple articles. Preparations are well under way for the renewal of athletic and literary activities at the high school and these features of the student life will be given particular attention this year.

Germany Under War Conditions

News notes compiled from latest available German newspapers by the New York Post

"My husband has gone into the war." Signs with these or similar words are displayed in many store windows in Berlin. They are a silent appeal to the customers to assist the wife of the soldier in continuing the business, and it seems as if these appeals find ready response. Ignas Reising and his wife, Sophie Reising, peasants residing in Gaiselbach, Bavaria, sent their six sons and three sons-in-law into the war. When the soldiers went out, somebody asked their mother why she did not cry like the other women present. "I wait till I have real cause for that," she answered.

Of Prince Friedrich Wilhelm Zur Lippe, who died in the campaign in Belgium, the Hamburger Fremdenblatt says: "He died as a real hero. Though severely injured, he seized the flag of his regiment and carried it before his troops. But soon he was pierced by several bullets and fell dead on the ground." In an official list of casualties published by the German military authorities the remark occurs here and there that no injury has been found on the body of the dead soldier remunerated. The general opinion is that such deaths resulted from the effects of the pressure of the air caused by the modern projectiles. Especially the pressure upon the inner aural organs is said to be fatal.

In Ratibor (Silesia, Prussia), an Englishman named Castang was detained by the police on some suspicion very soon proved to be groundless and was released after a short time. For joy, and, as he said, "thankful for the decent treatment," he offered to pay the men at the police station fifty marks, and when this donation was refused he simply left the fifty marks on the table and went away. The money was then given to some relief fund. The members of the American Society of Physicians, in Berlin, have placed themselves at the disposal of the medical authorities of the German army.

In Steglitz, a so-called country place near Berlin (with a population of 72,634) the Boy Scouts were called upon to help in distributing the mail, as many mail carriers have been drafted for the army.

The German Imperial postoffice announced that owing to the declination of its forces of officers by the mobilization, large auxiliary forces will be needed; they are to be recruited from the number of those who lost their trade or occupation and employment in consequence of the war and its restriction on business, especially from the number of those who have to take care of other members of their families. Delegates of the various commercial and industrial bodies and societies met in Berlin on August 25 for discussion of ways and means to overcome the lack of employment. It was stated that during the previous three days about 7,000 laborers had been sent out of Berlin to places where they could be given remunerative work. The number of the unemployed in Berlin was estimated at 10 per cent of the entire labor population of the capital. The inmates of the Hamburg prisons, of their own motion, let the prison authorities know that they were willing to give up part of their wages for the benefit of the Red Cross and other relief associations. At the same time they handed in out of their payment for work done in the prison 5 to 20 marks each. As the Hamburger Fremdenblatt reports, the Danish Minister of the Interior decreed that wives and other members of the families of foreigners who have been drafted for military service shall be assisted, in case those wives and family members were born in Denmark, just as if their husbands or fathers, etc., had been drafted into the service of the Danish army. In the country places and small towns of Prussian Silesia, all saloons where brandies and other distilled liquors are sold were ordered closed by the police. The grain dealers of Hamburg decided in a large mass meeting not to trade any more according to the so-called London contract, but to abandon this form permanently and to trade only according to the German-Dutch contract.

S. W. Inglish of Austin, state fire marshal, was a visitor in Wichita Falls today and as a result of his inspection of conditions here, it is believed that a reduction in insurance rates may be ordered by the state board. Mr. Inglish, in company with J. T. Young, J. C. Ward and Fire Chief McClure, inspected the water works and local equipment and was much pleased by the improvements that have been made. He thought it probable the board would take the improved conditions into consideration and that a reduction might be secured.

MAKE BUY-A-SALE PURCHASE THROUGH SECRETARY THOMAS

In order to systematize the "buy-a-bale," movement, it is requested that all Wichitans who buy bales consult Secretary Thomas of the Chamber of Commerce before making the purchase. This will prevent buying more than one bale from any one farmer and will enable the buying of bales where the most good will be accomplished. It is reported that some efforts have been made to impose on local business men and this can be prevented if the buying is done through Secretary Thomas.

Farmers who sell their cotton under this plan will be expected to sign a contract of sale setting forth their compliance with the conditions laid down by the Merchants' Association and the mass meeting.

DAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN STATE LEGISLATURE

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Sept. 15.—A resolution by Morris of Victoria, was introduced this morning requesting the state treasurer to furnish a statement of the amount in various funds on hand and how the funds would be available for relief of the farmers. The resolution declared there is more than $2,500,000 in the state treasury and it proposes to see if any of the money can be used to aid the farmers.

Two bills were introduced in the House, one by Hunter for the creation of a commission of arbitration and awards. This measure would create what is known as the commission of appeals in Texas and would relieve the supreme court. Writ of error and other law questions would be referred to this commission by the supreme court. The commission would consist of six persons at a salary of $4000 each. The other measure was the Reedy bill for pooling warehouse receipts and issuing debentures. The Savage resolution that the members of the House be supplied with copies of the legislative manual was adopted. The Senate defeated the Willacy amendment that state banks shall not loan any of their reserves outside of Texas for more than 30 days. After this the bill was temporarily side tracked and the Senate passed finally the bill for divorcing oil mills and kites.

The Senate recessed until three o'clock this afternoon.

Protect Yourself from Fraud—and Your Children from Torture

THE trade mark you see above enters upon its forty-third year of existence. It started as an emblem of honesty in the manufacture of footwear.

There's a lot of shoes with cheap, imitation leather in their construction, and thrown together by cheap workmanship, to sell at a price. They are invariably unbranded—unnamed.

Get this point firmly fixed in your mind. This trade mark is placed on Selz Shoes for your protection. It's there because they were made in the Royal Blue Factory in Chicago and Selz stands back of them, if they go wrong.

The founder of the institution, bearing that name, determined that "SELZ" should never go on any pair of shoes that could not be recommended as honest throughout, and of the best leather obtainable for the purpose intended.

This reputation has been maintained through all these years, to the credit of not only the manufacturer, but the dealer who offers them to his trade.

That's why they are guaranteed in a manner that leaves no doubt.

—why you find this store specializing in Selz Shoes for men, women and children.

—why it takes the output of ten big specialty factories to supply the people of the United States with Selz Shoes.

—why over 6,000,000 people in the United States are wearing Selz Shoes today.

—why you get more for your dollar in Selz Shoes than in any other shoe you can buy.

Look at the style in those we illustrate here. Come to our store and see them, try them on, wear them. They will prove to be the best shoes you ever bought. They will, likewise, prove a great saving to you in actual dollars and cents. There's no economy in buying a pair of shoes for two dollars, that's out of shape in a few weeks and lasts only one-half as long as a Selz shoe.

People are beginning to realize this. They are demanding better shoes. They are insisting upon knowing who makes them.

Look at the children's shoes made by Selz—the Liberty Bell and Selz Waukenplast. They are made just as carefully and of the same quality of leather as the best Selz men's and women's footwear. Children need a shoe that's right in fit and wear. They need the room in their shoes. Come here and see the Selz Shoes for Boys and Girls. Go elsewhere first, if you like, but come here. You will then clearly understand the claims we make for the Selz Children's line.

Let your shoes this fall be Selz. They will plead their own case thereafter.

Englands Indian Troops May Become Important Factor

London, Sept. 15.—The throwing by England of thousands of her Indian fighters into France to combat Germany and the importation of French African troops into the field have given amazing aspect to the international war. Germany now is opposing English, French, Belgians, Russians, Hindus and Africans.

The remarkably short time after the beginning of war in which the British India troops were seen crossing Canada from the Pacific to the Atlantic astonished the Germans. It indicated that the Asiatic soldiers were on their way about the same instant that war was formally declared by Great Britain.

England, it necessary, can pour into France from India 238,000 trained men, of which 75,000 are trained British troops, including some of the crack regiments of the royal army, the remainder being native Indian soldiers, fit comrades on the firing lines of France's Turcos and Spahis.

According to the official figures, the strength of the Indian army already on its way to the front is: Infantry, 122,000; cavalry, 25,000; artillery, 10,000; engineers, etc., 6,000.

The main strength of the Indian army is in its infantry. Brahmans, Jats, Rajputes, Sikhs, Punjabis, Dogras, Maharrattas and Gurkhas, all of castes and several religions. Mohammedan, Hindu, Buddhist, all its warriors who will lay down their lives for the British and the dark-skinned regiments of the Indian army are a fighting force hard to stop.

Though all arrangements for offense and defense in the present great war have been kept profoundly secret, it is probable that the order to bring the Indian troops to France was not given without long and careful thought on the part of the war office.

only enemy and the Kaiser pretty much occupied at home and in China with defending the Fatherland, it was deemed almost a certainty that nothing could occur in India that would require the presence of troops there. Among the most interesting as well as the most formidable fighting outfits in the Indian army are the Gurkha rifles. These little fighters who come from the region of Nepal and trace their descent from the Rajputa would rather fight than eat. In appearance they are deceiving. They are short, stocky little men, of somewhat the appearance of the Japanese, only a bit heavier. They wear perpetual grins on their faces and the grins do not come off when they go into a fight.

The Gurkhas were conquered in 1814 by the British after years of fighting, and have become loyal subjects of England. When the Gurkha regiments were first made a part of the Indian army they did not seem to take well to organized methods of warfare. It was not until the army authorities allowed them to make their national weapon, the kukri, a long, curved knife, a part of their equipment that the Gurkhas regained their prestige as fighters. Their instructors never could make them use the bayonet.

In close quarters the Gurkha throws away his rifle and takes to his knife, which he uses with telling effect. When charged by cavalry the Gurkhas stand up and fire at the horsemen until they come within close range. Then the natives drop to the ground. As the cavalry passes over them the little Indians are up and busily at work hamstringing the horses and clinging to the stirrups, stabbing the riders.

This method of fighting is not unlike that of the French Turcos, who also play "possum" when charged by a heavy enemy. The Gurkhas, like the Scotch Highlanders, use bagpipes and they carry their pipes with them when they go into battle.

If the German infantrymen come in contact with the Gurkhas it is likely they will receive the surprise of their lives, for these Indians do not fight like European troops. Once they are launched on a charge they do not stop until they come to grips with the enemy. No matter how many fall, the survivors do not retreat. In contrast to the little Gurkhas are the Sikhs and the Pathans, who are big men, more than ordinary size. They, too, are brave fighters, but they have taken to the methods of modern warfare.

MEXICAN CONSTITUTIONALIST STAMPS NO GOOD HERE
By Associated Press
Laredo, Texas, Sept. 15.-Mexican constitutionalist stamps are no good in the United States, according to a recent departmental ruling and such postage arriving here has been ordered held while a "postage due" notice is sent the addressee. This clears a complicated situation due to the fact that the de facto government is not a party to the international postal agreement.
For the first time in two years, in fact, almost since the Madero assassination, mails are now being sent direct to Mexico City and interior points from the southwest, instead of being diverted by Vera Cruz. This has been made possible by the resumption of railroad service from the border.
SERVIANS CONTINUE PURSUIT OF AUSTRIANS
By Associated Press
Nish, Serbia, 5:10 p. m., Sept. 14.-The Serbians issued an official statement today that their northern army after taking Semlin, continues a successful pursuit of the Austrians and that large quantities of supplies were captured.
The Berlin Produce Exchange is one of the few exchanges kept open in spite of the war. But trading in futures has been demoralized since August 1, and only prices for cash commodities and in contracts for immediate and real delivery are quoted. This serves the purpose of making known the value of the present crops.
Special care is being taken for keeping up the traffic on the waterways in Germany in order to facilitate the conveying of foodstuffs, coal and other materials. Enough vessels are available, only the men for operating them are missing or lacking, and therefore those members of the Landsturm who are unemployed in the shipping trade have not been drafted for military service.
Card of Thanks
We wish to express our thanks to all friends and neighbors for aid and assistance rendered after the death of our husband and father, which occurred September 11th.

There have been thousands of boys and girls in our public schools in the past who have been stumbling along, hating their lessons, scolded and punished by their teachers and parents, just because they had a defect of vision, of which they and their parents and teacher were ignorant.

Parents, do you know that your children have good eyesight? Do you know that they are not "long-sighted," "near-sighted," or color-blind? Do they often complain of being tired, or of having a headache when they return home from school? Do they dislike school? Are they sleepy and dull when trying to learn their home tasks? Is it hard for them to keep up with their class? Are they inclined to "Play hooky"? Then do not punish and scold them, until you first find out if there is not some physical cause behind it all, so that you may not regret later and blame yourself for neglect or injustice to one of your own.

THE WILL OF GOD.

It seems to us quite a protentious sacrilege for the rulers of Europe to make public the statement that it is the will of an all wise, just God to be in harmony with such devastating carnage as the present conflict abrogates. Our belief in the wisdom and justice of God causes us to believe that the doings of such leaders, is prompted by greed and avarice only, and the direct workings of his Satonic Majesty.

This great nation of ours is an example of peace, harmony and prosperity, and, in spite of the pessimist, we are going to receive our share of the blessings that these virtues always bring. We are always ready to contribute our share by bringing gladness to the hearts of those who have been made sad.

Remember, we are always at your service.

What CERTIFIED DRUGS MEAN—Drug Certification means that each drug certified is packed in an impervious container with the certificate of the chemist who examined and analyzed the drug. The pure, food and drug law of June 30, 1906, was a blow at adulteration, but was ineffective in that a thousand chemists would be required to pass on the drugs sold in Texas alone. The manufacturers of the RED DIAMOND LINE of certified drugs have taken time by the forelock by employing for all of his time one of the three great chemists of America. There are only three great chemists in America: Joseph P. Remington of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, Charles Caspari of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, Desha Schletterbeck of the University at Ann Arbor. Mr. Caspari passes on the RED DIAMOND LINE at the factory in St. Louis, where drugs and chemicals are analyzed in factory runs of thousands of pounds at a time and the certificates made that are to go into each package. The RED DIAMOND LINE of certified drugs goes the pure food and drug law one better. It is more than the law requires. Certified drugs are for your protection.

MEASURING THE HUMAN FORM

Measuring is a fine art that has been mastered by few. The measurement must be figured to a mathematical certainty. The skilled mechanic who measures the parts of an intricate machine may seem to do wonders, but his work is not complicated at all, when compared with the work of the man who measures human bodies correctly. Machines are all the same, but the tailor who has laid the tape on thousands of men has never found two alike. Measuring a man is not merely a matter of the figures on the tape, but the contour and lines peculiar to individuals must be considered. To make a measurement that guarantees a fit requires the eye of an artist and a hand experienced. Tailoring is our business and we know no other. We do one thing and do it well. We can make your fall suit a satisfaction and a pleasure to you.
