CARTOON CAUSES TROUBLE IN HOUSE

BY CLOSE VOTE RESOLUTION OF CENSURE IS VOTED DOWN

REFLECTION UPON GOVERNOR

Cartoon Caricatures Proposed Bank of Texas—Is Circulated By Representative Morris

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Oct. 7.—The House today refused by a vote of fifty-eight to fifty-six to censure Representative Morris for circulating yesterday in the House a caricature for a design for the proposed Bank of Texas. This cartoon included a scene of convicts stealing away with the proposed bank's funds. The cartoons were distributed when Mr. Morris had finished his address. Representative Watson said the cartoon was a "vile and scurrilous reflection upon the governor." Representative Spradley said there was nothing in the cartoon to reflect on the governor. Mr. Watson and Mr. Spradley had an argument on the floor, after which Mr. Spradley apologized. The bank of Texas bill was then taken up, with Representative Tiner speaking in opposition on constitutional grounds.

CONSIDERATION OF BILL BEGINS IN UPPER HOUSE

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Oct. 7.—By agreement the Senate today began considering the Bank of Texas bill with the understanding no vote should be reached today nor would the amendment to strike out the enacting clause be offered today. Speaker Clark offered an amendment that loans be made direct to the farmer on produce at the rate of four per cent and announced he would not support the bill unless this amendment is adopted. Senate Judiciary committee No. 2 made a favorable report on the West-brook-Bradford bill to reduce cotton acreage in Texas. Attorney General Looney had told the legislature that such a bill is constitutional on the ground that the legislature has a right to preserve property value. He cited instances where such laws were enacted during the civil war by other Southern states. The committee on privileges and elections made a report that in its opinion Senator Morrow had not been displaced as president pro tem of the Senate. The Clark amendment was defeated, sixteen to eleven, the friends of the bill voting against the amendment. This led the opponents of the measure to claim that the defeat of the bank bill in the Senate is certain. They point out that if the Clark amendment stands the bank of Texas would be required to lend money direct to the farmers while the state banks would have no participation in the matter.

WOMAN'S EXAMINING TRIAL IS HELD THIS AFTERNOON

From Wednesday's Daily. At the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Helen Raubogger, charged in a complaint with assault to murder it developed in the testimony this afternoon before Justice Howard that the defendant at one time was a private secretary to a governor of Kansas. The husband himself appearing none the worse for the pistol wound in his shoulder was the first witness placed on the stand. His testimony was practically the same as the story that appeared in The Times Monday. He said that after he had taken the gun from her he had placed it in a trunk and that she had bathed his wound. He said she appeared greatly agitated. He admitted having one time previously been on a spree and that this had greatly disturbed his wife. He was still on the stand at 3 o'clock.

The Producers' Association is determined not to accept less than 50c for its oil and the pipe line is equally determined not to pay above 40c. The Producers proposed to the Magnolia Pipe Line that they would accept 40c for their oil contingent upon the balance of 10c being paid if the supreme court sustained the commission in its order prohibiting sales for less than 50c. This proposition was declined by the Magnolia people. Unless the commission voluntarily rescinds its order, it is believed that a complete shutdown is inevitable.

Observers Hear Explosion and See Little Boat Soon Disappear Under Waves

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 7.—A German torpedo boat destroyer, cruising off the mouth of the Ems in the North Sea, has been sunk by a mine, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to Reuters. Observers on the island heard a sudden explosion and a huge mass of water arose from under the bows of the destroyer. The boat keeled over and disappeared under the waves within three minutes. The periscopes of two submarines appeared on the scene. Their nationality could not be ascertained, but they probably were German. A German cruiser is reported to have arrived in time to save the crew of the destroyer.

AUSTRIANS CLAIM TO HAVE SURPRISED RUSSIAN TROOPS

By Associated Press. Vienna, via London, Oct. 7.—The following official statement from the general staff was given out here today: "October 6.—The sudden advance of German and Austrian forces in Russian Poland seems to have completely surprised the Russians. Although they moved strong forces from Galicia to the north, they were repulsed and driven back across the Vistula by the allies while making an effort to cross the river in the direction of Apacow. Our troops captured a bridge held by the Russians near Sandomir. In Galicia we are advancing in accordance with plans."

Von Kluck, Reinforced, Holds His Own Then Takes Offensive—End Seems Farther Off

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 7.—1:10 p. m. The conflict along the rivers of northern France, although now in its twenty-sixth day shows less sign of an early end than it did two days ago. General Von Kluck then appeared dangerously threatened by the allies' enveloping movement. Today, having obtained heavy reinforcements from an unknown source, he apparently is attempting to outflank the British and French lines. This counter stroke is viewed here as the supreme feature of the situation in the western theater of war and its full significance can be understood only by those who are in the battle. Simultaneously with his newly begun turning movement General Von Kluck has been trying to cut through the center of the allies' extended left at Lassigney. The official French communication says this attempt was foiled, but it is not doubted that the effort will be renewed and in event of success it would compel the French left to retire toward the coast. The fighting described in the official French report in this neighborhood as "more and more violent," must it is believed reach Antwerp and largely influence the fate of that fortress.

The surest way of raising the siege of Antwerp would be the success of the French turning movement on the Oise. Infantry Charges Cease. Except on the left of the allied armies, the great French battle front is a gigantic sniping engagement in which riflemen have been replaced by batteries of heavy artillery masked along the heights of the Aisne and the Meuse. These desultory artillery duels seem to have succeeded the desperate infantry charges with which both sides sought to clear out each other's extended lines during the early battle stages. One result of the present stage of operations has been an appreciable lessening of casualties. Observers recently at the front declare the allies are well content to play this waiting game. They now outnumber the Germans and for this reason can give their troops rest while the invaders must keep their men constantly in the trenches. The most important development of the fight in northern France is the reported movement of a German army reported to be 20,000 strong southward toward Belgium toward the French border. Berlin military critics recently predicted the allies would meet disaster if they stretched their lines on the left too far and it is believed here the Germans are seeking now to crush this French enveloping movement. Both Germans and Austrians claim to have checked the Russians and gained successes but as usual the Russian statements

ENGLAND TO BE INVADED BY FLEET OF ZEPPELINS?

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 7.—A Daily Express correspondent at the Hague says Germans indicate Count Zeppelin is at Wilhelmshaven, the North Sea point from which the great air raid on the British Islands is expected to start. One paper published an interview with the Count in which he is quoted as saying he has not forgotten England and will prove it soon. It also is reported, the correspondent says, that Count Zeppelin was summoned recently by Emperor William who told the count he relied on him for a great work and offered to make him commander in chief of the German air fleet. The count smilingly refused but said he would accept the title when he returned from England. The Zeppelin forces are working day and night at Wilhelmshaven and another station is being established at Emden.

DISPATCHES INDICATE EARLY FALL OF ANTWERP

Two More Forts Declared To Be In German's Hands—Unable To Resist Siege Guns

By Associated Press. Berlin, Oct. 7.—(Via Wireless to Sayville). Despite general expectations of a slight pause in the German advance on Antwerp, it was reported today in government quarters that two more forts had fallen into German hands. They were Fort Kessel and Fort Brockchen respectively east and north of Lierre. They were no longer able to resist the German siege guns. The capitulation of Antwerp according to German military authorities can only be a matter of a couple of days.

SUCCESS OF RIGHT WING CLAIMED BY GERMANS

By Associated Press. Berlin, Oct. 7, via Wireless to Sayville.—The German general staff in its report today on the situation in the west says the fighting on the German right wing in France has been successful. The following official communication was given out by headquarters staff of the German army wing the evening of October 6: "Continuous French flanking movements against our right wing have extended the big battle front until it is now north of Arras. West of Lilly and west of Lens, nine miles northeast of Arras our advance guards are in touch with the enemy's cavalry. No decision has yet been reported in our counter attacks along the line between Arras, Alberta and Roye. The situation between the Oise and the Meuse in the vicinity of Verdun and in Alsace-Lorraine. "In the eastern theatre of war the Russians advancing against East Prussia through the province of Suwalki have been checked. We have been successful in our attack against the enemy near the town of Suwalki. This movement began yesterday. In Russian Poland our troops on October 4 dislodged a Russian bridge from an entrenched position between Opatow and Ortrowick. The Russians lost 3000 prisoners and several machine guns. There was an engagement October 5 near Radon between our forces and two divisions and a half of Russian cavalry with some reserves. The enemy was repulsed and driven back on Ivan-gorod."

NIGHT ATTACKS BY GERMANS NEW FEATURE OF THE WAR

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 7.—2:08 p. m. The following official communication was given out in Paris this afternoon: "On our left wing the battle continues with great violence. The opposing forces' front extends into the region between Lens, nine miles northeast of Arras and Labasse, thirteen miles southeast of Lille and are lengthened by masses of cavalry which are in groups as far as Armentieres, nine miles northwest of Lilly and virtually on the Belgian frontier. "On the front from the Somme to the Meuse there is nothing to report. "In the Woevre the enemy made a new effort to stop our progress but his attack again failed. "In Russia the German army, defeated in the battle of Augustowo which lasted from September 25 to October 3, tried to stop the Russian pur-

SINews OF WAR

It is one of the grim realities of war that men are far cheaper than horses. They can be more easily replaced. They are not so costly to feed; nor does what they eat involve the bulk of transport necessary to sustain a large cavalry force.

When an advance is checked, much is said about the exhaustion of the men. Exhaustion of the horses is far more serious matter, because the men can soon rest or be recruited, but the lost horses can only be replaced at a costly expenditure of time.

In the German staff record and the study of the Boer war, the highest praise of any general, after Lord Kitchener, was given to the present Field Marshal French. He has the rare talent of handling cavalry in a mass.

But French used up his horses in the Boer war at a rate which scared the war office and the British taxpayer, two institutions which do not always realize that you cannot have omelets without breaking eggs.

The horse supply of horses is limited, and the effect of commandeering is likely to be felt in next year's plowing. The exhaustion of the harvest is well enough to talk of women and old men attending and sowing and harvesting. But the horse is an imperative necessity in such agricultural work, and his absence will be severely felt.

The horse is indeed one of the sinews of war. Perhaps another, equally important, though different is gasoline. The exhaustion of the two essentials may be a matter of life and death to Germany at no distant date.

At a conference of representative bankers of the South, held at St. Louis yesterday, a plan was launched for the raising of $150,000,000 to be loaned on cotton at not more than six cents per pound, and the plan has been or will be submitted to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo for his endorsement or approval before its final adoption.

THE LEGISLATURE VIEWED BY EXCHANGES

There seem to be those who are disposed to kick Colquitt's bank proposition around.—Cleburne Review.

Governor Colquitt is confident that his bank plan will carry. If we could had the governor's sense of humor, we'd give Mark Twain a close run for his laurels.—Corpus Christi Caller.

Well, the governor submitted it. Now it's up to the thinking members of the Texas Legislature to put the bank bill where it properly should be—in the junk heap.—Greenville Herald.

Proposed bank legislation has resulted in the disclosure that there are banker members of the legislature. Wonder if they were bankers before they were legislators, or legislators before they got to be bankers.—Orange Leader.

The third called session of the Texas Legislature is now striving to relieve the distress caused in the state by the European war. Not as much good has resulted from the continued efforts of these would-be saviors of the country as from the simple plan of a private citizen.—Luling Signal.

Candidate Ferguson, so far as we can recall, has broken a sphulxite silence only twice since his triumph at the primary. He first advised the farmers to sell a portion of their cotton at eight cents or better, and published disapproval of the proposed central bank. For a gubernatorial nominee, Mr. Ferguson is a wonder at saying nothing. Here's hoping he can say word equally as well.—Cuero Star.

It now seems that Colquitt's Bank of Texas is doomed to defeat. It is not only meeting opposition in the legislature, but the people over the State are holding mass meetings and instructing their representatives to oppose the measure. Probably had the bill been taken up immediately, when it was first brought up, it might have been squeezed through, but now we can see no hope for it. There is one thing, however, that the establishment of this bank would mean—it would afford more political jobs for the friends of the administration. And if the selection should be made in this matter as they have been made in others we are afraid it would be a failure from the beginning.—Yokum Herald.

Yes, take the permanent school fund of Texas—the only legacy bequeathed to future generations of children yet to be born—divide it up and hand it out to state, county and municipal corporations to do business on, under the guise of a state emergency. If the vote could be submitted to the people of Texas, they would bury the bill and hang in effigy the man who instigated it. This is our opinion.—Oakwood Oracle.

Sul Ross was elected Governor of Texas on an expense of $250. It took $21,000 to nominate Jim Ferguson. Sul Ross may have been wrong on some things, but he is right in believing that we need reforms along this line, and that the illiterate, purchasable vote should be cut out. Women can not vote, but the illiterate Mexican, negro and sorry white men can say who shall rule over her and make the laws.—Devine News.

President Wilson and Colonel Harvey, editor of the North American Review, are on friendly terms. Once more as indicated by a Washington dispatch which states that, at the invitation of the President, Colonel Harvey called at the White House and was closeted with the President for an hour, during which time the war in Europe was discussed, and incidentally, political conditions in the United States. It was their first meeting since 1911, when the breach between President Wilson, then a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, and Colonel Harvey and Colonel Watterston occurred. Both were boosting Wilson for the presidency, but at the suggestion of Mr. Wilson, Colonel Harvey, then editor of Harper's Weekly, withdrew his support. Colonel Watterston did likewise.

Each succeeding day the press dispatches tell us the allies are making steady progress, but the Germans seem to be right where they were twenty days ago.

One thing about the approaching world's series—when a team gets beat on it won't call it a strategic retirement.

With Przemysl and Neuchateau in Europe, Chihuahua and Oaxaca still holding out in Mexico and such things as Kiao Chau and Tsing Tau across the Pacific, these are indeed joyous days for proof readers.

A contributor to Everybody's Magazine tells how an irate woman cursed her husband of the drink habit after he had spent money on "booze" that she had planned to use for getting needed clothes for the children. She said: "I just let him go to bed, and after he's been sleeping long enough to be pretty near sober, I goes and news him up in the bed clothes, takes her brooches that one for exorcising the 'devil' that sometimes gets in men—and women, too.—Houston Post.

A movement is on foot to send a "Christmas ship" to Europe from Texas in December, so that the children of the soldiers on the firing line may not be totally overlooked. The plan is to send an immense consignment of Texas pecans and peanuts, among other things, for the children on the other side. Texas raises a large amount of both pecans and peanuts and it is thought that such a gift would be an appropriate one. It looks now like the approaching Christmas will be one of the grimest of the world has ever seen. Men who observed it last December in the happiness and comfort of their homes will be standing in snowy trenches or buried already underneath some battlefield. In Europe, the coming of Christmas will but serve to accentuate the suffering, the privation and the destitution. At best it will be a travesty; yet we on this side can bring a little cheer and a little light. The Times hopes the "Christmas ship" will sail in due time, with a full cargo.

THE COTTON MILLS OF TEXAS

Comparatively few people know that there are sixteen cotton mills now in successful operation in Texas. One of these mills, located at Post City, and established by the late C. W. Post, is unique in the number of processes to which it submits the cotton. Most mills are devoted to a single process or at more two or three. The Post from the farmer's wagon and carries it through every process of manufacture until it is converted into sheets and pillow cases of highest quality. The cotton is ginned, spun and woven, bleached, hemmed, the finished product being ready for the ultimate consumer. It is stated that this mill pays its women employees from $12 to $20 a week, competes in the markets of the world with the best products of the eastern mills and makes a handsome profit under an efficient management. If such a mill is a profitable investment in this West Texas town, it would be well for Texans to study its methods and management and plan to establish mills over the State to handle the biggest money crop of the State.—Willis Point Chronicle.

About twenty years ago cotton was selling for about five cents per pound. That was the top of the market. There was no European war then, and the people got by in good shape. This year Wichita county will produce about three times the amount of cotton on about the same number of acres as was produced last year, and while last year's crop was sold for 12 cents per pound or better, if the 1914 crop sells for an average of eight cents per pound it will bring to the cotton farmers of Wichita county considerable more money than they received for the total cotton crop of 1913. Besides this, a most abundant feed crop has been produced and under such conditions it really seems that there is little cause for excuse for worrying.

Gov. Colquitt, like some other men, seems to have changed his way of thinking about the referendum idea of government. Not more than two years ago he was of the opinion that the referendum idea smelled strongly of populism and socialism. Confronted now with what looks like defeat of his pet measure, the Bank of Texas, he proposes to refer it direct to the people. That is all right. The people are fully competent to pass on the matter. As to what their verdict will be is a different matter. In our own opinion, the people of Texas have used wretched poor judgment in the selection of their State officers—that of governor, for instance, and it is possible they might do so again. However, it is properly a matter for them to settle. Let the majority rule, it matters not what the verdict will be. If they make a mistake, and if by such mistake they wreck the public school fund, they will have no one to blame but themselves.

THE SILENT PARTNER

"You see them fat cattle down on that valley forty," said Zeke Jones, who was standing with a visitor on the veranda. "They're all mine; raised 'em myself and nobody else has a nickle's interest in 'em. Over on 'other side the creek is 200 fattenin' hogs or more, that'll soon be ready to sell. This ranch contains 100 acres, all brought and paid for. I don't own any more land, sir." "When I come in '56 I only had a skinny boss, a covered wagon and the clothes on my back. Now you see what I got"—with a side sweep of his arm—"everything you see from this porch is mine—all bought and paid for, and I ain't under no obligations to anybody but myself for 'em."

The proud rancher hitched up the spring wagon and drove his admiring friend over the place. They got back shortly before noon, and Zeke told his guest to sit in the parlor while he put the team away. With a flourish he opened the door, was timidly opened, and a little, worn-faced woman, dressed in faded clothes, came in. She was followed by several rosy-cheeked, tow-headed youngsters, who gabbled about the caller in a friendly way. "What nice little things," said the visitor, as he laid his hand on the head of one of them. "All yours, I presume, Mrs. Jones." "No, not mine," said the tired little woman hastily; "they're Zeke's. I'm just their mother."

Our views toward Philippine independence do not all "libe" with those of Minority Leader Mann. Mr. Mann in a vigorous attack on the administration Philippine bill in the House the other day declared that Philippine independence, to which the bill points, means a surrender of American strategic command of the Pacific, "the fighting ground of the future," and that a conflict between the United States, "commercial or otherwise," was inevitable. Mr. Mann evidently looks upon the Philippines, in case of conflict, "commercial or otherwise," as an asset to the United States. We believe, to the contrary, that they are a liability, whose possession has always been and will always be a source of danger to the United States. We are not particularly apprehensive about the United States in such hands as they are being coming into it. But were we involved the first step of the enemy would be, as ours was in '98, to seize the unprotected Philippines and tell us to come take 'em. With our National pride involved we should most certainly make the attempt, and we'd likely come ourselves, in the end, just where Russia found itself in 1914, as a result of trying to wage a war 5,000 miles from its base. The democrats were defeated in 1900 on its anti-imperialism plank. But we believe if that plank were submitted again now it would have a widely different result, to which result the present European war would be at least a contributing factor. The Philippines want independence and don't want us; and we have no particular need for the Philippines except as a good place to sink more millions of money and as a possible source of serious trouble in the future. We'd like to "wash them on somebody else."—Denton Record and Chronicle.

Those who read both morning and evening papers for war news are having it demonstrated more and more plainly that it is the evening paper that gives them the news first. When the evening papers go to press, the day is over in London, in Paris and in Petrograd. A writer in the October Review of Reviews tells how the New York papers fared: "The two newspapers with the largest morning circulations in the city showed an increase of twelve per cent during the first week of the war excitement. This later dropped back to practically normal figures. The big evening papers had a better and more lasting response. Their first increase was about forty per cent, of which something like one-half was held. The difference in time—five hours from London and seven from Petrograd—accounts for this advantage. War news shuts down usually by midnight, so that the evening papers catch all that is going, leaving mainly warmed-over material to the morning press. The latter endeavored to make up the lack of fresh material by featuring opinions."

Nearly twelve hundred bales of cotton had been ginned by the three gins of this city up to the close of Saturday's business, and the probability is that the gins at Iowa Park, Burk Burnett, Powiken Station and Electra have ginned fully as much. The government cotton report estimates that Wichita county will produce only about 10,000 bales this year, and if that estimate is correct, it would indicate that about one-fourth of the crop has already been picked and ginned. But there are those who contend that the county will produce about 25,000 bales this year, and The Times is rather inclined to take their estimate, rather than that of the government. Last year the county produced only about 4,000 bales, and it sold for an average of 12 cents per pound. If at that figure the cotton crop of the county last year brought to the cotton raisers the sum of $240,000. If the county produces 12,000 bales this year, and it is sold for an average of eight cents per pound it will bring to the cotton farmers of Wichita county the sum of $960,000, or $360,000 more than they received last year. Looking at the situation in that light it is rather a difficult problem to figure out how Wichita county farmers can be in a worse fix, financially, than they were last year. It is generally conceded that the acreage planted to cotton in the county this year is no greater than that of last year, and many contend it is less.

Senator Sheppard introduced a bill to reduce the salaries of all federal officials that were above $1,200 per annum. This included the salary of the President, members of Congress and all others, but the mere fact that such a bill was introduced is all the attention that has been given it, or that it is likely to receive. Expenses must be cut and more revenue must be raised, but Congress can be depended on not to help things out by trimming down the salaries of its members. They want all they can get, and it matters not to them how hard up their constituents may be. They are not going to help shoulder any of the burden of supporting the government by voting to cut down their own salaries—even for one year.

The Gainesville Evening Journal is among recent arrivals on The Times exchange desk and it appears to be a very creditable publication. The man behind the works is W. E. Hornaday; he formerly lived in Kansas, and the Lawrence, Kansas Journal-World says of him: "Mr. Hornaday is well known in Kansas; he was born in this State; the writer believes he is the greatest hustler he ever saw. Hornaday is a live wire."

A great deal has been said and written about German vandalism—notably that of firing a single shot at the cathedral of Rheims. But in this, as in all other cases, there were two sides of that story. At first we over here only got one side of it—that of the allies, but now comes the other side of the story, and it explains why the Germans fired on the cathedral. The allies were using its tower for observation purposes, and the Germans had to dislodge them and did it very effectively. So much for that, sob story.

Press dispatches say the German Emperor's sixth son is suffering from a heart affection. Why doesn't he marry the girl?

Fifty-two automobiles were sold in Wichita Falls in September, nearly double the average number per month. That doesn't look very much like hard times.

Why don't some fool punter get off something about the war being over in Europe?

The warring Nations—Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Russia—are using $9,245,000 head of horses, or about as many horses as they have soldiers, and the horses are being killed and wounded about as fast as the men, and the supply to draw from will not last long. That means well for the American American stock-breeder, and will serve to create a steady and growing demand at good prices for all the first-class horses he now has on hand.

Our advice to those who want to bet on Boston in the world's series is to take the money and buy a bale with it. One thing we want to know about this "wear-cotton-goods" idea—if we do wear cotton goods, will they keep on calling it wool and charging us wool prices for it?

There is no doubt about it. A war in which both sides can win a victory in one and the same battle is some war. And yet, that is about the way the European war news reads.

More new automobiles were registered in Wichita county for the month of September than for any previous month, and the number was about double that of September, 1913. If the buying of new autos is an indication of prosperity, then there is an abundance of it in Wichita county.

While we used to make fun of the Mexican style of war, which seems to be one-eight fighting and seven-eighths talking, we are now ready and willing to acknowledge our error; that sort beats Europe's variety seven ways from Sunday.

Manager Clark Griffith of the Washington Nationals has decided to put out of his ball team all the cigarette-smoking talent. He attributes the defeat of his club this year to the sole fact that some of the players, on whom he depended to win games, were cigarette fiends.

One very serious objection to the warehouse law is that it moves the office of the warehouse from the town in which it is located to the State central office at Austin, says the Temple Telegram. That is the way the people of Wichita Falls viewed the new warehouse law, and are, therefore, not operating their cotton warehouse under it. They prefer the old law, which does not force the business office to be located at the State capital.

Just about one year ago newspapers were saying that Tammany was dead as a political organization, but it is not so. The Tammany candidate for governor was nominated by a majority of about 75,000. Like Mr. Bryan, Tammany has been "killed" several times, but each time has come alive again. All of which makes us wonder if the G. O. P. can do likewise.

Now a Ghent dispatch says Prince Adolbert, the Kaiser's third son, has been killed. This completely cleans up the Kaiser's sons. From the war dispatches sixteen or twenty of them have been killed outright, several of them more than once; and fourteen or fifteen have died of their wounds. The most terrible mortality of the war has been in the sons of the Kaiser.—Topeka Capital.

We hope if Congress does decide to tax moving pictures for war revenue, it will put a double rate on the kind that show Indians wearing patent leather shoes.

The campaign just closed has been a revelation in the conducting of prohibition campaigns. Not a public speech made on either side and but very little advertising in the press or by circulars. No undue excitement; in fact, a campaign conducted along sane lines, in which the advertiser was left alone to make his own settlements without pressure or prejudice being brought to bear. The sovereign voters of this community have spoken, their sentiments have been recorded, and there will be no more carried out henceforth, after the allotted time for closing up the business, Mineral Wells will be a dry town, at least for two years.—Mineral Wells Index.

An employee of the M. K. & T. Railway company of Texas has brought suit against that concern for his discharge, setting up the claim that the only reason for his discharge was that he was not a union man. The road answers by alleging that, under its contract with a labor organization, it could do nothing but discharge the man, as its contract with the labor organization mentioned, plainly stipulated that none but union men should be employed. This suit will be watched with a great deal of interest, if it allowed to go to trial, which, doubtless it will. And if the man wins his suit the company will be forced to pay him wages for time lost while the suit is pending and probably put him back to work. In that event, there will be more trouble for the "Katy."

MADAME THESES' PROPHECY.

The following prophecy by Madame Thebes, the modern Sybil, was published at Paris in her almanac the latter part of 1913. The prophecy was given wide publicity at the time by the periodicals of the continent, notably of France and Italy.

"If 1913 had not been a very happy year for some of the people of the world, not more fortunate for many of them will be the year 1914.

"Misfortune will come to Germany. Fortunate will Germany be if her people see the dawn of 1915. The great and powerful empire is unstable and has its foundations in sand. The German of the south and north will line up and sell their hands in a terrible and cruel conflict, which is to take place. The imperial family is threatened; above all, the emperor. No more shall the eagle of victory adorn his arms of standards. In the midst of this disaster among themselves, there will be a movement and a cry for peace and friendship towards France.

"No better fate is reserved for Austria. That people will learn that the Tarpelin Rock is near the Campidoglio. They will not profit by a favorable movement. Their chance has passed. The Austrian army or authorities talk plainly of fire, blood and revolt. The Hungarians will be more fortunate. But Italy, kind at heart, will follow out of triumphal destiny. She will see a new pope and with him shall come great changes, a work more for the common good, pertaining

This is seventy cents under the high quotation of the war time prices, which at one time reached $6.80 a barrel.

C., Oct. 6.—The South Carolina legislature met in special session here today to act on a program of legislation to relieve troubled business conditions in this state. WILL SEE WORLD'S SERIES GAMES AT PHILADELPHIA

Charles W. Bean of This City Will Witness Opening Contest For Championship

From Wednesday's Daily. Wichita Falls will be represented at the world's series this year by C. W. Bean of this city. Mr. Bean left recently to place his daughter in a school at Lockport, New York, and will return by way of Philadelphia where he will witness the two opening games of the series on Friday and Saturday of this week. Whether he will see the games to be played at Boston Mr. Bean had not decided when he left here.

Local fans who have followed the fortunes of the Philadelphia and Boston teams are inclined to believe that the Athletics will win the championship. The wonderful performance of the Boston Nationals, however, in coming from last place to the league leadership in thirty-seven days has won them many friends here and they will have some supporters. Those who are backing their judgment with their funds are not offering any great odds on the Athletics.

Efforts are being made to schedule games with other elevens in North Texas and if the plans are carried out the team will have a busy season. Practice is being held every afternoon and the eleven is rounding into good form at a rapid rate.

BERLIN'S COMMENT ON EVENTS TO DATE

NEWSPAPER PREDICTS FRENCH PEOPLE WILL SOON TIRE OF WAR

THREE CORNERED AGREEMENT

Refers To "Bonats" of French and English Press and Makes Very Sharp Reply

The Hague, Sept. 15.—(By mail)—The present attitude of Germany towards England, France and Russia is described in an editorial of the Berlin Tageblatt of September 14, which after admitting that the German advance in the west has been checked, while considerable victories for the German arms have been obtained in the eastern theatre of war, says: "Europe is to be compared to the back of a cornered bear from whose sides the blood is streaming. We hardly speak of those of us who in the German colonies and in Kiao Chow are calling for help. We think of them, but do not speak of them. The English and French newspapers have recently said that the resolution of the powers of the triple entente not to make peace without consulting one another, had made a painful impression in Germany. We hope that this understanding between Messrs. Gray, Poincare and Lloyd George surprised nobody here. Those who think calmly and soberly before the first cannon shot was fired. But this formal assurance was merely made to show us the futility of this war and our successes in France."

POEM BY WICHITAN SET TO MUSIC AND SUNG HERE

T. A. Bradley Writes "In Kentucky" Which Will Be Published in Near Future

Inasmuch as this city has always been able to produce geniuses in nearly any form conceivable—from the inventor of a trolleyless car to the father of a device capable of reducing the consumption of gasoline in automobile propulsion—not great surprise should attach to the announcement that Wichita Falls harbors a poet, a real poet, and one that has finished with the ordinary jargon ofimericks or the slinging of doggerel. It is more than likely due to the extreme modesty of T. A. Bradley, the popular local haberdasher, that his poetic proclivities have not been discovered beyond the circle of his closest friends. However, his work is not of the experimental sort, but is of the proven type unquestionably. Mr. Bradley's style of text and meter is in some respects very much like that of Riley, the beloved Hoosier poet; his ideas are clear, close to nature and bear in the main upon all those things which are linked with the true, the beautiful and the good. At the suggestion of a number of his admirers, he recently composed a chain of verses in a neat little volume and presented them to his friends with his compliments. Those who have known of his work have expressed the highest praise and approval of his artistic conceptions. Several days ago a local lyric writer approached Mr. Bradley with the suggestion that one of his poems be set to music and sung here. He acquiesced and thus a new song was born in this city. A tentative musical arrangement was given the ballad by the aforesaid composer, and a really beautiful number entitled "In Kentucky" was the result. The song made its debut when the Wichita Falls quartet introduced it among the vocal offerings of its program at the opening of Harrington's drug store Monday night. And the quartet did the new-born full justice. It is the intention of the authors to publish the ballad in the near future. H. N. H.

DEPEND MUCH ON CATCHERS IN COMING WORLD'S SERIES

Each Team Has Two Reliable Men Behind Bat To Use in Championship Games

Announcements

For District Office For Judge 30th Judicial District: J. W. AKIN of Graham, Young County.

For District Attorney 30th Judicial District: LESLIE HUMPHREYS of Clay County.

By Associated Press. New York, October 7.—In all likelihood only four men will be called upon to work at the receiving ends of the batteries during the coming world's championship series between the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Nationals. Each club will undoubtedly depend upon the two catchers who have given a good account of themselves all through the playing season. They will take an important part in the struggle for as soon as a catcher dons the mitt and makes of his calling in a contest he assumes an immense amount of responsibility. In fact, there is no telling how many of the games are directed from behind the plate. In addition to exchanging signals with the pitcher as to the weakness of the batter, he has to be a quick thinker, keen sighted, always alert and invariably accurate in throwing to head off the base pilferers.

By Associated Press. Schang, on whom most of the work behind the bat devolved in the Athletics' Giants' series a year ago, bore the brunt of the work throughout this year's American League season. Last year he caught in four of the five games played in the world's series and may do the larger share again in the coming contests. He is twenty-four years old, is five feet, nine inches tall and weighs about 180 pounds. His experience in major league baseball dates back just four years. Ira Thomas, the veteran catcher, is another whom Manager Mack could call in case of accident to either of the two mentioned, but he has not been in the game much during the past season and it is not likely that his services will be needed. The Athletics also have a fourth catcher in McAVOY, late of the Baltimore International League team, but it is not at all probable that he will be called upon to go behind the bat against the Braves.

INDIANAPOLIS CONTENDING FOR FEDERAL LEAGUE RAG

While the pennant races in the National and American Leagues are settled that in the Federal League is still undecided and the Indianapolis team, which trained in Wichita Falls last spring, is still in the running. Today the Hoosiers are only half a game behind the Chicago team and they may yet attain the leadership before the season ends. The Indianapolis team has been in the first division practically all season and has led the league for much of the time. Local fans who remember the players will be glad to see them cop the flag in this race. The Kansas City team, which also trained here, is in the second division.

Night Attacks By Germans Are New Feature of Battle In France

suit and prepared positions along the line of the Wirballen frontier. At Lyck the Russian troops continue their advance and at several places they have penetrated into East Prussia.

"To sum up the German offensive on the Nieman has been brought to an end by a complete check accompanied by considerable losses."

Captive balloons to observe the movements of the allied armies and powerful searchlights to point out the positions and to blind the offensive during night attacks are being used by Germans in the great battle north and east of Paris. Night combats have become an important element in the action. They frequently are forced by the Germans and as often are repulsed by the allies. They are telling on the stamina of troops on each side already worn out in seemingly unending struggle.

The French public who throughout have shown calm are patiently awaiting a decision. The changing actions along the battle line have caused diversified comment as to their significance. Some critics see in the Germans' latest maneuvers an element of daring in which they risk placing a large space between their troops and base of supplies and the men actually fighting on the front. General Pierre Chersils commenting on the situation, says the material organization of the Germans is powerful and that all French are unanimous in saying that the Germans have had excellent practical instruction and that from a technical point of view they fight with a remarkable method. He says: "The Germans know how to be patient and to wait. They make themselves invisible and have many a gruesome surprise for the impetuous French. Their machine guns are numerous and sometimes grouped. They have one company of machine guns for each regiment. They are always hidden, often set at the edge of woods so as to have an oblique fire. "The Germans' first line of march is covered with sheaves of corn or well concealed otherwise. In advance of this are the elite marksmen."

"The general says that nearly all the French officers who lost their lives were killed by these marksmen. He says the German infantry advances only when supported by artillery. He claims, however, that their morale is inferior because they fight only two or four against one and nearly always flee in front of the bayonet."

What were the feelings of the French when they read the words of the boaster who talks loudly because he imagines England secure against the suffering of this war? Twenty years is a long time when the army of the enemy occupies the center of the country. No, even the ledgers of the Times are not sufficient to ban the pessimism which made itself felt in France, and he who is content with the situation there is a fool. One instance that could impress the French. The Petit Parisien asserts that Germany intends to tell the Russian and English: "We will crush France and will then be ready to make peace with you at the expense of France." But this assertion is false, and the facts will demonstrate how false they are.

Makes Prediction.

"We are at war with France, because, in consequence of an impolitic alliance, and misled by intrigues, it was brought to the side of Russia. But we are principally concerned with the reduction of Russia. In her direction, we see a diminution and weakening of a giant, and the making of guarantees—the moral idea of this great war and the grand goal for which, if necessary we will continue to fight for twenty years, even in spite of the fact that since the days of Lemberg we do no longer underestimate the magnitude of the task. "Even those masters of cheap phrases who do not look death in the eye as do our brave soldiers in the field must realize that only the complete victory of the Germans over the Russians can secure the position of Germany's future and that a peace treaty otherwise would be a scrap of paper without value. As we hope and believe the moment will come when the affair which France has forced upon us against our wishes will end favorably for us and when we will be in position to concentrate our efforts against the Russians. We will see then whether the English and French will still have the inclination to drag on the war in favor of Russia indefinitely. One will then have to ask the French: Have those of you who have no personal interests in Russia in Russia not paid enough? And then also England will be asked—with most appreciable emphasis: Are you willing to risk more for Russia's might and aggrandisement—if necessary for twenty years?"

Special to The Times.
Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—
Playing with the same dash and brilliancy that brought them from last place to the pennant, holding the Athletics' heaviest hitters at bay and landing on the ball until even the mighty Bender was forced from the box, the Boston Braves this afternoon overwhelmed the Athletics by the score of six to one and loom larger than ever as real contenders for the world's championship.

It was a day of bitter surprises for the Athletics and for their supporters among the 20,000 and more people who gathered in the stadium. For the first time in a world's series game, Connie Mack was forced to take a pitcher out, no less than Bender himself, Philadelphia's mainstay in the box. Boston pitched Rudolph and the diminutive national gave a splendid account of himself, holding Philadelphia to five hits and retiring the Athletics' best stickmen when his meant runs. In the fielding department, Philadelphia had the better of it, but there were few flaws in Boston's defense and Rudolph's pitching covered whatever weakness may have existed.

Boston started her attack in the second inning when Whitted walked, Gowdy singled and Maranville brought both in with a two bagger. Philadelphia scored her only run in this inning on McInnis' walk. Strunk's single and Moran's error, the center fielder allowing the ball to go through his legs. In the fifth Boston increased her lead when Gowdy hit for three bases and scored on Maranville's single. It was in the sixth that the home fans faced real tragedy, however. Evers singled, Connelly walked and both scored when Whitted sent a mighty drive to a distant corner of the outfield. Then Schmidt singled. Then Connie Mack motioned Chief Bender to the bench and sent Wyckoff to the mound. Wyckoff was an improvement but did nothing brilliant.

So effective yid Rudolph handle the situation that not until the ninth inning did a Boston outfielder catch a fly and there seemed to be no time when the little slabanman was not in control of the proceedings.

The same teams play here tomorrow and Stallings will probably use James in the box.

SECOND INNING.
Boston—Whitted drew a base on balls. Schmidt fanned out. Gowdy singled sending Whitted to second. Maranville uncoiled one for two bases, scoring Whitted and Deal. Deal sent a grounder to second base, forcing Maranville at third. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—McInnis let four go by and was walked. Strunk dropped a neat single into center field and McInnis who had a long lead off first, scored. Barry struck out. Schang drove one to second base and Strunk who had gone to third was thrown out at the plate. Moran's error in center field in retrieving Strunk's drive permitted the extra bases. Bender forced Schang at second. Maranville to Evers. One run, one hit, one error.

THIRD INNING.
Boston—Rudolph fouled out to first base. Moran and Evers went out to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Rudolph seemed to be going better and struck Murphy and Oldring out in classy style. Collins' effort was a dinky grounder to Rudolph and he was thrown out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.
Boston—Connelly opened Boston's half with a line drive to center for one base, only to be forced at second when Whitted hit one to Bender. Whitted was thrown out at first. Schmidt fouled out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Baker brought gloom to the home stands when he struck out, adding another to Rudolph's string. McInnis followed suit. Strunk singled to left field but was thrown out trying to steal second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

FIFTH INNING.
Boston—Gowdy hit for three bases. Boston's lineup having been changed, Maranville singled, scoring Gowdy. Deal was out on a pop fly to Bender, who doubled Maranville at first. One run, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Barry flied out to short. Maranville making a very fancy stab. Schang struck out. Bender flied out to center field. Rudolph seemed to be in great form and the Boston contingent was might field hopeful. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING.
Boston—Moran flied out to short. Barry making a pretty running catch. Evers slapped one to center field for a single and Boston's stock rose again when Connelly drew four balls. Whitted slammed a drive into right field for three sacks. Evers and Connelly romped home while the Boston stands went into a delirium of joy which increased when Schmidt singled to left, scoring Whitted. At this juncture Mack pulled Bender out, sending Wyckoff into the box. Gowdy initiated Wyckoff by getting his base on balls. Maranville rolled one to Wyckoff who threw too slow and all Schmitt. He was too slow and all hands were safe. Deal hit into a double that forced Gowdy at third. Baker throwing the batter out at first. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Murphy out, second to first. Oldring out, third to first. Collins was an easy out. Rudolph to Schmidt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING.
Boston—Rudolph singled handsomely over second base. Moran sent a grounder to third, forcing Rudolph at second. Evers struck out, Moran stealing second base on the third. Connelly went out on an easy grounder to first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

two bases, the ball going to the right field fence. McInnis sent a hard one to Deal who made a wonderful stop and threw him out at first. Baker remained on second. Strunk sent a pop fly to second base and was out. Barry ended the agony with a grounder to short. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Official Announcement Says Fort Drenonk Has Been Taken

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 9.—Last night's German official announcement says: "From the western zone of war no facts of decisive importance can be mentioned. Small progress has been made near Mithel and in the Argonne. Before Antwerp Fort Drenonk had been taken and the attack on the inner fort line had begun. The bombardment of the quarter of the town lying behind this point was begun after a declaration of the commander of the stronghold that he took the responsibility.

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 9.—The official communication of the German general staff, Oct. 8, says: "The airship hall at Dusseldorf has been hit by a bomb thrown by a hostile aviator. The roof of the hall was pierced and the cover of an airship in the hall was demolished. A Central News dispatch says the allies have made another aerial raid on Cologne and Dusseldorf, both important Zeppelin airship bases. The correspondent says the Dusseldorf shed was damaged but that no damage was done at Cologne.

CAVALRY OF BOTH ARMIES STILL

Believed in Paris German Assault On Antwerp Presages Retreat to Belgium

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 9.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris this afternoon: "The general situation has undergone no change. "On our left wing the two opposing bodies of cavalry are still operating north of Lille and Labasse and the battle continues along the line marked by the region of Lens, Arras, Bray, Sur-Somme, Chaulnes, Roye and Lassigny. On the center of Oise and on the Meuse only actions of minor importance have been reported. On our right in the Wever district there has been an artillery contest along the entire front. In Lorraine in the Vosges and in Alsace there has been no change.

In Bosnia Montenegrin troops have continued the advance in the direction of Sarajevo as far as the fortified line which protects the city, at a distance from it of 8 kilometers." Most of the letters from the soldiers at the front speak of the great battle expected for the morning that will decide the great struggle along the Aisne, and in the north, which shows that they, as well as the military critics, are baffled by the immense operations of which big battles here and there constitute mere details.

Heavy fighting occurs every day along some part of the battle line, the importance of which cannot be gauged from the mere details in the official statement, so it is impossible to assemble all the simultaneous movements bearing on the general situation. As a consequence the reviews of the experts today resemble what they were yesterday and the day before. All agree, however, that the developments are favorable to the allies and all emphasize the advantage shown from splendid health and spirits shown by the army, which the war department is doing everything to maintain. While points of the greatest interest recently have been at the elbows of the battle one at Roye and on the extreme left, attention is called to the importance to the German retreating movement on the right bank of the Meuse beyond Hatten Chatel which endangers their last position in the region of St. Mihiel. It is not considered possible that the Germans can remain in this region and their retirement may entail a general retreat of the army operating between the Meuse and the frontier.

The suggestion is made in Paris that the Germans are holding out with the idea of taking Antwerp first and then retiring to a line of defense prepared in Belgium, as it is not possible for them to find reinforcement to counterbalance the fresh troops constantly coming to the allies.

The transfer of the seat of the Belgian government from Antwerp to Ostend was not made public in Paris until today but even the fall of Antwerp will scarcely shake confidence in the efforts of the allies to push the Germans back.

SKIES MADE RED WITH FLAMES FROM ANTWERP

By Associated Press.
London, 5:45 p. m., Oct. 9.—In a dispatch from Amsterdam filed at 12:46 this afternoon the correspondent of Reuters Telegram Co. says:

"The uninterrupted thundering of guns was heard at Rosendaal from Antwerp throughout the night. The fire slackened early this morning but it has now resumed with full violence. The sky last night was made red by the flames of burning Antwerp." Rosendaal is about twenty miles north of Antwerp.

TYPHOID FEVER KILLS GERMANS

ENGLISH CORRESPONDENT SAYS
FEVERED GERMANS DYING
IN TRENCHES

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 9.—So far as an English correspondent says this morning Antwerp still is holding out. King Albert has withdrawn from the city toward Ostend but virtually the entire Belgian army has remained in the city to make determined resistance.

The nations of Germany hoped the defenders could hold out until the allies delivered some decisive blow along the battle lines in France which have almost reached the North Sea and taken into connection with the forces in Belgium makes a gigantic front like a snake half way across Belgium and across most of northeastern France.

Almost One Operation.
Although separate conflicts the siege of Antwerp and the battle of the Aisne are almost one series of operations and both Germans and allies are making the most desperate efforts to smash through the ever lengthening west wing. It is contended the Germans have failed in their great wedge through the allies' left wing and the latest Paris communication say that the situation is stationary.

If Antwerp falls it will prove the ineffectiveness of fortification systems for Antwerp is the last word in ingenious forts.

In East Prussia.
The situation in East Prussia is becoming like that of the battle of the Aisne. Driven from Poland the Germans are making a stubborn stand and with reinforcement from Keonigsberg and will doubtless make another attempt to again invade Russia in this region. Roundabout dispatches to London from Petrograd says that a new Russian army has arrived at the frontier near Posen while another is marching toward Thorn. All reports of the surrender of Przemysl are premature, according to latest advices are the reports of the beginning of a battle at Craew.

Claim, British Victors.
A correspondent of the Times wires: "The British victory on the river Aisne, is complete. The Germans have evacuated their trenches leaving behind them many soldiers dying from typhoid fever. They left two of their biggest guns heavily cased into their foundations.

Two salient events mark the part of the fighting of which Bolsens was the center. First, the capture by the allies of Fort Conde after a siege of 16 days and second, the remarkable slaughter by the British in the last German attack. Wherever the Germans have death severe have to the allies around this position their success was due wholly to a spy system. The allies soon found that the Germans were able to diagnose their movement readily and instituted a systematic search for offenders. They captured seven spies, one a woman who used electric flash light signals from a window.

It is not altogether true to say that the battle of the Aisne is over even now but in the past few days considerable areas have been destroyed by the Germans and great wedges of the allies' forces thrown forward.

ANTWERP BURNING UNDER BOMBARDMENT

GERMANS NOW ATTACKING INNER FORTS AND OUTLYING
PARTS OF CITY

By Associated Press.
The Hague, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts and outlying parts of the city is in progress this morning. At noon the city was burning in four places. It is reported that inner forts, numbers 4 and 6 have been silenced. The exodus of panic inhabitants continues. It is reported that the dikes have been opened.

GERMANS FORCE POSITIONS
THROUGH WEIGH OF NUMBERS

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 9.—Brerhaert, a suburb of Antwerp is burning according to a Reuters dispatch. Another dispatch to Reuters dated Thursday says the Germans threw incendiary bombs with the result that many parts of Antwerp and the railway station and the place of justice are burning. A Taube aeroplane flew over Ostend Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Central News correspondent under Thursday's date at Antwerp says: "The German effort toward the north of France with a view of forcing wedge between the allies, left wing has been nearly destroyed. Fierce fighting is occurring around Lille and south of Ghent. Prisoners have been taken to Dunkirk and Ostend and a German aeroplane has been captured near Ostend.

A Reuter-Atterdam dispatch dated today quotes a newspaper as saying that King Albert left Antwerp this morning and has arrived at a village near the Dutch frontier. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent under Wednesday's date says: "The Germans today forces assaige of the River Scheldt near Zwoereder under cover of a heavy early morning fog. During the last few days the Germans have brought up large reinforcements. Previous attacks of the Germans on the river were all made under cover of violent artillery assaults which proved futile. After the last of these attacks Monday the Germans changed their tactics. Instead of advancing in force on the river positions they crept up during the night towards a riverside point further to the east. They met a vigorous defense and at one point were repulsed with a bayonet charge. They advanced with heavy reinforcements, which the Belgian fire did not succeed in driving back. At half past one this afternoon a hotly contested battle was on all along the line.

The rapid fire guns played a considerable part. Many of these were drawn by dogs, several of which I saw lying wounded. Subsequently the Germans made desperate efforts to bring their artillery into position. This was fiercely contested by the Belgians and two guns were destroyed by shrapnel. After several hours fierce fighting the Germans brought up strong reinforcements.

AERIAL BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP LAST NIGHT

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 9.—The Evening Star's Antwerp correspondent says that witnesses of the Zeppelin flight over Antwerp declare they saw a Zeppelin struck by a shell and fall to earth during the bombardment of Antwerp Thursday. It is estimated that shells fell at the rate of 20 a minute. In addition to the late courts building and the museum which were damaged by shells fire broke out at many points.

TEN MILE RULE ON PART TENTH STREET

CHIEF OF POLICE INSTRUCTED TO APPLY SPEED ORDINANCE ON LOWER END

COUNCIL RENDERS OPINION

Proposal of Paving Company For Surrender of Maintenance Bond Not Acted On

The city council laid aside its legislative functions for a short time last night and sat as a judicial body, deciding that the city police force should consider Tenth street from the alley between Scott and Lamar to Michigan avenue (the Fort Worth & Denver tracks) as within the built up portion of the city mentioned in the ordinance.

The police were authorized to arrest persons driving at a higher rate of speed than ten miles an hour on that portion of Tenth street.

The speeding ordinance describes the territory as extending along the alley between Scott and Lamar avenue to the intersection of Tenth street and thence along Tenth street to Michigan avenue.

The question was brought up by Chief of Police Hall who asked for instructions. He was told to make arrests of those driving at ten miles or more on the section of the street in question.

A request from a representative of the Pastors' Association for some measure to stop the excessive noise on Tenth street by autoists which disturb religious worship was laid over until the new traffic ordinance is taken up.

A letter was read from the Cross-roads Wood Block Paving Company stating that the company desired to liquidate and offered a sum equal to one cent per square yard on all the pavement they had laid in Wichita Falls for discharge from their maintenance bond.

Councilman Gardner, chairman of the committee on public safety, announced that he was considering the erection of signs in the streets at the points where the ten mile speed rule became effective.

SOME WORLD'S SERIES NOTES AND OTHER BASEBALL DOPE

The best world's series contests were between the Giants and the Red Sox. They weren't the best in the quality of the play, not by a good deal, but there's more to baseball than cold, mechanical precision.

Always in world's series games under the supervision of the National Commission the sportsmanship of the contestants has been of a high standard, not always above criticism, but high on the whole, and there is little doubt that the Athletics-Braves battle will be conducted on the same ethical plane.

McGraw and his Giants aren't in this year's world series, but they have been in four and won one and that's considerable of a feat.

Griffith once had Connolly of the Braves and returned him to the minors. Which, as we take it, is not isolating Griff from other managers.

Baseball history lacks one thing to make it complete. It has had its triple plays unassisted, no hit games, double squeezes, triple steals and possibly six hits in one inning without a run, but when is it going to have a game with no hit pitching on each side?

Many Deeds Of Heroism Are Told In Stories Of Fighting In France

(Paris Correspondence of New York Sun.)

Deeds of heroism, each one of which would be told in columns under different circumstances, are related in a few lines in the daily papers, but the single column in which they are recorded is more eagerly and more anxiously scanned by all hearts than any other part of the news.

Here, in different order, recollections of rank, title or fame, appear names of the best known names of France, together with many others utterly unknown, who in a day have won fame that will never be forgotten; a general's name follows that of just a plain soldier.

A glance at random through the lists published so far reveals the names of General Plessier, fatally wounded at Altkirch while leading his troops in an attack on a strong German position.

Victorious General Killed. General Charles Roques whose death was briefly announced in cable dispatches, was killed by a bullet which struck him in the forehead as he was conducting a desperate attack on the enemy near Virton.

Abbe Lavergne, vicar of the Church of Notre Dame du Travail in Paris, is the first of the 437 priests who left the capital for the front to be killed in the campaign.

Adjutant Henry Gueneau de Mussy, grandson of General Sere de Rivieres, who built the fortifications of Paris, was fatally wounded at the battle of Charleroi as his troops were retreating before a superior hostile force.

Abbe Fumeys, vicar of Saint-Rambert (Ain), Sub-Lieutenant of the 233d Infantry Regiment, was killed in an attempt to carry the colors of his regiment back into the French lines.

GERMAN WRITES OF CAMPAIGN IN FRANCE

HARDSHIPS OF FIELD DUTY ARE TOLD IN LETTER TO MOTHER

DIFFICULTY IN OBTAINING FOOD

Finds French Peasants Are Too Much Afraid of Germans To Cause Any Trouble

Rotterdam, Sept. 19.—(By mail)—The following letter of a reserve officer to his mother, published in the Cologne Gazette on September 16, throws an illuminating light on subsistence conditions in the German forces now in France. It is instructive also in a number of other respects:

"It is a hot morning, the men are busy digging trenches, and now the crash of artillery which kept up all morning is no longer heard. I am sitting under a tree, reading again and again your dear letter and the remainder of my mail. Indeed, dear mother, if it could be done I would telegraph you every day. But that is impossible; so now, while I have the time, I will write you as long a letter as possible. One never knows what the future will bring.

"This is a very idyllic spot. I am disturbed now and then in a most agreeable manner. Ripe plums fall from the tree—most conscientiously I eat them. I have breakfasted well and the company barber gave me a shave—which was needed badly. In fact, I have managed to get some washing done, and now I feel again like a gentleman.

"As I already told you the commissary officer of our battalion and I went to the same college. I have been obliged to pay for this happy coincidence with many a bite I need myself. But yesterday he told me that he had managed to get two honest to goodness, real and otherwise bona fide hams. I lost no time accepting my share—it was fine and will last until tonight. To the great surprise of the captain I managed to get one-eighth of a pound of butter from a farm. Commissary bread, and butter—what a Lucullan feast I had last night. But there is nothing to smoke. Kindly send me a few cigarettes and some pipe tobacco.

"The owner of the farm where I got the tobacco is a woman; thirty-two years old and rather wealthy. She left the place, not because she cared for Germany, but the French, as her manager told me. I wish these people had sense enough to remain on their farms. We do them no injury and pay for everything we take, while the property of those who run away is naturally without owner and thus not protected.

"There is no evidence here of Volkkrrieg (war carried on by the population as in Belgium). The people are rather afraid and do everything to get along with us. Everything is upside down nowadays, dear mother. Master alone is the soldier, right and wrong are matters which only he has been placed on his shoulders. I thank God that our hands are clean and that our officers' conduct is beyond criticism.

"I asked a woman whether she had a complaint to make against our soldiers, and she said: 'No, the German soldiers are good last night, but the burning of villages has nothing to do. Most of them are set afire by artillery fire shells, and when they are burned down purposely, it is done because the inhabitants have fired upon our soldiers. In the villages of— and— Some of our Hussars entered them and were treacherously shot down. The example has brought good results. We regretted that we had to do it, and now that the people have been brought to their senses, further measures of that sort have been prohibited.'

"In the village of— I saw an old man sit in a house which had been destroyed. In front of him stood a venerable gray, old man, the priest, who surveyed the remnant of his congregation with sorrow. I entered the village at the head of two battalions, and when the old priest saw me he looked at me in a way that cut into my very soul. Then, with the sudden motion of fear he took off his hat and held it in his hand until the last man had passed him. I think he feared that a refusal to greet us would be taken as an act of defiance. What went on in the mind of the old priest would be interesting to know. But this is war, and we did not want the indescribable misery which it has brought on.

"Last night at roll call we heard the news of the German victory over the English, French and Belgians. We especially appreciated the news of our perfidious fellows is universal and much greater than our feeling against the French. Everybody wants a chance to get at them, and God have mercy on them should they get before our rifles—from us they need expect none.

"At seven in the evening we heard the news of the Russian defeat. I hope that the good tidings will be confirmed. We are advancing everywhere.

"It is a beautiful evening and I will have to do field duty tonight. The entire village had prepared itself for defense, but in the last moment they lost heart. Just now they brought in a French soldier who has been in hiding five days in a chicken house.

"At my side the captain is cutting up a cucumber—oil and vinegar have been secured after a long search."

"Tells of Hardships. While the officer is on outpost duty he continues the letter.

"Well, I am out in the field. In front of us the territory occupied by the enemy. War is a terrible thing. This noon while I was inspecting the outposts, five French chasseurs on patrol work advanced towards our position. We were in the woods. Fire was opened on them at 200 meters. I regretted having to give the command. The officer, 25 years old and married two days before the mobilization, as I learned afterwards, was killed. The others were wounded and taken prisoners. We did not aim at the horses—they and the saddles are first class and now five of us will ride. To have to do that sort of thing is distressing, but what is to be done.

"I have received mail twice so far and every time the post arrives I imagine there must be something for me. What has become of the letters? We are here far from human aid—have no tents and are not permitted to make a fire. My meals so far have consisted of dry bread and I feared that my supper would be again dry bread, but, oh, joy, one of my men arrives with a tremendous slab of bacon which he has found somewhere. My orderly has managed to get a few onions and we have succeeded in gathering six cigarettes—what a glorious supper.

THE JOY OF PRETENSE.

Let's dream like a child in its playing;
Let's make us a sky and a sea,
Let's change the things 'round us by saying

They're things as we wish them to be,
And if there is sadness or sorrow
Let's dream till we charm it away;
Let's learn from the children and borrow

A saying from childhood, "Let's play!"

Let's play the world's full of beauty;
Let's play there are roses in bloom;
Let's play there is pleasure in duty,
And light where we thought there was gloom;

Let's play that the heart with its sorrow
Is hidden be joyous and glad;
Let's play that we'll find on the morrow
The joys that we never have had.

Let's play that we have done with re-
pinning;
Let's play that our longings are still;

Let's play that the sunlight is shining
To gild the green slope of the hill;
Let's play there are birds blithely
flinging

Their songs of delight on the air;
Let's play that the world's full of singing;

Let's play there is love everywhere.

MRS. F. W. TIBBETTS DELIGHTFUL HOSTESS THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon Mrs. F. W. Tibbetts was a most delightful hostess for her mother, Mrs. Gilbert, and niece, Miss Marie Smith, both of Los Angeles, Calif. The afternoon was spent in a pleasantly informal manner, fancy work being the chief diversion and the crowning hospitality of the hostess was found in the dainty two-course luncheon served. Handsome and classy lace and linen luncheon set was spread on the polished table; pink roses in immense clusters formed the center decorations and covers were laid for eleven. The first course of salad, sandwiches, olives and salad nuts was followed by sherbet, cake and fruit. Mrs. Tibbetts' charming guests were: Mesdames Carey, Thomas, Leichman, Nolan, Baker, Wallace, Little, Hensley and Simon.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

The Home Economics Club met Wednesday afternoon at the high school in the domestic science rooms. The program intended for the first meeting was dispensed with on account of the delay in getting out the year books and the meeting was purely a business session. At the next meeting two weeks hence, programs No. 1 and 2 will be combined. The study course, "Group study on home economics," which the club has taken up, promises to be of much value and a number of books, comprising the library of bibliography, accompany the course. These books are at the home of Mrs. Ed Howard and may be found there if any of the members desire to do research work on any subject. The members present at this first meeting were Mesdames Pinar Aris, Amason, Bean, Wiley Blair, Dan Boone, Bessey, Fisher, Hodges, Ed Howard, Lawler, Leichman, Nicholson, Orr, Stokes, Robertson, Sanders, Schuerer, Taylor, Shepherd, Thomas, Misses Haynes, Alder and Mills. CHICKEN ROAST AT LAKE WICHITA THURSDAY EVENING

Of the many picnic suppers and like affairs which have been held at Lake Wichita during the season now closing, none have been more enjoyable or more carefully planned and executed than the chicken roast given Thursday evening by the boys of the young society set, complimenting the girls. An added charm was derived in view of the fact that some of the pleasures must be of an indoor variety and the guests enjoyed more than ever the hospitality of the young men. On the arrival of the party at the lake camp fires were set blazing, chickens were roasted and coffee made and with the addition of dill pickles, and bread and butter sandwiches a very acceptable supper was prepared in a short time. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Freear, and Mr. and Mrs. McGreggor and the capable hosts and their charming guests were: Misses Genevieve Carver, Della Stone, Lillian McGreggor,

At the conclusion of the series of games the hostess, assisted by her niece, Miss Pauline Langford, served a delightful luncheon plate in two courses, consisting of salad, wafers, pickles, olives, ice tea with a dessert course of sherbet, cake and mints. The guests were: Mesdames Ashe, Little, J. P. Bryan and two children; Stegall and small daughter of Dallas. ON THE FIRING LINE

What it Means to Most Men
There are many true heroes that have perished in the European war who "never smelled powder," but who succumbed to sickness after hard campaigning, with little food and water and lack of sleep. The sick and debilitated man is as much out of place in his struggle for life and existence as he would be on the firing line. On the other hand the strong, vigorous man, his veins filled with rich, red blood, has an enormous advantage in whatever position he may be called to occupy, in war or business.

The prompt and certain action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in driving all harmful germs and impurities from the blood, sets in motion the repair process which works actively on the diseased membrane where catarrh, discharges, uncleaned or where the skin gives warning of the bad blood beneath by showing pimples and boils, also the skin clearing up and becomes wholesome and ruddy.

Yet, you must remember that no one corset was ever made that will fit different type figures, there must be a model for every type. That is where we have the advantage. No house can really show you any advantage in corsetry in the price it must be in the Models shown as price won't make a corset fit. A $12.00 corset won't fit you any better than a $1.00 corset unless the model is the correct style for your figure.

FIRST OF SERIES "HESTATION TEAS" SATURDAY

The first of a series of "Hestation Teas" will be given Saturday afternoon by E. O. Tyler at his hall 812 1/2 Ohio. This is the first introduction of that popular form of amusement which found so much favor in the larger cities in the East last season in this city and is expected to prove quite popular. The "danzant" originated in the saloons of Paris and takes the name of the dance most favored at the moment, last winter the tango was the inspiration of the "tango teas" which were among the most popular diversions. A little concerning the customs observed at these teas may be a handsome afternoon rock of cloth or silk or a coat suit if it be not too plain. The ladies come either separately or in groups and meet their escorts at the hall. For those who do not care to dance tables for forty-two will be arranged where one may sit and look on while enjoying the tea and the music. The music for these teas will be in the charge of Miss Florence Sammons and E. B. Stonecipher. The Hestation waltz as danced by the Castles will be demonstrated by Mr. Tyler Saturday. Mesdames Inge Sammons and Fontaine will act as patronesses at this tea.

Mrs. E. J. McGill of Spokane, Wash., arrived yesterday and will spend the winter in this city the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Anderson.

Division No. 5 of the Baptist Woman's Alliance will meet with Mrs. L. W. Candiff, 1315 Fourteenth street Monday at 3 p. m.

CORPORATIONS MUST FILE LABOR REPORTS AT ONCE

Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—After tomorrow, all corporations in Texas employing five or more persons that have failed to file with the State commissioner of labor a complete statistical report of their operations are to be penalized, according to announcement by Commissioner of Labor, Starling. The law requires that these corporations file reports within sixty days after blanks were sent them by the department. Official blanks were sent out between August 1 and 10, according to the commissioner. The information given in the blanks is needed by the commissioner for his report to the governor. Of 5,000 corporations required to make these reports, about forty per cent have failed to do so.

The change will be made at midnight and the actual transfer from one exchange to the other will be the work of a very few minutes. The change is made on Saturday night so that whatever trouble comes up can be remedied on Sunday when wire traffic is light.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.
Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."
The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."
Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.
If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

The National Feeders and Breeders Show opens at Fort Worth tomorrow, October 10th. The people of this section of Texas doubtless will attend in large numbers. There is money in stock raising, and there is no country on earth better adapted to stock raising than this.

A flag pole 232 feet in length was raised the other day before the State building at Astoria, the tallest in the United States and is in one solid strip of pine, contributed by the citizens of Astoria, Oregon.

The Corporation Commission of Oklahoma has prohibited the "shooting" of oil wells. The reason for shooting oil wells is that it is done for the purpose of causing them to produce more oil, and just at this time Oklahoma oil fields seem to be producing more oil without "shooting" wells than there is a reasonable demand or market for.

Gen. Davis, living near Brownwood, realized $1,000 from one acre of tomatoes this season. That is not all, either. At East Texas farmer realized from one-half acre planted to sweet potatoes the net sum of $150. But there is danger of raising too many sweet potatoes and potatoes. The better plan is to diversify. Raise a little of everything that the soil will produce and for which there is a market. It beats this plan of raising all cotton and then having to sell the cotton for less than the cost of production.

Judicial history repeats itself for the first time in this country since the trial of Aaron Burr for treason, in the instance of Justice William R. Day of the supreme court of the United States presiding over an Federal court in the hearing of a case. At Cincinnati Tuesday Justice Day took a place on the bench of the circuit court for that district with Judge Stanford of Tennessee and Cochran of Kentucky to hear arguments on the appeal of John H. Patterson, president, and other officers of former officers of the National Cash Register company, convicted of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. Patterson it will be remembered, greatly distinguished himself by his untiring energy and unflinching pliancy in opposing Federalism to the Dayton, Ohio, book-sellers, and his hosts of friends throughout the country indulge in the hope that he will present a winning case in his present appeal.—Houston Post.

The Vernon Record is using the right sort of "dope" to offset this excellent talk of hard times and dull business, and what the Record says of conditions in Wilbarger county apply to every county in the State. The Record says there will be 40,000 bales of cotton this year, and even if the acreage price to be obtained for it does not go above seven cents, together with the large wheat, corn and hay crops that were produced in the county this year, the farmers of that county will have about $1,570,000 more money this year than they realized from the same crops for the year 1913. With that much money turned loose (mind you, we say turned loose and not hoarded,) there will be absolutely no excuse for the complaint of hard times in that county. The principal thing that produces hard times is when nothing is produced. With an abundance of everything that the farm and ranch can produce, there is little excuse for hard times, but all it takes to bring about such a condition is for the people to become panicky and begin to hoard money. This time, however, the people are hardly to blame. The bankers and money lenders were the first to become scared. The people then followed the lead of the bankers and are freezing tight to every dollar they can get their hands on as if it was the last and only dollar in existence. That is why there is so little trade and only business is dull.

DEFENDING THE FARMER.

Editor Times:

I want to say something nice about the way your paper views the farmer's problems. On the question of passing a law regulating the planting of cotton the farmers appreciate the fact that you give them credit for having sense enough to handle the situation. A law of this kind would be as foolish as a resolution by a young men's association of a neighboring city to pass a law prohibiting the use of narrow tire wagons on the public roads.

I think the buy-a-bale movement is to be commended, and I was disappointed when leading Fort Worth men advised us to sell our cotton at the market prices—right at the time the buy-a-bale move was showing its effects. While cotton is about seven cents one of our traveling salesmen says if we will not hold what rightfully belongs to the merchants, etc., that business will be largely restored. The writer, Mr. Chatterton, gave his view in last Friday's paper showing the stress of the traveling man. I would like to give my view.

The average farmer is not on Easy street from 10 cents received from a bale of cotton. I believe the farmer is meeting their debts as best they can. Cotton brings about $35 a bale. They pay one-fourth rent, which is $8.75. It costs him $12 to get it picked and $4 to get it ginned. This leaves him $18.25 a bale to meet his debts. Many farmers who depend upon cotton will get, say ten bales. That is only about $180 to live on and meet his obligations. And if the farmers dumped their cotton on the market it would still lower the price, and the farmer can't afford to slap the man who has helped by buying a bale at 10 cents by gutting the market.

Better pay high interest on cotton and meet debts with money borrowed on it. Its pretty hard for a farmer to work all year on a field of cotton, raise a fine crop, give it away and borrow money to live on another year.

My occupation of farming suits me. Where I worry is when I am forced to work and am poorly paid. It is not half so discouraging to be laid off temporarily as it is to be forced to work full time and have your salary cut to nearly nothing.

The $10 per bale does not figure out the cost of production.

Mr. Traveling Man, which will help you the most—dump all our cotton on the market, force the price to $25 per bale and lower, or aid that patriotic buy-a-bale move by holding some of it, supply the demand and get a better price? Cheer up, old boy, the other fellows vacation is not so smooth sailing as it might seem.

Respectfully, YOUNG FARMER.

WAR DIVIDES ROYALTIES. (From the New York Times.) No result of the war in Europe is stranger than the manner in which it suddenly divides almost all the royal families, who are practically one big family, into friend and foe.

Emperor William opposes his first cousin, King George of England. The king's nephew, the young duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, although brought up as an English prince, and taking it is said, his present throne when he was a boy at Eton very unwillingly, is fighting for Germany, while the duke's mother, the duchess of Albany, has organized relief work in England.

The duke of Brunswick, nephew of Queen Alexandra, has taken up arms for Germany, while his two aunts, the dowager empress of Russia and Queen Alexandra, are in sympathy with the allies. Prince Arthur of Connaught has offered to go on active service for England, while his second cousin, the crown prince of Germany, leads an army corps.

Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, the grandson of Queen Victoria and son of Prince and Princess Christian, has been a major in the Prussian army, with an address at Potsdam hitherto, but now he has joined the British army.

If Greece is drawn into the conflict the Kaiser's sister, the queen of Greece, will find herself on the opposite side of many of her relatives. The Connaught family has distracting sympathies. The duchess of Connaught was a German princess. Her elder daughter is a crown princess of Sweden, a country remaining neutral, but credited with pro-German feelings. The other daughter, Princess Patricia, is stirring enthusiasm for the British cause in Canada. The czarina is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria and first cousin of King George, but some of her near relatives are fighting for Germany.

Queen Mary and her brother have close links of family relationship with Austria through the late duke of Teck, but the present duke and his brother are officers in the British army.

The popular Austrian ambassador in London until the war began was Count Mensdorff, a second cousin of King George. He was more at home in England where he had been for many years, than elsewhere.

The duchess of Cumberland is a sister of Queen Alexandra and the dowager empress of Russia, while her son is heart and soul for Germany. Spain is neutral, but did not prevent Queen End from sending $2,500 to the Prince of Wales fund. She is a daughter of Admiral Prince Henry of Battenberg of the British navy, and a second cousin of the Prince of Wales. Denmark, Norway and Holland are likewise neutral, but relatives at all these courts are at the front. The queen of Norway is a sister of King George. She has already placed part of her Norfolk home at the disposal of the hospitable authorities. The Danish king and queen and various princes and princesses have been so recently visiting their British relatives that they must have intense interest in the war.

The ex-king of Portugal has offered his services to King George, though his wife's relations are on the side of Germany.

There will not be any decided increase in the acreage planted to wheat in this country this fall, according to J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent. Mr. Campbell says that while a number of farmers wanted to plant more wheat this year, they will probably not be able to clear their land of cotton or feed crops in time to do so. Both cotton and feed crops are unusually heavy and will prevent farmers getting the land cleared. Mr. Campbell says that there are a number of farmers in the northern part of this country that will make three-quarters of a bale of cotton this year, and some that will average a bale to the acre. Farmers will increase their wheat acreage wherever possible this year, the prospects of continued strife in Europe making it almost certain that the price will remain high next year.

Market Reports

Cotton dropped again late yesterday evening and today buyers were offering only six cents, middling basis. Dealers here report that while little cotton was offered here at that price a considerable quantity was bought at that figure today in this territory.

Chicago Grain Futures Chicago, Oct. 9.—Expecting falling off in receipts at primary points had a bullish effect today on wheat. After opening 1-8 to 5-8 lower rice market rose well above last night's level. Assurances that wheat price advance had checked the export demand brought about later a decided setback. Corn trade was restricted. The opening which ranged from unchanged to one quarter off was followed by a moderate general advance. Some export inquiry helped to make oats firm. Closing prices: Wheat, December 1.09 3-8; May 1.15. Corn, December .67; May 69 7-8. Oats, Dec. 47 7-8; May .64.

Fort Worth Live Stock Fort Worth, Oct. 9.—Cattle receipts 3,000, active. Beaves $5.25 to $7.10. Hog receipts 1,000, higher. Bulk $7.50 to $7.75.

Kansas City Cash Grain Kansas City, Oct. 9.—Wheat No. 2, hard $1.00 to $1.01 1-2. No. 2, red 1.00 to 1.00 1-2.

Dallas Spot Cotton Dallas, Oct. 9.—New records for 1914 were reached here today when spot cotton dropped to 6 14 on sales of 16,064 bales. Cotton men declared this was the lowest price for spot cotton paid here since 1895.

TRIBUTE PAID GERMANS BY AMERICAN IN EUROPE

Declares English Are To Blame and Have Acted Wrongly in Present Struggle

New York, Oct. 7.—The following letter has been sent to the Sun with the note that it is from an American citizen, born in this country: "Duesseldorf, Aug. 27, 1914.—I've just received your article in the American papers. Good for you! It takes a great load off my mind, because I feared you would be influenced by the 'other side.' The way you express a very fine idea will translate it for the papers here, mentioning you of course as my brother. It will make a deep impression, as the opinion of an impartial man of position in America. Yes, if the Kaiser is at fault in any way, he tried to preserve peace at any cost, too long, but as matters now look, he was right, for the organization of the German army lacked a few details, such as the new field artillery, which is proving itself far superior to the French, Belgian, Russian and English.

"Things are going wonderfully well for Germany; the big French armies are being beaten at every point and are in full retreat already; the English have been licked easily and are being encircled and surrounded near Mauberge; we hope they will be forced to surrender soon. Zepplins stationed here run over to Belgium almost every night, throwing bombs over Antwerp, etc., already having caused serious damage there, and an awful panic. It was not hit by once by the fusillades of the enemy. There are thirty such terrible airships ready for work, and the sweetest English will wonders soon—as soon as Antwerp falls; the latter town is already beleaguered; the awful new Krupp guns—43 centimetres—have destroyed the best-works of Liege and Namur with a single shot! I saw a photo of one—terrible!"

"England will be sorry for the cowardly way she has acted; the English people are largely to blame. As you say, they are helping their worst enemies. Jealousy of Germany's commercial success prompted an ignorant, incapable government to act against their race. Believe me, England will be an awful reckoning for Germany will not stop halfway this time. You will read of German cruelties in Belgium; the Belgian populace can only blame themselves, as yesterday at Louvain where at a preconcerted signal every man, woman and child was taken, which had been quietly occupied, by German troops for a week, suddenly fired from every window, cellar, etc., on the Germans, killing and wounding many! The result was awful, no vestige of that large town is remaining and most of the citizens paid with their lives for the treachery—Belgium will now be trampled into the mire and France also if they act likewise. "I grip your hand, my dear boy, I shall never forget that you had the manliness to speak up so well in this case. I hope my many letters will reach you via either Rotterdam or Copenhagen. I see nice English seize all letters for Germany even on neutral ships, the dirty hounds!"

LITTLE INCREASE IN WHEAT ACREAGE POSSIBLE HERE

There will not be any decided increase in the acreage planted to wheat in this country this fall, according to J. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent. Geographic Society's War Primer Bapaume—A small town of northern France, 15 miles south of southwest of Arras and 25 miles northwest of St. Quentin, the scene of the great battle of January 5, 1913, as a result of which the Germans fell back behind the Somme. The town also figures in the peace of the Princes, in 1569, by which it was ceded to Louis XIV by his father Louis XIII. The town, just turned 21, had been strongly attracted to one of the nieces of France, but by the peace of Princes it was agreed that the most friendly with Spain should be contracted, thus, Louise Marie Therese, the marriage took place at once. Bapaume is an artillery station, possessing considerable strength. It has extensive cambric, calico, thread and sugar factories and spinning mills. Surrounding district is extremely arid, a single fountain affording its chief water supply. The town's population of about 3,500 has not varied perceptibly for more than half a century.

Reims—A picturesque town of northern France, near the left bank of the Meuse; 125 miles east of south of the famous battlefield of Sedan and the same distance from the Belgian border. It was here on the 30th of August 1870 that 3,000 men under General de Failly guarded the passage of the Meuse, but were defeated and captured by the Saxon troops. The French columns yielding to the force of numbers combined with superior moral, were driven upon Sedan and during the next day the retreat practically became a rout. On Sept. 3 the French were crowded around the little fortress of Sedan and by noon were completely invested. They hoisted the white flag at about 4:30 in the afternoon.

Netley—A village in England, three miles southeast of Southampton, on the east shore of Southampton Water. Henry III founded a Cistercian Abbey here in 1237 and its extensive ruins are the chief point of interest in the town today. The gatehouse for wounded soldiers, one mile southeast of the Abbey, was built in 1856 after the Crimean war. It is the principal military hospital in Great Britain giving accommodations for upwards of 1,000 patients.

Torquay—A town in England, on Tor Bay of the English Channel, 26 miles south of Exeter. Its principal reputation is as a winter residence, its temperature seldom rising as high as 70 degrees in the summer or falling below the freezing point in winter. In the neighborhood evidence of Roman occupation has been found. After the defeat of the Spanish Armada, Don Pedro's galley was brought into Tor Bay, and William, Prince of Orange, landed at Tor Bay in November 1688. Until the middle of the 19th century the place was an insignificant fishing village. In the town are a number of marble polishing works, and terra cotta ware of fine quality is manufactured from a deposit of clay nearby.

Ungvár—A town of northern Hungary on the Ugh River, 38 miles southwest of where it breaks through the Carpathian mountains. In the town is an active enterprise for the whole country is lifeless and apparently denuded of active men, and presents an appearance of strange and oppressive quietness. Great factories are completely shut down, furnaces are out, doors are locked and not even AUSTRIA HARD HIT BY HORRORS OF WAR. POPULACE UNABLE TO OBTAIN NEWS OF ARMY OPERATIONS. FINANCIAL SITUATION ACUTE.

London, Sept. 24.—(By Mail)—A news letter received by the Reuter Telegram Company from Venice reads: "According to word received here from Vienna, the Austrian public is waiting in dumb patience for some definite news as to what is really happening in Galicia and along the Serbian frontier. Although there is an uneasy feeling that affairs are not going well for Austria, the mass of the people still pin their faith in Germany, and are confident that no matter what happens now, the Germans will eventually save the situation.

"Many others, however, disgusted with the ambiguous and scanty reports from official sources are beginning to distrust the newspapers altogether. Ever since it became known that Russia was making such startling headway in Galicia the Vienna newspaper comments have been most guarded. The editorials deal chiefly with the German campaign in West-Corn Europe, thus seeking to divert public attention from the Austrian reverses at Lemberg and along the Serbian border; but the presence of 70,000 Polish refugees from Galicia, added to the constant arrival of train loads of wounded has considerably disquieted the effects of official reticence.

"Commerce is paralyzed. Commerce and industry are paralyzed throughout the Dual Monarchy and the stoppage of exports threatens to ruin some of the largest industries, notably the sugar trade. Millions of pounds of sugar are sent annually from Austria to Great Britain, India and other points abroad. Refiners are anxiously endeavoring to find some means of getting their product to England by indirect route. To relieve the stress of the financial situation the government has decided to organize a war credit bank capital of $1,000,000 besides a number of loan institutions for advancing money without interest in order to carry on various industrial enterprises.

"Numerous suggestions have been made for boycotting goods coming from hostile countries, notably England and France, but they have met with scanty support in the most influential commercial circles. The Prague Chamber of Commerce refused to endorse such a proposal saying that it would be quite useless at the present moment besides being dangerous for Austrian commercial interests later on. Outside Vienna and Budapest the aspect of the whole country is lifeless and apparently denuded of active men, and presents an appearance of strange and oppressive quietness. Great factories are completely shut down, furnaces are out, doors are locked and not even a watchman is visible in the streets. The small towns are deserted save for a few children here and there; and there are scarcely any workers in the fields. The few who may be seen are chiefly women and occasionally old men.

"The women are now performing the most laborious tasks even to the loading of freight cars. Trains are running on most lines on restricted schedules. There are hardly any passengers and solitary soldiers may be seen guarding stations, bridges or tunnels but bodies of troops even in small numbers are rarely seen. All have gone to the front. Red Cross stations have been set up in the principal towns and depots provided with vast numbers of stretchers are ready to receive the wounded. The well meant hospitality of the public in supplying soldiers with food, shell-casings and cigarettes is said to have had an unfortunate effect on the peasant soldiers who are not accustomed to such fare. They consumed everything given them greedily and became sick in consequence.

"Unemployed Numerous. "The question of the unemployed is assuming serious proportions especially in Vienna and Budapest. Many hundreds have been given work in the construction of fortifications along the Danube in the neighbor hood of Vienna and hundreds more have been sent from the towns into the country to work in the fields. The Austrian peasants are displaying great ingenuity in exploiting the state. They refuse to pay city work-cers any wages at all and house and rent them miserably. For this they claim from the state four shillings for each worker per day. The government, however, declined to yield to such exorbitant demands. In Vienna funds are being raised to feed the unemployed but the demand is constantly increasing since, besides the unemployed, the city is crowded with Galicians.

"Life in Vienna pursues much the same course as before the war. Cafes and restaurants are filled and some of the theatres are open. The Imperial Court Opera and the Court Theatre will be opened shortly four times weekly, the performers having finally agreed to accept reduced salaries for a period of four months. Over half the street railway employees have been called into the army and in consequence the service has been greatly reduced. Nine hundred men have been engaged, but some time must elapse before they are competent to run the trains. A large number of police have also joined the army, but the city is gradually quiet and orderly. So far there have been no demonstrations against the embassies of the Allied powers. The prices of food are not much above the normal although an advance is reported on the wholesale wheat, wheat, barley and rye will affect the cost of flour and bread. The price of petroleum has risen considerably and many refineries have closed down. Boring operations have ceased but exports of Galician oil to Germany have increased because American oil is no longer arriving in its usual quantities."

GERMANY NOW HAD EYED BELGIUM WITH DESIGN

London, Oct. 9.—The Belgian government has issued a Gray Book of correspondence relative to the war. The facts disclosed have been almost completely covered by similar British correspondence, but the interesting revelation is made that in 1911 the Belgian government sought to obtain from the German government a declaration that Germany had no intention of violating Belgian neutrality.

The German chancellor replied that although Germany had no such intention, a public declaration to that effect would weaken Germany's military position by reassuring France, which would in that case concentrate all its forces on the east.

It was for this reason, Belgium argues, that no declaration of the kind Belgium sought was made in the Reichstag, and this is held to prove that Germany for a long time contemplated a dash through Belgium on France.

It further appears that Belgium made a last attempt to dissuade Germany from its enterprise by sending an intimation to the German government that it was wrong to infer that Belgium had any intention of violating Belgian neutrality, and further, that even if it did, Belgium would oppose the invaders by a vigorous resistance.

TEXAN IS RESTORED BY MAYR'S WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY. Alvarado Man Gets Appetite and Comfort Back After Taking First Dose. T. A. Hensley of Alvarado, Texas, suffered for a long time from derangements of the digestive tract. He had colic attacks and indigestion. His liver was inactive and he was in pain after eating. He took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. From the very first dose it brought swift results. He wrote: "I have taken your treatment for stomach trouble and consider it a Godsend to suffering humanity. I have been suffering from stomach troubles for a long time, such as colic attacks, bloating after eating, sick spells, indigestion, constipation and inactive liver and gall stones. Now I do not feel like the same man. I can cheerfully recommend this remedy to all stomach sufferers." Mr. Hensley's experience is typical of those of the thousands who have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy with such success. The first dose proves.

Passenger trains were derailed between Wichita Falls and Henrietta.

Several light showers of rain fell during Thursday night in this city, the rain being accompanied by a brilliant electrical display. As far as could be learned, the shower was local in its extent.

Declaring that the attitude of Wichita Falls was "unfriendly" to his enterprise, Robert H. Clark, proprietor of the Model Laundry, announced that he will close down his plant next Saturday and will probably move it to Dallas. The Model is one of the three Wichita Falls laundries that has been involved in the Laundry Workers' strike. It is reported that another Wichita Falls industry is shortly to move to Dallas on account of labor troubles.

The sales of two residences were announced today. A. L. Huey selling his place to B. M. Bullard, and J. M. Bland selling to Dr. C. R. Hartsook. Real estate men report considerable demand for homes at present, in spite of conditions. Mr. Huey's place is located at 710 Denver and sold for $3,300. Mr. Bland's place at 1805 Tenth street brought $6,500.

Roy Neblett, who has charge of nine surrounding counties in the distributing of the Spalding Manufacturing company's vehicles, is authorized by them to purchase one hundred bales of middling cotton at ten cents a pound in payment of debts that may be owed them. If the farmer is indebted only fifty dollars to them and the bale comes to sixty or sixty-five dollars, Mr. Neblett has authority to pay the balance in cash.

Country's credit sufficient to relieve cotton situation

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Wilson believes that mobilization of the country's credits will be sufficient to relieve the problem of cotton growers. He said that the organization of a federal reserve would help the cotton situation, and referring to efforts to secure the assurance of more money to help cotton men, said he believed there was plenty of money in the country to get it to the growers.

There is no danger of a "cotton corner," in the President's opinion, through efforts of bankers to raise a pool of $150,000,000 to be loaned to cotton planters. Subscriptions to the pool are sure to be so widely distributed he said, as to eliminate that possibility. The President approves the plan for the pool and may see Festus J. Wade, the St. Louis banker who heard today to explain the details.

The President believes it is impossible to meet the cotton situation fully because the war in Europe is responsible for it, and the market for cotton will be restricted until the war is ended. He declared the crisis had not come yet, because, except in Texas, the cotton crop had not been gathered yet.

CALLS ON PEOPLE OF MEXICO TO RISE AND OUST CARRANZA

IS CHARGED WITH ABSOLUTISM

Document Asks For Calling of Election To Make Needed Reforms Possible

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 9.—Manifestos issued by General Francisco Villa Sept. 30 at Chihuahua City, calling on the Mexican nation to renounce Governor Venustiano Carranza and, if necessary, force him out of Mexican "politics" by force of arms, were brought to San Antonio by a secret emissary of Governor Carranza. Without disclosing his identity, the bearer of the manifestos allowed several of them to be distributed here.

The manifesto makes a savage attack on Carranza, asserting he has taken to himself the three powers of the constitution of Mexico—the executive, the judicial and the legislative—and has conducted the government, since his arrival at Mexico City, in a manner to demonstrate he proposes to usurp all power and make himself a despot. He has, it is charged, authorized violation of private citizens' liberties by the constitutionalists, has caused anarchy in the City of Mexico and adjacent territory and, finally, has caused an issue of 130,000,000 pesos without adequate security back of the money.

The manifesto sets forth that the army division of the north has lost concern in Carranza, who, it says, has failed to comply with the plan at Guadalupe in that he has declined to accept the title of president ad interim but has continued to style himself first chief of the constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power.

"Upon taking possession of the City of Mexico," reads the manifesto, which is in Spanish, "Senor Carranza began to reveal, in a manner to leave no doubt, his intentions to remain in power for an indefinite period and to govern with an absolutism which no other government has possessed in our country."

The manifesto closes with an urgent invitation to Mexicans to renounce Carranza and to join the division of the north in bringing about fulfillment of the original plan. The Mexicans are asked:

"First, to renounce Venustiano Carranza as first chief, in charge of the constitutionalist power of the nation. "Second, to unify the division of the north, contributing in the most efficacious form toward the separation of Venustiano Carranza from the post. Immediately after this renouncing Carranza, the generals in command of forces shall designate a non-military man who will hold the post of president ad interim of the republic, and who will call elections as soon as possible in order that constitutional order may be re-established and the economic social reforms of the revolution be brought about.

The document closes with the statement that the division of the north is ready to establish order and tranquility in whatever territory it may now occupy or will occupy respecting life and property, whether they be of native or foreign character.

"It is a matter of supreme sorrow to me that the Mexican people are called on to make a new sacrifice in order to realize their ideals," says the document, "but I have the security that every honorable Mexican will know that unless this new movement is made there will be a loss wholly of the benefits for which they have fought and, instead, there will be erected a dictatorship worse than any we have had in history."

STUDENT'S PHYSICAL NEEDS NOT BEING OVERLOOKED

Results Are Shown in Successful Records of Athletic Teams During Last Session

University Station, Oct. 7.—The responsibility for the physical development of students in the University of Texas rests upon the department of physical training. Every male freshman entering the University must furnish the department with a "personal history blank" properly filled in, which gives complete information concerning the physical make-up of the individual who is the subject of the same. He then undergoes a medical examination which describes his present physical condition accurately and in detail, so that any abnormal or dangerous condition can be made the subject of conference with the athletic directors, and the proper exercises prescribed for.

The normal students are given the exercises calculated best to produce an all round, healthy, symmetrical physical development.

The prime object of the department is not to produce athletes, but to develop large numbers of strong, clear-headed, healthy students. This regime consistency followed, makes unnecessary any special effort to secure athletes. They spring up naturally from among the thousands of more students engaging each year in athletic exercises at the University. As an illustration of what this system has done for the athletic teams of the University of Texas, the record of last season is illuminating.

The University football team sustained but one defeat, and that at the hands of a team which defeated West Point and was considered among the five strongest teams of the whole country. The University basketball and soccer teams were undefeated and champions of the Southwest. The University tennis team came out of a hard season champion of the Southwest, and to this distinction added also the scalps of Illinois and Missouri Universities. In track athletics, the University of Texas team was victor over the team holding the Southern championship. University wrestlers defeated the best wrestlers of the University of Nebraska, which institution was champion of the Missouri Valley; the University baseball team took twenty-three straight victories from college teams, thus breaking the world's collegiate record for straight victories. In short, the University teams won distinction in every competitive test they entered.

Galveston.—The largest single day's export business recorded at this port in 1914 was one day last week, when six steamers with a combined cargo of cotton and wheat, valued at $1,500,000 left this city for foreign countries. The combined produce carried by the six ships consisted of 25,325 bales of cotton, valued at $1,093,620 and 599,000 bushels of wheat with a value of $639,135. It was all Texas products.

Dallas.—With the Texas State Fair not more than a week off, the management is rapidly whipping everything into shape for the coming event, which promises to outstrip any previous exhibition both in attendance and displays.

At The Theaters

The Lydia Margaret
Lealie Thurston, the xylophone girl, and Otto and Olivia, juggling comedians, opened the new vaudeville bill last night at the Lydia Margaret. Miss Thurston possesses an unusually pleasing stage appearance and is in addition capable of drawing marvelous harmony from her instrument. The juggling and novelty act is good. Tonight's picture program is made up of a three-part drama, "The Return of the Twins Double," featuring Francis Ford and Grace Cunard.

After a short but keenly felt absence from the Universal's screen, Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, the great team who did so much to make the "Lucille Love" serial a huge success, are returning. They have been away on a vacation up in the New England states after long months of strenuous work. But you have missed them as evidenced by the unlimited number of inquiries that have been pouring into the Universal offices. Miss Cunard and Mr. Ford are a hard pair to beat; their productions, written by Miss Cunard, and directed by Mr. Ford, are always marked with freshness and originality.

Of course, you remember the wonderful series of detective pictures revolving about "My Lady Raffles," who resembled to a marked degree two other girls, twins, and the famous detective, Phil Kelley. In the last picture of this series the cunning, girl crook had been outwitted by the detective, Kelley, and sent to the penitentiary to serve a five-year sentence for robbery. At the opening of the present picture "My Lady Raffles" is being conducted to the penitentiary, handcuffed to a guard of the prison; and as the train races along the girl, who has defeated justice so many times, considers herself beaten. But there is something the human mind cannot guard against. It is the element of chance which results in the liberating of law-breakers as often as it does in the capturing of them.

A more appropriate play could not have been chosen for the return of this splendid pair of artists than "The Return of the Twins Double." Topping all the others in the series, it abounds in cleverly wrought situations, surprising complications and superb heart-interest unvarnished with the conventional makeshifts and trite sentiment common to the usual detective play.

The Majestic.
"Mr. Barnes of New York," six parts, featuring Maurice Costello, is shown today. Mr. Barnes of New York, a wealthy American traveling in Europe, meets Count Musso Danella, who invites the American to visit his estate in Corsica. While there, Barnes meets Marina Paoli, the count's ward, who is anxiously awaiting the return of her brother, Antonio, an officer in the service of France. A few days later Barnes falls in an attempt to prevent a duel between Antonio and an English officer, who kills Antonio and leaves behind a revolver borrowed from a brother officer, Marina and the Count arrive after the English officer had boarded his ship, Marina swearing vengeance against her brother's unknown slayer.

In her search for the English officer Marina, the Count and Tomasso, her foster father, go to Egypt. They arrive after the bombardment of Alexandria, in July, 1882, and their search takes them even into the hospitals filled with the wounded. There Marina meets Lieutenant Gerald Anstruther, who has been badly injured, and whom she nurses back to health. Later they fall in love.

In the meantime Barnes meets and falls in love with Lieutenant Anstruther's sister, Enid. In Monte Carlo Barnes and Enid meet Marina, Enid learning that Marina and her brother are engaged. Business takes Barnes to London. While he is gone, the Count from Gibraltar advises Marina that he has found her brother's slayer. His suspicions are founded on the fact that the revolver with which Antonio was killed is the property of Lieutenant Anstruther. The Count does not know that Marina is engaged to the English officer.

The Count succeeds in bringing the Lieutenant to Monte Carlo. Marina, through her love, has abandoned her vendetta, and the Count through jealousy determines to permit Marina to marry the Lieutenant before he tells her that it is the Lieutenant whom she seeks to destroy. Barnes in London learns of the conditions, and knowing Lieutenant Anstruther to be guilty, hastily returns to Corsica. He arrives a few hours after the wedding.

The Count tells Marina that she has married her brother's slayer and endeavors to have her kill her husband. She refuses, whereupon Tomasso, the foster father, proceeded to carry out the vendetta. Through a mistake, Tomasso kills the Count instead, and Barnes arrives just in time to explain everything, recalls Marina to her husband's love, thus preventing further bloodshed. He also succeeds in his own love affair with Enid.

FEW AUTOMOBILES HERE EIGHT YEARS AGO

The registration this week of Wichita county's 1000th automobile recalls the arrival here about eight years ago of the first cars to be brought to this city. Registration of automobiles did not begin here until July 12, 1907, T. B. Noble being No. 1. Some time previous to that, however, A. S. Fonville had brought the first machine here, an Olds. While it could hardly be considered much of a machine those days, it was quite some car for those days and was the wonder of the countryside. J. B. Marlow soon afterward brought a Buick from Enid, Okla., and soon there were about a dozen Buicks here, Wiley Blair having taken the agency. C. W. Bean secured the Jackson agency and sold several cars.

Twenty-nine cars were registered in July, 1907 and no more new machines arrived, judging from the records in the county clerk's office, until 1908. During that year six cars were registered. In 1909 business picked up some, seventeen cars being sold here. That many are now sold in one week sometimes now. In 1910 fifty-three cars arrived and in 1911, ninety new ones were registered. By the end of 1912 the number had increased to 320 and in 1913, 294 more were sold. This year's number will probably be over 400, it already being over 300.

MERCHANTS WILL ALLOW NO CARDS IN WINDOWS

Church, Lodge, Union and Other Advertisements Barred—Directors' Action Ratified

Church societies, lodge, lyceum and other cards will be barred from the display windows of Wichita Falls merchants in the future as the result of a resolution adopted at a membership meeting of the Wichita Falls Retail Merchants' Association Thursday afternoon, the merchants taking the position that their windows should not be used for anything else than their own advertising. While no question was raised on this point it is not the understanding that the action taken yesterday has any reference to the union membership cards. At the meeting yesterday the action of the directors in declaring the neutrality of the Association in reference to the Union Laundry Workers strike was ratified.

MANY SMALL INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE FORMED

Present Decade One of Unusual Activity in This Line, Says Speaker At Dallas

By Associated Press. Dallas, Texas, Oct. 9.—The period between 1910 and 1920 will be known in the future as the "building decade of the comparably small life insurance companies," according to J. B. Reynolds of Kansas City, president of a life insurance company with headquarters there. Mr. Reynolds addressed the American Life Convention here today on "Western and Southern Life Insurance Companies," describing the field and methods of life insurance companies in the west and south, and discussing their development and prospects.

While he said "many companies were organized before 1900, Mr. Reynolds asserted the period between 1900 and 1910 was known as the "organization decade," but that today the trend of life insurance business was toward building up companies already organized, rather than toward organization of so many new ones.

To the influence of the western and southern companies Mr. Reynolds ascribed the "general introduction of the preliminary term method of valuation," which he said "fixes a standard of solvency, prevents waste of funds and insures solvency," and which he said had been recognized by law in all states save Massachusetts.

Curtailed of policy restrictions in regard to place of residence, travel and manner of death, so that the general clause now in use is "This policy is absolutely free from conditions as to residence, occupation, travel, time or place of death," is due to smaller companies, asserted the speaker.

Mr. Reynolds also praised the smaller companies as tending to "keep money in circulation throughout the country and prevent its piling up in one locality," and asserted the federal government recognized the need for this in establishing a number of reserve banks instead of one central bank.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY IS OBSERVED IN TEXAS

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—By proclamation of Governor Cullitt, this is "fire prevention day" throughout Texas, and is being observed in many towns by public school exercises, women's club meetings and other ways to impress the importance of fire prevention on the public. The governor in his proclamation urged all property owners to give personal attention to the removal of trash and debris from their premises to minimize in practical way the danger of fire. In this connection it was also urged to observe the day as "clean up" day.

HOUSE KILLS GOVERNOR'S BANK OF TEXAS BILL

Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—At 6:45 o'clock last night the lower house refused to engross the Bank of Texas bill by a vote of 81 to 35, with six members being paired and one present and not voting. When the result was announced there was great applause and some of the members began singing "America."

The vote on engrossment came after short shift had been made of nearly a dozen amendments, those of any material moment being defeated in short order, and a number of purely corrective amendments being adopted by unanimous consent. An amendment sent up by Bonner striking out the school fund from the capital stock was defeated by a vote of 77 to 44. The Humphrey amendment, which would have killed the bill, by requiring nearly $40,000,000 from the nine directors, was killed by the opponents of the bill in order that the amendments offered by the friends of the bill might be fairly voted on.

Windau—The capital of a government of the same name in Russia, 49 miles east of the southeasternmost point of East Prussia, on the railway line from Petrograd to Warsaw, 158 miles northeast of the latter place. The town began its existence under difficult circumstances, being almost entirely destroyed by the Mongols in 1241 and by the Teutonic Knights in 1284 and again in 1391. The second partition of Poland was signed here in 1793, and Stanislaus Poniatowski resigned the Polish crown in 1795. The town's population in 1910 was 50,307. It manufactures spirits, machinery, candles, tobacco, soap, vehicles and firearms.

Windau—A Russian port on the Baltic Sea, at the mouth of the Windau River, 60 miles east of north of the coast city Libau. The population of the town is about 10,000, which is swelled in the summer because of its excellent bathing facilities. It is one of the oldest towns of western Russia and has an active trade in grain, flax, hemp and timber. The town also possesses a castle built in 1290.

Serie—A town of Russian Poland, 23 miles northeast of Seyne, near a lake which is the headwater of the Serryka, an affluent of the Niemen. FIRELIGHT MEMORIES

Do you remember the once happy faces that lingered round the dear old fireside? Can you call to mind the smiling faces that once greeted you, and with the vision there comes a flood of tender memories. Are you fortunate enough to have those dear ones with you still? Or, have they long since passed away? If so, have you done your full duty in beautifying their last resting place in such a way that you are proud of it? Or, does your mind recall to you the negligence and forgetfulness so common to the human race? "Our hearts are full of good intentions, but our deeds fall to show them."

Why not awake from your memories to deeds of pleasant labor? We will help you to be fully satisfied.

A PRESCRIPTION
When sickness invades your home you call a physician, he examines the patient and leaves a prescription for the remedies that experience has taught him are indicated in the trouble at hand. This prescription is written in Latin, the universal language of medicine in order that its names may never change and that it may be understood equally well by the pharmacists of every nation in the world. A prescription may seem a simple thing to you that may be dispensed by anybody like filling a grocery order, yet the laws of Texas require years of experience and a grilling examination of every prescriptionist who practices within her borders. A grave responsibility settles itself about the shoulders of the man who prepares the medicine for those who are fighting for their lives. We are prescription specialists. Experience, knowledge dug from the hard rocks of passing years and absolute honesty are the inducements we offer you for your prescription business.
