VILLA THREATENING PEACE CONFERENCE

HAS ARMY OF 18,000 MEN IN POSITION TO ENVELOP CITY

DELEGATES THROWN IN PANIC

Carranza's Family Moves To Town on Texas Border As Measure of Precaution

By Associated Press.
San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 20.—Francisco Villa created a panic among the delegates to the convention of military chiefs in Aguas Calientes today by moving an army of 18,000 men into position where he can envelop the city and imprison the entire conference. This information is contained in a message to the Mexican consulate here from Mexico City this morning.

Villa's army is reported to be within an hour's march of Aguas Calientes. To oppose him, there are Carranza's troops at Monterey and Saltillo but it would take from four to twelve hours to get them to Aguas Calientes. According to the message from Mexico City the delegates at Aguas Calientes, who include many chiefs of the constitutional army have made an appeal to Carranza to guarantee their freedom while the convention which was resumed today continues.

CARRANZA FAMILY TO MAKE RESIDENCE AT PIEDRAS NEGRAS

By Associated Press.
Mexico, Oct. 20.—The family of Venustiano Carranza, constitutional leader, first chief, reached the Mexican border today. It was announced that they would make their residence temporarily at Piedras Negras, opposite here on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. The move was reported to be for the safety of Carranza's family in case of developments unfavorable to him. Piedras Negras was Carranza's provisional capital when his revolution was in its early stages. It is the state of Coahuila, his home territory over which he was governor when he raised his revolt against Huerta.

Miss Henkel had obtained a stowage passage on a steamer for Genoa, Italy, whence she had intended to go to Zagreb, Austria. The Count Lieutenant Sedor Hines had been wounded in battle and wrote Miss Henkel to come to him.

ANOTHER EFFORT IS BEING MADE FOR ACREAGE BILL

Both Branches Trying to Get Action Despite Killing of Measure Last Night

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 20.—An effort is being made today in both branches of the legislature to pass the Terrell Kirby voluntary reduction cotton acreage bill despite the fact that the House last night killed the cotton acreage reduction measure on the same subject. The constitution prohibits consideration of legislation on the same subject when a bill on that subject has been defeated in either branch. The speaker, Representative Hurmelst, and the president pro tem Senator Neal both overruled the point that the voluntary reduction bill could not be considered at this session.

It was first laid on the table and then called up later and adopted by a vote of twelve to eleven, but the Senate refused to reconsider and tabled by a vote of eleven to thirteen. This means that the resolution may be called up again by a majority vote.

NO FOURTH SESSION DECLARES GOVERNOR

SAYS LEGISLATURE MIGHT AS WELL ADJOURN AND GO HOME

"IT INTENDS TO DO NOTHING"

If People Want Him To Call New Legislature To Act, He Will Do So

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 20.—There will be no fourth session of the Thirty-third legislature according to Governor Colquitt.

"The legislature might as well adjourn and go home," said the governor, "it has done nothing and clearly it intends to do nothing. I stated some time ago that I would leave it to the people whether or not I should call an extra session of the Thirty-fourth legislature; this is still my attitude. If the people want a session of the new legislature to consider either the acreage bill or the bank of Texas bill I will call it, but I shall be governed by what I deem to be the public demand for such a course."

House Takes Action.
Compulsory reduction of cotton acreage is the chief concern of this session is concerned, the House having put the finishing touches to bills of that kind last night. All bills but that plan were killed. One measure left is that contemplating voluntary reduction; that is, the organization of farmers into districts and binding them in agreements to reduce their acreage where they so desire. However, this action puts a damper on bills of that or any other kind affecting cotton reduction.

It will now be up to the Governor to make good his threat to go on the stump and discuss with the people so that he may ascertain the sentiment of the State as to that kind of legislation. If he thinks it favorable, he will call a special session after the election and submit the matter; also amendments to the Allison liquor law to correct some of the errors pointed out by the Court of Criminal Appeals in the Peede case.

Governor Colquitt said today that he did not contemplate recalling this legislature; that he would pursue the plan just described before convening another session. If he adheres to that position, the present session will adjourn within the next day or two, not later than Thursday, when it expires by limitation.

It is understood that the Governor has the Attorney General investigating the authorities to see the exact powers of the executive in calling a session after the new members are elected in November. The Attorney General is to see if the Governor can call the present membership or that newly elected to compose the Thirty-fourth Legislature.

Kills Bill in All Forms.
The House killed the pending bill in all its forms refusing every amendment and the bill itself, only twelve members voting on the final question for the original administration felony bill, only nine members voting for total reduction. Forty-eight voted for the committee substitute (25 per cent of all cultivated acreage in cotton) and fifty-two voted against it.

The votes, followed long debate throughout the afternoon, and into the night. When the last "no" sounded the death knell of the proposed acreage reduction legislation. The hall of the House became a scene of wild confusion. Mr. Ralston, who proposed the 40 per cent reduction, but opposed other plans, and who is usually one of the most sedate and dignified members, charged up and down the aisles, shouting frantically. "Thank God, we are still free men; we are still free Texans." Others were shouting, "The King is dead," and cheers, groans and whistles made a veritable pandemonium for a few minutes.

The House has again "beat the Senate to it," as it did on the Bank of Texas bill. The House killed that proposition before the Senate ever reached a vote and again the Senate will never reach a vote in the cotton acreage question, since the House has buried it.

The bill under consideration was the committee substitute for the Reely (Administration) Felony Bill, the committee substitute providing that only 25 per cent of all cultivated acreage may be planted in cotton in 1915. The first vote was taken on the Burns of Hill substitute (50 per cent reduction, with special provisions for small farmers). This was lost, 26 ayes, 73 noes.

The Blackop (total elimination amendment) was lost, 9 ayes and 89 noes. The Calvin 30 per cent amendment was lost, 33 to 67.

The Leavelle amendment, limiting cotton planting in 1915 to a flat fifteen acres per household, was lost, 3 ayes to 93 noes.

The committee substitute was lost, 45 to 52.

The original Reedy (felony) bill failed to go to engrossment by a vote of 12 to 84.

GERMAN'S CAMPAIGN TOWARD COAST FRAUGHT WITH MANY DANGERS

THIRD ACT ON WEST PROGRAM

If Enemy Establishes Itself On Channel Ports Can Easily Menace England

London, Oct. 20.—The third act of the war in the western theatre has reached a critical point. The first act was the German attack to sweep through Belgium and Northern France upon Paris, with the capture of the French capital as the climax of an irresistible advance.

The second act was the offensive assumed by the allies after General Von Kluck had stretched his army on the German west wing over a long line of communications that he could not hold. The allied army pressed the German forces back toward the Belgian border, compelling the entire line from the eastern pivot of Verdun to recede in order to maintain an unbroken front and a possible line of retreat.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 20.—About five thousand corporations and firms of Texas have reported their statistical records to State Labor Commissioner Sterling. By extending the time limit for filing these reports, after it had expired October 10, and by publication in the newspapers of the fact that many firms were threatened with delinquency in this respect, Mr. Sterling reported today that it probably will not be necessary to inflict any penalties. He has not announced the results of the statistical data received. His report will cover both the moral and the physical condition of the companies.

TEST OF JIM CROW LAW CARRIED IN STATE'S SUIT

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 20.—Constitutionality of the so-called Jim Crow law of Texas is assailed in the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway case filed against that company by the State for alleged violation of this law. The case already is under advisement of the fifty-third district court here, having been tried some time ago. The company is charged with transporting negro passengers in a tourist sleeper from El Paso to San Antonio. The company attacked the constitutionality of the law. It also pleaded that these passengers had through tickets, in consequence the case involving interstate traffic over which the State has no jurisdiction.

BEHIND SCENES ON FRENCH BATTLE LINE

ARTILLERY OF FRANCE PLAYS IMPORTANT PART IN ST. MIHIEL FIGHTING

ENGLISHMAN WANTS HIS BATH

German Kneading Trough Is Converted Into Tub—Indian Troops Prove Unique Fighters

By Associated Press.
The Battlefront, via Paris, Oct. 20.—On the eastern wing along the Meuse heavy fighting is incessant and in this the French artillery is playing a most important part. The allies concentrated the fire of several French batteries at St. Mihiel Monday and destroyed a complete battery of heavy German artillery which had been causing great annoyance. It was due to the work of a French artillery man that this was accomplished. Carrying a portable field telephone, he hit himself for two days near the German position and informed his comrades in the rear of the positions of the German guns and the direction in which they should fire. The information rendered the German positions untenable and when his work was done the men returned safely to the French lines.

The scenes behind the battle line show the characteristics of the various nations engaged. The French soldiers are very gay singing when they return from the trenches and always seeking to learn all the news from any new arrival from the rear. The Belgians are among the same in character, but the recent damage to so many Belgian cities has rendered them rather moody, though they are still full of fight and sure of eventual victory. The British appear to be ready to seize the latest opportunity to plunge into a creek or river. Behind their trenches are many kneading troughs captured from the German commissariat and now turned into bathtubs.

The Indian troops maintain a calm silence, except when in action. Then they utter wild cries in their eastern language. The Moroccan auxiliaries known as the "goumiers" maintain all their African habits. They apparently are always ready to rest wherever they may find themselves but sleep with the bridle over their arm and spring into action at the slightest movement or noise.

HALF OF BELGIANS SAID TO BE INTERNED IN HOLLAND

Half of Those Remaining Are Reported Deserters According To Berlin Dispatch

By Associated Press.
Berlin, via Wireless to Sayville, Oct. 20.—Information given out today says: "Two Belgian majors have related to a war correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdam Schoucurat that one-half of the Belgian army has been interned in Holland. A quarter of the whole army has deserted, they declare and the last quarter is so disorganized that they are only a burden to the French and British armies. Nearly all the Italian volunteers in the French army have returned to Italy."

PROGRESS AT SEVERAL POINTS IS FRENCH CLAIM

Belgians Hold Position In Spite Of Attacks—Successes Reported On The River Meuse

Belgians Hold Position In Spite Of Attacks—Successes Reported On The River Meuse

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 20.—The French official communication given out this afternoon says that the Belgian army is holding its position on the Yser. The communication follows:

"In Belgium, in spite of violent attacks on the part of the enemy, the Belgian army has held its position on the line of the River Yser. There have been other actions in the region of Ypres between the allied forces operating in this territory and the enemy.

On our left wing the Germans continue to hold strongly their advance posts around Lille in the direction of Armenties, Fournes and Labasse.

On the Meuse the enemy has endeavored in vain to drive back the advance posts of our forces who have moved out along the right bank of this stream in the direction of Camp-des-Romains. To sum up, during the day of October 19, we have made progress at various points on the front.

"In east Prussia and on the Vistula river here is no change in the situation. The efforts of the Austrians to cross the River San have been repulsed. The battle south of Przemyśl is continuing under conditions favorable to the Russians."

NO CONFIRMATION OF OSTEND REPORT

IF GERMANS STILL HOLD PORT POSITION IS THOUGHT PROBABLY

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 20.—Nothing has been received up to the present from the German intelligence department to counteract the British impression conveyed in the news, both official and unofficial, that the tide of battle both in the eastern and the western theatres is not for the moment going in favor of Germany. The picture, however, continues so blurred, that it is impossible, except for the military commanders actually to gauge the effect of the momentary changes. So it may well be that the German general staff, when it considers the time right will present an entirely different picture.

The Belgium minister at London has no confirmation of the story that the allies have recaptured Ostend, but in any case the German hold on the seaport must be somewhat precarious if the allies retain the position assigned to them in the latest French official statement. Should the allies push their wedge beyond Roulers, where its point rested yesterday, Ostend would be in considerable danger of being cut off from the rest of the German army. Germans are making great efforts to break through their opponents lines in the neighborhood of Arras, where as General Joffre's statement points out, fighting has proceeded for ten days without a respite.

TWO SPECIAL RULES ARE REPORTED IN HOUSE TODAY

Are To Expedite Action Upon Two Pending Measures For Cotton Relief

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 20.—Two special rules, one to bring out the measure to license cotton warehouses, which passed the Senate, and the other to consider the Glass bill to increase the amount of circulating notes based on commercial paper from thirty to 100 per cent of a national banking association's capital and surplus were brought in the House today by the committee on rules.

News of the conflicts of millions of men along the Vistula in Russian Poland is of a negative character. Both of the vast armies claim its opponent is in a defensive attitude and neither pretends to have gained anything like a permanent advantage. The Austrians for the moment are claiming far more success against the Russians than are the Germans, but even admitting the correctness of their claim the forces which are alleged to be driving the Muscovites out of the Carpathian mountains still are at least seventy miles south of Przemyśl and Limberg.

Further south the Servians are utilizing all their strength in a general assault on Sarajevo. They especially are desirous of being in possession of the Bosnian capital before the court has given its decisions in the trial of Garvia Prinzip, whose assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the Austrian heir-apparent, was the direct cause for the war of the nations. Word has been received also that the Germans are preparing hastily some defensive works around Strasbourg and digging innumerable trenches in front of this city. Vineyards have been leveled by the German engineers in carrying out this work.

CENSORSHIP IN AUSTRIA

VERY RIGID AND SEVERE

Man Who Calls Soldiers Cowards is Given Two Years Sentence of Imprisonment

Vienna, Oct. 19.—A news letter from Vienna tells some remarkable instance of the censorship in the Austrian capital and pays a compliment to the consideration shown to foreigners who are still in Austria.

That the warning from the police against adverse comment on the military operations is to be taken seriously, says the letter, is evident from the fact that a man who had remarked casually in a Vienna cafe that the Austrian soldiers were cowards, was promptly arrested and sentenced to two years imprisonment with hard labor, with a fast day once a week and a day's confinement in a dark cell once a month.

Newspapers from America have been held back at the postoffice for more than three weeks, according to the letter, and telegraphic communication has proven so difficult that the people have practically given up trying to dispatch messages. For correspondence with the soldiers at the front special postcards and envelopes are provided, and each man may be addressed by a code number, but his whereabouts are not divulged, and the news exchanged is subject to such a rigorous censorship that only a few commonplace matters are written.

Vienna informant, that the Viennese and indeed the Austrians generally, have treated the foreigners here, including even those of hostile countries with a great deal of consideration. There have been no demonstrations against embassies or legations or individuals. In a few instances Englishmen have been the victims of some unpleasant incidents in the streets, but these cases were rare and of slight importance. It is the rule to avoid speaking either English or French and in that event one may feel safe from annoyance.

The local official news agency has taken it upon itself to remind the people that there are over 90,000,000 Americans whose mother tongue is English and that in their midst are living many thousands of Austrians enjoying the hospitality of the freest country in the world. It therefore became the Viennese to extend the greatest courtesy to Americans here.

There are, of course, a number of young Englishmen and Frenchmen under arrest to make it certain they will not fight against Austria-Hungary, but they are being well treated, with the exception of the straw strewn floor of the detention camps. They are allowed to correspond in German with their friends within the monarchy.

The French women governesses mainly, have given the police more trouble than the men. They frequent the cafes and often talk loudly in the case of the Austrian authorities.

WHY TEXAS SHOULD BUILD COTTON MILLS

H. F. JORDAN SEES GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR STATE AT THIS TIME

WOULD GET DOUBLE BENEFITS

Not Merely Good Profit on Investment But Stable Market for Cotton

(By H. F. Jordan in Houston Post)

I may appear over-earnest in my solicitation of the people of Texas, but believing that now is the one great opportunity for Texas to take hold of the problem which I believe is the greatest financial problem that has yet confronted the people of this State, unless the opportunity is grasped at this time, it will become hereafter the seal of doom for cold-blooded greed and gain.

The great of this State has done a great benefit in carrying forward its movement, which is purely sentimental Buy-a-Bale, until it has impregnated every cross-road and village store within this state, in considering these large and incalculable benefits beyond the bounds of Texas who have, and are still buying a bale in large quantities.

We are confronted with the possibility of considering certain legislation to decrease the cotton acreage to such a great extent that will be a loss upon the State which will take years to repair. Such legislation would be along the line of killing the goose that laid the golden egg, and if it is done the State will find that it is irreparable injury has been done.

The cotton mill status for 1913 was United States for the year 1913 was approximately 9,000,000 bales, of which cotton imports was 227,000 bales, of which two-thirds came from Egypt.

The cotton mill status for 1913 was that there were seven new mills of 25,000 spindles and 21000 looms built in the New England States; and five cotton mills with 250,000 spindles and 5800 looms were built in the Southern States of Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina and Virginia; in the Middle States, consisting of Arkansas and Pennsylvania there were six mills of 7000 spindles built, Pennsylvania building five.

In 1913 there were approximately 250 new knitting mills built, but none were built in Texas; no new cotton mills of any description were built in Texas; however, in 1913 the United States imported cotton manufactured goods to the amount of $67,878,949 of silk manufactured goods, $31,775,909; wool manufactured goods, $17,351,096, and exported the same year raw cotton to the extent of $623,677,439, Texas being the entire State in point of area, leads all States in railroad mileage and in the production of cotton, and is the fifth State in point of population.

The valuable crops of Texas for the year 1913 are as follows:
Cotton $268,832,000
Corn 132,824,000
Oats 16,575,000
Wheat 12,831,000
Rice 8,339,000
Hay 5,475,000
Potatoes 2,621,000
By comparison with the cotton crop the cotton crop outweighs by quite a margin the combined value of all the other crops and is in fact the one staple crop of Texas.

With its population and its railroad invested and marketed, it is a trouble to the people of Texas to raise the banner crop of all the world, but they stop with the marketing of the crop, and have given little or no thought to transforming it into the finished product, so that it will be of greater value to them in its finished state.

France, $4,768,000 of cotton; $18,402,000 of wool; $59,000 silk. Germany, $87,328,000 cotton; $4,740,000 wool; $22,783,000 silk. United States, $45,686,000 of cotton; $2,470,000 wool; $1,756,000 silk.

These four countries imported for the same year manufactured goods as follows:
Great Britain—$51,986,000 of cotton; $33,472,000 wool; $7,000,000 silk.
France—$11,578,000 cotton; $9,235,000 wool; 10,352,000 silk.
Germany—$8,862,000 cotton; no wool $5,680,000 silk.
United States—$65,804,000 cotton; $16,217,000 wool and $29,255,000 silk.

The figures show that the United States exported the least of all cotton manufactured goods of all the powers, and imported most of all cotton manufactured goods. They also show that the United States imported a large quantity of silk manufactured goods, more than France and Germany combined. They show that the United States has less cotton mills than Great Britain. They show that all of the other states who manufacture the raw cotton into the finished product do not raise cotton, but most of the silk that is raised in France and by France transformed into the finished product, France exporting more silk than all of the rest of the world put together.

The cotton that is raised in France and by France transformed into the finished product, France exporting more silk than all of the rest of the world put together.

It does seem to me that if the public and they are daily expressing themselves demand the products of the field shall hereafter be shipped in bags made out of cotton, and the good women of the State are declaring themselves in favor of wearing cotton goods, and that the men are ready to do so, then let us consider for the bringing up or building up of the great manufacturing State, as well as a great agricultural one.

They say that there is an atmosphere near the city of Honston that is identical with Lancashire, England, where the finest cotton thread is spun and the finest cotton cloth is woven; then we can produce in Texas just as fine a cloth as they can in England.

Now let us be up and doing so when the next year rolls around the call of the mill will, with its spindles and looms, sing a song to the happy people of the Lone Star State.

The United States census report for 1913 regarding the different articles manufactured out of raw cotton is as follows:
Woven goods, $460,000,000; plain cloth, $120,000,000; sheeting and shirting, $88,000,000; twills and satines, $35,000,000; fancy woven fabrics, $48,000,000; gingham, $27,000,000; duck $27,000,000; drills, $17,000,000; ticks, denim and stripes, $28,000,000; cottonades, $3,500,000; napped fabrics, $26,000,000; corduroy, cotton velvet and plush, $6,965,000; mosquito and other netting, $2,900,000; upholstery, $15,000,000; tenting, $5,000,000; bags and bagging, $5,000,000; toweling and toweling, $6,000,000; tape and webbing, $5,531,000; yarn, $109,314,953; thread, $20,519,000; twine, $2,417,000; cordage in rope, $2,000,000; cotton waste $10,574,000.

Norwiche does Texas manufacture any of the above articles, all of which are manufactured out of cotton except in its 13 mills it manufactured in woven goods, $2,731,932.

The aggregate value of plants in the United States manufacturing mattresses, blankets, cotton down comforters, commercial cotton is $29,432,000, and the value of the product manufactured by these plants is $35,783,000; the added value by manufacturing the cotton is $15,429,000.

Besides the large number of articles that can be manufactured out of cotton, which I have already enumerated, there are a great many articles that can be manufactured out of cotton. The manufacture of automobile tires, which is a very extensive one and which will no doubt, grow, because the automobile industry is rapidly growing and the automobile uses more automobile tires than anything else besides gasoline. Cotton is extensively used in automobile tire manufactures.

Three Golden Gates.
When you are tempted to reveal
A tale someone to you has told
About another, let it pass
Before you speak, three gates of gold.

Three narrow gates, first "Is it true?"
Then "Is it needful?" in your mind
Give the truthful answer and the next
The last and narrowest, "Is it kind?"

And if to reach your lips at last
It passes through these gateways
three.
Then you may tell the tale nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

"BIRTH OF STAR SPANGLED BANNER" BENEFIT FOR D. A. R.

The Daughters of the American Revolution of this city have decided to present to each of the public schools in the city an American flag, to be on display at the school at all times. In this way they hope to foster a spirit of patriotism and to inculcate a desire to know more about the flag and the history of the country.
As a means of raising funds for the purchasing of the flags the managers of the Gem Theatre have kindly consented to give the D. A. R. Chapter
a benefit today at their theatre,
the feature picture being "The Birth of the Star Spangled Banner," a picture of beautiful theme and settings and calculated to arouse the deepest of patriotic feelings.

CHENAULT-MATHIS WEDDING TAKES PLACE TODAY

Tuesday at one-thirty the marriage of Miss Edith Aurelia Mathis, second daughter of Mrs. Dixie Mathis, to Nathan Bullock Chenault was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, 1010 Fourteenth street.

Owing to the recent bereavement in the family of the bride, the ceremony was a very quiet one, the attendance
being limited to the immediate family.
Bridal illusion, white roses, smilax and ferns were used in profusion to achieve an extremely dainty decoration in keeping with the simplicity of the ceremony.

Mrs. M. E. Garrison, taking her place at the piano, sang "All For You," by Guy de Harlelot, as a preliminary to the entrance of the bridal couple. To the strains of Lohengrin, the charming bride entered on the arm of the groom, and standing before Dr. J. W. Hill, the words which made them man and wife were spoken, the beautiful ring ceremony being used. The bride wore her going away gown, a most effective tailored suit in a deep shade of green, with aigrette trimmed hat to match
and all other accessories harmonizing.
She carried a small bouquet of white roses, which were handed to Margaree, the third daughter of the house during the ceremony. The groom was garbed in a dark grey suit of afternoon cut.
The bride's sole ornament consisted of a platinum and diamond dinner-ring, the gift of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony
Mr. and Mrs. Chenault left for their wedding tour, which will extend through Louisiana and Florida. Their home in Floral Heights is now under construction and will be completed about the time of their return.
The bride is the second daughter of W. J. Mathis and is a beautiful and accomplished young woman. She is a graduate of Kidd-Key College at Sherman. The groom was formerly a resident of Burk Burnett, being a leading business man and capitalist of the county. Through his business connections in this city he has won many friends who will be ready to congratulate both he and his lovely bride.

GERMANY GRATEFUL FOR ATTITUDE OF AMERICANS

Thanks Consul-General For Services
Rendered By Citizens Now
Abroad

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Oct. 20.—The following exchange of letters has taken place between the American consul-general and the Lord Mayor of Dresden, according to Dresden newspapers received here:

"It has come to our knowledge that not a few members of the American colony in Dresden have entered the service of the Red Cross. At our recent general meeting we passed a resolution expressing to these members of the American colony in Dresden our appreciation of their high minded attitude.

"We request the highly esteemed consul general to kindly forward our resolution to the members of the colony concerned, and we grasp this opportunity to assure you that the city authorities will also do everything in order to render the stay of the American colony in Dresden during the war as comfortable as possible."

The American consul-general sent the following reply:

"I had the honor to receive your communication containing the information that the council of Dresden learned that various members of the American colony were engaged in making things for the Red Cross Society and that at a meeting of the city council it was resolved to express to the American colony in Dresden the city's thanks for its interest in this charitable work. You had the kindness to request me to convey to the members of the colony this resolution of the council of Dresden.

"I shall not fail to inform my compatriots of your kind letter and will also take the liberty of sending a copy of the resolution to the state department at Washington.

"I take this opportunity to express to you, my dear Mr. Lord mayor, and through you to the other members of the council of the city of Dresden
my sincerest appreciation of the extraordinary courtesies which the city authorities and the inhabitants of Dresden have shown to the Americans here. Not only have they been treated with the greatest friendliness
but I have also heard from British and French subjects who are sojourning here of the more than magnanimous treatment which has been accorded them and which they will never forget. Many hotels and boarding houses have permitted a great number of them to remain without paying, after having promised to settle the matter on their return home."

War topics were popular at Mon-

subject for debate was "Resolved,
That England was Justified in Taking Up Arms in the Present War" and the result was a victory for the affirmative side, which was upheld by Messrs. Roemer and Bradbury, Messrs.
Berry and Hein had the German side of the argument. Other numbers on the program were three short talks on "The War's Lessons," by John Tutts, "Bryan's Peace Treaties," by

About the best plan yet suggested for the relief of cotton farmers in the cotton raising States was that proposed in the United States Senate to negotiate Panama canal bonds for 5,000, 000 pesos, it was supported by all the Southern Senators, and won after a hard fight. This ought to take care of one-third of the total crop for 1914.

When Texas exempts cotton mills from taxation, then we may expect to see a cotton mill in every important cotton market. And if Texas should see her way clear to enact such legislation and other cotton States do likewise, it will not be a great number of years until the South will manufacture a good portion of all kinds of cotton goods.

W. A. Chatterton of this city, who is now connected with the new daily paper at Gainesville, has been elected secretary of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce. He is a real live wire secretary and it is public policy to have him in town-building, Chatterton is engaged in getting enough for McKinney, and at a little cost to the city he is to serve as any man in town. In fact, if publicity counts for anything we may expect to see McKinney a city of fifteen or twenty thousand population during the next few years.

Thomas A. Edison expresses the belief that submarines will in the near future reach such perfection that it will be possible for them to remain under water indefinitely. "All that is needed," he told Secretary Daniels after inspecting one of the little floating craft—the first time, "is a device with potash batteries as the principal power." Such an apparatus could be invented, he believes, that would would break water up into elements of hydrogen and oxygen, enabling men to live under the water indefinitely, the same as fish. That would be to menace the big warships with increased terrors. They face a plenty already.—Houston Post.

Governor Maytorena's revolution in Mexico has been the cause of much annoyance to the United States and of some danger to American people residing on this side of the Rio Grande.
 Maytorena's troops seem to take their delight in firing across the line at every opportunity, and United States troops may have to cross the line to stop warm-blooded of this nature. That Maytorena's revolution will be short lived is evidently the belief of the administration, based on the knowledge that it will require very strong financial backing for any revolutionary leader to accomplish any marked success in the Southern republic. Even if Maytorena were able to convince American capitalists that his cause was strong enough to justify backing, the financiers would hardly find it to their interest just at this time to part with the money.
 Ready money is at a premium, and money secured at a premium will not be readily risked in ventures whose only certainty is their doubtfulness of success. Because of which it would seem that the watchful, waiting policy of the administration need not be nearly so long in producing results
 it was in the case of the Huerta regime, and with a great deal less embarassment to the country.—Greenview Herald.

A fourth called session of the Legislature seems probable. This is on account of the liquor question, or rather the way the decision of the Texas Supreme Court has ruled on the Allison liquor tax. If it is called, it may be expected there will be a lively clash between the pros and antis. The pros, or at least a majority of them, will take the position that,
 the law, as it now stands, is all right
 or rather that it can be made all right by simply passing such legislation as will give to the Attorney General authority to appeal from the decision of the State Court to the Supreme Court of the United States. The antis want the law killed entirely, claiming as it now stands it operates against the financial interests of the liquor dealers of the State and in favor of the liquor dealers outside of the State. If the antis do not succeed in their purpose they will stand but little chance under the new administration, as it, or rather our government-to-be is committed to veto all liquor legislation that may come up under his administration.

 Therefore, he is in no position
 to render relief to the liquor dealers of Texas, or at least he can't give such relief and keep his electioneering promises.

Portugal has a population of 5,000,
 000 at home, yet her flag waves over 20,000,000 in Asia and Africa. Great Britain has for centuries past been virtually the guarantor of the independent existence of Portugal. There is no wonder, therefore, that Portugal should declare war against the Nations at war with Great Britain; and it is quite a mistake to assume that Portugal is so small and weak that its military assistance will amount to nothing.
 But the interesting part of Portugal is not her fitness for war or her progress, which latter seems to have been a progress backward. The Nation has grown smaller and weaker for centuries. Madeira and the Azores are not colonies. They are an integral part of the Republic, but in East Africa
 alone it possesses not only Delagoa Bay, the natural port of the Transvaal, connected by great British roads, but most valuable territory. Much of it is contiguous to both the colonies of Germany and Great Britain. Of the possessions in the Far East—Macao, not far from Hongkong; Goa, a couple of hundred miles south of Bombay,
 and the island of Timor—are all valuable and all bound up with history.
 But not they, but the African colonies are the determining factors. The interesting part of Portugal is her history. The Portuguese have done their share of fighting on land, to be sure;
 but they have won their great glory
 battling with far, strange and stormy seas.—Dallas News.

ENGLAND WORRIED, BUT NOT PANICKY, ABOUT ZEPPELINS

Everyone Believes Germany Will Make Effort To Invade Country In Airships

London, Oct. 19.—"Will England be invaded by air?" This is the question now on the lips of the people of this country since the arrival of the German hosts in proximity to the English shores.

It would be wrong to say that a panic prevails, but an anti-German outbreak at Deptford, the activity of the authorities regarding Austrian and German residents, the hitherto have been regarded as harmless, indicate a certain nervousness which easily may develop into more serious outbursts of popular feeling.

Air Raid Planned.
 There is no doubt that the Germans have planned to reach London by means of airships, while as is well known, successful operations have at times been carried out in a hostile area when not a single cartridge has been expended for weeks on end. Yet, though bullets may be dispensed with in this certainly not the case with regard to bread—or its equivalent. This at any rate, has always been the opinion of the great military leaders—Napoleon, for example, being reported on one occasion to have had a soldier march through a field with a bag of biscuits, in order to make room for some ammunition.

The scale on which the commensurate arrangements for a protracted campaign are conducted, is an exceedingly large one. A fact that contributes materially to this is that not only daily rations and fodder to be issued to every man and horse on duty, but also that a considerable reserve supply has to be maintained at the base of operations. In the recent Boer war for example the amount of food stored was as far as possible that equalling a four months' consumption.

Very Big Stock Indeed.
 When it is remembered that the number of troops drawing upon it was well over 200,000 at a time during the greater portion of the war, it will readily be seen that such a supply cannot be hoarded in a warehouse, or stock indeed. To go into actual figures, it may be of interest to learn that at the head of the various items composing a four months' supply for such a body is 24,000,000 pounds of biscuit.

This enormous total is closely approached by the "bully beef" one, as for every pound of the former commodity there is at least three-quarter pound of the latter. To render it more intelligible, it would be interesting to know that the quantity required to keep in store 1,000,000 pounds of compressed vegetables and 800,000 pounds of salt. As appropriate accompaniments to the beef and vegetables are "tea" to the extent of 890,000 pounds and 400,000 pounds respectively are also included in the reserve supply.

In addition to such absolute necessities as biscuit, beef and vegetables the four months' food supply for an average army corps in the field includes many items that may almost be described as luxuries. For example that for the British troops in South Africa contained 2,900,000 tins of jam (each holding one pound), and 720,000 pounds of marmalade. Jam, it is worth noting, is a very important article of diet for soldiers in active service in the Egyptian campaign of 1884. As it was found to have excellent results (chiefly on account of its antiseptic properties) and also to be extremely appreciated by the men, it has remained a "field ration" ever since. It is generally eaten with biscuit, as bread is but rarely obtainable in the actual theater of war.

FEEDING TROOPS IS DIFFICULT TASK

FOOD IS ONE THING THAT ARMIES CAN'T GET ALONG WITH-OUT

ENORMOUS AMOUNT REQUIRED

Much Is Needed Every Day and Still More Must Be Kept In Reserve

London, Oct. 20.—The most serious problem with which a general in the field can be faced is that of keeping up the necessary food supply for the troops under his command. An army, indeed marches on its stomach. At a pinch it can make shift to do without tents or transport, while as is well known, successful operations have at times been carried out in a hostile area when not a single cartridge has been expended for weeks on end. Yet, though bullets may be dispensed with in this certainly not the case with regard to bread—or its equivalent. GERMANY'S BIG SIEGE GUNS HAVE THEIR DISADVANTAGES

Are Very Delicate in Operation and Are Quite Easily Rendered Useless

By Associated Press.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The question has been many times asked why the Germans with their great numbers and their overwhelming superiority in artillery after having broken the resistance of the allies at Charleroi and penetrated to the very gates of Paris, were unable to maintain their positions. The military science of Gen. Joffre certainly furnished one reply to that question but a military writer in the Liberté Du Sud thinks there is another, in the cumbersome character of the German heavy artillery.

The famous German mortars, the "brummers" are capable of firing a 14 inch shell as long as a man of average height a distance of eight miles. They were considered most redoubtable before the war and, in fact they did terrible execution on the fort of Liege and other fortified positions, but since their entry into France not much has been heard from them excepting the exploits at Rheims and at Maubeuge.

It has been discovered that this immense fighting machine is nearly as delicate in its mechanism as a formidable. It requires experts to fire it, most of the gunners being engineers from the Krupp works, and when something happens to them, as has been the case when they have come within reach of the "turcos" it is almost impossible to replace them. Besides, it is necessary that the mortars be installed in a favorable position with well laid foundations; consequently when prearranged plans are disturbed their efficiency is greatly reduced. It requires good roads also, and even then it takes forty horse power to draw one of them, consequently they do not fit in very well with the equipment of an army that depends upon its speed to win, and rainy weather of course, is not all good for them. Again, their effectiveness is neutralized when the French "75" is able to get inside its long range and it does not stand long against the terrible hammering of which this gun is capable.

Finally, this expert thinks that in case of a forced retreat most of these heavy mortars are likely to be destroyed by the French stuck in the mud.

GERMANS PRODIGAL IN THEIR USE OF AMMUNITION

Story of Assault Upon Troyon Is Told—Immense Number of Shells Fired

By Associated Press.

Paris, Oct. 19.—Part of the story of the bombardment and assault upon the fortress of Troyon has been told. The story from the inside shows how prodigal are the Germans with their powder. From the 8th to the 13th of September they fired more than 4,000 shells from 3 inch, 8 inch and 10 inch guns.

The casualties in the fortress were four killed and forty wounded while the damage was inconceivable excepting from one shell fired evidently from a ten inch mortar which dismantled a gun and dug a hole through masonry a yard and a half thick and penetrated two and a half yards of earth.

The fort sustained two assaults which, as is already known, were repulsed with great slaughter, 7,000 bodies having been found around the fort after one assault.

On two occasions an envoy was sent by the German commander who summoned the garrison to surrender in these terms: "In the name of His Imperial Majesty I summon you to surrender unconditionally. 'Never!' was the reply.

On the second visit of the envoy he complained severely of having been firing on by Fort Genouet and declared after receiving the commander's response. "We shall meet again, governor."

After each visit of the envoy the bombardment resumed more furiously than ever and at times as many as 236 shots were fired in half an hour.

An artilleryman who took part in the defense of Maubeuge declares that the amount of powder burned there was even greater than at Troyon. For nine hours at a stretch he states, during one day of the most furious bombardment, the Germans

A BAD PRECEDENT.

Radicals have pointed out that revolutions come usually after wars.

Certainly, wars set in motion by those who presumably represent law and order place a mighty bad precedent before the people who are ordinarily classed as against law and order.

A war like this of Europe has already cost far more of suffering, horror and waste than all the revolutionary movements of the past century, with the French Revolution thrown in for good measure.

What argument for law and order do crowned heads and militarists make to disconcert people by precipitating them into a hell of lawlessness, anarchy and blood? "If that is law and order," the victims can say, "let us have something else."—Kansas City Star.

A VOTE FOR TEXAS.

The Evening Journal believes that a vote at the November elections in favor of the proposed Constitutional amendments, providing for increased pay to members of the Texas Legislature, will be a vote for Texas.

If there has been any lack in the quality of the warships heretofore, the lack has been occasioned in great degree by the niggardly compensation which has been tendered members for their services. Under the plan which has prevailed for years few men other than patriots of pleasure and messes could feel prompted to serve as members of the State's law-making body at a financial sacrifice. Their chief compensation has been in the form of gratuitous and generous criticism. It is folly to minimize the importance of the Legislature. The State has suffered through such folly. And it is time to further steps which will assure a gradual and certain improvement of the personnel of the Legislature. This may best be done by authorizing more adequate payment to the members. The proposition seems clear. Better pay, better law-makers, better laws. If Texas wants the two last named, she should provide the first.—Dallas Journal.

SOMETHING GOOD PROMISED WHEN MUTT & JEFF ARRIVE

Wichita Falls has undoubtedly had its surfeit of "Ham Pat" stock companies who are willing to take a stab at anything from "Hamlet" to "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Such junk has been fairly jammed down the unwilling throats of theatre-goers until they are heartily sick of it and unwilling to enter a theatre unless some assurance is given them that a "really and truly good" is coming to town.

Great joy will therefore be expressed when the announcement is made that "Mutt & Jeff in Mexico" and Gus Hill's big company of fifty people will come to the Wichita Theatre next Friday. "Mutt & Jeff in Mexico" is the title of this seasons entirely new production of Bud Fisher's now nationally famous cartoon picture play. The scenic and electrical equipment is a magnificent one, introducing some novel and startling mechanical sensations never before seen during the performance of a so-called musical comedy, and, of course, the inevitable Mutt and his pal little Jeff. Which one creates the most laughs has been a bone of contention for nearly three years, which is a longer life than any cartoon series has ever lived before, yet the question has not been yet definitely decided. Fisher's daily pictures are as popular today as at any time in the three years he has furnished them to over one thousand daily and Sunday newspapers throughout the United States and Canada. It seems hardly necessary to print any further details regarding this most extraordinary written up, dissected and criticised, "critics in all parts of the country agree, however, that it is the "one great big satisfying comedy hit of the show world. This seasons offering out classes either of the two former productions and represents a financial financial outlay than both combined. It is a veritable innovation of stagecraft, embodying practically all of the best elements of entertainment. In fact it's your great loss if you miss it.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

The new administration, as it, or rather our government-to-be is committed to veto all liquor legislation that may come up under his administration. Therefore, he is in no position to render relief to the liquor dealers of Texas, or at least he can't give such relief and keep his electioneering promises.

The war has greatly reduced the forces of the European missionaries located in Korea. Several members of the German St. Benedict Mission left for Tsin Tau to serve either as soldiers or physicians. PLAN EXHIBIT OF FARM CLUB'S WORK

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS WILL OFFER PRIZES TO BOYS AND GIRLS

MANUFACTURE OF GAS HEATERS

Proposition for $100,000 Plant is Submitted and Referred to Committee

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their first meeting in several weeks gave their approval to an agricultural exhibit plan proposed by J. W. Campbell, agricultural demonstration agent and appointed a committee to confer with J. C. Ziegler, the inventor and manufacturer of the Ziegler hot blast stove in reference to a proposition for their manufacture here.

Mr. Campbell told the directors that the boys' cotton, corn and beef clubs and the girls' poultry and canning clubs had made wonderful showings this year and that he wanted to arrange an exhibit here of the results of their work soon. He said that one boy had an eight months old calf that would weigh more than 700 pounds. The girls, he said had been very successful in raising garden products and had canned nearly everything they had raised.

"Hardly a boy or a girl in these clubs," he told the directors, "but what has doubled the yield made by the old man." He estimated that $200 would be sufficient prize money for the exhibit.

Messrs. Taylor, Huey and Hines were appointed a committee to help him in raising this money. No date for the exhibition was discussed.

Messrs. Hines and Huey were appointed a committee to appraise the value of the equipment of the new overall factory for the purpose of securing a loan for the owner.

Mr. Ziegler is Heard.

J. C. Ziegler, inventor of the Ziegler stove who was present was invited to tell about his invention and a proposition he had in mind for its manufacture here. After discussing points of excellence of his invention, Mr. Ziegler said that the organization he had in mind for its manufacture would require a capitalization of $100,000. He said that he would like to go into detail into the proposition with any one interested. The matter was referred to the manufacturing committee with instructions to take up the matter with Mr. Ziegler immediately. Following adjournment the directors went in a body to Brin & Dolman's store where Mr. Ziegler gave a demonstration of the stove.

Farmers Urged to Plant Small Grain Now For 1915 Instead of Cotton

The Times has received the following from the Texas-Industrial Congress:

The fact that there is enough cotton in the world now to last two years under war conditions and that the European war is certain to continue indefinitely, probably for years, makes it certain that not much cotton will be grown in Texas next year and a production cost around 10c per pound when it would have probably a market value at 5c per pound. The Texas farmer is forced, therefore, by considerations connected with the necessity of living, to take up the growing of other crops than cotton—crops from which things to eat are made, not things to wear.

Those farmers who are planning to grow wheat, oats, barley and rye should get their seed into the ground at the earliest practicable date, since the fall sown grains will make better yields than those planted after Christmas, besides the added advantage of the winter pasture. Mediterranean Red is a variety of wheat that has been grown in Texas for many years, and its value is well established; Red rust proof, or Texas oats is a good variety to use in cotton planting, and the ordinary southern rye for rye. A good place for these grains in the rotation is following either cotton or corn, but they will all make better yields if it is possible to plant them on land that was in cowpeas last year or this year. They can be planted in the cotton fields now if the farmer will sow them between rows. The farmer should remember that he can avoid trouble from smuts by treating his seed wheat, corn, oats or other grains with formalin, formaldehyde, or hot water before planting and while this is a little trouble, it should be done. Seed should be secured from plants grown as near where the crops are to be planted as practicable.

Governor Colquhoun has designated the week beginning October 18th as "Seed Corn Week," urging the farmers to devote this time to the selection of the best possible seed with a view of securing larger yields next year. Those farmers who have failed to choose ears from the best stalks of their fields in August can still do good by choosing the best appearing ears in their granaries, since perfect ears are, as a rule, produced by the best plants. About sixteen full ears will be required for planting; each acre, and it would be well to select several times as many ears as will be required for planting, for when the germination test is used, it will undoubtedly make some very surprising revelations to the farmer. STRENUOUS EFFORTS MADE TO SECURE MAN'S LIBERTY

The mother was chasing her son around the room. She was chasing her son around the room. And while she was chasing her son around the room. She was chasing her son around the room.

Very much in the manner of the drinking song of which the foregoing is one of the 95 verses the liberty of F. E. Perkins, arrested here Saturday and held on a complaint has been juggled from pillar to post in legal and official fashion. Perkins was arrested at Chickasha, Oklahoma, who arrived Sunday night with a warrant for Perkins on a charge of robbery. Perkins refused to return to Oklahoma with the officer without a requisition and while the officer was waiting for the requisition Perkins sued out a writ of habeas corpus.

The application was heard at Archer City before Judge Scurry late yesterday evening who ruled the discharge of the prisoner but ordered that he be held in the Archer City jail until the County Sheriff until this morning. In the meantime Sheriff Goodwin filed a complaint against Perkins charging him with being a fugitive from justice. This was heard before a justice of the peace at Archer City this morning who ordered the prisoner held under $1,000 bond. Attorney Bonner of this city again instituted habeas corpus proceedings to have the bond reduced. In the meantime Sheriff Goodwin was preparing to turn the prisoner over to Deputy Sheriff Ed Carnes to bring him to Wichita Falls to turn him over to the Oklahoma officer who was expected to have the requisition papers this afternoon.

Papers were being prepared to enjoin the Archer County Sheriff from such action but the officer beat the filing of the papers and the prisoner was given over to Deputy Sheriff Carnes "for safe keeping" and brought back to Wichita Falls. The requisition papers had not arrived early this afternoon. The next step in the legal fight for the possession of Perkins is looked for soon. Just what form it will take is a matter of conjecture.

CHATTERTON IS APPOINTED SECRETARY AT M'KINNEY

Well Known Traveling Man is Elected to Position With Commercial Club There

W. A. Chatterton has been appointed secretary of the commercial club at McKinney. "Chatt" as he is familiarly known, for several months has made his home in Wichita Falls. He has traveled all over Texas in the interest of the Corsicana coffee house and at one time was a candidate for nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket. He has many friends here and over the State who will be glad to learn of his appointment and who will congratulate McKinney on securing such a live wire.

TWENTY FIVE PERMITS FOR DAIRYMEN ARE GRANTED

Twenty-five dairy permits were issued by Food Inspector Bolyn yesterday covering about 100 cows. Many applications were being received today. Most of the applicants are accepting the terms of the new ordinance without complaint. Some, however, are belligerent about it. Mayor Britain got out of bed this morning to answer a telephone call. It was from a woman who said she wanted to see the man responsible for the inspection ordinance. The mayor told her that he was one of those who must bear the responsibility. She expressed her opinion of the ordinance and told the mayor that she believed it just a scheme to give somebody a job.

MORE STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

Mrs. Hutchison Eighty-one Years Old Uses No Other Tonic but Vinol and Recommends it to Friends.

Greenville, S. C.—"It is with pleasure I tell others of the great benefit I have derived from Vinol for the past several years. I am 81 years old and I find Vinol gives me strength and a healthy appetite and overcomes nervous disorders. Vinol is the only tonic reconstructor I have used for several years. I have recommended it to a great many of my friends and it has always proved satisfactory." Mrs. M. A. Hutchison, Greenville, S. C.

Such cases as the above are constantly coming to our attention. If people in this vicinity only realized how Vinol invigorates old people we would not be able to supply the demand.

It is the tissue building, curative elements of the cod's livers, aided by the blood-making strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol that makes it so successful in building up strength for old people, delicate children and for all run down conditions. Vinol is also a most successful remedy for chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. If it fails to benefit any one who tries it we return your money.

Note—You can get Vinol at the leading drug store in every town where this paper circulates. Miller Drug Store. (Advt)

SOUTH TEXAS LANDLORDS WANT ACREAGE REDUCED

Are Getting Together With Their Tenants To Curtail Cotton Yield in 1915

Corpus Christi, Tex., Oct. 20.—Showing that the people of South Texas are in earnest in planning for reduced cotton acreage for next year, from all parts of the gulf coast section come reports that the landlords and tenant farmers are getting together and planning for the next year so that both may succeed better than this year when cotton has been a drag on the market.

F. Z. Bishop, founder of the town of Bishop, in Nueces county, is one of the county's largest landlords. For the next year he will rent about 8000 acres of land in 160-acre farms, and the agreement between Mr. Bishop and these tenants is worthy of note.

On each farm the contract specifies that the tenant must plant not less nor more than 80 acres in Indian corn, not less nor more than 40 acres in cotton, five acres in cane and the balance in Kaffir corn, milo maize or feterita. Mr. Bishop agrees to take one-fourth of the crop produced as land rent where the farmer furnishes everything, and one-third where the landlord furnishes teams, plows, etc.

Bankers of the county will further help by advancing to the tenant farmers sufficient funds to purchase two or three registered sows and one or two Jersey dairy cows, and the farmers will also be urged to raise a few chickens and to plant a home garden, so that as far as possible they may live at home from produce raised on the farm.

On next Tuesday 50 or more Corpus Christi farmers, bankers, merchants and others interested in the prosperity of the farmers will make an auto trip to the famed ranch of E. C. Lassiter, near Fairburn, on which is the largest and finest herd of dairy cows in the world. Mr. Lassiter has a model farm, raising all kinds of live stock, feedstuffs and vegetables, and his success as a farmer who "lives at home" is known throughout the state.

The purpose of the trip is to demonstrate that the dairy industry, hog industry and, in fact, diversified farming and stock raising can be made a great success in South Texas. The trip has been arranged at the suggestion of E. H. Caldwell, president of the Commercial club.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be gotten out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give you One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. AT THE THEATERS

The Lydia Margaret. The new vaudeville bill for the first half of this week is eminently pleasing. Two acts make up the bill, each having enough novelty to get over very acceptably. Harris and West are billed as "the girls with the pearls" and their chatter and patter certainly bear out the truth of this statement. Coombs and Williams, the classy city chaps and the charming country girl drew the applause from every quarter and are certainly worth listening to. Today's pictures include "The Cave of Death," a Kalem two reel and "Man's Victory," a Selig.

The Majestic. "The Difference between Learning and Learning How," a George Ade comedy, enacted by the Essanay comedy troupe shows a comedy that is different. "Adventures in Diplomacy," a three-part special, taken from the story by Jacques Futrelle is the feature offering today.

When the ill-fated "Titanic" went down a few years ago to a watery grave, one of the greatest writers of mystery drama passed over the great divide. Stories are told today of his heroism and actions when this levithian giant went to her death after receiving a fatal blow by running into an iceberg. As a man, Jacques Futrelle knew no superior, and as an author of mystery fiction, his fame is world wide. Had he lived today his name would have been enrolled in the hall of fame, and undoubtedly his works would be among those preserved in the archives of our country.

Naturally, in order to be successful as a writer of mystery stories, one must have a prolific imagination and an exceptionally wide range of experience. A great many of the authors whose fame has been made in this manner, such as Conan Doyle, Louis Joseph Vance and Mary Roberts Reinhart, have been in pretty close touch with diplomatic circles and thoroughly understand the workings of court and samson in European nations.

A point that is particularly interesting in conjunction with "Adventures in Diplomacy" is the fact that this story is laid around similar conditions to those that existed between Austria and Serbia prior to the present great conflict in Europe. It is such minor incidents that fan the spark of diplomatic dealings into flame and cause nations to enter a conflict.

The Gem. A picture that should be of more than ordinary interest to every American is showing today at this theatre. "The Birth of the Star Spangled Banner," is a story of our country and should appeal to what ever latent spark of patriotism that may exist in any one. The best of the Edison players take part in this production and the picture has a three fold value, first it's patriotic importance, second dramatic value, and third it's beauty of costuming and photography. It is especially fitting that the Daughters of the American Revolution should be patronesses of this production and both in the afternoon and evening they will have a benefit.

Sincerely patriotic and vitalized by a splendid list of capable interpreters, "The Birth of the Star Spangled Banner" is worth while on its own account, and it is bound to be a hit at this moment. Whenever the old fighting spirit of our men, particularly those of Colonial and Revolutionary ancestry, is stirred by the prospect of war, there slumbers a volcano of enthusiasm in the hearts of Americans. No other nation has passed through such a constant succession of wars during the Nineteenth Century as our own. None has put such vast armies into the field. During the rebellion there were more troops in the Northern Army than Germany ever used, and the field of operations extended over a line that would reach from London to the world's end.

VERA CRUZ INCIDENT IS REFERRED TO CHIEFS. Washington, Oct. 19.—President Wilson revealed today that administration questions incident to the evacuation of Vera Cruz had been referred to the national convention at Aguas Calientes.

How Germany Would Proceed In Fighting The United States

(By General Von Edelsheim of the German General Staff) "Operations against the United States of North America would have to be conducted in a different manner. During the last years political friction with that state, especially arising from commercial causes, has not been lacking, and the difficulties that have arisen have mostly been settled by our giving way. As this obliging attitude has its limits, we have to ask ourselves what force we can possibly bring to bear in order to meet the attacks of the United States against our interests and to impose our will. Our fleet will probably be able to defeat the naval forces of the United States, which are distributed over two oceans and over long distances. But it would be a mistake to suppose that the defeat of their fleet will force the United States, with its immense resources, into concluding peace. "The possibility must be taken into account that the fleet of the United States will at first not venture into battle, but that it will withdraw into fortified harbors in order to wait for a favorable opportunity of achieving minor successes. Therefore, it is clear that naval action will not be decisive against the United States, but that combined action of navy and army will be required. Considering the great extent of the United States, the conquest of the country by an army of invasion is not possible. But there is every reason to believe that victorious enterprises on the Atlantic coast, and the conquest of the most important arteries through which imports and exports pass will create such an unbearable state of affairs in the whole country that the government will readily offer acceptable conditions in order to obtain peace.

forces below are only slumbering, and it would take very little to fan them into fierce flame. The rebellious elements of Europe are mixed in with the cooquering determination of early Americans, and the national spirit is intense though undemonstrative on most occasions. It bursts out occasionally at a mere flash of the national emblem, spontaneous and impassioned and this photodrama, depicting incidents leading to the birth of the flag, is sure to call forth more than one enthusiastic demonstration.

We have come out of the storm and anguish of our wars a better and a stronger people, but the elements of caution and protection have not been eliminated from our natures. There is still a haunting sense of peril for those who are near and dear to us, quickly aroused by menace on border or coast. Our men are as ready as ever to fight for their ideals, and there is embodied in the Star Spangled Banner recognition of a unity of purpose and a unity of heart, sometimes forgotten in our eagerness to "get on" with our business and social duties. The Edison two reel photodrama is well calculated to call forth a spirit that should send us to the relief of the ignorant, unhappy and incapable people on our southern border, that of conquest for world betterment.

The Victoria. "Our Mutual Girl" No. 33 sees the camera mystery solved. Mr. Coburn's intensely dramatic incidents of the theft of Margaret's necklace fast are nearing a climax. When Dunbar leaves his apartments the morning after he has visited his criminal brothers rooms, he is trailed by the ever suspicious Kid Joseph, and the detectives Mrs. Kalkbrenner has employed. They follow Dunbar through the mazes of crowded streets of New York until, as he enters a cafe they slow up lest he be followed. Dunbar knows he is being followed. Dunbar does not remain in the cafe. Quickly as he enters, he leaves by another door and a swift glance over the fence, is out of sight. "The three wait for him but a swift glance in the cafe, tells them that Dunbar has eluded them."

Dunbar, free of his pursuers, makes his way hurriedly to his brother's rooms. He knocks again and again and finally, after a surly answer "let me in or I'll break down the door," Dunbar tells his brother to get out or he will shoot through the door. His brother fires twice but misses him. By that peculiar instinct of dogs, Ann feels her master is in danger. Lying at Margaret's feet, the clever animal's eyes look nervously around, then her fur rises and she finally paces the room. Of a sudden she leaves and going from window to window, she finally makes her exit, opening a large gate all by herself, then she runs to her master's side. And at the instant that Dunbar is in the hithered rooms with the camera in his hands, the detectives and Kid Joseph enter, "Caught with the goods" the Kid gleefully cries. As the detectives are about to arrest Dunbar a shot is heard in the next room and they find Dunbar's brother has shot himself and then they understand.

To complete this interesting program "A Mother's Choice," a two reel Thanhouser is shown.

American soil can begin after about four weeks, and it can not be doubted that the United States will not be able to oppose to us within that time an army equivalent to our own.

"At present the regular army of the United States amounts to 65,000 men, of whom only about 20,000 could be disposed of. Of these, at least 10,000 are required for watching the Indian territories and for guarding the fortifications on the seacoast. Therefore only about 20,000 men of the regular army are ready for war. Besides, about 100,000 militia are in existence, of whom the larger part did not come up when they were called out during the last war. Lastly, the militia is not efficient; it is partly armed with muzzle loaders, and its training is worse than its armament.

"In order to occupy permanently a considerable part of the United States and to project our lines of operation, so as to enable us to fight successfully against all forces which that country, in the course of time can oppose to us, considerable forces would be required. Such an operation would be greatly hampered by the fact that it would require a second passage of the transport fleet, in order to ship the necessary troops that long distance.

If we were cleaning our first suit or laying the tape the first time we could not say these things. But it is not our first by a good many thousand. There is no dingy ring left where the grease spot was when we do your cleaning. There is no loose leather flapping around in your suit when we lay the tape. We do things just one way. Our rules and regulations are told in just these three words—DO IT RIGHT. And last but not least we charge you a price now and for all time to come that is "RIGHT."

RECEIVE MANY INQUIRIES ABOUT MISSING PRISONERS

Committee is Organized For Exchange of Information About Those Captured

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 17.—The Geneva committee organized to facilitate the exchange of information regarding prisoners of war is receiving more than two thousand inquiries a day by letter, in addition to many telegrams.

Requests for information have been received from Monsieur Delcasse, French minister of foreign affairs, concerning his son, wounded near Nancy and picked up by the Germans; from Sir Edward Grey, English foreign minister, concerning his nephew, Princess of Saxe-Meiningen concerning the Prince of Saxe-Meiningen, of whose death she had not been informed through German channels; from the rector of the university of Munich, concerning his son, a prisoner in England.

A German general, unable to do so himself, begged the committee to send good news to the wife of a French colonel, a prisoner at Karlsruhe.

The Paris papers are also serving as a sort of clearing-house for information concerning families and friends dispersed as the result of the exodus from the north of France on the approach of the Germans.

Some of the papers are carrying pages of these inquiries and it has been proposed to organize a committee similar to the Geneva committee to take charge of them.
