CARRANZA READY TO QUIT CONDITIONALLY

WILL RESIGN IF VILLA AND ZAPATA RETURN TO PRIVATE LIFE.

QUESTION UP TO CONVENTION

Villa's Friends Said to Be in Control—No Intimation As to What Answer Will Be.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 28.—The American government was informed officially today by the minister of foreign relations at Mexico City that General Carranza had submitted his resignation to the national convention at Aguas Calientes on condition that General Villa and Zapata retire to private life. Gen. Carranza's action, it was stated, was purely in the interest of domestic peace. No word was received of what action was taken by the convention and opinions varied in official circles as to whether either Villa or Zapata would give such assurances.

The northern chief reportedly has stated to American consular agents he has no ambition to be president of Mexico or hold any of the numerous offices for which he has been mentioned. It was believed there would be less difficulty in adjusting the situation with respect to Villa than as to Zapata. The latter has insisted since Huerta's abdication that he be permitted to share the executive power with Carranza. His representatives at the convention say they have a complete understanding with Villa.

It was clear from official reports that Villa's followers were in control of the convention and could rely on support from Zapata, that the answer of the convention will be tantamount to a reply from the Villa-Zapata coalition.

MISSING CHILD BELIEVED TO BE NOW IN KANSAS CITY

No Trace of Little Gerhart Girl or of Her Niece, However, Has Been Found.

By Associated Press.
St. Louis, Oct. 28.—Miss Julia Krasinsky and her 4-year-old ward, Virginia Lee Gerhart, with whom the nurse secretly fled from the child's home in St. Louis, two days ago, is hiding in Kansas City or one of its suburbs, according to information received late last night by Harry Gerhart, the child's father. Mrs. Virginia Curtis, grandmother of the little girl, in a long distance telephone message from Bonham, Texas, last night, denied she had seen the nurse or child.

The pair, however, were seen on a south-bound Rock Island train, by a friend of Mr. Gerhart's, who did not at the time know of the child's disappearance. A telegraph operator has reported seeing the couple at Pleasant Hill, near Kansas City, while the negro porter of the train on which the nurse and child were seen, declared they had gotten off at Kansas City. The police at Bonham have been asked to detain the nurse and child should they arrive there.

GRANDMOTHER DENIES SHE SENT FOR CHILD

By Associated Press.
Bonham, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Virginia Curtis, grandmother of Virginia Gerhart, who disappeared from her home in St. Louis, said today that she knew nothing about the actions of the nurse and baby and did not expect them to come to Bonham.

NO TRACE OF COUPLE FOUND IN KANSAS CITY

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Oct. 28.—The police today stated they had found no trace of little Virginia Gerhart and the nurse who left St. Louis with the child two days ago and who is believed to have come to this city.

SHREVEPORT RATE CASE HEARING BEGINS TODAY

By Associated Press.
Shreveport, La., Oct. 27.—Representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission were to begin today at Shreveport a hearing on the local Chamber of Commerce application for a supplemental order in the Shreveport-Texas case. The original order was directed against the Texas & Pacific and the Houston and Shreveport railroads. Since issuance of the order the Missouri, Kansas & Texas lines voluntarily have agreed to the reductions in rates between Shreveport and Texas points and the supplemental order now is asked against various other East Texas lines.

HEAVY FROST IS NOTICED IN WACO VICINITY TODAY

By Associated Press.
Waco, Texas, Oct. 28.—Heavy frost was noticed here this morning when a temperature of thirty-six was noted in the open in exposed places. The frost did not cause any appreciable damage.

WILSON DESIGNATES THANKSGIVING DAY

ISSUES CUSTOMARY PROCLAMATION SETTING ASIDE THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26.

REFERS TO STRIFE IN EUROPE

Says It Has Shown American People Their Interdependence Upon One Another.

By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 28.—President Wilson today issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 26 as Thanksgiving day. In the proclamation, the President said:

"The hurtful effects of foreign wars in their own industrial and commercial affairs have made our people feel the more fully and see the more clearly their interdependence upon one another and has stirred them to a helpful co-operation such as they seldom have practiced before. Our crops will feed all who need food. The self-possession of our people amid the most serious anxieties and difficulties and the steadiness and resourcefulness of our business will serve other nations as well as our own."

ST. LOUIS COTTON LOAN PLAN FAVORED

BANKERS' ASSOCIATION TAKES ACTION TO THIS EFFECT AT DALLAS.

TO DEMAND ACREAGE REDUCTION

Believed Plan Will Have Immediate Effect Upon Conditions in Cotton Market.

Endorsement of the St. Louis plan for a pool of $135,000,000 to be loaned to cotton farmers at 6 per cent and plans for a campaign to secure a reduction of at least 50 per cent in the cotton acreage for next season, were unanimously agreed to by the committee from the State Bankers' Association at Dallas yesterday. R. E. Huff, who was a member of the committee, returned from Dallas this morning. A. Kemp, chairman of the committee, remained in Dallas to get out letters to members of the association over the state notifying them of the committee's action.

The details for the collection of the money for the loans and its distribution will be determined by the Federal reserve board which will be in working order by November 16. It is expected that the board will be able to announce the details of the plan within a few days after that date.

Mr. Huff is optimistic concerning the plan and believes that it will have an immediate effect on cotton prices.

RECOMMENDATIONS SUBMITTED

The report of the committee sets forth that the prosperity of the cotton producing regions is dependent upon four fundamental principles—first, that a loan should be provided big enough to take care of the estimated surplus and long enough to permit the gradual marketing of the crop; second, that the portion of the crop marketed immediately should bring a fair price; third, that a reduction in acreage of at least fifty per cent should be made next year; fourth, that farmers be encouraged to plant feed-crops in place of cotton next year.

The report unanimously recommends the plan of Festus J. Wade of St. Louis for a $135,000,000 cotton loan fund, to be loaned on a basis of $30 per bale, and also recommends that the Texas Bankers association at once take steps to see that Texas' share is raised. The re-opening of the cotton exchanges at New York, New Orleans and Liverpool is urged in the report, and it is cited that the opening of the regional banks, the removal of the embargo by Great Britain and other conditions warrant such action. It is also urged that no more cotton be sold at the present low prices.

RATES TO ARANSAS PASS SUBJECT OF HEARING TODAY

By Associated Press.
Houston, Texas, Oct. 27.—Hearing on the plea of sixteen railroads to set aside the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission directing the railroads to place Aransas Pass on the same basis of rates as now exists at Galveston was to be held here in United States court today. Railroads set up the claim that it requires greater service to transport cotton to Aransas Pass than to Galveston.

TUBERCULOSIS IS CHIEF CAUSE OF TEXAS DEATHS

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 28.—Tuberculosis of the lungs again leads a sad cause of death in Texas, according to the September report of vital statistics made public today by Registrar R. P. Babcock. There were 134 deaths from this disease.

HOW FRENCH TOOK GERMAN TRENCHES

DETAILS OF BATTLE NORTHWEST OF YPRES ARE RELAYED.

CLEVER RUSE IS SUCCESSFUL

Evening's Reserve Force Is Shot Down By French Artillery While Coming to Reinforce

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 28.—This is how a position of the German line northwest of Ypres was taken yesterday, according to officers who have arrived in Paris from the battlefield. A series of light guns, three-inch field batteries, each invisible from the front, were disposed behind the neutral cover of the undulations of the field, bits of woods, ruined farm houses or dry ravines. The guns, working to their full capacity of four shells to the minute, sprayed bursting projectiles over the German trenches in a wide belt, before, over and just behind the carefully dug roofed field works.

The German infantry, as long as they kept inside the covered trenches, were secure, except from the chance of shells falling directly through the narrow place left for rifle and machine gun fire. The French infantry from the rear of its own line of trenches got up as if for the usual run for the German lines. The French guns at a moment agreed upon, ceased their fire and the Germans, supposing the usual charging rush was coming, ordered up their reserve infantry, who were held outside the shell zone to support the slender lines in the trenches. The French artillery changed its range and at a signal by telephone from the French trenches, caught the German reserves coming on the run, 1000 yards behind their works, with a scattering shell fire which broke formations and seemed to bring down a third of the men in the line. They simply could not hold their ground through the rain of bursting shells.

The French infantry then took the German trenches with the bayonet. The pushing of the Germans out of France opposite Nancy yesterday and the establishing of French positions inside the German frontier were regarded as important achievements. The "blue devils" as the Germans call the French light infantry operating in the Vosges, again justified the honor in which they are held by the enemy. They led the final rush which routed the last of the Germans out of French territory. These troops finished at no late date today night.

FORTY SEVEN BODIES ARE RECOVERED AT ROYALTON

Deaths Declared to Be Due to Reversal of Air in Shaft After the Explosion.

By Associated Press.
Royalton, Ill., Oct. 28.—Forty-seven bodies had been recovered at 8 a. m. today from the mine of the Franklin Coal and Coke company which was wrecked yesterday by a gas explosion. All but two or three of the miners who entered the workings yesterday have been accounted for definitely.

It was developed today that most of the deaths were due to the reversal of the air in the shaft as the explosion occurred. On the other hand mine officials state that the reversal of the air prevented a much more serious loss of life than that which the aftermath of the lower workings where many of the workmen had begun to scatter when the explosion occurred.

Leo Bellamy, a survivor, today told how, when he attempted to go back after the explosion to save his brother, the reversed fans drew the deadly after-damp toward the entry and forced him to climb or die. The after-damp, he said, killed the crippled men in the air course.

BRITISH HOLD POSITION IN FACE OF FEARFUL ORDEAL

Story Of Night Attacks By Germans Near Ypres Tells Of Bloodiest Fighting Of War

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 28.—The correspondent of the Times in northern France sends the following under Tuesday's date, regarding the fighting in Belgium:

"The British at Ypres captured Langemark Friday after inflicting enormous losses on the enemy and established entrenched positions behind the village. At night after the roar of the cannon had ceased, bushes soaked in petroleum were fired by the Germans throwing a glare over the scene. Masses of men sprang up from the German trenches within a few hundred yards of our trenches, and with bugle, yell and song came dashing forward. Though taken by surprise our men took their places in the trenches and poured a terrific fire into the advancing hosts, who fell by the hundreds.

"They got within thirty yards of the trenches when they recoiled. Then came three blasts of a whistle sounding the retreat. Our men sprang out of the trenches and charged with the bayonet. The slaughter was terrible and there were many hand-to-hand encounters. In the glare of the burning bushes some of the enemy threw down their arms and pleaded for mercy. No quarter, however, was given on either side; the work was too desperate for that. Bayonet and bullet did their work and the enemy was driven back on Roulers.

"A battery and several machine guns were captured and thousands of prisoners were taken, including a general and several officers."

FRENCH CLAIM THEIR POSITIONS ARE MAINTAINED AT ALL POINTS

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 28.—The French official announcement issued today says that yesterday the German attacks between Nieuport and Arras were less violent. The French positions everywhere were maintained and the French forces continued to advance to the north and to the east of Ypres.

The text of the communication follows:

"During the day of yesterday the German attack in all the region between Nieuport and Arras was less violent. Our positions were everywhere maintained and we continued to advance to the north and to the east of Ypres. We also made some progress between Cambrin, to the southwest of Labassee, and Arras.

"Further information continues to confirm previous reports that the German losses in dead, wounded and prisoners have been considerable. In the northern region on the right bank of the Aisne the Germans attempted at night a violent offensive movement in the region of Craonne. On the heights of the highway Bes-Dames, they have been repulsed. In the Woevre district our troops have continued their advance in the forest between Aprimont and St. Mihiel as well as in the forest of Le Prete."

Austin, Texas, Oct. 28.—The case of the State of Texas vs. the Texas Business Men's Association of Fort Worth, which is pending in the Twenty-sixth District Court, will not come up for trial until the December term of the court from what was learned today.

"WOODROW WILSON DAY" IS OBSERVED AT DALLAS

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, Oct. 28.—This was "Woodrow Wilson Day" at the Texas State fair here. A number of the forty Texas delegates to the Baltimore convention were expected to be here and it has been suggested by local Democrats that these delegates take advantage of the occasion to start a second-term movement for the president. Mr. Wilson recently refused to permit his home state—New Jersey—to start such a movement, but, local leaders say, such a movement, started by the Texas delegation to Baltimore, would probably not be received with disfavor.

TIDE OF BATTLE SEEMS SWINGING IN ALLIES FAVOR

Claims Are Vague However—New South African Outbreak Causes England Much Concern

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 28.—The great battle for possession of the coast along the North Sea from Ostend to Calais is said by the French to be swinging slowly in favor of the allied forces. German assaults which apparently attained the height of human effort were met with equal courage and today the offensive efforts of the invaders were said to be relaxing. For the third successive day the French official statement asserted the advantage lay with the allies. It is noticeable, however, that the claims have been vague and bare of detail as to the capture of towns or localities, which may be sent down as marking a definite advance at any point.

"Progress" and "advances" or "gains" are reported at various sections of the line not closely indicated. From unofficial reports from the front it is inferred that in the main the conflict is raging along apparently the same line as heretofore and that the deadlock has not been broken. London reports unofficially that the fiercest German attack had diverted from the seacoast slightly to the south in the line between Dixmude and Ypres. This possibly may be explained by assertions that the British fleet, said to have been driven off by German artillery, has resumed its bombardments. Eastward along the line of battle there are indications that heavy actions have been resumed after several weeks lull. Yesterday's official French statement referred to successful allied attacks at the center and eastern end of the line. Today it is said a German offensive movement at Craonne was repulsed.

The conflict in Galicia still is undecided. Both French and Russians claim that the offensive action against the Germans is being pursued successfully near Warsaw. It is reported unofficially from Petrograd, however, that the Russians have not succeeded in pushing the advantage along their left and center as far as they had hoped.

The rebellion in South Africa led by Christian Dewet, famous opponent of Lord Kitchener in the Boer war and General Beyers, former commander of the military forces of the Union of South Africa, presents a menace to Great Britain which causes no little concern. No word has come up to late today, to indicate whether this new revolt had assumed formidable proportions. Coming so quickly after the suppression of the uprising under Col. Maritz, it was believed to indicate that England was facing a serious problem in her hard-won colonies.

The main assault of Tsing Tau again has been postponed by the Japanese, Tokio reports, because of storms.

Aside from the political outcropping of the great war, England received a shock in the news that a steamer, the Manchester Commerce, had been sunk off the coast of Ireland by a German mine. Up to the present time all such disasters have been confined to the eastern coast. The region where this vessel was sunk is on the first route of the Atlantic liners from Liverpool and of the Clyde line steamers from New York and Canadian ports. The inference is that the Germans, penetrating this area, hoped to reach the transports bearing Canadian troops, to the British Isles.

ALREADY PLANNING DIVISION OF SPOILS

ALLIES EVEN THIS EARLY FIGURING ON GERMANY'S DISMEMBERMENT.

TO MAKE GRAB FOR COLONIES

All of Nations Involved Have Eyes on Possible Additions to Territory.

(By Herbert Corey)

London, Oct. 27.—England will not demand that Germany be dismembered or disarmed when the allies win. Europe's interest will be best served by the retention of Germany as a sound and viable unit in the rank of nations. But she must give up her dream of world-empire. She shall no longer be a menace to peace.

This is an absolutely authoritative statement of the attitude the British government will assume in the event of a victory by the allies. It is to be qualified by the following statements: "There is no thought of an early—of a premature—peace. England will fight on, if she has to fight alone, until peace is made on her terms."

"No member of the government has as yet given serious thought to the formulation of these terms. It will be quite time enough to do so when Germany is defeated."

"Germany's resources are so great that the war office considers it probable that the war will last another year. When the invasion of Germany begins another phase of the conflict will open, which will be quite as desperate as any of the preceding phases."

It must not be assumed that this is an interview with any single member of the government. Rather it is a consensus of governmental opinion. The members of the government have discussed the nature of the peace terms which will be offered—if the allies win—with a certain amount of candor from the beginning of the German retreat from the gates of Paris. But these discussions have only served to vaguely outline the English policy. They have not yet extended to details.

Germany Must Give Up Colonies "Two things England will insist upon," said the gentleman who made the statement, "are that Germany be taken as the spokesman for the government in so far as this article is concerned."

"One is that the German colonies must be given up. We do not want them—but who else is there to take them? We only ask that they be taken from Germany, in order to remove her as a disturbing element in world affairs."

"The German navy and the German coastal fortifications—such as those at Wilhelmshaven—must be smashed. We hope the British navy will attend to this before the war ends. It is highly improbable that the war will end before there is a test of strength upon the seas. But if the improbable should happen—then the German warships must be sunk. The forts must be blown up. We can no longer endure her challenges as a sea power."

At the present there is a disposition to frown upon any suggestion that England shall demand an indemnity from Germany. It seems fairly certain that no punitive indemnity will be asked. It is distantly possible that a comparatively small sum will be exacted. Complete financial reparation must be made to Belgium, so far as that is possible. Not only must the state be fully recompensed, but those individuals who have suffered in pocket through the German invasion must have their losses made up.

"We fully recognize the invaluable aid rendered by Belgium at the outset of the war," said the gentleman who spoke. "We propose to show our appreciation by exacting such terms from Germany that in the future the violation of the neutrality of small and peaceful nations shall be regarded as ultra-dangerous. Such repayment of individual losses would also stiffen the backs of other small neutrals in situations which may arise in the future."

Banks have been looted; homes pillaged; jewelry stores robbed by the Germans. England and France will insist that all such losses be made good.

"We have no information that France will demand a monetary indemnity," said the speaker. "Nor have we any assurance that she will not. There has been no discussion of this point between us. The war has not yet reached the stage which would justify such a discussion."

"But there is a determination on the part of the allied nations that uniform aggression against peaceful civilians shall be punished. The English and French are paying for such losses as they are. The Germans must likewise pay. Wherever it is possible to establish the identity of officers who have directed outrages against individuals we shall insist that these officers be punished."

Territory Germany Will Lose As to territory, Germany is to be trimmed as follows: France will regain Alsace and Lorraine.

The Slav and Polish provinces of the east are to be divided between Russia and Serbia. Perhaps the ancient kingdom of Poland will be re-established. Little consideration has been given this as yet. Generally speaking, an effort is to be made to rearrange the map of Europe along national lines.

The Duchy of Luxemburg will be turned over to Belgium.

Denmark will be given to Schleswig-Holstein.

Italy may be given Trieste.

What remains of Germany and Austria-Hungary—and a very considerable empire, both in population and wealth, would remain—will be permitted to arrange itself to suit itself.

"Our belief is that the new Germany would have a stronger and saner national solidarity than at present," said the spokesman for the government. "For years it has been holding what are, in effect, conquered provinces by its great army. Its colonies have called for a navy. Deprived of the need for a great army and a great navy, Germans may devote themselves to the pursuit of material welfare, and cease to vex the world by continual aggressions."

All of this is premised, of course, upon an anticipated victory of the allies—a victory which shall be of so overwhelming a nature that they will be in a position to impose their own terms of peace. Those terms are to be framed, not with an eye to the enrichment or political aggrandizement of any nation, but to the preservation of the future peace of Europe.

"We shall leave no arrow sticking in Germany's side," said the speaker, "which shall demand a bloody revenge in the future. That was the mistake Germany made when she took Alsace and Lorraine from France. While those provinces remained German no lasting peace could be hoped for."

Therefore no serious thought is being entertained by French or English leaders that France will demand a slice of the Rhine provinces of Germany. Not only will France not ask this, but she does not desire it. This statement may be taken as the absolutely authoritative expression of the present French cabinet, which reflects public opinion with rare fidelity. "France does not desire to rule over a foot of German land or a single German subject. All that she wants is her own again—and peace."

DO IT NOW

Wichita Falls People Should Not Wait Until It is Too Late

The appalling death rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint. If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

F. McEnnis, carpenter, 1108 Scott St., Wichita Falls, Tex., says: "I suffered from pains across the small of my back and in my sides. I also had to get up frequently during the night to pass the kidney secretions. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended I got a box and used them as directed. In a short time I was cured." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McEnnis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advt.)

TEXAS STILL FURNISHING WAR HORSES FOR EUROPE

Demand Continues Unabated by Foreign Countries and This State Gets Benefit

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 28.—If the European war continues until next spring, which now seems to be the expectation of all the contending nations, it is likely to put close to $2,000,000 into the pockets of Texas farmers and ranchmen for cavalry horses.

One firm of horse buyers on the North Side is expecting to furnish 10,000 horses to European nations, and already has bought more than 5,000. That firm has more than 3,500 horses now in its stables here, including 2,000 recently sold to the French government but not yet delivered, and between 1,500 and 2,000 still in the country, which have been bought but not yet shipped here.

Already close to 5000 cavalry horses have been purchased on the Fort Worth market, including a shipment sent from Bonham, which really was bought here. Buyers have had to pay on the average $100 apiece for them, which means half a million dollars of foreign money already distributed in Texas.

The horses are bought by the foreign governments in comparatively small bunches, usually 500 or 1000 at a time. They merely make arrangements for the purchase of the horses, and not contracts in the full sense of the word, as they are subject to abrogation at any time if there should be a prospect of peace or anything else occur which would lessen the demand for cavalry horses. The Fort Worth buyers who are gathering in horses by the thousands are, therefore, in a way really gambling on the continuance of the war.

Deliveries are being made every day on the contracts already made. Two parties of inspectors were at the stock yards last week to pass upon the horses which have been purchased here.

Buyers who have gone out over the state to buy up horses to fill these contracts express themselves as surprised at the number of good horses in the state. They say that there are twice as many as they supposed.

There has not been the slightest difficulty so far in securing animals of a high grade and it is claimed that there is an abundance of horses in Texas to supply all of the demands.

MISS MEARS ENTERTAINS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Tuesday afternoon the second year girls of the First Presbyterian Sunday school met at the home of their teacher, Miss Pauline Mears. The supplemental work in their hand books was prepared for and pictures cut out. Music by various of the girls was enjoyed and games played following the completion of the business. A refreshment course of sandwiches, pickles, tea, cake and candy was served to the following: Misses Pauline Taylor, Minnie Bray, Edith Bunnberg, Evelyn Burke, Eileen Bates, Ruth Yates and Dorothy Warren.

GRANDMA BROWN ENTERTAINS WITH TEA TUESDAY P. M.

Grandmother Brown entertained very delightfully Tuesday afternoon with an "old ladies' tea" at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Priebe. The rooms were very prettily decorated with cut flowers, arranged artistically in vases, and ferns, and the guests spent the time with pleasant conversation. Refreshments of sand-wiches, pickles, water, chocolate and fruit were served by Mrs. R. C. Priebe and the Misses Priebe, granddaughters of the hostess. The elderly ladies and others not included in the rank of "grandmother" present were Mesdames Friberg, Hutten, Burgess, Bradley, Humphries, Hartsock and the hostess.

FIRST M. E. LADIES ELECT OFFICERS MONDAY

Monday the ladies of the First M. E. church held an all-day meeting in the parlors of the church. The morning was devoted to preparing for the rummage sale to be held the latter part of the week, the garments to be offered for sale being renovated, buttons sewed on and repairs made. Some engaged in a quilting bee and at 12 o'clock a delicious dinner, picnic fashion, was enjoyed. A special business meeting was held in the afternoon, an election of officers being necessitated by the departure of Mrs. G. W. Corkhill. Mrs. Fred Snyder was elected president, Mrs. J. I. Simon vice president, Mrs. J. F. Dollard secretary, Miss Altha Friberg secretary and Mrs. T. E. Dobson reporter.

B. O. P.'S MEET WITH THE MISSES COFFIELD TUESDAY

Election of officers was the chief feature of the business meeting of the B. O. P.'s held Tuesday afternoon with Misses Mary and Annette Coffield as hostesses. Miss Marion Crabtree was elected president, Miss Opal Shaver, vice president; Miss Annette Coffield, secretary; Miss Thea Gardner, treasurer; and Miss Tula Stokes, press reporter. Some time was spent in arranging the program for the Sunday evening service of the league, which will be conducted

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whittaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I kept Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught.

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.

MISS HICKMAN HOSTESS TO STANDARD CLUB TUESDAY

The Standard club met in regular session Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Hickman. Miss Hickman as hostess. A short business session was called at the beginning of the meeting and Miss Kathleen Stonecipher elected a member. The round table discussion was next taken up and interesting talks made on current events of the day. The Jesus was on Scott's Italian novel read in a literary viewpoint. Mrs. Harrington ably discussed the origin, Mrs. Langford the setting and situation of the book and Mrs. Fitzhugh grouped the characters. Miss Hickman carried out the plot development in an interesting and highly instructive manner. Mrs. Harrington classified the scenes according to their dramatic effect. Miss Alder compared the characters with fiction and history, and a talk by Mrs. Patterson on the origin of the Dead Sea was heard. The meeting was much enjoyed, the program being asthetically carried out. The club will meet November 10, with Miss Alder at the home of Mrs. C. J. Ballard on Broad street.

ART LITERATURE CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. BAKER

Mrs. H. L. Baker was hostess to the Art Literature club Tuesday afternoon. Roll call was answered with notes on American scenery and the very interesting Bayview lesson carried out. Education was ably led by Mrs. Leitchman. Mrs. Fridgen read an excellent paper on the founding of Philadelphia and the club was taken through the changes of a quarter of a century by Mrs. Rountree, who had led the parliamentary drill, which is a feature of the club. After listening to the report of Miss Childers on the training school for delinquent girls in Texas, the meeting was turned over to the hostess, Miss Kathleen Stonecipher who introduced, also Master Nolan Bullock, who entertained the club with a number of piano ditties. Mrs. Stonecipher then favored with solo music in her usual masterly style, while the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Little and McElroy, served a delicious and artistically arranged salad plate. The members and guests present were: Misses Childers and Stonecipher, Mesdames Scrimms, McElroy, Nolan, Little, Bean, Burgess, Leitchman, Harris, Robertson, Blankenship, DeBerry, Rountree, Leitchman, Fridgen.

HALLOWEEN PARTY FOR NEW BRIDGE CLUB TUESDAY

A Halloween party was enjoyed by the members of the New Bridge club guests and a number of out-of-town guests Tuesday afternoon, at which time Mrs. E. P. Moore entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Cullinan. The rooms were darkened and a wired light was furnished by candle-lit jack-o'-lanterns. On the hangings of the rooms and every conceivable place black cats and witches were rampant and streamers of yellow and black crepe paper hung from chandeliers and doorways. On each table salted almonds were placed in boxes, on which saucy black cats were perched. The color-motif was carried out in the refreshment course of pear salad, prismatic sandwiches, olives and orange ice, which was the final hospitality of the afternoon. The end of the game found Mrs. H. Harry Weeks winner of the club prize, an ivory clock for the bondoir; Mrs. Claude Woods scoring high among the guests, the favor being a perfume bottle in an ivory container, while the Ships that fly the flag of neutral powers can now carry cotton to Germany and Austria ports or to the ports of any other warring power. The British government has decided that cotton is not a contraband of war. Therefore, if the warring powers, including Germany, France, England and Russia, want our cotton and have the money to pay for it, they can have it. The announcement might have the effect of boosting the price of cotton and that or something else is doing that very thing. Last week cotton was selling for less than six cents. Now the price ranges from six to six and one-half cents per pound.

"Swing onto your cotton," urges the Delta Courier and then goes on to say: "One American firm has an order for 500,000 pairs of cotton socks per week which will amount to 25,000,000 pairs within a year. Another firm's order—100,000 fannel shirts (half cotton)—1,000,000 rolls of bandage gauze; 300,000 yards of cotton duck, 500,000 yards of crash, 200,000 pounds of absorbent cotton, etc. And thus the story goes. If it were a lot of Yankees instead of Southerners raising cotton they would starve the world for cotton and then sell it for 25 cents per pound. You may lose your head, but for the love of Mike, don't lose your cotton. Swing on to it in the fall. It is the nigger stock market and the only one that is not going to crash. It is the only one that will give you a profit."

After being out 13 hours, the jury in the trial of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman accused of slaying Mrs. Louise Bailey in the office of the former's husband, Dr. Carman, on June 20 last, at Mineola, N. Y., reported its inability to agree and was discharged. The jurors stood 10 to 2 for acquittal. One of the 12 jurors who held out for conviction while the others were a taleban, stated that he would not wait his wife to install a "mechanical cave-dropper" in his home without his knowledge. This is a very natural desire for any husband, even if he knows himself to be justly above suspicion. Let us be charitable, however, and indulge the hope that the aforesaid juror's prejudice against wifely-installed "mechanical cave-droppers" did not influence his attitude in the trial of the case.—Houston Post.

Denton county farmers are finding out that seventy-five bushels of sweet potatoes an acre at a dollar a bushel is better farming than a half bale of cotton an acre at $30 a bale. And there is less labor involved in raising sweet potatoes than in raising cotton. And these farmers say they are going to quit raising cotton and there is a chance of its becoming more profitable to raise.—Fort Worth Record.

That, doubtless, is true. But do the Denton county farmers sell their potatoes for $1 per bushel, and if so, who do they sell them to? There is land within a mile of Wichita Falls that produced this year as much as 200 bushels of as fine sweet potatoes as can be grown. But the grower did not receive $1 per bushel for them, or anything like that amount. While we are urging the farmer to diversify, let us pay some attention to creating a market for his products at a price that will pay him a little better than if he had planted all cotton and sold it at about six cents per pound. There has not been a bushel of sweet potatoes sold to the consumer in Wichita Falls by the retailer this season for less than about $1.35. The retailer, as a rule, pays the wholesaler from 55 cents to 55 cents per bushel for the potatoes, and the retailer's profit is none too great, considering that he has to make the deliveries, stand the loss and the shrinkage. But the highest price that has yet been offered to any producer for his sweet potatoes this season has been 60 cents, and more sold for less than that price.

BUSINESS NOT SO BAD.

From the Topeka (Kansas) Journal we take the following, and those who are constantly talking hard times, bad business and the war in Europe should read it and then be a little more optimistic.

In Chicago the packing houses are running at full capacity, and are employing more men than for a number of months back. The shipment of hogs has started, and these receipts, added to those derived from incoming cattle, are unusually heavy.

St. Louis dry goods wholesalers have announced an easier situation, and the complete recovery of their market from the depression that immediately followed the outbreak of the war. They have reported an increase of over 15 per cent in sales during August and September over the corresponding period in 1913.

Automobile sales for the first nine months of 1914 have equaled the sales of the first ten months in 1913. The Willis-Overland company, Toledo, announces the biggest business in the history of the company.

Textile firms of Pennsylvania which, previous to the war, had been operating one half time, are now working three-quarters full time, employing 75,000 men, women and boys.

It is unofficially reported that Chas. M. Schwab, the Bethlehem Steel company is acting as agent of the French government in placing orders for $71,000,000 worth of supplies in this country, including automobile trucks. "Already 25,000 tons of barb wire have been sent to European ports. New England firms are sending large shipments of rubber boots abroad, due, it is said, to the heavy rains in France, Belgium, Austria and Russia. Heavier orders are expected as soon as the winter sets in.

Blanket manufacturers are receiving big orders. Heavy demands are also being made on the manufacturers of hosiery, underwear, shirts and harkens.

Ammunition factories in Connecticut are working night and day to fill orders for revolvers, machine guns and other implements of war.

Grandfather's cotton, food, animals, meat and dairy products, cottonseed and mineral oils exported during September show an increase, according to the department of commerce, of $37,119,230 over shipments in August, the first month of the war. Notable increases are also reported in corn, wheat, flour, fresh beef, pickled beef, hams, lard, illuminating oils, lubricating oils, gasoline, naphtha and fuel oils.

LET WACHWORD BE "BOOST, DON'T KNOCK!"

(Dallas News)

That the pre-eminent need of the cotton-producing States at this time is a universally bullish sentiment in favor of cotton, and that there is a general feeling of confidence in the South, is the belief of Mr. J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, expressed through an interview in the News. Mr. Kemp is one of the foremost, soundest and most conservative business men of Texas. He was chosen by the Texas Bankers' Association to head a movement in behalf of cotton, to save it, if possible, from sale at ridiculous low prices. We are prepared to agree with Mr. Kemp, indeed, all that we can say is that the situation, and we share his belief in the potentialities of the people of Texas, in particular, and of the South in general.

Cotton spinners and cotton buyers naturally are, and have a right to be, interested in their interest to see cotton sell for little money. They are peculiarly fortunate at this time because they find the owners of cotton, and many others of the South, whose real interest lies in higher prices, also naturally are interested in higher prices. Spinners and buyers have a picnic these days, because most of us—bankers, merchants, farmers and some newspaper men—have the back again, and are talking and setting for cotton. The price of cotton is not less than that of any other commodity. It is not less than that of any other commodity. It is not less than that of any other commodity.

The truth is that the South is now pervaded with bullish sentiment as to cotton, and this without reasonable excuse. Men are walking the streets talking "low cotton," if not, indeed, actually advising farmers to "sell early and avoid the rush." And yet, every one of them would resent a word questioning the future prospects of his town. In every town in Texas the commercial organization has been deeply implanted the idea that every citizen must "boost," not "knock," the town. The "knocker," the man who questions the bright prospects of the town, who has the effrontery to predict that Main street property will take a slump, is socially ostracized; the town is made too hot to hold him.

Something of the same loyalty to cotton, the great product of the South, and in which all of us are interested, unquestionably would stimulate the market.

There is abundant reason, too, why Southern sentiment should be bullish, not bearish. There has been too much misinterpretation of our old friend, "the law of supply and demand;" too much inclination to say that the price is the quotient of the present active demand divided by the ultimate supply, whereas these are not the factors fixing prices. Rather, the prime factors are active demand and actual offerings. Unquestionably, the total quantity of cotton produced exceeds the present active demand; but the principal reason that cotton has reached a low price level is, because the great reservoir of supply is being drawn upon too freely. Clearly, if the feed pipe should be choked off somewhat, the ultimate supply would press less heavily upon the market.

Ultimate supply and ultimate demand are more nearly matched than many of us seem to realize. The world needs a great deal of cotton. Demand lessened in some quarters undoubtedly will be augmented in others. The war itself will make a new demand for cotton for military purposes, as for tents, etc.; and it will make further demand upon the part of civilians who, under compulsion, will turn to cheap clothing. The sudden onslaught of war disarranged markets and all the machinery for the purchase, transportation and fabrication of cotton. These conditions have been partly overcome, else cotton would not be in demand at all. Conditions constantly are improving. A notable item of improvement is the announcement of the British government that it does not consider cotton as contraband of war, thus opening the German market to our cotton. Another encouraging sign is the fact that Eastern capitalists have recently sent inquiries to Texas asking if this is not a good time to buy cotton for investment, and whether storage facilities are available. Spinners are supplying their immediate necessities and we are assured that they now would be in the market for future needs, but for the feeling that cotton has not touched bottom. They are in effect in the attitude of holding the door of demand partly open, waiting to see if we shall be so foolish as to open to its ultimate limit the door of supply. Once convinced that we are not going to commit this folly, once assured that we have a good grip on the door and mean to control it, spinners, assuredly will more widely open the door of demand.

The News believes with Mr. Kemp that the people of the South can hold and largely regulate the door of supply. There is a great deal of latent force among our people which has not been and is not being exercised. It has not been exercised, partly for the reason that many of our people have expected some further supporting action upon the part of the National and State Legislatures. The time for such action and the time for dispute as to the merits of the various measures proposed has past. It is now clear that we must depend upon individual resources and the means already provided for by the government. Not only that, the News believes that our individual resources are potential, but it also knows that the facilities for supporting the cotton market are better than before.

If cotton has not already touched bottom, certainly it is nearer the bottom than it has been heretofore. It is a better "buy" than it has been at any previous time within the present season. Fifty dollars will purchase and carry twice as much cotton as it would have done in July, one-third more than in early September. It is not only easier to carry, but the prospect for profit in it is greater.

Facilities for financing the crop are about to expand, through the prospective early operation of the St. Louis cotton pool and the prospective early opening of the reserve banks. Secretary McAdoo announces that the reserve banks will open on Nov. 16, and that he will deposit all available government funds in those of the South in order to assist in the cotton situation. But, as Mr. Kemp has well suggested, the extent of the relief which these assurances shall give largely depends upon the attitude of the people of the South toward the subject. If that attitude shall continue bearish, additional money and credit facilities will do less good than if the attitude shall be bullish.

There are some farmers who are obliged to sell their cotton at any price. If an individual farmer or others who are selling because of the fear of lower prices. The combined effect of these two things is a pressure from the two sides, breaking the backbone of the market. There is an unconscious conspiracy among our own people against cotton, a conspiracy born of fear.

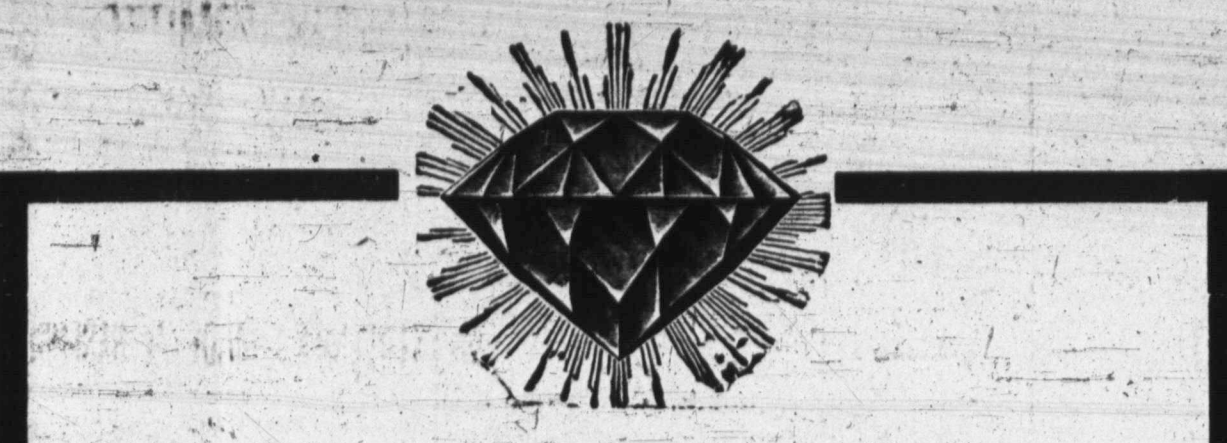

A New device can get our business men to have some such regard for cotton as they have for lard and Main street lots, this fear will be a powerful factor in the market. This result we believe can be brought about in some such manner as Mr. Kemp suggests; that is, by demonstrating that there are some people in the South who care for cotton, who have confidence in its value.

Of course it would take $2,000,000 of money to buy and impound 5,000,000 bales of cotton, as has so often been suggested. But we do believe that the South has the power to put on the brakes sufficiently to check the mad rush of cotton to market, and to turn the price upward.

If each man in Texas who has the means to do so should invest in one or more bales of cotton, not at ten cents, nor even at eight cents, but, in fact, "at the market," invest in it for the sake of profit, with the intention to hold it, with the announcement that he considers cotton a good purchase and that he means to make a profit for himself and for his community, rather than to let that profit go to the outside, obviously this would have a stimulating effect. Such examples as these would bring other support to the market, for then those farmers who can afford to hold their cotton will hold it, encouraged by their company, and the feeling that they are not to be left to tread the winepress alone.

If a farmer is not in position to hold his cotton, others may do so by borrowing from the banks the bulk of its purchase price, and thus break the force of the rush to market.

This is one occasion when "Boost, don't knock," should be the watchword.

SPECIAL NOTICE
It again becomes necessary to warn our customers who hold contracts, good at our studio, against a cheap proposition which is being put out in our city by unscrupulous agents whom we know positively are making every effort to buy up our contracts in exchange for theirs. We need not tell you that you cannot get good photographs for a song. If you want a good picture of mother, father, baby or yourself you must get them made by photographers who know how to turn out first-class work. Our samples were made by ourselves in our own studio, and we endeavor to make every photograph just as good or better than the samples.

With pardonable pride, we can refer you to satisfied patrons who are amongst the best people in the city. CARSON ADMITTED TO BAIL FOR $1250

EXAMINING TRIAL IS HELD FOLLOWING LAST SUNDAY'S SHOOTING.

STATEMENT MADE BY BASFORD

Tells of Events at Depot—Defense Inquires As to Events Leading Up to It

At an examination before Justice Howard this afternoon, Charles Carson of Oklahoma City was bound over to the grand jury on a complaint charging assault to murder in connection with the shooting of W. O. Basford last Sunday. His bond was placed at $1,250, which his attorneys, Nelson and Hunter, said he would be able to furnish. A statement made by Basford to Acting County Attorney Bruce Greenwood and Mr. Hunter, one of the plaintiff's attorneys, and the testimony of Deputy Sheriff Charles Russell was the only evidence submitted.

The defense presented no testimony. Russell's statement was much the same as the account published in The Times Monday. In his statement to the two attorneys Mr. Basford said that he believed Carson thought he (Basford) had done him a wrong, but that he had not. Mr. Basford said Carson accosted him as he was going to mail a letter on the train. Basford's statement says:

"Mr. Carson stopped and stood right in front of me and said: 'Is your name Basford?' I said 'yes.' I stuck out my hand and he shook hands with me. I said 'I don't know you.' He said 'You do know me.' He had both hands in his pocket when he stopped me and took them both out when he shook hands with me, then leisurely put his hands back in his pockets. His eyes did not look right, and this was the first intimation that he was mad.

Says Carson Seemed Angry. "His voice was low and trembled slightly; otherwise he acted calm. He then put his right hand in his right pants pocket and pulled his gun out and commenced shooting."

Basford stated that he had known Carson at Mangum, Oklahoma, but that he did not recognize him when he shook hands with him on the station platform.

Basford was asked questions by the defendant's attorney as to whether he had taken supper with Mrs. Carson and another woman at Oklahoma City in August, but said he did not remember. His condition was such that a rigid cross examination could not be permitted, and outside of a few questions of this character the defense gave no intimation as to what his story would be.

WOMEN SUFFER FROM WAR

Thousands of women of Europe are left destitute, unprotected and in misery.

The hearts of the women of America go out to their sisters in Europe who are left in misery and want. American women often suffer from derangements that are purely feminine.

At the first symptoms of any derangement of the feminine organism at any period of life the one really helpful remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Tens of thousands of women have taken it with unflinching success for every conceivable ailment and disease connected with the female system.

It is a woman's medicine and as such its mighty and marvelous restorative power is acknowledged the country over.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a true friend to women in times of trial and at times of pain when the organs are not performing their functions. For headache, backache, hot flashes, catarrhal conditions, bearing down sensation, mental depression, dizziness, fainting spells, lassitude and exhausted women should never fail to take this tried and true women's medicine.

Prepared from nature's roots and herbs, it contains no alcohol nor narcotics. It is a woman's medicine and all the ingredients are printed on the wrapper. Sold in either tablet or liquid form. SCHOOL FOR TRAINING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS

Experts Will Be at First Christian Church Next Week to Conduct Classes.

A training school for Sunday school teachers will be held at the Christian church next week and the following announcement has been received:

"The fine quality of work demanded of Bible school teachers and officers in these days, requires that they shall be well trained. The church, through various agencies, must make this training possible and within the reach of the average person. All cannot go away to training schools, so schools of methods are being brought to the smaller cities with the very best possible teachers, thus local teachers and workers can secure the most modern means. One of these schools of methods will open in Wichita Falls, Christian church, Monday afternoon at 3:45, November 2. Four national teachers will be present to conduct the work. In elementary, teen age and adult studies. Only $1 tuition will be charged for each person. Free attendance and evenings. No one interested in efficient Bible school work can well afford to miss this opportunity of studying modern methods. We invite all workers from every school in this city to come into the classes and gain the greater benefit.

SALVATION ARMY PROVES OF BENEFIT TO SOLDIERS

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 28.—The Salvation Army has made a hit with Tommy Atkins. Three thousand of them may be seen any day at the recreation tent which the Salvation Army maintains at Colchester, devouring some twenty-five dozen pork pies, having a look at the magazines and newspapers, writing letters home, and occasionally participating in some religious service. But the demands for food here have been so great that the army has as yet had little time for song and prayer.

The Colchester camp is only one of many where the Salvationists maintain these popular recreation tents for the volunteers. An appreciation of the work is instanced at Cambridge, where Adjutant and Mrs. Windlate of the Salvation Army served the soldiers so faithfully that the colonel in command presented his dress sword to Adjutant Windlate. He and his wife particularly distinguished themselves in caring for some 150 wounded soldiers.

Commissioner Higgins, formerly in New York with Commander Eva Booth, directed the work of these recreation centers. In addition to service at home, there are five hundred selected Salvation army officers who have offered themselves for work with the British Red Cross and stand ready to enter the field whenever needed.

Although the charges made for food and drink are very slight, General Booth estimates he can maintain a refreshment and amusement tent for a year on seven hundred and fifty dollars. The Salvationists charge only two cents a cup for tea and the same for bread and butter or a pork pie. Cool weather is making the tents unsatisfactory and moveable buildings of corrugated iron are rapidly replacing the canvas shelters.

TOY MAKING IN ENGLAND TO SUPPLY COMING DEMAND

By Associated Press. London, Oct. 28.—Nuremberg has been reproduced in Baker Street where the Women's Emergency Corps has provided toy-making work for one hundred girls and women. The workers are paid $2.50 a week but as soon as they become proficient they are put at piece work which yields them a better income.

Doll houses, doll furniture, soldiers, animals and other toys made of wood form the greater part of the improvised toy factory's output. Pref saws have been installed and in an atmosphere of sawdust, glue and paint, women who were recently typists or governesses are constructing playthings which will fill the stockings of English children formerly dependent on continental makers for their toys.

"Not made in Germany" is the slogan some of the women paint upon the other side of the toy carts and doll carriages which are going to the warehouses of English dealers.

"THE RED WIDOW" COMING HERE ON NOVEMBER 7

"The Red Widow," the sparkling musical play which comes direct from a record-breaking run at the Astor theatre, New York, to the Wichita theatre November 7, is from the combined pens of Hannibal Pollock, Kenneth Wolf and Charles J. Gebest. Messrs. Pollock and Wolf are responsible for the book and lyrics and Mr. Gebest for the musical score.

In "The Red Widow" Cicero Hannibal Butts is a retired millionaire cereal manufacturer of Yonkers, N. Y., U. S. A. He is also a colonel in the National Guards with, to let him tell it, an international reputation as an army tactician. In London, where he has arrived on a tour around the world, he meets Anna Varvara (The Red Widow) Anna is fascinating and fiery; she is the star member of a band of blood-thirsty nihilists who are seeking the life of the czar, a fact that Cicero does not discover until he has had some of the most exciting experiences of his life while endeavoring to escape from the Russian police web in which he becomes entangled through his initiation for the female nihilist.

Apart from the comedy element in "The Red Widow" its musical score and special song numbers are sure to be found enjoyable, not to say alluring. Among the best compositions are: "Never Mind Singing, Just Dance, My Dear," "When Woman is the Question," "I'm a Wonderful Man from Yonkers," "We Will Go, Go All Aground to Gogga," "The Avenue of Palms," "I Shall Never Look at a Pretty Girl Again," "In Society It's Always Dress Parade," "You Can't Pay the Landlord With Love," "I Love You Dear," "Just for You" and "Soldiers of the Czar."

The Lydia.
Tonight marks the final appearance of the Vaudeville bill which opened Monday. Both acts are good and have proven very pleasing. A comedy picture program will be given today, including "The House That Jack Built," a skit and "In and Out," a Sterling, featuring Max Asher.

Mrs. Murphy, the wife of a butcher, and Mrs. Schultz, the wife of a grocer, gossip across the way. Mrs. Schultz invites Mrs. Murphy over. They get into a friendly conversation, which develops into a quarrel.

The Gem.
A two-part Lubin, featuring Ormi Hawley, is the head liner here today. A synopsis of "His Brother's Blood" is as follows:

Dr. Kenneth Meyers and his brother Gerald, an artist, are both fond of Ethel Wilson, who really favors Gerald more than she does the physician, and later accepts him as her suitor. Kenneth resolves to devote his life to science and buries himself in his laboratory, where he is specializing in blood tests. Gerald's studio companion, Tyson Brooks, is an erratic fellow, and when Gerald tries to correct his inexperienced brother, he resorts to force. Still, he escapes arrest. Gerald continues his flight, taking passage on a sailing vessel for San Francisco, where he arrives three months later. Kenneth receives news that Gerald was killed in the lodging house fire, and believing her fiancée dead, Ethel and Kenneth renew their friendship and become engaged to wed.

Upon his arrival in Frisco, Gerald scans the newspaper files to see what disposition was made of the investigation of Brooks' death, and finds first the notice of his brother's engagement to wed Ethel and then later that Brooks was found to have committed suicide. He then decides to return home and test Ethel and see if she really loves his brother. He arrives home on the eve of his brother's wedding and when he witnesses an excited love scene between Ethel and Kenneth the sight is too much for him and he collapses from exhaustion. Hurried to the hospital with typhoid fever, Kenneth is called upon to examine the blood of the patient, who is supposed a tramp. Something in the shape and appearance of the blood crystals tells him they have a familiar appearance and upon closer investigation he recognizes them as exactly similar to his own. Anxious to see this extraordinary man he is led to the ward and sees the brother he supposed dead and then feeling that he has no right to wed his brother's fiancée, he struggles with his conscience, sends for Ethel and releases her from her promise. Kenneth battles bravely for his brother and his fiancée, happy in the thought that after all his brother's blood had taught him a new scientific fact, that heredity can be traced through the blood, and that with this achievement he is recognized as a new medical authority.

The Majestic.
The Whom and the Tares, featuring James Morrison, Dorothy Kelly, George Cooper. Through his machinations of a soubrette, Stillwell, a young southerner, is accused of killing the father of the girl he loves, convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced. The real culprit is revealed in an amazing manner. Stillwell is freed and in disguise plays an exciting game of which he wins back the plantation which has been stolen from the girl's father. He then has her released and marries her and they go to live on the beautiful old estate.

The Victoria.
Today's feature offering is "The Silver Sandstick," a Kay Bee two-part. Pierre Deschamps, a poor woodcutter, lives in dire poverty with his wife and daughter, Thelma. He is too poor even to contribute to the fund which is raised by the grateful parishioners to buy a set of silver candlesticks for Father Bernard, the venerable pastor. His child falls desperately ill and the village doctor informs Pierre that unless he can secure the services of a specialist from Montreal, whose fee is high, the little one will soon die.

Driven to desperation, Pierre goes to the church in the dead of the night to steal a set of silver candlesticks and is seen by the priest in his act of sacrilege. But the good father knowing Pierre's dire need, doesn't disclose his knowledge. Pierre's conscience pricks him, however, and he returns the candlesticks to their place. Returning home he finds his child whom the local doctors have given up, to all appearances dead. Meanwhile the good priest is praying earnestly for the child and by a miracle the child is brought back to life. Pierre and his wife offer their thanks to God, as the child is seen gradually to regain her consciousness.

Tomorrow will be shown "A Gentleman from Mississippi," a drama of Washington political life, featuring Tom Wise. The book from which the dramatization was made is reviewed as being an entertaining and truthful picture of Washington life.

$1.25 PER WEEK TO WIDOW OF SOLDIER

ENGLISH PENSION SYSTEM IS SUBJECT OF ATTACKS BY PAPERS

TROOPS RECEIVE SMALL PAY

Ordinary Infantrymen in New Volunteer Army Are Receiving only $1.55 Per Week

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 28.—Five shillings a week to the soldier's wife who has lost her husband in fighting his country's battles is a small sum, according to the leading London papers attacked today the government's pension system which it says is due to the old tradition summed up in Wellington's assertion that his troops in the Spanish campaign were only "the scum of the earth." The war office, according to the writer, fails to realize that times are different now and the vast majority of volunteers are men who in civil life earned good wages in factory, field, office and shop.

Indignation has also been expressed in parliament, so that it is not unlikely some return in pensions may follow.

In the British army the pay of officers and men is dependent on the regiment. There is no standard scale of pay as in America. Commissioned officers, as a rule, receive a sum impossible to live on—about $35 a month. They must have independent means, and in low rank regiments, such as the Scots' Greys or the Grenadier Guards, they must be wealthy, with polo ponies, valets and expensive uniforms. But in certain of the colonial troops doing police duty in lands bordered by savages, they get as good pay as American officers and do not have to keep up expensive establishments.

Start at $1.55 Weekly.

The ordinary infantrymen in the new volunteer army of a million men, pledged to foreign service, are started off at $1.55 a week, clear of expense. Married men are allowed in addition separation pay for their families at the rate of $1.90 a week for the wife and two pence a day—or 28 cents a week—for each child. In the country of London they are given a further sum of 80 cents a week, owing to the higher cost of living.

All married soldiers serving abroad are obliged to allot at least 85 cents a week to their families out of their own pay. Worked out on this scale the lowest sum a soldier's wife without children can receive is 23 shillings a week in the case of a warrant officer, 22 for a regimental quartermaster sergeant, 16 shillings six pence for corporal or private. If the wife has four children to support she will receive, on the same scale, a sum ranging from 34 to 22 shillings.

Small Sum for Widows.

Widows of those who die on active service receive from five to ten shillings a week, according to the rank and pay of the husband. But the mass of them will not get over five shillings, an extra allowance varying from 40 to 50 cents a week for each child is given, however.

While there are no government homes for old soldiers in Great Britain, as in the United States, there are certain homes maintained by private charity. Of these, the largest and most famous is in Chelsea, London. The garden party given at the Chelsea home for its benefit is one of the big social events of London's spring season.

Much suffering was caused by the government deferring the payment of separation allowances to soldiers' wives during the first two months of the war. Not until October 1 was this money put into the hands of the destitute women. War office red tape also held up pay allotments.

RARE WHALE SPECIMEN IS CAUGHT OFF IRISH COAST

Very Seldom Found in Waters of Civilized Countries and No One Knows Its Habitat.

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 28.—A rare whale, with an unusually retiring disposition, has just been captured for the natural history section of the British Museum. It is known as Sowerby's whale and was found stranded at Rosslare, Ireland. The existence of these whales is known only from the occasional discovery of stranded specimens on civilized coasts. Not more than a dozen have been found on the British coasts since records have been taken and the specimens in the British museum can be counted on the fingers of one hand. Nobody knows much about this particular member of the great whale family and nobody has seen it at home.

Its address, for that matter, is a secret which this supreme diplomat of the seas has so far managed to keep intact. Its habits and its haunts alike are as yet unrevealed to inquisitive man and it only ventures for a long stroll to well-frequented shores at rare intervals. One of those expeditions happened quite recently, for several of these whales have been seen in the Baltic.

The Rosslare specimen is the first complete one obtained by the museum authorities. It is a female, is 11 feet 8 inches long (the maximum known length is 18 feet), and it weighs about 600 pounds. It is a near relative to the sperm whale and belongs to the "beaked whale" family, so named because the outline of the nose and head is broken by an indentation which has the appearance of a beak. Sowerby's whales have only two teeth and so have to swallow their cattle fish whole.

To be considered in building a suit that is to give the wearer his money's worth in style, fit and individuality. A suit to do this must be as exclusively individual as the man or woman who wears it. The measurement of the tape, but the figures or stripes of the fabric as well. We are suit architects; we draw the plans and make the specifications for suits every day in the year. The tailors who build suits for us follow plans and specifications to the letter. Your suit is made by master tailors and not by sweat-shop leg and sleeve makers. And your suit is always made for YOU. It is individual. It FITS.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

IN SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

A well attended meeting of the Wichita County Medical Society was held at the city hall last night. At this meeting papers were read by Dr. L. P. Stripling, Wade H. Walker and Dr. L. Mackechney, and Dr. W. H. Ogden of Electra reported a clinic. The next meeting of the society will be held on the second Tuesday in November. Those present at last night's meeting were: Joe E. Daniels, D. Meredith, L. P. Stripling, Q. B. Lee, W. W. Swarts,

Charles H. Hartsock, J. S. Taylor, L. Mackechney, Everett Jones, A. D. Pardo and W. H. Ogden, Electra.

BOD YOF DROWNED MAN CANNOT BE LOCATED

Waco, Texas, Oct. 28.—An all-night search proved unsuccessful to locate the body of S. M. Parham, aged 21, who was drowned at the lock and dam, eleven miles below here, yesterday. He and a companion in a barge became frightened when the boat began to drift and jumped out. L. R. Bonfuer, who was with him, reached the shore, but Parham sank.

NOTICE!

Having leased the three east front offices on the second floor of the new First National Bank building, now under construction, at the corner of Eighth and Indiana avenues, I desire to share said offices with some reliable, permanently located person or firm with reputable calling. These offices are decidedly the choice ones in the building being opposite the elevators and quite prominent.

SECRETARY OF STATE WOULD CHANGE ELECTION LAW

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Oct. 28.—F. C. Weinert, Secretary of State, plans to recommend to the 34th legislature an amendment to the law regarding the certifying of names of district candidates to the state department. Lack of this provision, he says, has caused considerable confusion and much delay in getting candidates' names on the official ballot. Mr. Weinert's recommendation would impose upon district chairmen the duty of certifying and forwarding to the secretary of state immediately all candidates' names. This has not been compulsory and many district chairmen, it is said, have been slow and in many instances have failed entirely to submit names.

When You Have Forgotten:

The virtues of your deceased friends or loved one, go out to the cemetery and read thereon, engraved with skilled hands, the name and dates of the one you knew so well.

You forget their failures and their human frailties, while you remember their good deeds, their kindly acts of love and tender sympathy. Their virtues stand out before you in visions of gold to remind you of higher and better things.

Should there be no such SACRED TABLET to bring you these tender memories, let us place one for you. You will be better and happier for duty well done.
